Hitchhiking bandits picked up

Bank robbed, three arrested

By RICHARD NUTBROWN
(Record staff reporter)

RACINE — The Racine branch of the Canadian National Bank and a general store in the same building were robbed of a total $3,300 by four young Sherbrooke men yesterday afternoon. Within three hours after the daring robbery police had arrested three suspects. "At 3:20 p.m. three men entered the bank," said Miss Gloria Fontaine, one of the two women working in the bank at the time of the robbery. She said they were shouting and jumping around when all of a sudden two of them began emptying the bank's till and the store's cash register. She said within seconds all the paper money was taken and the three men ran out the door. Outside a young man was waiting in a car and the three men quickly sped off. "Alerted, the Sherbrooke QPP, the Richmond QPP and the Granby QPP joined forces in the pursuit. The car, stolen from Sherbrooke less than one hour and a half before the bank robbery, was soon found resting in a few feet of water in Brompton Lake. After finding the car, an unmarked Sherbrooke QPP patrol car proceeded down the Lake Brompton Road in search of the men. Two men, one carrying a saw-edged shotgun and the other a .22 calibre rifle with a telescopic sight, were standing in the middle of the road trying to hitchhike. The Sherbrooke QPP said they had a good idea whom they were looking for and continued down the road unnoticed by the two men. Unaware the two suspects jumped into the car expecting a ride to Sherbrooke. Dumbfounded, they soon found themselves handcuffed on their way to the Granby QPP cells. Upon capture, the police said each man was carrying his share of the stolen money in his pockets. The third man was picked up in Sherbrooke by detectives from the Sherbrooke Municipal Police at 7:00 p.m. Police say the man was recognized driving his car in Sherbrooke and was then followed. The arrest took place on Goodhue Street after being first seen walking down Marquette Street near the municipal police station. The fourth suspect has not been arrested as yet but police know his name and as the police said "it will only be a matter of a short time". The fourth suspect is a minor. No shots were fired in the bank hold-up or during the pursuit which followed. The three suspects who have been arrested were transported to Granby.

Mayor says C of C backs abolishing truck tolls

Mayor Armand Nadeau said yesterday morning he has received definite backing from the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce for his proposal to abolish truck tolls on the Eastern Townships Autoroute. The mayor said he met with the directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday. He said he was sure of their support to abolish truck tolls, but could not be sure of the same support for the abolishment of tolls for all vehicles. "They will let me know in about one week their opinion on abolishing all tolls, and the indication of support to expect from them," the mayor said. The mayor said he favors the abolishment of the tolls, especially for the trucks, because industry around the Eastern

Sputrs flames

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (Reuters) — Inhabitants of Anchorage Thursday night watched flames and smoke spurt from a volcano 115 miles south of here. Mount Redoubt, 10,117 feet high, was classified as dormant, though it emitted smoke off and on since February, 1965. It is located across the Cook Inlet from the city of Kenai, centre of Alaska's oil exploration and production industry.

Operates

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul today ordered a news blackout on his operation, but Vatican medical sources said the surgery would be performed Saturday morning as planned unless there are unexpected complications. Word of the information blackout was announced by Raimondo Manzini, director of L'Osservatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper, as the Pope began a spiritual retreat of prayer and contemplation in preparation for the operation to correct an enlarged prostate condition.

Human shields

SAIGON (AP) — Herding civilians in front of them as human shields, Viet Cong forces launched a prolonged attack today on Loc Ninh. The total number of Viet Cong reported killed in six days of fighting for the district headquarters climbed past 850. Under cover of a mortar barrage, the Viet Cong made a ground assault on newly arrived U.S. infantry reinforcements shortly after midnight, and sporadic action was reported for more than 12 hours later.

Townships has suffered heavily. He said trucking costs are an integral part of manufacturing and indicated that at present they are too high. The mayor first made public his idea to abolish the tolls in an address to the Richelieu Club last Monday. Mayor Nadeau will call upon the regional committee that first fought for the construction of the ET autoroute to support him in his proposal. Later this month he will address the Canadian Manufacturer's Association of the Eastern Townships, where he will ask their backing. The mayor said that if most of the chambers of commerce, municipal governments and manufacturing groups around the Eastern Townships back his proposal, then there would be a good possibility of it being accepted by Quebec government authorities. He admitted however, that some members of the regional committee might be reluctant to back his proposal as they had fought hard to first get the autoroute. The mayor said he was main-

Ask for UN meet

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The government of the Congo has asked for a UN Security Council meeting to deal with an invasion by white mercenary and African soldiers from neighboring Portuguese Angola. Some UN diplomats expect the council to meet today. Government sources in Kinshasa, the Congolese capital, said the invaders seized a train and some trucks and were bearing down on Lumubashi, formerly Elisabethville and the capital of Katanga province. Unconfirmed reports said the troops had taken Jadotville, a fortified copper mining town about 100 miles from Lumumbashi. The mayor said he was main-

Stanfield wraps up his electoral campaign

TRURO, N.S. (CP)—Robert Stanfield ended Thursday his campaign for Monday's federal byelection in Colchester-Hants as the two independent candidates in the running charged they had been offered bribes to withdraw from the contest. Mr. Stanfield, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, ended his campaign with a low-key reception at Windsor, in the Hants part of the two-county riding. Tonight he will be in Halifax to address the annual meeting of the Nova Scotia PC Association. Elwood Smith, a New Democrat campaigning as an independent, said he has asked the chief electoral officer, J. M. Hamel, for an inquiry into the bribery charges. Mr. Smith said in a letter to Mr. Hamel that "on Oct. 24 an offer of money was made to encourage me to withdraw from the campaign. . . . The offer indicated that I would be paid my nomination fee and possibly additional money to cover expenses." Robert Kirk, running as an independent Liberal, said he received not only bribes, but threats on his life. He said the bribes were offered in person by individuals he would not name. THREATS VIOLENT The threats were made by telephone and became so violent that "I had to get a doctor to

Dispute spending estimates

OTTAWA (CP) — Accompanied by Conservative cries of "guillotine," spending estimates totalling $1,656,000,000 for a score of government departments were approved by the Commons late Thursday. Approval came shortly before midnight after a last-ditch effort by Conservative members to block it. They claimed provisional rules setting a 29-day limit for consideration of 1967-68 departmental spending programs had been flouted by the government. Speaker Lucien Lamoureux ended a wrangle that lasted more than an hour by ruling the 30-day limit must apply and the estimates had to be approved by the end of Thursday's sitting. MPs then went through the vote on each department and branch, Liberals shouting "Carried" and Conservatives calling "on division" to register their protest. Some of the $1,656,000,000 had been released by Parliament for government use earlier through interim supply bills to meet month-to-month accounts. The actual total released for government spending in the appropriations bill that ended Thursday's sitting was for $1,134,000,000. Debate Thursday touched only on the finance and justice departments. Several Conservative MPs made occasion, inside the House and out, to snipe at the 30-day limit for study of spending estimates. Finance Minister Paul Dozois said in an interview a few weeks ago that Quebec still seeks about $150,000,000 of its projected 1967-68 borrowing. Mr. Dozois is away on holidays and no one here would comment on bond figures Friday.

Deadly treats found

Police in various parts of Canada are faced with a new type of criminal following a rash of complaints of deadly Halloween treats handed out to children. In Edmonton, a police spokesman said a number of parents found razor blades embedded in candy and apples. A small girl and two boys, aged nine and 14, by razor blades—one boy when he bit into an apple and a girl when a piece of blade in an apple sliced her finger. Nine of the apples were recovered from children in the same school. The alarm sounded after Madeline Warren cut an apple brought home by one of her five children and found part of a blade. Police found another blade fragment in an apple in the Warren home. GIVEN MOTHBALLS In London, Ont., police reported more than 29 incidents of booby-trapped treats, including mothballs covered with chocolate and apples containing razor blades and pins. Inspector Len Elgie said one of the apples has given police a strong lead toward at least one suspect. He said the apple was handed out to one of four houses to a youngster accompanied by his father. "Several sections of the Criminal Code could apply in charging persons responsible, but we will have to talk to the Crown attorney before we can reach a definite decision," Inspector Elgie said. ALSO IN TORONTO In Toronto, police visited schools in the east end while sound trucks toured the streets blaring warnings to parents to check all treats received by their children. At least 12 apples containing parts of razor blades had been recovered. Two school children were cut

Frechette unlikely for cabinet

By CUTHBERT JONES
(Record Staff Writer)

Premier Daniel Johnson plans a further reorganization of his cabinet within the next few months but it is unlikely that Sherbrooke County MLA Raymond Frechette will find himself benefitting from the changes. At least this is the opinion expressed by many political observers following Wednesday's criticism of the cabinet appointments voiced by the Sherbrooke member, a nominal supporter of the Johnson Government. In a statement Wednesday, Mr. Frechette criticized the Premier for failing to give Sherbrooke representation in the cabinet and for bringing "thinkers" into the Executive Council through appointment to the Upper House instead of having them go through the elective processes to enter the Legislative Assembly. The latter complaint was aimed at the selection of Jean Guy Cardinal, dean of the Faculty of Law at the University of Montreal as Minister of Education. Premier Johnson has indicated that he intends to create two new portfolios during the coming session of the Legislature but the general opinion at Quebec is that the Sherbrooke MLA has talked himself out of any chance of being named to either of these posts. And, perhaps, he will be conveniently overlooked when the appointment of parliamentary assistants to various ministers is made at the beginning of the new session. Political leaders make much of their desire to receive information and comment from the lower ranks of their party and from outsiders, but generally speaking this advice must be favorable to the policies being pursued if it is to be acceptable. In particular, had taste from the party hierarchy point of view is for a back-bencher to express publicly dissatisfaction with any decision of the leadership. Customary method of showing displeasure is for the administration to withhold any special plums from the dissenting member. Even if the maverick is forgiven officially, he usually is condemned to a political Siberia for several months, or even years, during which time he has ample opportunity to ponder the facts of political life. In a statement Thursday, Mr. Frechette said that he had no intention of leaving the Union Nationale party. His criticisms of the cabinet changes did not result from the fact that he personally was overlooked but rather were based on his belief that Sherbrooke citizens deserved cabinet representation.

Should benefit residents

EDMONTON (CP)—Development of the north must benefit the people who live there, Northern Development Minister Arthur Laing said Thursday night. He said he rejected "absolutely" any northern development that would extract "as much wealth as possible and then get out, leaving the North to the polar ice and the people to get by in whatever way they can." Mr. Laing was addressing the fourth national Northern Development Conference sponsored by the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce and the Alberta and Northwest Chamber of Mines and Resources. The three-day conference ends today and the fifth is scheduled here for 1970. Northerners must benefit from development through employment, he said. But mines, which perhaps hold the key to northern economic prosperity, now require skilled tradesmen. Northerners need jobs but few are skilled. Mr. Laing suggested southerners should start to consider investing in the North. "Great investments will be required — the North belongs to all Canadians. It must be developed for the benefit of all Canadians." Mr. Laing also said a federal program aimed at relocating Northern Ontario Indians seemed to be working well, but solutions to many problems still were sought. "Through the work at Elliot Lake we are gaining valuable insight into the operation of these relocation programs. We hope to evolve better methods of assisting families from remote areas to re-orientate themselves and take their place in the mainstream of Canadian economic life." Among resolutions to be discussed today was a recommendation from the Edmonton Quarter Century Club—whose members have spent at least 25 years in aviation—that would have the federal and provincial governments build airstrips with emergency services every 50 miles across the North.

Thousands march miles to put end to world hunger

OTTAWA (CP)—The marching fever that struck Ottawa last April has spread from coast to coast and promises to reach epidemic proportions before the year ends. To date some 30,000 people from St. John's, Nfld. to Vancouver have pulled on their hiking boots and marched anywhere up to 40 miles to raise money for international development. It will probably double that before the end of the year and the proceeds will be well over $500,000. Eleven "Hunger Walks" or "Miles For Millions," as they have been called, have been held to date, 10 more are planned for this month and next starting a 40-mile walk to raise money for Oxfam's famine relief work in India. The marchers, 480 of whom finished the full 40 miles, included their own sponsors at some-per-mile and raised $93,000. In Edmonton on June 3, Lt.-Gov. Grant MacEwan, Mayor Vince Danzer and Public Works Minister Fred Colborne led the marches on Thanksgiving Day in Ottawa when Governor-General Michener, temporarily in a wheelchair, with an injured ankle led 1,000 people, including External Affairs Minister Martin, in a two-mile walk from Government House to Parliament Hill. There a meal of rice cakes and water—the normal daily diet for about half the world's people—was served and the governor-general broadcast his Thanksgiving message to the nation. Winnipeg followed with a march on May 13 in which 1,746 of the 6,500 hikers completed the 35-mile route and raised $85,000. In Edmonton on June 3, Lt.-Gov. USSR win over any aggressor — Brezhnev

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Two Chinese diplomats today walked out of a Kremlin rally marking the anniversary of the Russian Revolution when Soviet Communist Leader Leonid Brezhnev accused the Chinese leadership of trying to split the world Communist movement. The Soviet Communist party chief also accused the Chinese of hindering Vietnamese Communists in their struggle against the "criminal aggression" of the United States. Addressing a jubilee meeting in the Kremlin marking the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution, Brezhnev also pledged continued Soviet aid on North Vietnam until U.S. forces get out of Vietnam and assailed Chinese Communist leaders. He claimed the Soviet Army has the best weaponry in the world, and "in a clash with any aggressor the Soviet Union will win a victory." Brezhnev addressed a joint session of the central committee of the Russian Communist party, the Supreme Soviet—the country's parliament—and the Supreme Soviet of the Russian Federation, biggest republic in the Soviet Union.

Assistant trade commissioners tour industry in the city

Fourteen assistant Canadian trade commissioners in training spent the day in Sherbrooke, yesterday observing how the wheels of industry turn here.

The visit which was organized by the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce is part of the training of these recruits. They spend three months touring Canada and visiting its industries.

The tour has two objectives — to provide the assistant trade commissioners with a broad knowledge of the Canadian economy and to enable them to gain first hand information on Canadian export trade so that they may be well informed when posted abroad.

Debating tourney scheduled

This weekend will mark the seventh time at Bishop's University will be holding the Bishop's Inter-University debating tournament.

The tournament will have an international flavor as teams from the United States as well as Canada will be participating. The event is becoming more and more recognized on the North American debating circuit.

Seven teams are entered so far and these include R.M.C., Sir George Williams, McGill, Loyola, University of Western Ontario, University of Pittsburgh, and St. Patrick's College Ottawa. The defending champions are the University of Pittsburgh debaters.

The topic for the debates is, "Resolved: That American economic influence is destroying Canada's independence." Debating will be in the classical style in a three-round elimination system which will be scored by the point spread method.

The teams will be competing for the Hart Trophy which will be presented after the final debate on Saturday afternoon. The last round will be adjudicated by Professor James Gray. Other judges will be Dr. Dallas Laskey and W. A. Shearson.

Registration takes place tonight at the Paysanne Motel where the opening banquet will also be held. The guest speaker will be John Meyer, Managing Editor of the Montreal Gazette and author of the column Your Business.

The first round of debates will take place at the University immediately after the banquet and will continue Saturday morning. The final debate will begin at 2:30 p.m.

The entire training lasts from 12 to 14 months. Two of these are spent in language training. The group visiting Sherbrooke had just returned from a tour of the Maritimes. Next stop on the tour is to Montreal and then on to southern Ontario.

The recruits will then spend some time in Ottawa and then visit the western provinces. "From an industrial point of view," said J. G. Richard Talbot, one of the trainees, "Sherbrooke is competitive and has room for further expansion."

He said Sherbrooke industry could benefit from trade and commerce. "We are in a position to help them."

The group was given a civic reception at city hall and welcomed by Ald. Gaston M. Roy, chairman industrial commission and Robert L. Belisle, city industrial commissioner.

The group divided in two sections to tour eight city industries. One was led by Roger Lapointe, manager S. W. Hooper Company and the other by Henri J. M. Beaudot, secretary-manager Chamber of Commerce. Later they exchanged notes.

One of the trainees, Bernard Dussault, 25, received his B. Comm. and M. Comm. (Marketing) from Sherbrooke University graduating this year. He is married to the former Diane Deslaurier of Sherbrooke.

Bishop's to present festival of plays

The Bishop's University Dramatics Society will begin its season this weekend by presenting a festival of one act plays.

Performances will begin tonight and another program will be featured tomorrow. The plays to be presented are Shall We Join the Ladies by J. M. Barrie, Jean Anouilh's version of Eurydice and The Sport of My Mad Mother by Ann Jellicoe.

One of the plays will be selected to represent Bishop's in the Canadian University Drama League festival which is to be held at Bishop's in February. A public adjudication will be given after Saturday's program by David Rittenhouse. At this time he will also select the play which will compete in the Water ski pavilion to be open to public

Tomorrow and Sunday the residents of Sherbrooke will have an opportunity to visit the centennial water ski pavilion on the Magog River, which was the site of the World Water Ski Championships last summer.

Mayor Armand Nadeau said yesterday the pavilion will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. He added if the response of the public is favorable then the pavilion will also be open the following weekend.

The mayor said the pavilion was constructed for the public as well as a home for the water ski championships.

He said he had wanted Sherbrooke citizens to visit the pavilion before this weekend, but such an occasion hadn't been possible.

Representatives from City Hall will be at the pavilion both days to answer any questions concerning the building.

The largest leaves of any plant belong to the Madagascan palms whose leaf blades may measure up to 65 feet in length.

DATES FOR COUNTY FAIRS ARE SET — Members of the executive of the Eastern Townships County Fair Association met yesterday with the representatives from the Cookshire, Richmond, Ayer's Cliff, Bedford and Bromie fairs. The dates for the five fairs for next year were arranged and set.

The dates for the fairs for the year 1968 are as follows: Bedford, August 9-10-11; Richmond, August 15-16-17; Cookshire, August 16-17-18; Ayer's Cliff, August 22-23-24; and Bromie, August 31 to Sept. 2.

The Eastern Townships County Fair Association held its annual meeting yesterday to decide upon the dates of the fairs in the district for next year and to elect the officers for the next term.

The meeting was held at the Le Baron Hotel. The executive remained unchanged as all of last year's officers were re-elected as follows: president, Tom Ride, of East Hatley; vice-president, Alfred T. Smith, of Richmond and Raymond Lampron of Richmond as secretary-treasurer.

The dates for the fairs for the year 1968 are as follows: Bedford, August 9-10-11; Richmond, August 15-16-17; Cookshire, August 16-17-18; Ayer's Cliff, August 22-23-24; and Bromie, August 31 to Sept. 2.

The Richmond and Cookshire fairs have conflicting dates follows: Cookshire has a budget of $2000, as do the Ayer's Cliff and Richmond fairs; the Sherbrooke fair has a budget of $1500 and the Bedford fair will be giving $1000 in prize money.

The members were to meet with the representatives of the five fair boards last night before they decided which midway to use for each fair for the next fair season.

Secretary-Treasurer, Jean-Louis Lange read a covering letter from a citizens' committee, accompanied by a petition of some 500 names of proprietors, tenants and business people in Magog, who are asking for the Sherbrooke Street bridge.

Alderman Oliva Hamel, immediately moved the motion be taken in favor of the request, and found a seconder in Alderman Gaston Huot. The council members and Mayor Bergeron unanimously endorsed the motion.

A member of the delegation, Raymond Rathier, rose to remind the council that a bridge had been discussed for a long time, but action to get one built had never been taken. Mr. Rathier emphasized that there was an immediate need for a second, and a more convenient way over the river.

Mayor Bergeron noted that the motion called for undelayed attention to the subject of a bridge.

Plans for the new bridge were drawn up almost two years ago, when estimates on costs were also drafted.

After a presentation by Roger Hebert, President of the Magog Tennis Club, and Director Dr. Jean Boileau, the council agreed to try and lower the expenses being faced by this association, whose taxes were more than doubled last year.

Dr. Boileau said this was the only tennis club in Magog, and the premises were on loan to the association by the Dominion Textile Company, which retained the property as a means of providing local residents with summer recreation facilities.

Being a lakeside property, with a beach, it falls in a high tax bracket. But in reality, Dr. Boileau stated, it's more of a community park and tourist attraction than a private club. In fact, any citizen wishing to belong may do so by paying the standard low membership fee.

Ernest St. Jacques, ward two alderman moved that the subject be delayed for study, and a solution sought. Mr. St. Jacques said the association making the request was doing Magog a great service, and intimated that possibly a grant would be the answer. Gaston Huot also seconded this motion.

Director of Police and Fire, Telesphore Lavoie was honored when a plaque was presented to him by Mayor Bergeron on

Sherbrooke courts

Jailed two months for stealing, attacking man

Joseph Shaker, 17, of East Angus, was sentenced to two months in jail in Sherbrooke county sessions yesterday, when he pleaded guilty to a charge of theft with violence.

He has been in jail since Oct. 27.

Gagnon's lawyer, Arcadius Denis, reported that his client had no record and that because of this, he should be given the clemency of the court.

Mr. Steinman stood up and replied that Gagnon not only had a record but that at the time of his arrest for the theft charge, he was out on parole to reimburse the money he had obtained through charges of false pretences for which he was convicted.

Mr. Denis apologized and said he had not been aware of the record.

He then suggested that Gagnon not be sent to jail on the theft charge so he could reimburse the money.

His suggestion was not granted.

Wilfred Gagne, 24, of Sherbrooke, pleaded guilty with explanations to a charge of theft yesterday before Judge Benoit Turmel and will be sentenced Nov. 9.

He is accused of stealing a car worth $300 from Standish Brothers' Reg'd in Cookshire with the aid of an 18-year-old accomplice, Guy Roy of Cookshire.

Acting Crown Prosecutor Steinman told the court that Gagne had been released from custody only last week on a theft charge and in that case too, he had involved youngsters to help him in his criminal offences.

He said Gagne was a bad influence on these young men and taking this fact into consideration, plus the fact that Gagne repeated his appearance in court so soon, he asked for one week to study the present case and Gagne's file before sentence was passed.

Guy Roy, 18, of Cookshire, pleaded guilty to a charge of theft and was given a suspended sentence and ordered to post a $500 bond to keep the peace for two years.

Crown Prosecutor Steinman said that Roy, who was Gagne's accomplice in the car theft, was under the bad influence of Gagne and that the accused had co-operated with the police following his arrest.

He has no previous record and Mr. Steinman suggested the suspended sentence.

Two young Sherbrooke men pleaded guilty to a charge of joy-riding and as a consequence one of them will be imprisoned for a month.

Ronald Alain, 19, and Pierre Rouleau, 18, took a joy-ride in the car of Paul Alain without the owner's permission.

Alain was sentenced to one month in jail because he has a previous record and because he also pleaded guilty to stealing gasoline.

It was Rouleau's first offence so he was given a suspended sentence and ordered to post a $500 bond to keep the peace for two years.

Alain's record shows he had previously been convicted of car theft and Crown Prosecutor Steinman said he apparently had not learned his lesson.

Jacques Gagnon, 22, of Sherbrooke, pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing a sewing machine worth $50 from Bertrand

It was later revealed that Gagnon will face yet another charge for stealing another sewing machine.

He pleaded not guilty.

Yves Gaudreau, 34, of Magog, pleaded guilty to two charges of assault and one charge of property and was given a $25 fine for the assault charges and ordered to post a $200 bond to keep the peace for a year.

He was given a suspended sentence but had to pay for the damages he caused which was a broken window worth $15.

His lawyer said there was a question of liquor involved and that he hoped justice would be served if the accused were given a suspended sentence.

It was Gaudreau's first appearance in the court of sessions.

Must post bond on car theft charge

Jaques Gelinas, 21, of North Hatley, pleaded guilty in Sherbrooke Court of Sessions yesterday to a charge of car theft and was given a suspended sentence and ordered to post a $500 bond to keep the peace for two years.

He and a younger man had stolen a car worth $1,000 which belonged to Gilles Vachon of Sherbrooke and led the man on a merry chase down the streets of Sherbrooke.

Gelinas' lawyer, Arcadius Denis, told the court that Gelinas was a student at the technical school where he is studying mechanics and is about to take his exams.

He said the accused had no previous record and that the car theft was a result of youthful folly.

He asked that the court pass a suspended sentence and a peace bond so that Gelinas could write his exams.

Crown Prosecutor Steinman said the above information was correct and that he left the sentence to the discretion of the court.

Important aid to local business

Decision of the Post Office Department to establish a full-service postal station in the King and Wellington street area will be acclaimed by these business establishments located in the heart of the city.

The present system whereby efforts are made to handle the out going mail service from this district through sub post offices leaves much to be desired, the best that can be said of these offices being that they are better than nothing.

But they are deficient in many respects, one of which that they do not provide a lock box service, meaning that firms which have a substantial volume of incoming mail, too much for the carrier to deliver, must make arrangements to travel to the main post office in the upper section of the city.

Another disadvantage is that these sub post offices are generally closed over the noon hour to allow the only attendant time for the mid-day meal.

And many other essential post office services are unavailable at these sub-agencies.

Many of the difficulties should be removed when the new postal station is opened.

News from Paris has it that the (a-hem) hemline is going to drop several inches. That will bring the curtain down on a great deal of comment, as well as scenery.

British experience with abolition

For some reason or another, many people expect that the House of Commons will vote in favor of the abolition of capital punishment when the proposed legislation is debated during the current sitting of the House, despite the rejection of a similar measure at the last session.

Just why the Members of Parliament should reverse their stand within a year is not made clear and if the MP's study recent samplings of public opinion in the United Kingdom opponents of abolition may be even stronger in their stand than they were previously.

According to the last survey, there is a growing demand in the Old Country for a return to capital punishment, the reason being the rise in the rate of murder and violent crime since abolition.

Britain abolished capital punishment two years ago for a five-year experimental period.

There were 35 capital murders in Britain last year and 32 in 1965, compared with an average of just over 20 in the previous eight years when the death penalty was in effect.

Admittedly the British experience does not offer irrefutable proof one way or another on the value of the death penalty, but it does indicate that the Canadian lawmakers should study all angles before being called upon to make their second decision within a year.

And another question arises.

If the Commons votes to retain the penalty, will the cabinet accept the verdict? Or will it continue its present policy of flouting the wishes of Parliament?

What with rising prices and one thing and another, the fine, old art of penny-pinching has given way to quarter-squeezing.

Other papers say:

Stockpiling pestilence, poison

Recent news stories have described perhaps the most frightening technological development of the age: the production and stockpiling, in both Russia and the United States, of enormous quantities of the most virulent disease bacilli and appallingly deadly poisonous gases. The United States alone is expending many hundreds of millions of dollars annually on its preparation for large-scale germ and gas warfare; in the year 1964 it spent over $300,000,000 but later figures are secret.

The scope of this preparation is almost unbelievable; enough gas and disease germs are stockpiled in forms deliverable by missiles or shells to destroy every living person in the world, many times over. Nor should this ghastly form of "chemical warfare," be compared with the crude gas attacks, by shell and spray, of the past two world wars; these modern preparations are so virulent that nine ounces of a single substance will suffice to kill the whole human race, while nerve gases stored in quantity are so powerful that a few droplets can kill a man by merely touching his skin.

What is so hair-raising about this nightmare armory is that chemical warfare puts in the hands of the military a weapon capable of exterminating entire populations under so-called "controlled" conditions. In other words, one can exterminate a people without rendering their country permanently uninhabitable or destroying their cities, as the suicidally-destructive hydrogen bomb would do. It appeals to the cold-blooded planner as a "profitable" weapon for use even in localized wars, whereas the H-bomb is strictly Armageddon.

It is true, of course, that a man killed by an arrow or a bang on the head is just as dead as one wiped out by a noxious gas, but the fact remains that such gas, by its complete lack of discrimination between combatant and civilian, old or young, man or woman, is the very epitome of all the mass-killing weapons which have made war increasingly horrible with each passing year; the long-range bomber, the guided missile, the whole range of nuclear weapons. These are not merely military tools to achieve a military decision, rather they are exterminators of mankind. To use such materials is not to wage war; it is to commit genocide.

Already there is a campaign afoot to condition world opinion toward acceptance of poison gas and disease as normal weapons of war, and in both Russia and the United States enormous stocks of tularemia, brucellosis, and encephalitis germs are accumulated, ready for use when the situation is deemed right. What difference is there between killing a man with a disease or a hole in the head, the apologists for germ warfare ask.

That the question could even be asked points up the lunacy of the times, and the virtual disappearance of all human values from the computerized planning which is shaping the soulless world of tomorrow.

Some merit in Washington stand

The U.S. decision to pressure Canada, in an attempt to have the Government drop its plan to extend the offshore fishing limit from three to 12 miles, comes as no surprise.

Ottawa was warned as far back as July, 1964, when legislation to adopt the new limit was passed by Parliament, that Washington wouldn't recognize the new fishing zone. Negotiations have failed to provide a solution to this problem.

Canada has only now started to implement this law.

The fact that the U.S. is strongly opposed to the extended limit doesn't mean that Ottawa should scrap its legislation. Some of the countries whose trawlers fish off Canada's coasts already abide by the new zone. These include the Soviet Union, Britain, Portugal and Iceland.

Canada, in turn, recognizes simpler zones established by other nations for fishing purposes. The U.S. itself, according to External Affairs Minister Paul Martin, has enacted a 12-mile provision.

What the Government must do is continue negotiating with the U.S. in the hope that a satisfactory agreement to this sticky problem can be reached. After all, the U.S. enjoys certain fishing rights in Canada's territorial waters that are covered by long-time bilateral arrangements.

Some concessions have also been made to this country by the U.S.

The new limit is designed to block the silver avalanche of Canadian coastal fish pouring into the holds of foreign fishing vessels. But what it has done, in some cases, is extend the offshore fishing zone to beyond the 12 miles set out in the legislation.

In view of this, the U.S. stand isn't entirely unreasonable.

J. Angus MacLean, former Conservative fisheries minister, warned the Government in 1964 that it was on shaky legal ground in trying to impose a 12-mile fishing zone off our east and west coasts.

He insisted that an international convention approved at the Law-of-the-Sea conference in Geneva in 1958, though not ratified by Canada, specifically prohibited what Canada was proposing to do.

The legislation gives the Government authority to fix baselines from headland-to-headland, from which the basic three-mile territorial limit and the additional nine-mile fishing zone is measured.

Previously, the three-mile limit followed the contour of the coastline.

One of the main objections of the U.S. is that it cannot recognize the validity of the 12-mile limit along a line drawn from headland to headland. This would shut out U.S. fishing vessels from some of the choice bays and inlets off our coasts.

Canada and the U.S. have settled differences before and can do so again. The latest U.S. rebuff doesn't necessarily mean that all is lost.

MADE FIRST MARK

Charles Lamb, the English essayist and critic, made his first appearance as an author in 1796 with the publishing of four sonnets in an anthology edited by Samuel Coleridge.

French Canada says:

More projects like Expo needed to bring unity among Canadians

Montreal Le Devoir—It was with almost indescribable enthusiasm that Montreal's Universal and International Exhibition came to an end. . . . The thousands of persons crowded into Place des Nations certainly felt an understandable tugging at the heartstrings at the sight of the flame being extinguished and the flags being lowered from their staffs, but among all, a deeper sentiment dominated all others: that of legitimate pride in having victoriously faced a challenge. . . .

The main lesson we Canadians have drawn from this exposition is that we can accomplish great things when we agree to work together. English- and French-Canadians perhaps have different talents, but when it is agreed to join these talents together they are capable of overcoming the greatest obstacles. . . .

It has happened too often in the past that one group wanted to impose on another its way of doing things, its philosophy. Instead of making an ally, it made an enemy. . . .

Expo perhaps proved especially that the French-Canadian people are always disposed to co-operation at the Canadian level, providing this co-operation respects their role as an equal partner. . . . In the Expo project, French-Canadians felt they were fully appreciated, that there was appreciation of their culture and their own particular genius. . . . That explains why, at all levels, they really did their job, they put their whole heart into making the thing an unqualified success. . . .

On the other hand, it would be appropriate to stress also that Expo reached its high degree of unanimity only because it represented an objective worthy of inflaming the enthusiasm of all Canadians. . . .

Our Canadian governments have not proposed enough of these constructive objectives, objectives capable of arousing our enthusiasm, of making us want to march side by side. There can be no true unity in a country when it lacks the imagination to launch far-reaching projects which fulfill the profound aspirations of all levels of society. . . .

Let equality between the two partners become a reality and all threats of secession will immediately cease. But one deludes oneself if he believes Canada can survive in inequality. — Vincent Prince (Oct. 30)

Quebec l'Action—An odd situation: At a time when Mr. J. P. Ostiguy, former president of the Montreal District Chamber of Commerce, speaks of what he considers the disastrous consequences of Quebec's secession, two English-speaking businessmen do not appear to be so concerned. . . .

One is Mr. E. C. Bovey, president of the Northern and Central Gas Co., which a few months ago bought 65 per cent of the shares of the Quebec Natural Gas Corp. Mr. Bovey, although he does not favor Quebec's independence, says this is a region where it is interesting to invest. To which must be added that Mr. Bovey does not see any incompatibility between political independence and economic interdependence. . . . Furthermore, Mr. C. F.

Harrington, president of the Royal Trust, speaking before members of the Society of Financial Analysts, admitted that certain clients had with drawn capital they had invested in Quebec; but he was not overly alarmed by that fact. . . . He pointed out that in the past the momentum of public opinion had frequently incited owners of funds not to invest in Alberta, in Saskatchewan, in Newfoundland and elsewhere. . . .

And this, we have reason to add, did not prevent the regions mentioned from remaining on the world map. . . . Let us always remember this: Those who have money to invest and who invest it in Quebec do not do so because of our beautiful eyes, but because they wish to earn interest, income. . . . Secession or no secession, there will always be a dollar to be made in Quebec as well as elsewhere. —Odilon Arteau (Oct. 30)

Quebec Le Soleil—One of the main conclusions to be drawn from a survey carried out among French-Canadians on behalf of the English-language section of the CBC is Editorial viewpoints from the French-language press, prepared by The Canadian Press.

... that constitutional questions are far from holding the attention of the vast majority of the population. The majority are primarily interested in its social and economic well-being, in the progress of education and in the fight against unemployment. . . . One of the most significant results of the survey indicated that only seven per cent of the population of Quebec favors separatism. . . .

What conclusion should be reached about this survey? It confirms that separatist agitation is the work of a minute minority of the population and that this minority is not increasing. Furthermore, it indicates that politicians and means of communication—the CBC first and foremost—are poorly attuned to popular feeling in centring their attention artificially and abusively on an emphatic and romantic Quebec nationalism rather than seeking a solution to social and economic problems which hold a priority in the eyes of the great majority. . . .

History is repeating itself. In the past a certain "elite" traced for us an unobtainable spiritual vocation in North America, and as a result of our own fault we adapted ourselves poorly to the economic and social realities ahead of us. Today a similar zealous minority wants to impose happiness on the people by dragging them along the bridge-path of whimsical adventures. (Oct. 26)

Trois-Rivieres Le Nouvelliste—Out of the first annual report of the Economic Council of the Atlantic Provinces comes one main conclusion which demands attention: The steady increase in emigration

Can't fix blame

How can UN bring peace to Mid-East?

By ARTHUR COLE

UNITED NATIONS — (TNS) — What restraints can the United Nations put on the Arab states and Israel to dampen the smouldering flames of hostility?

At first glance it may seem there's not very much. After all, despite its best efforts over nearly 20 years of peacekeeping in the Middle East, the U-N failed to avert the six-day war last June. And in spite of two ceasefire resolutions, sporadic violations have occurred for four months, reaching a peak in the past week with the sinking of an Israeli destroyer and artillery shelling of the Arab city of Suez.

Now a new ceasefire order has been issued, and it remains to be seen if both sides observe it.

World public opinion is perhaps the single biggest factor which can be used effectively by the United Nations. But to employ this weapon, the world body must have at its disposal fast, thorough and totally unbiased reporting.

In a day when communications signals can be transmitted from Venus to Earth when television pictures can be thrown across oceans by use of satellites, it is still dismally obvious that UN information-gathering machinery is sadly lacking.

What is needed most is international effort, assistance and concerted action toward peaceful solutions and away from battle. This could best be achieved by leadership from the two great powers, the United States and Soviet Russia. Working together in the UN framework and with singleness of purpose, they could in most cases prevent troubled areas from erupting into open violence.

But even their influence is not infallible, as evidenced by the events of last July. At that time Russia tried desperately to pressure the Arab states into accepting a compromise which would then have satisfied the United States and Israel's friends. The Arabs refused Russia's arm-twisting out of hand.

Perhaps the United Nations' most important role is the one ascribed to it by U Thant: "The United Nations provides an invaluable repository and a safe target for blame and criticism which might otherwise be directed elsewhere. The organization has, during all its years and in many situations, performed a vital function as an international lightning rod."

Even if one side or the other were clearly at fault, there is no guarantee that it would bow to world public opinion. South Africa and Rhodesia are fairly good examples of two states showing utter disdain for what the rest of the world thinks.

Nevertheless, most diplomats contacted here believe that strongly-worded resolutions by the Security Council or the Assembly have considerable effect, in that most states would be reluctant to flaunt them and so court political and moral pressure, isolation from the world community, and possibly even sanctions and use of armed force.

MORE EFFORT
It is a fact however, that this was recognized by U Thant in his annual report, that the UN is unable to operate in a peacekeeping role if any member state becomes determined to adopt a course of violence.

Magog Ward-2 Electors

On Monday, November 6th, you will be selecting your alderman and representative at city hall for the next three years. The choice you make is important both to Ward 2, and the City of Magog. We ask that you consider for the following valid reasons:

FIRST — Ernest St. Jacques has proven himself a worthy aldermanic candidate, and during his two terms in office, demonstrated good judgment and leadership qualities, essential to the administration of a community such as our own. Displaying an individualistic outlook, this man will not be swayed from unrealistic approaches to administration, necessary for the good of Magog and our ward. SECONDLY — Ernest St. Jacques is a successful businessman, without failures, or questionable personal undertakings behind him. His honesty, and desire to work for this community coupled with proven administrative knowledge, make him the most suitable candidate for alderman of our ward. THIRDLY — Being a thrifty man himself, and a person considerate of others, Ernest St. Jacques will be the candidate least likely to see Magog plunged further into debt. We are certain this man will not allow taxes to rise any higher, either for himself or others. FOURTHLY — Ernest St. Jacques has been above board with all his dealings at city hall, and whenever called on by a citizen of Magog, particularly Ward One, has been willing to consider whatever suggestions or appeals are directed at him. FIFTHLY — Ernest St. Jacques has managed some of the city's most important departments, such as the electrical section and is familiar with all phases of municipal administration in Magog. It's little wonder we believe he can do most for our city's future if elected. SIXTHLY — In looking into the future, Ernest St. Jacques has been one of the city's most outspoken advocates of industrial development for Magog, and has even volunteered to personally serve when needed, to bring in new sources of employment. SEVENTHLY — We who know Ernest St. Jacques personally, respect his judgment, his outlook, integrity and ability to work in harmony with fellow citizens. He is bilingual, and has always demonstrated a close friendship with all groups in our city. VOTE FOR ERNEST ST. JACQUES, AND MAGOG'S FUTURE! Published by the Association for Ernest St. Jacques, Candidate for Magog Ward Two Alderman.

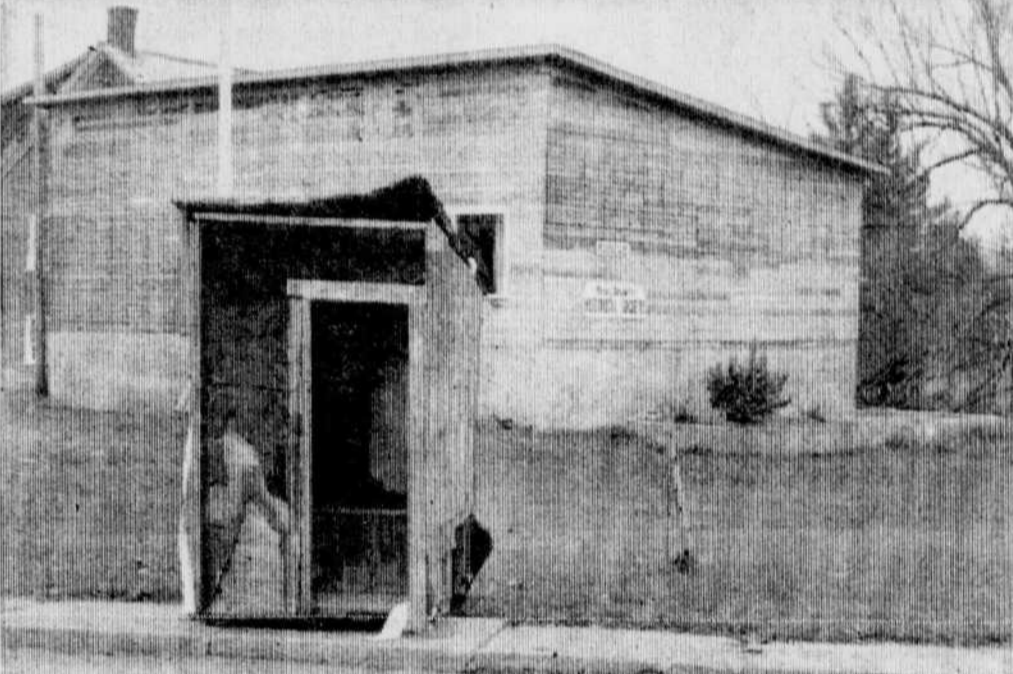

Election day not far away

MAGOG — (Special) — With only hours left until poll-time, Magog electors have begun speculation as to who will win Monday's municipal election here. Two candidates are contesting each of the seven positions, which are that of the mayor and six aldermen. While the present council have launched a hard hitting, fact-giving campaign, outlining their achievements and plans for the future, the adversaries haven't said nearly as much about their aims, if elected. The election will be held with all polls located at city hall, where voting shall be permitted from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. Jean-Paul Lange, secretary-treasurer of Magog is the election president, with his assistant, Yves Langlois as secretary. Results of the election shall be published in Tuesday's Record.

Many attend JMC concert

COWANSVILLE — (Staff) — More than 450 persons attended the first concert held under the auspices of the Jeunesses Musicales de Cowansville when Miss Renata Tarrago, a Spanish guitarist was the featured artist. Miss Tarrago's selections included 17th century minuets, a Bach prelude, Mozart variations and selections from contemporary Spanish composers. Miss Tarrago was hailed with several curtain calls, and the JMC hopes that future concerts will maintain the high standards achieved in the first.

A shopping center complex is proposed for Cowansville

COWANSVILLE — (Staff) — Rumors that a shopping center is slated for construction in Cowansville opposite the proposed Regional School bore fruit when it was revealed that a study of the feasibility of such a project is being considered. Mr. Jacques Daigle, Candiac, a former resident of Cowansville, who is promoting the proposed center, said that the overall value of the project would run at about $10,000,000, and with all the conveniences of the center at their doorsteps. Mr. Daigle projected increased sales tax revenues of one to two hundred thousand dollars annually for the Town of Cowansville, if the project becomes a reality. He further mentioned that there would be many positions to be filled by local people as well as providing an economic boost for the surrounding area. There has been mounting pressure on the municipal authorities to scuttle the project, although no official requests for building permits have been received by the town. Mr. Daigle intends to participate in the next Cowansville council meeting, Nov. 6, hoping to ascertain who is opposed to the construction of such a center.

Annual meeting to be held

BEDFORD — (Special) — On Nov. 26 at the Union hall on Massicotte Street, the annual meeting of the Bedford branch of the Knights of Columbus will be held. A dinner will be served, preceding the meeting, to which an invitation is extended to the members, wives and friends to attend.

Two-day sale

SUTTON — (Special) — A rummage sale will be held in the Parish Hall of Grace Anglican Church on Friday, Nov. 10, and Saturday, Nov. 11, under the auspices of ACW.

Guild holding rummage sale

SUTTON JUNCTION — (Special) — A rummage sale is being held here on Nov. 4 in the Church Hall, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., sponsored by St. Aidan's Guild. Anyone having articles to donate to the sale, may do so by leaving them with Mrs. W. Brown. If they wish to have articles picked up, telephone 538-5000.

Brigham —

Mrs. Mabel Caldwell, Regina, Sas., Miss Muriel Burnet and Mr. Archie Burnet, Cowansville, were calling on Mr. and Mrs. Borden Ingalls recently.

UNKNOWN FRUIT

Although the origin of the lemon is uncertain, the bitter fruit seems to have been introduced into North Africa somewhere between 1000 and 1200 AD.

MAGOG

WARD 3 ELECTORS

"do not forget the Nov. 6th municipal election!"

We, a citizens' committee, strongly recommend that you give your support to

Gerard L. Longpre

His past work and devotion to the welfare of our district and city surely proves that he is the man we need for the next 3 years, to carry on the programs he has already initiated. We hope you will let Gerard L. Longpre finish what he has begun, for the good of Magog and all of us who live in Ward 3!

This advertisement is published by a citizens group from Ward 3, who, unsolicited give testimony to the merits of Gerard L. Longpre, as our choice, and the best man to represent our district on the next Magog city council.

Oliva Hamel

is the man who can do most for our city, and the people of Ward One... he is the alderman who has insisted on closer co-operation between citizens for the good of Magog, saying, "Let's work together for progress!"

We, the citizens who have asked Mr. Hamel to again represent us, ask that you support this man in the November 6th municipal election — SUPPORT HAMEL — the bilingual candidate who wants to work with everyone in his ward!

BECAUSE: - OLIVA HAMEL is experienced in public works, and being a contractor is able to give valuable direction to municipal projects, such as Magog's streets and services department. OLIVA HAMEL has spent numerous hours from his personal schedule, working for the good of Magog, and we know, if re-elected, he will continue to do so! OLIVA HAMEL is an honest person, who places the interest of community ahead of personal benefits... and he will work in the interest of our people. OLIVA HAMEL shall endeavour to keep our taxes down, yet will give Magog most for our assessments, and he is the man in our ward most likely to gain new industry for our city! This ad published by the Organization for Oliva Hamel.

Ovila Bergeron

THE MAN WHO WILL WORK FOR ADVANCEMENT OF MAGOG!

OVILA BERGERON

- 1. HE ESTABLISHED A PLANNING COMMITTEE — Ovila Bergeron, with his councillors, carefully selected citizens, created a municipal planning committee, which could look ahead in preparation for approaching projects, and undertakings, needed for the good of this community, hence overcoming many problems. 2. HE INITIATED THE PERMANENT TOURIST BUREAU — It was through Ovila Bergeron, that a permanent tourist bureau was opened in Magog. 3. HE ESTABLISHED MAGOG'S INDUSTRIAL PROMOTION BUREAU — Today Magog has at the disposal to all inquirers, data on this city, and the facts relating to our community as a potential site of industrial development. After complying with the demands, normally made by interested industrialists, Ovila Bergeron ventured to establish liaison with all possible sources, through which new industry could be acquired, and within the past 17 months and his efforts resulted in more inquiries than recorded over many years. Momentarily, he is negotiating with two prospective firms, which could come here. 4. OVILA BERGERON FOUND TWO NEW INDUSTRIES IN 1952 — It was during Mr. Bergeron's previous term in office, that he successfully acquired new industries and sources of employment for Magog. These firms first employed 50 persons, and paid $212,500.00 annually. By 1963, they employed 180, and in 1966 had a payroll of $549,130.00. Since coming to Magog, they have paid out $5,481,552.00 in salaries. 5. OVILA BERGERON PROTECTS HIS TAXPAYERS — He has repeatedly refused to share Magog's municipal taxes under a provincial program, which would see money paid by citizens of this city, going for education, and other projects outside of the community! 6. OVILA BERGERON RECOGNIZES THE NEED FOR A NEW BRIDGE AT SHERBROOKE STREET, AND INTO MICHIGAN — He believes these bridges are essential for the good of community expansion, and to afford service to those in Magog South, and the East end, comparable to fire, police, medical and essential services available to the city's majority. Ovila Bergeron is a practical man though, and is convinced money for these bridges can be obtained through federal and provincial sources. If re-elected, he will do his best to secure aid! 7. OVILA BERGERON OPPOSES ABUSIVE MUNICIPAL SPENDING — Recognizing the benefits Magog's new city hall and arena have provided, Mr. Bergeron, like many citizens, feels the two projects, undertaken before his election as mayor, cost too much. He has expressed determination that he will introduce an economy formula to safeguard any future exorbitant spending, which would be injurious to the Magog tax rate. 8. OVILA BERGERON BELIEVES THE PROVINCE SHOULD SHARE MUNICIPAL COSTS OF PROVIDING ESSENTIAL RECREATIONAL FACILITIES — He is convinced a provincial ministry should be established, to help contribute to the new generation's demand for recreational facilities, especially in Magog, where the tourist industry sees a great influx of visitors. 9. OVILA BERGERON WANTS TO LOWER THE MUNICIPAL DEBT — "It's too high," Mr. Bergeron said, referring to Magog debt, noting that most of the money owed was obligated during a period he didn't hold office, and also stating that most owed was decided on by referendum. "I want to see our debt lowered," he said! 10. PARKING METERS — Mayor Bergeron notes that Maurice Theroux, his adversary, has suggested taking parking meters off Main Street to help commercial establishments, and reminds people that these meters were first purchased and installed during Mr. Theroux's term in office. 11. OVILA BERGERON ESTABLISHED ORDER IN THE CITY COUNCIL — Prior to Mr. Bergeron's appointment through the by-election a year and a half ago, city council meetings were referred to as disorderly demonstrations, when spectators would heckle the council, and frequently created situations which resulted in most adverse publicity for Magog. Since taking office, there hasn't been one such outburst, all who attend the council meetings are welcome, questions are politely answered, harmony prevails, and at long last, Magog is spared the embarrassment common for this city during the past. Be sure, Ovila Bergeron will continue to insist on order, and is the man to maintain it.

ELECTORS OF MAGOG — ON MONDAY, NOV. 6th, GIVE YOUR SUPPORT TO the man who guarantees continued progress, economy, careful administration, and harmony within our city! This advertisement published by the Organizing Committee for Ovila Bergeron, Magog candidate for mayor.

Expo Host-Hostess Club

Nurtured world understanding at personal level of its members

MONTREAL (CP) — Expo is over and the cold figures are being added up but there's one benefit that can't be programmed for the computers—the personal relationships that sprang up between the youthful hosts and hostesses of the various pavilions.

They were nurtured by the Host-Hostess Club, an organization that attracted 1,000 girls and 850 men from countries around the globe who worked here during the 185-day fair.

As an exercise in promoting international understanding at the personal level, it was apparently quite a success.

"One of the first things we discovered about each other is that we are not so different from each other as we are similar to one another," said 21-year-old Donna Blumenthal of Washington, a hostess at the American pavilion and the club's treasurer.

She reported personal knowledge of one marriage, three engagements and relationships "with a lot of potential," explaining that these resulted from the fact that there were 40 marines and 40 hostesses working together in the U.S. pavilion.

Andre Charbonneau, 23-year-old Montrealer who handled public relations for the club, thought the international friendships had a good chance of developing further.

PUBLISH LIST

"With the publication of the international directory which lists the name and address of every participating member, we'll be able to locate any friends we want to at any time."

"Not only that, but knowing friends in other countries, we will be able to travel around the world and always have somebody we know in some country."

For example, Penny Yared, 23-year-old hostess at the Japanese pavilion—she's not Japanese but was picked because she speaks French—said many Canadians had been in contact with Japanese friends to make sure they meet at the next world's fair in Osaka in 1970.

Membership cost $2, paid at the start of the fair, and there were materials benefits, such as trips to Quebec City and Niagara Falls.

"We also received World Festival entertainment tickets at reduced rates and we've arranged three champagne flights to Europe for only $200 per person round-trip," said Miss Blumenthal.

Some of the members remained in Montreal after the fair closed, some took trips through other parts of Canada, and some planned to return to Montreal to live after visits home.

Kim Graybiel, 19, of Toronto, the president, said one who is staying in Canada is Yves Capitain of Paris who now is teaching conversational French at Victoria College, University of Toronto. The 25-year-old Frenchman used to trade lunch tickets with Ontario pavilion worker Donald Smith, 23, so they could each eat in the French and Ontario cafeterias and learn the language.

Kim wasn't so busy as president that he missed out. He began dating Montrealer Lucie Belanger, a 20-year-old member of the Quebec pavilion staff.

Old adage untrue says beekeeper

VICTORIA (CP) — "There's no truth in the belief that bee stings cure arthritis," says Mrs. Howard Harper. "Believe me, I know."

Mrs. Harper, who admits to "nudging 80," is one of the most enthusiastic beekeepers on Vancouver Island. Though suffering from arthritis, she says it has not interfered with her beekeeping activities.

In spite of the protective clothing she wears when approaching the bee hives, she is often stung. "Once I had so many stings on my face I looked as if I had a bad case of the mumps."

She insists bee stings don't really hurt. Her husband has different ideas.

"He's scared but won't admit it. He was once stung on the hand and that finished him."

Fashion's fickle finger points to frills, curls

PARIS (Reuters)—A fundamental change in French fashion has turned last season's tomboy into a romantic damsel. Popular-priced clothes and accessories, inspired by the couture collections, are bringing in styles for girls who frankly want to look like girls, and less like their brothers.

Suddenly, the fickle finger of such high fashion powers as Dior, St. Laurent, Ricci, and Lanvin has succeeded in swinging the pendulum back towards frills and frivolity in a mass movement which has reached even the lowest price ranges.

The man-tailored trouser suit is on its way out, replaced by the culotte skirt cut with a generous flare, or copies of Yves St. Laurent's knicker suit inspired by Gainsborough's portrait of the boy in blue.

The blouse with ruffled jabot and fluted cuffs, evolved in the Dior collection, turns up everywhere, and looks prettier and newer than the boy's shirt and necktie which dominated the fashion scene last season.

CURLS BACK

The more feminine look is creeping into hair styles and make-up as well. Short boyish haircuts are giving way to fluffy, curly effects; puffy sausage curls tumbling all over the head or Dior with hair pulled back into a mass of ringlets at the nape of the neck.

The 1950s return in millinery and hair styles featuring Garbo hats with sloping brims, and frizzy tendrils of hair framing the face. A marked revival of rouge, red lips and thinner pencilled eyebrows is in time with the 1930 look.

A top-selling accessory item in the Paris department stores is the broad leather belt with enormous eyelets and a chiselled metal buckle. Such a belt lends an updated effect to last year's straight, unbelted shift.

The skirt-and-bouffant theme is the season's best seller, most often featured in black-and-white combinations. All-black skirts with jacket, coat or cape ensembles have a frilly white blouse. These long sleeves, ruffled skirts or blouses come in silk, starched batiste or cotton, with lingerie effects of frilled jabots and fluted cuffs.

Approaching marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Trippear, of Upper Melbourne, Que., announce the approaching marriage of their only daughter Donna Joy, to Mr. Sydney Charles Mills, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Mills, St. Felix de Kingsey, Que. The wedding will take place Nov. 18, at St. Andrew's Church, Upper Melbourne.

In a shortcut mood?

In the mood for a short cut today? Then you'll be wise to turn to those indispensables, one or several of our convenience foods.

But let's not be dull about it! For instance, you'll find that bottled dressings are good not only for cold salads, but for hot salads, marinades, certain scalloped vegetable dishes, meat loaves — lots of things.

BAVARIAN SLAW
1/2 cup bottled Italian dressing
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
6 cups shredded cabbage
6 knockwurst

Heat dressing in frying pan. Add onion, green pepper, salt, celery seed, pepper and cabbage. Slice and add knockwurst. Cover and simmer for 10 to 12 minutes, or until cabbage is crisp-tender. Serve as main dish to follow a hearty soup, or to supplement a light meatless main dish. Makes 6 servings.

Remember too, the help that frozen foods can offer to meals, the grand things you can do with cake and biscuit and pancake mixes, the flavor controlled accent you can give with instant coffee and tea.

And give a thought to things you can do with refrigerated rolls and biscuits and cookies, other than just baking and serving them.

TEENS' WIENER PIE
This hearty main course should be served with a salad and a light dessert.

1 can (8-oz.) refrigerated crescent dinner rolls
8 wieners
1 can (14-oz.) beans with chili sauce, drained
1/2 cup crushed ginger snaps
1 tablespoon instant dried onions
1/4 cup tomato ketchup

Unroll crescent rolls and separate dough into 8 triangles. Arrange in ungreased 9-inch pie pan, pressing pieces together to form a crust.

Cut wieners in halves lengthwise, and cut three of the halves again in crosswise pieces, to make six quarters.

Arrange 10 wiener halves in lined pan, cut sides down. Combine beans, ginger snaps and onions and spread over wieners in pan. Arrange quarter wieners over top, spoke fashion. Pour on ketchup.

Bake in hot oven, 425 degrees, for 15 minutes. Lower heat to moderate, 350 degrees. Place strip of foil around rim to prevent burning. Bake an additional 20 to 25 minutes, until crust is done. Cut in wedges and serve very hot. Makes 4 to 6 servings. (TNS)

Keeping fresh on the job

Autumn, for many young a mouth, or too shaggy a coiffure, you may be associated with such seeming trivia in someone's mind for years to come.

Even more important is your own personal aura of daintiness. It may seem like kindergarten stuff but cleanliness is the beginning. As life gets busier and your time more precious, don't make the colossal mistake of cutting down on bathing.

Jury finds Boulet guilty

QUEBEC (CP)—Oliva Boulet, 35, of Cap Rouge, Que., was sentenced Thursday to death for the 1965 pistol-slaying of Alberic Bilodeau.

The jury deliberated 25 minutes before finding him guilty of capital murder.

"May God have pity on your soul," said Boulet, smiling slightly as he was sentenced to hang at midnight Feb. 2.

Bilodeau, a painting contractor from Ste. Marie de Beauce, was shot three times Sept. 18, 1965, a few days after giving testimony to the investigators of the fire commissioner's office.

He was one of several men killed during police investigations of a rash of arson and fraudulent bankruptcy cases in the province.

Boulet claimed during his trial convicted murderer Jean-Jacques Gagnon was the one who actually murdered Bilodeau and had done it in self-defence.

his proposal was rejected for a sovereign state of Quebec joined to Canada in an economic union.

Johnson to visit

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Daniel Johnson of Quebec next week makes a four-day trip to New York City where he will meet what a government spokesman described as "top-notch Wall St. financiers."

The premier's office says the visit beginning next Wednesday arises from long-standing invitations originating in New York resulting from contacts the premier made at Expo 67.

Seize Playboy

MONTREAL (CP) — Police Thursday obtained a warrant to seize all available copies of the latest issue of Playboy magazine.

The warrant was issued in municipal court against distributors of the Montreal News Co. in suburban Ville LaSalle where 41 copies were seized as obscene under provisions of the Criminal Code.

Youth serum

MONTREAL (CP) — Dr. Andre Grenier, 39, and 30 and 16-year-old boys were arraigned Thursday on charges of criminal negligence arising from the deaths of three persons who had been injected with "youth serum" last June.

A coroner's jury last week found Grenier criminally responsible for the deaths.

The inquest was told the victims—two women and a man—were all injected June 3, with a serum prepared from the fetus of a pregnant sheep, and died shortly afterwards of gas gangrene infection.

Will curb liberty

QUEBEC (CP) — Denis Bousquet, Union Nationale MLA for St. Hyacinthe, said Thursday that proposed federal legislation on broadcasting attempts to control the news and will curb liberty of expression.

Pay damages

OTTAWA (CP) — Creditiste Leader Caouette suggested Thursday the federal government should pass a bill forcing backers of Quebec's separatist parties to pay damages for defacing property.

Mr. Caouette, speaking at the Commons studied justice department spending estimates, called the separatists "hot-heads" and "anarchists."

William Klinck, Chairman of the board of the Maplemount home for children, who gave the story of Maplemount; Douglas Armitage, President of the agency and Mr. Beaupre.

Social service activities are outlined at special meeting

Last year the Sherbrooke Social Service legalized 100 adoptions in this district, placed 2,000 youngsters in institutions and foster homes as befitted their situation, tried to settle 1,500 families' problems and placed 350 sick and elderly persons in institutions or rest homes.

These statistics were given last night at a special meeting of the Sherbrooke Welfare Social Service Centre in Sherbrooke, at the Centre which is situated at 594 Queen Street North.

Mr. Beaupre said that last year the centre also helped with financial assistance to unwed mothers but that the provincial government now handles these cases.

He told those present at the meeting that the Sherbrooke Social Service was a private, non-sectarian organization with an English-speaking and a French-speaking group with a staff of 13 professional social workers, 42 case aid workers and 20 clerical workers.

He reported the agency's budget to be $800,000, of which 90 per cent is paid by the government.

Despite this large portion of the expenses defrayed by the government, Mr. Beaupre expressed a desire that the agency remain a private organization, independent of the government, because community interest is much stronger when an organization such as the agency is a private, community effort.

He said that two years ago there were only two professional social workers in Sherbrooke and now there are the 13 and this is partly because in 1964, the government started granting more funds for these types of projects.

The service, he said, was founded by a priest, Father Perrault, who was succeeded by two others, Fathers Demers and Gerard, and now Mr. Beaupre is the director of the presently non-sectarian agency.

Dr. William Klinck, Director of the Maplemount home for children in Cookshire, also was a guest speaker and he told those present of the work done at the home.

He said the committee and staff at Maplemount is providing a home for children which is characterized by love, limitations (discipline) and letting them grow up... the three L's.

He said of child welfare, "It's a challenging field... we are always learning."

He said many of the children at Maplemount have chips on their shoulders because of the way they have been mistreated by adults and that the home's staff tries to reach these children and help them.

He said there is a great need for this type of institution which is a home for children who cannot live with their parents for various reasons.

He proposed that each active church in the district should have its own welfare group and that he would like to see more welfare work done in the English-speaking section of the Eastern Townships.

Following Mr. Beaupre's speech, a discussion period was held in which all twenty-three members attending the meeting joined.

It was agreed that many English-speaking people shied away from the welfare agency because of ignorance of its existence or its functions.

Many times, it was said, the English-speaking people have a language barrier with a French-speaking social worker and are afraid to come.

Mr. Beaupre said that the centre has trouble placing handicapped children and adolescents in foster homes because foster parents usually want and ask for a baby or a two to three-year-old because "they're so cute."

He also explained that there is a need for home-makers. These are women who enter a home in the case of a sick mother and handle the household chores so the children do not have to leave their home or their mother for months at a time.

These home-makers are paid but Mr. Beaupre said that it was not a problem of money that held down the number of these women to so few, but because of a lack of a suitable amount of applicants.

He also told the people that there were twenty-two nursing homes for the aged in the district and that the English-speaking people have a demand for more.

It was strongly asserted that no prejudice was involved in these statements concerning English and French-speaking people.

He said of the centre's entire program in this district, about five per cent are English-speaking cases.

Invited guests at the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt, Director and Directress of the Maplemount home, Nora E. McCordell, supervisor of special education and psychological services of the E.T. Regional School Board, Dr. Klinck, Mr. Garry Moore, staff members of the Maplemount home and Jean Gillett, a social worker who is studying at McGill University.

It was reported at the meeting by the secretary-treasurer, Alfred Smith, that the agency's English-speaking section's financial balance was $1,489.24.

Card of Thanks

BARCLAY, Thomas J. E., C.D., C.M. — A sincere thank you to Dr. Mills and Dr. Paquette, to the staff of the Intensive Care Unit and to the staff of the third floor of Sherbrooke Hospital for the care and comfort given Tom during his long stay. We shall always remember you, who were so kind to us at the time of his death and funeral. JANEY (wife). SHEILA (daughter).

In Memoriam

COOK, James A. — In loving memory of a dear husband, who passed away one year ago today, November 3, 1966. You were my life's companion, a life linked with my own. God knows how much I miss you, as I climb the hill alone. Sadly missed by: SHIRLEY (your loving wife).

HARLING — In loving memory of my father, Parker Harling who left us one year ago today, November 3, 1966. No splendor shone about his life for quiet were his ways. He always did the best he could. However hard his days. The dearest father, the kindest friend. One of the best whom God could lend. Deeply remembered by: BILL AND YVON (daughters). Bury, Que.

LAMARCHE, William George — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, who passed away November 3, 1963. On earth we dearly loved you. We forget you not in death. Always loved and remembered by: LILLIAN (his wife), BILLY (son), AND FAMILY.

TURNER — In loving memory of our dear parents, Mr. and Mrs. William James Turner, Mother, who departed this life November 3, 1968 and Dad, September 21, 1964. Asleep in God's beautiful garden, sheltered from sorrow and pain. Safe in God's wonderful keeping. Until we meet again. Always remembered by: THEIR FAMILY.

US rubberstamp

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian university presidents and deans heard Thursday that research into social problems in Canada is rapidly becoming a rubberstamp of United States work in the same field. In a paper presented to the Conference of the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada, Dr. Michael Oliver, academic vice-principal of McGill University, said he has noticed "a remarkable apathy shown by our social scientists in following up the promising hypotheses produced by their Canadian colleagues."

Trial continues

MONTREAL (CP) — Defence lawyer Rene Maranda cross-examined a Montreal police captain for a full day Thursday in the burglary trial of Georges Lemay.

On the stand was Capt. Leo Plouffe, an explosives expert, who had testified earlier about items he found inside a branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, robbed of $633,605 during the Dominion Day weekend in 1961.

Windsor blaze is extinguished

WINDSOR — (Staff) — Volunteer firemen here were called out yesterday to extinguish a fire at the Manoir du Cheval D'Or, 132 St. Georges Street in Windsor.

The fire started in the cooking grease in the kitchen of the restaurant about 6:35 p.m. and there were approximately 16 volunteer firemen who put out the flames in 30 minutes. Marcel Gagne, manager of the Cheval D'Or, and a few customers were in the restaurant when the fire started behind the stove where the French fries are prepared.

Accountants hold a joint gathering

For the first time in the Sherbrooke area, the Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants of Quebec (SICA), and the Institute of Chartered Accountants, met together for a dinner meeting at Le Baron Hotel last Tuesday evening.

A. G. Sheltus, president of SICA, told the meeting the problems of the public and private accountants are coming closer, particularly in educational training.

One purpose of the meeting was to sponsor interest among students working toward their RIA or CA degrees. A number of students attended the dinner meeting.

Two films were shown at the meeting. The first one "Men of Account," was a 25 minute film recently released by the Institute of Chartered Accountants.

The second film "Dubois et Fils," depicted the problems of a Quebec family owned company.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. Sheltus and Charles Martel, president of the CA association. Sixty-seven members, guests, and students attended the dinner meeting.

The next meeting, November 21, will be in the form of a plant visit at Domtar in Windsor Mills.

Date changed

ULVERTON — (Special) — A change has been made in the date of the annual fall bazaar of the United Church Women. The bazaar will be held on Saturday, Nov. 25, instead of Nov. 8, as previously announced.

behalf of the Provincial Government, awarded because of the absence of pedestrian accidental deaths in the city over the past two years. Mr. Lavoie will turn the plaque over to his department this afternoon, in appreciation for their important role in helping control accidents here.

In October, 1,740 calls to the police were made, and 540 of these necessitated the use of patrol cars. During the month he noted that Magog had registered 36 vehicle accidents in which seven persons were injured. His fire department, had answered three calls outside the city, rendering service chargeable at $450 by this municipality.

Notification from the Canadian Pacific Railway Company stated that this firm wishes a new assessment of the right-of-way over their tracks to the lakefront on Lake Street.

Teachers at the Brassard School petitioned Magog council Thursday evening for seven free parking spaces in the municipal lot at the Braves Park.

Their request was rejected, on the grounds that the city couldn't give such special concessions to one group, and not others. Alderman Gerard L. Longpre said the only way to help the teachers, would be to allow them the lower monthly metered parking rate, which is $7 per vehicle.

Several owners of vacant lots in Magog are behind in taxes, and having neglected to accept knowledge notices of the arrears, council agreed to seize the land and offer it for auction at the Stanstead Registry Office, 10 a.m., Tuesday morning, November 7.

One citizen, who wrote to the council, and asked for his problem to be discussed Thursday, wasn't on hand to meet the council, which prompted Mayor Bergeron to express his fear that many citizens neglect their own rights.

Macdonald College

The long-heralded Canadian Conference on Milk Recording is over. By all accounts it may well be one of the major milestones in the Canadian dairy industry.

I wasn't fortunate enough to be one of the participants, but from the stacks of material the three College representatives brought back, and from their personal observations, I will try to pass on a bite-sized summary.

The Minister of Agriculture, Hon. J. J. Greene, set the theme for the conference in this opening address. "The world is indeed becoming a global village. Your competition is the dairy farmer in any part of the world," he said.

"The Quebec producers' returns may be influenced more by what New Zealand is doing than by any action taken by Ontario farmers. So it is not a matter of Canadian farmers competing in efficiency with each other, but rather the Canadian farmer against the foreign farmer. And while Government action can keep out certain foreign competition for a while, it cannot do it over an extended period, especially when the spread in price between the domestic and foreign product becomes too great."

Against that background, Mr. Greene focused on milk recording. "With project margins as narrow as they are, I don't know how any farmer can afford the luxury of not knowing what his cows are producing."

"It seems contradictory to me that while in Canada we have the most heavily subsidized milk recording program in the world, we have the lowest participation by farmers. Something like seven per cent of our dairy cattle are on test," he said.

In the afternoon of Monday, and again on Tuesday, the delegates broke into discussion groups to discuss "What do we want from milk recording?" and "What kind of structure is best to achieve these goals?"

While the final statement is not yet in hand, the draft report gives us a clear indication of the conclusions.

A central issue that emerged was the unification of milk recording in Canada. There was a strong agreement and a sense of urgency that all existing programs be co-ordinated and integrated.

At the same time, this unified program should have two or three parts to take care of the different needs of the participants. It should establish uniform, world-recognized standards of testing and recording across Canada; it should make use of centralized processing and computer facilities, and it should take care of both grade and purebred herds. Related feeding, management, record keeping and interpretation should be part of the system.

The delegates were in agreement that the producers should be included in policy-making and research, education and extension should be part of the program.

The building of a structure to take care of this unified program will be the responsibility of a follow-up Committee. However, it was given some guidelines. Milk recording in Canada should be carried on under the policy-making and administrative direction of a system of provincial and federal councils, or committees. Government, producers, and universities should be represented. Responsibility for field testing and supervision should be provincial, as should be all feeding and management services. Responsibilities of the federal council would include research and consultation.

A blue-print for a basic structure and division of responsibilities was presented, and approved for the guidance of the follow-up committee.

The cost of a unified milk recording program the conference agreed, should be divided between the three groups that benefit most—the participating milk producer, the non-participating milk producer, who benefits from better livestock, and the consuming public which benefits from lower costs of production.

The importance of feeding and management services as part of the new, unified program was emphasized over and over again. These were at the heart of an enthusiastic participation by milk producers.

Site evaluation was another positive benefit seen by the delegates. For selection of young sites for A.I., at least 60 per cent of the cows should be on test. And this will require a greatly enlarged producer participation over the present seven per cent.

Emphasis was also placed on the need to develop a system of testing and recording for milk components—not fat. The limitations of present weighing and sampling equipment was recognized.

Through the whole conference, the need to maintain the prestige of the Canadian purebred with an eye to domestic and foreign sales, and the place of Federally authenticated official records was emphasized.

GOVERNMENT ADVISOR — Marcel Faribault, president of the General Trust of Canada, was sworn in Monday as a member of the Quebec Legislative Council. Mr. Faribault also becomes constitutional and economic adviser to the executive council. He is seen signing his oath of office in the office of Hugues Lapointe, Quebec Lieutenant-Governor.

DO-IT-YOURSELF

Visions of broken plaster gone with handy fasteners

Hanging a picture or a mirror on a wall is a job that can be approached with a feeling bordering on panic. There is an awareness that one simply doesn't drive a nail into the wall and then hope for the best.

There are visions of broken plaster, torn wallpaper and cracked concrete. Or perhaps one does try driving a nail and, dimly remembering something about locating the joists, goes about pounding the wall listening for a solid sound.

Ingenuous wall fasteners are available that will handle almost any situation. It is worth your time now and then to browse among store counters for them.

One of the simplest is adhesive-backed, made of cloth with a metal hook on it. This is strictly in the lightweight class, but it goes up fast and won't mar your walls.

The cloth is soaked in water and the whole affair is applied to the wall. In 20 minutes, it's ready to use. To remove, soak with water and peel off.

Matching hooks are available for the backs of pictures. A stronger picture hanger is the brass hook with a thin nail running through it at an angle. These come in a variety of sizes and are graded according to the load they can support.

But when you are putting up something that requires more support—certain rods, shelves, wall lamps—you will want something that will not tear off or pull out as easily as adhesive or a nail.

Screws are preferred but they will not hold in a soft, crumbly material, such as plaster. A variety of anchors have been devised which will fit firmly in the wall while giving the screw a sturdier base.

Cheapest of these is the plastic anchor. When a wood screw is inserted into one, it spreads in the wall and provides a good grip. Drill a hole the same diameter as the anchor, fit the anchor in place and then thread the screw in.

Fiber plugs consist of a lead lining covered with fiber. Use these in concrete and masonry as well as plaster. The screw bites into the lead and expands the shield slightly in the hole.

Machine screw anchors are for use with machine screws in concrete walls where the load is heavy. The anchor consists of a machine nut and a lead sleeve. When the bolt is inserted and tightened, it draws up the nut, expanding the sleeve.

Lead anchors are for use in the same situation where a wood or lag screw is desired. The screw cuts its thread in the lead anchor and expands it against the side of the wall.

Toggle bolts are for use in hollow walls. A unit consists of a machine bolt and a nut that is really in the form of wings which can be folded to insert in the hole and which then spring open inside the wall. If you withdraw the bolt, however, the wings drop into the wall.

A machine bolt with an expansion anchor (Molly Bolt) is a common brand; it can also be used inside a hollow wall. As the bolt is tightened the end of the anchor is drawn up, causing the shield to expand. You must use the right size for the wall.

Over 300 attend autumn tea, sale held by Catholic Women's League

ROCK ISLAND — Members of the Catholic Women's League, Our Lady of Mercy Council, on Oct. 28 were hostesses to over 300 people of the Rock area and others from a distance at their annual autumn tea and sale.

The event was held in Our Lady of Mercy Church Parish Hall, where Hallowe'en decor added to the festivities. The guests were welcomed by the president, Mrs. Marielle Masse.

The pointers were Mrs. Kay Waterman and Mrs. Ben LaPierre. Members of the Council were in charge of the kitchen details and others, assisted by some of the members' daughters, served at the small tables.

Mrs. June Federico was chairman of the project. Mrs. George Labrecque was convener of the sale of a $50 Canada Savings Bond, which was claimed by Miss Fara Popst, of Stanstead. Mrs. Labrecque was in charge of sales of Christmas cards with a picture of the new Our Lady of Mercy Church.

Mrs. Blanche Webb, saleslady for the table of home-cooked foods was also in charge of a special cake, made and beautifully decorated by Mrs. Franklin Miller, and claimed by Miss Therese Gagniere, of Rock area and others from a distance at their annual autumn tea and sale.

Winners of the door prizes, donated by local firms, were: Mrs. Edgar Hill, Rock Island, lubrication and oil change; Mrs. G. Kennison, Rock Island, car light; Mrs. M. Dustin, Stanstead, candy dish; Mrs. Fred Baker, Rock Island, cream and sugar set; Mrs. E. C. Middleton, Stanstead, barbecue dinners; Mrs. E. Parent, two theater passes.

Mrs. Arnold Rever, of Rock Island, cup and saucer; Mrs. A. Masse, Montreal, $5 coupon from a bakery; Mrs. W. H. Rudd, Rock Island, $3.60 coupon from a dairy; Mrs. Lena Mueller, Beebe, five-pound ham; Mrs. Irene Bacon, electric table alarm clock; Mrs. Lora Barlow, Rock Island, glass bird.

A hair-do, Mrs. Geneva Lyons, Rock Island; a viewmaster, Mrs. L. Smith, Rock Island; an oil lamp, Mrs. Carroll Smith, Rock Island; lady's slip, Mrs. Emilie Bouchard, Rock Island; $3 gift certificate, Mrs. Emerson Peavy, Beebe.

Mrs. Eugene Clark, East Angus, president of the Sherbrooke Diocesan Council, C.W.L., was a guest.

Father G. Guay, parish priest, spoke briefly to the guests. He also drew the lucky Bond ticket. Door prizes were drawn by Edgar Hill and Albert Fregeau and Mrs. Kay Waterman drew the cake ticket.

LYSANDER — Recent guests at the McCrea home were: Mr. and Mrs. Francis Campbell, Montreal, Mrs. R. McInelny and son, Clarence, Red Deer, Alta.; Mrs. Ernest Smith and daughter, Mrs. Johnson and three children, of Richmond.

Mrs. Pearl McCrea spent two days with Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, of Inverness.

Mrs. Harold Patterson was a recent overnight guest of her mother, Mrs. P. Bullard, of Adirley.

Misses Edith and Linda Patterson, of Lyster, and Miss C. Patterson, of Lennoxville, were weekend guests at their parental home here.

Mr. Allan McCrea and Miss Linda McCrea attended the Hallowe'en party at the Andrew Johnson School at Theford Mines. Miss Linda and Miss Melanie McCrea attended the C.G.L.T. Hallowe'en party at King's Mills.

BEEBE — Mr. George Brown was called to Concord, Vt., by the death of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Clarence Brown and remained to attend the funeral on Oct. 31.

THE QUEBEC GOVERNMENT CALLS FOR...

TENDERS

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS

At: ST-HYACINTHE, Que. Project No. 297-67

SEALED TENDERS will be received by the Department of P.M. Public Works for:

TUESDAY, NOV. 21, 1967. Each tender, to be valid, must be accompanied by a certified bank check, payable to the order of the Minister of Finance, for an amount equal to ten per cent (10%) of the tender price.

At the time of the sale award, this check will be remitted to the bidder unless he is the buyer. In the latter case, the check will be retained till after the execution of the deed of sale. The Department does not bind itself to accept any of the tenders.

All legal and notarial fees will be at the expense of the buyer.

Interested contractors will apply to Mr. Jean-Guy Paquin, Divisional engineer at the Department of Roads, 2755 Picaud St., St-Hyacinthe, Que., on or after Friday, November 3, 1967 to obtain all specifications regarding those properties.

ABC H and S executive plans year's program

COOKSHIRE — An executive meeting of the A.B.C. Home and School Association was held in the High School, with the president, Rev. J. A. Filshie, in the chair.

Tentative plans were made for the year's program as follows: Nov. 30, a panel discussion; Jan. 25, 1968, Meet the teachers' night; Feb. 22, the topic, discipline, a buzz session; March 28, debates, junior and senior High School students; April 25, annual meeting, bean supper and amateur hour.

Plans were also made to fix the stage curtains in the High School, to see about the possibility of serving hot soup at the noon hour in the school, to serve refreshments at the November meeting and to make a pennant for the class having the highest attendance of parents each month at the A.B.C. Home and School meetings.

Mrs. Gordon Crack was in Dixville recently when the Rotary Club of Sherbrooke opened the New Pavilion. She was accompanied home by Miss Mickey Crack, who spent a few days with her parents.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran concentrate. Pour this into a grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

YOUR GARDEN HEADQUARTERS

By JOHN BRADSHAW

Put trees on balanced diet

Drilling holes in your spotless lawn may seem a weird way of helping your trees but it works wonders.

Trees are like humans and need food and air to survive. They should be fed on a regular basis rather than once in a while or never. Trees don't have a respiratory system comparable to animals and consequently must have air not only above ground for the leaves but below for the roots.

Soil compaction due to the lawn mower, roller, foot traffic and other activities materially cuts down on the amount of air able to reach the roots.

Drill-hole feeding, sometimes called the perforation method, consists of drilling a series of equally spaced holes over the entire root system. We used to recommend that a series of holes be placed around the drip of the tree but recent research indicates that this is not sufficient.

For trees up to eight inches in diameter, the root system starts about three feet out from the trunk. For those with a 12-inch diameter it starts four to five feet from the trunk. Any trees larger than that are best fed by a tree expert rather than by the home gardener.

In feeding trees up to eight inches in diameter you make the first series of holes in a circle three feet from the trunk and the same distance apart. Then go three feet further out and repeat the process. It's unlikely that you'll need to make more than three sets of circles.

Building a temporary compost box for leaves and any other leafy material from the house or garden is a simple matter. All you need is four strong wooden or metal posts, and some wire mesh or chicken netting to retain the leaves.

An ideal size for such a compost box would be six feet long, four feet wide and four feet deep. No bottom or cover is required.

USE LEAVES

Start by dumping in a pile of leaves and tramping them down. In most cases the leaves will be dry and will need soaking with the hose as you tramp. When you have tramped a layer six inches deep you add a one inch layer of soil and start all over again.

Keep repeating the process until all the leaves and other residue from the garden has been used up. By next spring you'll have a half a ton of humus that can add much to the health and beauty of the garden.

Shopping for trees, even the most desirable kinds, isn't as easy as it sounds.

Beavers battle Victoriaville Tigers to 3-3 tie

GAGNON SAVES — Andre Gagnon, (30) of the Beavers as he made one of his key saves in last night's game at the Sports Palace.

Play to 3-3 deadlock, Jim Beckman pots two, Andre Gagnon and Hardy standouts with goaling exhibition

Sherbrooke Beavers paced by Jim Beckman's two-goal performance and Andre Gagnon's outstanding work in the nets held the fast-stepping Tigers of Victoriaville to a 3-3 deadlock last evening at the Sports Palace before some 2,500 fans.

It was the best game of the season for the Beavers who were playing without the services of their coach Georges Roy. He was sitting out a game suspension by the league. The Beavers now meet the Nationals here Sunday evening at 7:30 p.m.

It was "goalie's night" last evening as Andre Gagnon and Claude Hardy of Victoriaville came up with terrific games. They were responsible for the score being so low. Time after time, each in their turn, robbed players of sure goals. It was the best goal-tending seen here this winter.

It was a wide-open battle with the Beavers matching strides with their opponents at every turn. They started off fast and kept the pressure on all the time. During these stages the goalies were at their best coming up with the key saves.

Jim Beckman, Beavers' hard-working right winger, paced the attack with two goals while Bill Dupre potted the other. For the Tigers, it was Laurier Fradette, Johnny Mentis and Brian Elwell who did the scoring. A total of 12 minor penalties were dished out with a mis-conduct to Brian Elwell.

During their advantages in man power the Beavers clicked for all their goals when they had the man advantage. The Tigers picked up only one when they had the extra man.

Hardy went off just after the opening whistle and Pepin, who handled the team last evening, tossed on his power boys. Jean-Pierre Lafond made a nice pass across the goal mouth and Bill Dupre tipped it home.

Tigers, who were caught off balance, commenced to move but stand on his head but the rubber never got by him although Beckman, Pepin, Dupre and Lafond had good chances.

A little later Fradette potted the first tally for the Tigers unassisted. This gave the Tigers a lift but Sherbrooke held their ground. The middle session started off with both clubs really checking close. Lafond missed a tip-in from Pepin.

Clement Boudreau went off for tripping and Jim Beckman put the Beavers out in front. Pierre Lepage relayed the puck back to Robidas and when he fired, Jim Beckman was standing in front to snare the rebound. He swung around and back-handed it by Hardy.

Mentis and Potvin got away but Gagnon made the key saves on both of them. Play was really stepping right long with Beckman, Carignan and Gagne buzzing around but Hardy turned them back. Marcotte went off and the Beavers opened up. Lafond tallied but the ref ruled that Dupre was standing in the balance, commenced to move but the Beavers remained right along side. Dupre was back again but Hardy turned him aside. Pierre Lepage, who was making his initial appearance, went off and Dupre again came close to scoring.

Brian Elwell and Pierre Potvin were tagged with minors on the same play. Elwell raised an argument but lost the decision to the referee. He was tagged with a mis-conduct. He was lucky to get away with only that as he left the box to try and argue with the referee but his mates held him away.

The Beavers were all over Hardy during this stage but he managed, with his mates, to hold the fort. He was just simply terrific with his blocking acts. He did about everything

Bishop's University Gaiters at home to Guelph Gryphons in final game tomorrow

Bishop's University Gaiters will take the field Saturday in an effort to salvage a winning season as they take on the University of Guelph Gryphons.

The game, which will be played on the Gaiters' home field, will be the final tilt of the season for both teams. Bishop's currently has a three and three record and the Gryphons have two wins and four losses. The game will decide fifth spot in the new Central Canada Intercollegiate Football Conference which is in its first year of operation.

Guelph seems to have the momentum going into the game after they bombed Macdonald last Saturday while Bishop's was wiped out 33-0 by the University of Ottawa Gee-Gees.

Nevertheless the Gaiters, who have been beaten badly in their last two outings, are still determined to break the 500 barrier for their first season in the tough new league. Guelph on the other hand is enjoying something of a revival after having lost four games in a row after their opening win against Laurentian Sudbury.

The Gaiters defence, which has been practically the only redeeming factor for the team this year, is intact and has been playing good football all along. They were simply overpowered during their last two games by superior blocking. Such outstanding Gaiters defenders as Jack Schneider, Mark Ennio, Cameron Rodger and Donnie Cooper would have to be considered for anybody's all-star team.

The crippled Bishop's attack has managed to score only four touchdowns to date, one of these coming when Don Cooper recovered a fumble and ran it back for a score. In six games so far this season, the Gaiters have managed to come up a paltry 36 points. They have been shut out on three occasions.

The main reason for the offensive ineptitude is that the Gaiters have not found a clutch runner all season. Ron Smith and Ken Chipman are excellent runners but it is hard to pile up running yardage while sitting in the grandstand nursing leg injuries.

The attack therefore had to be based on the pass. The opposition did not take long to find out that the Gaiters presented no running threat and proceeded to red-dog with merry abandon.

Willie Mitchell can throw the ball and is a fine all-round quarterback, but he has spent most of the season running for his life or gazing at the sky from a reclining position after being repeatedly swamped.

Ron Smith will finally play a game at fullback after having recovered from his pulled hamstring muscle which he suffered during the first game of the season. His blocking and power running will be sorely needed.

Tackle Kyrke Nussey will also return to the lineup after missing two games. His presence should serve to bolster the weak offensive line to some extent. Guelph is a resurgent team and they are not as weak as they first appeared. If the Gaiters are to win Saturday, Willie Mitchell must be protected at all cost.

In other weekend sports actions, the Bishop's University Soccer Satans will be going to Montreal to round out their season with a contest against Loyola College.

The Satans have surprised everyone this season by winning one game and drawing two more. Previous to their victory over Macdonald College, the Satans had not won a game for two years. They then held undefeated R.M.C. to a tie and have a chance to move up in the O.S.L.A.A. standings this weekend.

Also in Montreal this weekend, Sir George Williams University will be hosting the annual O.S.L.A.A. Harrier championships. Bishop's will be sending a seven-man contingent to the meet and the best five times will count.

The only club with a dispassionate outlook on the weekend games is Edmonton, in third place. The Eskimos will meet the second-place club in a sudden-death semi-final.

In the event the bottom clubs upset Calgary and Saskatchewan, the Stampede would be awarded first place on the strength of their two wins in three meetings with the Roughriders this year.

The weekend could also be the last go-round for two of the country's all-time great quarterbacks—Bernie Faloney of B.C. and Kenny Ploen of Winnipeg.

There has been speculation the two former Grey Cup opponents—Faloney when he was at Hamilton, Ploen with Winnipeg—are playing their last seasons.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS

Andre Gagnon made a couple more key saves when Mentis and Samson were in on his door-step. Mentis evened the count when he slipped by the defense to have Gagnon at his mercy. The Sherbrooke goalie was left in the cold as Mentis tried for the lower corner of the net. He got a piece of it but it slid for the counter.

Gaston Bouchard was tagged for hooking which was a foolish one to take at this stage as play was very close. Brian Elwell put the Tigers out in front when he snared the puck after Gagnon had made two saves to give the Poliquin squad a 3-2 lead.

Clement Boudreau was in the cooler when Jim Beckman got his second tally. The Beavers were peppering Hardy from all angles but he was holding on. Finally Beckman batted home the disc and the game was tied again.

In the overtime Gilles Carignan was the first to get in on Hardy but the Tigers' agile netminder picked off the shot. The teams were checking very close at this point and were hoping for a tie.

Jacques Lampron went off for holding but some good clearing by his mates held the fort until he returned. Play was moving along at a good clip. Hardy made a big save on Carignan to rob him. Dupre riched the rebound off the boards but Hardy jumped over to block the shot.

It was the Tigers turn and Gagnon came up with another big one on Johnny Mentis in close. This time Sherbrooke's goalie outgassed him to block the puck. Mentis almost got away when Rejean Maltais misjudged the bouncing puck.

Just before the final siren Rene Pepin was in but Hardy came up with another key save to help his mates break out with a tie.

The Beavers seemed more determined than in their past games and gave the fans a good exhibition. Andre Gagnon and Claude Hardy were coming up with the key saves with their special moves to help their teams.

Frank Mahovlich grounded again by mysterious illness but his mates are healthy, trample Wings 9-3

Frank Mahovlich, the big man in the Toronto Maple Leafs' attack, has been grounded again by a mysterious illness.

His team-mates never have been healthier.

The Maple Leafs, playing without ailing Mahovlich, trampled Detroit Red Wings 9-3 Thursday night for their fourth National Hockey League victory in the last five starts.

Mahovlich, the club's leading scorer, was left behind in a Toronto hospital—reported to be suffering from depression and tension—when the Leafs travelled to Detroit following Wednesday night's 5-0 victory over Montreal.

But rookie Wayne Carleton, filling in for the Big M, picked up a goal and two assists while George Armstrong and Brian Conacher each tallied twice as Toronto halted the Red Wings' four-game winning string with the biggest scoring spree of the young season.

Chicago Black Hawks downed Los Angeles Kings 3-1 and Minnesota North Stars topped Philadelphia Flyers 3-1 in the only other games on Thursday's schedule.

In Philadelphia, Andre Boudrias, Wayne Connelly and Ted Taylor scored for Minnesota. Gary Peters scored for Philadelphia in the first period to give the Flyers a 1-1 tie.

The results didn't change the standings with Los Angeles still in front of the Western Division by a point over Pittsburgh Penguins and New York Rangers two points ahead of Detroit in the Eastern Division.

But the loss could be serious for Los Angeles as goalie Wayne Rutledge was removed midway through the first period following a goalmouth scramble.

He suffered a possible broken nose.

Terry Sawchuk replaced the injured goalie and allowed the winning and clinching Chicago goals.

The Philadelphia defeat was a costly one for the Flyers who lost left-winger Britt Selby for six to eight weeks with a shoulder separation.

Bernie Geoffron of New York Rangers was released from a Long Island hospital Thursday and is recovering from a severe digestive upset that developed last Friday. Depending on the result of tests Monday or Tuesday, the 36-year-old veteran hopes to be back on skates early in the week.

All teams are idle tonight. Saturday New York is in Toronto, Philadelphia is at Montreal, Detroit is in St. Louis to play the Blues, Pittsburgh is in California against the Seals and Los Angeles is in Minnesota.

Portland, Me.—Mel Collins, 137, Trenton, N.J., outpointed Joe DeNucci, 156, Newton, Mass., 10.

Los Angeles—Porchai Poppragan, 120, Thailand, outpointed Roberto Alvarez, 117½, Guadalajara, Jal., Mexico, 10.

YESTERDAY'S STARS
George Armstrong, who paced Toronto Maple Leafs to a 9-3 victory over Detroit Red Wings with two goals and two assists.

Bobby Hull, who took over the league scoring race with his goal and assist as Chicago Black Hawks won their second game in 10 starts, a 3-1 decision over Los Angeles Kings.

Cesare Maniago, whose acrobatic goaltending held Minnesota in the game and preserved their 2-1 lead through the second period en route to a 3-1 victory over Philadelphia Flyers.

Portland, Me.—Mel Collins, 137, Trenton, N.J., outpointed Joe DeNucci, 156, Newton, Mass., 10.

Los Angeles—Porchai Poppragan, 120, Thailand, outpointed Roberto Alvarez, 117½, Guadalajara, Jal., Mexico, 10.

WHY WILL MAGOG'S WARD No. 1 VOTERS ELECT GERARD LONGPRE AS THEIR NEXT ALDERMAN?

BECAUSE — he is honest and a man of integrity!
BECAUSE — he has ample time to Magog as councillor!
BECAUSE — his main ambition is to promote Magog's industrial development!
BECAUSE — the young sportsmen of Magog need a man like Mr. Longpre as a city official!

Published by the Committee for Gerard Longpre, Magog Aldermanic candidate 1967.

Canada's First Bank celebrates a Centennial and a half

Throughout this Centennial year, Bank of Montreal has joined with communities, large and small, across the nation in celebrating 100 years of Confederation.

Today, November 3rd, we have our own special day of celebration — the 150th anniversary of the founding of Canada's First Bank and the Canadian banking system.

On this historic occasion we could be looking backward over 150 years of achievement. Instead, we're looking ahead.

We're looking ahead with the enthusiasm of a vibrant institution geared for the future... A people's bank pervaded with a dynamic urge to maintain the leadership that has always characterized its service to the Canadian people.

The years ahead will be full of new challenges and new opportunities. Fresh ground must be broken and new pathways established in creative services to our customers to meet their ever-changing needs. Right now we're busy trail-blazing. That's the responsibility that comes with the privilege of being a leader.

When you're 150 years old you have to think young. In the past year alone, Bank of Montreal has continued to lead the way by being first with: True Savings Accounts ■ True Chequing Accounts ■ Bancardchek (the cash card) ■ Customer Convenience Hours ■ As we enter the second half of our second century it's as true today as it was in 1817: The Bank of the future is Canada's First Bank.

Annual Hallowe'en tea, sale held by King's Daughters at Richmond

RICHMOND — The King's Daughters of St. Anne's Church held its annual Hallowe'en tea and sale in the church hall on Oct. 28. The hall was decorated with Hallowe'en symbols in orange and black. Guests were received by Mrs. W. E. Walker and Mrs. W. Coles. At a large table decorated with a centerpiece of autumn leaves, flanked by orange and black candles in silver candelabra, Mrs. H. I. Apps poured tea. Miss Barbara Walker replenished the tea pot. Before the tea was served there was a sale of home cooking under the direction of Mrs. M. Morrill assisted by Mrs. Oliver, Miss M. Nixon and Mrs. Lillegren. Miss N. Moorhead was cashier for the food table and for the tea. The making of tea and work in the kitchen was looked after by Mrs. J. Cunningham, Mrs. Foster and Mrs. F. J. Roberts. The tea tables were waited on by Mrs. J. Coles, Mrs. L. F. Somerville, Mrs. C. D'Almaine, Mrs. L. Pye, Miss Mary Carson, Miss Barbara Walker, Mrs. J. I. Fallona, Mrs. M. Griffith, Mrs. R. Mixed bridal shower held at Mansonville MANSONVILLE — On Oct. 28, the gymnasium of the Mansonville Intermediate School was the scene of a mixed bridal shower in honor of Wayne Bedard and his fiancée, Miss Helene Bettschen. The Ladies of the Baptist Church were hostesses. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion by Mrs. Leon Aiken and Mrs. Guy Smith, the decorations being pink streamers and white wedding bells. Miss Bettschen and Mr. Bedard were met at the door by Mrs. Gary Aiken, who presented them with a corsage of red roses for Miss Bettschen and a boutonniere for Mr. Bedard. Corsages of red roses were also given Mr. Bedard's mother, mother, Mrs. Clare Bedard and Miss Bettschen's mother, Mrs. Otto Bettschen of Sutton. The guests were seated in a semi-circle, as the gifts were opened by Mr. Bedard and Miss Bettschen, assisted by Miss Bettschen's sister, Mrs. Gary Aiken of Sherbrooke. Mr. Bedard, on behalf of himself and Miss Bettschen, thanked the guests for their presents and good wishes. Informal buffet refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Gary Aiken. The shower cake, made by Mrs. Aiken of Sherbrooke, occupied the center of the table, flanked by white tapers in silver holders. Guests present were from Highwater, Durkin, Sutton, Magog and Sherbrooke.

Sunday School pupils hold hallowe'en tea

HATLEY — The Sunday School Pupils of the United Church entertained on Oct. 28 at a Hallowe'en tea and short program in the vestry of the Church. In charge of Mrs. Dale Miller, the hall was decorated in keeping with the Hallowe'en season. A short program was given by the primary and kindergarten children, in charge of Miss Judy Price, and tea was served by the older pupils of the Sunday School. A food sale was also held. Proceeds of the tea were for the Centennial project of the Sunday School Pupils.

50 Mansonville children visit customs office

MANSONVILLE — On Oct. 25, more than 50 children in the primary classes of the Mansonville Intermediate School, together with the principal, Vance Patterson, and teachers, Mrs. Letitia Cousins, Mrs. Thelma Cote and Mrs. Erma Perkins visited the Canadian Customs facilities at Highwater. The Collector of Customs and Excise, Merton Bailey, welcomed the group and after giving them an informative talk on Customs and Immigration work, conducted them on a tour of the Customs House. The children seemed most interested and asked a number of questions about customs procedures. As they left, each child was given a souvenir and gift.

Brome-Shefford Deanery service held at Sutton

SUTTON — The Brome-Shefford Deanery service held in Grace Anglican Church on Oct. 29 was well attended. Highlight of the evening was the inspiring address by Rev. David Ward, a staff worker for the Inter-Varsity Fellowship, who spoke on Modern Youth and the Church. A discussion period followed when the young people met in the Parish Hall, while others present continued in a song service of old favorite hymns. The singing throughout the evening was led by the junior choir. The rectors from Watford and Knowlton took part in the service. A copy of the new English version of the New Testament was presented to everyone attending the service.

these are Canada's longer Virginia cigarettes at popular price

the extra puffs are on us

Benson & Hedges 100's are longer than luxury size. Longer than king size. Much longer than regular size. And they are at popular price. What it amounts to is this. You smoke a pack of Benson & Hedges 100's and it's like getting more than three extra king size cigarettes on us. The length takes a little getting used to. The price doesn't. Filter-tipped Benson & Hedges 100's give you more of the best Virginia tobaccos at popular price. They're worth a try.
