To block county redistribution

GLEN BROWN

QUEBEC — (Special) — In a dramatic but not entirely unexpected move, Glen Brown, Liberal MPP for Brome County, Thursday told the members of the special Legislative Assembly committee studying the revision of the Quebec electoral laws that he would block the proposed changes of the boundaries of the constituencies. He insisted that the principle of land area rather than population be observed in revising the electoral map.

In support of his contention he could block any revision of constituency boundaries, Mr. Brown pointed to section 80 of the British North America Act which stipulates that 13 rural ridings, including Brome, can be changed only by a majority vote of the sitting members. Six of these constituencies are represented by Union Nationale members, who have gone on record as opposing any reduction in the number of rural counties. Seven are held by Liberals, including Mr. Brown. Should the latter decide to throw in his lot with the Opposition in this instance, the redistribution could be prevented.

The 13 counties are Pontiac, Hull, Argen-teuil, Huntingdon, Missisquoi, Brome, Shefford, Stanstead, Sherbrooke, Compton, Wolfe, Richmond and Megantic.

Calling for united action by the representatives of the 13 counties concerned, Mr. Brown said "if we stand together, according to the British North America Act, section 80, you can't do away with us anyway unless we let you."

Mr. Brown's statement was prepared for presentation to the members of the special House committee on electoral law reform, but when the committee concluded its first sitting after naming a chairman and steering committee, he authorized its release by members of the press.

The statement noted that most of the counties were represented by Conservatives in 1967 and continued:

"Now the majority is Liberal by a slim margin, but I am sure this is at least one decision we all can concur in."

It was also essential that four of the counties, Brome, Huntingdon, Pontiac and Argen-teuil, be left untouched because they elect English-speaking members. If these were merged with other ridings, English-speaking representation from the rural areas of Quebec would disappear.

"I am sure that you will agree that you descendants of mixed blood and French line-

For possible airport service

TCA to conduct area survey

Trans-Canada Airlines will conduct a new survey of the Sherbrooke area within 30 to 40 days to study the possibility of serving Sherbrooke's new airport, Mayor Armand Nadeau said in a telephone conversation Thursday.

Contacted in Montreal following a meeting with TCA officials Mayor Nadeau said: "The city will fight to promote TCA service at the airport and if it is necessary we will go back to Ottawa and fight."

"F. T. Wood, vice-president of cooperative affairs for TCA told us his company would be delighted to serve our airport but only on a subsidy basis."

Mayor Nadeau said Mr. Wood termed the old survey taken in 1956 as not applicable because it is six years old.

The Mayor said the new survey would start as soon as TCA surveyors could get ready to come to Sherbrooke. Mayor Nadeau along with Alderman Paul Gervais chairman of the industrial relations and transport committee for Sherbrooke, and Robert Belisle, secretary of the industrial commission went to Montreal Thursday to discuss TCA serving Sherbrooke twice daily.

Mayor Nadeau said TCA officials indicated approval of the city's plan that a regular Quebec-Montreal flight stop at Sherbrooke on its way to and from Montreal.

Mayor Nadeau said he expects he will have to return to Ottawa in the near future to fight for TCA's service.

"The federal government of the airport and promised to approved of the airport and promised to do everything in its power to promote it so I think it's about time it did," Mayor Nadeau said.

Two weeks ago Mayor Nadeau and other city hall officials met with Transport Minister Leon Balcer in Ottawa to discuss TCA service for Sherbrooke or the granting of subsidies to another airline company to serve Sherbrooke.

Mr. Balcer told city officials he felt they would have no trouble getting TCA to serve Sherbrooke and suggested they meet with officials of the TCA and discuss their plans.

Mr. Balcer said he approved of the city's plans.

Mayor Nadeau said: "TCA received permission from the Transport board to serve Trois Rivieres and I see no reason why they couldn't do the same for Sherbrooke as it is more important and has more right to be served by TCA."

The city suggests that a regular flight stop in Sherbrooke on its way to Quebec from Montreal in the morning and vice versa at night.

City officials said the detour would delay the plane about ten minutes on its normal flight.

40 are killed in train crash

CALL, Colombia (AP) — A head-on collision of a speeding freight and a passenger train carrying a full load—including a group of U.S. midshipmen—killed 40 persons Thursday and injured 67, officials reported.

All the dead were believed to be Colombians. Four Californians were among the injured.

The crash occurred on a curve northwest of this West Colombian trade centre while the passenger train was on a 50-mile run from the Pacific port of Buenaventura.

The Americans were among 80 Merchant Marine midshipmen from the training ship Golden Bear on a sightseeing tour during a stopover in Colombia.

In West Berlin

Bobby Kennedy places a wreath to the victims of Red tyranny

BERLIN—Robert F. Kennedy placed a wreath "to the victims of Communist tyranny" at the wall dividing Berlin today and received some cautious waves from East Berliners beyond the barricade.

East Berliners could be seen peeking from behind curtains as the U.S. attorney-general's motorcade drove up to the wall at Bernauerstrasse. Apartment houses along the East side there have been boarded up and evacuated. But houses lying a little back from the wall are still occupied and from several of their windows appeared hands, fluttering briefly before being quickly withdrawn.

Thousands of West Berliners had gathered on their side of the barricade to cheer the attorney-general, some shouting "mauer weg" — away with the wall. But the crowd fell silent as Kennedy placed a wreath on a wooden cross on the sidewalk commemorating an elderly woman who was killed when she jumped from her window to the West last August.

The ceremony took place a few hours after U.S. troops rushed through the streets of West Berlin in a dramatic demonstration of Kennedy's pledge that the United States would defend West Berlin against Communist attack as it would New York or Chicago.

Kennedy was out early today for his second look at the Communist wall he has denounced as a "medieval instrument of torture."

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt pointed out features of the wall to the attorney-general and his younger brother, Edward, from an observation platform. No East German guards were in sight. But East German photographers were seen focusing their lenses on the Kennedy party.

Thousands of West Berliners lined the Kennedy route and pressed about him whenever his motorcade stopped.

About 1,500 men of the 2nd Battle Group, 6th Infantry, tumbled from their bunkers before dawn to take up battle positions in the U.S. sector of the divided city. The troops set up machine-gun posts at crossroads and dug in anti-tank positions while infantry patrolled the streets.

The U.S. Army said the two-hour practice alert, over breakfast, was designed "to evaluate the unit's ability to react to various situations" and called it routine. But it was significantly timed with the U.S. attorney-general's visit here and his assurance to West Berliners that "the full strength of American power" will protect their vital links with the West against Communist encroachment.

Railway talks are broken off

MONTREAL (CP) — Contract talks between Canada's railways and their 110,000 non-operating employees have collapsed, it was learned today.

No details of the breakdown were made public immediately, but it was expected that the 15 C.I.C.-affiliated non-ops unions will seek a federal conciliation board to study the dispute.

Chiefs stand by government

Turkish army mutiny is reported smashed

ANKARA (AP) — A mutiny by disgruntled young army officers that brought Turkey to the brink of civil war was declared smashed today. The armed forces chiefs stood firmly by Premier Ismet Inonu.

The 78-year-old premier signalled that the bloodless revolt had been ended when he went on the air with a brief, pre-drawn announcement that the government was in command.

Reliable army sources said authorities have seized ringleaders of the brief revolt, touched off by discontent over slow progress in carrying out reforms in land allocation, taxes, education and agriculture.

A government spokesman said later that all dissident officers are being reassigned to new posts.

The mutiny apparently was confined to the signal corps, the war academy, an armored school and an officers' general staff school. But for a time it had appeared that other army elements might back the mutineers.

Reuters news agency said some 8,000 cadets and 500 officers were involved in the revolt and 75 officers including at least

Rap Moslem demobbing

ALGIERS—Both French and Moslem officers reacted bitterly today to a government plan to demobilize 140,000 Algerian Moslems wearing the French uniform.

The government move was an obvious sign of its confidence that an Algerian cease-fire is imminent. But it posed a post-French Army in Algeria at a time when it faces a test by the right-wing European Secret Army Organization pledged to keep Algeria French.

The Algerian rebel national council, meanwhile, met in secret session in Tripoli, Libya, for the second day to consider the tentative accord with France for a cease-fire clearing the way for Algerian independence. France endorsed the accord Wednesday night.

President Charles de Gaulle's government announced plans Thursday for progressive demobilization of Moslems serving in the French Army and said they will be given bonuses and pensions and offered the opportunity to re-enlist or resettle in France.

SEEN AS TRAGEDY

Gen. Charles Ailleret, the supreme commander in Algeria, vowed that the "legitimate interests" of Moslems who have served France will be guaranteed. But the announcement was seen as a personal tragedy for many Moslem soldiers.

"They're paying us off, we are no longer needed," bitterly commented one Moslem officer.

French officials also feared repercussions.

The Throne speech a grab bag affair

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons closed its grab-bag debate on the throne speech Thursday night.

Without even voting, MPs politely approved a formal motion thanking Governor-General Vanier for his "gracious" speech from the throne at the session's opening on Jan. 18.

Thus they concluded the eight days of traditional talk allotted to the free-wheeling debate on the address from the throne, written by the government to outline its legislative intentions.

Now the Commons returns to its regular business — still no wiser about when Prime Minister Diefenbaker will call for dissolution of Parliament and a general election.

Trying to prevent US nuclear tests?

Tough Khrushchev message chills hopes for disarmament meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—A tough new 20-page message from Soviet Premier Khrushchev, insisting that President Kennedy agree to a March summit meeting, chilled U.S. hopes today for any kind of successful negotiations with Russia at the forthcoming Geneva conference.

The letter, delivered to the state department Thursday, also raised grave suspicion among officials here that Khrushchev is trying to use the approaching disarmament conference as a device to prevent Kennedy from ordering a new series of atmospheric nuclear tests.

The state department forwarded an English translation of the letter to the White House late Thursday, a little more than two hours after Kennedy left for Florida. Presumably, his special assistant, McGeorge Bundy, relayed it to the president immediately.

The United States planned to start immediate consultation with Britain and other allies on a Kennedy reply to Khrushchev turning down his latest summit conference bid. But the state department informally rejected Khrushchev's insistence on a statement Thursday night.

The statement said the U.S.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Astronaut John Glenn, fit-looking and grinning, arrived back in the United States at 8:40 a.m. EST today for the first time since he whirled around the world through space last Tuesday.

The air force C-130 jet ferrying the space hero from his two days of post-flight examination at Grand Turk Island in the Bahamas taxied up to the base operations office at nearby Patrick Air Force base.

Accompanying the astronaut in the big plane was Vice-President Johnson, who flew to Grand Turk this morning.

A few minutes before Glenn's plane landed, another C-130 carrying the other six astronauts and Project Mercury officials landed at the big base, which serves as administration headquarters for the Atlantic missile range.

Show Business

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The South, the movies' favorite whipping boy, takes another beating in a new Hollywood film. So does the film industry's production code, which by now must be so shot full of holes as to be barely visible. Sweet Bird of Youth was one of the more tawdry of the Tennessee Williams plays, and it remains much the same as written and directed for the screen by Richard Brooks. He has become an expert at these grim slices of American life, having made Blackboard Jungle, Cat on a Hot Tin Roof and Elmer Gantry. Brooks got a bit overboard this time, as did Williams, in his portrayal of a southern political boss. As vigorously played by Ed Begley, Boss Finley makes Willie Stark of All the King's Men seem like a do-gooder. A malevolent big daddy, he rules his political domain with a fine, Fascist hand, slaps around his grown son and daughter and breaks his mistress' finger. HE'S A LOSER Paul Newman is The Hustler down south, only this time he's not playing pool. The ad line reads: "He used women the way some men use money." As in the pool match, he's a loser. He tries to make a comeback as the chauffeur-nurse-lover of Alexandra Del Lago, a fading movie star who is addicted to vodka, has a sheesh "faceless young bodies" and self-pity. She

NEW YORK (AP)—Woman's After nine years of commercials on the Ed Sullivan Show, Julia Meade will leave the CBS program after next Sunday's show. Miss Meade, for several seasons, has been trying to combine an acting career in films and on the stage with her Sunday sales pitches. In recent months this has involved tring weekly commuting between Hollywood and New York. Apparently, the pressures became too great and art has won. Ed will have to find another "chum," as he is wont to call her, to present the sponsors' messages. All television networks will continue their intensive coverage of the man-in-orbit story, from Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr.'s meeting with President Kennedy to his press conference later on. The often-postponed flight took much bigger bites out of network news budgets than anticipated — educated guesses place the three-network tab at close to $3,000,000.

EAST'S CLUBS ARE SQUEEZED
The maxim that the Lord helps those who help themselves assuredly applies at the bridge table. Against any opening but a trump South would have made his contract and might well have taken an overtrick, but West dropped a trump on the table. Now South had to work to end the rubber. He won the lead in his own hand and played the three of clubs. West continued his fine defense by rising with the ten. Had West played the six, East would have won the trick and been unable to play a second trump. The second trump was won in dummy and a low club was led. East got into the fine play section by ducking and West won with the king. A third trump lead pulled dummy's last tooth and South appeared doomed to defeat. Still, South refused to give up. The Sherbrooke Rotary Club's vocational committee has made arrangements for students of various high schools in the City of Sherbrooke to visit industrial plants in city.

Albert Munster, chairman of the committee, said that the Rotary club is doing this because they feel that a high school student nearing graduation should become familiar with the products and business of his city.

Bishop's Winter Carnival

Science student is crowned queen

Cydney Brown, 19, was crowned Bishop's Winter Carnival Queen Thursday night during ice-cream at the W. B. Scott Rink. Dr. A. L. Kuehner, vice-principal of Bishop's, placed the silver tiara on Miss Brown's head between the second and third periods of the Sir George-Bishop's hockey game.

Miss Brown was chosen from three candidates in a student vote which took place last Wednesday, but the results of the balloting were kept secret until the lights went out and she felt the tap on her shoulder — the signal to proceed to the throne.

Wearing a full-skirted gown of organza, with a scattered flower pattern, Miss Brown beamed radiantly at her many admirers as she was driven around the rink seated in the back of a convertible.

The other princesses, Miss Jennifer Foote, 18, of Montreal, and Miss Sue Lumsden, 19, of Beaconsfield, were gowned in gold satin and turquoise water-taffeta respectively.

The Queen was presented with a bouquet of American Beauty roses by the captain of the Sir George Williams hockey team, Keith Conklin. The Princesses received white carnations from Dave Williams and Norm Webster of the Bishop's club.

Miss Brown, who celebrates her birthday today, is a third year Science student, and hopes to become a lab technician in hematology on graduation. She was born in Los Angeles, California, and moved to Montreal about 13 years ago. Her parents reside in Pointe Claire at present.

Industrial bank designed to aid small and medium-size companies

An official of the Industrial Development Bank of Canada said Thursday at the University of Sherbrooke that the IDB is designed to help establish, expand and modernize Canadian business.

Speaking to commerce students at the U of S Campus, Lucien Viau, assistant supervisor and deputy-controller IDB said:

"The IDB will help finance small and medium size Canadian businesses of almost every type where financing is not available from other sources on reasonable terms and conditions."

Mr. Viau added that "the only business not regarded as appropriate for the IDB assistance are such as those engaged in lending to others and those which obtain a substantial portion of their revenues from selling alcoholic beverages."

Mr. Viau noted that although loans to residential properties or for residential land development are not available from the IDB, "business need not be an existing one to obtain financial aid."

He said the IDB, a branch of the Bank of Canada, has helped to finance the establishment of many new enterprises big and small.

Friday — all day: Professor Jones will visit bushes and woodlots in the southern part of the county to answer questions on woodlot management and show how to select trees for production or marketing.

This Workshop should prove very interesting and profitable. In Brome County the incomes from the maple bushes and woodlots cannot be overlooked. The Workshop is just another small step towards successful farming and rural development in Brome County.

Snow removal outlay is higher this year

The city's snow removal costs from October 1, 1961 to February 10, 1962, were $36,026.51 more than for the same period during the previous season. H. O. Routhier, Sherbrooke's city treasurer, said Wednesday.

Costs of snow removal, including cost of salt and sand, was $189,200.94 while for the same period last year it was $153,374.62.

Mr. Routhier said that although the snow removal costs have been higher this year, the city will not know until the beginning of next winter whether there will be a deficit for the 1962 budget.

This year's figures showed an increase in cost in all departments involved in snow removal.

Although snow removal costs were only up by $692.51 over the same period (from October to February 10) 1960-61 ice grading costs have shown an increase of $3,118.03 over the same period last year.

The road department said the highest costs in its department for the period between October 1, 1961, and February 10, 1962 were for salt and sand for city streets and sidewalks. The department showed an increase of $17,123.32 over the same period last year.

Fined total of $75 on driving counts

A 23-year old Beebe man was fined a total of $75 in Sherbrooke Court of Sessions Thursday afternoon after he pleaded guilty to two counts of criminal offences.

Alvin Wood admitted before Judge Joseph Marier that he had driven his car under the influence of alcohol. He also pleaded guilty to a second charge of dangerous driving.

Wood was arrested in the early hours of Thursday, not far from Beebe. Judge Marier fined the accused $50 on the first count, and $25 on the second, or in default, one month.

Paul Emile Blais, of Sherbrooke, who had pleaded guilty last January 26 to a charge of enjoying the services of the Transvision Co. of Sherbrooke without paying for it was released on a suspended sentence Thursday morning by Judge Joseph Marier.

The accused had previously admitted connecting a wire on the company's cable in order to benefit from the company's services without paying for it.

The amount of services he fraudulently obtained in such a manner totaled about $135. The accused reimbursed the money.

Since the services fraudulently obtained have been paid, Judge Marier released the accused on a suspended sentence.

Bernard Gingras, 24, of Magog, was remanded to Friday by Justice of the Peace and Court Clerk Jean-Marie Grogre, following his appearance on theft and possession of stolen goods.

The accused will remain behind bars pending his arraignment in Sherbrooke Court of Sessions. He is charged with stealing head lights from a 58 Pontiac car, valued at about $75. Gingras is the owner of a similar make and model, and is alleged to have transferred these head lights on his own car.

Disarmament, space closely linked

Astronaut Glenn's journey to outer space this week seems to have started wheels moving in the direction of Russian-American cooperation in the development of space.

President Kennedy, replying to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's proposals in this regard, suggested that U.S. and Russian officials meet at "a very early date" to discuss brass tacks methods for pooling space explorations.

At the same time, President Kennedy warned that the West could not be too optimistic that anything concrete would come from the latest overtures. He pointed out, and quite correctly, that as far as the Russians are concerned, there is quite a gap between creed and deed.

Yet there is world-wide concern over the implications of the space race that makes it imperative the gap be closed if it is at all possible.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker reflected this concern when he reiterated Wednesday that an international organization must be set up before it is too late to ensure that outer space is used for peaceful purposes.

The great fear is that the cold war will, in a short time, rocket into orbit as U.S. and Russian astronauts have done, and that the competition for space supremacy will turn into a nuclear arms buildup in the ionosphere.

In this regard, the question of disarmament and that of the use of space are inextricably linked.

If the disarmament talks next month, and perhaps a summit on the issue, end as fruitlessly as previous conferences and negotiations have, would there then be much hope left for peaceful cooperation in space development?

The obstacles then would not be all one-sided by any means. One of the great arguments in the United States in favor of putting a man on the moon is a military one. The advantages of a manned military base on the moon are seen by many high U.S. officials as being too great to disregard.

If the arms race is not at least slowed down, and if substantial progress is not made towards some kind of disarmament, this kind of thinking will carry considerable influence in Washington. It will, naturally enough, be reflected by parallel thinking in Moscow.

U.S.-Russian cooperation in the peaceful development of space will then become only another ethereal, fine-sounding phrase.

Rotary plays a vital, positive role

Rotary Clubs throughout the world today mark the anniversary of the international organization which was founded 57 years ago to promote "the business interests of its members" but has since evolved to play an important humanitarian role in every community where a branch has been established.

Like most dynamic groups, the Rotary Club has a simple philosophy. It is pledged "to reconcile the ever present conflict between the desire to profit for oneself and the duty and consequent impulse to serve others."

In line with this outlook, Rotarians have taken a positive approach to community affairs. On a global level, they foster education and international goodwill. The Fellowship Foundation allows students to live and study in a country other than their own.

The Sherbrooke Rotary Club along with its sister group, the Boundary Club, has long been active in advancing the principle "he profits most who serves best."

Folks with the most money go south for a little change.

Humans adjust to almost anything

Psychologists claim that the human race, if subjected to proper training, can adjust itself to almost any kind of suffering, physical or mental, and they declare that after becoming used to the inconvenience in question the human being will become uncomfortable if the cause is removed.

Support for this thesis comes from Ottawa where a mother living near a busy airport called the control tower and asked that a jet plane be sent over her house so that the baby would stop crying.

She explained that the child had become accustomed to low-flying flights with the accompanying noise. On this particular night, North American Air Defence Command's Exercise Skyshield had grounded all commercial aircraft.

The ensuing calm and quiet seemed abnormal and the baby, used to the noise of the jet planes, was honestly alarmed by the peaceful conditions.

Some chronic sufferers from headaches have found difficulty in adjusting themselves when medical treatment has resulted in the removal of the reason for their discomfort.

Other papers say:

Capabilities of senate are limited

Senator Donald Cameron speaks with optimism when he says the Senate should be used to study specific Federal problems.

Sensors, sitting in a committee of inquiry, can be most effective. This has been demonstrated many times, one example being the Finance committee which for several sessions made a searching examination of Government expenditures, its sittings presided over by Senator T. A. Crerar.

Senator Cameron, who is 58, might be expected to say as he did that the Senate is not a home for "superannuated antediluvians". His denial is justified but the senators are regarded as antediluvians because they are not notably energetic. They have spurts of activity, such as the Finance committee of past years and the Manpower committee which recently made a most useful study of unemployment. After such ventures, the Senate slumps back into the undemanding and unexciting routine which makes it seem old beyond the years of the oldest senator.

Certainly the Senate has men and women who would be splendid members of Royal commissions or any other form of inquiry. The only question—and it is vital—is whether Senator Cameron or anyone else can guarantee that senators would be available to conduct hearings on any subject across the country, give protracted attention to witnesses and briefs and engage in the non-partisan discussion and examination required to bring down useful reports for the Government.

There is no doubt whatever that senators could give such useful service. But would many of them give such service, with all its labor and inconvenience, if asked? We doubt it.

All the battle lines are drawn and they're ready for election

By PETER DEMPSON

OTTAWA (TNS)—The Government's battle lines for the next general election—whenever it comes—have already been drawn.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker will embark upon his mission for a new mandate on three main issues.

• The Government's five-year record of accomplishments.

• Free enterprise versus Socialism.

• The implementation of additional social security measures, to offset the far-reaching promises being made in this field by both the Liberals and the New Democratic party.

The Liberals also plan to hammer hard at unemployment, and accuse the Government of lack of proper planning to get the economy booming.

Undoubtedly the Liberals, who are opposed to nuclear arms, will criticize the Diefenbaker administration for its reluctance to reveal its nuclear weapons policy.

A $75-per-month old age pension and other social security measures will be pledged by the New Democratic Party when the campaign formally gets under way. A national medical health plan will also be promised.

GOING UP

THE GROSS National Product—the total of all goods and services produced—has climbed by $6,800,000,000 or 22 per cent, since the Conservatives took office.

EXPORT TRADE is up by $900,000,000 or 19 per cent, and imports, during the same period, have increased by only $200,000,000 or 3.5 per cent.

PERSONAL INCOME is up by $6,800,000,000 or 30 per cent—since late 1956.

LABOR INCOME has soared by $4,600,000,000, or also by 30 per cent.

CORPORATION PROFITS have jumped $640,000,000, or 22 per cent.

CONSUMER SPENDING has climbed by $5,800,000,000, or 30 per cent. Likewise personal savings have increased by 30 per cent, representing a boost of $400,000,000.

MOVING LEFT

IT'S AN IMPRESSIVE record. And while taking steps to stimulate the economy and create new jobs, the Diefenbaker Government has been mindful of the needs of Canada's aged, disabled, blind and other needy.

Those are shaping up as the issues. But, regardless of what the Liberals, NDP or Socreds may place before Canadians as an election platform, the Government still has the upper hand.

ITS RECORD of accomplishments has been exceptional. The Prime Minister has been pointing out that 50 out of the 62 promises he made in the 1957 and 1958 campaigns have already been carried out; and more are being implemented this session.

The unemployment situation, while it is still sticky, is far better than a year ago.

Sherbrooke Daily Record SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Carrier delivery in Sherbrooke and Eastern Townships, 30 cents weekly, $15.60 per year. Mail subscription in Canada, Great Britain, 1 year $9.00, 6 months $5.00, 3 months $3.00, 1 month $1.25. "Authorized as second class mail, Post Office Department, Ottawa."

New social security measures have been introduced, to assist these people and to provide Canada with a national hospital program. More are planned—among them, a contributory pensions scheme.

Both the Prime Minister and Trade Minister Hees have been citing what they have described as "key economic indicators" to show how Canada has advanced in the last five years.

The economy today, while still short of boom proportions, is on the upturn. It has been moving ahead rapidly in recent months.

THE WELFARE state is already costing the nation $1,855,613,000, out of a budget of about $7,000,000,000. And this does not include $737,000,000 to be paid out in old age pensions to all Canadians over 70.

THE GOVERNMENT'S social welfare achievements have led many Canadians to say that it is the Conservative party, and not the Liberals, that is now moving to the left.

as Hailsham termed it. But whether any change will include peers who have already succeeded, such as Benn, remains in doubt.

The trouble, in recent years, has been that the Labor party balked at joining a study committee on the grounds it felt the terms were too broad—including makeup and possible remuneration.

Iain Macleod, new house leader, finally presented a compromise—the committee would centre its study on what changes should be made relating to the surrender of peerages. The question of representative peers from Scotland and Ireland and of peeresses in their own right being permitted to sit in the Lords also would be covered.

Labor has agreed to co-operate on this new basis. Apparently party leaders, always "careful that any form of change in 'the other place' might make it more powerful, have come around to the view that legalizing the renunciation of peerages would, if anything, make the Lords weaker.

"Once it becomes possible to renounce a peerage, peers with serious political ambitions will surely do so," commented the Guardian of Manchester. "No politician worth his salt would stay in the House of Lords if he could escape from it."

More than 850 persons are qualified to sit and vote in the Lords but about nine-tenths of them regularly escape from it.

The effective day-to-day work is done by about 80 peers, of whom about one-third sit on the Labor benches and two-thirds on the Conservative side.

The house, which had basically retained its form since about 1295, was shaken to its foundations in 1958 when it was agreed to admit life peers to mingle with the hereditary lords.

Worst of all, in the minds of many of the old members of what has been described as the world's most exclusive men's debating society, was that some of the life peers were women. Many among the dukes, marquesses, earls, viscounts, lords and barons retired to their stately mansions in protest, refusing to attend the swearing-in ceremony.

Report from

LATIN AMERICA

By COPLEY NEWS SERVICE

Nikita Khrushchev's proposal that the presidents of Mexico and Brazil be included in a summit conference on disarmament gave the Communists a momentary edge in the Cold War in Latin America.

Coming at a time the two countries apparently feel themselves under pressure to justify their ideological positions to the United States, the Russian premier's suggestion offered them welcome relief.

It also served as a shocking reminder to the United States. Too much uninformed criticism of Brazil, Mexico and the other four Latin countries that refused to vote with the United States for the ouster of Red-dominated Cuba from the Inter-American family could have far-reaching repercussions if Khrushchev's conference is ever held.

Latin Americans were quick to note that Khrushchev's suggestion that all heads of state of the 18 countries represented on the United Nations disarmament committee meet in Geneva signified that for the first time in history Latin presidents were to be included in a summit conference.

Obviously, the Latins felt flattered.

There was nothing, however, to indicate that either the Brazilian or the Mexican governments took the idea very seriously or that they had been consulted by the Russians.

Neither Mexico nor Brazil places much faith in summit meetings. The feeling within those two governments is that negotiations on thorny international problems are best handled by career diplomats, with a minimum of pomp, ceremony and, above all, with little publicity.

Latin Americans usually consider it beneath the dignity of heads of state to engage in the diplomatic drudgery that must precede international agreements.

Still the Latin peoples, whose sympathies and allegiances are the real, immediate Cold War targets in this hemisphere, were impressed by the Russian-United States exchange. Overlooked was the fact that neither Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos nor Brazilian President Joao Goulart are technically qualified on armaments or disarmament.

The tendency in Latin America was to hail the idea of including Mexico, Brazil and the other "neutral" nations in a summit conference as belated recognition of the importance and moral stature of the smaller powers.

The "most outstanding" indication of an easing of global tensions, the newspaper Novedades of Mexico City commented, "has been the proposal made by the Soviet prime minister to the president of the United States."

Then Novedades went on to say "the reality is that, perhaps for the first time in the history of this prolonged debate over disarmament, the power that heads one of the world bands proposes the participation of lesser powers that, like Mexico, do not even have great armies or great armaments."

"It seems," Novedades said, "the Soviet Union is looking for firmer and more definitive decisions..."

"Undoubtedly it is one of the clearest indications at least at sight, that Russian Communism has given of trying to convince its contraries of its desires for peace."

Novedades' comment came just the day before President Kennedy politely rejected Khrushchev's invitation to climb to the summit.

But the impression was left among Latin American newspaper readers that the United States had rejected the Communist olive branch.

Communist propagandists throughout Latin America have long been harping on that theme. Globally, the Reds say, the United States is to blame for troubles with Communism. In the Western Hemisphere, the Marxist-Leninists insist, the United States is at fault for pushing Fidel Castro into the Communist embrace.

A study of Red propaganda shows it is based on errors in fact and interpretation. But widely appealing schemes, such as inclusion of the presidents of Brazil and Mexico in summit talks on disarmament, leave the United States in a bad light.

Parliament at a glance

The Commons ended its eight-day throne speech debate without a vote. Douglas Fisher (CCF—Port Arthur) said Hazen Argue, who quit the house leadership of the New Democratic Party, had never before objected to developments in the NDP which he gave as reasons for leaving the party. Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced a 10-cent-a-bushel increase in Canadian Wheat Board initial payments on Prairie wheat deliveries this crop year. Lucien Cardin (L—Riche-lieu-Vercheres) said Mr. Diefenbaker is a demagogue who "toys with the truth" and attacks Opposition Leader Pearson because of envy.

FRIDAY, Feb. 23
The Commons met at 11 a.m. to consider government supplementary spending estimates. The Senate sits at 3 p.m.

LOWER IRELAND —

Fire recently destroyed the home of Mrs. Fred Cox and son, Douglas, who have taken up temporary residence in St. Jean Brebeuf. Miss Joan Cox, of Ste. Anne de Bellevue, and Mr. and Mrs. Ian Gilbert, of Montreal, spent several days with them. Friends of Mrs. Arthur Grenier will be sorry to learn she is a patient in the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Sherbrooke, where she underwent surgery.

Attempts are made to dampen U.S. investment in Canada

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada which now puts a damper on the inflow of American investment, apparently finds allies in President Kennedy and the United States treasury department. As outlined at Thursday's international tax conference here, the U.S. is also trying to put the brakes on American investment in other countries, including Canada, but congress is backing the move. Mr. Kennedy now proposes also that American companies be taxed on the profits made by their subsidiaries in other countries, whether or not the profits are paid to American investors. This would compromise a situation under which Canadian subsidiaries of American firms use much of their profits for expansion in Canada. Mr. American tax policies encourage the building of American plants abroad rather than at home and create balance-of-payments difficulties. EXPERT DISAGREES Fred W. Pell, American tax expert who spoke Thursday, apparently feels that the administration is off base in its reasoning and, as outlined by Mr. Pell, the ways and means committee of the House of Representatives feels the same way because so far it has rejected the president's proposals. Along with tax policies, investment took star billings at Thursday's conference, sponsored by the Canadian Tax Foundation and the Canadian Council of the International Chamber of Commerce. Hickman Price Jr., U.S. assistant secretary of commerce, said the foundation of American commercial policy will remain the "most-favored-nation" clause, which will allow cuts in European and United States tariffs to be extended to all countries of the free world. However, other countries will be expected to give reciprocal concessions. Canadians, accustomed to hearing themselves described as innocents in the world of tax applications, were described Thursday as the most accomplished of all "in artistry and artifice."

This description came from E. B. Nortcliffe, overseas taxation manager, Unilever Limited, London, England. A. K. Eaton former assistant deputy minister of finance, criticized recent tax document of the International Chamber of Commerce (ICC). He felt it favored taxation by countries which lend and gave less than their due to countries which borrow.

OLD STYLE
MIDDLESBROUGH, England (CP)—T. Fishwick, one of Britain's champion rat-catchers, has retired, a victim of rheumatism. He and his dog Tiny accounted for 10,000 rats in 13 years. He says rat-catching is a scientific job these days—with less spectacular results.

Activities at Stanstead College

Congratulations are extended to two former Stanstead College boys, now students in engineering at the University of Waterloo, David Alan Beasse, promoted to year II, and C. Gordon Edgar, promoted to year IV, second class honours. David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jean Beasse, Stanstead, and Gordon, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Edgar, Rock Island.

The boys returned on Monday evening via bus from Sherbrooke after a long mid-term holiday at their respective homes.

A new list is posted on the bulletin board of students who have gained room study privileges for the next fall term, based on their exam percentages. There will be 25 boys travelling via bus to King's Hall, Compton, for the March 3 dance. This date is being anticipated with eagerness by the high school lads.

Dr. Harry Hutchison's headmaster, Philip Scowen, chairman of the executive board, and Gordon LeBaron, of the board of trustees, met on Saturday at the home of Mr. Scowen in North Hatley for informal discussions.

There are three hockey games on tap, the College first team and Sunnyside team on Feb. 22, Old Boys game on Feb. 24, and the College will play Bishop's at Lennoxville on Feb. 27.

March 10, the College will play hockey with St. Lambert. Mrs. Duncan Graham, went to New York City for the holiday weekend, and the ice storm there has delayed her return to the College.

David Nelson, who went to his parental home in Hudson Heights, has been delayed a few days by illness. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McGilgon and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McClary made up a foursome and spent a pleasant weekend in Burlington, Vt.

Mrs. Sybil Galambus spent the weekend with her mother in Ottawa. Others on the staff spent the weekend quietly in their respective homes catching up on sleep and reading.

French W.M.S. group to mark 5th anniversary

MELBOURNE — Final plans for the fifth anniversary mission tea, the international supper and mission education program, were made at a meeting of the W.M.S. of l'Eglise des Cantons d'Est, held jointly with the W.A. on Monday. The tea will be held in the church hall from 3 to 5 p.m. on Feb. 24. The supper from 6 to 7 p.m., will be followed by the education program from 8 to 10. Rev. J. A. Smith will be the speaker, the president, Mrs. R. Larochelle, will give an outline of five years of W.M.S. history and Mrs. J. Smith will recount C.G.I.T. history covering the past ten years. Refreshments will be served at the close of the evening.

Following the business session, Mrs. Larochelle continued with the presentation of the W.M.S. study packet of the year on British Guiana, Down Town Church Work and Port Work in Canada. All members took an active part in the discussion in the first program on Down Town Church Work. Mrs. Lucille Vidal, vice-president, presided in the absence of Mrs. G. O. Malboeuf over the W.A. meeting which preceded the W.M.S. session. Several projects were discussed and a committee was organized to prepare the church hall for the celebration of the fifth anniversary of the W.M.S. group.

phone, said he was "glad to be aboard" and "very proud of the way the flight turned out." He was receiving the acclaim, he emphasized, as the representative of all the people who labored on the Mercury project. Glenn, as astronaut Alan Shepard and Virgil Grissom did after their flights, stressed the "we" element in the space adventures. He noted that the suborbital flights of Shepard and Grissom laid the groundwork for his three circuits of the globe. "We learned a lot from these flights," Glenn said, "and future flights will tell us a lot more."

He said he happened to be receiving much of the acclaim and attention now, but that similar glory should also go to the thousands of persons who made the flight possible — the people who built the Atlas, the capsule, also the tracking people and men of the recovery fleet. THOUSANDS LINE ROUTE At 8:53 a.m. Glenn, his wife and Johnson stepped into an automobile for the motorcade 15 miles north of Cape Canaveral where Glenn had a date with President Kennedy. Thousands of persons lined the route — the four-lane highway A1A and 401, which leads through Cocoa Beach to the Cape. In separate cars directly behind were the other six astronauts — Shepard, Grissom, Donald K. Slayton, who has been named to make the second orbital flight, probably in April; Walter Schirra; Leroy Cooper, and Scott Carpenter, who was Glenn's backup pilot.

MOTHER NOMINATED for work with cystic fibrosis. Mrs. Douglas Dale of Ottawa, has been nominated for the title "Canadian Mother of 1962" for her fight against cystic fibrosis. Four of Mrs. Dale's five children have inherited the disease and Mrs. Dale has devised playing games with candles and musical instruments to strengthen the children's lungs. Besides working with her own children, Mrs. Dale is active in the Ottawa Branch of the Canadian Cystic Fibrosis Foundation which helps other families with cystic fibrosis children and supports medical research to control and cure the disease. ## Canada wide search for "Canadian mother of the year"

Mrs. Douglas Dale, 971 Killen Drive, Ottawa, is one of the nominees for the title "Canadian Mother of 1962." Mrs. Dale has been nominated because of her courage in fighting against Cystic Fibrosis, a little known disease which has struck four of her five children, and for her work with the Ottawa Branch of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation of Canada.

Cystic Fibrosis is one of the commonest killers of children; in fact, it kills more children than polio. Nevertheless, Cystic Fibrosis is almost unknown.

The disease was first identified in 1938. Its symptoms are production of a thick mucus that clogs the lungs and pancreatic ducts so they can't function properly. These blockages can expose children to a fatal attack of pneumonia.

Exact causes of CF aren't known, but doctors suspect that it is hereditary, resulting from recessive genes present in both parents.

Usually, only one in four children born to parents with CF genes is affected with the disease. In the case of the Dale children, however, the three oldest boys, Billy, 8, Jimmy 6, and Richard, 5, as well as year-old Margaret contracted CF. The only child to escape was Margaret's twin sister, Kathie.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Dale was a registered nurse. She is also a doctor's daughter, the only child of the late Dr. J. B. Thackeray of Ottawa. This background has been useful for besides expensive drugs, Cystic Fibrosis requires home therapy.

The children had to be encouraged to blow out candles to strengthen their lungs.

Mrs. Dale also helped them work out in a basement gym in order to loosen up and drain off the mucus clogging their lungs.

Finally, the children had to sit for fifteen minutes, three times a day, inhaling a fine mist fed by a compressor through a face mask. The mist also helped loosen the mucus by getting moisture down into the lung passages.

Mrs. Dale never stopped hoping or working to help her own children, but her efforts didn't cease there. Knowing that an undiagnosed cystic used to die before he was three years old, Mrs. Dale has worked through the CF Foundation to inform other people about CF and to provide help for families with CF children.

She has personally sold scores of two dollar memberships in the Canada Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

This is one gallant mother who has been nominated for the title Canadian Mother of 1962.

Veneration for the elderly seems thing of the past

She added a postscript to her letter saying it was "not for publication"—so it won't be published. I won't even mention the section of the country it came from—only that the return address was a rest home for the aged.

She had no complaint for herself. Her stay, she hoped, would only be temporary, and besides her children lived close by and did not neglect her.

But that, she had discovered, was not the case of many of the old folks sent to rest homes by their grown children.

"I am saddened," she said, "by the ease with which our young folks today commit their elderly people to these homes—and how quickly the young folks forget them once they are established in a home."

A lot of other people are saddened, too, by this trend

Beavers win over Rockets, Vics edge Olympics

Andre Black comes up with winner in overtime, Roger Picard pots two, meet here Sunday afternoon

DRUMMONDVILLE — Sherbrooke Beavers moved into a commanding lead in Series "B" of the Eastern Townships Intermediate Hockey League playoffs last night when they edged the Rockets 5-3 in overtime. Andre Black potted the winning marker in the overtime and the Beavers took a 3-0 lead in the series.

The next game is slated in Sherbrooke Sunday afternoon and the Rockets face elimination in their do-or-die battle. The Beavers have posted 5-3, 6-3 and 5-3 decisions over the Rockets since the playoffs commenced last Sunday.

On the strength of last night's tilt the Beavers are favored to cop the series as the Rockets must come up with three straight victories to knot the count and force a seventh and deciding game.

The teams finished deadlocked at 3-3 to force the extra stanza but then Black came up with the winning tally and Real Rousseau completed the scoring for the evening when he lifted one into the empty net. Groulx had been yanked for the extra forward in the dying minutes of the overtime.

Roger Picard potted two goals while Albert Moore notched the other. For the Rockets Lester La Haye, Fern Lemay and Claude Aubry were the marksmen. The Beavers were minus Michel Ducharme who was home sick.

The game was a wide-open affair and the Rockets opened the scoring when LaHaye notched the first goal on a power-play. Black was in the sin-bin at the time. It was the only one of the period although each team had a man advantage at different times by penalties.

In the second frame Roger Picard came up with his first goal when the Rockets had a man in the cooler. Less than a minute later Albert Moore beat Groulx to give the Beavers a 2-1 lead and for the balance ten minutes the Dube held onto their slim lead.

The Beavers held their lead during the first half of the third period but with only three minutes left in the game things took a decided change. Lemay

Guy Charbonneau notches winner as Vics eke out close 2-1 win over Olympics to lead series 2-1

GRANBY — A goal by Guy Charbonneau with less than three minutes to go in the third period broke a 1-1 tie here last night and gave the Granby Vics a 2-1 victory over the Montreal Olympics. This victory gives the Vics a 2-1 lead in the best of seven semi-final series.

It was the second Granby win in a row after losing the first game of the series 2-0 to the team from the Metropolis.

A crowd of over 2,000 expressed surprise at the aggressiveness of the Olympics and it was only the fine netminding of Andy Payette that held the Montreal team at bay. He robbed goals from Richard and Latrelle and made key saves on many other Montreal forwards.

The Olympics outshot the Vics by a considerable margin. Payette in the Granby nets handled 32 shots while Binette had 19 to bargain with for the Olympics.

Roland Rousseau opened the scoring at 6:29 of the first period. He beat Binette after a fine passing play with Laplante, Georges, James evened the count five minutes before the end of the second period, while Gagne and Gilles Picard were sitting out penalties. Michel Labrosse starred on this play as he set it up beautifully.

This set the stage for Charbonneau's winning goal. It was

Saskatchewan seems practically assured today of winning Canadian Schoolboy Curling championship

HALIFAX (CP) — Saskatchewan, which has won the honor seven times since 1950, today was virtually assured of again winning the Canadian schoolboy curling championship.

Only an upset in the last two rounds of the 11-round tournament could halt the march of the Speers, Sask., rank to an undefeated record. Entering today's play Mike Lukowich's short-makers had eight wins and could afford to lose one of its two remaining matches and still clinch the title.

They play Northern Ontario at 1 p.m. EST and Quebec at 7 p.m. Quebec, if they play as well as they have shown occasionally, would provide the most trouble.

Saskatchewan's sweep of the championship became almost certain Thursday night when they downed Manitoba 6-5 in a match which would have tied the two rinks if Manitoba had won.

In the final round games tonight Nova Scotia plays Ontario, Manitoba plays New Brunswick, B.C. meets Prince Edward Island, and Northern Ontario plays Alberta. Newfoundland has a bye.

If there is a two-way tie for first, a playoff would start 30 minutes after completion of the last game in the final round.

Paper Makers dump Asbestos 8-3 in last game of season

Red Dubois has five point night as Windsor wraps up second place, League play-offs begin Tuesday

WINDSOR — (Staff) — "Red" Dubois was the individual star with a five-point performance here last night as the Windsor Paper Makers finished their season in fine style by trouncing the Asbestos Miners 8-3.

By virtue of the victory the Paper Makers wrapped up the second position in the league standings. Lapierre and Audet were also standouts for Windsors as they each got a pair of goals.

Dubois stole the spotlight as he earned a fine team style of play to pick up four well-learned assists and a goal while holding Larry Drouin, top scorer of the league, scoreless. Dubois stuck to Drouin like glue every time the Asbestos player was on the ice.

With their first shot on goal, the Miners took a 1-0 lead in the game. Belisle scored at 4:19 after a fine passing play with Lussier and Roux. Dubois set up the first Windsor goal four minutes later. The red-headed speedster worked his way into the Asbestos zone, dippy-doodling until there was no one man to beat. He drew the defenseman to him and slid a perfect pass to Lapierre who was checked in front of the net. Ben made no mistake to even the count.

Just before the period ended, Gilles Abran put the home team in front. It came on a hard slap shot from the point. The shot hit an Asbestos player and streaked into the open corner of the net.

The visitors wasted no time in the second period. Paul Perron tied the game 2-2 with a screened shot at the 26 second mark. Ben Lapierre got his second of the night at 2:18 when he deflected Marcel Fougues' shot. Again Asbestos fought back doggedly and tied the score once more at the eight minute mark. R. Drouin got the goal when he found the range with a screened shot from the blue line.

At 12:52, the Paper Makers took the lead and never lost it. Roux drew a penalty for Asbestos and in the resultant Windsor power play Red Dubois found the range with a hard shot from the point. The Miners almost tied it up minutes later when St. Laurent, the Windsor goalkeeper, came right out to the blue line to stickhandle through two Asbestos players and shoot the puck down the ice.

Red Dubois organized the fifth Windsor goal at the seventeen minute mark. He carried the puck into the Asbestos zone and drilled a hard shot toward the Miner goal. Bergeron thought he had the puck pegged, but Audet deflected the shot to send it into the open corner of the net. The second period ended with Windsor holding a 5-3 lead.

Gaston Lablanc blew the game wide open at 4:28 of the third. He beat Bergeron to make it 6-3 and stretch the Paper Maker lead to three goals. It came after a sparkling passing play with the Spenard brothers.

Audet scored his second of the night at 6:40 of the finale. He scored his second the same as he did his first. It came on the deflection of a Red Dubois slap-shot from the point. Perron was sitting out a penalty for Asbestos at the time. "Jasper" Houghton made it 8-3 for Windsor at 17:03. His goal also came on a blue-line slap-shot.

Twelve penalties were handed out during the contest with eight of them going to Asbestos. Paper Makers will now wait for the season to end for the rest of the teams. Two games are left to play in the Bernier circuit. Richmond Braves play host to the Border Jets this evening, and the Braves will travel to Magog on Sunday to play the Aces.

New schedule released for World Hockey

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—A revised 44-game schedule for 14 teams entered in the world ice hockey tournament March 7-18 was announced Thursday by Thayer Tutt, chairman of the organizing committee.

The revision was made necessary by the refusal of four countries—the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Romania — to send teams after East Germany's team was denied a travel permit.

Twenty-three games are to be played in the Broadmoor World Arena and 21 at the Denver Coliseum.

One preliminary game will be played March 7, Switzerland meeting Austria at 2 p.m. The winner will go into the tournament's A pool and the loser into the B pool.

Following is the full schedule for the Canadian team (Times Eastern Standard):

March 8-10:15 p.m. vs Finland.

March 10-10:15 p.m. vs West Germany.

March 11-5:30 p.m. vs Switzerland or Austria.

March 13-5:30 p.m. vs Sweden.

March 14-10:15 p.m. vs Norway.

March 17-10:30 p.m. vs Britain.

March 18-3:30 p.m. vs United States.

The A pool will have, in addition to the Switzerland-Austria winner, Canada, the United States, Britain, West Germany, Finland, Norway and Sweden. In the B pool will be The Netherlands, Japan, Denmark, Australia, France and the loser of the preliminary game.

Canada is the defending champion.

Junior ski event opens at Port Arthur

PORT ARTHUR, Ont. (CP)—Most coaches and skiers are pleased about the condition of the slopes and jump waiting for them today at Mount Baldy for the start of the Canadian junior ski championships.

Only the Quebec entry, which arrived late, was unable to take full advantage of practice sessions.

The Quebec Division team is mainly an Alpine squad. Its only runner in Nordic competition is defending champion Dave Rees.

After today's two downhill runs, cross-country begins with boys travelling 6 1/4 miles and girls half that distance. The first two runs of the 70-game slalom will be held Saturday. The meet ends Sunday.

LAST NIGHT'S STARS

Henri Richard and Dickie Moore of Montreal, who each scored one goal and assisted on another when Canadiens dumped Toronto Maple Leafs 4-2.

Sponsorship varies. The Ahuntsic Braves of northend Montreal, for example, got a complete set of sweaters, sticks, gloves and socks from the Montreal Canadiens of the NHL.

ROCKET'S SON PLAYS

The fact that Normand Richard, son of retired Canadiens great Maurice (Rocket) Richard plays for the team probably has a lot to do with that. Normand, like his father, wears number nine.

At the other extreme, an Indian farmer from Alberta sold his last cow last year and donated it to the reservation peewee team so that the Roman Catholic chaplain of the reservation could go with the boys.

Red Storey, a famed referee in the NHL for many years, is referee-in-chief of the tournament and will handle the championship game personally. He shouldn't have too difficult a time.

All rough play is strictly forbidden. Body-checking is not allowed, and all players have to wear a safety helmet.

"We want to avoid accidents, and we want to teach the boys to play the puck," Mr. Bolduc said.

Storey isn't likely to have much trouble with loud-mouthed coaches in at least two cases. Two teams have women coaches.

Mrs. Albert Cote coaches the Silery, Que., team and Mrs. Gordon Stronach, wife of the mayor of London, Ont., coaches her city's entry.

Sir George Williams ekes out 7-6 win over Bishop's in hard-fought duel, Gord Ewart notches two

Carnival weekend started on the wrong foot last night for Bishop's hockey Gaiters, as they dropped a 7-6 heartbreaker to Sir George Williams. Gaiters looked as if they would tie until George Christie sank their ship with a goal at 19:55 of the third period.

Gaiters played one of their strongest games of the season, and with a little better defensive work around their own net, they might have come up with a win. Time and again Sir George forwards were left unchecked in front of the goal.

Gord Ewart had a fine night for Gaiters in the last game of the season, scoring two goals and assisting on three others. Ron Kaulbach, Nils Bodtker, Guy Payne and Al Johnston netted singles for the losers.

Sir George iced a strong squad, and Gaiters were hard put to hold the maroon and white. Goalie Harvey Wells of the Georgians came up with some fine stops in the first two periods, robbing John Milligan on a screen slapshot which seemed labelled. Al Romanin replaced Wells in the third, when the latter was having skate trouble.

It looked at first as if Gaiters were in for a real shelling as Sir George jumped to a 2-0 lead on goals by Bob Ferguson and Dave Dies. Gaiters tightened up however, and Ron Kaulbach batted a loose puck into the upper right hand corner to put the purple and white back into contention.

Al Johnston sent Gord Ewart in all alone and Ewart fired a low hard shot to the left hand side of the net to knot the count at 2-2 at 10:15.

Hugh Palmer put the Georgians out in front again at 1:17 with help from Dies and Bob Moore and it stood at 3-2 until the end of the first.

Bishop's finished off their Ottawa-St. Lawrence schedule with a five-loss, two-tie and three-win record, which should prove good enough to give them a fourth place finish, behind Ottawa University, Sir George Williams and Carleton.

Bishop's: Ewart, Dawson, Walker, Milligan, Cullen, Laurin, Ewart, Williams, Bodtker, Johnston, Thomas, Webster, Murray, Payne, Henry Kaulbach.

Sir George: Wells, Romanin, Christie, Purcell, Hough, Dies, Palmer, Croppier, Bennett, Conklin, Armitage, O'Brien, Ferguson, Moore, Shink, McLaren.

Trappers edge Hull - Ottawa, Wolves win 6-4

North Bay Trappers bounced out of last place in the Eastern Professional Hockey League Thursday night, by defeating third-place Hull - Ottawa Canadiens 3-2.

In the other game Sudbury Wolves held off Sault Ste. Marie Thunderbirds, winning 6-4 and dropping the Thunderbirds into the league cellar, one point behind North Bay.

Sudbury is in fourth place, 16 points behind Hull-Ottawa. League-leader Kingston and second-place Kitchener, separated by one point in the battle for the top position, were idle.

Joe Szura's goal for North Bay in the closing moments of the final period gave the Trappers their win over Hull-Ottawa.

Doug Senior and John Longarini were the other scorers for North Bay and Brian Smith and Bob Armstrong tallied for the Canadiens.

Defenceman Jack Hendrickson was the guiding force for Sudbury, scoring three goals. Goals by Gord Howarth, George Rathwell and Ed Stankiewicz completed the Sudbury scoring.

The second period looked rather ragged at first, but both clubs soon settled down to serious hockey. Barry Armitage gave Sir George a two-goal lead at 7:22, but Nils Bodtker came right back to make it 4-3 seven seconds later.

Guy Payne raised the hopes of Gaiter fans when he scored on passes from Ewart and Johnston, tying it at 4-4.

Sloppy defensive work on Gaiters part allowed Sir George to take the lead again at 14:07 of the second frame when Dave Dies went in all alone to beat Ewart.

Al Johnston brought the Gaiters abreast of the Maroons once again when he fired one home from about 10 feet at the 6:36 mark. Georgians were not to be denied however, as they once again snatched the lead on a goal by Bob Moore at 16:13.

With two minutes left in the game, Gord Ewart, capitalizing on a one-man advantage, notched his second of the evening to make it 6-6. It looked as if Gaiters had a tie in the bag, until they were penalized for too many men on the ice at 18:25. Kaulbach and Bennet were then thumbed off for roughing, giving the Georgians a man advantage.

Bishop's finished off their Ottawa-St. Lawrence schedule with a five-loss, two-tie and three-win record, which should prove good enough to give them a fourth place finish, behind Ottawa University, Sir George Williams and Carleton.

Bishop's: Ewart, Dawson, Walker, Milligan, Cullen, Laurin, Ewart, Williams, Bodtker, Johnston, Thomas, Webster, Murray, Payne, Henry Kaulbach.

Sir George: Wells, Romanin, Christie, Purcell, Hough, Dies, Palmer, Croppier, Bennett, Conklin, Armitage, O'Brien, Ferguson, Moore, Shink, McLaren.

The Toronto University freshman defends his three-mile title in the National Amateur Athletic Union meet at Madison Square Garden against Hungarian-born Sandor Iharos and John Gotneke of Baltimore.

Kidd, sensation of the indoor circuit last winter, has mustered only one win in three starts at two miles during the last six weeks at meets in Boston and New York.

He won a three-mile event Jan. 27 at Winnipeg in an easy-going 14 minutes 8.3 seconds. His time for the AAU run a year ago was 13:47.

The difference over the 18-year-old's best distance cropped up last Friday at the New York Athletic Club meet, where Kidd scored his first U.S. win of the season by beating out Iharos and Laszlo Tabors over two miles at a leisurely 8:54.2.

SAY TRAINING WRONG

Mihaly Igloi, renowned coach of running stars in Hungary and California, commented then that Kidd should be concentrating more on his mile.

"He must train to build up speed and stamina," said Igloi. "He should run fewer races at two and three miles and more at one mile during the next few years."

"To become the 5,000-metre man I think he can become, Kidd must be able to run a mile under four minutes next year or the year after."

THE TORONTO UNIVERSITY track coach Fred Foot disagrees. Foot has held since Kidd started running as a 14-year-old high school star that his future is at three and five-mile distances, or the metric equivalents of 5,000 and 10,000 metres.

"Bruce doesn't really start running until after two miles," Foot says. "I always said Bruce will be his best at 5,000 and 10,000-metre distances and I can't see how he can gain experience by running in mile races."

President Gerard Bolduc predicts this year's International Pee Wee Hockey Tournament to be best ever QUEBEC (CP) — The play may be a bit amateurish and the players a little small, but there's nothing small or amateurish about the gate.

"This year's international peewee hockey tournament is going to be a wild success," predicts tournament president Gerard Bolduc. He has good reason to be so optimistic.

Last year's tournament, one of the events of the Quebec winter carnival, packed the Quebec Coliseum for a week and a standing-room-only crowd of 16,000 watched the championship game.

This is the kind of a crowd many National Hockey League teams wish they could get, and they use players considerably more than 12 years old.

The third annual peewee tournament brings more than 2,000 kids on 34 teams to Quebec for a series of events including a "little American Hockey League" championship and "real native Canadian" championship.

INDIANS PLAY

The first is played for by peewee teams from the cities that have teams in the professional American Hockey League, and the latter by three all-Indian teams from reservations in the provinces of Ontario, Quebec and Alberta.

The championship is played for by the two teams that don't lose any of their games during the week.

Teams get here on their own hook, with parents or sponsoring community organizations paying the transportation bills, but in Quebec they are all taken in by families and live in homes away from home.

New Brunswick's water actions March 14 reawaken old criticism

FREDERICTON (CP) — Northern New Brunswick rivers, of which stretches are involved in the leases, include the Restigouche, Kedgwick, Tabusintac, Big Sevoigie, Miramichi, Tobique, Upsalquitch, Patapedia, Nepisiquit and Cains.

Some old grants of land adjoining rivers retain riparian or fishing rights. Along many other stretches these rights are reserved to the crown. Rod and commercial licences are issued for various sections, in addition to general angling licences, and some areas are reserved for conservation purposes.

"The handwriting is on the wall," says columnist Taylor, "and the day is not too far distant when all the waters will be opened to public fishing, at a reasonable cost."

"Why should we sell our waters, yours and mine?" he asks. "We are citizens and taxpayers of the province of N.B., yet our government will not open these waters for the benefit of the general public of N.B."

A recent Older Boys conference for southwestern New Brunswick approved a resolution urging that sale of angling privileges to U.S. residents be limited to protect them for provincial residents.

In July, 1960, members of York County council characterized leasing of crown waters to wealthy non-residents as an "imposition" and "outrage."

K. B. Brown, deputy minister of lands and mines, said: "I expect the government would take a different attitude if revenue were the only consideration. Improvements built by lease-holders are taxed by communities. There are payrolls, and in some localities it's a local service industry."

PUBLIC WATERS
The government says there is a trend toward making more stretches available to public fishing. Opened this way in 1952 were 123 miles of streams and 45 lakes formerly under lease. Long stretches are open to the public. Subject to greater exploitation they are less attractive to anglers.

Of 46 stretches on the auction block this year, 30 are for 10-year leases and 16 for one year. The latter may be renewed annually with government approval but must terminate in 10 years.

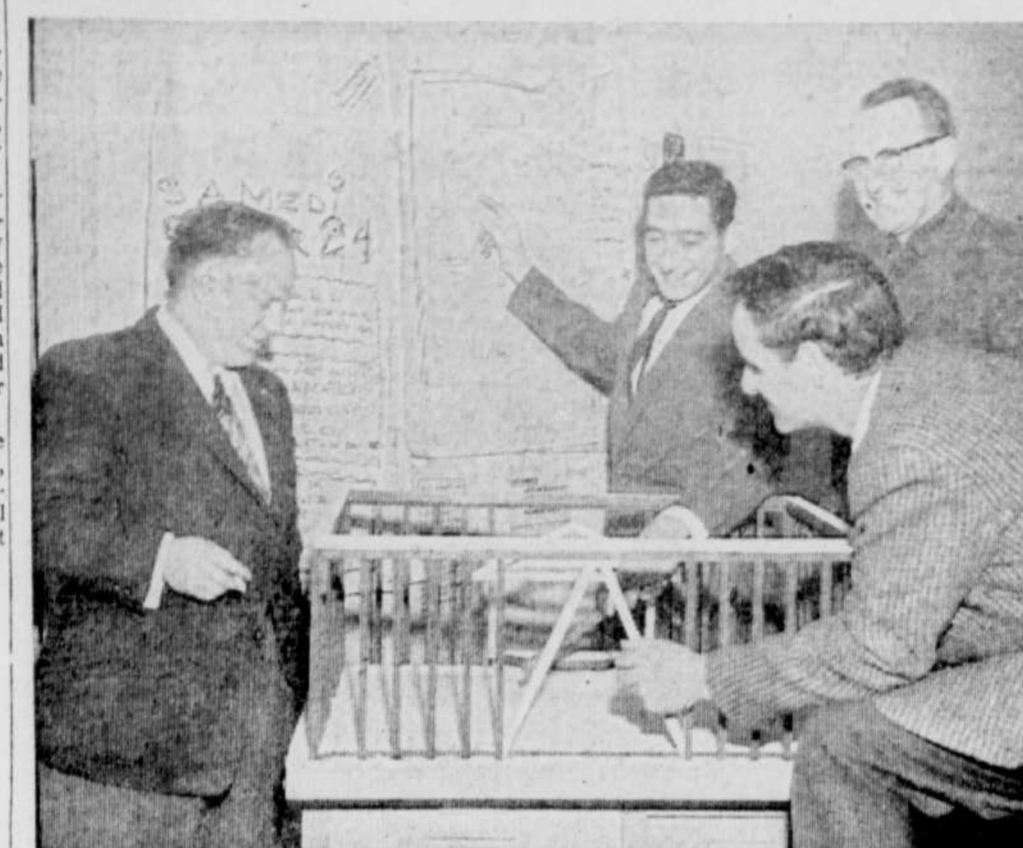

Revenue from the first sale in 1883 was $3,355. The last auction, in 1952, yielded $99,045.

Magog to host pro skiers of North America

PLANNING MAGOG MANIFESTATIONS — Jean-Charles Messara, centre, describes the auditorium to be built on the frozen surface of Lake Memphremagog, and explains the numerous events that will take place over this coming weekend in connection with the Magog Manifestations. Listening are: Left, Mac Standish, Magog alderman; Robert (Bob) Richardson, the ski professional who will set the slalom course in Saturday's International Professionals' Race at Orford, and Hank Rotherham, president of the Glen Mountain Ski Resort. (Photo by Jean Roch Venne)

On February 24th and 25th Mount Orford will be host to the Professional Skiers of North America on the occasion of one of the most spectacular races of the Ski world. For an event of such importance, the Magog Chamber of Commerce through the efforts of its Special Manifestations Committee of which Mr. Jean Charles Messara is President, have got under way a series of spectacles worthy of the largest Carnival.

Presently more than a hundred persons are bringing to a head the 23 different departments which will be in operation during those two days. The work started last November so that all will run smoothly and the celebrations will be a success. Here is a resume of what the 10,000 persons expected for the Event may look forward to seeing apart from the Ski Races which will be held at the Mount Orford Ski Center. At 8:00 P.M. the Abenakis Chief Mat-te-kua (Head of the river) and a group from his Tribe will commence the invocations to implore the Great Spirit who lives at the summit of Mount Orford to come and enflame the Bonfire. THE BONFIRE: Consists of Christmas trees acquired through the municipal services of Magog, piled to a height of 40 feet with a diameter of approximately 25 feet and for the occasion, burning with the magnificent colors of the rainbow.

THE LEGEND: According to history the Abenakis camping at the outlet of Lake Memphremagog during the winter, built a large bonfire to implore the spirits to give them a mild winter that would not be too hard on their people.

After these invocations, an immense fire will be lit at the summit of Mount Orford (3,000 feet high and 7 miles away). Members from 15 different Ski Clubs will run in relay to bring a burning torch to the Chief Mat-te-kua.

While awaiting the arrival of the fire, an outstanding spectacle will take place. First of all the jumper George Coallier will show his prowess by jumping over barrels placed on the ice. Following this will take place the finals of a Twist contest organized in all Hotels in the Province who have accepted to compete. To continue the Committee has organized an unimaginable feat, that is to show the complete line of 1962 Bathing Suits.

EXPLANATIONS: The Manufacturer, Harold Botnick will present the creations of Rose-Marie Reid by living Models well known from the Fashion Houses of Montreal. All has been foreseen to offer to the public, on the ice, what can be seen in a Fashion House. Following will be held the finals of the Beard growing contest, for the best... a cash prize will be given to the winner.

At 9:00 P.M. The Queen of the 125th Anniversary of Sherbrooke will arrive accompanied by her attendants. Dignitaries of the City of Sherbrooke will follow them also. Immediately after, the Deputy Pierre Laporte, official Representative of the Honorable Jean Lesage, Prime Minister of the Province will arrive accompanied by Representatives of the Provincial & Federal Government, who will have accepted the invitation of the City of Magog to participate at a large banquet. Representatives of the U.S. Government will also be among the guests.

Ernie McCulloch, one of Canada's favourite sons, who gained fame with a pair of skis, capturing numerous titles and championships, and three time winner of New England's much coveted Harriman Trophy will race at the Orford centre this weekend. McCulloch's name brought the number of entries to eighteen last Tuesday, but it's expected that several others will come in before deadline.

The Eastern Townships will be well represented by Jean Lessard, instructor at Mt. Sutton, and holder of the 1960 Canadian Combined Championships. Professional ski racing under the International Professional Ski Racers Association sees the highest purses paid in winter sports on this continent, and find the world's top skiers entered.

This year's pro circuit began on January 13th, with a race at Sun Valley, Idaho. On January 20th and 21st the finest rallied at Sugar Bowl in California, and on the 27th and 28th competitions were held at Heavenly Valley, also in California. February 9th and 11th the circuit swung to Aspen, Colorado, which was also to determine the world's championships.

Last weekend the circuit saw races at Georgian Peaks, Ontario, and this weekend the tops in pros will be featured at Mt. Orford.

The big question is, who will win this weekend's purse. Ski authorities, with the exception of Heli Summerauer, also in the pro class, but being the chief instructor at Orford ruled ineligible, state it's impossible to say. Many will wager on Christian Pravda, former instructor at Orford. Pravda's long record of wins automati-champion, Pepi Gramshammer holder of major European titles, and Othmar Schneider a gold medalist from the '52 Olympics all run a good chance, as have Ernest Hinterseer, gold medalist for the 1960 slalom competition.

Roger Staud of Switzerland, 1960 Olympic gold medalist, and holder of various top honours, with his splendid record set this season by winning the first four IPSRA races, is considered a likely winner Saturday and Sunday.

Les Streeter, a well known Canadian, and skier of outstanding reputation in this group have planned on a crowd of some 10,000.

Plans made for over 10,000 spectators

The big trial for Le Compagnie Gestion Orford comes this weekend, when this region will see the biggest ski racing event held in the Townships. Paul Albert, manager of the Mt. Orford Ski Station, in describing the events featured Saturday and Sunday said his group have planned on a crowd of some 10,000.

When asked about accommodations, Mr. Albert said careful study has gone into preparations for this weekend, and he is confident his staff will do an excellent job. To illustrate his point, Mr. Albert gave a tour of the Orford centre, noting the greatly increased parking facilities, which now should accommodate upwards of a thousand vehicles, if parked properly. There is one thing for sure, no chances are being taken that would leave skiers or spectators neglected.

In assisting the newspaper, radio and television representatives, Mr. Albert has allotted special parking areas, which are held open for newsmen. Asked why the special treatment, Mr. Albert said there's no question the public from coast to coast will demand thorough news coverage of the event, and his firm feel it is their responsibility to guarantee reporters and photographers be given every assistance in getting their jobs done properly.

The event is scheduled to be televised, live from the Mountain. Bob Richardson will be the official English language commentator.

Finish of history's first pro ski race at Buttermilk Mountain, Aspen Colorado in January of 1961.

Bob Richardson is named as course setter

Paul Albert, manager of the Mount Orford Ski Station officially announced that his predecessor, and present manager of the Glen Mountain Ski Resort, Robert (Bob) Richardson will be official slalom course setter in this Saturday's International Professionals' Ski Race.

Richardson has a long and colourful career in skiing, which dates back to his junior days as a racer for the Magog-Mt. Orford Ski Club, the organization that preceded the present Mt. Orford Ski Club.

He was a member of Canada's 1952 Olympic Ski Team, and in 1951 holder of the Canadian Combined crown. He raced in the 1950, F. I. S. championships as well as numerous national and international events. The holder of several titles, Richardson is still regarded as one of Canada's top ski authorities, and indeed is most popular among the people of this region, being a native of Magog.

ally gives him a better margin, and being familiar with Orford, authorities feel he has an edge.

Stein Frikson on the other hand, noted for his versatility is also a strong favourite, while Anderl Molterer, last year's top winner is bound to gain moral support by those guessing results. In last year's circuit Molterer won two first and four seconds in the season's seven races, to cop $4,500 of the purses that topped $15,000.

Tony Spiss, former Austrian for him.

Max Marolt, Ulfar Skarering, Marvin Moriarity and several other top-notchers will give the old pro a tough time, and the recent entry of Fritz Shannon, Bill Erwin and Hans Vernier promise to make the competitions thoroughly exciting.

Spectators are assured of plenty of action, and plenty of thrills, as they watch the world's best skiers go into action. Saturday's starting time is 1 o'clock. Sunday's races will likely get under way just a little earlier, depending entirely on weather conditions and slope conditions.

Farm Forum follow-ups

In January, Farm Forums and 4-H Clubs across Canada met in study groups to decide whether 4-H was doing the best possible job. This report is based on the Farm Forum Findings.

Young farm people need the following services and 4-H might be able to help provide them.

1. Short courses (in management, marketing, etc.)
2. A greater variety of projects.
3. Scholarships for further education.
4. Debating and public speaking training.
5. Citizenship education.
6. Films and tours.
7. Leadership training.

VALE PERKINS —

Mr. Charlie Jones, of Sutton, has been spending a few days with his sister, Mrs. Fred Jewett, Mr. Jewett and family and his brother, Mr. Lyle Jones, as well as friends in the vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Cote and Nelson motored to Montreal, where Nelson has entered the Royal Victoria Hospital for a check-up.

Mrs. Orin Knowlton, Groveton, N.H., is staying with Barbara Sullivan while Mr. and Mrs. Eric Sullivan are in Montreal. Mr. Sullivan has entered the Montreal General Hospital for surgery.

Local volunteer leadership can be developed and encouraged, the forums feel, by:

1. Leadership courses.
2. Workshops for local training.
3. Gaining greater parental co-operation.
4. The development of more junior leaders.
5. Providing more skilled training for volunteers.
6. Paying expenses of volunteer workers.

Over half the reports indicated the belief that local leaders need more recognition and support from parents and others in the community if they are to carry the load of training young farm people through 4-H.

4-H work ought to be accepted for high school credit, said three quarters of the reports. A number of projects should be acceptable for a particular science or agriculture course, said many groups.

The forums agreed that there are plenty of organizations to serve rural Canada now. A small number believe that there are too many, and a somewhat larger number believe there are too few. On balance, the nation's farmers and farm young people are well served by organizations, according to the reports.

RADIO FOR INDIA
The Farm Forum project, "Radios for India," has begun to show real results.

The project began in November, with the presentation of $110 by the Sutton Junction Farm Forum. Sutton, to Mr. J. L. Malbautra, Assistant High Commissioner, Indian Embassy, Ottawa.

The Record's Farm Report

Not much change in spending on agriculture is forecast in the estimates for 1962-63 tabled by Finance minister Fleming recently.

Total 1962-63 estimates for Agriculture minister Hamilton's department are $168 million. This is some $55 million less than will be spent in the current 1961-62 fiscal year.

The support price in 1961 was 119 per cent of the latest 10 year average (50.4 cents). It expires on March 31 next. No announcement has yet been made of the support level for 1962-63.

Meat Inspection Requests May Hit Snags

The recent publicity given to uninspected meat sales has boomed the demand for federal inspection of killing and meat processing plants, especially in Ontario and Quebec.

In Ottawa, a start will be made on Hamilton's new agriculture administration building ($1 million). Buildings for the research branch and genetics will take another $2.2 million.

Wool Payment Soon, No New Support Yet

A deficiency payment on 1961 wool deliveries will be going out to producers within the next three or four weeks.

Hon. Angus MacLean, acting for Agriculture minister Hamilton, announced in the House recently that a payment of 22 cents a pound will be made on eligible wool delivered in lots of 20 pounds or more.

The deficiency payment on the regularities that might be introduced by other interests.

A return to competitive bidding would improve the price of the commodities offered for sale by the producer.

The possibility of a national teletype marketing system, should be studied in order to determine its possible success.

Mrs. L. Pomeroy gave a report on the Farm Forum annual meeting held in Montreal, in conjunction with the co-operative Federes annual meeting.

Mr. Green was appointed to represent the Forum on the rural development committee, being organized by the Provincial Government.

Plans were made to hold a card party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Green, the returns going towards the radio for India project undertaken by the Forum.

The Forum met on February 19 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sternie Taylor.

The discussion was on transportation as it affected this area.

The Railway only has a branch line here that comes twice a week to bring this area feed and other freight.

When the shipping season from the lake head is closed this area pays two dollars a ton or more for feed shipped by rail.

The rates however are reflected in the supplies we buy.

When the shipping season from the lake head is closed this area pays two dollars a ton or more for feed shipped by rail.

The Federal Government is paying assistance on grain coming from the West.

It is felt that sometimes it appears the assistance is used as a coverup for speculation by the grain dealers.

Any discontinuance of freight rate assistance would very definitely effect this area because it depends on western grain for extra feed.

Passenger service in this immediate area would be discontinued if the commission's recommendations were followed.

1960 wool clip was 23 cents, with a total production of about six million pounds in both 1960 and 1961.

Lamb Grading Gradually Takes Hold

Lamb carcass grading, extended to all inspected plants in Canada last August, has resulted in a bonus of $2 on choice lambs and $1 on good lambs being paid to producers.

Inspected slaughter of sheep and lambs was up 12.6 per cent in 1961 and the Stabilization Board purchased a record number. The bulk of these had been moved back into trade channels in January, 1962.

Inspected slaughter of sheep and lambs was up 12.6 per cent in 1961 and the Stabilization Board purchased a record number.

The bulk of these had been moved back into trade channels in January, 1962, average price for good lambs at Toronto was $21.23, against $21.50 for January, 1961.

Carcass grading apparently did not stimulate consumption enough to counter-balance the pressure of heavy supplies.

Buying additional shelves or cabinets will usually solve storage problems, but frequently it's difficult to determine how much storage capacity you need.

The University of Illinois Small Homes Council has prepared the following standards for commonly stored household items:

DISHES AND GLASSWARE
Use a cabinet at least 20 inches wide and 12 inches deep. Service for four can be stored in six linear feet of shelving, service for six in nine feet, for eight in 12 feet, for ten in 15 feet.

BOOKS: About nine books will fit one foot of shelving. Make the shelf 10 to 12 inches deep, and leave a 3/4 inch vertical space between the top of the books and the underside of the shelf above.

TOYS: Overall height of the unit should be 48 inches or less, so that all shelves will be within your youngsters' reach. Most indoor toys can be accommodated on shelves 12 inches deep. Width is variable.

CLOTHES: You need roughly 48 inches of rod space per person. Most men's and women's garments require two to two and one-half inches of rod space each; heavy garments require four inches. Rods used for adult clothing should be 64 inches above the floor (72 inches for robes and women's evening clothes); clothing worn by children six to 12 years old requires a 48-inch rod height. Allow a foot of depth on either side of the rod.

Closet shelves 12 inches deep will hold most apparel items. INFANTS' EQUIPMENT: The best way to plan space requirements for baby carriages and similar items is to consider each one a cube. Add the cubes together and you'll end up with the total amount of room needed. This table should prove helpful:

Item	Length	Width	Height
	Inches	Inches	Inches
Baby carriage	36	23	39
Play pen	42	7	34
Stroller	38	24	35
Bassinet	33	18	12

Use adjustable shelves where ever possible for flexibility. In enclosed units, doors should extend the full width and height of the storage space to provide maximum accessibility. Don't put the top shelf any higher than six feet above the floor if frequently used items are going to be placed on it.

Finding a place for additional storage capacity is apt to be a problem in some homes because the right kind of wall and floor space is hard to come by.

If you face this problem, check your closet doors to see if they might accommodate wood shelving.

Another economical storage device is a wood room divider.

Either cabinets or shelves, or both together, can be installed in this unit.

The best way to get specific answers to specific storage problems is to visit your nearest lumber dealer or building materials supplier.
