Artsmen hit hardest by declining value of degree

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian economy appears increasingly unable to absorb the acquired skills of thousands of university and college graduates.

Data for 1970 is still sparse but a manpower publication soon to be released shows that the requirements of large national employers increased from 1969 by only 3.4 per cent.

"This contrasts with an increase of 10 per cent in the size of the graduating class over the same period," says the publication, called Supply and Demand.

Canada produced about 69,300 university graduates this year, about 9,300 of them at the postgraduate level. Graduations in 1971 are expected to increase at a slightly lower rate but will still reach an estimated 73,300 with a higher proportion—11,300—receiving master's or doctor's degrees.

Community colleges, which do not grant degrees, will graduate an estimated 32,400 this year and more than 39,000 in 1971.

Such figures add up to a highly competitive search by graduates for jobs related to their field of studies. For many this year, the economic slowdown has brought a fall from a favored status in the job market.

The manpower report shows a decline in demand of between 15 and 30 per cent for pass and honors graduates in arts and science.

For graduates with master's degrees, the drop in demand was 20 per cent and for holders of the doctorate, 25 per cent.

Many experts suggest that those graduating from the glutted fields of literature, the social sciences and psychology have made impractical choices for future employment.

A general self-improvement education is just not very marketable," says Dr. Miles Wisenthal, director of the education division in the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

W. H. Rutledge, executive director of the University and College Career Planning Association, agrees that "most of the arts people are in the same boat—they're really not trained for anything."

"Teaching is beginning to dry up and industry hasn't room for them."

In other courses, Mr. Rutledge says, undergraduates are sent out for on-the-job training to go with their classroom education. Then they graduate, such "practical-minded youngsters haven't got the job-finding problems of the arts graduates."

But this year's figures indicate that even the practical minded have not escaped the effects of economic slowdown, apart, perhaps, for graduates in business administration, commerce and commercial accounting.

The estimated demand for engineers in 1970 has risen by what would appear to be a healthy 12 per cent. Graduations, however, increased by 15.4 per cent.

A more serious situation has already developed for science grads. Over-all, the demand for those with a doctoral degree has dropped by an estimated 22 per cent this year.

Reviewing the probabilities, Dr. A. D. Boyd of the Science Council of Canada says that hiring for research and development in private industry for the next two years will be on a replacement basis, with perhaps even fewer scientists being hired than retire.

New physicists, chemists and biochemists will be those most directly affected in the weakening research field, along with engineers, Dr. Boyd says. The main exceptions will be geologists, geophysicists and others in the earth sciences, largely in connection with oil exploration in the north.

Such a review leaves out of consideration community college graduates.

Often better trained for a specific job than their university counterparts, community college graduates are being employed in many positions formerly filled by degree-holders.

Bill stalls on amendment bid

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's public order bill has yet to clear a last bid for amendment from New Democrat Leader T. C. Douglas before it can receive final approval by the Commons.

Russians test MIRV

NEW YORK (Reuter) — Newsweek magazine says the Russians have successfully tested a multiple-targeted missile for the first time, "taking a long step toward catching up with the U.S."

The magazine adds: "The tests, in late October and early November, dropped the dummy warheads over northeastern Siberia. The area covered—27 miles long and eight wide—is not, in the Pentagon's judgment, big enough, and they expect the Soviets to try to enlarge it in order to include more targets."

"The new missile is expected to be operational in late 1971." The magazine also says that "Washington's China-watchers expect Peking soon to begin setting up test flights for two new, 5,000-mile range missiles."

The bill to replace the emergency regulations proclaimed Oct. 16 under the War Measures Act, moved into the third-reading stage after the House completed, mid-way through the evening sitting, a protracted clause-by-clause study. The legislation was introduced Nov. 2, given second reading Nov. 5, and has been in committee-of-the-whole since.

Mr. Douglas and Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield both spoke against the bill and the government's manner in refusing amendments to it as they began the final stage before it can go to the Senate.

But while the Conservative leader said he would vote for it "with regret," Mr. Douglas demanded that the House reopen the 12th clause to insert provision for an independent review board to guard against abuse of the special powers.

Speaker Lucien Lamoureux, questioning whether the amendment was in order, said as the House adjourned he would rule on the move today.

Mr. Douglas claimed the exceptional powers contained in the bill are an illustration of the failure of police in their search for Front de Liberation du Quebec terrorists.

Approve new valuation roll

SHERBROOKE (DM) — Municipal council last night ratified the evaluation roll and it was revealed that the total worth of Sherbrooke property is $433,080,210 of which $323,544,950 is taxable.

Having ratified the roll, the first conducted since 1951, council now must decide in the course of its budgetary study what the property tax will be.

It is expected that the rate of assessment will drop from 13 mills to 7.5 or 8.

In a report to council last night, the revision office revealed that corrections totalling $4,756,050 were made to the role after it had held 85 hearings.

At the hearings, protests were registered by property owners dissatisfied with their original assessments.

The revision board consisted of chairman Rodrigue Desnoyers, Phillippe Routhier and Gary Longchamp.

European advisers killed Fighting halts in Guinea

ABIDJAN, Ivory Coast (AP) — Fighting in the Guinean capital of Conakry between government forces and a band of invaders appeared at an end Monday night. Radio Conakry called on residents to resume their normal activities but keep their weapons at hand.

Guinea alleges the invaders were mercenaries sent by Portugal, whose neighboring possession of Portuguese Guinea is beleaguered by guerrillas in Guinea shelters. Radio Conakry said the invaders were trained by Col. Jean Schramme, a Belgian-born white mercenary who fought in the Congo.

The radio said a number of European advisers to President Sekou Toure's Marxist-oriented government were killed in the fighting.

Bonn confirmed the death of one West German, East Germany said one of its diplomats was killed and another wounded. Belgrade's official news agency Tanjug said the Yugoslav embassy in Conakry reported the death of the daughter of a Yugoslav doctor working there. The first travellers to arrive here from Conakry since the fighting began early Sunday said they believed the battle was over.

They said the vessels that landed the invaders from the sea left their moorings Sunday. They said the fighting centred on the residence of President Sikou Toure, an army camp, the Conakry airport and the barracks of the Republican Guard.

Many were left dead by a surprise attack on the barracks, they reported.

In an apparent effort to calm residents on the border with Senegal, Radio Conakry said Monday the government was informed by Senegal last week that Senegalese and French forces would hold manoeuvres in the border area Dec. 4-9.

Radio Senegal denied earlier in Dakar reports by Radio Conakry that French forces were stationed on the frontier "ready to intervene against Guinea," noting that Senegalese President Leopold Sedar Senghor sent Toure a message of support.

Broadcasts from the Guinean capital Monday repeated the government's contention that the invaders were mercenaries dispatched by Portugal.

In Moscow, the official Soviet news agency Tass quoted the Kremlin as accusing Portugal of a "criminal act of armed aggression" against Guinea.

The so-called Tripoli Pact countries, Egypt, Libya and Sudan, called for an urgent meeting of the Organization of African Unity, Cairo's Middle East news agency reported. It also said Egyptian President Anwar Sadat assured Guinea of Egypt's "all-out backing ... against the imperialist aggression."

Radio Conakry said two of those "cowardly murdered" were West Germans, but it gave no details.

In Bonn, the West German foreign ministry said it had received word that an employee of a West German firm in Conakry had been killed. It identified him as A. von Thiesenhausen. The foreign ministry said it had no reports of other West Germans being killed.

The East German news agency ADN reported, however, that a deputy consul of the East German embassy in Conakry had been killed in the fighting and that a trade attache was seriously wounded. It said Dr. Siegfried Krebs was "murdered in a cowardly fashion while on his way to the embassy."

Information on the hostilities came only from sparse communiqués issued by Radio Conakry.

Bank robbery suspects surrender to police

By DAVID MAGLI

SHERBROOKE — Two young men, suspected of being part of a four-man gang which robbed a bank in Derby, Vt., Nov. 10, were arraigned before Judge Benoit Turmel of Sessions Court here yesterday after surrendering themselves to police in Montreal Friday afternoon.

Daniel Pruneau, 19, of Beebe, opted for trial before by judge and jury on charges of car theft and receiving stolen goods. His case was postponed until November 26.

Raymond Belleville, 20, of Sherbrooke, pleaded guilty to car theft and had his sentence postponed to November 26. A charge of receiving stolen goods was dropped.

Accompanied by their lawyer, Frank Shofsky, they surrendered themselves to police at Quebec Police Force headquarters on Parthenais Street in east-end Montreal Friday afternoon.

They were transported that night to Sherbrooke Jail.

Meanwhile, U. S. district attorney W. F. Cook said in Newport that extradition proceedings to return the four suspects to Vermont were being held up pending disposition of charges brought against them by Canadian authorities.

Pruneau and Belleville, as well as Camille Pruneau, 26, of Beebe and Norbert Houle, also of Montreal Friday afternoon.

Laporte inquest

Admits building FLQ hideaway

MONTREAL (CP) — A young law student testified Monday that three kidnap suspects came to his west-end apartment at about the same time terrorists say Pierre Laporte was strangled Oct. 17 in St. Hubert, 12 miles away.

Richard Therrien, 20, a tall, blonde and bespectacled student at the University of Montreal, was testifying at an inquest into the death of Mr. Laporte, 49, the Quebec labor minister who was kidnapped by terrorists Oct. 10 and slain a week later.

Therrien told of a visit to his apartment Oct. 17 by Paul Rose, 27, who arrived "before supper," his brother Jacques Rose and Francis Simard, both 23, who got there "around 6:30 or 7 p.m."

A note received by police from the terrorist Front de Liberation du Quebec shortly after the killing set the time of the minister's "execution" at 6:18 p.m. Oct. 17, exactly a week after the abduction.

Therrien was living in an apartment on Queen Mary Road in west-end Montreal which he shared with his sister Colette and another brother-sister pair, Francois and Francine Belisle.

It was there that the Rose brothers and Simard escaped detection by police during a raid Nov. 6 by hiding in a secret compartment they had built in a clothes closet.

A fourth kidnap suspect, Bernard Lortie, 19, was apparently too slow to get into the hideaway and was captured in the raid.

He told an earlier session of the inquest that he took part in the Laporte kidnapping along with the Rose brothers and Simard. But Lortie said he left the bungalow where Mr. Laporte was being held, in St. Hubert south of Montreal, late Oct. 16, the evening before the slaying.

He also testified that Paul Rose, aware he was being followed by police, had left the bungalow two days earlier. Therrien said he was not aware at the time of the Oct. 17 visit that Mr. Laporte had been killed.

Paul Rose, the first arrival, had altered his appearance. He was "well dressed" and his hair was cut short and dyed red.

Price war results still inconclusive

By BILL TREXLER

SHERBROOKE — Battle lines remain firm as the grocers' price war moves into its third week in the Province of Quebec but some question has occurred as to just whether or not the so-called discount war is really anything more than an advertising hoax.

One Montreal newspaper last week reported that a check on food prices before and after the declaration of war from Dominion Stores revealed a price difference of only .72 cents on a 40 item order in the Dominion store at 6825 Cote des Neiges.

Here in Sherbrooke, however, a random survey of shoppers indicated that virtually all interviewed thought a marked difference in prices had occurred in stores here. Even independent grocers are into the fight and some Supreme markets have posted pre- and post-price-war comparison lists.

Women told of savings ranging from a few cents on a jar of jam to a whopping 8 cents saving on flour, and remarked that in some independent stores they noticed brands had changed, probably to allow more competitive pricing.

Inquiries into new "Deep Discount Prices" at the Dominion store here in Sherbrooke were referred to Dominion's regional manager, Real Brouillette, in Quebec.

"It's our permanent policy and we're going to remain at this level unless suppliers raise their prices," Mr. Brouillette told The Record. He reaffirmed the Dominion slogan "we will not be undersold," and said that the only way Dominion's prices could be beaten was by weekend and special price offers which, he said, would only be on a limited time basis.

"It was a very exciting week for us all," he said, "the consumer got a chance to see what we meant."

But other retailers do not share Mr. Brouillette's enthusiasm for Dominion's new discount policy.

At Supermarche Raymond, owner Raymond said, "we don't believe in their story, they have to come down." According to Mr. Raymond, most independent grocers buy from Provigo, a company formed by the merger of the province's three largest food suppliers.

"We have more buying power than either Dominion or Steinbergs," Mr. Raymond said. "They can't go very far." He pointed out that the chains have expenses in advertising and administration which the independent grocers do not. "We cut prices, but there's not much effect so far," he said, "we're going to stay at approximately the same level."

At Steinbergs, Manager Claude Henri also disclaimed the Dominion, "We will not be undersold" motto.

"Our present structure of prices is five to 15 per cent lower than our competitors, this includes Dominion," he told The Record.

"We've been discounting for a year and a half," he said, "I think that the fact that they lowered their prices means we've had the right policy for a year and a half. It can't hurt us, it can only help us."

With everyone vocally proclaiming the lowest price offers, it would appear that the Sherbrooke consumer's only hope is to survey each of the stores to determine just where the real discounts are to be found.

Richmond women hosts for regional U.C.W. conference

RICHMOND — The United Church Women of Chalmers Church, Richmond, were hostesses to the M. and O. Conference United Church Women recently when the executive of conference U.C.W. and delegates from Ottawa, Seaway Valley, Montreal and Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbyterian U.C.W. met in Richmond for their fall executive meeting, with Mrs. R. A. Cameron as president.

The four delegates from this area were Mrs. D. Baldwin from Lennoxville, Mrs. E. Kimmis, Sherbrooke, Mrs. H. Miller, Knowlton, Mrs. D. Warren, Knowlton.

Leadership was given by the Rev. J. Wilson and Mr. L. Milne from the United Church of Canada Headquarters in Toronto.

The Wednesday evening session was open to the public with the C.G.I.T. Group of Chalmers Church conducting a worship service with choral speech and song, assisted by Miss Brenda Nixon, and the Rev. Margaret M. Errey of the Board of Women, Toronto giving the address, with people from Windsor Mills, Ulverton and South Durham and Chalmers Church attending.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Oswald: "Here is a simple hand that causes no stir in rubber bridge, but separates the men from the boys in a match-point game."

Jim: "Every North-South will get to three no-trump. It doesn't matter what is opened. South will win the lead and knock out the ace of diamonds. Then he can spread his hand and claim four odd."

Oswald: "The duplicate player makes 11 tricks if he knows about three-suit squeezes."

Jim: "He wins the heart lead and knocks out the ace of diamonds. East wins and almost surely leads back the jack of spades. South notes that East did not return his partner's suit and assumes it is because he started with just one heart. He also notes that West played the queen of spades on his partner's jack. Obviously, East is long in spades."

Oswald: "South simply leads back the deuce of spades. East wins but is unable to take another trick."

Jim: "It is an automatic three-suit squeeze. Only West can protect hearts. Only East can protect spades. South will cash dummy's last high spade, his last high heart and run all his diamonds. He will discard dummy's last heart on the last diamond and be left with a small spade, the six of hearts and the ace and one club."

Oswald: "It won't matter which opponent started with four clubs. He will have been forced to discard one. West will be holding a high heart and East a high spade, which will leave only three other cards in each hand."

City council

Traffic troubles discussed

By DAVID MAGIL

SHERBROOKE — Municipal council became ensnarled in traffic last night as the majority of resolutions on the agenda dealt with circulation and parking difficulties.

At the same time, they managed to transport themselves onto the ski city-operated slopes and decided to keep the same rates as last year in spite of Recreation Director Yvan Beaulieu's suggestion that special student rates be abolished for those 14 years and older.

Council accepted a suggestion of Roads Department Chief J.P. Lajoie that a new type of traffic light system for park and school areas be attempted. They rejected his proposal for its location.

Mr. Lajoie had suggested that the system be set up on Galt Street W. in front of Notre Dame du Rosaire Park where "useless delays in traffic are caused," he claimed.

The system proposed by Mr. Lajoie was conceived and created by General Electric Company and was successfully experimented with in Ste-Foy, a suburb of Quebec City.

Council accepted a suggestion from the roads department to erect four pedestrian signals at the intersection of Alexandre Street and Ball Street.

The traffic lights on that corner will be arranged so that the pedestrian signals will inform walkers when to cross one street or another at the same time as the automobiles.

Council deferred decision on a request by Dominion Textile Ltd. for the installation of traffic lights on the corner of King Street W. and Burlington Street, but only after a lively exchange between Councilors Gerard Deziel and Romeo Quintal.

The debate revolved around a report from Roads Department Chief Lajoie which decried the municipality's lack of long-range planning for the installation of traffic lights and asked that such a plan be instituted soon.

Coun. Deziel supported Mr. Lajoie's report, saying that no more traffic lights should be erected before a complete study of the situation was made while Counc. Quintal emphatically contended that studies took too long and the situation had to be dealt with immediately.

Council accepted Police Director Edouard Moreau's suggestion that council suggest to the regional school board that no school has zones be established without the city's prior consent.

Mr. Moreau's suggestion arose out of a report which he submitted regarding school bus stop inspections at St. Michel Street and Terrill Street, St. Michel Street and La Bruere Street and La Bruere Street near 12th Avenue North.

A request from the Taxation Division Component of the Public Service Alliance of Canada (Sherbrooke Local) to rent the vacant lot facing the Federal Building at 50 Couture Street for parking purposes was accepted in principle by council.

Municipal Manager Richard Fabi was authorized to meet with the union and work out details of such an arrangement.

A request from the St. Francois Lawyers Association for special parking privileges on Palais Street was referred to an ongoing study into the circulation situation in the area of the court house. This study was set up last week.

In other business, Sherbrooke Hydro Director Jean Bourassa agreed to a council decision to refer his service extension proposal to the municipal investments study to take place in December. Mr. Bourassa appeared before council to emphasize the urgency of his program.

COUNCIL NOTES: Council ratified an amendment to the Quebec Housing Society's low-cost housing project number three which will see 112 units built instead of the originally proposed 55 units. Councilors Rosaire Coutu and Romeo Bergeron were named as delegates, and councilors Roger Gingues and Bernard Matte as alternate delegates, to the December 16 meeting of the Eastern Townships Regional Economic Council.

Coun. Antonio Pinard is to be a delegate to a meeting of The St. Francis District Cities and Towns Association on December 10. The budget study continues this week. Having completed their preliminary study, council will meet with the chiefs of all municipal departments. The budget must be tabled before December 7... it seems as if municipal grants will be diminished if cuts cannot be effected within any of the municipal departments.

Stanstead Cty. plowmen hold annual meeting

AYER'S CLIFF — The annual meeting of the Stanstead County Plowmen's Association was held on Thursday evening, Nov. 19, in the hall of the County building here.

Last year's directors who were re-elected are as follows: Douglas and Alex Johnston, Fred and Stanley Keet, Douglas McKinnon, Turner Hunter, Frank Smith, Weyland Pope, Leslie Bliss, John and Bill Brus, Roland Bowen, Stanley Whitcomb, Willie Antick, Dale Miller, Richer Harrison, San MacDonald, James Rutledge, Dewey Mosher and Gerry Letourneau.

New to the board are Tom Ride and Wendell Cass.

Mr. Pope was elected president, Dewey Mosher and Richer Harrison as vice presidents, and Howard Ayer as secretary-treasurer.

The first meeting of the fiscal year was also held. Mr. Ayer said that the Oct. 10, 1970, ploughing match had been the most successful in several years and was perhaps a record.

The directors also discussed the Provincial match tentatively planned to be held at the adjoining Hunter — MacKinnon farms at Barnston in 1971.

In the County Match for 1971 the directors agreed to enter another class, No. 5 to be for four furrows or more with Class 4 to be three furrows.

Richer Harrison offered a plot of land for instructional plowing by Herbie Winget and Keith Rose for a group of plowmen using their own plows. This will be in late August or early September.

The Department of Agriculture and Colonization are giving their annual $100 grant for the Association work for the 1970 year.

The directors expressed appreciation to the support given them by the news media and voted Ivy Hatch an honorary director.

Montreal headed the list with 293 arrested. Of these, 256 have been freed, two have been convicted, and 50 are still being held, for a total of 300.

Although not stated in the release, the reason for the discrepancy between the number of Montreal arrests and the number freed, detained or convicted may be due to transfers to Montreal of suspects arrested in other locations.

The release adds that 88 hearings were held in various locations in the province and six investigations were made outside of Montreal, all in cooperation the Montreal-based investigation into the Cross-Laporte case.

Mercury filtration plan offered by CJM

SHERBROOKE (DM) — Diatomite filtration has proved an effective means of preventing mercury pollution of rivers and streams, an official of Canadian Johns-Manville Co. Limited claims.

J. Charles Honey, Sales Manager, Celite Products, said in a press release that diatomite filtration has reduced the mercury content in certain industrial wastes from a high of 5 parts per million to less than 5 parts per billion, the safety level currently being recommended by authorities.

"Chemical treatment followed by Diatomite filtration is used to filter waste streams prior to discharge or reuse," said Mr.

Honey. "The process can be used to treat contamination by mercury in metallic form or its soluble inorganic compound forms."

"Diatomite filtration is used to remove the insoluble mercury particulate matter that will not normally settle out by conventional methods," he continued. "If the mercury is soluble, the waste discharge is chemically treated to convert the mercury to an insoluble compound."

Diatomite is marketed under the name Celite by Johns-Manville.

Covering up mistakes

Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau and his associates are fond of talking about "participatory democracy," a phrase that supposedly gives each citizen the right to express his views on the deeds and misdeeds of the politicians, whether on the government or opposition benches.

But, if the mean and niggling attitude being displayed by the Government in the new legislation it has introduced to limit the effectiveness of the auditor-general is any criterion, this principle should be denied this important official.

The function of the auditor-general is to analyse the national public accounts and report on the correctness and efficiency with which public funds voted by parliament are handled. But last spring, the Government became annoyed by the manner in which the auditor-general made reference to certain non-productive, large-scale governmental expenditures. These included revelations over huge expenditures for refit and repairing of the aircraft carrier Bonaventure, which soon after was sold for scrap; $8 million spent on an unused port on the lower St. Lawrence river.

To a degree the cabinet may be right in its claim that the auditor general, Maxwell Henderson, overstepped his authority by straying critically into the area of government policy. But such goofs as ordering millions of suits of underwear of the wrong size and color for an undermanned air force by a departmental underling are no more a drain on the purse of the taxpayers than some major error by the cabinet itself.

But the government now appears to be guilty of the same sin it ascribes to Mr. Henderson going overboard in an excessive display of zeal. It would forbid the auditor-general from making any comments about "non-productive" government expenditures, which would confine his functions to a strictly bookkeeping job.

And even worse, from the Opposition viewpoint, is the intention to require the auditor-general to inform the government three months in advance of the publication of his annual report of what the report is to contain. In essence, Mr. Trudeau and his aides are refusing to recognize the basic fact that the auditor-general is responsible to Parliament as a whole and not to the government in power. The whole reason for having a nonpartisan, purely objective analyst of public spending is to remove the examination of the government's books from government influence.

World trade problems

With the United States Congress considering import quota legislation which some economists fear may touch off a crippling chain of retaliatory protectionist moves throughout world trade, word comes that the United States is not alone with the trade problem.

According to the Wall Street Journal, Japan also has an import problem. Its textile makers are facing increasing competition in the home market from low-cost fabrics produced in Hong Kong, South Korea and Taiwan.

This may be called poetic justice, since it was the increasing flow of Japanese textiles into the United States which sparked the demand of American manufacturers for protection, just as Canadian producers have had trouble with Japanese imports for years.

If the United States does adopt the import restrictions which have been approved by the House of Representatives, Japan could find her problems confounded. Not only will sales of her textiles in the United States be reduced, but Asian competitors, also hurt in the American market, could attempt to recoup by selling more in Japan.

Call it also a sobering reminder of how interdependent the economies of the trading nations are. We may have a long way to go politically, but we are already very far along the road to being one world economically.

How the issues are twisted

By LUBOR J. ZINK
OTTAWA — (TNS) — According to the latest opinion survey, 80 per cent of adult Canadians support the emergency measures the Government took to deal with political terrorism.

To my knowledge, no other governmental action in recent memory has received such an overwhelming endorsement. Opponents of the War Measures Act and the temporary legislation that will supplant it see it as a bad omen.

They argue that the readiness of eight out of 10 Canadians to accept some limitation of civil liberties when the Government deems such action is necessary for the preservation of public order signifies lack of concern of basic democratic freedoms and willingness to accept dictatorship.

There is no evidence to support this interpretation of the popular support of the emergency measures. Far from displaying indifference to civil liberties, the endorsement of the crackdown on political violence shows great concern for their preservation. It shows that most people have realized that their basic freedoms are under attack by political gangsters and their befuddled apologists, and that survival of these freedoms depends on their effective defence.

In other words, most Canadians see the emergency measures not as suppression, but as essential defence of civil liberties. This, regardless of what the propagandists of self-destructive over-permissiveness may say to the contrary, is a good omen for survival of democracy in Canada.

Though bombarded for years by the perverted version of liberalism which has opened the door to subversion and anarchy, most Canadians have apparently retained enough common sense not to confuse responsible exercise of civil rights with misuse of democratic freedoms.

It is the survival of this important distinction between orderly use and unlimited abuse of freedom which infuriates the pushers of the anarchical concept of civil liberties.

For as long as this distinction remains clear in the public mind and finds reflection in the actions of representative governments, the subversive elements and their various fronts will not have an unimpeded run of the "revolutionary" path of political violence.

It is worth noting who the most vociferous objectors of emergency defence measures of orderly freedom are.

Heading the list are the Communists (both of the Moscow and Peking persuasion): i.e.: Support of a creed which, wherever it gains power, destroys all civil liberties. Their concern for our freedoms, which they seek to exploit for their totalitarian aims, is really touching.

What these people mean by civil liberties can be gleaned from their press which, despite their charges of censorship under the War Measures Act, remains completely free in what they call "fascist" Canada.

Take, for example, the People's Canada Daily News, the organ of the Maoist faction. Number 32 of this "first national daily newspaper of the Canadian working class and people," carried a big headline: "The Quebec people's unarmed struggle will become armed." Underneath is an "important statement" by the Communist Party of Quebec (Marxist-Leninist), which says in part: "The Government of Canada invoked fascist law to quell the rising revolutionary storm of the people of Quebec... and has instituted a campaign of white fascist terror onto the people... The police in Gestapo raids all over Quebec... have illegally arrested patriotic people and are holding them in fascist prisons."

"The Quebec people... are preparing to take matters into their own hands by following the historic call of the Communist Party of Quebec (Marxist-Leninist) that: 'The unarmed struggle of the Quebec people is bound to develop into armed struggle...'"

This is accompanied by a declaration which quotes Mao Tse-tung and calls on "all progressive and patriotic organizations to unite in the glorious duty of wiping out our common enemy, building an independent and democratic Quebec, and marching forward in the world-wide struggle against... the U.S. aggressors and all their running dogs."

The Moscow branch of the party, which ostensibly rejects individual terrorism, is a bit more sophisticated. It merely seeks to encourage the more respectable opponents of the emergency measures which so greatly offend the defenders of perversions of democratic freedoms.

The November 4 issue of the Canadian Tribune, the mouthpiece of the Moscow branch of the Canadian Communist Party, carries on its front page an open letter addressed to the leader of the New Democratic Party.

The "Dear Mr. Douglas" letter congratulates "the 16 NDP members of Parliament who have so ably and consistently attacked the War Measures Act" and asks that "you and your group oppose the substitute legislation..."

The letter is signed "Sincerely yours, William Kashtan, national leader, Communist Party of Canada." Including its academic wing, it's a very interesting "civil rights brigade."

THE ART BUCHWALD COLUMN

WASHINGTON — Will Middle America forgive? We'll know the answer to that question before the 1972 elections.

The Saturday Evening Post has just announced it's going back in business, as a quarterly. Beurt Ser Vaas, an Indiana publisher who bought up most of the Curtis Publishing stock, says the new magazine will look like the old Saturday Evening Post in the days when Norman Rockwell's covers reigned supreme.

"The Post will represent Middle America," said Ser Vaas, "and will not be sophisticated or blasé. It will have the qualities of kindness, sympathy, nostalgia and optimism that made it a favorite of Americans for many generations."

And well and good, and I wish Mr. Ser Vaas a lot of luck, but I believe he should be aware he faces a very serious problem.

When the Saturday Evening Post was struggling for its life a few years back, it decided to cut 2 million subscribers from its 6 million circulation list. A computer was hired to weed out older people, small towners and people who didn't have the buying power. The Post advertising people thought they should. The magazine announced publicly it only wanted a young class of readers.

This was a blow for the people who loved the Saturday Evening Post the most — and when they received a notice from the Curtis Publishing Company telling them they had no class and they were being struck from the subscription list, they couldn't believe it.

Some became embittered, others depressed and a few committed suicide. Most people who were cut have not gotten over it.

Unfortunately, these are the same readers Mr. Ser Vaas is going for. How can he get these people whom the old SEP had declared non-persons to subscribe again?

Here is a suggested letter he might send out:

Dear Middle American,

Two-and-a-half years ago, a computer in our company went berserk and canceled your subscription to the Saturday Evening Post. This computer, which we have since discovered was an effete intellectual snob, had decided, without conferring with anybody, to drop everyone from Middle America and only send the magazine to those who lived in the high-rise districts of this country.

The computer worked alone at night, when no one was in the building, sorting out people by ages and income brackets. Anyone over 40 and who made less than $20,000 a year was erased from its tape.

In the morning when we came to work, the computer pretended that everything was A-okay. None of us here at Curtis had any idea of the disloyal components that were working against us.

It was just by accident, when we received 2 million letters protesting cancellations of our magazine, that we suspected foul play.

The computer denied any wrongdoing, but we were so certain it was lying that we applied electrodes to its auxiliary condenser. The agony was too much and it fed out a confession.

The reason it gave for its perfidy was that whenever it made a mistake in an address, the circulation manager kicked it off the company.

The computer said it decided to revenge itself on the company.

You will be happy to know that this computer is no longer with us. After being stripped of all its tapes and fuses, it was sold to the Soviet Union where it is now computing salt mine production in the Urals.

Knowing that as a loyal, patriotic American you would not hold a traitorous computer against us, we are asking you to re-subscribe to the Saturday Evening Post.

Our new computer has been cleared by the FBI, has been cleared by the FBI, has been cleared by the FBI, has been cleared by the FBI, has been cleared by the FBI, has been cleared by the FBI...

Medicare

Sir: What are some of the issues about medicare that are so seldom mentioned? How will medicare affect the doctor-patient relationship of the past? Are any freedoms lost to the patient under the present system of health care? What permanent effects can medicare have on the quality of medical care in this community? These are all vital questions which must have an answer.

Many doctors have recently expressed the fear that the quality of medical care which they have previously given must necessarily suffer. Greater demands on the doctor's time, with increasing patient loads, mean less time can be given per patient in the office or in the hospital than previously. Stress is put on the relaxed doctor-patient relationship if a doctor is concerned about a waiting room full of patients waiting to see him. The time given and energy spent by the doctor towards preventative medicine and supportive care — will this be a thing of the past? This question is particularly valid in the area of pediatrics where so much of a doctor's care is related to preventative medicine.

The doctor-patient relationship has also been supported in many cases through the use of the telephone, but, as medicare considers only a face to face confrontation of patient and doctor as a medical act, the use of the telephone in a doctor's practice will be curtailed or phased out entirely. What about house calls? Once again, the demands on a doctor's time are so increased that there will be an increasing reluctance on the part of doctors to continue this service.

Several of the local physicians have expressed themselves publicly on the question of the inevitable decline in the quality of medical care in this community, unless basic changes are negotiated with the government over medicare. Most specialists work as members of a team. The team functions well as long as each member of the team does his job. If one or two members of the team leave the local hospital where the team functions, the remaining specialists on the team cannot function properly and they too will have no recourse but to move on. The medical climate in Quebec today is such that other specialists would not be encouraged to move into the province to fill the ranks of those who leave. The result? The quality care which we have been used to in this community could become a thing of the past.

At present the government gives no recognition or compensation to physicians commensurate with qualifications and experience. Is it sensible or just or wise that a doctor with mediocre skills or little experience be treated the same as the one who has reached a state of excellence in his field? Much has been heard about the "opting-out" clause in the medicare legislation. Under the present scheme, opting-out is permitted, but the opted-out doctor will receive only what the government allows in remuneration for his service. A more meaningful opting-out clause would permit doctors who wish to practise outside medicare to charge extra fees to patients who can afford them. This would cost the government no more, and it would be an encouragement for the most talented and best trained doctors in this community to stay here and practise. The individual patient could still decide which doctor he wanted to be treated by — one working under the health scheme, or one practising independently of it.

have been concerned about the implications of the present medicare scheme and its effect on this community. They have arranged a meeting for the public to take place at the YM-YWCA on Montreal St. in Sherbrooke on Wednesday, November 25, at 8 p.m. All interested are invited to come and ask questions. On hand to discuss medicare and to answer questions of those present will be Dr. D.L. Campbell, Dr. A. Dougan, Dr. J.L. Ross, Dr. B. Mongeau, and Dr. T. J. Quintin.

Many thanks

Dear Sir: Just a note to say how much we appreciate your kindly co-operation and help in publicizing the program of "Les Feux Follets". This project was a great success because so many like yourself pitched in. The 1600 pupils at the Regional School saw two performances in the morning and afternoon and were delighted by this lively tribute to and display of our Canadian Heritage. The evening performances brought together the French and English adults of the area and the consensus was that it was the "shortest hour we have ever spent". Financially, because of your enthusiasm, what was potentially a very costly and risky venture became a resounding success. Many, many thanks on behalf of our Official Board for your support.

Yours truly,
J.D. MCCORD

Action

Sir: A few months ago I had a very unpleasant experience on the Autoroute. My car was towed away from the parking lot within the confines of the Magog toll gates, and it took hours to find it. The Record printed my complaint, in which I stated that they should have a "TWO HOUR PARKING" sign if that was truly the reason for my unpleasant happening... Gentlemen of the autoroute, imagine my delight on discovering that that very sign now sits proudly in the middle of the parking zone where everyone can see it clearly. The men at the wickets are far more amiable too.

The only thing I can suggest now is that you reduce the fare to a dime during rush hours as they do on the Laurentian route. You'd get an accolade from one driver who loves the Autoroute and is most grateful that you took note of, and did something about, the convenience of the customers who make use of it!

It's Iran night in Sutton as couple tells of trip

SUTTON — During the spring of this year, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Carr enjoyed a trip to Tobriz, Iran, where they were the guests of their daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. F. Samandari. Enroute they visited several spots in Europe and also in the East.

A short time ago, anxious to share their most interesting experience with members of the Anglican Church as well as many of their other friends they entertained at a memorable evening which they termed Iran Night.

The Parish Hall was filled to capacity and as soon as all had assembled they were served tea and a variety of sweets, this being an Iranian custom to any one visiting a home in that country, even though one may be invited to dinner which is usually a many-course meal, the little ceremony of tea and sweets is carried out first.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Carr showed slides and gave a very descriptive story of their trip, highlighting it with amusing incidents which showed how the country is still one of distinct contrasts, where the old merges with the extremely modern and beautiful, these changes are gradually taking place even in the manner of dress.

The Carrs also stressed the friendship of the people everywhere they went, to the extent that even with a language barrier they were still able to communicate, they also spoke of the gratitude they felt in the way their daughter has been accepted by everyone.

Following the slides the guests mingled and enjoyed looking at the many beautiful articles which Mr. and Mrs. Carr had brought back with them or had received as gifts.

Large bowls of fruit and nuts (another custom of that country) were placed about the room for the enjoyment of the guests, while Eastern Music lent an even more authentic air to the occasion.

Canon Brett rector of Grace Church graciously thanked the hosts on behalf of those present.

Members of the A.C.W. assisted in serving and the silver collection was donated to Grace Church Memorial Fund.

In NFL Eagles snap Giants' streak

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A pair of long kickoff returns by rookie Billy Wialik and the passing combination of quarterback Norm Snead hit Philadelphia Eagles snap New York Giants' six-game winning streak with a 23-20 victory Monday night in a National Football League game.

Wialik returned a second period kickoff 57 yards, which set in motion a Philadelphia drive that wound up with a 29-yard field goal on the last play of the half.

In the third period, Wialik raced 45 yards with a kickoff that started the Eagles to their winning touchdown, scored on a one-yard plunge by Snead 52 seconds into the fourth quarter.

The Giants came from behind for the second time with an 11-play 60-yard drive at 13:10 of the third period to go ahead 20-16. An 18-yard pass completion from quarterback Fran Tarkenton to tight end Bob Tucker picked up 18 yards, and a pair of 15 yard penalties assessed against the Eagles helped in the drive, which wound up with Tarkenton pushing one yard into the end zone. Pete Gogolak converted.

Gogolak then kicked off to Wialik, who cut to the left side.

line and raced 45 yards to the New York 46. Snead hit Hawkins for a 31 yard gain and when the flanker fumbled the ball, teammate Jim Scaggs fell on it for three more yards at the 12.

PENALTY HITS GIANTS
The Giants were penalized five yards for offsides and Pinder hit the line for four and two yards for a first down at the one. Here the Giants were offsides again and penalized half the distance to the half yard line, from where Snead scored on a quarterback keeper. Mark Moseley booted the extra point and the Eagles were in front to stay with only 52 seconds gone in the final period.

The defeat dropped the Giants into a second place tie in the NFL's national conference Eastern Division with the Dallas Cowboys, each with 6-4 records. They trail the leading St. Louis Cardinals, who are 7-2-1, by 1 1/2 games.

The victory is the second of the season for the rapidly improving Eagles. Philadelphia lost its first seven before defeating Miami, tying Atlanta, and upsetting the 6 1/2 point favored Giants.

Vanier takes badminton honors

COWANSVILLE (SA) — Massey Vanier Regional High School badminton players travelled to McMasterville Saturday, Nov. 14, and returned with the South Shore Interscholastic Athletic Association tournament title.

The overall championship was won on the basis of a senior division title and runnerup spot in the junior division.

Members of the championship team were:
Senior boys — David Stretch, Bob Rainville, Brian Elston, Kim Copping and Doug Black.
Junior boys — Kim Norris, Bob Norris, Craig Elston and Gary Neville.

Senior girls — Lee Cochrane, Susan Chapman, Susie Pugh, Joan Wilkinson and Janet Irwin.

SOCCER

The MVRHS boys' junior soccer team invaded Knowlton Wednesday, Nov. 11, and came away with a convincing 8-2 conquest of Knowlton Academy. Two days later, the senior boys filled an away date with Lemoyne d'Iberville.

The Massey Vanier representatives were blanked in a rough and exciting contest, dropping a 2-0 decision.

HANDBALL

The girls' senior and junior handball squads played host to Immaculate Conception School here Friday, Nov. 13, and split a pair of games.

Heather Dawe led the senior team to an 8-5 victory with four goals. Audrey Jones had three, and Debbie Mullins rounded out the scoring for the winners.

The junior team fell 4-2 in a spirited game as Cathy Luce collected both MVRHS markers.

BASKETBALL

The basketball season has opened for another year with four interscholastic teams scheduled to compete.

J. Longtin and A. Irwin will coach the senior and junior girls' squads respectively, and B. Busted and J. Sewall will serve as coaches of the respective senior and junior boys' basketball teams.

The two boys' squads will open the schedule for Massey Vanier when they travel to Stanstead College for games tomorrow.

Next Monday, the girls' teams will be in the spotlight as they entertain their counterparts from Macdonald-Cartier. Cheerleaders for both basketball and hockey are under the direction of E. Maher.

HOCKEY

Hockey practices in preparation for the season have been conducted for some time under coach G. Allen. His charges will see their first action next Monday, also against Stanstead College. The school administration, staff and students, is rallying behind its representatives in the various interscholastic sports, and all concerned are looking forward to exciting seasons.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Selwood release expected

MONTREAL (CP) — Brad Selwood, Toronto Maple Leafs' rookie defenceman, is expected to be released from a Montreal hospital today, a hospital spokesman said Monday.

Selwood suffered a back injury in a National Hockey League game here last Thursday against Montreal Canadiens when he crashed heavily into a goal post.

He suffered an injured fourth lumbar vertebra and the spokesman said he will be out of the lineup for some time.

Rangers recall Krulicki

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Rangers of the National Hockey League announced Monday the recall of forward Jim Krulicki from Omaha of the Central League.

Krulicki, who had two goals and four assists in nine games with Omaha, replaces rookie Jack Egers, who suffered a concussion in Sunday night's game against Minnesota. Egers will be out of action about 10 days.

Cup field in fine shape

TORONTO (CP) — Temperatures near the freezing mark and a brisk wind that ripped up several sections of tarpaulin covering CNE Stadium, site of Saturday's Grey Cup game, is just what any good football fan would have ordered.

Several sections of the tarpaulin were hoisted by winds and deposited in front-row seats, leaving most of the field exposed.

"We couldn't have asked for anything better," said Ken Twigg, stadium manager.

"That wind just dried the field out beautifully. The field is in terrific condition at the moment. It's relatively dry and firm."

The 30-foot sections of the tarpaulin were undamaged.

Bruins attack records

MONTREAL (CP) — As the National Hockey League moves into the second quarter of its 1970-71 schedule this week, Boston Bruins threaten to surpass many existing scoring records.

The Bruins' offence, led by centre Phil Esposito, has scored 80 goals in 18 games. If that pace were maintained through the remainder of the season, it would produce a record 344 goals.

By AL McNEIL

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes appear to be in good physical condition for next Saturday's Grey Cup game against Calgary Stampeders at Toronto.

Coach Sam Etcheverry sent his Eastern Football Conference club back to work Monday afternoon following its tough 11-4 win in Hamilton last Saturday against the Tiger-Cats. The victory gave the Alouettes a 43-26 edge in the two-game, total-point EFC final.

Lineman Barry Randall, who suffered an elbow injury Saturday appeared the only doubtful starter against the Western Football Conference Stampeders.

Etcheverry said Monday he thinks Randall may have a recurrence of an old injury and he hopes the player can appear in the Grey Cup, Montreal's first in 14 years.

The Montreal coach said running back Moses Denson, hampered by a back injury in Hamilton, should be back in top form.

Etcheverry was still warmed Monday about the reception his club received at Montreal

Harvest Sale and Tea

The Philathea Annual Harvest Sale and scones tea was a huge success. An interesting atmosphere prevailed in the Gertrude Scott Hall. The hall was tastefully decorated with large baskets of fall flowers and the walls with Halloween motifs. The small tea tables were centered with flower filled miniature pumpkins on linen table cloths.

The sale of the Harvest was presided over by Mrs. Roger Havard. Mrs. Sam McLean and Mrs. Austin Scott. Numerous kinds of vegetables, jams, jellies, pickles and delectable home baking soon found a ready sale.

Mrs. Ray Frizzell and Miss Florence McCurdy were in charge of the fancy work, knitting and novelties, where several items gave a pre-Christmas hint.

Mrs. Roy Aldrich and Mrs. Anson Rowe had a table of many types of aprons which were appealing to the shoppers.

Mrs. Gail Brown was in charge of the tea committee and was assisted in serving by Mrs. Lyman Rothney, Mrs. Andrew Card, Mrs. Grant Taylor, Mrs. George Wray, Mrs. Dorothy Geddes, Mrs. Karla Dietz and Mrs. Hugh L. Wallace.

Mrs. Lorne Butler and Mrs. Roy Sutor were in charge of the tea and coffee. The food arrangements and preparations were supervised by Mrs. Gertrude Winslow, Mrs. Harold Robertson, Mrs. George Sutherland, Mrs. Lewis Eager, Mrs. Arnold Bown, Mrs. Olive Painter and Mrs. Gilbert Patrick.

The tea menu of old fashioned scones, jams, jellies, cheese and cookies was enjoyed by all. The jam and jelly trays were most tempting and furthered the theme of fruits of the harvest.

Influence of Earth vs. Space Forces

To Be Taller, Live on the Moon

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I teach junior high school science-fiction classes. Would you answer a few questions the students have asked? If a child were born and reared to an adult on the moon under one-sixth of our gravity in a "pure" artificial atmosphere with controlled temperature, air-supply, bacteria, etc., what effects would this have upon the height, circulation and muscle development? If this person were to come back to earth, would his body ever be able to adapt itself to this "foreign" environment? We feel that your years of experience with our astronaut program would give you special insights into these questions. Can you help us?

Dear Reader—You would have to assume the child lived in a container that provided an oxygen supply comparable to that found on earth and adequate external pressure against the body. We live in an atmosphere that exerts 15 pounds of pressure over every square inch of our body. The body needs about five pounds of pressure to keep from losing gas dissolved in the blood and tissues of the body. The gas can form small bubbles that are painful or even life-threatening. Without pressure, you could not even supply oxygen to the body.

Because the moon has only one-sixth of our gravity, the human body weighs only one-sixth as much as it does on earth. We believe this means the bones, particularly in the legs, would grow longer on the moon. Rats raised under the influence of a large gravity force, have shorter, stronger legs. These experiments were accomplished with a large centrifuge. Hence the idea of tall moon men.

Since the body would be relatively light, the muscles would be long but not as large or well-developed as those of earth creatures like us.

The circulation and other functions would be much like ours, only the reflexes would respond to a smaller stimulus than ours do. Most of these mechanisms can be changed by the body anyway, just like changing from bed rest to being up and active.

If a moon man came to earth, he would indeed have trouble. It would be as if your body suddenly weighed six times as much. He would have trouble running or moving around easily. He certainly couldn't compete well in the Olympics. After sufficient time to develop stronger muscles and bones, he would be able to move normally on earth.

He would also have trouble with our bacteria and organisms, since he would not have developed any immunity against them. His body defenses against infection would be poor without a well-developed mechanism to develop natural resistance against infection. He might be a lot like the people who have had their immune mechanism destroyed for heart transplants. Then he might have trouble with our pollution.

In fact, he might just prefer to stay on his moon.

Guild makes final plans for Christmas tea, sale

ROCK ISLAND — Mrs. Roy Wells and Mrs. E. J. Barnes were hostesses for the November meeting of Christ Church Guild held at the home of Mrs. Wells.

The president, Mrs. R. W. Peirce, presided and conducted the devotional period opening using materials from the Living Message. Prayers were given for people of the parish where there is illness.

The reports noted a sum of $76.80 realized from the November rummage sale.

Mrs. William Meade announced that military whist card parties are taking place every second week at the Parish hall. These are open to the public.

Final plans were made for the Christmas sale and tea at the parish hall on Dec. 5. Sale tables will include handicrafts, home made food and fudge, Christmas wreaths, candles and mystery.

This project is under a committee of Mrs. Edward Hyatt, Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. Lindsay Smith, Mrs. F. K. McLeod and Mrs. G. Hatch. Several members volunteered to assist.

Mrs. R. W. Peirce will entertain the Christmas meeting on Dec. 9 at her new home. The members discussed having a Christmas or at another time of the year a Sunnyside school project for the special classes.

Mrs. Richard Middleton, Sr., said five cards had been sent out in the past month.

Mrs. George Hatch, Living Message secretary, spoke on this church magazine and emphasized it is one of the best Anglican church publications as it contains information on missions, what is being done to help Indian and Eskimo families and children, plus church union, diocese work across Canada and in other countries. In conclusion, Mrs. Hatch invited subscriptions, mentioning they make an ideal Christmas gift.

Mrs. Wells and Mrs. Barnes served refreshments during the social period.

Special Orange ceremony held in Kinnear's Mills

INVERNESS — A number of members of the Orange Order from here attended a very successful meeting at Kinnear's Mills on the evening of Oct. 31, when they had the pleasure of meeting some of the provincial grand officers of the two branches of the order represented here, as well as several other visitors from Montreal and Sherbrooke.

The lodge room of Osgoode Valley Lodge, No. 995 was well filled to welcome Mrs. MacLeod, provincial grand mistress, and her colleagues. Routine business was disposed of satisfactorily.

Meanwhile, in the Orange Hall a meeting was currently in progress under the chairmanship of Rufus Jamieson, and county master of Megantic County, assisted by W.C.D.M. Raymond Dempsey.

Grand Lodge honors were accorded to those of that rank, and Mr. Jamieson invited these officers to be seated on the dais, at the same time extending a warm welcome to all visiting brethren on behalf of the County Lodge of Megantic.

Eloquent remarks were heard from Mr. Powers, of New Carlisle grand master of Quebec, Mr. Butler, and Mr. Lough, of Montreal, all of whom made it clear that the Provincial Orange Grand Lodge of Quebec remained adamant in its loyalty to the British Crown, and to the maintenance of order and justice.

The committee on returns reported an increase in the membership of this county, and that L.O.L. No. 678, had won the John McVetty Memorial Trophy for having made the most progress during the past year. Bro. Ronnie Nugent, County Treasurer, reported that the finances were in a healthy condition.

Lodge was then closed due to the arrival of the ladies from their lodge room to take part in the proceedings. Entering the main room, the Grand Lodge officers of the two organizations moved through between two lines of members to their positions at the end of the room, when the impressive dedication service took place. Mr. Powers, and Mrs. MacLeod, being the central figures.

A very tasty lunch was then enjoyed after which songs by Mr. Lough, music by Mr. Lough, Joy Nugent, and Rufus Jamieson added the completing touch to a wonderful evening.

The water system has been put in good repair, and a new oil furnace has been installed as a part of the renovations done to their hall, the former Kinnear's Mills High School.

The singing of God Save the Queen brought an official close to an evening long to be remembered in the Orange circles of this county.

Final plans are made in Scotstown

SCOTSTOWN — Mrs. Earl Dougherty was hostess for the November A.C.W. meeting at her home on Ditton Street with 10 ladies present. Mrs. Roy Desruisseaux opened the meeting with prayer. Mrs. W.H.M. Church acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Bea Atkin. A very warm expression of thanks was received from Mrs. Charles Baker who had been remembered with a birthday gift in October.

The secretary was asked to send a letter of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Casey Sanders of Montreal for the donation of tiles for the bathroom floor in the parsonage.

Names were taken of those wishing the church calendars and notice was given that the subscriptions for the Living Message were due.

Final plans were made for the Christmas Tea and sale to be held in the United Church hall on Nov. 28. Members worked on articles at the meeting for the sale.

The Anglican Church and hall will be decorated for the Christmas season as well as the United Church hall before the sale.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Dougherty served refreshments.
