MURDER WILL OUT.

A Dark Crime Long Hidden Now Coming to Light at Peterboro.

Toronto, June 3.—Another case of murder has come to light near Peterboro.
David Scollie, an old farmer, contracted with a couple named Gray, lately from Ireland, to run his farm, he to board with them, and at his death the Grays were to get the property in payment for his keep. On February 22, 1894, fire occurred in the house and Scollie was burned to death. The trunk of the old man's body was found intact, but the head was missing. The Grays sold out and left for the States. Suspicion was aroused, and on Saturday the Grays sent doctors to exhum the body.
Their report has not yet been sent in,
but it is said it will show that murder was done.

CABLE NOTES.

London, June 3.—A dispatch to the Daily News from Cairo reports a fresh outbreak of cholera at Mecca.

London, June 3.—The Prince of Wales has been chosen Chancellor of the University of Wales. His Royal Highness has accepted the position.

Ottawa, June 3.—Mr. George Duval, C.
C., official stenographer of the Supreme Court, died at 10 o'clock to-day. He was called to the Bar of Lower Canada in 1865, was private secretary to Hon. Mr. Fourrier when he was Minister of Justice, and was appointed stenographer to the court in 1876.

Hamilton, Ont., June 3.—On Saturday afternoon a lad named Charles Grant, aged about 16, whose parents reside on McGill Street, while bathing in Desjardins Canal with several other boys, was accidentally drowned. He either took a cramp or was injured below the water by diving.

Toronto, June 3.—City rate-payers on Saturday voted upon four by-laws to expend $75,000 on an intake pipe, $100,000 for water main, $100,000 for water main, and $127,000 for a civic electric light plant. All of the by-laws were overwhelmingly defeated, the majority against the by-laws

CLAM FRITTERS.—Take about two dozen clams, chop them fine; add to these a batter made with half pint of the clam liquor, a heaping pint of flour and two eggs, well beaten (a little soda added to the size of the egg). Mix all thoroughly together and fry in hot lard. When taken up allow to drain a few minutes.

BREAKFAST BISCUITS.—To one quart of flour add two and one-half teaspoonsful of baking powder, sift twice; add a teaspoonful of salt; sift once more, then rub into the flour a tablespoonful of lard; mix with enough milk to make a soft dough; have your bread ready to use. Bake in the pan with butter and allow to remain until they have absorbed as much butter as is possible without burning, then add one-half pint of strong beef or veal broth and a cupful of cold water, salt and white pepper, and one-half teaspoonful of browned flour. Turn the sweetbreads when the same is reduced one-half it is ready. When cooling add a can of hot peas (well drained) and mix thoroughly by themselves, adding a little salt and pepper and a tablespoonful of butter.
Serve peas and sweetbreads together.

PEACH PIE.—If the peaches are dried, stew them first in a little water; if fresh, pare them, but do not take out the stone. Make the pie in a large deep dish, place your lining in bottom, put in your peaches, sprinkle sugar over them, place a layer of pastry on top.
Close the edges well to prevent the juice from escaping, and bake in hot oven.

MOCK TURTLE SOUP.—Boil a calf's liver and a heart with a knuckle of veal for three or four hours; skin well and strain.
Chop the liver, and add to it a chopped onion, salt, pepper and ground cloves to taste; thicken if necessary with a little brown flour, cook again in the liquor. Have the yolks of four or five hard-boiled eggs and bits of lemon cut up, place in between and pour over.

INDIAN MEAL PUDDING.—One cup of yellow Indian meal, one quart and a cupful of milk, three eggs, half a cup of molasses, one generous tablespoonful of butter, one teaspoonful of salt, one pint of boiling water, half a teaspoonful each of cinnamon and mace. Scald the salted meal with water. Heat the milk in a farina kettle; stir in the scalded meal, and boil, stirring often, for half an hour. Beat the eggs light, put in the butter and molasses, stirred together until they are several shades lighter than at first; add the spice; lastly, the batter from the farina kettle, beat in a little at a time until all the ingredients are thoroughly incorporated. Grease a pudding dish; pour in the mixture, and bake, covered, in a steady oven, three-quarters of an hour. Remove the lid and brown.
Eat with sauce or cream and sugar.

The Montreal Herald
Founded 1808.

MONTREAL, JUNE 4.

DR. MONTAGUE'S INGRATITUDE.

We fear the Queen will be very much disappointed at the recent conduct of her friend and agent, Dr. Montague. We presume the Queen is loyal—not as loyal as a Canadian Tory after a dinner where the red wine has been freely flowing or in an election campaign, but reasonably so—and she will be pained to learn that Dr. Montague in his address in the Commons last week represented England, over which the Queen rules, as going to the demolition bow-wows as rapidly as dunderhead statesmen like Gladstone, Salisbury, Harcourt and Rosebery can send it. The Queen, who knows better than this, will think it a very poor return for the proclamation put up throughout the Haldimand Indian reserve in the election of 1887, and represented by Dr. Montague as having come direct from her. This proclamation read in this wise:

To the Indians: The Queen has always loved her dear loyal subjects the Indians. She wants them to be good men and women, and she wants them to live on the land that they have, and she expects in a little while, if her great chief, John A. gets into Governor's again, to be very kind to the Indians, and to make them very happy. She wants them to go and vote, and to all vote for Doctor Montague, who is the Queen's agent. He is their friend, and by voting for him every one of the Indians will please Queen Victoria.

This proclamation, surrounded by the Royal arms, topped by the subsequent assistance of Judge Upper, gave Dr. Montague that majority of one which introduced him to the Canadian Parliament and made it possible for him to reach the office of Secretary of State, which he now fills. There are people ungenerous enough to say that the Queen had nothing to do with this proclamation, but as the acceptance of that theory involves the belief that a Canadian Tory of the old breed would deliberately forge his sovereign's name to a dirty election appeal it must be dismissed. Besides, Dr. Montague took great care to let the world know the other night that he is a simple pure gentleman, and gentlemen don't usually commit forgery on ordinary individuals, let alone on a monarch. It must therefore be accepted that the Queen, being in terror at the possible loss of Canada owing to the prospective triumph of Edward Blake, and knowing that Montague was the boy who could frustrate the knavish tricks of that well known traitor, issued the touching little proclamation which we have already quoted. And this is why the Queen will feel sad that the only member of the Canadian Parliament in whose election she took a personal interest should have joined in the chorus of a decadent England. She will be almost tempted to say, "Et tu, Brute."

But the Queen should not grieve too deeply. Someone should tell her that Montague is what is known on this side of the pond as a blatherskite, and as such is not responsible for what he says when he is in an haranguing mood. He is like the man who used to set his mouth going and let it run for an hour or so by itself. Certain of his characteristics were well set forth recently by Don on Saturday Night of Toronto, and certainly a marked copy should be sent to the Queen to assure her that Montague must not be held too severely to account for his talk. Don speaks by the book. He is a Conservative and he has contested Montague's own constituency for the Legislature, and may therefore claim that he is well acquainted with the home habits of the Montague sample of statesman. This is what Don said of him after the last election in Haldimand:

This election is certainly a well deserved tribute to his popularity, not to his principles, for he has none. His personality is exceedingly attractive to those who would rather listen than reason, and the belief that he is more than an average man lasts with those who never inquire, after listening, as to what they have brought away with them. Notoriously he is oratorical without being educational, eloquent mostly in the devising of statements that are misleading, courageous mostly when he has a majority of supporters, and up to date has shown his bravery of character almost entirely in doing wrong rather than in advocating right.

He is an evidence that it is easier for electors to follow men than principles. The elector of Haldimand is not a happy aware that he has made his right on other people's money. There is no man in the Ottawa Ministry who has been a more subservient political hack than Dr. Montague. Everywhere he has been the paid spouter, the tap through which the wind of the Ottawa Ministry has been squirted, and if any of his enthusiastic friends ever pause to examine the situation, they will notice that all his oratorical periods are paid for by someone who puts up his money in order to gain an advantage that the people of Canada, intelligently considering the question, would not grant. It is neither political nor prudent, perhaps, to reflect upon this class of politician. He is omnipresent, because he has a pass or his railway fare is paid; his powers of convincing the public are not hindered by thoughts of a neglected business or an ungranted opportunity, yet he is the most dangerous quantity that could be injected into the already tainted blood of Canadian politics. If men of this sort are to be our rulers, we have a right to ask ourselves, how must we expect to be ruled? Is mouth to be chosen in preference to principles? Are audacity and indomitable cheek to be preferred to political virtue? Is facility in changing one's attitude to be applauded, as we would laugh at and approve of the antics of a clown in a circus? It has been Dr. Montague's good fortune to escape by his suave manner and exceeding good-fellowship the criticism of people who neither believe in him as a statesman nor approve of him as anything but a country healer. It is quite possible that he may reach the highest niche in Canadian politics, for he has certainly proved himself able and willing to adopt any device necessary to hoodwink, mislead or betray those who prize the capacity of the mouth rather than loyalty and goodness of heart.

THE BANK OF MONTREAL.

The yearly statements of the Bank of Montreal, presented at yesterday's annual meeting, were an epitome of Canada's business experience during the last disastrous twelve months. The depression, world-wide in its general application, but especially acute in the United States, through the operation of faulty currency laws, affected the Bank of Montreal, as it did every other important Canadian industry; but not to a degree serious in its results. The bad business of the past year is shown in a decrease in the bank's profits of $103,000; but it was still enabled to pay its usual 10 per cent. dividend; and, after making full provision for bad or doubtful debts, to add something to the balance of profit and loss account. Bearing in mind the nature of the year through which the bank has passed, the shareholders had every reason to be satisfied, as they were, with the showing.

The addresses by Sir Donald Smith and Mr. E. S. Clouston are valuable comments on the business situation of the country by men having unrivalled opportunities for taking a clear view of the whole Dominion. There was, in both their speeches, a note of confidence; they held that times are on the mend, and that the new twelve months will differ largely from the first, though, with the caution of the man of large affairs, they warn the public against becoming over-optimistic. With care, caution and industry the future is not, they think, unpromising. This is a message which will be hailed with satisfaction throughout the country.

Sometimes it is called diplomacy and sometimes it is called by a harsher name. Of course if Sir Adolphe Caron had known that Mr. Brodeur, M.P., had seen the papers in the Loiseleur case in a Montreal court room the Postmaster-General would not have informed the House that the documents were lost. In this particular case the statement could hardly be called diplomatic. And again, if John Haggart had known that Mr. Foster would have refused to back him up the Minister of Railways would not have said that the documents were confidential and the Government would not produce them even if the House had ordered them. In that particular case the utterance was not at all diplomatic because Mr. Haggart's bluff was called, and the leader of the House promised to produce the papers. It was a pretty exhibition of statesmanship.

They are having trouble over the question of child insurance at Ottawa. The health officer of that city is authority for the statement that the practice of insuring the lives of children is a temptation to the indigent poor to neglect them. This, he says, has been more than once made painfully apparent to him and he cites a case in which three children insured, in one family, had died one after the other. An alderman stated at a meeting of the Ottawa Board of Health that one insurance company holds 30,000 of these child insurances. It has been suggested that the Insurance Act should be amended so that no child should be allowed to be insured until old enough to give its consent.

The numerous street car accidents on Saturday should be investigated. It is easy to understand that the street car people may be severely taxed to handle the crowds who use their cars on a warm Saturday evening, but it is just on that account that extra precautions should be used. Montreal does not want such a state of affairs as exists on the other side of the line, where, in Brooklyn, on Decoration Day, crowds of people strewed the graves of trolley victims with flowers, and in Philadelphia on Saturday night an immense mass meeting of citizens was held at the Academy of Music to protest against a management responsible for death and disaster.

The Winnipeg Free Press respectfully submits the following remark apropos of the Manitoba Schools question: "The experience of another Governor-General will probably teach Lord Aberdeen to be careful how far he trusts himself to the good faith and loyalty of men of the present regime in any efforts he may make to smooth over a difficulty." In sporting parlance this might be called a tip.

That Cockburn charge was magnificent, but the ex-dominion will learn that it was not good politics.

NOTE AND COMMENT.
The Montreal Witness says that, next to drink, waste is the greatest cause of poverty. This is a sly joke at balloon sleeves—London Advertiser.

The Norwich (Conn.) Bulletin says that in its part of New England "the French Canadians and their descendants are among our most intelligent and thrifty subjects." "The French Canadians are among the most active and most loyal of our adopted citizens."

The Chicago Times-Herald referring to Queen's Birthday celebrations says: "Queen Victoria, thrifty, mother and grandmother that she is, would be more popular with English taxpayers if she were not continuously soliciting subscriptions to the royal fresh fish fund."

The Sherbrooke Examiner has been enlarged. In an editorial the Examiner says: "It is now nearly eighteen years since the Examiner was established. At its inception, its political principles were those of a small minority only, so far as its home was concerned. A brief existence was predicted and expected. It has survived, however, and its publishers have every reason to hope for its continued life and success. A word with regard to the position and attitude of the paper is permissible, perhaps, on the present occasion. The Examiner has defended, and defends, Liberal principles, but not as a partisan. Its opinions are founded on conviction and not upon the dictation of any political leader or organization. This position of independence it intends to maintain."

The Guelph Mercury submits the following simple calculation for the consideration of the Ontario farmers: "In his speech on the Budget Hon. Mr. Montague asserted that the Canadian duty on wheat added $210,000 to the value of the wheat 'on hand in Ontario' by the farmers. There are about 325,000 engaged in agriculture in this Province, according to the 1891 census, and this would give each the handsome sum of 64 cents as set off to the exactions of the farmers. The Government evidently hopes the farmers will be deeply sensible to the value of the wheat duty to them, even if the Canadian consumers have to pay the increased price of wheat in flour and bread."

BEFORE THE HEALTH COMMITTEE.

The Guard-pier and the Sewer Discharge into the River.
A letter from the city attorney was read at the Health Committee yesterday, stating that judgment had been rendered against the city on May 29 at the instance of the Provincial Board of Health, condemning it by the City Hall immediately into a sanitary condition, and that the sentence had been suspended until June 5, when, if no action shall have been taken in the matter, the city will be fined $25 a day from March 1st.

It was decided to send the letter to last evening's Council meeting. Several amendments were suggested to the by-law regulating the keeping of livestock in the city, and it was resolved to present them to Council. The complaint of the Provincial Board of Health about the creation of a stagnant space in the river by the harbor improvement works, at a point where a main sewer discharged its contents, was brought up again by another letter from the board. City Surveyor St. George has already reported that in his opinion there was no danger of stagnation at all at the point indicated.

Ald. Lyall said that there was plenty of current at the place mentioned. Dr. Loberge stated that he had also received a letter on the subject from the Medico-Chirurgical Society, which, however, he had mislaid.

The matter was referred anew to the city surveyor.

A letter was read from Dr. McEachern, Dominion Cattle Inspector, suggesting that a by-law authorizing the confiscation of animals afflicted with lumpy jaw, whether dead or alive, if no law at present existed. The letter was referred to Dr. Loberge, who said that he was looking up the law at present.

THOSE CIVIC CONTRACTS.

Ald. Lyall, who returned to the city yesterday after having been absent since Tuesday, was asked by a Herald reporter whether he had replied to the joint letter of the city attorneys to the remarks he made in the Council at its last meeting in reference to the looseness of the manner in which the city's contracts are drawn up.

"I have read their letter," he said, "and also their remarks in the Herald. No; I do not intend to reply to them. I do not consider myself bound to explain to the city attorneys what remarks I make in the Council. I say again that in my opinion the three lawyers in the employ of the city—the city attorneys and the city clerk—should be made to do their duty, and all our contracts contain clauses safeguarding the city's interest. All they have to do is to write to the Mayor or the Council and draw attention to the absence of such clauses, and the contract should be voided. The contract should have contained a clause forbidding selling out to or amalgamating with any other company."

BREVITIES.

The coroner went out to Rigaud last evening to hold an inquest on the body of a man which was found floating in the river Sunday morning.

A man named John Collins, residing on Ottawa Street, while proceeding to his home yesterday fell on the sidewalk and seriously cut his thigh with a broken bottle. He was removed to the Notre Dame Hospital.

Paymaster Hamel has received from ex-Superintendent Davis an application for his salary up to Saturday. The letter was handed by Mr. Hamel to the city treasurer, who has not yet taken any action upon it.

A 10 year old girl, named Caroline Dufresne, living with her parents at 127 Mount Royal Avenue, died suddenly early yesterday. The coroner investigated and found that death was due to natural causes and decided not to hold any inquest.

A French Rutherford, who was arrested by Constable Larocque of No. 5 Station Monday night, for having stolen a valise and other property of Dr. M. H. Brossette, was brought up in the Police Court yesterday and pleaded not guilty.

The Water Committee will meet today, when a letter will be read from Assistant Superintendent Lafort asking the committee to vest him with full authority over the whole department pending the appointment of a successor to Mr. Davis.

Mr. Ulric Lafontaine, chief clerk of the Police Court, has been made a Justice of the Peace for the District of Montreal. The appointment has been received with great satisfaction in Police Court circles, as it will tend greatly to facilitate business, especially in cases of issuing and signing warrants.

A cheque for $500 was received yesterday by Ald. Stevens, chairman of the Fire Committee, from W. C. McDonald for the Firemen's Benevolent Fund in recognition of the valuable services of the brigade on the occasion of the recent fire at his factory. This is the largest cheque ever received for this purpose, the highest cheque hitherto having been $200.

Coroner McMahon held an inquest yesterday at the morgue on the body of the man, John Bouden, who on Saturday was found dead in his house on Papineau Road. The jury, after hearing the result of Dr. Villeneuve's autopsy, found that death was due to inflammation of the lungs, accelerated by excessive drinking. The deceased had marks of violence on his person, but they in no wise contributed to his death.

James Sheridan, alias Timmons, the young man arrested on the charge of nicking pockets on St. Lawrence Main Street, was committed to the Court of Queen's Bench yesterday by Judge Dugas.

Much excitement was caused at 2:30 yesterday by the call of the ambulance to Thompson's shoe factory. A girl named Beaumont fell in a fainting fit, and though she hurt herself badly, she refused to go to the hospital.

Hot Day in New York.

New York, June 2.—It was the warmest June 2 to-day since the weather bureau was started in this city. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon the thermometer stood up to 84 degrees, but from that hour it got gradually cooler. The nearest approach to to-day's heat on a corresponding day was in 1881, when it was 83 degrees. On June 2, 1877, it was also 83 degrees.

Ryan Remanded for Sentence.

Brookville, June 3.—Peter Ryan, arrested in Montreal a few days ago by Detective Carpenter on a charge of stabbing a man named Muller in a drunken row near Brookville some time ago, was brought up here yesterday and appeared before the magistrate to-day on the charge. He pleaded guilty and was remanded for sentence.

MR. LANGEVIN'S SERMON.

He Returns to the Manitoba Schools Question—Looking to Quebec. (Special to the Herald.)

Quebec, June 3.—Mr. Langevin, Bishop of St. Boniface, preached the sermon at the Basilica yesterday morning and at the St. Saviour Church in the evening. He especially dealt with the Manitoba Schools question. He reiterated his former declarations proclaiming that the question was one that should be entirely separate from political considerations, and that all the Roman Catholics of the country without any exception of nationality should make it a duty to support the claims of their persecuted brethren of Manitoba, who particularly depended on the support of the Province of Quebec. His Grace also very emphatically declared as to the attitude of the minority of his province that no compromise should be accepted. They were before the laws passed by the Greenway Government and nothing less. In the case of the Federal Government failing to settle the matter His Grace reiterated that the question would be given up until justice is done, and hinted at an appeal to Her Majesty.

St. Ildore, Que., June 3.—Mr. Langevin last night visited his aged father and mother, previous to returning to home in Winnipeg next Wednesday. Mrs. Etienne St. Pierre, his godmother, aged 93 years, walked a mile to see him and kiss his hand. His Grace's good hearing and eyesight, and her hair is still raven black.

THE AFGHAN PRINCE

Does Not Approve of the Evening Dress of London Ladies.

New York, June 2.—Ballard Smith cables from London to the World: All sorts of stories are current about the Afghan Prince, now the guest of the Queen. One newspaper gravely makes this correction: "A published story about the behaviour of the Shahadah at Lady Tweedmouth's party is incorrect. The young Prince did express himself as being much shocked by the low dress of the ladies, but it is not true that he refused to go into the drawing-room and remained in the hall. He certainly appeared in the saloon, but he refused to take Lady Lansdowne into supper on his arm, apparently thinking it ungentlemanly to touch her, and marched a few paces in front of her ladyship to her great discomfort."

The Prince, in fact, is turning out rather a white elephant on the hands of his entertainers. Hitherto Eastern princes have delighted and delighted guests through the rounds of entertainments and visits arranged for them, but Nazrullah frequently alters the plans of his hosts and repudiates the social duties prescribed for him with entire disregard of appearances. His suite, a picked body of Afghan hillmen, have imitated their master's methods. They could not even be persuaded to accompany him on his visit to the Queen, though she was most curious to see them. Indeed, it was only under the strongest pressure that Nazrullah himself was induced to return the visit of the Prince and Princess of Wales. During his audience with Queen Victoria he listened with stony impassiveness to the official compliments.

The British in China.

Lt-General Barker, late commander in Chief of the British forces in China, is at the Windsor Hotel, en route for England. The General is accompanied by his wife and daughter, and among other curios which he is taking home is a direct importation in the shape of a female Chinese servant, whose quaintness of garb and dainty frills were a source of amusement to the railway and hotel porters.

Lt-General Barker was seen yesterday, and stated that he was steeped in profound ignorance as regards the affairs of the Japanese war. He knew of terms of peace, but nothing whatever regarding their ratification. He said he was going out to hear what was the news of the day, as they were five weeks behind time in China. He returns to England, as his five years' term of command has elapsed. He has no idea where he might be ordered next.

The General is of medium stature, and commanding appearance. His military and administrative powers being undoubted, judging from the magnitude of the position he has held for the last five years.

EDWARDS. INSANE.

THE OUTREMENT MURDERER NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR HIS ACTS.

CONCLUSIVE EVIDENCE BY GOVERNOR VALLEE AND DOCTORS.

The Jury Decide That He Is Not a Fit Person to Be Tried for Murder.

The Outremont murderer, David Edwards, Jr., who killed his sister on March 4 last by striking her on the head with a hammer, was the first prisoner brought before the Court of Queen's Bench yesterday. Chief Justice Sir Alexander Lacoste occupied the bench.

Crown Prosecutor Quinn thought that before the trial was commenced on the charge of murder witnesses should be examined as to the prisoner's sanity. The prisoner, who has been in jail since the 5th of March last, was brought into the dock. He had grown a full beard since his imprisonment and his hair is very long. He stared at the judge intently upon being put in the dock and it was only for a few moments during the whole proceedings that he took his eyes off the bench. His color came and went, but it had apparently no emotional connection with the proceedings of the court.

"You will have to decide," said His Honor to the jury, "whether the prisoner at the bar is in a condition to defend himself on the charge of murder or not; that is whether he is mentally responsible for his actions. If so he will be tried, if not he will be committed to jail, to await the decision of the Lieutenant-Governor."

Governor Vallee of the jail was examined. He said: "Since March 5th, 1895, he has been under my charge. I have observed him nearly every day. He has remained in a state of melancholia nearly the whole time. He stayed continually in his cell, although the door was always open onto the corridor. He never spoke, keeping his hands over his face most of the time and he ate very little. He appeared to be very excitable."

In answer to a question by Mr. R. S. Weir, the counsel for the defence, the governor stated that one day Edwards threw himself on one of the guards and assaulted him. On the arraignment of the prisoners on Saturday Edwards assisted on wearing a fur cap, as he said it was very cold. "I am quite sure that the man is insane," said the witness.

At this Edwards, who was staring at the governor for a moment, nodded his head slightly.

Dr. Villeneuve gave evidence as to the prisoner's insanity, as did Dr. Cameron McCallum, Dr. McCallum, who is the Edwards family physician, said that he had examined other members of the family for insanity.

The case was submitted to the jury by the judge, and they decided without leaving their seats that Edwards was unfit for trial on the charge against him. He was accordingly remanded to jail for commitment to an insane asylum.

The trial of Edward McDuffell for shop-breaking was commenced. The jury after luncheon found McDuffell guilty of receiving stolen goods.

Victor Anderson, charged with forging two cheques on the Bank of Montreal, was next put in the dock and his trial began.

The Grand Jury yesterday afternoon, after a minute but short deliberation, returned a "no bill" against Harry Phillips, charged with obtaining one Oscar Fortin, a saloon keeper, of Lachine, in a saloon on St. Lawrence Main Street three months ago.

The accused, in his defence, produced several city detectives, as well as prominent citizens, who swore that he was set upon by over a dozen men, and further, it was proved by Detective Silas Phillips, who was the prosecutor, that the trial was a forgery.

W. E. Daniels, the young man charged by Lieutenant-Col. Cole with the murder of the Montreal Garrison Artillery with obtaining money under an alleged false pretence of bringing out a history of the battalion, was also up before the grand jury. They did not take long to decide, as, after hearing one witness and seeing the contract entered into, they unanimously threw the complaint out.

Writs will be issued this morning by Daniels, lawyers for a $4,000 libel action against the complainants.

TRUE BILLS.

The Grand Jury found true bills yesterday afternoon against William Smith, Street Railway conductor, charged with an unlawful attempt to commit murder in Coleman's saloon, corner of Craig and St. Urbain Streets, by firing a revolver. A true bill was found against James Bennett for inflicting serious bodily harm on Constable Goudard.

The afternoon was taken up by the Victor Anderson trial, charged with forging and uttering a cheque on the Bank of Montreal to the amount of $393.75. All the evidence was in by four o'clock, after which Mr. P. J. Curran made his able defence for the accused. He was followed by Crown Prosecutor Quinn. Chief Justice Lacoste in a 15 minutes charge to the jury went strongly against the prisoner.

The jury were out just 20 minutes and returned with a verdict of guilty of uttering the cheque knowing it to have been a forgery.

An application for a rule against the city to have it compelled to pay a fine of $2,000 for neglecting to proceed with the St. Lambert Hill extension was made in the Practice Court yesterday. The city asked for delay till Thursday, because this matter is on the order sheet of the Council, and it will be considered at the next meeting. Delay was granted.

INCENDIARY FIRE.

There was a fire at No. 4 Desrivieres Street at 12.30 a.m. on Sunday. The house is occupied by Israel Brown, and Miss Brown and the Herald office yesterday to state that the fire was incendiary and the guilty parties are known. This makes the fifth fire at this house since the winter.

DOWN ON SUNDAY CONCERTS.

The Ministerial Association and Sousa's Band.

At the meeting of the Protestant Ministerial Association held yesterday the main question was that of the condition of Chinatown, LaGauchette Street. It was stated that several varieties of gambling and opium smoking were carried on. The Chinese in transit are accommodated in three hotels, from No. 625 to 631 LaGauchette Street. The matter was recently presented before the C.P.R. officials and they offered to aid in the prevention of the evils. The Chinese are under the charge of the C.P.R. while they remain in the city, waiting for the action of the custom authorities. They are all from Canton Province, China, being unsophisticated sons of farmers and sheep-keepers.

Among those who spoke on the question were Drs. MacVicar, Smythe and Heine. The feeling of the association was strongly against the pastimes of the Chinese in these hotels. A resolution was passed to the effect that the thanks of the association be tendered to the C.P.R. for their proffered help in the suppression of the evils of gambling and opium smoking among the Chinese, and that the C.P.R. be requested to send Chinese in transit to Chinese hotels which are free from these evils.

Another matter which was discussed at the meeting and caused considerable comment was the desecration of the Sabbath by holding concerts, and also the Sunday parades and this connection it was stated that the services in Knox Church Sunday had almost to be suspended, owing to the noise made by the passing of the band of the 65th Mount Royal Rifles.

The following resolution was passed: Moved by Rev. G. Colborne Heine, seconded by Rev. J. A. McManus: "That this association notified in the public press of this morning with pain that there were two concerts given on Sabbath last by Sousa's Band, under the auspices of Lieut.-Col. Houghton and the commanding officers in the Drill Hall, a Government building, and that they do hereby protest against such flagrant Sabbath desecration." Those present at the meeting were: Drs. MacVicar, Smythe, Revs. Nichols, Patterson, McManus, McGillivray, Everett, Bennett, Drs. Warden and Oxley.

CAUGHNAWAGA PERTURBED.

It Has Many Grievances Against the Dominion Government.

There is trouble brewing in Caughnawaga over the matter of a new cemetery. Some two years ago Health Inspector Beaudry examined the old cemetery and reported that it was full. The Indian Department caused another to be laid out about a mile from the village, and the people are not satisfied with it.

On Friday and Saturday last Mr. D. C. Scott, chief clerk and accountant of Indian Affairs, visited the village as representative of Mr. Hayter Reed to examine into affairs generally and listen to complaints. At a meeting of the council and electors Mr. Scott was informed on the ground that the people wished to use the old cemetery. The principal reasons were that it was near the church and bodies could be carried to it; interments in the new cemetery were much more expensive; there was no road to the new cemetery. The application for a new cemetery had been passed by the Council of 1893, and the present Council wished it rescinded on the ground that two members of the old Council denied having signed the application.

Mr. Scott stated that he would lay their representations before the department, and on a standing vote being called there were five for the new cemetery and about 100 against it.

A complaint was made against Agent Arthur Coley, that the agent receives annually $100 for the purchase of seeds for the poorer Indians, and it was stated that in 1893-94 he had distributed no seed potatoes. The Indians claimed that Mr. Broisseau is a large handler of potatoes which is their chief crop, and that he profited through the non-distribution of seed. The councillors complained that there was too much power in the agent's hand. Mr. Scott said they had no cause for complaint, as the $900 salary and $90 office rent of the agent was paid by the Dominion Government and not from the tribal funds.

Then the chief councillors, Louis Beauvais, Michel Daillebout, Peter Day, Michel Lacouture, threatened to resign. They said they had no authority and there was no use in them holding members of the department who were not to resign and stated that the department would try to arrange matters so as to give the councillors more power, and on that understanding the meeting broke up.

The Indians state that there will be "big trouble" in Caughnawaga if the cemetery deal goes on. Three-fourths of the people are against it and some of them, Roman Catholics, say they will recant and become Protestants if the matter is carried out.

Another grievance of the villagers is that their petition to Hon. T. Mayne Daly against the Indian Advancement Act providing for the election of councillors and their request for government by chiefs as heretofore, which was made in November, 1894, has received no attention from the department.

A LONG HUNT.

Last summer a Jew pedler named Maskewitch was brutally assaulted by two brothers named the "Ladies" Aid Society of Temple Emanuel-EI with a handsome basket of flowers on her departure for Europe. The presentation was made by the president of the society, with a few well chosen remarks to Mrs. B. Kortok for a safe and pleasant voyage.

ENGLISH CROP REPORT.

The Outlook in Many Respects is Gloomy—Grain is Backward.

London, June 3.—The Times this morning prints a gloomy review of the English crop prospects. It says that much of the spring grain is no further advanced than generally in the middle of April. The fruit crop, it appears, has also suffered from the drought in Kent. The situation in France is favorable. The outlook for the hay crop is satisfactory. In view there is generally a light crop and the average yield of wheat is expected.

CATHOLIC FORESTERS.

Officers Elected for the Province of Ontario—Some Keen Contests.

Ottawa, June 3.—This morning High Secretary Thiele, who came expressly from Chicago to establish the Ontario Provincial Court of Catholic Order of Foresters, leaves for Montreal bent on a similar mission. The high secretary spent two very busy days here.

The contestants for the provincial chief rankership were Messrs. Lee, of Toronto; H. J. Cloran, of Hawkesbury, and Chisholm, of Cornwall. It was a close contest between the two former delegates, Mr. Lee winning by a bare majority. The successful chief ranger is a member of the firm of Willoughby, Cameron and Lee, barristers, of Toronto.

Mr. C. S. O. Boudreau was chosen for the position of provincial vice-chief ranger on the first ballot. There were three aspirants for provincial secretary. The candidates were A. Morel, L. L'Amour, J. O'Brien. The first named was elected. G. W. Seguin was elected treasurer. The trustees are: W. E. Mullins, London; Byrnes, Peterborough; Chisholm, Cornwall; Baby, Cornwall; McCullough, Ottawa.

BEAVER REBELIANS.

Beaver Lodge No. 6, D. of R., held their regular fortnightly meeting on Monday last, which was largely attended. This lodge is doing a good work and takes a very active interest in the work of Oddfellows. They will hold an "ice cream social" on June 10, in aid of the lodge's social fund.

ITS FAME SPREADING.

A New Remedy in General Use in Manitoba and the Northwest.

Winnipeg, May 27.—The effects of the regular wave of sickness which sweeps over this portion of the Dominion in the spring are attested in many Manitoba households, its fame having penetrated into the remotest parts of the province and North-west Territories.
