WESTMOUNT, THURSDAY, AUGUST 7, 1941

PRICE—TWO CENTS

Awarded Medal For Heroic Deed

Sergeant M. H. Ross* of R.A.F., Son of Columnist For This Publication, Given D.F.M. for Valor in Action — Freed Jammed Guns Under Difficult Conditions At 12,000 Foot Altitude — Has Many Friends And Relatives in This District

Sergeant Murray Hugh Ross, resident of Notre Dame de Grace and Westmount for many years, a former student at Westmount schools, who is now attached to No. 29 Squadron, Royal Air Force, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Medal for valor in action, according to word recently received here. His parents, Howard S. Ross, K.C., columnist for this publication, and Mrs. Ross, reside at 2055 Grey Avenue, N.D.G.

Sgt. Ross has proven himself a courageous and efficient wireless operator, the citation stated, adding that "one night in March, 1941, after intercepting an enemy aircraft the cannons jammed, but Sgt. Ross changed the heavy (ammunition) pans and cleared the stoppages four times under cramped and difficult conditions at 12,000 feet, which enabled his pilot to destroy at least two enemy aircraft at night."

Wife in Canada

The wife of Sgt. Ross is at present residing in Canada, having come to this country some six months ago.

Sgt. Ross was born in Sydney, Nova Scotia, in 1908, and was brought to Montreal at an early age by his parents. For some years he was connected with the

Residents Asked To Entertain Boys From RCAF Unit

Graham Watt, director of Y.M.C.A. War Services at the No. 1 Wireless School, has a problem on his hands. And the citizens of N.D.G. and Westmount are in a position to help him.

The problem is arranging weekends in the country for men of the school. Each week, quite a few invitations are received by the 'Y' and filled, but the need still far exceeds the supply.

The boys at the school are fol-

Those desiring to invite men to their city or country homes should get in touch with the 'Y' at the Wireless School by calling Atlantic 7642.

BRITISH BLAST GERMAN SHIPPING

Besides devastating German military positions in the west and war industries, the British are pouring heavy bombs on enemy shipping. This remarkable closeup was made from a Blenheim bomber. Other Blenheims are hovering over the enemy vessels, while bombs burst near the Danish motorship the Delaware, in a German convoy, somewhere off the Netherlands coast in the North Sea.

Vacation Club Starts Second Half Of Program

The first half of the Westmount Y.M.C.A. Vacation Club came to a close with an ice cream party and movies on August 1st. On Monday the second half of the Vacation Club started off with a very interesting educational trip to Chas. E. Frosst & Co., manufacturing pharmacists, where the effects of cod liver oil on rats were demonstrated. Tuesday the boys played baseball in the park, and Wednesday was spent at the Verdun swimming pool. Thursday, August 7, the boys will visit the Simond's Canadian Saw Co. Ltd., where they will see how saws are made. A sports program is planned for Friday, and next Tuesday the boys will leave at 1 p.m. for Shipping Containers, where they will see the making of paper boxes. On Wednesday the Vacation Club members will be the guests of the City of St. Lambert at their beach, and will be shown through the Waterman Fountain Pen plant.

Employment
 These days we are receiving many calls for boys from employers, and we will be glad to arrange appointments for Westmount boys seeking positions.

Soldiers & Airmen's Parties
 Last Saturday night the girls of the Westmount Y.M.C.A. Gym class entertained soldiers and airmen at a dance in the gymnasium. Mrs. Hubbell was the hostess and Mrs. Brodie of the Westmount Ladies' Auxiliary was in charge of the refreshments, which were provided by the girls. Some of the boys remarked that they had not eaten such good cakes since they left home. There were boys from all over Canada — from Halifax to Vancouver. Several merchant navy men were especially welcome. This Saturday night the Westmount Hi-Y Girls will be the hostesses.

Learn-to-Swim Classes
 The boys' learn-to-swim classes on Mondays and Thursdays from four to five, and the girls classes on Tuesdays and Fridays from four to five, are making splendid progress.

Swimming Pool
 The Westmount Y.M.C.A. swimming pool is a very popular place these days. The children from the Westmount Parks and Playgrounds are making good use of the facilities, as well as the regular "Y" members and the soldiers and airmen. We are pleased to report that the water analysis of our pool by the health authorities for the last three heavy months have been very satisfactory. Congratulations are in order for Mr. Murray MacFarlane and Mr. Drain for keeping the pool at such a high standard of cleanliness, and we wish to express our generous appreciation to Dr. McNaughton and Mr. McNab of the Westmount Health Department for their splendid cooperation.

Track and Field
 Any boys or young men interested in track and field workouts at the McGill Stadium on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, should get in touch with Bill Morrow at the local Y for further information.

Summer Theatre
 The Summer Theatre, which is presenting Bernard Shaw's "Candida" on Thursday, Friday and Saturday night of this week has arranged to have the bus stop at the Westmount Y.M.C.A. at 7:55 D.S.T. each evening.

WILL HOLD MEETING
 The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps (Fourth Divisional Workshop) will be held in the Westmount Y.M.C.A. on Tuesday, at 8 p.m.

Mothers, sisters and wives of all ranks are urged to attend the meeting. Wool will be distributed.

More and more "V... for Victory" signs are being displayed locally as the tide of battle sweeps in Britain's favor.

They are on store fronts, the sides of delivery trucks and passenger cars, on the latters' windshields, on the sidewalks before private residences and often outlined in flowers on lawns.

Display of this symbol of approaching Victory is to be found everywhere in the occupied countries of Europe which have suffered the stigma and distress occasioned by the Nazi Heel and indicates the determination of these conquered peoples to throw off the German yoke with the passing of time no matter what the cost.

Over here the symbol is the positive assurance to ourselves and to others that we, also, will never rest until the Reich beast and its foul trainers have been utterly and ruthlessly crushed and the world rid of the Hitler octopus which seeks to encircle it with slimy tentacles.

WARFARE OF EXPLOSIVE IS EXPLAINED BY SPEAKER AT WESTMOUNT ROTARY

Graphic Account of the Use of Metallic Magnesium and Thermite in Aerial Combat Vividly Outlined by Noted Chemist — Devastation is Result

Importance of concentrated fire in modern warfare was stressed by Dr. S. G. Lippsett, noted chemist, in an address yesterday afternoon before members of the Westmount Rotary Club at Victoria Hall.

The speaker chose a subject which was appropriate at this time, "Incendiary Bombs and their Action," and was applauded for his knowledge of this eminently important subject.

He briefly turned back the pages of history and recounted the major role fire-bombs had played as a method of warfare from earliest times.

Touching upon the methods of the Romans who hurled fire upon their enemies through the medium of sling-shots and the inflammable substance the Greeks used with such devastating results, and to this day, this substance used by the Greeks is still an unknown formula.

Dr. Lippsett then outlined the compound which was used in the first World War, and to the extent it had been improved upon.

The speaker continued, "the dreaded incendiary bomb of the present war has surpassed anything known or devised in the history of mankind for its destructive qualities. It is made up with a combination of metallic magnesium and thermite.

"The vitally dangerous part of the bomb is the heart, which is metallic magnesium and it burns to a temperature of 2400 degrees Fahrenheit, whilst Thermite burns to a 4500 degree temperature.

"It can be easily understood what transpires when bombs like these are dropped from planes.

"Once they have struck their target they can burn with a fierce intensity for 15 minutes, and attain such power, they can eat their way through steel.

"The fire wardens whose job it is to battle these flaming monsters would have a terrific time if they were not adequately protected by special uniforms.

"The fierce white light thrown from these bombs when ignited would permanently injure the eyesight if very dark glasses were not used, and the quenching of their devastation is altogether scientific."

Dr. Lippsett gave some enlightening exhibitions with the actual compound he was speaking about, and great attention and interest was centred on his experiments.

Company Official Dies At Residence

The funeral of Roland H. Wright took place from the chapel of Jos. C. Wray yesterday afternoon, who died suddenly at his country home in Lake MacDonal, Que.

Mr. Wright was 56 years of age, and a resident of Westmount, his home being situated at 1 Grenville road.

A prominent rugby and basketball player in earlier days, Mr. Wright is survived by his widow, formerly Florence Isabella Cougtry; five children, Jean, Phyllis, Stuart, Norma and Jack; and two sisters, Mrs. J. Hayes of Ottawa, and Mrs. Thomas Thornborough of Montreal.

Queen's Canadian Fund Praised By Her Majesty

A message of commendation from Her Majesty the Queen has been received by the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims.

The Queen's message, sent to the Fund's representative in London by Captain Arthur Penn, Her Majesty's private secretary, is as follows:

"Her Majesty desires me to tell you with what great pleasure she has learned of the very remarkable results already attained by the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims, of which Her Majesty is Patron.

"London has suffered little lately; but there is no reason to suppose that the respite will be more than temporary, nor that any sums which can be devoted to this cause will not be sorely needed."

The news of the Fund's achievement in passing the half-million dollar mark was made public last week in the course of Montreal's biggest war demonstration, when the Lord Mayor of London personally addressed the Mayor of Montreal and the people of Canada in a trans-Atlantic telephone conversation, bringing to thousands of onlookers a close feeling of contact with Britain's capital and its brave people.

Lord Mayor's Tribute
 Paying tribute to the generosity of Canadians and to the indomitable spirit of the people of Britain, for whom he is administering the National Air Raid Distress Fund, the Lord Mayor spoke from London in these words:

Red Cross Work Reviewed By Montreal Co-Chairman

During April, May and June the 35,000 women volunteers of the Quebec Provincial Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society completed more than 220,400 garments for shipment overseas, according to a radio broadcast made recently by Mrs. Henri Beaudry, co-chairman of the inspection and instruction department at Red Cross House in Montreal.

The broadcast was made over station CBF, Montreal, when Mrs. Beaudry was the guest of Mme R. des Rameaux who presents the daily women's feature program, "Courier Confidence."

"We receive an average of more than 73,400 garments each month or more than 2,500 every day," said Mrs. Beaudry in her radio talk, "and still, there is always need for more; because every night the air raids over England destroy the homes of so many people. Mothers and fathers are glad to save only their own lives and those of their children; they cannot rescue any clothing. They have to count on us to help provide that — and the Red Cross has never turned down one appeal for help.

"I never look at these shipments of finished garments being unpacked at Red Cross House without thinking of all the work and sacrifice which has gone into every one of them. What a difference there is in these finished articles compared with the material which I had seen leaving Red Cross House a week or two before!"

"You see, all this raw material is received at Red Cross House in large shipments, after it has been selected by the members of the Purchasing Committee which takes advantage of any buying opportunity to keep a large supply on hand. Special care is taken in making these purchases, because the committee realizes that it is buying not for themselves, or the Red Cross really, but for the people of this Province, who, during the campaign last fall, contributed the money which the Purchasing Committee spends for these supplies," she said.

Keen interest is being displayed by the boys and girls at Prince Albert Park in the recreation program under way there. Various tournaments have been held during the past week the results of which are as follows:

The girls have been making pot-holders and book-covers. Mary Hall, Claire Warren and Mary Beth Cowper have been very active in this group.

NO MORE GAS IN CANS

The speedy action of the government in stopping the sale of gasoline in cans will be generally commended by all those who want to win this war. When the gas-saving regulations were first drawn up, the authorities counted upon the good-will of everyone in making them effective. Unfortunately, however, there were a number who tried to beat the law by buying extra supplies in cans. Now, if you want some white gas for your camp stove or blow-torch you will have to sign a declaration to the effect that it is not going to be used in any gas motor.

HONOUR FOR MURRAY ROSS

Many local friends were pleased to learn of the honour won by Sergeant Murray Ross, of the Royal Air Force, who was recently awarded the Distinguished Flying Medal for valour in action. Sergeant Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Ross, of Grey Avenue, is well known both in Notre Dame de Grace and Westmount. He enlisted in the air force at the outbreak of war, and according to the citation, has been consistently efficient and courageous. The D.F.M. was given him for clearing and putting back into action the jammed cannons of a plane on which he was wireless operator in a night battle at twelve thousand feet. His action enabled his pilot to destroy at least two enemy craft. Another local boy makes good.

OFF WITH THE CUFFS, MEN!

It begins to look as if the war will dictate a radical change in the appearance of men's trousers before very long. As a means of economy trousers will be without cuffs. The cuff on one pair of pants does not represent any great saving but in Britain, where the proposal is being considered, they are thinking in terms of 20,000,000 cuffed-pant men and boys with an average of three pairs of pants each. And that is probably a conservative estimate. Personally we can't think of a single idea why the pant cuffs shouldn't go. It appears that they are a hangover from generations past and serve little useful purpose beyond gathering dust and dirt. And not infrequently they have left pantweavers searching in vain for a coin or a key which has been dropped, only to find later that it had dropped into the pant cuff.

WHAT SPEED DOES TO GAS

The "man at the wheel" can cut down drastically on the use of gasoline by keeping the speed of the vehicle down to reasonable proportions, speed tests have demonstrated. Every bit of gasoline he conserves helps to release fuel for our tanks and armored cars, our fighting planes and our bombers. Actually, the experts say, it takes a third more gasoline to go a mile at 60 miles an hour than at 40. The Carburetor Corporation of the United States which has distributors in Canada, has recently issued figures showing that the normal economy of a car capable of giving 25 miles per gallon (20 miles per American gallon) at 20 miles per hour, will vary widely under different driving conditions. Constant speed tests prove that the motorist will get 25 miles per gallon at 20 miles per hour, as compared with 22.9 miles per gallon at 40 miles and 10 miles per gallon at 70 miles an hour, according to the figures distributed by the corporation, and Tests have shown also that it requires approximately 10 additional horsepower to increase the speed of a six-cylinder car about three miles when it is running at 70 miles per hour.

ONE ON CHURCHILL

One of the latest London stories is told on Winston Churchill. The Prime Minister had been visiting in the West End on an afternoon before he was scheduled to broadcast. He stepped up to a cab stand and asked to be driven to the B.B.C. studios. "You'll have to take another car sir. I can't go that far," the driver told him. The Prime Minister was rather surprised and asked him why he was limited in the distance he could travel. "Mr. C urchill is broadcasting in, an hour and I want to get home and tune in." This pleased Churchill and he pulled out a pound note. The driver took one look at the note and said: "Hop in, sir. T'hell with Mr. Churchill." That's the story and we like it, but we would be surprised if any London cabbie failed to recognize the Prime Minister.

BOOK REVIEW

BY HOWARD S. ROSS

Handbook of Canadian Military Law by Burrell M. Singer, Barrister-at-Law, Osgoode Hall, Toronto, and Lieut.-Colonel R. J. S. Langford, of Toronto, Chief Instructor, Osgoode Hall Continuing Corps and Late Commanding Officer, The Royal Canadian Regiment and Late Commandant R.S.I. and M.G., Eastern Canada.

Publisher, The Copp Clark Company Limited, Toronto. Pages 259.

This useful volume is the result of a civilian lawyer, and a professional soldier with many years practical experience, putting their heads together with the object of making easier the study of military law.

The book provides, in one volume, a handy and adequate statement of Canadian military law in such a practical form that it will be of great value to all officers, civilians and soldiers.

For the convenience and assistance of those charged with the maintenance and enforcement of discipline and the conduct of courts-martial, such paragraphs and sections of statutes and regulations as would normally most frequently be referred to, are quoted verbatim so that it will not be necessary to consult the original sources.

The authors state that their book is not intended to replace any of the official texts, to which the reader is recommended for a more exhaustive treatment of the subject.

Chapter I gives the distinctions between military law, civil law and martial law, and brief history of military law.

Chapter II discusses The Military Code.

Chapter III discusses The Militia and The Law.

Chapter IV discusses Aid to the Civil Power.

Chapter V discusses Courts and Tribunals.

Chapter VI discusses Evidence.

Chapter VII discusses Conduct

THE FORUM

Conducted by HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C., D.C.L.

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper and it does not accept responsibility for them.

Charles Evans Hughes who recently retired from the high post of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, became an able advocate before the Courts of his country at a very early age. He served as Governor of New York State, then became an associate justice of the Supreme Court, then candidate for the Presidency, then Secretary of State and rounded out a very distinguished career by becoming Chief Justice.

In one of his greatest judgments he asserted the right and meaning of free speech and a free press under the Constitution of the United States.

Like many other great Americans Mr. Hughes has always been a warm friend of Canada and for years has spent his summers at Jasper Park, Alberta, Chief Justice Taft favored Murray Bay and had an equal fondness for the people of Canada.

Mr. Hughes was an occasional lecturer at Cornell University Law School while I studied there. He was a very impressive lecturer and spoke without notes and oftener than not cited not only the volume in which a case could be found, but also the page. Mr. Hughes is an active member of the Baptist denomination and a generous contributor to his church and to all worthy causes.

His was perhaps the leading firm of lawyers in New York City at that time, one of his partners being George Schurman, a brilliant lawyer and brother of Jacob Gould Schurman, then president of Cornell University and later United States Minister to Greece and China and then Ambassador to Germany. He is now a resident of New York City and quite active at 86.

Dr. Schurman held a professorship at Acadia College before going to the U.S.A. The Schurman brothers were born in Prince Edward Island and grew up there. George Schurman (who died ten years ago) married a daughter of Cape Breton who went to New York seeking his fortune and became a successful publisher. He gave large sums toward the endowment funds of Dalhousie University.

A daughter of George Schurman is the wife of Gavin Miller, M.D., of Westmount.

Another native of Cape Breton, Duncan Buchanan was the right-hand man of George Munroe, and the husband of my aunt, Isabelle Ross. Their three daughters taught in the schools of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Henry Ford does not believe in halfway measures. He is a stubborn person (perhaps determined is a better word) otherwise there would not have been the Ford car and the huge automobile industry throughout the world.

The union shop clause, covering 120,000 Ford employees is something the United Automobile Workers of America did not secure in the agreements which they negotiated with General Motors and Chrysler, the other two of the "big three." It is thought by some that Ford is going his competitors one better after being convinced they were trying to embarrass him with their labor policies. Others believe that the falling off of sales of Ford cars to workers in all industries (because of the refusal, until now, to agree to collective bargaining) had much to do with Mr. Ford's change of mind.

Fellows who drive fast past schools are likely to be those who were slow getting through them.

An expert on conventions states that doctors and dentists are the biggest spenders and that lawyers can be a bit generous on and Discipline. Chapter VIII discusses Offences. Chapter IX discusses the more important Orders-in-Council relevant to this subject.

The congregations of Calvary United and First Baptist Churches will again worship in Calvary United Church, Dorchester St., at Greene Avenue, Westmount, with Rev. Dr. T. W. Jones as the preacher.

At the morning service he will speak on the theme, "Symbols of Victory." Long ago Constantine claimed that he saw a symbol in the sky, a flaming Cross, and heard the challenging call "In this sign conquer." Today, in the carrying forward of our crusade for Freedom, the symbol of a glowing "V" for Victory is being used. What are the lessons for us in these symbols?

At the evening service Capt. Jones will continue the series of sermons inaugurated last Sunday. This week the application to life of the military challenge, "Raise Your Right" is through the Church life and work. Last week we considered the stirring call to personal life and service, this week we go a step further and study the relationship of this call through the Church and its many avenues of work and service. Visitors to the city will be most cordially welcome to worship in this friendly Church.

The Vision of the Ideal guards monotony of work from becoming monotony of life.—Westcott.

Roosevelts' "Pot O' Gold" At Empress On Saturday

Fun and laughter, music and dancing, romance and youth are delightfully blended in James Roosevelt's first Hollywood offering, "Pot O' Gold," a tuneful and melodious comedy with music, which will commence Saturday at the Empress Theatre through United Artists release. Brilliantly directed by George Marshall, "Pot O' Gold" has a great acting cast headed by James Stewart and Paulette Goddard and featuring the famous music of Horace Heidt and his Musical Knights.

"Pot O' Gold" unwinds a story packed with humor and excitement and interspersed with gay and light-hearted musical and dancing sequences. Its plot revolves around the fortunes of an impecunious dance band who practice their program on the rooftop of a down-at-the-heels boarding house. Paulette Goddard turns in one of her finest performances to date as the comely boarding house lass, and Jimmy Stewart's portrayal of an im-provident music store proprietor who becomes mixed-up in the doings of the boarding house is top-notch. Charles Winninger, who heads the cast of supporting players, appears in the comic role of Jimmy's wealthy uncle who manufactures vitaminized foods and advertises them on the radio in an extremely anemic program.

Spectacular dancing The spectacular dance numbers in "Pot O' Gold" were staged by Larry Ceballos and involve 16 rumba dancing couples, a 12 piece rumba band and Horace Heidt's 30-piece band. Paulette Goddard sings and dances in the colorful "Broadway Caballero" number, built around the song of that name, which is one of several specially composed for "Pot O' Gold."

Added Attraction "Bowery Boy," a new Republic drama, the added attraction, utilizes the strongest elements of drama, weaving them into a screenplay which will be long remembered in the hearts of those who are privileged to witness it.

Jimmy Lydon, who made such an outstanding hit in "Tom Brown's Schooldays," scores at "Sock." Dolan, tough sixteen year old product of the Bowery. He is the leader of a gang of street hoodlums who earn their living by staging street fights or the purpose of stripping by-nders of pocket-book or watch. Sock's one aversion is doctors, believing his mother's untimely death was caused by their incompetence. His only soft spot is his love for Scrubby, his six year old brother, who lies dying in a dirty tenement attic, guarded from the approach of medical assistance.

To the Bowery comes young Dr. Tom O'Hara, played most effectively by Dennis O'Keefe. With his profound understanding of the boy, he overcomes Sock's resistance and proves to him that the forces of law and order are his friends, not his enemies.

Dr. Hrdlicka tossed into the ash can the popular idea that great intellects are housed in weak bodies.

"In most respects," he said, "the academicians fall well within the normal standards of the prosperous, well-educated element of the American population."

He added that his study of the 150 foremost intellects of the nation, "disposes finally also of the old 'high brow' belief."

"The ratio of high and low brows among members of the Academy was almost precisely the same as among the population at large of at least three generations of American ancestry."

And it's a lot of nonsense about sloping foreheads indicating mental inferiority.

There is considerable evidence that the skulls of the great scholars also are thinner, thus giving considerably more room for the brain inside."

Dr. Arthur H. Compton, famed University of Chicago physicist and Nobel prize winner, said at a convocation at the University of Tampa that science was not responsible for the present war. He called science the most certain hope of an ultimate and lasting peace. He added: "Men who bring war to modern society are the chief enemies of mankind. They are a poison to society." He held out a faith in a more brotherly society, and said Christianity's teachings on man's spiritual obligations would ultimately find expression in human systems and institutions.

A company with substantial capital has been formed in the Mysore state for the manufacture of motorcars. According to present plans, cars manufactured by this company should be on sale in India before the close of 1941.

In a new book Diplomacy and God the author stated: "God is ready to do his ninety-nine per cent if we will do our one per cent. We merely have to choose the way of God." Or as Kagawa the Japanese Christian puts it "Christianize our economics."

Calvary Church NOTES The congregations of Calvary United and First Baptist Churches will again worship in Calvary United Church, Dorchester St., at Greene Avenue, Westmount, with Rev. Dr. T. W. Jones as the preacher.

At the morning service he will speak on the theme, "Symbols of Victory." Long ago Constantine claimed that he saw a symbol in the sky, a flaming Cross, and heard the challenging call "In this sign conquer." Today, in the carrying forward of our crusade for Freedom, the symbol of a glowing "V" for Victory is being used. What are the lessons for us in these symbols?

At the evening service Capt. Jones will continue the series of sermons inaugurated last Sunday. This week the application to life of the military challenge, "Raise Your Right" is through the Church life and work. Last week we considered the stirring call to personal life and service, this week we go a step further and study the relationship of this call through the Church and its many avenues of work and service. Visitors to the city will be most cordially welcome to worship in this friendly Church.

SAUCY COMEDY NOW AT YORK

Bennett, Tone Star in "She Knew All the Answers"

One of the sauciest, most amusing comedies of the season, Columbia's "She Knew All the Answers" opened yesterday at the York United Theatre, playing until Friday night, with Joan Bennett and Franchot Tone heading a distinguished, laughter-winning cast. "She Knew All the Answers" is an outrageously fun-filled farce, which left its audiences chortling gleefully long after the closing scenes had been flashed upon the screen.

she knows is promptly revealed—she upsets the entire office, irritates her employers, destroys the equanimity of Wall Street, loses and makes a fortune for Tone—and all in her desperate and delightful efforts to "make good."

In the process of making good, in order to win Tone's approval to her marriage, Miss Bennett also succeeds in upsetting Tone's dignity to such an extent that he emerges as a more-than-likable human being.

Closing sequences of "She Knew All the Answers" strike a new, and engaging, high in hilarity. Wallace has effectively contrived to present not only the principals but their alter egos—their consciences—in happy conflict.

FILM ON LISBON AT WESTMOUNT

Exciting Story of Refugee City Packed With Thrills

"One Night in Lisbon" is the first big laugh to be smuggled out of war-torn Europe.

For today Lisbon has become the most exciting, most romantic city in all the world. With its crowded refugees who range from Kings to beggars all seeking this last port of escape, "One Night in Lisbon," which made its bow at the Westmount United Theatre last night, playing until Saturday night, caught all of the European capitol's magical spell and colorful background.

But that's not all. For Edward H. Griffith, veteran producer-director, managed to capture the lighter side of the war, an accomplishment that is nothing short of genius. In an intriguing story filled with spies, espionage and sabotage agents, mystery and thrilling suspense, Griffith masterfully has turned drama into rollicking comedy with the aid of talented Madeleine Carroll and fun-loving Fred MacMurray.

Setting a fast pace, the film opens with air raid warnings in blacked-out London. Fred MacMurray, Yankee pilot who ferries bombers across the Atlantic to the RAF, ducks into a nearby air-raid shelter, sees beautiful Madeleine Carroll and it's love at first sight—for him. This starts his mad chase after the blond jewel which finally winds up in Lisbon where the girl of his dreams is kidnapped by German agents before his very eyes.

Through a series of melodramatic episodes, highlighted by gay comedy, the hero, with the aid of British Navy officer John Loder who also loves the evasive Madeleine, crashes an underground spy chamber in Lisbon and saves the girl. When the proud beauty glides into the waiting arms of the "wild American," Loder supplies the film's classical punch line. "Nothing is more important than that England and America hold fast to each other." That Fred and Madeleine do can be attested to by any referee—that is, he can keep from looking into the soulful eyes of filmland's most gorgeous blonde while she's engaged in a clinch.

actors, Walter Rilla, Kim Peacock and Robert Newton. Its locale is an unnamed and quiet little Mediterranean port that harbors a French, a German, and a Russian battleship. The captains of all three battleships are ordered by the port authorities to join hands in capturing a mystery ship anchored out in the harbor. This ship, operated by a combine, hopes to sell its deadly cargo of aniline dye for war purposes. On board is Mr. Martin, the head of this group and not altogether sane. The crew is composed of former criminals.

Martin and his cargo of criminals and poison gas are overtaken by the destroyer but Martin refuses to surrender. Maddened at his scheme going wrong, he pours his dreaded cargo into the sea and the deadly gas, in great clouds, billows over the water. The cloud is rapidly fanned into tremendous dimensions by a strong wind.

What happens when it is necessary to rescue the passengers on a liner caught in the path of the fast-moving cloud, makes one of the most wildly dramatic situations ever to be shown on a movie screen.

"Dangerous Cargo" Held As Most Unusual Film

If Hollywood's Motion Picture Academy awarded an Oscar for the most original plot of the year, the prize would go to "Dangerous Cargo," an amazing motion picture distributed by Film Alliance of the United States, Inc., which opens at the Snowdon United Theatre on Sunday playing for one week.

In these days when producers frantically absorb every book, play, and story in a world of entertainment where most of the original ideas were used up years ago, this picture is particularly outstanding. And not only is its plot original and different, but the villain of the piece is a horrible menacing and monstrous gas cloud which threatens to snuff out the lives of thousands of humans.

"Dangerous Cargo" stars three of moviedom's most promising

"ZIEGFELD GIRL"

Lana Turner, Hedy Lamarr and Judy Garland are the feminine stars of the film "Ziegfeld Girl," which opens at the York United Theatre on Saturday playing until Tuesday night.

"Great Broadcast" Now At Monkland Called Smash Hit

That thrill you got the first time you heard a melody come out of the earphones of your crystal set twenty years ago will be amplified a dozen times by the thrill you'll get reliving that experience with Alice Faye, John Payne, Jack Oakie, and Cesar Romero in their 20th Century-Fox film, "The Great American Broadcast," which is now playing at the Monkland United Theatre until Saturday night.

Just as "Tin Pan Alley" took you behind-the-scenes of the song writing business, so will "The Great American Broadcast" inflame you into the gay, tuneful story of the courageous, talented people who first filled the airwaves with song and laughter. It's an intensely moving story that's told—the tale of the engrossing farsome unfolded to the accompaniment of songs, laughter, and specialty numbers which combine to make "The Great American Broadcast" an outstanding film.

With Alice singing Mack Gordon's and Harry Warren's hit tunes, "Long Ago Last Night," "I Take To You," "Run Little Run Drop, Run," "I've Got A Bone To Pick With You," "The Great American Broadcast," "Where Are You?" and "It's All In A Lifetime"; with the sensational dance routines of the famed Nicholas Brothers; the inimitable comedy turns of The Wiers Brothers; and the unforgettable renditions of Radio's own, The Four Inkspots, "The Great American Broadcast" hits new entertainment heights.

2nd Maritime Tour By Motor Coach

The recent motor coach tour to the Maritimes, which was arranged by the Tobin's Travel Bureau, and personally conducted by Mrs. H. B. Pope, was such a success in every way that, owing to demand for this sort of holiday trip, a second party is being planned. The tour will leave Montreal on Saturday morning, August 16th, for sixteen days, and will visit Quebec, Edmundton, Fredericton, Saint John, Digby, Annapolis Royal, Wolfville, Halifax, Bridgewater, White Point Beach, and Yarmouth, returning to Montreal, August 31st.

There are so many interesting and historic places to see, including the newly opened Champlain Habitation at Annapolis Royal. This was where the first "Order of Good Cheer" was started by Champlain, and it is still in existence. There are many opportunities for sea bathing, and many lovely drives through the Evangeline country and the Valley.

Comfortable motor coaches are used, and stopovers are made each evening at the best hotels. It will be necessary to make reservations at once for the party as it is, as usual limited and exclusive. It will be personally conducted by Mrs. H. B. Pope.

Mrs. A. R. Duffield, 26 Sunny-side, Westmount, and her small son are spending the summer at Lake Echo.

Mrs. C. D. Harrington, 24 Ramezay road, Westmount, has returned from her cottage at Metis Beach, where she has spent the past month, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Fred Cowie, of Toronto, and her baby, who have been her guests.

Last Saturday a very pleasant tea party was arranged in honor of the coming of age of Madeline Willis, 4145 Dorchester street west, who is well known as a dancer in the T.N.T. concert party and St. Stephen's Players. The table was very artistically arranged with flowers and a cake bearing the traditional candles. Queen's Canadian ...

pleasure that the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims has now reached the magnificent total of $500,000.

"This is further striking evidence of wonderful generosity on the part of the people of Canada. The raids by enemy air forces on crowded cities have wrought destruction and suffering to thousands of men, women and children; but the prompt, practical help that my fund is able to give is only made possible by such gifts as you send me.

"I visit all parts of London and hear everywhere magnificent stories of courage and uncomplaining endurance. It is your interest, your love, your generous help which has inspired so many with fresh confidence and hope.

"In their name I thank you and all those associated in any way with your fund. The need will continue as we face the practical certainty of more and heavier bombing."

While the Lord Mayor's stirring words brought London's message to the crowd of spectators, Montrealers themselves underwent a mock air raid, and by means of a recording made during an actual raid on London heard for the first time the wail of the sirens and the whine of planes and screaming bombs.

Londoners' Courage
The central feature of the demonstration was the battered mobile tea canteen, the "Iron Duke," veteran of 30 bombing attacks in months of front-line service, and now touring the Dominion on behalf of The Queen's Fund.

Following closely on the wailing of the sirens and the arrival of C. P. C. men, fire parties and first-aid squads, the "Duke" drew cheers from the crowd as it drew up in the centre of Montreal's Phillips Square, where the smoke of "bombs" still hung in the air and the activity of firemen and C.P.C. Wdrns lent a realistic tone to the city's war demonstration.

As the "raid" drew to a close, and before the crowd thronged round the "Duke" to see at close quarters this scarred relic of Britain's greatest trial, M. Roger Outmet, Vice-Chairman of The Queen's Canadian Fund, praised in moving terms the staunchness and the courage of the British people, so strikingly symbolized by this veteran from their midst.

EVERYTHING CONSIDERED

BY GERALDINE BRIETZCKE

One is inclined to become Barrie-esque or A. A. Milne-ish when speculating about some of the buttons one sees. Who designs these horrors? Does a special artist live on the premises of the button factory, an opium pipe to hand, and then upon waking hasten to give solid form to his nightmares before the impressions fade? And do dress manufacturers just practise the "eeenie-meenie-minnie-mo" system when deciding which dresses to put the buttons on?

Buttons are so important. They can make or mar a dress, and too often they mar it. If you've taken all the trouble to make an outfit, take enough time to choose the buttons for it with care. As an aside to those people who are too rushed to do any dressmaking, may I say that you'd be surprised at the difference good solid buttons make to the appearance of an inexpensive little frock. It only takes a few minutes to sew them on, but oh, the satisfaction you'll have out of that brief job in after days.

It's the combination and arrangement of trimming that counts. You can get lovely-looking by the yard, and attractive zippers by the inch, to make your creations distinctive, but remember that they won't be distinctive unless you plan and experiment and ponder over the placing and colors just as though you were painting a picture. For once the foundation of the dress is completed, you can use your imagination about the doo-dads.

Talking about imagination, original appliqué work is fun to do and nice to look at. You don't have to trim your dress with conventional designs by any means. How scarlet fish appliques on the pocket of a snowy white linen frock—or cool green leaves; or little rust color foxes trotting around the belt of a beige dress? You can supplement the cloth figures with simple embroidery in matching or contrasting colors.

There's no limit to the ideas possible, and a little practise makes perfect. You soon learn to shape the appliqué pieces deftly, and can more or less "sculpt" them as you go along. Some people like bold and obvious stitching around the edges of the material applied as ornament, and others prefer tiny hidden sewing, contending that heavy stitches detract from the artistic effect.

While we're on the subject —

although this is no weather to be discussing winter clothes — felt flowers look pretty on the pockets of flannel dresses. We've all seen those embroidered, beflowered belts, and very nice they are; but they look twice as attractive if some dressing note elsewhere on the dress "ties up" with the belt. Simple, almost childish flower outlines can be traced on felt, and when the bright little blossoms are scattered with careless art on the neckline or pockets of the dress, they look really lovely.

Scene: A pretty house wedding, with guests drifting pleasantly about, and rooms full of flowers, and congratulations sounding here and there over the chicken salad.

Dramatis personae: The bridegroom, and a distinguished looking white haired gentleman in morning coat, who is about to lend the bridal couple his country cottage for the honeymoon. Gentleman approaches groom, speaks earnestly to him. It makes a nice little picture. We overhear his remarks, however. "... A family of skunks under the side of the house," he says, "but they won't bother you."

England still carries on, and even has time to create pretty things, and export them. One of the quaintest creatures to make the Atlantic crossing is a little white china cat, very prim, sprinkled with dainty pink and blue flowers. Her eyes are two blue forget-me-nots, her nose is a pink dab, and roses run riot over her plump back. Despite her English origin, we can't help calling her Flowerpuss.

Many Beautiful Spots In Eastern Townships

Geographically, the Eastern Townships comprise that district over the St. Lawrence and the counties on the St. Francis River. Historically, they are those townships settled by United Loyalists after the war of 1776.

The fascinating district of St. Johns is reached by a short railway journey south from Montreal over the Richelieu River, rich in traditions of New France. Port Lennox, the old forts of St. Johns, Chambly and Fort Montgomery recall those wars waged by British and French for possession of these fertile fields. St. Johns, less than half an hour's ride from Montreal, has long been popular as a site for summer homes, and among its attractions are a golf course, polo field, military school and yacht club.

At Foster two branches of the railway leave the main line, and at Drummondville is the Manoir Drummond (a modern hotel) and an excellent golf course. On the shores of Brome Lake, a beautiful sheet of water, an excellent motor road leads for miles past well kept lawns and gardens. To Knowlton at one end of the lake, summer vacationists come year after year attracted by its beauty and fine golf and boating clubs. Here are the grounds and the buildings of the Knowlton Conference Association which combines recreation with religious instruction. South it is only five miles to the lofty Green Mountains over a charming bit of road lined with magnificent maple trees and through Bolton's Pass.

Continuing east one passes Orford Lake at the foot of Orford Mountain, a bewildering mass that lifts 2,860 feet of rock above the rolling hills. Shortly past Orford Lake, Memphremagog glitters into view, with Magog on its upper end in Canada and Newport at its lower end in Vermont.

American Girls Help Nick's Banff Red Cross Appeal

Anne and Marjory McLeod, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Colin Gordon McLeod of Prevedence, R.L. solicited by "Nick," the Red Cross Dog of Banff in the Canadian Rockies, give their silver coins to the cause.

Proudly wearing a Red Cross medal on his upper harness, this pedigreed Alsatian has so far collected over $400 from tourists on Canadian Pacific trains during the 10-minute stop in Banff. A Banff tradesman, "Ed Evans, is Nick's master, and he can bring the dog down only on Sundays, having his own livin, to get during the week; but he is sure that Nick will pass the thousand-dollar mark by autumn.

Nick "speaks" a lively thanks for every contribution. He was fooled only once, when he waited in vain for a click from a folded $20 bill deposited by a New York lady; but when he saw his master's beaming face he burst into a speech of record length and enthusiasm. The New York lady then promised to repeat the operation when she leaves Banff in the fall.

Laurentians Offer Much To Vacationists

The province of Quebec is France transplanted to the new world, an ancient Gallic stronghold that has retained the traditions and customs brought from the mother country three centuries ago by the forefathers of the present French speaking inhabitants. Here in the countryside and in the city, the old and new blend in artless beauty. English speaking folk live side by side with neighbors who speak no other language than that of French. The twin capitals of this amicable land are the quiet cities of Montreal and Quebec, enthralling interesting in themselves, and the gateways to the marvelous playgrounds that surround them on all sides.

Up in the mighty Laurentian Mountains, following the Riviere Du Nord, the railway line climbs steadily past little Ste. Adele, sitting prettily, high up on the mountainside and reaches St.

Marguerite, one of the most popular of the resorts in this veritable paradise.

Here is to be found one of the splendid hotels, good boarding, most picturesque of golf courses, houses, beautiful Lake Masson, fishing, bathing, boating, golf, tennis, riding and many delightful walks and drives through superb scenery.

Val Morin, which lies just four miles past St. Marguerite is another of the Laurentians' popular summer centres. Here is to be found everything that the vacationist can possibly desire. A wide choice of hotels and boarding houses are to be found in this neighborhood.

In Quebec City itself, this city of the up hill and down dale, it is the unexpected that is always meeting you around the corner. Its inhabitants will tell you that their city is the most beautiful in the world, not at all boastfully but with that assurance that comes from implicit belief. Perched on Cape Diamond, over which it spreads in unplanned grace, and commanding superb view of the St. Lawrence River flowing down to the sea in all its majesty, its claim to being one of

Trainees Assigned To Coast Defence

From the 4,840 trainees completing the first four-month training period under the National Resources Mobilization Act, some 1,600 have been assigned to defence duties on the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. Approximately 800 more are being retained to fill administrative vacancies in training centres and to complete Home War Establishments. Of the remainder many have enlisted in the Active Forces of the Army, Navy or Air Force, a privilege accorded during their training period. Others have received postponement of service where it has been considered in the best national interest that they return to their civilian occupation, or on compassionate grounds.

The new Army which will be known as the Canadian Active Army on Home Defence will have the same status as other members of the Active Army except that they cannot be called on for duty outside of Canada or its territorial waters.

After two months' service these soldiers will be eligible for two weeks' furlough, the same as applies to enlisted men who have completed six months in the army.

A new 64-passenger, 300 mile-an-hour civil transport is promised from the Lockheed Aircraft plant in Burbank, Calif., next spring. This super stratoliner, designed by Howard Hughes and Jack Frye, President of Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., has been tentatively named the "Constellation," and although 40 of the planes are on order for TWA, the Priorities Board in the U.S. has authorized construction to proceed on only three of the big ships. However, so useful would such craft be in a time of emergency, permission doubtless will be given for building more of them at the earliest possible moment.

Frye has revealed that the plane has four 2,500 h.p. Wright engines; a capacity as a luxurious passenger transport of 64 persons, including a crew of seven, or a capacity as a cargo plane of over 16 tons net load; a top speed of 350 miles per hour, or 100 m.p.h. faster than any other transport plane, including the famous Boeing Stratoliners; a range of over 4,000 miles and supercharged cabin and engines permitting operations up to 30,000 feet with low altitude comforts.

The 2,500 h.p. engines to be used are the most powerful yet fitted on any American-built aircraft, says Commercial Aviation. They will be 18-cylinder Wright Cyclones. And the supercharging features will maintain atmospheric conditions in the cabin of from 8,000 to 12,000 foot levels while the plane is cruising between 25,000 and 30,000 feet. The cabin supercharger, which will begin functioning immediately upon take-off, will provide sea level pressure for passengers up to above 10,000 feet.

A fleet of 40 of these planes could be very useful in military service in an emergency. Frye points out, for they could transport 16,000 troops to Alaska in 36 hours, 12,000 men to the Canal Zone in 36 hours, or they could fly a round trip between Boston and Bristol, England, in 24 hours.

STALKING ENEMY BOMBERS AT NIGHT
Night fighter pilots have been greatly heartened by the introduction of the new secret devices to help them locate enemy planes, for now the boys no longer feel that "they are chasing a wasp in a dark room" as one of them described their efforts before they had help from the radio locators and other aids. They know where to look for the "wasps" now, and by dieting, by wearing dark glasses while waiting in the pilot's room for the call to action (the glasses are necessary because it takes about 45 minutes for the human eye to adjust itself fully to night vision), and by keeping extremely fit and well rested these pilots are accomplishing wonders in "knocking down" enemy bombers during the hours of darkness.

"We can," says Flight, "by secret means, tell our fighters where the enemy is, and it is then up to him to make the final visual contact. Bristol Beaufighters (the newest twin-engined day and night interceptors) Hurricanes and Boulton Paul Defiants, all take their specialized share of the nightly operations. Patrols or individual machines may start an interception over, say, Birmingham, and yet do the actual killing over the Continent. Long range is a necessity. A quick manoeuvre on the part of the quarry means a further patient search to establish contact once more. It is therefore essential that the first burst of fire shall be the killing burst. Day fighting Spitfires also perform on moonlight nights.

"Another phase of night-fighting, which is very successful is the employment of Douglas Havocs (DBTs or Bostons modified for night fighting) over enemy aerodromes on the Continent. Here they fly around waiting for German bombers to take off or land. Usually the attacks are made at such a height that parachutes cannot be used, and the German crews are eliminated just as certainly as if they were shot down over England."

SCANNING THE BUSY SKYWAYS
Malton airport a Toronto is now one of the busiest airline terminals in the Dominion. Two 21-passenger American Airlines Douglas DCs are used on the recently inaugurated Toronto-New York schedule, which is being handled jointly by American and T.C.A. Lines. So e of the daily scheduled airline departures from Malton are, three to New York via Buffalo by American's DCs and three to New York non-stop, five to Montreal and two westbound transcontinentals.

At our own local airport the other day a Douglas B-18 landed with three colonels aboard, from Wright Field, Dayton, O. This twin-engined army bomber, a development of the Douglas DC2 transport, has a speed of about 225 m.p.h., internal bomb stowage, and gun positions in the nose and above and below the fuselage aft of the wings. Ralph P. Bell, Director of Aircraft Production, met the visitors and later the party made a tour of the Noorduyn Aviation plants at Longue Pointe and Cartierville.

Canadian Colonial Airways are now using DCs exclusively on their services. The Douglas DCs, formerly on C.C.A. runs, were transferred to the R.A.F. months ago, converted into either military transports or bombers, and are carrying on in English skies.

And now here are one or two personal items about airline folk: Jack Robinson, popular T.C.A. Traffic Representative, claims that being around two-motored jobs so much was the cause of his wife having twins. Two lovely baby girls have been added to the Robinson family.

Lt. Jack Anderson, former manager of Canadian Colonial Airways in Montreal, is with his regiment the 17th Duke of York's Royal Canadian Hussars in England. C.C.A. lost another member of its personnel the other day when one of their charming stewardesses married a handsome young man. She is still one of the airline folk, though, for her husband pilots planes to England.

Donald Duffy was in Montreal recently seeking, as he described it, "just the right man" to represent his Montreal - Boston Northeastern Airlines here. He predicts a sharply upward rise in traffic between Montreal and New England and his line is preparing to handle the business.

And "Job" Dempsey, T.C.A. was the centre of "action" at a recent "stag" held at the Mount Royal Hotel in honour of his approaching "take off" to the high altitudes of matrimony. Remarkable was the fact that while the entire Montreal airline industry was represented there was hardly a man present over 30. They are all "youngsters" even if veterans of the airline business.

Struggling Fatal To Victim of Bog

The director of Soil Mechanics Laboratory, Cooper Union, in New York, gives the following advice: If you ever have the misfortune to fall into quicksand, don't get panicky and thrash around. If you keep quiet, allow yourself to go down feet first, and keep your arms outstretched, you will soon find yourself resting at a depth just below your armpits.

You stop sinking, when your weight equals that of the quicksand you displace. As a matter of fact, quicksand will support you twice as easily as water. Quicksand is no particular type of material. Instead, it is a condition possible in granular soils where flowing water exists. The weight of the solid particles is balanced by the water pressure.

the most picturesque cities in Canada will be contested by none. Half of its charm is its citizens. They are intensely lovable, these French Canadians and intensely proud of their traditions and the part, played by their ancestors in the finding and building up of the North American continent.

Keen Rivalry As Westmount League Nears Playdown

SWANS GET PLAY-OFF BERTH AS ROYALS BEAT GRADS 10-3 IN FINAL SOFTBALL SERIES

League Rivalry Flares Anew As Winners Bid For League Pennant — Dodgers Surge Into Second Place But Are Whipped by Swans — Schedule Nearly Over

The last two scheduled games in the Senior Municipal Softball League which were played on Monday evening saw the Royals beat the Grads 10-3 and the Swans take a 9-4 decision from the Dodgers. These results brought about a third place tie for the last play-off berth between the Swans and the Grads. The Swans who have been playing the later part of the season with only a "mathematical chance" of making the play-off circle, saw that chance turn into a certainty when the Royals caught the Grads without a first class hurler, Stan Morgan, an infielder being forced to go into the box. At the same time the Swans got to Bill Leonard, on the mound for the Dodgers, for five runs in the second inning, enough to carry them through to a 9-4 win.

The Swans and Grads met Wednesday night in a sudden death game with the winner to hook up with the second place Dodgers tomorrow night in the first game of a two out of three series. The second game is scheduled for Monday night with the third if necessary on Wednesday. In the event no third game is necessary, the winner of the series will then meet the first place Royals in the first game of a three-out-of-five game series for the championship on Wednesday evening.

The Swans-Dodgers game was the better of the two on Monday night. The Dodgers took a two run lead in the first frame when Pee Wee Read led off with a home run, Hutchison got to first base on a dropped third strike and scored while the Swans' infield were manufacturing a double-play. The Swans counted five times in their half of the second inning, five hits including doubles by Jack Coleman and Bill Booth, accounted for the tallies. The Dodgers picked up two more tallies in the fifth inning to make the game close, but the Swans counted twice in each of the sixth and seventh innings to salt away the game. The last two runs were accounted for by Jimmie Haggerty, who banged out a home run with Rollie Loftus on base. Haggerty pitched a good game for the winners, striking out six men. Art Mann and Donnie Mann got two hits apiece for the Dodgers, while Jack Coleman, Emmett Cloran, Bill Booth and Norm Harris did likewise for the Swans.

The Royals-Grads game was an easy win for the league leaders, scoring ten runs in the first three innings, the Royals were never in danger. Connie Tudin on the mound for the winners fanned thirteen men and only allowed five hits. Tommie Brennan led the winner's batting attack with three hits in three official times at bat, Brennan getting a walk in his other appearance at the plate. Two of Brennan's hits were for extra bases, one double and a triple. Johnnie Mahaffey knocked out his sixth home-run of the year, thus tying Buddie Dixon his teammate for the home-run honours. Garry Poo was the only Grad player who could fathom Tudin's deliveries, getting two of the loser's hits.

These two games bring the forty game schedule to a close. The final standing sees the Royals in first place, two games ahead of the Dodgers. The Swans and Grads are tied for third. In view of the keen rivalry between the two teams and the class of the ball played by the clubs, two paid umpires are being used in all play-off games.

Junior Football Group Held Montreal Need

Suggestion for a junior league football group to include Westmount, Montreal and district is gathering momentum on the island. The plan is to be moulded after the "big four" pattern, with N.D.G. covering the West end, a central team in Westmount which will include Montreal, St. Dominicks to cover the East end, Rockland to cover Montreal North, a team from the Town of Mount Royal, and a representative team from Verdun.

The well known sportsman, Pat Lynch, is an enthusiastic supporter of the project, and his interest in the younger folk athletic endeavor needs no mention here. 'Pat' will always "go to bat" for the younger element and his chief interest lies in the Westmount locality.

Glen Brown, noted football enthusiast and ace rugby player in his own right, is aiding in forming this league and can be located at 5485 Terrebonne Avenue by those interested.

PANTHERS TOP SEASON LEAGUE AT WESTMOUNT

Steve Galley and Bob Woodburn Prove Better Team Royals

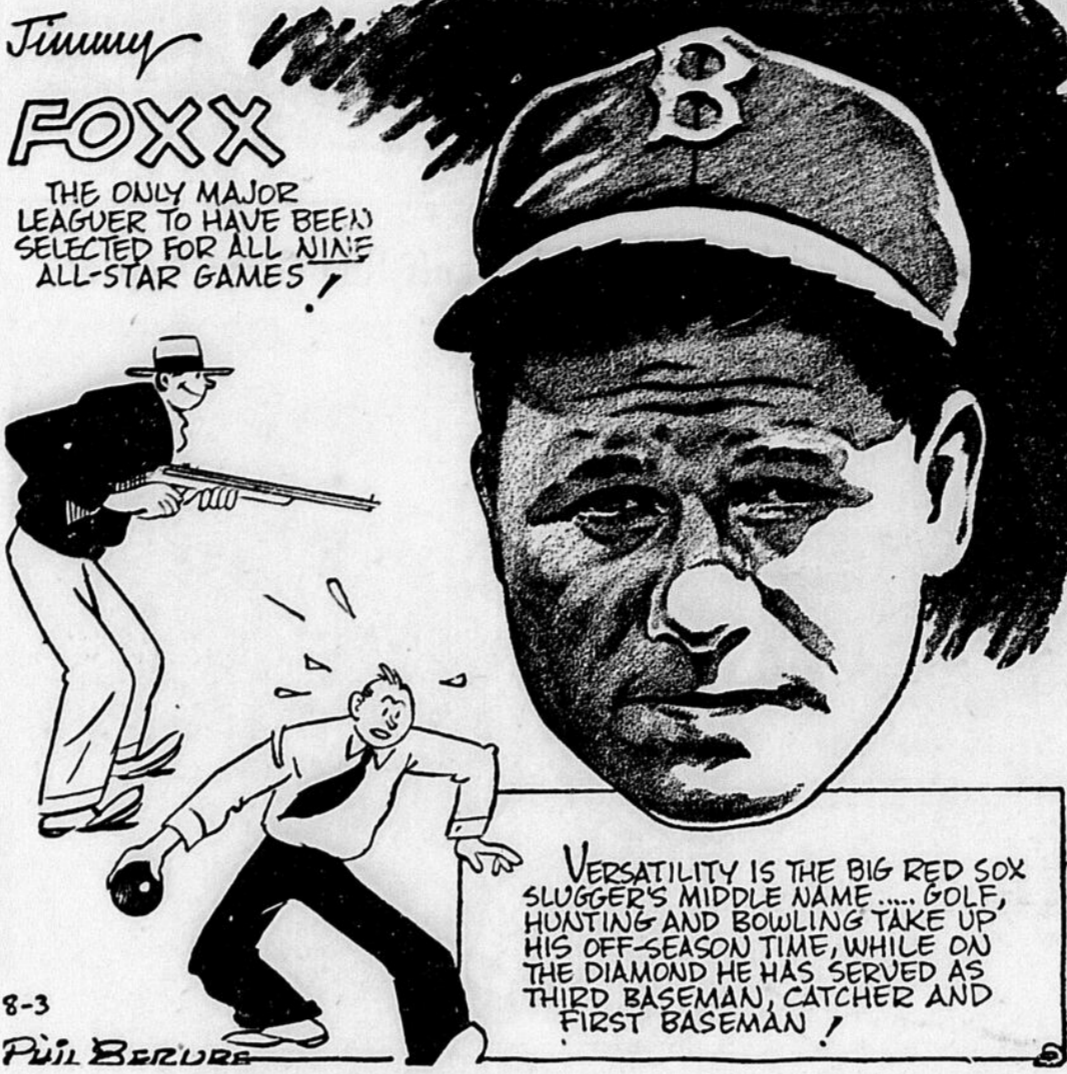

The Panthers have taken a four-point lead over the Royals in the Summer League at Westmount Park. The Panthers led by Steve Galley and Bob Woodburn have proven to be a better team than John Gutelius' Royals during the past week. An all-star team from the boys in the Summer League have split two exhibition softball games with a team from Stagnor. The Westmount Park team won the first game 23-20 by virtue of a four-run rally in the ninth inning. Craig Millward, John Gutelius and Steve Galley were the best hitters for the winners, each getting three hits. Steve Galley hit a home-run. Noel Fournier was the heavy hitter for the losers with three hits. In the second game Fred Jones' pitching was too good for the Westmount Park team. George McGlanders, John Gutelius and Roger Lamb banged out two hits apiece while Ken Brambell led the Stagnor team with three hits including a home-run.

The lists are now up for entries in a boys' tennis tournament. This tournament is for boys under 14 years of age and no entry fee is charged.

Three sailboat races were held on Saturday afternoon in King George Park. In evidence of the closeness of the events, the three races were all won by different boats. The Hull brothers, Robert and Ronald, accounted for two of the races with Robert Mathew taking the third. The same three boys took a second place apiece but Richard Bennett edged Robert H-11 from the picture, when he captured a third place ribbon alongside of Ronald Hull and Robert Mathew. More races will be held this Saturday afternoon.

Fly Casters Hold Match

The Fly Casters held another successful evening's competition on Tuesday at the pond in Westmount Park. Two classes "A" and "B" were contested, while a contest for the ladies was also held. Mr. Morrill captured the honors in Class "A" with a good score of ten for the ten casts. This is a very good score when it is recognized that an absolutely perfect score would be zero for the casts. Mr. B. Clarke, winner of last week's events was forced to be content with runner-up position this week, with a 13. The Class "B" event was taken by Mr. B. Carter with a very creditable score of 13 while second place went to Mr. Kodas who tallied a 15. Mrs. Levitan won the ladies event with a score of 25, edging out Miss Halliday by one point, who scored a 26. Winners of the events received War Savings Certificates.

There has been a noticeable improvement in the casting during the past few weeks. The members will be casting at targets stationed at regular tournament distances from now on, as they plan to get used to these distances which will be used in the forthcoming Provincial Championships to be held the first Saturday in September. These distances vary from 40 feet to 80 feet.

Duke Sees Film At Family Meet

There was a family gathering at Rideau Hall recently when the Duke of Kent visited his aunt and uncle, Princess Alice and Lord Athlone, the Governor General.

The private gathering viewed a number of motion pictures during the evening, among which was a special film made up of newsreel material covered by Canadian crews since the Duke's arrival in Canada. Associated Screen News, who maintain camera crews throughout Canada on newsreel coverage, had rushed through a special copy of this film, taken up to the day previous to the showing.

18 Players Contest Putting Tourney

Eighteen players contested the putting tournament on King George Park last Thursday evening. This was the largest entry list to date and it made for keen competition. Mr. R. Wilson-Smith returned to the winner's circle with an 88, three strokes ahead of Charles Holland. Mr. Holland in turn edged out Mr. H. B. Thompson one of the keenest devotees of the game by one stroke. Mr. Thompson carded a 90.

At the present time a round robin tournament is in progress in addition to the weekly event. Keen interest is being shown in the round robin with thirteen entries listed to date. It is not too late to enter this event. Any names put on the list during the next couple of days will be accepted into the competition. The Thursday evening competitions will be held as usual this evening.

PARK CHILDREN START EVENTS IN FINE FETTER

Staynor Park Youngsters Enter Into August Program With Enthusiasm

The children on Staynor Park have entered into their August program with great enthusiasm. The youthful volunteer leaders are handling their groups very successfully and attendance is regular.

Charlie Belanger, despite the fact that he is on crutches, at present, is carrying on with his woodworking class per usual. He now has an assistant, Fred Squires, who has proven his ability. Workers in the group who deserve mention are Buddy Selby and Noel Fournier.

Fred Squires is also directing a croquet tournament in which 15 boys and girls are taking part. The final results are not yet known, but Lloyd Williams is leading so far.

Zita Rasmussen and Betty Fowler have started a group in raffia work, and expect to teach many young people beginner's work in this art.

Patsy Kerr and Beverley Bishop together lead a cork-work group which numbers 15 boys and girls.

In regular handicraft groups such oldtimers as Julia Ann Holden and Marjorie Baker are back from holidays and will undoubtedly have some pieces in the exhibition. Many very young folks are attending the park this season and they are learning to sew by doing sewing-pictures, blanket-stitches, etc. Barbara Squires has just finished a very well done picture.

The girls and boys are planning a Parent's Day to be held in the park some day towards the end of August. Further notice will be given in this paper. It is hoped that all Mothers and any visitors who wish, will attend this day boys in Staynor Park has reached and see the children's work.

The senior softball league for the play-off stage, they will begin this week.

JACK GRAHAM NEARS CENTURY IN RUN TALLY

Royals All Out for Pennant — Team in Great Form

Jack Graham, besides creating a new record for home runs hit by a Montreal player, should drive in well above 100 runs for the 1941 season, if he continues his present clip. The slugging taking the third. The same three boys took a second place apiece but Richard Bennett edged Robert H-11 from the picture, when he captured a third place ribbon alongside of Ronald Hull and Robert Mathew. More races will be held this Saturday afternoon.

Wicker Popular
Kemp Wicker, veteran southpaw who won 18 games for the Royals in 1940, has been a welcome addition to the staff. Wicker is one of the best-liked and most intelligent players who ever played in Montreal, and his hurling is expected to prove highly helpful in the closing weeks of the season as the Royals battle to finish first or second in the International League standings.

The Royals have a busy weekend at the Stadium, with a double-header Saturday afternoon against Syracuse Chiefs, and another twin bill Sunday against the Toronto Maple Leafs. The Chiefs, though in the second division, have proved mighty troublesome to the Royals, and Sukeforth's team hopes to gain revenge in the five-game series which ends with Saturday's twin bill.
