SEATO Rejects Red Note

MANILA — (AP) — Foreign ministers of the SEATO countries, brushing aside a Russian proposal to set up a nuclear-free zone in Asia, prepared today for their annual meeting with a possible link-up with anti-Communist alliances in the West and Middle East expected to win most of their attention.

Most ministers rejected the Russian proposal, broadcast Saturday by Moscow radio, as a propaganda bid designed to embarrass the Southeast Asia State Secretary Dulles of the United States declined to comment on the proposal. He said he has not yet seen official reports on the Russian proposal, which included a call for an Asian collective security system.

High on the agenda of the three-day parley, which opens Tuesday, is a scheme for linking SEATO with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Baghdad pact. The Philippines made the proposal. Britain already has opposed it.

MORE AID
The ministers also will discuss the question of more economic and military aid for SEATO's Asian members. Member nations are The Philippines, the United States, Britain, France, Pakistan, Australia, New Zealand and Thailand.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd told reporters he wants some side discussions with Dulles on a summit conference, the Indonesian revolt and "a great many other problems."

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau said he also planned private talks on prospects of a Big-Four meeting.

Cuban Troops Ordered Break Rebel Strike

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Contingents of heavily armed national police stood special alert duty today with orders to act decisively if Fidel Castro's rebels call for a general strike.

The 7,700 policemen and 22,000-man armed forces were ordered to take "whatever steps necessary" to break a strike and crush any outbreaks of violence that might develop on this sixth anniversary of President Fulgencio Batista's last military coup.

Batista cancelled all celebrations except for a radio speech from a nearby military garrison, where he is protected by thousands of troops.

Castro has threatened a general strike at any moment, and this was considered a likely day because of the anniversary. The rebel mountain guerrillas are reported running short of arms, and Castro has declared that a

Students Still Waiting For PM

QUEBEC — Three Montreal students who camped outside Premier Duplessis' office Friday after he refused to see them said Sunday they will stay and renew their request if "we get official support from all student associations in the province."

Bruno Meloche, Jean-Pierre Goyer and Francine Laurendeau of the University of Montreal waited all day in a corridor outside the premier's office after a secretary said Mr. Duplessis refused to see them.

They would try to see the premier again Monday in any case.

Indonesia Island Invaded

SINGAPORE (AP)—Indonesian central government troops stormed ashore today at Bengkalis in Central Sumatra, revolutionary sources said tonight.

The sources said troops of rebel commander Lt.-Col. Achmad Hussein clashed with the invaders but retreated into the surrounding jungle to begin guerilla activities.

Bengkalis is on the east coast of Central Sumatra, at the mouth of the Siak River.

The Siak leads to the American-owned Caltex oilfield headquarters at Pekanbaru. Informants said 4,000 more Javanese troops were crammed aboard transports awaiting to land at Dumai, one of the two Caltex oilfields evacuated today on the advice of the Jakarta government.

A Caltex executive said the company is evacuating the women and children among the nearly 400 Americans at two fields, Dumai and Pakning.

The troop landings were about 90 miles downstream from Pekanbaru, and about 200 miles across the jungle-covered island from Padang, rebel centre.

The two other major oil firms in Indonesia are Royal Dutch Shell and American Standard Vacuum.

Rebel Premier Sjafruddin Prawiranegara's regime on Sumatra recently ordered all foreign firms to halt oil shipments and royalty payments to the Jakarta government.

The freezing of oil shipments would start an economic squeeze that rebel leaders hoped would cripple the financially pressed central government by stopping vitally needed royalty money and cutting off fuel supplies.

No H Tests Now

LONDON (AP) — Britain sent off 150 airmen Sunday night to Christmas Island, the H-bomb testing station in the Pacific, but insisted that no new nuclear test was being planned just now.

Girl Sentenced To Death

PARIS (AP)—The fate of a condemned 21-year-old Moslem girl, Djamilia Bouhired, is giving the conscience of France a workout. One British newspaper has compared her case to the celebrated Dreyfus affair.

She was convicted and sentenced to death last July by a military court which found her guilty of complicity in two terrorist bombings in Algiers that killed one person and wounded 40.

Her sentence to the guillotine is pending before the French clemency board in Paris. Legal circles say the board most likely will reduce her sentence, since in France women are traditionally not subject to the death sentence. It does happen on occasions, the last time 15 years ago.

Five women now are under sentence of death in Algeria, but the case of Djamilia Bouhired has attracted far more publicity, in Djamilia's defenders have not

Campaign Tempo Steps Up Only Three Weeks To Go

Second Day On Island For Queen Mother; Plot Rumor Denied

PORT LOUIS, Mauritius—(Reuters)—Queen Mother Elizabeth today was forced to spend another day on this little Indian Ocean island because of further delays in repairs to the royal plane.

A faulty engine in a Super Constellation carrying the Queen Mother from her six-week tour of Australia and New Zealand already has delayed her departure from here two days.

Today a second plane carrying a spare part for the first aircraft was forced to turn back to the Coes Islands because of bad weather conditions. This is expected to delay her takeoff for Africa another 24 hours.

If the Queen Mother's plane departs Tuesday night she is expected to arrive at Entebbe, Uganda, with a further stop at Malta before returning home to London.

She originally was scheduled to stop at Nairobi, Kenya, but the colonial office in London announced the change to Entebbe Sunday.

It was rumoured the switch was decided on because Mau Mau terrorists were planning to try to assassinate her but the government has officially denied uncovering any such plot.

Fight To Finish Over Lamp

BUSHEY HEATH, England. — (AP) — A. E. Matthews, 88-year-old dean of the British stage, vowed a fight to the finish today against an attempt to erect a concrete lamp post in front of his cottage.

"I may have to sit on sentry duty night and day," he declared, "but they'll never put that gibbet outside my home."

"The workmen come back they will find mounting guard on that hole with my blunderbuss. Where is that damned blunderbuss, anyway? I know I had one—remember using it on an income tax man."

Old "Matty," as he is known to British showgoers, declared war on the village council when workmen dug a hole for the lamp post in front of his 300-year-old cottage.

Matthews put a Chippendale chair over the hole and sat on it. After four hours the workmen gave up and went home. The council is to meet tonight to discuss what can be done about the obstruction.

"The damned thing is just like a gallow," complained Matthews. "I am sure they are going to finish up by hanging me, but I am not ready to go yet."

SIPS TORTIFER
For his around-the-clock vigil, Matthews wore a suit, dressing gown, two mufflers, shawl, fur-lined boots and a deer-stalker hat. He further fortified himself by sipping a mug of milk laced with brandy.

"It's the only way I can get any brandy," he said. "In normal times my wife hides it. It was worth sitting out over that hole to get it."

"I don't need that light outside my house. The only time I get a light there is when I am getting lined up for my nightly trip to the neighborhood saloon."

"Income tax men pay 'em thousands a year and they use it all building monstrous lamp posts. It's a scandal."

The lamp post which aroused Matthews' ire is the last of 250 the village council is installing in the interest of better lighting.

Higher Standards For Schools Asked

Montreal. —(CP)—The executive of the Provincial Association of Protestant teachers demanded improved standards for teachers in Quebec province at a meeting which ended Saturday.

More than 140 representatives of regional boards attended the two-day session.

Resolutions called for a four-year degree course as the ultimate minimum standard for certification.

Liz Taylor Says She'll Quit Films

HOLLYWOOD. —(AP)—Elizabeth Taylor, a top contender for this year's Oscar as best actress, said that 1958 will probably be her last year as a movie queen.

"My husband (Mike Todd) doesn't want me to be an actress," she said. "And I don't want it either."

Leaders On Both Coasts

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

From one end of the land to the other, politicians today were raising their cries for votes in the March 31 federal election. Canadians can respond in exactly 21 days.

Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson moved through Newfoundland while Prime Minister Diefenbaker opened a British Columbia visit. CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell worked Saskatchewan and Social Credit Leader Solon Low cultivated Manitoba. Behind all parties was a busy weekend.

Mr. Diefenbaker drew the second-largest crowd of his campaign so far when he spoke in Edmonton to more than 4,700 persons Saturday night. For his appearance in the civic auditorium, spotlights gleamed, bands played and CCF gate-crashers were ejected from a glittering scene likened to that of a Hollywood premiere.

Mr. Pearson visited Chicoutimi, Que., Saturday before flying to Newfoundland and was the centre of a similar spectacle. His motorcade from the nearby airport at Baguville included some 150 cars and later on, police had to block off traffic around the auditorium where he spoke.

SUPPORTERS SPEAK
From many sections of the country, meantime, rose the voices of supporting players.

Social Credit Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia said at Chilliwack, B.C., that Canadians "are following John (Diefenbaker) straight into the unemployment office."

The Progressive Conservative government had made promises that "were never fulfilled." Its public works program was "only on paper and is a myth."

Both Mr. Diefenbaker, at Edmonton, and Labor Minister Michael Starr at Vancouver, said the peak of unemployment has been passed. Mr. Starr said he expects figures for February will show about 600,000 unemployed compared to 520,000 Jan. 15. Both he and the prime minister said the figure should begin declining now.

CHIDES LIBERALS
Mr. Diefenbaker, greeted on his arrival at the capital of Social Credit's stronghold province by some 2,000 jamming the railway station, concentrated his fire on the Liberals.

He referred to the more than half-dozen former Liberal cabinet ministers, defeated last June 10, who are not contesting this election. In the campaign last year, he said, the Liberals asked who could take the places of such men.

"One doesn't hear that argu-

Reds To Return US Pilot

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—North Korea today agreed to return a United States Air Force pilot shot down over the demilitarized zone last Thursday by Communist gunfire. No date for the release was given.

The Communist announcement came at a meeting of the military armistice commission at which the United Nations command warned it would shoot down any Red planes deliberately crossing the truce line.

Capt. Leon Pfeiffer of Kenosha, Wis., who parachuted from the stricken Sabre jet into Communist territory, was being given "humanitarian treatment," the Communist delegates said. There was no indication whether he was wounded.

The UN delegate, Gen. Olaf Kyster, admitted that Pfeiffer's and other American planes had violated the demilitarized zone but told the Reds it was because of "mistakes and carelessness" on the part of the pilots.

The North Korean delegate charged UN forces had violated the demilitarized zone 388 times since the 1953 armistice to spy on Communist territory.

Margaret May Join Church-Paper

LONDON. —(AP)—A London newspaper columnist suggests that Princess Margaret wants to become a nun.

And, says columnist Rex North in the Sunday Pictorial, she is being sent off on her West Indies tour next month to dissuade her from any such decision to enter the Church.

The nun story has been bantered about by Mayfair gossips for months now.

Ike Orders Speedup To Help Unemployed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A deluge of proposals and some direct administration moves gave promise today of a heavier federal spending to provide jobs and help business in the United States.

While Democrats and some Republicans clamored for more anti-recession action, President Eisenhower ordered a speedup of government construction projects for which money is available, and announced immediate release of $200,000,000 to help make more private loans available for home construction.

Eisenhower also proposed that the federal government, for the first time, provide funds to extend the period of jobless benefits to unemployed workers. Many of these already have exhausted their rights under payment schedules fixed by the various states. These average about $30 a week for a period of 26 weeks.

Another development saw thirteen of the 16 Democratic members of the House of Representatives banking committee propose a $2,500,000,000 government loan program to permit construction of public works projects in labor surplus areas.

Eisenhower expressed concern over what he called the sudden upsurge of "pump-priming" schemes. "That kind of talk," he said in a letter to Republican congressional leaders, "evidences

Ike Portrait Slashed

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A portrait of President Eisenhower was found slashed in the exclusive Houston Club Sunday and a note found on the picture said "We don't like Ike in Texas."

Now Dief Goes Into High Gear

Election day is three weeks away. In this story a CP reporter covering the Diefenbaker four reviews issues emphasized by the prime minister through the campaign's opening weeks.

By ALAN DONNELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

With his election campaign at the half-way point, Prime Minister Diefenbaker appears to be moving into high gear for a closing drive to the March 31 voting day.

The 62-year-old Progressive Conservative leader, who kept up a whirlwind tempo throughout his campaign last year, set an easier pace during the first three weeks of this year's bid for a majority mandate.

In travels that took him from Manitoba to Newfoundland and back, he repeatedly set forth his stand on unemployment, trade, national development, agriculture and social security. On those topics his role is a defensive one of standing on the government's record since it took office last June 21.

But in his attacks on the Liberals—the other parties have been pretty well ignored so far—Mr. Diefenbaker has shown flashes of last year's fighting form with which he led Conservatives back into power after 22 years, with a minority 113 of the 265 Commons seats.

GATHERS MOMENTUM

Those close to the prime minister say he deliberately kept his early electioneering under wraps awaiting a later build-up. Mostly he made one speech a day.

Midway through last week, however, he seemed to drop these tactics during a three-day swing through Southern Ontario. Wednesday he pumped hands through two big, exhausting receptions in Windsor and Leamington and followed with an hour-long speech at Chatham. Next day there was more hand-shaking at Kitchener and a major rally in Hamilton.

This week the pace probably will be equally brisk during four days in British Columbia, one of the key provinces in Conservative hopes. Then he swings back to Eastern Canada for the two-week wind-up.

So far his audiences have been generally larger, under comparable circumstances, than those of last year's campaign.

Party officials claimed the turnout of nearly 5,000 for his Winnipeg speech Feb. 12 was the largest political meeting ever held on the Prairies.

BIG CROWDS IN EAST

At Charlottetown he spoke to 1,100—another 300 couldn't get in—in the same hall where last

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Chemise or not chemise—that is the question—whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of outraged males, or to take up arms against the new sack look decreed by Paris.

A cross-section of opinion from the style-setting Hollywood glamour girls produced mixed reactions to the chemise.

"I think they're very elegant," says Sophia Loren, adding: "A girl doesn't have to show her figure to be sexy. She is much more tantalizing if she doesn't show it." Anti-chemise is Rhonda Fleming. She argues: "This isn't a controversy; there is only one side to it. I have yet to meet anyone who approves. Why should women go through all the suffering they do in dieting and exercising to build a lovely and attractive figure, then cover it up with a sack?"

"I think it's an insult to the intelligence of the men for whom women dress attractively. I wouldn't be caught dead in one of the things. The battle cry should be: 'To blazes with the sack, let's get the figure back!'"

JEAN SIMMONS AGAINST

Jean Simmons: "If anyone can get away with the sack vogue, it is the tall, slim girl with very lithe lines. Personally, I don't care for the style. But if my husband (Stewart Granger) likes it, I'll wear it."

But the pro-chemise crowd has an ally in Kim Novak. She argues "It looks as though the style is here to stay. We might as well go along with it."

"I find myself liking them the more I try them on," Kim admits. "There is a free, easy feeling to wearing them. Most of them, with the exception of the extreme Paris models, can be worn with belts if you tire of the sack."

Shirley Temple: "They're not for me. But I must admit that I am getting used to seeing them, and on some women they can look good."

All males interviewed were violently opposed to the chemise.

membership in the C.A.C. The sweaters that members have been knitting for Unitarian Service Relief were on display.

Seeds are to be ordered from the Department of Agriculture for the school fair gardens. School Fair committee is as follows: Mrs. J. Hamilton, Mrs. F. Roster, Mrs. R. Kerr, Mrs. G. Stainthorpe and Mrs. A. Beauregard for the French-speaking exhibitors. The sick committee includes Mrs. G. Frank, Mrs. W. McMorine, Mrs. R. Kerr; auctioneer, Mrs. W. Adamson.

The officers and conveners are as follows: President, Mrs. E. Gilchrist, re-elected; first vice-president, Mrs. J. Hamilton, re-elected; second vice-president, Mrs. G. Fowler, re-elected; secretary, Mrs. B. Batchelor; treasurer, Mrs. F. Roster, re-elected; citizenship, Miss Carrie Ward, re-elected; Home Economics, Mrs. L. Driver; Agriculture, Mrs. O. Wilkins, re-elected; Education, Mrs. N. Fowler, re-elected; Welfare and Health, Mrs. G. Beers, re-elected; Publicity, Mrs. B. Batchelor, re-elected.

The April meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Neilson will feature a variety sale.

A birthday parcel and remnants netted a nice sum for the funds.

Mrs. John Stalker, Mrs. Ashley Stalker and Mrs. R. Morrison joined the group during the social hour when all enjoyed lunch. Mrs. Taber was assisted in serving by some of the ladies present.

Mrs. J. Stalker voiced appreciation to the ladies for the gifts, cards and many acts of kindness during her long period of illness.

Inco Metals at work in Canada

Inco Copper helps you enjoy modern electrical living

...but three Canadian homes out of five need up-to-date wiring

SUPPOSE the house you're living in is ten years old or more. The original wiring system did its job well in those days. But can this same wiring system handle the many new appliances you have in 1958? Or in five or ten years from now?

Probably not. Even some new houses are not properly wired to carry the electrical load you need in your home. In fact, more than 3 out of every 5 Canadian homes have inadequate or out-of-date wiring.

If your home is one of these, it means that you're not getting good service from your appliances. They're operating too slowly... using more electricity than they should... and costing you more money. Lights are not as bright as they ought to be. Electric motors operate slowly. Fuses may be blowing. These are sure signs of inadequate wiring. And it could mean that you're playing with fire... because overloaded wiring can help create a fire hazard.

Make sure your home has a safe and up-to-date wiring system. If you spot any of the tell-tale signs, call in an electrical contractor and have him inspect the wiring. He can show you how to enjoy the safety and convenience of modern electrical living.

Inco supplies copper to Canadian companies for the manufacture of heavy duty power cable and the wiring that goes into your home. And you use many other products made from Inco ORC® Brand Copper every day. For more than half of all the copper produced by Inco is used right here in Canada. Another example of the way Inco metals serve the Canadian industries that serve you.

Gingues Refuses Request For Contradictory Rally

A group of Progressive Conservative supporters headed by Claude Bateau, president of the Junior Conservative Association of Sherbrooke County, took the Liberal candidate, Maurice Gingues, at his word yesterday afternoon and invaded the Howard Club, the stronghold of Liberalism in this city, to discuss a number of the political problems of the day.

The Liberal organization had announced a public forum would be held and invited the public to participate in the question and answer period to be presided over by Mr. Gingues.

During the course of the debate with Mr. Bateau, Mr. Gingues rejected an invitation to appear at a series of contradictory meetings, declaring that in 1940 he had entered into an agreement with the Conservatives not to participate in such meetings. The agreement followed a suggestion by religious leaders that this type of meeting was detrimental to electoral morality.

Responding to questions on limitation of immigration, Mr. Gingues declared that the Liberals would have followed the same course as the present government if they had been returned to power.

On unemployment, Mr. Gingues again advanced his proposal for an economic stabilization council, which he admitted, might result in deficit financing. Tax reductions proposed by Mr. Pearson were impossible last year, Mr. Gingues stated, because the threat of inflation was still great and he pointed out that in 1956, the Liberals had cut taxes by $250,000,000.

To a question asked by T. H. Plante why so many Liberal members were not seeking re-election, Mr. Gingues said that most of them were retiring on advice of their physicians.

Mr. Bateau then asked why, as a former textile worker, Mr. Gingues had never taken any action to remedy the conditions in the industry, to which the reply forthcoming was:

"The textile problem has always been a headache for any government and I do not believe Mr. Allard can solve the situation."

This was met by the comment from a spectator:

Parent-Teacher Meeting Tuesday At St. Patrick's

The spring Parent-Teacher Meeting will take place at the auditorium of St. Patrick's High School tomorrow night at 8. After words of greeting by the principal, Rev. Father Paul, the students of the graduating class under the direction of their teacher will hold a panel discussion on "TV and the Life of Students." This panel promises to be interesting and stimulating, in view of the difficult situations arising in many homes because of the conflict between TV and study.

A small book display will be located in one end of the auditorium. This display will serve to give parents an appreciation of the work that went into organizing the school library by members of the Mothers' Guild.

Visits and interviews with the individual teachers will take place in the classrooms, where exhibits of the students' work will be on display. Friends and others interested are welcome.

"At least he will try to remedy the situation."

After a parrying of questions and answers on the issue of a national flag, some discussion ensued on the Unemployment Insurance Commission building.

Mr. Bateau asked why the building had been located in such an inconvenient place, Mr. Gingues replying that the site had been chosen at the request of a number of people.

After complimenting Mr. Gingues, for permitting Conservatives to attend the forum, Mr. Bateau extended an invitation to the Liberal candidate to participate in a contradictory meeting.

Mr. Gingues said that in 1940 he had signed an accord with the Conservative candidate, T. G. Walsh, not to ask for contradictory meetings and that once he had given his word he intended to keep it.

Mr. Bateau asked: "Is not the real reason you will not participate in a contradictory meeting that you are afraid of the Conservative candidate?"

Mr. Gingues replied: "I am keeping the promise I made in 1940."

Narrow Escape For Eight In Castlebar Fire

ASBESTOS — Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Picard, with their eight children, escaped from their burning farm house, after being aroused from their sleep, Friday evening around 11.30. The Picard home is on R.R. 4 Danville near Castlebar.

Mrs. Picard was awakened by what she thought was someone banging on the kitchen door, and aroused her husband. He got up to investigate and upon opening the door was confronted by a wall of flame coming from the summer kitchen.

Mr. Picard hurried back to the bedroom and got his wife and the two went upstairs where the eight children ranging in age from two to fourteen, were sleeping. Wrapping the youngest in his bed clothes, and hurrying the others out of the smoke-filled house, each with an armful of clothes, they took refuge in the barn which is located across the road from the house.

Mr. Picard returned to the house and telephoned the neighbors for help. He placed a call for the Danville Fire Department, which responded after 30 minutes time due to the complicated system of arranging between the villages for permission to secure the use of the equipment outside the limits of Danville.

The neighbors, some 20 in number, arrived in trucks loaded with milk cans and buckets full of water and started dousing the house. Upon arrival of the Danville Fire Department under the direction of Chief G. Bonneville and with the help of his men the fire was brought under control within a short time. The booster tank was kept full from the farm water supply and this was an important help.

The fire was confined to the summer kitchen and a store-room located overhead. Damage was estimated at $2,000, part of which is covered by insurance. An over heated stove was thought to be the cause of the fire.

Three Village Happenings

Mr. and Mrs. Elton Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith, Derby Line, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brock, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Middleton, Stanstead, were in St. Johnsbury, Vt., to attend the reception of Col. and Mrs. Charles Rivers. Mr. Rivers is Dept. Commander of Vermont Patriarch Militant of I.O.O.F.

Friends of Mr. Lloyd Broadbelt will be pleased to learn he has returned to his home in Rock Island from the Sherbrooke Hospital where he was under observation for several days.

Mrs. Frank Bessette, Stanstead, has been spending a few days at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Conrad Choquette, Mr. Choquette and family, Stanstead. Twenty two Derby Line Girl Scouts and Grade 4 Brownie troops were in Sherbrooke on a recent Saturday and enjoyed swimming in the YWCA pool, a treat for this group in the middle of winter. They were accompanied by the leader, Mrs. Ann Aldrich, who with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thomas, and Mrs. C. B. Kelley, provided transportation. On the way home, the group stopped at a restaurant for lunch. The girls are appreciative of this trip given them.

To Serve In Germany

LT. STEVE WILGAR LT. WENDELL SPARKES

Second-Lieutenants Wendell Sparkes and Steve Wilgar, both members of Bishop's University Contingent, C.O.T.C., have been chosen by Canadian Army Headquarters to serve in Germany next summer with the 4th Canadian Infantry Brigade Group. In making this announcement, Major James Gray, Commanding Officer of the Bishop's Contingent, pointed out that this was a signal honour both for the unit and for the University, as the total number of successful candidates for the whole of Canada is only forty-two.

Mr. Sparkes will be posted to the 1st Field Regiment, Royal Canadian Artillery. Now in the third year of the Science course at Bishop's, he has served with the C.O.T.C. since he was a freshman, taking the practical section of his training during the summer vacation at Shilo, Manitoba. Mr. Wilgar, who is in 4th year Arts, has also been in the C.O.T.C. for the past three years, serving in the summer with the Infantry Corps at Camp Borden. He will be attached to the 2nd Canadian Guards in Germany.

Mr. Sparkes' home is in Lennoxville, and Mr. Wilgar is from Westmount. Both men will leave for Europe at the beginning of June and return to Canada in September.

Noted Pianists In Community Concert Tuesday

The brilliant duo-piano team of Arthur Gold and Robert Fildale will be presented at the Granada Theatre tomorrow evening by the Sherbrooke Community Concerts Association. This team is celebrating its 11th year together on the concert stage this season and were warmly acclaimed by Critic Virgil Thomas at the time of their New York Music Hall debut in 1946.

In addition to their concert appearances in recital and with orchestra, they have recorded a number of major compositions in Europe this summer and have appeared before millions of viewers on coast-to-coast television networks.

Arthur Gold, the elder by one year, was born in Toronto and Robert Fildale hails from Chicago. They met at the Juillard School in New York and decided to renounce solo careers to devote themselves to the art of duo-pianism, quickly establishing themselves as Critic Joy S. Harrison, of the New York Herald-Tribune noted, "Far and away the best duo-pianists in the business."

The program will consist of: Sicilienne-Bach-Mair; Allegro vivace — Mendelssohn. Two Hungarian Dances — Brahms; Variations on a Theme by Haydn — Brahms.

Romance, Opus 17-Rachmaninoff; Espana Rhapsody—Chabrier. Valse Musette, L'Embarquement pour Cythere — Poulenc; Walt-Riet, Blue Danube Waltz—Johann Strauss.

Cancer Fake Jailed

A Sherbrooke man who collected $135 in door-to-door begging posing as an incurable cancer victim using falsified documents of the Canadian Cancer Society has been sentenced to seven months in jail by Judge Joseph Marier.

Victor Jarjour, appearing in chambers before Judge Marier, pleaded guilty to the charge.

Crown Prosecutor Roland Dugre said the man was about to receive an additional $500 pledged to him by a sympathizer.

Jarjour made collections in Sherbrooke, Lennoxville and Theford Mines, according to the evidence.

When Jarjour's lawyer asked for clemency, the Crown replied that much more money would have been taken if the accused had not been arrested.

In addition, Mr. Dugre pointed out that Jarjour was already under suspended sentence for issuing false cheques.

Judge Marier commented that the Canadian Cancer Society was an organization which easily aroused public sympathy, which made the offense more serious than the defence had contended.

Hon. W. Hamilton Lauds PC Record

By CUTHBERT JONES

COWANSVILLE — Failure of the previous Liberal regime to set up machinery for determining fair prices under anti-dumping legislation had prevented the Progressive Conservative Government from taking effective action to protect the Canadian textile industry, Postmaster General William Hamilton declared here last night.

The Postmaster-General was the featured speaker at a large rally held in the Canadian Legion Hall in support of Heward Graftey, Progressive Conservative candidate for Brome-Missisquoi in the March 31 federal elections. The crisis in the textile industry was not a thing that had come upon the country suddenly, Mr. Hamilton declared, but had existed for most of the 22 years the Liberal party had been in power.

Addressing the textile workers who formed a substantial portion of the large audience, the Postmaster-General said:

"You may ask why the Progressive Conservative Government has done nothing for your industry?

"The reason is simple. One of the basic causes of the textile industry troubles is dumping of foreign merchandise on the Canadian markets.

"We are determined to enforce the anti-dumping regulations, but first we must find out what constitutes dumping. We must send investigators to the exporting country to determine their cost of production and their domestic selling prices.

"When we took office, there were no men in the customs department equipped to undertake these duties. We must find the proper men we must train them and then send them to the exporting nations. We are faced with great delays because the Liberals had not carried out their responsibility of enforcing the anti-dumping legislation.

"But, if we are returned to power, we will find a remedy for a situation which the Liberals claimed could not be remedied," Mr. Hamilton declared.

PROMISES KEPT

In his opening remarks, the Postmaster-General declared that the amazing support the Conservatives were receiving across the country resulted because they were a party of action and had indicated during the past eight months that they intended to keep their promises.

On the other hand, the Liberals has shown a startling about-face during the past year. When the 1957 budget was brought down, the Liberal Government said it could not reduce taxes, could not cut interest rates, could not make any substantial increase in social security payments.

But now that the Progressive Conservatives had indicated that this could be done, the Liberals were promising to do even more, Mr. Hamilton said, remarking:

"I wonder how anyone can have confidence in this remarkable switch by the Liberals brass."

MEET THE PEOPLE

Some personal aspects of the campaign were discussed by the candidate, Heward Graftey.

Explaining his door-to-door campaign throughout the constituency, Mr. Graftey expressed the belief that it was the duty of a man seeking public position to meet his electors and to receive first-hand information about their problems.

"When I started my campaign last year, I pledged that we would not engage in personalities," he said, "and I believe the campaign was one of the cleanest ever waged in Brome-Missisquoi."

"I am deeply grieved over a circular that was distributed throughout the constituency today by my opponents, but I welcome it as showing their concern over the outcome of the voting. I can promise you that we will not engage in similar tactics," Mr. Graftey said.

Touching the general issues of the campaign, the candidate attacked the Liberals for tightening credit, for failing to control immigration when unemployment threatened and for permitting the dumping of foreign textiles on the Canadian market.

Mr. Diefenbaker, he said, had always been a champion of provincial rights and was one of the leading exponents of national unity in Canada.

THE INDISPENSABLES

One campaign cry of 1957 that is not heard this year is that the Liberal party alone had men of the calibre required for cabinet ministers, Gordon Shemilt of Foster declared.

"Last year you heard that the Liberals alone could form a government. But in the June elections such indispensables as Production Minister Howe, Defence Minister Campney, Public Works Minister Winters, Postmaster General Lapointe and Revenue Minister McCann were thrown out by the Canadian people. The sun did not stop shining and grass did not grow in the streets.

"Significantly, none of these gentlemen are offering their services to the Canadian people this year."

Other speakers were J. B. Vachon, of Sutton, and Gerard Turmel, of Sweetburg. Louis Cournoyer, of Sweetburg, acted as chairman of the meeting.

Halifax Mayor On Brief Visit To Sherbrooke

Sherbrooke residents will be extended another invitation to visit Halifax, this time for the opening of the new airport which is nearing completion, Mayor Charles A. Vaughan, of Halifax, announced this morning.

Mayor Vaughan made the announcement while unofficially visiting Mayor Nadeau at City Hall. He was in Montreal last week on business and took advantage of an opportunity to visit Sherbrooke.

Halifax's airport is expected to be completed in about six months. Work on the $2,000,000 terminal is progressing. The airport will be run by the Department of Transport for the City of Halifax.

The visit would be the second made by a delegation of Sherbrooke in less than two years. The delegates would probably fly from Montreal's Dorval airport to the new landstrip located at Dartmouth across the harbor from Halifax proper.

Last fall a delegation from Halifax travelled to Sherbrooke as a courtesy return visit.

BISHOPTON

The Christmas Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Herring. An enjoyable evening was spent by the members, who first went for a sleigh ride, Mr. L. Harrison providing the transportation. Games were played on return to the house and later lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Lloyd Harrison. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Gordon Joyce's home.

Mr. Roy Harrison was in Montreal recently to attend the meeting of the Belgian Horse Breeders Association held in the Queen's Hotel.

Poor Case For Liberals

Liberal Leader Lester Pearson makes a poor case for his party when he accuses Prime Minister Diefenbaker of attempting to entice voters away from the Liberals with bribes. No greater political bribe has been offered to the Canadian public in recent years than Mr. Pearson's belated promise to cut taxes by $400,000,000 if the Liberals regain power.

There is a definite trend toward the Conservatives in Quebec, as in other parts of the country. But that trend is not the result of listening to promises — if it were, the Liberals would be a shoe-in — but of seeing results. In the short eight months of his first government, Mr. Diefenbaker has achieved more in the way of solid legislation than the Liberals did in years of power. In the 1957 election campaign, promises were made and in the brief session of Parliament which followed that election, as many of those campaign promises as could be squeezed in were fulfilled.

The Liberals have criticized Mr. Diefenbaker for calling an election before completing his program. Their attitude is contradictory. They attempted to block legislation, as in the case of the Conservative farm price supports bill, but ducked out of the battle when it finally came to a vote. If the Liberals believe they have a better program, they should have no qualms about presenting it to the electorate. They can't have it both ways. Perhaps that is why Mr. Pearson is attempting to cover up by offering extravagant promises, promises to do things which the Liberals said couldn't be done a year ago.

Some Better Course

The French Assembly, by a lukewarm majority vote, has decided to step up the war against the rebels in Algeria. Coming at a time when there is increasing pressure from France's friends for a settlement, and the Americans and British in particular are attempting to smooth over the friction with Tunisia, the French action was about as badly timed as the regrettable bombing of a Tunisian village.

Surely the French must be troubled by the painful parallel between the present Algerian war and the long drawn out fighting against the Communists in Indochina.

The latter combat dragged out for the better part of a decade. In the end the French suffered a serious defeat and were forced to accept an armistice that led to Red control of the country's rich northern province.

The Algerians are neither so well organized and equipped nor so well financed as were the Indochina Reds. But thus far they have refused to be put down. Record numbers were killed in February, yet hostilities seem to be increasing.

Perhaps it will one day occur to the French that there must be some better course than fighting wars that are never won and never end.

Conforming

Most of the Sikhs of British Columbia are reported to be unwinding their turbans and adopting hats. Even those traditional glories, their long beards and their uncut hair, coiled in buns, are disappearing.

The Sikhs, says a spokesman, want to go along with the times. In other words, they want to fit.

The decision cannot have been an easy one for though their faith goes back as an institution only 500 years few people are more strictly orthodox than the Sikhs. They are wide-awake, virile, clean-living and in India form a bulwark of the Hindus.

Now, unlike some of the Doukhobors, who have long been grit in the machinery, their B. C. members have shown willingness to adapt themselves. For one thing they may be tired of being pointed out as freaks. And they have come to feel, doubtless, that the customs of the country in which they have elected to live should be good enough.

Immigrants to any country, west or east, should reach the same conclusion. They need not sacrifice the true fundamentals of their heritage for their inner life need not be changed; their outer life belongs, in a measure, to those among whom they cast their lot.

It is an old principle that a guest should conform to the customs of his host. This applies even more to a man who joins a family.

STILL LEARNING

(War Cry)
Michelangelo was seventy-two years old when he was appointed chief architect of St. Peter's, and commissioned to embellish the greatest temple in the world with his paintings and statues. For eighteen years he continued this work, which made his fame as imperishable as the church itself. Toward the end, when his eyesight failed and he had become feeble, he had his servants carry him into the great halls and galleries and chapels, where he had laboured with such vim and enthusiasm. He would run his hands over the statues and carvings, feeling out with his dexterous fingers the details which his eyes could no longer see; and he often exclaimed, "I still learn."

BEST DRESSED WOMAN— BUT DRESSED FOR WHAT?

(Hartford Conn., Courant)
Again, for the fifth year in a row, Mrs. William Paley, New York matron, has been dubbed "best dressed" by a group of self-appointed judges. And again we are forced to file a demurrer, principally because the term "best dressed" is too indefinite.
Best dressed for what? For cooking a turkey, changing a baby's diaper, waiting on table, selling dry goods? What is best-dressed for, let us say, sitting up at night with a sick baby is not best dressed for eating at Toots Shor's or Sherman Billingsley's place. And vice versa, of course.

We have long labored to put some sense into these best-dressed contests by having them divided into categories, the least of which would be the purely ornamental. One category might be "Best dressed on 40 bucks a week." Or, another: "Best dressed with the stingiest husband." Or even: "Best dressed in your local supermarket."

When you come right down to it, all these things are subjective. Probably William Paley agrees with the decision, but who else does? We don't, for the simple reason we have our own choices and can back them up with as much stuff as the people who picked Mrs. Paley.

A SAFE INSTRUMENT IN TIMES LIKE THESE

American Influence Lacking

Australian TV Developed Slowly, Booming Now

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
NEW YORK (CP) — Australian television has developed at a slower pace than TV in Canada, but now is booming.

That is the word from Charles Moses, general manager of the Australian Broadcasting Corporation, who says the difference between the two Commonwealth countries where TV is concerned is—the United States.

"The Canadian government was impelled by the fact that so many people watched American programs," he said on a visit here. "Something distinctly Canadian was needed to preserve the country's culture."

Such a competitive spur was lacking in Australia, with the result that the full impact of TV has been felt more recently.

This was a boon to those organizing the industry since they could skirt the mistakes made elsewhere. Moses had just completed a week-long visit to Canada and a five-month tour studying TV systems around the world, including Iron Curtain countries.

TV was introduced in Australia in November, 1956. The publicly-owned ABC now has TV stations in Melbourne and Sydney. A new station is scheduled to open in Brisbane in November and then other stations will go on the air in Adelaide, Perth and Hobart at intervals of about one month.

Private stations now are in operation in Melbourne and Sydney — two in each city — and others are planned for Brisbane, Adelaide, Perth and Hobart, Moses said.

The Australian Broadcasting Control Board, a separate body from the ABC, will hold application hearings in each of these four cities, then make recommendations to the federal government, which makes allocations. Recommendations are not expected before September of this year.

Stressing the popularity of the medium, Moses said: "We had planned on about 100,000 TV sets in Melbourne and Sydney by the end of 1957, but instead there were more than 200,000, although they are about twice as expensive as in Canada."

The ABC does not carry sponsored programs and, like the CBC, it strives for cultural quality.

"We are very interested indeed in programs that are not strictly entertainment," he said. "But of course we try to maintain a healthy balance, otherwise we would have few viewers. We have a duty to provide opportunity for our own artists and writers."

News handling is similar to that by the CBC: "We use film, but we make it a rule that the viewer must hear as complete a news report as he would listening to the radio. We wouldn't sacrifice news space for an amusing film item, for instance."

ABC stations are on the air 36 hours a week, including half-hour weekday afternoon programs for women and half-hour evening programs for children, and regular transmission between 7 p.m. and 11 p.m. Private stations transmit 40 hours weekly.

Moses, a handsome 58, is a prominent Australian sportsman as well as broadcasting executive. A onetime British army officer who saw service in New Guinea, he carries himself with a brisk military bearing.

Holding a press conference here to report on Aussie TV and his world tour, he smiled broadly when questioned about TV behind the Iron Curtain.

"The standards were reasonably high," he said. "But there are few TV sets because the price is far too high. When I asked an official in Prague about this, he gave a curious answer. He explained there already is a long waiting list, and if the price were lower the list would be longer. This would cause discontent."

State-owned systems in European countries show a tendency toward sponsored programs, said Moses. He did not expect this trend to go as far elsewhere as in Canada, however.

A reporter noted that Canadian commercial stations have sometimes criticized the CBC as both a regulatory and competitive organization.

"That couldn't happen in Australia, because the ABC has no regulatory powers over the stations," he said, adding with a smile: "We think the CBC is in what is called a favored position."

Forty per cent of Aussie TV now is "live" and it is hoped to increase this to 60 or 70 per cent. Forty per cent of Aussie TV now is "live" and it is hoped to increase this to 60 or 70 per cent, Moses said. He discussed CBC-BBC-ABC program projects while in Canada. The ABC already takes kinescopes—"many of your best plays"—from the CBC and also news film.

The ABC, which receives its funds from the Australian government, is limited in how much it can spend for American, British and Canadian shows. The current visit resulted in three new American programs — one western, one comedy and one musical. Moses said Australia is faced with the same problem as Canada had in the early stages of TV, to find expert technicians for service across the broad country. He spoke highly of the current Canadian production systems, especially that in Montreal.

The modern process for making margarine dates from the work of the French scientist Hippolyte Mege-Mouriez in 1870. He called the product "oleomargarine" because he used in it oleo oils—oils of buttery consistency derived from beef tallow. Vegetable oils have replaced animal fats in modern margarine.

JACOBY On Bridge NORTH ALONE IS BLAMELESS?

South's bidding was very bad. With a solid seven-card heart suit he had no reason to attempt to find a four-four fit in spades. Eventually when North went from six hearts to six spades South realized the error of his ways and rescued himself to six no-trump.

This left West with quite a problem as to his opening lead. He was quite sure that South had meant to get to six hearts and since he, West, was looking at three little hearts the heart suit would undoubtedly come in for South. It looked as if two fast diamond tricks might be necessary and West opened the deuce of diamonds.

South could have played the king from dummy but who would imagine an underlead of an ace against a slam. South played low. East also couldn't imagine the underlead. He played the eight and South's ten won the trick.

South proceeded to make seven because he had 12 top tricks in the other suits and West was indignant.

I don't blame West. He had made a wonderful lead but I can't blame East too much either. The play of the eight was mighty tempting and it should not have cost him game, slam and the rubber.

For the benefit of the many readers who have written about the Dec. 31, 1957, hand North should have held three spades and the clubs. The error was mine although actually I should blame the bridge gremlins who haunt me occasionally. Thanks to all of you.

Letter To The Editor

The Editor,
Sherbrooke Daily Record,
Dear Sir:

C. H. has convinced himself or has been convinced, that the Conservatives are going to win this election; and therefore thinks it best to get on the winning side. Well C. H., I suppose it could happen here. People have done some queer things with their votes before. Only this week the people of Argentina voted in a government which may bring back their old dictator Peron. Yes it could happen here, but I would not bet on it C. H.

Duplessis' ministers, including Mr. Bourque, may make a show, but don't look for the old boy himself to stick his neck out for Diefenbaker or anyone else. Anyway, people are getting pretty sick of that bunch, as you see by the way the Conservatives of Stanstead County feel. Read Mr. Loslier's letter about how the Conservative convention was run, and then think how those supporters of Mr. Hebert will vote.

You are quite right C. H., the Liberals did not budget for a deficit in 1957, but there is a vast difference in the economy of Canada between 1957 and 1958. C. H., if you have ever been a Liberal you should know that the very essence of Liberalism is to be able to change with the times. It was the very root of Liberal policy to budget for surpluses in times of high employment, so that they could cut down the national debt ($2½ billions in 12 years) and by doing so have the country in sound financial condition, so we could borrow money in times of low employment to give the economy the boost it should be getting now. It is a matter of history. The record shows that no other free nation ever made so much progress on so many fronts for so many years as Canada has since the Second World War.

Diefenbaker makes an awful lot of noise about the $9 raise in old age pensions; but just think if you took away the $46 paid under the Liberal government. How small the pensions would look. Remember, it was Liberal Governments who initiated every single piece of social legislation that Canada has, including old age pensions, and the Conservatives voted against them all.

You say to remember closure. Yes, I remember more than that. The government allotted 18 days to debate whether or not to lend the pipe line company $100 million. I think it was. This incidentally was paid back before it was due, and the Conservatives under Mr. Diefenbaker set out to block this bill by any means at hand. After 18 days of talking it was time someone shut them up. Have a care C. H. about voting Conservative. Remember, it will put you in the same wagon with the guy who wrote a letter in the Record of Feb. 24. The guy who would kick all the married women out of their jobs, and pass a law to make every one who had ever been a farmer go back to their farms. I sure would not like to see our schools try to get along without all the married teachers who are working, or our hospitals either, get along without all the married nurses. We sure were glad to have women pitch in and help during the war. You would also be in with Mr. Melton who thinks a Member of Parliament has nothing else to do except make speeches.

Think it over C. H. before March 31 and good luck to you.

Ayer's Cliff.

and General Manager,
The Toronto-Dominion Bank.

This is our lending policy...

"The charge has been made that the small businessman has suffered more from the policy of monetary restriction than have the other segments of the business community... as far as (our) bank is concerned this is not true... our policy has been to take care of the legitimate credit needs of all of our customers... we made a survey of our loan accounts under and over $100,000 as at June 30, 1957 and June 30, 1956... in this period the number of our loans under $100,000 showed a greater increase than the number in excess of this amount and in total there was no significant change in the pattern."

Excerpt from the 1957 Annual Meeting address of Mr. A. T. LAMBERT, Vice-President and General Manager

In the recent period of strong credit demand, the consideration and understanding shown by The Toronto-Dominion Bank to customers old and new has resulted in a strengthening of the loyalty of our present customers and is attracting many new ones to us. We invite you to see the manager of the nearest Toronto-Dominion Bank. He will be pleased to discuss your business problems with you.

year several hundred turned out. He drew some 1,500 at the supper hour in 8,200 - population Leamington. Liberal territory before 1957. Almost 4,000 went to a $2-a-plate banquet in Trois-Rivières.

His biggest audience reaction comes when he deals with the Liberal pledge of $400,000,000 in tax cuts, and with the motion presented Jan. 20 in the Commons by Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson proposing a turnover of government without an election.

On tax cuts he reiterates that the former Liberal government, including Mr. Pearson, rejected Conservative demands a year ago for reduced taxation.

"Why didn't they do it when they were in power?" he asks in Churchillian tones.

He mocks Mr. Pearson's Commons motion, depicting it as a plea to "give us back our jobs but please let's not have an election."

DESCRIPTS PROGRAM

He describes unemployment as a major election issue, devoting much of his speeches to it, but says Canadians won't swallow attempts to pin blame on the government.

The government, he says, has a $1,185,000,000 works program this year to provide "thousands and tens of thousands of jobs." It had cut income taxes by $145,000,000, raised old age pensions and other social welfare payments, extended the period for wintertime unemployment insurance by two months, and provided $300,000,000 in housing funds to push winter home-building to a record winter pace.

Speaking deliberately, he promises that as long as he is prime minister "no one will suffer," even if it means a deficit budget.

He charges the Liberals took no action a year ago despite a warning report from economic advisers. The report was "hidden" because of the nearness of the June 10 election. The Liberals now were "apostles of doom" trying to panic the people.

He states that present unemployment, as a percentage of the working force, is at a lower rate than the 9.5-per-cent unemployment in March, 1955, under the Liberals.

CHIEF PLEDGE

The main promise of Mr. Diefenbaker's campaign is to undertake a major national development program, with roads and railways to open northern resources, federal aid to self-liquidating provincial projects, and encouragement to greater processing in Canada of raw materials.

That was a promise of last year's campaign for which, he says, a majority mandate is required, a majority which he states that 1957 promises of an immediate nature have been implemented.

"We didn't fail you. We lived up to our promises."

Another big promise is to implement a contributory retirement pension plan, patterned on U.S. social security where there is no government aid, as a fiduciation to existing government- and non-government pensions and other welfare payments.

HINTS AT OTHERS

There have been other suggestions, in a form less definite than firm commitment.

There are either veiled hints of future action or promises to give "warm consideration" to certain things: Increased Quebec repre-

ASBESTOS LIBERAL RALLY — E. O. Gingras, Liberal candidate in Richmond-Wolfe, addressed a meeting at Asbestos over the weekend. sentation in the cabinet, price supports for fish and farmer-produced pulpwood, lower tobacco taxes, a St. Lawrence River bridge at Trois-Rivières, action against import dumping of foreign textiles, a better deal for the Maritimes in railway freight rates, a 47-mile railway in Quebec's Gaspé Peninsula.

Conservative trade policy is presented as one that seeks new export markets in Britain, the Commonwealth and elsewhere with less concentration on trade with the U.S.

Mr. Diefenbaker reiterates that 1957 was a record year for exports, and that recent months have shown a trend in imports towards more buying from Britain and less from the U.S.

More Bodies Found

MONTREAL—Three frogmen have raised three more bodies from the bed of the Rivière des Prairies at the construction site of a highway bridge where 11 men were drowned when a cofferdam in which they were working collapsed Wednesday night.

Arson Suspected

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Arson squad detectives were called to the 6,397-ton British liner Bulolo after seven separate fires had been reported aboard the vessel berthed in Sydney harbor Saturday night.

Dress Strike Off

NEW YORK (AP)—Striking garment workers and dress manufacturers have reached agreement on money issues and appear headed for a full settlement today or Tuesday.

MOUSE MECHANIC

YORKTON, Sask. (CP)—Dave Yabolitsky put his car in the machine shed and left the cap off the radiator, as a reminder it had been drained. A mouse filled the radiator with flax. When the owner filled it with water, the flax swelled. Mr. Yabolitsky had a new problem.

Romance Put On Ice Till Spring

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (Reuters)—A British suitor for the hand of Sweden's Princess Margarethe, heartened by a five-day "meet-the-family" visit, headed for home today.

Robin Douglas-Home, 25-year-old former jazz pianist and member of an aristocratic family, ended the visit without an engagement being announced.

But, according to a Swedish court communiqué issued here Sunday, he will return in the spring. A court spokesman said there was no question of the Briton being "turned down" by the Swedish royal family.

The spokesman said 75-year-old King Gustav Adolf, Margarethe's grandfather, would put no obstacles in the way of an engagement if the couple are "absolutely certain of their feelings." The young suitor's father, Maj. Henry Douglas Home, issued a statement in London urging the Swedish court not to release any more communications until his son and Margarethe have made up their minds. He was quoted by London's Sunday Dispatch as saying his son was being made a "doorman" in the affair.

He told the newspaper that Margarethe "is now her salt, she'll marry him now or never, and on his terms. Otherwise their life will be a Swedish misery."

Careful Thief

BOSTON (AP)—A burglar stole $190 worth of merchandise from a Dorchester district grocery store Sunday. Before leaving, he replaced the lock he broke with a new one of his own. Owner George Gieserman had to break the second lock to gain entrance.

ment any more. As for the Conservative program of $1,185,000,000 in public works, Mr. Diefenbaker said that while the Liberals have discounted this, the United States administration now—three months after Canada acted—has concluded that an immediate works program should be a major element to counter the economic slump.

At Chicoutimi, Mr. Pearson said that while the Conservatives are not "entirely responsible for unemployment," many Canadians are beginning to think that "the Tories herald hard times just like crowds tell of the arrival of spring."

He also called for creation of a national flag and for an end to unemployment. On his way to Newfoundland, Mr. Pearson had to spend Saturday night at Fredericton when bad weather grounded his plane at Corner Brook, Nfld., he was greeted by about 400 persons who turned out in a drizzle as he stopped briefly after setting out on a whistle-stop tour from Stephenville, where his plane had landed.

He made no speeches but walked through the slush and mud to shake hands with people in the crowd. At Owen Sound, Ont., Justice Minister Davie Fulton said Mr. Pearson and his followers are describing the Liberals as the only party of national unity. But "at the same time he follows, to my surprise and disappointment, the system of sowing seeds of fear and suspicion" in Quebec.

Stanley Knowles, deputy CCF leader, said at Sydney, N.S.: "The whole question of the right of workers to organize in trade unions and collective bargaining procedures has been strengthened and improved by the work of the CCF in Parliament."

Paul Martin, former Liberal Health Minister, said at Winnipeg Mr. Pearson "is perhaps the most powerful, solid single voice for peace among the nations of the world."

External Affairs Minister Sidney Smith said at Montreal that the Liberals' Pearson-for-peace slogan is "miserable, phoney, foolish and misleading." No one man could bring peace to the world.

HARKNESS HECKLED—Agriculture Minister Douglas Harkness was heckled, booed and hissed at when he spoke about the government's farm prices stabilization legislation at Portage la Prairie, Man., a crowd of boos greeted his statement that it is the greatest thing ever in Canadian farm legislation.

Mr. Martin said at St. Malo, Man., that the original version of the bill, later amended in the Commons, was so bad that two Manitoba Conservatives attacked it in Parliament.

Moving on to Beauséjour, Man., Mr. Martin said Canada should open a friendship campaign with other countries so that they will want to buy Canada's wheat and other grain rather than that of other countries.

At Morris, Man., he challenged Mr. Diefenbaker to say whether Canada has received from the U.S. a note reflecting on the status of relations between the two countries.

Finance Minister Donald Fleming spoke to two Conservative rallies in Quebec City Sunday. He said his party's respect for provincial rights is in sharp contrast to the "take it or leave it" attitude of the former Liberal government.

Health Minister J. Waldo Mon-teith said at Keewatin, Ont., that Canada's old age pensioners would still be receiving $46 a month, instead of the current $55, if the Liberals were still in power. He also said the national hospital insurance scheme would still be "no more than a scrap of paper."

WEST SHEFFORD —

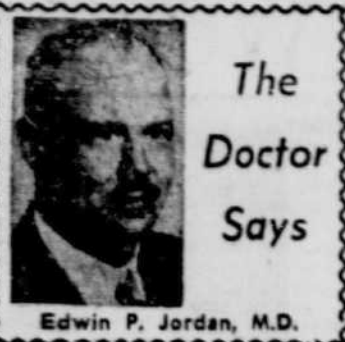

Mr. and Mrs. James Campbell have received news from Mr. and Mrs. Gerald MacDonald who are finding the Florida weather not what it used to be.

Due to the weight of snow, some 40 feet of the adjoining roof to the main roof of the Marchessault store separated. Since then, repairing operations under the direction of Mr. Ernest Donaway, are in progress.

Mr. Lee Enright and his young son, James William, were in the village recently. Mr. Enright's father-in-law, Mr. Wm. J. Doyle, is at present in Montreal visiting Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Doyle and Miss Doreen.

Upon her return to Ottawa after spending two months in California, Miss Elizabeth Harvey B.A., has sent her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McMahon, a fascinating description of her trip.

Twelve members of St. John's Guild and W.A., with Mrs. Davidson Sr., a guest, met at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Battley for their regular meeting. A warm welcome back home was extended Mrs. Herbert Losey after a holiday absence in Florida. The president, Mrs. Neil MacIntosh and Mrs. Wilmer Davidson, gave reports on their attendance at the M.D.W.A. annual meetings in Montreal where they had gained valuable information.

The Doctor Says

Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

QUICK ACTION IS NECESSARY IF CHILD SWALLOWS POISON

On several previous occasions I have discussed accidental poisoning, particularly when it involved children and substances which they have obtained around the house. Prevention by keeping poisonous substances out of the reach of children is, by far the most important aspect, but on this occasion I want to mention a few of the recommendations of the Committee on Toxicology of the American Medical Association on first aid measures if poisoning does occur.

In most cases where a poison is swallowed, vomiting should be produced immediately. In order to do this, milk or water should be given (one or two cups for a child from one to five years old and more for anyone over that age).

Vomiting can then be induced by putting the blunt end of a spoon or finger at the back of the patient's throat, or sometimes by the use of two tablespoonfuls of salt in a glass of warm water.

As soon as vomiting begins the patient should be put face down with the head lower than the hips. This prevents the vomitus from entering the lungs and causing further damage.

These steps should NOT be taken if the patient is unconscious, is in convulsions, or has swallowed petroleum products such as kerosene, gasoline or lighter fluid.

Nor should they be taken if the poison swallowed is corrosive, including such substances as toilet bowl cleaners, acids, rust removers, drain cleaners, washing soda, household bleaches and the like.

For corrosive and acid poisons one should give milk, water or milk of magnesia (one tablespoonful to one cup of water), and milk, water or any fruit juice or vinegar for the alkali poisons, such as drain cleaners, washing sodas and household bleaches.

Of course, the doctor should always be called at once; the above are emergency measures to employ before he arrives, unless he gives different instructions over the telephone.

If chemical burns should occur on the skin, the area affected should be washed immediately with large quantities of running water (unless the burn was caused by phosphorus). The area should then be immediately covered with loosely applied clean cloth, but greases, ointments or

Socred Candidate Finds Winter Campaigning Tough

EDMONTON (CP) — Election campaigning in the northeastern Alberta constituency of Athabaska has its disadvantages in winter, but it's easier than in summer, says Archie McPhail, Social Credit candidate for the 60,000-square-mile riding in the March 31 federal voting.

The sub-zero temperatures of the northern regions may be bone-chilling as a candidate bounces over a forestry road in a snowmobile, but the informal atmosphere of discussion around a pot-bellied stove in a general store can be warming.

The constituency lies in the eastern half of Alberta. It runs about 360 miles from a line just north of Edmonton to the Northwest Territories boundary and extends about 160 miles from east to west. There are 25,000 eligible voters in the area, 98 per cent of them concentrated in a 10,000-square-mile block along the southern boundary.

"We hold formal meetings in the southern sector," Mr. McPhail said on the eve of his departure on a month-long campaign swing into the constituency. "But it's all informal in the far north settlements."

"There might be 15 to 20 voters in a settlement like Pelican Portage and you might get to talk to most of them at the school, while the kids run around, or at the store or the restaurant. But there's no formal political meeting."

A major campaign problem for Mr. McPhail—and his opponents, Liberal Joseph Renaud, Progressive Conservative F. J. Bigg and CCF candidate Nick Baron—is transportation.

"It's a lot easier to get around in winter than in summer," Mr. McPhail said. "Last June I couldn't get a plane with floats to take me into the isolated spots and there's no other way at that time of year."

"In winter, you can get skipowders should be avoided. If the victim of a chemical burn is in shock he should be kept flat, warm and reassured until the physician arrives.

If some irritating poison is splashed into the eyes, the eyelids should be held open and the eyes washed gently with a stream of running water immediately. Delay of a few seconds greatly increases the injury.

The washing should be continued until the physician arrives; chemicals should not be put into the eyes.

Solve Conflicts in Home By Sensible Compromise

If you want to get rid of an inferiority complex, one of the first steps is to toss aside contradictory aims, says the writer of one of the latest self-improvement books.

Fine and dandy, except when—

You are trying to make a home for an aged parent and for a husband and a house full of children. You find you can't keep everybody happy with three generations under one roof. So who do you toss out, the parent or the children?

You find it necessary to go to work to supplement a husband's pay check and you want to give your best to your job and your best to the job of homemaking. Which do you let slide?

Your aims conflict with your husband's, how do you decide who is right and whose aims have to be tossed overboard?

You are trying to make a go of a second marriage but find that you are torn between trying to keep from a second marriage failure and trying to protect the children from what you consider harsh treatment from the stepfather. Do you risk the marriage to stand behind the kids or sacrifice the happiness of the children to avoid quarreling with their stepfather?

Husband or Children?

You worry about young children if you leave them to go on business trips with your husband. But you also worry about not being a good wife if you refuse to go with him. Which do you decide to put first, husband or children?

These are some of the problems women write about. And I don't think they can solve them by any simple act of will power. Compromise is usually the only answer. And if compromise gives you an inferiority complex—well, then you can comfort yourself with the thought, "I'm doing the best I can."

And any woman who is doing the best she can has no business feeling inferior because that best is far from perfect.

Fabrics Of Paris Are Lightweight

PARIS —(NEA)—The fabrics of Paris this spring are light weight, cloudlike and misty in color.

The big, bulky look of many suits and coats is achieved with just such lightweight fabric. Usually, this bulky look is reserved for winter coats, but this season it appears in all the collections.

Open-weave tweeds, basket weaves and knit-like woollens, fabric mixing orlon with wool, lightweight taffetas and light chiffons, prints which simulate woollens, floral prints and printed stripes on chiffons are just some of the fabric ideas making news.

Colors are luscious: mauve, bright turquoise, periwinkle, orange and pink and light blues, almond green, poppy red and bright yellowish greens spark the collections.

We show here two of the new fabrics used in the Paris collections. Ensemble (left) has Jacques Griffe's barrel silhouette. Fabric is soft, lightweight mauve cheviot in orlon and wool. The color is mauve. Three-quarter length coat is worn over slim, straight skirt.

Young-looking dress and jacket in forget-me-not blue is by Jacques Heim. Dress has sleeveless top and wide-pleated, stiffened skirt. Short boxy jacket has boat neckline. The fabric is a new novelty weave of dacron and wool.

More Husbands Are Becoming House Trained

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Husbands in various countries are getting in the habit of helping with the housekeeping when their wives have outside jobs.

United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold brings this news to the commission on the status of women in a report on the problems of working women with family responsibilities. The commission will study the matter in a Geneva session March 17-April 4.

The report, citing surveys made by women's organizations, says "help from family members is appreciable in the homes of working women in several countries."

It quotes a British survey as saying "husbands are becoming increasingly house trained and the better type accept the fact that they must take some share in the household work with a good grace."

In Finland, a checkup on employed housewives showed that 76 per cent got help around the house from their husbands and 70 per cent of those with school-age children got help from their children.

The husbands liked sweeping and dusting best. Laundering least. Their preferences, after cleaning, were for child-care, dishwashing and cooking.

In Northern Ireland, says the report, "the present generation of husbands are beginning to take their share in helping in the home," but in Austria and France a great many working class husbands are unwilling to do their part.

USC Projects Aid Orphans, Victims Of War Torn Asia

OTTAWA (CP) — "He who wants to do good, knocks at the gate. He who loves, finds the gate open."

With these words from the Indian poet Tagore, director Dr. Lotta Hiltzmanova concludes the annual report of the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada.

It is a report that looks in on open gates to 10 Asian and European countries where 44 USC projects operate to help orphans and disabled—the victims of war, disaster and underdevelopment.

The volunteer organization last year raised $180,000 — compared to $163,000 in 1935—to continue projects ranging from hospitals, sanatoria and orphanages to food, clothing and scholarships.

Money and other contributions came from Canadians in all walks of life. While the output of clothing was the lowest in years, 83,127 pounds of clothing and 65,577 pounds of food and other supplies went overseas.

Under the foster-parent scheme, 529 children living in 15 USC-sponsored orphanages in five countries were "adopted" by Canadians. Nearly 4,400 orphans have been adopted since 1945. Now there's a waiting list of prospective foster parents.

The report indicates a turn from post-war emergency relief to long-term health and education projects.

In Korea, for instance, there are 14 scholarships of $200 apiece for high school students, a training course in homemaking for teen-age orphan girls and vocational training shops for orphan boys.

Six jeep ambulances with medical personnel serve remote Indian villages, a hostel in Madras is open to beggar boys, and community and health centres operate in other Indian cities.

ARAB REFUGEES

In Greece, the USC supports a clinic for pre-tubercular children and a leadership training scheme. Last year it provided scholarships for a social worker and a war-mutilated artist.

For Italy, the USC provided 15 beehives — welcome additions to one of the three boys' agricultural schools.

The report said the plight of Koreans and Arab refugees called for particular attention.

The USC already has launched a "pullover parade" and an appeal for 25,000 layettes requested by the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for children and babies in the Middle East.

Beauty Tips

A shade of make-up selected 10 years ago may not be suitable to a woman now. A complexion changes as one grows older. It is wise to check make-up shades occasionally to see if they are doing the most for your appearance.

Women perfectly skilled in applying mascara, rouge and eye-shadow may be tempted toward dramatic effects even in the daytime. Harsh daylight is very unkind and heavy make-up only accentuates features instead of softening them.

COLORED SHOES

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Shoes colored in the wildest hues are the fad at Glencoe district high school. Students are sporting shoes of mauve with white flecks, silver, gold, yellow, tile red and tropical rose.

Select your prettiest casseroles and get out the ready-to-begin canned foods and other supplies needed for Seafood Dandy and Apple Cheddar Pie. If you plan to have plenty of the seafood casserole for "seconds," only a crisp salad and hot hard rolls will be needed to complete the main course.

Fashion

Do you wash your new stockings before you wear them? You should; they last longer that way.

Have clothes to wear around the house just as you have for other occasions. Don't wear out your old party dresses at home. Your family is your audience.

Your husband's clothes need wider, heavier hangers than yours. Never put his suits and jackets on wire hangers, they'll stretch out of shape.

EXPERT FLIPPERS

PORT COLBORNE, Ont. (CP) The men proved they can flip flapjacks as well as any women. The men's club of Central United Church sponsored a pancake supper, serving pancakes and sausages to some 225 guests.

"Eskimos are a sort of hobby of mine," said Mrs. Tincombe. "I first became interested in them through a clergyman in my home town of Cooksville, Ont., who had been a missionary on Baffin Island."

After Jargoot was moved from Caughnawaga to the Montreal Children's Hospital, he spent many Sundays at the Tincombe home. When he was well enough to move about on crutches, he was allowed to live with his adopted family.

The Eskimo lad speaks French and speaks and writes English. He is soon to be allowed to attend the school for crippled children.

Homemaking

Days of streaked dirty arms from wringing mops are passing. Foam rubber mops wring dry without dripping moisture. But the happy part of this is that the lever for the operation is high on the handle. This keeps pretty hands out of scrub water.

NONSTOP TO THE MOON VIA NUCLEAR ROCKET ---

The advent of controlled nuclear energy may make it possible for men to stage nonstop, surface-to-surface flights between the earth and the moon as early as 1970, says Kraft A. Ehrlicke, assistant to the technical director of Convair (Astronautics) Division of General Dynamics Corporation. Speaking to the Air Force Association, Ehrlicke presented preliminary designs for a 200-foot, 90-ton, two-stage chemo-nuclear vehicle that he said would be capable of landing a 15,000-pound payload on the moon. It would have sufficient fuel left to take off and return to a position just outside the earth's atmosphere. Ehrlicke's first stage is a delta-wing glider of 90-foot span (left, above), powered with conventional gasoline and liquid oxygen rockets developing 2,700,000 pounds of thrust. It would return to earth after boosting manned second stage beyond the earth's atmosphere. Power for second stage is provided by feeding liquid oxygen to a rocket engine that has a nuclear pile as its energy source. To protect from radiation crew's gondola would be attached to steel or tungsten towing cables 1,000 feet (center, above) from nuclear engine. Crew would then use remote controls to start the power plant. At end of earth-to-moon flight (right, above), the rocket is "backed down" by using light thrust to counter lunar gravity. Microwave radio would be used to communicate with earth, which is pictured as it would appear from the moon. Crew would transfer to re-entry glider at edge of earth atmosphere to complete round trip.

Turkeys Lacking Proper Breeding

YORKTON, Sask (CP) — Lou Hluchaniuk says lack of a proper breeding program is to blame for low-quality turkeys.

The 37-year-old hatchery operator won four first prizes and the grand championship of the poultry show at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto last fall.

Since he started his hatchery, Mr. Hluchaniuk has been promoting the Barlocker strain, a large turkey. He prefers this larger strain to the small, white broiler type.

Mr. Hluchaniuk's Royal Winter Fair entries came from his commercial flock of 6,000 turkeys of the Barlocker strain. He operates a 320-acre farm near this community in east-central Saskatchewan, 110 miles northeast of Regina, and a hatchery, now considered among the largest in Canada.

The project grew from a small beginning in 1949 at Canora, Sask., where he was employed as an agricultural representative with the provincial agriculture department.

In 1952 the hatchery was growing so fast he quit his post as "ag. rep." And since then he has bred quality stock. The same year he moved his turkey hatchery to Yorkton but continued his chick hatchery at Canora.

Following his triumph at the Royal, he increased his operations. He purchased several buildings from the Yorkton airport, originally erected by the RCAF. They will be used to increase the capacity of his hatchery which now can handle 30,000 pouls in each hatch.

Other buildings will be adapted to the "pole shed" type of enclosure to house his commercial stock. These large enclosures, 500 by 50 feet, will house 6,000 birds. He says the larger buildings enable labor saving and make it easier to separate the birds as to sex and age.

The Yorkton area can claim to be one of Canada's largest turkey-raising areas. The Yorkton exhibits picked up 10 first prizes and one second at the Royal Winter Fair.

Eisenhower Wavering On Disarmament Issue

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON (CP) — President Eisenhower appears to be wavering on the disarmament issue.

Late in February he rejected with a firm "No" a suggestion by Harold E. Stassen, his former disarmament aide, that the United States go along with Russia on a two-year ban on A-bomb tests without insisting on a companion prohibition on nuclear production.

Now, however, he is authoritatively reported to be planning a review of U.S. disarmament policy that may reshape it along lines frequently advocated by Stassen during his nearly three years as a White House aide and chief U.S. disarmament negotiator.

If this happens, it will indicate that Stassen, now a candidate for the governorship of Pennsylvania, has been able in a few short weeks as a private citizen to do more to further the disarmament cause than he ever was able to do as a presidential adviser.

Stassen holds the view that there is reasonable hope of reaching a small first-step agreement with the Russians if the Eisenhower administration will drop its requirement for a ban on the manufacture of nuclear weapons.

His theory is that such a first-step agreement, while it would not provide immediate radical disarmament, would bring about a relaxation of tension and reduction of war risk without appreciably altering the balance of power between the U.S. and the U.S.S.R.

But Stassen never was able to persuade State Secretary John Foster Dulles, who outranked Stassen and who looks with high suspicion on any agreement with the Russians. And Dulles carries more influence with the president than any other member of the White House hierarchy.

The upshot of a long behind-the-scenes struggle over disarmament policy was Stassen's resignation as presidential adviser three weeks ago, ostensibly to seek the Pennsylvania governorship.

Since then, Stassen has written two copyrighted newspaper articles to express publicly his view that a temporary halt to nuclear bomb tests can be achieved safely and has appeared before a congressional committee to detail his proposals for a first-step agreement.

There are few clues as to the reasons for Eisenhower's reported decision to revise disarmament policy but he and his administration are known to be under great pressure both at home and from abroad to do something to break the disarmament deadlock.

Senator Hubert Humphrey, a leading Democrat from Minnesota, urged the administration last month to open piece-by-piece negotiations with the Russians and UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold also called upon the West to break up its disarmament package.

An A-bomb test ban was one of the chief issues posed by the Democrats in the 1956 presidential election. If the Eisenhower administration could achieve such an agreement this year, it would provide a good political talking point for the Republican party in the off-year congressional elections this fall.

Bert Cotterell Pots Winner As Aces Edge Beavers; Meteors Win 3-1

Magog Rallies In Closing Stages To Tie Game And Notch Winning Goal With 40 Seconds Left, Meet Tomorrow

Bert Cotterell, Magog Aces' hard-working forward, was the payoff boy yesterday afternoon when the Aces edged the Sherbrooke Beavers 2-1 in a closely-fought fixture at the local Arena before 2,539 fans in the Massawippi Valley Hockey League semifinals. The win allowed the Magog team to close in on the Beavers who lead the series 4-3 with the eighth game slated for tomorrow night.

The Aces were fighting to stave off elimination in the playoffs and came up with one of their better games. All the scoring was registered in the final frame as the two teams gave the fans plenty of action during the first two periods but failed to make the red light flash.

Gilles Dube tallied the first marker of the afternoon, and it was the nicest one of the game, when he was put in the clear by Frankie Reid on a lift pass behind the defense and the shifty playing-coach made no mistake when he waltzed in to deke Yvon Lavoie almost out of his boots and lift the disc into the opposite corner. It was tallied just after the four minute mark, and stood up until the closing minutes.

Gaston Thibault came up with the equalizer when the Beavers were short-handed as he finished off a ganging play on Theriault's set-up. The winning tally was registered with only forty-seconds left in the game. Both teams had a player in the cooler when Cotterell was away on Thibault's pass with only one man back. He waited and rifled a hard low shot which Claude Labossiere didn't see in time as his view was blocked by a defenseman. Following this the Aces held on until the final minute to register their victory.

The Aces held the upper hand for the better part of the game and although it looked as though they would wilt under the heavy pressure Yvon Lavoie was having a fine afternoon. Penalties played a big part in the outcome as all three goals were registered with players in the cooler.

POTS WINNER

as both teams were playing it cozy and waiting for the breaks. The Beavers failed to click when they held the man advantage in the second period and the Aces just couldn't see to get rolling with their opportunities.

Nothing serious happened in the first frame as they were testing each other at long range. In the second period things commenced to open up a little. Ray St. Cyr missed when he was in close when Gerard Levesque was sitting out a major. Bob Bedard was next but he blew his chance also.

The Aces were checking well when they were short two players. Blais drove in on Lavoie but he made the stop. Frankie Reid and Pee Wee Leblanc were next but Lavoie was standing up to the pressure, as he minded his business and left the fans alone and was at his best.

Charbonneau almost registered a goal when he walked in but Labossiere made a beautiful diving save. Smith and Levesque were back but again they were stopped. Play kept humming back and forth.

Just before the end Bedard drew two minors while George Goyette got thumbed for high-sticking along with Frankie Reid in a little bout. Aces had a two-man advantage but they failed to get one good shot on goal.

In the third frame things opened up and once Dube registered his goal the boys really turned on the heat. The Aces took advantage of Sherbrooke's blunder when they were caught with too many men on the ice and this proved costly as Magog evened the count. A player was going to the box for a change with the other over the boards when he changed his mind and went back into the play.

The fans seemed ready to settle down for overtime when Bert Cotterell got away for his winning tally. Sherbrooke were caught forcing the play when the Aces potted the big one to give them the victory and send the series into the eighth game tomorrow evening.

PLAYOFFS ACTIVITIES ...

Yvon Durelle Stands One Victory And $100,000 Away From Crack At World Title And Archie Moore

NEW YORK—(AP)—Yvon Durelle, Canada's British Empire light heavyweight king, stands one victory and $100,000 away from a title shot at world champion Archie Moore.

This Friday night he gets a crack at Tony Anthony in a battle of light heavyweight contenders.

Durelle, 28, and Anthony, 22, fought to a draw in Detroit last June. Anthony, then warming up for a title fight against Moore, was a big favorite. Tony was staggered by the Canadian and was lucky to escape with a draw. In his next fight, Anthony was flattened by Moore in the seventh round on Sept. 20.

This will be Anthony's first outing since the Moore debacle. He is now ranked as the fourth contender while Durelle, of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., is ranked second. Durelle, a vastly improved fighter in the last year, has an unbeaten streak of 12, including the draw with Anthony.

A hard hitter handicapped by a fragile jaw, Anthony has posted a 30-5-1 record, including 23 knockouts. His losses were all by kayos. Durelle's record is 72-18-2, including 37 kayos. He has been stopped five times.

The bout will be broadcast and telecast NBC 10 p.m. AST. Moore, meanwhile, will be aiming for his 10th straight victory in a non-title 10-rounder with Bob Albright of Los Angeles at Vancouver Monday night.

Normie Kwong Signs Contract With Eskimos

EDMONTON (CP)—Normie Kwong, bulldozing Chinese full-back, has signed his contract for the 1958 Western Football Conference season with Edmonton Eskimos, the club announced Saturday.

The 28-year-old Calgary born footballer has been with Eskimos for seven seasons and in that time has carried the ball 1,176 times for a total ground gain of 3.7 miles. He joined Edmonton in 1951 from Calgary Stampeders.

At Chicoutimi, Skip Teal and Jean Marie Cossette counted for the Aces five minutes apart and goalie Al Millar held off the Saguenens until the third period, when Jacques Locas took advantage of a Quebec minor penalty to score.

At Montreal, the Royals got goals from Ken Mosdell, John Kowalchuk, Denis Boucher, Lulu Denis, Walter Bradley and Gene Achtymichuk. George Faulkner led the Cataracts with a pair and Jean Paul Denis and Dick Bouchard netted singles.

The goaltenders, Charlie Hodge of Montreal and Shawinigan's Eddie Johnston, both gave strong performances, handling a many difficult chances. Hodge had 36 stops and Johnston, 31.

The Quebec Hockey League playoff lineup, tinged with uncertainty all season by the erratic performances of the leagues five teams, remained as much in doubt as ever after Sunday's action.

Montreal Royals and Quebec Aces, struggling for third spot, both came up with victories to maintain their deadlock with 35 points, seven in front of the Ile Trois-Rivieres Lions.

Royals And Aces Post Victories To Remain Deadlocked For Third Spot In Quebec Hockey League Battle

Minor Playoffs Continue At BCS Tomorrow

The Minor hockey playdowns for the Eastern Townships Championships are in their final stages and will terminate this week, Tuesday evening, at Bishop's College School rink, starting at 7:00 the B.C.S. Iroquois Pee-Wees will meet the leaders of the Stanstead County hockey league while the B.C.S. Bantams will receive the Stanstead County representatives.

These two games will settle the Pee-Wee and Bantam championships.

On Wednesday evening at the Sherbrooke Arena, the Richmond Mosquitos will meet the Ayer's Cliff outfit, representing the Stanstead County Hockey League. This game will start at 6:30 and will be followed by a midweek game between Windsor Mills and the Stanstead County representatives. The highlight of the evening will be Juvenile game which will oppose Windsor Mills against the Thetford Mines champions.

All these games should be interesting to watch and these clubs should be supported by the public. All playoffs entail large financial output for travelling expenses and so far the public has not responded very heavily. It is hoped that Wednesday, the fans will turn out in large numbers to support the young and coming stars and at the same time see good games.

The Yanks wound up their 1957 business by going 11 scoreless innings against Milwaukee Braves in the final two games of the world series.

They opened their exhibition season Saturday by being shut out by St. Louis Cardinals. Sunday, they finally scored a run but it wasn't enough and the Cards won the ball game at St. Petersburg, Fla., 2-1.

In other games, Cincinnati Redlegs defeated Chicago White Sox 5-4, San Francisco Giants whipped Cleveland Indians 5-1; Chicago Cubs licked Baltimore Orioles 5-4 and Los Angeles Dodgers edged Philadelphia Phillies, 5-4.

Asbestos Knot Best-Of-Five Series At 2-2; Fifth Game Slated Tomorrow In Mining Town; All Games End 3-1

DRUMMONDVILLE — (Special to the Record). — The Asbestos Meteors tied up the semi-final series with the Drummondville Rockets here yesterday by winning 3-1 in Drummondville. Each team shares two games in the best-of-five series.

All four of the games so far have ended by the same score 3-1. Rockets won the two first tilts straight and the Meteors came back to do the same.

A new attendance record was set in Drummondville as 2,154 fans crowded the arena. The closest gate figure according to an enthusiast dates to January 17, 1934, when 2,300 spectators saw Drummondville play St. Hyacinthe.

The Meteors' Laurent Drouin starred by assisting in the three goals. Lester LeHaye assisted by Kenny Biggs and Bob Pepin of Drummondville, opened the scoring when his team mate Melancon was sent to the penalty box. Drouin took advantage of the one man missing and shot a pass to Paul Perron who out stepped goalie Joseph Lacoursiere. Drouin scored the second count unassisted at the end of the first period. He netted the third goal assisted by Perron and Maurice Vachon.

There were no points scored in the second period. Thirteen penalties were handed out. Biggs served three of which was a 10 minute misconduct. Melancon served two whole Aubry served one.

For the Meteors, Vachon served three penalties while the following team mates served one apiece: Coates, Bisson, Michelin and Forgues.

The next game will be played in Asbestos Tuesday evening.

Doug Harvey, Ace Defenseman With Montreal Canadians, Likes Winning Games; Has Copped All Hockey Awards

MONTREAL — (CP) — Doug Harvey, defenseman extraordinaire with Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, is a square shouldered man with one consuming hockey ambition: "I like winning games."

Harvey is at the pinnacle of stardom as the bulwark of the NHL's most proficient defence corps. He has accumulated about every honor possible for rear-guard since breaking into the league rather inconspicuously 11 years ago as a bright-eyed 22-year-old.

A perennial member of the first all-star team since the 1951-52 season, he has won the James Norris Trophy as the best defenseman the last three years running, missing only the year it was inaugurated.

The only trophy that has eluded the hard-hitting native Montrealer apart of course from the scoring cup, is the Lady Byng Memorial Trophy awarded the player who best combines ability with sportsmanship. His 92 minutes in penalties last season were average for him.

A muscular five feet, 10 inches Harvey is the ice general of a club that has made a runaway of the championship race this year, and which has finished no lower than third — winning the Stanley Cup three times — since his first full season as a member.

Found-faced, with a short crease and upturned nose, his appearance and seemingly lackadaisical actions on the ice are deceiving.

Although he does not rush as often as most defencemen, he is Montreal's key on the attack, firing well-aimed passes that enable Canadian forwards to snake their checks. He seldom scores more than a half-dozen goals a season, but collects enough assists to place him above the majority of the league's forwards in the points race. He set an NHL record for defencemen with 44 assists last year.

As a defender, Harvey is considered the toughest player to move around by most opposing players. With powerful arms and powerful skating stride, he is able to shunt fast-skating forwards to a corner.

He is a "second goalie," often falling to the ice to block a shot, a dangerous stunt attempted by only a few of the leagues rearguards.

Harvey said the opponents he finds most difficult to stop are usually among the league's top scorers, but he won't name them. "I've worked like hell for years to get a psychological edge on these guys. Why should I give the advantage back to them?"

Easy-going, he has a sharp wit that keeps his teammates constantly amused and helps to reduce tension.

Harvey provides Harvey with an annual income of $15,000 or so and he feels hockey has given him a position of obligation to society. He makes many personal appearances for worthy causes and lends his name to welfare projects.

"Sometimes, I wonder where I'd be if it wasn't for hockey," he says. "I owe something and I try to give back, whenever I can, for what hockey has given me."

He has a six-room house in suburban Notre Dame de Grace. Ten years ago he married a girl who was a schoolmate. They have four young children—three girls and a boy, Doug Jr., 8, who wants to be a goaltender.

Harvey started his hockey career as a centre in the minor amateur leagues of Montreal. He played that position until he was 17, when he joined Montreal Royals of the now defunct Quebec Junior Hockey League and was moved back to the blueline.

He moved up to Montreal Royals of the older Quebec Senior Hockey League for two seasons and then jumped to Canadiens in the 1947-48 season, playing a brief stint with Buffalo of the American Hockey League that same season. He was not impressive in his first few games with Canadiens, but gradually gained confidence.

ONCE BALL PLAYER — Some say baseball lost a potential major leaguer when Doug took up hockey seriously. He played two seasons with Ottawa Nationals of the old Class C Border League as an outfielder. He compiled batting averages of .342 and .351, winning the hitting crown the second year.

Silky Sullivan Wins $130,500 Santa Anita Derby By 3 1/2 Lengths

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — A dream race is shaping up for the Kentucky Derby May 3 at Churchill Downs and the fabulous, big muscled Silky Sullivan already is cast in the leading role.

Silky is going to try to run down, among others, the two main threats of Tim Tam, the long-legged son of the great Tom Fool, and Jewel's Reward, the pride of the Maine Chance Farm.

Can he do it? Ask anyone in the crowd of 61,000 who saw the California thunderbolt capture the $135,000 Santa Anita Derby Saturday and there is an immediate "yes."

"That track is built for Silky," says Al Wesson, Hollywood park publicist.

"A stretch running horse such as Silky has something of an edge at Churchill Downs," Wesson said. "Until I saw Silky come out of the clouds and win that one Saturday I thought it was Tim Tam and Jewel's Reward. I think it's a three-horse race now, but the edge has to go to Silky."

Silky Sullivan is an unusual horse. He's all muscle. He even has muscles rippling down between his ribs. Apparently he also has a radar system with an automatic triggering device that powers him into high gear just at the proper moment so he can rocket past his competitors a few strides before the wire.

Canada Rallies To Down Russia 4-2 And Win World Hockey Championship

Cops Title In 25 Seconds As Broden, Attersley And Gagnon Notch Climactic Goals In Hard-Fought Tilt For Title

OSLO — (CP) — Two lightning thrusts, 25 seconds apart, brought Canada the world hockey title Sunday night in as nerve-grinding a game as the tournament ever has known.

The climactic goals by Bobby Attersley and Bus Gagnon gave the Whitby representatives a 4-2 victory over a Russian team that had risen to the heights to battle a Canadian side almost universally regarded as a top-heavy favorite before the opening whistle.

Whitby's perfect 7-0 win-loss record brought the world championship to Canada for the 17th time since the series was started in 1920 and the first since 1955 when Penitton Vs beat the Soviets. Canada didn't take part in 1957.

Since Russia moved into the event in 1954, both Canada and the Russians have won it twice.

The Russians had been outshone in this tournament by Whitby throughout the eight-team round-robin affair. Their play in earlier matches had been spotty, with flashes of brilliance interspersed with lack-lustre stretches in which inferior opponents made them look ordinary.

DIFFERENT STORY
But they rocked the Canadians as well as the packed stands of 10,000 spectators in Jordal Amphitheatre.

The Russians scored a brilliant goal in the game's opening minutes. And until their momentary collapse 3½ minutes before the final whistle they appeared capable at any time of sending another club back to Canada without the world cup.

"Those Russians were fantastically strong," Canadian manager Wren Blair said afterwards. "We played a fair but hard game. The Russians were good. They'll take a lot of beating next year."

PENALTY HELPS SOVIETS
Whitby left winger George Gosselein was serving a tripping penalty when blonde Veniamin Alexandrov, the Russian's 20-year-old centre and No. 1 goal-getter, whistled a 10-footer past goalie Roy Edwards at ankle height from directly in front of the net.

That was at 2:35 of the first period.

It was the first time in seven matches the Canadians had been behind and for a few minutes the experience appeared to unnerve them.

Gradually Whitby recovered composure and began claiming a territorial edge in play. But they ran into solid defensive work and some near-miraculous sleight-of-hand by goalie Nikolai Puchkov.

It was late in the second period before they tied the score as Attersley cashed a rebound for the first of his two goals, with Russian winger Nikolai Khlystov off for tripping.

But the Russians weren't through, even when Whitby took the lead on Broden's flashing 30-footer halfway through the third period. Two minutes later, little Konstantin Loktev whipped the puck past Edwards in a goal-mouth scramble and the tension was on again.

TURNING POINT
Then, suddenly, the Russians cracked. Lamirande's shot from the blue line found Attersley waiting at the edge of the crease to flick it past Puchkov. Seconds later Gagnon took a perfect pass from Attersley and beat the Soviet goalkeeper easily.

It was Gagnon's goal that broke the spell and the 30-year-old veteran of five years' professional hockey greeted it like a junior.

He banged his stick on the ice repeatedly and capered all over the rink, pounding the back of every team-mate within reach.

His performance was repeated seven times by the whole team when the final buzzer sounded.

The Soviet players, dutifully lining up on the blue line to await the playing of O Canada and the raising of the Canadian Ensign in token of victory, finally gave up and skated over to join the melee of handshaking.

It took the officials more than 10 minutes to calm down the victors enough to proceed with the closing ceremony.

SING ANTHEM
The Whitby boys were too busy chairing goalie Edwards and whopping and cheering. When they finally took their places they sang a rousing accompaniment to the national anthem.

Captain Harry Sinden accepted Canada's gold medal grinning widely and teetering precariously on his skates. He didn't bother to take them off as he leaped joyfully to the dais.

Russia took the silver medal for second place and Sweden the bronze for third. Following them came Czechoslovakia, the United States, Finland, Norway and Poland.

Before the thrill-packed finale, Norway defeated Poland 8-3 for its first win, the U.S. outplayed Finland 4-2 and Sweden crushed Czechoslovakia 7-1.

PICKED TOP FORWARD
Charlie Burns won the award as outstanding forward at the championships. It was Burns, 21, who helped kill Canada's four first-period penalties, a performance that Blair credited with enabling Whitby to come from behind to his victory.

Three Canadians headed the list of goal-scorers for all teams at the championships. On top was Broden, the 27-year-old sharpshooter from Montreal who played for the National League Canadiens there in the 1957 Stanley Cup playoffs. He fired 11 of Canada's 82 goals and also picked up seven assists.

Leafs' Bid For NHL Playoff Spot Fades As Don Simmons Shines In His Return, Tie 3-3 And Win 7-0

SPORT — LEAFS
National Hockey League action this weekend: Ended most hopes Toronto Maple Leafs had of gaining a playoff berth;

Ended a seven-game Chicago Black Hawk losing streak; Ended a nine-game New York Ranger unbeaten streak; Ended any fears Boston coach Milt Schmidt had of goalie Don Simmons' recovery from a shoulder separation.

Boston Bruins have just about written finish to Toronto's playoff hopes. Leafs settled for a 3-3 tie Saturday but were walloped 7-0 Sunday.

HAWKS BEAT WINGS
Chicago broke its seven-game losing streak with a 4-3 Saturday win over Detroit. Sunday the Hawks lost 4-1 to Montreal Canadiens, but that's really no disgrace, considering Habs are 21 points ahead of second place New York.

Rangers edged Canadiens 3-2 Saturday but Sunday Detroit took Rangers 4-2, ending New York's unbeaten streak of seven wins and two ties.

The only change in the standings saw Boston climb one point above Detroit into third place, five behind Rangers.

Simmons, who suffered a shoulder injury Dec. 29, returned to action Saturday, turning aside 25 shots. He gave up two goals to Dick Duff and a single to Marc Reaume. Gerry Toppazzini, Norm Johnson and Fleming Mackell scored for Boston.

RECORDS NO. 5
Simmons kicked off 35 shots and recorded his fifth shutout of the season as Boston trampled Leafs Sunday. Don McKenzie scored two for Boston and singles went to Fleming Mackell, Jerry Toppazzini, Buddy Boone, Leo Labine and Johnny Bucyk.

Canadiens, at home to Rangers Saturday, were victims of the first penalty shot this season. It was called when Camille Henry was hauled down from behind after breaking into the clear.

Netsminder Jacques Plante didn't have a chance on Henry's close-in shot. Lou Fontinato and Guy Gendron were the other Ranger scorers. Andre Pronovost and Jean Beliveau scored for Montreal.

Rangers lost Sunday when Gordie Howe and Bob Bailey, with his second of the night, broke a 2-2 tie with third-period goals. Johnny Wilson notched the other Detroit goal while Henry and Andy Bathgate tallied for New York.

EXCITING FINISH
Chicago won Saturday on Ed Litzemberger's goal with 62 seconds remaining. It was his second of the game and his 28th of the season.

Lorne Ferguson and Eric Nesterenko were the other scorers for the Hawks, Alex Delvecchio, Howe and Ullman for Detroit.

Sunday Dickie Moore and Jean Beliveau staged a two-man scoring display, each hitting twice for Montreal. Moore, league-leading scorer, upped his total to 75 points with goals 33 and 34. Nesterenko scored the lone Chicago goal.

Three Rivers And Quebec City Skiers Dominate Jumping And Cross-Country Championships Held At Camp Fortune

CAMP FORTUNE, Que. (CP)—Skiers from Trois-Rivieres and Quebec City dominated the Quebec division jumping and cross-country ski championships at this Ottawa Ski Club centre during the weekend.

Lucien Laferte of Trois-Rivieres won the Gatineau zone jumping championship Saturday with leaps of 144 feet and 142 feet for a total of 292.5 points. Points are given on the basis of style as well as distance in jumping.

He also won the Bedard trophy for the longest standing jump of the day, 165 feet, and Sunday cleaned up the Quebec division title with jumps of 164 and 165 feet for 228.8 points.

Jacques Carboneau of Quebec City was the winner in the seven-mile cross-country competition through the Gatineau hills around this centre some 10 miles north of Ottawa. He covered the distance in 42 minutes, 13.2 seconds.

RUNNER-UP
Runner-up to Laferte in both the Quebec division and the Gatineau zone jumping was Jean-Louis Morency, another Trois-Rivieres jumper. He jumped 138 and 131 feet for 198.8 points in the Gatineau competition and 153 and 142 feet for 203.3 points in the Quebec division.

Max Pelt of Montreal was third in the Gatineau jumping and winner of the junior class with leaps of 137 and 132 feet for 185.4 points. Claude Trahan, also of Trois-Rivieres, was third in the Quebec division and winner of the class B section with 156 and 137 feet for 201.1 points.

Albert Delamare, 16-year-old Trois-Rivieres junior, won the OSLO, Norway (CP)—Connie Broden, 27-year-old sharpshooter from Montreal, Sunday finished as the 1958 world hockey tournament's top scorer with 11 goals and seven assists.

Unofficial figures showed he was followed closely by compatriots Jack McKenzie, 27-year-old Preston, Ont., teacher, and Bob Attersley, 24, perennial league-leading scorer with Whitby, the new world champion team.

Charlie Burns Top Forward

OSLO, Norway (CP)—Charlie Burns, 21-year-old Canadian centre and penalty-killer extraordinaire, Sunday was named the outstanding forward of the world hockey championship.

The International Ice Hockey Federation made the award to Burns, a 180-pounder who wears a silver plate in his head, protected by a specially constructed helmet, because of an old injury.

Burns suffered a double skull fracture while playing with Toronto Marlboros junior "A" team in 1953. He starred with the Whitby team in its Allan Cup victory in 1957.

Sunday, as Whitby defeated Russia 4-2 for the championship, Burns was up to his old tricks—killing penalties.

Manager Wren Blair said after the game it was Whitby's penalty-killing ability that brought them the victory.

Burns tried out as a catcher with Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League in 1957 and interrupted training to return home and help Whitby win the Allan Cup.

HOCKEY'S BIG SEVEN

Weekend play in the National Hockey League came off as a stalemate for the top trio in the race for individual scoring honors as each collected two points.

Montreal's Dickie Moore bagged his 33rd and 34th goals of the season to boost his production to 75 points and keep four in front of teammate Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard and Andy Bathgate, the New York Rangers star.

Bathgate fired one goal—his 29th—and assisted another tally while Henri picked up assists on both of Moore's counters.

Canadians Chair Roy Edwards After Outstanding Performance; Russians Visit Dressing Room In Celebration

HOCKEY—DRESSING ROOM
OSLO, Norway (CP) — Alf Treen, huskier of Canada's defencemen, looked across the crowded reception room and his face lit up.

"Hey," he yelled, "there's Solly."

His teammates, relaxing barely an hour after they had beaten Russia for the world hockey championships, took up the cry. A moment later, they were exchanging backslaps and guffaws with a wiry blue-suited Russian whose only oral communications with them came in monosyllables.

The Canadians broke precedent throughout the post-game ceremony.

It was Nikolai Sologubov, captain of the Russian team and senior partner, with Nikolai Tregubov, of their formidable defence pair known with respect to the Canadians as Solly and Treg. A few minutes later with Sologubov still in their midst, the Canadians led the roar of approval that greeted the announcement that Tregubov had been named the tournament's outstanding defenceman.

ADMIRED LOSERS
Admiration for the losers was the keynote of the champions' reactions from the final buzzer.

"Those Russians were fantastically strong," said manager Wren Blair, shaking his head in amazement. The wordless exhaustion of most of the Canadian players in the dressing room was eloquent confirmation of his words.

The little manager was all over the rink, embracing his players, leading them in a cheer for the Canadian servicemen and hometown fans who had rooted them home and jumping over the boards to the Russian bench in order to exchange congratulations with Pavel Korotkov, his opposite number.

The Canadians broke precedent throughout the post-game ceremony.

First, they were too busy chairing goalie Roy Edwards and whopping their relief to line up for the playing of the national anthem and the raising of the Canadian ensign in token of victory. Then, when they took their places they sang a full-throated accompaniment to the recorded accompaniment of O Canada.

They shook hands freely with opponents and well-wishers. Centre Charlie Burns, voted the outstanding forward of the tournament, exchanged his black helmet for a fans grey fur hat. A grinning captain Harry Sinden, leaped to his dais for the championship presentation, teetering precariously on his skates.

Dave McTaggart Wins Third Straight Men's Singles Badminton Crown As Mrs. Jean Miller Takes Ladies' Title

VICTORIA (CP) — Dave McTaggart wrapped up his third consecutive men's singles title Saturday at the Canadian badminton championships with a gruelling three-set victory over Jim Carnwath, 23-year-old law student from Woodstock, Ont., and Toronto.

Don Smythe and Budd Porter of Toronto, men's doubles champions for the last two years, made it three in a row.

The women's doubles crown went to Joan Hennessy and Marj Sheed, both of Toronto.

Miss Shedd and Bill Purcell, also of Toronto, rallied from early confusion to win the mixed doubles crown.

Three trophies had been decided Friday night. Ed Hreljac, 18, of Creighton Mines, Ont., won the junior men's title, 17-year-old Anne Murray of Winnipeg took her second straight junior women's crown while the team of Carl Anderson, Seattle, Wash., and Russ Hill, Portland, Ore., captured the veterans' doubles event.

Hershey Bears Back On Top In AHL Race After Sharing Lead With Barons

Hershey Bears, refusing to crack under pressure, are back atop the American Hockey League standings today after sharing the lead with Cleveland Barons.

Hershey turned in two weekend victories—a 6-3 decision over Buffalo Bisons Sunday night and 2-1 win over Providence Reds Saturday—while Cleveland managed only an even break in their two games.

The Barons edged Springfield Indians 4-3 in overtime Saturday but bowed 1-0 to Providence Sunday night, losing all-star goalie Johnny Bower in the process.

In the other weekend games, Rochester Americans shut out Springfield 4-0 Sunday after losing 7-2 to Buffalo the night before.

Jack Boag, trainer and practice goalie for the Barons, took over for Bower with about 12 minutes of play left. Bower, bidding for his ninth shutout, suffered a rib injury when hit by a skate of the Reds' Jim Bartlett. The goalie dropped to the ice and was carried off on a stretcher.

Injuries Force Miramichi Beavers To Concede Series To Bathurst; Rimouski Edge Amqui To Lead Duel

Miramichi Beavers have thrown in the towel and conceded their best-of-seven New Brunswick North Shore semi-finals to Bathurst Papermakers.

Beaver manager Alphonse Napke announced the decision Saturday night after his club had dropped its third straight game to Bathurst. The reason for the withdrawal was injuries, he said.

Bathurst now goes against the winner of the Fredericton Capitals-St. Thomas Tommies series. The Caps are leading the best-of-seven round 3-0.

Rimouski Maple Leafs took a 2-0 edge in their best-of-seven series with Amqui Beavers Sunday with a 4-3 win. Third game of the Quebec - New Brunswick Senior League playoffs is scheduled for Tuesday night at Rimouski.

Fighting with their backs to the wall, Amherst Ramblers came up with a 6-4 win over New Glasgow Rangers Saturday night in Amherst. New Glasgow now leads the best-of-seven Maritime

Rocky Marciano Turns Down Bid For $1,250,000

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) Rocky Marciano Sunday turned down a reported $1,250,000 offer from him by Jack Kearns to fight Floyd Patterson.

Kearns, who used to manage Jack Dempsey, was in Louisville during the weekend and said he talked to Marciano, who was master of ceremonies at a sports show here.

Downhill Record Set At Adams Memorial Ski Meet

Big Crowd Watches Top Ski Competition On Mt. Orford Slopes

MAGOG — Andre Bertrand, skiing for Quebec set a new downhill record and won the senior downhill and slalom over the weekend at the Adams Memorial Ski meet at Mount Orford. These wins also gave him the combined winner's spot. Bertrand, a graduate of Laval University, is a civil engineer in Quebec. His times were: downhill, 1:41.8, and 1:20 flat for the slalom. His downhill time broke the record set last year by Jean Lessard of Hillcrest.

Bill Drysdale of the Laurentides Ski Club won the downhill and the combined in the Junior Division. His downhill time was one minute, 50 seconds. The Eastern Townships' Guy Thibault won the slalom in this division, with a time of 1:28.1.

In the ladies' events, Faye Pitt, Laurentide Ski Club, got the slalom. Linda Crutchfield wearing St. Maurice colors, was the downhill champ, as well as combined winner.

The Dow Trophy for the best team in the combined was won by the Eastern Townships' team consisting of Jean Thibault, Gaetan Grenier, Pierrot Longpre, Louise Thibault and Jacqueline Thibault.

The Adams Trophy for the best individual skier in the combined was awarded to Andre Bertrand.

The Adams Memorial Day Meet at Mount Orford this weekend was the most successful ever held. This meet, described as one of the three great ski meets of Eastern Canada, is held every year and bears the name of the founder of the Orford ski development Dr. Marston Adams.

The ski area is situated in Mount Orford National park and each car entering the park is checked. There were over 650 cars that went to the resort for the event.

The downhill races were held Saturday, March 8, under difficult conditions. The slopes were very fast but there was a lot of snow in the air which made the already difficult course a challenge for champions.

In spite of this, Andre Bertrand, who was one of the favorites to win, more than lived up to expectations and broke the downhill record which had been set last year by Hillcrest's Jean Lessard. Lessard was not on hand to defend his position because he is in Austria on a combined vacation and education trip. He is taking a course in advanced ski instruction.

The complete list of winners is as follows:

Senior division Slalom, 1. Andree Bertrand; 2. Bob Gilmour; 3. Francois Jobin; 4. Jim Quarles; 5. Rolland Lessard.

Downhill: 1. Andree Bertrand; 2. Maurice Cote; 3. Gerry Gilmore; 4. Francois Jobin; 5. Rolland Lessard.

Combined: 1. Andree Bertrand; 2. Maurice Cote; 3. Francois Jobin; 4. Rolland Lessard; 5. Renaud Argouin.

Ladies' Division. Downhill: 1. Linda Crutchfield; 2. Faye Pitt; 3. Jacqueline Thibault; 4. Louise Thibault.

Slalom: 1. Faye Pitt; 2. Linda Crutchfield; 3. Jacqueline Thibault; 4. Louise Thibault.

Montreal West Wins Colts Curling Competition In Finals Saturday, Post Three Straight To Cop Trophy

"Well you fellows are on your own now. Next year the grind is all yours" These were the words of young Mark Charlton of the Montreal West Curling Club shortly after he had guided his rink to the Colts Championship by winning three straight in the final rounds of the competition held at the Sherbrooke Curling Club Saturday afternoon. Charlton can't participate in the Branch Competition again owing to a rule which states that no skip winning the event may play in it again.

It had been a long hard grind for the Montreal boys, as their final win over H. Turner's Victoria rink from Quebec was the 15th straight victory since they entered the event in January. Their district game was possibly the toughest as they edged Jack Floyd's Governor Generals rink 8-7 in a battle that depended on the last rock.

The win advanced them into the finals held this year in Sherbrooke, along with rinks from St. Johns Ottawa and Quebec City.

The first games in the round robin series final saw Montreal West pull one out of the fire 10-7 over Ed Martin's Ottawa Curling Club rink.

The Montreal rink had an 8-6 edge heading into the final end. As the end developed the Ottawa foursome appeared to be staging a comeback as they had two stones in the house throughout most of the end. This was the case when skip Charlton played his last stone. The Ottawa rink was counting two well guarded. The only shot Charlton had to play was a difficult five foot raise of the shot rock in the four foot. The shot was executed with precision that was a pleasure to watch and the Charlton squad took their first one 10-7.

At the same time the St. Johns entry skipped by G. Clough was running roughshod over the Turner rink from Victoria Curling Club, Quebec. The game wound up 14-5 in favour of the Clough team who counted in all but two ends of the twelve end fixture.

Saturday morning Montreal West and Ottawa both had a comparatively easy time of it as the Charlton rink downed St. Johns 10-5 while the boys from the Capital defeated Quebec 16-9.

This meant that going into the final round of play Montreal West week undefeated with two wins. Ottawa and St. Johns were both still in the running with a win and a loss apiece. Victoria could not win the event as they had dropped their first two games.

As the play developed it almost looked as if the Victoria rink was going to be spoilers as they took a 4-1 lead at the end of the 5th. The play, as the score indicates was very tight to this point but on one occasion skip Charlton drew to the 'two foot' to cut Quebec out of four points. This seemed to be the turning point as the Montreal foursome started to roll their stones into the house with more accuracy on take-out shots.

They picked up a big three in the sixth to knot the count at 4-4. The battle seesawed back and forth for the next three ends until in the tenth the Montreal rink counted three on a last rock miss by skip Turner of Quebec. Montreal were lying four when Turner played his last stone. He played for the shot rock and took it out but rolled out of the house himself to give Charlton a 9-5 lead. Even then the Victoria rink were not beaten as they came back in the 11th end to count three and trailed by only one shot going home Montreal played it straight knock out and counted on in the 12th to win the game 10-8.

In the other final game the Clough rink and Ottawa foursome battled to a 9-9 deadlock.

Ottawa's Anni Heggveit was sixth in the women's combined competition. She tied for seventh in the slalom with Sally Deaver of the U.S.

West Albion Blanks Injury Riddled Manchester United 4-0, First Defeat For United Since Munich Air Crash

LONDON (Reuters) — West Bromwich Albion battered injury-weakened Manchester United 4-0 Saturday in an English League soccer game that avenged its midweek cup defeat.

It was United's first defeat in five games since last month's Munich air crash which killed eight Manchester stars.

United beat West Brom 1-0 Wednesday to eliminate Albion from cup play.

Before the game, the crowd of more than 60,000 heard a tape-recorded message from Manager Matt Busby, still in hospital in Munich, relayed over loudspeakers.

Wolverhampton Wanderers, knocked out of the cup competition a week ago Saturday, took a 3-1 victory over Newcastle United.

Archie Moore Travels And Fights As Often As He Find Opponents; Meets Bob Albright In Vancouver

VANCOUVER — With the five-day week a North American tradition and the four-day week a possibility, itinerant Archie Moore must be unique.

Archie, as world light-heavyweight champ, travels about fighting as often as once a week — if he can find opponents. Moore fights heavyweight Bob Albright here.

Most champs feel if they fight once every two months or so it's sufficient, and they aren't 41. Archie is at least 41, probably more. Moore's feats would be comparable to the layman spending 80 hours a week behind his desk — or at least 70 down a mine.

Fresh from a TKO win over Bert Whitehurst in California last Tuesday, Archie explained "I like to fight, and I like to fight often. It saves the boring chore of training and keeps me in top condition."

Whitby Home Fans Stage Parade Following Win

WHITBY, Ont. — Hundreds of cars packed with wildly cheering occupants rolled through town for nearly three hours Sunday following news Whitby had captured the world hockey crown by defeating Russia 4-2.

Motorists from nearby Oshawa and Toronto, 30 miles east of here also joined the cavalcade. An effigy of a Russian hockey player was burned at a main intersection. The dummy was made of sacks and doused with gasoline. Firecrackers exploded through the streets.

Five minutes after the end of the game, fans who heard the result by radio, posted signs at the four main highway entrances to the town informing motorists Whitby was the home of the world champions.

Hollywood — Joe Miceli, 150, New York, outpointed Karl Heinz Guder, 152½, Essen, Germany, 10.

Meeting Held By Stanstead County Women's Institute

AYER'S CLIFF. — The Stanstead County Women's Institute held a meeting in the library of the Ayer's Cliff High School which was attended by executive members, county conveners and branch presidents.

Mrs. W. Dustin, county president, presided over the informal business period, with Mrs. E. Woodard acting as secretary in the absence of Mrs. H. Cass. All branches were represented except North Hatley. Mrs. H. Taylor gave a splendid report of the Q.W.I. board meeting held recently in Montreal, which she attended.

It was announced that George Ticehurst, student of Magog High School, had been awarded the Estella Holmes scholarship.

The majority of branches were in favor of discontinuing the monthly broadcasts over W.I.K.E. Mrs. H. Taylor will give news items of W.I. work each month instead of a regular broadcast and branches are reminded to send accounts of projects, etc., which they are carrying out to her.

The School Fair and County Fair rest room were brought up for discussion. Mending for the crippled children's camp was distributed by Mrs. McHarg.

Branches are to consider the possibility of going to the Q.W.I. convention at Macdonald College in June, by bus, as last year. Delegates are to bring their decisions to the annual meeting which will be held on Tuesday, May 6, at Beebe.

At the conclusion of the meeting tea was served in the cafeteria by the Ayer's Cliff ladies.

my fellow Canadians:

IN THE SHORT SPACE OF EIGHT MONTHS, the Government, in which it is my privilege to serve as Prime Minister, has laid the foundations for a new National Development Policy to equalize opportunity and raise the standard of living of Canadians in all our provinces. In doing so, we believe we have honoured our promises in keeping with your mandate of last June. In that spirit, we now submit for your approval our record of accomplishment since you entrusted us with the conduct of your government.

We have already reduced taxes by $178,000,000 including income tax reductions for 4½ million Canadians.

We have increased old age pensions to $55 a month and increased old age assistance payments and pensions for the disabled and for the blind. We have doubled federal grants for hospital construction.

We have provided $87,000,000 in financial assistance to the provinces including special grants to the Atlantic Provinces to raise their level of economic opportunity.

We have increased and extended allowance and disability pension benefits for 250,000 veterans and their families.

Since last June, there has been a progressive easing of the previous government's tight money policy which had an adverse effect on various industries and small businesses in Canada. Bank interest rates have been reduced. $300,000,000 has been provided for housing loans resulting in a current all-time high in winter home building.

We have taken measures to find new markets for our wheat and other farm products and to recover export markets which had been drastically reduced while our resources were being exported in raw or semi-processed form.

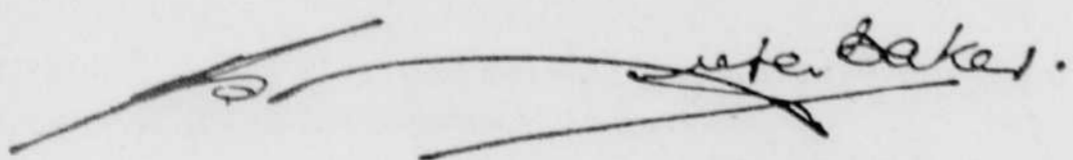

We have made an effective start on our broad program to bring the income of farmers into line with that of other salary and wage earners. We have provided cash advances for farm stored grain; limited unfair imports of farm products; assisted dairying and other phases of agriculture; and introduced legislation, long sought by farmers, to stabilize and increase farm prices by relating them in advance to production costs and other factors.

We have provided long overdue salary increases to our armed forces and to civil servants.

We have undertaken an extensive program of major works projects to provide more jobs for Canadians in all provinces.

These are some of the achievements of your Conservative Government. What we have done so far is, of course, only a start on the fuller policy of Canadianism which we put before you last year. We have done what could be done in this short space of time as a minority government. We now come before you again to ask your mandate to carry on with a working majority which will enable us to translate our entire program into effective action for the benefit of all Canadians.

Yours sincerely,

JOHN G. DIEFENBAKER
