

J. A. EDMISON, ALD. MAX SEIGLER AND OWEN CALLARY SPOKE HERE AT WED., LUNCHEON MEETING

Member of Legal Firm of Calder, Rolfe and Edmison Addressed Capacity Gathering—B. M. Garfield, President in the Chair — Introduced and Thanked Speaker — Laurier Ward Representative Announced New Mount Royal Avenue Sewers a Reality.

J. Alex. Edmison, of the legal firm of Calder-Rolfe and Edmison, addressed a capacity gathering of the North End Businessmen's Association at their regular weekly luncheon meeting held here Wednesday noon. Mr. Edmison took as his subject New York City politics for the last hundred years and in no uncertain terms twisted the Tammany tigers tail.

Starting with William Mooney who founded the organization as early as 1788 and mentioning that he, like Herr Hitler, was a paperhanger and plasterer, the speaker went on to describe the grafting methods of the various groups and leaders including Aaron Burr, the man who killed Alexander Hamilton in a duel and the man who was known as the first Great American Graftier, Boss Tweed, Hon. Wm. Morrissey, Oakie Hall, Billie Connolly, Honest John Kelley, Boss Murphy, McConney, and Boss Currie.

One outstanding example of graft was the County courthouse which was originally to cost $250,000 and finally cost over twelve million. Hundreds of thousands of dollars were put through for repairs before the building was erected. One item for brooms, etc., was set down at $40,000. Other items of graft were mentioned together with facts and figures.

Wall Street was involved to a great extent and J. Gould, the great railroad financier once gave six million dollars to a Tammany Boss for supposed legal advice. The newspapers too received over two million dollars in thirty months to hush up certain exposes that were ready to 'break.'

Alderman Max Seigler of Laurier Ward spoke a few well chosen words stating that he was pleased to be able to report that the much-needed sewers on Mount Royal Avenue were shortly to become a reality and that the tenders had been let.

Owen Callary, speaking as he said from the Outremont side was pleased to compliment the organization on their work in the past. Jerry Shea, master-of-ceremonies, arranged some community singing, dedicating one of the numbers to Mrs. Owen Callary who was present at the luncheon.

Louis Capelovitch of the St. Michaels Civic League also praised the work of the organization as did M. J. Kavanagh, president of the St. Michaels Athletic Association.

Several members of the Goodyear Tire Company were present, including Gordon Provencer, F. H. O'Connor of the Head Office, L. J. Trudeau, Montreal representative, F. C. Megan and Vic Grenier of the City Tire Shops, Alphonse Gregoire of the Goodyear Company in St. Hyacinthe and R. V. Boir of Brosseau Limited.

Entertainment was provided by Hectorine Page who delighted all with three well presented dances and Robin Greenfield, favorite of comic opera audiences, who sang several exceptionally well-delivered baritone solos.

The outstanding success of the function was largely due to the efforts of John Connolly, chairman in charge, and the close co-operation of the members of his committee, E. Phil McKenna, M. A. Leone, Art LeMay and H. Shapland.

B. M. Garfield, president of the association was in the chair and introduced.

RECEPTION TO POPULAR PASTOR

Pupils of Luke Callaghan Will Celebrate Father Singleton's Birthday

A reception is being tendered Friday afternoon, by the pupils and staff of the Luke Callaghan Memorial School to the Rev. Father Singleton, pastor of St. Michael's Church, on the occasion of his birthday.

This is an annual custom in the school, begun in the days of the late Rev. Luke Callaghan, who had tirelessly promoted the welfare of the pupils of the parish. Father Singleton, who became pastor of the parish upon the decease of Father Callaghan, has always been very interested in the management of the local parish school, and has himself been responsible for the opening of several new grades.

This year he realized the importance of opening a class which could take care of such unemployed boys as would wish to their education.

The tenth year was officially opened in the beginning of last October, and with a class of over twenty boys, of ages ranging from fifteen to nineteen years, has steadily been following a business course, including in its curriculum such subjects as shorthand, typewriting, accountancy, and public speaking. The director of the Luke Callaghan Memorial School, Rev. Brother Patrick, formerly Principal of the Catholic High School of Montreal, on behalf of the staff and students, will tender the felicitations of the school to the pastor upon the occasion.

A special feature, to be presented by pupils of the school will be excerpts from the popular musical comedy, 'H.M.S. Pinafore.' It will be recalled that this play was produced by the pupils of the school many years ago, when it was shown at the annual concert of the Sailors' Institute Hall, under the direction of the Rev. Bro. Borromeo. Rev. Bro. Borromeo, who is conductor of the St. Michael's Church Chancel Choir, is undertaking the organization of the present selections.

The solos to be sung follow in their regular order, "Farewell My Own," Gerald O'Neill; "I'm Called Little Buttercup," Louis Craig, "I Am The Captain of the Pinafore," the theme song, which will be sung by Arthur Nevins, "Jolly Sailor and a Tar"; a duet by John Leclair and Arthur Nevins; "When I was a Lad" by Ernie Rochon, and "A Maiden Fair to See" by Gerald Sallie.

The Junior Choir, composed of students selected from the third and fourth grades of the school, will sing a special composition, a musical welcome number, with which the reception will open.

OUTREMONT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH NOTES

The Young Peoples Society held a meeting on Monday night for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year. The new executive is as follows: President, Mr. John Rice; 1st Vice-President, Mr. Horace Thomson; 2nd Vice-Pres., Miss Jean Russell; Secretary, Miss Marjorie Bryson, and Treasurer, Mr. Arthur Bruce. The retiring officers were given a hearty vote of thanks for their splendid services during the past year. Following the business part of the meeting there were games and refreshments.

The congregation will hold the Annual Meeting on Friday night at 8.15 o'clock. The meeting will be in the John Paterson Hall.

The regular Sunday services will be held. Young men meet at 10 a.m. Morning service at 11 a.m. Sunday schools at 3 p.m. and the evening service at 7.30 p.m. Rev. Wm. McLean will preach at both services, and the music will be under the direction of Mr. J. McLean Marshall, Organist and Choir Director.

A. W. MACLEAN WAR VETERAN BURIED TUESDAY

North End Citizen Succumbs After Series of Operations

FUNERAL SERVICE

Conducted By Reverend Malcolm Campbell

The burial took place on Tuesday of Angus W. MacLean, who passed away at St. Anne's Hospital, St. Anne de Bellevue, on Saturday last, from complications following a series of serious operations. While it was known that Mr. MacLean's health had not lately been of the best, so patiently did he bear up under his affliction that the seriousness of his condition was at no time realized, and his death comes as a severe shock to all who knew him.

Born in Port Morien, Capt. Breton, July 11, 1875, he received his education in the public schools of Port Morien.

In 1911 he married Miss Eleanor Chapman, of Halifax.

He held a commission in the Eighty-Fifth Battalion, Nova Scotia Highlanders, and went overseas with that unit in 1916.

In 1919 the family moved to Sydney, leaving there in 1924 for Montreal.

For the last four years he had been in failing health. He was operated on before Christmas in the Royal Victoria Hospital. The operation appeared to be perfectly successful, but pneumonia set in; and a second operation was necessary on Saturday morning.

The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Malcolm Campbell.

Among those present were: Miss Mary MacLean, Mrs. W. E. Prue; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. G. Chapman, of Edmundston, N.B.; Major C. J. Charlton, of Ottawa; Miss L. T. Morin, Miss Mamie Cowie, Mrs. Annie Christie, Mrs. Hawley, Mrs. Layton and her daughter, Miss Dorothy Elliott, Miss Dorothy Scarsbrook, Mrs. Pushie, Mr. and Mrs. V. S. Rice, Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Thurston, Mr. Fred Meadowcroft, Mr. Jim Meadowcroft, Mr. Arthur Meadowcroft, Mrs. Alec Davidson, Mr. George Davidson, Mr. John Davidson, Rev. L. A. MacLean, Mr. R. P. Bissell, Mr. Colpitts, Mr. England, Mr. Robb, Mr. J. Carden, Mr. Crestmont, Mr. Fullerton.

Mr. MacLean is survived by his widow, a daughter, Margaret, and two sisters, Miss Mary MacLean, of Providence, R.I., and Mrs. W. E. Prue, of Everett, Mass.

Rev. Canon Shatford Guest Speaker at Fair-St. Giles

The Executive Committee of Fairmount-St. Giles Men's Association announces that Rev. Canon A. P. Shatford will be the guest speaker at a Men's Supper Meeting to be held on Tuesday, February 13th, at 6.30 p.m. in the Church Assembly Hall. Tickets for this occasion may be had from any member of the Executive Committee.

20TH MONTREAL TROOP BOY SCOUTS REPORTS FOR 1933

The 20th Montreal Troop Boy Scouts, with headquarters at the Church of the Ascension, and one of the very few organizations which include all four branches of scouting, namely Sea Scouts, Rover Scouts, Scouts proper, and Cubs, reports a most successful year for 1933.

Troop registration, including all four units, stands at present at: Officers, 5; Sea Scouts, 15; Rovers, 8; Scouts, 53; Cubs, 30, a total enrollment of 111.

Troop activities during the past season have been carried on as usual and it is felt that the standard of work has been improved. The Troop participated in all local Scouting events and made a very creditable showing at the Spring Jamboree and also put in many hours at the Toy Shop this Christmas.

Some 25 boys attended Camp Tamaraeouta for a period of two weeks under the leadership of A.S.M. Leslie Ellyett. This year being a difficult one financially many boys who would otherwise have gone to Camp were forced to remain at home. It is hoped that conditions next season will warrant a greater attendance as camping is one of the big things in Scouting which tends to develop character and handicraft.

Sea Scouting, under the leadership of Mr. W. Rush, has made excellent progress during the past season. The Summer headquarters at the Pointe Claire Yacht Club have been used to the fullest extent and every weekend has seen a large number of the boys doing practical Sea Scout work. Regular weekend cruises were held, as well as a two weeks cruise to Lake St. Francis. Thanks are due to the Pointe Claire Yacht Club for the excellent facilities extended as well as the increasing personal interest in this important work.

The Sir Francis Drake Rover Crew has done very creditable work with Mr. H. C. Kuitert in charge. Service is the key-note of this section of Scouting and the members of the crew are to be congratulated upon the manner in which they have lived up to the aims of Rovering. The Christmas Cheer barrels placed in the stores this year, which provided dinners for nearly four hundred families, was an effort of which the Rover Movement in Montreal may justly be proud.

Mr. Arthur Gibbins, who took charge of the Wolf Cub Pack following the Reverend Mr. Thorpe's departure for Pointe Claire, is carrying on this work in a commendable way. Quite a number of Cubs have "come up" to the Troop this season and their aptness and willingness to learn more of Scouting speaks well for their training in the Cub Pack. A recent event of interest was the presentation of the King's Colours

J. A. MERCIER, M.P., ADDRESSED LOCAL LIBERAL CLUB TUESDAY AT ELECTION OF OFFICERS HERE

"Mr. Bennett Not a Nullity" Member of Parliament Admits However — Conservative Party Not Representative of Ideals of Canadians — Liberal Party Defended — Meeting Held at Rialto Hall — Officers Elected.

J. A. Mercier, M.P., in an address delivered before the North End Liberal club in the Rialto Hall on Tuesday evening, spoke of an arraignment of the Conservative party as being unrepresentative of the ideals of the Canadian people, coupled however with recognition of Mr. Bennett as "not a nullity."

The speaker defended the Liberal Party from the imputation that they were veering from their long-held ideals and stated that they were forging straight ahead for Liberalism and the prosperity of Canada. Periods of Liberal administration, he said, had always been periods of comparative prosperity, which left the country in a better position. On the other hand the Liberals had invariably inherited an overburdened and overburdened country from the Conservatives.

LUKE CALLAGHAN DEBATING CLUB

The Debating Club of the Luke Callaghan Memorial School will hold its first session during the reception to be tendered the Rev. Singleton on Friday. The subject chosen is "Resolved that movies are degrading."

Charles Cornell and Jack Leahy, of the Tenth Year, will uphold the negative, while Elgar Shea and F. Mansini will support the affirmative. The Debating Club has only been formed recently, and is the first attempt of that kind to be made by the School.

The club was organized under the direction of Rev. Brother Gabriel Kelly, and Charles Cornell. Debates with other High Schools of Montreal are to be arranged shortly. The judges will be Rev. Brother Amelien, Joseph McCarthy, president of the Teachers' Association, and Dr. Mulhally, member of the Catholic School Commission of the City of Montreal.

FAIRMOUNT-ST. GILES CHURCH NOTES

At the morning service on Sunday next the minister, Rev. Burton H. Robinson, will speak on "The Bible the People and History," an introductory address to a morning series of sermons on "The Ten Commandments. Are they out of date." At the evening service at 7.30 his subject will be, "The Man Nobody Knows" and his conversation with the Devil." The public is cordially invited to follow both these series dealing with modern religious experience.

An event of social importance in Church life will be the "Star" Hostess Tea, sponsored by the Fairmount-St. Giles Women's Association in the spacious Assembly Hall on Tuesday next, Jan. 30th, which is open to the general public. An exceptionally attractive layout in heating arrangements and decoration will create a cheerful homelike atmosphere for the expected large gathering of the Church women and their friends. A feature of additional interest will be an interesting play entitled "Equal Shares," to be presented by the en-

An interesting "Scottish" service of helpful religious interest is being planned by the minister and choir for some Sunday evening early in February.

LOWER CANADA IS NOW IN 25TH. YEAR: FOUNDED IN 1909

Dr. C. S. Fosbery, Founder of the School, is Still Headmaster

SCHOLASTIC HONORS

Three Rhodes Scholars Have Graduated; Many Athletic Attainments

Founded in 1909 by Dr. C. S. Fosbery, Lower Canada College has now entered its 25th year. Having originally organized it as a joint stock company with all the stock in the hands of the Headmaster, he has presented it to a Corporation of Old Boys, to be held by them in perpetuity without a view to pecuniary gain.

The first addition to the original building consisted of the Dining Hall, Library and dormitories. Shortly after the Great War the building of the Memorial Gymnasium was undertaken by the Old Boys, the purchase of the Playing Field being effected about the same date; more recently 4 new classrooms were added for Preparatory classes.

Among the leading events in the history of the College may be mentioned the furnishing of a Guard of Honor for H.R.H. The Prince of Wales; Inspection of the Cadets by General French; Guard of Honor for Lady Byng, and Lord Allenby; Visits to the School by Earl Grey, the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire, Lord Byng, Lord Willingdon and Lord Bessborough.

In scholastic attainments, three Rhodes Scholars, J. Fathing, H. G. Lafleur, and K. Cameron, received their education at Lower Canada College, and seven first places including two Senior Matriculation at McGill have been gained, while the Honours Roll at McGill includes the names of many Old Boys.

In the Great War as many as 245 boys enlisted, of whom 31 made the supreme sacrifice.

Will Rothermere's Conversion Boost The Fascists?

Owen O'Duffy Viscount Rothermere Sir Oswald Mosley

Starting as a tiny stream with Benito Mussolini in 1914, Fascism has assumed the proportions of a mountain torrent that has swept through Europe under various names and vari-colored shirts. England now seems to be on the brink of succumbing to the new gospel with Viscount Rothermere, one of the leading publishers in the Mother Country, advocating the support of Sir Oswald Mosley, Black Shirt leader. Across the Irish Sea, General O'Duffy, leader of the Blue Shirts, Irish brand of Fascism, is making rapid strides since the ban placed on his organization by President De Valera was declared unconstitutional by the Free State Supreme Court. Observers predict that the next great political swing in Great Britain will be towards Fascism, following Lord Rothermere's statement that it is the only way to forestall Communism.

X-Rays Explained At Sunday Night Forum

Reasons why "We behave like human beings" have been found by scientists engaged in research work upon glands and their function, in the light of which Psychiatrists are enabled to diagnose and alleviate abnormalities of human conduct or cases of mental maladjustment.

The extent to which the thyroid, adrenal and other glands influence our behaviour is providing us new means by which to measure morals and no longer need the Psychologically deformed be subject entirely to contempt, condemnation and ridicule. The criminal and the imbecile, people suffering, perhaps, from glandular derangement, deserve as much care and sympathy as those who are physically unwell, and, thanks to science, are now receiving the necessary help and just consideration previously denied them.

So said Sinclair Mackintosh, speaking to members of the Sunday Night Forum on Endocrine Glands, their function and uses.

Miss Ethel Aiken also addressed the group, on "The X-Ray, Its Contribution to mankind."

Roentgen's discovery of the penetrating powers of the ray, its subsequent development at the cost of many lives of experimenters, present use in the treatment of intestinal and skin diseases and its aid to the exact diagnoses of bone fractures, were some of the many different aspects of this subject as explained by the speaker.

"X Rays are still very expensive, the reason being that the profit goes not to the doctor, but to the Controlling X Ray Corporations and is used in research to make X Ray machines safer and easier to operate." Miss Aiken illustrated her talk with some photographic plates of a few particularly interesting cases.

Meetings of the Sunday Night Forum are held each week in the lounge room of North Branch Y.M.C.A., at 8.45 p.m.

Any one interested in attending may get in touch with the president, Mr. Jack Large at North Branch "Y" on Monday evenings between 7.30 and 8 o'clock, or communicate with the secretary, Miss Lillian Henderson at 4823 Western avenue, Westmount.

FIRST ANNUAL DANCE AND CARD PARTY OF ST. MICHAEL'S ATHLETIC

The decision of the Association executive to hold a dance and card party on Friday, February 2nd, inst. exemplifies the enthusiasm which prevails throughout the entire membership. The committee in charge of arrangements are making every effort to make the evening a complete success, particularly in view of the fact that this is the first venture of the kind undertaken by the Association since its formation some months ago.

Emmett Meagher's orchestra has been engaged for the occasion. It is also announced that a prize is available for each table. The tickets are now obtainable from any member of the association, at a very moderate price. It is felt that arrangements, as completed to date, assure all who attend an extremely enjoyable evening.

The progress made by association amply bears out earlier predictions that it would eventually become a definite factor in Catholic lay activity in the City. The support and encouragement received from the Pastor and the people of the parish is greatly appreciated. The dance committee feel quite confident that this same encouraging support will be again in evidence on the night of February 2nd.

The personnel of the Committee is as follows:—Chairman, T. Rochon, assisted by T. G. O'Neill, D. F. Anderson, Leo. Callan and W. McElligott. The function will take place in Columbus Hall.

Lucky Ticket Drawn

The League for Justice to Animals announces that No. 2892 was the winning ticket in the hope chest draw, for which tickets were sold in Simpson's. The ticket was drawn by Mayor Rinfret and the proceeds will be used to purchase blankets for horses.

Changes In Post Office Department

Arrangements are being made to superannuate J. L. Gaboury (left), Deputy Postmaster-General of Canada, because of ill-health, and V. T. Coolecan (right), Assistant Deputy, is reported to be his likely successor. Mr. Gaboury has been in the public service since 1900.

Life Was Saved By Nurse, Rescued Trapper Declares

She Was Visiting Trading Post When He Was Brought In Helpless — Swedish Man Treated and Then Brought Out By Plane

But for the expert care of Miss Lillian Black, Edmonton nurse holidaying at Reed's trading post, 90 miles down the Athabaska from Fort McMurray, Gunnar Aspaas, 33-year-old Swedish trapper, firmly believes he would be dead today. For 3 months Aspaas lay critically ill with an abscessed lung in his lonely cabin on the banks of the Athabaska river, arrived in Edmonton on the Northern Alberta Railways train from Fort McMurray, and immediately was taken to the University hospital.

"Miss Black was wonderful. She did everything she could for me, and the Reeds helped, too," declared the trapper. His face paled from the trying ordeal, the sick trapper staggered from the train and was assisted into a McNeill's ambulance, which hurried him to the hospital.

Ill a Long Time
In his cabin where he has lived for the last four years with his two partners, Jack Sutter and an Indian lad, G. Hendeau, Aspaas first became ill on Oct. 9, but it was not until a month later that his companions were able to attempt the difficult trip down the Athabaska to the trading post. "I came in one day at noon and told Jack I felt sick and sleepy," he told a reporter. So I went to bed for a few days, then I noted a sore on my chest which started running. The boys wanted to take me into the trading post but the river wasn't frozen and the bush was too thick to go overland. I got worse and worse and I thought I was going to die.

"The weather got colder after about a month and on Nov. 3 we decided to make the trip up to the post. Jack went ahead of the dogs and cut a rough trail through the ice which was piled high in places so that the sleigh couldn't go over without tipping. The trip took about three hours, but it was plenty long enough. My side sure hurt."

Here good luck, for a change, favored him. Miss Black was staying with the Reeds and was able to give the man expert care. In a few days, Dr. Harry W. Lewis, Dominion medical officer at Fort Chipewyan, who had been sent for by an Indian runner, arrived at the post accompanied by Sergt. Bryant, R.C.M.P.

Brought Out By Aeroplane
On the same day that the doctor was administering temporary treatment to the sick man, H. "Slim" Behn, tug pilot, walked into the post on his way to McMurray from Poplar Point, where the river boat Mabel was marooned in the ice. He brought word into McMurray of the sick man's plight, a few days later.

Officials of Canadian Airways Limited, gave their word that as soon as an aeroplane could land on the river, which had meanwhile been rendered impassable due to flood waters, they would fly the man out.

Then after a cold snap Pilot Archie McMullen roared out of Fort McMurray, scanned the river outside the post, and after dropping in at Fort Chipewyan refueled and on his return risked a landing on the treacherous flood ice. The light Bellanca skimmed over the ice and pulled up safely.

"It was my first trip in an aeroplane and I lay on the floor of the cabin and felt pretty sick," Aspaas admitted.

"But it was wonderful the way everybody helped me out. If they hadn't done so much for me I would have been dead by this time. I know I was pretty close to it for a time but I seem to be much better now."

MacVICAR MEMORIAL CHURCH NOTES

The Young Peoples Society of Macvicar Memorial Church held their annual sleighing party on Monday night and it proved most successful in every way. It was an ideal night, the roads were all that could be desired for sleighing or sprinting, and both were indulged in on this trip. On returning to the church hall the social committee had everything in readiness for the supper of pork and beans, etc., etc. Community songs were then sung under the stirring leadership of Hugh McGuigan and the happy event closed with the Endeavor chorus.

Next Sunday there will be services of special importance and interest both morning and evening. At 11 a.m. Dr. Potter will preach on the theme "From Pit to Promiseship" and at 7.30 the service will be in recognition of the founding of the Christian Endeavor Movement by a young Canadian who began his ministry in Portland, Me. Rev. T. DeCourcy Rayner, President of the Montreal C.E. Union, will deliver the anniversary address.

The annual congregational meeting will take place on Wednesday, January 31 at 8 p.m., and the regular mid-week services will be resumed on Wednesday, February 7th at 8 p.m.

Burns Anniversary was duly observed on Tuesday night when an illustrated lecture on "A Ramble Through Scotland Including the Burns Country" was given by Mr. Wm. McBroom. A number of Scottish selections both vocal and instrumental were rendered, under the sponsorship of The Misses Robb and The Grace Bible Class.

Y. W. H. A. Activities

The Y.W.H.A. Players will present "Kaleidoscope," an original play written and directed by Peter Friedman, on Saturday and Sunday evenings, Jan. 27th and 28th. This play brings to the public an interesting experiment in amateur theatricals. No script has been used, and the scenes have been built up from situations presented to the players by the director. The scenery has been built along modernistic lines by Mr. Friedman, and particular attention has been paid to lighting effects. Among the players taking part are Misses Pauline Treub, Ida Dubrofsky, Ada Span, Ruth Popliger, Mrs. L. Shapiro, Hannah Kaplan, Sylvia Rubins, Freda Gilbert, Tillie Greener, Frances Melnick, Minty Sourkes, Sara Aronson, Ida Kremer, Ida Nathanson, Esther Kositsky, and Mary Friedman.

SERVE MUSHROOMS AS EVERYONE LIKES 'EM

Mushrooms Don't Claim Much in the Way of Nutritive Value But They're A Tasty Dish—Even Romans Ate Them With Wine

The popularity of the mushroom followed with a cream soup lusciously floating the palest bits of mushroom gills and topped with crunchy croutons. Or for a luncheon entree make it butter broiled mushroom caps, served on toast with a dish of minced parsley and paprika.

For it's a great relief to be able to raise huzzahs over mushrooms because we like them—and not because somebody vows that they will make brain, brawn, or beauty. And it's the cheerful truth. Mushrooms just can't claim much in the way of nutritive value. They are too large a percentage of water.

They do, however, boast a pretty good dose of vitamin B to insure husky appetites and normal growth. They even chalk themselves up with a large amount of iron—almost as much as spinach can claim. And since iron in foods is a safeguard against anaemia that is something to boast about. But all in all we eat them because we just can't let them alone. And now that they are selling for almost one-fourth of their before-the-depression-days price, we need no longer give thought to their cost.

So to start off with a palate tingler for the first course.

Mushroom Ham Canape

Cut thin slices of bread into rounds (use a baking powder can top or a cookie cutter) and toast them on one side only. Now spread the untoasted side with a mixture of equal parts of minced pickle or relish and devilled ham, moistened with mayonnaise. Add a sprinkling of lemon juice. Have ready fresh cleaned mushrooms. Slice them in thin slices and place several on each canape. Dot with butter and broil under an open flame. To serve, sprinkle with paprika, and offer with lemon wedges.

On Cooking Mushrooms

Next for tips for mushroom cooksters. First, don't overcook. The flavor of mushrooms is very delicate. Long cooking destroys it. Select fresh mushrooms which are white or creamy in color, firm and moist. Avoid shrunken ones or caps that are dry and rubbery. Dark spots as a rule are a sign of decay. If you are interested in stews, soups, or stuffings, select the cheaper, long-stemmed mushrooms. If they are to be for broiling, the large-capped, short-stemmed ones are the thing. You may figure that to serve four persons with broiled mushrooms you will need 1 pound of them. If they are to be creamed, 1 pound will serve 5 or 6.

Mushroom and Chicken Soup

Chop fine 1 generous cupful of mushrooms and cook until tender in the contents of 1 can of chicken broth. Add 3 cupfuls of boiling milk and boil all together. Melt 2 tablespoons butter and stir to a smooth paste with 2 tablespoonfuls flour. Do not brown. Add to the liquid to thicken. Season with salt and pepper. Just before serving, add ½ cup hot cream. This is a delicious soup.

Fried Mushrooms

Place enough butter in the bottom of a frying pan to cover it, and fry the mushrooms gently, being careful to have the heat low enough so that the butter does not scorch. Sprinkle lightly with salt. Stir often, and when cooked tender, turn into a serving dish and serve at once, garnished with parsley. Frying in butter gives a much finer flavor, but extreme care is necessary to prevent the butter from acquiring a scorched flavor.

Mushroom Omelet

1 cup mushrooms
4 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon flour
½ cup rich milk
Few grains pepper
1½ teaspoon grated onion
2 tablespoons butter
6 eggs

Prepare the mushrooms, removing stems and cutting in slices. Cook in the 4 tablespoons of butter until tender, turning frequently. Add the flour, stir well, then add the milk, salt, pepper and grated onion. Cook 5 minutes. Meanwhile, beat the eggs slightly and add 6 tablespoons of water, ¼ teaspoon salt and a few grains of pepper. Melt the 2 tablespoons of butter in frying pan, turn the eggs into it and glance over a slow heat. As the eggs cook on the bottom and sides, prick the surface with a fork so that the uncooked egg on top will run under the sides. When the entire mixture is set, spread the mushroom sauce over the top of the omelet, fold over carefully, and turn on a hot dish. Serves six.

Toast à la King

½ pound mushrooms
1½ cups milk
2 hard-cooked eggs
2 tablespoons flour
1½ tablespoons butter
8 or 10 triangles of toast

Peel and slice mushrooms into a saucepan. Add butter and milk. Cover and simmer for 10 minutes, or until mushrooms are tender, then stir in the flour blended with a little of the milk. Simmer, stirring constantly for 2 or 3 minutes, till the sauce is thick and smooth, then season to taste. Add sliced, hard-cooked eggs

Green Peas and Mushrooms

½ pound mushrooms
1 tin peas
4 tablespoons shortening
1 cup water
1 teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper

Wash and cut mushrooms in pieces. Melt shortening, add mushrooms and saute for a few minutes. Add peas, salt, pepper and water. Cover tightly and cook slowly for 15 minutes.

Veal and Mushroom Supreme

2 pounds cooked veal
3 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon minced onion
¾ cup flour
1 cup milk and mushroom stock
1 cup small mushrooms
Salt and paprika
Buttered bread crumbs

Left-over roast veal with a portion of the brown gravy may be used. Cut the meat into cubes. Make a sauce of the butter, onion, flour, and liquids. Add the veal and mushrooms and season to taste with salt and paprika and cover with buttered bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven (400 deg. F.) for 30 minutes. This recipe serves eight.

Stuffed Mushrooms

Choose large mushrooms. Peel and cut off the stems. Mince the stems and some caps very fine. Fry in butter, fine crumbs (about 1-3 crumbs to 2-3 chopped mushrooms), and season with salt and pepper. Add a few drops of Worcestershire sauce and the chopped mushrooms. Stuff the peeled caps with this mixture. Put into a shallow baking pan, stuffed side up, add a little cream and dot each mushroom with butter. Bake in an oven at 375 deg. F. until tender. If liked, a little finely chopped onion, sautéed in butter, may be added to the crumbs mixture.

What One Girl Wore

It's been a busy social season and it's still going strong. So many bridges, so many tea-parties and so many matinees to attend. Probably you have the feeling by this time that your afternoon wardrobe is not holding up so well.

I always like to include one or two practical dressy afternoon frocks in my wardrobe. They're easy to get, they're lovely to look at, and they're ready at a moment's notice without any necessary repairs.

In this class of attire I include the dark crepe dress that has no contrasting trimming that must constantly be cleaned or changed. At this time of the year, the dark printed frock (minus light trimming) may also be included under this heading.

Consider, for instance, the smart little dress sketched today. Dressy enough to meet the demands of any afternoon occasion, it may still be called practical.

Fashioned of lovely corded silk in a deep beige shade, it is attractively flecked with gold. It depends upon its gleaming fabric and interesting cut for distinction. Note the neck-line and are used again at the cuffs. A gleaming gold buckle is used at the waistline and there are two gauze

PROTESTANT RELIEF TO HOLD BENEFIT

A Bridge and "500" is to be held in the Hall of the Church of the Ascension, 5438 Park Ave., on Wednesday, January 31st, at 8 p.m., in aid of the funds of the North End Protestant Relief. This Society has been carrying on its work of Emergency relief in Outremont and the North End for over thirty years. Last year 599 families were assisted with groceries, coal, bread, milk, medicine, etc., and 4885 articles of clothing were given away. The many calls have left the treasury sadly depleted though not one cent of the funds is used for administration. It is to be hoped that this relief work need not be hindered.

If Midas Had Lived Today

Good King Midas, so the story goes, was very much in favor of the idea that everything he touched should change to gold. He soon found out however that this was not such a grand state of affairs and that eating golden food was a little hard on the bridge-work. He begged to be allowed to change his decision.

Are not many of us like Midas? Do we not all want gold? But we do not want it in its original form any more than Midas did. We want it in the form of ready cash.

The Midas of today is the man who has Old Gold stored away in his home, in the shape of either trinkets, watches, rings, chains, etc., and is in need of ready cash with which to buy food.

Today however, luckily for the present day Midas and his family, the Gold Scrap Shop is ready to pay the highest prices ever offered for Old Gold. This institution, with branches at 363 St. Catherine Street West and 884 St. Catherine Street West (just four door west of Bleury and four doors east of the Capitol Theatre respectively) is a boon to the man or woman who is in need of ready cash and has old gold jewellery hoarded away somewhere and doesn't know what to do with it.

And again every ounce of gold that is taken in at the Gold Scrap Shop goes direct to the Canadian mint at Ottawa and so becomes a national asset. Thus in helping yourself you are also helping the government.

If you find that it is inconvenient for you to make the trip to the Gold Scrap Shop just phone MARquette 5423 and an expert valuator, equipped with ready cash and prepared to offer you the highest price ever paid for Old Gold will call at your home. NEW TAXES COMING?

The Pleasure Car Owner Liable to be Assessed Again
— More Than Motorists Benefit by Good Roads.

Threat of a new automobile tax to pay for snow clearance from the highways will not be welcomed by car owners or car dealers. Every additional tax put on automobiles or gasoline tends to hurt the automobile and oil companies; if taxes get heavier, it will be difficult indeed for the industry to recover from the present slump. The biggest problem to the car dealer is his stock of used cars. If a reduction of the tax on used cars could be achieved, depending on the age of the car, a real boost in business would result, which would eventually be reflected in new car sales, accessory sales, oil and gas sales, and, indeed, increased revenue from taxation due to the greater activity of business.

There is a peculiar idea abroad that the motorist is the only one who benefits by keeping the roads open in winter time and that he, consequently, should be made to bear the cost. This is entirely wrong, as a little thought on the matter will reveal. It is just as necessary in the interest of business generally to keep the roads open in winter as in summer — wholesalers, retailers, shippers, garages, oil stations, hotel men and many others benefit. Direct harm can result only to the railroads. Yes, keep the roads open, but don't soak the pleasure owner for it all.

THE MOTOR SHOW

Extreme New Lines on Many Cars Attract Curiosity
of Crowd — Will 100 M.P.H. Car Ever Be Really Useful?

A visit to the current motor show reveals many interesting new things in automobiles. Perhaps the newest and most interesting are the extreme lines some of the cars present. In viewing these new models, the question naturally arises: "Is this extreme streamlining necessary?" Ninety to one hundred miles an hour on the highway with better gas mileage is claimed for some of these new models. There are very few highways, however, straight enough and smooth enough to permit sustained speeds of even seventy or seventy-five miles an hour, while two or three miles more per gallon hardly compensates for the disadvantages of low road clearance and extra length on gravel roads and in traffic. It will be many, many years before any government can afford, even if it wished, to build highways for the new cars. In the meantime the average car buyer wants good road clearance for country and mountain travel, plenty of power for the hills, reasonable economy, longevity and comfort. Some of the new cars seem to anticipate the highway of the future, but even when that day comes it is doubtful if they will be used to their capacity, for increase of population and traffic will make high speed even on the new highways too dangerous.

THE NEW ECONOMY

Germany Settling Down for a Long Night — A Modern Experiment in Feudalism.

The new system of economy in Germany will please the dominant classes in that country, and perhaps in Italy, but will make Russia more determined than ever in her course of Communism and will also make parliamentary countries like Great Britain and the United States more determined than ever to safeguard the rights and liberties of the individual citizen. Germany is settling down to another long night such as all Europe went through for a thousand years prior to the Renaissance. The government is to be supreme, but has practically delegated control of the common people to a ruling class composed principally of industrialists. From now on indefinitely the working man will be voiceless, powerless, ever in the dread of the displeasure of those above him. There is little doubt but that the system will "work." The feudal system "worked" for a thousand years. But there will be no justice for the majority of the people. The examples of Germany and Italy will, however, have a good effect on Anglo-Saxon peoples in this way: we shall appreciate more the liberty, suffrage, and personal opportunities presented by the system of democracy under which we live—privileges which we have been inclined to hold rather lightly of recent years.

Grapho - Analysis And Social Development

By
A. Cuddon-Woodthorpe,
Examiner of Questioned Documents

In a preface to a lecture by H. G. Wells on "The Child" and "The Beginning of the Mind" Professor Charles F. Horne asks: "Are our children getting the very best training possible for those trials of life which they, like the rest of us, must one day face? To every father and mother that question ranks high among the most important."

"Our business," Mr. Wells warns, "is to find just what is the best possible environment, the one that will give the soundest and fullest growth, not only of body, but of intelligence."

This need of society has long been recognized. It has occupied the attention of most great leaders of modern thought, but while praiseworthy efforts have been made to control and direct the problems of material and social environment, we have not yet scratched the surface of many things still crying for attention.

When the technique of vocational selection is properly appreciated by the people, there will be rapid improvement in the social culture of civilized communities. The economic waste of human material will be more rapidly checked, and if this is carried to its logical conclusion, it will slowly, but surely eliminate many of the causes that now operate to invite revolution and world upheaval.

The relationship between capital and labour forms only a small part of the many grievances that are eating away at the heart of humanity. Important as they are in the every day affairs of life, they will never by themselves do much towards the actual advance of human happiness, because material gain is not in itself the source of happiness.

Character and Personality are the foundation stones of human society, because they are responsible not only for raw material and talent tendencies, but also for the practical application of them.

We cannot rely upon what a young boy or girl may fancy. Such fancies may lead them towards something worth while, or they may lead them towards a mirage. It is quite possible to fancy a certain activity without having the necessary character and personality equipment to support that fancy successfully.

Without socially suitable character and Personality traits, ability is like a house built upon quick sands. Such a house will not for long resist the caprice of environment, and such ability will only struggle against odds that must triumph in the end.

All problems of vocational counselling involve studies of mental attitude, personality, talent tendencies, social and economic conditions, and the results of such study weigh heavily in the balance in determining what line of work might offer a person the most natural opportunities for development and success. The field of Grapho-Analysis is necessarily limited to its proper sphere, but its contributions are essential to complete the picture. This is why Grapho-Analysis is destined to play an important part in future social development.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE NOTES

"Truth" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, for Sunday, January 28. The Golden Text is: (Deuteronomy 32:4) "He is the Rock, his work is perfect; for all his ways are judgment: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is he."

Among the citations comprised in the Lesson-Sermon is the following verse from the Bible: "These are the things that ye shall do; Speak ye every man the truth to his neighbor; . . . and let none of you imagine evil in your hearts against his neighbor"; (Zechariah 8:16,17).

Also included in the Lesson-Sermon are the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Truth has furnished the key to the kingdom, and with this key Christian Science has opened the door of the human understanding." "Science makes no concessions to persons or opinions. One must abide in the morale of truth or he cannot demonstrate the divine Principle."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE APPOINTMENT MADE

To fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Annie M. Knott, the appointment of Mrs. Nelia E. Ritchie, as members of the Christian Science Board of Directors of the Mother Church is announced.

During her work as member of the Board of Lectureship, Mrs. Ritchie delivered a lecture in Montreal. Many will also recall her visits to Montreal on business trips. She is well-known here and elsewhere throughout the Province.

Letters to the Editor

The Editor,
Dear Sir,

For a long time it has been my intention to voice my opinion upon the posts of Lieutenant-Governors of the Provinces of the Dominion. For fear of appearing radical, or probably anti-British, I have been reluctant in doing so, but seeing that the Province of Alberta has fired the first gun, I am wondering how long it will be before the other Provinces do the same thing, and what reception they will receive from Ottawa.

With the question of titles again to the fore at Ottawa, the action of the Alberta group will more or less dampen this question a little, and I am earnestly hoping that it will have the required effect upon the question of the Lieut.-Governor Department of our province.

Does anyone ever take the trouble to figure out what this appointment means to the tax-payer, what good at the present time the saving of this hundreds of thousands of dollars annually could be done for the poor.

This appointment is nothing more than an annuity for some previous politician, and it is all very well to admit that this one or that one deserves the appointment, but take it from one who knows that any politician who ever earned his living from the government, was always paid all he was worth, and in a great many cases much more than they were ever worth, and after their usefulness has waned to the extent that they have to make a pension sort of position for them it is more than ridiculous to place them in a mansion, with a staff whose main duties are to shine buttons and such like.

If the public were acquainted with the duties of the post in question, it is a yardstick were used to measure the hours of labor the Lieutenant of the Province puts in as compared with the fees of our "hard working" legal minds, his salary would be over a million dollars a year, as it is he has to get along with about $50.00 per hour, which shows that he can hardly make ends meet.

Good luck to you, Alberta, and may your trail of common sense reach all through the Dominion, and do not stop until you reach your objective, and when you do I trust that this over-ridden and over-burdened tax-payer of our own Province will benefit to the extent that this reduction in public expenses will cause.

No doubt in some minds, by statements will appear as treason. Nevertheless, if by expressing myself, and I am positive there are others that agree with me, meets with the approval of those who think but dare not talk, then sooner or later some good will come from it.

Let us save, on this splash of nonsense that exists at Quebec; let that money wasted reach a source that will save life and spirits so sadly evident even in old Quebec, not to mention the other parts of our Province. Let anyone who doubts what I am saying to look at the Lieutenant Governor's Department statement which appears in the Public Accounts of the Province annually and there see for themselves a statement which is close to a quarter of a million annually that is wholly maintained by the people, then decide if better use of this money could not be used to a far greater advantage than that of maintaining a gentleman who was paid his whole worth while serving his party and who is not entitled to a penny more as a pension.

Abolish the whole department, lock, stock and barrel, the Province and the public will never miss it, not even notice it, and broken-down men and women, sickly and undernourished children will benefit in a manner they probably never dreamed of. I do not say its abolition will feed and clothe the whole unemployed, but it will at least furnish ample help to

BOBBY LEITHAM AT LUKE CALLAGHAN MEMORIAL SCHOOL

The main feature of the athletic and entertainment evening which is to be held Feb. 7th next under the auspices of the Luke Callaghan Memorial School will be the personal appearance of that well-known 'Bobby' Leitham, Verdun's popular boxing idol. He will act as referee in the three star bouts, in which A. Gagnon, P. Natts, Geo. Rattray, R. Kelly, Pat. Galley, and W. Young will appear. In addition 'Mickey' Hennessey, junior champion and finalist for provincial amateur honors, will meet 'Jos' Sorrella, junior city champion of the St. Alban's A.A. and Frankie Allan will meet Tommy Ambrose, pupils of the school.

NORTH BRANCH "Y" BOXERS SHOW CLASS

At the smoker given by The Montreal Motor Cycle Club at The New Carleton Hotel, Coach Mintz had a few of his charges in exhibition boxing bouts against members of various other clubs and the North Branch Boys showed great form and ring generalship. Following is a list of the bouts which were enjoyed by all present.

Fred Harrison, St. Albans vs. Art. Whelan, N.B. Y.M.C.A.
Bud Matheson, N.B. Y.M.C.A. vs. Jimmy Hall, Montreal M.C.C.
Ross Taylor, N.B. Y.M.C.A. vs. Tom Matthews, Coach St. Albans.
Chris. Mintz, Coach N.B. Y.M.C.A. vs. Bob Martin, Montreal M.C.C., ex-Provincial champion.

CARDINAL HOCKEY CLUB LOOKING FOR GAMES

The Cardinal Hockey Club, intermediate hockeyists, would like to arrange games with teams averaging 18-20 years of age. The Cardinals, organized for the third consecutive year, believes itself to be stronger than in past years. It holds third position in the Junior section of the Jarry Park League this season, in a group of eight teams.

The team is as follows: —

LEAF'S FAVORITE NUMBER

"8" seems to be the favorite scoring number of the Toronto Maple Leafs, pace-setters in the National Hockey League. They have run up that total three times this season, twice against Maroons, once on Detroit. Their highest total, however, was nine, compiled against Americans.

In the eternal triangle, three's always a crowd. You are living on Easy Street if you think it is.

Some men always have their hands in for getting a hand-out.

Strathcona Academy Highlights

Badminton

This week marks the grand finale of the Ladder Doubles Tournament which has been on since the first of December. Naturally by this time the best couple should be at the top. So watch this column next week for the names of the winners.

Many of our senior girls are preparing to enter the annual contest for High School girls to be played in the Montreal High School gymnasium. This will be some Saturday (all day) in the very near future.

Girls' Basketball

The girls played their last two games of the season on the floor on Thursday, January 18th, when the Seniors defeated Verdun with a 16-10 score, while the Juniors tied 7-7 with the visiting team.

The low scoring was due to the fact that the Verdun teams arrived at 4.30 and had only time to play two seven-minute periods instead of the regular fifteen-minute ones.

The home teams having lost most of their enthusiasm during their long wait and the visitors being rather worn out after their trip up neither game showed the teams at their best. However, Aileen Moore starred for Strathcona's Seniors and the girls were glad to finish the season with a winning game.

Ski Meet

Strathcona Academy's newly formed skiing team was represented in the large contingent of school boys that journeyed up to the Laurentians for Saturday. The team, formed at the last moment did not have the benefit of team practice, as the teams compared from the other schools, which had been training zealously for the last few weeks. Nevertheless, they gave a good account of themselves placing fifth in the cross-country. The team was made up mostly of junior high school pupils, who gave their older and more experienced rivals a keen fight. Those who made the trip were Wellington, Sugden, Deskin, Cuke, Bernier, R. Greene, G. Greene and Spardakos.

Gym Exhibition

One of the highlights of the season will be the major boys gym exhibition to take place in the Memorial Hall, near the end of March. This exhibition will be under the able direction of Physical Director Brennan, who will start preparations at once. Every class in the public and junior high school grades will be represented while a special group from tenth and eleventh year will also participate.

This exhibition will be eagerly awaited by pupils and parents alike, for it is over six years that a large gym rally of this type has been held.

The programme will be as follows:

Grades 3 and 4: Mimetics.
Grades 5 and 6: Day's Order.
Grade 8 boys (prime): Clubs.

Grade 8 A: Marching Squad Drill.
Grade 8 B: Mats.
Grade 9 A: Box Work and Danish Exercises.

Grade 9 B (prime): Mass Gym and Pyramids.

Grade 9 B: Tiger Leaping and Danish Exercises.

Grades 10 and 11: Apparatus.

Another Exhibition to be held at Guy Drummond will also take place around that time.

Their programme will be:

Grades three: Mimetics.

Grades four: Days Order and Games.

Grades five: Mats and Danish Exercises.

Grades six: Pyramids and marching.

Grades seven: Mass Gym and Box Work.

Senior Hockey

Due to the poor showing of the Strathcona senior hockey team in its first three games, a complete shake-up of the team has been made to add sufficient scoring punch.

Coach Brennan has brought up two promising youngsters from the intermediates that will strengthen the team immensely.

The team now boasts two strong forward lines, Griffiths-Walker-Boosamra on the first line, with Scott-Vipond-Puttee or Blake, on the second. The defence will be Ashcanase, Weinstein and Ridgway, while Levitt and Goldstein will mind the nets.

This line-up is the strongest that has appeared this season, and if the proper spirit and harmony is achieved the team will go far.

Strathcona seniors lost their second straight game of the season to the strong Town of Mount Royal team by the score of 1-0. The game was fast with Town of Mount Royal having a large edge of the play in the first half, taking a one goal lead early in the opening minutes of the game.

The second half the Strathcona team played better hockey and their rushes kept Mount Royal constantly on the defence, but the Academy team could not supply the extra punch to tie the score. The next game is against Montreal High at the Forum on Friday 26th.

Most Versatile Of Leaf Reserves

"Buzz" Boll

Coach Dick Irvin of Toronto Maple Leafs recently termed "Buzz" Boll the most versatile all-round player in the League and on performance this would seem to be the case. In a recent game against Ottawa, Boll was placed on the defence, which completed his round of positions on the club. He has now played every position on the Leaf team except goal. For two weeks he patrolled left wing in the absence of Harvey Jackson, who was injured. Boll has speed, and great fighting spirit, and is willing to help out anywhere.

LEAD IN EVERYTHING

Toronto Maple Leafs started 1934 by leading the National League in everything: games won, goals scored, the leading goal scorer and points-maker, Charlie Conacher; the leader in assists, Joe Primeau, the leader in penalties, Red Horner.

LEAF'S FIRST VICTORY

When Toronto Leafs defeated Bruins 4-1 on Boston ice in that eventful game of December 12, it was their first victory on the Boston Gardens since last spring's play-off series. Their best heretofore were 3 to 3 ties last season and the season before.

Beaver Intermediates Lose to Wm. Currie Team

The Beaver Amateur Association, Intermediate team lost their league match to the Wm. Currie Co. team on Wednesday, by a score of 8-1. The North End group, were very unfortunate, due to illness, in having six players only for this important match. However, the boys went right out and played their best hockey for sixty minutes against the strong Currie team. Griffin and Morris Sheiker were the outstanding Beaver players, with Pete Martin the star for the Currie team.

Notes

The Beaver Junior team drew with the Red Indians, in their league match with a score of 0-0. The Beavers were the playmakers, but were unable to score. The Intermediate team played a double header, as well, winning both games. The first against the Scott A.C., produced a score of 7-6. The second game against the Falcons, was won by a score of 5-1, with both teams

WINGED WHEELERS DEFEAT ERO'S

The Winged Wheelers, North-End-of-Montreal Junior hockey team, have added to their laurels with the defeat of the Ero's, leaders of the juvenile section of the Outremont League. The score was 7-1, in favour of the Wheelers. Both teams played at an unusually fast pace, but the Wheelers held a commanding margin through the play, and were never headed.

In the first period, scorers were McLean and Murray. Pickard, Bolahan and Hennessey were the tallies in the second, Pickard and Bolahan scoring each two goals. The third period saw the Ero's score their lone tally on a play by Goldstein. Both teams played fine hockey, and credit is due them.

Any information regarding future games, can be had from G. Murray, CRescent 5484.

North Branch "Y" Notes

The High School Club has resumed its Friday meetings. Mr. G. W. C. Ginn will be the speaker this week.

Vocations on which talks will be given during the coming weeks are law, medicine, education, the ministry and dentistry.

A Fret-Cutting Class with Albert Hoffman as leader meets on Friday afternoon 4.15-5.15. This is a class particularly for intermediate members.

Alan Herrgen has opened the way to a new series of hobby clubs by asking all boys interested in sea shells, trees, butterflies, etc., to sign their names on a list on the notice board or speak to him personally at the desk about such studies.

Alan was the curator of the Kamp Kanawana Museum in 1931, and at the same time conducted classes in nature-study.

The Explorers and Pioneers—two clubs of the self-governing community junior boys clubs with North Branch—continue to meet regularly each week. Considerable friendly rivalry was manifest at the weekly tournaments held on Saturday night when the boys competed in Ring, Hockey, Badminton, indoor Track Meets, Ping-Pong, Checkers and Kick-It.

The North Branch Boys' Public Speaking and Debating Club has now two wins and one loss in the Montreal Junior Debating League. The second win was registered on Monday night when Lorne Tracy and John Hodgson successfully upheld the affirmative side of the subject "Resolved that it would be in the best interests of the United States of America to repudiate the Monroe Doctrine." Their opponents were Messrs. Ford and Pitt, members of the High School Graduates' Society. The debate was held at the Graduate's Society Club Room in Ahuntsic before a large and appreciative audience.

In debates held earlier in the schedule North Branch had been defeated by Loyola College, but had been successful in their debate with the Minorah Club of West Hill High School.

The experience and training afforded by the public speaking club is recognized by many parents as almost

Evans Stronger Behind Blue-line

Stewart Evans

Montreal Maroons snapped out of their slump after their defence was tightened up by the addition of Stewart Evans, secured from Detroit Red Wings in a trade for Teddy Graham, and Irvine Frew, who came up from the minors.

Both are body-checkers, and Maroons dote on body-checkers. When Evans came up to Red Wings from the Olympics, he was a poke-check blocker, but coach Jack Adams wanted body-checking. So every morning at practise he sent Evans out minus a stick, to play defence, and block incoming attacks by body-checking only. As a result, Evans became skilful at this form of defensive and his 175 pounds form a stout barrier against all attacks.

HAWKS ON AND OFF

Chicago Black Hawk players won't forget they're Hawks even when idling. Every member of the team received black silk dressing gowns with the word "Blackhawks" embroidered on the pockets from Major Frederic McLaughlin, the owner, as Christmas presents.

invaluable for their sons, and all older boys would be well advised to participate in the activities of this North Branch Club or some similar organization even at the expense of missing other recreational activities.

Rain or Shine in Sport

by Vincent Lunny

It's been the policy of this column to refrain from destructive criticism. Today we'd like to launch a seething attack on some managers who are prone to blame existing regulations for the lack of goals, thus furnishing an alibi for the failure of their teams to win consistently. But we'll restrict ourselves to a mere review of the subject.

A little less talk about blue-line changes, widening of nets, limiting the goalies to standing-stops and other legislature designed to aid the forwards and a little more searching for top-notch players would be more effective. Toronto Leafs have done the least talking and have produced a phenomenal band of pucksters. They'll practically equal the Boston record of 1929 without the "go as you please" blue-line rules.

There's just as good fish in the seas as have ever gobbled a worm, and there's just as good hockey players as Leafs in the amateur hockey whirl today, if someone would take the trouble to develop them properly. Leafs have a system and it's feasibility has been demonstrated in practice. Leafs train youngsters and then promote them from the amateur ranks while other teams are buying bartering and bargaining. As to the relative merits of the plans we refer you to the standings. One other team has realized that success can be attained by following this system and are now seeking simon-pures. One manager who has advocated freer rules must have been embarrassed when Leaf snipers rapped home eight goals on his goalie, who by the way, was sensational to limit them to that figure. It was an object lesson.

Leafs have a brilliant aggregation and are assured of success for several years. The veterans have to cut capable capers to hold their positions against ambitious youngsters. When men like Clancy, Kilrea and Cotton fade from the scene, the management will experience little difficulty in replacing them.

Somebody is kidding somebody else. Radical changes are not necessary, but men who play their best, seek goals at all times, are necessary to bolster several squads. And we don't need to name any. Leafs turn on the pressure and keep it on. The fans are entertained and the turnstiles click a merry tune. In a recent game, Leafs barged into a two-goal lead in the opening period, but they never slackened their pace, never faltered, didn't ever fall back on the defensive. They engineered three- and four-man rushes, maintained a dizzy gait. The opposition managed

LUKE CALLAGHAN MEMORIAL SCHOOL NOTES

By R. Cornell

Harry Sage, Frank Lyle, Charles Carveth and P. Gagnier represented the School Club at the ski meet held at Shawbridge last Saturday, under the auspices of the Red Birds Skiing Club. Although the team, which was entered in the cross-country race, was not able to attain any points, being outclassed by such teams as Westmont High School, the young skiers did their utmost to try to place in the events.

Senior Hockey

Both attempts at placing in the Inter-scholastic League by the Senior hockey team, one game with St. Leo's Academy, the other at Lachine High School, proved to be failures because of the fact that the team has revealed an unexpected weakness in its defence. However, practices are to be held frequently, and it is expected that when the next League game rolls around, the team will be able to show a stiff opposition.

Junior Hockey

In the first game of the newly-formed Presentation League, St. Michael's tied St. Gabriel's, 4-4. In a stiff, driving attack, the same team bowled the Aces last Saturday to a 12-1 loss. This game was played in the North End League.

The line-up: Marks, Mulcair, Keisner, Hennessey, McMinim, Pickard and Brennan.

In a return game with the Rockets, the Junior team, section "B", lost out by a score of 4-1, and the following afternoon lost out to the E.E. and S. Hockey Team by a score of 5-1.

to score one point but Leafs intruded on the corded castle three times. As long as the forwards have the puck and are using it properly, the opponents can't threaten seriously. Other owners would do well to take a leaf from Leafs' book, or better still, pilfer the whole library.

CANADIAN PLANES IMPORTANT FACTOR IN NORTHERN AREA

Aeroplane Has Aided Considerably in Development of Mining Posts

W. B. BURCHALL

Airways Officials Spoke Yesterday Afternoon at Rotary Club

The coming of the aeroplane has compelled us to revise our conceptions of the Canadian northland, of its isolation, its hazardous travel and relatively, its vast distances. North of the Transcontinental railroads there are areas, in which, ten years ago, only the solitary trapper, the lone trader and the Indian were to be found; today, they have air mail deliveries twice a week and 50,000 pounds of air mail is flown in each year, said W. B. Burchall, of Canadian Airways, at the Westmount Rotary Club yesterday afternoon.

Sir Alexander Mackenzie took four months in his dash from Fort Chipewyan to the Arctic and back again. In summer the aeroplane can complete the return journey in two or three days. In 1927 men and supplies were flown into the Flin Flon and Sherritt Gordon areas, at that time far remote from railroad. Last year the Flin Flon school district had the most rapid growth of any school district in Manitoba—350 new pupils entering at the fall term.

During the recent stormy weather it took as long for the motor ambulance to travel three miles from the Winnipeg airport to the hospital as it did for Roy Brown, Canadian Airways' pilot, to bring the patient 100 miles by air from Central Manitoba Mines to Winnipeg airport.

"The quickening effect of air travel, has been felt not only in the industrial life of the northern communities but in the social and religious life. Missionaries and fathers of the church, state officials, officers of law and justice, all travel by air. Bishop Anderson of Mooseonee recently visited eight mission posts in one week, and held services at them all. He travelled about 1000 miles yet his travelling time in the air was only about one hour each day," Mr. Burchall said.

Lloyd George Party On Holiday

Here we see Right Hon. David Lloyd George pointing out places of interest in the River Thames to his daughter Megan. Mr. Lloyd George and his family, who form one of the Liberal Parties in the House of Commons, are en route for Lisbon and Estoril for a long delayed holiday. Reports say it is Mr. Lloyd George's first holiday in two years.

"During the past two years attention has been focussed on mining development, much of which has taken place in territory far removed from railroad or highway. During the development of the mining areas air transportation is relied on almost exclusively and even when the mines have reached the productive stage, the aeroplane continues as the vehicle of speedy transportation, so much that there are thriving communities with their schools, churches and other amenities not generally associated with frontier life, unserved by railroad or highway yet having regular air services.

"It is to these communities that an ever increasing total of merchandise, mining and domestic supplies, and mail is carried by the planes of Canadian Airways. In three years the figures have more than trebled—from 761,449 pounds in 1931, to over 2,400,000 pounds in 1933. Add to this over 300,000 pounds of airmail, most of it destined to communities that ten years ago were not in existence and some idea of the transition through which the northland is now passing may be obtained."

The address was illustrated effectively by lantern slides. Wilf Buckley introduced the speaker and Jimmy Riddell extended the thanks of the club.

Percy Jarman presided.

Organize Foreign Work Institute at "Y", Tuesday

A foreign work institute will be organized by Y.M.C.A. members at the home of R. W. Long, chairman of the Board of Management, on Tuesday evening, January 30. All phases of foreign work will be discussed. The proceeds of the carnival held at the "Y" last week-end will be devoted to foreign endeavours.
