Man injured in Expro fire

A Valleyfield man was seriously burned last Friday in a fire following an explosion at the Expro Chemical plant in St-Timothée.

Just before 5 a.m. on September 10, the explosion took place in a press used to extract gunpowder used in rifle cartridges.

One-time resident gets military medal

A former Franklin Centre resident has received one of Canada's highest honors, a Meritorious Service Medal (military division) for his role in the search and recovery operations following the crash one year ago of Swissair Flight 111.

Chief Petty Officer 2nd Class Kevin Patrick McNamara, M.S.M., C.D., stationed in Halifax, and five other Canadian Forces personnel were the first six divers at the site in the North Atlantic Ocean near Peggy's Cove, NS. after the September 2, 1998 plane crash that killed all 229 passengers and shattered the aircraft into jagged-edged shards of metal.

He and 36 other recipients of Meritorious Service Decorations were honored by Canada's Governor General Roméo LeBlanc and Mrs. Diana Fowler

Rail-line damage — but whodunit?

(Gleaner staff)

Another 20 metres of the disused CN railbed in Godmanchester have been ripped up and levelled, and Transports Québec would like to prosecute whoever is responsible.

The trouble is, the ministry cannot be sure that the owner of the neighboring farm is the person who did the damage, which occurred sometime during August.

Pleased to meet you

Just walking around and chatting is always a big part of Havelock Fair. These youngsters met a new friend in the shape of a donkey, which showed up not to compete but to take in the sights of the fair along with her owner.

4,000 visitors to Havelock Fair help celebrate harvest season

Valerie Furcall
THE GLEANER

More than 4,000 people and a donkey took in Saturday's Havelock Fair. Warm, sunny weather blessed the traditional one-day country show which entertained the whole day through.

The hospitable and relaxed atmosphere has become an annual trademark, as well as the chance to visit, listen to musical entertainment and view everything from giant vegetables to unusual livestock exhibits — this year it was peacocks and alpacas making an entrance.

A nine-month-old spotted donkey touring the grounds could easily have been mistaken for an exhibit when actually owner Ingrid Matthiessen of St-Chrysostome brought "Charlotte" so her pet could "look and learn about the world."

Career Centre hard-hit by Quebec budget mess

Judith Taylor
THE GLEANER

The Quebec government's current mismanagement of its job training budget seems to be having a major effect on enrolments at the Chateauguay Valley Career Centre in Ormstown.

"So far, enrolments in our four vocational sectors are down by 30 per cent," said Centre director Rhonda Ross this week. "While we can't be sure that this is totally due to the current funding problems, it would seem likely that they are discouraging students from enrolling."

Ross said that together, the Office Technology, Landscaping, Home Health Care and Construction Carpentry programs normally attract about 70 students; so far, registrations have come to only just over 50.

Cyclopomme tour safe despite another deficit

(Gleaner staff)

There may be some fiscal pain in the short term, but the long-term outlook is bright for the Haut-St-Laurent's annual Cyclopomme bicycle tour, according to organizers and some of the producers whose orchards were visited by 900 cyclists on August 22.

This year's event, the second since the MRC took over the tour, racked up a $15,000 deficit, due mainly to a shortfall in the number of participants and a lack of major sponsors, MRC mayors were told on September 8.

$630,000 day-care project set for H'don

Judith Taylor
THE GLEANER

Work will get under way this week to create one of the province's most modern child-care facilities right here in Huntingdon.

By early in the new year, when the first phase of the project is complete, the Kaleidoscope Child Care Centre will move part of its operations to a one-time bowling alley on Fairview Road, now being converted into a facility which will eventually have places for 80 pre-school children.

In January, a first group of 41 children will be housed in the new building, while the existing building on King St. continues to operate with another 35 children until the whole project is finished.

New jobs

Eventually, the new facility will include 10 classrooms, a full commercial kitchen, office space, a staff room, and 20,000 square feet of fenced-in play area. A total of 22 people will be employed at the new centre, 12 more than now work at

This and That in Town

LAST WEEKEND'S — great late-summer weather saw good turn-outs for several special events in the area. In fact, there were so many things to do that at least one person busting about at the Havelock Fair complained, "We just can't possibly get to all the things we want to see today!"

SPEAKING OF WEATHER — the Labor Day holiday meant we were a bit behind-hand getting our weather statistics for August from Ormstown's Peter Finlayson, who keeps us posted on matters meteorological.

HE SAYS — one cold snap pulled August's average temperature down to 19.1°C., cooler than last August's 20.1° and also slightly below the norm of 19.6°. The night of August 31 saw the mercury drop to only 5°.

RAINFALL — of 63 mm or 2.5 inches was down from last year's 87 mm, but both are within the normal range. Heat units for August rang in at 719 (last year had 761) to bring our running total to 2,785 at month's end, eight above last year, and far over the normal figure of 2,434 at the same date.

LAST WEEK — some farmers here and in Eastern Ontario were combining soy and even some corn, which is running about two weeks early with a moisture content of 25-30 per cent, Finlayson said.

STARTING SATURDAY — public ice-skating will resume for the season at the Huntingdon Regional Arena, with the following schedule: Tuesdays: 4 - 5 p.m.; Wednesdays: 11:30 a.m. - 1 p.m.; Fridays: 11:30 a.m. - 1 p.m.; Saturdays: 5 - 8:30

She said that some students who came in to register have failed to return after visiting the Emploi-Québec office, while others seem to just be staying home.

Carry on regardless

Other than the Landscaping course, which is scheduled to begin in mid-October, the other three programs have begun for the term. The Office Technology program in particular has been hard-hit.

"We are carrying on normally, and the situation won't affect our teaching staff at all, although we will feel the impact in our per-capita student grants, which in turn will mean cuts in materials and resources," Ross said.

The deficit is modest compared with 1998's $50,000 loss, and the mayors, led by Madeleine Himbeault-Greig of Ormstown and Denis R. Vincent of St-Jean-Chrysostome, voted unanimously to repeat the tour next year.

Said Marie Barrette of the MRC office, "You can't expect an event like this to become profitable in a span of just two years — it's definitely a long-term investment".

Support from producers

About 10 apple producers and operators of businesses in the tourism sector attended the meeting to press the mayors to continue the tour next year.

p.m. Free-time hockey hours are Wednesdays from 1 to 2:30 p.m. For more information, call 264-5205. (VF)

ALSO ON SATURDAY — there will be a Softball and Soccer Tournament sponsored by the Athelstan Community Sports Association. At 10 a.m., there will be T-ball for ages 11 and up, followed at 11 a.m. by softball (10-12 years) and soccer for ages five to seven. At noon, the 7-9 year-olds will play softball, and at 1:30 p.m. there will be softball for 13 years and up, as well as soccer for the 8-11 year-olds. For more information see ad elsewhere.

AT HAVELOCK FAIR — Franklin Women's Institute members reported a busy and successful day at their booth. Winners of the WI drawing were: 1. (Quilt) Kevin Kingsbury; 2. (Afghan) Dorothy Parker; 3. (Groceries) Carolyn Cameron.

NEXT YEAR — the Ayrshire World Conference will be held in the United Kingdom, from June 19 to July 16. Scotland (home of the breed), England and Ireland will all be visited, and various packages will allow people to enjoy many attractions in the British Isles, including historic sites, castles and two of Europe's largest agricultural shows.

FORMAL SESSIONS — will be held June 29 and 30 and July 3, but there will also be the chance to enjoy top-notch accommodations over a longer period in the Highlands. For more information about itineraries and programs, call Alex McCaig at 829-3144.

Farm country tour

A couple of thousand visitors took part in the first edition of Circuit du Paysan on September 11 and 12, sampling agri-food products and farm produce from 30 Southwest Quebec farmers who opened their gates and businesses to the public. Each visitor made an average of four stops each. The project was in collaboration with the Local Development Corporations of Haut-St-Laurent and Jardins-de-Napierville, which published pamphlets promoting the event. (Photo: HT)

JUNIOR RUGBY — was in the spotlight at the end of August when three recent CVR graduates (Mike O'Connor, Nick Sundborg and Jason Aldridge) were named to the Quebec team of players 18 and under for a regional tournament in Fredericton N.B. The trio had played for the Ormstown Saracens, and represented the Valley well at the event, says Virginia Messier. Nova Scotia topped Quebec and New Brunswick in the final standings.

THE SARACENS — will play their final games of the regular season next Saturday at CVR. Both squads will meet the Montreal Wanderers, starting at 1:30 p.m. with the second-team game. First teams play at 3 p.m.

LAST WEEK — the Saracens had a less than successful outing against the Montreal Barbarians, losing both their games by identical 48-8 scores. The second team currently has a won-lost record of 4-9 while the first team has racked up seven victories and six defeats.

COMING UP — next Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 18 and 19, is the annual Roxham Farm Wool-Gathering, one of the Valley's prime craft shows. There is free admission and parking at century-old Roxham Farms located on the road of the same name outside Hemmingford. Hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. both days. (See ad elsewhere.)

A TRAIL RIDE — traditionally the final event of the season for the Chateauguy Valley Horse Club, will be held on Sunday Sept. 19. Riders will gather at the Billy the Kid Ranch on the Ridge Road at 10 a.m. for a fun day in the saddle. For more information call Hugh Wallis (cell. 544-6280) or Tiffany McNaughton (cell. 544-0827).

THE HUNTINGDON LEGION — will start the new season with a general meeting and election of a new second vice-president at 8 p.m. tomorrow evening (Thursday Sept. 16) at the Legion Hall. Candidates for office must have at last one year's experience on the executive committee.

THE OPENING SUPPER — at the Legion will be held Saturday Sept. 18, featuring barbecued ham steak. The Black & White Band will play from 9 p.m. to closing. (Also, members shouldn't forget their membership fees are now due.) (JT)

Secretary Lori Carroll said there were more exhibitors overall, and well-filled classes of quality garden produce, despite the dry summer. Judges were generous in their appraisal of the quality of displays. "The Fair Board gratefully acknowledges the dedication of exhibitors, volunteers and supporters" who made the 128th edition such a success, she said.

MNA André Chenail and Havelock mayor Jeannine Giroux-Lavallée assisted Fair President Norris E. Sample in welcoming visitors to the "Good Ole Days" theme fair.

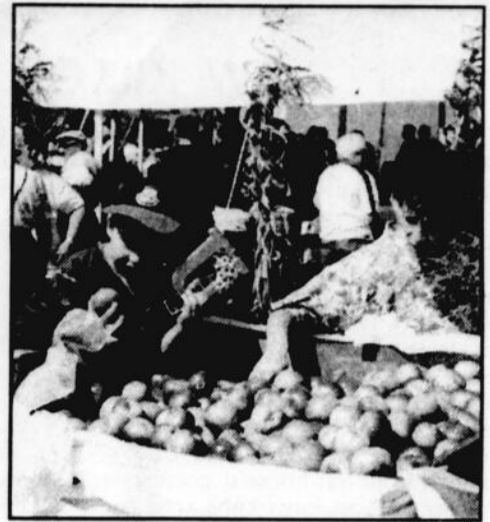

Musical entertainment was provided by local groups such as Sounds of the Valley, the Tannahill Quartet, Franklin Ensemble, the Irish Dancers, Northern Lights Squaredancers, Madrigal Choir, Los Amigos, the Black and White Band and René Foran.

Over 650 people sat down for a mid-day buffet prepared by Restaurant Buffet Dédé; and old favorites, such as the Lacolle Curling Club's games, gymkhana events, business displays, non-profit booths selling homemade goodies were generously patronized.

Most visitors were sympathetic about the "No Dogs Allowed" policy.

Four startled piglets (left) didn't know which way to scatter when they realized a gang of excited contestants were heading their way to try and round 'em up. Havelock hospitality (right) was served up from two bins of fresh-picked apples, offered free to all visitors. (Photos: VF)

"But you can be sure the Sûreté du Québec will be increasing surveillance to prevent any further vandalism," said Joceline Béland of the Chateauguay office of the Transport ministry.

Béland said that under the terms of the July 1998 protocol between the Quebec government and CN Rail, the Transport ministry acquired ownership of, and responsibility for, 14 disused railbeds including part of the Huntingdon/St-Constant line in the Haut-St-Laurent MRC.

The government has pledged to maintain the rail lines and keep them for public use either now or in the future, Béland said.

NEW KID ON THE BLOCK

Last Sunday, the latest publication from The Gleaner/La Source saw the light of day in the region, via the weekly "Publi-sac" door-to-door free delivery system.

"Agri-Vallée", as it is called, is the product of much research, thought and hard work by all of us here at the newspaper. It is designed to reflect the reality of an area where most of the land and many of the people are involved in agriculture, in one form or another.

Its 40-per-cent French, 60-per-cent English editorial content corresponds to the population ratio here, and balances our bilingual weekly paper, which runs at about the opposite split. It is not a competitor, but a worthy partner for The Gleaner.

Plans call for Agri-Vallée to appear every second month, spanning the seasons of the agricultural year. It will give us a long-awaited opportunity to concentrate on news and features of specific interest to the farm population, although we expect the general reader too will find them of interest.

We welcome any story suggestions you may have about rural people you know who are doing interesting things. Innovations, traditions, special events pertaining to farm life and agri-business — all are grist for the Agri-Vallée mill.

As The Gleaner moves into its 137th year of publication next week, we're also kicking up our heels with this brand-new undertaking. As the song says, "Everything old is new again!"

By the way, if you somehow didn't receive the September 11 Agri-Vallée, give us a call at 264-5364. We have a few extra copies, and we'd hate to see you miss it.

HUNTINGDON CIRCUIT COURT

Cameron Brothers vs. Terry O'Ready. Suit for $17.70 for clothes bought by a minor son of O'Ready's. Owing to the son having left his father before getting the clothes and staying away afterwards for 8 or 9 months, the judge held Cameron could not recover the amount. Action dismissed, each party paying his own costs.

... the trial of four of the Catholics of St Louis, accused of assaulting the Protestants on their way to church on procession Sunday, took place in this village before Daniel Shanks, J.P.

... A number of witnesses were heard on both sides. ... It was proved, however, the Protestants were going quietly and would have interfered with nobody. The four of them were found guilty. Raphael Renaud, who caught James Symons by the throat and attempted to drag him from his buggy was fined $20 or 30 days in jail; Jean Grenier, who attacked James Symons and unbitched one of his traces, was fined $15 or 15 days in jail; Celestin Bougie and Theophile Lalonde, who attacked John Hall and backed his horse into another carriage, were each fined $15 or 15 days. Eight days were given to pay the fines.

THEY ALL CONVENED AT HUNTINGDON FAIR

Huntingdon's 106th annual two-day fair attracted more people than in 1938 and the various entertainments were certainly more entertaining than in the past. The mid-way included a merry-go-round, one of the most popular rendez-vous for kiddies, swings, etc.

HARVESTING OF TOBACCO UNDERWAY
More than 40 people are employed in harvesting the fine crop of Virginia cigarette leaf tobacco on the farm of Dr. O.E. Caza, who is counting on harvesting about 90 acres. Some of the tobacco is about four feet in height while the quality of the same is of high standard. ... After the tobacco is picked and placed on stone boats, it is hauled to near the flue-curing houses es where about 25 girls tie the leaves onto poles about three feet long. ... After this the leaves are taken to the flue-curing houses where they are subjected to a temperature of about 180 degrees. ... The harvesting of the crop will mark a new era in agricultural development in the Cazaville area.

CROWDS REPLACED CLOUDS AT HAVELOCK'S 1969 FAIR

The phenomenal luck of Havelock Fair held. After a week of uniformly wet weather, clouds broke and the 98th fair opened. "It was the biggest fair we've ever had," said Secretary Aylmer Hadley. THIS AND THAT IN TOWN
Just About Had It — ... persons causing damage to buildings on the Huntingdon Fair Grounds will be prosecuted. ... Youngsters, mainly from good homes, are going to catch it if they persist in damaging property. ... On Labor Day, a bonfire was extinguished by a nearby resident. ... Two mayors say fusion plan needs fine-tuning at local level

After a detailed analysis of the fusion project presented by Quebec's ministry of Municipal Affairs, we have concluded that there are no economic advantages for residents of Godmanchester and Hinchinbrooke.

Based on the government study, we project that the tax rates in Godmanchester would increase by close to 20 per cent in the very first year (from 71-cents per $100 evaluation to 85 cents), and Hinchinbrooke taxpayers would see a similar increase. On the other hand, taxpayers in Huntingdon would see their tax rate lowered by the same proportion! What have we done to deserve this penalty?

The fusion bonus of $100 per resident for a period of five years would not lower the tax bill for Godmanchester or Hinchinbrooke. In fact, there would be an increase of $140 per year for a property evaluated at $100,000.

More over, fusing the three municipalities would yield a new entity of close to 7,000 people. Once a town has a population of 5,000 or more, it has eight years to form its own police force, which would cost over a million dollars per year to maintain, in addition to the cost of setting it up (i.e. building, cars, equipment, etc.), an expense of three to four times present costs.

An acceptable fusion project would allow each partner to keep its present tax rate and, if necessary, increase or decrease it by the same percentage in the following years.

An article in The Gleaner/La Source at the end of July stated that Huntingdon would claim from Hinchinbrooke and Godmanchester any eventual loss of monies caused by the non-fusion. It seems Huntingdon does not want to negotiate and, moreover, we are being issued the divorce condition before seeing any signs of marriage.

Some say non-fusion would force the government to cut transfer programs to municipalities, but a May 27 letter from Louise Harel, minister of Municipal Affairs, has assured us there will be no such cuts or penalties.

The Town of Huntingdon would be wise to sit with representatives of the other two municipalities in order to identify where it could economize by sharing of services, which could eventually lead to a fusion project studied and negotiated by local people.

We are convinced that the negotiation process is preferable to confrontation in this matter. If there is to be fusion, it has to be planned together with a common goal, instead of being forced by the government.

Environment group protests decision on gasoline additive

This is a copy of a letter sent by the Hemmingford Environment Committee to the Prime Minister's Office in Ottawa. We think it is of interest to Gleaner readers and to all Canadians.

... We are writing you because we were very shocked to learn recently on CBC Newswatch, that Canada has revoked its decision to ban MMT, the gasoline additive produced by the American corporation, Ethyl.

It is terrible to see how easily the Ethyl Company has exercised financial pressure tactics to bully our nation into using its products under the umbrella of the NAFTA accord, despite the questionable nature of the safety of MMT for humans.

In the interview conducted by the CBC, even the Ethyl company did not deny that Canadians were being used as guinea pigs in the testing of MMT.

Although nothing has yet appeared in the short-term tests Ethyl Corporation has conducted itself to verify the safety of its product with its own vested interests at heart, the fact that the EPA has succeeded in keeping MMT off the market in the United States, is reason enough to worry that this product has not yet met the safety standards required by our neighbors to the south.

If anything, we would like to think that Canadians have higher safety standards than Americans, with regards to the long-term effects products may have. This seems to be the case up to date, in the certification of certain drugs/hormones, for instance, the rBST hormone in milk production.

Even the automobile manufacturers are against the use of MMT, because it clogs up cars' emissions-control systems. For automobile companies to show environmental concern, MMT must be pretty detrimental!

Where have Canadians' goals of cleaning up our act as far as emissions control, gotten to? Wasn't this one of Canada's and the G7's goals at the last ECO-Summit in Brazil? Surely an entente of this importance should be able to overrule the NAFTA agreement?

The revocation of the ban of MMT is a very dangerous precedent to set. If the NAFTA accord presents such loopholes to industry, we strongly believe that this accord should be revised. Surely such an accord's benefits cannot outweigh the cost of the loss of democracy and the safety of Canadian citizens.

We hope that the Canadian Government will once again adopt its first position with regards to MMT, and ban this product until sufficient unbiased tests have been conducted to ensure the safety, both short-term and long-term, of Canadian citizens.

Country-music party draws over 100 to Davignon Park

Rita and Leslie Donnelly of Cherry Hill Rd. in Davignon Park hosted a fun country-music party on Saturday, Aug. 21.

Over 100 friends and family enjoyed live music and dancing, as well as a pot-luck supper, a husking bee and a corn boil.

During the evening, the hosts drew tickets for adults and children to choose fun prizes. Musical entertainment was provided by Jack and Wilma Noble and several guests, including well-known fiddler Bill Millar from Massena N.Y., and Carl Forget of Brampton, Ont.. Local talent included Cecil Gibbons, Francis and Wayne Tessier. Host Leslie also took his place on the stage to sing and play guitar.

The evening was cool and some light rain fell, but under the tent there was lots of laughter and visiting. Folks had a great time waltzing and square dancing and the fancy foot-work went on from early afternoon into the late evening. D.F./vf

Kaleidoscope, said director Debbie Wilson.

"We've been waiting for this good news for a long time," she said following a September 2 meeting of the day care's board at which the project was announced.

The cost for the first phase of the two-part project will be $630,000, which will be subsidized by $140,000 from the Quebec government and $30,000 from the Haut-St-Laurent's Local Development Centre. The rest is being financed through bank loans.

Quebec's ministry for the Family and Children has approved the expansion, which will also include complete landscaping of the 40,000-square-foot property.

The fire which resulted caused the evacuation of the 75 workers in the plant at the time. In addition to Claude Brouard, who received serious burns, three other employees were taken to hospital and treated for shock.

Local Career Centre offered fast track to full-time city job

I am 19 years old and a recent graduate of Châteauguay Valley Regional High School. After graduating from CVR, I took the DEP in Business Technology at the Career Education Centre in Ormstown. After completing this program I was employed full-time (straight from the DEP Workstudy) by Walsh Environmental in LaSalle.

The DEP in Business Technology helped me obtain the skills and knowledge required to be marketable within 10 months, compared to the two years, to obtain the same level of expertise in a private business college program. The DEP provided me with a hands-on, office-like atmosphere and intense classes ranging from computer technology, bookkeeping, electronic spreadsheets, law, and desktop publishing to the more interpersonal challenges of the office such as teamwork and communication.

The DEP in Business Technology provides a great opportunity and viable stepping-stone for those who are fresh out of high school or returning to work. There are many good job opportunities to be obtained by taking the DEP programs at the Career Education Centre in Ormstown.

St. Paul's U.C.W. met at Blair Orchards store September 8 for a delicious dessert. Chairperson Shirley Sutherland opened the meeting, and devotions were led by Elizabeth Roy and Millie McCartney.

Ruby Sproule paid tribute to the late Isabell Cavers, citing her dedication to women's work in the church, and the important role she played in the Tatehurst group of W.M.S., Young Women's Evening Auxiliary W.M.S. and Unit 3 of United Church Women. She was the first secretary of the Ormstown Branch when United Church Women was formed in 1962, and her work was carried out in a friendly, happy way.

Acting treasurer Edith Harvey gave the financial statement and read letters from Montreal City Mission and the new foster child.

The U.C.W. is planning an autumn Rummage Sale in MacDougall Hall on October 16.

For the program, Mildred Nussey read a poem about a "Tiny Mouse" and conducted two games in keeping with the autumn season and articles in Blair's store.

The next meeting will be in the Hall on October 13 and will be a pot-luck luncheon. /vf

Spirit of optimism pervades open house at Droulers site

(Gleaner staff)

There was no call for a rain dance as Mohawks joined non-natives under sunny skies at Sunday's annual open house at the Droulers archaeological site at St-Anicet.

More than ever this year, the site, which will open to the public next year, has come to represent a meeting place and a source of pride for both Amerindian and Quebec representatives to celebrate one of the richest sites in the province.

About 100 people Mohawks from Kahnawake and Akwesasne in dancing around the fire, following an opening prayer in Mohawk and English from Mohawk Nation chief Jake Swamp.

Traditional chants in Abenaki, Mic Mac and Iroquois were performed by Sylvain Rivard, an Abenaki from Sorel, and Huron flautist Nathalie Picard who hails from the Quebec City region.

Native foods

Visitors enjoyed traditional Mohawk food, including sagamite (a corn-based soup), sturgeon and smoked eel, and archaeologists and native craftspeople presented workshops on corn braiding, pottery-making and Amerindian musical instruments.

Mohawk Nation representative Joyce Mitchell-King said the day provided a great opportunity for natives and non-natives to get to know each other better. "And when the project is completed, you're going to see a lot of us here," she said.

MP Daniel Turp said he has asked Canadian Heritage minister Sheila Copps for more funding for the project, while acknowledging the $150,000 grant from Youth Services Canada which allowed the hiring of 14 local young people, Mohawks and non-natives, to work on the reconstruction project this summer under the supervision of Philippe Declôtre.

St-Anicet mayor Alain Castagner was quick to credit archaeologist Michel Gagné for getting the project going, despite some difficult times at the beginning.

"We had some communication problems at first which made it hard for St-Anicet people to get behind the plan, but now there's a real spirit of optimism surrounding the project" the mayor said.

Ormstown Clydesdales compete at first-ever World Championship

Special to The Gleaner

Carp, ON — Ormstown Clydesdale breeder Gilles Gagnon and his two horses Molly and Maude were in good company August 25-29 when they competed at the first-ever World Clydesdale Championship Show and Trade in Carp, ON, just west of Ottawa. The landmark event attracted over 350 horses from across Canada and the United States, and as far away as Iceland, New Zealand, and the breed's home, Scotland.

Gagnon was pleased with his horses' performance among such elite peers. Molly placed 10th in the line (conformation) class for mares five years and older and sixth in the Men's cart class. She also competed in the Ladies' cart class, and the pair competed as a team, but with no placings over 10th. The six-year-old Molly has since been sold to a Clydesdale breeder in Victoriaville, QC, as a broodmare.

Versatile breed

The inspiration of Ottawa-area Clydesdale breeder Stan Carruthers over 10 years ago, the event represents the first time the Clydesdale breed has gathered for a world-level competition. Classes ranged from the standard line classes for breeding animals, to cart and hitch classes for teams of all sizes up to eight.

Further demonstrating the versatility of the breed, there were several mounted classes, including Open Western Riding, Ladies English Pleasure, and a Medieval Costume class.

The Supreme World Champion Clydesdale was named on the last day of the show: the six-year-old mare Carson's Delight, owned by Wendell and Cheryle Watson and Archie and Anne Watson, all of Sarsfield, ON.

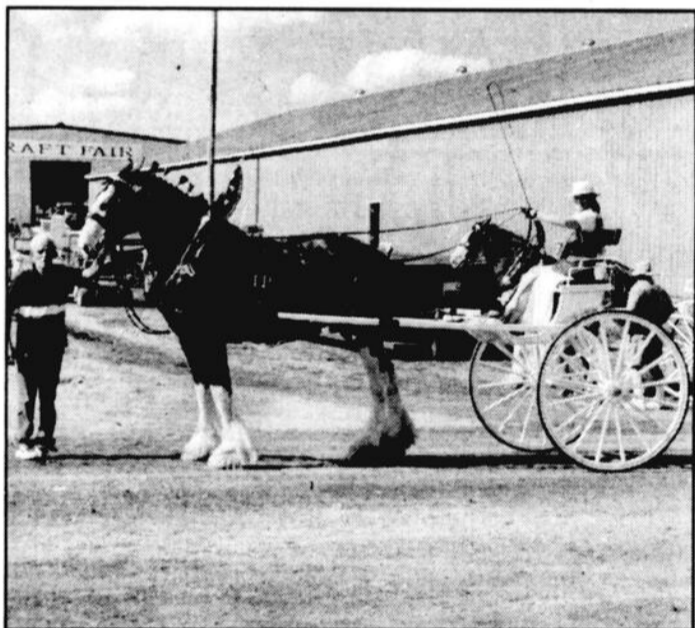

Over 80,000 visitors could also see demonstrations by other breeds of horse, including the Icelandic, Rocky Mountain, Norwegian Fjord, Arabian, Peruvian Paso, and Miniature.

Highlights in the main show ring included demonstrations by the Hallamore eight Clydesdale hitch of Lakeville, MA, the largest eight-hitch of Clydesdales in the world. Averaging 2,200 lbs. each and all standing over 18hh, these horses were truly impressive, pulling a restored four-ton 1899 Studebaker freight wagon.

Organizers of the World Clydesdale Championship Show and Trade promise a repeat of the event every two years.

Montreal man hurt in crash at Franklin

(Gleaner staff)

Franklin's Jaws of Life emergency rescue equipment was needed to free the victim of a Sunday afternoon single-car accident on Grimshaw Rd. in Franklin.

A 38-year-old Montreal man sustained severe injuries after he lost control of his car and it crashed into a ditch around 1 p.m. on September 12, the Haut-St-Laurent Sûreté du Québec said. Police are waiting for the results of a blood sample taken at the Barrie Memorial Hospital.

Speeding was a factor in a two-car accident September 11 on Rte. 132 in St-Stanislas-de-Kostka that caused one vehicle to start on fire and injured a total of five people.

One driver, Claudette Hurteau of St-Anicet, sustained minor injuries while Ghislain Galipeau of Valleyfield escaped before his vehicle caught fire. Ste-Barbe/St-Stanislas firemen were called to the scene to extinguish the car and attend to the victims until the ambulances arrived.

Arrested

A 35-year-old Ormstown woman appeared in Valleyfield Court on September 13 when she pled not guilty to issuing NSF checks, uttering threats, resisting arrest and criminal harassment. The accused was detained for an outstanding warrant involving traffic tickets.

Vehicle theft

A green and tan 4x4 Ford Expedition truck valued at $54,000 was stolen between September 5 and 7 from Huntingdon's Garage Trépanier.

Break-in

A $1,000 commercial air-jack was stolen during a break-in to a Bouchette St. garage in Huntingdon. The theft occurred sometime between September 3 and 7.

Fight

Following a fight outside a Chateauguy St. bar in the early morning hours on September 11, owners of three parked vehicles reported damages to their property, while a fourth car belonging to a Bouchette St. resident was vandalized later in the day.

Vandalism

Two tires of a car belonging to a Rte. 138 Huntingdon resident were slashed during the night of September 12, while ropes anchoring his canoe to shore were cut, releasing the boat onto the river.

Prime land for park in Howick

What was for decades the Ross Irving and Sons Ltee. feed mill and family home on Mill St. in Howick has been demolished, standing now as a vacant lot in search of a new owner and use.

Finally taken over this past January by Public Works and Government Services Canada after the Irving company ceased operations several years ago, the abandoned buildings which were severely damaged in the March 1998 flood were levelled in August.

Eventually, the land will be put up for sale, offered in descending order to the federal, provincial, regional and municipal governments. If there are no takers, the property will be offered to the public, Public Works spokesman Claude Verrette said.

The property is located in a flood zone, so no construction will be permitted, he added.

The Village of Howick might be interested in acquiring the land to turn the front half into a green space (park), according to a municipal source.

The municipality presently has the right to access the rear of the property to service a sewer outlet into the Chateauguy River.

Donation helps wheelchair ramp project at OCC

(Gleaner staff)

Ormstown Curling Club is one step closer to making its upstairs viewing gallery physically accessible to everyone.

On August 23, Beauharnois-Huntingdon MNA André Chenail gave $4,000 toward the club's electric ramp for wheelchairs project.

The sport has become so popular, with 85 students playing regularly, joining more than 100 regular members and 50 senior curlers. Curling is an inexpensive pastime that leads to a great deal of socializing, said Club president John Agnew.

MNA Chenail said it's important to encourage this popular Ormstown activity.

Howick's Beth Robertson shines on and off sports field at McGill

They say when you attend university, you are no longer a name . . . only a student number. This however, has not been the case for Howick native and former CVR valedictorian Beth Robertson. She may be only one out of over 20,000 students at McGill University, however this small-town girl has become a big name on campus and over the past year, has been racking up awards like they're going out of style!

Prior to attending McGill, Beth completed a degree in Pure & Applied Sciences at John Abbott College, where she played AAA basketball for the Lady Islanders and helped her team win the National Championship in 1993.

After completing a degree in biology at McGill, she is now working on her second BSc, in occupational therapy. A five-year player and two-time captain of the McGill field hockey team, this year Beth became the first McGill player to win the OUA (Ontario Universities Association) Outstanding Contributor Award, given annually to an athlete who exemplifies "unselfish qualities, dedication, commitment, loyalty, inspiration, leadership and conduct".

At last year's McGill Athletics Gala, she was not only the MVP of her team, but also received the Dr. Muriel V. Roscoe Award for "the females athlete who best exemplifies leadership and proficiency in McGill athletics".

Off the field of play, Beth has been very involved with the McGill intercollegiate sports council, the student athletic council, the Dean's advisory committee for women's issues, the sports reclassification committee, the sports hall-of-fame committee, the athletics finance committee and the Montreal Alouettes review committee. She was also a member of the Athletics Board, and was elected co-chair with Richard Pound, vice-president of the International Olympic Committee, and newly-appointed Chancellor of McGill.

This spring Beth added more awards to her repertoire, two of the highest honors that a McGill student can win. She received the Scarlet Key Award for leadership and dedication to school life, as well as the prestigious Greta Chambers Chancellor of McGill Student Leadership Award, presented by the McGill Alumni Association.

Beth has also excelled in the classroom, and is on the Principal's Student Athlete Honor Roll and is a two-time CIAU Royal Bank Academic All-Canadian.

In her spare time (is there any?), Beth has coached Special Olympics soccer, volunteered at the Montreal General Hospital and works as a graduate assistant in the McGill intercollegiate office, assisting with club sports programs and the promotion of athletic and special events.

This fall, she will be the assistant coach of the McGill Martlets and as the recently-elected VP external of the Scarlet Key Society, she is currently organizing the McGill Terry Fox Run to raise money for cancer research.

The key to her success? Robertson stated, "The word 'can't' isn't a part of my vocabulary. I've always been a firm believer that your attitude determines your altitude. You can make a difference, as long as you believe in yourself!"

Benefit golf event brings hospital half-way to goal

Just a-swinging and a-hooking their way up and down the greens, some 93 golfers swung their best at a September 1 tournament, raising nearly $5,400 for the Huntingdon County Hospital Foundation's "balcony project."

The Dr. F.G. McCrimmon Memorial Golf Tournament fundraiser held at the St-Anicet Golf saw Huntingdon's Louise Durand win the best golfer trophy with a low net of 69, while André Castagnier had twice the fun for his entry fee, winning the most honest player award.

Monies raised will be used to build a second-floor balcony over the Huntingdon County Hospital's main entrance, tournament chair and emcee Donald Davidson said. The Foundation now has about one half of the estimated $30,000 to $40,000 needed for construction, which will benefit the 60 long-term patients at the hospital.

Beautiful weather capped the successful day that was well supported by many sponsors who offered cash and raffle prizes to participants.

The annual tournament was organized by hospital staff who expect to be seeing their patients enjoying the fresh air and sunshine from the new balcony in 2000.

Ormstown

Jean McEwen - 829-2704

50th Anniversary

The Ormstown Curling Club was prettily decorated for the Sunday afternoon (Sept. 12) party to celebrate the 50th wedding anniversary of Jean and Erskine McClintock. Decorations and tablecovers were in green and gold.

At least 300 people came to extend their good wishes. There were family pictures, their wedding invitation, and Jean's wedding dress to be seen.

Erskine McClintock and Jean Robinson were married in the Odelltown United Church on September 10, 1949 by Rev. Carr. Their attendants were Helen (Robinson) Barrington; Ruth (Robinson) Petch; and Lois (Robinson) McCaig. The best man was Alton Graham and ushers were Alan Robinson and Merrill Stalker.

For their party, Jean wore a black two-piece pant-suit with a printed burgundy jacket and a mauve corsage; Erskine had a mauve boutonniere. They received their guests in front of a white lattice garden-gate.

In the morning, 28 family members enjoyed a brunch served by Jean Brocklehurst and helpers. Their son Murray, on behalf of his sister Wendy, proposed a toast.

After extending good wishes, guests enjoyed sandwiches, decorated cake and ice cream, and lots of visiting.

Coming from a distance were Don and Terry McClintock of Toronto; Ken and Barbara McClintock of Trenton, Ont.; Kevin McClintock of Ottawa; and Kirk Robinson of Denison's Mills, QC.

Erskine and Jean report they had a wonderful day and enjoyed seeing so many friends and relatives; we wish them many more happy years.
