THREE INJURED: Three young women were sent to hospital after being involved in a two car collision Sunday afternoon at the corner of Western and Claremont avenues. An off duty

Westmount police officer was on the scene seconds after the accident happened. None of the three young women were seriously injured.

City Gets $524,900 From Fund

Westmount City Council this week authorized the borrowing of $524,900.00 from the Municipal Loan Fund. Of that amount borrowed, only 75% or $393,675 will have to be paid back over a 30 year period.

The other 25% is taken off all loans made through the Municipal Loan Fund by a municipality.

Alderman P. M. McEntyre explained that Westmount should take advantage of the opportunity to get the 25% discount.

He also explained that the interest of 5 3/8% was better than could be obtained if bonds were issued by the city in order to raise the money.

ALDERMAN McENTYRE 714.13 each amounts to this; the city is getting the loan at an interest rate of 3%.

There was no mention at the council meeting as to what the money would be used for.

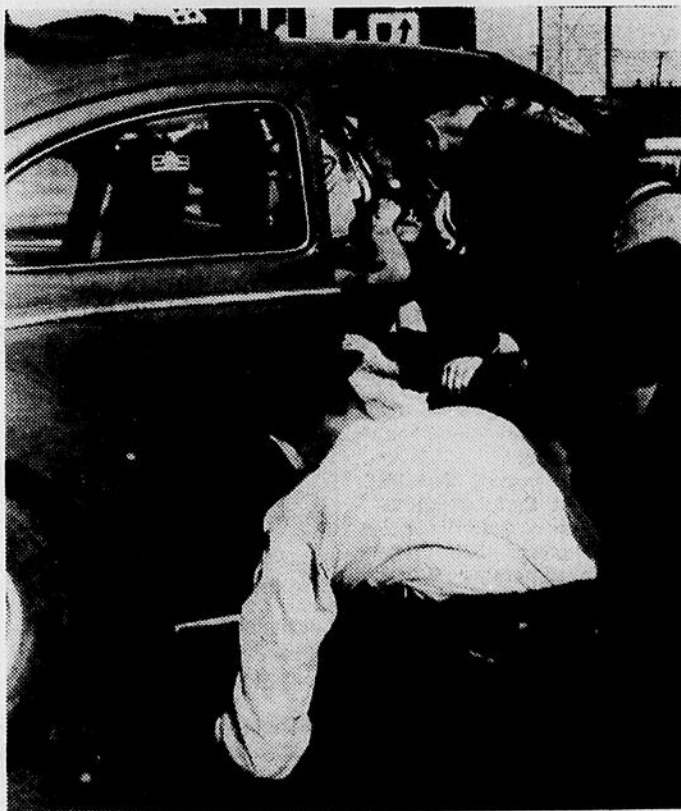

A contract for street paving was also awarded at the meeting.

The contract called for the paving of parts of several streets and was awarded to Charles Durand Ltd., with a low bid of $12,207.65.

K. W. Jackson

Kingsley W. Jackson of 748 Upper Lansdowne Ave., Westmount, was recently graduated from Rochester Institute of Technology.

Jackson received a bachelor of science degree at ceremonies held June 5 at the Rochester War Memorial. This was RIT's 80th annual convocation.

Chief Harper gives advice to vacationers

According to police statistics, here is how a burglar gets into your home: 42% force inadequate front door locks, 6% enter through doors and windows, 10% force inadequate back door locks, 2% enter with key, 5% break basement windows, 10% break glass back door panels and reach in to unlock door, 9% break windows to enter, 7% break glass front door panels and reach in to unlock doors and IN ALMOST 25% OF HOME BURGLARIES, THE CRIMINAL ENTERS THROUGH A DOOR WHICH IS OPEN TO HIM.

Westmount police told The Examiner, "Although it is not possible to completely burglar-proof your home, you can take steps to protect your family by reducing the chances that a burglar will rob your home.

When leaving for an extended period arrange with a relative or neighbour to visit your home daily and remove any circulars, newspapers, etc., which may have been left at your door.

When possible, avoid newspaper publicity of the fact that you are going away. Such publicity is an invitation to burglars.

Notify the police department when you leave and, when possible given an address where you may be reached, should it be necessary.

Also give the name and address of a relative or neighbour who is going to visit your home while you are away.

The police can give your home better supervision when they are aware it is unoccupied.

INCREASE SAFETY

To increase the safety of your home do the following:

- Use pin timber locks on all outside doors. If door has glass panel, use double cylinder lock requiring key inside. Install door guards such as chain locks. Door frames should be tight and hinges hidden. Put locks on all windows to limit opening to four inches.

- Do not leave important keys "under the mat" or other obvious places. If keys are lost, change the locks. Separate your house and car keys.

- Lock your garage when taking car out — an unlocked garage may invite entry by a burglar. If there is a direct entry to the house from the garage, be sure the door has an adequate lock.

- Leave lights burning when you leave. Outside lights will discourage burglar. Install automatic timer to turn on lights, perhaps radio, at appropriate time.

- Keep valuables in a safe place. Do not keep large amounts of money in your home — most burglars know what they're after.

- Check references in advance of all persons who come to work in your residence.

- If a burglar breaks into your house, don't panic — an armed robber is dangerous. Observe and remember his appearance. If a car is used, get the licence number.

GET INVOLVED

Westmount police chief E. C. Harper said, "How many times have you heard someone say, 'I don't want to get involved.'"

When it comes to crime, said chief Harper, you ARE involved, heavily involved. You suffer from crime. You pay the cost of crime. The question is whether or not you want to accept your responsibility and whether you want to do something about it.

When you fail to report a crime because "you don't want to get involved" you may be allowing someone to get away with burglary, robbery, murder or even rape. You also help to create an atmosphere in which people accept crime.

Criminality is a social problem and citizens must aid the police in halting the depredations of lawbreakers in order that decency and order can prevail.

HELP THE POLICE HELP YOU, increase the protective patrol power of the police by being observant and reporting suspicious persons loitering about your neighbourhood. If they are in a car, write down the licence number.

St. Andrew's Lists Summer Sermons

During the month of July and the first Sunday of August St. Andrew's and Westmount Park United Churches combine for Summer services. Sermon Series: MAJOR PROBLEMS IN CHRISTIAN BELIEF.

July 4 — Did Jesus Perform Miracles? - A consideration, in the light of modern critical scholarship, of the miracles in the New Testament and an assessment of the value of the miracle stories for the modern Christian. Are there miracles which do not fit into the overall picture of our Lord's life? Do some miracles need to be thrown out? What is 'miracle'?

July 11 — The Comic Element in the Crucifixion - A consideration of what the word 'comedy' means, viewed in the light of what happened on Calvary and an attempt to show that 'comedy' is not necessarily and basically something which evokes laughter.

If you Own a dog Own a leash too

Section seven of by-law 535 of the City of Westmount reads as follows: If at any time in the months of May, June, July, August and September, any dog is found in any public place, and is not held securely on a leash not more than six feet in length, the keeper of such dog, as well as the person who caused such dog to be in such place, shall be deemed to have infringed this by-law.

Also included in the by-law are the following facts. The words, "public place" in-

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

BY WINIFRED E. WILSON

Although we are told quite definitely by the scientists that birds have no reasoning power and that the eyes of many kinds weigh more than their brains, nevertheless some of us rather suspect that they are not entirely without intelligence. They most certainly have good memories.

Year after year birds use the same migration routes, and probably the majority return each spring to the same district in which they nested before. Indeed, you have no doubt yourself found out that a number of them come to the very same bush, beam, or sandbank for several years in succession. A Robin often builds on the same branch and occasionally makes a new nest right on top of its old one. Red-shouldered Hawks simply reinforce their nest of previous years and redecorate it with fresh leaves. The old homes and haunts are not forgotten.

It has been proved that birds can be taught that by pulling a string they can open up something that exposes their favorite food. They remember this not only days, but weeks or months later. We have proved that many of the land birds, both large and small, have become acquainted with us and our popular feeding tray. Each spring old friends return, sometimes bringing a new wife or a new husband, to enjoy the meals put out for them while we enjoy their presence.

We soon get to recognize the individual traits, little variations in color or size. One of the surest ways of identifying a bird in early spring is to note how much faith they put in us. Whereas newcomers take some time to become accustomed to our presence a few inches from them, our old friends (or most of them, for there are exceptions) bounce onto the tray, fearless, on arrival. A newcomer will likely fly if we move a finger, an old friend allows us to extend a hand filled with goodies. We have never attempted to catch or even touch a bird on the feeding tray and so they have complete confidence in us.

We find that many people are surprised that we should be so intimate with White-throats. They are our oldest and best friends. We know each individual's song (all are a trifle different) and can recognize by sight or sound all the various males and females that visit us regularly. Their life-span is at least eight years.

Jays are much the most wary. Even those that have seen, heard, and probably smelt us for years prefer that we keep three or four yards distant.

What birds have long legs?

clude all land owned by the City and any school yard.

All dogs owned by residents of Westmount must have a licence, that the dog must wear when walked in any public place by its owner or friend. Every such licence from the City shall expire on the 13th day of April next after the date of its issue and shall not be transferable.

If any dog bites, causes damage to grass, flowers, plants shrubs or garden or barks in such a manner to disturb the peace, such dog shall be deemed a nuisance and the owner will be deemed to have infringed this by-law.

Whenever a dog is found in any public place, or on any private property without the consent of the owner, occupant or possessor of such private property, if such dog does not bear a licence or is not accompanied by its owner or is not held securely on a leash when required by section 7, it shall be the duty of any police officer and the privilege of any other person having knowledge thereof to cause such dog to be impounded.

If a dog is impounded and it has a licence, the owner of the dog will be notified by the Chief of Police. The fee for impounding a dog is $2 for the first day and a dollar for every day until the seventh day when, if not claimed, it will be up to the Chief of Police to destroy the dog.

If a dog is reported to have bitten, caused damage or been a nuisance for a second time, the court may have the dog destroyed.

Every person who infringes this by-law shall be liable to a fine not exceeding $40.00 and costs for every infraction. If payment of this fine is not made immediately he shall be liable to imprisonment for not more than two months, but such imprisonment shall cease on payment of fine and costs.

This by-law has been brought to light by the fact that summer brings more dogs into public places than other seasons and that all dog owners are responsible for the actions of their pets.

The responsibilities, duty and Character
 Of a Peace Officer

All peace officers must take an oath of office on their appointment, and having done so, are bound to perform the duties of the office, otherwise they can be prosecuted for failure to do so.

The peace officer is not an autocrat but a servant who is accepting remuneration for enforcing the public laws.

For the efficient performance of his duties he is granted more powers than the ordinary citizen but not any more rights. The more he knows his duties and the more intelligent he is, the better he will perform such duties. The peace officer is the link between the public and the law since complaints come first to him so the officer should have the best reputation with the public.

He should, by his conduct, appearance and dress, make the public feel secure.

He should, as has often been said, keep his eyes and ears open, but talk as little as possible, in order to learn as much as possible.

A peace officer acts for the whole community and not for individuals so, when a complaint is made, he decides first if the act complained of is legal and if it is illegal he takes the necessary action at once but if it is not illegal he pays no attention to it since it matters not whether what is complained of is moral or not or what the peace officer thinks of it.

If all peace officers attend to their duty, there will be less crime and prevention of crime is the man object of the existence of the peace officer rather than the punishment of those who are convicted.

However, convictions are also important to an officer much more than the number of arrests he makes. Therefore, he is entitled, without pressing, to use every legal effort to obtain a conviction unless he finds that the accused is not guilty or that he has made a mistake and is not prosecuting the right person.

Under these circumstances, he should immediately advise his superior, the crown attorney or the court of his mistake. Once the conviction is made, the officer should forget about it or the punishment for it since that is not his affair. It cannot be repeated too often that a peace officer should learn as much as possible and obtain as wide a knowledge as possible of the Criminal Code and the other laws and statutes that he enforces.

The proper preservation of the peace and the maintenance of law and order are the main purposes of the existence of any police force. The officer's trust and duty is to protect the citizens and their property.

Peace Officers have many powers and should at all times act with the greatest discretion and tact, particularly where their action may involve the arrest of a citizen and the liberty of the subject.

For the above and other purposes in the Government of the various Police Forces there are Federal, Provincial and other codes or regulations which apply to Municipal Police Forces.

Matters pertaining to the police must be considered strictly confidential and not communi-

Trainer deserves nip from untanked tiger

OUR sympathies lie with the dealers.

We are angry because we have been victimized. As buyer and consumer of gasoline, we've in effect been told: "Customer, be damned!"

We blame the monstrous, impersonal corporate empire — with undeserved kindness called "the oil companies," as if typical good examples of competitive free enterprise, which they are not.

The petroleum industry's unsavory history is another seamy story.

Here and now, out in the open, not hidden behind U.S., British, Dutch, Belgian or other board room doors, or in private offices around the world where management dances to called tunes — in Westmount, Montreal and across the Province the ultimate business methods of oil marketing are on display.

They've been there for the public to see for some time. Your corner dealer has been an unhappy man. He has shown all the marks of an honest, hardworking businessman; good neighbor, often a community leader. But he's been caught in a trap few other merchants encounter: a price-and-rent squeeze. He's not asked. He's told. Individually, his only sanction is to quit the business he knows best for something else. Ambition and pride don't lead to quitting.

So eventually he fights. He can only do it collectively, as he is now doing. Majority of them in this area are withholding gasoline sales voluntarily and conscientiously, regrettable incidents of "persuasion" notwithstanding. Inconvenienced as we are, we are with them.

The oil industry has been caught in public with its business underwear showing. This is no labor strike; the public is not shocked any more by walkouts. But is is thoroughly angered when a handful of firms fails miserably to order its affairs with its own agents, lessees and retailers.

The oil companies whose credit cards we carry and to whom so many of us in this motorized society pay so much have cynically said to us, in effect: pay more, or do without.

By refusing to meet with the dealers, the companies cap a hypocritical myth of rectitude that their trade is unfettered and free. Haw!

Or perhaps they really are afraid of a combined investigation, considering a long history of simultaneous and uniform price increases, occasional decreases, and engineered local price "wars" — each time to the detriment of the man at the pump.

We'd like to see the tiger take one good nip at the trainer while the dealer has him by the tail, then back in the tank.

"Did Jesus Perform Miracles?" Asks St. Andrew's Rev. Mouland

Within the last few weeks, Rev. Douglas Mouland of St. Andrew's United Church has given two sermons on "The New Curriculum Explosion".

The reaction of his congregation has been, to say the least, mixed, while some visitors to his church got up and walked out.

This week and next week, the Examiner will carry Rev. Mouland's sermon dividing it into two sections, as he did, the Old Testament and the New Testament.

Old Testament

For many centuries now, the Bible has stood as a book apart and has been revered and respected as Holy Scripture, the direct and written communication of the Eternal God who is 'up there in the skies.'

But something has happened in the last century which for many Christians is very unpleasant and, for others, very disturbing.

Holy Scripture has been critically challenged and the Bible seems to have lost its authority. And I would say quite frankly and quite honestly that I doubt whether it will ever again recover its ancient prestige.

Now, what events in our intellectual and spiritual history have transformed the revered and unquestionable Book of the past into the Book of lost status and questionable authority? How, now, shall we discover God's Word? Does God indeed have a 'word' for us? Indeed, what have they done to the Bible?

It is these very questions and in the attempt to answer them that the New Curriculum has created such a stir throughout the nation.

It is no exaggeration, I feel, to call the impact of New Curriculum theology and thinking an explosion, for I would venture to guess there has been more written about it than any other Church issue in the last 25 years. The United Church has taken a brave new step . . .

First of all, I would say that the decline in 20th century regard for the Bible has been occasioned by the growth in science. Geology was the first to raise its troublesome head . . . establishing with a certain definiteness that the earth was mil-

We understood last year, that we were to be deprived of it, for that period. But surely if we are not going to have the pleasure of it, in the very near future, could not a temporary piece of the Park be given us? Even if it isn't 9 holes. There is a flat piece of grass opposite the comfort station.

Everyone seems to be catered to except the senior citizens.

We certainly trust we will get some action before the summer is over. Here's hoping.

Dear Sirs,

Since our official Campaign ended I have intended writing to thank you for the publicity we received through the Westmount Examiner, and we have every reason to believe that our objective will be achieved.

You will be interested to learn that at the National Meeting of the Canadian Cancer Society held a week ago in Moncton, N.B. a resident of your City Mr. Jos. C. Clapinson was elected a National Director as recognition of his outstanding work on behalf of the Society. If needed I know you have details of Mr. Clapinson's background.

One again many thanks for your assistance in this vital and worthy cause.

lions of years old. Then came biology, Charles Darwin and his 'Origin of Species.' And suddenly the creation story of Genesis became foolishly naive; in fact it became 'untrue.' In later years astronomy set man rudely down within the context of an immense and immeasurable universe of which he — man — was just an infinitesimal fragment.

The Church fought back, hoping in some way to discredit science, gasping frantically in the 'science vs religion' controversy for the clear, pure air of former times, and thus pounded its bleeding theological head against a scientific wall of incontestable facts.

Thank God the science vs religion battle is now over and both sides, in realizing the uselessness of it all (and in the process coming to understand each other and themselves a little better) declared a truce. Yet none of the teachings of the new sciences has destroyed the Christian faith itself.

We have made accommodations for the new knowledge . . . certainly, the great god, 'Science,' has won it devotees and the insignificant creature man, in spurning the Biblical God, went off to worship there and for many today religion has turned sour and has become an indigestible feature of a modern technological age.

Now please don't get me wrong! I accept the theory of evolution as far as I have been able to understand it and no one in his right senses would dare reject the findings of the sciences. But the dispute, now dead, had a curious side effect which set the stage for what became known within the Church as "Higher Criticism."

Theologians and others began to apply the scientific method to matters Biblical and for the first time in 3,000 years the Bible was looked at with a curious and a critical eye. It was an intellectual and Biblical revolution which thus began, a revolution which has not yet ceased to be felt; and I suspect it has a long way to go yet before its goals are finally realized.

The field of combat is now within the Church itself. It is a bitter fight — between the hard-dying traditionalists and the ever increasing number of liberal-thinking Christians. The battle is not new . . . it had been long noted that there were inaccuracies, inconsistencies, absurdities and contradictions in the Biblical text. Was God responsible for this? If, as the literalists are forced to admit, — if God took the author's pen and guided the writing, then God alone was responsible for contradicting Himself! Julius Wellhausen, however, set things straight in 1884 when in his now famous work he boldly proposed that the Pentateuch (first five books of the Bible) was obviously composed of material from four sources and were written over a period of 300 years long after Moses was dead.

In Deuteronomy 34 there is an account of the death and burial of Moses, and as Dr. S. Frost points out in his book "The Beginning of the Promise": "One or two men have been known to write their own obituaries, but no one else ever described his own funeral, and remarked that his grave has been lost sight of 'to this day.'" The conclusion must be: Moses did not write the Pentateuch.

What you have in the Penta-teuch are a number of strands of material skillfully woven together for a purpose into a coherent whole. The hands of men wrote it and it is not — at least it should not be — disturbing to find inaccuracies in what has always been considered as Holy Scripture.

Here is the crucial point: The written word as we read it does have inaccuracies but God's Word does not change and remains infallible as the Word of God to man. Dr. J. S. Thompson warns us about it in "God and His Purpose": It is so easy, he says, to become so entangled in the 'words' of Scripture that we are apt to miss the Word.

Through Higher Criticism we have come to recognize that the Bible speaks to man in a variety of literary forms. "In many and various ways God spoke to our fathers by the prophets," writes the author of the Epistle to the Hebrews.

As we read the Old Testament, and if we are to understand it as well as we possibly can, we shall need to recognize these three essential elements — myth, legend, and history, (and biased history, at that!).

Dealing with history . . . the Hebrew people spent time in Egypt and under a leader named Moses escaped and settled in a region where finally was established the nation of Israel. Another event: In 586 B.C. Jerusalem fell under the imperial power of Babylonia and the Jews went into exile. Supposedly simple facts! Yet what does the Biblical historian do with them? The Hebrews left Egypt, he says, because under the divinely inspired Moses, God led them out to the land promised to their forefather Abraham. And why did Jerusalem fall? An unbiased historian might write: "Let's face it! Babylonia was strong, a military giant!" The Biblical historian writes differently: The people have sinned and the exile is punishment for the worship of false gods. Such is the peculiar and particular bias of Biblical history.

What of myth? We would be at a loss to find a word which more adequately describes the story of Adam and Eve, of the Flood, or of the Tower of Babel. Of course, the Biblical story of the Flood is modelled upon and copied from the Babylonian flood myth — only the purpose is changed and, naturally, the name of the god. Yet myth, though in its incidentals is false, does contain truth. Myth, as someone has said, is the shell of an oyster: When you break it open, there is a precious pearl.

Legend differs from myth by a very thin, though very definite, margin. In the Bible we read of Moses, of Abraham, of Jacob . . . It is only natural to expect that time and an oral tradition will embellish and enlarge upon the lives of great men . . . they now have the stature of the North American legendary figure, Paul Bunyan. But what were these men really like?

Myth, legend, history — instruments of God in his communication with man! Under all the shells there exist the precious pearls. For the Bible is still God's word — for you, for me, for now. But it does take a lot of searching to find it and this is both our challenge and our opportunity as 20th century Christians.

The New Curriculum was conceived in and sprang out of this kind of thinking. For many people it is too explosive, too liberal, it goes too far. As for my own position, I will say this; at last my faith does not require me to live an intellectual lie.

Next week, The New Testament.

In The Examiner This Week — 25 Years ago

Cadet Battalion: More than 350 students of Westmount High School recently signed a petition requesting that a high school cadet battalion be established when the new term commences in September.

The Westmount High School Old Boy's Association has taken an interest in the proposal and negotiations to follow such a scheme are being considered by that group in consultation with the Westmount School Board.

Indication as to the trend of the times was provided when the petition was passed around, when a questionnaire requested the branch of the service which the school boys were most interested in.

The Air Force swept the poll. That sentiment will probably shape the nature of the corps, if the training group materialises as is anticipated.

Why on earth did le Chantecler build the 19th hole before the 14th?

Same reason you need an oasis before driving off in the desert. We always try to make things more pleasant for our guests. So we finished the beautiful Chantecler club house before completing the golf course. (13 holes are in play now, which makes even a duffer's score for a "round" look pretty good.) Next trip up, you'll notice a lot of other changes at le Chantecler. We're modernizing, air-conditioning, adding to the pleasure of your stay at every turn. But we're not touching the rustic charm and warm friendliness that's been le Chantecler's to crow about for 25 years. We wouldn't dare.

TWO MINUTES WITH THE BIBLE

BY CORNELIUS R. STAM, PRES.
 BERKMAN BIBLE SOCIETY
 CHICAGO 33, ILLINOIS

How many there are whose hearts would be thrilled if they understood the old fashioned Bible doctrine of sanctification!

Sanctification is not a negative matter: don't do this and don't do that. It is rather the positive truth that God wants us for Himself as a bridegroom considers his bride his very own in a special, sacred way.

Bible sanctification is a two-fold truth, affecting both our standing before God and our spiritual state. In one sense every true believer in Christ has already been sanctified, or consecrated to God, by the operation of the Holy Spirit. Thus we read: "... God hath from the beginning chosen you to salvation, THROUGH SANCTIFICATION OF THE SPIRIT ..." (II Thes. 2:13). "Elect according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, THROUGH SANCTIFICATION OF THE SPIRIT ..." (I Pet. 1:2).

This has nothing to do with our conduct. God did it. Sanctification begins with Him. Thus Paul could write to even the careless Corinthian believers and say: "YE ARE sanctified" (I Cor. 6:11; cf. Acts 20:32; 26:18). This phase of sanctification is based on the redemptive work of Christ in our behalf, for Heb. 10:10 says: "We are sanctified through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once for all."

But now God would have us appreciate this fact and conduct ourselves accordingly, consecrating ourselves ever more completely to Him. This is practical, progressive sanctification. "For this is the will of God, even your sanctification" (I Thes. 4:3). Hence Paul's exhortation to Timothy to be "a vessel unto honor, sanctified, and meet (fit) for the Master's use" (II Tim. 2:21).

How can believers be more wholly sanctified to God in their practical experience? By studying and meditating on His Word. Our Lord prayed: "Sanctify them through Thy truth: Thy Word is truth" (John 17:17) and Paul declares that "Christ loved the Church and gave Himself for it that He might sanctify and cleanse it with THE WASHING OF WATER BY THE WORD" (Eph. 5:25, 26).

the grave and an attempt to show that the emphasis upon the physical Resurrection is wrongly placed. The fact of the Resurrection is beyond dispute.

July 25 - The Divinity of Jesus. - An interpretation of the belief in the divinity of Jesus, to be considered in relation to the history of the doctrine and the humanity of our Lord. Some basic questions: Does the 'Divinity' of Jesus really matter? If He was 'Divine', how can He be like us?

Christian Science

Communion Services will be held Sunday in Christian Science churches throughout the world. This is a semi-annual occasion at which, in many of the branches of The Mother Church, new members are formerly received. Among the special observances followed by all the churches are when the First Reader reads the Church Tenets in their entirety, and when the congregation kneels in silent communion - the only occasion on which kneeling forms a part of a Christian Science church service.

In the reading of the week's Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Sacrament," emphasis will be made upon the inability of ritual and ceremony to take the place of obedience, humility, and spiritual understanding.

Religious Radio

Everyone knows that confidence is essential to success and happiness, but how many understand that there is a spiritual basis for it, which makes it available to all? This will be explained on the Christian Science radio program "The Bible Speaks to You" to be heard on station CKVL (dial 850) next Sunday morning at 9:45.

belief in Christ's Second Coming in the light of New Testament teaching and modern expectation. Auxiliary consideration: the difference between 'immortality', basically a Greek concept, and 'eternal life', an emphasis of the New Testament - two ideas which are confused by many Christians - and the Christian doctrine of our 'hope' for the future.

News of accidents, missing persons and ordinary court cases may only be given to the newspapers under the regulations and always provided that nothing shall be told that will operate against the public good or in any way prejudice matters under investigation.

It is often necessary to be firm, although polite, with the press since disclosure of information may lead to the failure of a prosecution or the escape of a suspected person. It is particularly necessary that every peace officer shall see that there is no waste of public money. This applies to the proper use and care of equipment. All rules as to maintenance, repair or up-keep of Motor Vehicles, Radios, etc., must be strictly observed.

Junior IODE Seminar '65

This week Junior Chapter Seminar 65 sponsored by the Provincial Chapter of Ontario IODE is being held at Hamilton, Ontario. Two members from each of the Order's junior chapters in seven provinces — Alberta, Saskatchewan, Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island — have been invited to take part in the Seminar which will include conferences and discussions on the IODE and planned educational tours of Ontario cities. The girls will be guests in the homes of Hamilton members, and members in Toronto, Ottawa, Brantford, Kitchener, Stratford, Niagara-on-the-Lake and Niagara Falls will be hostesses when the visitors are in those cities.

There will be a tour of Hamilton and the Planetarium at McMaster University, and the highlights will be a visit to Government House in Ottawa and a performance of Falstaff at the Stratford Festival theatre.

This Seminar is a "first" in IODE history and is being made possible through a grant from the Centennial Commission Youth Travel Program. It has a two fold purpose — to stimulate the growth of junior chapters and to promote a better understanding of their country by young Canadians through educational travel and meeting young people from other regions of Canada.

Leslie Swan and Paula Pullam of the Jeanne Mance Junior Chapter of Pointe Claire have been selected as delegates from the Montreal area. Leslie Swan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Swan, Lansdowne Gardens, Pointe Claire, and attends John Rennie High School. Paula Pullam, of Lansdowne Gardens, Pointe Claire, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Pullam.

The Jeanne Mance Junior Chapter was formed in 1961, and has 11 members. The girls have assisted in their community by helping the librarians on Saturday afternoons in the Pointe Claire Library. They raise funds through Fashion Shows, Carol singing, and as young moderns — a Discotheque Dance. Last year they were able to present $100 to the Children's Ward of the Lakeshore General Hospital. They have also given parties for children in the Allencroft Home. In the field of education the members collected and forwarded second-hand books of a junior reading level to their adopted school at Lanse Amour, Labrador. They previously had donated a set of encyclopedia to this school.

Introducing 'Pom Gold'

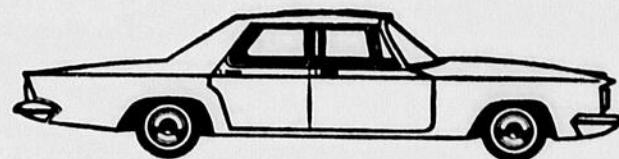

Today, Harrison Brothers will be proud to introduce a new loaf of bread to the Montreal market. Its name? POM GOLD. The outstanding feature of this loaf will be the new wrapper.

A survey some years ago among U.S. housewives showed that of all food packages on the market, the most difficult one to reclose was the standard cellophane wrapping on a loaf of bread. This, coupled with the inside paper identification band resulted in the bread tending to lose its freshness and/or shape. The weakness in the wrapping also created difficulties in delivery and store presentation.

The answer proved to be a reclosable and reusable polyethylene bag, sealed with a small plastic "Kwik-Lok" clip. The printed bag also introduced in California, the popularity and advantages of this bread wrapping have since spread across the continent. Harrison Brothers decided to be the first to introduce it to Montreal.

So, today POM GOLD makes its debut into the Montreal market, offering Montreal housewives the advantages of "bagged bread."

Tea Time Topics...

A business gal's beefs

By Millicent Hickmore

MONDAY MORNING — not a blue Monday — but a beautiful sunny summer day — however, to start the week right I must air a few "beefs" which have been on my mind for some time. Perhaps some of these are your "beefs" too, if not, drop me a line and I will publish some of the things which annoy you.

MOTORISTS who think it beneath them to use traffic signals, especially the direction indicators — men are the worst offenders.

THE MOTORIST directly behind, who honks the horn for you to proceed, when a pedestrian is walking half way between your two headlights — does he think we should run the pedestrian down?

THE CITY of Montreal, — the Provincial Government — or whoever is responsible for the delay in extending Cavendish boulevard to Cote de Liesse road, which would relieve the terrific congestion of traffic that now prevails on Decarie boulevard due to the work on the expressway. Incidentally St. Laurent and the Town of Mount Royal agreed over one year ago to shoulder their share of expense, although it will not be of much advantage to either districts, and Cote St. Luc has already done its part. Only a numskull could have thought of starting construction on Decarie boulevard expressway — the only West End outlet to the north — before opening Cavendish.

THE OMISSION of white lines both on Decarie boulevard and especially on the Cote de Liesse circle, motorists drive into the circle from every direction and the timid are squeezed out of line and are left behind.

THE SIGNS on the new Trans Canada Highway, throughout Quebec, which are in French only, how about the rest of Canada will its signs be in English only?

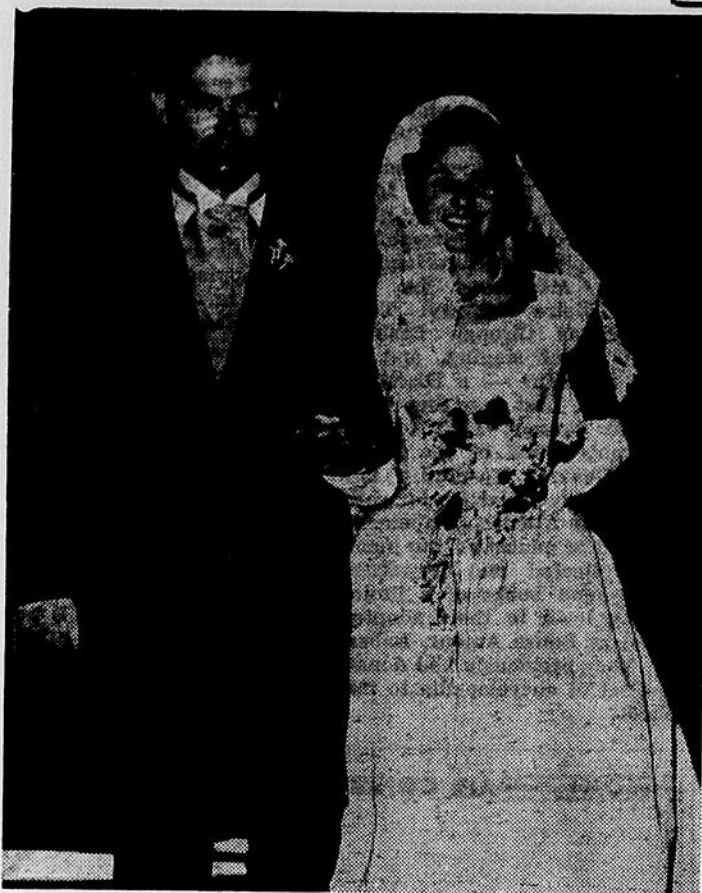

THE DEMONSTRATIONS or riots which mark each of the English holidays — even "Canada Day" making it unsafe for anyone with small children to venture uptown or near the East End of Montreal. Most of our police officers are young French Canadians and it is they that have to meet up with these mobs and many of them have been seriously injured.

THE HOUSEWIVES with small children who shop in the supermarkets between the hours of 5 and 6 p.m. and the small tots amuse themselves by squatting in the aisles reading books taken from the shelves, which by the way are returned to the racks and later sold — with the addition of numerous grubby little fingermarks.

THE SHOPPER, male or female who insists on going through the express line with a cart half full of groceries, when the sign over the express aisle — reads — six articles or less.

A CLOSE SHAVE: Seen on Decarie boulevard Tuesday morning — a motorist using an electric razor, while driving a volvo — taking the odd peep into the mirror. When he caught up with the heavy traffic at an intersection he was patting his face to find out if it was smooth. — I'm glad he made it!

MR. AND MRS. LEON JEDEIKIN, whose marriage took place on July 4, in Temple Emanu'El, Westmount. Mrs. Jedeikin, formerly Miss Justine Adelaide Stern is the daughter of Rabbi Doctor Harry Joshua Stern and Mrs. Stern. Mr. Jedeikin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Jedeikin, all of Westmount. Both bride and bridegroom are graduates of McGill University, Mrs. Jedeikin in Arts and Library Science; and Mr. Jedeikin in the Faculty of Law.

Miss Justine A. Stern
weds Mr. Leon Jedeikin

The marriage of Justine Adelaide Stern, daughter of Rabbi Doctor and Mrs. Harry Joshua Stern, of Westmount, to Mr. Leon Jedeikin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Jedeikin, also of Westmount took place on Sunday afternoon, July fourth, at four-thirty o'clock in Temple Emanu-El, Westmount, Dr. Stern, the bride's father, officiating. Mr. Victor McCorry, organist, played the wedding music, with Cantor Otto Staeren singing the ritual music, assisted by the choir of Temple Emanu-El. The altar was banked with white shasta daisies, gladioli, chrysanthemums, and greens; the doors of the sanctuary were arched with garlands of smilax and small white 'mums.

BRIDE'S GOWN
The bride, who was also escorted by her father, was attired in a gown of antique ivory poul de soie, appliqued with Alençon lace, fashioned on princess lines, having a fitted bodice with a round neckline and short sleeves, and a bouffant skirt fashioned with back panniers falling into a chapel train. Her veil of tulle illusion edged with Alençon lace was worn as a mantilla, and she carried white camillias and stephanotis attached to a prayer book, which had belonged to her maternal grandmother.

Mrs. Robert E. Glaymon was matron of honor for her sister. The other attendants were Mrs. David R. Asch, sister of the bridegroom; and Miss Mara Lynn Stern, of New York, cousin of the bride. All were attired in floor-length dresses of apricot chiffon, fashioned along empire lines. They wore large picture hats to match. The matron of honor carried a cascade bouquet of white shasta daisies, while the attendants carried colonial bouquets of shastas.

Mr. Glaymon was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Asch, Mr. Herbert Golstein, of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, cousin of the bride; Mr. Mark Abramowitz, Mr. Murray Goldberg, Mr. Cal Kogan, and Mr. Richmond Lisser.

Mrs. Stern, the bride's mother, was in a floor-length gown of jade green mousseline de soie and French re-embroidered lace.
