Child health program to be expanded in fall

QUEBEC (CP) — Expanded health and social services will be available in Quebec schools this fall under a $1.35 million program announced Thursday by Claude Castonguay, minister of social affairs.

The program, aimed at correcting health conditions in underprivileged school districts will start Sept. 1, Mr. Castonguay said in a statement.

Poor health among students in low-income areas of Montreal was the target of a report released earlier this week by the city's health department and a school commission.

About $1 million of the cost of the new program will go toward the salaries of nurses needed for the program which is to be administered through existing school health units in some areas and through soon-to-be-created community health centres in others.

The health department estimates that about two million students at all levels will be covered by the plan which will also help finance the cost of vaccines.

The minister also announced a $65,000 experimental food and medical assistance program for schools in underprivileged areas of Montreal as well as help to municipal authorities in keeping a closer eye on the health of elementary school students.

Under the new program, elementary school students in centres outside Montreal and Quebec City will continue to be served by health units within the schools until the work of such units is absorbed by local community health centres.

Montreal and Quebec City elementary schools and secondary school and college students throughout the province will be treated by local community service centres.

Regional centres will oversee application of the program.

Mr. Castonguay said the new plan is not intended to duplicate existing medical services available under the province's medical care program.

By extending and improving services to students, the program aims to complement those services offered the general public, he said.

CRTC policy 'incomplete' says L'Allier Hit where they ain't

QUEBEC (CP) — Jean-Paul L'Allier, Quebec communications minister, launched a stinging attack Thursday on the Canadian Radio-Television Commission's recent policy statement on cable television which he described as "premature, clumsy and incomplete."

The Quebec minister also accused Gerard Pelletier, federal state secretary, of breaking a "gentlemen's agreement" by using the commission to make political declarations.

The CRTC, an appointed commission which reports to Parliament through the state secretary, proposed last week that cable operators pay for Canadian television programs they transmit to subscribers.

Mr. L'Allier has claimed jurisdiction for Quebec over cable television especially in the cultural and educational fields.

WANTAL DELAY

"While it is true that the CRTC has the right, under its federal mandate, to take position in this matter, it does so on government instructions. It would thus be possible for the Ottawa government to ask this commission to delay until the fall publication of this document."

"Premature, clumsy and incomplete, the measure posed last week by the CRTC disturbs the mechanism for discussion undertaken between Quebec and Ottawa on the question of communications."

Mr. L'Allier said that at a meeting June 2 in Quebec City, Mr. Pelletier had accepted a verbal agreement "according to which we undertook not to make policy statements on the communications question before the fall."

The federal government also agreed, he said, to provide a calendar for discussions to settle the questions of Quebec's jurisdiction over cable and educational television.

MILK PRICE INCREASE

Low income families feel pinch

By PETER GINSBERG

SHERBROOKE — How happy are local residents about the recent four cent per quart increase in the cost of milk?

Not very, was the overriding consensus of a Record street survey conducted Thursday. Those who were interviewed felt the increase will cause problems for low-income needy families.

One man from Bonsecours said that the increase was wrong as milk is not a luxury like liquor or tobacco. He admitted that milk producers are also faced with rising costs, but suggested that they seek cheaper means of production rather than raise prices. He said that money would be saved by the elimination of milkmen, whom he described as unnecessary.

Mrs. Clark of East Angus has five children and is already stretching her quarts by mixing two quarts of regular milk with two powdered. "I don't know why it's necessary. I wish it would go down," she said.

Mrs. Renaud St. Martin of Federal Street in Sherbrooke is one of those most affected by rising costs. She and her unemployed husband have six children who together consume three quarts a day.

"It's just too much. They could have kept it at the old price," she said. Mrs. Martin does not intend to switch to powdered milk, which costs only about 15 cents a quart compared to the new milk price of about 30 cents a quart.

Mrs. Caplan of Little Lake Magog and mother of three children, and whose family consumes three quarts a day, says, "I can afford it, but what about the people who can't? We'll continue to drink it because it's a necessary part of our diet, but if it wasn't, I'd stop drinking it. I feel that strongly about it."

One woman from Quebec City with two children said, "I know I have to pay it, but I can't change anything."

Mr. F. H. Butler of Lennoxville says: "I don't think the increase itself is exorbitant, but I don't really know where the money's going. If it goes to the producers it's acceptable—I understand that the farmers are having difficulties."

Mr. Butler also expressed concern over the underprivileged children who were the subject of a recent survey of Montreal's school population.

The inquiry showed that about half of the poorer pupils are undernourished.

Mr. Yves Dumont, a taxi driver from Chagnon St., Sherbrooke, is married with no children.

"It's a steal. They always raise the price of necessary items," he said.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Chartier, of Walton, have three children and consume three quarts of milk a day. "I don't think they (the dairy farmers) will get the money," says Mrs. Chartier.

"It's not a good idea. They will get their money, but now the families will need more. Eventually the government will have to raise the family allowance," said Mr. Chartier, a teacher.

In other words, more inflation since taxes usually rise with government spending. "It would be better to study new ways of distribution, like packaging," he added.

Mrs. Koselek, mother of five children (a three-quart-a-day family) said: "As long as it goes to the farmers it's alright, but if it goes to the dairy it's wrong. The farmers deserve it." However, she admitted that "milk and bread increases are unfair to the poor. I'd rather have my cigarettes go up than milk."

Mr. Mackey, a Montreal accountant with one child, who, with his son drinks up to 1½ quarts of milk a day, said: "I'm not a fan of it. If the farmers got it, maybe, but not the middleman. More lower income families will switch to powdered milk."

The hardest hit of those interviewed about the increase undoubtedly is Mr. C. Chauvin, an unemployed truck driver with 11 children.

In other words, a family of 13 living on unemployment insurance.

"I don't think the farmers will get it, it will go to the dairy. I will take the powdered milk," Mr. Chauvin said. His family drinks about four quarts a day.

If they were to continue drinking regular milk it would cost them an extra $4.48 a month.

For a family on unemployment insurance, that's expensive, considering that the cost of living is always going up.

The ones who are really affected by rising food costs are not really the adults, but the children. What happens to them?

Dr. Leo Langis, a pediatrician with the St-Vincent-de-Paul Family Clinic, says that children between the ages of two and five years should have at least 8 ounces of milk a day.

Children who do not drink milk will suffer from dental problems and rickets, a calcium deficiency disease that results in the softening and malformation of bones.

As for powdered milk, Dr. Langis said that it lacks fat content and some essential proteins. Still, he added, it is better than nothing, or than the fruit juice and soft drinks that are so frequently used to substitute milk.

Strom calls election

EDMONTON (CP) — Premier Harry Strom of Alberta has called an election for Aug. 30, and Progressive Conservative Leader Peter Lougheed says it is going to be the "most interesting in decades."

Social Credit and the Conservatives, each with 72 candidates nominated so far, plan to field full slates. The NDP has nominated 51, and hope to reach 65. The Liberals, led by Bob Russell, have nine.

MP absenteeism study draws sharp reaction

A McMaster University professor's study indicating a 38-per-cent rate of absenteeism among members of Parliament during major votes in the last Commons session raised the hackles Thursday of spokesmen for all parties.

Dr. Roman March, a political scientist, released Wednesday the results of a study on division votes during the last Commons session, which ended June 30 after 163 days of sittings.

He tallied up attendance for all 98 division votes scattered over 53 days, reasoning that "one rough way to find out if your MP is absent from Ottawa is to check and see if he voted on division calls, which are recorded in Hansard."

Dr. March found that on the average 38 per cent of the 264 MPs were absent during division votes, held on major government legislation, non-confidence motions and the like.

Some members, such as Social Credit Leader Real Caouette, voted on as few as seven per cent of the division calls.

SAYS LOGIC FLAWED
Government Whip Lloyd Francis, whose job it is to see that as many Liberals as possible are in the Commons, said in an Ottawa interview there are some flaws in the statistical logic of the Hamilton professor's survey.

"I have found the number of unexcused absences very, very small," said Mr. Francis, who was credited with a 96-per-cent attendance record for division votes, second-highest—among the Liberals.

Mr. Francis cited three main reasons for lower attendance on divisions.

—The job of the MP has changed with longer Commons sessions and heavy committee work. Sessions last 10 months, with some committees meeting during House recesses. This means it is extremely difficult for an MP to do constituency work and "we simply must recognize that it is imperative for an MP to take some time to visit his constituency."

—There is a growing volume of travel by MPs internationally and within Canada on government business. Six committees have been travelling outside Ottawa.

—Illness kept a number of MPs out of the Commons.

SERVE OTHER WAYS
Mr. Francis agreed that some MPs spend more time in their home ridings than they do in Parliament. But he asked whether standing up to vote on every division should be the full measure of an MP's performance.

He suggested that intelligent participation in committees, travel study and development of specialized knowledge might make an MP more useful.

The Liberal whip said he frequently excused MPs from division calls who were working hard on tough committee studies.

Stanley Knowles, New Democratic Party whip and the only MP with a perfect 100-per-cent division vote attendance record in the last session, said cold statistics don't tell the whole story in individual cases.

"But they do tell an over-all story that MPs are paying less attention to Parliament," said the Winnipeg North Centre MP.

Three of the New Democrats cited low attendance by Dr. March—Harold Winch of Vancouver East, Doug Rowland of Selkirk and Frank Howard of Skeena—were ill last session.

FAVORS SUCH SURVEYS
Mr. Knowles added that it is a good thing that surveys such as the one by Dr. March are published.

"It will jack people up, make MPs more aware of their responsibilities."

Liberal Marcel Prud'homme of Quebec's St. Denis riding conceded that some MPs are negligent about Commons attendance, the same as people in industry, the civil service and the press, but "you have to be very careful when you count the division votes unless you know where the voters are."

"Statistics are very dangerous if you look at them without explaining."

Mr. Prud'homme, who voted in 60 per cent of the division calls, explained that he was out of Ottawa one week in four travelling with the constitution committee, which kept 11 Liberals out of the Commons for 15 weeks.

MINISTERS TOO BUSY
Maurice Foster, Liberal member for Algoma, said cabinet ministers are often absent because of departmental responsibilities and demands for speaking engagements, and this counts for a big chunk of the absenteeism rate.

Energy Minister J. J. Greene, named by Dr. March as the cabinet minister with the poorest record on division votes—he was there for 35 per cent of them—couldn't be reached for comment.

However, a spokesman for his office in Niagara Falls, Ont., said Mr. Greene is "extremely careful" about being in the Commons for question periods, but he has a very large portfolio and department work absorbs much of his time.

In Quebec City, Liberal Gerard Duquette of Quebec East said some MPs are detained in home towns in non-Commons professions such as private business and law practices.

"It's too bad; our mandate obliges us to be in the House and each deputy should try to be there," he said.

QUEBEC IN FOCUS

EMPLOYEES SET UP PICKETS

QUEBEC (CP) — About 400 striking bus drivers and mechanics employed by the Quebec Urban Community Transit Commission set up picket lines Thursday around the commission's offices and the garage of a subsidiary bus company.

They succeeded in paralyzing operations at both their employer's offices and the garage of Autobus Charlesbourg, a company recently acquired by the QUCTC.

Employees of Autobus Charlesbourg walked off the job last week but were forced back to work because their contract was still valid and they had no legal right to strike.

ORDERS SEIZURE OF MAGAZINES

CHICOUTIMI, Que. (CP) — Judge Bertrand Gagnon Wednesday ordered the seizure of 10 French-language periodicals which he declared obscene.

Order seized were copies of Bisexus, Matin-Soir, Lesbo, Viveur, Interdit, Libertin, Tabou, Rendez-Vous, Swingers and Encore.

The provincial court judge said that after having studied all of the publications, following a complaint lodged against a newsstand operator, he felt they constituted an infraction of what society considers moral.

Despite our supposed new outlook on morality, we still consider lesbianism, homosexuality, masochism, sadism and sexual deviation as immoral acts.

He condemned the publications' descriptions of homosexual and masochistic acts and their use of suggestive pictures.

ESKIMO GIVEN JAIL SENTENCE

MONTREAL (CP) — An Eskimo flown 1,000 miles from northern Quebec for trial here was sentenced Thursday to two days in jail for setting fire to a truck and causing $1,000 damage to the vehicle.

Crown Prosecutor Gerard Girouard told Judge Maurice Rousseau the arresting officer's report indicated Peter Abraham of Fort Chimo was not sober at the time of the incident.

Ovulation possible after periods stop

Dear Dr. Lamb—Of all that is written about the "pill," I have never read an answer to my question. WHEN is it safe to take the pill? I am 52 years old and have been taking the pill for five years. But now my doctor tells me I don't need to take them any more. I am terrified that I might get pregnant. My youngest child is eight and we have 12 grandchildren. Am I driving myself crazy with worry for nothing or am I safe now?

Dear Reader—That is a good question. A related question is frequently asked. "Now that I have stopped having periods can I still get pregnant?" The answer to these problems is the same, if you still produce ova, whether or not you menstruate, you can get pregnant. Ovulation can and does occur in persons who do not menstruate. Ovulation usually persists about two years after the menses disappear.

The best way to approach the problem is to have a doctor, usually a gynecologist, do some tests to find out if you are still ovulating or not. The characteristics of the mucus from the cervix changes at time of ovulation. Studies of the mucus help identify if ovulation still occurs.

Another helpful method is to study the oral temperature daily. The temperature should be taken the first thing before getting out of bed or doing anything that disturbs the basal or resting state. During the complete menstrual cycle the daily temperature falls reaching its lowest point at the time of ovulation. Then the temperature rises sharply about 0.8 degrees F and stays at that level until menstruation begins. If the woman who has stopped menstruating still has a temperature curve of ovulation it is likely she is still ovulating and can get pregnant. To be certain about such an important matter, though, tests should be studied by the doctor.

The pill of course prevents ovulation. As long as one is on the pill the temperature guide won't help in determining if you will get pregnant or not AFTER stopping the pill. In this case you could stop the pill and take daily temperatures a few months to see if the temperature curve changes.

Fiddlers' contest Saturday

CRAFTSBURY COMMON, Vermont — Fiddlers will be arriving at Craftsbury Common from Quebec, Massachusetts, Maine, Connecticut, New Hampshire, New Jersey, points west, and all over Vermont on Saturday.

The ninth annual Old-Time Fiddlers' contest will begin at noon with more than 50 top fiddlers in competition. This year there will be two divisions, open and senior, featuring awards totalling $500 as well as trophies.

At 3 p.m., the fiddling will stop for an hour or so while the voice of the auctioneer takes over. Many fine instruments have been consigned for this unique fiddle auction and all will be on display for examination before the sale.

Another interesting feature will be a fiddle-making demonstration, all afternoon, by Clyde Hunter of Lyndonville.

The final competition will begin at 8 p.m., followed by the announcement of the winners.

It will be a full day of fiddling fun for only $2. Children under 12 are admitted free. Barbecued chicken and other refreshments will be available on the grounds.

Changes at Hotel-Dieu

SHERBROOKE (PT) — Several changes and improvements in various departments will be effected at Hotel-Dieu in the coming weeks, says a press release from the hospital's corporation president J. M. Jeanson.

"We believe that we can better serve the population by making these alterations and improvements," Mr. Jeanson said.

In all, 11 services and departments will undergo renovation, but it is "impossible to estimate the financial commitment involved" in the enterprise.

The 11 departments are: radiology, emergency, isotopes, electroencephalography, pharmacy, pediatrics, physiotherapy, teaching facilities, tuberculosis and psychiatry departments.

The decision to make the changes was made by the department of social affairs at the beginning of July.

Fire put out here

SHERBROOKE (PT) — Sherbrooke firemen had to put out a small fire Wednesday morning on the Sherbrooke Country Club grounds, just off Prospect Street.

The fire started in a shed where various employees were gassing up their machines. It did not, however, spread to the shed itself, and firemen took only about 10 minutes to extinguish the flames.

Three fire trucks were dispatched to the scene, under the direction of Lt. Gerard Donahue.

Furnace explosion

CAPELTON (PT) — The home of Roger Demers, situated near the centre of this municipality, suffered damages estimated at several hundred dollars when the basement furnace exploded early this week.

Although there was more smoke than there were flames, Mr. Demers and his neighbors were afraid that the fire would spread to the old Capelton bridge nearby.

However, nothing serious happened and Waterville firemen made short work of the blaze.

Fire inquiry postponed

SHERBROOKE (PT) — Quebec fire commissioner Cyrille Delage Wednesday adjourned his inquiry into a fire which damaged the Sunset Motel on route 5, near Waterville on Sept. 28, 1970.

The postponement was necessary for the police to locate one Jacques Tremblay, of Montreal, considered to be an important witness in the case.

Sunset Motel was damaged to the tune of $1,500 by the flames, which apparently put themselves out without firemen's assistance.

Young man drowns

ST-ALBERT (PT) — A young man of 22, Jean Morin, of 56 St-Marie Street in Tingwick, drowned at about midnight Tuesday night when his car went out of control and landed in the Riviere des Pins.

The accident occurred on the highway between Warwick and St-Albert when Mr. Morin's car missed a curve, jumped, and smashed through the guardrail at the side to plunge into the water.

The car finally came to rest upside down, all four wheels sticking up in the air.

All three people travelling with Mr. Morin managed to escape from the car but the unlucky driver was trapped between the caved-in roof and the headrest.

The passengers accompanying Mr. Morin were: Jocelyn Pinard, 19; Gilles Dupont, 21; and Jean-Paul Hincse, all of Tingwick.

Hincse was the most seriously hurt of the three, suffering from fractured arms and a fractured ankle as well as deep cuts. The injured were taken to Hotel-Dieu-d'Arthabaska Hospital.

Police agents Michel Menard and Rene Fortier, assisted by ambulance personnel Rene Gregoire of Warwick, and Boris Dion and Jean Boisvert of Victoriaville, worked more than half an hour before extracting the dead body of Mr. Morin from the submerged car.

By that time, there was no chance of applying artificial respiration, as the body had been under water for too long.

The man had left by morning without even sleeping in the bed, which had been damaged in the fire. His room was discovered vacant the next morning by an employee of the motel.

Audette then filed an insurance claim with his broker, who had the motel insured for $61,000.

The insurance companies then reimbursed the mortgage holders for the amount claimed.

Now it turns out that one of the cheques was cashed with forged endorsements without the knowledge of the mortgageholder.

New Sherbrooke industry coming

SHERBROOKE (PT) — A new industry is to come to Sherbrooke very soon.

One of the principal promoters of the new industry, Roto-Cast Plastics Ltd. of Massachusetts, has just been granted a federal government subsidy of $225,000 to establish a local industry which is expected to create some 41 new jobs in Sherbrooke.

Federal MP Paul Gervais explained in a telephone conversation that thanks to the federal subsidy, Sherbrooke will benefit from a total $671,000 investment in the area.

From the few facts as yet known about this new industry, it was possible to learn that the new federal government subvention represents 15 per cent of the immovable investments of the Roto-Cast Company.

The new factory which will be built shortly in Sherbrooke comprises another addition to the several new enterprises which have recently come to Sherbrooke because of government subsidies.

New industries are attracted to Sherbrooke partly through the efforts of the industries themselves and partly thanks to the diligence of Sherbrooke industrial commissioner Alex Baptist.

Inverness

Mrs. Russell Marshall and Mrs. Hubert Cook were recent guests of relatives in Richmond and Melbourne.

Mr. Waldon Moase was in Sherbrooke on Monday.

The many friends of Mrs. Harry Patterson, Rectory Hill, will regret to learn that she underwent surgery on June 11th in St. Joseph's Hospital, Hamilton, Ont. At the moment she is in Room 614. Following her release from the hospital she will be at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Wright, 15 Glenmorris Drive, Dundas, Ont. before returning home.

Mr. W. Hutchinson, Mrs. Hilda Stevenson, and Mr. Leonard Montgomery, Theford Mines, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Minnaugh.

During a short surprise visit to this vicinity, Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Hunter, Gleichen, Alta., and Mrs. Beatrice Guy, St. Johnsbury, were entertained at dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Dan Melrose, and as supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Cook. Mr. Hunter resided at one time on the 8th range of Inverness, while Mrs. Hunter and Mrs. Guy were the former Misses Ida and Beatrice Cochrane of Leeds Village. Needless to say, their friends in this area were pleased, indeed, to meet them again.

Visitors at the Cook home included Mr. and Mrs. Bobbie Bennett, and family, Greenfield Park, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Knox and children, Stoneham and Mr. Osmond Miller, Westerville, Vt.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Little, accompanied by Mrs. Ann Little and Laurie, spent a day in Valcartier visiting friends.

Mrs. John Fletcher, Mrs. Ann Little, Laurie and Mrs. Allan Little were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Wright.

JAMES MOORE JR.

Named to new post

JAY PEAK — Porter James Moore Jr., has been appointed manager of Jay Peak Inc., succeeding the late D. M. Mack Matheson who died in April after a short illness.

Mr. Moore was named to the post by Rolf Falk, manager of recreational properties of the Quadrant Corp., a Weyerhaeuser Company.

In making the announcement, Mr. Falk said, "We are extremely fortunate to have Jim Moore assume this position. His many years in the ski business and general knowledge of the industry plus his managerial expertise, are what is needed to handle the complications of a rapidly expanding ski and recreational area."

Falk further stated that the appointment would be effective immediately.

Mr. Moore has been a life-long resident of northeastern Vermont. He was born in Newport in 1925 where he attended grammar and high schools. Following high school graduation, he attended Vermont Junior and Middlebury Colleges. He served in the U.S. Eighth Air Force in England during the Second World War.

At the general staff meeting called to announce his appointment, Mr. Moore said, "I know this is a big job with a lot of challenges. But I am looking forward to working with this staff and our ownership. In addition," he continued, "I am extremely optimistic about the future and I am certain that our rapid growth of the past few years is only the beginning."

Mr. Moore will continue to make his home in Jay, Vt., adjacent to the ski area.

Reception irks recipients

SHERBROOKE (PT) — A group of about 30 social welfare recipients were very fed up Wednesday afternoon after paying a visit to the local social affairs department office here.

One of them complained that they were not well-treated at the office and that it was very difficult for them to get an interview with a welfare officer there.

Questioned by The Record, officials at the social affairs department said that they were aware of the situation, and described it as "abnormal."

A spokesman said that if some of his office employees were impolite to the group, it was probably because the staff was overworked.

Also, the doors of the office were locked for about 10 minutes Wednesday because there were too many people in the waiting room.

An employee said that the doors were locked for "security" reasons.

Bernard Larouche of the social affairs department also added that it was almost impossible to make appointments because the offices would be moving to a new location soon, but it was not certain exactly when this would happen.

"We have more than 6,000 welfare cases to serve in the City of Sherbrooke, but our staff must have their holidays."

"This means that our clientele may not receive service of the same calibre that they usually do," he explained.

Many people on welfare want to know why they haven't as yet received their monthly cheques, as they need them badly.

To this, Mr. Larouche replied that out of 6,000 cheques there are bound to be a few mistakes made in addressing or handling.

When a welfare recipient moves house, the post office is not allowed to deliver the cheque to any address other than the one on the envelope.

They are forced to return the cheque to Quebec City for correction, which would explain the late delivery which some people are experiencing.

Cause of man's death not known

SHERBROOKE (PT) — Georges Begin, 62, of 129 Windsor Street, Sherbrooke, died a violent death, revealed associate police director Jean-Paul Pelletier yesterday.

Mr. Begin's body was found by a passerby at the foot of a ravine on a deserted farm Saturday. An autopsy revealed fractures of the breast bone and seven other bones.

The body was interred in Wotton Cemetery.

Police are now attempting to discover whether Mr. Begin died from an accident or if someone killed him. The body was found with the shirt garments torn off, and Begin's pockets were empty.

In addition, buttons identified as the same as those remaining on Begin's shirt were found not 50 feet from the body.

Mr. Pelletier revealed that reports from the Institute of Legal Medicine will soon reveal other details.

The deceased lived in a rented room here, and no one at his boarding-house knows whether he had any friends or enemies, Pelletier said.

Various persons are being questioned by police to determine whether Mr. Begin was victim of an accident or of a criminal attack.

The Quebec Police Force is aiding Sherbrooke municipal police in their investigations.

The date of coroner Dr. Louis Gagnon's inquest has not yet been determined.

Smorgasbord Aug. 7

AYER'S CLIFF — The June meeting of the UCW Unit 1, was held at the home of Mrs. E. J. Astbury. There were 10 members present.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. N. Pierce in the absence of Mrs. C. Mitton, leader. Devotions were taken by Mrs. K. McLaughlin.

Reports were read and accepted. Plans were made at this meeting for the July Sale and supper held on July 10, also a committee named to plan the Smorgasbord which will be held on August 7.

At the close of the business session, refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Elsie Whitcomb and a social period enjoyed.

There will be no meeting in August.

Today's education

The recommendation contained in the report of the structural revisions committee at the University of Sherbrooke that the university should shed its confessional nature deserves the support of the community, not bitter opposition such as we have thus far seen.

For many years education in this province was hampered by the tight controls the Catholic Church maintained on teaching. Curriculum was strictly tailored to Catholic standards and the teachers were mostly nuns and priests.

For the most part, advanced education was confined to seminaries and classical colleges, where only certain facets of man's overall knowledge were taught.

Shamefully neglected were the natural and applied sciences, administration and finance, and the social sciences. Emphasis was on languages, the humanities and theology.

That is one of the reasons Quebec today has a surplus of lawyers and not nearly enough business administrators.

In order that the Catholic bias no longer prejudice the academic freedom of both teacher and student, the University of Sherbrooke's structural revisions committee recommended that the institution divorce itself of all sectarian overtones and become a secularized place of learning for all.

Somewhere in the calendars of most universities, one can find, in the religion or theology course descriptions, a passage reading, "The approach in all courses is strictly academic, scientific and non-sectarian."

How can this be accomplished when courses are taught by people so deeply rooted in the Catholic faith that they have devoted their life to that church's service?

Presently, the University of Sherbrooke holds two charters: one from Rome and one from Quebec City.

Really now, which is more relevant to the present state of the university? Financially if for no other reason, the university is a public institution. The vast majority of its funds come from the department of education.

It is high time that the university stopped playing games and shedded the anachronism of confessionalism which presently burdens it.

P.T.

Such is justice

Why are the courts so slow?

Early in June, members of a locally-based rock band appeared in Provincial Court before Judge Redmond Hayes as defendants in a case involving a landlord who had requested the court bailiff to seize their musical equipment for non-payment of several months' rent.

Although the group has signed an agreement with the landlord to pay the rent for the months they owed at certain specified times, the landlord agreeing, this fact was not brought before the court hearing.

When the defence attorney presented the signed agreement on behalf of his clients, the plaintiff's lawyer told the judge that the agreement was nothing to do with the case at hand — "it's totally another matter — completely separate, your Honor."

Plaintiff's attorney also tried his hand at slandering the band, calling them communists and claiming they weren't even professional musicians.

They have earned their living as professionals for three years, and are certified competent musicians to be paid union scale, by the American Brotherhood of Musicians.

Meanwhile, deprived of their equipment, the band has been forced to split up, as they were unable to get any work without equipment.

While two band members have returned home to Timmins, Ont., the other two have joined another local rock band, a well-known one which won a contest to represent Canada at Expo '70 in Japan.

But Roman and Steve Pyszyjny are still unable to do very much in the way of earning their living when the tools of their trade are confiscated.

There is a law that things essential to a man's trade or occupation may not be seized by the court to pay a debt.

It has been over a month and a half, and a Band Called North is still waiting for an answer from the courts. They are virtually paralyzed until they hear further news.

And every day the court delays costs North more money in storage charges for their equipment.
Such is justice. . . .

Paul Trollope

French press opinion

This is a selection of editorials on current topics, translated from the French-language press of Canada.

Montreal Le Devoir: By ambivalent and hesitant proposals made many times, Mr. Bourassa is most responsible for the extremely confused reactions to Quebec's rejection of the Victoria charter.

Through the vicissitudes of constitutional dialogue for a year, opinion has seen him as two different men. One would have him disposed to compromise, interested more in the profit of federalism than its principles, rather irresolute in the defence of certain classical Quebec positions. The other would have him the intransigent and orthodox interpreter of arguments espoused before by most Quebec premiers, revealing himself basically in his opening speech at the Victoria conference and by the "no" of his government to the Victoria charter.

It is up to Mr. Bourassa to let it be known without equivocation . . . that the second person, not the first, is the real one.

A clear, vigorous, dynamic public reaffirmation of the Quebec constitutional position must be asserted. This reaffirmation must include both the objectives and methods of constitutional revision.

It must show the rest of Canada there is more to Quebec's "no" on the Victoria charter than difficulties raised by articles 44 and 45. This is a first condition to the reopening of a true dialogue.

In English Canada, Quebec must make it understood that its fundamental demands are inalienable, but that it is not seeking so many unwarranted privileges.

If this position is perhaps understood by a number of the leaders of English provinces, the climate of federal-provincial meetings will be modified.

If no progress is possible in this manner, if the positions of the Trudeau government really express the "ne plus ultra" English Canada is ready to accept, we might as well conclude right now that this country is impossible.

In all that enveloped the Victoria conference, the thing that most struck Anglo-Canadian opinion was the unanimous support given Mr. Bourassa by the province's national assembly.

English Canada believed at one point that it held Robert Bourassa in its hand. When it is recognized that the Quebec premier belongs first of all to his people and cannot as a result be manipulated from outside, perhaps negotiations will finally begin for good. —Claude Ryan, July 19.

Trois-Rivieres Le Nouvelliste: Remember the economic stagnation which existed in Quebec, the heavy unemployment and finally the famous October crisis which had the effect of clipping the wings of the new premier.

Can we conclude now that Mr. Bourassa has succeeded in erasing the numerous errors which marked the beginning of his rule? We do not believe so. There are wounds there that cannot be healed easily, in spite of the fact the ministerial team offers a positive record in legislative matters.

He had not accustomed us, from the first days of his mandate, to revealing the true qualities of a leader one has a right to know.

The legislative bills which have been adopted will certainly contribute directly to a real economic boost in Quebec. After a year and a half in power, Mr. Bourassa has set to work and we hope this is the beginning of a new era for all Quebecers.

At the same time, it will be necessary in future for the premier to learn to plan his legislative work a little better so that members are not plunged, as was recently the case, into marathon debates at the end of the session. That is an unacceptable situation.

Whatever it is, the Quebec premier's new image should be an encouragement in the months ahead. We are confident that Mr. Bourassa in future will be able to reveal still more of himself.

However, to succeed in this new feat, it will be necessary for other ministers to leave his shadow a little and also show themselves on top of the situation. —Rejean Lacombe, July 16.

Montreal La Presse: An important debate will begin soon in the House of Commons in London in which the long-term result will bear heavily on the future of Britain.

Prime Minister Heath has not spared himself the trouble of spreading his conviction that the well-being of his country lies in belonging to the Common Market. . . . But public opinion is either reticent or directionless, although recent polls show the number of opponents to market membership is tending to decrease.

The English reserve surprises anyone who attributed the exclusion of Britain from the Common Market since 1959 to the French veto. In what measure is it due to former prime minister Wilson who . . . always pursued the goal feebly? The question is even more natural since Mr. Wilson still retains an ambiguous attitude in 1971.

Whatever happened at that point of history, Franco-British relations have sensibly warmed following the meeting in May this year between Prime Minister Heath and President Pompidou. The reasons that English opinion is not automatically following the Conservative leader in his search for a place within the Common Market are complex and numerous.

In the course of its long history, England has never been reluctant to patronize unusual groups, to encourage the unnatural juxtaposition of peoples that everything — language, religion — divides, as long as her splendid insular isolation was not affected.

To see it submitting, in its turn, to a promiscuity required by contemporary realities is certainly a spectacle.

But we can prefer to admire . . . the qualities of a leader who tries by persuasion to have his country take the only course which seems good to him. And to admire the energy of an entire population accepting a challenge.

But let's not anticipate, the games have not yet been played. —Guy Cormier, July 16.

Sherbrooke La Tribune: With infiltration into certain of our nationalist milieux of foreign subversive elements, whose mission consists of channeling and orchestrating popular discontent into a revolutionary crescendo, we are in the process of submitting our "national soul" to a chemistry laboratory test — transforming the spirit of patience and tolerance which characterized us to this day into a feverish and impetuous haze to find, according to spokesmen of systematic campaigns of disparagement, the panacea for all our problems in the socio-economic-political order.

Among those who plunge the most blindly, but in all sincerity, into the game of agitators who foment revolution — these are many who do not stop to think . . . that they are preparing their own end.

One gets an idea of the success these activists have gained from the outcry of protests which they succeeded in raising on the subject of Montreal police conduct at the St. Jean Baptiste Day festivities.

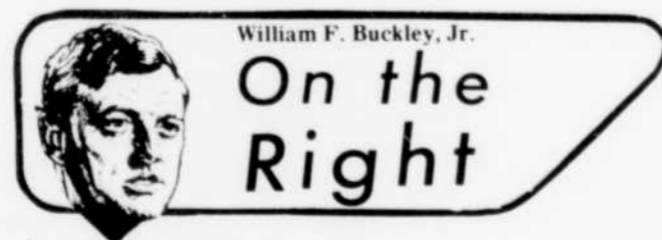

Would the riot squad have acted as it did if the public, that night of June 24 in Old Montreal, had obeyed police orders? To obey police orders is not always agreeable, especially when one has given himself up to national rejoicing. To resist them leads to still greater bother.

The police, even those of the riot squad, perhaps are not saints. Anyway, they are not animated in the accomplishment of their duty . . . by the same feelings which move the revellers carrying banners and brandishing ritual slogans.

Without being disposed to absolve their methods in repressing trouble, even hypothetical, it is necessary to have the courage to recognize that the events which we deplore would not occur if we did not multiply, as is done in too many milieux, the incitement of systematic denigration of everything which represents authority. In any case, those largely responsible for the St. Jean evening of "clubbing" were perhaps not only those in uniform. —Alvarez Vaillancourt, July 17.

"It's just 'il of' me, comrade — NOT Henry Kissinger!"

William F. Buckley, Jr.

On the Right

One wonders, what did Chou En-Lai say to Henry Kissinger? Perhaps someday Dan Ellsberg will tell us. Pending that, we need to speculate.

Did he say that, what the hell, we could keep Formosa? Or that Chairman Mao had had a new Thought, which permits Sino-American reconciliation? Did he say that the Chinese press and radio would cease portraying the United States as the great, rapacious world butcher for a few days preceding Mr. Nixon's arrival, and for a few days after he leaves? Did Mr. Kissinger advise Chou that our U-2 planes would suspend operations over the same period, so that what happened to Eisenhower en route to Moscow won't happen to Nixon en route to Peking?

A beguiling memory, Mr. Eisenhower's trip. It appears to be the rule that a powerful Republican is always having to do the Democrats' work, like forwarding the myth of universalization, while it is left to powerful Democrats to do the Republicans' work, namely say No to the Communists, in places like Korea and South Vietnam.

Publicity for killers

Dear Sir:

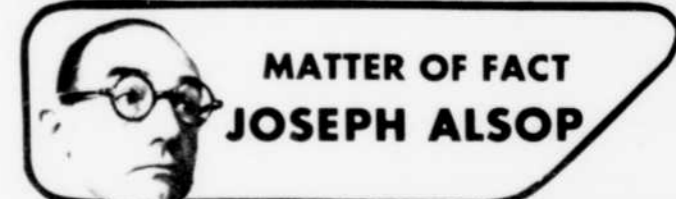

In last Thursday's issue of The Sherbrooke Record, on the front page, there was a fairly large picture of a young woman sitting at a table with a cigarette in one hand and a glass of beer or ale, it would appear, in the other hand. Underneath the picture were the words "Celebrating The Good News." The picture of course referred to the new law permitting 18-year-olds to legally drink alcoholic beverages.

This picture has disturbed me when I think of how many teenagers might see it and be tempted to enter a drinking establishment and "sample" what they have to offer. It is more disturbing when one reads beneath the picture that she is celebrating the good news.

May I ask sir, what the good news is? We all know that science has established beyond any reasonable doubt that both tobacco and alcohol are killers, and yet you saw fit to glamorize both by means of a large picture on the front page of your newspaper. It would seem that a simple mention of this new law would be sufficient.

I trust that in the future you will see fit to avoid such kind of publicity in The Record.

Yours truly,
Horace F. Gardner,
Dixville

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's immense forward step with the Chinese Communists can only be called a bright silver cloud with a very black lining. Fortunately, the black lining does not concern the United States, at least immediately. The President has been both shrewd and wise.

But the black cloud is there, nonetheless, in the form of deep fear in Peking. What has happened is clear proof, in fact, that Chinese Communist leaders like Chou En-lai are now deeply, viscerally alarmed by the ever-mounting Soviet military buildup on China's northern frontier.

Failure to foresee this Soviet buildup's impact on Peking, has in turn made perfect fools of a lot of people. Dr. John K. Fairbank and his ilk, for example, have recently been leading an unceasing chorus. They have been intoning that the United States really had to flush Formosa down the drain in order to have good relations with the Chinese mainland.

The more left-wing Senate Democrats, always eager to sacrifice any American ally, have also punctuated the Fairbankian chorus with many a fervent "hallelujah!" Until a year or so ago, moreover, relations with the Chinese Communists really did seem to be impossible, while the United States continued to have relations with the Chinese Nationalists.

Yet the President was able to say, on Thursday night last week: "Our action in seeking a new relationship with the People's Republic of China will not be at the expense of our old friends!"

No one at all had foreseen this kind of early result.

It was suggested in this space, for example, that the Chinese might make their move in 1972. But all supposed the Chinese would wait for another half year, at a minimum, to see whether the President would give way to the Fairbankian chorus. Instead — if the President was telling the truth about "our old friends" — the Chinese have given way now, without delay or haggling!

It is precisely this that makes the lining of the silver cloud so very black. It means that the Chinese Communist leaders think it urgent, even desperately urgent, to take out every possible insurance policy against a Soviet attack. For the Chinese Communists, relations with the United States are primarily such an insurance policy.

There have been other signs of this Chinese sense of urgency. They have already begun deploying a small number of their earliest model nuclear missiles. To do so, they have quite literally tunneled through mountains. This is a Chinese attempt — probably a vain attempt — to make their first missiles invulnerable to a Soviet nuclear strike.

It has to be faced, in fact, that what the Chinese fear is a preventive nuclear strike by the Soviets, to destroy the Chinese nuclear capability before it grows too great. That is a hard morsel for soft-headed Americans to chew on. Yet it must also be faced that the Chinese fear is thoroughly sensible.

By the beginning of this year, the Soviet buildup on the Chinese frontier had reached the level of 45 divisions. The troops had costly permanent installations and supporting units. Large numbers of nuclear weapons, both strategic and tactical, were also in place.

If you add the logistical and supply units to the combat units, the Soviet manpower on the frontier is therefore around 800,000 men. Not long ago, Chou En-lai put the figure at a million men in a private talk with a foreigner. But Chou was probably including the Mongolian army, which is a mere dependency of the Soviet army.

Furthermore, all this Russian vast force has been mainly deployed over a two-track rail line, the Trans-Siberian. The right way to think of what the Soviets have been doing, in truth, is to ask yourself what it would cost this country to put 800,000 men into Alaska!

The first cost of such an Alaskan deployment, including supporting investments, has been estimated to this reporter at around $30 billion. Add the maintenance cost of such a large force over a long period. You then have a bill no sane government would pay without being conditionally ready to use the force if question.

Obviously, there are a lot of people in the Soviet government who want to put the force to use, perhaps in another couple of years. And obviously, this is why the Chinese want an insurance policy so badly.

Parsons' Annual Reunion

BURY — The fifth annual reunion of the Parsons' family was held on Saturday, July 10 at the Memorial Park Bury, when approximately 200 descendants of the Parsons' family were present.

Both the weather and the place were ideal for such a gathering. The children kept the swings and merry-go-round occupied while their elders renewed family relationships and welcome newcomers who had joined the ranks since last year.

One highly esteemed member was sadly missed, John Parsons of the Stephen line who passed away in January.

These are all descendants of James, George, Stephen and Caroline Parsons who with their parents, William and Elizabeth Parsons came to Canada in 1836. Of those present on this occasion 21 were of the James' line, 22 of Caroline's and 7 of George's, the rest were all of the Stephen line.

Miss Dorothy Shattuck of East Angus and Mr. Alex Lavalliere of Sherbrooke gave out the badges, the color of which designated the line to which each belonged. Mrs. Herbert Rowell, Bury, took the registration fee of $1.00 and entered the names in the register.

Games and races for the children were in charge of Donald Parsons, Cookshire. Prizes were given to the children winning the races, and to the oldest members present, Mrs. Wadsworth and Mrs. Mills of Sherbrooke. The prize for the oldest gentleman was given to J. B. Lavalliere of Lake Megantic. Prizes were also given to those whose birthdays occurred on that day viz. Mrs. Mills, Brian Rowell and David Michaud.

Later in the afternoon family groups gathered around the picnic tables to enjoy a picnic lunch. At 6 p.m. the strains of music coming from the Army indicated that a dance was in progress, so the tables were hastily cleared and all made their way to the scene of the dance which regrettably only lasted until 7:30, the orchestra having taken on another engagement.

A short business meeting followed with Miss Dorothy Shattuck as chairman, in which she gave a short outline of the Parsons' history which dates in Canada from 1836 when William and Elizabeth Parsons with four of their eight living children came to Canada. They had a family of twelve of whom four had died in their youth, the other four were married and settled in their own homes in England, where they preferred to stay, and the four coming to Canada were James, George, Stephen and Caroline.

These Miss Shattuck has tracked down some 2,000 descendants. In this she had help from her cousin Jim Parsons of New Jersey who was also present on this occasion. It was unanimously decided to continue holding the reunions every year, the tentative date set for next year was the last Saturday in July.

A hearty vote of thanks was given to Miss Shattuck for the marvellous job she has done in searching out and compiling the individual histories of the hundreds of descendants of this family.

Following the meeting a social hour was enjoyed by all. Besides the many present from the local area, guests came from New Jersey, Boston, Mass., New Haven, Conn., Orleans, Vt., Montreal, Dorval, Drummondville, Quebec City and various points in Ontario.

UCW Summer Sale July 24

BOLTON CENTRE — On June 9, the Bolton Centre UCW had a pleasant evening at the home of Mrs. Ruth Levey, South Bolton, with an attendance of 12 persons.

The president, Mrs. Myrtle Davis opened the meeting with a message entitled, "The Holy Spirit Our Faithful Guide," read by Mrs. Irene Gaylor, followed by prayer. The secretary, Mrs. Hilda Cousins read the minutes of the last meeting.

Plans for the annual church sale were made, which is scheduled for Saturday, July 24, at one o'clock in the town building. Items for sale will include: Home baking, homemade candy, pickles, jelly and jam, plants, hand work, doll clothes, surprise packages, second-hand clothes, rummage, books. Afternoon tea will be served. Anyone wishing to contribute to the sale may leave their articles at the home of Mrs. Irene Gaylor or Mrs. Hilda Cousins.

The regular July and August meetings are postponed. The next meeting is to be held in September. The date and place will be decided later.

At the close of the meeting, Rev. C. Gustafson read to the group, an article written by the former moderator of the United Church of Canada, Dr. Robert McClure, also a medical missionary.

In the article, Dr. McClure related his experiences in an area known as The Hump, little known part of the world between Afam Burma and China. At the conclusion of the article, Rev. Gustafson closed the meeting with prayer.

Following adjournment, lunch was served by Mrs. Lorraine Cote and Mrs. Dorothy Cameron.

Gould

Mr. Leslie MacKay of Cookshire, Mrs. Elsie Johnson and Miss Annie Johnson of Clapham were visiting Mrs. K.N. McIver and Mr. K.W. McIver.

Major and Mrs. Donald Angle, Jessica and Christopher, of St. Bruno, were guests of Mrs. Alec Beaton and Mrs. Douglas Beaton.

Several of the community attended the 50th wedding anniversary, held in Scottstown, June 26, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Ross MacDonald.

THE FAMILY

FRESH MELON PIE combines cubed honeydew, watermelon, cantaloupe in a lemon gelatin with creamy base for a spectacular dessert. Complete this summer meal with Ham and Chicken Salad and iced tea tanged with fresh lemon.

Refresh with melons

When summer seems like a hot, heavy blanket over the whole land, look to the lovely, fresh melons in the market for a relief.

They're here now in good supply. Honeydew melons await you with their pale green flesh full of juice. The rosy watermelon presides at many an outdoor feast. And the cantaloupe, webbed outside and glowing orange within, has all sorts of joys to add to summer's eating.

Would you ever think though, of combining all three of these delicious fruits in a pie? That's our suggestion for dealing with the heavy, hot weather blues. What a dessert! The three melons are cut up and cubed, drained well, and combined in a lemon gelatin and whipped cream mixture to chill until firm in a baked pie shell. This pie is so delectable, you're sure to make it your summer special—come company or just family.

A delightful summer meal is composed of an appetizing, nutritious yet light Ham and Chicken Salad sparked with crisp, fresh celery and onion, served with fresh sliced cucumbers, and the exciting Fresh Melon Pie for dessert. Both recipes are included.

It's helpful to have buying tips for melons. Mature melons give you signals. For instance, honeydews that are mature have a creamy outer color and a waxy feel to the surface. With cantaloupes, when the webbing stands out distinctly from the melon, it's a ripeness signal. Watermelons that are mature are likely to have a bloom over the surface of the rind, giving a somewhat velvety appearance.

Do give melons an honored place in many meals for their juicy refreshment, their coolness, delicious flavors, and the nourishment they add with their important vitamins and minerals. The honeydews are delicious, eaten "as is" with just a squeeze of fresh lemon or lime juice. Watermelons need no urging to persuade the summer cook to use them as both snacks and desserts. Cantaloupes can start a hot day in a refreshing way at breakfast with no trouble to the cook.

FRESH MELON PIE
1 package (3 ounces) lemon flavored gelatin
1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped
1 cup cubed honeydew melon, well drained

UCW hold Bazaar

GEORGEVILLE — The United Church Women of Georgeville held a very successful Bazaar in the Murray Memorial Hall on Wednesday, July 7.

The home baked food sold quickly and there was a good variety of hand made articles, including knitted items, crochet work, aprons, stuffed toys, etc. as well as a parcel post, White elephant table and a special table for the children in the basement.

A delicious tea was served and well patronised.

Proceeds amounted to $402.39, the beautiful weather helping to make it a successful day.

1 cup cubed watermelon, well drained
9-inch baked pastry shell.

Prepare gelatin according to package directions, using only 1 1/2 cups water. Chill until mixture is slightly thickened. Fold in whipped cream and melons. Turn into pastry shell. Chill several hours or until firm. Makes 6 servings.

HAM AND CHICKEN SALAD
1 1/2 cups cubed cooked chicken
1/2 cup cubed cooked ham
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon minced fresh onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper

Combine chicken, ham and celery in a bowl. Mix together remaining ingredients. Lightly mix with meat mixture. Serve with sliced cucumbers. Makes: 6 servings.

Name mix-up second time around

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: This is the second marriage for both of us. Joe had two children by his first wife and now he and I have two. This has been no dream marriage no matter how you look at it. But I was old enough to know better so I won't complain.

I'm writing about a habit of his that drives me up the wall. Joe still calls me by his first wife's name. For a long time I overlooked it, but after 18 years I think I have a right to expect him to know who I am. (My name is in no way similar to hers.) In my opinion a man has to be a half-wit to make the same mistake for 18 years. I have given serious consideration to bashing his teeth in. It might cure him. What is your frank opinion?

Ticked Off in Michigan City
Dear Ticked: My frank opinion is that if you bash his teeth in he might rearrange your bridgework. May I suggest a more subtle approach?

Christening

DANVILLE — The small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kent Gardner of Chatham, N.B. was baptized by the Rev. Pipe of Montreal in Trinity United Church on Sunday afternoon. She received the names Kimberley Ann.

The sponsors were the baby's uncle and aunt from Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Novacaska.

Following the service, the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Harriet Gardner, entertained the christening party at a buffet supper at her home. Other guests included the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Novacaska of Montreal, as well as Mr. Gerald Novacaska, Miss Karen Gardner, Mr. Norman Matte also of Montreal and Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Carr, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Wallace and Mr. and Mrs. Ray McMorine of Danville.

Public notice of inquiry by Textile and Clothing Board

The Textile and Clothing Board hereby gives notice of its intention to conduct an inquiry pursuant to a request received from the Minister of Industry, Trade and Commerce in a letter reading as follows:

"Representations have been made to the Government to the effect that knitted outer garments normally described as sweaters, cardigans or pullovers are being imported into Canada under such conditions as to cause or threaten serious injury to Canadian production and employment. The Tariff Board made a study of the subject under Reference No. 145, and it seems to me appropriate that recent developments now be examined to determine whether or not action by Government is required.

"Accordingly, pursuant to Section 9 of the Textile and Clothing Board Act, I hereby request the Board

(1) to undertake an inquiry and make a report regarding the effects on Canadian production of imports of knitted outer garments normally described as sweaters, cardigans or pullovers;

(2) to examine any plans for adjustment in their operations which Canadian producers of such goods submit to the Board; and

(3) If the Board finds that the goods in question are being imported at such prices, in such quantities and under such conditions as to cause or threaten serious injury to the production in Canada of textile and clothing goods, and that the plans submitted by Canadian producers are acceptable, to include in its report a recommendation as to whether, in the Board's opinion, special measures of protection should be implemented.

"The Board will, of course, be expected when making its report to take into account the provisions of the Textile and Clothing Board Act."

The Board invites interested parties to submit to it not later than September 15, 1971, briefs relating to this inquiry. Eight copies of each brief should be supplied. The Board will not make public the contents of such briefs and the confidentiality of confidential material contained in them will be maintained.

Those submitting briefs are free to make them public if they wish.

It should be noted that any Canadian producer who submits or associates himself with a brief alleging injury and requesting the implementation of special measures of protection will be expected to file with the Board a plan describing the adjustments he proposes to make in his operations in order to increase his ability to meet international competition in the market in Canada.

Hearings relating to this inquiry will be held if and as required. At any such hearings, supplementary presentations or arguments will be accepted at times fixed by the Board from organizations or persons who by September 15, 1971, have submitted briefs and have given notice of their wish to make supplementary oral presentations. Hearings will be in public, in the opinion of the Board, the nature of the information to be disclosed so permits.

All correspondence and briefs regarding this inquiry should be addressed to the Executive Director, Textile and Clothing Board, Room 401, Tower "A", Place de Ville, 320 Queen Street, Ottawa, Ontario, K1A 0H5 (Telephone 996-6993).

Congratulations

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. John Jenkin, who will celebrate their 65th wedding anniversary on Sunday, July 25.

Sunday Sermon Subject for July 25, 1971

What is eternal Truth? This is a question to be considered at Christian Science church services this Sunday. "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." one of the Bible verses will state. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Truth." Supporting commentary from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy includes this citation: "Material sense does not unfold the facts of existence; but spiritual sense lifts human consciousness into eternal Truth."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

loser and three possible suit losers in his own hand.

Dummy's ace and king of spades would take care of two of them. What about the third one? Maybe clubs would divide 3-3 — maybe some sort of squeeze would develop. Was there a better play?

South found one. He put dummy's last trump to work. He started by cashing dummy's queen of clubs.

East had to follow. Then he led the last small club from dummy and East had a Hobson's choice.

He could ruff, but in that case he would be ruffing a small club since that is what declarer would play.

East decided a spade discard would be better. Now South was able to use dummy's last trump. He led his last club and ruffed in dummy. East could overruff or discard again, but South's club loser had been taken care of and the defense had been held to one trump trick.

There was a sure trump

History of Butters Home recounted at ACW meeting

BEDFORD—The annual area meeting of the ACW was held on Tuesday, with the St. James ACW as hostesses. The meeting opened with the service of Holy Communion at 10:30, the rector, Rev. Wallace Sparling being assisted by Rural Dean John Peacock of Cowansville. The opening hymn was "The Church is one Foundation with Mrs. Harry Jones as organist. Collection was taken by Mrs. Dorothy Loney and Mrs. Grisdale Gould. Mrs. William Taylor was the registrar. The service concluded with the singing of the hymn, "Praise my Soul, the King of Heaven." Luchon was served in the parish hall, following the service in charge of Mrs. Roy Cook, chairman of the special events committee and the members of her committee. This was the 50th anniversary of the foundation of the former Women's Auxiliary in the Bedford Deanery. The head table was centered with a floral arrangement of golden tulips and lilies-of-the-valley, while a beautiful cake, made in the form of an open Bible with book marker and the figure 50 was served at the tea, which closed the meeting. Among those at the head table were Mrs. Camber of Austin, the guest speaker Mrs. Selte, area secretary, of Clarenceville. Mrs. Bruce Kerwin, president of St. James ACW, Mrs. Cross of Montreal, who represented the diocesan president, who was in Winnipeg, Rural Dean Peacock of Cowansville, who said grace. Following the luncheon Rural Dean Peacock, spoke of the proposed changes at the Brome-Missisquoi - Perkins Hospital, which are of great concern to all in the district. A petition was circulated, requesting that the hospital remain as at present and not be turned into a hospital for chronic cases. The Rev. Mr. Burgess of Farnham extended thanks and appreciation for the luncheon. Mrs. Eric Kemp introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Camber, daughter of Mrs. Butters Home. Mrs. Camber is a graduate of the Queen Elizabeth Hospital, Montreal, and is at present taking an advanced evening course at the University of Saskatchewan.

The Butters Home was founded in 1949 as a memorial to Mrs. Butters' son who was killed in the war. The home has grown from the small beginning of twenty patients to the present number of 420. The hospital was first housed in a nine room house. At present the available buildings contain from 50 to 60. The home is for mentally retarded cases and is very crowded — no more admissions can be made, as there is no more room. The patients vary in age from a few months to youths in their twenties, entailing the use of both cribs and beds. Sixty per cent of the inmates are male and there are five registered nurses on the staff, in addition to other help. Mention was made of the robbery last spring of the week's payroll, which happened when Mrs. Butters was returning with it from the bank. The government reimbursed the lost payroll. The patients vary in intelligence some are not able to be educated while others may be trained to work in a sheltered environment. A few have possibilities and every advantage is being given them. There is a great need for an adequate work shop. A Methodist church which no longer functions has been moved to the home, and will be used for a work shop. This is very important to the group of patients who are capable of learning. No fees are received for the greater number of the patients and a few contributions are received from the families of the remaining patients. It would be appreciated if volunteers could be obtained, who would take the patients out for a few hours a day, which would give the patients great pleasure. Donations which would be especially appreciated are records, magazines, Christmas cards. In many cases the patients are very fond of music, while the magazines and cards go through various stages, first being looked over, then cut up and used in various ways. Appreciation was expressed for the various donations sent the home. Windbreakers, clothing, out door wear are among the needed articles. Things not needed include heavy men's coats and ladies high heeled shoes, but everything almost is usable. On behalf of the meeting Mrs. R. W. Craighead thanked Mrs. Camber for her excellent address, containing so much vital information, and expressed admiration for the great need

The Day Under Your Sign

ARIES (Born March 21 to April 19)—You resist—yet if you stop to think, you realize changes are for the best in the long haul. Be flexible!

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—My emphasis: personal creativity, but someone may change your mind about best procedure to follow.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Good day for dissemination information—and for picking up a few tips yourself along the way.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Although situation fits you, handle it to the best of your ability. Don't let emotions upset judgment.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Return harsh words with a cherry remark and see how quickly the air clears! Proceed from there.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—You will be inspired by services in a.m. Afternoon is for visits, outdoor activity, just relaxing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—An old friend may meet you somewhat coolly and you can't quite figure out what is behind the apparent rift.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Follow outside of expectations in your field. After all, you can't argue with success, can you? A fine day!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Take care of correspondence. Try talk promptly in order to protect a good credit rating—a important asset.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Be consultative. Make amends for transgressions. Show concern for parents and other senior citizens.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Try to let more activities. Seek a couple of opinions from people not so closely involved with situation.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)—You could be made a fool of, if you're not on the ball today. Show some restraint in your generous impulses.

The Day Under Your Sign

ARIES (Born March 21 to April 19)—Your tendency to be somewhat nervous and high-strung is very much accentuated under present configurations.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—My call for strict discipline to business. Finish jobs already in progress rather than juggle new projects.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Cowriters being especially agreeable. A sincere compliment will get work week off to a good start.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Although you face a couple of hurdles at the moment, you can surmount them if you don't lose your head.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Although you face a couple of hurdles at the moment, you can surmount them if you don't lose your head.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Think things through, then take definitive action. You have the information you need. Use it!

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Desire of one who is a potential trouble-maker. Don't let such a person know he or she "gets your goat."

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—If you stay on an even keel, things are apt to go well. Outlook essentially good in romance department!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Be a little cautious about following "tips"—they aren't always reliable. Investigate for authenticity.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Don't fret about petty matters. Take it a little easy in all areas today. Bypass overly-subliminal projects.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Proceed with caution in expanding operations at this time. Research all new trade in your particular field.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)—Take the strain off tomorrow by lining up your schedule before you go home tonight. A relaxing evening devoted.

SCUM ON ST. FRANCIS LAST YEAR

POLLUTION

By PETER GINSBERG

Many conservation groups have been started to combat pollution of Eastern Townships lakes. Following is a partial list of these organizations and their activities.

MASSAWIPPI WATER PROTECTION INC.

Massawippi Water Protection Inc. was established in 1968 by persons concerned by the deteriorating quality of Lake Massawippi. This organization now has over 400 members.

In 1969 the group arranged and paid for an extensive examination of Lake Massawippi by Bishop's University at a cost of over $5,000. Besides indicating the existence of serious overall pollution, the survey also revealed that 75 per cent of the streams emptying into Massawippi were badly polluted.

An extensive effort to inform the residents of Massawippi of the lake's pollution problem has been underway ever since the organization's founding. The campaign is aided by two information and testing stations, one at North Hatley and another at Ayer's Cliff.

After urging from the organization, four of the five municipalities bordering Massawippi have adopted the provincial bylaw on the construction and maintenance of individual waste disposal systems. The organization hopes that Kateville, the only holdout, will adopt the bylaw shortly.

There have been failures too, even with the support of Massawippi Water Protection. Ayer's Cliff failed in an attempt to get financial assistance for a sewage treatment plant. In addition, the group is hamstrung by a lack of funds and failed in a recent fund-raising campaign.

Massawippi Water Protection believes that all those who live on the lake and share in its benefits should also share the costs of cleaning it up. Anyone interested in contacting this organization is advised to write to Massawippi Water Protection Inc. at P.O. Box 405, North Hatley. Membership costs $10.

MEMPHREMAGOG CONSERVATION INC.

Also established in 1968, this group has an additional set of difficulties since Lake Memphremagog is an international lake. To succeed in its pollution abatement programs, Memphremagog Conservation must co-operate with the American authorities.

To establish whether there really was a pollution problem in Memphremagog, the organization engaged Professor Raymond Desrochers of the University of Sherbrooke to study the condition of the lake. Prof. Desrochers concluded that Memphremagog was in serious condition and recommended immediate remedial action. Another study carried out by Dr. A. N. Langford and Professor J. D. Booth of Bishop's University reached similar conclusions. Memphremagog Conservation has since been urging action on both sides of the border and has met with some success.

Redbirds top Sox

SHERBROOKE (TA) — The Orioles topped the Red Sox 6-4 in Sher-Lenn Little League action last night at the Parade Grounds to force a virtual second-place deadlock.

Each team scored two runs in the first inning with Mario Turcotte and Sylvio Leclerc driving home the two Redbird runs.

Franco Zol and Jacques Ellyson did the damage for the Red Sox. The Orioles registered another tally in the top of the third frame, as Simon Groudin and Luc Jutras connected safely.

The Red Sox, meanwhile, went hitless in the second and third innings.

The Orioles replied with a run in the fifth and climaxed with two more in the sixth to salt the game away.

The Sox managed two runs in the fourth, but went down in order in the fifth and sixth.

Alain Brault was credited with the win while Franco Zol was tagged with the loss.

In the other scheduled encounter, the Senators swamped the Yankees at the Lennoxville Optimist Park by a 23-6 count. Bernard Boutin was credited with the win while Rocky Dayers absorbed the loss.

In Little League action Monday night, the Orioles tackle the Senators.

In Memoriam

BUTLER, Dorothy — In loving memory of our dear wife and mother who passed away July 21, 1969.

What would I give if I could say, Hello, Mum, in the same old way. To hear her voice and see her smile, To sit with her and talk a while. To those who have a mother, Cherish her with care. For you never know the heartache 'Til you see her vacant chair.

Sadly missed and always remembered. CLIFF (Husband) HAROLD & MARY FLANDERS (Son-in-law and daughter)

Card of Thanks

CHATTERTON — I wish to thank Dr. nurses and nurses' aides of the 2nd floor surgical of the Sherbrooke Hospital for the excellent care which I received while a patient there. Also my sincere thanks to all who visited me or sent care or letters. Your thoughtfulness was most appreciated.

MRS. JOHN CHATTERTON Danville, Que.

CRANE — I wish to extend a sincere thanks to all who helped in my way during the illness, death and burial of my sister Fannie. To all those who sent me the lovely sympathy cards, Re Lovelace, Miss Thelma Crawford, I bearers and any others who helped in a way.

IDA LEFEBVRE (Sister) Lennoxville, P.Q.

DANFORTH — We would like to take this opportunity to express our sincere thanks to all our dear relatives, friends and neighbors, who helped make our 25th wedding anniversary party possible and such an enjoyable evening. A special thanks to Mrs. Ruth Powell for a most beautiful anniversary cake and to all others who helped make and serve a most delicious lunch. Also thanks for the lovely flowers and to Mr. Nutbrown orchestra that provided the music. To all our most heartfelt thanks.

Foster Horse Show Sunday

KNOWLTON (DC) — The 21st annual Foster Horse Show will be held in the Lions Community Park, Knowlton, Sunday, July 25.

The horse classes competitions start at 9:30 a.m. The ringmasters are all local residents. George Rogerson of Knowlton has for a long time demonstrated ability at this work, and Kenneth Howard of Iron Hill, although already a recognized figure in the horse world, is in his first year at the job.

The steward, Charles Doty, is accredited by the Canadian Horse Show Association—a prerequisite of CHSA recognition of a show.

The western division of this show will be judged by Jack Drechsler, now residing in the Eastern Townships. From Ancaster, Ont., hails Miss Jane Holbrook, a former member of the Canadian Equestrian team.

She will be doing judging in the horse show as to hacks, hunters and equitation. Sharing this job will be Mrs. Robert Silcox of King, Ont., who is an experienced judge.

A beautiful and original hunter course has been designed and organized by Col. and Mrs. W. Hodgson. All jumps simulate those in hunting country with stone walls, chicken-coops, snake fences, rail fences and white gates.

Wagons full of logs have been added to lend atmosphere.

It looks to be a most interesting show. All proceeds of the show go to further the development of the Lions Community Park.

Classes of this year's Foster Horse show:

GARBAGE CLINGS TO GARBAGE IN STILL WATER OF ST. FRANCIS discussed within the context of the Geography course.

In the Moral and Social Development course, numerous students wrote class papers and research papers on the various aspects of our growing problems in pollution today as well as what the future holds.

One of the school houses, Red House, became interested enough to make a film on pollution in and around the school itself. One teacher made a film on his own initiative and showed it to many enthusiastic MSD classes.

Some classes really moved and went outside the school to clean up the grounds and thereby attempted to make an impression which other students would hopefully notice and follow.

Other energetic students wrote letters to local government politicians in hopes of some progress in further control of our environment.

The Students' Council tried to encourage more discretion on the part of the students on account of the growing problem of junk and garbage being littered on the school grounds by the students themselves. But most students, like most other people, tend to leave the dirty work to the next guy.

At Bishop's College School in Lennoxville, Stewart Large, the headmaster, offered the opinion that a co-ordinated Eastern Townships school program could prove beneficial in this subject if organized properly.

At BCS itself students and some staff have staged a successful Earth Day when they have cleaned up and beautified the BCS grounds. Part of this group travelled between Lennoxville and the Research Station cleaning up the debris left by litterbugs. Another group at BCS, the Landscape Committee, planted trees, shrubs, flowers and the like around the BCS grounds to embellish its appearance.

Bruce Taylor, principal of Richmond Regional High School, reported the views of his school on the topic of educating students as to the problems posed by pollution.

Apparently a course had been set up, but lack of student participation and interest had curbed progress.

"There might be something in the future but we find it hard to get our students interested even in this day and age," Mr. Taylor said.

Cowansville's Massey-Vanier Regional High School co-principal Doug Bradford said that conservation and environment control were dealt with in combination with agriculture, biology, chemistry and other courses.

"We fit it into our curriculum as best we can. The future holds good possibilities for a course of this sort—and we may be one step ahead of the game," he said.

Future possibilities for a conservation program rest primarily in the hands of the people of the community—students, teachers and parents. That is, of course, if they believe that the trouble of complaining is worth it. Is the future important enough for an all-out education in anti-pollution for you and your children?

School courses still relatively unorganized

By DEBBY CAMPBELL

Education is a key to combating ignorant use of our wildlife and environment. The first steps should obviously be taken in our school programs. What is our district doing in this area of education? How are the students reacting?

Today's schools deal only superficially with the importance of our growing pollution problems and what should be done about them. A course dealing in conservation and environmental control, as well as the causes and effects of pollution today, would be of monumental significance in our schools.

In our elementary schools this course could be either a separate affair or treated along with health or science. The secondary schools could introduce an interesting credit course to inform and educate students to a greater extent about world and local problems on this subject and how the future may look through the eyes of a conservationist.

At the moment, our schools have very little on the curricula dealing with the controversial matter of ecology—and there is so much to teach and learn. A limited number of schools have both energetic, inquisitive students and purposeful teachers to back them up. Both groups are needed to start and go through with a meaningful anti-pollution campaign. They must become really involved in what they are doing and have a pure purpose in mind.

Teachers at Alexander Galt Regional High School in Lennoxville revealed that not only are pollution and ecology part of the Moral and Social Development course but also make up part of several Geography classes.

Ray Martin and Harry Costello are ardent anti-pollutionists and transmitted many interesting facts of environment in their geography classes this past academic year. Forms of pollution, methods of environment control and the effect of the urban community were all brought up in class and

Rebekah Lodge initiates new member

BURY — Alexandra Rebekah Lodge, No. 22, initiated a new member, Sister Leah Foley, at their last meeting. Sister Foley was introduced by the Conductor, Sister Lyla MacLeod.

The officers who conferred the degree were: Sister Gertrude Gauthier, N.G., Charlotte Matheson, V.G., Christeen Matheson, Sec., Winifred Buchanan, Chap., Elvira Cathcart, P.N.G., Clara Atkins, R.S.N.G., Alice Coates, L.S.N.G., Elizabeth Patry, R.S.V.G., Elsie Morrison, L.S.V.G., Winifred Dougherty, Warden, Grace MacLeod, Mus., Genevieve Henderson, O.G., and Brother John Morrison, I.G.

The credit for securing Sister Foley as a member belongs to Sister Winifred Dougherty, P.N.G. A social hour and lunch was enjoyed after the meeting.

On Sunday, June 20, twelve Sisters and one Brother joined the Brothers of Lewis Lodge No. 53, in a Church Parade which was held at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in Stouffville, with Rev. J.R.H. Davidson conducting the service. Members of other branches of Oddfellow and Rebekah Lodges from East Angus, Lennoxville and Sherbrooke, also attended, including Brother Thornton Cleveland, Jr. P.G.M., of Lennoxville, and Sister Isabelle Rowland, P.D.D.P., Outside Guard of the Rebekah Assembly of Quebec, of East Angus. Afterward a social hour was enjoyed when a delicious dinner was served by the Brothers of Lewis Lodge.

Sister Winifred Buchanan, P.D.D.P., was the delegate to the annual session of the Rebekah Assembly of Quebec, at Three Rivers, and her report was very interesting and comprehensive.

Four Sisters received their Certificate of Perfection for

Barnston

The sympathy of the community is extended to the family and relatives of the late Leo Oumette who passed away at his home here after a long illness. Funeral services were held on Monday, July 5, at the St. Luc church with interment in the cemetery nearby.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith, Craig and Sandra have returned to their home in Southington, Conn., after a few days spent with relatives here.

Mrs. Royley Drew of Columbus, Georgia, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Drew.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Ham and Rebecca of Dixville, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Desruesseaux and family on Sunday, July 11.

Beebe

The remains of Mr. Joseph Powers, Glastonburg, Conn., were brought here for burial in the family lot, in Woodside Cemetery. Mr. Powers, who was a former resident here, will be remembered by some of the older citizens.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendall Sheldon were visitors in Ottawa, Ont., during their vacation. They enjoyed the tour of the Parliament buildings and watched the changing of the Guard.

W. James Miller, formerly of Beebe, passed away in Ottawa, Ont. on July 17. A memorial service will be held in Wesley United Church, Beebe, at 2 p.m.

Kingsbury

Mrs. Florence Bennett and Mr. Harold Taylor of North Hatley were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Smith.

POLLUTION!

Instead of sprawling fields of green grass, dotted panoramically with the splendid colours of flowers, I saw bottles and cans littering our land. I saw garbage thrown wantonly by the wayside. Pollution takes EVERYBODY'S individual efforts.

Astros break Expos' jinx

San Francisco's star right-hander, isn't fooling National League batters any more.

"I think we're going to have to switch his strategy because they're hitting a lot of his pitches to right," said Giants' manager Charlie Fox.

Marichal must be doing something wrong. He lost a lead in the ninth inning Thursday for the second straight game, but the Giants rallied for a run in the 10th to beat Pittsburgh Pirates 8-7.

Last week, he had Cincinnati 2-0 before the Reds came up with three runs in the last inning. The recent performances are not indicative of several years of all-star status, six 20-game winning seasons, a 203-98 win-loss record prior to this year and 46 career shutouts. This season he stands at 10-6 and hasn't won a game in the last month.

San Francisco's victory, second straight over the National League's East Division leaders, kept the Giants in good shape in the West. Their lead remained at eight games over Los Angeles after the Dodgers beat Cincinnati Reds 8-4.

In other games, New York Mets stopped Chicago Cubs 5-1. St. Louis Cardinals bumped Philadelphia Phillies 8-0. Atlanta Braves nipped San Diego Padres 1-0 and Houston Astros hammered Montreal Expos 8-2.

Marichal had a 7-3 lead going into the ninth when the Pirates tied it with four runs. The Giants then won it the next inning when Ken Henderson tripled and came home on Jimmy Rosario's single.

Pittsburgh's Dock Ellis was blasted for six runs in the first inning. But Ellis' 13-game winning streak was kept in tact—Bob Moose took the loss in relief.

Richie Allen's run-scoring double keyed a five-run Los Angeles first inning and carried the Dodgers over the Reds behind Al Downing's seven-hitter. Bill Buckner added a home run in the Dodger cause and George Foster and Hal McRae had round-trippers for the Reds.

Tommy Agee hit his 10th and 11th home runs of the season and Ken Boswell added a two-run blast as the stumbling Mets beat Chicago to help right-hander Tom Seaver curb a personal, four-game losing streak.

Bob Gibson pitched a five-hitter for his 46th career shutout as St. Louis blasted Philadelphia. Ted Sizemore supported the two-time Cy Young Award winner with a three-run triple and Lou Brock had a home run.

Ralph Garr broke a scoreless tie with a pinch-hit single in the eighth inning to lead Atlanta over San Diego. Tom Kelley and Bob Priddy combined on the shutout.

Jesus Alou's three-run double capped a four-run first inning that propelled Houston over Montreal. The Astros added four insurance runs in the eighth, two on Denis Menke's double.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Bourassa moves into lead

MONTREAL (CP) — Jocelyne Bourassa of Shawinigan, Que., moved into the lead at the Quebec ladies' amateur golf championship Thursday, firing a two-over-par 78 for a 36-hole score of 155 and a seven stroke lead over Liz Daniels of Toronto.

The Toronto golfer, who fired a two-under 74 in the opening round Wednesday, blew to an 88 on the Royal Montreal course Thursday for a 162 total going into today's final round.

Two Quebec golfers—Sue Robinson of Val Morin and Jane Dobbin of Montreal—both shot 81s and were tied for third place at 163.

Bonnie May Legge of Toronto had an 82 for a 165 total, one shot up on Janet MacWha of Halifax who fired an 85 during second-round play.

Dulcie Lyle of Montreal and Louise Larochelle of Cap Rouge, Que., had 168 totals with second-round scores of 86 and 83 respectively. Judy Evans of Montreal carded an 85 in the second round to give her a 36-hole score of 169 and ninth spot in the tournament.

The four-member team to represent Quebec in the inter-provincial matches in Capilano, B.C., next month will be announced today when the Quebec ladies' amateur concludes.

Delvecchio inks contract

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Red Wings announced Thursday that star forward and captain Alex Delvecchio has signed a National Hockey League contract for the 1971-72 season.

In addition to negotiating with his veterans, general manager Ned Harkness must also come to terms with No. 1 draft choice Marcel Dionne.

However, Harkness said he does not foresee major difficulty in getting his players under contract.

The 39-year-old Delvecchio is going into his 22nd consecutive season with the Red Wings with a career record of 1,386 regular-season games played, 417 goals, 723 assists and 1,140 points.

Four Canadians qualify

BISLEY, England (CP) — Four Canadians qualified Thursday to shoot in today's St. Georges Challenge Vase competition, the individual target rifle event ranking next to the Queens Prize at the Commonwealth sharpshooting meet.

The leader so far is a Birmingham policeman, Nigel Fleming, who chalked up a possible 75 at 300 yards Tuesday and 600 yards Thursday.

About 1,000 opened fire in the St. George's, with a final 100 going into today's shoot at 900 yards.

The successful Canadians were led by Bev Pinney of Woodstock, Ont., who added 72 Thursday to the 75 he scored Tuesday for a total of 147, three behind the leader.

He was followed at 146 by Bill Lightburn of Mission City, B.C., at 64 the oldest shooter from Canada and on his fourth trip to Bisley. Lightburn shot a 74 Thursday to go with a 72 he racked up Tuesday.

Next among the Canadians was Cpl. Carol Potvin of Courcellette, Que., who fell to 71 Thursday after a 74 Tuesday for a total of 145. Potvin is with the team of the Royal 22nd Regiment's 3rd Battalion.

The fourth Canadian, Vic Finholm of Parkville, B.C., came in Thursday with a 70 after an earlier 74 for a total 144.

The winner of the trophy will be decided on the results of Thursday's 600-yard shooting plus scores at today's 900 yards.

Way's Mill's UCW meets

AYER'S CLIFF — Mrs. W. B. Holmes was hostess for the Way's Mills UCW at her home on Maple Street on June 10. There was a good attendance of members and several guests.

Mrs. W. Pope conducted the meeting using part of the program of the devotions used at Presbyterial UCW annual meetings. Mrs. Mary Horne read the scripture and all repeated the Lord's Prayer in unison.

Reports were read and accepted and a committee named to plan the annual Ecumenical Summer Sale and Tea held in the Union Hall on July 14.

Mrs. Carl Mayhew gave an interesting report of the Conference and Presbyterial meetings she had attended as delegate.

The hostess served a delicious tea assisted by Mrs. C. Mayhew and Mrs. Freeman Sutton during which a pleasant social time was enjoyed.

Little League oop

By Ted Anderson

The regional playoffs have now narrowed down to two undefeated teams—Sher-Lenn and Valleyfield. They will meet Saturday at Valleyfield. It promises to be a big game for the Sher-Lenn team. They have not had much success in previous years at Valleyfield and this one is a must. Coach Gosselin would like nothing better than to beat his rivals and advance into the provincial playoffs August 4.

 The final meeting for the provincial playoffs was held last Wednesday evening at the Elks Club. President Harry Kouri and his committee chairmen all gave their final reports to the delegation of Little League officials who were present from Montreal. The great job done by Gaston Lebrun and Jean Chouinard, co-chairmen of the grounds committee more than pleased the Montreal visitors. They stated that with such a beautiful set-up within three years, Sherbrooke would certainly be in the running to host all-Canadian finals.

The official programs stated Roger Codere, program director, is now in the hands of the printer and will be ready August 4. Publicity, newspapers, radio and TV coverage both here in Sherbrooke is ready and it might be mentioned that Channels 10 and 12 will televise the provincial final game on Saturday, August 14. Billeting of players is all set up, announced Bob Jarjour the chairman for that committee, parking, police protection also is set up. At least four Sher-Lenn Little League umpires will be used during the tournament. Laurie Casteau, umpire in the league, will name his men later. Ted Anderson and J.G. Provincial will act as official scorers during the tournament, Serge Martel of CJRS will act as master of ceremonies on opening day on August 4.

 Indians having won the league the run for second third and fourth spot in the league standing is now on, Orioles at present have 28 points with one game to go against Yankees; Senators have 26 points and still have to go against Red Sox, Red Sox with 23 points have one to go and White Sox are sitting back with 24 points and have finished their schedule. It all means if Red Sox lose Monday night against Senators the White Sox will take over fourth spot, next week's games are all big ones for all.

 Not too many league games have been played during the week owing to the regional playoffs, so choosing the three stars of the week hasn't been too easy, but A. Breault of Orioles gets number one with Rejean Cabana of Indians and J. Elyson of Red Sox the other stars.

Hunting and fishing in the E.T.

By NORM NICHOLL

Hunters who haven't as yet completed the hunter safety course or who won't have received their cards by the time hunting season rolls around will have the opportunity to hunt again this year.

In a communique from the Office of Tourism, Fish and Game, this matter has been clarified. Just what will take place is a little unclear but from information I've been able to gather this is what will probably happen.

For those who haven't completed the course: When purchasing a licence there will be a questionnaire to be completed asking if they are willing to take a course, then a conditional hunting licence will be issued valid until April, 1972.

Those having the competence card will perhaps have to turn in a portion of the card receiving a regular hunting licence.

HUNTING SEASONS for '71 are as follows:
 Moose—In Zone 1 which is divided into three sections—1-2, 1-1, and F-4, the hunting season has been reduced to nine days from 23 days.

This has been done due to a decline in the moose population.
 Deer—In Zones A-1, G-H, 1-1, 1-2, and J the deer season is closed entirely due to limited deer herd and the severe winter conditions of the past year.

In zone A-2 and the new section A-4 plus A-3, B, C and D, hunting has been reduced to a one week period. In zones F-1, F-2, F-3 and F-4 the dates for deer will be the same as above.

To make the job of the protection service easier all opening dates throughout the province will be October 30.
 Caribou—No change in dates.

Bear—There will be two seasons the first from May 1 to July 31; the second will be during the deer, moose and caribou seasons.
 Licences for hunting for residents of the province will cost small game and migratory birds $4.25, moose and caribou, $13.50, deer, $5.25 and bear, $5.25.

Winners of the recent Yamaska Conservation Association summer fishing derby were as follows: Zess Galazka-rainbow trout; Clarence Davis-brown trout; Rene Boyer, grey trout; Donald Wilson-speckled trout; Bryan Norton-bass; Michel Rioux-dore; Eugene Malbouef-chain pike; Zess Galazka-perch.

The winner of the drawing for the boat and motor was Daniel Pare of Granby. The second prize of a B.B.Q. was won by Rosaire Pecteau of Waterloo.

July 31 is the closing date for the Pollution Photo Contest being sponsored by the Yamaska Conservation Association. The contest is open to anyone 10 to 20 years of age.

A color photo of air, water or land pollution in Sheford or Bromo county is what is needed. Further details on the contest were printed earlier or more information can be obtained from the directors of the Association.

Birds' Leonhard: he came back

Dave Leonhard of Baltimore quit baseball for four days after the Orioles cut him on opening day of the American League season and sent him to Rochester of the International League.

Thursday night he shacked Kansas City Royals 2-0 on five hits in his first major league start in two years.

"I'm glad I changed my mind about the retirement," he said. "While I was retired, I got to thinking about Baltimore's side of things. It is a real club and it has a great pitching staff."

"But as the long distance right-handed reliever, I could have pitched only when left-handers Dave McNally or Mike Cuellar got knocked out early—and how often do they get knocked out early?"

"I was better off at Rochester," he added. "I got to pitch there."

The victory restored Baltimore's 3 1/2-game lead over Boston in the American League East. The Red Sox were beaten by Chicago White Sox 4-2.

Elsewhere, Milwaukee Brewers blanked Washington Senators 2-0 and New York Yankees routed Minnesota Twins 13-4.

Baltimore manager Earl Weaver, in commenting on Leonhard's sparkling performance, said:

"He pitched with a lot of poise. Sending him to Rochester turned out to be good for him and for us."

After balking at reporting to the Orioles' top minor league farm club, Leonhard was assured by Baltimore officials that if he went down, he would be brought back as soon as the team needed pitching help. That time came on July 6, when right-handed reliever Tom Dukes was placed on the disabled list.

In his first game with Baltimore this season, on July 10, relieving Grant Jackson after Cleveland Indians had tagged him for three runs in the first inning, Leonhard went on to blank the Indians on one hit.

The Orioles rallied for an 11-3 victory.

Relaxed Palmer sizzles with 64

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, rested and ready after a two-week absence from the tour, stormed home with a stunning eight-under-par 64 Thursday and grabbed the first-round lead in the $250,000 Westchester Golf Classic.

Palmer held a one-stroke lead over Larry Wood, a 32-year-old sophomore pro from Boone, N.J., who used only 26 putts as he shot his career best of 65.

Defending champion Bruce Crampton, an Australian veteran who won last week's Western Open, was tied with Ken Still at 66, six under par and just two strokes off Palmer's lead.

To hold car rally

SHERBROOKE (PT) — Sherbrooke Auto Club, in cooperation with the Quebec Automobile Club, is organizing a car safety rally to be held here on Sept. 12.

Announcement of the rally was made at a press conference held Wednesday in Sherbrooke.

"We plan to eliminate any aspects of the rally which could be potentially dangerous so that the exercise will become a practical endeavor, not a daredevil show," said provincial coordinator Laurent Label.

The rally will take place in Sherbrooke and surrounding area over a 25-mile course. Checking points will be established along the way, where participants will be given instruction sheets.

Winners will be presented prizes of different categories during a reception to be held following the rally.

Since it is being done on a provincial scale, a report in each location where similar rallies are being held will be compiled and sent to the Quebec Automobile Club.

The various statistics collected will be condensed into one central report for the provincial as a whole.

From this, Club authorities will be able to determine in which areas motorists are most likely to commit traffic infractions in Sherbrooke and region.

Stamps dump sputtering Als

CALGARY (CP) — A powerful passing display by three Calgary quarterbacks sparked the Stampede to a 41-8 win over Montreal Alouettes in a Canadian Football League exhibition game before 18,046 fans Thursday night.

The Calgary quarterbacks, led by 11-year veteran Jerry Keeling, passed for four touchdowns and picked apart the inept Montreal defence. Larry Lawrence, Keeling's backup last year, threw two touchdown passes, while rookie Jim Lindsey and Keeling each tossed one.

It was the final pre-season game for both clubs. The Stampede, who defeated the Alouettes 25-14 in an earlier contest at Montreal, went up with three wins in four exhibition games.

Montreal, defending Grey Cup champions from the Eastern Football Conference, had a 1-4 record including a 30-13 loss to the CFL All-Stars.

The Stampede had little trouble throughout the game, leading 14-0 after the first quarter, 24-0 at the half and 27-8 after three quarters.

Rookie halfback Jesse Mims from New Mexico State paced the Stampede, 1970 Western Conference Champions, with two touchdowns. He combined with Lindsey on a 73-yard pass-and-run play for one touchdown and got another six points on a 21-yard pass from Keeling.

Gerry Shaw, Uriel Johnson and Hugh McKinnis got the other Calgary touchdowns while Larry Robinson booted five converts and added two field goals, from 23 and 19 yards Robinson was wide on a 42-yard field goal attempt.

Quarterback Tony Passander, in his second season, scored the lone Montreal touchdown on a three-yard run in the third quarter. George Springate kicked the convert.

Michel Chagny of Ile d'Orleans led the qualifiers with a three-over-par 74. All scores of 81 or less qualified.

Grouped at 75 were Jim Innes of Beloit, Que., G. Aubin of Granby, Que., and Gilles Cardinal of Ste. Dorothee, Que.

Defending champion Yvon LeFebvre of Hudson Heights, Que., will defend the Outremont Trophy he won last year with a 72-hole score of 291.

The low 80 golfers and ties after 36 holes will qualify for the third round and the low 60 and ties after 54 holes will tie off in the final 18 holes of play Monday.

Pro says 280 score will win

DRUMMONDVILLE, Que. (CP) — Club pro Guy Bissonnette said Thursday a four round score of about 280 will be needed to win the 72-hole Quebec amateur golf championship starting today at the par-72 Drummondville Golf and Curling Club.

Bissonnette said that the score of between 280 and 284, depending on wind conditions on the 6,315-yard course, would probably be good enough to win. But shots may carry further than usual because the course is dry after a couple of weeks without rain, he added.

Forty-five golfers were forced to qualify Thursday, the first time in the history of the Quebec amateur that a qualifying round was necessary, while 101 other golfers with handicaps of less than three were accepted in today's first round.

Michel Chagny of Ile d'Orleans led the qualifiers with a three-over-par 74. All scores of 81 or less qualified.

Grouped at 75 were Jim Innes of Beloit, Que., G. Aubin of Granby, Que., and Gilles Cardinal of Ste. Dorothee, Que.
