AN AID TO WEARING THIS SEASON'S FASHIONS

(Helps to Beauty) Here is a simple, unflattering way to rid the skin of objectionable hairs: With some powdered delatone and water make enough paste to cover the hairy surface, apply and in about 2 minutes rub off, wash the skin and every trace of hair has vanished. Though it is harmless, but to avoid disappointment be sure to get the delatone in an original package.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a bottle of "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

The harvest thanksgiving supper, which was held on the 5th instant, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church, in the Town Hall, was a great success. It would be worthy of mention that the supper would not have tasted half as good had it not been for the "sweet madams" who served the tables. The entertainment that followed was of a unique nature. The chairman, Rev. John Stark, put the assembly in good spirits by his opening remarks, in the nature of a toast to the ladies. The opening item of the programme was a pianoforte solo, "Frolics," by Mrs. T. E. Evans. This was of a

In addition to its own high direct nutritive value, Bovril has a remarkable power of enabling you to extract more nourishment from other foods.

INTERESTING MISSION ADDRESS AT Y. P. S. MEETING

Last night many of the young people interested in the success of the Young People's Society of the Methodist Church met together for an instructive and social two hours. As usual the meeting opened with two or three hymns, announcements and a musical number; the latter being delightfully performed by Miss Viola Bush.

The main item on the programme was an address on missions by Mr. E. S. Beerworth. Mr. Beerworth is the missionary vice-president in the Society this year and is making a study of the subject. He has already aroused curiosity and interest in the minds of those present last night to hear him. He has shown that if studied together in a systematic way missions can be very interesting whereas it has always been more or less dull for the boys and girls. Mr. B. B. Brown added a few words to Mr. Beerworth's talk, and said that this winter the young people of the Society should think a little less of themselves and the good times they have every Monday evening, and think a little more of others and deny themselves if need be to do more for missions.

STUDENTS REGISTERED FOR FREE DRAWING SCHOOL LAST EVENING

The Free Drawing School, which offers such an excellent opportunity to the young men and women, as well as older ones, opened last evening in Griffith's Hall, with an enrollment of twenty-seven.

Although Mr. G. F. McClay, the superintendent, said the number of students registered last evening was not as large as should be it was a good start-off.

Several of those who put their names down were "old timers" who were ready and glad to come back to school, and with the addition of new students will make an interesting class.

Mr. McClay said that in spite of the name "Free Drawing School," many still have the idea that they must "pay their way," and he thought that it kept many from attending. Why this should be so hard to explain, for it is generally understood that the school in this city, as in others, is provided free to all who wish to profit by it, by the Council of Arts and Manufacturers of the province; and to those who watch the student's progress from term to term of the students, its advantages are obvious.

The superintendent said that while Monday had always proved a convenient evening, Friday was not, and the possibility of changing to Thursday was being considered.

The well lighted room with its long tables ready for occupancy, should be an inducement to enough progressive people in Sherbrooke to fill it to its capacity, but like other things educational, it may need propaganda to bring its full advantages before those needing them.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT ST. PAUL'S MISSION.

The annual Harvest Thanksgiving service was held in St. Paul's Mission, Sunday evening last, with a good congregation present, all joining heartily in the service of praise.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with autumn leaves, fruit and flowers, which added to the beauty and brightness of the day.

The special preacher was Rev. R. Remington-Smith, Dean of Bishop's College, who took for his text the words, "Lord open his eyes that he may see." The speaker briefly and forcibly explained that what the prophet Elisha meant was the opening of his servant's spiritual eyes; applying the words in a practical way to the present time, and earnestly advising his people to think more of things spiritual.

The choir rendered the anthem, "Ye shall dwell in the land" very acceptably with solos by Miss Grace

A pleasant birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Winget, Moulton Hill, the party being given in honor of Mr. Winget's first-born birthday. The guests, numbering about fifty, were welcomed by Mrs. Winget, assisted by Miss Iva Winget, and cards and other games were played until midnight, when dainty refreshments were served. Dancing was then in order until the early hours, when the guests returned to their homes by motor, leaving many good wishes with Mr. Winget. The out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Squires, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ross and Mr. Edgar Stewart, of Leeds; Mr. Angus Winget, of Webster, Que.; Mr. Henry Arteau and Miss Arteau, of Sherbrooke; Miss MacDonald, of New York, and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ford, of special Harvest hymns, were joined in the congregation.

A feature of the days was the children's flower service, held at three o'clock in the afternoon. The children placed their offerings of flowers around the altar, and joined heartily in the service, conducted by Rev. Robt. Herron, in whose charge the harvest decorations were left to distribute among those who would appreciate the friendly remembrances.

VERMONT STATE FAIR A GREAT SUCCESS

Mr. F. W. Thompson, who has been superintendent of traffic for the Sherbrooke Eastern Townships Exhibition for the past six years, has just returned from the Vermont State Fair, held at White River Junction, where he had the position of superintendent of traffic inside the grounds, as well as having control of the grand stand arrangements.

Mr. Thompson reports a very successful fair, and states that the admission on Wednesday was in excess of twenty-one thousand paid admissions. A feature of the fair was the Friday session, which was devoted to auto polo and auto races. The races proved to be a great drawing card, the receipts for the day being far in excess of those of the other days.

HAPPY EVENT AT ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

The anniversary of St. Andrew's Church, celebrated on Sunday, was brought to a fitting close last evening by an entertainment in the Church Hall, which, large as it is, was taxed to its capacity, the audience with few exceptions being composed of the congregation and the atmosphere that of a family party. Rev. Alfred Bright acted as chairman, and conducted the simple religious exercises, two familiar hymns and prayer, after which, Mr. Bright, referred to the anniversary, just ending, voiced his own gratitude, and that he was certain of the congregation for all the mercies and blessings which had been vouchsafed to them, the splendid services of the day before, the good attendance, the speaker who had come to them with a helpful and improving message, for the improvements in the church building, the work of the choir, which had never been excelled, the fine weather, the liberality shown in the anniversary offerings, the devotion of the officials of the church, or all these, and countless other mercies, there was great cause for thankfulness as a congregation.

A charming musical programme was then carried out, consisting of a vocal quartette, "He That Hath a Pleasant Face", the Misses Carr, Mr. Allan Carr and Mr. Watson. Song, "Heaps of Lickens", Mr. John Watson; Song, "When I was a Boy at School", Mr. Carr; Duet, "The Twins", Mr. Allan Carr and Mr. J. Watson; quartette, "When a Wood Goes a-Wooling"; Duet, "Love and War," which were all applauded enthusiastically and several encored. Rev. Dr. Henry, B.A., the speaker of the occasion, was then introduced after remarking that he had been with boys, loved them and hoped always to remain a boy himself at heart, proceeded to talk of boy, a strange animal, with a wit and humor, and a play of fancy and imagination, which appealed irresistibly to his audience, who were responsive to a degree. Reals of laughter alternated with wet eyes as the lecturer told of boyish characteristics, carelessness, love of fun, seeming irreverence, curiosity and other well known traits, or of the homes from which the boy had gone leaving a blank behind. He very patiently with the boy, he continued, and be very loving. You are dealing with soul stuff and destiny is just around the corner. The lecturer closed amidst a deafening burst of applause, which had been thrilled and delighted by his eloquence and sympathy.

A hearty vote of thanks was moved by Mr. J. K. Edwards to Dr. Henry for his visit, his sermons for the anniversary celebrations, and the lecture of this evening. Mr. J. H. Bryce seconded the motion in a few cordial words, and it was carried unanimously, and conveyed to Dr.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon, Ritchie and Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie are in town from Montreal, on their way to Waterville for the funeral of the late Mrs. E. C. Mundell.

Mr. Sydney B. Woods, of Edmonton, Alberta, and his daughter Miss Marjorie Woods, are the guests of Hon. Justice and Mrs. C. D. White, Quebec street, the latter Mr. Woods' sister.

Major-Gen. Sir Frederick Loomis and Lady Loomis arrived from Montreal last night, and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Loomis, Bellevue avenue, leaving today for Waterville to attend the funeral of the late Mrs. Mundell, Lady Loomis' mother.

The death of Mrs. Elizabeth C. Mundell which occurred at the home of Mr. Swanson, in Waterville, will be deeply regretted by many friends in Sherbrooke and elsewhere. Mrs. Mundell was a former resident of Sherbrooke, where she brought up her family, and where her husband passed away. Lately she had made her home in Montreal, and was visiting friends in Waterville, when the end came suddenly. She is survived by her daughters, Lady Loomis, wife of Major-General Sir Frederick Loomis, and Mrs. G. Ritchie, of Montreal, with a number of grandchildren. The funeral took place today, and the interment will be made in Kingston, Ont.

Henry by Rev. Mr. Bright, with his own appreciation, and regretted that owing to the weather the visitors had not been able to see as much of the country or city as his hosts had intended. A vote of thanks was also extended to Mr. and Mrs. Carr, the Misses Carr and Mr. Watson for the pleasing musical selections and the evening closed with the National Anthem.

MRS. TABB PASSED AWAY YESTERDAY.

The news of the death of Mrs. Mary A. Tabb, which took place yesterday at the Sherbrooke Hospital, came with a shock of grief and regret to a large circle of friends. Mrs. Tabb underwent a serious operation some six weeks ago, but she was improving and her recovery was confidently expected when complications set in, and she sank till the end came. The youngest daughter of the late Major Beckett, one of the early pioneers of the Townships, she spent her entire life in this city until the death of her husband, the late Dr. Tabb, living quietly with her family. Her buoyant disposition, her cheery outlook upon life, her sympathy and devotion endeared her to all with whom she came in contact, and few women will be more sincerely mourned or more lovingly remembered. She is survived by two sons, Mr. Walter Tabb, of Lowell, Mass., Mr. Earl Tabb, Sherbrooke; two sisters, Miss Elizabeth Beckett, Sherbrooke, and Mrs. William Bonnellie, California, and one brother, Mr. F. J. Beckett, of "The Willows," Beckett road.

The honeymoon was spent at Ayer's Cliff and after a visit to the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Baker will leave for Leduc, Alta., where they will reside in future.

The bride wore a tailor made suit of green, trimmed with fur and hat to match and carried a bouquet of roses and carnations. She was attended by her brother-in-law, Mr. A. Courchene, of Magog, and the groom was supported by Mr. Walter Irwin, of this city. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the groom's parents, the young couple receiving congratulations and many beautiful and useful gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Poole will reside in this city.

Y.W.C.A. BOARD HELD SESSION.

The monthly meeting of the Board of Management of the Y.W.C.A. was marked by a small attendance, owing probably to the weather, which was by no means agreeable. Those present were: Mrs. S. A. Jones, Mrs. David Wilson, Mrs. Morehouse, Mrs. Dowlin, Mrs. F. N. McCrea, Mrs. M. S. Macdonald, Mrs. J. F. McCaw, Mrs. Kinkead, Mrs. George Mackinnon, Mrs. D. J. Salls, Mrs. White.

Mrs. Jones presided and opened the meeting with brief religious exercises. The minutes were read and approved, and the report of the general secretary given. The classes which had begun work were doing well and the swimming class, about to open, anticipated a successful season.

The report and financial statement of the Superintendent was also encouraging and satisfactory, a fair balance remaining over all liabilities. After some discussion concerning certain difficulties in Y.W.C.A. work equally met with in all institutions, whether educational or philanthropic the meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction.

A COMPLETE ECONOMICAL SQUARE HOUSE

BRICK and cement stucco are the materials used in the construction of this house, which is one of the most economical models we have as yet shown. The brick is used up to the sill course and the cement stucco is used above to the roof. This makes a picturesque and substantial model and one that would be attractive in any community in which it may be built. This is a very economical plan with large living room on the first floor and dining room, breakfast room and kitchen in the rear. The stairway which ascends from the living room is well lighted and charmingly breaks the extreme right end of this room. A coat closet alongside of the stairway is convenient. A good sized sun parlor is a happy addition to the first floor plan. There are three bedrooms and bath room on the second floor with an open balcony in the rear. There is also an attic which is meant for storage purposes only, and ample closet space for linen and clothes.

The first floor is finished in oak with oak floor while natural pine is used to finish the second story which has birch floors. The total size of this house which is estimated will cost between $5,500 and $6,500 to build, exclusive of the plumbing and heating, is twenty-six feet by twenty-six feet, these dimensions being exclusive of the sun parlor that projects seven feet on the left side.

There are many unusually delightful features connected with this house. For instance, it has an outside side entrance which will prove convenient on more than one occasion while the breakfast room has built-in table and seats and the dining room has a built-in sideboard. These features will save the owner considerable money and at the same time they add much to the general value and charm of the house.

PROPERTY TAXES TO BE REDUCED BY NEW PLAN

Edmonton Plans Important Changes in Tax System.

Edmonton is considering important changes in its system of taxation and assessment and a report has been prepared setting forth a number of recommendations. The chief aim of the changes suggested is to reduce taxes on property. The reduction for 1922 from the 1920 total would amount to $1,336,221 or 33 per cent.

The aim is to base the city's system of taxation upon the three fundamental principles suggested by the National Tax Association. (a) That every person having taxable ability should pay some sort of direct personal tax to the government under which he is domiciled and from which he receives the personal benefits that government confers.

(b) That tangible property, by whomsoever owned should be taxed by the jurisdiction in which it is located, because it there receives protection and other governmental benefits and services.

(c) That business carried on for profit in any locality should be taxed for the benefit it receives. The recommendations made are as follows, and because of the wide effect they will have if adopted, are given at length:

1—The present Service Tax be discontinued and not levied in 1922.
2—That application be made at the next session of the Provincial Legislature for an amendment to the City Charter, making it clear that the city can exempt from taxation property purchased by it at tax sales and in respect to which the redemption period has expired.

INDIANS CEDE TERRITORY TO GOVERNMENT

Seventy per cent. of the Indians in the Mackenzie Territory have now accepted the treaty terms of the Canadian Government, it is reported by H. A. Conroy, Indian Commissioner, on his return from a summer's work in the North with a Government treaty party. This means that an area of about 372,000 square miles has been ceded by the native tribes to the Crown, some 1,900 individuals having been reached by the party and signed up. It was the first attempt to extend the Government's treaty arrangements to the Mackenzie tribes, and the party went as far north as Fort McPherson. Some tribes on the Liard and Nelson rivers were not reached, but will be included next year.

Deals were carried on with the natives at each tribal settlement through a chief whom they elected for the purpose and who signed the official documents in their behalf. The effect of these documents is to make a formal cession of their forefathers' lands to the British Crown for "as long as the sun shines and the grass grows." In return the natives are given a cash bonus of $7 and a life gratuity of $5 per year for each person. Halfbreeds were dealt with on a different basis, receiving a payment of $240 each in a lump sum. In addition, the Government undertakes to supply a certain amount of food for the sick and destitute, as well as some ammunition and fishing tackle.

Who says Plumbing and Heating Prices have not dropped?

Plumbing is a profession and should be regarded as such by everyone. The plumbers spend as much time and energy in perfecting themselves for their calling as any other group of professional men, but they receive a smaller compensation than any other profession.

As farm products have decreased in price so have building materials. Although some articles increased tremendously in price during the years of the war, plumbing and heating material prices did not go sky-rocketing like a number of other building materials. Hence, the percentage of drop need not be so large in order to reach the previous price level.

When an article has increased 100 per cent. in price a drop of 50 per cent. brings it back to the original price.

Plumbing and heating materials constitute a very small part of the total building cost. In the average seven or eight-room house, where hot water is used, the cost of plumbing and heating is only about eight or ten per cent. of the total cost. In other buildings it is even less.

Following are some of the reductions made in plumbing and heating materials since one year ago.

Soil pipe and fittings	37%	Iron pipe	18%
Lead goods	31%	Enamelware	16%
Brass radiator valves	30%	Radiation	28%
Brass goods generally	25%	Range boilers	48%
Iron and malleable fittings	25%	Other goods	15% to 40%

THANKSGIVING DAY. There seems to be considerable confusion in the public mind with regard to Thanksgiving Day.

A proclamation issued at Quebec has fixed Monday, October 17th, as Thanksgiving Day.

At Ottawa, by Federal enactment, Armistice Day and Thanksgiving Day are combined and fixed for Monday of the week in which November 11th occurs.

The two important clauses read as follows:

"Throughout Canada in each and every year the Monday in the week in which the eleventh day of November shall occur being the day in 1918 in which the Great War was triumphantly concluded by an armistice, shall be a legal holiday and shall be kept and observed as such under the name of Armistice Day."

The holiday commonly called Thanksgiving Day being a day usually appointed in the month of October or November by proclamation as a day of general thanksgiving to Almighty God, shall whenever appointed be proclaimed and observed for and on Armistice Day."

Just what prompted the provincial authorities to name another day is not quite clear. A Montreal paper has stated that it was done in order to postpone the Montreal elections for a day as they had been fixed for a Jewish holiday through oversight.

Both the 17th of October and the 7th of November thus stand as legal holidays in this province.

The action of the Federal Government in combining the Armistice and Thanksgiving celebrations in one day and fixing this for the Monday in Armistice week appealed to people generally as very appropriate.

The Record commended this action at the time and so far as publication is concerned, Armistice Day, November 7th, will be observed and not October 17th.

We believe the people generally will unite upon Monday, November 7th, as the day which can most appropriately be observed.

THE AMERICAN ANTHEM

The press of the United States from time to time raises the question of the suitability of the American National Anthem. The words of the "Star Spangled Banner" as well as the music are rather difficult.

"America," sung to the tune of "God Save The King," is more adaptable to all audiences.

The Waterbury American, in this connection, says:

"How many people there are these days who think that it is necessary to defend some sacred American possession or shrine. We shouldn't wonder if sooner or later someone should recommend a sharpshooter on top of Bunker Hill monument. Just now people who are afraid that the 'Star-Spangled Banner' is imperilled are urging Congress to declare it the national anthem. They especially fear those people who are proposing to make the national anthem out of Katherine L. Bates' 'America the Beautiful.' It will not be an easy thing to do. The latter is much easier to sing, but the former is more familiar, has strong patriotic association and a ring in its best parts which Americans have come to feel is the true expression of national spirit. Probably 'The Star-Spangled Banner' will be retained as the national hymn and all will sing it who can, and as well as they can. But everybody, for singing purposes, will prefer the tune of 'God Save The King' to the words of 'America,' which sings itself and everybody can join without pain or strain. 'America the Beautiful' is a later product which grows on people the more they sing it, but which has got a hard row to hoe before it is popularly adopted in preference to the tune which has tradition, usage and general acceptance behind it."

 PRESS COMMENT  CANADA'S LOAN TO CHINA (St. John Globe) The loan made by Canadian banks in China appears to have excited a flurry both in financial and political circles in Great Britain, the latter due to the unsettled conditions of the country. A Foreign Office official is reported as saying: "If the Chinese Government chooses to repudiate the loan, the lenders have no recourse, as they are not supported by the British or Canadian Governments." For what do Governments exist, if not to protect their subjects when necessary, and in the meantime why worry? The Chinese are showing fewer signs of repudiating honest debts than of seeking to get a better standing among the nations of the world.

NEWSY NOTES FROM BEDFORD OF INTEREST

Ploughmen's Match Will Be Held Near St. Armand on October 19.

Fifty Dollars a Month

(Guaranteed to you by the Canada Life)

Age 21—Fifty Dollars a month is not enough.

Age 35—Thinks he can easily afford to "spend" Fifty Dollars a month

Age 50—Things are not going as well as they were.

Age 55—Strange how these assets have depreciated! Fifty Dollars a month is good interest on $10,000, and not to be despised.

You know of men well up in years who are still "drudging along". They cannot stop if they would, but must go on to the end of their days working for a living. You can avoid that.

Why Not Pension Yourself?

Why not "take stock" of your present financial position—to size up your personal affairs and decide on a plan for the future?

Our New Pension Plan

guarantees that upon reaching a certain age in life, you will receive a monthly cheque for $50.00, $100, $200, $250—as you may now decide—and this monthly payment cannot cease as long as you live.

An Income for Life

Think what it may mean to you to be certain of an income right up to the end of life, when you consider that 97% of people in their later years are partially or wholly dependent upon others for support.

When they were younger they did not have the chance now offered you. It was not then possible to secure such a convenient and certain provision as this Monthly Pension Plan.

And This is Not All

Suppose some day before you reach age sixty you meet with a mishap and become totally and permanently disabled through accident, illness or any cause. (Such a thing has happened soon after men have secured this new policy of the Canada Life.) Immediately, the payment of further premiums would be cancelled. The Canada Life would become responsible for sending you $50.00, $100, $200, $250, a month, as arranged, for the rest of your life.

There are many other benefits. An average deposit of only a few dollars a month will return you $50.00 a month later on.

PARIS WILL SPEND MILLIONS AT ONCE ON CITY BEAUTIFUL

Sites of Old Fortifications to Become Playgrounds and Parks.

WORK FOR THE JOBLESS

(Special Despatch.) PARIS.

Paris intends to spend 125,000,000 francs to beautify and modernize its parks and streets before the first of next January.

Your correspondent is informed that work is to be resumed on a large scale to demolish the old fortifications, the sites of which are to be transformed into playgrounds for youngsters and parks for the older citizens.

One of the biggest of these is the remodeling of the majority of the public hospitals, many of which are housed in buildings two centuries old.

Experts already are drawing up plans for hospital changes as well as planning extensive anti-consumption and anti-venereal campaigns covering every quarter of the capital.

Prof. Laugier personally is visiting sections of the city which have been allowed to become disgraceful as far as sanitary measures are concerned.

In the public markets the Council intends to increase immediately the use of refrigeration to prevent the waste of hundreds of tons of meats and vegetables weekly owing to the impossibility of keeping them fresh under existing conditions.

Proposals which were read at a recent session of the Council's Progress Committee include the eventual extension of Paris far beyond the present boundaries, as the impossibility of obtaining houses and apartments is driving thousands to neighboring suburbs such as Montrouge, Fontenay, Sceaux, Nogent and St. Mandé.

In order to develop this tendency it is likely that a part of the 10,000,000 francs will be set aside to subsidize the construction of homes in the suburbs. Senators and Deputies have expressed their willingness to obtain cooperation from the Government to the extent of any sum the Paris council is willing to contribute.

'PLATO NO SUCH FOOL AS HE APPEARED TO BE'

Pater's Quick Reply to Dr. Jackson's Query.

(Special Despatch.) LONDON.

The death this week of Dr. Henry Jackson, O. M., who was nearly 90 years old, professor of Greek at Cambridge University and founder of the modern Cambridge School of Platonism, produced for publication a famous anecdote concerning him and Walter Pater.

The Cambridge Platonists always looked with some suspicion on their fellow devotees at Oxford, and once when Dr. Jackson was dining at the New College at Oxford he sat next to Mr. Pater.

"Ob," said Mr. Pater, smiling sardonically, "I just tell them Plato is not such a fool as he looks and all that kind of stuff."

Crush to Leave Town When Glasgow Pubs Close

(Special Despatch.) GLASGOW.

Glasgow had a frightful demonstration last Tuesday of what prohibition does. On that day Glasgow's publicans declared a holiday. Every public house in the city was closed and scores of persons were injured in consequence of a rush for tram cars to neighboring villages, where the public houses remained open.

TO END ALCOHOLISM WITH WINE AND BEER

Drunkness in the United States cannot be prevented by prohibition, but if beer and light French wines are permitted and the Government insists on the true quality of the contents being marked on the bottles future troubles certainly will be avoided.

"France is the first to denounce the dangers arising from the abuse of alcohol," said the Comte de Mun, "instating that alcoholism is a scourge which must be put down. But it is equitable to establish discrimination between harmful products, such as French champagne and the wines of Bordeaux and Bourgogne, which any doctor will hesitate to prescribe to patients, and those unnamable mixtures prepared from poisonous ingredients.

According to Comte de Mun, France with a great wine yield this year, is facing a crisis owing to the prohibitive measures in the United States and the heavy taxes imposed in Scandinavian countries. Steps are being considered to carry on extensive propaganda in the United States in the hope of obtaining an amendment to the present prohibition law.

MUFFS COME BACK AS PRICE OF SKINS FALLS

(Special Despatch.)

Muffs have returned to favor among fashionably dressed women here after having been banished from their wardrobe for several years. West End shops are now selling old-fashioned "granny muffs" made to match coats and stoles.

Most of the large muffs shown have velvet ribbon chains but they are made to hold instead of slip over the neck. Muffs in the shape of pet dogs are the most striking innovation and are made to resemble the heads of Pekingeses and Pomeranians and look lifelike. The muffs are so made that the hands holding it can be slipped inside the head in such a way as to make the ears move, the eyes to roll and the mouth to open.

LOCUSTS CLOUD SUN IN PART OF RUSSIA

Enormous Swarm Appears in Orenburg Region.

(Special Despatch.)

REVAL, via LONDON.—An enormous swarm of locusts has appeared in the Orenburg region, according to a radio despatch sent out from Moscow. However, they have eaten all the grass and grain in several districts in two days.

PROPHECY BY HINDENBURG.

In Time German Pond Will Clear Again, He Says.

(Special Despatch.) BERLIN.

Marshal von Hindenburg, in a speech in Stettin on the occasion of the unveiling of a bronze tablet in his honor, declared that Germany was not recovering as rapidly as the impatient Germans hoped.

"In time the slum now stirred up on the surface will settle, leaving the German pond clear again," he declared.

FRENCH COMMUNISTS MAKE HEADWAY WITH LABOR UNREST RIFE

Class Hatreds Also Being Stirred in Hope of Political Capital.

MANY VOTES BEING WON

(Special Despatch.) PARIS.

French Communists are seizing upon every phase of France's difficulties to build up class hatred, and they will win larger representation in Parliament next year unless some solution can be found for the labor difficulties at Roubaix, Turcoing, Lille, and especially in the Vosges textile industries.

The Government's intervention on behalf of the workers in the strike area at Roubaix has had the effect of turning attention away from revolutionary ideas, as despite the waving of the red flag by Cachin, Prost and other Communist leaders the strikers themselves are convinced that the Government is anxious to help them if a common ground can be found.

Sixty thousand strikers at Turcoing paraded the streets Monday and Tuesday without a single revolutionary cry, although the whole French navy, except to regain some of their lost power Sunday, when Andre Marty, Communist munitier who had the great idea of Bolshevizing the whole French navy, will be a candidate for reelection to the Chamber. Marty for three years has been serving a twenty year sentence for treason.

Another instance of how the Communists are playing upon public sympathy is to be found in the expulsion from France's teaching staffs last week of a Socialist named Martha Bigot.

Mme. Bigot signed a protest against recalling the class of 1919 to the colors for the occupation of the Ruhr Valley. She explained her action by the fact that she is a pacifist and altogether denied any Bolshevik connections. The Red leaders have taken up her cause and are howling for the proletariat to show its power by demanding the reinstatement of Mme. Bigot just as though she was one of the proteges of the Communist party.

OLDEST CONVICT DIES IN PANKHURST PRISON

(Special Despatch.) LONDON.

John White, the oldest convict in Pankhurst prison, is dead at the age of 81 years, after passing seventy years behind prison bars. He was last convicted in 1915 for house breaking.

White was a man of violent temper and on one occasion threw a pudding dish and its contents at a prison official, but could not be punished because of heart trouble from which he suffered.

He was powerful physically and was always a source of trouble to prison officials. He was convicted five times and sentenced for each conviction. He was a boy when he served his first prison term.

LONDONERS CRYING FOR HOMES, AS MANY BIG HOUSES LIE IDLE

MAINTENANCE COST HIGH

Former Fashionable Sections Invaded by Boarding Houses in Flivver Era.

(Special Despatch.) LONDON.

The traditional Mayfair and Belgravia are standing between thousands of Londoners who are crying for houses and thousands of houses that are crying for tenants. Many thousands of persons in London are successful salaried, trade or professional people, and they like to live nicely in nice neighborhoods and do not mind paying good rentals.

But most of the houses that are vacant are huge Victorian arks of from four to six stories high and with eight to sixteen bedrooms, usually having no elevators, heating or plumbing. They were built for large families of the Victorian era—families in which there were ten or twelve children and which could afford to keep eight or ten servants at the wages then received by servants.

For families of the present day and at the present scale of wages paid to servants, not to speak of food costs, these houses are impossible to all save very wealthy persons and they prefer to build their own modern houses.

The difficulties of the situation arise out of the fact that vast areas in the "fashionable" parts of London are held in entailed estates. This ground is rented at low yearly rentals for terms up to a hundred years. The leasehold landlords now find the houses on their hands, for although the owners of the ground have divested themselves of most of the responsibilities connected with the property in consideration of the low rentals, and on account of their ownership of continuous tracts, they still insist on dictating the nature of the occupancy of the houses. And lest the general value of the whole neighborhood should fall, they often should fall they refuse to allow either the splitting of the houses into apartments, which might be rented as shops below and flats above, or even permit high class physicians, surgeons and dentists to establish themselves in these houses with a view to using them as home and office.

It is the case with vast tracts on each side of Oxford street, around the Mecca of all medical men, Harley street, and around Portman Square. Even when these physicians and dentists offer to practice without a name, plate on their door, or when they offer to put a door in the back yard alley for their patients, frequently a lease is refused to them.

The ground landlords continue to get their one hundred and fifty pounds annual rental for the ground on which these great arks into comfortable cupied, or a return of the good old days, meanwhile refusing to make concessions that would enable the leaseholders to convert these great arks into comfortable cupied apartments with modern heating and plumbing, at a cost of ten thousand pounds, but which would earn two or three thousand pounds a year, while now a whole house can be bought for such sum.

Pressure is becoming strong to remodel these houses and make it possible for other families to live in them, with the leaseholders organizing in old strongholds like Portman Square, where easily half of the great mansions are standing idle with glaring "to let" signs on them for more than a year, and in Belgrave Square, where scores of titled families are maintaining only a caretaker in huge mansions in which they cannot afford to live.

Blancmange and the Georgian fashionable quarter further east have already gone the way of boarding houses, hotels, tenements and shops, with a few shining examples, and it is predicted that Mayfair and Belgravia will be the next to go.

Only excepting Park Lane, which is the westerly boundary of Mayfair and only half a mile long, London fashion has as yet marked out no other road; for itself. Cheaper suburbs are crowding inward as business crowds out, and fashion bids fair to be literally squeezed off the map. Many families have already given up their town houses and taken simpler country establishments in some counties, relying on flivvers to get them to town during the season.

'KEEP FROM MONTMARTRE,' SHAH WARNS CROWN PRINCE

Escort Accompanying Persia's Heir Cautioned to Keep Him From Too Gay Indulgence in Sights of Famous Paris Butte During European Journey.

"Harems and dancing girls if you will, but keep him away from Montmartre," were the final words of the Shah to the small army of functionaries accompanying Persia's Crown Prince, Mohammed Hassan Hilza Wallah, on a European tour.

As a result Mohammed has been having a miserable time since he left Constantinople and Cairo, where some color was injected into the princely existence by visits to numerous harems with an opportunity for picking out the nucleus for his own establishment when he starts for home.

But Mohammed's chief interest centers on seeing Paris, for the Shah himself had dined once in certain highly popular and gay establishments just below the famous Butte, while Vichy society before the war looked forward to a long line of eccentric Persian entertainments.

But instead of music halls or dancing, whenever they are suggested, the present Crown Prince is politely told that the royal taste would better be satisfied by a ballet or opera—with an official escort always along. Or if he wants to pay an incognito visit to one of his uncle's old cronies the project is spoiled by the reminder that he has not yet paid an official visit to President Millerand or to some sub-chief of the department of roads and bridges who had once visited the Persian court.

The Prince is reported to have tried twice staying out all night, but eluded at the Majestic Hotel stopped him at the outer door and firmly took him back to the parlor of his luxurious suite with instructions to remain in his proper place, as guarding a Prince wasn't a job in which details could be overlooked.

Prince Mohammed's reply may have been inaccurately reported, but it was something to the effect that he would swap jobs with them for a night or two, with plenty of gold to boot, if the husky detectives would only let him have a glimpse of Paris at night and the Montmartre haunts whose predecessors had so charmed earlier Persian rulers.

(Special Despatch.) LONDON.

Sir Conan Doyle gave an authoritative account of the origin of the name of "Sherlock Holmes" at the semi-annual convention dinner of the Stoll Film Company here this week. At the same time his "Speckled Band" was enjoying a hugely successful revival at the St. James's Theatre. Simultaneously reports from Constantinople said the Turks were accusing the British Government of sending its famous detective to the Turkish capital, where he is well known in the time, just in time to discover a plot against a score of high British officials.

Sir Conan said many persons had strange reasons for his use of the name of "Sherlock Holmes," but the real reason was that he wanted to get away from Dickens's custom of calling every detective "Sharpe" or a similar name. "Holmes was homely," he said, "and as for 'Sherlock'—all years ago I made liberty runs against a bowler by the name of Sherlock, and I always had a little feeling for that name."

"Holmes was homely," he said, "and as for 'Sherlock'—all years ago I made liberty runs against a bowler by the name of Sherlock, and I always had a little feeling for that name."

"May I marry Sherlock Holmes?" Sir Conan replied: "Marry him or murder him. Do anything you like."

MARCHIONESS IS FINED FOR MOTOR SPEEDING

The Marchioness of Milford Haven, wife of the newly succeeded Marquis of Milford Haven, son of the late Prince Louis of Battenburg, has just been fined 15 in Portsmouth for exceeding the automobile speed limits.

She was summoned in the name of the Countess of Medina, her title at the time of the offence. A policeman testified that when he went to her house she denied that it was her automobile, but that he identified her through the motor car.

CINEMA RECORDS DARING ALPINE CLIMB

Charmox Range Crossed by Camera Party.

(Special Despatch.) PARIS.

Alpine climbing by cinema has at last been achieved, with Mlle. Jasmine Mile, Jasmine Mile Brod, accompanied by three men carrying a camera and supplies, succeeded in crossing the whole range and completed four reels of film showing the most perilous chasms, ice slides and roadless points. In some cases Brod was lowered by ropes more than 200 feet over a precipice in order to film Mlle. Jasmine Mile climbing a wall where a general hesitation of misjudgment would have meant death on the rocks thousands of feet below.

KING'S SHIRT THEFT FIGURES IN FOUNDRY OF MOROCCO LEGION

ONE GARMENT MISSING

(Special Despatch.) MADRID.

Only in Spain could this happen in this year of grace, 1921. Here is the story: The man who was really responsible for the reorganization of Spain's Foreign Legion, into which poured from New York, Havana, London and Paris all the adventurous ones whom the world war left unsatisfied with red fighting, was Lieut.-Col. Millan Astray, a scion of an ancient house which has given to Spain many eminent soldiers, writers and statesmen.

Having studied the organization and work of the famous French Foreign Legion in Algiers, this young soldier recommended a similar formation for Spain in Morocco. His suggestion was cordially received in Spanish Government circles, but official Spain's principle and habit is procrastination, delay—"manana."

Would Not Plan Up to King. Col. Astray got no action and decided to take matters into his own hands. He got leave of absence from his command in the garrison at Cueta and hurried to Madrid, determined to lay his scheme before King Alfonso XIII. He arrived in the Spanish capital only to learn that Alfonso had gone to San Sebastian. He at once took a train for San Sebastian, but he was not to see his sovereign there. He learned that the King had gone to Biarritz, an equally fashionable French watering place made popular by the Empress Eugenie. Col. Astray immediately jumped aboard a motor boat and crossed the bay. Finally he succeeded in getting word to the King, who received him kindly and assured him he would see his project was carried out without further delay.

Col. Astray, much satisfied, sought to leave his sovereign then, but Alfonso said, "Manana."

There is a grand fête at the Hotel du Palais this evening," Alfonso told him, "and I want to introduce you to several distinguished friends there."

Much embarrassed, Col. Astray then was forced to explain that he had hastened across Spain without luggage and hence had no clothes suitable to wear at such an aristocratic gathering. "I will return in a few days," said the King, "with the little hole made by your same size. Go to my room and take what you please."

Clad by the King's Valet. Before such a command Col. Astray went to the King's suite and consulted with Alfonso's valet, who dressed him in full evening dress, with pearls and diamond studs and cuff buttons. On his coat was pinned the insignia of four military orders of Castile.

Col. Astray was very proud. He was the object of much admiration that evening, and Alfonso could not help smiling at seeing the satisfaction which the incident caused his soldier from Morocco.

The fate over, Col. Astray returned to the King's suite and gave to his valet a note in which he said he had returned all save the King's shirt that he wore. "Tell his Majesty I have stolen it from him," he told the valet.

Not long after, Col. Astray was again in Madrid and walking in the park Buen Retiro. He heard a shout behind him, and turning saw the King pursuing him and crying, in comic indignation: "Thief, give me back my shirt!"

"I will return it to your Majesty when it carries a decoration of my blood," Col. Astray replied. "Now, when the Spaniards took Nadar from the Moors recently, Col. Astray, wearing the King's shirt, received a bullet wound in his chest. The wound was not fatal. When he reached a base hospital his first thought was to prevent the surgeons cutting a hole in his shirt or his loins. His next thought was to send it with the little hole made by Moor's bullet in the bosom of it and the dark red spot, to Madrid. This he did."

KUBELIK PRIZES VIOLIN MORE SINCE SHIPWRECK

(Special Despatch.) LONDON.

Jan Kubelik, the violinist, after a shipwreck, prizes more highly than ever his famous Stradivarius. When asked to pose for the movie in the Hyde Park Hotel he assented, but set the stage carefully. He closed and looked at the door, pulled down the window so no damaging draughts could hit his precious instrument and then he got his fiddle from a bolted cabinet and handling it like a mother would a child, undressed it.

The instrument appeared in fannels which looked like pajamas. The artist insists that the violin is his fortune aside from the value of $100,000 which he places on it. When the ship on which he was a passenger, the John Breydel, rammed and sunk another in the Channel a few days ago, he attached his violin in all its wrappings to a life buoy.

Mrs. Tetrazzini, who is singing here, also posed for the movie at the Savoy Hotel. She said it was the first time in her life that she has had this experience.

FIRST AUTOMOBILE RACES IN BERLIN

(Special Despatch.) BERLIN.

Berlin has had her first automobile races. They were held on a twelve mile track recently built at Grunewald by an army of unemployed. The races attracted 80,000 spectators who paid admittance fees, while 600,000 people gathered along the highways. Nearly every automobile within a radius of 100 miles was lined up along the roads.

Whole families came in crowded trucks and cars. Railroad engineers slowed down their trains as they passed the course so that they themselves could look on. Wreckers bought round trip tickets on local trains and thus saw the races for a fraction of the admittance fee.

The Germans are learning the sporting vice of ticket speculation and book-making more rapidly than the sports themselves. Tickets soared to sixty times the original price and "bookies" barked from improvised stalls. The automobile fans boasted that a German "eight" would make better time than the American 100-horsepower car at the mile race. The Benz firm introduced a 200-horsepower car, but the track was not adequate for a car of that size.

The biggest race was 160 kilometers for ten-hour-war cars. In the exciting race a Nag car, which was the favorite of the car experts, won over an Opel, which was a 5 to 1 favorite with the public, the time being 73 minutes and 51 seconds. The Opel car held first place for the first five minutes, when it developed cylinder trouble and dropped to second place. It finished third, another Opel being second.

In the 120 kilometer race for six-horsepower cars an AGA car finished first, with Dixie cars second and third. The time was 83 minutes and 28 seconds. In the 140 kilometer race for eight-horsepower cars only a Dinos finished.

GERMANS IGNORE HELP FOR DISASTER VICTIMS

French Not Even Thanked for Sending Succor.

(Special Despatch.) PARIS.

The disaster at the Oppau chemical works provided France with an opportunity to show her willingness to live in peace and harmony and to aid her fallen foe. While the majority of the population praised the promptness with which medical aid and food were rushed to the suffering survivors by the French, it is commented here that German newspapers remained strangely silent on this subject.

"We have returned good for evil," wrote one French reporter, "but our German colleagues wrapped themselves in Teutonic dignity and completely ignored our efforts to prove our humanitarian friendship."

French officials on returning from Mayence suggested that the German press had intimated that French occupation troops were responsible for the explosion, but the idea was scouted by the population of Oppau and neighboring villages, who gladly lined up before French military kitchens for soup, bread and potatoes three times daily.

(Special Despatch.)

H. C. L. HIGH IN ITALY'S CITIES.

Costs Up 10 Per Cent. in Rome Over Figures for 1920.

(Special Despatch.)

Rome is still the most expensive large city in Italy. According to the latest figures published on the cost of living, the Eternal City is 19 per cent dearer than it was in 1920. This, however, is a diminution of the cost of living in recent months, when during March the cost of living soared as much as 30 per cent higher than last year.

The other expensive cities are Milan, Florence and Turin, which are to-day about 18 per cent over the 1920 figures, Venice and Trieste are but 8 per cent over the figures of last year.

IMPROVEMENT IN CONDITIONS IS REPORTED

Report States that There Is a Strong Demand for Canadian Canned Goods in Belgium.

OTTAWA, Oct. 11. A very marked improvement in conditions in Italy and Belgium is reported by the respective Canadian Trade Commissioners in the forthcoming bulletin of the Department of Trade and Commerce.

In Brussels, writes Trade Commissioner A. E. Blaney, the general commercial and industrial situation shows substantial progress. The metallurgical industry and the cotton trade, as well as the diamond and glass industries, are on the upgrade, and a better tone is noted on the financial exchange.

There is a strong demand, he says, for Canadian canned goods in Belgium, including salmon, pears, apricots and apples, meats and condensed milk; also for fresh apples, honey, cheese, butter, eggs and generally all food products. The tendency is towards higher prices.

SHIPPING IS BAD IN SOVIET RUSSIA NOW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—(By Canadian Press.)—According to a statement appearing in a recent number of the Soviet journal Pravda, a translation of which was forwarded here by U. S. consular agents, the number of commercial steamships in possession of the Soviet Russian Government on March 1, 1921, was as follows:

In Baltic Sea ports, 78; in the Caspian Sea, 238; in the White Sea, 329; in the Black Sea, 222; on the Caucasian coast, 58; in Crimean ports, 65; in the Sea of Azov, 62; total, 1,056. The article further states that the Soviet Government possesses 946 sailing vessels, of which five are in the Baltic.

Of 732 steam vessels in use at present, only 566 are in fit condition. Owing to lack of material and facilities, as well as fuel, Soviet docks are unable to handle the situation, and the Government is therefore greatly interested in contracting for repair work in different ports, especially those of the Baltic Sea—Reval, Riga, Libau, Copenhagen and Kiel.

From an official Soviet source it is learned that as late as May 14, steamships lying in the ports of the Black Sea were in an especially poor condition, all their engines being completely destroyed. In a report of May 6th to the Soviet Institution for Economic Research, it was stated that the Soviet Government has a total of 98 ships for coast traffic, and that the industry shows a general decrease in skilled workmen, lack of laborers and lessened efficiency.

In anticipation of trade following the commercial agreement with Great Britain, the Soviet Government has been making efforts to put a few ports into condition for entrance of foreign shipping.

On May 1, Golos Rossii, published in Berlin, reported the situation not up to expectation. The port of Petrograd was in a very bad condition, with mechanical equipment not working, the technical personnel lacking and auxiliary vessels disappeared. Mine sweeping, according to Krasnaya Gazeta, was expected to begin May 15. By May 31 according to Latest News (Paris) only one steamer had sailed from that port.

In the Black Sea port of Odessa the elevated "estokada" for cargo-ship loading was taken down by the Bolsheviks and used as fuel. Early in the year the Soviet Government declared Nikolaev and Novorossisk to be first and second ports respectively for entrance of foreign vessels.

TUBERCULAR HOSPITAL NEEDS MORE FUNDS

The necessity of immediate funds for the Tuberculosis Hospital, which is being carried on under the auspices of the Independent Order of the Daughters of the Empire, is a matter of extreme urgency, and the matter is receiving the careful consideration of the members of the Rotary Club, who recently passed a resolution undertaking to assist in securing the necessary finances.

A brief resume of this work, which also calls for improved sanitary conditions, should be of interest to a large number of our citizens.

In June, 1919, the King George V. Chapter undertook the care of a man suffering from tuberculosis, and supplied him with nourishment, such as eggs, fish, milk, etc., and assisted the family. Later in that year the case of a young woman was brought to the notice of the same chapter. The doctors thought that under proper conditions there was hope for recovery, so, with some assistance from friends, the chapter bore the expense of a stay of several months at St. Agathe, and to our great satisfaction our patient improved, and has been able to do her ordinary work ever since.

Special Work Undertaken in Autumn of 1919.

In the autumn of 1919 the Chapter, by resolution, agreed to make the fight against tuberculosis, its special work, and undertook the care of several patients, but were handicapped by the fact that there was no hospital in this neighborhood.

Later, the municipal regent thought it would be better if all the chapters united in the work, and at a public meeting in the Art Hall it was decided to purchase some suitable property and establish a sanitarium.

Property Purchased.

Various properties were inspected, but as the one on Woodward avenue were found to be the best, steps were taken to secure it. The amount of land was almost nine acres, with a small house and outbuildings, with city water, sewerage and electric light.

The price asked was eight thousand dollars, half to be paid before November 1st, 1921, the remainder to remain as a mortgage.

Alterations have been made to render the house more suitable for the work of a sanitarium, and a hot-air furnace has been installed.

The aim of the committee is to provide a home for tuberculous patients at a moderate cost, and by a recent resolution, not to turn away any deserving case. In the case of indigent patients, it is felt that the city or municipality to which they belong should be asked to pay for them.

Provincial Authorities Interviewed.

In May last, Mrs. Hume, municipal agent, interviewed the superior board of health of the province in order to secure a portion of the amount which is to be spent in the tuberculosis campaign. The reply received by Mrs. Hume and Mrs. S. A. Jones at different times has been that their work was educational. The I.O.D.E. felt that they advanced more than the mere educational stage, are actually in the practical stage now, and ready to put into practice what they have learned. The newly organized charity commission has been approached, but apparently no reply has been received as yet by the municipal secretary. In the copy of the act, to be seen at the city hall, help is promised to recognized charitable institutions, the charity committee to pay one-third of the cost of maintenance per patient unable to pay, the municipality to pay one-third and the institution to assume the remaining third.

Number of Beds Should Equal the Death Rate.

According to advice from specialists, the number of beds should equal to the death rate from tuberculosis in the district, which in this district is estimated at about thirty eight per annum. As some of the more wealthy patients will always prefer to go away, it was considered advisable to begin with a twenty-bed hospital. The idea was to have a plan which could be enlarged upon if necessary. It is scarcely necessary to describe the property.

At first there was opposition to the scheme on various grounds, one being that it would lessen the value of building lots in the neighborhood. That prejudice has been disposed of, as at present two good houses are nearly completed and a large pile of stone is there ready for the foundation of a third. These houses are between the hospital and Bowen avenue.

The sewer on Weedward avenue is now connected with the city system, which will eventually do away with the cesspool which has been used.

Number of Patients.

So far the I.O.D.E. have cared for ten patients. Five have been discharged, improved; three, who were brought in the last stage of the disease, have died, and there are still two being cared for.

With the advent of winter and possible desolation, it is very probable that the hospital will be called upon to provide accommodation for many patients needing the special care and treatment it is prepared to give. It is felt the time may also come when the medical men of the city will advise compulsory isolation, either in the patients' home or in a sanitarium, which is the only way to prevent the spread of this dread disease.

Call for Funds.

The I.O.D.E. are now being called upon to make another payment on the property, in addition to which interest on the balance due and current expenses must be provided for.

The ladies of the association have already raised and paid out several thousand dollars in connection with this undertaking, and unless some assistance is forthcoming, either from the municipal, provincial or

ANNUAL SESSION OF ODD FELLOWS GREAT SUCCESS

District No. 10, I. O. O. F., Had Pleasant Gathering at Freleighsburg—Several Grand Lodge Officers Present.

FREILEIGHSBURG, Que., Oct. 11.—The fifteenth annual meeting of the subordinate Lodges of District No. 10 I. O. O. F. was held here Friday evening with Golden Link Lodge No. 56. About one hundred and twenty-five members met with the Grand Officers of Quebec. Among those present were a goodly number of visiting brothers from Enosburg Falls, and St. Albans, Vt. At eight o'clock the members assembled in the town hall, secured specially for the occasion and were called to order by J. T. Westover, D. D. G. M. who, in a few well chosen words, welcomed the visiting lodges not only of District No. 10, but those from outside said district as well. The Grand Officers as follows were received with honors: W. M. McDonald, G. M., F. J. Potter, G. S., G. L. Penfold, G. H. W. B. Wilson and H. R. Kimball P. Rep., Vt., also E. M. Mitchell, D. D. G. M., Vt., A. B. Westover, P. C., J. D. Westover, D. D. G. M., of District No. 10.

The visiting members from Enosburg Falls then exemplified the second degree in a splendid manner showing that much thought and study had been given to the work of this degree known to Odd Fellows as the "degree of brotherly love." Reports from the district lodges were received, after which Grand Master W. M. McDonald was called upon to address those present. He showed that Odd Fellowship was steadily gaining in membership throughout the Province and asked every member present to do all possible to further the work of the order.

At the close of lodge meeting a banquet was given by the local Rebekah Lodge in Bishop Memorial Church Hall. Tables were spread for over one hundred, everyone doing full justice to the bountiful things provided so generously.

After the wants of the inner man were satisfied the chairman, D. D. G. M. Brother J. T. Westover in his usual happy manner proposed the toast to "Our King" after which the usual toasts were proposed and responded to. Grand Master W. M. McDonald spoke briefly on the order, other Grand Lodge officers and several visiting brothers expressed their appreciation and pleasure at being invited to such a helpful and pleasant function. The gathering broke up at a late hour with a vote of thanks to Golden Link Lodge, the ladies and D. D. G. M., J. T. Westover.

OPPORTUNE HITTING AND SNAPPY FIELDING ENABLED THE YANKEES TO CAPTURE LEAD ON THE GIANTS

The Yankees Stabbed the Barb of Defeat in the Giants' Side Yesterday Afternoon and Walked off the Field with Their Third Victory—The Score Was Three to One—The Yankee Heroes in the Topping of the Giants Were Waite Hoyt, Who Pitched His Second Win Over the National League Pennant Winners, and Bob Meusel, Whose Steel Whip Broke up Two Giant Batting Rallies by Lightning Throws.

(Associated Press Despatch) NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 11.—

The weather was clear at nine o'clock this morning and the forecaster predicted favorable conditions for this afternoon's sixth game of the world's series between the Yankees and Giants, in which the American Leagueers now have a lead of three victories to two.

Harry Harper for the Yankees and Jess Barnes for the Giants were expected to receive the pitching assignments for today's game.

No one is sure they will start, however. Evan Miller, Huggins, manager of the Yankees, and McGraw, leader of the Giants, seemed undecided this morning. Huggins agreed it might be Harper, but surmised he would also give thought or two to Shawkey or Jack Quinn. McGraw announced that he would select either Barnes or Toney.

The type of fan who can't keep his mind on office work at all this week because of the engrossing business that is being conducted at the Polo Ground, felt pretty sure it would be Barnes and not Toney who would go forth to meet the Yankees.

He argued like this: "Toney was knocked out of the box last Friday, but Barnes, who replaced, kept the Huggins clan subdued while his comrades punished an assortment of flingers who followed one another from the Yankee dugout to pitcher's mound and thence, perforce of Giant aggressiveness with the big stick, the soothing showers, People who devote time to thinking of Barne generally consider him a relief pitcher. That has been his chief occupation this season, but he still can be useful as a hurler in the first inning, without waiting to learn from the mistakes of others.

The Command in Chief of the Yankees contemplated the prospects of his men with optimism as he breakfasted with one eye on a sport page and the other watching the tricky grapefruit. The team got back its fighting spirit while whipping the Giants, three to one, yesterday, he remarked, going on to predict that the Giants would never come back far enough to beat the Yanks out of the championship.

RUTH IN BAD SHAPE

The only gloom on Huggins' horizon was the fact that "Babe" Ruth's doctor again had ordered him out of the series because of his injured arm and leg. The Babe overruled a similar order Sunday in his eagerness to see the series through, but it appeared he might have to bow to the new edict. He was obviously in bad shape after yesterday's exertions, and his doctor declared there was danger of permanent injury if the big singer persisted further in using his injured arm.

Huggins declared the Yankees could win without Ruth, however. "Hoyt was in great form yesterday," said Huggins. "All of us had confidence that the boy would win again. The whole team played vigorously behind him, and it was great after the tough loss of Sunday."

"Wasn't our Meusel wonderful in the field and at bat?" he inquired. That was an easy one to answer. Meusel was wonderful, even more so than the box score showed. The hitting statistics gave him a two-bagger and a single. They didn't even hint how close he came to making another two-bagger. It was in the ninth inning. Yankee Meusel slammed a liner over third base, and galloped half way around the diamond before some one gently broke the news that the ball had been adjudged foul. Strolling back, he picked up his bat again, feeling much the same as in the first game of the series when he whaled a three-bagger and was called out for snubbing first base on his way to better roosting places.

Unlike Huggins, McGraw made no flowery forecast for the future. Nor had he any bouquets for the past. "I believe Ruth was out at first on that little," he said. This referred to the blunt surprise attack by the Infant terrible who started the Yanks to triumph Number Three. Mr. McGraw also maintained the umpiring behind the plate was bad.

"We lost and we should have won" was his retrospective summary of the proceedings that went on yesterday before the Tribune assembled at the Polo Ground.

The probable batting order for today: Giants—Burns, cf; Bancroft, ss; Frisch, 2b; Young, rf; Kelly, 1b; E. Meusel, lf; Rawlings, 2b; Snyder, c; Barnes, p.

GATE RECEIPTS $116,754 The official figures for yesterday's world's series baseball game gave attendance at 35,758. Gate receipts were $116,754, of which the advisory committee's share is $17,518; players' share $59,544 and the two clubs get $39,696. Players and umpires henceforth cease to share in gate receipts and will divide a total of $22,522.33, a new high record for the players' share.
