Asks That More Participate In Work For Youth

Rev. J. Butterworth, of London, England, Founder of Famous Temple of Youth, Addressed Rotarians Wednesday — "There Is No God In The Slums," He Declares — Urges Greater Interest In Boys' Work — No Boy is Natural Criminal

"There is no God in the slums," declared Rev. J. Butterworth, of London, England, in addressing the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Westmount Rotary Club in Victoria Hall Wednesday. "We should have nothing to do with people who say that certain others are 'happy in Jesus,' if those others live in the slums; they are merely ignoring the challenge to better social conditions. There is no God in the slums."

Rev. Mr. Butterworth, short, cheerful, a splendid speaker and a gripping personality, has been a lifelong worker among the boys of London's slums and poorer districts. He is the founder of the famous "Temple of Youth," which he started in an abandoned warehouse in the slum section shortly after the war, and which is now one of the most active agencies in boys' work in the world. He has been touring Canada and the United States, "on holiday," as he puts it, and sails on August 25th for the Old Country.

Taking as his subject "The Worthwhileness of Boys' Work," the speaker traced his own boyhood. Recalling his years as a newsboy on London's streets, he said, "I have never been able to forget the bitter experiences of my youth. Hunger and privation were my lot, but I console myself with the thought that perhaps my boyhood was such a bitter one for a definite purpose, for it has given me a great love for boys' work. I have felt that the greatest purpose of my life lies in this same boys' work."

Mr. Butterworth expressed infinite faith in the inherent goodness of boys. "There is no such thing as a criminal boy," he declared. "If you offer a boy a good and a bad apple, he takes the good one—because he is a boy. But what if he is offered only the bad apple? What is the use of talking to these slum-bound, poverty-stricken boys of the Empire on which the sun never sets, if they live in a cement-walled court in which the sun never even shines; of cleanliness of body if their only opportunity to bathe is in the rain; of the sanctity of woman and beauty of love if their only opportunities in this direction are conducive to sin? I recall how much it was against my real nature when I started the glide downward, as a boy. When I left the army, I decided that since a portion of my life had been devoted, against my will, to the killing of men, that the balance would be spent in trying to save them."

Mr. Butterworth related some amusing incidents in connection with his army life; he was enlisted in the "Bantam" regiment, which was composed of men five feet and under in height, and told of the difficulty in securing uniforms of proper size.

Must Aid Boys
"Unless the inherent good in a boy is greater than the evil he may acquire through worldly contact, there can be no God; I think the answer is obvious," went on the speaker. "It remains for us to do all in our power to bring out that inherent good. The world is a maelstrom of good and evil forces, and it is just a matter of which gets hold of a boy first. The present day boy is the citizen of the future; in him lies the answer to Communism or citizenship."

Mr. Butterworth said that he felt the psychologist was hardly adequate to the task of helping underprivileged boys. He related that a prison governor once laid several photographs of persons on a table, and asked a psychologist to pick out the criminal types. This he did, and on turning the photos over, found that each one was a prominent citizen in good standing, their names being on the back of the pictures.

If a boy is found early enough and given the proper training, there is little doubt that he will become a good citizen, declared Mr. Butterworth.

He then traced the history of the "Temple of Youth," and said that in the beginning they decided to blast open the theory that "anything is good enough for the poor." They acquired an old warehouse, he went on, and had it painted and altered. The plans of that building are now in the Royal Academy, he added. The founders clung to their visions in spite of the contempt, open hostility, (Continued on Page 3)

Sing-Songs Attracting Huge Crowds

Weekly Thursday Night Feature at Athletic Grounds Successful

Due to the English rugby game to be staged at the Athletic grounds on Thursday night between a local Scottish fifteen and a team from the Scottish School Boys' group now visiting Canada, the sing-song scheduled for that evening has been cancelled, it is officially announced by the city's recreation department. The teams will play until dark, and the time required for setting up the sound apparatus and screen will make it too late to hold the sing-song. However, one will be held the following week.

More than two thousand enthusiastic persons gathered at the Westmount Athletic Grounds last Thursday night for the weekly sing-song staged by the city's recreation department. A splendid variety entertainment was put on by the Westmount Y.M.C.A., and Mr. William Max Ford, principal of King's School more than lived up to his reputation as a community song-leader.

Since the initial sing song staged last month, the crowds attending these functions have increased by leaps and bounds. Each week sees every person who attended the previous sing-songs back again, and bringing at least two friends with him.

These community events, besides proving popular, have brought a free source of fun and entertainment to thousands. Grown ups and young ones alike join in the songs, the youngsters profiting greatly by being kept off the streets and perhaps out of mischief, and the older folks enjoying the relaxation and friendly, sociable atmosphere always present in a happy crowd.

The songs are chosen from a comprehensive list including modern, and old-time favourites, all popular, and which everyone knows. The large, readily seen screen, on which the words are flashed, help those who may have forgotten a passage or two, and the capable leadership of Mr. Ford plays no insignificant part in making the sing songs a success.

If you have not yet attended a sing song, you are missing something. Make up your mind to go to the next one.

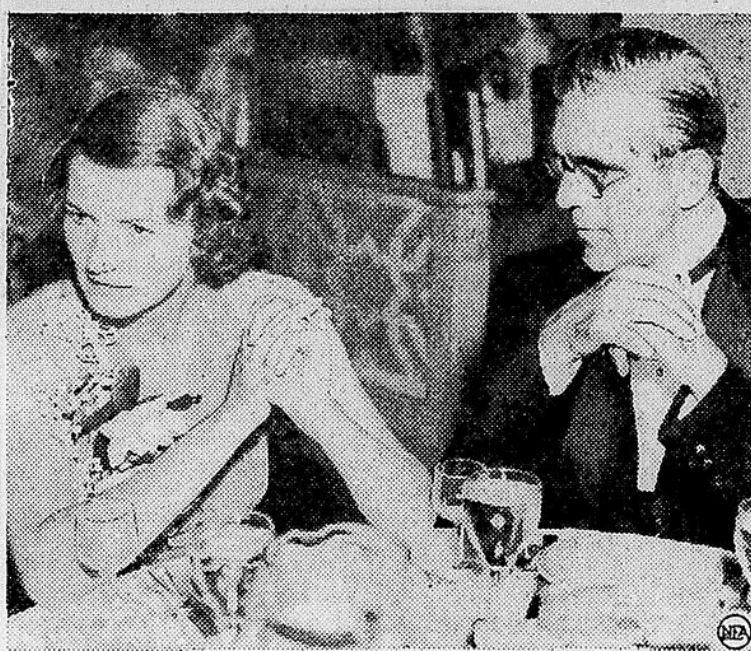

Examiner Scorns Superstition Prints A Friday 13th Edition

(Ed. Note:—We would like to hear of any and all good luck befalling our Westmount residents on this Friday 13th. Just write the editor.)

"This Friday the thirteenth, the luckiest day, if we disbelieve superstition, the day when our long dreamed of ship will come home, defying the ancient tradition. To-day we defy all the tenets of myth, and eagerly look for the best, while those who foretell that no good will come forth, are sourly put to the test."

This day is the best one to scorn all the rules, of keeping in well with the imps; so daringly cross all your knives and your forks, and thumb your old nose at the shrimps. If you see a ladder against a high wall, with nerve and abandon you near it; and walk underneath with a nonchalant air, and show the world that you don't fear it.

MOVIE WIVES SHARE THE SPOTLIGHT

Introducing—two charming film colony wives who, while not as well known as their husbands, to the fan world, nevertheless are important in the Hollywood scene. At top, enjoying a laugh with her husband, a radio and screen notable, is Mrs. Don Ameche. And in lower photo, rather quizzically looking over the crowd at the hotel dinner dance where the photos were made, is Mrs. Boris Karloff, seated beside her husband, star of "thriller" mystery movies.

City Entertained Guests From Old Country Monday

Members of National Association of Local Government Officers Attended Luncheon in Victoria Hall—Mayor Jenkins Spoke—Notables Present

The City of Westmount played host on Monday to members of the National Association of Local Government Officers at a delightful luncheon function in Victoria Hall. The group is touring Eastern Canada studying methods of governing Canadian cities.

Mayor Jenkins extended an official greeting to the visitors, and gave a brief outline of the system of civic government employed by this city. He described the functions of the various permanent city officials, and pointed out that being in office over a period of years and not subject to change with every administration, they were thoroughly familiar with their work.

He added that "permanent city officials are the only ones who really give a city good government, as mayors come and go but the permanent officials stay on." Thomas John, Town Clerk of Penarth, Glamorganshire, responded for the visitors. He outlined the character of the organization to which they belonged, saying that its membership included town officials from the highest executive to the lowest.

Among those present at the luncheon were H. Roy, mayor of Beauharnois; Napoleon Courtemanche, mayor of Montreal East; Ald. Charles Bourassa, of Outremont, secretary of the Union of Municipalities; Ald. W. H. Biggar, president of the Metropolitan Commission; W. W. Armistage, Sheffield, president of the N.A.L.G.O.; L. Hill, O.B.E., London general secretary of the N.A.L.G.O.; H. Wright, London, special activities secretary of the N.A.L.G.O.; Aldermen D. Lorimer, W. B. Scott, Kirk McLeod, and B. Panet Raymond, P. E. Jarman, city manager; George Mooney, Pierre Boucher, and R. Belanger, of the department of planning and research, Metropolitan Commission.

In the afternoon the officials visited the power plant at Beauharnois, and in the evening were guests of the city of Montreal at a dinner in the chalet on Mount Royal.

Mrs. Seward Burial Held On Saturday
Prince Albert Avenue Resident Was in Her Eightieth Year; Was Native of England

Funeral services were held Saturday at the Chapel of Jos. C. Wray and Brother, Mountain St., for Mrs. John James Seward, who died at her home, 533 Prince Albert avenue, on Thursday in her eightieth year.

Formerly Elizabeth Louisa Thorne, Mrs. Seward was born in England, and came to Canada with her husband about thirty years ago. Mr. Seward, formerly manager of the Bovril Company, retired from active business several years ago.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Seward is survived by two sons, Horace and Norman, of Montreal, and two daughters, Mrs. F. Fries and Mrs. J. Carlton, both of England. Burial followed in the Mount Royal Cemetery.

Improvement Is Noted At Murray Park

City Has Also Acquired Property at South End of Bruce Avenue—Converted Into a Playground

A considerable area has been added to Murray Park by the recent acquisition and levelling of the old Lighthall property on Murray avenue. The old house, which was torn down about a month ago, was squarely in the centre of a large piece of land that jutted abruptly into the east side of the park; with the removal of the house and fences, a spacious territory has been made available.

All traces of the building have completely disappeared, due to skillful work by the Parks department. The site has been carefully graded and sodded, and only the keenest of observers can note that the surface is not quite so smooth and "weathered" as the rest of the park. The outlines of the old property, where a wood and wirework fence marked the boundaries, can scarcely be seen.

A number of fine big trees stand on the land, and are now the property of the city. The fence on Murray avenue has been removed, and a clear view of the rock garden can be had from the south end of the park.

The Lighthall residence was erected in 1894 by W. D. Lighthall, K.C., later a council member and mayor of Westmount. It was one of the landmarks of the city, and commanded a fine view of the lower town.

New Playground

The city recently acquired a vacant lot at the foot of Bruce avenue next to the C.P.R. right of way, and has converted it into a playground. A sandbox and drinking fountain have been installed, and shrubbery will be planted as soon as possible.

The site has been smoothed and sodded, and is considerably improved over the former unkempt condition in which it was kept. It embraces an area of approximately 4,000 square feet.

Girls Enjoy Hobbies And Crafts Here

Soap Carving, Needlework, Leatherwork, Carried on Under Direction of Competent Supervisors

Houses, churches, stores, buildings, fish, turtles, dogs, cats, all carved in soap.

These are just a few of the things being made by Westmount youngsters under the direction of Misses Attwood and Dafeo, as part of the city's recreational program for children. Regular classes are carried on, and the children need no urging to induce their participation.

Miss Attwood is directing a group of children from the Staynor Park district in the carving of a model village out of cakes of soap. The soap being soft, yet firm, is easily workable, and readily takes fancy shapes under the children's knives. Miss Dafeo is in charge of youngsters from Westmount and Murray Parks, and they are carving a model menagerie in soap.

Papier-mache work is also carried on, the principal objects made being small dishes and bowls. These are cleverly fashioned from real chinaware used as a mold. The papier-mache products are painted and then picture transfers of flowers and various designs are placed on them.

Leatherwork was started recently, and a number of objects in various stages of completion were shown to an Examiner representative. These included key-cases, purses, pocketbooks, etc., all carefully cut to shape and punched for threading and binding.

Needlework is popular, and a number of girls are busy making "halters," aprons, etc. Girls sixteen years of age and under are engaged in these hobbies.

Woman Is Killed In Early Morning Smash Thursday

Mrs. David Richey Loses Life When Cars Collide at Metcalfe and Sherbrooke; Ivanhoe Frigon Badly Injured—Car Knocked Over on Side—Two Men Seen to Leave Vehicle and Run Away After Mishap

An inquest will be held today into the death of Mrs. David Richey, killed early yesterday morning in a motor smash at the corner of Metcalfe avenue and Sherbrooke street. The inquest was originally scheduled for yesterday, but was held off until today, probably due to the condition of Ivanhoe Frigon, who was badly hurt in the collision.

Mrs. David Richey, 36 years of age, of 1806 Dorchester street west, apartment three, was killed and Mr. Ivanhoe Frigon, 48, merchant, of Amos, Que., was badly hurt early Thursday morning when two cars collided at the intersection of Sherbrooke street and Metcalfe avenue.

The smash occurred at 2:27 a.m. According to information furnished police, the car driven by Frigon was proceeding east on Sherbrooke street, when it struck a car driven south on Metcalfe avenue, by Paul Bedard, 4344 Decarie boulevard, a sales crew manager.

Witnesses claim that Frigon's vehicle passed a red traffic light. Lieut. Byford of the Westmount Police was shortly on the scene, and made a thorough investigation. The examination tended to show that Frigon's car struck the rear right wheel of Bedard's vehicle, causing it to make a complete about face. When police arrived it was lying on its left side facing west. Frigon was still in his car when the police arrived and had to be removed.

Witnesses say that the doors of Bedard's car flew open after the impact, flinging Mrs. Richey out. It was also learned that two men were seen to leave Frigon's car after the smash and run away. On being questioned, Frigon is said to have denied knowing the men, having met them in a club during the evening.

Frigon was taken to the Western Division of the Montreal General Hospital in an ambulance. Dr. J. Conroy pronounced Mrs. Richey dead, and the morgue wagon was called for her body.

Executive Post Given Resident
The election of Miss Verity Mitchell of this city, as treasurer of the British Empire Club of the Columbia University Summer Session at New York took place recently.

The club, organized 27 years ago to direct the extra-curricular activities of summer session students from the British Empire, has a membership of 178 this year. All of the states in the Union and thirty-five foreign countries, as well as Puerto Rico, the Hawaiian Islands, and the Canal Zone, are represented in the Columbia student body this summer. Canada, with 162 students, has the largest foreign representation.

Editor's Tired Brain Just Rocks With Wisdom About Flower Clocks

Well, it seems we really started something two weeks ago with our innocent article on the local flower clock, and how the American stopped to photograph it, and so on. Fate is like that; you never know what is going to happen as a result of some small incident until it actually happens.

We were literally snowed under with letters, comments and information on flower clocks. What we didn't learn about flower clocks last week seems to us not worth knowing. And we are still getting mail, telephone calls, etc., about them. The following, for instance: 1 Rosemount avenue, Aug. 9.

The Editor, The Examiner,
Dear Sir: Re your request for information on flower clocks. There has been one on the "Princes Parade" at Bridlington, Yorkshire, England, for many years. I should say, at least twenty five years, and as far as I know it is still there. If I remember rightly, the hour is sounded by Cuckoo.

There was also a floral staircase and carpet, and they were really lovely. Sincerely yours, Emily Reed.

Thanks kindly. We are fying your letter away in our newly-opened "Flower Clock" drawer, and when we get old and gray (or bald) we can read over our correspondence on flower clocks, and reminisce on the days when we started something like a small riot.

WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS CONVENTION

The Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association is meeting in annual convention this week in Halifax, and The Examiner is being represented by its President, H. E. McCormick. Mr. McCormick left Montreal in company with a delegation of weekly newspaper proprietors assembled at Montreal from surrounding cities and towns, and was accompanied by Mrs. McCormick. The convention will study all aspects of the publishing business from such technical problems as those of typographical make-up to those respecting advertising lineage and editorial policy. The interchange of ideas, the discussion of mutual problems and the presentation of viewpoints from widely separated parts of the country, are designed with the object of making the weekly newspaper more useful to the community—of constantly improving service both to readers and advertisers.

LIBERAL ANNIVERSARY

This week the Prime Minister, Mr. Mackenzie King, celebrates the twenty-eighth anniversary of his election to leadership of the Liberal party. Mr. King's election came as a surprise to many of the delegates to the 1919 convention of the party, as he was not generally well known outside literary and scientific circles, in the Cabinet of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He was a protégé of Laurier's, even as Laurier himself was a protégé of Sir Alexander Mackenzie, Canada's first Liberal premier. Incidentally, Mackenzie, Laurier, and King have been Canada's only Liberal premiers, but each served for many years.

A brilliant university student, Mr. King early won degrees in Arts, Law, and Philosophy, and won scholarships at Harvard and abroad. He entered public life at the invitation of Sir William Muloch, and became Laurier's Minister of Labour. He was later invited to undertake a world-wide study of capital-labour relations on behalf of the Rockefeller Foundation, and his book, "Industry and Humanity" is the result of those studies, which were interrupted by the war. He was the mediator in the terrible Colorado strikes which shook the continued just before the war, and he later organized American munition supplies to the Allied armies. He was a representative of the British government at one or two conferences at the Hague, and was also one of the administrators of the Canadian Patriotic Fund.

In spite of all this activity, however, he was comparatively little known in Canada, chiefly because he instinctively dislikes publicity of all kinds. When his name came before the convention few seriously thought of him as a leader. But he made a speech that won the delegates wholesale from the other candidates, and the party has never regretted its choice.

HORTICULTURAL SHOW

An event of unusual interest to local residents interested in gardening, is the annual flower show of the West End Horticultural Society, scheduled for August 18 and 19 at St. Luke's Church Hall, Decarie Boulevard. It is anticipated that this year's show will exceed all previous ones held by this organization both in number of entries and in interest evoked.

The West End Horticultural Society is enjoying considerable popularity which is an excellent thing, incidentally, for the district. There were forty entries in the recent garden and porch box competition conducted by the society, and it is further significant of the growth of the Society that the majority of the prize winners are new members of the Society this year.

SECOND SIGHT

Persons possessed of normal sight often are astounded by the manner in which blind persons find their way about.

Tests just completed at Duke University in North Carolina indicate that the blind actually have some such thing as "second sight." It is not pretended that this "sight" is in any way as good as proper sight, but it does perhaps explain why those without eyesight can do many things that would seem impossible.

The tests were made by having blind people call the faces of unseen cards. The experts had all figured out how often a person, by sheer chance, could call the cards correctly. The blind exceeded this ratio by a "stupendous mathematical figure," reports state. Those in charge of the experiments were convinced that something more than sheer luck entered into their calling of the cards. The only explanation they have is that the blind have some sort of "second sight."

THE FORUM

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

Conducted by Howard S. Ross, K.C.

NOTE:—The opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily those of this newspaper and it does not accept responsibility for them. They are published for their general interest, variety and originality of treatment.

Where the women are fully occupied at home you do not hear of their going outside the home. Where they are not, it is a waste to have their potentialities turned exclusively to golf and bridge and kindred pursuits.

If for the moment we wish to say to all individuals, both men and women, "you must give up earning anything beyond what you actually need for existence and for the moment remain idle because there is not enough work in the world to give people more than the necessities of life," very well, then, but that must be said to men and women alike.

It seems to me that in this progressive country of ours there will be little satisfaction with that attitude as a permanent one and that the brains of men and women will be busy devising ways for new work where the satisfaction of work may be enjoyed by men and women alike. The fruits of this work may through better methods of distribution eventually mean for people richer and fuller lives.

—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, in an article "Freedom For Women" in Freedom, a monthly published at 526 West Washington Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif.

Canada has twelve species of fish each of which are worth more than one million dollars each year. In financial importance they are: salmon, lobster, cod, herring, whitefish, halibut, haddock, sardine, pickerel, trout, smelt and pilchard.

We have three hundred and fifty eight million acres of land fit for farming or stock raising and only one-fifth in use. On that one-fifth we have become the world's largest wheat growers for export. We are first in asbestos—first in nickel—and first in newsprint, and second in coal. Britain has only one-sixth as much coal as we have. Alberta has one-seventh of all the coal in the world—one million tons for each man, woman and child in the province.

In such a world as that in which we are living we cannot take the position that the use of force is ever justifiable.—Bishop Manning.

While the common people endured great hardships and even at times, famine, the army was the pet of a government which sheared. Evidently her loyalty would not have stood the loss of more and more exorbitant privileges. Fed, quartered and paid far better than ordinary citizens, the "military" knew their own importance. Their faith in Communism depended on its non-application to themselves.—From Journal de Geneve.

The army is thus in Russia an organ whose very existence is a denial to the Communist doctrine. It could not be Communist at heart, and was bound sooner or later to come into conflict with the civil government. Now this government is a dictatorship. Like all dictatorships its power rests on force, on the army. It seems that the Soviets were dependent on the will of the Red Army. What was, or is, that will?—Journal de Geneve (Switzerland).

Mr. Hearst suffers a set back in the suspending of his New York American. It was his morning newspaper in the metropolis and the paper on which he rode to fame and fortune 42 years ago when he left San Francisco to become a national figure. For some time it has been rumored that the American has been losing large sums each year but no one dreamed the owner would allow it to die. The newspaper world is asking questions as to Mr. Hearst's financial position. The American carried a slogan—"A paper for people who think." Some folk will be so unkind as to suggest that perhaps they thought too much.

It's good for a man to be contented, but no good for the place he lives in. Contented people never stir up things or throw light into dark corners or let air into stuffy places.—Eden Phillpotts.

Letters To The Editor

The Editor,
The Examiner,

Dear Sir:—Many persons would like to know what the "Freedom of the Press" really means. This so called freedom is frequently condemned by people who imagine that they alone have the welfare of the community at heart.

We have laws which protect people from being defamed by editors and writers, but we seldom ever hear of this law being broken, and perhaps never by reputable writers. What then do we need over and above this. Who is going to watch over the editor's desk to tell him what to leave out or what to pass along to the composing room? Where is the man fitted for the position, unbiased and free from the desire to advance some scheme or doctrine of his own or to curtail that of others?

From any point of view the idea of control of the press in a democratic country is not practical, in fact would not be possible. With people protected by laws referred to above, it should be the editor's purpose to write the truth, and let the cap fit the head on which it falls. Truth will make us free, falsehood never.

The thought of even partial control of the press would fill the mind of the average Canadian reader with serious suspicion. What articles would be curtailed for his special benefit would be just what he would mostly miss. If the spoken or written language is true, it is seldom that other than good will result, if false it will fall of its own weakness.

We affirm that progress is only possible on the basis of equal freedom of speech and publications; that liberty belongs of right to all, and that free criticism of institutions and ideas is essential to a civilized state.

Neither religion nor politics should control the press. We have too many varieties of each, and it would seem that the press is getting more independent as the years go by, therefore more useful.

This I believe is the opinion of most intelligent citizens at the present time.

HENRY PRYSKY

Noted journalist, who is chief publicity agent, manager and organizer of the forthcoming Air Pageant, to be staged at St. Hubert, August 28th and 29th.

SPECIAL KIDDIES DAY AT AIR SHOW

Opportunity to be Afforded Orphans and Poor Children to See Pageant

The organizers of the Franco-Canadian Air Pageant, to be held at St. Hubert Airport on August 28 and 29, Henri Dravet and Rene Gammeau, directors of L'Air Propagande, Paris, organizers of the air show, and Henry Pryskey, Canadian pageant manager and local organizer, wish to afford an opportunity for the orphans and poor children of Montreal to see an air show, to see what aviation really is and to make them air-minded.

Officials of the various orphanages, social clubs and charitable organizations are requested to communicate with the air pageant headquarters, 903 Confederation Building, to make arrangements for their proteges. Tickets will be given them for as many children as for August 28th, the opening day of the show.

The famous fliers taking part in the pageant will be pleased to give exhibitions for the children, shake hands with them, and explain to them the various aeronautical performances. Among these will be Michel Detroit, Marcel Doret, Rene Drouillet, Captain Davis, Lieuts. Conrad and Dumont, etc. These daring aviators will be pleased to present their best flying ability for the invited little guests of the management.

The organization work is practically completed. The mechanics and planes left France yesterday aboard the Ausonia and will be in Montreal on August 13. The fliers will arrive a week later.

Variety Is The 'Spice Of Life'

The day when the four walls of a room were prosaically the same have passed. The decorators who set the trend in wall fashions have heard that "variety is the spice of life" and laid their schemes accordingly.

For the housewife who loves colour but feels that plain walls would set off her furniture and rugs to better advantage, the idea of a metropolitan decorator is recommended. The walls of a living room are finished in a dull blue but on one side, directly opposite the fire place, a panel is covered with figure wall paper.

The gay colours are reflected in the mirror which hangs on the opposite wall. This idea may be used over a fireplace when the housewife does not have a picture or other object which she considers a suitable decoration for the spot.

Under the Home Improvement Plan funds for interior decoration may be had at a very low rate of interest. These may be repaid over a period of three years, if desired, in small instalments.

SIN FINDS HIM OUT

A jury was being selected for case in a Los Angeles court. Prospective Juror L. Wilden was being questioned as to his fitness. His record appeared good until he was asked if he had ever been arrested for anything. By way of answer, Wilden hung his head and squirmed uncomfortably. The court insisted that he give the details of the crime for which he was arrested. "Your Honor," Wilden said shamefacedly "it was for speeding on a bicycle back in 1906."

MARKSMEN WIN PRIZES AT OTTAWA

Sgt. William Ewing and Lieut. James Boa Win Walker and Harold L. Borden Memorial Matches in D.R.A. Shoot

Sgt. William Ewing and Lieut. James Boa, both well known in Westmount and district, "cleaned up" in the Walker and Harold L. Borden memorial matches at Ottawa Tuesday in the shoot of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association. These two matches were the major events in the annual meet at the capital's Connaught Ranges.

Sgt. Ewing, jr., is but 22 years of age, and partook in the recent Biesley matches in England. The Walker trophy fell easily into his hands. Lieut. Boa, famed revolver shooter, captured the Harold L. Borden Memorial match without difficulty.

Continuing the accuracy which last year rocketed him to a spot in the 1937 Biesley team, young Ewing outlasted terrific heat and outgassed a shimmering mirage to post 69 points, one short of possible and win the Walker. He dropped one shot at 500 yards in to the inner circle and finished with 34 points. He was at his best at 200, where he placed seven regulation shots into the bull's-eye for a possible 35.

In a time limit of 45 seconds Lieut. Boa found the target 300 yards away for a score of 44 points, six short of possible. Five were tagged for the bull's-eye, four for the inner circle and one for the magpie.

Other leading Quebec scores were: Borden—Pte. E. Doig, 41; Pte. A. Cruikshank, Sherbrooke, 39; Major J. W. Holden, Sherbrooke, 39; H. T. Forsythe, Montreal, 39; Lieut. P. J. Martinson, La Tuque, Que., 38; mirage to post 66 points, tied with 19 others. Last week at the Ontario meet he tasted victory for the first time in his young career by winning the Tyro match.

Lieut. James Boa, Montreal revolver marksman, was crowned king of rapid fire riflemen when he won the Harold L. Borden Memorial match.

In a time limit of 45 seconds, the Montreal sniper planted 10 rounds on the target, at 300 yards, for a score of 44 points, six short of a possible and one more than his nearest competitor, Captain Desmond T. Burke, of Ottawa.

Sgt. Carl Iddolls, rapid fire expert of Calgary, was third with 42.

Lieut. Boa, one of Canada's most consistent shots, found little difficulty in reaching the target. Five were tagged for the bull's eye, four were inners and one a magpie.

Besides winning the $20 award he received a challenge cup and medalion, presented by the late Sir F. W. Borden, former Minister of Militia and National Defence, as a memorial of his son, Harold Borden, killed in action in South Africa.

For the second year in a row Capt. Burke, a former King's Prize winner and once considered the king of rapid fire competition, was edged out of first place. He finished second last year with 45, one less than Sgt. Ewing. He sent four bullets through the black today, and notched five inners and one magpie. Sgt. Iddolls, winner of the Gibson rapid fire match at the Ontario meet two years ago, scored three bulls, six inners and one magpie.

Moderate Shoulder Width By Seaming

New York.—Sleeve tops introduce moderate shoulder width, done with seaming rather than gathers. The dresses to be worn in the hot July and August days have short sleeves, especially the late-afternoon ones that will go to a partying after 5. But on those that will carry on into fall the sleeves are longer; they come below the elbow—a challenge to good taste in the selection of gloves.

A lawyer was assisting two men in drawing up articles of partnership. The lawyer went through the documents before the final signing, and suddenly said: "But there is no mention of fire or bankruptcy; these must go in."

"Quite right," said the partners, speaking at once. "Put them in; but the profits are to be divided equally in both cases."

Flower Show To Be Held Wednesday And Thursday Next

Premier Event of Local Season to be Held in St. Luke's Church Hall — Numerous Varieties of Flowers Will be on Display — Wild Flower Section — Vegetables Will Also Be Shown — W. R. Bulloch and W. Allen Walsh to Officiate

The major event of the season from a flower lover's standpoint will take place on Wednesday and Thursday of next week, Aug. 18 and 19, when the West End Horticultural Society hold their annual flower show at St. Luke's Church Hall, 3480 Decarie Blvd. On this occasion the choicest blooms from many gardens in this district will be on display. It is a wonderful sight to view the numerous varieties of flowers of various shades and colours, from the tall and stately gladioli down to the pansy.

There are many beautifully decorated baskets of all sizes and shapes and the floral centre pieces for dining room table decoration are visions of loveliness. There are classes to suit every taste, from the youngest to the oldest. In the floral section there is an open class in which anyone may compete; an amateur class for those who maintain a garden for their own pleasure and do not employ help, and a junior section for children, (including a wild flower contest). A vegetable section is provided for those amateurs who also like to provide fresh vegetables for the dining table. The ladies have a section of their own, where you will see preserves that make your mouth water, and cakes that seem to invite you to taste them.

A refreshment booth under the direction of Mrs. W. Clare White, Mrs. J. G. McKay and Mrs. F. Read will provide light refreshments. Prizes to the approximate value of 200 dollars will be awarded in the various classes, in addition to several beautiful cups and trophies. These cups and those won in the recent Garden Contest are on display in the window of the Royal Bank at the corner of Sherbrooke and Decarie Blvd.

The exhibition will be open to the public on Wednesday from 7.00 to 11.00 p.m. and on Thursday from 3.00 p.m. to 10.00 p.m. Mr. W. R. Bulloch, M.L.A., will officiate at the opening on Wednesday evening and it is expected that Mr. W. Allen Walsh, M.P., will distribute the prizes to fortunate exhibition and garden contest winners on Thursday evening. There is no admission charge, and all citizens should show their appreciation of the splendid work being done by this energetic and public spirited society by visiting the exhibition. Any person desiring to compete may obtain additional information by phoning the secretary-treasurer, W. J. Looker, DEX-ter 5559.

Asks That More . . .

and many difficulties thrown in their way by other organizations. They persisted, however, and what they have accomplished in the years since is history.

His many Boys' clubs, he said, are now being run by original members of his first group. Many of the toughest characters in London's slum districts, he went on, who originally joined the Temple to "bust up the place and smash the parson" are now his most trusted and active workers in the cause of aiding the underprivileged boy.

"A nation's youth is a nation's future," he said in concluding. He urged all his hearers to participate in boys' work, as there is a sad dearth the world over of active workers in this cause.

Vice president Stan Neilson was in the chair.

Dr. Marion Smith Preaches Sunday

On Sunday Dr. Marion Smith of Clarisburg, West Virginia, will bring his visit to Westmount Baptist Church to a close. In the morning his subject will be "Thirsting for God," and in the evening he will speak on "The World's Greatest Love Story." Dr. Smith will also sing at both services and in the evening by special request he will sing "Shadows" written by Robert Harkness and now recognized as one of the great sacred songs of the present generation.

covered enclosure, a reproduction on a big scale of the huts in which they live. There are only some five hundred of them left. They are rapidly becoming extinct. They make their homes in the Florida Everglades, a terrain of swamps, bayous, dank foliage and mystery, where the sun seldom shines, and where the deadly moccasin, one of the most venomous of reptiles on the North American continent, lurks at every turning. The braves put on a fierce wrestling match with the 'gators in the tank, an entertaining but highly dangerous enterprise, since the vicious saurians are untractable. The show is unusual and is well and none have ever been trained. worthy of a visit.

The "Flying Flea" second of the off-the-trail features, is distinctly scientific. It is claimed for it that it is "the flivver plane of the future." Tiny as compared to everyday models, it is said to have been thoroughly tested and found entirely practicable and trustworthy. Its wing spread is approximately 20 feet and its length from tail to tip 10 feet. It has flown the English Channel, 21 miles, in 35 minutes. Of revolutionary design, its gasoline supply is carried in the wings, with a capacity of 30 gallons, sufficient for 336 flying miles. It is of British manufacture, and a number of "Flying Flea" clubs have been organized in and around London, and are regularly flying the plane. It is housed in an ornate hangar, and courteous attendants are ever prepared to demonstrate its construction and answer questions. There is no charge for admission. It is hoped shortly that arrangements will be made both in Canada and the United States whereby the "Flying Flea" will be manufactured and marketed on this side of the Atlantic. Those interested in aviation, from either a commercial or a pleasure angle should inspect it.

All day long and well into the night, since its opening on Monday, steady streams of people have wended their way by tram, motor and afoot, to view with the keenest interest the widely diversified and cosmopolitan collection of horses, cattle, poultry, guinea hens, rabbits—everything that can be associated with the popular conception of the well-kept farm. There are, too, the inevitable sheep and swine, dairy and farm machinery, minerals and veterinary supplies, and an elaborate display from the Provincial Department of Agriculture, topped off with a varied exhibit under the same top, of what the well-dressed man and woman will wear this autumn in footwear.

Among the cattle the Jersey herds attract a great deal of attention, and the Holsteins are not far behind. Other breeds are also very well represented. The giant Black Percherons easily take the lead in the heavy draft category, while among the lighter animals, in addition to the horse show entries, the mounts of the Royal Northwest and the City of Montreal Mounted police come in for much pointing and a vast deal of admiration.

The show is so extensive, covering, as it does every inch of space of King's Park and a great deal of additional acreage, that to visit every point of interest in one day is quite beyond the powers of an ordinary mortal. Performances in front of the grand stand and on the race track alone take up close to three hours both afternoon and evening. There are trotting races for valuable purses. There are screamingly funny clown acts. There is the parading of the live stock, the judging of the entries in the Horse Show, and all the rest of it.

And there's the "Gasp Girl" and the Delanos, the last two trapeze acts of widely different character. The "Gasp Girl" is aptly named, for she slips at lightning speed to hang by her heels, her fingers, her toes, almost every conceivable spot where a slender trapeze bar could fit into the human body, and the shrill shrieks of terror of the onlookers are plainly audible lest she slips too much, and possibly break her neck. The Delanos "do their stuff" a hundred feet in the air—and there's no net. The faintest mistake would inevitably mean death in a frightfully disagreeable form. Neither act is soothing to frayed nerves. And when one has had enough of this, there is always something else.

The "something else" usually turns out to be the Midway. One naturally gravitates there sooner or later anyway. It is the home of the "World of Mirth," heralded as "bigger than any circus." Be that as it may, it is most emphatically big. It takes almost half an hour to walk through it alone. How long it would take to see all the shows and try out all the rides goodness only knows. There are over a hundred of them, and as new as modernistic design and gold leaf can make them. The "girl" shows predominate, but there are two which might be singled out as off the trail. One, that of the Seminole Indians and their giant alligators, has not only an entertaining but a distinct educational value. The Seminoles are housed in an expansive fronteras, and the camera should be on a tripod or held securely with a camera clamp. The exposure should be from 1/2 to one second.

Wind is a problem, of course. At such close distances movement of the subject makes more difference. It is worth while to wait for a moment when the blossom is motionless. If you find the wind too blowy, devise a wind-breaker of some sort. Hazy days, or when the sun is shining under light clouds, makes the ideal time for flower pictures. Direct bright sunshine is not desirable, but if you can't wait for better conditions, give your subject the protection of a cheesecloth screen. Better results are obtained in the early morning or late afternoon when the light is less harsh and comes from the side. This is especially true for cup-shaped flowers. Nearby foliage, or other blossoms not wanted, may be tied back with string or cut away. A piece of stiff gray cardboard placed behind the flower often is a better background than the natural one.

Sometimes, if you are patient enough to wait, a roving bee will enter the chalice of your flower. Click! Your patience is rewarded with a picture that is a perfect symbol of summertime.

JOE LOUIS CATCHES UP ON HIS TRUCKIN'

It wouldn't be surprising to catch Joe Louis truckin' in the Harlem manner, but to see him busy at this version really is. The heavy-weight champion, on arrival at New York to train for a bout with Tommy Farr, goes in for truckin' that will develop his arms rather than his legs.

Rabbit, Australia's National Pest, Now Used For Fox Food

During the last few months the importation of frozen rabbits from Australia has begun again, after being in abeyance for a number of years. These rabbits, however, are not imported for human food but for fox-feeding purposes.

Advices from Australia say that the rabbit pest in that country is now well under control, particularly in Victoria and New South Wales, although not in Queensland. Old timers in Australia tell us that at one time, when the rabbit pest was at its worst, the ground seemed to move with them. They ate every leaf of vegetation just like a plague of locusts. They came on to the roads in droves. That English rabbit was introduced into Australia by well-meaning but thoughtless people.

Canadians who visit Europe, especially the British Isles, are amazed to see the rows and rows of rabbits hanging up in the meat shops ready for sale and to find that rabbit meat is a favourite dish. Indeed, hare soup is a most highly regarded delicacy.

It is not so in this country and the chief reason appears to be that in the late fall and early winter, when the meat should be at its best, the rabbits are feeding on the bark of trees and shrubs, especially cedar, with the result that the meat has an unpleasant taste. Before the snow covers the ground is the time to get rabbit.

MGM To Produce Captain And Kids Cartoon Series

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer announces signing of a contract to produce a series of thirteen 1937-38 cartoon shorts, based on the popular comic strip, "The Captain and the Kids." This will be the first venture of its kind to be undertaken directly under the production auspices of a major company.

"The Captain and the Kids," by Rudolph Dirks, first appeared in 1897, and has been published regularly for the past forty years, longer than any other strip being syndicated today. It is currently serviced by United Features to seventy daily newspapers with a total circulation of 1,075,342, and ninety-six Sunday newspapers with combined circulation of 3,992,121.

The new cartoon department at Culver City is being organized by Fred C. Quimby, in charge of short subject activities for M-G-M.

Harman-Ising has a number of additional cartoon subjects still to be delivered on the current season release schedule.

The Four Cronins Billed At Belmont Park Monday

Peerless and fearless the four Cronins come to Belmont Park on Monday to bring back to the Cartierville amusement centre the combination of fun and thrills that has been so popular this summer. The Peerless Cronins, according to the park management, equal the funniest of the fun acts seen at the park this summer and at the same time come very near equalling the most daring performers for fearlessness overhead.

Described as a four-man casting symphony, the Cronins perform a series of unique and rhythmic daring plunges and devilish catches high in mid-air and spice their performance with delicious and dynamic comedy. Touring the United States they have been a sensational success and come to Belmont Park as one of the headline acts of a headline season.

Over the week-end the Flying Otaris, the most popular performers to visit Belmont in the past five years, will continue their thrilling aerial act, performing in the open air on Saturday and Sunday. Last minute efforts were made to have these sensational German-born artists remain for another week but previous bookings which could not be cancelled made a longer engagement impossible. The Otaris, the park management reports, are not only the most expensive act on tour today but are also the hardest to book. "Belmont Park," Rex D. Billings, manager, says, "was extremely fortunate in getting the Otaris here for even two weeks. We could keep them here for a whole season and the people would never get tired of them for they are undoubtedly the best outdoor act in the world today. But we have to let them go and since we can't duplicate their daring, the best thing we can do is bring in an act that makes up for daring with plenty of humor. Belmont fans this season, and there are several hundred thousand of them apparently, have shown us on several occasions that they want the best acts in the world. We have tried to give these acts to them. The Peerless Cronins are not Otaris. They do not attempt many of the stunts that the Otaris have made famous across America and Europe. But in two weeks, while the Otaris were here, we haven't heard a laugh. And Montrealers like to laugh too. So next week we come the boys who know that life is not all serious. They pack plenty of fun, and visitors to Belmont next week will appreciate the antics of these goofy boys as much as they will their skill in the air."

Saturday and Sunday Belmont Park will again be crowded with Montreal fun enthusiasts. It's cool out by the river and thousands of Montrealers who are becoming bored by heat will take the highway or the tramway out to the Cartierville amusement park where dancing is a pleasure, where speed boats take miniature sea voyages, where the rides are thrilling and chilling and where shade trees and shaded paths make life worth living.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ross, Chesterfield Ave., have left for Metis Beach, where they will spend some time guests at the Boule Rock Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Hanson, de Casson Road, and their small son, Derrick, are spending a month at Kennebunk Beach, Maine.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. W. Harvey-Jellie, Western Ave., and Miss Patrie Harvey-Jellie, have returned from an extended stay at Kennebunk Beach, Maine.

The marriage of Madeleine Sidley, daughter of the late Henry P. Graham and of Mrs. Graham, Cote St. Antoine Road, to John H. Sullivan, son of Lieut.-Col. John A. Sullivan, K.C., Deputy-Postmaster General of Canada, and Mrs. Sullivan, of Ottawa, has been arranged to take place on Monday morning, August 23rd, at eleven o'clock at the Church of the Ascension of Our Lord. Mrs. J. W. Fagan will attend her sister as matron-of-honor and the bridesmaids will be Miss Patricia Trihey and Miss Catherine Berliner. Mr. Gerald E. Sullivan will act as best man for his brother and the ushers will be Lieut.-Col. John Chloquet, Mr. G. Cote, Mr. Henri Ledue and Mr. Arthur Graham.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carlin, Victoria Ave., have left by motor for a trip to the Maine Coast.

Mr. Nugent Sheppard, Western Ave., is the guest of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tremaine Sheppard at Rockcliffe, Ottawa.

Role As Romeo May Be Leslie Howard's Last!

"Romeo and Juliet" may be Leslie Howard's last motion picture appearance!

This startling information was learned in an interview with Howard on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer set when he was playing the classic lover to Norma Shearer's Juliet.

"I really don't like acting," Howard said levelly. "I'd much rather write and direct and produce. I never did really like it."

Having completed his role in the new screen production, Howard plans to play "Hamlet" on the New York stage.

"Then I shall rest on my oars," he said.

The star then told one of the most surprising success stories the profession has ever known.

Son of a solid English business man, his first job was in a bank. He hated this so much that the war, for which he immediately enlisted, came as a relief.

Returning from France after the Armistice, still a very young man, he got an acting job in order to be near the theatre for which he has had a lifetime ambition to write.

Scoring a great hit in "Her Cardboard Lover," he continued to stardom in "Berkeley Square." Then and there he determined to reach the top on both stage and screen before quitting forever.

"With my record for the past several years and with our hopes for this picture and for 'Hamlet,' I think I shall have satisfied myself," he said quietly.

Although writing plays will be his chief concern in the future, Howard hopes to direct and produce both plays and pictures as well.

THIS BUSINESS OF PROPOSING

Serious Nature of Project Makes Many People Tongue-tied — Just in Case You Are Thinking of Popping The Question, Here Are a Few Pointers, Taken From the Way the Screen Stars Do It

This proposal business is just a trifle difficult. Ask any man! You blurt it out when you don't mean to, and when you do mean to, the words won't come, says a London, England columnist.

It's a vicious merry-go-round. And then there's the approach. Very important that—the approach!

Should it be done with gravity, elegance and fire as the Latins do or with the dazzling simplicity of the "Let's get tied, what do you say, kid?" variety.

Yes—a whole bright world of possibilities lies in the proposal field—and Hollywood has tested them all.

In fact, a close study and thorough analysis of Hollywood proposals reveal such a variety of methods as to meet every circumstance or occasion, bar none.

Benny Baker had taken Marjorie Chapin Wellman to witness her most ardent diversion, a football game.

The ball was on the three-yard line, fourth down. Marjorie was fairly tearing her hair.

"Touchdown!" she shrieked. "Will you marry me?" Benny howled in her ear.

"Yes!" yelled the excited Marjorie. "Touchdown!"

It was a touchdown. Marjorie collected her wits and a startled expression stole over her face.

"Did I say I'll marry you?" she demanded of the Paramount comedian.

"You did. And we'll be married as soon as the football season is over. I'll not spend my honeymoon in a grandstand!" was Benny's bland retort.

Charles Boyer had been paying considerable attention to blonde little Pat Patterson, but there was no indication that a marriage was impending.

One evening they decided to see a stage play at El Capitan theatre on Hollywood Boulevard.

At the ticket window they said: "Sorry, we're sold out."

"Well, now what shall we do?" asked Pat.

"Let's get married," said Charles Boyer.

In this state of mild shock they telephoned the airport, chartered a plane, and flew to Yuma.

Before either had recovered from the surprise they were married. To judge from their case obeying that impulse has only happy results.

Jack Oakie, who used to kid romance and whose favorite gag was "Marry me, and become the mother of a genius," was simply and completely sunk when love hit him.

He didn't have a comeback. All he can recall is rushing home to Mother O'Field and getting her out of bed to tell her he had met Venita Varden and she was the one girl.

"I've heard that before," said Ma.

"But we're going to be married!" cried Jack, and sure enough they were.

Chester Morris and Sue Kilborn. He proposed one Saturday night after the performance of a stage show in which they appeared, they were married in Atlantic City the next morning, and were back in time for the curtain call, only to read on the bullet board a notice that the show was closing.

They came to Hollywood with nothing but a couple of suitcases but they stuck it out, and now all's well.

Joan Bennett. Gene Marky had marked Joan Bennett from afar, when he saw her on the New York stage.

In Hollywood, where Joan started making pictures, Gene mapped his courtship.

Joan was in love with somebody else, as everyone knew, but the clever plotter shrugs his shoulders at a little thing like that.

When Joan broke her hip in a fall from a horse, Gene sent flowers and friendly little notes. Eventually he had permission to call, and soon he was in her very good graces as a kind and generous friend.

He was such a nice haven of refuge, so good with advice about pictures. A famous playwright, he could tell her what's what. Lucky girl, having a big brother like Gene... only Gene had no intention of acquiring a sister.

He was taking her to see one of her pictures.

He would tell her what he thought of it, perhaps make some suggestions on how to improve...

"Joan, will you marry me?"

"But—but—don't you want to wait until you see my picture?" stammered Joan.

The big build-up got results and Joan's reply remains a classic.

Franchot Tone. The persistent proposal delicately manoeuvred by Franchot Tone proved effective with Joan Crawford.

"By the way, Joan," he would say in an undertone as somebody passed them the cake, "when did you say we were getting married?"

Or, between shots on the tennis

And, by jingo, they were!

Pat O'Brien had been proposing to Eloise Taylor for several years. They were riding in a rickshaw at Coney Island.

"Let's get married, or something," said Pat.

"We'll get married, or nothing," retorted Eloise.

BURIAL HELD
The funeral service was held privately Tuesday morning from the Church of The Ascension of Our Lord, of Mrs. John P. Flanagan, who died at Valois on Saturday.

Mrs. Flanagan, whose husband predeceased her some time ago, was the former Catherine Burke.

A hundred square miles of ocean bed is revealed when the tide goes out at Mont Saint Michel, France. When the tide comes in, it comes in rapidly.

court: "Shall we make it — say, next Friday?"

The dryly humorous Mr. Tone knew very well how to handle the proposal problem with a girl like Joan Crawford.

Harmon Nelson had been out of college for three months when he sat down with his sweetheart, Bette Davis, to talk things over in a practical fashion. Bette was a movie actress. "Ham" an unknown musician and singer.

"People probably will call me a gigolo husband," said Ham.

"They'll sometimes speak of you as Mr. Davis," smiled Bette.

"We'll often be separated by work, and I can't support you in the style to which you'd like to be accustomed," grinned Ham.

"And they'll have us getting a divorce half the time," laughed Bette. "But—we'll get along alright."

Poetic Gesture. The Proxy proposal is frequently used by men who grow tongue-tied in the face of romance. Valentin Parera, handsome Spaniard, fell in love with prima donna Grace Moore.

Handicapped by language limitations, he marked a poetic passage in a book to show Grace his regard.

Pat O'Brien had been proposing to Eloise Taylor for several years. They were riding in a rickshaw at Coney Island.

"Let's get married, or something," said Pat.

"We'll get married, or nothing," retorted Eloise.

NEW FRONTIER CITY IN QUEBEC WILDERNESS CELEBRATES FIRST WEDDING

The biggest industrial and construction development in Canada took time off last week end to celebrate a wedding. Down at Baie Comeau, Quebec, on the north shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence where 5,000 men are at work building a newspaper mill, power plant and modern city, a bride and groom were given a unique wedding send-off. Boss painter on the construction job, Kurt George Hayden, was married Saturday to Miss Sophia Mayman. Painters and construction workers formed an archway of paint brushes and construction implements and a painters' truck became a bridal coach. Since no wedding ring was available in the entire community, shop workers manufactured one out of burnished brass at the last moment. Photographs above show, top, left to right: the bride and groom passing beneath the painters' brushes and past the construction men's bodyguard. Lower, left, the happy couple wave good-bye to their friends as they leave in the bridal "coach" for their honeymoon; right, a typical house at Baie Comeau, similar to one Mr. and Mrs. Hayden will occupy. Several hundred homes are being built for future citizens of the Ontario Paper Company metropolis which is turning a wilderness into a modern city. (Photos by Editorial Associates).

Jane Bryan --- A Silhouette

Vivacious Young Star of 'Kid Galahad', 'The Captain's Kid' and 'Confession' Was Born on June 11th, 1918, in Hollywood—Credits Bette Davis as Having Rendered Valuable Assistance

Jane Bryan was born Jane O'Brien in no other place than Hollywood, Calif., on June 11, 1918. Attended the Third Street Grammar School then Marymount Convent and University High.

Was active in sports in school—playing basketball, volleyball, tennis and hockey.

A bit of the theatrical popped up in her during her school days when she played the role of Puck in "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and Touchstone in "As You Like It."

None of her relatives have been on the stage or connected in theatricals in any way. Her father is a prominent attorney, and she has three younger brothers.

Her first actual stage work began under the guidance of Jean Muir, at Miss Muir's Theatre Workshop in Los Angeles. Played in "March Hares" and the feminine lead in "Green Grow the Lilacs." A Warner scout saw her in the latter play, gave her a test, and that was the beginning.

Since her screen career has begun she credits Bette Davis as being the most helpful person around the studio to coach her in acting and screen technique.

She lists as her screen favourites Paul Muni, Bette Davis, Charles Laughton, Leslie Howard and Edward G. Robinson.

She enjoys screen work tremendously but has a suppressed desire to be successful on the stage. Is not interested in any other form of work as a life work, with the exception of music or literature. But she has never written for publication, and she declares she does not play the piano. Has only been outside of Hollywood once and that was to Canada. She liked it.

Likes smart clothes, and the Hollywood shops are good enough for her.

When it comes to pet hates she lists turnips, eggs, and she hates to wear a hat at any time.

Has no pet economies because she isn't very good at economizing. Declares she is terribly extravagant especially when it comes to buying books, and she shoots the works on hot fudge sundaes.

To keep fit she plays tennis, swims like a mermaid, walks like mad, and swings a mean fencing.

A healthy appetite and lists as her favourite things to eat, dill pickles, fresh lime rickeys, rare beefsteaks with mushrooms, chocolate cake. Says none of this stuff affects her weight.

She can cook and does so sometimes just for the Dickens of it.

Outdoors she plays tennis and badminton, and she likes to go to the polo matches and champion tennis matches. Doesn't care much for prize fights.

She is under contract to Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc., and her current productions include: "The Captain's Kid," "Marked Woman," "Kid Galahad," "Confession."

On Saturday shortly after noon, on The Boulevard opposite No. 3754, William Sawyer, a salesman for a bakery firm, was crossing the thoroughfare from north to south when he was struck by a motorcycle proceeding east. It was learned from a witness, A. Turk, that he stopped to permit a car to pass him, and then stepped into the path of the motorcycle, which was driven by Gerald Chesley, of 5019 Grosvenor avenue. First aid was rendered by Dr. Inglis, and Sawyer was then taken to the Western division of the Montreal General Hospital by ambulance. Constable MacRae investigated.

Tonight's games in the Senior Municipal Softball League will bring to a finale the closest race for playoff positions that have ever been seen in the city. Calvary, Groves and Wanderers have clinched playoff positions, regardless of future wins or losses, and the contests for fourth place—there are only four teams in the playoffs—promise plenty of action.

Tonight's games will play Groves on diamond 1; Hawks will meet Stauntons on No. 2, and Wanderers will play Calvary on No. 4. The results will determine who gets the fourth place to enter the playoff series and perhaps qualify for the title.

In the playoffs, the first and fourth teams will play for the best two out of three games, and the 2nd and third teams likewise. The winners of these bouts will meet for the final two-out-of-three to decide the winner.

Games for last Wednesday (a week ago) were called off on account of rain. On Friday Calvary defeated Groves 4-2, and Sons defeated St. James 5-1, which was quite expected. On Monday Wanderers won 7-6 over Sons. The game was very close, and the score was tied till the last inning, when the deciding run for Wanderers was scored in the last few minutes of play. Hawks and Groves fought a real battle which was indecisive, the result being a 6-6 tie. This game will be re-played if necessary to enter a team in the playoffs next week.

The bouts tonight will be between Hawks, Sons and Stauntons, who are now tied for fourth place.

ON SECOND THOUGHT

A little boy had been reported to his father for stealing apples from the stall outside a fruiterer's shop, and the parent was pointing out the evils of theft.

"My boy," he said, "you must have known that it is dishonest to steal. And, in any case, didn't your conscience tell you the man was watching?"

Westmount Wins Over Sun Life

Hot weather tended to make cricket rather a task than a pleasure on Saturday, but Westmount 1, A division, came through with flying colours, defeating Sun Life. Westmount declared at 180 for five wickets, and Sun Life going in was all out for 97.

Westmount 11 only made 52 against McGill whose response was 63 for three wickets, and Mount Royal after making 106 got the Indians out for 72.

HOWLERS

Glasgow.—It may be an outburst of precocious native wit or just innocent juvenile lapses, but in any case recent examinations in Scottish schools have produced a bumper crop of "howlers."

Here are some of the best reported to the directors of education:

Tarzan is a short name for the U.S. flag. Its full name is Tarzan stripes.

The fire of London burned down all the old residents and after reigning five days Mr. Christopher Wren put it out.

An active verb shows action, as "He kissed her." A passive verb shows passion as "she kissed him."

Lady Godiva was a jockey and Joan of Arc was given this title because after taking Orleans she was married to Noah.

Presents Offered For Boat Owners

New York.—It is a hard job to find a present for a man who has a boat, because boat equipment is almost as personal a matter as clothes. If he has a sailboat, you might like to try him with a canvas bucket equipped with all the tools he could need for mending sails, making repairs to rigging and tinkering in general. The bucket, a sturdy affair with a wooden bottom, is stuck around and filled with 17 items, including three different kinds of marlin spikes, twines, needles, wax, scissors, and so on.

If he has a motor-propelled cabin yacht, he might like snap-on lamp shades painted with the crossed flags of his yacht club, as a decorative touch for the boat's interior.

PEERLESS CRONINS AT BELMONT PARK

Hilarious, happy-go-lucky, peerless and fearless, the Four Cronins, another set of goofy, devil-may-care aerial artists arrive at Belmont Park on Monday to bring back the laugh-thrill combination that has provided the big hits of the season at the Cartierville amusement park. They're tough, they're rough and they're insanely silly, their manager admits. But they know how to make thrills and produce laughs. And they get paid for doing it.

CRICKET CHIRPS

by HARRY M. WILLIAMS

The craving for sensationalism (erratic running) plus poor captaincy lost Wanderers 3 their game against Verdun.

A short time ago I referred to the conservation of energy of the youngsters. They were themselves out with unnecessary running. This impaired their timing and physique later. Witness the wicket keeping for example.

The poor captaincy lay in the fact that bowlers were retained too long. A few overs, a rest and try again might have won the game with a steady "off" of the between wickets frolics. It may be spectacular but poor cricket tactics particularly against a seasoned team in such weather as we had Saturday. Boys do not let the oohs! and aahs! of the spectators destroy your sense of cricket values.

"Britain is still the greatest tea consuming country in the world." "That possibly explains the continued popularity of cricket."

—(Guelph Mercury)

It would, to an unimaginative mind. Would a failure of the peanut, pop-corn and candy crop suggest a slump in baseball? One is as sane a theory as the other except that ours is more original than that stale old joke about tea and cricket.

MOTOR CYCLE GRASS TRACK SUNDAY NEXT

Sports Motor Cycle Club Staging Event at Brown's Stadium in Verdun

Brown's Stadium will be the scene of action, this Sunday when the Sports Motor Cycle Club will hold its great Grass-track races.

This event is the feature competition of the season and elaborate plans have been drawn up in order to make an interesting afternoon for both the spectators and the riders. The starting gun will be fired at 2.30 p.m. and immediately there will follow a series of wild dashes around the oval.

The programme will include several novelty events such as a surf board race, which should be very amusing and the Australian Pursuit race which consists of four riders starting at different sides of the field who will turn on the heat and try to catch and pass each other. The man who is not passed is declared the winner. Then, too, George Day, a Verdunian will gently crash a board fence with his motorcycle to show you what an easy thing it is to do.

Due to the large number of entries, the races will be run in heats of four or five riders so one won't have so many riders to watch at the same time. The Novices and Experts will compete in separate classes and the races will be more even and consequently all the more thrilling.

Grass-track racing is one of the fastest types of motorcycling and anyone who may have seen the boys out on the cinder tracks last year will have some idea what kind of speed they make. There will be a few spills and bad skids but these never really amount to any serious accidents and only add to the interest.

The course will be well patrolled and special care is being taken to see that the centre of the field is kept clear at all times. As a special precaution, a squad of the Verdun police will be on hand to enforce this rule.

For those who live in the West end of the city, the easiest way to reach the Stadium is to take any Verdun Bus to Hickson avenue and walk one block.

In the event of rain, the grass-track will be postponed one week. The Club is very pleased to have this opportunity of again staging competitions within the limits of the city and hope in this way to acquaint the public with the many varieties of sport that a motorcyclist may enjoy. The people of the British Isles have many opportunities to witness such events and there must be many of them now living in Canada who are eagerly looking forward to seeing a squad of Rudges, Ariels, Nortons, B.S.A.'s etc., all out for battle against their American rivals, the famous Indians and Harleys.

There will be a meeting of the club this evening, to make the final arrangements and judging from the keenness of the members, this event will be one we shall long remember.

EXPERT COMMENTARY

According to a recent issue of "News-Week," Kingfish Levinsky, known to fight fans, on his recent return from England, summed up his impressions of the Old Country in nine words. As the news magazine phrased it: "Arrived: Kingfish Levinsky (Harry Krakow), 26, Chicago prizefighter, in New York from London where he was knocked out by Jack Doyle. He gave his impressions of the English: 'Yuh drink tea till it comes outa your ears.'" balls lay on the green. Suddenly a mischievous dog (an Aberdeenshire) I believe ran off with the Perthshire man's ball. Naturally he made a kick at the dog with his putter in an effort to make him drop it. The Aberdeen man counted every stroke, and then claimed the game. In view of this vouched for fact wouldn't you think it was a question of kettle calling pot black face?"

True Sport. I refuse to be drawn into the controversy. I cannot forget Bannockburn and Bruce and The Spider.

Too bad that the rain stopped up the Junior game Tuesday. I think that they have the league championship pretty well clinched. They have one more game Thursday.

By the way they have an invitation to go out to St. Anne's Friday afternoon. They plan to leave L.C.C. grounds at 1.30. Anyone with cars to aid in transporting the boys would be doing a kindly act to the club and also to the attendants at St. Anne's Hospital who have little respite from their many labors.

Scottish Rugby Football Team Plays On Thursday

An English rugby football game will take place on Thursday at the Westmount Athletic Grounds, between players of the Glasgow High School fifteen, part of the detachment of 170 Scottish school boys now visiting Canada, and a Montreal Scottish fifteen. The game will start at 6.30.

His Worship Mayor John Jenkins has granted the use of the grounds, and has voiced his intention of being present at the game. Admission to the match will be free, and it is expected that a large number of boys and young men will be present, taking advantage of the opportunity to see an Old Country school team in action.

With the Boys at The Westmount 'Y'

Wins Championship

Keen interest and competition have been displayed in the contest held each week at the Vacation Club for the weekly championship. This week, Don Applin received the ward on the basis of participation in activities, achievement in skills and hobbies and popularity with the boys of the club. Don was only a few points ahead of Sinclair Dixon, Charlie Cosgrove, George Penrose and Dick Wark who are all determined to attain the honor during the remaining weeks of the programme.

Westmount Leads
Four hundred and six boys have attended Kamp Kanawana to date this year from the Westmount Branch. This is the largest group to be sent from any of the Metropolitan Y's. Excellent work is being done with these boys who are fortunate enough to be able to go to Kamp.

DAWN VARIETY SHOW

An alarm clock that will wake its owner with twenty different sounds on twenty consecutive days is claimed to have been invented by Mario Piretti, a Venice watch-maker. On the first day the sleeper is awakened by an ordinary bell. Among the other nineteen alarms are a motor horn, a fox trot melody and a revolver shot.
