

THE PAPER OF THE EASTERN TOWNSHIPS
SHERBROOKE DAILY RECORD, WED., JAN. 30, 1957.

A hat is all things to all women: morale booster, beauty-aid, creative outlet, head warmer—but to a group of young girls enrolled in the millinery school at Montreal's

Ecole des Métiers Commerciaux it is something more besides: it is the badge of their profession, their future livelihood.

Spring Tonic for Canadian Women $40 Million a year for Hats

Milliners shuddered in 1951 when the hatless woman became the vogue. Recently the trend has reversed: today no style-conscious woman would be caught in town without her head covered.

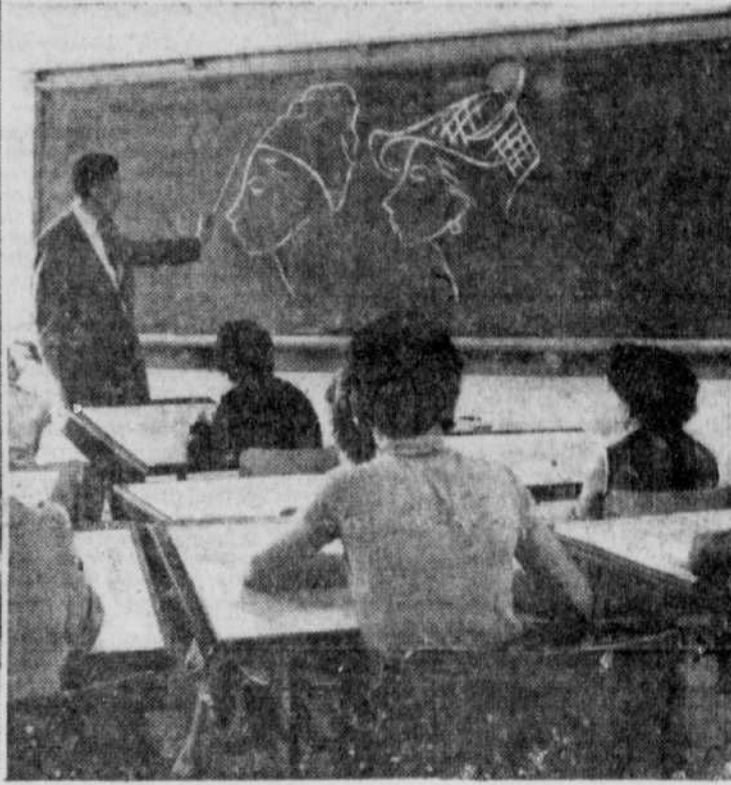

Sponsored by Quebec's Department of Social Welfare and Youth, the school offers instruction in a wide variety of subjects. Upon graduation girls are apprenticed to custom milliners.

When it comes to hats, the sky's the limit. Mr. G. LeTestur, millinery school director, gives a course on the history of the hat. Above, he explains the phenomenon of the high-pointed "hennian" popular in the 14th century when the Gothic spire began to pierce the skyline of Europe. Some historians have seen a direct relationship between architectural trends and m'lady's hat.

Classes in styling constitute an important part of the millinery course. Above, Mr. LeTestur illustrates the wrong hat (left) and the right hat (right) for an angular face.

In 1956 Canadian women spent $40 million on headgear. To most of them the purchase represented more than an investment in fashion: a new hat provides the emotional lift of a spring tonic.

OUT ON A LIMB

By Stumpy McCulloch
"Is this a healthy place?" the city feller asked.
"Yep," replied O'Cyprus. "When I came here I couldn't utter a word. I had exactly a hair on my head. I didn't have the strength to walk across the room, and I had to be lifted from my bed."
"That's wonderful," the feller said. "How long have you been here?"
"I was born here," O'Cyprus said.

Tree bark is an amazing thing! In New York state, they tell a story about a young feller who hung up his scythe on a balsam-of-Gilead tree. Then he went off to fight in the Civil War. The tree bough grew up around the scythe and completely covered it!

Lots of folks tell stories about cannonballs, plowshares, and even deer antlers that have been embedded in living wood. Out in California, I hear, a college student once noticed a scar in the trunk of a pine tree, cut around it with his knife, and discovered a small, leather-bound Bible!

Good news about tree farming! More and more fellers are growing timber as a crop! In the first half of 1956, the American Tree Farm System grew by almost two million acres of forestland! Tree farming, you know, is an industry-sponsored movement to recognize private landowners who voluntarily protect their woodlands from fire, insects, disease and grazing, and who harvest for repeated crops!

I know a gal who was remodeling her house recently. She needed some beams to reinforce the floor. She traded nine big black walnut trees from her woods for nineteen 24-foot sycamore beams. She was swindled! Accordin' to our local forester, the sycamore beams are worth only about a twentieth of the value of her walnut trees!

That's why it sure pays us tree farmers to keep in touch with a local forester. He can offer information about current market prices for pulpwood and timber, can put us in touch with reliable buyers, and can advise us on drawing up sales contracts!

For 12 years the old sailor had been shipwrecked on the desert island. He had weathered hurricanes, illness, hunger and fear. But when he discovered a king-size Coke bottle on the beach, it was too much for him. "Good heavens," he cried out, "I've shrunk!"

So long! See you soon!

Balmain Shows Royally Sumptuous Fashions

PARIS (AP) — The coming visit to France of Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, inspired royally sumptuous fashions at Pierre Balmain's opening yesterday.

Balmain said he drew his inspiration from "a season of royal weddings and royal visits."

His general line harks back to 1918, with forward shoulder seams and bloused-over tops giving a hollow-chested look, while puffy tucks and curved seams lend a Grecian urn shape to the hips.

Mrs. S. Hughes Re-elected Head Of Mission Circle

At the first meeting of the year of the Plymouth Evening Mission Circle which took place on January 24, in the church parlor, Mrs. Sydney Hughes, president, was in the chair, and later in the meeting she was re-elected president for another term.

The Worship Service was conducted by Miss Joan Beers after which the annual report was given by the treasurer.

Mrs. Nelson Lothrop, Honorary President, thanked the outgoing officers and welcomed the new executive, which is composed of the following: Mrs. Sydney Hughes, president; Mrs. Jean Rugg, vice-president; Mrs. Jean Stevenson, treasurer; Mrs. Fran Clowery, secretary; Mrs. Ruth Lavallee, social convener; Mrs. Irene Shepherd, accompanist; Miss Joan Beers, program convener; Mrs. Mary Kennett, Community Friendship; Mrs. Lois Blanchette, Christian Citizenship; Mrs. Dorothy Hemmings, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Alice Pattullo, supply secretary; Mrs. Gilles Carrigan, Christian Stewardship.

A very newsy and interesting letter from Miss Jean Bridgman, a missionary of Indore, India, was read by Mrs. Clowery.

Following the adjournment of the meeting, work was completed on the layette to be shipped to the Far East. Each member was asked to bring a piece of baby clothing to the next meeting to supplement the work.

Hostesses for the meeting were, Mrs. Ruth Lavallee and Miss Ruth Elkas.

Crepes and drapes continued top trends.

Already noted for such luxuries as a floor-sweeping mink coat several seasons ago, Balmain must have been hard-pressed to pass his old triumphs. But he managed it with an ample triangular cape in ermine, bordered with white fox and ending in a train on the ground. Other unlikely combinations were lynx borders on a pink linen suit, big fur cuffs on chiffon, and a fur-trimmed lace suit.

A heart-shaped neckline bares a lot, but on suits is filled in with softly draped chiffon blouses. Stem-slim long formals have little pointed trains.

Besides being hobbled to the tiniest step, mannequins had the added hazard of having to give the train a sharp kick to make a turn.

Balmain still likes stiffened redingotes, or princess-flared skirts. His suit jackets are short and high waisted in front, dipping down to an egg-shaped back. His coats are voluminous-half-coat half-cape-with sleeve cuffs set in at elbow height, and some are back-pleated. Egg-head hats vie with big-trimmed "planters" hats. Silks and chiffons are printed with life-size roses.

The Worthy Matron thanked all who had helped with the installation, and the various guests were asked for a few words.

Several members of other Chapters were present.

MANNERS MAKE FRIENDS

If you are telephoning to invite a person to a party or a meeting, it isn't wise to leave the message with another member of the household. Better ask to have the person call back or telephone again, yourself, than to take the chance that the message will be forgotten and not delivered.

Besides, it will sound more cordial if you give the invitation yourself.

STEWED APPLE SLICES

Roast ham or pork is on the menu, so dress it up with a side-dish of apple slices. Cook equal parts of sugar and water together for 5 minutes. Add cored, peeled and thinly sliced apples and cook slowly until tender. Flavor with cinnamon and almond extract to taste. Serve in syrup.

Black And White Is Stressed For Spring

A well-rounded spring wardrobe might very well include these three designs. Two of them emphasize the importance of black and white; the evening gown shows true elegance in the short length. Suit in black and white (left) has short jacket coupled with skirt that has high-rising waistband. Jacket fastens at side with big rhinestone button. Short evening dress (center) in gray Swiss organdie is a great beauty that relies on ruching and scrolls of self-pleating for its misty look. Dress-and-jacket costume (right) is in black-and-white tie silk print. Under the jacket, there's a flame red silk chiffon empire top that's cut surplice fashion. All three designs are from Hannah Troy. All three show hemlines at usual lengths.

NEW YORK — Clothes that are charmingly simple are always the best fashion buy for any woman. And they're seen in the collections of many top American designers this spring.

For simple clothes usually are created by the art of a great designer. Their simplicity is deceptive. It depends on beautiful fabrics knowingly handled, on impeccable tailoring, on imaginative use of coloring.

It offers surprises: a flaming chiffon top under the jacket of a black-and-white costume. Or a shapely jacket that's companion to a high-rising skirt and so creates a one-piece look. Or again there's a glowing silk print, violet against black, in a dress intended for wear from now on into summer.

There are long evening dresses this spring. To be sure, but most designers seem to feel that the majority of American women will not want to wear their gowns long. So, many of the swirling silk chiffon gowns are the short length that seem to fit in best with the American way of life.

Homemaking

Herbs, both fine and strong, are the making of nearly any dish. If you've so far confined yourself to salt, pepper and one or two well-known spices, try experimenting with herbs. You and your family will be delighted with the difference they make in even the ordinary dishes.

If you want to restore fun to cookery, give it a dash of imagination. Try cooking carrots with a little garlic, for instance. Cook them in boiling water for 10 minutes, then saute them with a garlic clove and butter.

Did you know that there are salt mills, used in the same way as pepper mills? Give the same results, too—more flavor to any dish.

A sterile, gleaming kitchen is not a cozy sight to behold, no matter what the architects declare. Make yours livable with the addition of some green plants, gleaming copper pans and a collection of wooden spoons in a rack. A spice rack helps, but it isn't enough in itself. Add some cake curtains on brass rings for the final touch.

The time to replenish household supplies is before you run out, not when you're completely out. As you see you're coming to the end of tea or wax paper or butter, make a note to stock up again.

Magnetized towel pegs are handy to have around the kitchen. To have a towel just where you want it, stick a towel peg to the surface of a stove, refrigerator, sink or cabinet. You can also use the pegs in the bathroom.

Valentine Party Can Be Easy, Inexpensive

By KAY SHERWOOD
A Valentine's DAY party can be a midwinter bright spot for the youngsters. And it needn't necessarily entail much extra work for the busy homemaker. If you have a fledgling hostess in the family, help her test her wings on a simple party.

From slicking up the house before the party to serving refreshments from a pretty table, encourage her to take over the role of hostess.

A friend of mine with two pre-teen daughters encourages them to entertain often; she knows that giving parties is good training for future social poise, as well as being fun.

She Guides the preparations beforehand. During the party, she remains discreetly in the background (usually the kitchen) but immediately available in case her help is needed.

Working within a prescribed budget, the girls plan the refreshments, decorations, table setting and the entertainment. The entertainment varies from ice-skating or sledding to indoor games hunted up in books at the library. Recently it has included dancing in the family room.

DANVILLE — Canon Davis, Field Secretary for the Anglican Church of Canada, was guest speaker at a well attended special service in St. Augustine's Church recently. Canon Davis who has just completed a world tour of Anglican missions, showed colored slides of mission work in India. He spoke on some of the problems encountered in church work in other countries. At the close of the evening refreshments were served by the ladies of the church.

On Christian Youth Sunday the service of Trinity nited Church was taken over by the Youth Representatives of the church. Ronald Gibbs, leader of the service, spoke on the work of the Boys' Parliament. Donald Healy read the responsive reading and led the congregation in prayer. The choir was composed of the CGIT.

The Afternoon Association of Trinity United Church held its January meeting in the Church Hall. The officers for the new year are as follows: President, Mrs. Albert Olney; vice-president, Mrs. H. Healy; secretary, Mrs. Howard Laxson; treasurer, Miss Maude MacLeay. Plans were made for the year's work and the annual congregational meeting to be held on January 31st.

Women's Program At Agriculture Salon Announced

The women's program at the National Salon of Agriculture which is taking place at the Show Mart, Montreal, from February 8-17, has been announced.

The theme of the demonstration is "Madame Entertains," and the theme of the Fashion Show is the "Right Style for the Occasion." The demonstrations cover a lot of ground: sandwiches, canapes, hors d'oeuvres, salads, poultry on the menu, setting a table for guests, table decorations and quick, easy baking.

The first demonstration in English will be on Tuesday, February 12, from 2 to 3 p.m. It will be given by Miss Rousse, Home Economist of the Consumer Section, Canadian Department of Agriculture. It will be a display of all types of poultry, ready for serving, cooked and decorated: turkeys, ducks, geese, broilers, chickens and fowl. In the demonstration itself there will be explanations of how to work with and cook cut-ups of chicken and half-turkeys. The final stages of cooking will be shown and the steps which preceded this last finish will be narrated. From 3.30 to 4 p.m. there will be a Fashion Show.

NATURAL STRAW "MORE" HAT FOR SPRING

Natural straw hats trimmed with streamers and flowers will couple with neutral tweed and flannel coats and suits in the Easter parade. And this year natural hats look newer than white with Easter navy.

More hat is the rule. Boaters and picture hats, hats that sit straight forward on the head and straw clothes steal the spotlight.

The half hat, in order to be seen among the crowd of larger styles, is trimmed lavishly. Some have billowing tulle streamers, a favorite ribbon trimming in coats, suits and dresses. Large flowers rather than many tiny flower clusters are shown this season.

If you're dry skin, give it extra care during the winter months when cold and indoor heat are especially hard on it. Use a cream rich in lanolin.

So Many Domestic Crises Escape Men's Observation

It's hard to convince a man that a new outfit is as much of a spring tonic for you as his first fishing trip of the season is for him. That he really could find another chair as comfortable as the old lounge chair he refuses to give up, even though it's an eyesore in the living room.

That you have as much room to feel neglected if he lets the yard go, as he does if you fail to sew missing buttons on his shirts.

That it's fine to praise his hostess' dinner but that out of regard for you, he shouldn't be so enthusiastic because it sounds as though he never gets a decent meal at home.

That a living room can really need a face-lifting even though it looks perfectly all right to him.

That there's no such thing as having guests without "going to a bit of trouble."

LISTEN TO YOUR WIFE, SIR
That women don't actually spend all their time together gossiping.

That leaving home is the only way you ever really get away from your job.

That you wouldn't be quite so easy on the kids if he wouldn't be quite so hard.

That though a woman may find a film or fiction hero of the strong, silent type wonderfully romantic, no woman enjoys living with a man who won't talk to her.

That having to drag a husband to a party takes most of the pleasure out of the evening for his wife.

That a woman whose husband forgets to kiss her goodbye when he leaves in the morning feels neglected all day.

That because a woman gives a feminine reason for one of her actions or attitudes doesn't mean it isn't a sound one.

Demure young hostess presides at a Valentine's Day party table she planned herself. Unusual centerpiece is simply made.

Because food is apt to take most of the budget, decorations are often home-made.

The cheery red and white color scheme of Valentine's Day is easy to work out in table decorations. Here's a new centerpiece idea that appealed to these young hostesses because it's gay, simple to make and inexpensive.

A demure young lady encircled with red construction paper hearts dominates the scene. She's made from construction paper, sasheen ribbon, a wax paper tube and an aluminum cake pan.

Turn the cake pan upside down. Wrap the cardboard tube aluminum foil. Secure it to the pan base with several strips of cellophane tape and slip a lace paper doily over the tube to cover the base.

Tape 10 strips of red sasheen ribbon about 15 inches long first to the top of the tube, then to the bottom. Trim the edge of the cake pan with hearts cut from red construction paper and centered with a fluffy bow of white or blue ribbon.

Use pink construction paper for the face. Hair and long, curled eyelashes are cut from black

Paper Mill Transfers To Toronto

By WILLIAM LUNAN
KINGSEY FALLS (Special) - This village in Drummond County is threatened by becoming a ghost town following the announcement by the Sterling Paper Co. Ltd., the only industry in the community, is closing up its plant here and moving its operations to Ontario.

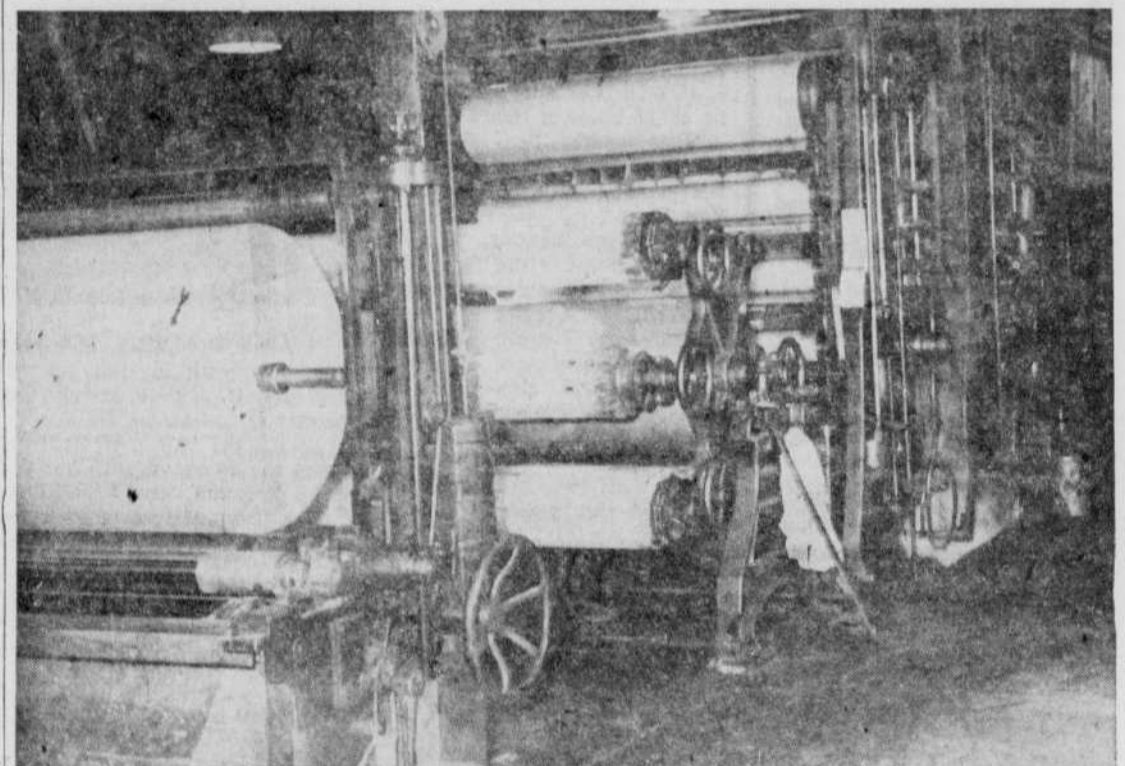

It has been announced that 60 employees will be out of work by Feb. 10. The mill has been in operation for a number of years and the families of the village have depended upon its operations for their living.

J. C. Delbaum and a group of Toronto businessmen have bought the plant and machinery and contemplate moving the equipment to Toronto where they have a plant.

The mill has been turning out 18 tons of paper per day for use in the manufacture of corrugated paper and boxes. It has been operating three shifts on a six-day-per-week basis.

The paper, in rolls, is transported by truck to Toronto where it is converted into boxes. Increased transportation rates and the efficiency resulting from having all operations under a single roof have been decisive factors in the decision to move operations to Toronto.

Father W. Coll, parish priest, and M. Lessard, president of the Federation of Pulp and Paper Workers, have approached Roland Bernard, M.P.P. for Drummond County, to ask provincial aid in the establishment of another industry in the village.

The Plant - At the top is the plant of the Sterling Paper Co. Ltd., on the banks of the Nicolet River at Kingsey Falls. The river has operated the turbines to serve the mill for over half a century. In the centre the great beaters are making up the last bales of waste paper to be converted into cardboard. Below is the end of the run as the cardboard comes off the drier rolls of the paper machine. (Record photos by William Lunan)

N. Z. Producing Electricity From Natural Steam

AUCKLAND, N. Z. - New Zealand has had the green light to push ahead with large-scale production of electricity from natural steam.

Power from underground steam has been made at Lardarollo in Italy since before the war, but the New Zealand project may be developed on a far larger scale.

Research into producing electricity from the steam which comes to the surface in geysers and boiling pools began some years ago. A drilling program was begun at Wairakei, famed tourist centre in the thermal region of the North Island.

The man-made geysers have dwarfed the natural ones. Until fitted with silencers, they blow off superheated steam at vast pressure with an ear-shattering blast and hurl debris hundreds of feet into the air.

Dozens of bores, some descending 2,000 to 3,000 feet, have been made. They presented many problems. The steam was found to be wetter than that used for making electricity in Italy, and methods of extracting surplus moisture had to be found.

It was planned to build a pilot station giving about 40,000 kilowatts to test the scheme. This has already been increased to 69,000 kilowatts.

But already the firm of London consultants which has made detailed surveys of steam resources and engineering problems has recommended a big increase in plans. It now proposes an immediate start on preparing a second station of some 150,000 to 180,000 kilowatts. It believes the project is developing so well that there is no need to wait for the pilot station to prove itself.

COWANSVILLE - The regular meeting of the Cowansville Home and School Association was held in the Consolidated High School with over 100 parents and teachers present. Gilbert Brown, president, chaired the meeting and Mrs. Mary White, secretary, read the minutes.

Mrs. Merlin Lewis accepted the appointment as the delegate to the Regional Council.

Mr. McArthur, president of the Bedford Regional Council, spoke briefly concerning the work and growth of the Regional Council.

The ice-cream treat was won by Grade 8A, Miss Puddicombe's class.

Miss Watson, school nurse, gave an interesting talk on the duties of the school nurse and stressed the fact that the nurse was not there to nurse the pupils but to bring to the parents' attention the fact that a child might need medical care. She also reported that in the near future a clinic would be held to administer Salk Vaccine to the younger children, subject to the parents' consent.

This being "Parents' Night", the meeting adjourned, and the parents visited the various classrooms where the pupils' work was on display and to discuss any problems concerning their children with the teachers.

At the close, lunch was served in the cafeteria by the refreshment committee.
