THE GRAND TRUNK THROUGH ROAD.—DETROIT, Mich, Sept. 5.—The Free Press of this morning says the Russell House, yesterday, was again the scene of a conference between the representatives of the Great Western, Grand Trunk, and Wabash Railways. General Manager Broughton and Solicitor Samuel Barker appeared for the Great Western; General Manager Hickson, General Traffic Manager Seargeant, and General Solicitor E. M. Middaugh, for the Grand Trunk; and General Manager Swayne, for the Wabash. The points discussed were: The adjustment of the respective interests of the Companies in the new road, the proportion of the cost to be borne by each, the acquisition of terminal facilities at Detroit, and a variety of points relating to the joint ownership of the proposed road. But little progress was made. The points were talked of, and that was all. Nothing was decided, and no date was fixed upon for another meeting. All the participants in the conference returned to their respective homes last night. The Grand Trunk people will remain for a time at Point Edward.

TERRIBLE YACHTING DISASTER.—SACKETT'S HARBOR, N.Y., September 5.—The yacht "West Wind" capsized and sank immediately in Henderson Bay, about eleven o'clock to-day; seven persons were drowned. The drowned are: Byron Westcott, Nelson Westcott, Edward Benjamin, Shuler Howard, Drake Lewis, Allan Ramsay and Edward York. The saved are Myron Wicks and Charles Wasburn. Five of the drowned men leave families.

A large number of passengers are badly scalded and bruised. The wounded were all taken to the Marine Hospital. The boat does not appear, externally, to be very greatly injured.

HIS EXCELLENCY AND H.R.H.

Toronto's Welcome—The Greatest Demonstration the Queen City has Ever Made—Addresses, Visits—Pyrotechnics and Illuminations.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE STAR.]

TORONTO, Sept. 6.—Than yesterday's demonstration in honor of their Excellencies, a more spontaneous, enthusiastic, or even greater ovation was never given by Toronto, not even when the heir apparent to the throne of the Empire was the object of the attention of its people. In addition to the inhabitants of the city there could not have been less than 50,000 strangers, who took part in the display. These who listened to the effect of the music afforded by the

which were blended in their endeavor to do honor to the illustrious couple, say they could not have conceived anything like it. Indeed, Her Royal Highness appeared for the moment to be perfectly entranced. It may be here remarked, for the benefit of the ladies particularly, that H. R. H. wore a princess dress of dark and light blue striped silk, with royal blue velvet sleeves, a wide-awake hat trimmed with light blue silk and velvet, with a dark blue ostrich feather. His Excellency was dressed in ordinary morning dress. After the proceedings, which have been sufficiently detailed, His Excellency left the exhibition grounds, without the Princess, and paid a visit to the Museum and schools connected with the Educational Department. From the Normal School His Excellency drove to Government House, where he was joined by the Princess, and, at four o'clock, presented with an address by the Bishop of Toronto, on behalf of the Diocesan Synod. His Excellency having eloquently responded, the Bishop and his companions withdrew. In the evening

A GENERAL ILLUMINATION

took place which far exceeded anything that could have been expected. Every public building was brilliantly lit up, and all the buildings occupied by public companies, as well as many wholesale and retail stores. The spectacle was truly magnificent. Crowds thronged the street from seven p.m. until midnight. Government House was one magnificent blaze of light, the grounds surrounding being also brilliantly lit up. Osgoode Hall, Upper Canada College, and all the public buildings, with many private establishments may be said to have done their very utmost. Their Excellencies drove out at half-past nine, escorted by the Body Guard, and made the round of the principal streets, viewing the illuminations which were unsurpassable. At the Horticultural Gardens there was a grand open-air concert, attended by not less than 10,000 people, during which Professor Hand gave an excellent display of fireworks. The Normal School building and grounds were decorated and illuminated under the direction of Dr. May. The entrance, as well as the flower beds, were decorated with tripod stands surmounted by flags, on which were suspended and the shubberies were illuminated by large petroleum lamps with reflectors. On the grounds were two large arches, covered with evergreens, encircled by white, opaque gas globes, and two smaller arches. There were also four large arches on the grounds composed of globes, presenting a very pretty effect. The roof of the Parliament Building for its entire length was surmounted with opal lights, and the first story and all the windows and doors were arched and circled by variegated glasses. The Crown Lands Department was also brilliantly lit up, reflecting great credit on the taste of those who undertook to do honor to the distinguished visitors. The following are the names of the school girls who on the arrival of the train in the morning made presentations to their Excellencies on behalf of the public schools:—Miss Lucy Robins, of Richmond street; Miss Martha Fortune, of Brunswick avenue; Miss Lulu Palmer, of Carleton street, and Miss Annie Chawn, of Ryerson street, these four standing highest at the annual combined competitive examinations. The Separate Schools were represented by Miss Stack, of St. Patrick's, and Miss Minnie Delaney, of St. Paul's, selected by ballot from those earning highest honors last year.

THE GROCERS' MASS MEETING.

Reports of Committees.

A largely attended meeting of Grocers doing business in Montreal was held in Lafayette Hall last evening, the president Mr. Moise Aubin, in the chair. In opening the meeting that gentleman referred briefly to the object for which the meeting was called, and denounced Mr. McElligott, who claimed to represent the grocers of the city. Mr. McElligot was appointed chairman or president of a meeting of grocers called for the purpose of petitioning the Quebec Legislature to allow them to retail liquor by the half pint. They succeeded in getting the license fee reduced, and there the matter rested. At the same time Mr. McElligott's usefulness as a president ceased. No such corporate body as a Grocers' Association existed in the city, and therefore there could not well be a presiding officer.

Mr. P. H. Rowland explained to the meeting that a deputation of twenty-five waited upon the Mayor yesterday and stated their grievances in detail. The deputation was composed of merchants, grocers, traders, butchers; in fact almost every trade was represented. The Mayor received them very cordially, stating that their representations to him put the question in a new light, and he would give the matter his most careful consideration.

Mr. Lavigne said many letters appeared lately in the newspapers, purporting to be written by grocers, but he was certain if the truth was known, shopkeepers had something to do with them. The report in an evening paper to the effect that the Mayor was opposed to the markets was also erroneous, as a large delegation, composed of merchants, traders and grocers, called upon him yesterday. In reply to a question the Mayor denied the charge, as the market system was in his opinion preferable on sanitary and other grounds. The city had invested a large sum in markets, which could not be thrown away. In conclusion, he assured the deputation that the matter would receive his earnest attention, and that the interests of the city would be properly looked after.

The reports of the committees canvassing the different wards for signatures to a petition to the Corporation, with the object of doing away with private stalls and street vendors of all kinds, were received; but four out of the nine wards were heard from, St. Mary's returning 116 signatures of grocers in its favor, St. James 110, St Ann's 60, and St. Antoine 72.

A resolution of censure was passed on Mr. McElligott for his assumption in calling himself President of the Grocers' Association of Montreal. It was moved by Mr. Audette, seconded by Mr. Lemieux, and concluded by denouncing private stalls as detrimental to the health of the city, earnestly requesting the Corporation to erect small markets in their stead, in places to be designated by them.

The meeting adjourned, after deciding to send a deputation of 25 to the City Council on Monday next, at three p.m.

PUBLIC OPINION.

"No English Need Apply."

To the Editor of THE STAR:

SIR,—It would be interesting to ascertain (with reference to the discussion going on at present regarding the statement of Ald. Allard), if there is any truth in the assertion attributed to him, and I would beg to suggest that an enquete be instituted, and that the whole of the clerks and officials of the Road Department be summoned as witnesses.

TRUTH.

The Board of Health.

To the Editor of THE STAR:

SIR,—In reply to a letter in your issue of yesterday, signed "Resident of McGill Street," I beg to say that the Board of Health have under consideration at the present time, a plan for ventilating the sewers of the city, which, if adopted, will suit every purpose required—save all expense, consequently no extra taxation to the citizens. The member of the Board of Health to whom the writer applies the term "innocent," knows exactly what he is about, and is determined, if possible, that the already over-taxed citizens shall not be put to unnecessary expense in adopting a chimerical and expensive plan, even should it be the plan of a friend.

Yours, etc.,
THE INNOCENT MEMBER.

Cheap Trips.

To the Editor of THE STAR:

SIR,—The Grand Trunk Railway Company is advertising cheap trips to Toronto during the exhibition time—"single fare" for return ticket from here to Toronto and back. But besides that the Company gives other places, such as Prescott, Kingston and Cobourg, special rates under the Montreal rates. For instance, $3 for return ticket from Kingston to Toronto; Kingston is half-way between this place and Toronto. Why does the G. T. R. not give the Montrealers the same chance, and make the excursion start from Montreal, at say $5 or $6 to Niagara Falls and back—same as last year? A good many would have then a chance to take their wives with them, and, we believe, the excursions last year paid very well.

"Amateur Banking."

To the Editor of THE STAR:

SIR,—Your article in your issue of yesterday about "Amateur Banking" was read by me with great interest, and has, naturally, been the subject of much comment. Jew and Gentile amateurs appear to have been equally unfortunate in the banking line. You say you do not wish to be "severe," which, I suppose, as Artemus Ward would say, was "wrote sarcastic," for while you have not been too hard upon "Amateurs," you have certainly borne with a heavy hand upon one of the "safe (?) old fogies"—Mr. Robert Cassils, to wit. That gentleman will not thank you for treating him so harshly. Has his safe management of the Bank of Upper Canada made it right for you, Mr. Editor, to poke such dreadful fun at Mr. Cassils? He will not be grateful to you at a time when at least one brain was actively engaged in canvassing his great merits as a banker—and his chances of succeeding Mr. Angus in the management of the Bank of Montreal—for raising up so horrid a spectre as the old dead and buried Bank of Upper Canada. You have, no doubt, unwittingly done a worthy professional banker an irreparable injury by your sarcasm. Had it not been for that no doubt before this the anxious Montreal merchants, seeing that they cannot coax Mr. Angus to remain much longer, would have sent a numerously-signed requisition to Mr. Cassils to be so good as to allow himself to be named General Manager of the Bank of Montreal. The success of their efforts in that direction would have pleased every

SHAREHOLDER.

[In 1861 Mr. Cassils was, we hear, requested by the Government to accept the management of the Bank of Upper Canada, whose condition was then dangerous. This he is said to have done on the understanding that the Government would continue its support. In three years the bank was gradually and surely recovering, but the removal of the Government account in 1864, consequent on the change of ministry, cut the ground beneath his feet and hurried on the destruction of the bank. When he entered on the management of that bank he is reported to have found the liabilities $8,000,000, and saved the country from a national calamity by preventing the failure of the bank, which was then imminent. During the five and a-half years of his management, ending in 1866, it is claimed that he reduced the liabilities to two and a-half millions, a reduction of five and a-half millions of dollars; but it had become impossible for him to avert the final catastrophe which, it would thus appear, was not due to his management. With reference to our correspondent's allegation that Mr. Cassils is a candidate for the office of General Manager of the Bank of Montreal, we are informed that no such claim or application has been made by him, or on his account, though, it is true, that his name has been mentioned in connection with both the general management and the presidency.—ED. STAR.]

OUR EASTERN TOWNSHIPS.

Their Resources—Colonization Movements—Condition and Prospects of Settlers—Timber—Quality of Soil—The Roads—The Lakes and Rivers—Character of Settlers, and What They Say in Regard to the Land—Sale of Lands.

The townships of Ditchfield and Spaulding, situate some seventy miles from Sherbrooke, have aroused considerable interest amongst farmers and others. Many have decided, on account of the existing depression, to leave their trades and come and settle in the bush. For this purpose, as will be shown, a better place on account of the quality of soil, condition of entry on farms, and facilities for sending the surplus produce of the farm to the market cannot be found than the two settlements above referred to. The timber in this neighborhood consists of hard and soft maple, birch, beech, spruce, hemlock, cedar, pine, etc. These woods will not be found as in many places, crooked, for the first glance reveals the fact that the large majority of them are straight and heavy, this even the inexperienced eye at once sees. Then there are facilities for sawing the timber into boards, several saw mills being already in the immediate neighborhood, while another is about to be erected. Again, there are easy means of shipping the superfluous timber into the market, trains running from Morinville on the banks of Lake Megantic. A large timber trade has already sprung up in the making of railway ties, in the manufacture of shingles, in making telegraph posts for the timber in this neighborhood being eminently suitable for this latter purpose. One gentleman, a Mr. Pinkham, is already clearing $100 a month by this trade over and above all expenses, and he cannot meet the demand. The soil in these neighbourhoods is very rich. In the township of Ditchfield, as all land on the shores of a lake or river, it is stony and swampy, but this does not extend above the second range to any great degree, and then there is an increasingly better soil found in each range. Spaulding has a much better quality of soil. In both, soil which consists of the following, has been dug three feet, with no change in the quality, and could have been dug deeper. First, there is a layer of rich, black earth, of from two to three inches deep, then from half to an inch of blue clay. The rest is then composed of a rich, red soil, all combining to make a soil unsurpassed anywhere for agricultural purposes. The colonization roads in this neighborhood are being pushed on energetically. So far as completed they are excellent, superior in fact to some townships that could be mentioned, which have had roads for the past fifty years. The lands are well watered by the following lakes and rivers: Ditchfield, by Lakes Megantic and Maccannamack, Whyte river, Bear creek, Young creek, and several others. Spaulding, by the rivers Chaudiere, Naburnis, Kokombis, and some dozen or more creeks. Excellent fishing can be had in the lakes and rivers, there being trout, salmon-trout, maskinonge, bass, white fish, etc., etc. The settlers that have come out are of a high class. The characters which they show from their employers, the

which were given them by their friends, are such that would only be given to men who well deserved them. This is not all; their standing in the several churches they attended in the various places from which they came is shown in letters and newspapers which they have received, speaking in tones of regret at their departure. The settlers, many of whom are now having their hardest time, are unanimous in saying: "We would not return to the city and give up this free and independent life for anything. The air we breathe speaks freedom, our labor is not slavish, we are now benefiting for life those whom we love. We are raising up a commonwealth. And more, we know that we have come to breathe an air of purity, feeling that our children are free from the contaminating influences of city life. Further, we know that no one can come and turn us out of our house for rent, for there is none to pay. We are self-supporting; we are happy, working for the future, and we know that want will never be felt in our midst, and that we shall always be willing to give one another a helping hand." They ask that the knowledge of the happiness they feel should be circulated through the press and write to those in the overcrowded cities to come and taste the sweets of life with them, and build themselves a home. The hardships they endured are nothing to what the first settlers went through. With an increasing population, good roads and a good heart the efforts put forth. One settler, who has only been two months in the country, has three acres of land cleared and burnt and is growing potatoes, onions, lettuce and other produce required at home. He has a house built, has a dozen hens and 16 chickens; that ought to be encouragement enough. A lady, some four years ago, who knew nothing whatever of farming, came to Lake Megantic and took up land. She had a large family, all young, her husband, on account of his calling, necessitating his absence from home for nine months of the year. In those days there were no settlers on the lake, and yet she has succeeded; her family are growing up, her farm is in a prosperous condition, she having a first-class crop of potatoes, corn, wheat, oats, &c., some cows, horses, hens, and besides manages a store. Surely this is an example of thrift which is well worthy of following by many of the men who are in our cities doing nothing.

PROSPERITY MUST FOLLOW

IF A POOR FRAIL WOMAN CAN SUCCEED

on a farm, why should not great, strong, able-bodied men do likewise? There is a class of men in our cities who are continually crying for freedom and equality, and yet when offered them they will not accept it. They say they cannot get work at their trades. True enough, because there are too many following particular callings who think that to work on a farm would lower their standing. They say work cannot be got when there is abundance; but there "is a lion in the way." True there is, but that "lion" is pride. They are too proud to pave their way as their fathers did, and cry out that "over-production" caused by labor-saving machinery throws them out of work, when at the bottom it is their own laziness. Land can be obtained on the easiest terms, why do they not launch out? The sale of these lands has been going on rapidly. Mr. Young, the superintendent on the spot, has disposed of a quantity, and all purchasers have expressed great satisfaction at their bargains, and are thinking of buying more. Scarcely a day passes without some land-seeker visiting the district.

"O Mischief! Thou Art Swift."

When the love-sick Romeo uttered those words he spoke a truism admitted by everybody. What can be swifter than the treacherous attack of disease in whatever form, whether dyspeptic, bronchical, or consumptive. And the mischief done by these fell foes of health is incalculable. Thanks, however, to the genius of science we can subdue them by the use of SCOTT'S EMULSION OF PURE COD LIVER OIL and HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA. As a medicine for this life-destroying disease it stands at the head of the list.

VEGETINE.

Reports from Ottawa,

OTTAWA, CANADA, Dec, 31, 1878.

MR. H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON, MASS.:

Sir,—I have used your Vegetine in my family for several years, and consider it an invaluable medicine. I most cheerfully recommend its use to those desiring a safe and effectual remedy for diseases of the stomach and impurities of the blood. I may add that I have advocated its use to several of my friends and acquaintances with the most gratifying and satisfactory results.

Very respectfully yours,
MRS. W. G. PERLEY.

No one can doubt the truthfulness of the above certificate, coming from so responsible and influential parties. Mr. Perley is the senior member of the firm of Perley and Pattee, one of the largest and most extensive lumber firms in America.

VEGETINE

Is recommended by all Physicians.

VALLEY STREAM, Queen's Co., Long Island, N.Y

H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON:

Dear Sir,—I take the pleasure of writing you a small certificate concerning Vegetine prepared by you. I have been a sufferer with the Dyspepsia for over forty years, and have had the Chronic Diarrhoea for over six months, and have tried most every thing; was given up to die, and did not expect to live from day to day, and no physician could touch my case. I saw your Vegetine recommended to cure Dyspepsia. I commenced using it, and I continued doing so, and am now a well woman and restored to perfect health. All who are afflicted with this terrible disease, I would kindly recommend to try it for the benefit of their health, and it is excellent as a blood purifier.

By Dr. T. B. FORBES, M.D., for MRS. WM. H. FORBES.

VEGETINE.—When the blood becomes lifeless and stagnant, either from change of weather or of climate, want of exercise, irregular diet, or from any other cause, the VEGETINE will renew the blood, carry off the putrid humors, cleanse the stomach, regulate the bowels and impart a tone of vigor to the whole body.

The Deadlock.

The Mail is no more logical than Mr. Loranger. It contends that that gentleman was right when he said the question in Quebec was "not merely an issue on the Supply Bill, or any other Bill, but upon a series of resolutions suspending even the consideration of the Supply Bill. The real issue," continues the Mail, "was the formation or non-formation of a strong Government." Now let us reverse the case and suppose that Mr. Chapleau was Premier, and that he only had a majority of three—would the Council refuse to pass the Supply Bill because it wanted a stronger Government? Would the Conservative Upper Chamber thwart a Conservative Assembly because the Assembly could not boast of a "strong Government?" And yet this is the logic of the Mail! These are the arguments with which it seeks to sustain an outrage upon Constitutional Government. The fact is that the Legislative Council have not advanced one reasonable excuse for their conduct, and even the Mail fails to make a case for them. It attacks Mr. Speaker Turcotte, but it would defend Mr. Speaker Anybody if he were a Conservative supporting a Conservative Assembly. But the Mail and its supporters appear to forget that a majority of one makes an Act of Parliament just as legal as a majority of fifty. Its constitution places no legal restrictions upon acts passed by weak or by strong Governments. A majority of representatives is all that is required, and an Act passed even by the casting vote of the Speaker is just as valid as if the whole House voted for it. Mr. Speaker Turcotte is no divinity of ours. We have no penchant for either side in politics, and, so far as party is concerned, can cry "a plague on both their Houses." But we want to see the will of the people triumphant; we want to see the majority of the people's representatives triumph over factious opposition; and we want to see the gentlemen of the Legislative Council made to understand that the tyranny of a Council may be as obnoxious as the tyranny of a mob.

Sailors.

Marryatt in prose and Dibdin in poetry, perhaps, did more justice to sailors than any writers extant. Whether we read "Midshipman Easy," "Peter Simple," "Jacob Faithful," or "Japhet in Search of a Father," we find the same rollicking tar "laying out" on a yard-arm or teasing a Snarleyow. Or let us take "Poor Jack" and "Tom Bowling," or any of the 1,200 sea-songs Dibdin is said to have written, and how they smack of the briny deep, and portray with wonderful accuracy the child-like habits and daring spirits of "Ye Mariners of England." And Jack Tar is the same now-a-days as he ever was, doing all kinds of impossible things on flag-staffs, riding horses after a fashion his own, and playing pranks at which everybody laughs and yet at which no one is annoyed. Good-natured, unsuspecting and off-handed, Jack Tar can do pretty much as he pleases, and when he wears the uniform of a man-of-war's-man, no better fellow ever broke bread or stood beside a comrade in distress. A selfish sailor is as difficult to find as the sea-serpent, and when an occasional Dick Deadeye growls "'atween decks," his messmates poke fun at him, and there it ends. Is a sailor's life the life of hardship it is generally supposed to be? On board men-of-war where there are so many hands, and where the men are kept busy indeed, but never overworked, the labor is never a burden, for the men go to their work with a will, and cheerfully stow "to'gallantsail," or "walk away" with a top-sail hailyards. And they provide for their amusements too. There are always musicians on board, and the "dog watches" always find some man in humor to tune a fiddle, or blow a cornet, or strike a banjo. Storms, indeed, must be encountered, but they are used to them, and if we are to credit one of the chroniclers of their ways, who wrote the following, they find consolation even in the dangers of the deep:—

One night came on a hurricane,
The sea was mountains rolling,
When Barney Buntline slewed his quid
And said to Billy Bowline:
"A strong nor'-wester's blowing, Bill;
Hark! don't you hear it roar now?
Lord help 'em, how I pities them
Unhappy folks on shore now!

Both you and I have ofttimes heard
How men are killed and undone,
By overturns from carriages,
By thieves and fires in London.
We know what risks these landsmen run,
From noblemen to tailors;
Then, Bill, let us thank Providence
That you and I are sailors.

Civic Finance.

At the meeting of the Committee yesterday afternoon Alderman Nelson presided and Mayor Rivard, Grenier, Greene and Genereux were present. An application from C. H. Dowd, son of the late Mr. Frank Dowd, was read, and the sense of the Committee seemed to request Mr. Black, City Treasurer, to give the young man as good a chance for the desired promotion as he consistently could. A letter claiming compensation for a gentleman on the Bagg estate was not entertained. Aldermen Grenier and Greene were appointed a committee to consider and report upon guarantee bonds. A letter from Mr. Bellemare, of drainage claims, and some letters on shortages were referred to the Chairman. An item of $25 charge for framing the address to the Governor-General was passed. On motion of Alderman Grenier, it was resolved that the City Surveyor purchase a copy of each of the maps of the city now being prepared by Mr. Goad, C. E., and Mr. H. W. Hopkins. A report was received from the Health Committee recommending that the Colborne Avenue tunnel be not proceeded with. An appropriation of $614 for new lamps was recommended. A report from the road committee anent drainage through Mr. Gane's property on Papineau road was laid on the table. A claim from Messrs. Brulet, for damages to property on Seaton street, was referred to the Road Committee. A request from the father of the late Barry, one of the firemen killed in the St. Urbain street fire, that the allowance made for the maintenance of his child, who is now dead, be continued, was not entertained. The meeting adjourned.

City News.

SENTENCED.—Theophile Gauthier, for stealing pig-iron on the wharf has been sentenced to two months' imprisonment.

IMPROVING.—Packard, the would-be suicide, who was removed to the hospital yesterday, is reported to be improving slightly. He entered the institution as a pay patient, being a stranger.

Sailors from the "Tourmaline" will take part in the games.

SHARP WORK.—An assessment roll for the widening of St. Mary street east, involving $80,000, was annulled in the case of Demers against the city in the Court of Appeals. The city sought amendment of its charter to make new rolls, which has been obtained, and are now awaiting the signature of the Lieutenant-Governor. A lawyer now takes out three more suits for large amounts for certain parties, which were really settled by the above case. This the civic authorities say is merely to procure the fees, inasmuch as he must know that the Lieutenant-Governor's signature to the law granting the civic charter amendments must upset the whole case.

POLICE COURT.—FRIDAY.—Before C. A. Dugas, P. M.— Augustin Limoges and Thomas Flanagan, for assaulting a man in his own house, were each fined $15 or one month. John Smart, for assaulting a bailiff, continued to next Friday. Joseph Croteau, for stealing a hammer from Ulric Evans, was sentenced to four months hard labor. The case of Jemima Lockwood, for being a loose, idle and disorderly character, was taken en delibere. David Lemay, for assaulting Jemima Lockwood, dismissed, plaintiff making default. Benzette St. Jean, using insulting language to Alphonsine Lalumiere, dismissed.

The Approaching Orange Trial.

The case of Grant vs Beaudry will be heard on the first of October next. The trial will be by judge and not by jury. The factum, among other things, acknowledges David Grant to be a member of the Loyal Orange Institution, and states that lodges of the Order have existed in Montreal and elsewhere in the Province for more than twenty years. It further avers that the plaintiff was for several years an officer and active member of the said institution. Alluding to the 12th of July, 1878, it accuses ex-Mayor Beaudry with having conspired with one Lawrence J. Murphy to deprive the plaintiff of his liberty, as well as several others. The plaintiff sues for $10,000 with interest and costs, if need be by contrainte par corps.

WIDENING BONAVENTURE STREET.

The Work to be Commenced on the First of May Next.

Another stage has at length been reached in reference to the widening of Bonaventure street. In the Finance Committee yesterday, there was ready another report from the Road Committee, recommending that the work be done, accompanied by tables, &c.

Ald. Greene considered the improvement very necessary; the buildings were mostly inferior, and proprietors had avoided making any improvement in the expectation that they would shortly be expropriated for widening the street. The cost would be considerably reduced from the estimate of several years ago, labor having become so much cheaper.

Ald. Grenier said the question was one in which the necessity of the proposed step had long been recognized.

After a general discussion, in which the Chairman and Ald. Genereux took part, Alderman Greene moved that the report be concurred in, that commissioners be appointed, and the work commenced on the first May next. Carried.

THE CITY'S HEALTH.

Reports—Vaccination—Ventilation.

The first meeting at which the work of the winter was considered, was held by the Board of Health yesterday. Ald. Genereux Acting Chairman.

Dr. Mount called the attention to the unsanitary condition of the drains on McGill street, condemning the want of harmony in the Civic Committees.

Ald. Allard wanted to know where the real Chairman, Ald. Childs, was?

Ald. Genereux said that it was exceedingly unlikely that he would ever attend again, as his medical attendant had forbidden his taking part in public affairs.

Ald. Allard expressed his deep regret, saying that the subject of the apathy of the Council as to the health of the city was to be brought up on Monday.

Dr. Hingston submitted a report on vaccination, which spoke of appointing Dr. Seymour as public vaccinator.

The secretary read a letter from Dr. Ward, asking for the appointment. Dr. Hingston moved the adoption of the report.

Ald. Allard moved as an amendment that the name of Dr. Ward be substituted. He said that he had been told that Dr. Seymour did not speak French, and he thought it absolutely necessary for a public vaccinator to speak both languages.

Dr. Mount said that he knew Dr. Seymour could speak French, as he had talked to him several times.

Dr. Godfrey thought that owing to what had taken place at the previous meeting, the subject should not be opened again as Dr. Seymour considered that he had already got the appointment.

The amendment was lost.

Ald. Mooney moved that the appointment be deferred for further consideration until the next meeting, which was carried.

Mr. Guerin appeared before the Board to explain the working of a new sewer trap.

Dr. Godfrey said that the whole question of ventilation of sewers was under consideration and that plans were being prepared.

Dr. Laroque submitted a plan, based on the English system, for carrying out vaccination.

After discussion it was decided to have 200 English and 600 French copies printed.

Dr. Laroque then submitted his report on public abattoirs, whose establishment he advocated, especially at this time when the necessity for such a public place was felt more than ever.

In Boston, New York, and Philadelphia the public abattoirs gave the best of satisfaction.

After some discussion, Dr. Mount moved that the Council be requested to take into serious consideration the erection of a public abattoir outside of the city.

The Health Inspector made his report, in which he suggested that a portion of the old militia barracks at Hochelaga be secured as a repository for bones.

A committee was appointed to recommend to the Board of Health some better plan for the drainage and ventilation of the sewers of the city.

An offer from Messrs. Bovey & Dawson to supply twelve copies of the sanitary map of the city for $48 was accepted.

Cuticura

HUMORS OF THE SCALP. Loss of Hair.

Loss of Hair in thousands of cases is due entirely to some form of scalp disease. Seventy five per cent of the number of bald heads might be covered with hair by a judicious use of CUTICURA, assisted by CUTICURA SOAP. It is the most agreeable as well as the most effective hair restorer ever produced by man. It is medicinal in the truest sense of the word. All others are some oleaginous mixture or poisonous dyes. None but CUTICURA possesses the specific medical properties that enable it to cure all itching and scaly diseases that inflame and irritate the scalp and hair glands and tubes, causing premature baldness. Medium doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT will purify the oil and sweat glands of the virus of scrofulous humor of the blood and insure a permanent cure, when taken in connection with the outward application of CUTICURA.

Salt Rheum and Dandruff.

Cured that several physicians had failed to treat successfully.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have had the Salt Rheum on my head and all through my hair, also on my legs, for the past four years, having suffered exceedingly from it. The dandruff falling from my hair was very annoying. I consulted several distinguished physicians in regard to it, and have taken their perscriptions as ordered, but did not find any cure and but little relief. I was told by many persons who have the Salt Rheum, and who have been doctored for years, that there was no cure for it; that it was in the blood, and I should always have it, and I was almost inclined to agree with them, but a friend wanted me to try CUTICURA, made by your firm. I did, and to my astonishment, in less than three weeks, my head was entirely free from all Salt Rheum and Dandruff, and I cannot see any appearance of Salt Rheum on my person. I think it a wonderful remedy.

Respectfully yours, GEORGE A. MUDGE, Portsmouth, N.H., Feb. 6, 1878.

HUMOR OF THE SCALP

That was destroying the Hair cured with one box of CUTICURA.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I want to tell you what CUTICURA has done for me. About ten years ago my hair began falling out, caused by Humor of the Scalp. I tried various remedies, too numerous to mention, without relief, until I began using CUTICURA, one box of which has entirely cured me, and new hair is beginning to grow.

Respectfully, MRS. O. J. HOOT, 879 W. Lake st., Chicago, Ill., Nov. 13, 1878.

We know the above to be true.

MARY E. TOWNSEND, 412 W. Jackson st. MRS. C. A. GRAY, 341 Fulton st.

SCALD HEAD

For Nine Years cured when all other Remedies failed.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Since July last I have been using your CUTICURA for Scald Head, and it has cured me when all medicines that I have taken for nine years did me no good. I am now using it as a hairdressing, but my head is well. It keeps the hair in very nice condition.

Yours truly, H. A. RAYMOND, Auditor, Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R.R. Jackson, Mich., Dec. 20, 1878.

The CUTICURA REMEDIES are prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington street, Boston, and are for sale by all Druggists. Montreal, December 20th, 1878.

Mr. Horace B. Pike, Health Officer, Yonkers, N.Y., writes:—"I have been using your Bromo-Chloralum for some time past in my general practice, and it has proved almost invaluable especially in the sick room, where its deodorizing effects are readily appreciated by both patient and physician. As a wash and disinfectant I have used it freely in our Smallpox Hospital with entire success, and to the great comfort of patients. The article being inodorous and non-poisonous, has a wide range of application, which a little experience in its use easily indicates, and a trial only is necessary to establish its real value."

MESSRS. TILDEN & CO., NEW YORK—At your request we have tried the BROMO-CHLORALUM in our water-closets and elsewhere in the Albion Hotel, and have found that it entirely extinguishes all the odors. We have tried other things, but have found nothing so efficacious, and at the same time producing no smell of itself. We take pleasure in recommending it as the best disinfectant we have ever used.

CURRENT TOPICS.

Recently the Gazette d'Ottawa contained an able article on the history of the various feeble Governments of Canada, from the establishment of responsible government to the present time. The article aims at showing that feeble Governments should act with strategy, as they cannot with honor, be maintained in power.

Last year the Canadian Government was approached on behalf of the Government of Brazil, with a view to the establishment of a line of steamers between the two countries. The negotiations are progressing very slowly, the authorities at Rio Janeiro displaying great apathy in the consideration of the proposal.

Now that Smith, of Halifax, has beaten Ross, his backers at Halifax want to have a tug at Hanlan. It is probably too late this season, but, no doubt, some communications will be passed between the agents of the two men. Hanlan, high up as he is among the rowing fraternity, will not be likely to be allowed to rest on his laurels.

The German newspapers are advocating the celebration on Oct. 15th of the fiftieth birthday of the railway system. Among the statistical details connected with railways which have been lately published in Germany, it appears that Germany holds the first place in Europe in the quantity of its railway communications, possessing a network of 30,464 kilometres. Next comes England with 27,540 kilometres; then France with 23,883 kilometres; and Russia with 21,687 kilometres. Austria-Hungary has only 17,997 kilometres, and Italy 8,213 kilometres. The railway mileage of the United States amounts to more than five-sixths of the total mileage of Europe, being 127,470 kilometres. The other States of America have altogether only 14,000 kilometres of railways. Asia has 11,000 kilometres, Australia 4,000 kilometres, and Africa 2,900 kilometres.

The Quebec Mercury says:—"Fifty years ago the Government of this Province was distinguished by constant collisions between the Upper and Lower Houses of the Legislature, and "a bas le Conseil" was the war cry of party on the streets at that time. Half a century has passed away. Two rebellions have been fought out, two constitutions have been granted, and the Province of Quebec has gone back half a century and returned to even a more obstinate "deadlock" between the Houses than that of yore. Again the people are at present crying out against the Legislative Council, and its members are berated in language which almost sounds like a reproduction of Denis Benjamin Viger's diatribe against "les cailliards malfaisants" in the days of old. In short, this Province has gone back half a century, and all the great changes and the agitations which produced them have launched Quebec exactly where she was in the earlier half of the present century."

COMMERCIAL.

Wholesale Provision Market.

The markets for cheese and butter remain in much the same state. Country holders would do well to hesitate before deciding to hold on to their stock, while anything like fair prices can be obtained, as old supplies, which are already too heavy, must be cleared out in readiness for the choice fall grades, which only can command proper attention on the other side of the Atlantic. We quote 11c to 12½c for Townships, although exceptional sales are reported beyond these figures. Brockville and Morrisburg, 9c to 11½c; Western, 7c to 9½c; creamery, 15½c to about 16½c. August cheese, 5½c to 6c; July [illegible] to 5½c. In New York buyers are [illegible] want of choice and fancy butter, and [illegible] lots coming to hand find good sales. [illegible] there is unsettled, but prices are [illegible] better. Hog products have [illegible]

Telegrams.

PROBABILITIES. — METEOROLOGICAL OFFICE, TORONTO, September 6, 10 a.m.—Probabilities for the next 24 hours: For the St. Lawrence, fresh to brisk winds, partly cloudy weather, followed by showers.

THE CHISHOLM MURDER.—NEW YORK, Sept 6.—The Herald's Dekalb special says Judge Hammin, in the Chisholm murder trial, is ruling very severely against the defendants. The chances of accused are lessening, but conviction is still improbable. There will be unquestionably a riot in case of conviction of the guilty.

DYING.—NEWPORT, R. I., September 6.—Leduard Montefiore, a grandson and heir of Sir Moses Montefiore, the noted Jewish leader in England, is dying of rheumatic fever at Ocean House.

THE NICARAGUA CANAL.—NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Admiral Ammen is awaiting Grant's return before organizing a new Nicaragua Committee.

FROM PICTOU, N. S.

THE S.S. "QUEBEC."—PICTOU, N.S., Sept. 6.—The S.S. "Quebec," which was ashore off East Point, P. E. Island, is now off. They succeeded in getting her off about 11 p.m. last night, by the aid of the steamer "Dragon," of Pictou, and the Government steamer "Northern Light." The ship seemed little injured, and sailed two hours afterwards for Quebec.

FROM BERTHIER.

FATAL ACCIDENT. — BERTHIER, en Haut, Sept. 6.—Mrs. McKenzie Boucher, aged 82, was killed yesterday by an engine drawing cars loaded with sand, as she was crossing the road nearly opposite her home. The engine whistled and the men called out to her, but instead of hurrying off she attempted to cross. She was struck on the shoulder and pitched off the track. The Coroner exonerated the railway employees from all blame.

FROM THREE RIVERS.

OVATION TO SPEAKER TURCOTTE. —THREE RIVERS, Sept. 6.—A popular demonstration in the shape of an ovation to Hon. Arthur Turcotte, member for this city, and Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, took place last night. A special train, carrying about four hundred of our leading citizens, accompanied by the City Band, was supplied by Mr. McGreevy. The train proceeded to Batiscan, and on the arrival of the Quebec steamer Mr. Turcotte was loudly cheered, and after landing was carried in triumph to the railway station. The train then returned to Three Rivers and disembarked the passengers on the loop near Riendeau's Hotel, where a large gathering of citizens was waiting to welcome Mr. Turcotte, who addressed them for upwards of an hour on the important political crisis through which the Province is passing. The demonstration was one of the best proofs that could be afforded of Hon. Mr. Turcotte's popularity and of the sympathy of our citizens with the constitutional government of Mr. Joly.

FROM OTTAWA.

(SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE STAR.)

THE CANADA GAZETTE.—OTTAWA, Sept. 6.—The Canada Gazette to-day contained the following: Allan Jones, to be Assistant Post Office Inspector for Kingston Division, Ont. P. S. Stevenson, to be Official Assignee for the city and district of Montreal. The return of Mr. Beauchesne, for Bonaventure, is proclaimed.

MILITIA ORDERS.—Brome Troop of Cavalry—To be Captain, Charles William Shepard, vice Sherman Nathan Bright, whose resignation is accepted. 79th Shefford Highlanders: Paymaster W. H. Robinson, having had the relative rank of captain for seven years, to have the honorary rank of captain.

THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL has sent a letter of thanks to the militia of the Maritime Provinces, and expresses his satisfaction at their soldierlike appearance and the manner in which their duties have been carried out during his recent tour through those Provinces. His Excellency has additional gratification in recording this opinion as it not only reflects credit on the corps which came under his observation, but also on the district staff, to whom his personal thanks are likewise due for the efficient and careful manner in which all military arrangements were carried out.

MILITIA TARGETS.—Persons injuring militia targets and butts will, hereafter, be liable to a fine of $20 with or without imprisonment not exceeding six months.

THE SYDNEY EXHIBITION.—Sir John Hay and Robert L. Tooth, of Sydney, New South Wales, and R. W. Cameron, of New York, have been appointed Honorary Commissioners for the Dominion of Canada at the International Exhibition to be held at Sydney.

City News.

THE SAILORS' INSTITUTE was crowded last evening by a large number of civilians and sailors, who listened to a concert of vocal and instrumental music provided.

ICE CREAM FESTIVAL.—The congregation of the Inspector Street Presbyterian Church will give a concert and ice cream festival on Tuesday evening next in their lecture hall.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT was to be ordered out at 11, to No. 18 Box, to illustrate to Mr. Thomas Sully, of the Review, a leading insurance journal in England, how fast the Montreal Brigade can get to work upon a fire.

BULGED OUT.—The Vitre street wall of the C.P.R. car stables is bulged out to a dangerous extent. Should it fall and kill a couple of citizens perhaps the Building Inspector will want to know how it happened. Better look at it now.

ÆTNA INSURANCE CO.—Our New York despatches yesterday stated that the Ætna Insurance Company was retiring from business. The Company alluded to is a small local company, having no connection with the Ætna of Hartford, represented in this city.

A MURDEROUS ASSAULT is said to have been committed at St. Liboire by a man named Povey upon a farmer named Mr. Pare with whom the former had a dispute about a horse. Povey was arrested at Acton after narrowly escaping punishment at the hands of a mob.

ARRESTED.—This afternoon James Murphy was arrested for committing an assault upon Lily Moreton, also Michael Paquette, of Coteau St. Louis, for assaulting Margaret Gauthier, wife of Frederic Desjardins. Both of the accused gave bail for their appearance next week.

FIRES.—Two fires occurred early this morning. The first took place at 4.20, a.m. in saloon No. 569 St. Mary street. It was, however, speedily extinguished by a Babcock.... The second fire occurred in a shed at the corner of St. Patrick and Wellington streets. The damage was slight.

RECORDER'S COURT.—Louis Lahaie, drunk and disturbing the peace, $1 or eight days. Antoine Forrest, drunk, $1 or eight days. Hugh McNulty, 88, loitering, discharged. Maxime Bussiere, 33, driving without a license, continued till Monday. Octave Vaillancourt, assault and battery, discharged.

OUTREMONT ITEMS.—Garden thieves still abound.... The Council met on Monday last. The police report showed that 38 arrests were made during the month, 35 of which were for stealing garden fruit.... A policeman was stoned yesterday while trying to arrest two men stealing plums. He managed to arrest both men after a struggle, during which one of them produced a knife and turned upon him. They were tried yesterday evening and fined $5 and costs each.

THE THEATRE ROYAL will open on Monday evening next, and from the bill of expectations published in THE STAR of Saturday last, it would seem as though the manager is to give his patrons some excellent amusement, as well as to fly the pennant for having opened first. The Haverly's New York Juvenile Pinafore Company will cast anchor here on Monday evening, and "Man the fore hatch" for the songs, dances and music, with which the operetta is replete. The Company, over fifty in number, are staying at the Richelieu.

A HARDENED REPROBATE.—A gray-haired woman, named Catherine Murphy, appeared in the Recorder's Court this morning on the charge of drunkenness and a use of obscene language. For the defence, she asserted that she was not a fit subject for a reformatory, and added that she never closed her door to the unfortunate of any sect. She explained to the Recorder that she merely mentioned that fact to influence him in allowing her to leave at once for her home, where she feared some of the friendless ones she assisted might be in want. The Recorder failed to see the force of her arguments, and sent her down for 15 days.

ALMOST A WAIF.

A Young Woman Deceived—She Leaves Her Child in a Church, but is Arrested at the Depot.

Walking quietly through the depot, on her way to board the nine o'clock train this morning, was a pale respectable looking young woman. G. T. Policeman Vipond approached her, and after saying a few words walked with her to the Chaboillez square police station. Said Vipond to Sergeant Hilton, "This lady has left her child in St. Joseph's Church, and as she was about to take the train I arrested her." A few words of explanation and the officer detailed sub-Constable Plante to go and get the little waif. At the St. Joseph's Convent, on Cathedral street, enquiries were made, and the callers were ushered into the waiting-room. There were found three nuns taking care of and feeding a bright little about two weeks old, which they had found in the aisle of the church. The officer tenderly took the child, and carrying it at arm's length, walked back to the station, amidst the exclamations of wonder of men, women and children that were passed. Reaching the station, the child was handed to the mother, who was bewailing her fate. She was very pale and weak, and the sight of the poor, weeping woman caused the policemen to sympathize with her. In answer to questions she said her name was Emma Lalonde, and she was 19 years of age. She continued a piteous story of how she had and that her parents with whom she had been living in Rimouski had driven her away from home, that she had arrived here last night and endeavored to have her child taken into some charitable institution, but had been refused. She added that an employee in the hotel near the station had advised her to leave her child and having no money she had taken her advice. She begged to be let go, but the sergeant said it was impossible. She was then put into a cab and taken to the Central Station for the decision. Here she was again the centre of a group of policemen, many of them fathers, and all of them doing their utmost to comfort the poor creature in her sorrow. Chief Paradis, after consideration, decided to let the woman go, and sent the child to the Grey Nunnery.

In the matter of Benj. Eastwood vs. D. & A. Corriveau, a motion for security for costs was granted. A motion praying that the writ be quashed on the ground that it was taken out in collusion with A. J. Corriveau, who has recently separated from the firm, and to harass and annoy D. Corriveau, was put over till the 10th. Messrs. Beique, Choquet & McGoun for the petitioners; Messrs. Loranger for assignee.

South Eastern Railway.

This Company have arranged for the running of the Montreal, Portland and Boston Railway and will commence running their passenger and freight trains to Longueuil, on Wednesday next, 10th inst. They have chartered one of the Longueuil Ferry steamers which will run between Longueuil and the Jacques Cartier Wharf in connection with their passenger trains, and also between this wharf and Longueuil, for the transportation of freight. The hours of arrival and departure will be advertised on Monday, and full particulars given to the public of the change.

Trying the Firemen.

Just before noon to-day, Alderman Hood, Chairman of the Fire Committee, accompanied by Mr. Davidson, and Mr. Sully, of the Review, proceeded to Box No. 18, Beaver Hall Hill, and struck an alarm for the purpose of testing the speed and method of our firemen in dealing with fires. Having struck the alarm, they repaired to the hydrant to note the result, Mr. Sully taking the time from the moment the alarm struck. No. 1, Central, arrived and was throwing a solid stream in 2 minutes 30 seconds, No. 5 in 2 minutes 45 seconds, No. 4 in 3 minutes, and No. 3 in 3 minutes 30 seconds. The Skinner ladder was upon the ground in 2 minutes 30 seconds, and in four minutes had the ladder erected 80 feet in the air. Sub.-Chiefs McCulloch and Noel and Capt. McRobie were on the spot. And it was not long until Serg. Hilton and one man arrived upon the ground.

Mayor Rivard and the Butchers.

His Worship explained to our representative yesterday that the conversation had with him upon the subject under dispute between the butchers was not intended for publication, and would not have been uttered had he been under the apprehension that it was to have been given to the public. While not complaining about it, the Mayor gives his reasons for not wishing to make his opinions public, that he is warned by the City Charter not to take the initiative upon any subject. He wishes to be entirely impartial, and for that reason does not wish it to be supposed that he has prejudged the butchers or any other case likely to be food for the council's deliberation. While making this explanation for His Worship, it may be well to say that the butcher who stated at the grocers' meeting last night that the Mayor denied having made use of the language attributed to him, must have been laboring under some misapprehension. The Mayor never raised the question at all.

The New York Bulletin publishes the result of enquiries among wholesale merchants and transportation companies as to the prospects for the fall trade. It appears from this that an era of prosperity is approaching in America that has had no parallel subsequent to the panic of 1873.

A new line of steamers is to ply between Brooklyn and Bristol, commencing 27th September. The American Coal Journal says the anthracite coal trade has been demoralized, not only by auction sales, but by the fictitious circulars that have been issued. The trouble was in mining too much coal in June and July. Coal has been rushed, and consumers laid in during April, May and June what they usually took later on, the consequence being that the market at present is in such a condition as has not been recorded for years.

The local money market is quiet and unchanged at former rates. No stock boards to-day.

The liabilities of John Hills, of Ottawa, whose failure was announced yesterday, amount to $70,000.

Business Troubles.

A Fall River despatch says: The creditors of the American Linen Mill met in Providence to-day, to consider the Corporation's financial condition. The assets are reported a million in excess of the liabilities. It is believed the Corporation will be relieved by issuing bonds secured by mortgage.

Special Notice.

The Travelers Insurance Company, of Hartford, issued its thirty-first semi-annual statement on July 1, with its usual promptness. It indicates that the American people are yearly becoming more and more addicted to traveling, and to appreciate more fully the advantages of insuring against accidents. From the statistical part of the report we learn that July 1 the company had written 540,000 accident policies, and had paid 37,500 accident claims, the total amount of which was $3,235,000; the amount of claims paid in the life department was $1,250,000. The financial portion of the report shows the total assets of the company to be $4,793,678, its liabilities $3,511,734, leaving a surplus of $1,286,943. The Travelers is too well known to need commendation at our hands. Its promptness and liberality in meeting all claims against it have made it exceedingly popular, as the volume of its business clearly indicates. The low rates at which it offers indemnity against accidents should commend it to every one. Business men in New York, for instance, generally live at such distance from their places of business as compels them to cross the ferries or to ride in the steam cars twice a day, to and from their place of business. They are liable to meet with an accident any moment, which may either prove fatal or lay them up in bed for weeks. For $25 or $30 a year they can secure an accident policy for $5000, which not only insures them against death by accident, but gives them a weekly indemnity, in case of injury, for the time they may be kept away from business, equal to the amount of their annual premium. The premium is so trifling and the advantages so great we are surprised every business man does not have an accident policy. Many take out such a policy if they start upon a journey of two or three days, yet they daily run fully as much risk in the city as they do when traveling away from home. The accident policy not only provides for death by accident, but furnishes a weekly sum in case of injury that would be most acceptable to most men. Thousands of clerks and others, who are dependent upon their weekly salaries, suffer for absolute necessaries when incapacitated by accident for their daily duties. An accident policy would provide handsomely for such cases, and relieve the sufferer from much anxiety of mind.—Spectator.

MORE TROUBLE IN AFGHAN.

Attack on the British Embassy—Serious Fighting—The Residency Fired—Advance on Cabul Ordered.

SIMLA, Sept. 6.—At a late hour on Thursday night a messenger, travelling post haste, reached Ali Kheyl from Cabul and informed Major Conolly, the British political agent, that the British Embassy at Cabul had been attacked by several Afghan regiments, which had assembled, demanding arrears of pay and that a military escort of the Embassy were defending themselves. The Viceroy of India immediately at Ali Kheyl to move instantly upon the Shutargardan Pass. Gen. Roberts has been ordered to proceed to Peiwar Pass and advance on Cabul, while Gen. Stewart has been ordered to hold Candahar. All the British forces on the Candahar line will concentrate at Candahar. The forces in Kyber Pass are being and will operate of Jellalabad. Major Conolly telegraphed on Friday night the substance of letters received from the Ameer of Afghanistan, who confirms the intelligence of a revolt, and adds that the regiments which mutinied were joined by the populace. The Ameer's arsenal and stores were first and the British Embasy then attacked by overwhelming numbers. The Ameer declares he was completely surprised by the outbreak. He endeavored to quell it, and sent General Davudshah to Major Cavaganari's assistance, but Davudshah was unhorsed and FATALLY WOUNDED.

The Ameer then sent his son with the Governor of Cabul and other influential personages, but the mob was wholly uncontrollable. The attack on the British Embassy continued throughout Wednesday, when a fire broke out on the premises. The Ameer, writing on Thursday, says he is in great distress and is himself beseiged.

THE VICEROY OF INDIA

is at present ignorant of the fate of Major Cavanari and other members of the embassy. General Roberts has already started for Peiwar Pass. An advance on Cabul will be made very speedily and be strongly supported. The Viceroy's military secretary accompanies General Roberts.

FROM QUEBEC.

(SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE STAR.)

DISASTROUS STORM.—QUEBEC, Sept. 6.—Reports of Monday's storm state that in the village of De la Beauce the damages caused are calculated at $25,000. Several houses and barns were blown down, and innumerable window panes were broken, those in the churches of St. Anne, of St. Marie, and St. Elzear having been completely demolished. In Rimouski the storm lasted twenty minutes, during which a barn of 160 feet frontage was levelled to the ground. At St. Anaclet the damage was also considerable, and among the many pranks of the storm must be included the uprooting of trees. Old inhabitants are of opinion that this was the worst outburst of nature which has occurred within the last thirty years. In many districts the darkness was so great that lamps had to be lit.

THE BLAKE ACT.—A number of large placards were posted up in the city and in County of Quebec yesterday containing extracts from the Blake Act, and the proclamation putting it in force.

PISTOL FIRING.—Councillor Beaubien, when on his way to the City Council meeting last evening, narrowly escaped being struck by a bullet from a pistol which was fired on St. Genevieve Hill, near Daiguillon street. The ball whistled through the air within a few feet of the councillor's head.

City News.

HON. HENRY STARNES is in town.

TORONTO EXHIBITION.—Leggatt and Johnson, of this city, have been awarded the first and extra prize for the best assortment of men's, boys and youths stoga boots.

THE IRISH CONFERENCE of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, held their annual picnic and games at St. Helen's Island today. There was a large attendance, and the affair passed off very successfully.

MONTREAL CAVALRY SPORTS.—The following are the winners in the events concluded up to 3:40 p.m:—100 yards race—W. Thompson, silver medal. Half mile race—S. Bailey, silver medal. One mile horse race—Wm. Henderson, silver medal.

PERSONAL. — Wm. H. Vanderbilt will leave Montreal Monday morning in his private carriage and go over the South-Eastern Railway and view the scenery of Lake Memphremagog Monday afternoon, en route to Boston.

A SEA-SIDE EPISODE.—We are informed that the paragraph, headed a "A Sea-Side Episode" in yesterday's STAR was correct as to the statement that the chair was taken by force from a Montreal clergyman; after that it is said to be in error, as the clergyman did not fall to the floor, and no altercation whatever took place, as not a word was spoken; the dancing did not cease; there was no commotion, and the parties did not appeal to the landlord, and he made no such remark as that attributed to him.

Special Sessions.

Before Police Magistrate Desnoyers—James O'Hearn, arrested for stealing from the shop of one Mr. Rapple, was found guilty and sentence suspended until next Tuesday. Daniel Ford was charged with forging a promissory note to the value of $137 on account of William Farrell, wine merchant, of this city. The prisoner was retained, and bail will be given on Monday next.

The Military.

The Victoria Rifles were inspected last night by Colonel Whitehead, and presented an admirable appearance. Heavy marching order gave them an unusually serviceable look, and the band and bugle band were well up.

The inquiry in Colonel Labranche's case was in progress yesterday. Major Lapointe gave evidence, and there will be twenty-five witnesses.

The Garrison Artillery and the Prince of Wales Rifles were out for drill last night, and were accompanied by their bands.

LACROSSE.

Shamrocks vs. Picked Team of Indians.

At 3.35 the game commenced, about two hundred ladies and gentlemen being on the ground. The Shamrocks had the advantage at first, but the Indians then got the best of it for three or four minutes, but then went to pieces, the Shamrocks having it all their own way, and winning the first game, Hart putting the ball through. Time, 8 minutes.

THE SECOND GAME

was a short affair and, like its predecessor, a victory for the Shamrocks, after two minutes and a half play, Hart again securing the game, assisted by a brilliant catch by McKeown. The Indians are playing a rather loose game, and are likely to be beaten three straight.

THE THIRD GAME

started at 4.05. After a minute and a half's play Butler, for the Shamrocks, made a splendid run up the field, dodging the Indians splendidly, and made a sharp shy for goal amid cries of game, which was disallowed. It seemed to our reporter, however, that the ball went straight through the Indian flags, but play has been resumed.

Butler was struck in the mouth during another of his brilliant runs, and McKeown also received a hard blow on the head.

After 17 minutes of play game was claimed for the Shamrock's. There was a dispute and recommencement, and in a few minutes the ball went over the fence.

THE ... GAME

was won by the Shamrocks in 25m.

THE

TWO MRS. SCUDAMORES.

[MAGA, December 1871.]

"You seem to have lost your tongues all at once," she said, bitterly: "if this is the consequence of so mild a claim upon your obedience, nothing more than asking you to be civil to a—near—connection—it is a bad omen for me. If you cannot accept my statement without proof——"

"Mother!" cried Charlie, "what can you mean? proof——"

"Yes, proof—— What does your grumbling mean, but an insinuation that you don't believe——"

"Mother! mother! what is the matter! —what do you take me for——"

"I take deeds, not words," she said, with feverish agitation; and then it seemed that she had nearly burst into convulsive tears; but she restrained herself. All this time the servants went softly about the table, with the stealthy deprecating consciousness of spectators at a domestic storm. They could not understand it any more than her children could; they exchanged looks, as Amy and Charlie did. When dinner was over she gave orders peremptorily that the younger children were not to come down to dessert; and rose from the table almost before Woods had left the room. "I must go to my visitor," she said, sweeping out, with still that suppressed passion about her. She went away so hastily that Amy had no time to follow. The two young people sat looking after their mother equally bewildered, but with very different feelings.

"What is the matter?" cried Charlie, with undisguised astonishment. "Is mother ill? has she been doing too much? I never saw her like this before. Amy, you must know."

"I am afraid she is ill, Charlie. Oh! don't say anything—I cannot bear to see it!" cried Amy, with tears; it is so unlike mamma."

"I wish the doctor would call," said Charlie; you should get her to go to bed. Don't you know something that you could make her take?—women used to know all about doctoring. And I am sure you could save her a great deal of trouble, Amy, if you were to try. She has been doing too much."

"Perhaps I could," said Amy doubtfully; "if you thought it was that——"

"Of course it is that—you have left everything upon her," cried the young man, glad to find some one to blame. "You have allowed her to write her letters and things, and do the bills, and a hundred things you might have spared her. Of course it is that."

"I'll run now and see what I can do," cried Amy, following her mother hastily out of the room. Innocent and young as she was, she had already learnt the lesson women learn so soon—that a masculine conclusion of this kind is beyond the reach of argument. It satisfied Charlie. It comforted his mind to throw the blame upon her, and to persuade himself that his mother's strange aspect had an easy removable cause. Amy could not so delude herself; but she said in her mind, "What is the use of arguing?" and took the ready excuse thus offered her. Poor little Amy's heart was very heavy. No—it was not writing letters, nor reckoning up bills, that had done it. It was something far more mysterious—something which she could not divine. The words she had heard at the window came back to her and made her shiver—"To save them from shame I would give my life. I would risk my soul——" "Oh! what, what could it mean?"

There was no one in the drawing-room, of course, and Amy made her way up-stairs, wondering where her new aunt was, wondering what sort of person she was, and what she had to do with it. She had red eyes, but that was with crying; and her nose was red, and her whole person limp; but then her voice and touch were kind. The door of the west room was closed when she approached, but Stevens just then came out with a tray.

"Is the lady, is—my aunt there?"

"La! bless us, Miss, is she your aunt?" said Stevens, and went downstairs nodding her head, and refusing further comment.

Amy paused a long time at the door. Should she go in and make acquaintance with the stranger? Should she encounter her mother there, with that changed face? With a little timid reluctance to take any decisive step, she ran to her own room first to collect herself. Amy's room communicated with her mother's. Mrs. Scudamore had been glad to have her child so near, to be able to call her at any hour; but the first thing Amy saw on entering the room was that the door of communication was closed. She gave a little sharp cry involuntarily. This sign of separation hurt her, and appalled her. "Why should she shut me out?" Amy cried to herself. "Mamma!" But the door was locked; she listened even in the great perturbation of her thoughts, but nothing was audible. It was more than Amy could bear.

"Mamma, mamma!" she cried, beating on the door.

There was no answer. Amy had something of the [illegible] too, and could be hasty [illegible] when she was thwarted. She lost patience.

"I will come in," she cried; "I will not be shut out. Mamma, you have no right to shut me out; open the door—open the door!"

All at once the door opened wide, as if by magic, Amy thought, though it was solely the hurry of her own agitation, the tingling in her ears, the sounds she was herself making, which prevented her from hearing the withdrawing of the bolt.

Her mother stood [illegible] and grave before her, reproving—"What is the meaning of this, Amy?" she said, coldly, and Amy's heart sank.

"Oh, mamma! don't go away; don't shut yourself up—at least, don't shut me out—me, mamma! There may be things you cannot talk of to the rest; but, mamma, me!" cried Amy, in a transport of love and pain.

Mrs. Scudamore made a violent effort of self-control. Her whole soul was full of passionate irritation. Her impulse was to thrust her daughter away from her—to shut out all the world; but that unreasoning cry went to her heart. Oh, if the child but knew! Tell it to her! The same thought that had moved her enemy came with a great swell and throb of pain over Mrs. Scudamore's heart.

"Amy," she said, hoarsely, "child, go away. There is nothing the matter with me, or if there is anything, it is my own business alone. Go away, I cannot be disturbed now——"

Amy crept to her mother's feet and clasped her knees. "Only me," she said, laying her soft cheek against the harsh blackness of the crape. "You can trust me, mother. Let me share the trouble, whatever it is. Oh, mamma, mamma! why should you have secrets from me?"

Mrs. Scudamore trembled more than her child did as she stooped over her. "Hush, hush," she said, "let there be an end of this. Listen, Amy. It is—papa's—secret not yours nor mine. Now, ask me no more."

Amy shrank away with a strange look of awe. She looked wistfully into her mother's face; she acknowledged the difference. These words, which Mrs. Scudamore loathed to speak, were absolutely effectual. She rose from the ground, and put her arms around her mother's neck, and clung to her, silently hiding her face. "Is it very bad?" she whispered softly, kissing her neck and her dress. Amy's whole soul was lost in pity.

"It is very bad," said the poor woman, with a groan; and she held her child close to her heart, with a very tempest of love and anguish. Oh, if Amy but knew!—but she should never know—never, if it were at the cost of the mother's life—the peril of her soul.

When Amy had been thus dismissed, calmed down, and composed in the most magical way—for, after all, the dead father's secrets, whatever they might be, were nothing in comparison with the very lightest veil of mystery on the part of the mother—Mrs. Scudamore once more closed the door. She did it very softly, that no one might hear; she drew the curtain that no one might see; and then she gave way to a misery which was beyond control. Was there any sorrow like her sorrow? she cried to herself in anguish. She took her dead husband's miniature out of its frame, and threw it on the ground, and crushed it to fragments. She cursed him in her heart. He had done this wantonly, cruelly, like the coward he was. He had known it all along: he had died knowing it, with his children by his bed-side. O God! reward him, since man could not—the coward and villain! These were the only prayers she could say in the bitterness of her heart.

A DARK INHERITANCE.

CHAPTER VI.

No after-days, I think, can ever seem quite so long as these first days in my new home have seemed. I scarcely trust myself to write about them even yet, for fear that in my loneliness I should write ungratefully or complainingly. I have Esther with me, and she looks very like a bit of the old home; and I have Juno and my own phaeton, so that out-of-doors I can often play tricks with my imagination—as I ride or drive—and fancy I may look up presently to see Edgar standing by the lawn gate at home, waiting for me, as he often used to do, and welcoming me with a smile. But it is not very easy to forget how far apart we are, and how far away the old life is.

Edgar writes most kindly, and has sent me one or two little presents from abroad, just to show how he remembers me; and he hopes I am getting to feel at home and happy here, and he will soon come and see for himself, he says. What can I tell of my home and life here? For it is so bad for my heart to cling to Edgar now.

Westerwood is indeed a very pretty house, just the sort of house one is certain to grow fond of. The garden is charming to me, with unexpected nooks and glades, like nature herself, though I believe it was all planned and laid out by Mrs. Luard and her husband after they bought the house. Of course that is the reason she loves it so well. Why, every tree and flower—even every winding path or quaint old seat—must have a tale to tell of her husband and of those happy days. But I fancy that I, too, presently shall be almost as fond as she is of the sweet, quaint garden and the picturesque and comfortable old house.

I wish I felt as certain that I should grow to love Mrs. Luard herself. Well, perhaps when I know her well, things will seem less contradictory in her character, and she will lose that restlessness which seems unnatural at her years, and which strikes me as so strange, considering how placid and at ease she can look. It accords oddly, too, with her evident enjoyment of all the so-called good things of life—ease and idleness, luxurious living and expensive dress, late hours in the morning and superabundance of servants, a shrinking from all mention of suffering and distress, and an intense pride and care for the countless rare and tasteful ornaments of her house. I catch myself watching her very often, though I try never to let myself be worried over the character of this old lady. But I can not help it. She interests without yet attracting me, and, while I assure myself I never shall care for her, I am all the while anxious to give her any gleam of pleasure which it may possibly be in my power to give. I listen untiringly to the history of every bit of rare old china and every costly article of furniture, and I grow to feel tender with them, and fond of them, by the very force of sympathy. But I am often wondering how it is that every one was bought either by her husband or herself; not one seems to have come down from father to son, as did so many of our choice and valued things at home, and not one seems to have been a present to her from any one but her late husband. That fact gradually accounted to me for a suspicion which had grown with me to a certainty, that she was as proud as she was fond of her house and her possessions; and that, in spite of that evidence in face and manner of good birth, ease and luxury had not been hers through all her life.

I never could find out whether it was the wish for an increase to her income that had induced her to answer my advertisement, or only a feeling of occasional loneliness in the possession of a house unnecessarily large for one lady.

But I made another discovery; the old lady's life held some secret which never quite let go its hold upon her. Whether it affected the past or present I could never tell; even whether it touched her nearly or afar I could not know. I only felt conscious of its influence, and longed then the more to smooth her life for her, because my own too must be so lonely—as I now knew. Sometimes, while Mrs. Luard was enlarging to me on the worth or history of her things, I laughed at myself for clinging to a ridiculous notion of any thing weighing on this contented little owner of beautiful and costly knickknacks; but soon after I would find myself puzzled again, for she had grown cold and curious, and that strange, unnatural restlessness had seized her.

As I said, I tried not to worry about it, and was grateful to find that she grew brighter with me; and now other blessings came, for the first faint touches and suggestions of spring were in the softened air and lengthening daylight, and seemed to teach my soul into a new life.

CHAPTER VII.

Edgar's letters did not reach me very frequently, but then I knew I was avaricious for them, and never could have been satisfied; and so it was little wonder, perhaps, that I read them so often that I soon knew them by heart. But this one I never read but once, and then, with all my might, I tried to forget every word. Here the birds were singing while I read it, down by the little river beyond the garden, on a half-hidden seat to which I always loved to carry Edgar's letters on these fair spring mornings! How merrily the water sang as it passed me by!

I forget what words my brother used. I only know he bade me come back to him at once, because he had discovered that Mrs. Luard was not a fit friend or chaperon for his sister, as her husband's name had been dishonored.

It was too late now for my brother to tell me this, I said to myself, sighing with a vague regret at the wonder why he had not thought of discovering all he could before he let me come. I only knew one thing quite certainly—it was too late now. Whatever her husband had been, I would not thus suddenly and suspiciously leave my solitary old lady here. But now, of course, I knew what was her secret.

It was just as I thought thus that she came up to me; and at sight of her I quietly tore my brother's letter into fragments, and watched the river carry them away.

But Mrs. Luard had no thought for any letter or any trouble of mine. She was full of a great grievance of her own.

"They are bringing the railway line down here, Eunice," she said, standing before me, too angry, as it seemed, to sit. "It will spoil Westerwood."

But I was too much of a Londoner to be sufficiently depressed by the idea.

"There will be a station in the village, perhaps. What a convenience for the people!"

"Convenience!" echoed Mrs. Luard, scornfully. "What a disfigurement for Westerwood! The line must cross the river. The men are at work already marking it."

"I suppose there is seldom any dawdling when a line is decided upon," said I, placidly; but I rose and went with her toward the house, while she grumbled all the way, even chafing against the fact of the engineer who was here in authority being an American.

I smiled a little over this last complaint, but I was sorry afterward, because all these grievances seemed really great to her.

But next day she had grown silent on this subject, and so by luncheon-time I had actually forgotten it. It was a fair, bright afternoon, and I thought I would go and choose some pretty view for a sketch, because I wanted Edgar to have a little painting of some spot near me. I sauntered on and on through the woods, now and then coming out in sight of the river, as it went on southward like myself, and looking anxiously about me for the prettiest peep, but still unsatisfied when I left the woods for good, where the river was wide and shallow. There were huge stones rising from it, almost straight across, and I saw that I could cross with very little danger even of a wetting. So I did without a minute's hesitation, for the afternoon was wearing on, and I had dawdled unconsciously on my way. There are times, I think, when thought may be said to be, like beauty, only skin-deep, and this was such a day for me. I scarcely felt the loneliness which always now lay in my heart. I had gathered flowers as I passed for the simple pleasure of holding them in my hands and to my lips, and I even sang in broken snatches, as I stepped from stone to stone across the river, sprang to the other bank among the furze and bracken, and—while my dress was caught and torn—climbed the first acclivity which I had reached in my long walk.

Then suddenly I stopped. Close before me, as it seemed, there was fixed a curious three-legged sort of instrument, and near it stood a man gazing up at me, steadily and coolly gazing straight into my face, I think, while I held my flowers and my torn dress in one hand, and my sketching folio in the other, while my ankles must have been terribly visible; and—and surely that was a camera, and the man was photographing this very bank! What should I look like? I dropped my dress and my flowers as soon as ever this idea had formed itself in my mind; then I sat weakly down upon the bank, just where I was, opened my portfolio, and insanely began to sketch—any thing—nothing—just to avoid that dreadful position of standing on an exposed eminence to be stared at or photographed, or turning back at random, and perhaps falling between those stepping-stones, in my attempt to recross the river without sufficient deliberation.

Providentially I felt that no one need ever see my sketch, and so I drew in random lines, fearing to raise my head and put them right until that formidable machine had been removed. And yet how I did long to set my mind quite at ease about it!

"Do I interfere with your sketch, I and my ugly instrument?"

At this sudden, unexpected question I lifted my eyes fully for the first time, and then I saw that the instrument I had dreaded was no camera, and that the gentleman who addressed me was certainly no photographer. Then all in a minute I knew what it was, and I looked among the heather.

"Is this to be the new railway line?" I asked, without the slightest preamble or premeditation. "We heard it was coming."

SUNDAY READING.

THE SOURCE OF LIFE THOU ART, O LORD!

BY FRANCIS S. SMITH.

The source of life thou art, O Lord!
 Sovereign of earth and sky—
The winds obey Thee—at Thy word
 The rocks asunder fly.
Thy rule, omnipotent, is o'er
 The land and boundless sea,
And every breath Thy creatures draw
 Is known and marked by Thee.

And what is puny man that Thou
 Art mindful of him still,
E'en while he with defiant brow
 Disputes Thy sovereign will?
Oh, teach us while Thy power we view,
 That we are only dust,
And our imperfect hearts imbue
 With faith, and love, and trust.

Good Night.

How commonplace is this expression, and yet what volumes it may speak for all future time! We never listen to it, in passing, that this thought does not force itself upon us, be the tones in which it is uttered ever so gay. The lapse of a few fatal hours or minutes may so surround and hedge it in with horror, that of all the millions of words which a lifetime has recorded, these two little words alone shall be remembered: Good night! The little child has lisped it, as it passed, smiling, to a brighter morn than ours; the lover, with his gay dreams of the nuptial morrow; the wife and mother, with all the tangled threads of household cares still in her fingers; the father, with the appealing eye of childhood all unanswered: Good night! That seal upon days passed, and days to come. What hand so rash as to rend aside the veil that covers its morrow?

Individuality.

The Sunday Afternoon says: "Yes, in human lives there is the separate thread of every individuality to be traced in its own distinctness from the beginning to the end, and having its especial place in the great pattern of earthly existence. Blessed are they who, keen-eyed, patient and swift of hand, stand by the tangled web of circumstances, striving to trace the Master's original design, to make the tapestry perfect to its minutest parts. Overlooking none, esteeming all, seeing that nothing that comes from God's hand is superfluous or made without intent, they follow the separate line of each of the varied threads, and guide each to its own peculiar place. Perhaps when all the work is done, when the web is woven to the end, some small thing that many would have despised, or broken, or cast aside, or hidden out of sight, shall be found to be a thread of gold or of scarlet, as just the edge of shadow needed to make the line of beauty vivid and complete."

Rest and be Thankful.

There is a pass in Scotland called Glencoe, which supplies a beautiful illustration of what heaven will be to the souls who come to Christ. The road through Glencoe carries the traveller up a long and steep ascent, with many a little turn and winding in its course. But when the top of the pass is reached a stone is seen by the wayside with these simple words inscribed upon it;—"Rest and be thankful." These words describe the feelings with which every thirsting one who comes to Christ will enter heaven. The summit of the narrow way will at length be ours. We shall cease from our weary journeyings, and sit down in the kingdom of God. We shall look back on all the way of our lives with thankfulness, and see the perfect wisdom of every step in the steep ascent by which we were led. We shall forget the toil of the upward journey in the glorious rest. Here, in this world, our sense of rest in Christ at best is feeble and partial; we hardly seem at times to taste fully "the living water." But when that which is perfect is come, then that which is imperfect shall be done away. "When we awake up after His likeness we shall be satisfied." (Psalm xvii. 15). We shall drink out of the river of His pleasures and thirst no more.—Canon Ryle.

All Your Care.

Casting all your care upon Him!—(Pet. v. 7.)

How much the anxieties of life are increased by forgetting the little but comprehensive word "all" of the text! What father might not learn a lesson from his child, with whom he is starting for a journey. His little boy says, "Father, you will have to carry the big bag, I cannot; and I will carry the little one." The strong father smiles, and says, "I think you had better let me carry both." They start. After a few minutes, the bag becomes a great burden, and the child, overheated and weary, says, "Father, you had better take the little bag too."

One of the greatest lessons in life is for a child of God to let His Heavenly Father carry every burden; to cast all His care upon Him.

Little trials are a Christian's great temptations. "Be careful for nothing; but in everything, by prayer and supplication, with thanksgiving, let your requests be made known unto God." "Truly," says Archbishop Leighton, "the godly are much in the wrong to themselves by not improving this their sweet privilege. They too often forget this their sweet way, and fret themselves to no purpose; wrestle with their burdens themselves, and do not entirely and freely roll them over on God." Many a man who never doubts God's care of the whole Church to the minutest particulars, is tempted to distrust God's interest in the little things that concern his own daily life. "Do I confide in Him," says the same writer, "for the steering and guidance of the whole ship, and shall I be peevishly doubting and distrusting about my pack in it?" The same age that invented the telescope brought out the microscope. The same grace that reveals distant things as near ought to discern our least cares as great to a Father's love. "The very hairs of your head are numbered."—J. W. Bardsley, M. A.

Slang.

Girls should be careful never to sully their lips by the use of slang phrases, for though they may be innocently uttered they are apt to have a double meaning, and originate with a class of people who do not hesitate to make use of the very lowest and vilest language.

Some girls use slang because they think it makes their words more expressive and interesting, but this is a very much mistaken idea, for there is nothing more displeasing than to hear words of slang fall from the lips of girls who should be pure and free from any expressions not calculated to impress their hearers with a sense of their refinement and culture.

The use of slang is becoming so common that ladies use it when conversing with gentlemen. With what degree of respect does a gentleman regard a lady who in his presence makes use of language such as is used in the very lowest class of society? He certainly cannot accord her the same respect which would be hers if her ideas were expressed in chaste, ladylike terms. It is true she may not mean to use words that will make her seem unladylike, but she cannot use slang in any way without saying something never intended for the lips of a true, pure woman.

A gentleman owes more respect to a lady than to use slang in her presence, and if she refrains from its use he will be more careful of his own language. It is bad enough for him to use it any time, but how much more it is for him to do so when with ladies! He is to some extent excusable, though, when its use is encouraged by hearing it from his lady companions. Remember, girls, you owe it to yourselves and to your own self-respect never to use language which will have a tendency to lessen a man's respect for you.

Surely our pure English language is adequate to express anything we may desire to say. If the use of slang continues to be so freely indulged in, it will become so corrupted as to make it almost impossible for a single sentence to be uttered entirely free from slang. M. J. R.

Hurry!

Hurry! hurry! hurry Ah, how few there are of us, who, in our journey down the pathway of life, are never once in a hurry! If we are to accomplish much, as a general rule, in our battle and warfare with life, we must take hold of the work which is before us with nimble fingers—fingers that are ever willing to do their best to hurry. Although it may tire us, may weary our feet to move with celerity in whatever we are doing, yet there is some rest for us, some quiet and peace, when, at last, we feel ourselves relieved from the burden which is bearing us down. The sweat may fall from our brow, while we tug and toil on with continued exertion, but the light of day will fade out, and the dim shadows of night will hover over us, till finally we are lost in the sweet repose that follows the laying of our aching head upon our couches. Thus resting, the hurry which we were in through the day has vanished from our minds like a transient dream.

From the time we rise in the morning until the set of sun, if we are to do much in the daily routine of life which we follow, we must continually hurry, first at this thing, then at that thing; it is always hurry! hurry! hurry!

It matters not with us what our occupation is, the one, the universal idea of our lives is to ever hurry. From the cradle to the grave the irresistible tide of time is sweeping us on, seeming to hurry us to that "long home" from which no tired, weary wanderer has ever returned.

Hurry! If we did not hurry, the hours would drag more heavily over our heads. The anticipation of getting our work done, so that we can find a little time in which to be relaxed from labor encourages us to fresh efforts.

If we wander by the babbling brook in the summer, it will not do to loiter too long; too long; but we must hurry on to new places of observation before us. If we journey to the foot of the hill, instead of longing to gain its summit we had much better put our best foot forward to hurry to the top of it. If we sow or reap, there is always something that comes along to be done following it, and we are impelled, to a more or less extent, to hurry.

One of the great problems to our existence here—at least, we make it such—is to hurry up to do all we can of that which wants doing around us. The quicker we can perform our task, the sooner is our hurry over. Such is this the life we live, the life we shall always live, until the end of all our wanderings and sojournings here on earth.

S. A. Munson.

GEMS OF THOUGHT.

The most delicate, the most sensible of all pleasure consists in promoting the pleasures of others.

Old men's lives are lengthened shadows; their evening sun falls coldly on the earth, but the shadows all point to the morning.

As the soil, however rich it may be, cannot be productive without culture, so the mind, without cultivation, can never produce good fruit.

There is nothing that wears out a fine face like the vigils of the card-table, and those cutting passions which naturally attend them.

The passions of men of society differ as much from the passions of the natural man, as the fruits of a grafted tree from those of a wild one.

As nothing truly valuable can be obtained without industry, so there can be no persevering industry without a deep sense of the value of time.

At forty years of age a man looks back over his life and wonders what he did it for, and then turns wistfully toward the future, and keeps on doing the same thing.

It is a mistake to imagine that the violent passions only, such as ambition and love, can triumph over the rest. Idleness, languid as it is, often masters them all.

It is not worth while to think too much about doing good. Doing the best we know, minute by minute and hour by hour, we insensibly grow to goodness as fruit grows to ripeness.

He who looks on beauty with a pure affection forgets the loveliness of the body in that of the soul and rises by means of that earthly beauty to the great artist, to the very essence of loveliness.

The great art of conversation consists in not wounding or humiliating any one, in speaking only of things that we know, in conversing with others only on subjects which may interest them.

Love, like light, must always be travelling. A man must spend it, give it away. He may be a miser of his wealth, tie his talent in a napkin and hug himself up in his reputation, but he is always generous in his love.

There is one phrase, without which half the pleasure of life would be taken away. It is a phrase of irritation to one party and extreme satisfaction to the other, whenever anything goes wrong. It is, "I told you so."

The most gentle authority will sometimes frown without reason, and the most cheerful submission will sometimes murmur without cause; and such is the law of our imperfect nature, that we must either command or obey.

Those who expect the most are liable to the greatest disappointments. A man of numerous desires is of all beings the most dependent. He who contracts and simplifies his wants will secure the greatest amount of happiness.

Evils in the journey of life are like the hills which alarm travellers upon their road; they both appear great at a distance, but when we approach them we find that they are less insurmountable than when we had conceived them.

A smooth sea never made a skillful mariner, neither do uninterrupted prosperity and success qualify a man for usefulness and happiness. The storms of the ocean rouse the faculties and excite the invention, prudence, skill and fortitude of the voyager.

TEMPERANCE AND INTEMPERANCE.

The most thorough, enthusiastic, and efficient temperance workers are those who study every phase of the temperance question, and read all the important temperance literature of the day.

In Prussia one person in 450 is insane. The cause is chiefly the abuse of alcoholic liquors. So says Dr. Finkelberg, Professor of Medicine and Member of the Prussian Commission of Public Health.

Rev. Mr. McKay, missionary of the American Board in Africa, speaking of the drink curse, says: "Go where you will, you will find every night, when grain is plentiful, every man, woman and child reeling with alcohol."

An excellent minister, who sailed for Europe, asked if it were necessary to drink the red wine, saying that he had been told by truly good people that there was no safety in using the water; that the light or red wines, and sometimes brandy, were indispensable on sanitary principles. We replied, thirty days in Japan, forty-two in China, one hundred and twelve in India, nine in Egypt, fifteen in Palestine, four in Athens, sixty-five in Europe, thirty-five in England, ninety days at sea on twenty ships, afforded ample time to test the water, with no occasion to touch an intoxicant or taste tea or coffee. Occasionally we took a cup of nutritious cocoa, and always milk when attainable. If any one suffers more from sea-sickness than we—they suffer (and the twentieth voyage worse than the first), but all who took strong drink as a remedial added to their sufferings, as we know from most abundant observation. What shabby nonsense, to pour fire-water (as the Indians call intoxicating drinks) into a stomach turned topsy-turvy by unaccountable sea-sickness. The German and brotherly landlord of the Mediterranean Hotel at Jerusalem gave us a most refreshing bowl of hot and pure goat's milk at the 5 to 6 a. m. breakfast each morning. Our first Parisian breakfast was sweet milk, and so in Dresden, Munich, Vienna, Berlin, the cities of the Rhine, Switzerland and Holland, we always and easily could get the best of bread and purest milk, with meat and vegetables once per day. We are only average in our endurance and nervous force, but by regularity in diet, simplicity in food and the constant smile "of Him who never slumbers or sleeps," we were able to average sixteen hours per day of study, writing, meetings, and the various forms of Christian work, without a head-ache or failure to meet appointments on ship or train, save one single morning service in the Pulney Mountains, South India. — K. A. Burnell, in the Congregationalist.

FROM THE
HON. THURLOW WEED,
Endorsing Dr. Radway's R. R. R. Remedies after using them for several years.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4, 1877.

DEAR SIR,—Having for several years used your medicines, doubtingly at first, but after experiencing their efficacy, with full confidence, it is no less a pleasure than a duty to thankfully acknowledge the advantages we have derived from them. The Pills are resorted to as often as occasion requires, and always with the desired effect. The Ready Relief cannot be better described than it is by its name. We apply the liniment frequently and freely, and almost invariably find the promised relief.

Yours truly,
(Signed) THURLOW WEED.
DR. RADWAY.

DR. RADWAY'S
Sarsaparillian Resolvent!
The Great Blood Purifier.

Changes as Seen and Felt!
As They Daily Occur
AFTER USING A FEW DOSES.

1. Good spirits, disappearance of weakness, languor, melancholy, increase and hardness of flesh and muscle, etc.

2. Strength increases, appetite improves, relish for food, no more sour eructations or weak waterbrash, good digestion, calm and undisturbed sleep, awaken fresh and vigorous.

3. Disappearance of spots, blotches, pimples; the skin looks clear and healthy, the urine changed from its turbid and cloudy appearance to a clear sherry or amber color; water passes freely from the bladder through the urethra without pain or scalding; little or no sediment; no pain or weakness.

4. Marked diminution of quantity and frequency of involuntary weakening discharges, (if afflicted that way), with certainty of permanent cure. Increased strength exhibited in the secreting glands and functional harmony restored to the several organs.

5. Yellow tinge on the white of the eyes, and the swarthy, saffron appearance of the skin changed to a clear, lively and healthy color.

6. Those suffering from weak or ulcerated lungs or tubercules will realize great benefit in expectorating freely the tough phlegm or mucous from the lungs, air cells, bronchi or windpipe, throat or head; diminishing the frequency of cough, general increase of strength throughout the system; stoppage of night sweats and pains and feeling of weakness around the ankles, legs, shoulders, etc.; cessation of cold and chills, sense of suffocation, hard breathing, and paroxysm of cough on lying down or rising in the morning. All these distressing symptoms gradually and surely disappear.

7. As day after day the SARSAPARILLIAN is taken new signs of returning health will appear; as the blood improves in purity and strength disease will diminish, and all foreign and impure deposits, nodes, tumors, cancers, hard lumps, etc., be resolved away and the unsound made sound and healthy; ulcers, fever sores, chronic skin diseases gradually disappear.

8. In cases where the system has been salivated and Mercury, Quicksilver, Corrosive Sublimate have accumulated and become deposited in the bones, joints, etc., causing caries of the bones, rickets, spinal curvatures, contortions, white swellings, varicose veins, etc., the SARSAPARILLIAN will resolve away these deposits and exterminate the virus of the disease from the system.

9. If those who are taking these medicines for the cure of Chronic, Scrofulous or Syphilitic diseases, however slow may be the cure, "feel better" and find their general health improving, their flesh and weight increasing or even keeping its own, it is a sure sign that the cure is progressing. In these diseases the patient either gets better or worse—the virus of the disease is not inactive; if not arrested and driven from the blood it will spread and continue to undermine the constitution. As soon as the SARSAPARILLIAN makes the patient "feel better" every hour you will grow better and increase in health, strength and flesh.

The great power of this remedy is in diseases that threaten death—as in

of the Lungs and Tuberculous Phthisis, Scrofula, Syphiloid Diseases, Wasting, Degeneration, and Ulceration of the Kidneys, Diabetes, Stoppage of Water (instantaneous relief afforded where catheters have been used, thus doing away with the painful operation of using these instruments), dissolving stone in the bladder, and in all cases of Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys,

in chronic cases of Leucorrhea and Uterine diseases.

In tumors, nodes, hard lumps and syphiloid ulcers, in dropsy; in ulcers and in tubercules of the lungs; in gout, dyspepsia, rheumatism, rickets—it is in these terrible forms of disease, where the human body has become a complete wreck and where every hour of existence is torture, wherein this great remedy challenges the astonishment and admiration of the sick. It is in such cases, where all the pleasures of existence appear cut off from the unfortunate, and by its wonderful, almost supernatural agency it restores the hopeless to a life and new existence, where this great remedy stands alone in its might and power.

In the ordinary skin diseases that every one is more or less troubled with a few doses will in most cases, and a few bottles in the more aggravated forms, work a permanent cure.

Those afflicted with chronic diseases should purchase a package containing one dozen bottles. Price $10 per dozen, or $5 per half dozen bottles, or $1 per bottle. Sold by Druggists.
