HUNDREDS JUMPED O... BOARD IN PANIC

Flames Spread With Great Rapidity a nd Frightful Scenes of Panic Ensued on Board—It Was Impossible to Beach the Vessel for Some Distance Owing to the Rocks—Many Perished on the Burning Steamer After She Was Beached.

New York, June 15.—Five hundred persons, mostly children, perished today by the burning of the excursion steamer General Slocum near Hell Gate, in the East River.

The Slocum had on board the annual Sunday school excursion of St. Mark's German Lutheran Church of this city, and was on her way up the river to a resort on Long Island Sound.

When just off about 125th street persons on shore saw smoke and flames spring from the upper part of the crowded steamer. A panic ensued on the boat almost instantly. The crowds on the forward deck, panic-stricken, began to spring overboard or to crowd to the after part of the boat.

The screams of the terrified passengers could be heard on shore, and hundreds of small boats immediately put off to the rescue.

Could Not Beach Vessel.

Owing to the rocks on either side of the channel at this point, it was impossible to beach the vessel. The captain stuck to his post at the wheel and headed the vessel straight through Hell Gate for North Brother Island, where she went ashore in the shallow water. Several hundred feet of open water lay between the burning steamer and shore, and many persons perished either in the water or on the burning vessel after she was beached. It was estimated that the steamer carried more than 2,000 persons.

The General Slocum is the largest excursion steamer in these waters. She has plied for years to Rockaway Beach and could carry about 4,000 passengers.

Bound for Locust Grove.

The General Slocum had on board the annual Sunday school excursion of St. Mark's German Lutheran Church, which is located in Twenty-sixth street. The steamer was bound for Locust Grove, beyond Flushing, L.I.

Many were rescued by tugs and other vessels, which promptly came to the rescue when the flames broke out.

The pastor of St. Mark's Church, Rev. George C. Ephass, was on board with all of his family, and it was reported was lost.

Frightful Scenes of Panic.

The boat caught fire in Hell Gate and flames had complete control before any move could be made to check them. Frightful scenes of panic followed. It was impossible to run the boat ashore because of the Hell Gate rocks on either side, and the captain kept her headed for North Brother Island. Nothing could be done in the way of launching boats and as the flames advanced the passengers began to jump overboard. They went into the river by hundreds.

The disaster was witnessed by thousands of people from both shores of the river, and as rapidly as possible hundreds of small boats and launches set off to render assistance. With the boat burning at his feet the captain stuck to his post in the pilot house, and the engineer remained at his post below deck until the boat was beached at the lower end of North Brother Island, off Port Norris.

Even the passengers were not in a safe position, for they were some distance from shore and the boat was a furnace. Hundreds of small boats which were scattered about, picked up those who jumped overboard as rapidly as possible. It is estimated that between 400 and 500 persons sprang into the water.

Heavy Upper Deck Collapsed.

An eye-witness said that the greatest loss of life was due to the collapsing of the heavy upper deck. It fell with a crash soon after the fire started, crushing hundreds of persons who had gathered in the lower deck.

It was then the greatest panic ensued. There was a living stream of persons going over the rail into the water.

Where the Fire Started.

As far as eye-witnesses can determine the flames originated on the forward dpart of the boat. Persons who saw the accident from the shore say that almost instantly persons who occupied places on the forward deck began to jump overboard.

Policemen in the Bronx and Harlem saw the blazing boat steaming up the river and immediately began to turn in alarms for ambulances and fire boats.

All the boats at North Brother Island were sent to the assistance of the people in the water and as fast as they were brought ashore they were cared for in the pavilions there.

The patients in the hospitals on the island became almost insane from fright and at the terrible scenes they had witnessed.

Current Was Very Strong.

A large part of the crowd on the doomed steamer were children and there was little hope for them after they had gone overboard. The current in the East River at this point is very strong and scores of little ones were sucked in by the whirlpools at Hell Gate. One man who went out in a rowboat said that he saw at least fifty children perish in these whirlpools before he could reach them.

Persons on tug boats say that several hundred bodies have been washed ashore or were towed or carried in boats to the shore of North Brother Island. Almost every other woman who was taken away was calling for her child.

An Eye Witness' Account.

An eye-witness who saw much of what happened to the boat, said: "The steamer's whistle was blowing for assistance as she came up the river. I saw several persons jump into the water before she was headed for the north west shore of North Brother Island. Her position made it impossible for those aboard of her to reach land except by swimming. I saw perhaps fifty or a hundred persons, mostly women and children, jump overboard. Most of the throng was in the hurricane deck when we plainly saw a portion of it collapse. Many must have been killed instantly."

Physicians Were Sent For.

Superintendent Rickard, of Bellevue Hospital sent word to the officials of the institution on Ward's Island to send all the doctors they could spare to the scene and nine physicians were sent. The charities department has dispatched its two boats to the scene.

Vessel Was in Good Condition.

At the office of the United States Steamboat Inspection Bureau it was said the General Slocum was inspected on May 5, and was reported to be in a thoroughly good condition and ready for the excursion season. Aboard the steamer was all the life-saving apparatus required by the law of steamers of her capacity, 2,500.

The General Slocum's licensed captain is Capt. W. H. Vanschaick, one of the oldest excursion captains in New York harbor waters.

The Slocum sailed from the foot of Third Street, East River, shortly after 9 o'clock. The exact point she had reached when flames were discovered in the forward part of the boat, was off the "Sunken Meadows," at the extreme east end of Randall's Island. So quick was the spread of the flames that the captain of the Slocum could not turn and was forced to make head-on for North Brother Island, under full steam.

Driven Overboard by Flames.

By the time the Slocum reached one hundred and thirty-fifth street, the excursionists driven to the rail, many of them with their clothing on fire, began to jump overboard by twos and three's. When One Hhundred and Thirty-Eighth Street had been reached, the heat from the fire had become so intense that men, women and children plunged overboard by the score. There was a terrific crash when the boat was beached.

The boat was beached at the reef at the northern end of North Brother Island, where she rapidly burned to the water's edge.

It is said the fire started in the lunch counter in the forward part of the boat. When the alarm spread among the passengers the hurricane deck was crowded and when off 138th Street this deck collapsed. Many persons were thrown into the water but hundreds were precipitated into the lower deck which was itself crowded with women and children.

Many Died in the Hold.

Many of the bodies recovered were horribly burned. Wreckers say that it will be hours before the fire in the hold of the boat is out and the bodies there can be recovered. Both firemen and wreckers say that the greatest loss of life, extending into the hundreds will be found in the hold.

Many of those picked up alive in the river will die in the hospitals. Most of them were frightfully burned, having delayed leaping from the boat until their clothing was on fire. Some died in the improvised ambulances in which they were hurried from the shore.

Many Heroes Lost Their Lives.

Every man on board who could swim went overboard loaded down with children. Many of these heroes lost their lives, because, burdened as they were they could make no headway against the overpowering swirl of the tide as it rushes from the East River into the Sound.

CROPS ARE LOOKING WELL.

Prospects in Arthabaska County for Good Harvest are Bright.

Arthabaska, Que., June 15.—(Special.) The crops in the county of Arthabaska and all over the Eastern Townships are in good condition. The farmers have finished seeding, and the long rain came just in time to make everything sprout out in good order. The only thing to be feared now is too much rain or a big frost. The fruit trees are in splendid condition. From present appearances there will be an unusual crop in cereals, vegetables and fruits.

In reply to Mr. Lloyd George, M.P., who asked whether his attention had been drawn to the proposed increased Canadian duties upon British woollen cordage goods and whether he proposed to protest, a similar protest having been made by Australia when the British wine duty was increased, Mr. Gerald Balfour contented himself by merely stating what the new preferential rates were.

COPIOUS COMMENTS IN BRITISH PRESS

The Dundonald, Girouard, and Montagu Incidents —The Bowlers.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

London, June 15.—The Telegraph thinks that nothing could be more unfortunate than the disagreement between Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Lord Dundonald. After what has occurred it matters little whether Sir Wilfrid Laurier dismisses Dundonald or not. Their relations, in any case, had become too strained for harmonious cooperation in the future. The habit of airing semipersonal grievances by officers of high rank is most regrettable. Lord Wolseley and General Buller, to take the most eminent offenders, have set an example naturally followed by other "grousers" of less distinction. Wellington often complained but embodied his complaints in despatches and did not vent them at dinners and luncheons. It is in this respect that Lord Dundonald has given himself away to the French-Canadian Premier, who has allowed himself protest against Canadians being "dragooned" by a "foreigner," a word for which he substituted the hardly less offensive term of "stranger." Sir John Macdonald would have stuck to the commander of the militia through thick and thin but then Sir John was a Briton.

Truth says both Generals Hutton and Dundonald seem to have regarded themselves as superiors to the civil power and both have been recalled to a sense of their true position by the respective Governments whom they serve.

The Yorkshire Post says: "Sir Wilfrid Laurier's use of the words "foreigner" and "stranger," shows that in a cranny of the Premier's mind there lingers the earlier suggestion of Canadian Liberalism that Canada is allied to the States rather than to the British Empire. The only fault to be found with Dundonald is his method, which has made his position in Canada quite impossible."

The Manchester Guardian says "It is a great pity that a Colonial commanding officer should not know better than to commit such a breach of discipline and constitutional propriety as Lord Dundonald did. The Guardian concludes a column editorial by saying: "The best every one can do is to accept what has happened as past mending, at any rate by us in England, and above all not to join in the attempts which a few English newspapers are making to work up a Dundonald party in Canada, or to get the Dundonald cause adopted by one of the political parties there as a party plank. A thoughtless trick of this sort might end in estranging the whole colony.

The Morning Leader says, none of the parties to the quarrel have much reason to be proud of it. Lord Dundonald's speech was ill-considered and indiscreet. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's replay was quite unnecessarily vehement and Mr. Fisher's position is too awkward for him to desire to be often reminded of it.

The Westminster Gazette says Lord Dundonald can comfort himself with the reflection that his ancester, Lord Cochrane had to leave the navy for protesting against political abuses in the sister service.

The St. James Gazette thinks that our sons beyond seas are no longer children, and we must, sooner or later, admit that fact and treat them as men.

Another newspaper comments as follows: There are unhappily the gravest faults upon both sides whatever the truth that underlies the Earl of Dundonald's departure from etiquette in order to protest against the introduction of party politics into matters of military administration, and that his remarks are founded upon the basis of incontrovertible fact is clearly proved by the support which he has received from a responsible section of the Canadian press there. There can be no justification for the indiscretion which misled him into making such a pronouncement in his capacity as an Imperial officer, whom the whole Empire had learnt to regard with admiration no less for his distinguished personal attributes than for his public services, permitted his tongue to run away with him in a manner only less culpable because there was severe provocation. That Sir Wilfrid Laurier even in the stress and heat of exceptional circumstances should have allowed himself to speak of a prominent British soldier as a "foreigner" is, in our view, even more regrettable than this undignified talk of "dragooning."

BRITISH NAVY AND CANADIAN FISHERIES.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

London, June 15.—Answering Mr. Runciman, M.P., Mr. Pretyman, Secretary to the Navy, said that no portion of the expense of employing the Imperial navy in protecting the Canadian fisheries either upon the Atlantic or Pacific coasts had been refunded by the Canadian Government in the last three years. Only one ship per year had been employed for this purpose. Mr. Pretyman said that in 1903 H.M.S. Shearwater was employed as seal fishery patrol in the Pacific from July 20 to Sept. 21 at a cost of £2,650, but there had been no additional cost since on the part of the normal squadron.

IRON AND STEEL RAILS.

London, June 15.—A secret understanding between the British and Continental manufacturers of rails has now been divulged. It is said to regulate export upon the basis of: Britain, 53 1-2 per cent.; Germany and Belgium, 46 1-2 per cent. The British export to Canada of the past year was 12,875 tons of rails.

SIR PERCY GIROUARD.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

London, June 15.—The protracted debate in the Intercolonial Council at Pretoria upon the reconstruction of the railway committee was brought to a conclusion by the adoption of an amendment proposing the appointment of an auditor and treasurer responsible to the council, while the supreme power be vested in a controller, and the Intercolonial Railway system be left entirely to Lord Milner. Sir George Farrar withdrew.

The committee's minority report to Lord Milner paid a hearty tribute to the services rendered by Sir Percy Girouard, who by dint of extraordinary energy and hard driving power had converted the railway system which the war left a mere wreck into a genuine working machine, but he now had to deal with a more difficult problem than that which confronted him under a military regime. The Lieutenant-Governor of the Orange River Colony, Sir H. Goold-Adam, charged Sir Arthur Lawley with neglecting to aid the railway committee, and hotly asserted that Sir Percy Girouard was being sacrificed to the clamor of the Johannesburg press. Lord Milner said Sir Percy Girouard had placed himself in his hands, and he took the entire responsibility for devising a new scheme upon the distinct understanding that there was a change in the personnel of the railway commission. The council regarded this statement as tantamount to the withdrawal of Sir Percy Girouard.

Sir Percy Girouard had intervened in the discussion, and urged that the management of the railways be vested in three commissioners, a railway commissioner, a chairman, and a financial general manager, and moved an amendment to that effect.

CELEBRATE THEIR GOLDEN JUBILEE

Interesting Ceremonies Held at the Convent of Villa Maria To-day.

Graduates and friends of the convent of Villa Maria at Monklands meet from all parts of the world to-day to celebrate the golden jubilee of its foundation. The convent was founded in 18... through the efforts of Marguerite Bourgeoys and Father Baile, and since that time thousands of students have passed through its halls. The grounds and rooms of the convent are in gala array to welcome the friends.

At ten o'clock this morning Archbishop Bruchesi said mass in the convent chapel, which was decorated with garlands of lilies and morning glories and festoons in the same colors, which are those of the congregation. The chapel presented a beautiful appearance. The altar in this chapel, a fine marble one, was presented by the first class of fifty years ago.

After mass luncheon was served in the refrectory to 400 or 500 present. The dining room was decorated in blue and white, Villa Maria flags, with marguerites and palms filling the window recesses.

At three o'clock a musical recital was given in the grand hall which was decorated in green and white—the colors of the marguerite, in honor of the foundress. Around the walls were the coats of arms of Pius IX., Pope at the time of the foundation, the bishop of the time, and those of the present bishops, these with the pictures and decorations around the hall showing the historical life of the congregation. The programme was rendered by the pupils and ex-pupils. One interesting number was entitled "Hommage aux Grand Mamans,' in which those whose grandmothers attended the convent took part.

At five o'clock this afternoon will take place the solemn benediction of the blessed sacrament. The music will be: Cor Jesu, G. Couture; Sanctus, Beethoven; Ave Maria, Gounod; Tantum Ergo, Wagner.

The musical programme at the solemn high mass will be: Kyrie, Beethoven's mass in C.; Gloria, pontifical mass, Th. Dubois (arranged for women's voices by G. Couture); Credo, Beethoven; Sanctus and Benedictus, Beethoven; Agnus Dei, Dubois; soloists, the Misses Boland, Pamerleau, Beaubien, Guertin.

Among those taking part in the musical exercises are: pianists, the Misses Ramsey, Pamerleau, Vanier, Coughlin, McGillis, Desaulniers, Brosseau, Danais, Forhan, McIntyre, Gauthier, Belair; harpists, the Misses Martel, Gauthier, Lavoie; violinists, the Misses Lynch, Rivet, O'Neill, Molleur, Leduc, Duclos, Dussault.

LORD DUNDONALD HAS BEEN RELIEVED OF HIS COMMAND

Cabinet Passed an Order in Council Advising this Step Which Was Drawn Up by a Sub-Committee.

HON. MR. FISHER'S COURSE WAS APPROVED

Report of Sub-Committee Finds That Lord Dundonald Was Guilty of a Grave Act of Indiscretion and Insubordination, and Failed to Appreciate the Position He Occupies as a Public Official—The G. O. C. Refuses to Discuss the Situation.

Ottawa, June 15.—(Special.)—The Cabinet held a meeting yesterday. The following order-in-council was passed advising that Lord Dundonald be forthwith relieved of his position as general officer commanding the Canadian Militia and approving of Mr. Fisher's course, was passed. The order-in-council was as follows:

The following is an extract from a report of the committee of the Honorable the Privy Council, approved by His Excellency the Governor-General on the 14th day of June, 1904:

The sub-committee of council having had under consideration certain recent public utterances of the Right Honorable the Earl of Dundonald, General Officer Commanding the Canadian Militia, and a report in relation thereto by the Minister of Militia, report as follows:

On the 8th day of June, 1904, the attention of the Minister of Militia was drawn to a despatch in one of the newspapers of Ottawa purporting to give a report of a speech made by Lord Dundonald at a dinner in Montreal, in which he assailed the Government and particularly the Hon. Mr. Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, in relation to their action in militia affairs. On the same day, the Minister of Militia addressed a letter to Lord Dundonald, calling his attention to the report, and enquiring whether it correctly stated his utterances and the attendant circumstances. To this a reply was received from Lord Dundonald admitting the substantial correctness of the report in question.

Where Lord Dundonald Erred.

Lord Dundonald's general remarks as to what he calls political interference, as well as those in relation to the particular case which he mentions, indicate on his part a regrettable failure to appreciate the principles of British constitutional government. Lord Dundonald's recommendation of any gentleman for appointment as an officer of the militia would in itself have no force or effect. It could only become effective after receiving (1) The approval of the Minister of Militia; (2) the approval of His Excellency the Governor-General-in-Council. The power of approval on the part of each of these authorities must of necessity carry with it the right of enquiry and rejection.

In the case of members of the Cabinet, while all have an equal degree of responsibility in a constitutional sense, yet in the practical working out of responsible government in a country of such vast extent as Canada, it is found necessary to attach a special responsibility to each Minister for the public affairs of the Province or district with which he has close political connection and with which his colleagues may not be so well acquainted. Mr. Fisher while sharing with his colleagues that general responsibility already referred to, represents in a particular manner the Eastern Townships of the Province of Quebec. If, when it was proposed to form a new regiment in that district he interested himself in the work and sought to make the organization effective, he was not merely exercising a right; he was discharging a duty both to the people of the district and to his colleagues in the Cabinet, who would expect him to inform himself of all the facts and advise them before approval by the Cabinet of the proposed arrangements.

Mr. Fisher's Course Approved.

Mr. Fisher states that so far as his interference related in any way to politics, it was not to give the new regiment a political color but to guard against that very evil, which he had reason to believe was one of the causes of failure of some previous efforts to maintain efficient military organizations in the Eastern Townships. He interfered, not to have the regiment officered by his own political friends, but to see that capable military men of all political colors received as far as possible equal consideration. That he did not seek to give his own political color to the regiment is abundantly evidenced by the fact that of eighteen names submitted in the list only one was struck out by him, and by the further fact that a majority of the gentlemen chosen for commissions with his approval are his political opponents.

In the case of the gentleman particularly mentioned by Lord Dundonald as having been objected to, it has been shown that he had never been in any way connected with the militia and therefore was not regarded as a suitable person to have the rank of major; and that Mr. Fisher recommended for the place another gentleman who was also a political opponent, but who was well qualified by military service for a position of command.

Mr. Fisher Was Acting Minister.

It should be added that at the time of dealing with that particular case, as set forth by Lord Dundonald, Mr. Fisher was not acting merely as a Minister specially interested in the Eastern Townships affairs, although such position would have given him an undoubted right to advise; he was acting for and with the authority of the Minister of Militia, who was absent from the capital, and therefore his action had all the force and authority of action by the responsible head of the Department of Militia and Defence.

In view of these facts it is difficult to reach any other conclusion than that the action taken by Mr. Fisher was entirely within his right and duty as a Cabinet Minister and entirely in the interest of a non-partizan militia service.

It is of importance to observe that the list from which one name was struck was completed by the approval of His Excellency the Governor-General on the 31st of May. At that time the Minister of Militia had returned to the Capital and was in daily attendance in his office, while Lord Dundonald was in similar attendance in his office in the same building. If Lord Dundonald had any reason to be dissatisfied with the list in its amended form, his obvious duty was to call on the responsible Minister and invite a discussion of the subject. This he did not do. He made no representations whatever to his Minister, but proceeded to Montreal and made his speech attacking the administration under which he was serving.

G.O.C. Guilty of Insubordination.

The Sub-Committee, while drawing attention to the reasons which fully justify the steps taken by Mr. Fisher, deem it well to state that such explanation is not a necessary part of the record. Even if Mr. Fisher's action had been as erroneously stated there would still have been no justification for the course pursued by Lord Dundonald. Lord Dundonald is an officer of the Canadian Government, a high officer it is true, but still an official of the Government subject to all the limitations which are usually imposed upon public officials in regard to the action of their superior officers. For an official to make a public attack upon Ministers of the Government, under which he serves, is a proceeding so totally at variance with the principles which must necessarily obtain in the administration of military as well as civil affairs that it cannot with propriety be overlooked. It is impossible to do otherwise than characterize the speech of Lord Dundonald as a grave act of indiscretion and insubordination.

In the subsequent proceedings, further evidence has been afforded of Lord Dundonald's failure to appreciate the position he occupies as a public official. It appears that he desired to make a further communication on the subject. Instead of sending this communication to his Minister, he sent it to an Opposition member of Parliament, and then forwarded a copy to the Minister, to whom it was delivered at the very moment when, as previously announced, a statement was to be made in Parliament.

The Sub-Committee deeply regret that an officer of Lord Dundonald's high rank should have been so misguided as to fall into these grave errors and to pursue a course which, if ignored, would be fatal to the discipline and subordination to constituted authority which are essential in both civil government and military service.

For the reasons herein set forth, the Sub-Committee advise that the Right Honorable the Earl of Dundonald be forthwith relieved of his position as General Officer Commanding the Militia in Canada.

The Committee of the Privy Council concur in the foregoing and submit the same for approval.

Will Not Divulge Plans.

London, Ont., June 15.—(Special.)—Lord Dundonald was seen this morning and shown the message from Ottawa, declaring the Government had relieved him of his duties as G. O. C. of the Canadian militia.

'Are you aware of this fact?" he was asked.

"Yes, I received a telegram at 11.30 p.m., conveying the intimation that an order-in-council had been passed dismissing me from office."

"Do you wish to make any statement? The public of Canada are anxious to know what you propose to do."

"No, I do not wish to discuss the matter at present. I cannot say what I will do."

"Will you remain here to inspect the troops on Carling's Heights?"

"Really, I cannot discuss the situation. I can not even say whether I will go to Niagara, or not at present. I have not formed any plans for future action."

The impression conveyed by the interview was that Lord Dundonald is meditating whether he will "buck" the Government all along the line, or not.

House Will Again Discuss Matter.

Ottawa, June 15.—(Special.) — The Budget debate was expected to close to-night or to-morrow at the latest. That was the arrangement reached some time ago between the party whips, but it is just probable that discussion may arise to-day on the Dundonald case. If that happens then it will go on all day and the Budget debate will have to stand over.

The correspondence in the Dundonald matter has not yet been brought down in full. There are letters which were written to Mr. Fisher by Col. Smart, which have been referred to in the House, but which have not yet been presented, and no doubt other correspondence.

Will Not Go to Niagara.

London, Ont., June 15.—(Special.) — Lord Dundonald is the guest of Mr. George B. Harris at Eldin House. The Mayor and Mrs. Beck, Col. Peters, D.O.C., and others were present at a dinner given in his honor last evening.

Lord Dundonald likely will return to Ottawa this evening without going to camp at Niagara.

LORD AYLMER TAKES TEMPORARY COMMAND.

Ottawa, June 15.—(Special.)—Lord Aylmer was to-day invested temporarily with command of the militia. He will proceed at once to militia camps. He goes to Niagara first.

Sir Frederick Borden was asked to-day whether it was intended to ask the British Government for an officer to command the militia in place of Lord Dundonald. He replied that the bill now before Parliament provided for the appointment of an inspector-general. If the bill carried then the position of General would be abandoned. It is probable that Sir Wilfrid Laurier will make a statement in the House.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Borden Define Rival Tariff Policies

Opposition Leader Moved an Amendment Embodying His Adequate Protection Policy nnd Briefly Criticized Main Tariff Changes—The Premier Defined Liberal Policy at Length and Effectively Replied to the Criticism Advanced Against Budget Proposals.

(Staff Correspondence of The Herald.)

Ottawa, June 15.—The two leaders had the fiscal policy of Canada under examination yesterday. Mr. Borden condemned the Government, though he touched very gingerly on the woollen, coal oil and anti-dumping provisions which mark this year's budget. In amendment he moved his old adequate protection resolution, propping it up for party purposes with Government ownership of transportation routes.

The Prime Minister came out with a splendid pronouncement upon the condition of the country and the attitude of the Government toward trade. The most interesting feature of his speech was his announcement that Canada had provided solutions for her national problems along original lines since 1896, and would be prepared to continue to do so as long as they were in power.

What is in the Budget.

Mr. Robert Holmes, Liberal, of West Huron, continued the budget debate at the opening of the House. The Opposition contention that there was nothing in the budget was taken up by Mr. Holmes. He asked the men at the Speaker's left if it was nothing that the Finance Minister was able to announce a surplus of $14,000,000 for the past year; to estimate the surplus for this year at $16,500,000, the largest in history; that substantial surpluses had been announced for the past seven years; that the total surplus for that period amounted to $57,000,000. He asked if it was nothing that Mr. Fielding announced we have been able to deepen our canals, improve our harbors, extend the Intercolonial, erect public buildings all over the Dominion, and carry on the affairs of the country without adding to the taxation of the people; that the per capita debt to-day is only $46 as against $50 per head in 1896; that our commercial prosperity is not only the greatest in the history of Canada, but the greatest in the history of the world, our imports being $241,000,000 to-day, as against $120,000,000, and our exports $230,000,000 as against $121,000,000; that our total trade is $467,000,000, as against $224,000,000 in 1896, an increase of $243,000,000, or nearly $15,000,000 more than the total trade in 1896. Was it nothing, he asked, that our export trade to the Motherland is $63,000,000 more than in 1896, or that our total trade with the Mother Country is $88,000,000 greater? Was it nothing that our railway tonnage is $23,000,000 greater, that business failures are $8,000,000 less.

In the face of all this incontrovertible evidence of the marvelous prosperity of this wisely and well-governed Dominion, there are men in this House who have the unblushing audacity to say of the best budget ever brought down, "There is nothing in it?"

Mr. Borden on the Budget.

The leader of the Opposition who followed, consigned Mr. Holmes' speech to the care of his followers, and gave his attention to the speeches of the Minister of Finance and the Minister of Trade and Commerce. He charged these gentlemen with failing to give a complete statement of the condition of the country, as was their duty upon the occasion of the budget. The speeches were as remarkable for their omissions as for what they contained. Mr. Borden said he did not object to the increase of expenditure to a reasonable degree. But the last five years of Conservative rule saw an expenditure of $210,709,000 and the last five Liberal years saw an expenditure of $287,960,000. The expenditure by the Conservatives decreased from year to year during that time, while during the Liberal period mentioned there had been an increase from year to year. Mr. Fielding and Sir Richard had overlooked or neglected to mention the increase in taxation by the Liberals. During the last five years of Conservative rule the taxation totalled $138,552,000. During the last five Liberal years the taxation had amounted to $204,348,000. This was an increase of $65,796,248, and had been made under the rule of men who before they came into power denounced the Conservatives for bleeding the country white with taxation. The Liberals, he said, had increased the taxation thirty-seven per cent. per head and the expenditure sixty-two per cent. per head. The Finance Minister had referred to Conservative changes of attitude respecting the preferential trade. Mr. Borden said. He declared, however, that there had been no changes on his side of the House, which was still prepared to stand by the mutual preference resolution of Sir Charles Tupper. The Government on the other hand had offered the preference as a free gift and afterward demanded a protection and preference in return. Here he said was the change.

If the Government had spent as much time and effort endeavoring to gain preference from Great Britain as it had in cultivating a reciprocity treaty with the United States during the past five years we would have had it. Whenever a preference or treaty with the Mother Country was talked of the tenor of Imperialism was invoked. Why, Mr. Borden asked should we fear to make a bargain with Great Britiain which is not a foreign country, more than with the United States? The Government is alarmed at the prospect of a treaty with Great Britain, but has no fear to enter into negotiations with Washington.

British Versus American Trade.

The preference had been given to promote trade with Great Britain, but during its period the trade of this country with the United States had enjoyed a greater increase. The percentage of increase in imports amounts to seventy-eight per cent. from Great Britain and from the United States the increase had been twice as great.

Mr Borden said that Great Britain was Canada's great customer and the United States was Canada's great trade rival. Therefore he preferred rather to enter into a commercial treaty with Great Britain than with the United States. Though Great Britain has an apparent preference in Canada's markets the free list alters the apparent situation. Last year the average rate on dutiable goods from the United States was 27.91 per cent., and from Great Britain 23.52 per cent. This was but a slight difference. The dutible and free goods from the United States come in at an average rate of 13.25 per cent. and from Great Britain at 16.71 per cent. This was in spite of the preference. Mr. Borden said that he hoped the Government might remedy, this in the proposed revision of the tariff. The readjustment of the tariff was to follow an inquiry. Mr. Borden asked if there were not technical officers in the department who were capable of making that inquiry? Why should it be necessary for Cabinet Ministers to take it?

Mr. Borden touched upon the oil duties and bounties lightly. He was not altogether sure, he said, that sufficient protection remained for the domestic producer of oil.

He had little to say about the increased protection given to woollens. He had not had the opportunity of consulting those interested.

Dumping Clause Can be Evaded.

On dumping Mr. Borden claimed to have been the pioneer in advocating the protection of Canadian manufacturers against American manufacturers. He had not been heralded in the Canadian press as the herald of a new and great policy. Two years afterward the Finance Minister had adopted his idea and was so hailed. To remove this evil of dumping Mr. Borden said that we were to have a very curious policy. This was to accomplish great things.

The Prime Minister—I hope so.

Mr. Borden asked if the Government anti-dumping plan could not be evaded by some system of discounts? What would happen if the prices should come down all over the United States on goods. Where would the anti-dumping protection be then. The protection under the Government plan would not be adequate, and would not give the Canadian manufacturer the protection he needed. Mr. Borden went over a list of manufacturers and said that Canadian imports in every case were larger from the United States than from Great Britain. On many of these articles, he said, we should be able to control our own markets to a much larger extent than we do. In steel our imports were very large. Yet two great plants in Canada were being reorganized. He questioned if it would not have been better to have given these industries more protection so they might to-day be in a position to operate.

Mr. Borden's Amendment.

In conclusion Mr. Borden said that only the laboring mtn of Canada, not only the manufacturers of Canada, not only those who have capital invested and those who receive a wage out of capital, but the farmers of our country as well are intensely interested in seeing that we have a stable policy of protection carried out. The people of Canada are beginning to realize, the farmers I think are beginning to realize, the value to them of the home market and of important industrial centres, of which we have too few in the country to-day.

Mr. Borden said this would come in the east as well as in the west if his policy were carried out to have a Canadian tariff firmly and adequately protective of our markets and a purely national system of transcontinental transportation whereby we should own and control the national highways constructed by means of the national credit.

In conclusion Mr. Borden moved: "That no readjustment of the tariff can be regarded as satisfactory which does not provide such protection to our labor, agricultural products, manufactures and industries as will secure the Canadian market for the Canadian people.

"That at the present session there should be a thorough readjustment of the tariff based on a declared and stable policy of adequate protection."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Was in Splendid Form

Sir Wilfrid Laurier followed. He said: "I am sure that my hon friend will be the first to admit that the speech we have heard from his lips today is a very old friend. We have heard it before and we have heard it from the lips of Mr. Bell this session. I should not say that we have heard it too often. On the contrary because the policy of the Opposition is confined within the four corners of that speech and if, as time goes on and year after year we have the same thing over and over again then after all we on this side of the House should be comforted with the thought that there is not much to find fault with in our policy.

"Mr. Borden has reproached us with the fact that we have increased the expenditure; I think, however, the expenditure has been amply justified on both sides of the House. The truth is we are not sufficiently extravagant in the eyes of the Opposition for time and again we have heard them proposing to increase the expenditure. They have frequently asked us to supplement the estimates we have brought down and to vote more money that we had provided.

Increased Expenditure is Imperative.

"The chief object of my honorable friend's criticism has been surpluses. My hon. friend, I may tell him again, is a good hand—not yet the equal of Sir Charles Tupper, I admit—but not a bad hand at a scrap-book. He has quoted Sir Richard Cartwright to the effect that the Minister of Finance has no need of surpluses. If Sir Richard were here he would have nothing to recant or explain. In a new country such as this a large amount of public money must be expended. We have to build railroads, to build wharves, to improve the canals and this involves a large expenditure. In the eight years we have been in office we have spent no less than $56,000,000 on capital providing for the construction of railways in the different parts of the country and for the improvement of the canals and the country is the wealthier for the expenditure we have made in this direction.

"I venture to say we should have spent a little more. We have been able to expend not less than $56,000,000 in that way on the improvements we have added to the wealth of the people and have been able to do this without adding to the debt of the country. That is our justification. Now if we had followed the suggestion implied by the words of Mr. Borden and taken such means to reform the tariff that instead of having a surplus to carry on these works we would have been obliged to borrow money in the markets of the world. The objection of Mr. Borden to our method of raising the money must be taken to mean that he would have done the thing by borrowing the money. If that is his position I am willing to take issue with him.

"Mr. Borden spoke upon the dumping policy of the Government. But I could not tell whether he was in favor of our policy or against it. Two years ago he seems to have been rather in favor of it. Since, he seems to have changed his mind and to be rather against it. We have reason to hope that this policy will bring the effect for which it was designed. Mr. Borden dare not attack it, but rather suggested that it might not be effective, and might be evaded. What feature of the tariff is there that is not likely to be evaded? I have no doubt the Minister of Customs will soon have to deal with attempts at evasions. Attempts are made to evade every tariff law. However, that is no argument against the law. If it were it would be against the whole tariff. The Opposition are disposed to damn the law with faint praise. Well, we will have to see how it will work. All the business men of the country will concede that not only is it a good measure, but it is a bold course which has been taken, and shows the Government alive to the necessities of the country.

Policy is Easily Defended.

"Mr. Borden neither condemned nor approved of the commission to investigate how the tariff has been working. He stands betwixt and between on this matter, saying neither yes or no. On the oil duties he did not say very much. He did not attack us on our policy. We did not have any hesitation or difficulty, and I think it can be well defended in a few words. When we came into office we found the duty on refined oil six cents a gallon. We reduced it one cent a gallon, and this year we have cut it in two. We have reduced the duty on refined oil to two and a half cents a gallon. We have wiped out altogether the duty on crude oil, but we have given a bounty of a cent and a half a gallon to the producers of crude oil. The reason for doing this is obvious. The producers of Canada cannot supply more than one-third of the total consumption of oil in Canada. Two-thirds has to be imported. It is a well known fact that if we had wiped out the duty without any bounty to the producers, we would have closed every well in Canada, and all the machinery and money which have been put into the oil industry would have been wiped out. That would have been a serious matter. I do not think that the oil industry has been a very profitable one to any person. But thousands and millions of Canadian capital has been invested in it. It so happens that it cannot compete on equal terms with the American oil, and unless we give the producers a bounty of one and a half cents a gallon the wells will be closed and the industry extinguished. Instead of having done this, to give the consumer thfe benefits of cheap oil, we thought that we were justified in giving a bounty out of the public treasury which will amount to $150,000 to $180,000 a year. We rely upon the good sense of the people of Canada for their endorsement of this. There is no time limit contemplated in the policy of the Government. The bounty will be continued as long as the conditions justify it.

What Tariff Policy Has Done.

Speaking after recess, the Premier said: "We are now face to face with the resolution moved by the leader of the Opposition, no doubt with the full concurrence of his party, by which the people of Canada are asked to abandon the policy under which the country has thrived and prospered this seven years. When the Minister of Finance introduced the Fielding tariff in 1897 we believed that a new page had been opened in the history of Canada. Great were our expectations, but greater still has been the reality. Under the present tariff Canada has developed as no other country has developed in the same period. New industries have sprung into life; agriculture, long depressed and sore tried, has flourished; hope, confidence, national pride have risen high in the hearts of the people. The name of Canada, up to that moment scarcely known beyond her own borders, has since become a synonym of progress by the whole civilized world.

True, it is that this tariff has been the object of constant cavilling on the part of honorable gentlemen opposite, who call themselves his Majesty's Loyal Opposition, but who never lose an opportunity to arouse passions and prejudices. More than once the Opposition has been forced to shift its ground. No sooner was the tariff announced than the leader of the Opposition, Sir Charles Tupper, arose and with tears in his eyes and indignation in his voice denounced the new tariff measure as the death knell of Canadian industries. In the face of what followed it was absurd to maintain that line of attack, and so as Canada prospered they changed their batteries and passed from the extreme of villification to the story that this was only the old N.P. under another name. When this in turn became absurd the Opposition took up the cry that if the country had prospered it was not due to the tariff, but was the work of Providence.

Providence Smiled on Grits.

"I may say that no one on this side of the House will take exception to that argument. We recognize that we owe an immense debt of gratitude to Providence. He has blessed us with good crops, good prices, a buoyant revenue and increased trade, and, without boasting, I may say that our prayers go forth to heaven every day. I would like honorable gentlemen opposite to join with us in these prayers did I not fear that their gratitude would be insincere. In human affairs we know that Providence acts through human agencies, and we are inclined to think that our opponents cannot forgive Providence because it chose the poor Grits as the instruments through which it levied His bounty upon this land of which my honorable friends opposite are the fortunate but nevertheless disgruntled citizens.

When we adopted the tariff which has been in force since 1897 we did not act from any set notions; we did not pretend to give expression to any fad or stereotyped theory. We thought it a tariff devised first of all to promote the revenue and next as an incident to protect Canadian against foreign products. It never entered our minds that this tariff was to be paternal—that it was to be like the laws of the Medes and Persians, there for ever. The Finance Minister has been invited by friend and foe to revise the tariff, but refused up till this year. To-day, however, there are signs of the rising storm of economic disturbance and it would be well to trim our sails and set the ship so as to have her ready to weather the storm. This is what has been done by the changes this session. They are reform, nothing but reform. The Finance Minister has himself stated that they do not go as far as he would like and he has further indicated the course that will be followed in future changes.

The leader of the Opposition also proposes tariff changes, but of a very different character. He wants no reform. He proposes to revolutionize. He practically says to the people, let us undo what we have done in the last seven years.

What Does Adequate Protection Mean.

Sir, it is always easy to destroy. The difficult part is to build up again. My honorable friend would substitute what he terms adequate protection, but at the same time he refuses to say what that means. But I am making another slip, though I can correct it this time without a murmur from the other side of the House. He has not refused to tell us what adequate protection means. The trouble is he cannot tell us what the term signifies any more than he can define the difference between tweedledum and tweedledee. From the mouths though of some of his own organs and of his own supporters, we learn what he means by adequate protection. It means high protection, the very highest protection, American protection. I am quite warranted in saying this, because I find it in the chief organ of the party, the Montreal Star, at the head of its editorial page.

To-day the bottom has been knocked out of this U. S. tariff and that country is in a most deplorable condition. The Steel Trust, for example, which threatened at one time to capture the whole iron and steel industry of the world, is no longer dangerous as a competitor, but is actually struggling for its own existence and has had to discharge thousands of its employes. According to the New York Herald 75,000 railway men have been discharged in the States since April. We in Canada have escaped all this. Our railways and our manufacturers are both doing a good business. Is this then the moment when we should abandon our tariff and adopt the American model?

The Condition of Germany.

"Nor is this all. Many a time we have been told of what wonderful things another highly-protected country was accomplishing. I refer to Germany. But what is her condition to-day after following the example set by the United States in tariff matters? I have a list here of combines that rule the roost in Germany in coal, iron, steel, sewing machines, farm implements, enamelled ware, chemicals, sugar, flour, twine, cotton, and woollen yarn, linen goods, ribbons, lead pencils, wood pulp—nothing too small—cement, glass and rubber goods. Unfortunately there, as elsewhere, the day of retribution came and with it the inevitable crash. Three years ago Germany began to feel the first pangs of depression and hard times. The trusts had absorbed a large portion of the capital of the land banks and these failed right and left till $200,000,000 of capital was lost in this way. Dismissals, reduced wages, strikes became a by-word, and to add to all this Socialism has become rampant throughout the country. Yet this is the tariff we are invited to adopt in this country. I do not think that the Canadian people, in the full enjoyment of the results achieved under this tariff, will make the mistake of abandoning it at a time when the country is so well off.

Balance of Trade Argument.

"What are the objections to our tariff? I have listened to the same song sung by every honorable gentleman opposite. It is always that the balance of trade against us in our dealings with the United States is very large. I do not deny the fact. I wish it were otherwise. But it is their own fault, and they have much more to suffer than we. So far as we can dispense with trading with the States I should be prepared to do so, but to tell us simply that the balance of trade is against us with our neighbors is no argument at all. We must look behind the balance and because this old fallacy has been put forward again let us consider it. Bast Bastien in one of his books gives a very striking example of how the balance of trade works. A ship left France in 1840 or thereabouts loaded for New Orleans, with a cargo of articles from Paris valued at 200,000 francs. She reached New Orleans. The freight on these goods amounted to ten per cent. and the customs duty to thirty per cent. and they were sold at twenty per cent. profit. The sale, therefore, realized 352,000 francs. The money was immediately invested in cotton and the same ship came back to Havre with a cargo of cotton. The duty in France is ten per cent. The cargo was charged in France with ten per cent. freight and sold at twenty per cent. profit, realizing 464,000 francs. Therefore the shipper made a double profit. He made a profit on his outward cargo of articles de Paris and also upon his inward cargo of cotton. He made over 100,000 francs altogether and enriched himself and his country to that extent. But how did the entries balance in the customs? In the customs returns there appeared an export value of 200,000 francs and an entry of imports to the value of 352,000 francs, showing thereby a balance of trade against France of 152,000 francs. Therefore, France, according to the argument of hon. gentlemen opposite was a loser by the operation. But what followed? That same gentleman, encouraged by his first experience, thought he would tempt fortune again and he shipped another cargo of the same goods to New Orleans valued at 200,000 francs. Then an occurrence happened which would cheer the hearts of my hon. friends on the other side. The entry in the customs returns showed an export of 200,000 francs from France, but the ship was lost at sea and, therefore, the balance of trade remained in favor of France to the extent of 200,000 francs. This is a fit illustration of the logic of hon. gentlemen opposite.

"Let us," said the Premier, "discard this bugbear of the trade balance because it is utterly nonsense. Let us get beyond the figures and examine the situation.

Must Import Raw Products.

"Last year our imports from the United States, including coin and bullion, amounted to $137,000,000, whilst our exports were only $77,000,000. But out of the $137,000,000 we must take goods on the free list totalling $69,000,000. Could we dispense with any of these? Could we, I ask, get along without raw cotton and other materials used in Canadian manufactures? Could we provide the coal that is needed in Ontario? Some people object to corn being admitted free, but I consider that it has conferred a great boon on Canadian farmers. On the other hand, we are asked to add to the free list. Some people want coal placed thereon, and though this has not been done, I must say there are many good reasons why coal should be free. It would seem natural that we should have reciprocity with our neighbors in coal because we have the deposits on the Atlantic and Pacific slopes, whilst their coal beds are in the middle of the continent. Reciprocity in this article would be advantageous, therefore, to Canadians and Americans alike, but for the present we had better let matters stand in order to have, if possible, the exchange in the near or distant future, as the case may be.

What We Have to Import.

"Let us examine briefly some of the leading dutiable articles coming to this country from the States. The first is coal oil, crude and refined, of which we got last year $1,414,319. Could we dispense with that? Everybody knows that the Canadian oil wells will only produce one-third of what we need. Then there is bituminous coal, of which we imported about $7,000,000 worth, along with $400,000 worth of dust. Could Ontario do without this? Of sugar and molasses we imported $352,000 worth. Molasses is on the free list. Of locomotives we imported $1,106,521 worth. We do not turn out all the engines we need, and so are under the necessity of bringing some in from the States. Of fertilizers we imported $100,000 worth and of rails $86,000. Our railways found they could buy cheaper from Europe, but in the meantime we have taken measures to encourage their manufacture in Canada. Of oranges and other tropical fruits we imported $600,000 worth; of printing paper, $246,000 worth, the duty on which was reduced because of the existence of a Canadian combine. Altogether this list amounts to $12,000,000 and comprises goods which we cannot but import from the United States. This, added to the $69,000,000 of free goods, makes a total of over $80,000,000.

Experience of Iron Industry.

Now, let us pass to the free list. Someone asked why we did not make these articles in Canada. Sir, we have a tariff against the United States varying from twenty-five per cent. to thirty-five per cent., an average of twenty-eight per cent. Under such a tariff manufacturers should thrive. I am told, however, that they do not thrive and we should increase the tariff. For my part I am willing to consider the case of an industry which finds itself pressed by foreign competition. But when I am told that we should increase the duty with a vague expectation that by so doing we shall start up an industry and build it up, I am always more or less sceptical, because of the experience of the Canadian people I have seen exemplified in this House: I was sitting on the Opposition side of the House when Sir Charles Tupper, then the Minister of Finance, introduced what was called the iron policy. He more than doubled the duty that had up to that time been paid upon iron, and he made bold to say that within five years Canada would produce all the iron it needed. Nearly twenty years have elapsed since that time. In the meantime, not satisfied with the duties placed upon iron by the Government of that day, legislation has been introduced to give a bounty upon iron. Still the industry did not thrive and prosper. Not satisfied with this the Government increased the bounty given to the iron producers. And what is the result? To-day the iron industry of the country is not able to supply the wants of the people. It has not been a success. And though the Canadian people have been paying heavy duties and heavy bounties to establish that industry after more than fifteen years we have not reached that goal which I hope we will reach some day.

Anti-Oumping Legislation Experimental.

"But there is one class of goods which come from the United States which have come in a manner we regard as undue and to the importation of which we want to put a stop. That is the class of goods that have come in by dumping and slaughtering; by making Canada the dumping ground and the slaughter market. We have taken the means to end this if we can. Mr. Borden rather jeered when he spoke of this policy. He asked how this policy could be reconciled with free trade declarations of past years. Sir, I care not what theories are. I want to be practical and this country must be practical above all things. Let me say the last word on free trade and protection has not yet been spoken. The conditions of manufacture are changing every day. The shoemaker, the cabinetmaker and all the craftsmen of our younger days have disappeared. To-day these things are made in the large brick manufactories where there is a great aggregation of capital and thousands of men congregated. They become closely attached to their machinery and derive their daily bread from it. But if it so happens that through new methods adopted in highly protective countries such as the United States and Germany, and large manufacturing combinations, having supplied the local market resort to slaughtering their goods in this country for example, flooding the market and depriving the artizans of their work, scattering them and ruining the capital which has been invested, I say that under such conditions we must abandon theory, and it behooves this Parliament to try and remedy such a situation. This we have to do at the present moment. How will our policy work out? It will work out this way. As soon as it has been shown to us that an article is slaughtered in this country the Minister of Customs will be so able to arrange the tariff and so tax the article as to make the slaughtering impossible.

"A few months ago I was shown an invoice from Detroit in which an article was set down at a certain price for the American consumer and at another price at least thirty per cent. below for the Canadian consumer. This is the regular practice and I know there are business men in the House who are aware of this. It results in individual profit to the Canadian consumer who purchases the cheaper American article, but it is to the detriment of the community as a whole because it throws a number of our people out of employment and causes the destruction of large amounts of capital invested in those industries. We have adopted the policy and we believe that it will work well.

Consumer Must be Considered.

"We have been asked why instead of a contingent policy that will go up and down as the necessity occurs, why not make it absolute to apply under all circumstances? This is the reason. We do not wish to tax the Canadian people on other industries without profit to the Canadian consumer; therefore we have preferred instead of adopting a regular tyrannical tariff, to adopt a contingent tariff that will go up or down as the occasion requires. At all events this is an experiment. It is not only an experiment, but it is a new device which has been introduced into the world. I do not think that anything like it has been tried anywhere. We invite fair consideration for this policy. We have prepared it according to our best judgment and think that it ought to work satisfactorily and will destroy an evil which is becoming manifest in modern industrial conditions. We have in this country as in all countries, manufactories carried on under a customs tariff. In this country especially, where we create a fictitious atmosphere in which manufacturers are carrying on their operations we have the right to expect that the condition of things under which we have built up manufactories should be maintained. This policy which we have adopted we believe will commend itself to the fair judgment of the Canadian people the more it is debated and discussed.

"Now, Sir, I have exposed the policy of the Government upon this occasion. This is not, as has been stated, a regular revision of the tariff. It will become or it may not come. It will depend upon circumstances. At all events there is one thing which I think we ought to do. We are not above being instructed. We were jeered at this afternoon because we proposed an inquiry into the industrial condition of the country. Still if there is one-third the country will be grateful to the Minister of Finance, it is that at the proper moment he will have an inquiry made into all the conditions which at present regulate Canadian manufacturers and Canadian production. I have no doubt we will receive valuable instruction.

The Liberal Record.

"We have been eight years in power. That is not a very long time in the life of a nation, though it perhaps may be a long time in the life of a party. But having been eight years in power, I think I can say in the presence of friends and adversaries that we have not been imitators but have been ourselves. We have not walked merely in beaten paths, but have hewed out our own way. We have altered our policy according to the difficulties that arose, and we have endeavored to solve the problems as they have presented themselves to us, not by the application of antiquated formulas that had been in vogue in old communities, but we have framed a policy that would be applicable to our own conditions and to our own circumstances. In the first budget speech which was presented to this House the Finance Minister introduced the preferential tariff.

"We did not imitate any other nation. We originated it. We adopted a policy that we thought suited to our condition both as a colony and as a young nation, believing it to be in accord with sound economic conditions. We adopted a policy that we thought would advance our trade with Great Britain, our Mother Country, and which at the same time would afford considerable relief to the Canadian consumer. A year ago we imposed the German surtax. In doing so we did not borrow legislation from other countries, we devised a remedy which we had reason to believe would compel a powerful nation to give us the fair treatment which that nation denied to us or at all events we would force him to respect us. This year again, in order to meet a modern evil which has resulted from new methods in highly protected countries, we have invented a policy which we have every reason to believe will prove entirely effectual.

As it was in the past so it shall be in the future; we shall face any difficulties, we shall face any problems that arise and we shall endeavor to settle them by ways and means altogether Canadian in their conception, altogether Canadian in their character.

The debate was continued by Mr. Andrew Broder, J. J. Hughes, East Queen, P.E.I., and Uriah Wilson.

Nearly all the Government legislation is before the House. The leader of the Opposition wanted to know what the ministry still had to offer. Sir Wilfrid said an amendment to the general election law was the only thing which had not been presented. This would complete the Government programme of legislation for this session. The election law amendment was being prepared, and would be a general improvement of the law.

In the Senate.

In the Senate, Hon. Thomas Reuben Black, having taken the oath, was introduced by Hon. R. W. Scott and Hon. Mr. Templeman. Mr. J. J. McGee, as deputy governor, officiated in administering the oath.

Hon. Mr. Cloran presented a report of the special committee on the Mutual Reserve Fund Association on the matter of privilege. They had examined Messrs. The committee found that the statements attributed to Mr. Wells were not made by him, and had no substance in fact.

The report will be taken into consideration on Thursday.

Hon. Mr. Landry asked if it were true that his Excellency had refused to sign the dismissal of Lord Dundonald.

Hon. Mr. Scott said no papers of such description had been presented to his Excellency. He did not say that papers of such an import would not be offered to his Excellency.

Hon. Mr. Landry asked if the papers would be presented to his Excellency or to the home authorities.

Hon. Mr. Scott—To his Excellency it is a matter concerning Canada.

MEN, NO PAY TILL I CURE YOU

Let any man who is weak, broken down, old and decrepit in physical weakness, full of pains and aches, gloomy, despondent and cheerless—any man who wants to be stronger and younger than he feels—let him come and tell me how he feels, and if I say that I can cure him I will not ask a cent until I have done so.

I don't want money that I don't earn. I don't need it, and am not after it. But I am after the dollars that are now going wrong in the quest of health. Look at all these poor wrecks of humanity that are spending all they earn on drugs—dope that is paralyzing their vital organs—that have spent all they have earned for years without gaining a pound of strength for the hundreds of dollars wasted.

That is the money that I am after, because for every dollar I take I can give a thousand per cent. interest, and I don't want it at all until I have cured you if you will secure me. I have cured so many cases right here that I can prove my claims to you, but if that proof is not enough I'll give you the names of men right near you—where you are. Is that fair?

Most of the belts that I am selling now are to men who have been sent here by their friends whom I have cured. I think that is the best evidence that my business is a success from the standpoint of cures, as well as on the dollar side.

Just lately I have received letters of praise from these men:

Dear Sir,—I received your Belt all right, and I am a weak man no more. Yours very truly, John D. Cameron, Lochlash, Ont., April 2, 1904.

Dear Sir,—Your Belt is doing me more good than anything that I have ever tried. I am feeling better than I have for three years. Thanking you for the service your Belt has done me. Robt. Bennet, Bright, Ont., March 30, 1904.

Wherever you are, I think I can give you the name of a man in your town that I have cured. Just send me your address and let me try. This is my twenty-fourth year in the business of pumping new vim into worn-out humanity, and I've got cures in nearly every town on the map.

Come and see me if you can, and I'll fix you up; or, if you can't call, write to me and I'll do the same. I've got a nice book on men that I'll send, sealed, free, if you enclose this ad. Also one for women.

BANISH THE WRINKLES.

In Many Cases They are Merely Signs of the Ailments of Women.

A woman's face plainly indicates the state of her health. Wrinkles, which every woman dreads, are not necessarily a sign of age. Pallor of face, wrinkles and a prematurely aged appearance are the outward indications of those ailments that afflict womankind alone, and from which she too often suffers in uncomplaining silence, rather than consult a doctor. In this condition Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are women's best friend. They actually make new, rich, red blood, and this blood acting upon the nerves, and all the organs of the body, brings new health and happiness to weak, weary and despondent women. Mrs. John McKerr, Chickney, N.W.T., tells for the benefit of other suffering women how she found new health through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. "For some years," says Mrs. McKerr, "I was greatly afflicted with the ailments that make the lives of so many of my sex miserable. The suffering I endured can only be understood by those who are similarly afflicted. I tried many medicines, but found none that helped me until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These have actually made me feel like a new person, and the sufferjng I had endured almost continuously has passed away, and life is no longer the burden it once seemed. I think these pills worth their weight in gold to all who suffer from female complaints or general prostration."

We ask every suffering woman to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. They will not disappoint you, and the benefit they will give is not for an hour or a day—it is permanent. You can get these pills from any dealer in medicine or by mail from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50. See that the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," is on the wrapper around every box.

ONLY KNOWN TO ANDREW.

That was rather a witty report of a St. Andrew's Day dinner which once appeared in a Madras journal. At the close of the report of the after-dinner speeches of patriotic Scotsmen the journal said, "And here the guests drank in solemn silence to the memory of St. Andrew, the patron saint of Scotland, the only one of the Apostles who knew where the loaves and fishes were!"

The Rival Fleets Are Now Face to Face

It is Reported That Great Naval Battle is in Progress in the Korean Straits Between Vladivostok Squadron and Japanese Vessels—Port Arthur Harbor Entrance is Cleared of Obstruction.

Tokio, June 15.—Three Japanese transports, outward bound from Shimonoseki, met the Russian warships this morning outside the Strait of Korea. The Russians fired eighteen shots at the Japanese ships. One transport escaped. The fate of the other two is not known. It is believed at Sasebo that a naval engagement is imminent.

Tokio, June 15.—The Vladivostok squadron is reported in the Corean Straits. Firing has been heard on Tsushima, a small island lying off the south-west of Honshiu Island. It is possible that an engagement is progressing.

The Russian fleet at Vladivostok at the commencement of the war comprised the first-class protected cruiser Gromobol, of 13,336 tons, steaming 20 knots; the first-class cruiser Rossia, 12,200 tons, 20 knots; the first-class cruiser Rurik, of 10,940 tons, 18 knots, and the second-class cruiser Bogatyr, of 6,750 tons, speed 23 knots, which latter was reported as sunk or badly damaged.

Further Report of Battle.

London, June 15.—A despatch to the Central News from Tokio says a naval engagement is now in progress off Tsusnima Island, in the Corean Straits, between three Russian cruisers, which escaped from Vladivostok, and a number of Japanese ships.

The despatch adds that the Vladivostok squadron was first reported June 14 from Oki Island (off Kioto, Japan, in the Sea of Japan). Later in the day cannonading was heard northwest of Nagato (on the Japanese coatst, in the Straits of Korea).

The captain of a Japanese merchant ship reports this morning that his ship was fired upon by a Russian warship.

Heavy cannonading was heard early this morning in the neighborhood of Oki Island, and subsequently came news of the engagement already referred to in the Tokio despatch.

Rival Fleets Clashed.

Nagasaki, June 15.—A telegram received from Oki Island says that Japanese warships have engaged a Russian squadron near there, and that the result of the encounter is not yet known.

Admiral Skrydloff in Command.

St. Petersburg, June 15.—No information is obtainable here regarding the reporte dengagement between the Russian Vladivostok squadron and a Japanese squadron in the Corean Straits. But it is quite likely that a naval fight has occurred or is about to occur. Vice-Admiral Skrydloff has left Vladivostok with the armored cruisers Gromobol, Rossia and Rurik and some torpedo craft.

If the report that the Russian protected cruiser Novik made a sortie from Port Arthur yesterday is true, it demonstrates that the entrance is free and doubtless was preliminary to the egress of the whole squadron for the purpose of effecting a juncture with Skrydloff's squadron. The news of a decisive sea battle may therefore arrive at any hour.

Before Admiral Skrydloff left Vladivostok the Russian protected cruiser Bogatyr, which went on the rocks off Cape Gamova, was hauled off and towed into the harbor of Vladivostok. She is now in dock there.

Harbor Entrance is Open. .....

Tokio, June 15.—The entrance to the harbor at Port rAthur having been cleared of obstruction, is now open for the passage of ships in and out. Yesterday the Russian protected cruiser Novik steamed out to sea and engaged with vessels of the Japanese blockading fleet.

Fleet Seen Near Port Arthur.

Chee Foo, June 15.—The captain of a steamer which passed through the Gulf of Pe Chi Li last Monday reports seeing the searchlights of a large fleet, also flashes from their guns, twenty-eight miles southwest of Port Arthur. This observation was made, the captain states, between 10.30 o'clock Monday night and 3 o'clock Tuesday morning. He was unable to discern the lights of any opposing vessels.

A letter received here from Liao Yang says that the Russians are not downcast over recent reverses. The Russian report that the Japanese had suffered a severe reverse north of Kin Chou has not been confirmed.

Outposts are Fighting.

St. Petersburg, June 15.—A despatch from Mukden says that the Japanese army besieging Port Arthur is in line at Ying-Ching-Tse and Wang-Fang-Tien and that there are daily skirmishes between the outposts. The correspondent says that the rumors of an assault on Port Arthur have not been confirmed.

Fighting Reported at Kin Chou.

New Chwang, June 15.—There are persistent rumors here of severe fighting south of Kin Chou, which it is impossible to confirm. Of three trustworthy messengers sent out on the night of June 12 two returned, having been unable to pass the Russian lines at Kai Chou, and the other is expected to arrive early to-morrow. The two who have returned learned nothing except that the Russians are becoming more strict about allowing natives to pass their lines.

It is believed here that the Russians are moving a force of 65,000 men south only to make it appear as though they were attempting to relieve Port Arthur, and that upon the first encounter with the enemy it will be withdrawn north again.

Will Increase Kuropatkin's Forces.

St. Petersburg, June 15.—The appointment of Lieut.-Gen. Leonidas Dembowski as commander of the fifth east Siberian army corps is evidence that larger reinforcements are to be placed at Gen. Kuropatkin's disposal. The four corps originally formed of Siberian troops are mobilized in Manchuria, and other drafts have been sent out to the Far East. The organization of the new corps independent of the Russian corps, now ordered out from European Russia, shows that Kuropatkin now has almost two hundred thousand troops, irrespective of frontier and railroad guards, and that probably he has an effective army of 160,000 men at Liao Yang. Gen. Dembowski is a distinguished strategist. He participated in the Russo-Turkish war and was commander of the grenadier corps after the war. Later he became head of the Paul infantry school, and held that position till two years ago. Since then he has been on the personal staff of the War Minister.

FIVE HUNDRED PERISH IN WRECK

CAPTAIN HAS BEEN ARRESTED.

New York, June 15.—Captain William Vanschaick, who commanded the Slocum, has been arrested.

Aid Hurried to the Scene.

When police headquarters received the first vague report of the disaster, every source of succor and aid was mobilized. The hospitals were notified by telephone and each sent all available surgeons, nurses and ambulances to the scene.

The police reserves of a half dozen stations were hurried out and more than fifty patrol waggons were sent for ambulance purposes.

North Brother Island, where the Slocum was beached, is occupied by municipal charity hospitals and a considerable number of physicians and nurses were immediately available.

A Survivor's Graphic Story.

John Edell, twenty-two years old, one of the survivors of the disaster, gave the following account of his terrible experience, his mother and little brother being drowned before his eyes:

"When we left the pier the decks were packed to the limit of its capacity. The band was playing, the children were frolicking about and we were all having a fine time.

"As we neared Hell Gate children were called down to the lower deck, where ice cream and soda water were served.

"The children were falling all over each other in an effort to get to the tables which held the refreshments. With my mother and my little brother Paul, I went to the engine-room to watch the machinery.

No Warning of Tragedy.

"Suddenly and without the least warning there was a burst of flame from the furnace room that rushed up through the engine room and flashed out about us. The flames spread with the rapidity of an explosion, setting fire to the clothing of the women and children who were grouped about the engine room watching the machinery.

Flames Swept Over Entire Deck.

"As we made for the shore the captain blew his whistle in one continuous blast, and soon boats of all descriptions were making for us from every side of the river. I was rescued by a launch just as the boat settled close to the shore. When she was grounded the flames had spread over the entire upper and lower decks. There were only a few spots on the boat untouched by the flames, and in these were piled up men and women who had fainted, and, falling, pinned others to the deck.

"There was the most terrible panic as the burning women and children rushed out among those surrounding the ice cream and soda water tables screaming with pain.

"In the terrible scramble my mother and little brother were swept away from me and carried toward the side where the children and women with their clothes burning had begun to jump into the water. The flames spread in bursts that soon had the entire deck enveloped.

Crew Were Utterly Helpless.

"The crew were helpless to render any assistance or make efforts to check the advance of the fire. We were just passing then through Hell Gate when the fire started. The captain headed the boat toward North Brother Island, and the pilots who were with him yelled frantically to us to say aboard until they beached the boat.

"But in a moment after the flames had burst from the engine room great numbers began to jump overboard. The women were wild with fright, and snatching their children to them leaped into the whirlpools that carried them toward the rocks on both shores.

"I endeavored for a few minutes to break through the mad crush and get to my mother and little brother, but I was swept into one corner of the boat and held there unable to move.

Mad Rush to the Rear.

"As the boat kept on her way the breeze drove the flames toward the after part of the ship, where those who in their panic had not jumped overboard were huddled together. It seemed but a few seconds before the flames had swept down upon the children who were struggling about the ice cream tables and set their clothing ablaze.

"They all rushed to the after part of the ship in a stampede that carried those who were near the rail overboard against their will.

"At one time it semeed to me as if the women and children were pouring over the sides like a waterfall.

"The men from the tugs who could get the steamboat shouted for those on board to jump, and then the small boats picked them up by the score."

From all that can be gathered, no alarm was sounded when the fire was discovered, but the crew tried to extinguish the flames without alarming the passengers.

Those in the after portion of the boat did not know it was on fire until the flames had swept back on them. Then there was nothing to do but jump overboard or be burned to death.

Many Bodies Unidentified.

Up to 1.45 twenty-six unidentified bodies had been listed. All were women and children.

No identification was possible as the first bodies were recovered, as they were picked up at so many different places, many being found along the shores and on the islands in the East River. They were brought together in the most convenient places, all being carefully numbered, and everything possibly for later identification being done. The tugs and other boats which rescued many from the burning steamer and from the water landed them at the nearest points and returned to the scene of the disaster in the hope of rescuing others. This made it almost impossible to learn who had been rescued, and added to the fears of those seeking to learn the fate of friends or relatives.

DIVERS FIND MONEY BUT NO BODIES

Believed They Have Been Carried Away by the Current.

Sorel, Que., June 15.—(Special.)—The efforts of the divers at work on the steamer Canada to locate the remains of Purser Bonneterre have been unattended by any results up to the present time. It was thought that he had been drowned in the purser's office, but when the divers broke in the door of the office to-day they found it empty. It is now thought that Bonneterre, who intended to go to the office to get his papers, did not succeed in reaching it and that his remains have been carried down stream. The divers succeeded in opening the safe in the purser's office and secured all the money and papers. A good deal of the furniture and equipment has been removed from the cabin. This has resulted in the wreck rising considerably out of the water.

The divers at work on the steamer Canada to-day handed over to the officials of the company $314 which they found in the safe in the purser's office. Purser Bonneterre's clothes were also found and when examined there was $24 in the vest pocket. It is now thought certain that none of the bodies of the four victims still missing will be found in the steamer.

All the mail bags as well as a large quantity of baggage belonging to the passengers were taken out to-day.

Up to one o'clock to-day none of the bodies had been located.

Tenders for raising Canada 7890$....

The directors of the Richelieu & Ontrio Navigation Co. to-day decided to call for tenders for the raising of the entire wreck of the Canada.

In calling tenders the company is desirous of finding out whether the work can be done at a lower cost than they can do it themselves. The steamer will be reconstructed at the company's work at Sorel.

HAPPY COUPLE CLAIM THE $100

Accept Conditions and Will be Married in Workman's Window.

Two thrifty Montreal residents have agreed to earn that $100 offered by Workman, the clothier, to any couple who will get married in his shop window on McGill Street. They are George Seaman, who is employed by Watson, Foster & Co., wall paper manufacturers, and Rosa Castonguay.

The wedding has been arranged to take place on Tuesday afternoon next at three o'clock, that is if the happy couple can find a minister to perform the ceremony.

Every arrangement will be made to give Mr. and Mrs. Seaman a swell wedding. Automobiles will be in waiting at the store, and after the ceremony has been performed the happy party will be driven to Walsh's cafe, where the usual wedding collation will be served. Afterwards they will be driven about the city. It is the intention to invite Mayor Laporte and members of the City Council to witness the ceremony.

Mr. eSaman is thoroughly in earnest about the matter and has wagered his month's wages with a fellow-employe that the wedding will come off as arranged.

Mr. Seaman read of Mr. Workman's offer in last evening's Herald and immediately presented himself at the store armed with the necessary references. These were accepted and the wedding arranged.

BEGGAR NOT PENNILESS.

Saved $2,000 From His Earnings in Montreal.

Among the familiar sights of the curbstones on the business streets of the city, for a long time back, has been a deformed little son of Italy, who, accompanied by a young girl, was in the habit of shuffling around on his hands and the remains of one leg, soliciting loose cents in return for his efforts on an accordeon.

Antonio Defioro is his name, and a year ago the city authorities set themselves to get rid of him as being a persistent beggar. When their enquiries elicited the fact that he had no less a sum than $2,000 in his own country, the result of his gatherings on the streets of Montreal. He was then sent out of the city, but turned up again some weeks ago, and resumed business. Mr. Rivet, manager of the Provincial Farm, called attention to the matter and offered to give him quarters. To this Defioro put up strong objection, and to-day he was brought before the chief of police and other city officials, and ordered to quit the town right away.

It appeared that profits were shared with the little girl, and she and her parents, who reside on St. Hippolyte Street, have been warned against a repetition of the offence.

The City Hall authorities are determined that no music or other licenses will in future be issued to cripples.

Fire in Lumber Yard.

Over 100,000 feet of lumber were destroyed yesterday afternoon by a fire in the lumber yards of the L. Prefontaine Company, corner of St. Patrick and Charlevoix Streets. On the arrival of the firemen it was found that several piles of lumber were burning and a second alarm was immediately sent in as it was feared the fire would spread to an adjoining storage which contained several barrels of liquid tar, the property of the Consumers Cordage Company. It required six streams, besides a private hose from the Cordage Company to put out the fire. Loungers smoking about the yard are blamed for the fire.

What the Railways Are Doing.

Novements of Men, Managements and Materials in the Railway and Transportation World.

Work on the new C. P. R. station at Winnipeg was begun Monday morning.

It is the intention of the contractors to have the ground floor and first floor of the new station completed by Dec. 1 of this year, and the whole building in readiness by Jan. 1.

The work for this year on the new hotel will be confined to the first two floors, it is likely, as the hotel building will not be required by the company until March 1, 1906. As previously stated, the station and offices will be a four-storey building, semi-fireproof, while the hotel will be completely fireproof, and will have 350 rooms. Edward Maxwell is the architect.

The staff that came in with Peter Lyall yesterday included his son William, who will be in personal charge of the work as soon as the senior member of the firm returns to look after his big contracts in the east in a few days; Robert Whyte, James Crawford and Geo. Darling, the latter of Darling Bros., who have the contract for the installation of the Webster steam-heating apparatus. Mr. Ballantyne, who has the plumbing contract, also arrived yesterday.

It is announced that the following contracts have already been let for the work: The steel will be supplied by the Dominion Bridge Company the plumbing and heating will be done by Jas. Ballantyne, of Montreal,and the stone for the buildings by William Garson, of Winnipeg. It is likely the stone will be supplied in the rough from the Tyndall quarrry, to be cut by the contractors themselves. As much work as possible will be given to Winnipeg men.

Several changes have just been made in the freight department of the Grand Trunk. Mr. J. Edwards, formerly travelling freight agent, out of Montreal, for the eastern division, has gone to Moncton, N.B., to take the place of Mr. Hilliard, who was recently transferred to Buffalo. Mr. F. B. Adams, heretofore contracting agent in Montreal, has been appointed travelling freight agent to succeed Mr. Edwards. Mr. Charles George, of the local freight office, Bonaventure station, has been appointed contracting agent to succeed Mr. Adams.

The party of Canadian newspaper women who are to leave for the World's Fair, St. Louis, to-morrow evening in a special sleeping car on the Canadian Pacific and Wabash roads, will include Miss Barry, Miss Beaupre, Miss Plouff, Miss Hughes, Miss Gleason, Mrs. Asselin and Miss Valoi, of the Montreal press; Mrs. Coleman, Mrs. Dennison and Miss Dawson, of Toronto; Mrs. Laberge and Miss Gerin-Lajoie, of Quebec; Mrs. Watts, of Woodstock, and Miss Irene Love, of London; Miss Graham, of Ottawa, and Mrs. Simpson Hayes, of Winnipeg, the two latter representing a syndicate of newspapers. Advices have been received at the offices of the Canadian Pacific Railway here that receptions will be tendered the women writers at St. Louis and Chicago by the press clubs of those cities, and the authorities of the Fair have offered them all the courtesies extended to the press.

A purchase of thirty-six canvas-covered canoes has been made by the Canadian Pacific Railway. They are of the best make obtainable, except bark structures, it is claimed, and will be used by the company on the lakes and rivers in New Ontario. They will also be offered to tourists and sportsmen who take trips in these regions at prices paid for them by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The Grand Trunk exhibit at the World's Fair at St. Louis occupies a central position in the Forestry, Fish and Game building. It is of Doric and Corinthian architecture, with deer and moose heads as central pieces in the centre. Large bromide pictures depicting hunting, fishing and summer resort scenes along the line are in panels on the three sides. The interior is decorated with large photographic productions, well mounted fish, consisting of brook trout, land-locked salmon, ouananiche, wall-eyed pike, small-mouth black bass and maskinonge. Two oil paintings, 9 x 13 feet, entitled, "The Royal Muskoka Hotel," and "Head of Lake Joseph," scenes in the Muskoka Lake district, handsomely framed, are on the inside front wall. These two pictures willl be placed in the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, after the fair closes. One of the largest moose heads in the world, is also on the wall. This head has a spread of sixty-six inches, the palms having a width of fourteen inches, and is one of the finest specimens of taxidermy on the grounds.

The general coloring is maroon and cream, and the ligh green frames of the bromides and the gold of the oil paintings make a pleasing contrast. Two moving picture machines, showing scenes on the road from St. Clair Tunnel to the Androscoggin river, in Maine, are run continuously, while the wonderful reflection picture, "On Shadow River," continues to revolve every thirty seconds, and a puzzle to many is, which is the reflection? Handsomely printed matter, descriptive of the different sections, is being distributed, and the representative in charge gladly furnishes information regarding the same.

The Pennsylvania Company filed a bill in the United States Circuit Court in Chicago this week asking an injunction to restrain scalpers doing business with or handling non-transferable round-trip tickets issued on account of the World's Fair The bill is similar to those filed a week or two ago by the Michigan Central, Baltimore & Ohio, and Lake Shore roads. The bill states that the business men of Chicago are desirous and exceedingly anxious that the passengers travelling en route to St. Louis should be granted a stop-over for several days in the city of Chicago, and that reduced round-trip tickets should be so issued as to confer the right upon the persons using the same to stop over in Chicago for a period of not less than ten days, without any additional charge being made therefor.

William B. Scott, who on June 1 was appointe dgeneral superintendent of the Houston & Texas Central Railway, was born at Hamilton, August 1, 1862; educated in Guelph; entered the service of the Grand Trunk in 1887 as messenger; from 1884 to 1887 was with the C. P. R. at Winnipeg as despatcher; was for the next four years chief despatcher and trainmaster on the Great Northern; in 1889 was appointed superintendent of telegraphs of the Chicago Great Western; later became trainmaster of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, and in 1892 became superintendent of the Galveston, Harrisburg & San Antonio, which he held until his last promotion.

The Canada Southern has issued its annual report for the fiscal year ended Dec. 31, 1903. Net earnings amounted to $355,088, an increase of $44,921, as compared with the previous year. As the total income of the company was $357,000, and dividends called for $375,000, there was a deficit on the year's operations of $17,224. Last year the company earned a surplus above dividends of $11,410. As a result of the fact that the surplus had to be drawn upon to pay dividends the total surplus at the close of the year amounted to only $8,503.

At a recent meeting of the stockholders of the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo R.R. it was voted to issue $1,000,000 of debenture stock, the proceeds to be used in improving the road and for new equipment. This road is controlled by Vanderbilt and Canadian Pacific interests.

Reports from Battle Creek, Mich., state that the Grand Trunk railroad has purchased 182 acres of land on the outskirts of Battle Creek and will move its locomotive shops there from Port Huron. The agreement with the Battle Creek Business Men's Association allows the railroad five years to effect the change in location. A $75,000 new depot for Battle Creek is included in the agreement.

Could Not Sleep At Night.
Was All Run Down.
Had No Appetite.
FOOD WOULD NOT DIGEST.
Mrs. I. W. Warner, Riverdale, N.S., is glad there is such a remedy as Burdock Blood Bitters.
IT CURED HER AND WILL CURE YOU.
She says: "I wish to add my testimony to the many others who have spoken so highly as to the unfailing virtues of Burdock Blood Bitters. I was all run down, had no appetite, lost all ambition, could not sleep much and had terrible headache and backache, and my food did not digest properly. I saw B B B. advertised, so concluded to give it a trial, thinking if it did no good it could do no harm. But after using one bottle I began to feel better, and by the time I had used three bottles I was feeling like a new person. I am so glad there is such a remedy provided for suffering humanity, and cannot praise it enough for I think there is no medicine like it on the market."

NO RESTING PLACE FOR SEEERVD ARM

Health Department Officials Confronted With a Curious Problem.

When a man is injured in an accident to such an extent that his arm must be amputated, what is to be done with the arm afterwards?

This was the puzzling question submitted to the Health Department at the City Hall this morning, and which kept the officials guessing for some time. A physician of prominence rang up Dr. Louis Laberge, medical health officer, to-day and informed him that he had had occasion to amputate an arm of one of his patients. The operation was comparatively easy to perform, but what to do with the severed limb was more than he could say. The physician wanted to know if he could bury the arm in his backyard, but Dr. Laberge warned him that this would be a violation of the city by-laws. The health regulations strictly forbade the burial of any organic matter inside the city limits, and not even a pet bird or a defunct cat could be disposed of in this manner.

There was also an objection to the arm being laid in some farmer's field outside the city, because if it were dug up the authorities might be led to suspect a crime. Dr. Laberge thought the matter over and advised the physician to summon an undertaker and have the arm decently placed in a coffin. The undertaker could then remove it to one of the cemeteries, and the authorities might consent to its interment there.

Dr. Laberge, in speaking of the incident this morning, said that he doubted if the cemeteries had room to bury the arms of living people. In such cases the best thing to do would be to adopt the system of cremation.

The unfortunate physician is by no means sure that the cemetery authorities will receive the arm and he is quite prepared to see the coffin and its contents conveyed back to his residence at any moment.

CHARGE WAS PREFERRED AGAINST AN OFFICIAL

Dr. Roche, M.P., Charges That Government Interpreter Worked For Liberals.

Ottawa, June 15.—(Special.)—Mr. W. D. Scott, superintendent of immigration, was examined this forenoon before the Committee on Agriculture and Colonization. A large number of questions were put by Mr. Wilson, of Lennox, and Mr. Scott promised to bring down the information.

Dr. Roche, M.P., Marquette, made the charge that an interpreter in the employment of the immigration department at Winnipeg, was engaged on political work assisting the Liberal candidate among the Galicians in Selkirk.

Mr. Scott said that he would have this enquired into.

"If it is correct," asked Mr. Roche, "will you have him dismissed?"

"I have no power to do that," replied Mr. Scott.

They left Halifax yesterday morning, and will connect with the first steamer leaving Vancouver for the East.

While they would say nothing as to their mission to Japan, it is understood they are going to watch the war in the interests of the service. The officers who passed through yesterday said they expected to be joined by several others at Esquimault.

BISHOP DUMOULIN ON NEEDS OF THE CHURCH

He Delivered an Outspoken Address to the Members of Niagara Synod.

Hamilton, Ont., June 15.—The Niagara Synod opened yesterday morning with a comparatively small attendance. Bishop Dumoulin presided and in his annual address, after referring to the affairs of the diocese, referred to the salary question. The average salary paid in the diocese, he said, was $600, and at no time had there been so many vacancies with so few men to fill them. The Bishop said it was a shame and a disgrace to the Church that ministers should receive so little, and be expected to dress well and keep a horse in rural parishes. He made a strong appeal for a betterment of their condition. On the bishop's suggestion a committee was appointed to report on clerical stipends.

Another matter for special question, the bishop said, was the apparent spirit of restlessness which seemed to pervade the people in matters religious. An unbelieving spirit was abroad in the land, calling for a reinstatement of the Father of the Church, and it proceeds from the clergy and professors in college and men high in the Church. He advised the clergy, if they had honest doubt, not to let it out among the people but to be strong, dogmatic and clear upon the great truths upon which salvation rests. He also advised that services be made as short as allowable, cutting out all long anthems, unnecessary reading of hymns, etc., and also condemned the use of the revised Scriptures, which was unauthorized.

It seems folly to experiment with new and untried remedies when there are thousands ready to certify that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have positively cured them of this painful and fatal malady.

Mr. John Gearin, an old resident of Thorold, Ont., states:—"For twenty years I was badly afflicted with kidney troubles, indigestion and bladder derangements. During that time I was a great sufferer and had to get up six to twelve times nightly to pass water. I tried different doctors and used all sorts of medicines to no avail.

"Finally, I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and soon found relief. Thus encouraged I continued to use these pills and after having taken twelve boxes was again in perfect health and vigor. I can now sleep undisturbed, the pains in the kidneys and back are gone, and I am feeling well and strong. I consider Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills a great boon to suffering humanity and had I known about them when I was a young man could have escaped suffering all the best years of my life."

This has been appropriated as follows:—

Balance carried forward		$6,112.65

N.B.—The net profits for the year ending 30th April, 1903, were $51,233.60.

RESERVE FUND.

Balance at credit of account 30th April, 1903	$323,008.74
Balance of Premium on Capital Stock	1,991.26
Transferred from Profit and Loss Account	25,000.00
	$350,000.00

Branches have been opened during the year at the following places:—

Aylmer, Ont.	Dashwood, Ont.	Mount Forest, Ont.
Belmont, Ont.	Prelighsburg, P. Q.	Ottawa (Market Branch).
Burk's Falls, Ont.	Hensall, Ont.	Stanbridge East, P.Q.
Claremont, Ont.	Marmora, Ont.	Zurich, Ont.

These have all come up to expectations, and the outlook is favorable.

The directors feel sure that the bank's progress as shown by the comparative statement already submitted will be entirely satisfactory to the shareholders. The increase of over $2,400,000 in deposits affords gratifying evidence of the confidence which the investing public have in this institution, while the increase of $2,000,000 in commercial loans shows that the bank is attaining to an important position in the mercantile community.

The net profits amounted to $119,760.94, or about 9.21 per cent. on the capital, and show an increase of $68,527.34, or 133¾ per cent. over the previous year.

Our cash resources are maintained at a high level, and these alone are sufficient to pay off the demand deposits, while our total immediately available assets amounts to 54 per cent. of the bank's entire liabilities to the public. These figures will bear favorable comparison with those of the strongest banks in the Dominion.

The past year has been particularly satisfactory, and the outlook for the one we have now entered is very encouraging. The bank's business is in a sound condition, well distributed, and is steadily increasing in a healthy manner.

The shareholders of the bank number 841, as against 810 a year ago, making an average holding of 15 shares per head, and the subscribed capital is now fully paid up.

The branches have been regularly inspected during the year.

The directors have pleasure in recording their appreciation of the zeal and efficiency displayed by the officers of the bank.

H. S. HOLT, President.

Montreal, June 10th, 1904.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

In moving the adoption of the directors' report, I have very little to add to the statements submitted, which speak for themselves, and are eminently satisfactory. I might, however, refer to one item in the profit and loss statement, namely, the rebate on unmatured discounts. This has been calculated at the full legal rate, and, while I understand it has not been customary for banks to rebate during the first few years, we consider it prudent and conservative banking to deduct the amount from the profits. In this, as in the case of our cash reserves, we are actuated by a desire to place the bank in a thoroughly sound position, which will entitle it to the fullest measure of public confidence, and I trust that this policy will always be characteristic of the Sovereign Bank.

I wish also to mention that since the close of our fiscal year we have purchased a site for the bank in Montreal. Our business in that city has long since outgrown our present quarters, and as we found it impossible to secure other satisfactory premises, we had no choice but to purchase a property for ourselves. We were, however, very fortunate in being able to secure a site with a frontage of 45 feet by a depth of 100 feet on St. James Street (between St. Peter and McGill Streets) at a cost of something less than $60,000. This site is in the very heart of the financial and banking district of Montreal, and it is proposed to erect a building in which we can properly accommodate our business, and one which will be both creditable and profitable to the bank. The land is bound to increase in value, and is already too valuable to erect a building on it solely for the accommodation of the bank. It has, therefore, been decided to put up an office building, and I have every hope that this will prove a satisfactory investment to the shareholders.

I would like to say that the business of the bank has received great care and attention from our very able General Manager, and his efficient staff, who have spared no time or effort to give to the public a satisfactory and up-to-date service and to the shareholders a sound and profitable institution.

I now move the adoption of the directors' report, seconded by Mr. Macdonald, the Vice-President. Carried.

GENERAL MANAGER'S ADDRESS.

I am content to let the statements placed before you to-day testify to our stewardship during the past year. I would like to say, however, that the results have only been achieved by extremely hard work on the part of all officers of the bank. You could not wish for a more loyal and painstaking body of men, and the success of the institution is in no small degree due to the courteous treatment, prompt attention and obliging service which the staff has invariably rendered to the public. When you once get business, the great thing is to keep it, and I feel safe in saying that the Sovereign Bank will not lose many customers for want of either technical knowledge or prompt and cheerful attention.

It affords me very great pleasure to be in a position to inform the shareholders at the close of the bank's second year that we have a clientele of which any institution in the Dominion might be proud. We number amongst our customers several important municipal corporations, insurance companies and societies, as well as some of the largest and most conservative merchants and manufacturers in Canada. We are in a position to handle in the most efficient way every financial detail of the import and export business. This department is steadily increasing, and brings the bank in touch with the best houses in this country, the United States and Great Britain, and it will be our constant endeavor to maintain in increasing measure the high-class patronage the bank now enjoys.

I think I can say without egotism that the Sovereign Bank has been of distinct benefit to the Canadian public. It has encouraged thrift among classes who never kept savings accounts before, and in the rural districts, where we took over the business of several private bankers, we have naturally given better banking facilities and afforded the people a much greater measure of security for their savings than they ever had before.

Our profits for the past year have not been contributed to by any "wind falls," but have been made in the ordinary way of legitimate banking business. We were, however, fortunate in being singularly free from losses, due chiefly to the fact that we have been in a position to decline any account that we did not consider a fair banking risk. We never refuse a really good account, and so manage our resources as to always have plenty of money to handle any first-class business that offers.

The following table will give you an idea of how the bank has grown during the past year, and how well its business is distributed:—

	April 30, 1903.		April 30, 1904.
Number of officers on the staff	103		151
Number of savings' accounts open	6,006	($2,862,000)	15,125	($4,612,000)
Total number of bank's customers	8,006	($3,253,000)	20,551	($5,700,000)
Number of discount accounts declined	440	($3,546,461)	723	($5,358,980)

The discount accounts declined include only strictly commercial business. While some of this was unquestionably doubtful, it was not all bad, but it simply did not come up to our standard. The highest class of business also is not the most remunerative, but it is the safest, and, while we do not pretend to be able to keep clear of the unavoidable losses that occur in business, we will do our best to secure only such of it as contains a minimum amount of risk.

As regards doubtful accounts, I may say that our policy is to wipe them off our books altogether. If we recover anything from them later, well and good, but meantime we commence our new fiscal year with an absolutely clean sheet.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

Votes of thanks were tendered to the President and Directors for their services during the year, and also to the General Manager and staff.

Both resolutions were heartily received.

Lieut.-Col. Pellatt considered the statements submitted very complete and satisfactory, and thought the large attendance complimentary to the directors, and showed the interest the shareholders took in the bank. The manner in which the deposits had increased shows how fully the institution holds the confidence of the public.

Mr. W. K. McNaught stated that he voiced the sentiments of every shareholder when he said that the results shown were in every way satisfactory. They evidenced close attention and vigilance on the part of the directors and management, and with the continuance of such attention the Sovereign Bank was bound to go on and prosper.

Mr. J. F. Junkin thought that the statement reflected the utmost credit upon the General Manager and staff, for, no matter how good a Board of Directors a bank had, it was necessary to have efficient management in order to carry out their views.

At the close of the meeting the following directors were declared elected:—H. S. Holt, A. A. Allan, Arch. Campbell M.P., James Carruthers, Randolph Macdonald, Hon. Peter McLaren, Hon. D. McMillan and John Pugsley.

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors H. S. Holt was elected President and Randolph Macdonald Vice-President.

SUNDAY TRADING WILL BE STOPPED

Council to Amend the Law—City Will Not Sell St. Gabriel Market.

Sunday trading was again discussed by the City Council yesterday, and a new by-law on the subject will be introduced in thirty days. The matter came up with the reading of a report from the Police Committee on the petition of the Lord's Day Alliance asking to have the law against Sunday trading enforced.

Not long ago an amendment was introduced to the civic by-law, but the courts declared it ultra vires, and it has consequently hindered the operation of the old law.

Ald. L. A. Lapointe, in moving that the report be laid on the table, said that even if the amendment had been declared ultra vires, the original by-law was on the books, and he saw no reason to prevent its being enforced.

Mayor Laporte remarked that it had been a custom to tolerate the sale of fruit and light refreshments on Sundays, chiefly for the reason that many poor people made a living in that way. The question, however, was altered when the big shops were opened, some of them for the sale of merchandise. The old law could not be fully enforced until the Council repealed the amendment.

The motion of Ald. L. A. Lapointe to place the report on the table was accepted, and Ald. Nelson moved that as the amendment had been declared ultra vires, the City Clerk be requested to prepare a new by-law repealing the same in thirty days. This was adopted.

Wants No More Shanties.

Ald. L. A. Lavallee gave notice of a by-law to regulate the erection of buildings on St. Lawrence street from Sherbrooke to Mount Royal avenue. The intention of Ald. Lavallee is to prevent people from putting up any more shanties on the street.

Will Not Sell St. Gabriel Market.

A report in favor of selling the old St. Gabriel market site met with opposition from Ald. Walsh, and it was thrown out. On one corner of the site the city had erected a fire station, and the rest should be kept as a public square.

Ald. Vallieres thought that the land ought to be sold, since the people of the district were well provided with squares.

The report was rejected by a vote of 14 to 10.

Wants Relief From Office Seekers.

Ald. Ames moved that all permanent civic appointments be advertised in the Municipal Gazette. This might do away with the numerous requests for jobs from the aldermen. Every vacancy ought to be published, with the qualifications needed for the position and the salary offered. Then when an alderman was asked for a position he could at once find out whether there were any vacancies, and what kind of men were needed to fill them.

The motion was seconded by Ald. Bastien and carried by a vote of 14 to 10.

As to Garbage Removal.

Ald. Lavallee made a report on the alleged garbage nuisance at Dorchester and Drummond streets. The garbage was taken away twice a week, as in other parts of the city, but he had noticed that barrels were kept in the lane instead of in the yards, and this was probably the cause of the complaint.

The motion to pay $1,000 to the family of the late Firemen Enright, was rejected by Council, as it was thought that the circumstances of his death did not make the city responsible.

Permanent Library Committee.

A motion of Ald. Couture to make the Library Committee permanent was carried by a vote of 10 to 8, although Ald. Ames remarked that it was strange to amend the rules of Council by a vote of only half the members.

The application to incorporate the Club "l'Etoile" was refused.

A motion by Ald. Ames that in lieu of a cash deposit, guarantee bonds from trust companies be accepted by the city as deposits for the fulfilment of contracts, was adopted.

A PRECEDENT.

The members of the Dry Goods Association who are asking the Finance Minister to extend the time for entering woollen goods under the old duty, have found a precedent for their request in the action taken by the Conservative Government in 1887. When the tariff changes of that year were announced by Mr. Foster, an exception was made in regard to certain goods, the time for importation being extended from May 13 to July 1.

NEW STREET CAR TRACK TO BE SOON CONSTRUCTED

The Route Will be Along the Main Longue Pointe Road Eastward From Notre Dame.

The relations between the Suburban Tramway and Light Co., which has been granted a charter to construct a line in Longue Pointe, and the Montreal Street Railway were shown at a meeting of the Longue Pointe Town Council, when Mr. Duncan McDonald, manager, and Mr. Ludger Trudeau, superintendent of the Street Railway, represented the Suburban Company.

The Council, on the motion of Coun. Bernard, unanimously adopted a by-law authorizing the Suburban Company to exercise the powers and privileges granted it by the Legislature in the municipality of Longue Pointe.

The line which the company proposes to build according to the announcement made The Herald to-day will run along the main Longue Pointe road eastward out of Notre Dame Street.

In some places, the road being too narrow, the company will expropriate different pieces of property from proprietors. As soon as the expropriations have been settled the construction of the road will be started.

AMMUNITION THIEF CAUGHT.

Kingston, Ont., June 15.—(Special.)—The police have made an arrest in connection with the stolen ammunition found in the tower beyond Fort Henry. What gave them a clue was the fact that a small wharf had been built from the shore during the past week, and it was suspected that those connected with the affair were making preparations to load the ammunition, etc., into boats and take it across the river to the States. On this supposition the police worked, and it looks as though they would get at the bottom of the affair. It is thought that more stolen articles may be found.

RESPONSIBLE GOVERNMENT.

The memorandum in which the Cabinet committee set out the reasons for the dismissal of Lord Dundonald leaves nothing to be desired by way of exposition of the constitutional principle involved. Mr. Fisher was perfectly within his right in bringing to the notice of his colleague, the Minister of Militia, such information as he saw fit; Lord Dundonald was wholly out of his right in making the speech he made at Montreal. Therefore, there was nothing for it but that Lord Dundonald be relieved of the command of the militia.

It is the same old question, in a new form, that troubled the politics of Canada half a century ago and more. In the early days of Canada the governors who were sent out from Great Britain insisted that local politicians must not bring their quarrels into the affairs of Empire, the affairs of Empire consisting in the appointment to important offices of people whom the governors thought best fitted "to serve their King." The early governors applied that principle to their Cabinet Councils, to the Judiciary, to the Militia, to every service they could directly or indirectly influence. They held fast to the principle they laid down, and filled the offices with those who backed them up. That was how the old Family Compact came to be the dominant factor in Ontario politics, how a militia man who dared to question the wisdom of the government of the day came to be deprived of his uniform, how judges who would not bow to the will of the autocrats came to be dismissed, how the elections about Montreal in one eventful year came to be a pitched battle between the governor and the popular leader.

Even after the armed uprising of 1837-8, even after the Union of the Canadas, the pernicious principle was adhered to. First Lord Sydenham, and then Sir Charles Metcalfe, defied the popular will, and drew their advisers, in the name of Empire, from the party of the Family Compact. To make good the profession of superiority to politics, they were always on the look out for some weak-kneed Reformer who, tempted by the bait of office for himself, would enter the governor's council, even if by so doing he lost all his prestige with the people.

It was the great outstanding service of Baldwin and Lafontaine to their country that, at the price of much obloquy and insult, they put a stop to this system. When they let Sir Charles Metcalfe know that they, or he only as advised by them, must have the say about all appointments under the Crown, they raised the issue for the last time. He turned them out of office, but they showed him that while he had the places he had not the power, and in the end Lord Elgin came over, to reverse the old policy, and to give to the chosen of the people the full control of all such matters, subject only to their ability to retain the approval of the Legislature. When Mr. Blake, long afterwards, came to be Minister of Justice, he engaged in a correspondence with the Colonial Office, the result of which was to still further limit the powers of the Governor-General. Nothing, in fact, remained of the old disturbing element, except this office of the General Commanding the Militia, the occupants of which, because they have been chosen in England, have always considered themselves as different from other officials of the Canadian Government, and, in this last case, free to re-introduce the vicious principle by which the old governors set so much store. They seem to have felt that they were here less to help and advise the Canadian Government than to dictate to it. Lord Dundonald's contemptuous language about "farmers" and Ottawa "etiquette" indicates clearly enough his way of looking at the matter, and his decision to risk his position—and much more—rather than abandon the ridiculous Baker Family Compact, proves clearly enough that the recurrence of the old political malady was in his case very serious indeed.

Let us hope that as the autocratic action of Sir Charles Metcalfe was the means of establishing responsible government on a firm footing, so this Dundonald episode may be the means of convincing the country that it is unwise for the militia to be kept any longer in the confusion bound to follow from the practice of serving two masters.

BUT ONE OUT OF EIGHTEEN.

The report of the sub-committee of the Privy Council says: "He (Mr. Fisher), interfered, not to have the regiment officered by his own political friends, but to see that capable military men of all political colors receive, as far as possible, equal consideration. That he did not seek to give his own political color to the regiment is abundantly evidenced by the fact that of eighteen names submitted in the list only one was struck out by him, and by the further fact that a majority of the gentlemen chosen for commissions with his approval are his political opponents.

"In the case of the gentleman particularly mentioned by Lord Dundonald as having been objected to, it has been shown that he had never been in any way connected with the militia, and therefore was not regarded as a suitable person to have the rank of major; and that Mr. Fisher recommended for the place another gentleman, who was also a political opponent, but who was well qualified by military service for a position of command."

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

"Canada is no longer a plantation, but a nation."—Lord Minto.

Whoever wrote that Privy Council memorandum knows his busines.

Dundonald had to go, but most people will be sorry he made it necessary.

The English aristocratic newspapers are now filled with sneers at Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He can stand it.

Perhaps Lord Dundonald might like to be G. O. C., with Sam Hughes as Minister of Militia. Hutton wouldn't.

Let us not forget that it was a Conservative Government that let General Herbert go rather than give in to him.

Dundonald had to choose between the Government of the day and the Baker Family Compact, and he made a bad choice.

The Baker Family Compact have at least the satisfaction of knowing that Lord Dundonald made himself a martyr in their defence.

English papers think Sir Wilfrid should have stuck to Dundonald. But there is no record of Dundonald's having appealed to Sir Wilfrid.

A lot of English papers seem to think that "dragooning" is precisely what we Canadians need, and are surprised that we don't know it.

If the people of the Townships have any love for Dundonald they will put the blame for his trouble where it rightly belongs, with the grasping Family Compact.

Where did Lord Dundonald get so high an opinion of the Baker Family Compact, anyway? Had he been taking his information from the enemies of the Government all along?

The London Telegraph thinks Sir John Macdonald would have stood by the commanding officer, and, doubtless, have dismissed his colleague. That shows how much they know of about Sir John.

Before Lord Dundonald allows himself to become a plank in the Conservative party platform, he should look up the records of those of his predecessors who had to do with former Conservative Governments.

As was to be expected the Ottawa Citizen, the Brockville Times, and other Conservative papers, have jumped on Sir Wilfrid Laurier's inadvertent use of the word "foreigner," and are worrying the poor word as though it were a bone.

Lord Minto does not seem to have interposed any substantial delay in the way of relieving his fellow peer of the office he held. As he has lived in Ottawa for more than two years, perhaps he has not hardened to its "lack of etiquette."

There is no politics in the discussion caused by the Dundonald incident, except that all Conservatives stand by him for standing by the Baker family Compact, and all Liberals denounce his insubordination. He must be learning a lot, if he watches the papers.

About the worst thing that has been said yet about the Townships is that nobody around Sweetsburg was fit to be an officer except Senator Baker's son, his son-in-law, his nephew, his grand-nephew, and his son-in-law's relative. The district must be highly flattered.

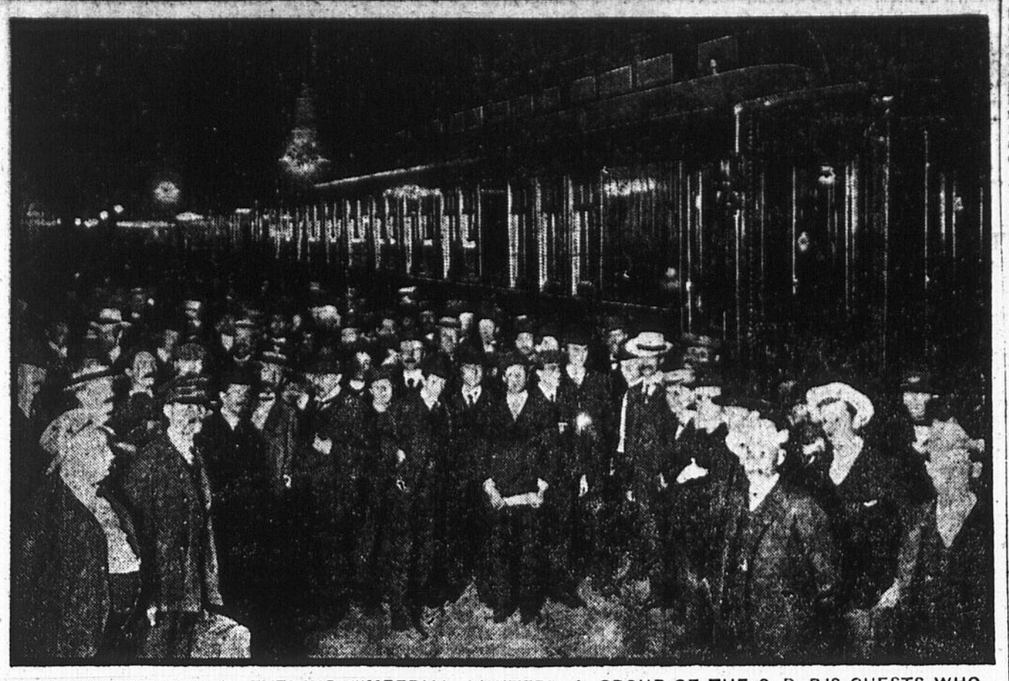
The Star expresses the hope that Hon. Mr. Fisher will not retire from the Cabinet, as this thing ought to be fought out now. Don't worry about that. Nothing Mr. Fisher has done indicates that he will shirk his share of the fighting. That's what seems to have surprised Dundonald.

Lord Dundonald is surely wrong about having made appointments with Mr. Fisher to discuss the affairs of the new regiment. What? Discuss with a mere agricultural politician who are fitted to be officers? Never. Surely Mr. Fisher is more apt to be right when he says Lord Dundonald telephoned that "politicians" must keep off the grass.

"I give all credit to Lord Dundonald for good motives," declared Sir Wilfrid, "but we are not accustomed to being dragooned in this country. Lord Dundonald, with all respect to him, must learn that this is responsible government, and when he sends a recommendation to council it is the right—it is the right, I say—of the Minister of Agriculture, if he does not approve, to scratch off any name."—Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Mr. Fisher has been accused of objecting to the list of Sweetsburg officers because it contained the name of one gentleman who may be a Conservative candidate. No charge could be more absolutely answered than this is by the fact that Mr. Fisher not merely raised no objection to the gazetting of Mr. Gibson—the gentleman in question—but expressed his belief that the appointment was in the best interests of the regiment. Had the Minister been introducing politics, here was the place where he could have interfered.

The Toronto News accepts as true Lord Dundonald's statement that Mr. Fisher broke two appointments made with the General—and on this basis accuses the minister of discourtesy. Mr. Fisher flatly denies the statement that any appointment was made, and all the circumstances point to his version being the correct one. The News further says that it was Mr. Fisher's duty if he had objections to the proposed officers, to place these before Lord Dundonald, who was entrusted with the work of organizing the corps. It was Col. Smart who was entrusted with this work, and with him Mr. Fisher did consult, as well as with the man who, in the last analysis, was responsible, the Minister of Militia.



THE FIRST TRIP OF THE EVENING "IMPERIAL LIMITED"—A GROUP OF THE C. P. R.'S GUESTS WHO WERE ON BOARD ON THE INAUGURAL TRIP.

The Press on the Dundonald Incident

And Was Promptly Fired.

General Miles did not hesitate to appeal to public opinion against even the attempts of President Roosevelt to play politics with the military service of the United States.—Toronto Telegram, (Conservative).

"Bobs" Didn't Have Time.

The constitution never was written that would have prevented Lord Roberts from taking his official life in his hand and appealing to the people of Britain.—Toronto Telegram, (Con).

Oh, Dear!

Mr. Fisher, has in this matter asserted a principle of action in regard to the militia service which will be accounted damnable through the length and breadth of Canada.—London Free Press (Con.)

Common Sense, This.

If gentlemen holding positions of trust under the Government can go about the country criticizing and censuring ministers in the manner of Lord Dundonald there would be chaos in the public service. If Lord Dundonald had a grievance there was a businesslike way of proceeding to find a remedy. He did not adopt it, however, but instead made a speech at Montreal which has produced all the trouble that followed. Upon Lord Dundonald rests the responsibility.—St. John Globe (Lib.)

All There Is To It.

Commissions in the militia are issued by the Government, and the advice of the G. O. C. is secured. It is not necessarily taken. When that advice does not seem good, the responsible Government of the day acts as seems best. Were it otherwise, a pretty state of affairs might result, especially with a G. O. C. from across the ocean, in no way responsible to the Canadian public, and in open hostility to the Government of the day. The situation would be one that could not be tolerated and would lead to much worse troubles than any that arise now and cause these officers to resign or be recalled.—Toronto Star (Lib.)

Defending the Indefensible.

Lord Dundonald executed a clever flank movement upon his assailants when he placed a copy of his explanations in the hands of Col. Sam Hughes. In these days when official documents are "confidential" they do not reach the public if the Ottawa Government does not regard them as supporting its case. Lord Dundonald's ample reply to Mr. Fisher would, as the debate shows, have been suppressed had Col. Hughes not been in a position to lay it before Parliament and the country.—Toronto Mail and Empire (Con.)

The Baker Preserve.

Virulent local partisan feeling is too common in Canada, and cases occur when the control of regiments is centred in a knot of men all of one political color. When that occurs, political prejudices sometimes assert themselves, and few men of the opposite party are allowed by the dominant element of their brother officers to rise high in the corps. An observer less directly interested than the minister in political charge of the Eastern Town ships might well be apprehensive if he thought he saw any sign of the 13th Scottish Light Dragoons becoming one of these political preserves.—(Toronto News (Ind.)

A Place of Refuge.

Our Tory friends who made the militia department a place of refuge for men of their party, know very well that their present charge against the Government is unfounded, and that in Dr. Pickel's case they have no justification worthy a moment's consideration.—Fredericton Herald (Lib.)

A Pretty Free Country.

But his case suggests another parallel even more striking—the punishment inflicted in the case of the once popular Col. Marchand, the hero of the Fashoda incident, who, only a fortnight ago, was sentenced to thirty days' imprisonment because he ventured to criticise his superior, the Minister of Defence, in a Paris newspaper.

In Germany, where the laws governing military discipline are even more rigorous and inflexible, criticism of the Government by a military officer would assuredly be followed by at least six month's solitude in a fortress.—Ottawa Free Press (Lib.)

Keeping His Place.

At the dinner in question, Colonel Hibbard, who seems to have been one of the sober officers present, took occasion to point out very forcibly the rights and duties of the Government. These Lord Dundonald, or anyone in his position, ought to study, and learn to keep his place and show gentlemanly courtesy to the ministers who represent the people.—Hamilton Times, (Lib.)

An Easy Victim.

It looks as though Lord Dundonald's pique over his discovery that he was not independent of the Government of Canada had made him an easy victim of men in search of a club with which to belabor the Government. Lord Dundonald's position is worse than had been guessed. It was known when he appealed to a banquet audience in the fashion related, that he could not be right. That he was so entirely without excuse as he is now proved to have been, could not well be suspected.—St. John Telegraph (Lib).

Egging Him On.

This country is British and there are as many British Liberals as British Conservatives in it, and it seems high time that the existing Government were reminded of the fact. Lord Dundonald will only have done half his duty if he fails to see the incident through. If he resigns he will be only playing into the hands of Hon. Sydney Fisher et al.—with the accent on the et al.—Ottawa Citizen (Con).

In a Strange Land.

Lord Dundonald is a brave and competent soldier, and gave promise of being more useful to the Canadian militia than some of his predecessors. But like the majority of them, he has failed to know what his place is in this country.—London Advertier (Lib).

A Rock-bottom Argument.

The commander-in-chief is doubtless sincere in views, that the control of the militia should be in the hands of the commander-in-chief; but, with the people supporting the militia and "tooting" the bills for maintaining the service, the people should be represented in the management of its affairs, through the Government of the day whether Liberal or Conservative—Moncton Transcript, (Lib).

Baker Family Compact to Blame.

Lord Dundonald, it may be presumed, knew nothing of the wires that were being pulled. He was deceived, and there will be general regret that he allowed temper to get the better of his discretion. He is a gallant soldier, and has won a large measure of popularity in Canada, but the principle that the affairs of this country, whether civil or military, must be controlled by the representatives of the people, is one that cannot be neglected.

It is not a peculiarly Canadian doctrine; it is originally and eminently British. If our commanding officers were from Germany or Russia they could not, seemingly, be more ignorant of it as a fundamental constitutional doctrine. However, unpleasant it may be to have to constantly maintain it against the General Officer Commanding, it is too important to admit of any weakness in enforcing it.—Toronto Globe (Lib).

Breezy.

If Lord Dundonald spoke the words attributed to him, and we have the authority of the Montreal Gazette, that one if its stenographers took down the words as above, he exhibited a degree of assurance, not to say impertinence that can scarcely be excused even in a major general, who has a brilliant war record, and he will doubtless be invited to speedily pack his grip and return to England.—Fredericton Herald (Lib).

Regrettable.

We think it is to be regretted that Lord Dundonald made this speech and he was certainly to blame for bringing a matter of this kind up before an after dinner audience. Such a proceeding could not affect any good, while it was certain to produce friction between himself and the militia department with whom it should have been his aim to work in harmony.—Fredericton Gleaner.

No Plantation, but a Nation.

That Lord Dundonald did not take the right way of giving expression to his complaint against the Government is undeniable. Nor can any fault be found with the Government for asserting its dignity and upholding the rules of office. For the rest, these quarrels between the party government of Canada and the representative of the Imperial War Office have always been going on, and will go on so long as the dual authority is retained. One Imperial commander of the militia did get through his term of office; but he escaped friction simply by inaction. Harmony can be secured only by introducing unity of administration, in other words, by vesting the authority in the responsible Minister alone. Canada will have in this as in other matters to act upon Lord Minto's pregnant hint that she is "no longer a plantation, but a nation." Six millions of tolerably intelligent people must undertake, in respect to military administration as in other respects, to govern or misgovern themselves.—Bystander, in Weekly Sun.

Lord Dundonald's Blunders.

It is a pity that Lord Dundonald, who had so largely in keeping one of the bonds between Canada and the Empire, should have departed from a good usage in so serious and, we must add, so unmilitary a way as to address his inferiors in the service in reprobation of his own superiors. For his Lordship certainly misapprehends the principles of responsible government if he does not know that the ministers are the persons responsible to the people for the administration of the militia, and that they are the superior officers even of the general officer commanding.

We cannot pardon Lord Dundonald for forwarding his letter of explanation to Parliament through a member of the Opposition. This was an insult to the Government apart from the fact that it could only be taken as meaning that he had fear of the letter being uncandidly suppressed, should it get into the hands of a minister. It does not add to our people's sense of his wisdom that the member chosen for this purpose should be one whose letters from South Africa during the war kept the whole of Canada laughing, being handed round by the press for the amusement of readers.

Lord Dundonald's attitude with regard to appointments is untenable. It means nothing less than that all military appointments should be made absolutely by him and not by the Government at all, a position in which the Canadian people could not at all sustain him however much they love him. —Montreal Witness, June 13.

WHERE DID HE GET HIS INFORMATION?

Editor Herald:

Sir,—In the Dundonald matter one thing seems to have been lost sight of, where did he get his information? Personally he could know nothing concerning the parties he recommended, and to that extent the recommendation was not his but that of his informants. Judging from the nature of these recommendations he must have permitted himself to have been made the catspaw of either a family compact or a political party. Of course, that was all right so long as the advantage went to the compact or the Tory party, but when their game was interfered with, they this same Tory party cry "No Politics." Truly, neither Dundonald nor the Opposition have much ground for congratulating themselves on the outcome of their exploit, and the cry of "No Politics" would come with greater consistency from the Opposition if they themselves had not been guilty of such a flagrant attempt to make party gain for themselves in trying to control all these appointments.

WHERE TO FIND A LAUGH

Through The Herald's Sieve.

LORD DUNDONALD'S reputation as an after dinner speaker seems to have overshadowed his military record.

THERE is no politics in this militia scrap. The Cons. would only be willing to pay Lord Dundonald $75 a second to keep on talking.

MR. W. D. LIGHTHALL is enthusiastic about Borden's railroad scheme. Mr. Lighthall is a railroad expert. He passes the railroad stations every day on his way down town.

ATTENDANCE at St. Louis World's Fair to date is 1,999,942. Are you the one that made it 1,999,942 instead of 1,999,941?

It's a comfort to the proud mother of a family of children to read how none of the great men ever got good marks at school.

WANTED—A new G.O.C., who knows where to talk about a grievance when he has one.

HOW IS IT that Dr. Joe Chamberlain

hasn't been feeling John Bull's pulse lately?

Our Man With Kuropatkin.

Gen. Kuropatkin looked around. Then he beckoned to an aide.

"I don't seem to see the front," he said. "Where is it?"

The aide saluted deferentially.

"We thought it best to remove it to the rear, General," he said.

The eminent commander nodded.

'Conduct me to it," he cried, and started on a rapid lope in the direction opposite the enemy. "I'd like to see it before it again falls back," he faintly gasped, as he redoubled his speed.

WITH a fire eating warrior like Dr. Pickel not lined up in Canada's defence it's a wonder we are able to sleep nights.

A MAN writing to the Gazette suggests another banquet for Lord Dundonald. We would like to bet $7,000 to a doughnut that the master mind that made the suggestion is a Conservative.

Report to Czar.

"I am running, Russia, running—
Slowly ebbs my strength away,
I am racing, they are chasing
Onward, inward, day by day.

"I have made a sprinting record—
Now can barely hear their shouts—
But have lost my extra baggage,
My silk hat and whereabouts.

"Send me fresh troops, guides, provisions,
Nor deny me these appeals,
I'm enticing to destruction
The heedless heathen at my heels!"

THE Russian army north of Port Arthur spends so much of its time in "retiring" that its pajama bills must be bigger than its expenditures for ammunition.

IF the town of Kaichou were located in this country somebody would name it Sneezeville and it would become a famous hay fever resort.

A NEW YORK woman who was worth $75,000 died the other day and left her husband only $5, because he hadn't kissed her for nearly seven years. Permitting the heart to grow old doesn't always pay.

U.S. ADMIRAL SIGSBEE has cabled from San Domingo: "Revolution now ended." He carelessly neglected to mention which one.

"EVERY WOMAN believes in corporal punishment for children when she hasn't any," says the Westmount Philosopher.

IF our score card is correct, this is the seventy-ninth consecutive week of deep silence on the part of the Tarte boom.

JUNE is a trying month for a person who has both a touch of rheumatism and a fondness for strawberries.

End-Seat-Hog.

The end-car seat we hold so dear
Our selfishness explains—
All want it when the weather's clear,
None takes it when it rains.

RUSSIA has found out that her latest permission to take the Black Sea fleet out through the Dardanelles has the same fault that was noticeable in the preceding ones. It doesn't permish.

At the War.

"Won't you walk into my parlor
(It's a cunning little trap);
Come in as far as Harbin,"
Said the Russian to the Jap.

The invitation was accepted,
And, entering with a shout,
The Japs they seized the parlor
And threw the owners out.

CZAR NICHOLAS has begun to find infernal machines under his bed. There's a boy who doesn't need a microscope when he goes hunting for trouble.

THE MAN who passed several counterfeit $100 bills on the Gravesend bookmakers has discovered the only way to win at the races.

Yes, Indeed.

"That man over there has lived all his life in Toronto."

"If that is true, he certainly is entitled to a Carnegie hero medal."

JUNE BUG AND MAN.

The June bug is a joyous thing;
How glad it is at night,
When every flutter of each wing
Seems telling its delight!
It zooms about from place to place
Upon its happy trip,
Until against a wall its face
Goes, with a sounding "Bip!"

We trace its progress by its bumps
As well as by its whizz.
How often someone quickly jumps
And cries: "Hark! There it is!"
And then we hear its "b-z-z-z um-m-m
bum-m-m-m,"
And mark its rise and dip
Until misfortune stills its hum—
It strikes the wall with "Bip!"

Vain man is like the bug of June
Which bips against the wall:
He may fly high, but pretty soon
He's sure to have a fall.
'Tis pessimistic so to write,
But fate is sure to nip
The man some luckless day or night—
He'll hit the wall with "Bip!"

How idle, then, the pride of man!
He does not know there are
About him, built with cunning plan
The walls whereon he'll jar.
He does not know—and so he scoots
Until he's lost his grip,
And then the crowd that's watching hoots
An echo to his "Bip!"

But, this the June bug teaches us—
This lesson for all men:
When bitter fate has bipped you thus
Rise up and bip again!"
Hard luck can never truly say
It has you on the bip.
Be like the June bug. Then you may
Try for another "Bip!"

AT LAST Gen. Stoessel has been able to make a report without the usual regret coupon attached.

THE SUM of $100 is offered to any couple who will get married in a Notre Dame Street store window. It's worth the money.

BORDEN took over a week to think of his tariff speech, and it reads as if he only took a minute to think of it.

JUDGING by the way the Japs are shoving the Russians around it strikes us that the little yellow chaps ought to make good lacrosse players.

TORONTO CAR EMPLOYES MAY GO ON STRIKE

Both Sides are Preparing—Men Will Meet To-night to Decide on Action.

Toronto, June 15.—A strike on the Toronto Street Railway is not yet a foregone conclusion, though both sides are preparing for a struggle that will be of a very pronounced nature while it lasts. Neither the officials of the Street Railway Employes' Union nor of the company will say anything about the position of matters at present. The street car conductors and motormen now receive 18 and 22 cents per hour. This averages $13.50 per week. They want 25 cents per hour, or an average of $15 per week. There are other considerations, but these are the chief points at issue. It is expected that a day or two at the most will decide the question of a strike.

Negotiations have been going on between representatives of the men and the company for more than a week. The directors of the company met last night.

The men received the reply of the company to their demands. A special meeting of the men has been called for midnight to-day to consider it. It is well understood that the company will not recede what the men ask, although some advance may be offered, and it is also possible the men may also instruct their representatives to renew negotiations seeking an improvement of the company's offer, but the company appears to have been preparing for some time to resist a strike, and the public anxiety regarding the outcome has in this way been increased.

The farmers in this district say that the county is overrun with tramps, and some of those gentry are suspected of the deed.

The mass was sung by the children of Mary, and the church was crowded with the English residents of Beaconsfield and Pointe Claire, among whom the bride was very popular. The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Mr. Louis Dagnais, wore a charming gown of white canvas cloth, heavily trimmed with cluny lace, her tulle veil was surmounted with a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of white peonies. CHAPTER XVII.—(Continued.)

"Your wife is braver than you gave her credit for, Ivar," remarked the earl approvingly. "If you will carry the lamp, I will give her my arm."

"Thank you," replied Lorelie, declining the proferred aid, "but I can walk without aid."

They set forward form the dining-hall, the earl going first, Ivar a model of ill-grace walking beside Lorelie. He did not speak, but glanced curiously at her from time to time.

The expedition was so strange, so unlike anything she had ever before known, that Lorelle began to wonder whether the whole scene was not a dream. It was difficult to believe that the earl, so smiling and courteous, could really entertain the black design of which she suspected him.

At the end of the Picture Gallery they reached that little lumber-room which Godfrey Rothwell had so long hesitated to enter on that memorable night when tracking Ivar to the vault. Making his way to the hearth the earl stood in the wide space beneath the mantel, and lifting his hand within the chimney he touched what Lorelie judged was a hidden spring, for his action was immediately followed by a faint creaking of pulleys and ropes, and then the perpendicular slab forming one side of the fire-place began slowly to descend, revealing behind it an empty space.

"The secret way to our crypt," remarked the earl.

He passed through the entrance. Ivar, who had not spoken one word since leaving the dining-hall, followed. Lorelie went last.

She looked about her. The light carried by Ivar faintly illumined the place. She was standing in a narrow passage, paved, walled and roofed, with stone. Its length could not be ascertained by the eye, for it stretched away indefinitely in the gloom.

The earl began to manipulate the machinery, and the stone slab slowly ascended till its lower end rested upon the hearth again. Lorelle, attentive to his action, grasped with quick eye the principle of the mechanism. Such knowledge would be useful in the event of her having to return alone.

All communication with the outer world was now cut off.

She was completely at the mercy of the two men, and though this was only what she had anticipated, yet none the less the sudden realization of the fact caused a certain chilling of her high courage.

The order of their march was now changed; they walked abreast; Lorelle in the centre, the early on her right, Ivar, still silent, on her left.

Though apparently staring about with interest and curiosity, Lorelle in reality never took hr eyes from the earl. It might have been simply the effect of the flickering light, but in her opinion his face had an exultant and sinister expression. She became more than ever on her guard, and any sudden movement on his part caused her right hand to seek her dress pocket in which a loaded revolver lay concealed.

A steep descent of stone steps now yawned in front of them. With her left hand Lorelie drew her dainty skirts around her, and glanced in disgust at the black slimy ooze and the patches of fungous growth.

"These stairs look slippery," she mrumured.

"A former lord of Ormsby broke his neck down these very steps," remarked the earl.

"I have no wish to imitate his feat," said Lorelle, drawing back a little. "Do you go first. If I slip I shall be but a light weight, whereas if you should fall upon me," she added, with a shrug of her shoulders, "there is no knowing what might happen."

The earl gave her a suspicious look as if detecting a hidden meaning in her words; then, compliant with her wish, he led the way down the steps. Lorelle came last, feeling more at ease in being at the rear.

The stairs terminated in the flagged flooring of another passage, at the end of which was the crypt.

As she entered Lorelle could not repress a shiver, the atmosphere of the place striking her senses with a damp chilling effect.

Ivar, by aid of the light he had carried, proceeded to kindle the lamp pendent from the roof, and every object in the chamber became clearly visible.

At a glance Lorelle took in the whole scene—the octagonal crypt, the black velvet curtains draping the alcoves, the massive oak table, and the four antique carved chairs; everything just as Godfrey had described it.

As her eye fell upon the silver lace edging the lower end of a curtain adjacent to the door, her face expressed satisfaction, a satisfaction that became instantly lost in a very different feeling; for there, on the floor by one of the alcoves, was a chest of cypress wood, an object she readily identified as the reliquary that had figured so conspicuously in Godfrey's narration. The lid stood erect and she noticed that the contents consisted of whitish powder.

"Quicklime!" she murmured with a thrill.

Becoming doubly vigilant, she sat down in one of the chairs and prepared herself for emergencies.

On the table stood a decanter partly filled with wine, and beside it some glasses. Observant of everything Lorelie saw that though the smooth surface of the table was overlaid with a coating of dust, the display of glass exhibited not a trace of it; evidently the wine was of recent introduction—perhaps placed there for her special use.

"What! you have wine here? Pour me out a glass, Ivar."

Speaking in the tone of a woman who suspects nothing, she reclined in her seat in a graceful attitude, extending a glass towards Ivar, and watching him keenly from beneath the lashes of her half-closed eyes. Her husband, his face as white as a ghost's, filled her glass, and setting down the decanter, breathed hard. The earl looked on with seeming indifference.

With steady motion Lorelie lifted the glass, taking a longer time over the action than was necessary, as if even the foretaste of drinking were a pleasure not to be curtailed. Ivar was watching her with an expression the like of which she had never before seen on his face.

Her lips touched the edge of the glass and there rested a moment; and then, without having tasted the wine she raised the glass and held it between her half-closed eyes and the lamp above, an action that displayed to the full the beauty of her rounded arm and bust.

Birds Have Tough Time Ahead; the Great Lajoie Gets a Roast

All the News That's Worth Printing in the Way of Baseball.

THE BIRDS HAVE not got any ice-cream picnics ahead of them for the remainder of the festive month of June.

To-morrow they are up against that exceedingly tough proposition in Baltimore and afterwards they have to tackle Jersey City, Newark and Providence.

In their present condition they will have to play all kinds of ball to beat these teams away from home and rooters.

Remember, it is different away.

At Baltimore to-morrow we can conjure up visions of the fans leaning gracefully over the bleachers and informing Bill Clancy that he is positively the worst first baseman in the business and has an eye closely resembling a fried egg.

Equally explosive and appreciative observations will be directed at Atherton, Yeager and Hartman, while the pitchers will all come in for the identical line of conversation the Montreal rooters hand out to Beanpole Falkenberg, and many other shining targets on the enemy's firing line.

The series altogether will be one of the toughest of the season.

With Walters in shape and a new second baseman in stock the outlook would be better, as our pitchers are undoubtedly in prime condition.

It would not be surprising to see the Birds let Providence pass them before the home-coming, but when July arrives we look for a big run up the ladder, as there are many home games that month, and the team by that time should be settled.

That's the situation through a telescope.

Of course, if they hold their place, all the better, but the chances are against them just now.

It will surprise Montreal fans, who have read columns about the great Lajoie, columns of praise of his wonderful and apparently perfect work, to know that one of the greatest baseball managers in the country says that Lajoie was no loss to the Philadelphia team, that he is not a scientific player and that he knows nothing of "inside" baseball.

"If I had kept Lajoie and all of that bunch the American League took from the Philadelphia National League Club I never would have won the pennant in the American League in 1902. Lajoie has some of the worst ideas on how to play baseball of any practical ball player I have ever known."

This was the statement of Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics, the other day when discussing the team he is piloting this season and the success that attended his efforts when he first went to the Quaker city.

"It was a lucky thing for the club that we lost Lajoie and that bunch, in some ways. They were thoroughly imbued with the ideas that had prevailed for so long a time on the old National League Club that slugging the ball was good ball playing. Of course, there must be plenty of good stick work, but there must be team work, 'inside' baseball, as well. 'Inside' baseball was absolutely unknown to Larry, and is nearly so to-day, though Armour has brought him to the point where he will attempt to bunt the ball in a close game with a man on first and no one out. But Lajoie is not a success as a batter in this department and chafes under the restraint that compels him to do it. He wants to 'hit out,' as the bleacherites say.

In saying this of Lajoie I am not belittling his ability as a ball player. He is undoubtedly without an equal in the game to-day and probably never has had for general all-round play. As a sticker he is the greatest and as a fielder there are none to approach him. But on what is known as "scientific" ball playing, the 'inside' of the game, he is deficient, and I am thoroughly convinced that the Athletics could never have won the pennant in the American League in 1902 had that aggregation been retained.

"Connie Mack must be given great credit for what he has done with the Athletics," said a manager of one of the American League teams when he heard this tale of Mack's regarding Lajoie and the other old National Leaguers he had lost.

"When it is considered what a blow was struck him by taking away his greatest players—Lajoie, Flick, Bernhard, Fraser and Duggleby—it can easily be seen that he was 'up against it.' So he hustled out and got together a team of youngsters and what was the result? He trained them in his style of ball playing and they won the pennant. Look over the list of men who are playing regularly with the Athletics to-day and see what a lot of them Mack has developed.

At first base is Harry Davis, who had been given his walking papers by almost every league going. He couldn't 'make good' in the National and returned to book-keeping. But Mack got him when short-handed and now Harry is the best first baseman in the American League.

"After Lajoie went Mack hustled about and picked up Bonner to play second for a time. He didn't last long and was sent to Louisville and in his place came Dan Murphy from the Connecticut State League. Murphy has proved not only a good fielder but a strong sticker, good base runner and a thorough baseball player in every respect.

"Losing nearly all his pitching staff Mack had to hunt for new material. He had been either fortunate in what he had picked up or he knows how to get the best out of the material on hand. At any rate, he has brought out Ed. Plank, Bender and Henley, to say nothing of his ability to handle Rube Waddell.

The "300" Hitters.

Up to date there are but fifteen men in the Eastern League batting .300 or better, and Montreal only possesses one of these, Gibson, who has worked in but a few games. Here are the figures:

Another Man Not There.

"Rarely a game passes but what Loudenschlager secures at least one hit. Monday was no exception to the rule, as he found Milligan for single."—Star.

Loudenschlager wasn't in the game Monday.

Quinlan.

Larry Quinlan, the old Montreal shortstop is still playing with the Louisville team and hitting about as poorly as ever.

Queer Game.

Providence made fourteen hits and only two runs against Baltimore on Monday. The Oysters must have been doing some sharp fielding stunts.

Cry of the Weak.

The Washington Post says: There is little to look forward to unless the club is strengthened, and that seems beyond realization, so long as the other clubs are indifferent to the welfare of the Senators.—The cry of help does not go in baseball. Every club has got to look out for itself. Strong clubs are not going to weaken themselves at any stage.

Harry Aubrey is eighth in the batting order of the Providence team.

Cured Painful Irregularities

Strong Testimony From a Lady Resident of Clarksburg, Proving That Ferrozone Surpasses All Other Remedies for Diseases Peculiar to Women.

If the thousands of women who silently suffer from functional derangements were to tell their sad story, it would make a book of countless pages. The health of many women is constantly imperilled through failure of certain organs to work according to nature's requirements. Where this condition occurs there is no safer remedy to employ than Ferrozone, which has a specific action in female troubles. Not only does it act directly on the organs, ensuring regularity and freedom from pain, but by forming rich red blood, fortifies the system against weakening drains.

Every young girl and woman will find a true friend in Ferrozone. It is a special remedy for their troubles that offsets the deadening influence of ill-health by restoring order and regularity. Ferrozone possesses a volume of merit totally absent in the ordinary medicine, and its superiority is proclaimed by thousands of women it has restored to vigorous health. From Mrs. F. G. Caldwell comes the following endorsement, written from her home in Clarksburg: "I went through a most trying experience with what is commonly known as 'female trouble.' It isn't necessary to state my symptoms, but I suffered a great deal. My health was well nigh ruined, and I got into such a condition that I couldn't even sleep. I was dreadfully nervous, weak and pale. Different prescriptions were recommended, and I tried them. But Ferrozone was the first to help. I improved steadily under Ferrozone, and normal conditions were finally established. I gained weight, my color and spirits improved, and my former health was restored. Ferrozone cured me, and with a full heart I recommended this good medicine to all other women.

Ferrozone Makes Strong Women

No greater blessing ever came to suffering woman than Ferrozone. It deserves a trial because it is the best medicine, tonic and rebuilder money can buy. Beware of imitations. Don't allow a druggist to palm off anything else for Ferrozone, which costs 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at druggists, or by mail from The Ferrozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

How About This, Joe?

Baseball Editor, Herald.

Sir,—We notice in the Gazette, an item regarding the Farnham-Mascotte baseball game at Farnham on Sunday, which reads as follows: "Mascotte beat Farnham under a handicap yesterday at Farnham, Howe, Finnemore and Armstrong, three Farnham players, tried to hold the club up by asking big money, just before the game, and the manager, Joe Page, refused," etc.

If you can spare the space to print the above mentioned players version of this item, it would be greatly appreciated by them, and would probably serve to correct the erroneous impression which the item conveys to the general public.

Joe Page, in refusing to pay us what we demanded, ($15.00), has put himself on record, as a manager who cannot keep his word, even though record of such, in writing, can be produced. In demanding the above mentioned amount ($15.00) before we would play on Sunday, we were simply requesting what was due us, as, up to this date, all the money we have received, that is for nearly nine weeks, is $10.50, whereas a letter, containing a bona fide (?) offer can be produced, signed by John Page, in which he makes an offer as follows: "No man shall receive more than another, and all will receive an equal share of 25 per cent. of all gate receipts." Now, where one man received $10.00 and expenses in a recent game, the undersigned got what would be termed "fresh air." By reading this letter the people of Farnham, and several other towns, will have the opportunity of having it shown to them, that Joe Page, although probably a good organizer, is not a good manager. Believe us, very sincerely yours,

EDWARD ARMSTRONG.

C.L.A. Clubs Will Ignore the Suspensions Made by C.A.A.U.

Tom Carlind is Leaving Montreal for Toronto in a Day or Two.

One of the officials of the Shamrocks said yesterday that if the matter was entirely in the hands of the management they would not play Brantford, but he felt doubtful as to the attitude the general membership would adopt.

Bob Madden's knee is all right again and he will be out with Montreal on Saturday against Cornwall.

Despite Mr. Dickson's telegram regarding Pringle, several of the players around town yesterday, who ought to know, affirm that he is the Toronto man.

Even if he is this would not disqualify the Capitals as the C.A.A.U. would only require affidavits from each of the players that they did not know Pringle was the Toronto profesional.

Larocque, the old National defence man has decided to turn out again.

Le Canada this morning feels certain that the Shamrocks will meet Brantford on July 1.

Brantford play the Tecumsehs on Saturday, and most people in Toronto think the Minto Cup chasers are in for another walloping.

Brantford's protest against St. Catharines for playing professionals is decidedly amusing. Nobody is foolish enough to think there is a single amateur in the Brantford team.

Shamrock's General Meeting.

The general meeting of the Shamrocks to decide whether they will play Brantford or not will probably take place early next week. The date will be decided at to-night's meeting of the directors.

In Toronto they are laughing at the C.A.A.U. for forgetting to suspend the Fergus team and the Crescents of Brooklyn, who also played Orillia, since they played the "professionals."

Nobody West of Ottawa believes that the Minto Cup games will be called off.

Pringle is All Right.

A telegram from Mr. J. P. Dickson, of the Ottawa A.A.A. to Mr. E. Herbert Brown, secretary of the C.A.A.U. explains that Pringle who played with the Capitals against Cornwall is not the same as he who as a member of the Toronto club was suspended.

The talk around town generally last night was that the Shamrocks would throw over the C. A. A. U. and play Brantford, so that we are on the eve of a revolution.

The people of Ottawa are so enamored of the Capitals that if they don't waltz round the Shamrocks when they meet there will be considerable surprise. They think the Capital home the best that ever stood on a lacrosse field.

"Ignore the C.A.A.U."

Brantford, June 15.—(Special.)—The C. A. A. U. decision here causes no apprehension over the Minto Cup games, and alarm as to the final outcome. Brantford feels strongly against the C.A.A.U., which is believed to be an irresponsible and unrepresentative body, having no authority in lacrosse matters.

The local club want to play for the cup and believe the Shamrocks will consent to the games. The Expositor to-day will suggest a solution to the difficulty by proposing that the Minto Cup trustees order the games to be played, allowing the N.A.L.U. to certify to Shamrocks' eligibility and the C.L.A. to the standing of Brantfords.

"Utterly ignore C.A.A.U. and proceed with the matches," is the universal opinion, not only in Brantford, but throughout the C.L.A. district.

The Toronto newspapers declare that the Shamrocks are the only team in the East fit to be classed with the Chippewas or St. Kitts. The Shamrock-Brantford match will settle some of these questions.

On their showing so far the Brantfords have no very clear right to play for the Minto Cup. If they can't beat Orillia, what's going to happen when they come down here?

Roach hasn't found a place on one of the local teams yet. His old team, the Nationals, would find him a valuable man.

When it comes down to a fine point, are the Shamrocks any more amateur than Brantford?

Trip to Cornwall.

The M.A.A.A. are running a special train to Cornwall in connection with Saturday's lacrosse game. The train will leave Bonaventure Station at 1.30 o'clock and return in the evening after time has been given for supper. The fare will be $1.15. All information may be had from Mr. E. Herbert Brown at the M.A.A.A. club-house.

The leading officials of the Shamrocks would like to back up the C.A.A.U., but when the general meeting comes along it will be found that the rank and file will outvote them.

The situation created by the C. A. A. U. suspensions is exactly what was wanted. It will clear the air. What their duty now is to get amongst the N.A.L.U. clubs, and place their finger on every man who is being paid. Force honest amateurism or stamp out professionalism.

C.L.A. a Professional Body.

The C.L.A. has definitely assumed independence of the C.A.A.U. A despatch from Toronto says that that association will not take cognizance of the C.L.A. suspensions. This therefore means that the C.L.A. must now be recognized as a professional body. This clears the air. It is much better to have an understanding as to the relations of amateurs towards the Western Associations.

It would seem impossible at this late hour to do other than legalize professionalism.

If the Wanderers could go to Pittsburg and play hockey, why can't the Shamrocks play Brantford? The difference in the conditions is a mere quibble.

The Brantford Protest.

To protect themselves in connection with the Minto quadruple, Brantford has entered a protest against playing certain members of the Tecumseh team, those professionalized by the C.A.A.U. Well, now, that's good, says the Toronto Telegram.

The Tecumsehs are just about as amateur a bunch and a good deal more so than anything Brantford will stack up against when they go to Montreal for the cup games. Brantford is probably a good deal more scared of the gate receipts than of their amateur standing—that's about the size of it.

Nothing but praise is heard of the way the C.A.A.U. set about their work. They had an awkward and difficult task to perform, and they did it in the only way open to them.

However, they dealt themselves their own deathblow, for it seems pretty certain that Shamrocks, Nationals and Capitals will stick together in this matter, and break the league.

One aspect of the situation ought to be carefully studied by the Shamrocks before they definitely decide upon a procedure. All their playing members and their club will be professionalized, and will be unable to take part in any other game, such as hockey or football, if they play Brantford.

Murphy May Play.

"Billy" Murphy may play for Montreal against Cornwall on Saturday. He is not yet quite in condition, but may be good enough to turn out.

Tom Carlind Leaving Montreal.

The Montreal lacrosse team are about to lose their captain, Mr. Tom Carlind. He leaves within a few days for Toronto, where he will open up business on his own account. His resignation will be handed in at to-night's meeting. Before he goes the club will make him a presentation in recognition of his valuable services. Tom Carlind, in his day, was one of the finest players in the business. He stopped playing in 1889, but for the last two years has acted as Montreal's field Captain.

Capitals Will Back Shamrocks.

Ottawa, June 15.—(Special.)—Secretary Foran, of the Capitals, says that the Shamrocks can depend on their support in any stand the Shamrocks may take regarding the playing of the Minto Cup games. The series with Brantford, he believes, will bring matters to a head and result in the different sporting interests of Canada getting together in convention and drawing up rules covering the whole country and all branches of sport.

Cornwall's Attitude.

Cornwall, June 15.—(Special.)—While no meeting of the Cornwall Lacrosse Club has been held to deal with the matter there is only one course left to the Cornwalls in the event of the Shamrocks playing the suspended Brantford team. That course is to stick to the N.A.L.U. constitution, and refuse to play with or against men who are under the ban of professionalism.

If the Shamrocks meet a professional team and thereby become ineligible to compete in the N.A.L.U., Cornwall will refuse to play them. Cornwall has more reason to dread professionalism than any other N.A.L.U. club. Professionalism in lacrosse would kill the game here, where it is daily becoming more difficult to keep a strong team in the field.

FOOTBALL.

Westmount vs. Montreal.

This match in the M. & D. L. series was played on the ground of the former at Westmount Park and after a very keenly contested game, resulted in a win for the M.A.A.A. by two goals to none.

Westmount won the toss and decided to play into the east goal. Calder kicked off for the M.A.A.A. who, with the wind behind, took up the aggresive. Woodburn relieved and play went to the other end; a good opportunity of scoring was lost by Way shooting weakly at the critical moment. Rogers relieved for M.A.A.A. and a pretty piece of work by Usher and Porter took the leather to the West's citadel, where Shortrede saved from Porter, but the ball rebounded on to Calder and went through the goal. The score was unchanged at half time and thus the M. A.A.A. boys led by 1—0.

The second half opened with some very fast play, Westmount's centre forward trying hard to get an opening but he was poorly supported, which eventually made him selfish and consequently several fine chances were lost. Although the combination on both sides was very ragged the forwards put in some good individual work especially Porter, Macfarlane, Deans and Usher. The latter found Woodburn a big obstacle and one that was not easily passed. Heald at this time was playing a great game and always had a cool head he nearly scored with a beautiful kick from his own half of the field.

The score does not represent the play although the Westmount boys were off color and did not play anything like the game they played against the C.P. R. two weeks ago. Towards the close both goal keepers had several nasty shots. A mistake by Woodburn let in Porter, who gave Shortrede a chance with a hard drive. Thus Referee Mr. A. H. Clapp blew the whistle for time, with the M.A.A.A. leading by 2—0. Teams:—

Westmount—G. P. Shortrede, G. H. Healt (captain); H. G. Woodburn, J. Anderson, Wm. Martin, J. Martin, D. Wilson, E. Way, James Macfarlane, W. Craig and D. Deans.

M. A.A.A.—J. O. K. Hayes, J. C. Brown, H. Rogers, C. T. Austey, H. U. Mathews, W. Small, J. Doyle, F. Calder, G. Porter W. Usher. Referee—M. A. H. Clapp; linesmen J. Wilson, Westmount; W. Graham, M.A.A.A.

Y.M.C.A. vs. Westmount.

The following will represent the Y. M. C. A. Football Club in a practice game with Westmount on the latter's grounds to-morrow evening:—A. G. Howat, A. L. McConnell and W. H. Sykes; H. Watson, W. S. Wilson (captain) and O. H. Gladhill; R. Steadman, D. Hollingsworth, J. Hollingsworth, R. S. Robinson and G. Burton.

Westmount vs. Montreal Rangers.

Westmount played Montreal Rangers in an exhibition game last evening and this was a good oportunity to try some of the new talent. After a very pleasant game the home team won by six goals to one. For the winners, Nairn, Harding, MacDonald and Graham all played well.

Westmount will play Y.M.C.A. tomorrow evening, kick off 6.45 o'clock The following players are requested to be on hand: Graham, MacDonald, Ross, Nairn, Harding, McCombie, Partinson, Kirkham, W. C. Kirkham, Hill, Crabb and others. The team will be selected on the field. The selection committee will meet after the game.

ROWING—AQUATICS.

St. Agathe Regatta.

Ste. Agathe is to be en fete on Dominion Day. If hard work on the part of a number of local gentlemen bears fruit the regatta ought to be a great success. After the regatta there will be an illuminated parade, followed by a dance in the evening. The prizes are being given by the residents of Ste. Agathe and some of the leading business firms of Montreal.

Dr. McKenna promises contestants from Ste. Rose if the C.P.R. can arrange to transport the boats. The Ste. Agathe band, under the leadership of Mr. Meteyer, have promised their services.

The programme will consist of yacht, canoe and single and double skiff races, as well as ladies' and gentlemen's swimming races. The prizes will be awarded at the dance, which will take place at the Hotel Castel des Monts. A big crowd is expected. Entries must be sent to Mr. Alex. Rough or Mr. E. C. Riviere, Ste. Agathe, by June 27.

The different clubs interested are:—St. Stephen, St. John, St. Rose, St. Lambert, Lachine, Longueuil and Grand Trunk. The winners of the different events will represent the C. C. A. championship meet to be held in Brockville on Aug. 13. Jeffries trainers do not anticipate any further trouble with his injured knee.

LAWN TENNIS

Hartford, Conn., June 15.—Under almost perfect conditions play for the New England Tennis championship was started yesterday on the courts of the Hartford Golf Club. Jones, of Providence, Beals Wright, the former Harvard player, and W. C. Grant, of New York, are looked upon as the three who will have to fight it out for the championship.

Championship Doubles.

New York, June 15.—H. H. Hackett and Robert Leroy won the double championship here yesterday in the Metropolitan Lawn Tennis tournament, defeating the former intercollegiate champions of Princeton, F. B. Alexander and R. D. Little, in three easy sets, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2.

TURF AND TRACK

Delorimier Park Meeting.

Fine weather favored the opening day of the Delorimier meet of the Gentlemen's Driving Club, and there was an excellent attendance. Two events for trotters and pacers were brought off, which both fell to the pacers.

In the 2.35 class Eliza got away badly in the first heat, finishing fourth. Billy M. ran second. In the second heat, however, Eliza finished first, with Winnie G. in close attendance. At the first turn the bunch crowded, and unfortunately there was a spill, which knocked Little Clip and Billy M. out. Billy M. was more fortunate in the third heat, and ran second to Eliza, who was now going very strong. Running better than ever in the fourth, Eliza landed a comfortable winner.

Eight started in the 2.22 class, which proved a battle royal between Maud Wilkes and Gerald. Both got well away at the word, and after a great race, Maud Wilkes got home first. The second heat saw a close victory for Gerald, the third for Maud Wilkes, and the fourth again for Gerald. It was great racing, and the excitement great when the last heat was called. Unfortunately there was another spill, which put Robert M. out of third money. The heat ended in a good win for Maud Wilkes, who, by the way, was splendidly handled.

The officials of the day were:—Judges—W. B. Renaud, Ottawa, starter; John Murphy, Richmond, and C. A. French, Sherbrooke. Timers, Charles Charbonneau, Montreal; Arthur Guilbault, Lachine. Summaries:

The Harlem Meeting.

Chicago, June 15.—The third race, a handicap, and the fourth a condition affair, both at a mile, divided interest at Harlem. Felipe Lugo's "Lucky" Baldwin, American Derby candidate, started in the former, but finished outside the money, while Prince Silver Wings, another American Derby colt, finished second to Miss Crawford, in the latter. Summary:

PACIFIC THE FEATURE OF MARKET;

TALK OF A TORONTO RAILWAY STRIKE

There was a better feeling to the local market this morning, although towards noon there was a slightly easier tone in sympathy with yielding prices in Wall Street.

Toronto Ry., held fairly firm but the threatened strike failed to bring out any stock to speak of, there being a feeling that somehow the trouble might be averted.

In Richelieu there was nothing new except that in spite of reports to the contrary, the Richelieu officials feel confident that they will be awarded the decision when the investigation is held. It is now estimated that it will take at least $80,000 to put the Canada in commission again, and the damage claims will probably increase that amount considerably.

There was very little done in Richelieu during the morning, only 88 shares selling at 79.

Steel bonds worked a shade better and went to 58, sales being $6,000.

Coal was weaker again in Boston and locally twenty-five shares sold at 52.

The recent strength of Canadian Pacific is one of the gratifying features of the market. The mention of Canadian Pacific usually leads to discussion of the Manitoba wheat crop and of this the Winnipeg Commercial says:

"June, 1904, is proving to be an old-fashioned month, showers and sunshine alternating in almost daily succession. The past week has been marked by thre showery days during which the whole country seems to have been well soaked with water. The wheat crop is doing welll and there are practically no adverse reports from either Manitoba or the Territories upon its condition.

"Naturally this favorable crop situation is helping business and most of our advices note that this is active. Goods are going out freely to all parts of the West, and the towns along the Prince Albert branch are particularly good buyers at present. They have been shut off from the outside market for so long that a famine has arisen in those parts for general merchandise. The only complaints we hear with reference to the demand for goods is from the dry goods houses. They are not finding the summer sorting trade so large as was expected. Their orders for fall are very satisfactory."

The sales to noon in Wall Street amounted to 269,300 shares.

Wall Street News.

Noon letter. — The market opened fairly active this morning and very soon developed under the leadership of Southern and Union Pacific. There were rumors about some combination between those roads, or some new scheme which would enhance their value. It was finally rumored that the Southern Pacific would issue $100,000,000 of preferred stock at par to its present stockholders, $40,000,000 of which was to be issued at once in order to raise money to pay off its floating debt, most of which is owed to the Union Pacific road. The issuance of the securities has rather gone out of fashion in Wall street lately, and as soon as the Street caught its breath, it became evident that the scheme was not going to be greeted with enthusiasm. It was looked upon as a rather clumsy way of raising needed money, and was new evidence, if such were needed, of the large floating indebtedness being carried by most of the railroads. The tone is dull and people who are in charge of the present bull manipulation seem to have the market well in hand, so that it is not probable that the reaction will go very far, and the market will probably be stiffened up again later on. So far, however, apart from the professional room traders, the present moment has not brought in any outside following.—E. & C. Randolph.

New York Gossip.

Mr. C. D. Monk's wire said:—"Minn. & St. Louis declared regular semi-annual dividend 2½ per cent. on preferred, nothing on common but most likely dividend be resumed in December if crops are good. The great lake strike declared off last night. Balance of trade in favor of U. S. For eleven months ended May 30, $458,019,076, increase of $76,819,703. The Herald is published by The Herald Publishing Company, 603 Craig Street, Montreal. James S. Brierley, Managing Director.

There is nothing of importance in the newspapers this morning to affect values and we can only account for the rice in prices in the last hour of business yesterday by saying that there is a small supply of stock for sale and in fact, very little pressing. We believe that the shorts will cover this morning, and look for a little better market for to-day.

The opening was firm. Some realizing was done by traders, but the undertone is firm and indications are that this market will be higher to-day. Union Pacific will be the strong feature. Sales to noon, 269,300. Ca. closed in London at 122¾.

"Soo" Extensions.

By July 1 the road willl be finished to Detroit, Minnesota. Eventually it will connect with the Canadian Pacific at Emerson, or very near that point, where the Great Northern now crosses the boundary line, but the Soo line Winnipeg-Minneapolis service will not likely be in operation this year. The grading, however, has been done almost to the boundary line.

The new extension is viewed here as a very good thing for the Soo line. The development of the country willl not be by any great inrush of immigration, but rather by slow steady process, as considerable of the land is timbered. Eventually it will be the centre of origin of a large grain tonnage, and will be a field for the enterprise of twin city jobbers. The Soo, it is estimated, will in five or six years have a paying tonnage from local business, while the Winnipeg-Minneapolis connection via Canadian Pacific will mean a share of the rapidly increasing passenger traffic between these two growing cities.

MAIL ROBBERY CASE HAS BEEN RE-OPENED

Lawyer Bangs Explains How Evidence Was Destroyed and Money Used.

Regina, N.W.T., June 15.—(Special.)—The Wilcox mail robbery case opened here yesterday. Lawyer Bangs was in the box for two hours. He refused several times to answer questions until instructed to do so by the judge. He related how when Wilcox first came to him he stated he had taken a package out of the mail bag, containing $10,000 and requested the witness to defend him. Wilcox told witness to secure the box containing certain things which should be destroyed. Bangs then related how Wilcox gave him two keys, one to the golf house in Calgary, and the other to a locker in the house. In the locker he found a telescope bag containing the box. Witness took this home and upon opening it found $7,000 in $5 and $10 Bank of Hamilton bills, also a number of mail bags, seals, sealing wax, rubber stamps and large metal stamp "R." These Bangs destroyed in his furnace, Wilcox's instruction being to destroy all incriminating evidence.

Asked whether Wilcox had told him how he opened mail bag, witness said Wilcox stated he broke the seal, took out the parcel and then sealed up the bag, using a seal which the accused said he made, which was among the articles witness had burnt. Witness told of getting money changed from Bank of Hamilton notes to those of other banks and supplying the accused with money from time to time.

The trial is likely to continues several days.

SS. Tugela sailed to-day for Rimouski to load deals for the United Kingdom.

"Street" Gossip.

Toronto Street Ry. Shareholders Anxious About the Strike

Montreal shareholders of Toronto Railway were considerably disturbed this morning over the prospects of a strike on the road. Certainly this morning the situation had a very serious aspect and by to-morrow something definite will probably be known. A strike of employes at this time would be exceedingly unfortunate as the Toronto road is doing a remarkably fine business just now and the earnings are away and above the biggest on record.

The Herald's Toronto correspondent wired this morning:

"The executive of the Street Railway Union last evening received a reply from the directors of the Toronto Railway Company regarding the requests of the men for an increase to 25c an hour, or to arbitrate the wage question. The company refuses to do either. A mass meeting of men has been called for to-night when it is possible a strike motion may be voted upon. At present "strike" appears to be the word, though President Mackenzie expresses himself to the contrary."

Outlook for the West and Canadian Pacific

Canadian Pacific people say that all conditions in their territory, both east and west, point to the maintenance of a satisfactory basis for business in nearly all lines, both commercial and agricultural.

The most optimistic reports come from the west. Winnipeg, Calgary, Regina, Edmonton and nearly all Pacific coast points report commerce at its highest point in history. Bank clearings and the movement of staple commodities at these points are heavier than they were in 1903 or 1902, in which years they broke all previous records.

These statistics indicate not so much an increase in the wealth or business per capita as an increase in the number of people in the territory. The increased business life and the greater commercial activity at these outlying centres are the natural and inevitable results of the heavy movement of colonists into the Canadian Northwest for the past four years.

The conditions in the west are, therefore, entirely normal, and do not partake of the nature of a boom. As a matter of fact, there is in these cities, as in the mercantile cities of the United States at present, a sentiment of caution which acts as a natural check on any inclination to carry things to excess. As a result, the cities of the Canadian Northwest are attaining their growth, and the outlying countries are being settled, without any boom in land or in city real estate.

Particulars of the Movement of Cotton

According to the Financial Chronicle, the total receipts of cotton for the week ending June 10, reached 14,448 bales, against 20,445 last week and 21,903 the previous week, making the total receipts since the first of September, 1903, 7,069,114 bales, against 7,545,802 for the same period of 1902-3, showing a decrease since Sept. 1, 1903, of 356,688 bales.

Reports from the south indicate that rain has been quite general during the week. In the main, the precipitation has not been excessive, but advices from portions of Arkansas and Texas denote that heavy rains have caused overflow of some lowlands and much damage is claimed. Reports from Gulf and Atlantic sections show an improvement in the crop. Galveston advices are that the Mexican boll weevils are more numerous than last year.

Cotton Steady and on the Quiet Side

Cotton was about steady and dull. Judson & Co.'s wires said: Liverpool closed easy 14 down on near months and 5 to 6 down on distant.

Bull sentiment is at present almost entirely confined to the New York market. Liverpool this morning is lower, and it will be hard work for local operators to boost prices in the face of the poor demand at home and abroad, a disinclination to follow our initiative on the part of Liverpool, and most excellent crop prospects. We therefore advise sales on all hard spots, taking moderate profits. The market is a splendid scalping one.

STRIKE ON UPPER LAKES IS ENDED

Masters and Pilots Yield to the Terms of Master Carriers.

Cleveland, O., June 15.—After six weeks of a tie-up on the Great Lakes that has directly involved only a couple of thousand men, but indirectly more than a hundred thousand, who have been idle because of its existence, a cessation was brought to the strike last night by the massters, who with the pilots, have been holding out for a more unform scale of wages this season than was offered by the Lake Carriers' Association, whose boats were most affected by the difficulty between the vessel owners and their employes. The strike was declared off by Paul Howard, district captain of the Masters' and Pilots' Association, who gave out the following statement:

"The Masters' and Pilots' Association have concluded that it would be good policy at this stage of the game, owing to existing conditions over which we have no control, to advise our captains to go to work and make the most of a bad situation. Our mates will meet at the earliest possible opportunity and make arrangements along the lines of their own ideas and present them to the Lake Carriers' Association for acceptance. In the meantime, the mates will remain where they are until this arrangement is made and agreed upon by the two associations."

It is understood that the Lake Carriers' Association will soon come to an agreement with the mates and that the full fleet of the Lake Carriers' Association will be gotten under way within a very few days.

The Lake Carriers' Association was willing to pay last year's scale of wages, but this was not agreeable to the masters and pilots because of the alleged great difference in the wages of men doing similar work.

The strike has been one of the most costly in the wages and time lost and stagnation to business that has occurred in recent years.

NEVER SIGN A NOTE.

When people are buying a piano on long installments they usually sign a contract, which is ample security for the piano. Many firms, however, are not satisfied with this, but ask the customer to sign a note as well. Should the note ever pass into the hands of a third party the customer might have to pay twice over. This has actually occurred more than once. Sign the agreement or the note, but never sign both. We ask for no notes ourselves. C. W. Lindsay, Limited, 2366 St. Catherine street.—Adv.

THE MARCONI SYSTEM.

The Marconi Wireless Telegraph System is the most marvellous and useful industrial invention ever introduced. It promises to become more useful to the world than the magnetic telegraph, the cable or the telephone. By reducing the cost of transmission of messages, it must invariably become the accepted means of communication between every country, every city, every town, every village, as well as the sole means of communication between ships of all classes and between ships and shore.

ITS ADVANTAGES OVER WIRES AND CABLES.

The initial cost of the Marconi System is far less than that of any other means of electrical communication which depends upon wires or cables, thus doing away with a heavy burden of interest and depreciation. No rights of way are necessary, nor can taxes be levied upon messages sent through the air. The only outlay for the establishment of the Marconi System is the construction of stations and their equipment with instruments. Several messages can be sent at the same time, and the attunement of instruments affords secrecy of transmission.

BUSINESS PROGRESS.

The Company's revenue from actual commercial traffic during 1903 INCREASED 700 PER CENT. over those of 1902. Steamships are publishing newspapers during their trips from news sent them by Marconi Wireless from both sides of the Atlantic. A Royal decree issued in Rome on April 2nd approved the new tariff for Marconi Wireless telegrams, and fixed the cost from Italy to America at 12½ cents a word.

BUSINESS CONNECTIONS OF THE MARCONI COMPANY.

Lloyds has adopted it exclusively for fourteen years. British Admiralty has adopted it exclusively for fourteen years. The Italian Government employs it exclusively in all departments. British Government has entered into an agreement with Marconi's. Canadian Parliament has subsidized the system. Canadian Government and railroad telegraphs co-operate. It is employed in the service of Reuter's Telegram Company, the Associated Press, the New York Herald, the London Times. Nearly every large banking and commercial establishment in Great Britain and the United States has subscribed to the Montreal code.

GREAT FORTUNES MADE IN ELECTRICAL INVESTMENTS.

Some of the greatest fortunes of this country were made by early investments in the Edison Electric Light Company and the Bell Telephone Company, while hundreds of small investors became independently wealthy. The stock of the Edison Electric Light Company advanced from $100 to $4,000 in one year, and that was several years before dividends were declared. Bell Telephone stock increased from $1 a share to more than $1,000 a share, and the profits of an original investor of $100 in the Bell Telephone Company are more than $200,000.

PROFITS OF THE MARCONI TRANSATLANTIC SERVICE.

The possible gross revenues of a transatlantic wireless station with one set of instruments, working half time, half speed and at less than half present cable charges, would be $394,200. With three sets of instruments it would be $1,182,600. The probable expense of operating (reckoning one station at $200,000, and charging 8 per cent. interest thereon, and depreciation and maintenance at 10 per cent. each, and assuming the cost of operating to be 20 per cent. of the gross revenue of the station), would be $351,650, leaving a profit of $830,950. There are fourteen transatlantic cables from the United States. In the near future, when the Marconi Company operates fourteen stations, the profit will be over $10,000,000, or 150 per cent. on its capital stock, which would make the stock worth at least 1,500 per cent. above par. Under arrangements between the English and American Marconi Companies, the revenues arising in England will be divided with the American Company, and vice versa.
