Joe Clark scores upset win for PC leadership

New PC leader Joe Clark of Alberta

OTTAWA (CP) — Joe Clark, a tough young Albertan with an appealing moderate style, caught the imagination of delegates Sunday and sprinted to an electrifying fourth-ballot victory at the national Progressive Conservative leadership convention.

The 36-year-old Rocky Mountain MP, confident, brash and full of poise, stunned the convention and a national television audience with an upset win over Quebec MP Claude Wagner, the right-of-centre favorite who led for the first three ballots.

The final count, one of the closest ever in national politics, was 1,187 for Mr. Clark to 1,122 for Mr.

Wagner, a one-time Quebec Liberal justice minister who switched parties in 1972.

Cheers exploded through the floodlit Ottawa Civic Centre when the outcome was announced after 8½ hours of tense balloting.

Mr. Clark, the youngest Conservative leader in history and the first with a fluent command of both French and English, broke into a broad grin and leaped to his feet in triumph.

His victory came on strong last-ballot support from all areas of the country, including Quebec.

“There is absolutely no question about our ability to pull together and work together . . . to unite our party and our country,” he said in his acceptance speech.

The crowd in the sweaty 7,000-seat auditorium roared approval as his words barked out over the loud-speaker system.

A career politician who has worked briefly as a university lecturer and a journalist, Mr. Clark said he campaigned for unity within the party and country.

Mr. Wagner, who fought hard and expected to win, accepted defeat graciously while supporters sat silently in the bleachers. Many wept.

“We shall come out of this convention strengthened and more unified than ever before,” the 50-year-old Ste. Hyacinthe MP predicted.

He said the dream of French Canadians is to be part of Canada and this will translate into loyalty for Mr. Clark.

Retiring leader Robert Stanfield, who bid farewell to the party after eight years and three unsuccessful elections, said of Mr. Wagner's defeat: “It takes a big man to lose a close one like that.”

“CAME FROM BEHIND”
 Mr. Clark, with his young wife Maureen at his side throughout the long hours of voting, came from far behind to win.

He polled only 277 votes on the first ballot, well behind Mr. Wagner's 531-vote lead and the second-place showing of Montreal lawyer Brian Mulroney, who polled 357 votes.

But he finished a crucial 65 votes ahead of Flora MacDonald, the Kingston and the Islands MP who, along with Mr. Clark, was considered a major spokesman for the party's moderate wing.

Miss MacDonald, with 212 votes, was sixth behind Mr. Wagner, Mr. Mulroney, Mr. Clark, Alberta rancher Jack Horner, who polled 235 votes, and former Trudeau cabinet minister Paul Hellyer with 231.

Sinclair Stevens, MP for York-Simcoe and the party's main financial critic, had 182 votes, followed by Vancouver South MP John Fraser with 127, Toronto MP James Gillies with 87 and Nova Scotia MP Patrick Nowlan with 86.

Heward Grafftey, MP for Brome-Missisquoi, the third Quebec candidate, polled only 33 votes and was dropped from the ballot automatically as the lowest candidate.

The first ballot results set off a frantic scramble among lower-rung candidates who moved quickly to support second choices.

Personalities in focus at leadership convention

By JOHN McCAGHEY
 (Record Reporter)

OTTAWA — The civic centre here started to stir with activity Thursday afternoon as delegates and members of the media registered for the seventh annual national leadership convention of the Progressive Conservative Party.

Highlight of the first night of the convention was the thunderous applause given former prime minister The Honourable John George Diefenbaker as he made his way through the crowded hall in the company of Ontario Premier William Davis who introduced “The Chief” to 2,581 delegates, 1,300 alternatives, 1,400 observers, and approximately 1,000 members of the media.

Mr. Diefenbaker finally buried the hatchet with his successor, Robert Stanfield, when he said “Stanfield was right calling for price controls which Trudeau said weren't working in the United States and wouldn't work here, only to adopt the measures as his own when he realized ‘Bob’ was right.”

The emotional crowd cried: “No! No! No!” when

Mr. Diefenbaker alluded this might be the last party convention he would address.

SIGHTS AND SOUNDS
 The Eastern Townships through former and current residents were in evidence, John Bassett, a former owner of the Record, Hubert Bauch, a former Record staff reporter now with the Quebec City bureau of the Globe & Mail, J. Noel Parenteau, publisher of Le Yamaska, Cowansville, and Heward Grafftey, from Brome seen parading through the upper concourse handing out campaign buttons.

NUTS AND BOLTS
 Friday gave all candidates an opportunity of meeting with delegates in workshops designed to allow the uncommitted the opportunity of sitting in and discussing the following topics: “The Economy - Priorities in Transition; Resources for Tomorrow - External Relations; Social Justice and Social Order; Political Structures.”

Each candidate was given equal time to discuss all four topics.

Testimony nearing end

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — With her lengthy testimony nearing an end, Patricia Hearst learns today whether she will be questioned about plans she helped draw up for bank robberies other than the one for which she is on trial.

U.S. District Judge Oliver Carter says he will rule today on whether Miss Hearst, 22, may be questioned about 17 documents found in her last fugitive hideout.

Soldiers executed

CAIRO (AP) — Three Sudanese soldiers were executed in Khartoum on Sunday after being convicted of taking part in an abortive coup against President Jaafar el Nemeiry, the Sudanese state radio said.

The three brought to 18 the number executed since the attempted coup last September. Forty-five other military men were sentenced to 25 years imprisonment.

On Jan. 23, four officers and a corporal were executed by firing squad and 10 days later, 10 others were executed.

President Nemeiry has attributed the plot to right-wing groups and accused Libya of sheltering hostile forces.

Six killed in explosion

GALENA PARK, Tex. (AP) — At least six persons were killed and an undetermined number were missing Sunday after an explosion ripped through a giant dockside grain elevator on the Houston Ship Channel, authorities said.

Fires broke out after the explosion at the Goodpasture Inc. elevator on the busy channel, which is lined with petroleum and chemical industries plants.

Small blazes burned into the night, but after the major fires were brought under control, firefighters from nearby Houston, Galena Park, Pasadena and other cities began sifting through the jumble of debris for dead and injured.

“We are certain we will find others dead, but we don't know how many,” said Paul Carr, Houston fire department information officer.

“It may be a couple of days before we can dig down and find the others. They may be buried under 60 feet of rubble.”

Fire officials blamed the explosion on grain dust which ignited, hurling steel and concrete over a broad area. Truitt Kennedy, Goodpasture executive vice-president, estimated damage at $50 million.

Loses control of car

NEW YORK (AP) — A tuxedo-clad driver lost control of his 1976 luxury car early Sunday and careened along the sidewalk by the elegant Plaza Hotel, killing four persons and injuring three others, police reported.

Before coming to rest against a taxi, the car demolished a horse-drawn hansom cab.

Killed were James Hutsler, 54, of Boston, Mass.; James Rochelle, 43, of Warren, N.J.; M. Esmetrakopoulos, for whom no further identification was immediately available and an unidentified victim.

The driver, Phillip Cohen, 75, suffered leg injuries.

Gunmen hold Canadian embassy

BEIRUT (CP) — Gunmen occupied the Canadian Embassy in this Lebanese capital today. Unofficial reports said as many as 50 persons were being held, but the demands of the gunmen were not immediately known.

The embassy, on the third floor of a large downtown office building, was immediately surrounded by heavily armed Palestinian guerrilla police and Lebanese army troops.

The building also houses a major Lebanese bank.

The embassy is in an office block in Clemenceau Street, in Beirut's prosperous Kantari district. This area was the scene of a fierce battle last October between right-and left-wing forces in the civil war.

The staff of the embassy was reduced heavily during the civil war.

(Agence France-Presse said unconfirmed reports said the gunmen were members of a Lebanese family from Bekaa, in the central highlands, and were demanding the repatriation of some of their relatives living in Canada.

(It was not known whether the Canadian ambassador, Leopold Amyot, was in the building, AFP said.)

Nixon welcomed in China

PEKING (AP) — Continuing the replay of his first visit to China four years ago, Richard Nixon met for an hour and 40 minutes today with Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

A Chinese government spokesman said the two men held a “friendly conversation on a wide range of subjects” at the Peking home of the 82-year-old chairman of the Chinese Communist party.

At the close of the conversation, Mao asked the former United States president to convey his regards to President Ford, with whom Mao met for an hour and 50 minutes during Ford's visit to Peking last December.

No other information on the conversation was released.

Nixon was accompanied by his wife, Pat, and an aide, John Brennan. Mao welcomed them briefly before sitting down to talk with Nixon. Also present were Acting Premier Hua Kuofeng, Foreign Minister Chiao Kuan-hua, Huang Chen, the head of the Chinese government's liaison office in Washington, and three other officials of the Chinese foreign ministry.

It was Mao who invited the Nixons to return to China and relieve their 1972 visit that forged the first links between the United States and the People's Republic.

At a nine-course banquet for the Nixons Sunday night at the Great Hall of the People, Hua praised Nixon for his “far-sightedness in taking the courageous action” to make the 1972 trip.

Hua's toast contained the usual attacks on Soviet and U.S. rivalry for “world hegemony,” or influence, with the Soviet Union once again coming in for the major share of the condemnation.

“That imperialism which flaunts the signboard of socialism has reached out its grasping hand everywhere and carried out rabid expansion; it has become the main source of war,” he said.

“The only realistic and effective way to cope with this situation is for the peoples of the world to heighten their vigilance, strengthen their unity and get well prepared against war.”

Hua also appeared to confirm reports of a power struggle within the Chinese Communist hierarchy following the death of Premier Chou En-lai last month, a struggle which elevated him from comparative obscurity.

“In China, a revolutionary mass debate is going on in such circles as education, science and technology,” he said. “It is a continuation and deepening of the Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution.”

“We are confident that, through this debate, Chairman Mao's proletarian revolutionary line will find its way deeper into the hearts of the people, and our socialist motherland will be further consolidated.”

The Cultural Revolution was the nationwide campaign of leftwing demonstrations and purges launched by Mao in 1965 to rekindle the waning revolutionary spirit. It died out in 1969.

US hockey teams visit Lennoxville

LENNOXVILLE (GA) — Five hockey teams consisting of 70 players aged from 9 to 14, all from Grafton, Massachusetts, were guests of the Lennoxville Hockey Association this weekend and played a number of exhibition games with Lennoxville teams at the Bishop's University arena.

The teams were the "Squirts" age 9 and 10 who played their counterparts "The Atoms". The other teams were the Bantams ages 13 & 14 and the Midgets ages 15 & 16.

A team of girls ages 12 to 14 also played.

The results of the games played Friday, Saturday and Sunday showed the Squirts, Atoms and Pee Wees pretty evenly matched.

ENTHUSIASM — Parents and kiddies alike enjoyed their hockey weekend. In the top photo the Grafton Squirts attack the Lennoxville Atoms net as mothers cheer them on.

Sutton Valley Council plans concert trip

KNOWLTON (KT) — With a highly gratifying and enjoyed theatre party trip by chartered bus for the performance of Ivan Rebroff and the Balalaika Ensemble de Paris at Salle Wilfrid Pelletier, Place des Arts on February 16 now accomplished, Mrs. Inge von Glasow is enthusiastically arranging another of these Theatre Parties.

She announces that under the sponsorship of the Sutton Valley Council the group will attend the opening evening performance on Sunday, March 29th of Nana Mouskouri, the well known Greek soloist and recording star.

This artist who sings in all languages always brings pleasure to her listeners with her special warmth and style. Further plans are also under way for attendance on May 2nd for an evening at the Vienna Festival featuring the music of Strauss and on May 6th to the Japanese Folkloric Song and Dance Group. This will bring to a close the present winter theatre program.

Once more it is urged that if you wish to attend any of these outstanding performances contact Mrs. von Glasow, at 536-2906, or write RR.3, Jordan Road, Sutton, Quebec, JOE 2K0.

Reconstruction set for Cookshire

COOKSHIRE (GA) — marked, water drainage culverts under the newly constructed concrete roadway. The plans call for the enlarging the area where Craig St. North intersects with Bibeau St. necessitating the expropriation of some land and the moving of some public utility installations there.

The project will also include the installation of a new traffic sign. The minister has indicated that the costs of expropriation, construction plans and other fees will be absorbed by the government.

Bread Festival planning underway

COOKSHIRE — A very important meeting of the Bread Festival Committee was held this week. At this time the various committees presented their new ideas. Although all the ideas were very interesting, a number were discarded because of lack of finances.

A new giant loaf of bread will be built of a permanent nature to replace the present one which was used for advertising purposes.

A theme song has been composed by Lionel Blouin, and the music will be played by the "G.P." orchestra. The song will be released in the near future.

The committee is requesting people to either lend or give the utensils which they have used to bake bread for display purposes.

Financial donations would be gratefully received as it is the wish of the committee to enlarge this festival every year, if possible, thus bringing fame and recognition to the town.

Anyone wishing more information may phone 875-3908 or write to "The Bread Festival", P.O. Box 10, Cookshire, Que. JOB 1M0

Study session set for Thursday

By RUDOLPH NASSAR

Faculty at Champlain Regional College in Lennoxville is planning a one-day study session Thursday in support of protest action currently being taken by teachers in the province's 38 CEGEPs.

Over 8,000 teachers in Quebec's colleges began this week to use various protest tactics to press for better working conditions and higher salary scales.

The decision to hold a one-day study session at Champlain-Lennoxville, the Eastern Townships' only English language CEGEP, was reluctantly adopted at a meeting last Tuesday of Champlain's local faculty union which is affiliated to the CEQ.

Champlain faculty has repeatedly emphasized that they do not want to take any action that may adversely affect students or delay their studies. But at last Tuesday's meeting many teachers felt that a show of support for their colleagues in other CEGEPs was equally important.

The study session next Thursday means that there will be no classes that day.

"There was very little joy in the vote for the study session", one teacher pointed out. "Even teachers, like myself, who voted in favor of it, did so with a heavy heart."

A memo circulated yesterday by one member of Champlain's faculty asking the union to reconsider the call for a study day only served to underscore that reluctance. The union will study the request at its next meeting on Tuesday.

There was no evidence of any reluctance, however, in other actions adopted by the union: Last week Champlain faculty participated in a brief two hour work stoppage in conjunction with protest activities organized in other CEGEPs, and next Tuesday faculty will devote some class time to discuss the present state of negotiations and teacher workloads with students.

Meanwhile Champlain's administration has reacted to the call for the study day on Thursday by saying that a day of classes may be added at the end of the term to make up for the lost day on Thursday. It was understood that teachers would lose a day's pay for the study day.

Boundary Rotary Club planning annual event

BOUNDARY (IH) — The Boundary Rotary Club members under the chairmanship of Lloyd Bliss are very busy making preparations for their 7th annual money-raising event. This will be the dinner-dance to be held at Stanstead College LeBaron Hall dining hall, Stanstead College on Saturday, Feb. 28.

This year the entire evening has been changed to make it a more entertaining one. There will be bar facilities with happy hour from 6:30 until 7:30 when a roast beef dinner will be served.

From 8:15 until 9 p.m. two squares of the North Country Swingers will present some of their beautiful dances with Carroll Tenney of Morrisville, Vt., the caller. The last half of their program will tentatively be involvement with the people there who might like to try some of the dancing.

At nine o'clock Johnny Scotte's Down Beat Trio - Plus One will start to play for dancing that will continue until 1:00 a.m.

It is also expected there will be among those attending a semi-professional male vocalist. This man, who has a very fine voice and has been heard by a few here at the Border has sung with top bands of Canada and the United States and during World War 2 did considerable entertaining among the troops overseas.

Ben Lapierre, President of Rotary has these chairmen working on arrangements with Mr. Bliss to give everyone another memorable evening at the Border: Dance, H.M. Cass; Sale of TV by tickets, Mel Van Sickle and Raymond Fluet; Dinner of roast beef, Joe Gaboriault; Bar facilities; open until 1:00 a.m. in charge of Alden Peacock and John Silvester. Other members will attend to other details.

During the evening there will be door prizes given away to the lucky dinner ticket holders.

Arrangements have been made for a group of responsible young people from the Border Youth club to operate a check room. For a small remuneration rubbers, boots, and outer wearing apparel will be kept safely to be collected by the owner at the end of the evening.

Due to lack of support, the Rotarians were forced to cancel the annual sled dog derby.

This dinner-dance is the major fund raising project of the year. The monies raised are used locally. Last year they made contributions of money to the Girls Softball League; Children's Service Fund; Tap Water Co. in Barre, Vt.; Beebe Minor Hockey Club; Sunnyside Athletic Gym; Derby Line Hockey Club; Rock Island-Stanstead Hockey Club, Christmas Basket Community Fund which is sponsored by Rotary; Haskell Library Book of the Month Club received $149.52 and during the year $1,000 went to the Border Youth Club; and $100 to the Three Villages Swim program. In May, 1976 $200 is pledged to the Community Sports Complex in Stanstead.

Donations and sponsorship is given to the Crippled Children's Camp at Ayer's Cliff, Rotary sponsors Easter Seals and sends kids to summer camp to assist crippled and needy children.

Now the Rotary Club is seeking the support for this February 28 project. They are selling by ticket a color television to be drawn for at the dance. These tickets are available from any Rotarian and several members of the Border Youth Club are selling for the Rotarians. This is one way of supporting the effort. And the dinner dance promises to be an exciting fun evening from 6:30 p.m. until 1:30 a.m.

School committee meets at Mansonville

MANSONVILLE (MB) — In attendance at the Feb. School Committee meeting in the elementary school were Chairwoman Mrs. B. Nichols, Head Teacher Mrs. E. Young, Principal W. Horn and committee members H. Woodard and G. Kilpatrick.

Topics covered in a report given by Mr. Horn were Ski Program, Skating Program, the status of the school rink, the presence of a practicing teacher, Miss Susan Enright, the projected visit of the District of Bedford Student Service Team, the visit of the school photographer, the approaching official enrolment session, the sale of gym uniforms and the new gym ropes.

The meeting endorsed a visit by Dr. Berke to meet the school children and invited parents. It is hoped that he will give a talk on health education, particularly nutrition, the care of hair and teeth and cleanliness.

Ideas for programs for the Level 6 students to be retained next year was discussed at some length. It was felt many ideas could be supported by the School Committee if properly presented to the parents of the Level 6 children.

The School Committee agreed to defer any support to the Mansonville Boy Scout Troop until a larger number of members were present.

Following the meeting the coffee and snack was served.

Opinion from the French language press

Trois-Rivieres Le Nouvelliste: John Turner, who caused a stir Sept. 11 when he resigned as finance minister from the Trudeau cabinet, now has announced he is leaving the Commons where he served as MP for Ottawa-Carleton.

The second move is a natural consequence to the first—we could have foreseen that Mr. Turner would not have continued as a mere MP after having held such important positions within the federal administration.

The departure of the man seen as Pierre Trudeau's successor in the federal Liberal party poses a few questions.

Mr. Turner never explained his resignation from the House—he said he was returning to his law practice and that his constituents deserved a fulltime member.

It is common knowledge that the former finance minister entertained serious political ambitions. After he lost the Liberal leadership race to Mr. Trudeau in 1968, Mr. Turner began gathering friends, knowing that one day his turn would come.

He had every reason to hope for this, given party practices and the fact he is 10 years younger than the prime minister.

However, Mr. Trudeau is solidly entrenched as party leader, and there is nothing that could lead one to believe he plans to leave in the near future.

Mr. Turner has apparently lost all illusions about replacing Mr. Trudeau within a short period of time. This does not mean, however, that he has given up his political ambitions.

In the current context, he may have chosen to keep his distance from the government since it now is going through hard times. Had he stayed with the government, he would have been associated with those hard times. Instead, he can recreate a political innocence for himself while remaining at the ready.

Not so dumb, after all—Sylvio Saint-Amant (Feb. 14)

Ottawa Le Droit: Certainties of the summer Olympic Games in Montreal can be counted on the fingers of one hand, despite the assurances given by the Drapeaus, Goldblooms and Bourassas during the last few years.

The Games will "probably" open in 20 weeks if contractors, trade unionists and politicians stop trying to profit from the event and concentrate instead on making it happen.

The Olympics now are 1,000 leagues from the "modest" event we had been promised. It is too late to stop everything and redesign the project to fit the ability of taxpayers to pay.

Many Canadians, from Montreal East as well as from Winnipeg, can say they never supported the idea of grandiose projects, even Olympian ones, and that they never voted for them.

But the fact remains that a majority of citizens, with or without proper knowledge of the Olympics dossier, supported the channelling of part of the collective wealth into 15 days of international Olympics competition.

Montreal's imaginative mayor talked a lot and he convinced the majority, even if he failed to keep his promises.

A Quebec government board now regulates the construction sites and Victor Goldbloom now is the go-between with the International Organizing Committee (IOC).

While IOC officials make sermons to Montrealers, Quebec Premier Robert Bourassa scrapes the bottom of the barrel for arguments to persuade Ottawa to provide direct financial assistance for the Games.

We still don't know whether the Games will take place on time and at the intended facilities. We are entering the "100 critical days."

What happens to Mr. Bourassa's repeated requests and Mr. Trudeau's continued refusals?

Mr. Trudeau recently told a Vancouver audience, in response to their questions on the subject: "Whom are you going to believe, Bourassa or me?" The prime minister has also told Quebecers he will remain steadfast to the end.

The federal leader seems to be saying that despite frequent warnings, commitments were made, in writing, to assume the entire deficit.

The Progressive Conservatives won a seat from the Liberals in a recent Quebec byelection. Quebec province's four Tory MPs have already come out in favor of a major federal contribution to the Games.

What is the federal government waiting for: to accept a political compromise on financing? We are all waiting.—Gilbert Brunet (Feb. 13)

Granby La Voix de l'Est: The Economic Council of Canada says that unless we discover new and easily-accessible conventional resources, we will lose our energy self-sufficiency by 1980.

This is nothing new. We all agree that fossil fuel reserves are dwindling rapidly and that we have to start considering alternative energy means.

Governments, if they really intend to do something about this, should study the council's three-point recommendations on how to solve the forthcoming crisis.

The council included in its report three scenarios of situations based on low-medium and high-cost oil and gas.

In the first contingency plan, the council estimates prices at $5 per barrel of oil and $1 per 1,000 cubic feet of gas. For the second scenario, oil would cost $7 per barrel and gas $1.15 per 1,000 cubic feet. The last plan calls for oil at $8.50 per barrel and gas at $1.40.

The first plan predicts a maximum of two plants built to develop the Alberta oil sands. Consumption rises 5.8 per cent yearly and Canada becomes a net importer of oil by 1979. The Mackenzie gas pipeline is completed by 1985 and gas consumption increases by seven per cent annually.

In the second contingency, Canada's oil consumption increases six per cent yearly until 1980 and five per cent a year after that. Four new oil extraction plants are built in Alberta by 1985 and Canada becomes a net oil importer by 1980. The Mackenzie pipeline becomes operative by 1980 and gas consumption rises six per cent a year.

The third plan predicts annual oil consumption increases at 4.6 per cent, starting this year. Eight oil extraction plants are working at full capacity by 1985 and Canada remains self-sufficient.

In terms of financial investment, the council predicts a cost of $2.1 billion for the first plan, $8.7 billion for the second and $12.6 billion for the last plan.

Can Canada afford the financial burden of the second and third plans? Government could institute compensatory measures to balance the effect of such heavy investments.

However, if certain economic sectors were overburdened, the heavy investment requirements might cause instability.—Jean Naud (Feb. 11)

Quebec Le Soleil: The decision to fine Irving Pulp and Paper for violating the government's wage and price controls is a test case that may have an impact on the efficiency and the future of the measures.

The gesture by Irving and its employees was undoubtedly a test with definite goals in mind. Management and labor both wanted to see how far the government would go.

The commission, on the other hand, needed to establish and consolidate its credibility. It could not afford a compromise in this case because, although the rules are broad, there are, nonetheless, a certain number of specified norms.

But the implications of the decision go beyond the need to make wages conform to the fluctuations created by inflation. The whole question of free negotiations in private enterprise is placed in doubt.

Irving will continue to pay its employees according to the terms of the contract in question. But that contract was to have served as a standard for other paper companies embroiled now in labor troubles.

It appears inevitable the decision will have explosive impact on future contracts.

The decision could very well create a socio-political crisis likely to compromise, if not destroy, all efforts to cope with inflation up to now.

It remains to be seen, in any eventual dispute, who will have to swallow the hardest.—Paul Lachance (Feb. 16)

The Gate of Grief

Early this month NATO "sources" in Brussels leaked - by accident or purpose, so to say - the news that the Atlantic Alliance had contingency plans to deal with any Soviet interference with shipping off the coast of southern Africa. The warning shot, albeit fired from a gun equipped with a silencer, had two targets: One in Angola, where the victory of MPLA is now so complete that France has rushed to recognize the Communist minority regime; the second target was in Djibouti, where the fuse has been slowly burning and is now very close to the powder keg. Last week the French airlifted a thousand troops into this small enclave between Somalia and Ethiopia, but the future of the Horn of Africa remains uncertain.

The area around Djibouti is inhabited by some 145,000 tribesmen, divided between the Afars and the Issa. The Afars have links with tribes in Ethiopia, and the French backed them when they rebelled against the Addis Ababa government. The Issa have links with Somalia, and Somalia claims all of the territory as well as chunks of Ethiopia and Kenya. To all intents and purposes, Somalia is a Soviet satellite, and the heavily armed Somali forces, stiffened by Cuban mercenaries who have been present in Somalia in ever increasing numbers, could easily defeat the Afars, or the small French garrison for that matter.

Djibouti lies opposite Aden, on the western side of the Bab-el-Mandeb straits that command all traffic between the Mediterranean and the Indian Ocean. The Soviet navy is already installed at Aden. If the Russians can secure Djibouti as well, the Suez Canal traffic will be wholly at their mercy. In Arabic Bab-el-Mandeb means Gate of Grief, and as matters stand now, it is indeed here that Western Mediterranean policies can so easily come to grief.

The French keep in Djibouti two submarines and a supply vessel and the base serves a small French fleet that includes a helicopter-carrier, a destroyer and seven smaller warships as well as landing-craft transporter, which is more than the British keep in this strategically vital area. In addition to Djibouti, the French fleet has a base on the island of Reunion. The neighboring island, Mauritius, serves impartially the Indian Ocean fleets of Britain, the United States and the Soviet Union. Indeed, the Soviets now have 11 naval bases in the Indian Ocean and command three of the four vital straits: the east coast of Bab-el-Mandeb - the Soviet navy being firmly established in Aden and on the islands of Nicobar. The fourth straits, those of Hormuz, at the entrance of the Persian Gulf, are still occupied by the British, who maintain a small garrison of 700 men and an airfield at Oman, with naval facilities at Matrah.

Including the two French bases, at Djibouti and Reunion, the Western powers have only eight bases left in the Indian Ocean, and of these, that on the Mauritius, is shared with the Russians. Anybody wishing to stick flags into a wall map to pinpoint the 11 Soviet bases will quickly notice how well established the Russians are in the Indian Ocean. The hope that by a quick recognition of the MPLA regime in Angola - the rest of the European Community is to follow the French example in short order - the worst might yet be averted is rather foolish. The MPLA is a minority group espousing an ideology alien to the majority of the Angolans. It can rule solely by force and the Soviet Union alone has the weapons and the Cuban mercenaries to provide the means of coercion. The NATO contingency plans had better be good.

"YOU'RE KIDDING...YOU MEAN THIS ISLAND DOESN'T HAVE AN OMBUDSMAN EITHER?"

Tennessee Congressman has yen for high life

WASHINGTON - Rep. Harold Ford, D-Tenn., came to Congress last year as one of its most promising freshmen. He has been assigned to the powerful House Ways and Means Committee.

But this aggressive young Congressman regrettably has a weakness for high living. He also placed his leading campaign contributors, or their proteges, on his government payroll.

Because they did little work, he raided the federal manpower training program for office workers. This, unfortunately, violates federal law.

The 30-year-old Ford financed his campaign, in large part, from the contributions he received from his campaign manager C. Eric Lincoln, the Rev. R.C. George, dentist Robert Tharpe, Memphis realtor Sam Dattel and their intimates.

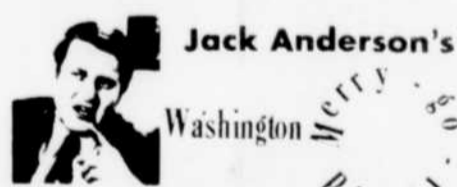

On the day Ford was sworn in, he immediately put Lincoln, Rev. George Tharpe's wife and Dattel's protege, William McSwain, on the congressional payroll at salaries up to $1,633 a month.

By all accounts, only Mrs. Tharpe worked an eight-hour day for the new Congressman. It looked suspiciously as if Ford were trying to repay his campaign contributors by putting them on the public payroll.

The working members of Ford's office, meanwhile, were assigned such unusual duties as driving around a pretty, young Delta airline hostess who frequented the office, chauffeuring Ford back and forth from Capitol Hill and babysitting his children.

All of this caused such a heavy drain on Ford's staff that he had to find someone to keep his congressional office going. He discovered the perfect solution, with the help of friends in the city and county governments back in Memphis.

Under the federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act, funds are provided to train workers for local governments. Ford cajoled local officials into assigning the workers to his offices in Memphis, far enough from Washington possibly to be overlooked by the Justice Department. For this misuse of the training program happens to be illegal.

Clearly, the Congressman suspected that he might be violating the law. For he asked the Law Division at the Library of Congress for a ruling. The Library sent him a private, unconditional report last September that "such employment, as a benefit to the Member, would be in violation" of the statute.

There can be no question, therefore, that Ford knew his employment practices were against the law. Nevertheless, he continued to keep at least three of the federally-paid workers in his office. The penalty is a $3,000 fine, plus repayment of the salaries.

The Congressman's personal spending habits are equally curious. He professes to be broke, yet he scatters money around as if it were confetti.

In 1972, he signed a pauper's oath. His campaign committee is still more than $6,000 in the hole. He is being sued for lawyer's fees in a redistricting case.

At one hotel, he piled up a debt of more than $1,000. At another, he was required to pay in advance when his wife passed a bad check. At times, he has been obliged to borrow cab fare from bellhops and of vice aides.

In the House stationery store, he was "red-listed," thereby barring purchases until he personally deposited money in his account. He spent his entire $6,500 stationery allowance during his first few months in office, part of it to buy hundreds of cuff links and other trinkets for his friends.

Yet despite all the wolves at his door, he has managed to purchase an $80,000 house and furnish it lavishly. He granted an $18,000 loan to his campaign committee, and he splurges on clothes at Georgetown's most fashionable shops.

Ford has also been extravagant with the taxpayers' money. Once he tried to charge the taxpayers for political mailings, promoting a "Harold Ford Day." Even the timid House Folding Room turned him down, refusing to let him use his free mailing privileges to promote himself.

At first, Ford conceded that he realized his use of county workers violated the law. Later he recanted and claimed it was legal. However, he abruptly stopped using the manpower training funds to pay his staff after we questioned him about it. Ford also denied impropriety in any of his staff arrangements. His financial affairs, he insisted, are now in order. Lincoln has also started working full time for his congressional pay.

Footnote: Ford has claimed to the press that he holds a master's degree from prestigious Vanderbilt University. When we inquired, he said his M.S. came from Gupton College, Nashville. At Gupton, we learned the Congressman's M.S. stands for an arts degree in Mortuary Science.

Washington Whirl: Supreme Court Justice Potter Stewart's son had no need to catch a taxi when he arrived in Washington last week. His father dispatched an official Supreme Court messenger to give his son a lift. Morale at the Bureau of Indian Affairs has hit an all-time low. Non-Indian employees are threatening to leave because of a Supreme Court ruling that gives Indians preference in job advancement. Several disgruntled employees at the Office of Minority Business Enterprise have retained a Washington law firm, Karr and Graves, to fight a suspected "secret reorganization" of the agency by its chief, Alex Armandaris.

Yester Years 20 years ago

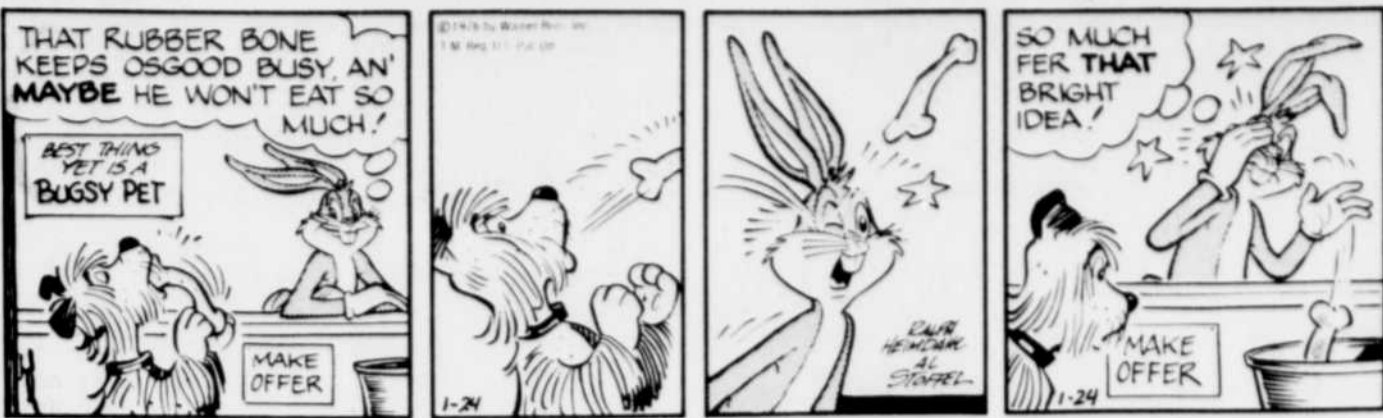

LONDON - Dwindling food stocks brought fresh misery and the spectre of famine to ice-enveloped Europe today. Vegetable prices rocketed as spring crops rotted under a three-week pall of snow.

The death toll rose to a known 676 in the worst winter in living memory. The river Seine was frozen from bank to bank 25 miles south of Paris and the Thames iced solid outside the grey stone walls of Windsor Castle, where the Queen was week-ending after her three-week tour of tropical Nigeria.

ASK THE JACOBY'S
 A Pennsylvania reader wants to know if the two spades bid in the sequence one notrump by declarer, two hearts by second hand and two spades by partner is a forcing bid.

By Oswald & James Jacoby
 Today's column is written in the first person by Jim Jacoby.
 Unlike my father, who has been playing bridge since before the flood, I have only about 25 years experience. I must have played more good hands than bad ones. The record is pretty good, but I sure have had some real doozies on the wrong side.
 Here is a hand that I overbid a trifle. The final slam contract wasn't a bad one. Apparently it depended on a heart finesse, but if you look at all the cards you will see the finesse was wrong and I was going down.
 Then, West handed me my contract on a silver platter. He led the nine of hearts right into me. I took the trick with my queen, played two rounds of trumps and led dummy's last heart. East followed low and I started to think.
 I could only trump two hearts in dummy. If West had led a singleton heart I needed to finesse my jack. The more I thought, the more sure I became that he had done just that. I played my jack of hearts and had given the contract back.

Think about retiring by March 1st.

One of the fastest ways you can save money is with a "SMART" Retirement Savings Plan. Promise.

But there are two more reasons why you should open a SMART Plan today.

The earlier in your life you open a Plan, the more money you'll have later. The difference is in the length of time you give your savings to collect interest. If, for instance, you started saving $50 a month at age 25 instead of $100 per month at age 45, and your investment earned 7% net interest, your retirement savings could be $128,000 instead of $51,000 at age 65.*

The second reason is an even more immediate one. If you open a SMART Plan by March 1st, you can deduct your SMART contributions from your 1975 taxable income.

Save Money And Reduce Taxes by March 1st. Get SMART at any Commerce branch near you.

*The difference is the compounding effect of net interest paid semi-annually over 40 years or 20 years.

It is with real pleasure that I have already received several recipes from readers of this little corner to be shared with other Sherbrooke Record readers.

Here is a recipe sent by Ethel Page of Sherbrooke who says that she always keeps a supply of these cookies on hand for her grandchildren when they come, to have with a glass of milk.

KING-SIZE GINGER SNAPS
Cream 3/4 cup shortening with

1 cup sugar (white)
Add 1 egg

1/4 cup molasses
Sift together 2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon EACH cloves, ginger and cinnamon
3 teaspoons baking powder.

Add to other ingredients and shape into small balls. Place well apart and flatten with bottom of a glass dipped in sugar. Bake at 350 degrees for 8 to 10 minutes.

Thank you for your kind letter and recipe Mrs. Page. Next week another recipe sent in by a Record reader. Thank you all.

Stitchin' Time

Quilt up own period piece

By Joanne Schreiber

The history of our country can be read in her quilts.

The quilts of the Revolutionary period used small bits and pieces of cloth in a variety of geometric patterns. Because cloth was imported to the colonies, not a scrap was wasted, and the pieces tended to be small and closely stitched.

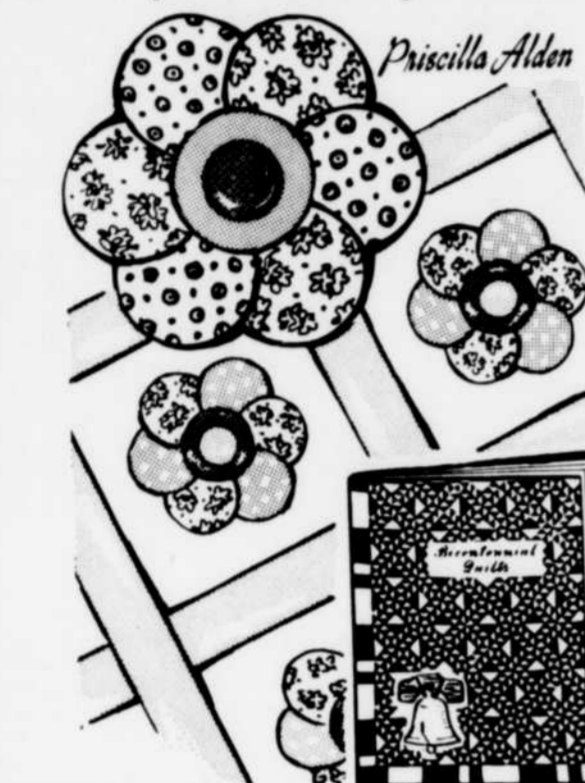

As the country became more affluent, it was not so important to use up scraps and the applique quilt became fashionable. This was made of new materials, cut into fanciful designs and stitched to a background with tiny stitches.

As the country developed, quilts were named for historical events: General Sherman's Quilt, the Railroad, the Harrison Quilt, Road to California.

To celebrate the Bicentennial, quilters across the country are making Bicentennial quilts — the old patterns interpreted in new fabrics and colors.

As part of our Bicentennial salute, we are offering our readers a new Bicentennial Quilt book. It contains patterns and instructions for 16 quilts, each with its own historical footnote. Some are simple, some fairly complicated, but all reflect some part of our country's heritage.

In addition to the patterns, the books give you detailed instructions for making a quilt: getting the right size, fabric selection, use of newer materials such as dacron batting, making the pattern pieces, joining the pieces, assembling the quilt, doing the quilting. Instructions are even included for caring for your quilt. In the fabric suggested, it can be washed in a modern washer and partially tumble-dried.

To order your own copy of the Bicentennial Quilt book, send just $1.25 to Stitchin' Time, care of this newspaper, Box 503, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Ask for Bicentennial Quilts and be sure to include your own name, address and zip. When the Tricentennial rolls around, your quilt can take its place in history.

THINKING AHEAD — This beige two-piecer gets the stripe treatment in the new tri-color brights of red, green and black! Impeccably tailored and definitely uncluttered, this outfit can take you anywhere with fresh and carefree spirit. Jacket features roll-back sleeves, regatta-style gold anchor buttons and loosely sashed waist. Skirt is narrow-falling, with five neat and narrow off-center pleats. Matching headscarf designed to wrap and tie as you will. Both suit and scarf in 100 per cent cotton.

SUMMER THOUGHTS — This summer-spirited two-piecer is literally blooming with flowers! Floral print in old rose, green and mulberry is sensuously pretty in 100 per cent cotton. The short-sleeved cotton knit top has flattering drawstring neckline and narrow front ribbing. Cotton chintz skirt features the newer narrow shape with soft ribbing and gentle pleats. A thin slash of a tie at waistline accentuated the fluid, natural lines of this outfit. Matching cotton scarf is the standout accessory of the season.

Campaigning for less wasted food

Inflation Fighter

DEAR FOLLY — Mrs. E.B.'s Pet Peeve concerning the amount of food wasted, by being left on plates in restaurants, prompted my letter. Our Reading (Pa.) branch of the American Association of University Women is working hard on a "Waste No Food" program that has already received state sponsorship. I am enclosing some of our material that is being circulated in restaurants, schools, churches and homes.

— MRS. J.B.D.
DEAR READERS — I am sure most of us agree that the amount of food wasted in our country is staggering, so it is great to hear of those who not only realize this, but are doing something about it. This project seems so worthwhile that there must be others throughout this great land of ours who would like to know more about it.

The Reading project is described as a Waste No Food campaign. To quote them "Before going to the public, we went to the Restaurant Ass., Food Service people in the schools and other groups whose cooperation was essential to our undertaking. After that we were able to present our plans briefly at a community-wide meeting on World Hunger, sponsored by the Ministerium and twenty other concerned organizations. Striking posters were secured, distributed and menu inserts by the thousands were placed in restaurants. Inserts with a brief message were distributed through local department stores with 10,000 packets of seed."

The restaurant inserts say "WE CARE about the problem of hunger in the world today and in the world of our children. WE ARE COOPERATING with the program of reducing food waste. WE SERVE GENEROUS PORTIONS but if you want less than usual, just tell the person who serves you. DON'T TAKE MORE THAN YOU CAN EAT! DON'T SERVE MORE THAN WILL BE EATEN!"

Other examples from the slogans for this campaign are "Food is our greatest source of energy. Conserve it!" "Today's hunger problems could become our children's food crisis. Waste less food NOW!" "Is your garbage disposal the biggest eater in your house? Smaller servings mean more clean plates, Mom. Let us all try to waste less food!" "Be creative! Use leftover food when possible and as soon as possible." "Stop it! If food is wasted, not even tasted, you lose, we lose, and the world loses essential energy"

What is being done successfully in one community could be done in others and anyone interested in considering a similar project, and who wish further information should not write me, but the Reading Am. Ass. of University Women Waste No Food Program, 1921 N. 15th St., Reading, Pa. 19604, who gave their gracious permission for this. I think you will agree these ladies have something that deserves being brought to the attention of everyone. My hat is off to them — how about yours? — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — and Ruth who wants to remove stains from her fish tank — I gave the following hint to a woman who raises fish and needed to clean a 55 gallon tank on which she had tried everything with no luck. Use vinegar I told her. She dampened a cloth with it and let stand against the sides to soak. This also works for those nasty lime stains around sink faucets. — SHARON.

DEAR POLLY — Lighter fluid put on a cotton ball will remove that sticky glue that labels leave on any surface as the stove, dishes, etc. — JOYCE.

Ann Landers says:

Children should help in house

Dear Ann Landers: You've often said that if a man and woman both work they should share the housework. I couldn't agree more.

Both my mother and father work and guess who does ALL the housework? Me!

I believe children should help around the house because they live there, too. But isn't it rotten to put it all on a daughter when there are two able-bodied boys in the family? My brothers don't lift a finger. You'd think they were royalty.

I dust-mop, vacuum, make beds, cook, do dishes, etc. This means I have to come straight home from school, do housework and start supper.

Please say something, Ann. — Fair Is Fair

Dear Fair: I HAVE said something, but I'll say it again.

Housework and cooking don't care who does 'em — male or female. Your parents are being unfair, not only to you but to your brothers. They will be severely handicapped later in life if they don't know how to cook and do housework.

I suggest a total reassessment of the situation and a division of chores — three ways. I hope your parents will see this column and call a Tribal Meeting tonight.

Dear Ann Landers: Harry and I are in our mid 60s. We both lost our mates a few years ago. We enjoy each other's company and want a life together.

Harry suggested that we live together without marriage. He says he can't afford the financial responsibilities of a wife. To be perfectly frank, the moral aspects of the arrangement wouldn't bother me, but I'm afraid to make this step because he could walk away whenever he felt like it and I'd feel used if he ever did it.

When I told Harry how I felt, he said he'd be perfectly willing to marry me but I'd have to agree to the old-fashioned marriage agreement where the wife hands over everything to her husband. What do you think about his proposition: — On The Fence

Dear Fence: Not much. For openers I've never heard of that "old-fashioned marriage agreement" Harry is trying to sell you. Moreover, there are a few missing links in the chain. First: What do you have to "hand over"? Second: Would Harry be willing to hand over whatever HE has? When you get the answers to these questions let me know. CONFIDENTIAL. to Repeat It Please: Gladly.

"You are as young as your faith and as old as your doubts — as young as your self-confidence, as old as your fears. Age — it's only a number. Baby."

What's the story on pot, L.S.D., cocaine, uppers and downers, speed? Can you handle it if you're careful? Send for Ann Landers' new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs." For each booklet ordered, send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (20 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin Ill. 60120.

Allegro Unit

STANSTEAD — At the February meeting of the Centenary United church Allegro Unit, final plans were made for the annual Shrove Tuesday supper to be held in the church hall on March 2 from 5:00 p.m. on.

The Leader, Mrs. Warren Soutiere conducted the meeting at the home of the hostess Mrs. Mabel Wallace in Stanstead, with 13 members present.

Mrs. Soutiere opened with a prayer for the pen of Ritchie Bell, excerpts from the book Modern Man, and Vanier's writings, also two short poems.

Routine reports were heard.

Communications included a thank you from Benoit LaPierre, thanking the Unit for their donation to the Community Christmas fund for baskets; other thank you notes and a letter from their foster child Mrs. H. M. Cass volunteered to write the monthly letter to the child.

The date of February 17 was set to tie and complete the quilt made by the members under co-venership of Mrs. Avery Davis. Mrs. Rose McMullen invited the ladies to do this week in her basement.

The Shrove Tuesday menu will include hot casseroles, beans and salads, with pancakes and syrup for dessert. It was agreed to purchase two much needed cutting knives for the kitchen.

The date of May 9 was confirmed for the May-Day annual sale and tea which will start at 3:00 p.m. and continue. This coincides with the Stanstead Historical Society's annual meeting and members of the Society attend the tea prior to leaving for their respective homes.

Mrs. H. M. Cass will entertain the March 9th meeting of the Unit at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Wallace and assisting hostess, Mrs. Malcolm Morrison served delicious refreshments.

A silent auction of homemade foods took place. This was amusing and profitable for the treasury funds.

Prizewinners were: 1st, Mr. Keith Mizener; 2nd, Mrs. Lawrence Page; Consolation, Mrs. Gertrude Partridge.

Door prizes were won by Sue Andrews, Mr. Will Pettes, Mrs. Lawrence Page, Barbara MacGillivray, Laura Mizener and Mrs. Gertrude Partridge.

ACW meeting

KNOWLTON (KT) — A meeting of St. Paul's Church A.C.W. (Evening Group) was held at the home of Mrs. Lillian Pearson on Wednesday February 11th, being postponed from the regular date the previous week, due to the weather conditions.

Routine business was conducted and final plans made for the Court Whist card party scheduled for February 16.

The meeting concluded with refreshments and a pleasant social period.

COURT WHIST

A Court Whist card party was held in St. Paul's Church Hall on Monday evening, February 16, sponsored by the A.C.W. Evening Group.

Due to the icy conditions prevailing, there was a smaller attendance than was anticipated.

Prizewinners were: 1st, Mr. Keith Mizener; 2nd, Mrs. Lawrence Page; Consolation, Mrs. Gertrude Partridge.

Door prizes were won by Sue Andrews, Mr. Will Pettes, Mrs. Lawrence Page, Barbara MacGillivray, Laura Mizener and Mrs. Gertrude Partridge.

Golden Age Club

KNOWLTON (KT) — The Golden Age Club met on Tuesday afternoon, February 17 at the Legion Hall with 36 members present.

Five Hundred was played at 8 tables and prizewinners were: Ladies: 1st prize, Mrs. Elvia Johnson, 2nd, prize Mrs. Doris Smith.

Gentlemen: 1st prize, Mr. Louis Giasson; 2nd, Bert Phelps. The door prize winner was Mrs. Ella Bennett.

Happy Birthday was sung in honour of Mrs. Pearl Windle who was observing her birthday the following day.

Cards for sick members were signed to be sent to Mr. Leon George at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Mr. Steve Hunt, just home from the Royal Victoria, Mrs. Mabel Shufelt who was ill with the 'flu and Mr. George Mizener, back in Sherbrooke Hospital.

A show of hands was called for, by members who would like to form a party to go by chartered bus to attend the Ice Capades at Sherbrooke.

A pleasant tea hour brought the meeting to a close.

CATTLE RESEARCH — Agriculture Canada research is looking at adding selenium pellets to cattle diets in areas where the trace element is lacking.

Protection urged for prime agriculture land

OTTAWA — Prime agricultural land must be protected for food production through a government land use policy.

Such a policy must be immediately developed and implemented says a report of the Agricultural Institute of Canada. The report was given recently to the Canadian Participation Secretariat for Habitat, the United Nations Conference on Human Settlement.

This report will be considered by the secretariat for a major policy statement on Canadian settlements to be presented, by the federal government, at Habitat. Habitat is the largest UN conference ever held. It will take place in Vancouver in June.

"Control should be on land use rather than ownership," the report says. "There would be both private and public ownership. Each of the three levels of government (federal, provincial and local) would, on the basis of sound long-term planning, assemble land banks for such purposes as housing, industry, recreation, service corridors, and airports on land least suited for agriculture."

The report emphasizes that communication-transportation corridors should be planned to encourage urban development on other than prime agricultural land. Outside urban centers, "ribbon" development should be discarded in favor of "clustering".

It goes on to say that in agriculture, the provinces must adopt the production objective of self-sufficiency in as many food products as possible, as well as aspiring to out-of-province markets.

The report, entitled Land Use and Rural Committees, is a consensus of provincial views on Canada's land resources. The provincial views were gathered at public meetings across the country, organized by provincial institutes of agrolologists.

One further meeting will take place at the University of Guelph, Guelph, Ont. on February 4th at 8:00 p.m. It is organized by the Ontario Institute of Agrolologists.

The meetings were made possible through the Agricultural Institute of Canada's co-ordination of a grant from Canada's Department of Urban Affairs.

The Agricultural Institute of Canada is a national non-government organization representing 5,500 professionals - agrolologists - and scientists in the Canadian agriculture and food industry. It acts as an "umbrella" organization for provincial institutes of agrolologists and eight affiliated scientific societies.

Siting by light

By Janet Tara
(First of a Series)

Success or failure with your window garden depends on the careful choice of plants. The major requirements of any plant are light, water, soil composition, temperature and humidity. Of these, light is the most important; a plant can adapt to other variations in its environment.

Although you can combine foliage and flowers best suited to a variety of temperatures and humidity, you must not group together plants with dissimilar light needs. Find out exactly how much light your window provides and then choose plants that will flourish in that light. Here are a few suggestions for each of the four main light exposures:

North Window: Boston fern, caladium, chinese evergreen, fiddle-leaf fig (close relative to Indian rubber plant), grape ivy, piggyback plant, pigmy date palm, snake plant, string-of-hearts vine, windowleaf philodendron (not a true philodendron), avocado, pothos. East-West Window: asparagus fern, dracaena family, (filtered light), diffenbachia (filtered light), English ivy, kentia palm (filtered light), spider plant, schefflera, wandering Jew, wax begonia. Southern Window: velvet plant, (purple passion plant) gardenia, geraniums, wax plant, cacti and succulents, coleus and all flowering plants. (NEXT: Lighting basics.)

Cattle diet change studied

AGASSIZ, B.C. — Canadian cattle and sheep may some day have grinders and selenium pellets rolling around in their rumens.

In no way painful, it might be just what the doctor ordered. The doctor in this case is Lorne Fisher, a dairy cattle nutritionist at the Agriculture Canada Research Station here. He is studying the pros and cons of adding selenium to the cattle diet. The grinders are one way of administering selenium.

With concern over additives in livestock feeds, Dr. Fisher's study will take at least another two years before he submits his findings to Agriculture Canada's Plant Products Division.

A clear need for the trace element in the ruminant diet has been found, but doubts about possible side-effects still exist. It is now available to cattlemen only on a veterinarian's prescription. Among possible side-effects of selenium are carry-over into meat and milk and a possible toxic buildup in soils and pasture. Excess selenium is excreted by cattle and returned to the land.

Supplemental selenium can be included as a feed additive for non-ruminants such as chickens and swine (0.1 parts per million) and turkeys (0.2 parts per million).

A problem with dosing cattle is the slim margin between correct amounts (.1 part per million) and a toxic dosage (five parts per million).

White muscle disease is a common symptom of a selenium-deficient diet in areas of Canada where soil is naturally lacking in the trace element. An affected animal will stagger and suffer muscle degeneration. There is a high mortality rate.

"We really have three alternatives, once all the data from the study are collected," Dr. Fisher says. "We can recommend that selenium stay under prescription, under other controlled conditions, or be freely available at prescribed levels without prescription. We will decide what we think should happen and pass along this decision to the Plant Products Division.

The scientist expects preliminary results to be ready this spring. Tests have already been done on selenium content of milk and meat from animals treated with various dosages of the trace element.

Studies on possible interaction between selenium and minerals such as sulphur will follow.

The researcher has also studied various means of introducing selenium to the cattle diet. It can be added to the feed, given by injection, or by a slow-release deposited in the rumen.

The pellet method was developed in Australia and is used extensively to remedy a cobalt deficiency problem in sheep.

Space remains for cattle imports

OTTAWA — Agriculture Canada still has space available for importing cattle from Austria, Belgium, Denmark, France, Holland, Italy, Switzerland and West Germany in the 1976-77 importation year.

Persons or groups interested in applying for import permits should submit their requests immediately to Dr. K. F. Wells, Health of Animals Branch, Agriculture Canada, Ottawa, K1A 0C5.

In past years, demand for import permits has exceeded the number available. But this year more permits are available and the number of applications has declined.

An additional 640 spaces are available in 1976-77 because a new animal quarantine station is opening on the French island of Miquelon. This station is being built by the Government of France for the use of Canadians and should be ready in time to receive its first shipment of cattle about the first of March. Import permits for this shipment of cattle were issued last year. The Miquelon facility, along with existing stations at Grosse Ile, Que., and the French island of St. Pierre, will bring the total possible yearly importation of cattle to 1,504 head.

There will also be space for quarantining 100 sheep at the Miquelon station twice a year. Health conditions for importing sheep are being worked out between Canada and European countries. Provided favorable health conditions continue, the 1976-77 importation of cattle will proceed as follows: the first shipment (for which all permits have already been issued) is scheduled to arrive at Miquelon in September, 1976; the second at Grosse Ile in October, 1976; the third at St. Pierre in November, 1976; the fourth at Miquelon in February, 1977 and the fifth at St. Pierre in May, 1977.

If your business is dairy farming, it's our business to help you finance it.

We know operating a dairy farm takes a lot more than just hard work. It also takes cold hard cash. And that's where we come in. We're the Commerce and it's our business to know the financial needs of a dairy farmer. We can help by custom tailoring a flexible package of short term credit to cover monthly and seasonal operations and the longer range financing of items such as new buildings, dairy equipment or additional cows. Or any kind of improvement you want to make to your dairy farm. Drop in and talk it over with your local Commerce manager. He can design a whole credit package specifically for your dairy farm. And if you like, he can even arrange for low-cost farm credit life insurance. Do it today. Because if your business is dairy farming, it's our business to help you finance it.

Blanchard wins Taylor Memorial Humbert wins Sherbrooke Mixed Bonspiel

Lloyd Humbert and his Lennoxville rink emerged the winners in the Sherbrooke Mixed Bonspiel to cop the L.G. Balfour Trophy while Jean-Guy Blanchard's Sherbrooke quartet won the Ernie Taylor Memorial Trophy in the finals Saturday evening.

The storm kept the crowd down some but those who braved the elements witnessed two closely contested matches. Skip Humbert just eked out a close 6-5 win over Donat Messier's Sherbrooke rink. In the Taylor division Jean-Guy Blanchard and his Sherbrooke quartet were forced the whole way by Andrew Retchless' Magog rink before emerging the winner 10-8.

In the duel for the Balfour Trophy it was a close battle the whole way. After five ends the Messier rink held a 5-1 lead however this changed in the next end when the Humbert rink picked up a big-three to move ahead 5-4. It was tied in the following end when the rinks headed home. The skips commenced by clearing the house but when the Messier quartet missed their opponents got two in well guarded.

Brenda Lavallee pulled off a great shot going through a small port but the Humbert rink replaced the stone.

When it came to the skips the Humbert rink had had one in and guarded when Skip Messier tried a raise he got hooked and the Humbert crew emerged with one to win 6-5 after a very close battle.

In the Taylor competition between Magog's Andrew Retchless and Jean-Guy Blanchard the latter emerged the winner but the game went to the last stone of the match to decide. After four ends Skip Blanchard held a 7-2 advantage however the Retchless' rink bounced back with a four-end to change matters.

Skip Blanchard's rink picked up two in the sixth for a 9-6 lead. In the next end the Retchless' quartet got two on a measure. In the final end it was a knock-out and replace game until the skips came to shoot. The Blanchard quartet got two in the house when Skip Retchless came to toss. He missed the first chance and Blanchard pulled in one more. Skip Retchless knocked out one to pick up a point but came out on the short end of a 10-8 count.

In the semi-final matches for the Balfour and Taylor Memorial were fairly close. In the upper bracket of the main event, the Balfour Trophy, Donat Messier and his Sherbrooke rink pulled out with a 9-2 win over Bob Rourke's Lennoxville foursome while in the lower half it was Lloyd Humbert and his Lennoxville rink who eked out a 7-3 decision over Reg Jackson's local foursome.

In the Taylor Memorial Andrew Retchless and his Magog squad walked off with a 7-1 victory over Bob Jarjour's Sherbrooke rink. In the lower half of the draw Jean-Guy Blanchard and his Sherbrooke rink came out on the long end of 8-5 count over Harold Mooney's Sherbrooke foursome.

In the main event both matches were close. Skip Messier and his rink jumped to the fore in quick order and had a 5-0 lead after three ends. Skip Rourke posted a single in the third but Messier bounced right back and after the fourth had 6-1 advantage. Skip Rourke got a point and the lead was cut 6-2. However in next end the Sherbrooke rink came through with two to run the count to 8-2. In next end Skip Messier made a nice raise for a point and a 9-2 lead and Skip Rourke then conceded it after seven ends.

The Humbert-Jackson match was close the whole with the lead changing hands often. After four ends Skip Humbert had a slim 2-1 lead, with a dead-end. Jackson tied it as the skips decided the outcome. Then Humbert moved to the fore 3-2 but the Jackson rink still fighting picked up two to lead 4-3 heading home.

The final end was a knock-out affair until the Jackson rink missed and Humbert's rink got three in the house. Skip Jackson got one on his first stone but Humbert replaced and when it was missed he got three for a 7-4 win.

In the Taylor battle Skip Bob Jarjour and his crew just couldn't get untracked although they tried hard. After four ends Andy Retchless and his rink held a 4-1 lead. They added one more and then it was a dead-end. Skip Jarjour got hooked and the Magog rink picked up two for a 7-1 lead heading home. After tossing a few stones the Jarjour rink conceded the game.

In the lower half between Blanchard and Mooney it was a similar affair as the Mooney rink just wasn't making their shots. After two it was 3-2 for Blanchard but Skip Mooney notched two in the fourth but the Blanchard rink got two and a 5-4 lead. Skip Mooney missed and his opponents picked up three for a 8-4 lead after six. The Mooney rink got one and were down 8-5 coming home and finally the game was conceded at that count.

Sherbrooke Seminary Barons win ETIAC hoop championship

Sherbrooke Seminary Barons, with a convincing 78-67 victory over Stanstead College, the Senior boys basketball team captured their division's regular season championship.

The Barons have been beaten only once this season in their home opener and that was a double overtime two-point loss to Stanstead. Starting the game with a blitzing fast break attack and an efficient zone press, the Barons converted the Stanstead turnovers into a 36-16 lead in the early moments of the second quarter.

The steady shooting of George Baptist, a game high 26 points, cut the lead to 44-32 at half time. Plagued by poor shooting in the second half, the Barons saw their lead dwindle to six points and also lost their big forward Claude Belleau with 5 fouls.

Clutch baskets by Pierre St-Cyr, 13 points, and a three-point play by Jean Deshaies, 16 points, helped the Barons maintain their lead and brought it up to a final score of 78-67.

Frank Plourde dominated the rebounding at both boards while adding 14 points. Shifty guard Daniel Beaudoin, with 19 points, was once again spotted as the open man by his teammates against the Stanstead zone.

In the Junior division, the Barons defeated Stanstead 93 to 38 setting up a showdown with Alexander Gall next week. The teams have split their two previous games.

Hale Irwin fires neat 68 to win Glen Campbell Open

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hale Irwin fired a three-under-par 68 Sunday to win the $37,000 first prize in the $185,000 Glen Campbell-Los Angeles open golf tournament with a record 72-hole score of 272-12-under-par over the Riviera Country Club course.

Ben Hogan set the record back in 1948 and only Pat Fitzsimons in 1975 equalled that 275 mark that Irwin clipped by three strokes. Tom Watson finished second, shooting a final round 73 for a 274 total to be under Hogan's record.

Of the final round before a crowd of 27,000, Irwin said: "I like to win the way I did. I did shoot 68 on a difficult course and I was in the 60s four days."

"When I was five strokes behind Watson after three holes, I needed quick birdies and for him to make mistakes quick."

Irwin had both hopes come true. He birdied the fifth and seventh holes with putts of 15 and 12 feet. Watson missed the green on the fourth hole but carded a birdie, hit under a tree on the fifth and took a double bogey and missed a short putt on No. 6 for another bogey.

The combination put Irwin and 26-year-old Watson even after six holes.

KEPT CLOSE CHECK
"From then on it was really just match play," said Irwin who kept a constant check on what Watson was doing. Watson played in a threesome directly behind.

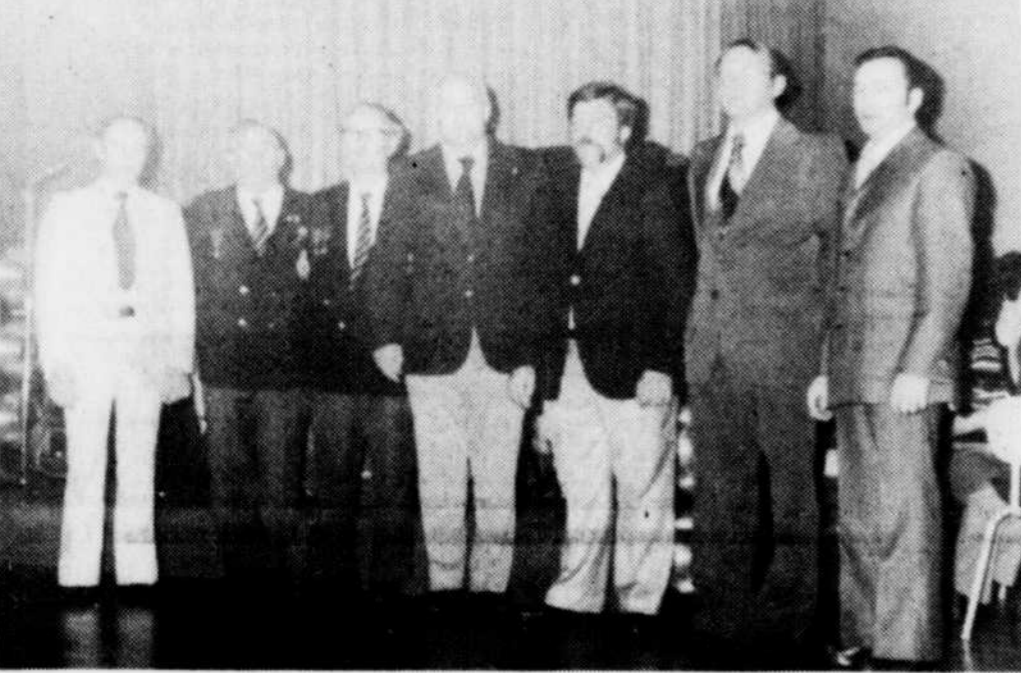

The break came at the 11th hole when Watson missed a six-foot putt and took a bogey.

Both players had shot eagles on the first hole — Irwin with a 75-foot pitch that bounced into the cup and Watson with a 30-foot putt on the 506-yard par five hole.

Then Irwin bogeyed both the second and third holes, missing the green and then hitting into the sand. That's when he fell five strokes behind.

"But I knew there were 15 holes left, and I wasn't giving up," Irwin related. "Maybe my par on the sixth hole was the most important for me. I hit on to the face of a hill and then my chip shot almost went into the cup."

Watson collected $21,090 for his second place finish and Gary Player, the South African making his 1976 U.S. tour debut, chipped into the 18th cup for a final round 67 and a 277 total and third place for $13,135.

Bruins upset Rangers, Habs top Sabres

Boston Bruins appear to be making a mockery of the so-called home-ice advantage.

The Bruins concluded a six-game road trip Sunday night by defeating New York Rangers 5-2 in Madison Square Garden, giving them five wins and a tie in their recent visits to opposition rinks. In their last 24 road games, the Bruins have produced a 17-2-5 record.

The hot streak has enabled the Bruins to open a commanding 10-point lead over second-place Buffalo Sabres in the Adams Division standings.

Coach Don Cherry says he'd like to have a special system to account for his team's success, but instead, all he has is a good hockey team.

"I wish I was a genius and had a Russian theory to help me win hockey games," Cherry said, referring to Philadelphia coach Fred Shero, who has incorporated many of the successful Soviet ideas into his system. "But all I've got is players who are playing well, back-checking, shooting the puck in and chasing it."

CANADIENS TOP SABRES

In other games Sunday, Pittsburgh Penguins and Detroit Red Wings played to a 2-2 tie. Minnesota North Stars defeated Kansas City Scouts 6-3. New York Islanders shut out Washington Capitals 4-0. Montreal Canadiens beat Buffalo Sabres 4-2 and California Golden Seals downed Chicago Black Hawks 5-2.

In games Saturday night, Boston nipped the Islanders 2-1. Philadelphia Flyers tied Los Angeles Kings 3-3. Washington surprised Detroit 5-1. Pittsburgh whipped Chicago 10-1. Vancouver Canucks edged St. Louis Blues 5-4 and Toronto Maple Leafs downed Buffalo 6-4.

Bobby Schmutz, Terry O'Reilly and Andre Savard scored third-period goals against New York after Ken Hodge's tip-in nullified an early Ranger goal and Wayne Chaman put the Bruins on top midway in the second period.

At Detroit, Buster Harvey and Bill Hogaboam scored goals one minute and 47 seconds apart late in the third period to lift Detroit into a tie with Pittsburgh.

SHARE THE SCORING
Six Minnesota players shared the scoring as the visiting North Stars ended an 11-game winless streak by downing the Scouts.

Ernie Hicke, Dean Talafous, Craig Cameron, Doug Hicks, Norm Gratton and Bill Goldsworthy scored the North Star goals.

At Landover, the Islanders opened the scoring at the 0:34 mark of the first period and went on to shut out the Capitals.

Clark Gillies scored two goals and Billy Harris and Jean Potvin completed the New York scoring.

Yvan Cournoyer's second goal of the game and his 21st of the season mid-way through the third period proved to be the winner as the Canadiens picked up their first win on Buffalo ice since Jan. 24, 1974.

Guy Lafleur, the NHL's leading scorer with 39 goals and 54 assists for 93 points, added an insurance goal late in the period.

Diane Jones turns in top performance at Indoor Meet

EDMONTON (CP) — Diane Jones of Saskatoon was the outstanding individual competitor at the two-day Canadian indoor track and field championships that ended Sunday.

Miss Jones, Canada's premier pentathlon competitor, handily won that event Saturday with a total of 4,467 points. However, she was unable to regain her world indoor record which Burglinde Pollak of East Germany took last week with a record 4,617 points.

Miss Jones did not compete in the senior women's long jump, an event in which she jointly holds the Canadian indoor record with Brenda Eisler of Vancouver, who won the event here.

Miss Jones has been having problems with her left foot. But she did compete in the women's shotput Sunday, winning with a heave of 15.92 metres (52 feet, 2 3/4 inches). She also competed Sunday in the senior women's 50-metre hurdles, but finished second to Sue Bradley of Toronto despite identical times of 7.2 seconds.

Marjorie Bailey of Vancouver set one individual Canadian record in the senior women's 50 metres and led the British Columbia team to victory in the senior women's 200-metre relay. There were five indoor Canadian records set during the meet.

BEATS LOVEROCK
Miss Bailey overcame strong competition from Patty Loverock.

PEI leads Senior curling playoffs, Quebec winless

OTTAWA (CP) — Defending champion Prince Edward Island topped a list of four rinks with 2-0 won-lost records after two rounds of the national senior men's curling championships Sunday.

With them were Manitoba, Ontario and British Columbia while Northern Ontario, Nova Scotia, Alberta and Saskatchewan have 1-1 records. Winless after two rounds at Quebec, Newfoundland, the Northwest Territories and New Brunswick.

In the third round today, Harley Hughes of Northern Ontario meets Lyle Henry of Manitoba, Jim Kennedy of British Columbia plays Don Phillips of Alberta; Jake Edwards of Ontario matches Art Knutson of Saskatchewan; John McCormick of Quebec plays Ralph

Dump Juniors 6-3, Hull 5-3 on weekend

Sherbrooke Beavers copped the championship of the Western Division of the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League last evening when they dumped the Montreal Juniors 6-3 after sweeping aside the Festivals of Hull 5-3 Friday.

Quebec Remparts lost their chance at the league crown when they went down to a crushing defeat of 7-1 by Hull. Their loss gave the Beavers their second consecutive division title, no club can now pass them.

Peter Marsh was the big gun in last evening's game in Montreal with his hat-trick and backed by an outstanding performance in the nets by Benoit Perreault the Beavers rolled to a 6-3 win. Perreault was facing his former mates and he demonstrated that he was happy with the trade.

Jere Gillis, Robert Simpson and Denis Halle completed the scoring for the Delage squad. Around 1,500 Sherbrooke fans braved the elements to cheer the Beavers on to victory and it was well worth the hard trip. Coach Delage was well pleased by the work turned in by Benoit Perreault as was all the team. "They played a great two-way game," stated the local pilot.

It was a goalie's battle at the Sports Palace Friday evening when the Beavers hosted the Festivals of Hull. The locals pulled out with a 5-3 decision but it was a close battle for the full sixty-minutes before 4,201 fans.

Benoit Perreault was in the nets for the Beavers and he turned in an outstanding performance and played a big part in the outcome of the game. Time after time he came up with key saves when his mates were caught up ice by the fast breaking Festivals. It was his first start since he injured his finger and the layoff didn't hurt his reflexes as he was at his best during the whole tilt.

Alain Belanger was the trigger-man for the Beavers' first tally. Ron Carter helped to set it up on a nice passing play and Belanger batted the disc behind Yanire from close quarters. It was the only tally of the frame although both sides had good chances but the goalies held them off.

The middle session barely opened when Normand Lefebvre rifled a hard low shot into the corner. Brendan Lowe got the pass to Jere Gillis and he in turn lifted it to Lefebvre who made no mistake. Fern Leblanc made it 3-0 for the Beavers when he picked up a rink-wide pass from Brendan Lowe and like his mate, Normand Lefebvre, beat Yanire with a low corner shot. Benoit Perreault made a good save on Gary McFadyen, who got in a break, but Ken Johnston, who was coming back to help slid into the crease and took the puck into the net and McFadyen got credit. It was a tough break and kind of upset the Beavers and before they could settle down Grandmaitre with the help of Glen Sharpley and Ric Garcia put the Festivals within hailing distance but the Beavers rallied and held them at bay until the siren.

making more top saves as his mates were forcing the play. Glen Sharpley put the Festivals close once again when he battled home a pass from Scott Hunter four minutes later. This was the sign for all-out efforts by both clubs but once again the goalies stepped to the fore blocking the drives. The Beavers were having tough luck from close quarters as they were bombarding Yanire but the majority of their efforts were killed off. Larry Mensour tallied the insurance marker. Peter Marsh, battling in the corner, got the puck back to Floyd Lahache and he lifted it over to Mensour, who was in the open, and he drove a hard shot, down low, to beat Yanire and put the Beavers ahead 5-3.

In the final minute of play Coach Pronovost yanked his goalie with the Beavers short two. Belanger and Lahache

POTS THREE:

PETER MARSH

Time after time the Beavers were buzzing all around Yanire but he kept them at bay. In the final frame the Beavers commenced short-handed as Ray Roy was called for high-sticking which was a cheap call by referee Levac. He was letting things go on both sides and picked only on the minor ones.

Bernard Harbec worked in behind the defense and when Floyd Lahache let go with a hard drive, which Yanire blocked, the rebound came out and Harbec lifted it into the open net with no one within a good distance of him.

Robert Simpson got away on a break but Yanire came out cutting down the angle and blocked the hard drive. There was only two of them on the play. Perreault then stepped into the picture were in the sinbin on more of Levac's bad calls. Sherbrooke didn't look down the ice although Jere Gillis did see the open net but couldn't do anything about it as the Festivals had men all over the Sherbrooke zone but the boys held on till the final siren ended the tough battle.

THE REMARKABLE ROMANO FAMILY — No matter how you stack it - The Remarkable Romano Family ride out on top with their unusual "Ice Cycles" act in Ice Capades, opening Wednesday at the Sports Palace.

Romano Family with Ice Capades

The entertaining world of the Romano family has gone around and round, spanning five continents and continuing for more than a decade.

Their unusual and difficult routine is one of the greatest bicycle acts in the world, and the only one on ice. Their incredible bicycling skills are now featured in "THREE WHEELS" during the all-new Ice Capades, coming to the Sports Palace on Feb. 25 for a 5 day engagement.

Peddling through a successful, internationally-acclaimed career are Tony, Helene and Patrick, a trio of terrific talent.

The mastermind behind the unique act is inventive Tony Romano, who began creating bicycle tricks over 30 years ago in Marseilles, France, where his father owned a bicycle shop. The inventiveness and determination of the solidly built 5'4" French-Italian has not stopped. In addition to his excellent performing skills, the former gymnast and high wire specialist designs and constructs all of the bicycles used in the act - unicycles and standard types diminishing in size to one only 4 1/2" high.

The special bikes, which have been patented, are built of steel, extremely streamlined and equipped with special gears. In adapting the vehicles to the ice, Tony devised a clever way to keep the wheels from slipping. He outfitted the ordinary tires with alternating metal teeth and beveled skates.

Tony has invented a "skating bike" which is used by Patrick, the unofficial interpreter for the family. These mini bikes on blades are attached to each foot. Patrick never fails to charm the audience as he skims over the ice in his solo performance.

Strength, balance and coordination are the ingredients to the Romano family's success. They perform body-balancing stunts and acrobatics on various types and sizes of bicycles. But the highlight of the act is the agility and balancing skill of Tony Romano, who amazes audiences by riding a bike - only 4 1/2" high - while his family is atop his shoulders. The world in which the Romano family lives is unusual and exciting. So is their remarkable performance in Ice Capades. You have to see it to believe it!

Stanstead Snowmobile Club holds annual meeting, buys a new trail machine to help

STANSTEAD (IH) — The annual meeting of the Three Villages Snowmobile Club took place at KOA the evening of February 10.

John Galazzo was re-elected president and Mrs. Andree Smith, elected secretary-treasurer to replace Miss Diane Couture.

Each year three new directors are elected to replace others, and this year, those elected were Clement Jacques, Lindsay Smith and Lucien Poitras. Mr. Smith was named vice-president.

As the Club has just purchased a new trail machine to the tune of some $95,000, ways and means to complete payment of this was introduced and discussed. A half-a-beef will be sold by tickets. This project is under the convener-ship of a committee of Don Bernais, Ted Smith and Lucien Poitras.

Another committee of Don Bernier and Ted Smith, assisted by all directors, are arranging for a Snowmobile Ride-In on March 7 to the Murray Memorial Hall in Georgeville for a casserole dinner from 11:00 a.m. until 2:00 p.m. It was voted that any Americans wishing to go on this Ride-In may use the Club trails free on this date.

The committee ask if parties of over 15 plan to ride-in, to kindly phone reservations to: 876-5308 or 843-3980.

Ramsay Williams, Gordon Archer and Lindsay Smith will work on a committee for a dance to be held at the Rediker school in Beebe in April.

The next meeting of the Club will be March 9 at KOA in Stanstead.

The Club, under convener-ship of Ramsay Williams, held a rally from the Club House over trails to KOA on Saturday afternoon, February 14, where the management served a hot chicken sandwich and dessert supper to approximately 60 people. Prizes were awarded.

Later in the evening, some 50 persons snowmobiled on a beautiful moonlight night to Mert and Doris's at Georgeville where they were served hamburgers and coffee plus other goodies, such as Doris' delicious chocolate cake and so forth.

The friendly neighbour-hood exercise.

Wolf Cubs edge Fathers 9-8 in floor hockey

The North Hatley Wolf Cubs defeated their fathers in sudden-death overtime, 9-8, last Thursday night in a fast-moving floor hockey game.

Marked by several penalties, all assessed against the fathers, the game was refereed by the North Hatley Sea Scouts. Held in the school gymnasium, the contest replaced a planned ice hockey meet which was cancelled due to ice conditions.

The fathers, charging their defeat was due to unnecessary roughness on the part of the Wolf Cubs, issued an immediate challenge for a re-match, "as soon as we have recovered". The game will be played in one month.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
You're very resourceful today and should succeed in getting what you go after, though you may not enjoy full cooperation.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
You may have to alter an arrangement today and you could find it hard to please all concerned. You'll be able to work things out.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Something unusual, but beneficial careerwise, may unexpectedly develop for you today.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
If you have any important decision to make today, make them while you're still bright and fresh.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Don't be afraid to try new methods or techniques today. Save yourself time and steps by being imaginative.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
If you're restless today, after your usual routine, do something impromptu that's fun.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
You're apt to be more motivated today if some type of profit is involved for those for whom you provide.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Your most promising areas of endeavor today are in the imaginative or creative realms. Put your bright ideas to work.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
You should be able to manage business situations quite competently today, but you're likely to be careless in other ways.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Try not to associate with persons today whose actions could reflect poorly on your image. Keep to friends whose standards are comparable to yours.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
You could experience a beneficial happening today that may be of material value. Welcome favors gratefully.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
In dealing with friends today, keep everything purely social. Don't let them get involved in your financial affairs or vice versa.

your birthday

Feb. 24, 1976
There are some pleasant surprises for you this coming year, they'll lead you to new interests. This could result in a friendly relationship with one far from you.

ACW meeting

SOUTH DURHAM — The Jan. meeting of St. James A.C.W. was held on Jan. 22nd at the home of Mrs. Calvin Coote with a good attendance.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. J. Howard.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

Financial statement for 1975 was read and found to have a very substantial amount on hand.

Several items of interest were discussed and meeting was closed by prayer.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

Card Party

DUNHAM — There were seventeen tables played at the first in the series of "500" card parties, held in the Dunham United Church, Friday, Feb. 13.

In keeping with St. Valentine's Day, the hall was decorated with numerous hearts and cupids.

Prizes went to the following: 1st, Mrs. Stewart Johnson, Mr. Georges Larocque; 2nd, Mrs. L. Rolland, Mr. Arthur Hall, Consolation, Mrs. Calvin Harvey and Mr. Danny Harvey; Floating, Mrs. MacTeer, Mr. Sharman Young; Door Prize, Mrs. Jeanine Gagne.

A lovely Valentine cake, made and decorated by Mrs. Calvin Harvey, was auctioned off at the close of the evening, and went to Mr. Chicotte.

Refreshments were served, and everyone is invited to attend the next one on Friday, Feb. 20.
