Utilize talent Vanier urges

Governor General Georges Vanier told the Bishop's College School students Monday to make full use of their talents to fulfill better their individual spiritual destiny and that of Canada as a nation.

Macleod relieved of post

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan relieved Iain Macleod of the colonial secretary's portfolio Monday and named him leader in the Commons and chairman of the Conservative party.

The switch — announced two days before the annual Conservative party conference at Brighton — was one of the highlights of the first major cabinet shakeup since the 1959 general election.

Macleod, also to be chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, was given two of the three jobs formerly held by Home Secretary R. A. Butler.

Butler, who vied with Macmillan for the prime minister's resignation after Sir Anthony Eden's resignation in 1957, relinquished the two posts at the prime minister's request.

HEADS MARKET TEAM

The government announced today the change was made to enable the home secretary to "give special assistance to the prime ministers over a wide field of public duties and, in particular, to lead the ministerial group charged with the oversight of the Common Market negotiations."

The other major change: Reginald Maudling, a tough negotiator, gives up his position as president of the Board of Trade to become colonial secretary.

His Excellency awarded the Governor-General's medal to Thomas G. Masterson III, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Masterson, Lennoxville, who also won the sixth form general proficiency, science and the outstanding librarian prizes.

In his speech Governor-General Vanier acknowledged the warm welcome extended to his wife, and to him and said:

"We are delighted to celebrate with you the 125th anniversary of Bishop's College School today. In the office that I hold, one has to be something of a specialist in centenaries, plus or minus and all other forms of anniversary."

(By plus or minus the Governor-General referred to the fact that the 100th anniversary of the school, as pointed out by the Head master was celebrated by mistake a year later in 1937 instead of 1936.)

"I admit however," the Governor-General continued, "that my appetite for them is ever increasing and I think I will find it quite difficult to be satisfied with family occasions alone when I come to retire."

"I congratulate the prize winners and urge them not to rest on their laurels," said the Governor. "There are greater prizes to be won and higher goals to reach."

"To those in the honourable position of high achievement and to all of you who have competed, I say do not be discouraged, for the race is not always swift. If you try always your hardest, if you work and play at full stretch putting heart and soul in to all you do, then you need have no fear of failure for you will be set on."

Britain seeks to reconcile interests

Asks Commonwealth guarantees before entry in Common Market

CP from AP-Reuters PARIS—Britain told the six Common Market countries today she fully shares their aims and objectives but would like to have guarantees for the Commonwealth countries before joining the customs union.

Edward Heath, Lord Privy Seal, outlined the British position to ministers from the Common Market states in a two-hour address at the French foreign ministry.

The meeting was convened to discuss procedural questions prior to formal negotiations in Brussels in November on Britain's application to join the Common Market.

An outline of Heath's remarks released by the British delegation said that "the United Kingdom shares the objectives of the Community (Common Market) and wishes to join in the bold and imaginative venture of the six and so to help in promoting through the European Economic Community the widest possible measure of European unity."

"The United Kingdom application has been made in a positive spirit."

Heath, who arrived here by air from London Monday, said he was "very hopeful" that the problems involved could be solved.

Heath was seeking to reconcile the interests of the Commonwealth, the British farmers and Britain's six partners in the rival European Free Trade Association with the Common Market.

The discussions were launched in a more favorable atmosphere than was originally expected. France has dropped its demand that the British put their conditions for membership in writing before starting negotiations with the Six — France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

Heath was expected to assure the European ministers that Britain will go along with the spirit of the 1957 treaty of Rome which set up the Common Market.

Claims US plans to invade Cuba

Reds cite New York racial trouble

Bids again for UN move

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The Soviet Union has again cited racial discrimination in New York as a reason for shifting United Nations headquarters

Geneva. Ambassador A. A. Roshchin, addressing the 16th General Assembly's 100-member budgetary committee yesterday, declared:

"The racial discrimination practised in the U.S.A. creates intolerable conditions for the work of the United Nations."

Roshchin also emphasized the high cost of living in New York. He stressed the geographical advantages of Vienna and Geneva—but also seemed to favor West Berlin, saying many delegates and press reports that mentioned it as a suitable city for the UN.

The Soviet ambassador mentioned the UN location during a long speech in which he attacked anew the makeup of the UN secretariat and mounting costs.

REBUTS CANADIAN VIEW He disputed the Canadian view that "collective responsibility" of all UN members is a cardinal principle of peace-keeping operations.

Canadian alternate delegate J. H. Price of Montreal, addressing the committee before Roshchin, said the principle of collective responsibility is clearly spelled out in the UN Charter.

From France, W. Germany Washington-Moscow talk approval seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — France and West Germany are expected to give reluctant approval to further Washington-Moscow talks aimed at a Berlin settlement. The exchanges would be at the ambassadorial level.

However, the French and West Germans would prefer to hold off on further East-West exploratory contacts until the Western powers agree to a united approach to the Berlin problem.

This was made clear by diplomatic sources after the western ambassadorial steering group met for 3½ hours Monday night with Foy D. Kohler, U.S. assistant state secretary.

The British, French and West German envoys and their aides have been meeting almost daily with Kohler.

Diplomatic sources, in disclosing the French and West German views, said the gap in thinking in Washington, London, Paris and Bonn was not bridged when the Western foreign ministers met here in Washington.

The Soviet foreign minister said that although a peaceful settlement is possible "not everything is dependent on the Soviet Union."

"All powers, first of all the governments of the great powers and those of Europe, should do everything to avert the danger of military collision," he told reporters at the airport.

Gromyko said he felt President Kennedy "realizes that Germany — we call it the question of the German peace treaty — is the most important and acute at present."

"Our conversations were not conclusive. It is difficult indeed to find anybody who could say: 'Well, I know how the situation will develop.'"

Gromyko said that sometimes he felt Russia's proposal to transform West Berlin into a "free city" is not properly understood in the west.

"... But everybody must understand it correctly," he said.

refusal of the nine-nation Soviet bloc and some other countries to pay their assessments, Price declared:

"For the privileges we derive from this organization we must also assume the obligations of membership. My delegation will be motivated by this overriding consideration in all its work here: The collective character of our organization requires that we undertake to abide by the decisions of the appropriate majority stipulated in the charter for approving financial measures."

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro's regime accused the United States Monday night of training invasion forces at 20 U.S. bases and nine Caribbean points for another assault on Cuban shores. It said the forces included paratroops and were stronger than those cut down in the abortive landings last April.

Acting Foreign Minister Carlos Olivares called in the diplomatic corps to press the charges in a 1,600-word note. He said the invasion training network stretches from Guantanamo Bay to the Panama canal Zone. He contended that 500 paratroops are among the forces being trained in Panama.

Olivares asserted that a number of Central American governments are involved and that the United States also is setting the stage for invasion by trying to disrupt relations between Cuba and the other governments through the use of forged documents.

Cuban note apparently was a preview of the policy speech Cuban Foreign Minister Raul

Oil blast kills four BRIDGEPORT, Ill. (AP) — A huge oil tank exploded Monday night and four men, including the mayor of Bridgeport, died in flaming oil as they fought to get over a high dirt dike surrounding the tank. Three men were badly injured.

Firemen from Bridgeport and several nearby communities brought the flames under control before they spread to some 30 other large tanks in the Ohio Oil Company pumping station.

Dead were James W. Neely, 55, mayor of this southeastern Illinois community of 2,300; Lee Askren, 52, and Merle Magee, 56, of Bridgeport and Walter Burton, 52, of Mills Shoals.

Authorities said the 35,000-barrel tank had sprung a leak and oil had flowed into a low area around the 50-foot high cylindrical tanks. The area around the tank was walled off by a 10-foot high dirt dike which contained the leaking oil.

Neely, a gauger for the company, was a member of the repair crew called out to repair the leak.

New institution holds convocation

University to give 19 degrees

By JOE DUPUIS ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Memorial University of Newfoundland holds its first convocation on its new $20,000,000 campus today.

Nineteen honorary degrees will be conferred, including one in absentia on Prime Minister Diefenbaker who was here Monday but flew back to Ottawa later in the day after attending the official opening of the campus by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

Mrs. Roosevelt, widow of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who fished the salmon-rich rivers of Newfoundland in his youth, presented the keys to the campus to publisher Roy H. Thomson, Memorial's first chancellor.

The celebrations marking the opening, which started Saturday with Mr. Thomson's installation as chancellor, are among the biggest ever held here. An 800-guest state dinner, largest in the capital's history, capped Monday's ceremonies.

REPRESENTS KENNEDY The 76-year-old Mrs. Roosevelt drew tremendous applause from a packed audience Monday when she gave a brief address in handing the keys to Memorial University of Newfoundland.

During the last 12 years the number of students in Newfoundland schools had risen from 70,000 to 130,000 and education spending had risen from $3,000,000 a year to $20,000,000.

Mr. Smallwood announced a $50,000 gift to the university for a new students residence from New York industrial promoter John C. Doyle, who spearheaded vast mineral development in Labrador.

A parade of 15,000 uniformed children and 13 bands attracted thousands.

Canadian manufacturing wages dip $1.03 weekly in June, July

OTTAWA (CP) — Average goods manufacturing dropped to $73.99, as against $75.02 a month earlier. Hourly earnings averaged $1.82, down from $1.83 between June and July, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said today.

The average wage for July was $73.99, as against $75.02 a month earlier. Hourly earnings averaged $1.82, down from $1.83 between June and July, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said today.

In non-durable manufacturing, average weekly wages fell to $67.78 from $68.58. In this case, DBS said, wage-rate increases in pulp and paper were offset by more lower-paid workers in canning and preserving.

Building strike hits Montreal MONTREAL (CP) — Picket lines around a number of major building projects in downtown Montreal early today signalled the start of a proposed general strike which could involve some 30,000 workers and bring construction work in the city to an almost complete halt.

At a last-minute meeting Monday night, more than 500 representatives of 16 CLC-affiliated unions voted unanimously to strike in support of a six-week-old walkout by the Sheet Metal Workers' International Association.

Shortly after 6 a.m. today, some 100 placard-bearing picketers left the metal workers' headquarters and spread out to strategic building projects where they expected to be joined by other workers.

Take it from Kathy

Q—I'm having a party for a group of my friends (boys and girls, aged 14). My mother insists that my 12-year-old sister should be allowed to come and to invite a few of her pals. They are so childish. I do not think they should attend. Is my mother right? How can I plan things?
A—Families should have fun!

KATHY Look back and you'll realize that girls approaching 13 love the idea of a party. You will probably be amazed at how grownup they will try to be. You seem to think they are childish, but girls at this stage can miraculously change from tomboy to young lady when the occasion demands it. (Please don't tease her about it.)

As to whether or not her friends should be invited, stop and think about it. Your sister won't have much in common with your friends. Two years is a wide gap here and she would probably feel self-conscious with the 14-year-olds. If her friends attend, they will stick together and make their own fun.
Plan your party as you think your friends would like it. Your sister and friends will adapt and enjoy it too. If a game you plan isn't appropriate for them, your mother could invite them to another room with the suggestion of a contest with prizes. Have fun!

Large barn, contents gutted at Kingscroft

KINGSCROFT — (Special) — Fire breaking out about 2:30 p.m. Sunday destroyed the barn on the property of J. Madore, situated opposite the Roman Catholic Church in the centre of this Stanstead County village a few miles from Coaticook.

The fire is believed to have resulted from spontaneous combustion. It was first noticed by a pedestrian who sought to summon aid but before help could reach the scene there was a loud explosion and the entire buildings was a mass of flames.

Members of the Way's Mills volunteer fire department were called but by the time they could arrive the building was levelled. In addition to the barn, Mr. Madore lost all his farm equipment, the season's crops and a number of hogs.

The house nearby was saved, as was the presbytery situated nearby.

Mr. and Mrs. Madore were away from home at the time attending a wedding anniversary, the children being alone in the house.

Mr. Madore has been unable to provide an estimate of the loss, which was partially covered by insurance.

 NANTUCKET, Mass. (AP) — Aloysius A. Blaeser, 78, of Allentown, Pa., a retired bridge builder, and Anna M. Seifert, 75, of Mount Vernon, N.Y., were married Monday after a wait of 60 years.

There was a romance that began in 1901 when 18-year-old Blaeser took Anna canoeing on the Monongahala River. But Anna's father frowned on the marriage so she lived with the latter's death two years ago.

Through the 58 years, Anna and Blaeser never saw each other again but they corresponded faithfully, exchanging presents each year at birthdays and Christmas. Neither married. Two years ago Blaeser proposed and was accepted.

Near Eustis Hold-up car found

A 1961 model red Pontiac reportedly stolen in Montreal on October 2 and identified as that used in the armed robbery of $5,000 payroll money from the Tricotex plant in Sherbrooke on Friday, was discovered by two hunters near the Eustis Mine early Monday morning.

Although the license plates had been removed from the car, it was identified by Jack Reid, the payroll messenger, as that used by the three hooded bandits who held him up at the entrance to the Tricotex plant Friday morning and escaped with the payroll after pistol-whipping him.

Provincial police from the Sherbrooke detachment, who are investigating the hold-up, hinted the fact the car was stolen in Montreal indicates that the hold-up was the work of thieves from the metropolis, or at least of a gang who had connections in Montreal.

The Tricotex hold-up was the second armed robbery in Sherbrooke this summer, the previous being the theft of $50,000 from the accountant of the Sherbrooke Raceway.

Fire-fighting display Demonstration opens fire-prevention week

SHERBROOKE — Fire Prevention Week in Sherbrooke was launched officially Saturday afternoon when members of the Sherbrooke Fire Department staged a demonstration of fire-fighting techniques on the grounds of the municipal stores building on Galt Terrace.

The first part of the display comprised a demonstration on the various types of nozzles and water transmission equipment used in battling various types of fire. These included the fog nozzle, which vaporizes the water to fight fires inside buildings, the traditional high pressure nozzle and the heavy flow devices used for dousing pulpwood and other blazes where great quantities of water are required.

Following this there was an exhibition on the use of dry extinguishers which was of particular interest to industrial safety supervisors in garages and other plants where large quantities of oil and similar products are stored.

In one instance, a fire caused by 50 gallons of oil was extinguished in less than five seconds. Corresponding speed was also evident in the quelling of propane gas fires.

The afternoon-long demonstration wound up with a proficiency display by the members of the Sherbrooke Fire Department.

FIRE-FIGHTING DEMONSTRATION — Sherbrooke firemen are seen massing a wall of water from a variety of nozzles during the course of a fire-fighting demonstration staged at the municipal store grounds Saturday afternoon. The demonstration, attended by a number of out-of-town fire chiefs, marked the opening of Fire Prevention Week.

Objective $29,800 Community Chest campaign opens

Aid to 6,000 families

Welfare agency performs many important duties

The annual Sherbrooke Community Chest financial campaign gets underway Wednesday with an objective of $29,800 to meet the needs of six district organizations. The campaign will continue until October 29.

The participating agencies this year are the Sherbrooke and Lennoxville Libraries, the Boy Scouts, the YMCA, the YWCA and the Sherbrooke Welfare Agency, the latter being a newcomer to the groups benefitting from the Community Chest campaign.

In launching the drive, George Morgan, president of the Community Chest, declared that the welfare needs of the community are increasing with the growth of population and with the incorporation of new agencies within the Chest.

The $29,800 objective, he said, represented the minimum needs of the participating agencies and unless the objective is met, many of the organizations will be compelled to curtail their activities. These cover a wide range of welfare and public services in the community.

"By combining the six organizations into one campaign, the Community Chests cuts down on the number of charitable contributions the individual is asked to make," Mr. Morgan declared.

"For this reason," he added, "members of the community are asked to give generously to this year's Community Chest campaign for funds."

Co-chairmen of the campaign are Howard Baugh and Ernest Grigsby.

Campaign headquarters have been established in the Mackinnon Memorial building, Montreal street. Headquarters telephone number is LOrraine 9-6356.

A community investment

A Sherbrooke Boy Scout last week was given an award for gallantry. He had saved a small child from drowning.

In the local Social Welfare court here, a teenage boy was brought before the judge. He had broken the law. A Sherbrooke Welfare Agency worker was there with him to discuss the boy's problems and help to find solutions.

At the Sherbrooke and Lennoxville libraries, residents are taking out and bringing back books, day in, day out, all year round.

Over at the YMCA, boys and men of all ages swim, take part in sports and exercise programs.

At the YWCA, girls and women of all ages are engaged in similar activities. At the YW residence on Moore Street, girls are finding a comfortable, congenial home.

All of these things have been going on for some time, and are an accepted, vital part of community life in this area. They represent the building of good character, as symbolized by the Scout's award for gallantry. Taken together, they represent one of the greatest forces for healthy, intelligent community development that we have.

That is why the Sherbrooke District Community Chest campaign, which opens tomorrow deserves the fullest possible support.

Its objective this year is $29,800 — money that is needed to ensure that the YM and YWCA, the Sherbrooke Welfare Agency, Scouting in Lennoxville and Sherbrooke and the public libraries in both communities may continue their fine service in this area.

The value of their service cannot be measured in dollars and cents. Each of the agencies does things which money cannot buy, and the objective, for this reason, cannot be looked upon as a price to be paid for benefits enjoyed.

The $29,800 that the Community Chest seeks is an investment on the part of the community; a very small investment, all things considered, that will pay incalculable dividends in moral, intellectual and physical well-being.

Canadian 'Peace Corps'

Canada is going to have its own "Peace Corps," but it will not be called that, and it will operate in a manner significantly different from the well-publicized American version.

The Canadian University Service Overseas, a new agency which came into existence in June, 1961, under the auspices of the Canadian universities and a number of national organizations, announced last week plans for the development of a program to send young Canadian graduates to serve in Asia and Africa in junior positions in countries which request such personnel.

The Canadian National Commission for UNESCO has agreed to act as executive agency for CUSO.

Unlike the American plan, those selected for the new project will not be digging ditches or helping to put up buildings, or baking bricks. They will be put in positions where their qualifications will be of value.

In most countries of Southeast Asia, teachers, engineers and doctors are in short supply. Graduates with these qualifications will be helping to remedy this situation.

The plan, in short, envisages putting qualified Canadian students in positions that badly need to be filled, and the individual countries will decide what those positions are.

The CUSO plans to try and place 100 Canadian graduates overseas on this basis during the next year, and in the years to come, hopes to expand this number.

The approach in this project seems, on the whole, a more intelligent one than the American "Peace Corps" approach.

The Canadian scheme depends upon the initiative of underdeveloped countries in requesting personnel, and upon their specifying what kind of personnel are most needed.

Help will therefore be given only where it is most immediately required, and the impression of charity, patronage or pity will be avoided.

Who needs walking sticks?

It doesn't seem possible in this sit-down age of ours, but authoritative reports from England say that the walking stick, which has been out of fashion of years, is making a strong comeback.

The report says that more and more people in Britain try to get out of the crowded cities and into the countryside and apparently, are doing a lot of walking — with of course, walking sticks — once they escape the maddening crowd.

The report also says that in many lands all over the world, there is a steady demand for walking sticks and canes, both plain and fancy.

We aren't aware of any survey on this continent recently which shows whether or not walking sticks are coming back into fashion here but an offhand guess would be that they are not.

In our society, where walking is often considered something akin to making your own soap, walking sticks are only handy for tapping the tires of your car, or getting around with after you've had an accident.

Labor party conference

Gaitskell confirms his position

By DAVID OANCIA
 LONDON (CP) — An idol tumbled, a reputation was enhanced and a leader was confirmed during last week's action-packed conference of the British Labor party.
 The leader was Hugh Gaitskell. His performance during the sessions of the 1,300 party faithful at Blackpool enhanced both his prestige and authority within the movement.
 The star of Deputy Leader George Brown appeared to rise slightly and glimmer more brightly. He made a colorful and eloquent speech opening the debate which resulted in the rejection of unilateralism as a policy for socialists.
 The idol who slipped was Frank Cousins, powerful general secretary of the Transport and General Workers Union, and the movement's chief proponent of full-blooded nationalization and unilateralism.

 The battle waged by these men personified broadly the agonizing indecision which has kept the Labor party all but immobile in the last couple of years.
 Diligently and often alone, Gaitskell stuck to his guns in his bid to modernize the movement and to steer it away from the doctrinaire concepts fervently advocated by the fundamentalists.
 He wanted to give the movement of the left greater middle-class appeal. He wished to be free of the declaration that labor would nationalize all the means of production, distribution and exchange.
 He asked the party to do this during the 1959 election post-mortem. The struggle his request touched off rocked the movement to a point where some confidently predicted it was finished as an effective political force.
 While this fight raged, a second battle became more intense. A movement actively encouraged by extreme left-wingers in his own party gathered steam in a campaign aimed at committing Britain to unilateralism and a degree of neutralism in the East-West conflict.
 Frank Cousins led the battle against Gaitskell in both fights. Last year he managed to get enough support to push through the Labor party conference a resolution calling on Britain to give up its reliance on nuclear weapons in defence.
 George Brown, a member of Cousins' own union and a veteran parliamentarian, opposed unilateralism and joined Gaitskell in the fight to get last year's conference decision reversed.
 His effective defence of the official line during last week's sessions has led many observers to conclude that he is heading for greater responsibilities.

 It was against a formidable array that Cousins challenged the leadership this year. He was booed when he spoke and he lost in the vote. This has made clear now isolated his position has become. The pundits feel this development has freed the leaders from the worry of being overruled by Cousins' command of 1,000,000 of the roughly 8,000,000 votes cast at Labor conferences.
 Perhaps the most important conference outcome is the show of unity the party at last has been able to present. Gaitskell himself put it this way: "This year people are asking not whether we can survive as a party, but whether we can win."
 "The responsibility to answer that question with decisive affirmative is just as great. Last year our task was to save the party. This year it is to save the nation."

Brazil custom unchanged

Lawmakers keep holiday habit

By COPLEY NEWS SERVICE
 In Brazil, congressmen are taking "remunerated recesses" again.
 Few Brazilians question the need for paid vacations for themselves and even for their congressmen. But many cannot bring themselves to believe the time is right for it.
 After all it was just a few weeks ago, Aug. 25, that former President Janio Quadros quit in apparent disgust.
 Quadros complained reactionary forces made it impossible for him to govern Brazil in the manner the great, Portuguese-speaking South American nation deserves.
 For almost two weeks after Quadros went the armed forces appeared on the verge of taking power to keep Vice President Joao Goulart from assuming the presidency, as was his constitutional right. Goulart is regarded by some as a crowd-pleasing opportunist with pronounced leftist tendencies, including admiration for Fidel Castro and the Cuban revolution.

 Congress and the military, though, worked out a compromise providing for a parliamentary type of government. The hurried arrangement was intended to leave Goulart with the title of president but with little effective power.
 A prime minister and the cabinet were actually to run the government.
 That is the way things were supposed to operate.
 But, as threat of revolution subsided, so did the enthusiasm of the congress.
 Senators and deputies are falling back into the habit of working two weeks in the isolated inland capital of Brasilia and resting two weeks in cosmopolitan Rio de Janeiro or in their constituencies.
 That had been one of Quadros' major sources of irritation. He felt, and most observers agreed with him, that congress could not do its job if it spent half the time in "remunerated recesses," as the Brazilians call it.

 It was such congressional lethargy that reportedly moved Quadros to work out a plan to bypass the lawmakers. Premature disclosure of the scheme, however, smacked of dictatorship and put Quadros in a bad light.
 While the idea of sending congress into "permanent recess" is at variance with Brazilian democratic traditions, there is no doubting that it might have provided Quadros with at least a temporary solution to congressional foot-dragging.
 The impression has been created abroad that Quadros' foreign and domestic policies were widely repudiated by the Brazilian people as a whole. Developments since his flight

STAYMAN CUE HELPS SOUTH
 Playing at three no-trump, South allowed East to hold the first trick with the queen of clubs. East played the ten spot, whereupon South won the trick with the jack, entered dummy with a high spade, finessed successfully for the king of diamonds and made his contract with four diamonds, one heart and two tricks in each black suit.
 The hand was lucky. If the diamond finesse had lost would seem to indicate the reverse is true.

 As the widely-read Brazilian newsmagazine, Visao, comments, the government of Goulart and Prime Minister Tancredo Neves is maintaining Quadros' policies down the line. Not because either Goulart or Neves sympathize much with Quadros; they both backed the presidential candidacy of Marshal Henrique Teixeira Lott in elections a year ago. Goulart and Neves are following Quadros' lead because "to change policy at this hour would be to defy the will of the great majority of the electorate who last year chose Janio (Quadros)."
 "Differences between the resigned government and the actual government are more a matter of detail and style than of substance," according to Visao.
 Abroad, perhaps, Quadros' manifest sympathy with the aims and ideals—though not the methods—of Fidel Castro's Cuban revolution was widely regarded as indicating some leftist tendency in his thinking. What was generally, if not purposefully, ignored was that Quadros' government was trying also to improve its relations with anti-Communist dictatorships and the rest of the Latin regimes.
 The Brazilian political climate already is taking on many of the characteristics it had before Quadros' sudden flight.
 Some observers say that, if presidential elections were held tomorrow Quadros might be returned to office by an even more comfortable margin than the record figures of a year ago.

South would have had almost no play at all for his contract, but the bidding is most interesting. Thus, most books require the man who opens no-trump with a doubleton to have either the ace or king, but modern practice is to ignore this when your hand fits the no-trump range.
 North's two club bid was an automatic Stayman response to check for spades and East's double simply showed club strength and asked for a club lead against whatever became the final contract.
 Without this lead-directing double, the chances are that South would never have gone to game. He held a minimum 15-point no-trump and was weak in both major suits. After the double South counted two club tricks and looked for the favorable club opening.

Find out about East Germany

Statistical book reveals all

By ERNEST DROPLER
 BERLIN — (TNS) — Anybody who knows how to read between the lines in statistical reports can learn things about the Soviet Zone of Germany that the Soviet Zone has done its best to hide.
 For example, the Soviet Zone's "Statistical Yearbook" for 1960/61 has just been published. In spite of attempted editorial evasions, it offers quite an insight into the difficulties that plague the Soviet Zone's economy.
 A chief problem is the dwindling population. A loss of 97,414 persons is admitted — the first official admission of this sort — for the year 1960. Of these, 10,574 were lost from the Soviet Zone of Berlin.
 No direct mention is made of the flight from the Soviet Zone to the Federal Republic. But the flight is reflected in figures that report a decline in population from 171 to 159 persons per square kilometre in the decade since 1950. (In this same period, the Federal Republic of Germany recorded an increase from 193 to 215 persons per square kilometre).

The population shrinkage is also reflected in the official figures on employment. Here too there was a decline in 1960: about 82,000 fewer job-holders.
 Meanwhile in the free part of Germany the number of employed increased during 1960 by 430,000. Self-employed persons in the Soviet Zone have decreased by something over 49 per cent.
 Industrial enterprises decreased in the one year from 16,791 to 16,038. As for individual initiative only 3.8 per cent of the gross national product for 1960 is credited to private enterprise.
 Private handicraft work also declined notably in 1960.
 There are figures, too, on an activity on which the Soviet Zone regime places special value: the construction industry.
 In this field, the number of enterprises has gone down from 30,264 to 28,381 in a single year.
 The loss of working population to Western Germany is going to cause even more drastic action in the border control between East and West Berlin.
 According to reliable reports received in East Berlin, the Communist regime is about to tear down all the houses along the Soviet Sector border and along that part of the Soviet Zone border that touches on West Berlin.
 By conservative estimates, some 20,000 residences will go. Some of them have been erected since 1945. After the occupants of the houses have been evacuated, and the dwellings demolished, a 300-yard-wide "death strip" will be cleared through Berlin.
 The only buildings to remain will be some of the industries that lie on or near the Soviet Sector boundary; these are to be kept surrounded by armed patrols. The "death strip" will be backed up by a wall and directed along it will be posted alert units of the People's Police.

 Meanwhile it has also become known that since August 13, over 10,000 residents of East Berlin and of the part of the Soviet Zone that touches on West Berlin have been deported with, in most cases, only three hours time to prepare.

Sicknesses more acute in children

Topics this week: School day sickness, the personal attention of doctors and fluoridated water. Does it seem like your children are always sick and staying home from school?

On the average, the children lost almost 5 1/2 days of school. The survey also showed dental decay was high in this school age group and that one in every four children had never been to a dentist.

Doctors and healers through the ages have always added to their knowledge, a sort of magic, says a British doctor. But now there is a reaction setting in.

In the new medical world of x-rays, tests, drugs and specialists, the doctor no longer feels the need to build up his personality or his bedside manners, suggests Dr. T. F. Fox, editor of the journal, Lancet.

Everybody, he said, should have a doctor who is really his special doctor. And as for the doctor, he must have the heart as well as mind. He must be willing to give of himself, as well as of his knowledge.

Fluoridated water which many experts believe makes teeth resistant to decay may also contribute to straight teeth, says Dr. David B. Ast, director of New York state's dental health bureau.

Thirty-five per cent of one group of children, aged 13-14 in Newburgh, N.Y., had nearly perfect straight teeth, he explained. The city of Newburgh fluoridates its water supply.

Nearby in Kingston, N.Y., where the water is not fluoridated, only 13 per cent of a similar age group had straight teeth, he said.

Honor Waterville couple on Silver Wedding Day

WATERVILLE — On the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. George Hopper were guests of honor at a dance in the Milby Hall, given by their sons and daughter, brothers and sisters and their respective husbands and wives.

Upon arrival, the couple was presented with a corsage of red roses and a boutonniere by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Graydon Reed. They were escorted to a decorated seat, where they received congratulations and best wishes from those present.

The hall was festive with multi-colored balloons, streamers and mobiles and decked with the silver-colored numerals 25.

Highlight of the decorations was the numerals 25 spelled out in colored lights on a silver background, made by Mr. and Mrs. David Waldron and situated just behind the honored couple. Tall standards of gladioli were placed on either side.

Music for dancing was supplied by Sam Hopper and his Hoedowners and Nutbrowns' orchestra.

Mrs. Albert Hall and David Waldron greeted guests at the door. On behalf of all present, Ted Bennett, who was best man at their wedding, presented Mr. and Mrs. Hopper with a gift of money. The couple then were escorted downstairs, where refreshments were served by the Milby Women's Institute.

The head table, sprinkled with confetti, was centered with a three-tier wedding cake, made and decorated by Mrs. Reed. The cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom and flanked on either side by silver candlesticks. Bouquets of lavender cushion mums completed the arrangement.

Guests were from Waterville, Lennoxville, Sherbrooke, Milby, Ives Hill, East Hatley, Thetford Mines, Bury, Canterbury and St. Johnsbury, Vt.

IN THE PLAINEST OF TERMS

what are the basics of our Hospital Insurance plan

THE POLICY HERE ...

Sickness is a universal hazard. And regaining health frequently calls for extensive and expensive hospital treatment. Since last January, our Provincial Government sees to it that you receive — free — the required hospital care every time your doctor deems it necessary. This includes standard ward accommodation, the usual meals and the agreed hospital services. That sums up our Québec Hospital Insurance Service.

... AND ELSEWHERE

In several other provinces, you must register and then pay a monthly premium in order to qualify under their hospital insurance systems. In Ontario, for instance, the monthly premium is $2 per person or $4 per family. Here, nothing of the kind. Québec supplies you with free hospitalization, providing you fulfill two prerequisites.

1st condition: BEING A RESIDENT

Firstly, you must have lived here at least three months. In which case, your children qualify from birth. But if you are just getting settled in this province, you must wait three months before being entitled to free hospital treatment.

THE CASE OF TRANSIENTS

Transients — such as tourists, visitors and relatives from other provinces — do not qualify under our Hospital Insurance Act. Services received by such persons in a Québec hospital are charged to the patient, or to the hospital insurance of his own province.

PROVING YOU'RE A RESIDENT

The hospital may request at any time that you prove your residency, namely, that you have been permanently established in this province for over three months. You can perhaps handle this by showing the usual identification papers: birth or marriage certificate, driving licence, credit cards, hunting or fishing permit, passport or what have you. If you are too weak or ill to comply personally with this formality, the person with you must attend to it.

2nd condition: THE DOCTOR'S RECOMMENDATION

Free hospitalization is conditional on your doctor considering it medically necessary. If he deems that your case can be handled satisfactorily elsewhere, you are not entitled to free hospital care. But if you are sent to the hospital on his recommendation, you may remain there as long as required from a medical point of view.

IN CASE OF ACCIDENT

If you ever require urgent admission — for instance, as the result of being injured in a serious accident — the person in charge at the hospital may authorize your admission, without waiting to check with your own doctor.

A COSTLY OPERATION

As you can see, our Hospital Insurance plan provides every resident of this province with the required full-range hospital care — on a free and efficient basis. A truly colossal and costly undertaking: the assignment is to supply, as needed, free hospitalization to over 5 million insured residents — entailing this year a governmental expenditure of more than $140 million!

HELP US HELP YOU

Plain common sense suggests that each one of us fully cooperate with our Hospital Insurance Service. Never ask your doctor for hospital treatment unless it is absolutely needed. Never remain at the hospital one day too many: this is an unfair and costly practice. Don't stretch a fine prerogative. Your conscience ... and your taxes ... will feel all the better for it!

ROLE OF SUGAR IN CAUSING CAVITIES IN YOUR TEETH.

If you enjoy toothaches from dental cavities, get a big bang out of dental drills, have money to burn on useless dentifrices and mouth washes and derive real pleasure from paying dentists' bills, don't bother to read on.

But if, like others of us, you'd prefer to save yourself from discomfort, pain and expense, perhaps you won't mind devoting a few minutes of your time to a study of problems related to dental hygiene as presented before a symposium arranged by the AMA Council on Foods and Nutrition, the Harvard School of Dental Medicine, the Massachusetts Medical Society and the Massachusetts Dental Society.

Here, in brief, are some of the conclusions reached by the various speakers as the result of studies carried out at the National Institutes of Health and at Rochester, Harvard and Toronto Universities:

Many dental characteristics are determined by inheritance. Some of these characteristics that invite cavities are the large size of tooth and or the presence of deep pits and cracks (fissures). Thus, susceptibility to cavity formation is greatest in the largest tooth whose surface is most pitted and fissured. Hence it is these teeth that require the earliest and most intensive measures of prevention.

See the many new sewing aids

Recently I attended the semi-annual Notion Show in New York. Any woman who sews, or anyone just getting interested, would revel in all the things to make sewing easier. All are available at your nearest notion center.

I'm always intrigued with the new. For example, there are shoulder hams (thick, firmly packed cushions), to make the pressing of shoulders, curved seams, and even hat and veiling seams easier jobs.

There are markers of every kind. Buy the ones that you will make a habit of using. Accuracy in seam widths and figure measurement is highly necessary for good results, and there is a measuring gauge or tape for every need.

Elastic thread is an indispensable notion in your sewing box; the new plastic zippers; nylon, cotton and silk sewing threads in all the fashion-right colors; buttons like jewels, so beautiful they tempt you to buy fabric and make a dress just to use them—all these, and more, are available to you.

And see the beltings, buckles to cover; there are lots of self-belts this season.

Pins! I like nice, fine, "silk pins" in a box. Fine pins are good for basting, as you can stitch right over them.

Sewing aids speed and brighten your projects.

Skirt markers were everywhere. I do not feel that exactly the right one has been invented yet. And as to dress forms, someone will make a fortune when he or she makes a form that will adjust easily and hold its measurement after the adjustment—a form that can be stored easily, but is so satisfactory you want to use it frequently.

Plenty of press-on tapes were shown, and the non-woven press-on fabric that gives just the right body to collars, cuffs, belts, and fronts of suits. So much easier to use than linen or haircloth. See it and buy it to save your time.

All the trimmings, bias bindings, rickracks, novelty braids were seen in abundance—all so useful to mothers who have dresses and pinafores to make for school. These trimmings are particularly good for making those ever-practical aprons for your church bazaar.

In addition to the hundreds of sewing conveniences, there were oh, so many plastic items. Whatever did we do before "plastic"?

There were closet accessories in abundance. Look at your own closet; see what you can do to make it more attractive, then visit your notion department, not only for sewing aids but for inspiration for household items.

Dear Mrs. Picken: I have a nice black dress. It hangs unevenly, though grain of the fabric is right at the bottom. Advice, please.—A. R.

Dear A. R.: Sometimes a lifting of the fabric at the waistline where skirt is uneven will help. Slip the top of skirt under the waistline where skirt is too long. Pin this; later, stitch it to place.

If this does not correct the difficulty, then make a new hem; turn at the bottom.

Today's recipe

Does the picture what your appetite — look like the start of a good day? It makes a good breakfast but why not make it a special for your midday luncheon when you're up to your eyes in housecleaning and need something special.

It takes little doing and how wonderful it tastes — a plate of broiled orange French toast surrounded with vitamin C packed fresh orange cartwheels. It's sure to guarantee an interest at breakfast or your midday meal. Invite a neighbor in to enjoy it with you and make up the whole recipe.

BROILED ORANGE FRENCH TOAST

Combine 2 eggs slightly beaten, 4 tsp salt, 3 tbsp sugar, 3/4 cup fresh orange juice and 4 tbsp melted butter. Dip 6 bread slices in mixture and put on broiler rack or oiled cookie sheet and place pan so that bread is 2 inches below broiler unit.

Broil 3 to 4 minutes or until a golden brown. Turn and broil on other side. Serve with lemon butter squares.

LEMON BUTTER SQUARES

Slice 1/4 lb butter or margarine in serving-size pats. Combine 2 tbsp grated lemon rind with 1/2 cup sugar. Toss butter in mixture. Serve with broiled French toast, plain toast, pancakes, waffles. Use leftover sugar mixture for beverages.

SAUSAGE FRENCH TOAST

Sausages are good with French toast, too. Place pork sausage links in cold frying

Ruth Millett

The 'secret ingredient' --- executive ability

Don't waste time wondering what the woman who seems to accomplish twice as much as you with half the effort has that you don't have. The answer is bound to be ORGANIZATION.

Two housewives can keep busy for the same number of hours a day. One will accomplish everything she has to do without feeling rushed or pushed. The other ends the day tired and frustrated, with half the things she meant to do left undone.

Both are hard workers. Both are conscientious homemakers. The difference: One is organized like any successful executive. The other has never thought of homemaking as a job that requires planning and executive ability.

The housewife executive doesn't burden herself with chores and responsibilities that can and should be handled by other members of the family.

pan and cook slowly 12 to 15 minutes turning to brown well and evenly. Pour off most of fat and save for later use for frying eggs, in waffles, pancakes, etc.

Dip half slices of day old bread in mixture of egg and milk and fry in hot sausage drippings, turning to brown on all sides.

Serve with apple sauce for a hearty brunch or luncheon.

She divides the work, and expects each member of the family to do his share.

Because she starts that system when her children are small, she doesn't waste energy through the years being a servant to her family.

The housewife executive is always looking for better and easier ways of doing things. She makes the most efficient use of every new piece of equipment she gets, instead of merely installing a new labor-saving device and then not changing her routine to make the best use of it.

The housewife executive organizes her errands, marketing, and shopping so that she can accomplish the most with the least amount of time and effort spent, instead of jumping in her car a dozen times a day to run errands.

The housewife executive plans her days a week in advance, but keeps her schedule flexible enough to allow her to change it to suit herself, and to meet unexpected demands upon her time.

The housewife executive puts first things first. She does the hardest jobs when she has the energy to tackle them, instead of dreading them all the while she puts them off.

It is organization and executive ability that enables a woman to run her home, instead of letting her home keep her on the run. (NEA).

Lady Baden-Powell to attend rally in Montreal

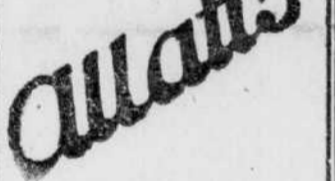

The girl who was to become Olave, Lady Baden-Powell, World Chief Guide, was born in Derbyshire, Eng., in 1859. Youngest of a family of three, she had an older brother and sister. . . she learned to ride, swim and play tennis, and at the age of 11 she started a diary, which she has kept up till this day.

When she was 23, her father took her on a cruise to the West Indies to escape the English winter, and on board ship she met Baden-Powell, then starting a world tour to visit Scout Troops. They became engaged before the ship docked at Jamaica, and were quietly married in the autumn of 1912.

In the early years of her marriage, Lady Baden-Powell learned how to drive a car, how to type, and how to run the local Scout troop, and in the autumn of 1915, as the War entered its second autumn, she left her two small children, Peter and Heather, with her mother and went to France to help establish a recreation hut for which the Scouts had raised money.

Later she suggested that Guides should provide a similar hut for the entertainment of troops and the required sum was soon subscribed.

In 1916, she was enrolled as a Guide and became County Commissioner for Sussex. Later that year, she was elected Chief Commissioner. During that summer, the Chief Scout completed a new handbook for Guiding to replace an earlier one written by her sister. In 1917 another daughter, Betty, was born.

The World Chief Scout and the World Chief Guide shared Feb. 22 as a birthday, and in 1926, at an International Conference, it was suggested that this date be called "Thinking Day" and kept as a World Guide Day. Since 1932, an important part of Thinking Day ceremonies has been the giving of pennies in all member countries of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts. Funds so collected are used to promote Guiding and Girl Scouting wherever there is a need.

Lady B. P. was active in founding the World Association in 1928, with the object of promoting, through co-operation, unity of purpose and common understanding, the fundamental principles of Girl Guiding and Girl Scouting throughout the World, and encouraging friendship among girls of all nations, within frontiers and beyond.

Today there are five and a quarter million Guides and Girl Scouts in more than 50 Member Countries.

At the World Conference in England in 1930, Lady B. P. was acclaimed World Chief Guide. Two years later, she was created a Dame Grand Cross of the Order of the British Empire.

In 1938, the Chief Guide took her husband, whose health was beginning to fail, to Kenya, and the coming of war prevented their return. The Chief Scout died in 1941 and is buried there.

In 1942, Lady B.P. returned to England and toured the British Isles giving impetus to the war work being done by Guides there.

The Chief Guide now makes her home in a grace-and-favour apartment at Hampton Court, but has travelled extensively during the past 15 years, mostly by air, and has now visited Guides and Scouts in nearly 80 countries and territories around the globe. In 1960, she was in Nigeria when that country's political independence was proclaimed, and presented in person to the Girl Guides Association.

Members were invited to assist at a Holy Hour being held in the Blessed Sacrament Chapel on Thursday evening October 12 at 7.30 p.m.

Plans were discussed for a Marathon Bridge to start in early November, games to be played by-weekly with the final bridge to be held in St. Patrick's Church Hall, after Christmas at which time prizes will be presented.

All conveners were urged to make an effort to attend a Regional Conference being held in the Notre Dame School, Richmond, Que., on Saturday October 14 from 10.00 a.m. to 4.00 p.m. This conference is being held under the auspices of the St. Therese Council with Mrs. P. Labrosse, Diocesan president presiding.

Mrs. P. McKenna gave a brief resume of the Provincial Convention which was held in Three Rivers on September tion of Nigeria the Certificate of Recognition as a Tenderfoot Member of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts. Early this year she visited The Lebanon, Pakistan, Burma, Ceylon, India, Israel and Italy, and met with Queen Elizabeth on the occasion of her visit to India and Pakistan.

Lady B.P. will be in Canada from September 27, 1961 to December 3, 1961 during which time she will visit Guides in every province of the Dominion. She will arrive in Newfoundland early in October to visit Canadian Guides and Brownies from coast to coast, and will be in the province of Quebec from October 15 - 25.

Several rallies are being held so that everyone will have a chance to see her. There will be a reception given by the City of Montreal to which committee members and adult friends of the movement are being invited.

Lady Baden-Powell will attend a Ranger Supper and will speak to the Guides at the Provincial Training Weekend.

Brownies, Guides and Rangers from the Sherbrooke, St. Andrew, Richmond, Brome and Missisquoi Divisions will see Lady Baden Powell at a Rally in the Paul Sauve Sport Centre in Montreal on Saturday, October 21.

Rough Riders Rally In Closing Minutes To Nip Ticats, Als Lose

Tally Two Touchdowns In Last Five Minutes To Edge Ticats 14-10 While Argos Knock Over Montreal 33-27

Stunning last-ditch drives and some clutch defensive work changed the complexion of the Eastern Football Conference during the weekend.

Ottawa Rough Riders, looking like a beaten ball club, left 25,273 Hamilton fans aghast Monday by scoring two touchdowns in the last five minutes to defeat the Tiger-Cats 14-10 and tie them for first place.

In Montreal Saturday, rookie defensive halfback Art Johnson climaxed a record-tying performance of four interceptions by running the last one back 47 yards for a touchdown. It provided the margin Toronto Argonauts needed to defeat the Alouettes 33-27.

With four games left for each club in the 14-game schedule, the Riders and Ticats have 14 points on identical 7-3 won-loss records. The Argos are within striking distance with 11 points while the Als, with only five, are all but out of playoff contention.

Jim Reynolds, an old hand at putting life into lost causes, and rookie Chuck Stanley were the chief executioners of the Ticats.

With Hamilton leading 10-0 well into the final quarter, Gerry Nesbitt crashed in on Ticat quarterback Bernie Faloney as he lifted his arm to pass. The ball bounced into Reynolds' arms.

And Reynolds, whose key interception killed the Argonauts in last year's playoffs, had a clear path to the goal line 67 yards away.

That fired up the Riders and seemed to take the starch out of the Hamilton defence. Next time the defending Grey Cup champs got the ball, on their own 17, they made headway at will.

Stanley capped it with the final seconds ticking away. Sent wide to the right by quarterback Russ Jackson in an apparent attempt to move the ball into a better position for a game-tying field goal, he kept going for 23 yards behind good blocking for the final touchdown.

Gary Schreider converted both touchdowns. Hamilton's earlier scoring had come from a 20-yard touchdown pass by Faloney to Gerry McDougall and a convert and 47-yard field goal by Don Sutherland.

The Alouettes, ahead 20-19 as the last quarter started, promptly scored another convert and seemed secure until the last two of Johnson's interceptions. The first led directly to a Toronto touchdown and the second was the coup de grace that sent 19,075 fans home in gloom.

It was the more ironic since the swift six-foot-two, 200-pounder from Michigan State had failed to catch on with the Als in 1959.

The Argos got four other touchdowns on passes from quarterback Tobin Rote. Halfback Dick Shatto caught two and ends Bob Jewett and Ron Morris one each. Wes Gideon, a former Alouette, kicked two converts and Bill Mitchell one.

Montreal scoring was on a one-yard plunge by quarterback Gerry Thompkins, a pass to end Ross Buckle on a 94-yarder, a 31-yard run by George Dixon, two converts and field goals of 33 and 21 yards by Bill Bewley and a single by Jack Espenship.

The Alouettes are at Ottawa next Saturday while the Ticats visit Toronto Sunday.

Bruce Kidd outpaces field at Guelph, Ont. GUELPH, Ont. (CP)—Middle-distance ace Bruce Kidd of Toronto outpaced a field of some 50 runners here Monday to win Guelph's annual three-mile road race in record time.

The 19-year-old Toronto University freshman bettered a record he established himself two years ago in clocking 14 minutes 45 seconds. His 1959 mark for the even was 15:7.

St. Pat's Massacre Bishop's 52-14 In Opener

It was a gloomy Thanksgiving for Bishop's football Gaiters as they were massacred 52-14 by Ottawa St. Pat's. The league opener was played Saturday afternoon in Ottawa.

A sunny afternoon became somewhat clouded as St. Pat's filled the air with footballs in a devastating aerial attack. Holes in the Gaiter pass defense were as numerous as stripes on the Ottawa field.

Bishop's defensive line stood up well under ground attack, but they were not ably supported by the defensive halves. St. Pat's took to the air early to exploit the weakness.

On offense, the Gaiters looked mediocre. Their passing attack bogged down for lack of clear receivers. They managed to grind out some yardage on the ground, but could not sustain their attack.

Bishop's open their home season next Saturday when they meet the highly-touted Loyola Warriors, last year's OSLIAA champions.

The Irish wasted no time, running the score to 13-0 in the first quarter. The Gaiter machine just could not get into gear.

By the half, the count had snowballed to 32-0 and it was as discouraged Bishop's squad that retired to their quarters for the 10 minute respite.

The play took on a brighter note at the opening of the second half, as Dave Bogert hoisted a third down kick into the Bytown end zone. The receiver bobbled the catch and John Milligan pounced on the pigskin to put the Gaiters on the score pad. Guy Payne split the up-rights for the convert. The Green and Gold extinguished this flash in the pan however, as they went across for two consecutive majors to run up an insurmountable 45-7 lead.

Halfway through the third stanza, quarterback Payne connected with a 36-yard pass to end Murray Smith. Half Steve Douglas lugged the ball to the St. Pat's five-yard stripe and Clem Chapple took a handoff to bull into the end zone. Payne made good the extra point. St. Pat's rounded out a lucrative afternoon with one more TD to make the final score 52-14.

AFL Race Is Shaping Into Close Battle

NEW YORK (AP) — American Football League coaches know what it means to walk a tightrope. They do it every Sunday.

Since Oakland Raiders settled down and started playing football, league games have been extremely close.

San Diego Chargers, only unbeaten team in the league, have been escaping the real close ones but the margin wasn't exactly comfortable Sunday as they beat Boston Patriots 38-27 to stay firmly on top of the Western division.

Quarterback Jack Kemp had to give a great performance to lead the Chargers to victory. Kemp, formerly with Calgary Stampeders of the Western Football Conference, passed for three touchdowns.

The saddest note of the weekend was Houston Oilers' third straight defeat. The defending league champions took a 22-12 trimming from Buffalo Bills and plunged into last place in the Eastern division.

Dallas Texans beat Denver Broncos 19-12 to strengthen their second-place spot in the Western division. The Texans ran up 19 points and beat off a Denver rally that netted two touchdowns in the final quarter.

Quarterback Frank Tripucka, once with Saskatchewan Roughriders in the Western Conference and Ottawa Rough Riders in the Eastern Conference, passed for both Denver touchdowns.

The division leaders clash in this week's biggest game as San Diego meets the Titans at New York Sunday. Oakland will be at Denver and Dallas at Buffalo in other Sunday battles. Houston plays at Boston Friday night.

REMEMBER WHEN

An uproarious World Series game at Detroit ended with St. Louis Cardinals winning by 11-0 for their fourth victory in seven games, 27 years ago today. Left-field bleacher fans enraged after a run-in between Joe Medwick and Marvin Owen at third base in the sixth inning flung a barrage of missiles and Medwick was removed from the game for safety's sake.

Injuries Hurt BC Lions' Chances Of Making Playoffs, Bombers Head For Their Fourth Consecutive Title

British Columbia Lions limped home today from a disastrous road trip to the Prairies, their chances of catching the last hopes for a Western Football Conference playoff berth Saturday night by handing the Eskimos their fourth loss in six games—a 28-21 eighth year of competition. decision in Edmonton. It left Edmonton with 17 points, one behind the Bombers, who also have two games in hand.

The Lions gave up a first-half lead Monday in Regina and lost the game 17-7 to the fourth-place Saskatchewan Roughriders. Coupled with a 24-20 B.C. loss to the Bombers in Winnipeg Saturday night, it left the Coast club with three points and three games remaining—and no hope of catching Calgary Stampeders, who have 10 points, in third place.

However, B.C. general manager Herb Capozzi announced Monday that the Lions have protested the Winnipeg loss to Canadian Football Commissioner G. Sydney Halter. Capozzi complained that referee Bud Irving ruled the ball dead while it was still in the air on a B.C. field goal attempt early in the fourth quarter. The Lions were awarded a single on the sons fell on the loose ball to play and led 20-17 at that point. break the 21-21 tie.

IMPROVE CHANCES
 Stampeders enhanced their chances of catching the last playoff berth Saturday night by handing the Eskimos their fourth loss in six games—a 28-21 eighth year of competition. decision in Edmonton. It left Edmonton with 17 points, one behind the Bombers, who also have two games in hand.

Two touchdowns in the second half by halfback Ray Smith gave the Roughriders their margin of victory Monday, leaving them two points behind Calgary, although the Stamps have one game in hand.

In Saturday's game, the Lions outpassed and outrushed the Bombers and led 19-14 going into the fourth quarter, but fullback Gerry James' 17-point performance for Winnipeg proved too much. James had three field goals, two converts and a touchdown, scored with less than five minutes left to give Winnipeg its 24-20 lead.

BCS Wallops Stanstead College 20-1 But Are Stopped 6-4 By Old Boys In Thanksgiving Weekend Sports Event

Bishop's College School football team had a very active Thanksgiving weekend. They won against Stanstead 20-1 but lost to the Old Boys 6-4.

On Saturday morning, Oct. 7, the School met the Stanstead College team on their grounds, in Lennoxville. Following a well organized plan they took the game by 20-1 despite the good defensive play put up by their opponents.

The School touchdowns were scored by Mitchell and Hutchins in the first quarter and Kenny in the 3rd quarter. The race was not to continue so swift since Monday the School team had to come up with an all out effort against the Old Boys who reminded all once again that one must never rest on his laurels.

The School lost the game 6-4 after a close battle. Abbott scored the field goal for the School and Mitchell marked the last point. The Old Boys touchdown was scored by S. Molson.

Ralph Houk Is The Man To Bury For All Time Durocher's Great Quip, "Nice Guys Finish Last"

CINCINNATI (AP) — Ralph Houk is the man to bury for all time Leo Durocher's quip, "Nice guys finish last."

The manager of New York Yankees is a "nice guy" to all who know him, a modest, courteous man with the poise and confidence of a budding executive.

Houk rode the hot seat all season long, from the October day a year ago when he was named successor to Casey Stengel, to the moment the Yankees clinched the world series Monday at Crosley Field.

Some may say they would like to ride in such a hot seat with all the Yankee millions and home run power at his disposal. The facts of the matter are that Houk, working on a one-year contract, has to follow in the footsteps of Stengel, one of the great managers of baseball.

All Stengel has done was win 10 pennants (and seven world series) in 12 years. Although critics since the days of Joe McCarthy have called Yankee pilots "push button managers," it was up to Houk to prove he could win.

PRaises STENGELE
There is no "Stengelese" in Houk's conversation. He speaks calmly and to the point. "That feller" that Stengel used to talk about disappeared from the Yankee Stadium clubhouse this summer.

"Look, there is only one Casey Stengel," he told visitors at spring training. "I am Ralph Houk. Casey did an awful lot for me. Without Casey, I wouldn't be here. He was a great manager."

"But you manage your own way. That is the only way you can do it. You don't try to follow anybody else."

Houk set his own rules right at the beginning.

"One thing you'll never hear from me," he said, "is a second guess of any of my players. If I have to talk to him I'll do it in private. I'll answer all your questions but if you ask me about something like that, I'll try to cover up for him."

Houk at 42 hardly can be called a "boy manager" like Bucky Harris was when he won the world series for Washington in 1924 at the age of 28. The only other manager to win the pennant and series in his first year was Eddie Dyer at St. Louis in 1946. He was more than 42 at the time.

SERIES HIGHLIGHTS

CINCINNATI (AP) — Whitey Ford, brilliant lefthander of New York Yankees, walked off with most of the honors of the 1961 world series, which ended Monday as Yanks defeated Cincinnati 13-5 and captured the world championship in five games.

Whitey pitched 14 shutout innings, won two games, his eighth and ninth in series competition, and surpassed Babe Ruth's record by stretching his string to 32 scoreless innings.

For his efforts he was presented with a sports car as "the player who, through his overall play in the world series, did the most for his team."

The series produced the other following highlights:

Outstanding hitter — John Blanchard, Yankees' only player to hit two home runs. His first, as a pinch hitter in the third game, tied the score in the eighth inning. His second, with one on in the first inning Monday, shot Yanks into a 2-0 lead. John also hit a double and a single and drew two walks in the series clincher.

REDS

CINCINNATI (AP) — "We just got the hell kicked out of us."

That was manager Fred Hutchinson's terse comment Monday after his Cincinnati Reds had taken a 13-5 beating from New York Yankees and lost the 1961 world series, four games to one.

"Outside Red's clubhouse was luggage-packed and ready to go to New York. It was for a trip that won't be made, Hutchinson said. "I sure hope we get a shot at them next year."

Reds' clubhouse was quiet. Maybe those weren't tears in the eyes of Gordy Coleman as he ran the gauntlet to the clubhouse but they looked like tears.

Hutchinson ducked out quick to go over to the Yankee clubhouse to congratulate New York Manager Ralph Houk. Then he came back for the post-mortem.

The key play of the series, he said, was Roger Maris' home run in the ninth of Saturday's game which gave Yank's a 3-2 victory.

"That could be called the turning point of the series," he said.

Reds used eight pitchers in all and of starter Joey Jay he said, "Joey just didn't have it." Jay said he "felt well, my arm was okay but the Yanks are tough."

He said he had never underestimated Yankees but "they made the most of their hits and we didn't."

Bob Purkey, who had been slated to pitch in the sixth game but was rushed in Monday in relief, said, "we've been hot or cold all season. Today we were cold."

Hutchinson said: "Sure you're disappointed but I would have been more disappointed if we had looked lousy. I don't think we did until today — if we looked lousy then."

Hutchinson had high praise for rookie catcher Johnny Edwards.

"Edwards did a helluva job," he said, "not only in his receiving but in his hitting. He's going to be a great catcher."

Crush Reds Under 15-Hit Barrage Against Eight Hurlers To Wrap Up Series 4-1, Blanchard, Lopez Star

By JACK HAND

CINCINNATI (AP) — Powerful New York Yankees won their 19th world series in a five-game romp over outclassed Cincinnati, crushing Reds in a humiliating 13-5 barrage Monday in the loosely played finale.

With Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra both out of action due to injuries, the American League champs still mounted a 15-hit attack against a parade of eight Cincinnati pitchers, the most ever used by one team in a series game.

Johnny Blanchard, Mantle's replacement, slammed a two-run homer as Yankees routed loser Joey Jay in a five-run first inning. Hector Lopez, subbing for Berra, smashed a three-run homer off Bill Henry during another five-run explosion in the fourth.

All during the warm, summery afternoon the muscular Yanks battered Reds' pitchers, and also took advantage of three errors by Cincinnati's sloppy defence to run up the score.

The crowd of 32,589 had only two chances to cut loose in full steam but even that enthusiasm was dampened by Yanks' first inning splurge.

DRIVE FIZZLES

In the third, Frank Robinson hammered a long home run deep into the right field corner, about 400 feet away, with two men on. Momentarily Reds were back in the ball game, trailing only 6-3, but the drive fizzled when John Edwards fouled out with men on second and third and two out.

Again in the fifth there was a stirring and a stomping at Crosley Field when Wally Post slashed a two-run homer off Bud Daley. By that time the score was 11-5 and it really didn't matter.

The Yankee triumph made Ralph Houk only the third man to lead a team to both a pennant and a world series victory in his first year as a manager. Only Bucky Harris, the "boy manager" of Washington in 1924 and Eddie Dyer of St. Louis Cardinals in 1946 had accomplished the feat.

It was a most satisfying accomplishment for the 42-year-old Houk, never better than a third string catcher with Yanks, who replaced Casey Stengel last fall after old Case had won pennants in 10 of his 12 years with New York.

It was the 36th American League series success to 22 by the National and broke a two-straight streak by the National which had won five of the last seven. Yanks now stand 19-7 in series competition.

Ralph Terry, unable to stand the prosperity of a 6-0 early lead, was knocked out in the third inning. Left-handed Bud Daley, a June acquisition from Kansas City, went the rest of the way to get credit for his first series victory.

TIES RECORD

Along the way to this lopsided rout, Bobby Richardson tied a five-game series record with nine hits, although Babe

Ruth once had 10 in four games. Cincinnati's quick demise on the home turf was the first time a home club had lost three in a row since the 1949 Brooklyn Dodgers, also against Yanks.

Reds' collapse, largely because of the failure of their big guns to live up to their advance billing, was the worst since Cleveland Indians folded in four straight against New York Giants in 1954. In fact, five of the last six series had gone seven games while the other went six.

The details of this mismatch hardly bear repeating, except for a few moments in the third inning after Robinson's homer, when Gordy Coleman singled and Gene Freese doubled (his first and only hit in 16 at bats). But Edwards fouled out on 3-1 pitch to Clete Boyer and Reds were dead.

This was not a great series for Yanks' M and M boys. Mantle, crippled by the after-effects of an operation on an abscess on his right hip, played only one full game and part of another. Roger Maris, who hit an unprecedented 61 homers during the season, had only two hits in 19 trips. One, however, was the game-winning homer in the ninth inning of the third game. The other was a double in the second inning Monday.

The victory meant about $8,000 to each Yankee on the unofficial basis of 34 shares from the $271,289.88 winner's pot. Each Cincinnati Red would get about $5,200 on the same basis. Annex shares were to be announced later in the week by the office of commissioner Ford Frick.

Hutchinson used 21 players, tying another record, in a desperate effort to keep alive. But his Reds who left New York all even after two games, simply could not do the job.

The Reds set a record for a five-game series by sending 15 pinch-hitters to the plate. Only one got a hit, Chico Cardenas with a ninth-inning double in the third game.

Dressing Room Comments

YANKS

CINCINNATI (AP) — Ralph Houk, only the third man in major league baseball to pilot his team to a world championship in his first year as manager, brushed off the compliments in the sweaty crowded New York Yankee dressing room Monday and said over and over "it was a great team effort."

There was shouting and yelling, and handshakes from commissioner Ford Frick, from Del Webb and Dan Topping, Yankee owners, and from Fred Hutchinson, manager of Cincinnati Reds, who were beaten yesterday 13-5, and in the series 4-1.

Throughout it all Houk, the sturdy ex-major of the Second World War, kept his poise and his broad, handsome smile.

"It was a hard fought series," he said. "I was concerned today because of the injuries to Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra, and I was even more concerned when Frank Robinson hit that three run homer. But we won. I couldn't single out any one player as outstanding. All played their part."

"I'm sure Mickey would have played today if I had asked him, but I didn't dare with that open injury in his hip."

Someone reminded Houk that Mantle earlier had said "I've never been on a ball club where everyone is so happy."

"Right," said Houk. "It's the way it should be."

Hutchinson crowded in to congratulate the Yankee manager.

"Well, we gave you a little battle," he said, with a faint smile.

"And you had a pretty darned good year yourself," said Houk.

John Blanchard, whose utility role frequently keeps him on the Yankee bench, had glowing praise for Houk.

"This manager was just great at handling players all year," he said. "He's the greatest manager I ever played under or ever will play under."

Blanchard came up with his second homer of the series and a 3 for 4 batting day as he took right field and Maris moved from right to centre to replace ailing Mickey Mantle.

"Right now, I'm skipping the victory trip back to New York. I told the little lady I'd be right home if we clinched the series in Cincinnati."

Little Bobby Richardson, who even bettered his sparkling 1960 series batting mark, said "I just can't explain what happens to me in a world series."

Richardson wound up with 9 for 23 and a .391 average in the five-game series. Last year, Bobby collected 11 for 30 and a .367 mark which was a lot more

Series Records

CINCINNATI (AP) — Forty-two world series records were broken and 21 tied in the 1961 competition between New York Yankees and Cincinnati Reds.

Yogi Berra, the Yankee outfielder, and Whitey Ford, New York's left-handed pitching ace, shattered 16 marks between them. Berra set nine records and Ford seven.

Ford extended his consecutive scoreless innings streak to 32 and eclipsed the record of 29 2-3 innings established by Babe Ruth in 1918.

"Maybe I got inspired in the series," said Richardson, who batted .261 in the regular season. "There just isn't any other way to explain it. But don't forget, I went hitless in the 1957 and 1958 series."

Johnny Blanchard, Who Came Close To Quitting Yanks, Stars In World Series As Batting Standout Monday

CINCINNATI (CP)—A year ago Johnny Blanchard was willing to walk out on New York Yankees and quit baseball because he felt he wasn't being treated fairly.

The same Johnny Blanchard unwillingly accepted congratulations Monday as a batting star in the Yankees' world series triumph over Cincinnati Reds.

On an August day in 1960 Blanchard learned that with Yogi Berra and Elston Howard, the No. 1 and No. 2 catchers, both ailing, manager Casey Stengel was considering taking pitching coach Jim Hegan off the inactive list to work behind the plate.

Blanchard, third-string catcher, slammed his mitt into a locker and stormed out of the Yankee clubhouse.

"That's not right," he growled at coach Ralph Houk. "When the old man overlooks me for a 40-year-old coach, then it's time for me to quit. I had to wait 10 years to get up here and I'm not going to wait 10 more years to maybe get a chance to catch. If I can't play now, I'll never be able to. So I'm going home."

Houk succeeded Stengel as manager and Blanchard saw more action this season. As a catcher and outfielder he batted .305 and slammed 21 home runs in 94 games. Seven of the homers, including four in a pinch-hit role, won or tied games in the final three innings.

Blanchard had a single, a double and two walks Monday in addition to a two-run homer in the first inning which opened the gates to a Yankee assault on Cincinnati pitcher Joey Jay. In the third game Saturday Blanchard's pinch homer tied the score 2-2, setting up a 3-2 Yankee victory.

Four men were in the running for the post but indications were that Hitchcock would get the job on a one-year contract for about $30,000.

Others once named by MacPhail as still in the running were Luman Harris, former manager of the Orioles, Joe Gordon, fired as manager of Kansas City Athletics this year, and Mayo Smith, former manager of Philadelphia Phillies.

Post Impressive 3-1 Win Over Hawks In 15th Annual Classic, Pack Too Much Punch For Champions

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Hockey League all-stars of 1961 have lived up to their rating.

The took on Chicago Black Hawks, defending Stanley Cup champions, Saturday night and emerged with an impressive 3-1 triumph in the 15th annual classic.

A record crowd of 14,762 watched the battle in which the all-stars grabbed a 7-4 won-lost record since the game was inaugurated in Toronto in 1947. Four games ended in ties. The previous attendance mark of 14,169 was set in the first all-star engagement.

The all-stars were led by a Detroit Red Wings line of Gordie Howe, Alex Delvecchio and Norm Ullman.

The teamed up for goals by Delvecchio in the first period and Howe in the second to gain a measure of revenge for Detroit's Stanley Cup playoff loss to the Hawks last season in six games.

Delvecchio scored the first all-star goal at 11:37 of the first

Sonny Liston Applies For Reinstatement

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Heavyweight contender Sonny Liston, suspended by the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission for run-ins with the law, has applied for reinstatement, it was disclosed Monday night.

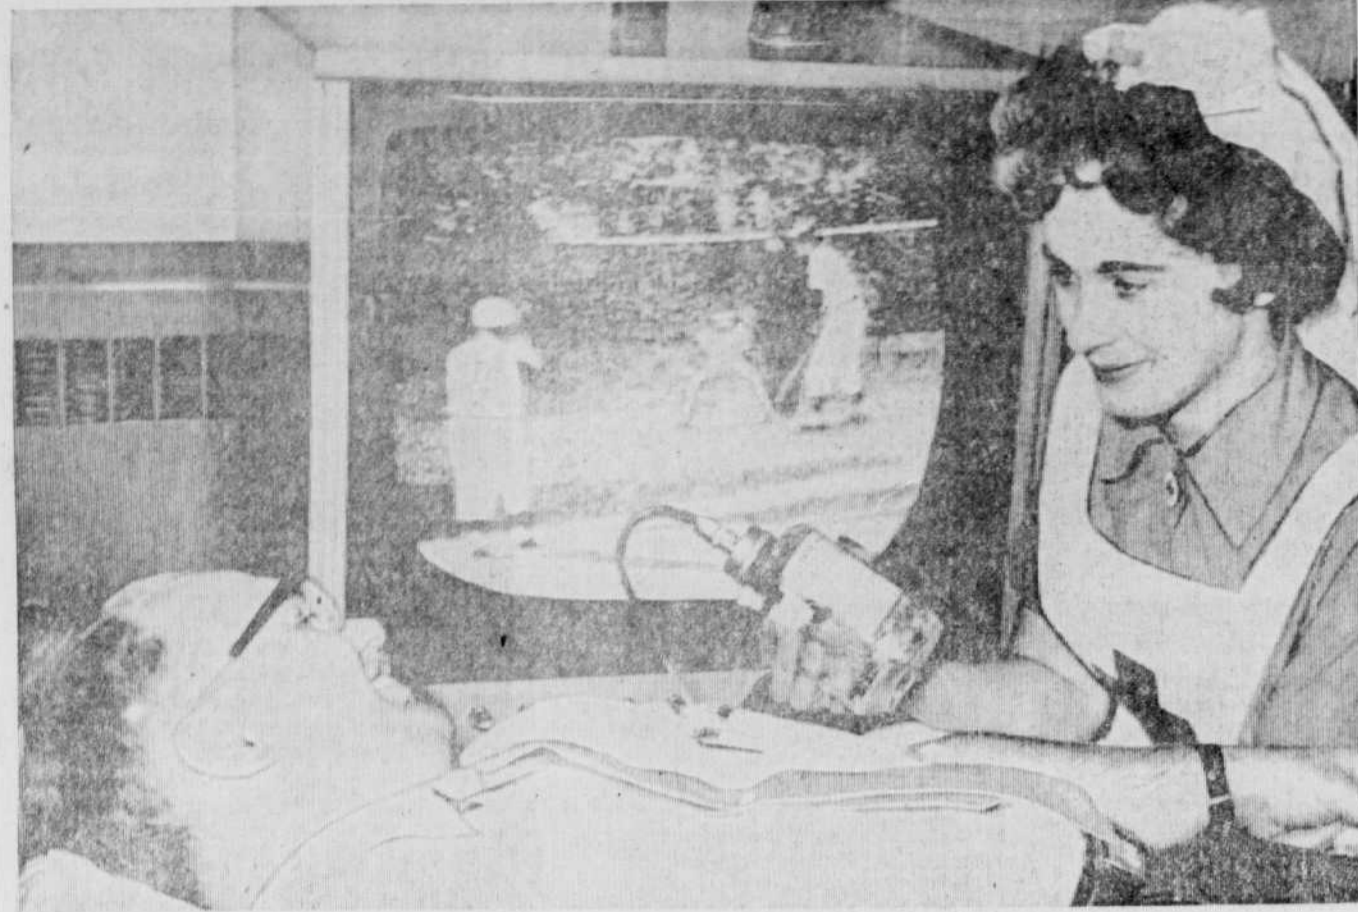

Commissioner Al Klein said he could not say immediately when or how the commission would set on the application.

Liston was suspended following his arrest on charges arising from an incident in Fairmount Park last summer when he and a companion stopped a woman motorist. He was cleared of the charges.

REMEMBER WHEN . . .

Yogi Berra hit a home run twice in a row, with one on base each time, as New York Yankees swept Brooklyn Dodgers 9-0 in the seventh and deciding world series game five years ago today at Brooklyn.

The Yankees' sturdy catcher in that series set a mark of 12 runs batted in, to erase the record of nine RBIs set by Lou Gehrig, also of the Yankees, in 1928.

BUT FOR BLOOD — Both the Oshawa, Ont., blood clinic and the Cincinnati Redlegs were out for blood in the second game — and both got their wish. R. H. Stroud, chairman of the clinic, contributes his pint of blood with the help of red Cross nurse Annette Born while watching the World Series game on television. He saw Reds chalk up a 6-2 victory over the Yanks. (CP Wirephoto)

Gaels Upset McGill Redmen 8-7

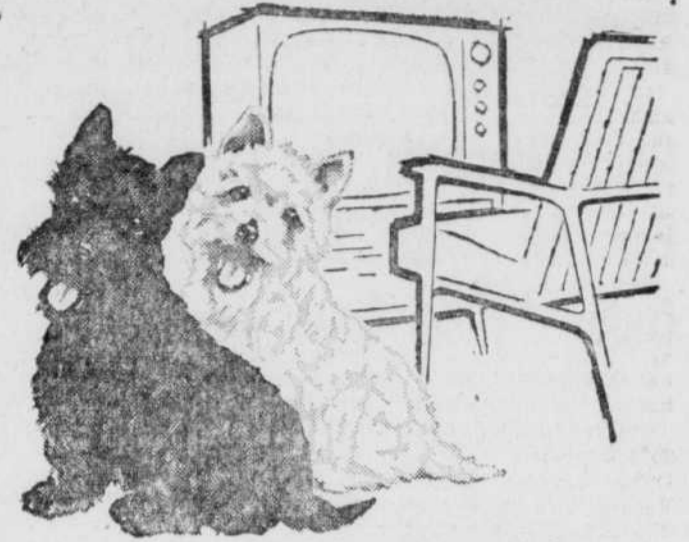

A 108-yard kickoff runback and a doorstep lateral that went astray made for a couple of upsets Saturday as the Senior Intercollegiate Football League opened its 1961 season.

The big run, a two-man effort, and a single off a field goal try provided the margin as Queen's Golden Gaels edged the defending champions, McGill Redmen, 8-7 at Kingston.

University of Toronto Blues, who hadn't won since an opening-game victory last year over the same team, downed the University of Western Ontario Mustangs 6-3 at London. The touchdown came after a Western player fumbled a lateral and ended up in Toronto hands on the Mustangs' 14.

The Red men, favored to retain the title they won last year for the first time since 1938, had difficulty getting untracked in the first half. Passing ace Tom Skyeck elected to stay on the ground and the Redmen finished the second quarter down 7-0.

The Gaels who lost to McGill last year in a playoff, over the same team, downed the University of Western Ontario second-half kickoff.

Packers Wallop Colts While Giants Stop Cards

NEW YORK (AP) — Versatile Paul Hornung is putting the power in Green Bay Packers' drive to retain their Western Division title in the National Football League.

The 25-year-old former Notre Dame backfield star had his best day in pro ranks Sunday when he scored 33 points on four touchdowns, a field goal and six converts in Green Bay's 45-7 romp over Baltimore Colts.

Hornung, who set an NFL scoring record with 176 points during the 1960 campaign that swept the Packers to the top in the first four games this season.

The Green Bay victory, coupled with San Francisco '49ers' 35-0 thumping of Los Angeles Rams, broke a four-way tie for first place in the Western Division and lifted the Packers and '49ers at the head of the race with 3-1 records.

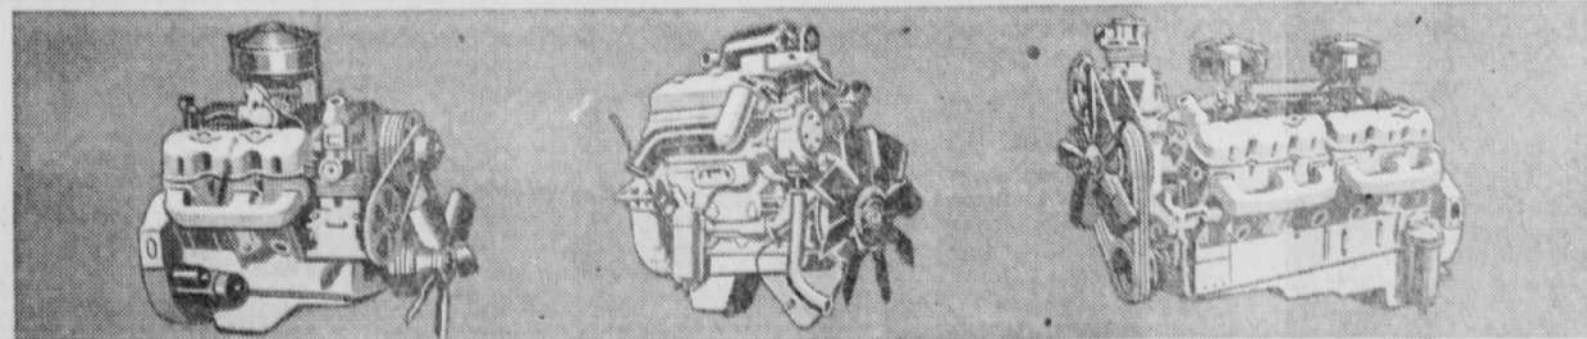

SAM TAKES BEATING

While Hornung was basking in the limelight, quarterback Sam Etcheverry of St. Louis Cardinals was being subjected to the roughest treatment of his brilliant football career as the Cards dropped a 24-9 decision to New York Giants.

Etcheverry, nine-year veteran of Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four, completed only two of seven pass attempts for a total of 18 yards and carried the ball once for a loss of one yard.

The Giants' win left them tied for first place in the east with three other clubs with 3-1 marks as Cleveland Browns beat Wash-

Greatest Yankee Team Ever Played For, Says Yogi Berra, Had Hitting And Pitching To Go All The Way

This is the last of a series of exclusive world series written for The Associated Press by Yogi Berra of the New York Yankees.

By YOGI BERRA

NEW YORK (AP)—This has to be the greatest Yankee team I ever played on and I've now been through 12 world series.

We had six men who hit 21 or more home runs. We had two men — Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle — who hit 115 homers. And we set a home run record of 240 in winning the American League pennant.

Other Yankee teams had great players like Joe DiMaggio, Hank Bauer and Phil Rizzuto and pitchers like Alie Reynolds, Vic Raschi, Ed Lopat and Joe Page. But we had team balance.

Ralph Houk, our manager, rebuilt the pitching staff in one season. You can't do that with a so-so team.

We had Whitey Ford. Ralph made him our No. 1 pitcher right from the start, using him with three days rest most of the year and he won 25 games and pitched 14 runless innings in the world series against the Reds to beat Babe Ruth's pitching record.

It was a real happy club. Everybody was pulling for everybody. I actually saw Mantle root for Maris and Maris root for Mantle all year. You don't see that on all clubs. Money means so much. But with us it seems to be pride. Money is secondary. We know it's bound to come our way if we put out as hard as we can.

LAUDS HOUK
Ralph did a wonderful job. He made us all happy. I can't recall that we had one squabble all year, and goodness knows we've had a few in the past.

This was a team effort. Everybody helped. We've had deeper pitching staffs in the past but for hitting and defensive ability this 1961 club is the best. I almost got killed and missed yesterday's last game in Cincinnati but with a team such as ours you share in the victory by just sitting on the bench and lending morale support.

When I dove for Elio Chacon's short fly on Sunday I cut my forehead with my sun glasses but later pulled a shoulder muscle sliding into third. It tightened up so Sunday night that when I awakened Monday I could hardly move my right arm. It would have been silly for me to try to play, record or no record.

I knew I needed only one or two hits to tie Babe Ruth's record for hitting 300 in six different world series but with such spirit as ours, team victory means more than personal glory. I never went in much for it anyway. A record in defeat is a hollow thing.

It was a grand feeling getting off at Penn Station this morning and heading for home (Montclair, N.J.) I like to think I earned my pay this season. Playing left field—and making mental notes for my stories — wasn't easy. I only hope I'm still around next year and can get into another world series. There's nothing like it."

REDFORD —
Mrs. Joyce Tune, of Greenfield Park, was with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Corey, over the weekend.

Miss Noreen Wood, of Montreal, spent a weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. Wood.

Rev. W. J. White has returned from Bangor, Me., where he attended a meeting of the Town and Country organization, which includes members from many Protestant denominations.

Miss Judy McCaw of Macdonald College and Mr. Richard McCaw, of Montreal, spent a weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. McCaw.

SERIES HEADLIGHTS

Most decisive blow — Roger Maris' ninth inning home run—his only one in the series—which won the third game, 3-2.

BOYER BRILLIANT

Best defensive play — Clete Boyer's brilliant diving stop and throw, from a kneeling position, of pinch hitter Dick Gernert's sizzling drive to the Yankee third baseman's left in the eighth inning of the first game.

Biggest disappointment — Vada Pinson, Cincinnati's brilliant center fielder, who not only collected just two singles in 22 times at bat, but committed a mechanical error in the field and a mental lapse on the bases. With Reds trailing by eight runs in the fifth of the finale, he attempted to stretch a single into a double and was thrown out. Pinson also permitted Yankee runners to take an extra base with his high throws to the plate without a bounce on three occasions.

Biggest surprise — The hitting of Cincinnati catcher John Edwards, who battled only .186 during the regular season.

Funniest incident — Gordon Coleman, Cincinnati first baseman, running across the diamond to tag Bill Skowron, between third and home, thus completing a unique unassisted double play in the fifth inning of the fourth game.

Most tragic event — Mickey Mantle, hobbled and bleeding from an open wound, forced to quit after singling in the fourth inning of the fourth game.

BERRA UNFORGETTABLE
Most unforgettable incident — Yogi Berra, getting off the ground, bleeding from a head wound, after missing a diving attempt of Wally Post's single in the sixth inning of the fourth game. An inning earlier, he had been tagged out sliding head first into third base, sustaining a shoulder injury which kept him out of the fifth game.

Toughest defeat — Sustained by right-hander Bob Purkey of Reds in the third game, 3-2, after he had pitched no-hit ball until one out in the fifth inning and shutout ball until the seventh.

Best sport — Manager Fred Hutchinson of Reds who remained friendly, affable and cooperative to newspaper men throughout the series and who was the first to congratulate Yankees.

Most patient — Manager Ralph Houk, who estimated he was questioned at least 25,000 times on the status of Mickey Mantle. "My wife told me this morning that all night she kept hearing me repeat in my sleep, 'I don't know whether Mantle will play tomorrow.'"

TWO — The mistake is natural in this case since people have been mistaking Mrs. Laura Mitchell (left) for the famous actress Tallulah Bankhead for some time. Miss Bankhead, who was visiting Victoria, met Mrs. Mitchell and the two shared a laugh over it. (CP Photo)

DUBOYCE'S CORNER — Mr. Donald Badger, of Macdonald College, was home over the weekend.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Badger over the weekend were, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Foster, of Montreal, Mr. William Johnson, of Dunham, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hines, of Knowlton.

Townships History class draws large attendance — Registration for the history class in Shefford County, County seat for Shefford was first in Frost Village. First clergyman for the district was in this village.

Waterloo only had six families recorded in 1825. Its rapid growth and the decline of Frost Village was due to the railroad choosing Waterloo for its terminus.

The course on History of the Eastern Townships was attended by enthusiastic members who are interested in this subject. The first evening was taken by Miss Prue Martin and Mrs. C. G. Hall, who started the study with Frost Village and its old families. The first on record to settle in this location were the Frost brothers in 1808. Miss Martin exhibited a copy of a map drawn in 1864, with minute details written in.

Many "firsts" are recorded for Frost Village. The first Shefford Academy, first principal from this Academy, Richard Lang, was first principal in Waterloo. First meeting of District of Bedford Teachers held here. A resident, H. L. Huntington, was the first organizer of the Liberal party in Shefford County. County seat for Shefford was first in Frost Village. First clergyman for the district was in this village.

Waterloo only had six families recorded in 1825. Its rapid growth and the decline of Frost Village was due to the railroad choosing Waterloo for its terminus.

Miss Martin drew a family tree of four pioneers of the villa and traced them down to the sixth generation. Present at this class were direct descendants of Benjamin Martin, Alvin Williams, 1821, Dr. Sewell Foster, 1822, and Archdeacon Lindsay, 1851.

Mrs. Hall touched briefly on her grandfather, Archdeacon Lindsay, who started his ministry in Frost Village. She had an excellent knowledge of local history and her anecdotes and old photographs made it most interesting.

The prizes for first and second general proficiency were awarded as follows: Grade 1, Carol Caulfield, Marie St. Jacques and Margaret Walklate; Grade 2, Lynn Martin, Stephen Krichew; Grade 3, Elizabeth Crease, Deborah Martin; Grade 4, Beryl Greer, Carole Clark; Grade 5, Naisi LeBaron, John Rintoul; Grade 6, Margaret Stoddard, Susan Little; Grade 7, Michael Krichew, Hugh LeBaron; Grade 8, Lewis Vaughan, Jill Sims; Grade 9, Gayle Hatrick, Stephen Shipway; Grade 10, Lorne Smith, Cheryl Greer; Grade 11, Lyndall Clark, William Pawley.

Prizes for effort and industry: Grade 1, Keith Langevin; Grade 2, Shirley Keeble; Grade 3, Peter Olson; Grade 4, Gregory Hirtle; Grade 5, Sandra Stone; Grade 6, Bryan Olson; Grade 7, David Rintoul; Grade 8, Diane Letourneau; Grade 9, Janet MacDonald; Grade 10, Gerald McKnight; Grade 11, Melissa Bowen.

Mrs. Montgomery thanked all who had donated to the prize fund, the School Commissioners, the Canadian Legion, the local branches of the Quebec Women's Institutes, and parents and friends.
