World News In Brief

Abu Gamoos, Suez Canal Zone, Nov. 7.—(Reuters)—British troops today opened their counter campaign against terrorists with a dawn raid on the village of Abu Gamoos.

Five times in the last two days hidden gunmen have fired on British vehicles passing through the village, on the outskirts of the canal-zone trouble centre of Ismailia.

This morning British troops cordoned off the village and its 1,500 inhabitants. Search squads then moved into the homes. After three hours' work they had uncovered one revolver and one sten gun.

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—(CP)—Breweries were closed early today in three Ontario cities—Ottawa, Windsor and Waterloo—when negotiations between O'Keefe's and Brading's plants and members of the International Union of Distillery Workers (C.I.O.) broke down.

About 750 brewery employees are affected. A strike vote was taken Sunday and union officials said at the time that 85 per cent of the union members had voted in favor of strike action. Nevertheless a number of workers were out at Ottawa and Windsor.

Negotiations on the wage demands were continued even after the midnight deadline and after the strike for higher pay was officially started.

Washington, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The draft-Eisenhower-for-President movement shifted into high gear today.

It was on the strength of the General's hands-off attitude toward volunteer political efforts on his behalf while he was here for European defence talks.

Side-line politicians disagreed on the overall effect of Eisenhower's avoidance of party and Presidential race commitments while waving a friendly go-ahead to well-wishers who are trying to stake down for him the 1952 Republican nomination.

But Senator Howard Duff (Rep., Pa.), one of the leaders of the latter group, plunged with renewed vigor into a round of speeches and conferences plugging the General. In New York, Governor Thomas E. Dewey said he was stronger than ever for Eisenhower.

Washington, Nov. 7.—(AP)—President Truman will make what is expected to be a highly significant foreign-policy broadcast tonight (10:30 to 11 p.m. EST) from his White House office.

It will be carried on all U.S. major radio and television networks. It coincides with the opening of the sixth General Assembly of the United Nations in Paris.

(The address will be carried by the CBC on its Trans-Canada and Dominion networks.)

Many Merchants Oppose Fixing Of Retail Prices

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Justice Minister Garson told the Commons yesterday that many independent retail merchants across Canada fear they might be put out of business by legislation prohibiting manufacturers to fix the retail prices of their products.

That, he said, was one of the reasons why the government had decided to establish a Senate-Commons committee to study the proposal that retail price-fixing by manufacturers be abolished.

Mr. Garson spoke before adoption of a resolution providing for the appointment of 25 members from the Commons and 12 from the Senate to the joint committee. Some C.C.F. members, indicating their opposition, called "on division" when the resolution passed, but did not ask for a formal vote.

A similar resolution now must be adopted in the Senate.

Replying to opposition charges that the government has backed down from its original position, Mr. Garson said the government had decided to form a committee long before the Canadian Chamber of Commerce announced opposition to price-fixing legislation.

Reviewing events that led to the government's decision, he said that a year ago a commission was established to consider amendments to the combines investigation act.

That commission, headed by Mr. Justice J. H. MacQuarrie of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, had recommended abolition of resale price maintenance by manufacturers.

The government had accepted that recommendation and in the speech from the throne at the opening of the fall session Oct. 9 had announced that it would introduce anti-price-fixing legislation.

France, Britain, U.S.A. Will Reveal New Proposals To Ease East-West Tension

Reds Demand Immediate Zone Line

By WILLIAM JORDEN
Munsan, Korea, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Communist true negotiators today proposed that the boundaries of a Korean buffer zone be established now, with both sides permitted to propose changes later.

United Nations' representatives turned it down.

The allied objection appeared to be that either side could reject changes proposed later by the other.

Maj.-Gen. Henry I. Hodes head of the U.N. sub-committee, indicated the fifth was that no adjustments could be made in the demarcation line as the communists obviously would not agree.

"It would be a de facto ceasefire," he said. "It's the same thing they have brought up for three days."

Hodes indicated the Red proposal might be taken up again at Thursday's session, scheduled for 11 A.M. (9 P.M. Wednesday EST).

Communist sub-committeemen submitted their new formal proposal near the end of Wednesday's session in a rain-soaked tent at Panmunjom.

The allies have been insisting that the buffer zone should be created along the front lines existing at the time an armistice actually is reached, and not be changed later.

Hodes said his analysis of the new Red proposal was based on a single reading and he "might be wrong."

The Red plan, he said, clearly implied that the communists expect the war to go on until all items of the armistice agenda are settled. There are three other points to be settled beside the buffer zone.

U.S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Allied troops attacking through the mud today recaptured one of the three hills lost to Chinese assaults since Sunday.

The communists did not put up much of a fight to keep the peak northwest of Yonchon. Two battalions of Chinese had overrun it Tuesday.

The Reds drove United Nations' infantrymen out of advanced positions northwest of Yonchon, near the 38th parallel on the western front. The allies promptly counter-attacked and ran the Reds back to their own lines.

Elsewhere along the western sector rain dampened the savage infantry fighting of the last three days. American troops huddled along the sector as the U.N. tried to soften up Chinese still holding two peaks they seized Sunday.

Once that announcement was made, the government received protests from various organizations and independent retail merchants across the country. The government felt that the legislation would be more effective if the views of all interested parties first were heard.

The government hoped the committee would work fast to permit passage at this session on any legislation recommended following a study of the issue.

The government was not backing down from its original position. It was offering an opportunity to have the price-fixing issue aired in public.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said his party had wanted a complete review of the combines investigation act. Since it could not obtain that, it would support the partial inquiry as contained in the resolution.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said the government indicated a "lack of courage" in establishing a committee. It had made up its mind to bring in legislation against retail price-fixing and suddenly changed its mind. It was in "full retreat" before the pressure of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and the Canadian Manufacturers Association.

At the House opening, Defence Minister Claxton said there is "not a word of truth" in charges that French-speaking Canadian troops in Korea are singled out for exposure. The charges were made Monday by P. E. Gagnon (Ind.-Chicoutimi).

Prime Minister St. Laurent announced that the government has decided to set up a House committee to study defence expenditures.

Plans Expected To Contain Provisions For Count Of World's Atomic Weapons.

By JOHN RODERICK
Paris, Nov. 7.—(AP)—France, Britain and the United States are expected to reveal tonight important new proposals for easing the tension between the communist east and the west.

The big-three plans, believed to contain provisions for a count of the world's atomic weapons, are scheduled to be disclosed at midnight.

The proposals will, when presented, be the major event so far of the sixth general assembly of the United Nations, which opened yesterday with a call from France's President Vincent Auriol for a Truman-Churchill-Stalin meeting during the U. N. sessions here.

Announcement of the big-three "peace" program, originally set for last night, was postponed presumably so it would more closely precede President Truman's broadcast tonight to the U. S.

The big-three plan is likely to be patterned closely on the general terms of the President's foreign-policy pronouncement.

There has been speculation for days on what the big three will offer. Reliable sources say the atom bomb count—a sweeping concession by the U.S., which until now has objected to such a census—will certainly be the key point.

It was believed to include, also, a call for the Russians to bring about peace in Korea, completion of an Austrian independence treaty—hitherto balked by Moscow—and free, supervised all-German elections.

How receptive Russia will be to the big-three peace proposals remains a big question mark. If, as seems likely, strong conditions are attached to them, Russia may give them the cold shoulder as she has done in the past.

Russia herself will have some peace proposals to make at this session, foreign minister Andrei Vishinsky said yesterday. She always has something concrete to offer in that line, he added with a twinkle when a reporter queried him.

The first session yesterday elected as its president Mexico's Luis Padilla Nervo, a seasoned U.N. diplomat.

Poliburo member Beria, a deputy prime minister, said last night in an anniversary eve celebration that the Soviet Union would crush any attack and had the weapons to do it.

Taking up this same theme, Malinovsky bitterly attacked the United States government, saying its leaders are conducting a policy of aggression and preparing for a new war, while the Soviet leaders aimed at "peace and co-operation among nations."

The air force section of the parade which began after Malinovsky's speech was briefest this time than for many years. Led by a big four-engine bomber and four jet fighters, it consisted of 18 four-engine bombers, 30 twin-engine jet bombers, and 36 single engine, speedy jet fighters.

While these planes streaked overhead, motorized and mechanized army units rolled rapidly through Red Square. All types of equipment were noted in the parade, including tanks, self-propelled artillery pieces, powerful cannon, long anti-tank guns and trucks.

They were levelled by rifle fire, grenades and mines once in U.N. lines.

Obedient orders to hold their fire until the enemy was within 40 yards, and also to stay in their foxholes to fight it out regardless, U.N. infantry plus artillery exacted a known toll of 20 to one, and possibly twice or three times that.

Two companies were assaulted but in support they had not only the entire divisional artillery which several times fired concentrations of all guns onto the attackers, but U.S. air force heavy bombers—B-29s—flying for the first time in close support of ground troops at night.

The battle lasted more than seven hours.

A battalion commander whose troops had played a ceremonial retreat at rear headquarters the afternoon before, addressed this message to his superiors at the battle's height:

"We sound retreat only at B echelon (rear headquarters)."

He had this to say of the bombing, which hit objectives within 500 yards of his troops: "This is another morale booster. This is the troops now can depend on air support by night."

The enemy attacked determinedly three times but each time found the defenders as solid as rocks. A few communists managed to reach the inner perimeter of the defence, but were eliminated.

The attack was estimated to be at least in battalion strength, supported by tanks, self-propelled artillery and heavy mortar and machine-gun fire.

Four other vessels were speeding toward the scene, 300 miles west of the Washington coast, where the American freighter George Walton was slowly succumbing in a funeral pyre by 9,500 tons of grain.

But, Coast Guard officials at Seattle said, rescue of the remainder would not be easy. In confirmation came the terse message from the Japanese freighter Kenon Maru which reached the scene at 10:30 p.m. PST (1:30 a.m., EST) last night.

Stalin's Son Leads Soviet Aerial Show

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
Moscow, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Soviet Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, speaking in Red Square to massed thousands today, said that the Russian people can rely upon their armed forces against "any aggressor."

He told the crowds in a speech commemorating the Bolshevik revolution's 34th anniversary that the U.S.S.R. "does not contemplate attacking the United States of America or any other country."

The temperature was below zero as leading members of the Politburo, headed by Lavrenty P. Beria and Georgi M. Malenkov, reviewed a parade of Soviet armed might from the Politburo's traditional position atop Lenin's tomb.

Big bombers and jet fighters and bombers zoomed overhead in an aerial show led by Prime Minister Stalin's son, Lt.-Gen. Vassily Stalin.

Malinovsky, top commander of Soviet forces in the east during the second world war, said the Soviet Union today is "fully armed."

Poliburo member Beria, a deputy prime minister, said last night in an anniversary eve celebration that the Soviet Union would crush any attack and had the weapons to do it.

Taking up this same theme, Malinovsky bitterly attacked the United States government, saying its leaders are conducting a policy of aggression and preparing for a new war, while the Soviet leaders aimed at "peace and co-operation among nations."

ROYAL VISIT CROWDS: Shown here is part of the crowd, estimated at more than 15,000, that was at the Drummondville railway station on Monday for the 10-minute visit of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

Republicans Gain Seat In US Vote

Washington, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Republicans picked up one seat in the United States House of Representatives by capturing all four special elections held yesterday, but they lost their 68-year-old grip on the country's third-largest city, Philadelphia.

The off-year balloting, generally regarded as having no great national political significance, also brought victory in New York city to Rudolph Hall of Senate crime and television fame, and the defeat of James Michael Curley in an attempt to come back as mayor of Boston.

Surprising few observers, Democrats appeared to have retained the Kentucky Governorship, returning to the state house Gov. Lawrence Wetherby and his slate of eight state candidates.

The city hall at Little Rock, Ark., fell to the Republicans for the first time in 64 years, and they also took the mayoralty in Indianapolis, home of the new Democratic national committee chairman, Frank E. McKinney.

"Clean government" campaigns were waged by the New York and Philadelphia winners. Halley won New York's city council presidency, second-highest position in the metropolis, over Democrat Joseph T. Sharkey and two others. Halley, running on the independent, Fusion and Liberal party tickets, rolled up a plurality of 163,000 votes.

In Philadelphia, city controller Joseph S. Clark, Jr., won the mayoralty for the Democrats to end a Republican regime which had stood since 1883. Promising to clean up corruption he laid at the door of the Republicans, he defeated Dr. Daniel A. Poling.

Some Republicans claimed a trend toward their side in the outcome of the four special House elections, but three of the vacancies were traditionally Republican districts.

The Republican gain was registered in Ohio, where Paul F. Schenck won a House seat from the district around Dayton, defeating Jesse Yerler.

New Jersey's ninth district stayed Republican, as well as two seats in Pennsylvania.

Latest house standing was: Democrats 233; Republicans 200; independent 1, with one Nebraska seat to be filled Dec. 4.

3 Seamen Die, 25 Others Await Rescue In Pacific

Seattle, Nov. 7.—(AP)—A Japanese merchant ship early today pulled 12 survivors of the ill-fated American freighter George Walton from the storm-swept North Pacific, then moved on to rescue 25 others riding bobbing lifeboats up from their burning, sinking ship.

An explosion and fire, aboard the freighter late yesterday killed three members of its crew and drove the others to lifeboats to await rescue by commercial and Coast Guard vessels.

The Japanese freighter Kenon Maru, the first to reach the stricken ship, battled rough water and a strong wind through most of the night to rescue 12 seamen in a lifeboat nearest the Walton. Seven were taken aboard shortly before midnight and the others rescued about four hours later.

All were weakened by cold and exposure.

Four other vessels were speeding toward the scene, 300 miles west of the Washington coast, where the American freighter George Walton was slowly succumbing in a funeral pyre by 9,500 tons of grain.

But, Coast Guard officials at Seattle said, rescue of the remainder would not be easy. In confirmation came the terse message from the Japanese freighter Kenon Maru which reached the scene at 10:30 p.m. PST (1:30 a.m., EST) last night.

Royal Couple Continue Tour Through Eastern Provinces

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Saint John, N.B., Nov. 7.—(AP)—The royal visitors opened the Maritime leg of their tour with Princess Elizabeth getting her heartiest laugh. And, as it should be in this nautical area, the story continued a seagull—by the name of Sebastian.

Yesterday's Royal progress was under sunny skies and it touched the provincial capital at Fredericton and continued at the oldest incorporated city in Canada, Saint John was established by the New England loyalists in 1783.

And the loyalists' descendants provided a warm and dignified reception that saw the Royal couple walk into the crowd and do some other things that weren't on the schedule.

One of the biggest demonstrations of the tour occurred when the Princess and Duke of Edinburgh pointed out that down in the loyalist country even the seagulls were patriotic and he told the story of Sebastian.

Today they make brief stops at Moncton and Sackville, N.B., and then continue on to Amherst, Truro and Halifax. The tour ends at Portugal Cove, Nfld., Nov. 12.

But to get back to Sebastian. Reporters covering the tour noticed that Lieutenant Governor Laurence MacLaren of New Brunswick made Elizabeth laugh harder than she has on the whole trip.

They asked him what he had said. He replied that he had merely pointed out that down in the loyalist country even the seagulls were patriotic and he told the story of Sebastian.

It seems that Sebastian used to visit daily at the top of the flag-staff at the Hon. Marguerite Shaughnessy's nearby St. Andrews estate. He always sat just above the rippling Union Jack where he waited until the household put food on the lawn for him.

But two summers ago Governor General Alexander used the place for a summer holiday and during that period the vice-regal standard substituted for the Union Jack. Sebastian flew over, circled the flagpole and then flew off the nearby hotel staff which flew a Union Jack.

"I told her he just stayed away until the Governor-General moved and the Union Jack was restored," he said.

In Fredericton the couple stopped at the Bonar Law-Bennett library where they walked through police lines and temporarily got lost in the crowd, questioning students and having a great time. Then they had an unscheduled tea while their chauffeur took the "bugs" out of their transparent-topped car.

At the Legislature they were presented with a pair of matched auto rugs designed in the R.C.A.F. tartan and bearing the New Brunswick coat of arms. The rugs were hand woven at nearby Gagetown. Later at Saint John a veterans' hospital handicraft crew gave them a miniature sleigh for Prince Charles and toy animal for Princess Anne. The city of Saint John gave them a 31-piece demi-tasse set of stoneware in blue, the work of the famous New Brunswick potters—Kjeld and Erica Deichmann.

There was a New Brunswick flavor to the day. At the University library in Fredericton the Princess admired the fiddlehead pattern of the wrought iron work in the library. She was told that fiddleheads were fern tops eaten by New Brunswickers as a tasty substitute for asparagus.

Later, in Saint John, fiddleheads were included on the menu. At the city's formal dinner the dessert also embodied a candy and ice cream purple violet which is New Brunswick's emblematic flower. Each city had a lobster cocktail to give the Royal couple a taste of the Maritime delicacy.

The Princess changed from a robin-red wool outfit in the day to

United States Arms Flow Will Continue

Washington, Nov. 7.—(AP)—New conferences by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in Europe and some inventory-taking by the Western European countries will be needed before the United States is ready to translate its broad assurance of a speed-up in arms aid into specific promises.

In his Washington talks with White House, military and defence-production officials, informed sources said today, Eisenhower was assured that the flow of arms to the Western European forces will be increased.

But he also was reported to have been told that he should hold an early meeting with W. Averell Harriman, head of the mutual security agency, who left Washington for Paris last week. Moreover, it was noted that the defence production administrator, Manly Fleischmann, planned to start for Europe today to talk with defence chiefs of the North Atlantic treaty organization countries in Paris and London.

From the findings by Harriman and Fleischmann and the reports by Eisenhower, pieces of the problem can be fitted together—how much each N.A.T.O. member now has in the way of military equipment, how much more it can produce and how fast.

Only then can the U.S. be in a position to make specific promises on tonnages and delivery time-tables to help get up to 30 divisions fully armed as quickly as possible.

Eisenhower's departure coincided with expressions from official quarters that greater production effort is needed. President Truman spoke of "much trouble." Anna Rosenberg, assistant secretary of defence, told reporters: "The formula of guns and butter is out. It is guns first—then butter, if possible."

Belgrade, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The Orient Simpon passenger express, one of Europe's best-known trains, piled into the rear of a long passenger train yesterday, killing 17 persons and injuring 32. The train was running from Istanbul and Athens to Paris.

Quebec Election May Follow Session Which Starts Today

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Quebec, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Quebec's Legislature starts today what is expected to be its last session before provincial general elections.

The session, after adjournment for Christmas and New Year's holidays, probably will wind up its business by February.

The present Legislature is Quebec's 23rd since Confederation and the session will be the fourth since voters returned the government of Premier Duplessis to power in a sweeping 1948 victory.

The Union Nationale government's 1952 election plans are a closely-kept secret.

Unofficial guessing is about dates from May, when Premier Duplessis celebrates the 29th anniversary of his election as a private member, until late summer.

More than two dozen government bills will be listed on the agenda of the Legislative Assembly, the elected House, when it meets this afternoon.

Priority will be given to pension measures — one by which Quebec will share in the federal provincial plan for old-age pensions at 65. Another will increase pensions for the blind.

The throne-speech debate, which usually follows opening-day ceremonies, will be put off until after the pension bills are approved.

Other bills will reorganize Quebec's pension administration and increase funds for housing aid, farm loans and rural electricity services.

The government has not indicated whether it proposes new taxation to cover the cost of paying old-age pensions at 65 instead of 70.

Premier Duplessis has indicated that the health department will be given power to regulate the sale

FOLLOW YOUR PARTNER'S SIGNALS

"Please tell us the correct play in this situation," requests a Brooklyn reader. "Both sides need 90 points for the initial meld, and the card turned up by the dealer was a four. I was first, and I drew from the stock and discarded another four. The next player drew from the stock and discarded a jack."

"Much to my joy, my partner put down three aces and two jacks, which enabled her to take the discard pile. She now had three jacks and three aces on the table, and two fours among the cards in her hand. She discarded a queen, and the play continued."

"Everybody discarded safely for that round of play, and my partner drew from the stock, melded three fours, and discarded. This left her with four cards in her hand."

"The next player discarded safely to me, and I held the following cards:

A 10-10-10 9-9 8-7-6-5-4-2.

"What was my best play?"

The answer depends slightly on how good a player the partner happens to be. Your course is clear if your partner is a good player, but your guess is as good as mine if your partner is a beginner.

A good player has a definite idea in mind when she melds the three fours at her second turn to play. She already has her initial meld on the table, and the three fours can hardly be considered an important meld. The only possible reason for the play is that she is ready to meld out if she can only get a base of four natural cards somewhere or other. At least three of her four remaining cards must be wild cards.

Hence you must co-operate by providing the base. You must add the ace and the four to her melds, thus giving her two bases. Then, you should add your deuce to either of those two melds. This will give your partner the maximum help. You should also meld your three tens to provide a parking space for any odd ten your partner may happen to hold.

If your partner is a poor player, her play may have any meaning or not at all. It is still wise to add the ace and four to her melds, but you should probably stop right there. Save your deuce and your three tens until you see how the play develops.

Executive Of Bedford H. And S. Outlines Plans

Bedford, Nov. 7 — An executive meeting of the Home and School Association of the Bedford High School was held on Thursday evening at the home of the president, Mrs. Malcolm McCaw. In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Charles Jones, the minutes of the previous executive meeting were read by Mrs. Richard Craighead and accepted as read.

A meeting of the Federation of Home and School Association will be held in Montreal at Divinity Hall, on Saturday, November 17th. The representatives from Bedford are Mrs. Sinclair McIntosh, Mrs. Alex MacArthur and Mr. W. F. Van Horn.

The report of the treasurer, Mrs. Lloyd Harris, showed that there was a balance on hand of $82.93 and that Dr. Jean Leblanc had been sent a check for $412 in final payment for fees for the Dental Clinic held for the students of the High School last spring.

The corresponding secretary, Mrs. Gordon Jones was instructed to write letters of thanks to the Student Council of the High School thanking it for the donation of $25 towards the Dental Clinic, and to the Women's Association of the Bedford United Church for its donation of $5 for the same project.

The serving of hot lunches at the High School will commence during the coming week.

Mrs. McIntosh reported that through the efforts of Principal Treacart, a grant of $475 had been obtained from the Department of Education for the purchase of additional books for the school library. On the occasion of the recent visit to the High School of Inspector Young, he expressed himself as greatly pleased with the library, the manner in which it is being conducted, and the success of the project, which was started last year. The books are given out on Thursday afternoon of each week, and at the present time, about a hundred books are given out weekly, which is very good, in view of the fact that the enrollment is 150.

Another Quickie

They're hush-hush about it at Columbia, but word's leaked out that Stanley Kramer will rush "Death of a Salesman," the Frederic March starrer, into a Hollywood movie house for a week just before Christmas to qualify for the Academy Award race. The studio pulled the same under-the-wire stunt with "Born Yesterday" last year.

Gilbert Roland is about to slap a lawsuit on producer-writer Paul Harrison, who signed him to a contract to star in "Flight Across the Border" and failed to raise capital to produce the movie. Busy Roland's next: "Glory Alley" for MGM.

Jean Arthur is beginning to thaw out and gab—but not to newsmen—on Paramount's "Shane" set. Uncommunicative Jean is under contract for two more movies at the studio.

The new makeup device that Gloria Swanson used in "Three for Bedroom C" has the boys in the projection rooms gasping. One of them whispered to me: "She looks about Janet Leigh's age."

Executive Of Bedford H. And S. Outlines Plans

November 11-18 has been designated as Book Week. A letter has been received from the Federation of Home and School Association, asking that special attention be given to books at this time. In connection with this week an address will be given on Saturday, November 10, over CFCF, at 1:10 p.m. by Miss Grace Crooks, a well-known librarian of Montreal, and who is known in Bedford as she formally opened the school library here last year.

The matter of forming a children's choir among the High School students was discussed. Mrs. Alex MacArthur, who has been very successful in training the junior choir at the Bedford United Church, has kindly offered to train the members of the choir.

Following the business meeting, refreshments were served, coffee was poured by Mrs. Gordon Jones.

ST. JAMES' GUILD

The bi-monthly meeting of the St. James' Church Guild was held at the home of Mrs. W. B. Bradshaw with an excellent attendance of members. The meeting was opened with prayer by the president, Mrs. Roger Campbell, after which the minutes of the preceding meeting, which was held at the home of Mrs. Blinco, were read by the secretary, Miss Jessie Blackwood and accepted as read.

Voluntary Workers Who Helped At Rotary Fair Entertained At Dinner

Voluntary workers who helped during the three days of the Rotary Fair were entertained at a customary dinner last night, in the New Sherbrooke Hotel.

President Emile Levesque welcomed the guests and thanked them for their co-operation, stating that without the extra assistance the Club would be unable to put over such a gigantic undertaking as the Rotary Fair. He expressed appreciation also to Past Presidents Gerry Wiggett and E. W. Gilbey, chairman and vice-chairman, respectively, of the Fair, for the time and effort they gave to the project.

The meeting was then turned over to Mr. Wiggett who thanked the general public for its support. City of Sherbrooke, the military authorities, the police department and Chief Moreau, the Fire Department and Director Donahue, the St. John Ambulance, the Boy Scouts, the press, both French and English, Canada Packers Limited, for the attractive decorations by Henri Arsenault, Provincial Transport for advertising the fair on their buses the Williams-Thompson Company, for three billboards, and all the friends of Rotary, who gave their whole-hearted co-operation towards making the fair a success.

"It is not necessary to thank Rotarians for doing any job assigned to them," he said, "but I do believe a great deal of credit should go to the various committees behind the scenes, responsible for much of the success of the Fair. My thanks also to the vice-chairman, it has been, as in the past, a pleasure to work with him."

President Levesque expressed thanks of the Club in French, and also introduced members of his family, including his wife, who worked for several months, prior to the Fair, making 5000 bags for the fishpond and filling them with articles, collected during the year.

Speaking briefly, Mayor C. B. Howard said he was pleased to join in celebrating the success of the Fair and congratulated the Rotarians and workers on their endeavour, reminding them that there is nothing in the world equal to service. "All the more credit is due you," he added, "because you serve in the background without receiving honor or praise."

The financial statement presented by Don Watson, revealed a gross total of $12,676, taken in during the three days of the Fair. The net is estimated at $7,000 and includes proceeds of the raffle, $4,500.

According to Mr. Watson, the net total will be approximately $1,200 less than last year's and can probably be attributed to rising costs and the very bad weather which persisted during the Fair.

Following are totals of the various booths, for the three nights and Saturday afternoon: Superfine, $2,548; Bingo, $2,311; Blankets, $1,879; Hams and chickens, $1,116; Fruit, $839; Horse Race, $942; Candy, $395; Hosiery, $305; Bourque, $202; Electrical, $502; Fish Pond, $517; Duck Pond, $221; Double-Double, $613; Cups and saucers, $353; Checkroom, $33.

Tom Keeley, with Wright Gibson at the piano, led the gathering in a sing-song, and following the dinner, dancing was enjoyed in the hotel dining-room.

Head table guests were piped into the Mayfair Room by Piper Charles Gordon.

Blushes Abound Following Mixup On Duke

Yes, our face is rightfully red.

A number of readers must have looked twice yesterday at the cutlines to the pictures on page three which told about the visit of the "Duke of Windsor" to Drummondville.

Of course it was the Duke of Edinburgh and if you can explain to us how the error survived the original writing of it, the printing and a double proof-reading you will clear up one of the mysteries of the year.

The error was caught in time to have it erased from most of the papers that were distributed, but some copies could not be recalled.

It is small comfort to us to note that one of our large city colleagues a few weeks ago referred to the Duke of Edinburgh as the Duke of Connaught in its columns.

We can only apologize to those of our readers who did receive the paper with the error, realizing that they at least knew who was at Drummondville.

We do, however, stick by our statement that some of the carnations presented to the Princess at Drummondville were blue—a fact one reader questioned. Mayor Antoine Biron confirmed this today, stating that they had been specially dyed to complete the color scheme of red, white and blue.

PAYING THE BILL

The Financial Post has taken a look at the proposals for financing the new old age security program instituted by the federal government. It is to cost an additional $250,000,000 a year over the existing payments, or a total of $365,000,000. Income tax, sales tax and corporation tax will provide the money, which means, The Post says, that the consumer will eventually be paying for most of it. It feels that most corporations, but not all of them, will be able to pass the increase on and points out that United States experience backs this up.

But getting down to individual cases, The Post offers this example of the impact of the new scheme:

Let's take the case of a married man aged 25, with no children. If his wife is the same age, they can look forward to a 45-year wait until they will collect the $960 per year payable to the two of them if they are still alive at 70. If we assume an average income of $5,000 a year (the wife may work), what do they pay in the new taxes?

First, they pay the maximum $60 in increased personal income tax.

Second, they pay about $37 a year on the 2-points on the sales tax.

The 2-point rise in corporation income tax will in the long run cost them $25 more annually.

This means that under the "2-2-2" formula, the couple will pay an additional $122 in taxes each year.

In 45 years this amounts to $5490.

If for each of the 45 years the couple were able to take their $122 and invest it at 5%, at age 70, with interest compounded annually, they would have a principal of $19,483. (After all, money will double itself in 20 years at 3 1/2%.) This principal, invested at 5% would bring an income of $974 a year — leaving the principal intact, whether or not they both live.

From the Government, if they both live, they will receive $960, and have no principal.

The people of Canada, through their Parliament, seem to favor this pension scheme. These figures are presented merely to show what it will cost, and to indicate why some people may still be in favor of paddling their own canoe.

JALOPIES AND THE PUBLIC

The Windsor, Ont., police are to crack down on jalopies, that automotive vehicle of ancient vintage and indifferent mechanical condition. They will also make a drive against impatient drivers, and renew their campaign against speeders. In supporting the drive, The Windsor Star used words that might well apply to Sherbrooke and other parts of this province when it says:

Jalopies, unless kept in good mechanical condition, are a menace to the safety of the public, and also to those who ride in them. Impatient drivers and speeders contribute greatly to the accident rate.

A six-piece orchestra plays continuously. And everything is done with the spirit of graciousness which shows that the only thing the hostess wants is for people to have fun.

About this potato salad Eisenhower, Ike, it seems, is quite a cook. He comes over to Luxembourg whenever he can, to get away from it all. He and Mrs. Mesta like to go out in the kitchen and whip up something new, just for the fun of it, while they talk.

Out of one of these sessions came potato salad Eisenhower.

The secret, it seems, is to make it up the day before, to let all the flavoring and seasoning soak in. The potatoes are almost mashed. Lots of celery, garlic powder, eggs, mayonnaise.

As she knows Ike so well, it was only natural that Mrs. Mesta be asked about his presidential intentions.

"What do you think?" she counters, looking you straight in the eye.

Is he a Republican or a Democrat?

"What do you think?"

Well, how can he possibly run as a Republican, if the GOP stands for an isolationist foreign policy?

"What do you think?"

Maybe Mrs. Mesta ought to try converting him into a Democrat.

"Maybe you think I haven't tried!" she exclaimed.

Then, clapping her hand to her mouth and turning away: "Oh, goodness! What did I just say?"

any worthy individual who has an old car, perhaps because he can't afford anything better, who keeps it in good running order and drives carefully.

These three categories, the drivers of jalopies, impatient drivers and speeders, are responsible for a large percentage of accidents. There are too many accidents in Windsor. It is the duty of police to do what is proposed, and a reinforced traffic squad will enable them to do it.

Impatient drivers are not good drivers. They are prone to take chances. And speeders, whether they recognize it or not, are reckless drivers.

Police action is in the public interest, but also in the interest of those directly involved in the three categories mentioned. It can save them from injury or even death.

PEARL MESTA'S SLIP SHOWS SHE TRIED TO MAKE LIKE A DEM

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Luxembourg — (NEA) — The Military Air Transport Service special plane carrying a load of American correspondents on an inspection of European defense establishments was fog-bound at Luxembourg, en route from Brussels to Wiesbaden. So Pearl Mesta, the U. S. Minister to this tiny picturesque duchy, invited us all to dinner. And, what an evening it turned out to be!

When Madam Minister Mesta first came over, there was a great rush of the curious and the social climbers to have the first dinner date with her. That era has now passed. Mme. Minister has become an institution in these parts. So this is merely a report on the latest, if not the last, supper.

As a bulwark of U. S. defenses in Western Europe, Mme. Mesta is one of the best things that has happened in the way of American propaganda. She is Lady Bountiful of Luxembourg. When her two Cadillacs, driven by faithful retainers Frank Toomey, chauffeur and bodyguard, and Garner the butler, roll over the winding Luxembourg streets and roads, American flags flying from the fenders, rosy-cheeked Luxembourgers, young and old, line the roads to wave and cheer. Mme. Minister waves and smiles back at them all, and everything is very gemütlich.

She's almost as popular as the Grand Duchess herself. They tell the story here that when the Grand Duchess's daughter was married this summer, Mme. Mesta was invited to attend as matron of honor. She got every bit as much applause from the populace as the Grand Duchess and the bride herself.

HER POPULARITY KEEPS HER BUSY

She has done wonders for Luxembourg war orphans and other deserving local charities. She is asked to speak, and she accepts nearly all invitations to speak at local gatherings. She is invited to be present, and lay wreaths on the graves of Luxembourg war heroes, on the anniversaries of their deaths. Every letter that comes into the embassy gets an answer, signed by the Minister herself, from faithful Secretary Pat Ventura, daughter of the New York World-Telegram & Sun's Society Editor.

In short, Pearl Mesta has spread more good will for the United States in the Benelux countries than anything that ever happened.

Once a month she holds open house. American GIs from miles around flock in, and sign her guest book. Their folks at home then get a letter saying that the boy was in and was looking fine. That helps, too. Formerly she held these parties in her official residence, the former German embassy palace on the edge of town. But these parties have become so big she has now had to hire a hall.

Native Luxembourgers are there in droves, from the prime minister, other cabinet members, the mayor of the capital—Luxembourg City—the mayors of all the other towns, the head of the Chamber of Commerce, hotel, resort and inn-keepers, on down. The American tourist business to Luxembourg has flourished since Pearl came. One guest confessed, "This is the third time I've been invited here this week."

Her guest book carries the name of every American bigwig who has been in these parts. Secretary of Treasury John Snyder, Jim Farley and wife, General Vandenberg, General Norstad, General Eisenhower and Mamie.

Her parties are famous. Fifty is just a small gathering. The bowl is always flowing and the cup always cheers. The buffet is always big and beautiful. For the correspondents who just dropped in on her it was roast beef, roast veal, roast ham, chicken, macaroni, rice, potatoes, vegetable salad, potato salad Eisenhower, ice cream with chocolate sauce, coffee, champagne, liqueurs and whisky.

SHE WANTS PEOPLE TO HAVE FUN

A six-piece orchestra plays continuously. And everything is done with the spirit of graciousness which shows that the only thing the hostess wants is for people to have fun.

About this potato salad Eisenhower, Ike, it seems, is quite a cook. He comes over to Luxembourg whenever he can, to get away from it all. He and Mrs. Mesta like to go out in the kitchen and whip up something new, just for the fun of it, while they talk.

Out of one of these sessions came potato salad Eisenhower.

The secret, it seems, is to make it up the day before, to let all the flavoring and seasoning soak in. The potatoes are almost mashed. Lots of celery, garlic powder, eggs, mayonnaise.

As she knows Ike so well, it was only natural that Mrs. Mesta be asked about his presidential intentions.

"What do you think?" she counters, looking you straight in the eye.

Is he a Republican or a Democrat?

"What do you think?"

Well, how can he possibly run as a Republican, if the GOP stands for an isolationist foreign policy?

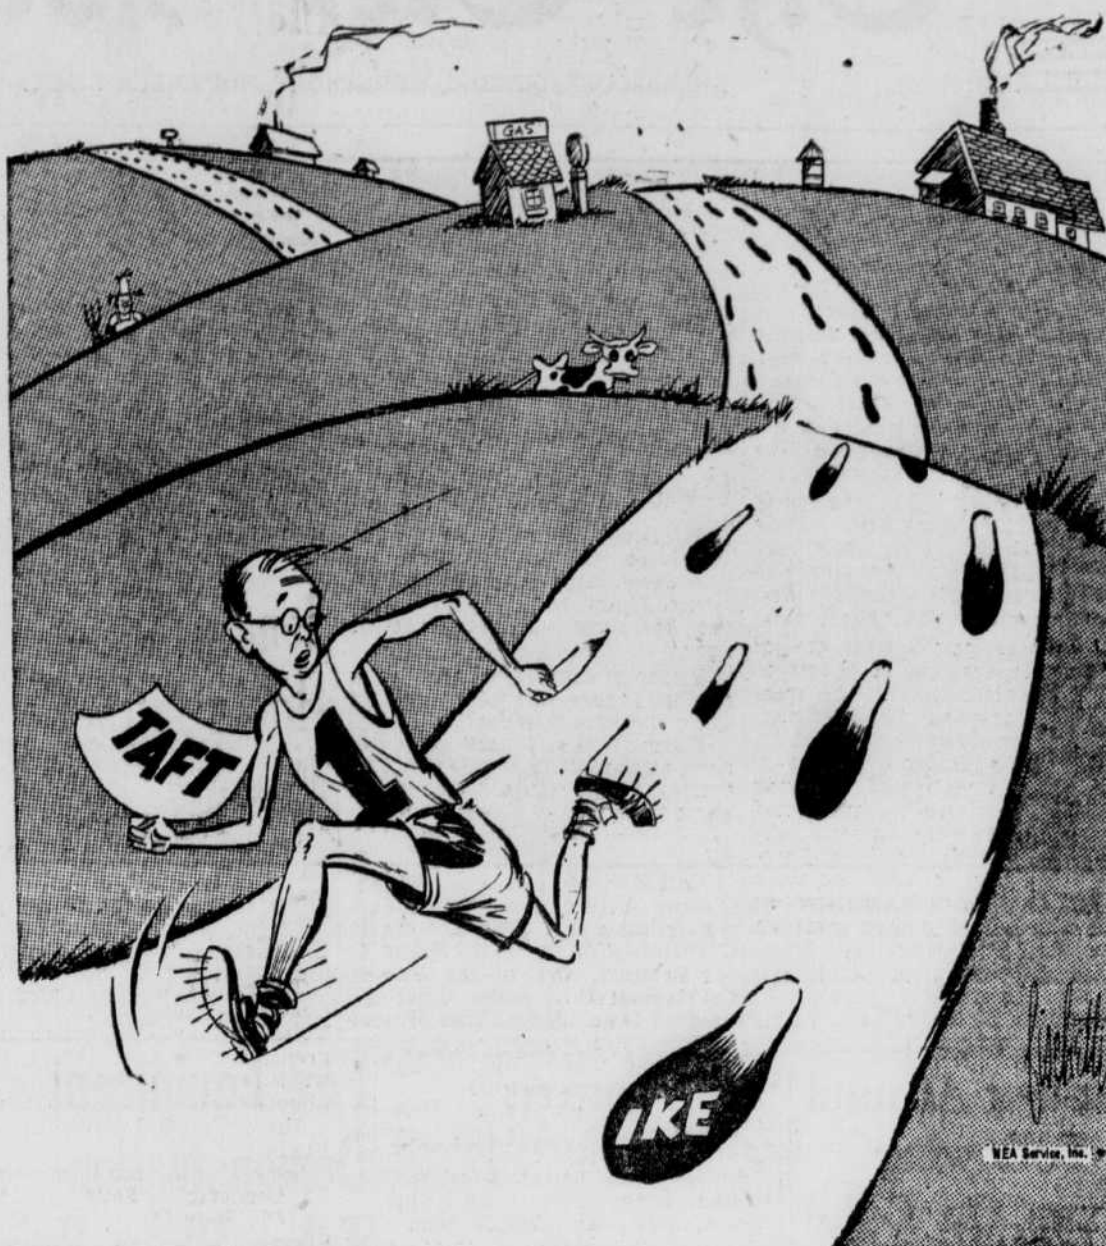

"What do you think?"

Maybe Mrs. Mesta ought to try converting him into a Democrat.

"Maybe you think I haven't tried!" she exclaimed.

Then, clapping her hand to her mouth and turning away: "Oh, goodness! What did I just say?"

Royal Visit To Canada Means Additional Work For Margaret

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Nov. 7 — The absence abroad of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh has meant extra work for 21-year-old Princess Margaret.

No doubt her sister's return will be a happy day for the slim, vivacious younger Princess. It will lighten considerably the heavy burden of official engagements now resting on her shoulders.

As one of the five councillors of state, appointed by the King to act for him during his illness, she ranks second only to the Queen while Princess Elizabeth is away.

This entails the reading and countersigning of state documents passed by the Queen, the receiving of official visitors and other daily duties.

The Princess, it is said, takes her part of "stand-in" pretty seriously. She insists on reading each of the long documents she receives, despite their formidable phraseology. If she is in doubt of their meaning she does not hesitate to ask the department concerned.

The Princess sets aside two hours for her "papers." And that isn't the full extent of her office work. With the help of only one lady-in-waiting, Jennifer Bevan, she must also attend to extensive official and private correspondence.

"I told Elizabeth not to worry, that we'd look after everything until she returned," the Princess is said to have told a friend, "But I also told her I'd be counting the days until she gets home again."

POOR KEY PLAY COST THIS SLAM

Two red nines were the key cards in today's hand. When the hand was played in a recent team match, both declarers lost the slam by stubbing their toes over the red nines.

In both rooms, West opened the king of spades and continued with the ace. In the first room South ruffed with the seven of hearts—a mistake. He next led the king of hearts, discovering that West had all four of the missing trumps.

South had to continue with the queen and ten of hearts. West covered the ten of hearts with the jack, forcing dummy to win the third round of trumps with the ace. Dummy's last trump was the eight, and South's was the nine. Declarer therefore could not draw the last trump without returning to his own hand.

The only chance was to take the diamond finesse before drawing the last trump. West ruffed the first diamond and got out safely with a club. Now South was stuck in his own hand and eventually had to give up a diamond trick. Down two.

In the second room, South made a better start by ruffing the second spade with the nine of hearts. He next led the king of hearts, followed by the queen and ten. It didn't matter whether or not West covered with the jack of hearts. Dummy's fourth trump was the eight, while South's was the seven. Hence dummy could win the fourth round of trumps.

With all the trumps drawn and the lead in the dummy, South made a better start by ruffing the second spade with the nine of hearts. He next led the king of hearts, followed by the queen and ten. It didn't matter whether or not West covered with the jack of hearts. Dummy's fourth trump was the eight, while South's was the seven. Hence dummy could win the fourth round of trumps.

East played low, and South was a dead duck. If he dropped the low diamond, he would have to win the second round of the suit in his own hand with the ten or jack; and then there would be no

The extra duties have not dimmed the spontaneous charm and love of fun of Britain's No. 1 bachelor girl. She still finds time and energy to indulge her favorite pastime, dancing.

After the recent Royal variety show Oct. 29, Margaret headed for the Café de Paris to witness Noel Coward's cabaret debut, and stayed long after midnight. The party included Prince Nicholas of Yugoslavia and a favorite escort-of-the-moment, Billy Wallace.

The Princess wore an ivory satin gown with narrow shoulder straps, embroidered in mother-of-pearl paillettes, and a white fox-cape. Next night, in a striking black cocktail dress trimmed with blue sequins and topped by a pale pink coat she attended "Penny Plain," an intimate review starring Joyce Grenfell and Elizabeth Welch.

OCEANIC EARTHQUAKES

There are, on the average, about 50 major earthquakes annually. These are recorded at seismograph stations all over the world. Whether they produce damage depends upon where they occur. A large proportion are under the ocean and, if it were not for the seismographs, we would never know about them.

The Record Short Story

BUSHMASTER

By JIM KJELGAARD

When Felipe Juarez left the village he swayed under an unbearable load of shame, and self-contempt, and self-hatred, because he had not fought.

The entire village had witnessed his humiliation when Pablo Seria had challenged him to stand up and battle for his love. Was he a man, Pablo had loudly demanded, or just a gaudy parrot? Could he do anything except talk, and discipline children, and delve into books? Then Pablo, not even deigning to deal a man's blow, had slapped him on the cheek. Pablo's final orders burned hotly in Felipe's ears.

Pablo stumbled down a jungle trail, conscious of the village's collective eyes burning into his retreating back. They were not all scornful eyes, for many in the village had been entranced by Felipe's tales of romance and mystery and high adventure. None dared face Pablo.

Felipe continued down the trail, scarcely seeing where he was going and not caring. He had been ordered to leave the village, his home, and the school he taught there, and Rita Hernandez, and never come back. If he did, Pablo would kill him.

He did not know how much time had elapsed before he could restore any order to his disordered brain, but when he stopped he was in the flowered glade. It was a beautiful place, a little meadow that rose on one side to high rocks where a tinkling, ice-cold waterfall had its birth. Bids of vari-colored jungle flowers, loveliness in its most virginal form, grew among the grasses. Lofty, vine-draped trees bordered the glade.

Felipe looked about, for the first time able to think clearly. Except for a school room filled with young children, fresh new minds, this was the most appealing and most beautiful place he knew. It was here that he had brought Rita Hernandez to tell her of his love, and when he looked around he knew for the first time that he could run no farther.

He was still afraid, but the deep-seated strength of a disciplined mind was more powerful than fear. He had consecrated his life to the village, and to helping the village's children have a better life. He loved Rita Hernandez. Felipe stopped and faced the village. The things in which he believed were precious things, worth fighting for. If he did not defend them, with his life if necessary, then no one in whom the fires burned less hotly could be expected to do so. He must wait here for Pablo.

When Felipe glanced down he saw the bushmaster at his feet. Felipe froze where he was, not daring to so much as avert his eyes, for the evil thing that lay so near was the most terrible and most dreaded of all vipers.

A full 12 feet long, it was so roughly-scaled that its body was faintly suggestive of a pineapple. Its color was reddish-yellow, crossed by black bands, and a black line ran from its eye to the angle of its jaw.

Not moving a muscle, trying not even to blink, Felipe kept his eyes on the hellish creature. Slim-bodied despite its length, alert, its every line spoke of death in its most horrible form. Only two weeks ago a bushmaster half the length of this one had invaded the village and bitten Miguel Cervera. Miguel had screamed his agony, but only for 10 minutes. Then he had died.

Felipe gauged his chances, and knew he had none. The viper was scarcely a yard from him, in easy striking distance. It could bite him if it wished, and if it did he would die. Then the first flush of terror passed and Felipe's mind again took control of the situation.

Doubtless the bushmaster, not even seeing him, had come so close because he stood so still. If he remained still, as quiet as a dead tree, the snake might go away of its own accord. Almost certainly it would turn and bite him if he moved.

His legs began to ache, and the stiffness crept into his back. Despite that, Felipe wondered at himself because of the great calmness that had followed his first fear. He was face to face with death and knew it, but somehow that knowledge helped clarify many things about which he had hitherto been unable to think clearly.

Then, when the approaching man was only a few feet away, he knew that he could not do such a thing. No other man could kill it murder, but Felipe would always know. Because he believed in the books he read, and all the things he had taught the children, Felipe knew that it would be better to risk his own life than to let the bushmaster bite Pablo. Man was his brother-keeper.

Felipe raised his voice. "Stop! The bushmaster!" At the sound of his voice, the bushmaster jerked his head. It was startled, and confused, and possibly thought itself surrounded by enemies. Like a sinuous whip, with-out striking at all, it glided away into the grass.

Felipe raised his aching eyes to meet the startled ones of Rita Hernandez.

ADDITIONAL SPORT NEWS Chicoutimi Dumps Ottawa Senators 4-1 To Tie Braves For Leadership

Chicoutimi, Que., Nov. 7.—(P)—Chicoutimi Saguenays last night held Ottawa Senators scoreless for two periods and then defeated them 4-1 in a Quebec Senior Hockey League game.

The victory put Saguenays into a two-way tie with Valleyfield Braves leading the league.

Sherman White scored a pair of goals for Chicoutimi, one of them an unassisted effort in the middle stanza that turned out to be the winning marker.

Dick Wray and Jimmy Moore tallied once each. Veteran Eddie Emberg fired the lone Senator marker early in the third period.

Wray, Lou Smrke and Billy Arcand combined for the opening goal early in the first period while Rip Riopelle of Senators was serving a minor penalty.

That was the only tally while the opposing club was short-handed, but Saguenays' final goal in the third period was scored while they had only five men on the ice. The game was lightly penalized with each club serving four minors.

White's unassisted goal came at 14:35 of the second period to give Chicoutimi a 2-0 lead.

Emberg got Senators back in the game at 1:32 of the final frame when he, Leo Gravelle and Billy Robinson combined to beat Marcel Pelletier in Chicoutimi nets.

Pelletier showed brilliant form during the third period when Senators peppered him with 17 shots. He handled 26 in the three periods compared with 22 stops made by Bill (Legs) Fraser in the Ottawa cage.

Sam Snead Favored To Cop North-South Event

Pinehurst, N.C., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Sam Snead, a hard man to handle on any golf course, and particularly on the No. 2 championship layout of the Pinehurst Country Club, was in his familiar role as the man to beat today as the 49th North and South Open Golf Tournament's first round got under way.

Snead, who registers from White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., has won this five-day tournament the past two years and three times in all. On four occasions he's been second. Three of those years saw him take runner-up money behind Ben Hogan, but with Hogan not around, Snead overshadowed the field of 111 more than ever.

This 72-hole, $7,500 tee party carries a $1,500 first prize. Single rounds will be played daily over the 7,007-yard, par 72 course with the exception of Saturday, left open to avoid football conflict.

Snead was paired with one of the few players given a chance to upset the calculations in the opening round, drawing Max Faulkner, British Open Champion, whom he subdued in a Ryder Cup match here three days ago. Completing one of the classic threesomes ever to walk these ancient fairways was Pinehurst's Dick Chapman, reigning British Amateur Champion. In fact, the entire British Ryder Cup team was on hand.

Officials: Deschamps, Demers.

Snow Forces Officials To Call Off Racing

Chicago, Nov. 7.—(AP)—A majority of 40 jockeys reported the slowness of the snow-covered track at Sportsman's Park yesterday and for the first time in Chicago horse-racing history the program was cancelled by weather conditions.

Some 2,500 patrons turned up despite the snow storm. The program was cancelled after the second race. Only seven jockeys were willing to continue.

Track officials also ruled out today's card, but said racing would resume tomorrow, weather permitting.

Hockey Postponed Owing To Snow Storm

St. Louis, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The scheduled game last night between St. Louis Flyers and Buffalo Bisons has been postponed—because of snow.

Transportation is almost at a standstill here after 24 hours of snow and cold weather.

Flyer officials said the game has been rescheduled here Feb. 8. The game has a regularly scheduled game here Feb. 9.

Tennessee Rated Tops In Weekly College Poll

New York, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Powerful Tennessee is the No. 1 college football team in the United States for the third straight week in the Associated Press Poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

Louis Has Good Chance To Settle Tax Question

Chicago, Nov. 7.—(AP)—A final tax settlement offer based on Joe Louis' retirement from the ring is being prepared by the former heavyweight champion's accountant, Theodore Jones.

Jones said yesterday the offer includes "money from all of Joe's comeback fights, including his last when he was knocked out by Rocky Marciano."

A week ago, John Jarecki, head of the Chicago Internal Revenue Bureau said Louis' chances were good of making a settlement with the government on back income taxes if he quit the ring.

Louis reportedly owes about $100,000 in back taxes.

Joe, who is going through with an exhibition tour in Japan, plans to announce his definite future plans when he returns next month, said Truman Gibson, Louis' attorney.

"Louis had a fight scheduled for Honolulu on Dec. 12th," said Gibson. "But he personally wired the promoter there to change it to an exhibition."

Jockey Lawless Given Clear Sheet By Jury

Providence, R.I., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Jockey Richard F. Lawless, 19, of Brooklyn, N.Y., was acquitted yesterday in a race-fixing case.

Lawless was one of six persons indicted by a grand jury investigating reports of race-fixing at both Lincoln Downs and Narragansett Park racetracks in this state a year ago.

The indictment against Lawless charged that Nov. 7, 1950, he offered Jockey Wilfred Hughes money to pull a horse. Hughes has been suspended by Rhode Island, Massachusetts and New Hampshire racing boards.

The state's only evidence against the defendant was the unsupported testimony of Hughes, who repudiated his own statements before the grand jury in some details.

The program follows:

Soprano: Le rossignol et la Rose

Girouette—Saint-Saens

Piano: Girometta—Sibella

At the close of the program, refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by a few of the members.

H. J. Moffatt Heads Group At Lennoxville

Howard J. Moffatt is the new president of the Lennoxville-Ascot Community Association. He succeeds Eric W. Lennon.

Mr. Moffatt and the other officers were elected at an executive meeting immediately after the 8th annual meeting which was held Monday night in St. George's Hall, Lennoxville.

Other officers are as follows: Vice-President, Mr. Lennon; secretary, Mrs. W. B. Brady; treasurer, David Gray (re-elected).

An immediate membership drive is to be started as the Association had only 88 paid-up members last year, this being reflected in the anemic bank balance in the report of the treasurer.

The meeting also decided that Mrs. C. Beaudreau be appointed central secretary, to advise on all activities and meetings going on in Lennoxville and on what dates. This "clearing-house" office was deemed advisable because it was felt too many activities were taking place on certain dates, thereby cutting attendance at each.

The Association's annual meeting attracted approximately 50. Two recommendations were passed (1) That the Provincial Police regulate traffic on the Sherbrooke-Lennoxville road and set a speed limit of 30 miles per hour the entire length of the road and that something be done to stop the atrocious speeding through Lennoxville itself, which has a lower than the provincial limit.

(2) That the new operators of the Sherbrooke bus system be asked to supply more comfortable buses for Lennoxville, the meeting having felt that outmoded buses were being used in the town now, particularly the second bus used in rush hours.

Several annual reports were read by Robert Cowans, chairman of the Youth Center committee; W. G. MacDougall, chairman of the Town Improvement Committee; president's and treasurer's reports.

Mr. Cowans urged that the Youth Center's quarters in the town hall be washed, by the Association, and re-decorated, the Town to supply the paint. He said the Youth season begins Saturday with the opening dance.

Mr. MacDougall said the new streets should join in the plan to beautify Lennoxville by planting trees but that there were instances where too many trees appeared on streets and the surplus should be chopped down.

The new president thanked the retiring officers for their efforts on behalf of the Association.

For Bad Winter
Cough, Mix This Syrup Yourself

If you want a splendid cough medicine, mix it at home. It costs very little, yet the way it takes hold of distressing coughs, giving quick relief, is astonishing.

Any drugstore can supply you with a 2½ ounce bottle of Pinex. Pour this into a 16 ounce bottle and fill up with granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. To make syrup, use 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water and stir until dissolved. No cooking needed. (Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.) It's no trouble at all and gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money—a family supply. Keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps to clear the air passages.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a very reliable soothing agent for winter coughs. Money refunded if not pleased in every way.

FOR EXTRA CONVENIENCE GET NEW,
READY-TO-USE, PREPARED PINEX.

The Doctor Says

SURGERY IS MOST MODERN TREATMENT FOR VARICOSE VEINS

By Edmnd P. Jordan, M.D.
Although varicose veins and varicose ulcers are primarily diseases of the middle and later years of life, younger people are also sometimes troubled with these conditions.

Standing on the feet a great deal, overweight, childbirth, chronic constipation, the wearing of tight bands around the legs or hips, all probably contribute somewhat to the development of varicose veins. Here then, as in so many other disorders of mankind, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

The veins near the surface of the body all have folds or valves which prevent the blood from flowing the wrong way. They are especially important in the legs.

The pressure on the valves in the veins of the legs is especially great and they are often broken. When this happens the necessary support is lessened and the vein becomes swollen. It is these swollen blood vessels which are called varicose veins.

Swollen veins are unsightly and women especially dread them for this reason almost as much as for the complications which they may produce.

People who have varicose veins are more likely to have swollen feet or ankles than those with normal veins. Also the poor circulation brought about by varicose veins can produce ulcers. Such ulcers sometimes become enormous, and cause open sores. Successful Treatment

Several ways of treating varicose veins and ulcers have had much success. The use of elastic bandages which support the widened and enlarged varicose veins is, of course, an old remedy and helpful in many cases.

Varicose veins are often removed by surgery. Injections for varicose veins have been used for many years. These act by closing the opening of the varicose vein entirely so that the blood must flow through some other vein which is normal or lies deeper in the tissue. At present, surgery seems to be becoming more popular as a treatment and injections less so.

We've been in Sherbrooke but a few months . . . and we've had to enlarge our store to handle the crowds of happy people who've found that Talon's is the place to shop and save money! We told you when we first opened that we were going to keep prices down! We did just that! We were amazed at the response. Frankly, we underestimated the power of the press and the value-consciousness of Eastern Townships people! There were times when shopping at Talon's was not as pleasant as it could be. First of all, the store was too small to give you all good service. Later, there were renovations and resultant confusion to contend with . . . but you bore up well, and we thank you from the bottom of our heart! London Women See Fashionable Duds Modestly Priced

By MURIEL NARROWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London. Suits and dresses with a fashion-plate look, at prices most working girls can afford, were shown to a large audience of women in London's coliseum, well-known theatre in St. Martin's Lane.

Sponsored by a popular woman's magazine, the show was aimed to give women, rather than buyers, some idea of the wealth of up-to-date styles and colors obtainable at prices suited to every pocket.

Costing as low as $3 and fashioned to suit all tastes, styles ranged from the classic button-through dress with its easy pleating to tight-skirted Paris fashions with peg-top skirts, hip draping and balloon sleeves.

For $5 to $8, there were clothes even the fastidious might find suitable for "that special date." Much of the lure, however, lies in the choice of clever accessories.

Black suits and dresses, with stark simplicity of line were highlighted by such contrasts as jade-green hat and gloves. The new charcoal greys might be teamed with leopard muffs and fur-trimmed hats.

A sophisticated "lady in black" outfit worn with black accessories and priced at $7.10s. had a flowing line to the wide, waist-deep grosgrain revers that matched a grosgrain over-flap to the apron front. The only touch of color to this dolman-sleeved dress with its wing-cuff, three-quarter sleeve was a metallic spot in gold throughout.

For the more conservative there were classic styles in unobtrusive checks such as the straight-skirted dress with big flap pockets, double-breasted shirt-top and three-quarter cuffed sleeves, priced at $6.12s.

Three-piece outfits with smart, slim-skirted suits under box swager coats cast 19 guineas and could be found in different styles and colors. A sportswear three-piece had classic oatmeal suit topped by a yellow-and-brown swager coat in birdseye check.

An up-to-the-minute garment with a utility price was the black wool cloak with soft shoulderline, tiny pointed collar and red lining. Worn with black accessories over a slim black suit, it had the somewhat sinister look reminiscent of Victorian melodrama. It may also be used as a reversible evening wrap. Afternoon and evening wear included housecoats, cocktail two-pieces and evening dresses, all at moderate prices. A lovely housecoat in black gold-trimmed angora cost $7.10s.

A new electric paint peeler is a chisel-like device with its handle raised at an angle to permit easy holding when the blade is flat on the painted surface. Heating elements within the blade develop enough heat to soften the old paint so that it can be pushed off with the scraper edge.

Several important shipping ports of the world are equipped with shore-based radar which notes approaching ships in foggy weather; radar operates direct to the vessels by radio.

Most of the U.S. mica production comes from the western part of North Carolina.

RICHMOND will observe REMEMBRANCE DAY NOVEMBER 11th

Canadian Legion,
Richmond Branch,
No. 15

THAN THAT HE LAY DOWN HIS LIFE!

Remembrance Day is a time set aside to pay tribute both to those who have fallen in battle and to the civilian dead. Yet the celebration of Remembrance Day is empty if it does not prompt us to remember the causes for which men have given their lives and to rededicate our own lives for the welfare of humanity. Let us, each and every one, resolve to keep faith with those who have gone before us and to give substance to that faith in our daily thought and action.

PLEASE NOTE

All citizens of Richmond are hereby invited to take part in this great Remembrance Day service, and to assemble at the Monument in Memorial Park (near Mackenzie Bridge) by 10.30 a.m. on the 11th. All societies, clubs, groups and organizations of the community are requested to join with the Canadian Legion in this Remembrance Day observance, to join in the Parade leaving the Town Hall at 10.25 a.m.

Women's Institute Convention At Canterbury East

Canterbury East, Nov. 6. — The semi-annual Convention of Compton County Women's Institute met in Bury with Mrs. Waldron, the County president, in the chair.

The meeting opened by singing the opening ode with Mrs. McRae as accompanist; also the Salute to the Flag, the Creed and the Lord's Prayer.

The minutes of the previous Convention were read and approved. Correspondence was read and other items discussed and various reports heard. It was voted to write a letter of appreciation to Mr. Don McMillan, Compton Co. agronomist. Suggestion brought in regarding the Women's Institute exhibits at the Cookshire Fair such as the same as last year, only as a County project. The branches are to discuss this and report their findings to the chairman, Mrs. Sharmar. It was voted that the County books be audited before the Convention; also that the money left over from the hospital fund be put into the County fund.

A discussion regarding the continuing of the scholarship was brought up. The conveners of education are asked to discuss the same at their meeting and find out how this money was to be made up and report to the Scholarship Committee—Mrs. Halliday, Sawyerville; Mrs. C. R. Eardley-Wilmot, Cookshire, and Mrs. Bennett, Canterbury.

Mrs. D. McRae read articles on Immigration which were very interesting and instructive, closing with remarks—"give the immigrants the good hand of fellowship and welcome. Rev. Cameron, of Sawyerville, and Miss Paintin, health nurse, both spoke on the Health Unit and Dental Clinic. Mrs. Parsons, pro-treasurer, gave an interesting talk on the Federal board meeting. Mrs. Claude Cooper, East Angus, Mrs. Eric Fisher, Bury, and Mrs. Percy Coates, Canterbury, were appointed to bring in the 1952-53 slate of officers and County conveners. The president reminded the meeting of scrap books.

A very interesting and helpful Convention closed with the National Anthem and a silent prayer for His Majesty the King's recovery.

Exile For Anti-Francoites Also A Paradise

CHANGING THE GUARD: When Franco's soldiers march down the streets of Palma, capital city of Majorca, nobody cheers. Spectators even walk away when the national anthem is played.

By ALLYN BAUM
NEA Staff Correspondent
Palma, Majorca — (NEA) — Twelve hours by boat from Spain is one of Franco's Siberias. It is also the "golden isle," the island of manana, the land of Frederick Chopin and George Sand, and the present day delight of European tourists.

Majorca lies in the Mediterranean between France and Spain; a 30-by-50-mile paradise of green mountains, rocky cliffs and white beaches where the sun shines all but 12 days in the year. It may soon rival Capri as an international playground.

But few tourists know that Majorca is an island of exile to at least 500 former political prisoners of Franco. After long years in jail, these men have been sentenced to resettle in Majorca at the end of their prison terms, never to return to their mainland homes again.

Travel and communications controls to and in Majorca are rigidly enforced. The island crawls with the hated Guardia Civil and hundreds of loyal Franco troops.

Despite close surveillance, opposition to Franco exists, even flourishes—but is doomed to failure because of Majorca's insular position. Criticism of Franco is more outspoken here than in any other place in Spain. No one cheers the sloppily, ill-equipped Spanish troops which parade through the streets of Palma, Majorca's capital. Spectators drift away when the national anthem is played.

Unlike the mainland, there are no blatantly pro-Franco posters plastered over Palma's walls. They would be ripped down as soon as darkness fell.

Everyone gapes at the radio. "Only bad records and worse propaganda," they say. Hardly anyone ever reads a Spanish paper. They prefer the more expensive foreign papers which arrive a week after original publication. So intense is the anti-Falangist feeling that Majorca's inhabitants

WATERLOO

Rural Dean and Mrs. Andrews and Miss Jessie Cook were in Foster on All Saint's Day to attend the service of Holy Communion in the Bishop Carmichael Church conducted by the rural dean.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Copping and family have moved from Court Street to take up residence in one of the DesLaurier apartments on Shaw Street.

Mrs. H. D. Wells was a weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lang, in Montreal.

TOURIST PLAYGROUND: In luxury hotels like this one in Majorca, visitors can have a room and bath with ocean view and three meals (including wine) for the equivalent of $3.50 a day.

stubbornly call streets for Franco war heroes by their original name. Franco's method of breaking up opposition to his regime is grimly efficient.

When an anti-Falangist finishes his prison term, he is "exiled" to the provinces or to the Balearic Islands of Majorca or Minorca—as far away from his original home as possible. Once there he must report monthly to the police who have his name on file. Any irregularities and the exile is returned to prison.

Only in Majorca does this method succeed completely. A political exile here told me that on the Spanish mainland many ex-prisoners have managed to return home and reorganize their underground because of the inefficiency and corruption of Franco's government and police.

As more anti-Falangists and political prisoners are shipped to Palma and Majorca, travel controls tighten.

All shipping to and from Majorca must go to Spanish ports. There is no maritime traffic whatsoever with Southern France or North Africa, the nearest foreign ports. Naval patrols enforce this blockade.

There are only three air flights weekly to foreign countries, two of which are on Spanish commercial lines. All three flights must arrive and depart on Sunday when Palma's airport is jammed with Falangist secret service agents and Guardia Civil carefully checking all passengers.

All other air travel during the week must go through Barcelona on the Western coast of Spain. All telegrams and telephone calls also must be routed through Barcelona. This entails fantastic delays. A call to Paris from Palma takes a minimum of 11 hours. In any other country in Europe, contact can normally be established within 30 minutes.

As "Siberias" go, however, Majorca could hardly be more pleasant. Food, rent and wines are cheap, the scenery is magnificent and the weather stunning.

But while delighted tourists and visitors sunbathe and swim in the clear blue Mediterranean Sea, the exiled men of Majorca dream only of when they can get away—back to the mainland and their homes and to what liberty is left them in Franco Spain.

Charles Slack, and Mrs. Slack, over the week-end and while here called on Mr. and Mrs. Irving Slack.

On Saturday afternoon following the funeral service for Mrs. Nicholas Carey, Mr. and Mrs. Fred

Anniversary Services Held At Drummondville

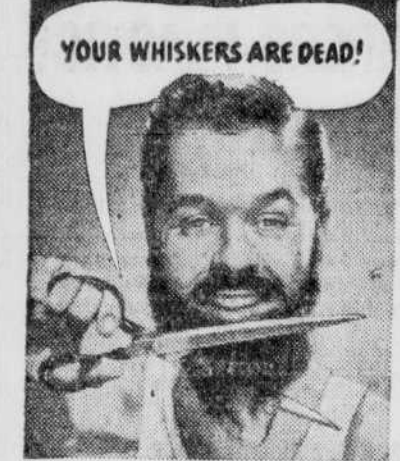

Drummondville, Nov. 7 — Last Sunday at the Trinity United Church, special anniversary services were held to mark the 23rd anniversary of the church, both morning and evening worship was very ably conducted by Rev. R. C. Tait, resident minister of Plymouth United Church, Sherbrooke. Both these services were very well attended, the theme of Rev. Tait's evening sermon was "Surveyor" the year 519, B.C.; his eulogy on the constructive and modern ideas of the youth of "today" the builders of tomorrow were founded on the basis of new foundations for the future, completely ignoring the rotten and outdated foundations of the past. Rev. Tait's delivery was superb and at times highly amusing and highly spiritual educating and was thoroughly enjoyed by both old and young alike.

The Choir of The Trinity United Church, Lindsay street, under the direction of the organist and choir-master, Mr. Gault Parker, rendered a recital of Sacred Music at the Uverton United Church recently. Music by outstanding composers were included on the program, with the soloists, Mrs. John Hole, contralto, Mr. R. Williams, baritone, Mr. C. Wilson, tenor, which was thoroughly enjoyed by the large turnout in attendance.

The choir will commence to prepare for their annual Christmas Candle-Light Carol Service which will be held in the United Church

IN THE WOMEN'S SPHERE

DOROTHY DIX

Unappreciative Wife

Complains That Devoted Mate Is Not Demonstrative Enough

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Thirteen years ago, at the age of 16, I married to get away from intolerable conditions at home caused by my stepfather. Now I have a nice home, four lovely children and a husband who is a good provider and a wonderful father. There is just one thing lacking—I've never had the love, affection and romance that goes with marriage (before and after). I try to drown this sorrow in taking more interest in the children; getting out with people and going places but my heart-loses out. My husband never tells me the little things a woman longs to hear nor ever shows me affection; he just takes me for granted. I go out of my way to do nice, special things for him hoping for a word of appreciation, but it's no use. I don't want to give up what I have but it's hard to realize that life is passing on and I'm still young. I'm fond of my husband but I can't consider this love.

DOROTHY DIX

ANSWER: What is your husband's side of the story, Camille? When you wanted escape from intolerable home conditions, as you call them, he was ready to marry you. He has given you thirteen years of devotion and fidelity, providing a good home, being a good father. In return, he has never had your love. Don't you think he has cause of complaint? You want from him what you have never been willing to give. Is that fair?

DON'T BLAME HIM I should say you have got far more from your marriage than you have put into it. You can't blame your husband because you married him. You rightly belonged to your teen-age years. That is one of the penalties being married at 16 entails—and one of the reasons I discouraged such marriages.

You have the most precious gifts a woman can get from wedlock. The protection and security of a good husband and home far outweighs the advantages of demonstrative affection. With four youngsters in the house you certainly do not want for love, and I'm sure your husband loves you dearly, even though he makes no outward show of his feelings.

Learn to accept your blessings and be truly thankful for them; yours are many! Perhaps a glance at the other side of life may convince you.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 16 years old and go with a boy 22. He is very nice but he always wants to tell me what to do and I don't like it. He wants to marry me when I am 17. Should I agree?

ANSWER: If you and your friend have difficulty getting along now, imagine what marriage will do to the situation. Of course you're too young to be going steady at all, and in view of your boy friend's odd disposition you shouldn't be going steady with him. Why not scout around and find some more congenial boys who won't be so bossy? The orders you get now, remember, are just a drop in the bucket compared to what you'll have to take after the wedding.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I'm a widow in the late sixties and have a son 35. He is a fine boy. We lived in a cottage for fifteen years. It was sold, so we were obliged to move to an apartment with three other families. Two of them keep us awake nights, sometimes as late as three in the morning. My son says if I complain they will only be worse. I don't mind noise if I could only stop at twelve.

MRS. M. ANSWER: Most people are really basically kind, and I'm sure if you tell these folks how much they disturb your rest they will exercise more consideration. If not, complain to your landlord. Many localities have ordinances against excessive noise at night; perhaps you live in one of them.

15. Mrs. Arthur Cross was appointed to take charge of the drawing. There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned by Mrs. W. J. Nutbrown, when Mrs. Mills served refreshments.

Miss W. Farmer will entertain the members at the next meeting at her home, 38 Portland Avenue, December 6, at eight o'clock.

Mrs. J. E. Brodeur, who was the guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clement Brodeur, Montreal, and was present at the festivities in honor of the Royal visit, has returned to her home on Queen Street.

Miss Muriel MacIver, of Toronto, Ont., is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Matheson, London Street.

Mrs. Raymond Provencher, Portland Avenue, has returned from Montreal, where she was the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Mason, with whom she attended the McGill ceremonies held in honor of their Royal Highnesses, Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

Mr. Alton Lomas, of Halifax, N.S.; Miss Della Ingraham, of Huntingdon, Que., and Miss Andrea Irwin, of Montreal, who were in town to attend the funeral of the late Mrs. J. W. Kirkpatrick, on Thursday last, have returned to their respective homes.

Mrs. Elsie R. Smith, Church Street, Lennoxville, who attended the funeral of Mr. C. H. Taylor, official of the St. James United Church, Montreal, and stayed with Mrs. Taylor for a few days, returned home on Saturday.

Mrs. J. S. Bourque, who is spending the week in Quebec, is entertaining tomorrow afternoon, at the Cafe du Parlement, together with other ministers' wives, the wives of the members who are in Quebec for the session.

Miss Evelyn Bradley, who spent several days visiting her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Ross Perrigard, in Westmount, has returned to her home on Goodhue Street.

On Tuesday afternoon, October 30, Mrs. M. Norris, president of St. Peter's W. A., was hostess at her home on King Street West, to the members when the regular monthly business meeting was held. There were fifteen members present, and at the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Norris, assisted by Mrs. C. Winstanley and Mrs. E. C. Dorman. Tea was poured by Mrs. P. M. Robins. Sewing meetings for the past few weeks, pending the completion of the Church Hall, have been held at the home of Mrs. F. W. Dawson, Wellington Street South, with a good attendance at each meeting. Hostesses at the weekly sewing meetings have been Mrs. F. W. Dawson, Mrs. George Heath and Mrs. Francis Ford.

The members of St. Patrick's Mission Circle enjoyed a departure from their usual procedure on Monday evening, when they were entertained at a card party in the library of the church hall, by the hostesses, Mrs. Roland Ewert, Mrs. Dan Towne and Miss Lucille Crochetiere. Canasta, bridge and rummy were played and the high scores of the evening were turned in by Mrs. Allen Howard. Mrs. Fred Wilson, Mrs. Edward Langevin, Mrs. Dowling and Miss Vera Davis. After the awarding of attractive prizes to the winners, the hostesses served refreshments with a Halloween touch for decoration.

A short business meeting followed when arrangements were completed for the sale of tea which is to be held in the church hall on Saturday afternoon for the benefit of the missions of Rev. Father Michael Hawkins, S. J. Father Hawkins is an old Sherbrooke boy, well known to many citizens and especially to the parishioners of St. Patrick's. This is the first time that any concerted help has been extended to him by his friends in Sherbrooke, and the Mission Circle is making a great effort to raise

MARRIAGES

CARR—BRYANT

On Saturday afternoon, October 6, at three o'clock, in the Church of St. Paul the Apostle, Sherbrooke, the marriage took place of Gloria Louise, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Bryant, and Basil Raymond Carr, only son of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Carr, all of Sherbrooke. The Rev. John Comfort, of Magog, officiating at the double ring ceremony. The wedding music was played by Mrs. John J. Robinson. White mums and lighted candles adorned the altar, and the pews reserved for the guests were marked with white mums tied with multi-colored pastel bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace, the skirt fashioned in three tiers, each tier finished with bands of pleated net, the fitted bodice fastened up the back with tiny covered buttons and a small Peter Pan collar edged with pleated net, and long sleeves tapering to points over her hands. Her shoulder-length veil of tulle fell from a Juliet cap of crossed tulle trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a single orchid.

Mrs. Les Thompson, sister of the groom, as matron of honor, was gowned in lavender. Her frock featured a quilted taffeta bodice, a very full skirt, and a capelet of quilted taffeta with net trim. She wore a small hat made of net bordered with flowers, gloves matching her gown, and she carried a bouquet of pale mauve baby mums.

Miss Pearl Robinson, as bridesmaid, was in a yellow gown, the yoke being of lace and the bodice and full skirt of taffeta. She wore a yellow lace cap trimmed with baby mums and carried a bouquet of yellow mums.

Miss Ann Hallett, as junior bridesmaid, was in green taffeta, having lace inserts in the bodice and full skirt. She wore a green skull cap and matching lace mitts, and she carried a bouquet of yellow baby mums.

Mr. Ronald Claricoates acted as best man, and the ushers were Mr. Earl Bryant, brother of the bride, and her cousin, Mr. Donald Rolfe, of St. Lambert.

The reception following the ceremony, was held at Elmwood Inn, funds for his very difficult missions in northern Ontario.

Mrs. Raymond Provencher was appointed chairman of the decoration committee, with 'the Misses Arlene Hand, Margaret Fitzgerald and Lucille Crochetiere assisting. It is hoped that a reproduction of one of Father Hawkins' missions will be displayed on the stage.

Silver Wedding Anniversary At West Shefford

West Shefford, Nov. 7 — "Bird-haven" was in festive mood a short time ago when Mr. and Mrs. Norman Snodgrass entertained in honor of the silver wedding anniversary of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Mizener, Mr. and Mrs. George Mizener, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Williams, of Foster; Mr. and Mrs. Orval Quilliams and Miss Jessie Cook, of Waterloo; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Boright with "Bill" and Miss Frances Boright and Mrs. Mabel Snodgrass, of Granby; and Mr. and Mrs. Miles Enright, of West Shefford—spent the evening playing cards. When the hostess, Mrs. Snodgrass, assisted by Mrs. Norman Boright served refreshments and Mrs. Woolley cut the beautifully decorated wedding cake, memories were recalled of that October 16th day back in 1926 when Aleda, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Snodgrass, became the bride of Mr. Stanley Woolley, of Cookshire, Que. Throughout the ensuing 25 years this popular couple who have achieved remarkable success in their business ventures have many friends in Akron, Ohio, and Silver Lake, N. H., as well as throughout the Townships, who wish them "ad multos annos" as husband and wife.

The Children's Corner

Rock-a-Bye

By Julia W. Wolfe

IN the National Museum in Washington there is a collection of cradles used by many Indian tribes. The simplest one among them is merely a strip of black bearskin doubled together and laced across with buckskin strings. It was used by the Comanche Indians long ago.

The women of older tribes later made more elaborate cribs, many of them with light trellised frames to make them firm.

Fantastic were those made by the Dakotas tribes; these were carried by the mothers by a head band fitting over the mother's forehead. The workmanship is very neat and curious, with a ground of milk-white porcupine quills on which figures of men, dogs and animals of the plains are embroidered, all in lively and well-chosen colors.

The Iroquois painted their cradles in gay colors. Great peacock feathers are splashed over many of their cradles. When these cradles were hung upon branches of trees the Indian baby must have looked like a peacock on the boughs. The colors must have been made from vegetables and they never fade.

AMONG the wild Apache tribes, the cradles are most elaborate.

Variegated bands of soft brown and white buckskin are cut to fringes which hang on the sides, and all are richly ornamented with clay beads of various colors.

Curious cradles were made by the Modoc tribes who lived in California and had opportunities to gather willows that do not grow elsewhere. Cradles were made of these willow boughs somewhat on the order of a canoe. It was intended to be set up against a rock or a tree, so that the babies slept in a standing position. And over each cradle was a cleverly-made parasol made of willow twigs.

The Comanche cradle was a roll of bark fastened in the front with moccasins laces.

CRADLES of Arctic people are also in this collection. These are lined with reindeer fur, and the baby was sewn up in a single garment-jacket, boots, mittens and cap all in one. Cold winds gave such carefully protected children no discomfort.

The big fur hoods worn by the Eskimo mothers were the cradles of primitive Eskimo babies.

Here also is a replica of Perigun White's cradle for his was the first baby born of Mayflower parents after they landed in 1620.

There are also cradles used by our early Dutch and English babies; many of them are made of cherry and oak woods. All are sturdy with rockers, something the Indian babies did not have.

Talk On Arctic Given At Meeting Of Bedford W. A.

Bedford, Nov. 7 — The opening meeting of the St. James' Church W. A. was held recently in the parish hall. The meeting was opened with prayer by the president, Mrs. Grisdele Gould, after which the minutes of the last meeting held in June were read by the secretary, Mrs. Richard Craighead, and accepted as read. The report of the treasurer, Mrs. George Harland, showed a balance on hand of $92.98. A letter was read by the secretary from Mrs. Gordon Jones, secretary of the Bedford Home and School Association, asking for a donation to the Dental Clinic at the High School. A canvass for a donation to this most worthwhile project will be made among the members and the proceeds forwarded to Mr. L. Harris, treasurer of the Home and School Association.

The president announced that the annual autumn rummage sale of the W. A. would be held in the parish hall on Friday, November 9. Articles would be collected on the preceding day in the morning and marked at the hall in the afternoon. Funds for carrying on the work of the Branch is obtained by two rummage sales held spring and fall. Mrs. Ralph Van Horn and Mrs. Roger Campbell will be in charge of the arrangements in connection with the sale.

The president then called upon the rector, the Rev. W. J. White, to introduce the guest speaker for the evening, the Rev. Mr. Raskell, who is on a lecture tour throughout Canada in aid of the missionary work of the Church of England in the Arctic. Mr. White welcomed the members from the out-of-town branches including Phillipsburg, Stanbridge East and Dunham, then proceeded with the introduction of the speaker, Mr. Raskell was born in Ireland, where he received his education in theology and was ordained, for three years he served as a curate in Dublin, coming to Canada five and half years ago, of which time he has spent five years as a missionary in the Diocese of the Arctic. Mr. White spoke of the interesting address delivered in the afternoon by Mr. Raskell to the pupils at the High School. Previously to coming to Bedford Mr. Raskell had visited Granby.

Mr. Raskell expressed his pleasure at being in Bedford. It is generally agreed that the Esquimaux came originally from the Orient, and through many migrations finally reached the Arctic. Mr. Raskell drew a parallel between the Esquimaux in their wanderings and the Children of Israel in theirs. One characteristic of the Esquimaux, is their dislike of war, and this was one reason for their travels, as they never banded together in war, they simply moved on when war threatened.

The Diocese of the Arctic is the largest Anglican diocese in the world, in Rupert's Land, contains two and one half million square miles, which is one-third the area of Canada. In this vast diocese there are only eighteen Church of England missionaries, who have immense distances to cover in visiting their isolated parishes. Mr. Raskell said that his parish was twice the size of his native country, Ireland. Three years were spent in working out of Fort Chimo, which is south of Ungava Bay and two years at Lake Harbor.

The Esquimaux are divided into two groups, caribou hunters and seal hunters. Their language is basically the same, but as one moves from one district to another the dialects change. In the eastern Arctic found Ungava Peninsula, Baffin Island, which is the largest of the islands, and all islands north of Baffin Island, the southern Arctic, is a portion of southern Ungava. Supplies are received once a year from Montreal, the requisites of the missionaries must go out in January of each year.

The population at Lake Harbor was roughly 250, the same as at Fort Chimo, the population varies with the seasons as the Esquimaux have to follow the seal, walrus and polar bear in their migrations, both to obtain sufficient food, as the Esquimaux live almost from hand to mouth, with no reserve food supply, and is totally dependant upon the country for both his food and clothing, also for the supplying of his other needs. Through the Hudson Bay trading posts, the Esquimaux trade their furs and receive needed goods in exchange. No money or checks are ever given to the Esquimaux, goods being given for the amount due them.

In character the Esquimaux are happy go lucky, without a worry in the world. Gratitude as known to the western world is unknown to them, it would never occur to them to express thanks or appreciation, but they have a deep sense of the fitness of certain things, for instance, when a hunting party goes out, it is taken for granted, that all spoils are to be divided equally among the members of the party, the unsuccessful hunter receiving as much as the successful members of the party.

In order to prepare seal skins for making into gloves and boots, the Esquimaux women chew the skins until they are soft and pliable. When the hunters come in at night, their wives consider it, as part of their household duties to chew the boots, that they may be soft and pliable to wear the next day. Skins from the square flipper seal, largest member of the seal family, are considered to be the best. White-bottom boots, which are waterproof are worn during the summer months, caribou sinew is considered the best and strongest thread for sewing the boots. Owing to the manner in which the skin is folded and to the fact that the sewing does not penetrate the thick skin, the boot is absolutely watertight. The winter boot, which has a black sole in warmer, but is not watertight.

Weather is most uncertain. One may start out on a trip in the morning with clear and sunny skies and in a short time run into a storm, which is known as a "drift," which may cause a delay of several days, as the only thing to do in the face of a blinding storm, is to stop, build an igloo and remain there until the storm is over. The only means of heating the igloo is from a primo stove. The igloo is built around the builder, who when the shelter is completed, has to remove one of the ice blocks, in order to get out. Before the igloo is completed all the chinks between the blocks of ice must be packed with snow, to make the shelter airtight. On Baffin Island the skins of polar bears, which are highly prized are used for floor coverings, with hair side against the floor, acting as insulation. Caribou skins are used for sleeping skins obtained in March are considered to be the best, summer skins, which are not so heavy are used for clothing.

Today a great change is taking place in the Arctic, and the future of this land depends upon the church. It is the church alone that will save the people from utter confusion. In order to understand a people it is most necessary that missionaries and all who have to come in contact with them know the language and live their life. All church services and sermons must be conducted in Esquimaux language, very few of them understand English. Tents and igloos are best situated for the housing of the Esquimaux, who as a rule are very intelligent and easy to train, but they have no educational background. The missionaries through the knowledge of their language and of their living habits acquired by living among them, understand the Esquimaux more than anyone else. Their phsology is entirely different from ours, and they are confounded and confused with the rapidity of present day changes. It is the work of the missionaries to instill the desire into the Esquimaux to grow in the grace and the love of God.

Mr. Raskell made a stirring appeal for help in this important branch of the missionary work of the church and stressed the need for many more missionaries and for greater financial aid. It costs $3,000 to keep one man in the Arctic field. The cost of erecting a mission house is $10,000.

A number of excellent slides were shown, which gave a clear picture of life in the Arctic. The intense blue of the snow gave an idea of the intense cold, and the buildings in the small settlements looked small against the snow covered background, stretching for miles of barren wastes, broken here and there with bleak hills. On his trips to his isolated parishes, which sometimes took weeks, Mr. Raskell in order to avoid taking canned goods along, which would add much to the weight of the sled, would mix together a large supply of stew, vegetables, potatoes, etc., then freeze. At night when camp was made a section of the frozen mass would be broken off, heated over the primus stove and a palatable and nourishing meal would be the result. The only means of travel is by dog sled, a good dog will draw about ninety pounds.

On some of his trip Mr. Raskell went into the barren lands, which are found above the tree line, where nothing is found but snow and intense cold. On behalf of the W. A. Mrs. Malcolm McCaw moved a very hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Raskell for both his lecture and for his excellent slides. Mrs. Mc-

Caw spoke of the great interest in the work of missions, which had always prevailed in the St. James' Church Branch. Mr. Raskell presented his matter in a most interesting and informative manner, and left in the minds of his audience a clear picture of the life of a missionary in the Arctic. On completing his lecture tour in Canada Mr. Raskell will go to Australia.

Coach Penniston To Present New Lineup; Ken Biggs May Be Back In Uniform For Tomorrow's Tilt

Don Penniston and his rejuvenated Cataracts of Shawinigan Falls will be in town tomorrow evening to pay their first visit of the season to the local club.

The Cats will present a complete lineup from last year's outfit and have after a shaky start doing alright for themselves. Big Don has had a shock-up with a professional club and has had several players sent to him.

Ralph Buchanan and a few others were held over from last year's club and with the new additions they should be able to give a good account of themselves.

In the first encounter of the season, at Shawinigan, the Cats eked out a 4-2 verdict over the Saints and no doubt the locals will be out to try and make up for their setback received during the first week of the schedule.

Coach Dugre has had his team hard at work during the past week and with a few changes will be ready to receive the Cats. Adj. Cote is still on the sidelines and although Bobby Pepin is limping around and Jim Planché has a strained wrist it is expected they will be in uniform for tomorrow's tilt.

There is a possibility that Ken Biggs, who has been on the sidelines for the past three weeks through sickness, may be back in uniform and add extra strength to the attacking line.

George Ratterman Glad To Be Back With Yanks; To Play Sunday; Fined $2,000 For Canadian Venture In Game

New York, Nov. 7.—(P)—The former Notre Dame quarterback admitted that he made the first move in jumping the Yanks to play football with Montreal Alouettes.

Asked why he bolted the Yanks, Ratterman replied:

"There were many factors. Martin Ruby and Jack Russell had already signed. I was curious to see what it was like. That's how I originally got into pro football—through curiosity.

"The people up there were very nice to me. They offered me a job in a brokerage house, something I was very interested in doing. Up there the teams practice in the evening, so that I could have worked the year round on the job."

Another reason Ratterman left the Yanks was the fact that Canadian teams don't go to training camp.

"We were expecting a baby and I didn't want to be away," Ratterman said. The baby was born Sept. 10.

Ratterman, reinstated by Commissioner Bert Bell Monday and fined $2,000, will finish the season under his old contract. He also has been signed for the 1952 and 1953 seasons.

"I'm very happy to be back," Ratterman said. "I'm sorry about going to Canada only from the standpoint of some bad publicity. I don't want to be open to criticism as a trouble maker."

Conditions For Big Four Semi-Final Reminiscent Of 1950 Grey Cup Game; Teams Fail To Ask For Famous Tarp

Toronto, Nov. 7.—(P)—This story could be dated Nov. 27, 1950.

And if sports writers are looking for adjectives to describe the Varsity Stadium field today, they can refer to their stories of the 1950 Grey Cup final when they came up with: Quagmire, swamp, Pigsty, disgraceful and muddy morass.

That's the situation early today as Toronto Argonauts prepare to meet Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the first game of their two-game total points Big Four Football Union semi-final series at Varsity.

Indications are that the field will be as bad, if not worse, than the slop and slush Argonauts and Winnipeg Blue Bombers skidded and slid through that memorable Nov. 27 afternoon last year.

Even pre-game weather conditions have followed closely the pattern set last year: A heavy snowfall followed by rain and rising temperatures. The forecast for today: Cloudy and more rain.

Echoes of the Grey Cup fuss started last night when officials of Argonauts, Tiger-Cats and the Canadian Rugby Union from Toronto, Hamilton and Montreal gave their idea about what should be done to ensure as much as possible decent playing conditions. Meanwhile, the C.R.U.'s $12,000 tarpaulin remained snugly under wraps in a Stadium storeroom.

Miss America To Crown Miss Grey Cup Nov. 24

Toronto, Nov. 7.—(P)—The Grey Cup parade is "shaping up."

Toronto Junior Board of Trade announced yesterday it will fly in Colleen Kay Hutchins, Salt Lake City beauty who is "Miss America 1951," to lead the Grey Cup parade.

At half time in the Nov. 24 Canadian football championship game, Miss America will crown "Miss Grey Cup of 1951"—selected from a bevy of Canadian lovelies nominated by Canadian Rugby Union senior teams.

O.R.F.U. Asks For $7,500 Guarantee

Toronto, Nov. 7.—(P)—The Ontario Rugby Football Union has asked a $7,500 guarantee for its championship club in the Eastern Canada football final against the Big Four winners, it was learned today.

Harold Bailey, O.R.F.U. secretary, declined comment. However, it was learned that officials of the Union fear their team may suffer financially in the Eastern final.

It has to be played in mid-week, Wednesday, Nov. 21, due to the four-game playoff the Big Four adopted to bring a champion out of the three teams that tied for first in its schedule. So they asked for a guarantee.

St. Jerome Scores Upset By Downing Nationales

Montreal, Nov. 7.—(P)—St. Jerome Eagles last night scored their third victory in 12 starts in the Quebec Junior Hockey League, upsetting second-place Montreal Nationales 6-5.

A pair of goals by Scullion in the first period left Eagles trailing 2-0 but they shared a six-goal second stanza with Nats and added three unanswered tallies in the final frame.

Boucher and Rousseau scored twice each for Eagles with singletons coming from Lepore and Lapointe.

Lamirande, Pronovost and Goyette scored singletons for Nats.

Armand Savoie Scores Unanimous Verdict Over Solly Cantor In One-Sided Battle At Toronto

Toronto, Nov. 7.—(P)—Hardly anybody will dispute Armand Savoie's right to the Canadian lightweight title after what happened here last night.

The dark-haired, two-fisted brawler from Montreal threw everything but the ringposts and the referee at Toronto's Solly Cantor to take a unanimous 12-round decision. He won from here to there with a devastating demonstration of infighting that had Cantor backpedalling most of the route.

It was eight rounds to two for Savoie with two even on the Canadian Press score card. And it was the most convincing victory he has scored in four bouts with the Toronto fighter.

There were no knockdowns. Bothered by Cantor's straight lefts in their previous meetings, Savoie didn't give him a chance to

N. H. L. Leaders Play First Scoreless Tie Of Season; Sawchuk Collects His Third Shutout, Sugar Jim His Second

Boston Bruins' second-place position behind Detroit Red Wings is understandable on the basis of their performances against the National Hockey League champions this season. The best free-wheeling Wings can do against Lynn Patrick's stalwarts is a split in points.

The two got together at Boston last night and after 60 minutes of cautious hockey, they skated off with a scoreless tie, the first of the season. In their previous 1951-52 encounters, Detroit won 1-0 and dropped a close 3-2 decision to the rejuvenated Bruins.

Last night's game left the Wings with a full two-game cushion over the surprising Bruins playing Maple Leafs by one.

Tuesday night's game, played before a crowd of 7,521 at Boston Garden, was a cozy affair with both teams probably thinking ahead of this week's schedule.

There were only four penalties—all to Detroit.

The Wings have a tough three games in the next four days against Rangers tonight, Toronto Maple Leafs Saturday and Montreal Canadiens Sunday.

The Bruins meet Canadiens Thursday and Toronto Sunday.

Wings and Bruins took turns in flashing offensive bursts last night and the battle evolved into a goalkeeper's duel with sophomore Terry Sawchuk of the Wings collecting his third shutout of the campaign and Sugar Jim Henry his second. Sawchuk now has only 15 goals scored against him in 11 games and Sugar Jim has opened the gate for 16 in 10 games.

Toronto can take over second place tonight if they defeat Chicago Black Hawks at Maple Leaf Gardens. Chicago defeated the Leafs 3-1 and held them to a 1-1 draw in their previous games this season.

Mexico Wins Sixth International Jumping Event As National Ends Successful Run At Madison Garden

New York, Nov. 7.—(P)—Mexico last night won its sixth international event to take the major share of the military jumping prizes as the 63rd National Horse Show ended its eight-day reign in Madison Square Garden.

Canada's square equestrian team of Tom Gayford, Lt. Col. Charles Baker and Bob Ballard, all of Toronto, finished second by winning three events of the 13 held during the show while Brazil was third with two and the United States and the Republic of Ireland had one each.

Mexico's Col. Humberto Meriles, the 1948 Olympic champion, won the 13th and final event—the international perpetual challenge trophy—by riding Cordoves cleanly over 10 obstacles. The Irish team was second with 12 faults.

The U.S. team, which won the event last year, was third, with 16 faults. Canada fourth with 20 faults, and Brazil last with 36½ faults.

Of the nine individual events at the show, Meriles won five, all aboard the aged Arete, who is half-blind.

The international competition now moves to Toronto for the Royal Winter Fair starting Sunday.

Before the closing military event All Afire captured the $2,000 open jumping stake and returned the prized open jumper championship to Pennsylvania.

Adventure, winner of the conformation hunter crown at the $48 National Horse Show, regained the title by a smashing seven-point margin.

Valleyfield Players Dominate Top Scoring Position In Senior Group

Montreal, Nov. 7.—(P)—Players from the first-place Valleyfield Braves of the Quebec Senior Hockey League hold down three of the first five spots in the individual scoring race, league statistics showed today.

The two other places in the top five are held by fourth-place Quebec Aces and second-place Chicoutimi Saguenays.

Jack Irvine of Valleyfield leads the race with 19 points, made up of five goals and 14 assists, closely followed by teammate Larry Kwong with 11 tallies and six assists for 17 points.

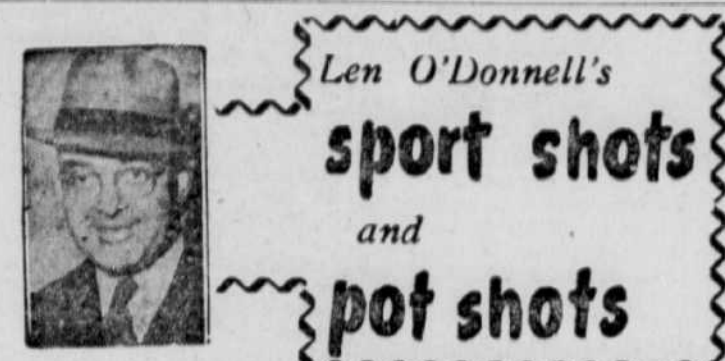

Dick Wray of Chicoutimi has seven goals and eight assists. Andre Corriveau of Valleyfield and Jean Bellevue of Quebec follow with 13 points.

Mike Murphy Named As Manager Of Toronto

Toronto, Nov. 7.—(P)—Toronto's baseball Maple Leafs announced yesterday the signing of Mike Murphy as general manager of the International League Club.

Murphy, 32, president and general manager of the New York Giants farm club at Sioux City, Iowa, since 1945, apparently slipped into Toronto several days ago, signed a contract of unannounced duration and went back to Sioux City.

He will take over from Joe Ziegler, who left the Leafs at the end of last season.

RUMORS, RUMORS AND MORE RUMORS

The Sherbrooke Saints have dropped five games in a row, no doubt you have heard, and the critics are having a Field Day at the expense of the manager, coach and players.

We have heard so many that it would be practically impossible to repeat them, even if we had the space to print them. Some of them perhaps have a little sense but others sound like some of the far-fetched comics of the other planets. In fact, we heard right after Sunday's game at the Arena that we had witnessed the last senior game in Sherbrooke. To that individual we would like to point out that Don Penniston and his Cataracts from Shawinigan Falls will be here tomorrow evening.

Getting back to the team, we must admit, after watching the last few games, that the defense has been responsible for quite a few goals. They seem to lack a bunch of beginners at times, and the protection they have given their goalie has been of a mediocre type.

When you glance over the list of defencemen you would figure that they were a solid bunch of hard-hitting fellows but from watching them play you can't help but change your opinion. They pack plenty of experience and should be able to hold their own with any of them, and this they proved at the start of the season. But since then they have gone into a lapse, for some unknown reason, and their playing has been far below expectations. They all came to the team highly recommended as a gang of block-busters, but their busting has taken a big decline.

Pete Wright, the rookie of the crew, has been the only one throwing his weight around, although he misses quite often, but still he is trying to connect. Joe Lepine has been seeing service up front and this has weakened the blue-line contingent as the others seem to be on a holiday.

We are told on very good authority, in fact, that a member of the executive, that there is going to be a shake-up of the defense very shortly. The reason is that they are not playing up to their pre-season reputations. We figure that the executive owe it to the fans to do something about it if they wish to keep their support.

Injuries have crippled the team to a big extent, but they have been up front and had nothing to do with the rear guard. We think that some of the boys are not giving their best and anybody like that is not worth having around.

We know the executive is after a couple of defencemen to try and bolster the crew and this may make the others pep up a little, if not then it is curtains for them. It is much better to have somebody around who is plugging all the time. They may make mistakes but at least they will be doing their best.

Everybody on the team is being blamed by the fans but this is nothing unusual as the sporting fan is the most fickle-minded person in the world and this is just another case which verifies it. There is only one way of correcting it and that is up to the executive and it seems that they have taken necessary steps. So boys how about a little hockey for a change to put things back on early season level.

Any Club Can Use Tarp Says President Insky

Montreal, Nov. 7.—(P)—Meyer Insky, president of the Canadian Rugby Union, last night said no one will be refused use of the tarpaulin to protect Varsity Stadium's playing field if they ask for it.

He was commenting on reports that snow is expected last night on the eve of the opener of a two-game, total-point series between Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Toronto Argonauts in the Big Four semi-finals.

"We'd be glad to let them use the tarp; it would give us a chance to try it out," Insky said. "All the home club has to do is ask for it and we won't refuse."

The $12,000 tarpaulin was bought following last year's Grey Cup final, played on a muddy grid-iron.

Possibility Of Only One Major Ball Loop

Detroit, Nov. 7.—(P)—The possibility of only one major baseball league by 1960 is raised today by H. G. Salsinger, sports editor of the Detroit News.

He refers to predictions that there might eventually be four or even six major leagues.

The reason, he says, is that "fewer and fewer plays of big-league calibre are being developed," and "the number has rapidly decreased in the last 15 years."

Other points made by Salsinger are:

Most minor-league clubs lost money this year, and might lose even more in the majors;

Only a few cities outside the present majors could support a big-league team from a population point of view;

There was a sharp drop in attendance last year, and a further decline is likely during the coming season.
