Plays Superman, seven-year-old falls from rock, drowns in river

Sherbrooke Police and Fire departments this morning continued their search for the body of seven-year-old Robin Lord, who lost his balance while playing Superman on a rock and fell 25-feet into the Magog River on the southeast side of the Belvedere Street bridge yesterday afternoon.

Robin was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Lord, of 340 Belvedere Street North.

Capt. Gerard Roy, of the Sherbrooke Fire Department in charge of the dragging operations, said today he hoped to obtain permission from the Sherbrooke Water Commission to have the basin of the city's dam emptied.

The Sherbrooke Police Department was notified about 4.50 p.m. by Andre Beaudet, an employee of the Sherbrooke Pure Milk, who told them he saw the young boy fall into the water.

Beaudet told police he heard one of two boys scream from where he was working and turned to see the little boy fall in.

The young victim's playmate, Pierre Cloutier, was later contacted by Mr. Lord at the Cloutier home.

Mr. Lord told The Record that at first the young Cloutier boy wouldn't say anything about the tragedy but later he broke down and told the story to his parents. He said the young victim was playing Superman.

Mrs. Lord said her son was looking forward to his report card which was mailed out today by the school board.

Mr. Lord had just returned home from work when he was told someone had fallen into the river.

five hours without finding the boy's body.

Gerry Plamondon, Sherbrooke skin diver entered the water about 5.30 p.m. where the boy fell in but was forced to return to shore about 15 minutes later because the water was too dirty to see anything.

Plamondon told The Record the water was from seven to about 30 feet deep where the boy fell in.

"There are a lot of deep holes around where he fell and the water is too sandy and dirty to see anything," Plamondon said.

Another skin diver, Lorenzo Lamontagne, also of Sherbrooke entered the water about an hour later and after diving about 20 times was called back by police because he had no under water equipment.

Last night's dragging operations ended shortly before 10 p.m., and resumed at sunrise this morning.

Residents around the area where the tragedy occurred said that there have always been young boys playing near the river.

Andre Beaudet, who saw the young boy fall in said he watched children play below the bridge almost every day, "and it's just luck that more haven't fallen in that area.

"They play under the bridge and some even climb the beams under the bridge and swing above the water," Mr. Beaudet said.

Ambulances stood by during the night as a crowd of over 200 on-lookers crowded the bridge watching the dragging operations.

Special police constables were called in to direct traffic over the bridge and to keep the crowd away from the banks of the river.

TV report causes a storm

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan's government faces a full-scale political battle as a result of Wednesday's publication of the controversial Pilkington report on the future of broadcasting.

The report called for a drastic overhaul of British commercial television and in general was highly complimentary to the publicly-owned BBC. It recommended the BBC be allowed Britain's third TV channel. At present, the BBC and the commercial Independent Television Authority each have one.

Political observers today felt the government likely will try to steer clear of the controversial aspects in the immediate future.

Macmillan and his colleagues are expected to announce acceptance of a number of the technical recommendations contained in the report when the government publishes a preliminary white paper within the next couple of weeks.

But the consensus is the government will not then be prepared to announce its reactions to proposals that commercial television be revamped.

BATTLE LINES DRAWN

The political battle lines appear roughly to follow party lines — the Conservatives in favor of commercial broadcasting generally as it is, Labor and Liberal members behind the Pilkington report.

'Tombstone' sale is a big hit

CONCORD, N.C. (AP)—"Two tombstones for sale, in excellent condition, $60 each."

The classified ad, which appeared in the Concord Tribune, was a typographical error.

Mrs. D. J. Faggart said she intended selling two trombones. She said she got a lot of replies and could have sold the tombstones if she had them.

14 ex-MPs eligible for pension

OTTAWA (CP) — Only 14 of the 91 former members of Parliament defeated in the June 18 federal general election will qualify for the MP's annual $3,000 life pension.

It also will be payable to six of the 12 ex-members who did not run again.

A former MP must have served in at least three parliaments to receive the pension. MPs contribute $240 each session, with the federal treasury matching that amount.

Twenty of the 77 defeated ex-members who do not qualify for the pension were first elected to the Commons in 1957. The group includes 18 Conservatives —14 from Ontario—and two Quebec Liberals.

The other 57 entered the house in the 1958 general election or subsequent byelections. Included are one New Democrat, two Liberals and 54 Conservatives—28 of them in Quebec.

The figures bar upsets in recounts.

KEEP SENIORITY

If subsequently elected again, the defeated ex-MPs can pick up where they left off, for pension purposes.

Two of the five defeated cabinet ministers will be able to draw the pension.

Postmaster - General William Hamilton, 43, was in three Parliaments before he was defeated by a Liberal in Montreal Notre-Dame-de-Grace. Solicitor - General Browne, 65, beaten in a Liberal service-vote upset in St. John's West, served as an MP from 1949 to 1953 and again from 1957.

Accent on elections

Socreds re-affirm harmony

QUEBEC (CP) — The accent was on elections rather than parliamentary strategy Wednesday as 27 of Social Credit's 30 members of Parliament gathered at nearby Lac Beauport for their first post-election caucus.

The caucus is expected to end today, when a press conference is scheduled with national leader Robert N. Thompson and deputy leader Real Caouette answering the questions.

Wednesday's only written statement said the members are "completely and sincerely united behind Mr. Thompson and Mr. Caouette."

There has been speculation since the election that Mr. Caouette's weighty Quebec ontingent would shift the party leadership his way.

However, Mr. Thompson told reporters he and Mr. Caouette are in "complete harmony" on party policy.

Mr. Caouette felt the 99 Liberal members would bolster the 116 Progressive Conservatives of Prime Minister Diefenbaker's government and would make "strategic absences" from the Commons to prevent the opposition from overthrowing the government.

But mostly the "Creditistes" —Mr. Thompson was the only one of four western members able to appear—talked about organization for another general election.

Fernand Ouellet, tireless 38-year-old party organizer, said he will try to organize 50,000 active party members in Quebec and about 39,000 in the Atlantic provinces.

The object would be to have four to each poll in Quebec, where the party at election time claimed 14,000 active members, and two to each poll in the easterly provinces.

Meanwhile, David Wilson of Toronto would aim for two active members in each poll in Ontario and the western provinces.

These members would pay $14 annual fees, attend seminars on party doctrine and spread the word in their neighborhoods.

The caucus also approved spending about $45,000 for television time on 10 Quebec stations for a 26-week series of talks beginning Sept. 15. Four years of Mr. Caouette's weekly telecast aroused interest and set the stage for the neighborhood organization that carried the party to victory in almost every area covered by the program.

It was a buoyant, back-slapping group that met here as the caucus began. Members seemed amused by a circular sent around by l'Union des Electeurs, the founding movement of Social Credit in Quebec that broke away when Mr. Caouette formed his Ralliement des Creditistes in 1958.

The circular said the winner of the election was "not Caouette, it was Social Credit" and urged members to demand a $25 monthly government dividend for citizens.

It also advised them that the union will hold its general convention here July 1 and invited all to attend.

Mr. Caouette was not amused.

No Red China invasion aid

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Kennedy has made it clear he won't help Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek take over the Chinese mainland but he also warned Communist China against attempting to invade the nationalist-held offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

Commenting on the heavy movement of Communist troops in the Chinese coastal area, Kennedy told a press conference Wednesday the United States is opposed to war in that region, whether it is started by Communists or nationalists.

If the Communists attempt to take the offshore islands, Kennedy said he would take action "to assure the defence of Formosa and the Pescadores."

In an apparent attempt to clarify his 1960 campaign statements, when he suggested the two islands are not important militarily and not worth the lives of U.S. soldiers, the president said he didn't want the Communists to be under any misapprehension.

JUDGED ON MERITS

Pressed by reporters to make clear where he would draw the line on Quemoy and Matsu in terms of U.S. intervention, Kennedy said "any threat to the offshore islands must be judged in relation to its wider meaning for the safety of Formosa and the peace of the area."

No change in plans indicated

Saskatchewan residents await a new move in medicare dispute

REGINA (CP) — Saskatchewan residents, caught in a deadlock between the government and the province's doctors, are waiting uneasily for a fresh move in the bitter dispute over medical care insurance.

There are no indications from either side of a change in plans which are pinned to next Sunday's starting date for the government program.

With the start of the compulsory, prepaid medical care plan, the College of Physicians and Surgeons has said doctors' offices will close and only hospital - based emergency service will be provided.

The CCF government has stood firm in refusing to delay start of the plan until its differences with the medical profession are settled.

Hospitals in Saskatoon and Regina have prepared forms indicating to patients the nature of emergency service to be available.

WARNS TOURISTS

In Saskatoon, the board of trade announced plans to publish advertisements advising tourists there may be a shortage of medical care in the province this summer.

In Regina, Mineral Resources Minister J. H. Brockelbank announced plans for air or ground ambulance transportation of patients to hospitals which are staffed — in Alberta or Manitoba, if necessary.

These were some of the developments Wednesday against the backdrop of the 2½-year fight to introduce a comprehensive program in which the government will pay residents' doctor bills.

The College of Physicians and Surgeons, representing the province's 904 doctors, opposes the scheme on the grounds it gives the government a virtual monopoly of medical services and control of the profession.

Squadron returns

HALIFAX (CP) — The Royal Canadian Navy's Fighter Squadron 870 is to return to the naval air station at nearby Shearwater Friday after five weeks at the Canadian Joint Air Training Centre in Rivers, Man. The 12 Banshee jet aircraft were carrying out annual support training with the Canadian army. Close to 17 officers and 160 men were involved. They left Shearwater for the Prairies May 26.

EDMONTON (CP) — A promising silver-lead ore discovery has been made 120 miles northeast of Watson Lake in the Yukon Territory, G. H. Finland, manager of the Alberta and Northwest Chamber of Mines, said Wednesday. Watson Lake is about 1,000 miles northwest of Edmonton on the Alberta-British Columbia border.

WINNIE BREAKS THIGH BONE

MONTE CARLO (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill, 87, fell in his hotel room here early today and broke his thigh bone.

The British elder statesman was taken to Monte Carlo Hospital after three doctors examined him.

Medical sources said he had a fractured femur, or thigh bone. His condition was said to be satisfactory.

Churchill had been staying in an eighth - floor suite of the luxury Hotel de Paris since arriving from London Tuesday for a two-week visit.

Lady Churchill did not accompany her husband.

Dr. Charles Chatelin, chief surgeon at the hospital in Monaco, Dr. Myrddin Roberts and Dr. Andre Fissore, an x-ray expert, examined the British wartime prime minister.

When he left London on his vacation flight, Churchill looked fit and well, doffing his hat and posing for photographers.

Churchill has paid frequent visits to the Riviera since his retirement as prime minister in 1955.

Rebel guerrillas foil troops

Frustration marks S. Viet Nam drive

By CONRAD FINK

SAIGON (AP) — A four-day major land-air-water offensive against pro-Communist guerrilla jungle strongholds ended Wednesday in exhaustion and frustration for government troops. They claimed little concrete military success.

The government reported 43 Viet Cong rebels were killed and 26 captured by the 2,300-man South Viet Nam task force that struck at three peninsulas in the Mekong River delta region 50 miles south of Saigon. There were no official estimates of government losses.

Government forces were backed up by U.S. helicopters, naval units and 40 U.S. military advisers.

The elusive rebels managed to keep one jump ahead of Vietnamese troops and fought only delaying battles.

U.S. advisers said one objective of the offensive was to clear the area of guerrillas. Although this failed, Americans claimed partial success fort he operation.

TRAIN PEASANTS

Apparently feeling it impossible to root out every guerrilla in South Viet Nam's jungle and swamps, the government is putting the greatest stress on "strategic hamlets," where it is training peasants to defend themselves against rebel attacks.

Editors's note: AP Correspondent Conrad Fink accompanied Vietnamese government units on their four-day offensive against guerrilla units in South Viet Nam's delta region.

While this effort is under way, the army's job is to prevent regular guerrilla units from forming up for attacks on hamlets and other government installations. In this respect, the four - day offensive succeeded, theU.S. adviser said.

Goverment troops made no effort to hold ground they won, but moved on quickly trying to overtake the lightly-equipped, fast-moving guerrillas.

The government's biggest problems were the almost unbelievably rugged terrain, Vietnamese armed forces' inability to smoothly carry out large-scale manoeuvres, and stalled heavy equipment.

Large movements of helicopters and ships prior to the landings also apparently forwarned rebels of government troop manoeuvres.

School cost sharing is urged

QUEBEC—(CP)—Youth Minister Paul Gerin-Lajoie said yesterday a fair share of the cost of education must be established between the provincial government and individual school commissions.

During the 1961-62 fiscal year, he told the legislature the school taxes had been lowered in 222 school board regions, increased in 790 and remained unchanged in 690.

He was replying to Yves Prevost (UN—Montmorency) who said the government must increase its standards of aid to school commissions because real estate taxes "have almost reached a point of saturation." Mr. Gerin-Lajoie said the cost of schooling for one student had risen to $150 a year in 1962 from $117 in 1960.

The government this year would grant about $9,500,000 to school commissions, compared with some $7,000,000 in 1960, he said.

Replying to a question from Mr. Prevost, the minister said "a good half" of the province's 1,700 school commissions have deficits, totalling about $20,000,000. Of this, $12,000,000 had been run up this year, and $8,000,000 remained from other years.

The situation of each school commission will be studied, Mr. Gerin-Lajoie said, and if necessary tax changes would be suggested. If grants are needed they will be made and supplementary estimates will be submitted to the legislature to meet the cost.

Ontario crime commission

Allege ex-minister dealt with gamblers

TORONTO (CP) — Former provincial mines minister James A. Maloney was portrayed before Ontario's royal commission on crime Wednesday as dealing with gamblers and supressing the administration of justice.

H. Graham Walsh, retired Crown attorney for Renfrew County—the area Mr. Maloney represented in the legislature from 1956 until his death last year—said he was "appalled" at the interference by the former cabinet minister.

The commission also heard from Insp. John Whitty of the Ontario Provincial Police that Mr. Maloney once threatened to have him transferred for prosecuting Renfrew truck drivers for overloading.

Another member of the Ontario legislature, Ellis P. Morningstar, was to appear before the commission today to explain a letter over his name which supported a gambler for a job in Cornwall.

Mr. Morningstar, Progressive Conservative legislature member for Welland, was subpoenaed Wednesday to appear at the hearings before they adjourn Friday for the summer.

NAMED PREVIOUSLY

Mr. Maloney's name has cropped up frequently in commission hearings in connection with gambling bosses Joseph McDermott and Vincent Feeley.

Investigators unearthed letters written by Mr. Maloney on behalf of the gamblers when they were trying to set up a small loans company.

Insp. Whitty said the minister wanted special pre-election favors for pinball machine operators as well as general immunity for truckers and withdrawal of certain charges.

Algeria peace attempted

ORAN, Algeria (Reuters)—Moslems and Europeans headed into talks today in a bid to consolidate an uneasy peace in Oran after the collapse of action by the European terrorist Secret Army Organization.

Priests were expected to be among the European delegation meeting the Moslems in this western port city.

Until now, splits inside the outlawed Secret Army preventing a representative leader from coming forward were a major obstacle to agreement between it and Moslem nationalists in Oran.

A man who said he had acted as an intermediary in bringing the peace here wept Wednesday night as he drank a toast to secret army leaders and told a press conference? "In my view a man who has wisdom to call a halt at a time when all is lost is a courageous man."

PRAISES LEADERS

The man was Rene Soyer, 46-year-old former government information chief in Oran. He also said "I will never openly criticize the Secret Army because I respect people who defend an ideal."

The Oran Secret Army branch announced in a pirate broadcast Tuesday night it would cease its "scorched earth" campaign of destruction, originally aimed at leaving nothing of value to the Moslems after Algerian independence.

Terrorists in Algiers agreed June 17 to a cease-fire with Moslem nationalists, but until this week the Oran branch refused to go along.

Christian Fouchet, French high commissioner in Algeria, said in Algiers Wednesday night after a flying visit to Oran that the flight from Oran of Paul Gardy, Secret Army military leader, marked the end of the force in Algeria.

But four blasts boomed over the city Wednesday after the appeal for an end to violence, wrecking insurance offices.

First day is stormy

QUEBEC (CP)—There were signs of friction as the first session of the 10th International Congress of Students, bringing together representatives from 80 countries, went to work.

The delegates from Uruguay started a stormy first day by suggesting to the 300 delegates that votes be open and not secret.

Conference spokesmen told reporters delegates from socialist countries, or with socialist leanings, favored the open vote to present resolutions that might be embarrassing to delegates from other nations.

Then Peru took the floor with two delegations, each clamoring for official recognition.

The assembly didn't manage to choose one but has until July 8, when the congress ends.

Youth Minister Paul Gerin-Lajoie of Quebec spoke to the students.

Four are killed in gas explosion

CROWN POINT, Ind. (AP)—Four members of one family were killed Wednesday night when a propane gas explosion flattened their frame farm house, leaving "nothing over a foot long."

Cement blocks were ripped from basement walls and hurled 80 yards in what Fire Chief Albert Retting called "the worst explosion I've seen in my life."

Sheriff's deputies identified the victims as Mrs. Virginia Irene Teitge, 40, and her three children, Peggy Jean Gorrell, 15; Ronald Wayne Gorrell, 10, and Gary Lynn Gorrell, 4.

The husband and stepfather, Earl Teitge, 43, who screamed an order to leave the house just seconds too late, is in serious condition with burns over his body.

Life difficult in northern U.S. too

Reverse freedom riders in trouble

NEW YORK (CP) — Destitute southern Negroes, given one-way tickets north by segregationist groups, have found life can be difficult in the northern United States too.

Some have found jobs. Others have not. Some have returned to the south.

They number only a few hundred compared with the millions of Negroes who have left the south on their own initiative since the end of the Second World War, settling primarily in big northern cities such as New York, Chicago and Detroit.

The movement to pay the fares of Negroes and send them to the so-called integrationist states started in Louisiana last April.

Arch - segregationists labelled it the reverse freedom bus riders movement and claimed it was the south's answer to the "Freedom Riders" who invaded the Deep South to test segregated facilities in interstate travel.

Many of the reverse freedom riders have been women and children, some with no means of support except through benefactors at their northern destinations.

Some of the men have not had jobs in years. Many are unskilled.

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Carol Lawrence, who became a singing and dancing star on Broadway, says television turned her into an actress.

"Nowadays in show business, television exposure is absolutely essential," she remarked. "It can be death if you don't get it. It helps so much."

Carol, particularly after her smash success in Broadway's West Side Story, was in great demand for the popular television variety shows—where she had a chance to act in sketches with the stars.

"And if I had not had a chance with Garry Moore, Perry Como and the others, the producers would never have given me a chance to do a straight acting role in The Dybbuk.

And The Dybbuk, one play in a high-level, syndicated series called Play of the Week, led directly to meaty acting parts in motion pictures, including A View From the Bridge.

Now, Miss Lawrence is a triple-threat performer.

Jerry Lewis, whose press agents are fond of such labels as "zany" and "madcap," seems to be conducting this week's output of Tonight as if he were presiding at a senior citizens' meeting.

Actually, he seems more interested in matching (and mispronouncing) long words with Hugh Downs than in clowning. Maybe he's trying to prove something. Anyway, to date, it has been a long, relaxed yawn.

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There Percy Kilbride was, scanning the morning headlines at a newsstand opposite the Grauman's Chinese Theatre.

I had heard for years that Kilbride was often seen walking along Hollywood Boulevard, but this was the first time I had seen him.

"Yes?" he said with the minor annoyance of one whose privacy is often interrupted. I reintroduced myself and the hawk-nosed face brightened with a smile.

"Of course," he said. "Still writing those things, huh? My goodness, all those words!"

The memory went back to our last conversation. It was nine years ago and he was filming Ma and Pa Kettle at Home. That was the seventh of the cornfed films he had made with Marjorie Main.

Almost 74, Kilbride looked unchanged. If anything, he looked better.

WASN'T WELL

"Feel better," he said in his pleasant twang. "You know, on that last Kettle picture, I wasn't feeling well at all. The doctor had to keep giving me injections to keep me going."

"I kept falling down. If I was standing up, I'd sit down. If I was sitting down, I'd fall over. I didn't know what was wrong with me. I was afraid I was going to die."

So he quit. He had enough to live on because his needs were slight. A lifetime of acting failed to make him a rich man. He had reached stardom only in his later years and much went to taxes.

His retirement came when he turned 65. I asked if he missed the acting life.

"Oh no, not at all," he said cheerfully. "I find plenty to keep me busy. Now that I'm feeling so well, I might think about going back. But the role would have to be something worth doing."

Mayor Nadeau raises objections to parks used as camping sites

Mayor Armand Nadeau told council members Tuesday afternoon that he was against tourists using city parks as camping grounds during the vacation period.

Mayor Nadeau said the city parks were made for the pleasure of children and anyone who wanted to use them, "but they were not made to be used as camping grounds."

The mayor's comment came following a request by the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce that the St. Esprit park be used as camping grounds for tourists.

The mayor said he was not against the idea of camping grounds for tourists but he was against them in city parks.

St. Esprit park is in the city's West Ward on the bank of the Magog River.

City council agreed to study the request and, see if tey could find a better location for the camping grounds.

Council members decided to take $1,000 each from the North, South and East Wards maintenance funds to complete the paving of Wellington Street, both North and South.

Council agreed to take the money from the funds of the three wards and pave the street from one end to the other rather than just in spots.

City council approved of giving the Sherbrooke Coach Manufacturing Company a five year option on the city's property at the rear of the company's factory.

The piece of land runs 50 by 100 feet and valued at 5 cents a foot. Option price will be at $1 per year.

Lieut Arthur L'Heureux, of the city's fire department will retire on December 31 of this year.

Lieut. L'Heureux's retirement was accepted by city council Tuesday afternoon.

The Fusiliers de Sherbrooke army were granted the use of the Sherbrooke baseball stadium and the Claire Fontaine swimming pool from July 9 to August 19, by city council.

About 200 cadets will use the baseball stadium and swimming pool during the summer.

City council allowed the cadets to use the swimming pool and stadium because other children and anyone else wanting to use them, can do so as usual even when the cadets are there.

Riding courses for children starts July 9

NORTH HATLEY. — Starting July 9 for beginners and July 12 for intermediate and advanced pupils, another riding course will be given here this summer.

Pleased with last summer's similar course, the first of its kind in this area, the organizers plan a series of about seven lessons with a competition at the end of the course, and prizes.

Mrs. Dan Helynck, Mrs. Alex Casgrain and Mrs. Bruce Fletcher are in charge of the arrangements and teaching. Emphasis will be on consideration for the horse or pony; equitation, care, grooming, etc. There is a small charge for the course, and any proceeds will be turned to the St. Francis S.P.C.A.

The course is open to all ages, and anybody interested in further information may call Mrs. Helynck, VI. 2-2340, or Mrs. Casgrain, VI. 2-2326. Also anybody willing to lend a quiet horse or pony or could provide transportation for them, would be most appreciated.

To open home at Cookshire

The Sherbrooke Welfare agency announced it will have an open house meeting at the former home of Charles Fraser on Craig Street in Cookshire, at 6 p.m. Thursday to discuss plans for converting the home into a children's home.

Dr. W. J. Klinck, chairman of the agency and Doug Armitage, president of the agency, will be on hand at the meeting.

Dr. Klinck said he hoped the 18 room house would be ready to accommodate about 20 children by the beginning of September.

3 groups receive grants

An amendment to the grants section of the municipal budget bylaw will cost the city $11,700 to be distributed among the OTJ, the recreation committee of the Notre Dame Perpetuel-Secours, and the Sherbrooke Harmony Band.

Previously, the budget had not provided allowances for money to the organizations but the OTJ will now receive $10,000, the recreation committee of Notre Dame Perpetuel-Secours parish $400 and the Sherbroke Harmony Band, $1,300.

The money will now permit the OTJ to keep operating where previously they had said they would have to cease operations because of lack of funds.

The money for the Sherbrooke Harmony Band is to help In the financing of the drum and bugle corps demonstration to be given this weekend at the Sherbrooke Arena. The Crusaders, a well-known group, have been booked for a performance here Saturday night and the Harmony Band is sponsoring the event.

The Notre Dame Perpetuel-Secours recreation committee is independent but before getting its money from the city it has to go through the OTJ. The money will be given to the OTJ and they in turn will distribute it among the parish committees.

Mayor Nadeau

Calls wages 'ridiculous'

Mayor Armand Nadeau said Tuesday night that the salary paid to the girls who work in city hall is "ridiculous".

He asked for a report from Director of Services Charles Langlois and said that something should be done about the situation immediately.

He pointed out that a stenographer begins with a three-months trial and $25 per week. If they succeed in their trial, they stay on and are give a $2 raise.

"This is rediculous," he said, "it hardly permits them to live."

"Compared to private businesses and companies, our girls are paid far below average," he said.

He also pointed out that at this salary the girls will leave for other jobs and "as the jobs become more numerous during the summer months, the situation should be corrected immediately."

At Carnation Milk

Anti-smoke apparatus to work Monday; city took action in court but no reply yet

An official of the Carnation Milk Company said Wednesday the company expects most of the smoke coming from the chimneys to be eliminated when an anti-smoke apparatus goes into use Monday morning.

A. H. Hall, superintendent of the Carnation plant, said the company was advised of a smoke nuisance through complaints, and realized that repairs to its smoke apparatus would be needed.

"For the past 14 days, we were forced to operate without an apparatus while workmen were making costly modifications to the apparatus," Mr. Hall said.

Mr. Hall said the work done to the apparatus during the past two weeks would eliminate the smoke, and he hoped it would operate better than in the past.

Tuesday afternoon city council decided to wait until the city's attorney, Albert Rivard returned from holidays to see what should be done about the smoke coming from the Carnation chimneys.

During the past years, the city has received many complaints from home owners and owners of cars parked outside in the area that smoke discharged from the Carnation Company was not only a "nuisance", but was also damaging their properties.

Council received more complaints Tuesday and decided to wait until they receive a report of what court action had been taken against the company before deciding what should be done.

The decision was taken after city clerk, Henri Paul Emond, told council members that the city's building inspector, J. O. Chartier, made a report and had given it to the city attorney.

Mr. Emond said the city attorney had taken out a court action against the company but there had been no reply from the court to his knowledge.

Roamed the Townships as photographer

Norman Edson--an artist of many talents

By GORDON ENGLAND
(Sutton Correspondent)

More than a half-century ago, a young artist-photographer named Norman Edson roamed through the Townships and parts of New England with easel, brush and camera.

Married to Avis Miltimore, a Glen Sutton girl, he, for a time, lived and worked in Admasville and Sutton.

Even then his unusual photographs, tinted by a special process created by himself, attracted such admiring attention that some were purchased by Lady Grey, Sir George Foster and other personages of high rank.

Now, world-wide renowned as a master of his art, this famous son of the eminent Canadian artist, Allan Edson, will install an impressive exhibit at the Seattle World's Fair.

The subjects for these Norman Edson oil paintings for the Fair, revealed the famous photographer in a recent letter, are Indians photographed by him more than 50 years ago. Mr. Edson is presently working on these interesting portraits at his home on Vashon Island, at Burton, Washington.

From that home, where he has lived for 43 years, the Montreal-born artist enjoys a superb panoramic view of mighty Mount Rainier, the inspiration for much of his best creative work. "When I came here on the wrong ferry because of misdirection by a police officer," relates Mr. Edson, "I knew I was in the most beautiful place on earth and felt willing to settle down permanently. I have never regretted having established my residence in this lovely spot," he said.

It was in every way a lucky mistake by the policeman. Without it, Edson might well have gone on to settle elsewhere, and without his Blossom Of Time, and The Sun's Last Glow and other pictures by Rainier hung and cherished in world capital's Art galleries, our eyes would have been deprived of many visual treats.

From a financial viewpoint, too, the Edson creations have proved very worth while. One Rainier picture sold for $100,000, and in a single week last year the master produced $2,000 worth of picture post cards.

With such ability, Edson has been able to educate his six children.

Besides photographing and painting, Mr. Edson writes children's books and illustrated magazine articles as well as narrating on radio and TV stories of his adventure.

'Before settling down in his happy haven on Vashon Island, he had many interesting experiences as he wandered about the Canadian and American West.

"I worked as a steeple-jack, cook, press photograper—and many other jobs," he remembers. "Once I almost became an employee of the C.P.R.—but got turned down by Sir William Van Horne when he heard that I whistled while at work, 'Whistlers never amount to anything," declared the great rail-executive. But I still whistle," he added with a chuckle.

A much-liked and highly esteemed citizen, Edson has for 30 years been honorary mayor of Burton, and the kids there call him Pop. He is a favorite of newspapermen, too, and one editor who has admiringly dubbed him King of Characters, wants him to do an autobiography to show how, with his own methods and self-made photographic equipment, he has produced so many works of creative art.

Quotes from a letter written by Mr. Edson on May 8th show how busy the delightful master photographer still is:

"Now here is something I want to get you straightened out on: I had informed you that I was painting a series of oil and pen and ink pictures of Indian subjects for the Seattle Fair, and that was my object, but so far so many things have intervened that I have not had time to see about them being installed!

In the selling of my studio self-contained in a two-storied building next door, and getting the new photographer started, along with having another and private studio in my home set up, which involved the decoration of the entire house, has largely contributed to my prognosticating."

"On the side working on a magazine article and assembling my Indian Poetry into a book for which I still have to make the illustrations. All of this is quite a bit for a man who celebrated his 93rd birthday on May 11. And this meant attending a couple of parties, and upset my usually robust digestive organs."

"Another thing, with my numerous children and grandchildren and expected visitors to the Fair," I am pretty well rushed. Last Saturday it was a reception for a distinguished Englishman — a descendant of the explorers that named Mount Baker and Vashon Island as well as Mount Rainier. The man's name is Captain Baker Vashon, and he is related to the Rainier. The Island bought two of my large pictures of Mount Baker and Rainier for the presentation," "And I expect a visit from four persons this week—descendants of friends of mine who lived along the Border between Richford and Glen Sutton and folks that I have never seen.

There was one delightful person that I never had the good fortune to meet and that was Edna Beerworth whose portrait you noted on a recent issue of the Record. We corresponded for years."

Busy though he is, Norman Edson generously provided material for this article, and, as proven by a further excerpt from his letter of May 8th, still thinks often of his early years in the Townships. "One of my nostalgic pastimes," he writes, "is to dream about the days I was a photographer living in the Winchester House in Sutton and previously at Adamsville. Not owning a car to cover the surrounding country, I resorted to a husky bicycle. My tripod strapped to the handlebars, the large camera on the carrier, and a pack on my back. I pedaled the rough, muddy roads from Granby to the Dunham Ladies College — Cowansville, Sweetsburg — to Glen Sutton, hill and dale, sunshine and rain — and at times minus brakes for some of the steep hills! That experience started in 1910," he reminisced.

"As for my Sutton activities I had a studio in the rear of the Oddfellow Building, producing greeting cards with hand-colored photos of local subjects, and, in addition, large pictures selling in Ottawa, Montreal, and as far south as Philadelphia. As for local contracts, I have enough reminiscences to fill a book."

"In the Sutton Annual there is a picture of Eugene Dyer, who donated the land for the convent — it was reproduced from an oil painting I made of the old gentleman. Recently I received a letter from my old friend, Levi Perkins. But most of the folks I knew in those days all have passed on to the "Great Beyond," he concluded.

Slipshod zoning law enforcement

Municipal zoning bylaws are drafted for many reasons. Among them are to protect property values by delimiting sections for business and industries on one hand and residences on the other and by restricing the size and type of buildings that can be erected in a given area. They also serve to enhance the appearance of the city by forcing owners to improve unsightly properties and, in some cases, are meant to safeguard residents against harm.

The Sherbrooke bylaw regulating the height of pulp wood piles in lumber yards is one that has a dual purpose, to protect and beautify. The law specifies that lumber may not be stacked higher than six feet. The news that the regulation is observed by some dealers and not by others was received with a surprising reaction at city council.

Attention was focused on the infractions when a lumber dealer who was told to abide by the law complained that other owners were disregarding it completely. He quite naturally asked why he had been singled out. Several aldermen protested about the discrepancy, but their arguments seemed to miss the basic issue.

For instance, Ald. Marcel Jeanson of the West Ward said the delinquent dealers have an unfair competitive advantage over other owners because of the low price of lumber during the summer months. These dealers buy larger quantities of pulp wood and stack it as much as 16 feet high. The law — abiding dealer, according to Ald. Jeanson, is forced to purchase further supplies in winter at a higher cost.

The question of one lumber dealer's profit margin compared to another is irrelevant. What should be scrutinized in why the bylaw is only enforced half-heartedly.

The council's thinking on the matter appears to be summarized in North Ward Ald. Everett Nicol's comments during the meeting. He noted that the reason for the hit-and-miss enforcement is attitude of the residents. If there are complaints, the city acts. If there are none, authorities ignore the infractions.

To be slipshod in this manner in applying zoning bylaws is to compromise the well-being of the community.

The restless age sometimes is from the time the baby gets up until it's put to bed.

Nothing like a 'live' band concert

Jetstream living fades into the soft glow of twilight at a summer outdoor band concert, one tradition which, while not as common as it used to be, is still very much alive here in the Townships.

And right about now, of course, the band concert is beginning to come into its own. As anyone who attends band concerts regularly knows, the actual performance by the band is only part of the enjoyment of a concert. The rest of it comes from the socializing that can be done. A seasoned band concert goer arrives at least half an hour early so as to have an opportunity for a pleasant chat in the warm summer twilight with friends, neighbors and any new visitors that might happen to drop by. He will want to enjoy, too, the activities of the children who always flock to a band concert, more concerned, it is true, with playing tag and consuming popcorn, chocolate bars and soft drinks purveyed by travelling retailers at band concerts than with either socializing or band music.

But it all adds to the comfortable, leisurely community atmosphere that a band concert generates.

Then the performance begins. It seems to us that the programs today are more elaborate than they used to be. But perhaps that's just the result of hazy recollection. Or perhaps the musicians these days are more expert, or more imbued with a sense of daring. There are still the old favorites, of course, rousing overtures like Light Cavalry and William Tell; marches like Colonel Bogey (without the whistling) and Sempere Fidelis and lilting waltzes like Gold and Silver and Tales of the Vienna Woods.

The crash of the cymbals in the still summer air makes a grand sound. And so does the deep, oscillating oom-pah of the tuba, the roll of the kettle drum, the tootling of the flute and piccolo, the cry of the trumpets.

Even with jet planes flashing overhead and transistor radios chattering away on the next park bench, all of this is hard to beat. Smartly-uniformed musicians bending to the music with a will, early night-hawks circling and cheeping about in the warm air, a faint rustling in the tall elms as the evening breeze plays gently and high in the sky, a big golden summer moon rising majestically over the band stand.

We understand in some big cities, recordings over hi-fi loudspeakers are being used in parks. But we'll bet those who listen to them have discovered that a band concert is one thing that can't be successfully canned.

How you're brought up often has a lot do with how far up in life you get.

Other papers say:

Battle for proper dress is eternal

The subject of what constitutes proper dress is a contentious one, aggravated by the emphasis on informality which prevails in so many areas of life today.

The matter has come to the fore again in the wake of current unsuccessful efforts in Washington to enact the McVey bill. If it becomes law, and observers consider the chance of that happening to be remote, then "no male person over the age of 12 may enter or remain in the Capitol building unless she is wearing a dress or skirt."

A few years ago, the United States Senate banned shorts from the public gallery. The regulation was shortlived, however, a casualty of the protests of voters who wanted to see their Senators in action and intended to dress as they pleased for the occasion.

The problem is by no means confined to Washington. One thinks, for instance, of Italy where, for years, ecclesiastical authorities have been disturbed by the hordes of tourists who seek to invade the great churches of that land without being clad in a manner befitting worshippers.

It is noted, too, that a number of schools in our own country are having difficulty regulating the dress of students. In this connection, it is satisfying to learn that one Nova Scotia school board is taking action which categorically decrees certain garments that may not be worn in the classroom. The effort to ban such items as slacks and sport shirts is to be applauded.

Granted, not everyone can afford a wardrobe designed for every social contingency. But surely it is within the means of most to procure the practical and conservative stylings which are generally acceptable and which, at least, bespeak respect and sensitivity.

There is one point which must not be overlooked, and the Italian case provides an excellent illustration. For, there, the difficulty lies in a conflict of interests.

The Church appeals to the pilgrim mind and expects people to come in that mood. But the state advertises the fine old places of worship as tournist attractiois. Hence, it follows that the visitors often will come as tourists rather than pligrims.

Obviously, a prerequisite of the attitude which requires proper dress is the establishment of the atmosphere which will permit of nothing else—an environment hardly promoted when the people (in Italy, for example) are tugged in more than one direction by constituted authority.

Prison reform

Modern thinking about prisons Being hampered by old concepts

By RON POULTON
Toronto Telegram News Service

The slabs of ancient stone inside the main gate of Kingston Penitentiary in Ontario rarely get the sun, and the air of the place is electric with the threat of riot.

I. W. Braithwaite, warden of Haney Correctional Institution in B.C., was thinking of places like it when he said (in 1960): "Most prisons are relics of the thinking of the 18th century. Our ideas have changed, but our prisons have not."

The same implacable piles were in the mind of a British barrister named Norman Howarth Hignett when (in 1956) he left Wormwood Scrubs after doing time for embezzlement.

Hignett committed suicide, but not before he had written (in a book called Portrait In Gray):

LAST WORDS

"There can be no redemption or rehabilitation until there is a system whose emphasis is not upon its sanctions of power to punish and to crush, but upon its qualities of power to persuade and to raise . . ."

THIRD OF FOUR ARTICLES

Justice Minister Davie Fulton was thinking of redemption and Kingston when he said recently: "We're not trying to build luxury hotels where the men are sent to have a good time. But the old methods of penal thinking have had plenty of chance to prove themselves, and they've failed."

Hignett poured bitterness on wardens and guards who deliberately ignored "high sounding parliamentary enactments, detailed rules, countless directives and impressive reports abounding in 'treatment', correction', training'; and 'reform.' "

Canadian parliamentary libraries, like the rest, allowed plenty of dust of collect on suggested reforms. But a vast change is now taking place. More prison reforms are in motion than ever before.

Yet, the reforms are not coming fast enough to suit the Justice Department. Their pace is harnessed to old, outdated penitentiaries, lack of trained personnel and administrations divided between federal and provincial authorities.

Federal pens house all inmates sentenced to two years or more. The provinces are responsible for courts and the rest of the jails within their borders.

LEGACY LINGERS

It is four years since federal and provincial authorities agreed that Ottawa should control all persons sentenced to a year or more. But the idea hangs idle because former administrations left a legacy of archaic prisons.

The Justice Department hasn't been able to build and staff enough penitentiaries to carry out some of the obviously needed reforms recommended by the Archambault Commission (in 1938) and the Fauteux Committee (in 1953).

In 1924, Toronto Magistrate James Edmund Jones concluded (in a book called Pioneer Crimes and Punishment) that "victims of drugs, alcohol and veneral disease, and adults with the mentality of children, are all housed promiscuously together."

It bothered him that "persons physically and mentally sick are housed with first offenders and with hardened criminals."

This collection of sorry humanity still exists in Kingston Pen today. It has a cell capacity of 770; at last count it harbored 992 inmates. Authorities hope to cut its population to 400 and, ultimately, to tear it down.

At Kinston they've thrown away the manual which insisted that grey paint be used to make the place as depressing as possible.

Guards no longer force convicts to speak while their eyes are fixed firmly on their boots. Steaks and chicken are not uncommon on the menu.

But visitors are warned when they enter the tailoring shop that some inmates are psychotic. And they notice — as they walk through the dreary, jampacked loft — that a lot of the cons are working with foot-long scissors while the guards are unarmed.

Archambault and Fauteux recommended: Separate institutions for juveniles psychotics, perverts and addicts; reception centres to screen inmates for various institutions; better prison staffs; more academic and vocational training; more hobbies and recreations.

There are still no reception centres. In 1961 federal penitentiaries admitted three boys under 15, 26 15-year olds and 57 16-year-olds.

NEW SITES

But sites for four federal prisons for juveniles are now being sought. An institution for drug addicts is being built in B.C. Academic and vocational training has improved.

Until 1958, some federal pens hadn't changed since Confederation. Inmates in Dorchester, St. Vincent de Paul, Kingston, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and B.C. were locked in the cells at 4.30 p.m. and stayed there till morning.

Nowadays, inmates can read books, watch movies, learn trades. And at the staff college at Calderwood old and new prison personnel are told to ask themselves: "What can be done about the personality of the correctional officer?"

(Tomorrow: The new look in prisons.)

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — There's a story that the fabulous female financier, Hattie Green, hired a locomotive in New York and rode its cab to Philadelphia to get there in time to buy a railroad and make a handful of millions.

"Who's looney now?" she wired her brother, who was attempting to have her certified for the booby hatch.

In the same context, John Diefenbaker was trying not long ago to have Lester Pearson certified by the Canadian people. On June 11 the prime minister said:

"The Liberal lezder did Canada harm, untold harm, when he made the statement that the Canadian government was forced to borrow or it received some assistance of $62 millions from foreign banks or foreign nations to bolster our exchange reserves. He said further that we had lost $500 millions on the exchange rate in maintaining it. My answer was, and still is, those statements are not true and weren't true."

Now it's a matter of public record that Canada's gold and US dollar reserves were $2 billions last Dec. 1, give or take a few millions. By June 1 they were down to less than $1.5 billions. And on June 24 the prime minister said:

"Canada's official holdings of gold and US dollars now stand at approximately $1.1 billion. To reinforce these reserves . . . Canada is exercising its borrowing rights with the International Monetary Fund and is drawing $300 millions". He listed other foreign lines of credit and currency arrangements the government had made to bolster reserves. "This international financial support adds well over one billion dollars in cash and stand-by credits to Canada's exchange reserves . . ."

As the PM said June 14, "The truth has been on our side. We have given you the facts. We have bared the record. We have concealed nothing and shaded nothing . . . We have kept your dollar strong."

And as he said June 25, it was "only in very recent days" that "the emergent situation" developed — curiously similar to the situation Pearson had described early in June.

"All over the world they (the Liberals) besmirch the good name of Canada", Diefenbaker said on June 11. "They want to rule and if they don't rule they don't care what ruin they bring to Canada," he charged. The effect of the pegging of the dollar, he added, is "conclusive evidence . . . of the complete untruth of their predictions of doom and gloom".

Well, as Hattie Green might say . . .

On May 14 Diefenbaker said "Five years ago — and Canadians know it to their sorrow — there was in force a deliberate policy of tight money which had checked the progress of the economy".

June 15: "We ended tight money."

June 24: the Bank of Canada announced that "after consultation with the prime minister" it was boosting the bank rate to six per cent, up from 3-1/4 two months earlier. This action heralds the return of tight money.

Again May 14: "Your taxes are down," the PM said.

June 24 the PM announced a new five to 15 per cent tax on half of all Canada's imports.

Necessary? Yes. But timed right? No—action should have been taken weeks ago. . . about the time Diefenbaker was telling the voters that "We kept Canada strong and made her stronger."

Press Comment

NASSER READS CENSUS RETURNS

(Christian Science Monitor)

Two news media recently reported that President Nasser of the United Arab Republic had done an about-face on the subject of birth control. Actually his government has provided birth control information through child welfare centers since 1955. Nevertheless, some of his recent statements are significant.

Family planning, he declares, is necessary in order to avoid disastrous overpopulation in Egypt. Although the national rate of earnings is increasing by 3 per cent a year and may improve still more rapidly, "a steady increase in the population," says Mr. Nasser, "will imply poverty." At the present birth rates, even an effort to double the national income every 10 years would, it is estimated, be in vain.

Hence, the head of the U.A.R. has broadcast, "I consider it the duty of the state to advise the people on methods of birth control."

This course, implemented by medical discussion groups and village clinics, may have a profound influence on the effectiveness of American and other economic assistance in the Nile Valley.

One important factor could be the introduction of agricultural machinery. As acquaintance with farm implements for cotton and other crops reduces the need for large families as a source of cheap labor, the standard of living can be expected to rise.

Meanwhile, India is several years ahead in the effort to encourage population control. Now it is reported even that Communist China, which a couple of years ago boasted of its sea of human resources, is discouraging early marriages and pointing out the disadvantages of too early childbearing.

Possibly the demographers who forecast a lack of standing room on the world's continents in less than a century will after all be proved wrong, as they hoped.

LIFE CAN

arrival in New York of Louis Boyd's family of 10 on April 21.

The hospitality accorded them by New York, where some 1,000,000 Negroes live in the Harlem section alone, was unique.

Welfare agencies were on hand to give the family aid. Employers offered jobs and landlords housing.

This perhaps encouraged other Negroes to leave their southern homes and the white Citizens Council to keep the reverse freedom rides alive.

But Boyd's sunny start soon became overcast. The firm that had hired him as a $100-a-week handyman ran into financial difficulties, failed to meet a payroll and folded, throwing him out of work again.

SENT TO HYANNIS PORT

Many of the reverse freedom riders were sent to Hyannis Port, Mass., where President Kennedy has a summer home. Only a few jobs were available in the area and some 40 persons—33 of them children—had to be placed in a college dormitory.

Several went to Boston, where job opportunities are better.

Rt. Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes, Episcopal (Anglican) Bishop of Massachusetts, bitterly criticized the shipping of penniless Negroes to northern communities, saying it is cruelty "below the standards of a civilized nation."

Some Negroes said they had been given $5 each by the Citizens Council to pay for their food on the trip north.

A white Little Rock clothier, James Karan, who heads a group known as "We Who Care," made a bid to entice Negroes shipped from Arkansas to return from Massachusetts, but the Negroes replied they preferred to remain in the north.

Of the handful of reverse freedom riders known to have arrived in Chicago, two are employed and one has returned to New Orleans.

To receive general public assistance in Illinois a person must be a resident of the state for at least one year.

Conspicuously missing from the list of cities, where the segregationist have directed jobless Negroes, is Washington. This fact has led to speculation that most southern congressmen do not approve of the action and would be embarrassed by it.

Coin club holds last meeting

The Sherbrooke Numismatic Society held its last regular meeting of the 1961-62 season at the YMCA, 296 Dufferin St. in Sherbrooke Monday night with Lionel Lessard presiding. Lessard is the club's new president, elected at the last outing of the club with Jack Edgar, vice-pres.; Allen B. Mooney, treasurer and Mrs. Lola Caron, secretary. Editing the club monthly bulletin is Richard Lacroix.

The Monday meeting was a special—with the ladies being invited to take part in regular activities. Fifty members and guests attended this final outing for the season and everyone seemed interested in what took place.

The new president welcomed the guests and thanked the past-president, Hartley F. Graham for his fine work during his term of office. Special congratulations went to Eddy Echenberg, a former president of the club and now elected president of the newly-formed Province of Quebec Numismatic Association. This new group was formed at Montreal on May 26 last when a special three day event was held at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel.

Mr. Echenberg was co-founder of the Sherbrooke Coin Club and is now vice-president of the Canadian Numismatic Association (CNA).

A special 'donation' auction was held for benefit of the CNA and this brought the sum of $28.65 from the coins that were sold.

There were several out-of-town guests and members at the meeting, some from across the lines. The president was very pleased to see them attending as well as those from other parts of the Eastern Townships.

He also noted that before the season comes to a close, a couple of Bourse nights will be held. Members will be notified in the usual manner as to when these nights will be held.

The "sayings" of Miss Dewey as she opened the gifts, recorded by a group of her friends, was read back causing more merriment.

Refreshments were served at long tables decorated with white peonies. The head table where the immediate family was seated, was centered with a low bowl of peonies surrounded by five cakes in the design of a bride and her attendants and by the shower cake in a double ring design with silver carpet and a miniature bride and groom. The bridal party was the artistic art of Mrs. R. Peavey and the shower cake, that of Mrs. Henry Brock.

Hostesses were Mrs. Arnold Rever, Mrs. Wynn Dustin, the Misses Pat Mayhew and Beverly Dustin, assisted by others.

The hall had been artistically decorated for the event with open umbrellas suspended from the ceiling, green and yellow garlands, with the umbrella over the bride constantly overflowing confetti upon her and the others with her at the table.

On the grounds one may have their noon dinner which is being served by the Legion Auxiliary under the big tent, and will consist of cold cuts, salads and dessert.

There will be a wide variety of booths of the Legion and Auxiliary, church groups and organizations. Fitch Bay group will feature the ever popular sugar on snow. There will be home made foods, novelties, games for young and older folks and an added feature this year will be three mechanical rides for the kiddies.

Additional tables have been made and will be put into use on the Memorial Park grounds for the serving of the dinners. A vote of thanks must be extended to Chester Cordeau of Rock Island, for assisting in the making of the tables, also to Mrs. Francis Emslie for offering her home kitchen to the Auxiliary workers for June 30.

Several of the members volunteered to work on Saturday in the Auxiliary booths.

The Peanut Baseball players will put on a double header and its worth it to see them play putting all they have into the game.

Another feature will be Jacques Codere and his troupe parachuters who will fall out of the sky into the field at 4 p.m. and of course the square dance competition at 2.30 p.m.

Where are the old time fiddlers? There is a contest open to them at 3.30 p.m. and an old time fiddler does not mean one had to be old in age, just able to fiddle old time music. The committee are soliciting more entries so grab your fiddle and come to the park in Beebe.

Both visiting bands the 24th Tech. Squd. RCEME pipe band and the Richmond Harmony band will give a concert at 1.30 p.m.

Just about dark there will be one of the greatest display of fireworks ever to be seen in this locality.

The fireworks will be followed by a dance at 10 p.m. in the Town hall with music by Pierce Ellis and his Volcanoes. At the dance the lucky ticket will be drawn for the Saguenay trip.

Let's attend the big Celebration at Beebe — Saturday, June 30th!

It's Canada's own prize champagne and for good reason! Light, lively sparkling President Champagne is just right for special occasions. Pop the cork and sip! . . . delicious! So, fathers of brides take note! . . . everyone enjoys Bright's President Champagne and it costs much less than you would think!

You see, Calgon Bouquet is the delightful bath powder that makes your bath-water silky-soft . . . and both water and soap rinse away cleanly . . . no sticky feeling . . . no bathtub 'ring'. FEW PRODUCTS THAT I RECOMMEND can match the versatility and effectiveness of new FLY-TOX House and Garden Spray. This giant, economy-size Aerosol has a dozen uses. At a touch of your finger, it kills flies in the home . . . mosquitoes at camp or cottage . . . insect pests that destroy your garden. The new FLY-TOX Insect Killer makes indoor and outdoor living more pleasant. Remember, too, to stock up on TAT ANT TRAPS. They contain a powerful, slow-acting poison which scout ants carry back to the nest to destroy the entire colony. Buy both for pest-free summer living!

Activities at

Stanstead College

Dr. Harry Hutchison, headmaster of the College for the past two years, Mrs. Hutchison, their son, Ross, and Mrs. Hutchison's mother, Mrs. Ross, left by plane for Dorval today for their native home in Scotland. The best wishes of their many friends in Stanstead and the Townships go with them.

Sunday, June 24, Dr. and Mrs. Hutchison were host and hostess at a luncheon at the College, attended by the graduates and those members of the staff still at the College. Dr. Hutchison wished the graduates every success in their chosen careers as he bid them farewell. D. McG. Hackett made complimentary reference to Dr. and Mrs. Hutchison as he bid them adieu with good wishes for the future.

Rev. James Hendry and family leave the beginning of July for Pointe Claire, where he will be in charge of a parish. Mr. Hendry has been chaplain at the College the past two years. We expect to see them quite frequently as they own a small farm in Fairfax area.

Exams finished on June 26, and all students have left, as well as many members of the staff. School will reopen on Sept. 10.

The new headmaster, Edward Cayley, from Plymouth, N.H., will be at the College the first of July. Mr. and Mrs. Cayley will be in one of the Colby Hall Apartments while their home is being redecorated.

We think the Hacketts will be enjoying their holidays motoring this summer as Mr. Hackett aas purchased a new foreigh car and has been seen taking a post graduate course in driving around the College grounds.

Chartered Banks to introduce high-speed electronic cheque handling:

0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 : ⑈ ⑉ ⑆

These odd-looking digits and symbols will soon become quite common in many parts of Canada.

When imprinted on the bottom of a bank cheque in magnetic ink, they form a language that an electronic machine will read as it performs various sorting operations in the cheque-clearing process.

This new method, called MICR—Magnetic Ink Character Recognition—is still another step in the long evolution of banking from the days of the quill pen and hand-posted ledgers. It makes possible a faster, more accurate service to customers. It will not replace people; it will assist them, freeing them for more interesting tasks in banking.

You will make out and use cheques as you do now. Corporation and other bank customers who print their own cheques will, however, need to be sure these conform to the new sizes and specifications required for electronic processing.

The new electronic cheque sorters will be located at first in centres handling large volumes of cheques.

Some of the new-style cheques are in use now—you may have seen them. Within the next few months, the volume of these encoded cheques will increase, some printed by the banks, others by bank customers.

When MICR is in full operation the chartered banks will be better equipped than ever to perform the series of operations needed to clear each of the one billion cheques that Canadians write each year.

Red Kelly may have trouble trying to be MP and hockey player, says Howie Meeker and Bucko McDonald

By JACK SULLIVAN

Red Kelly, a soft - spoken, retiring person, probably will feel right at home when he takes his seat in the House of Commons later this year.

"He'll have no trouble getting acclimatized," says Bucko McDonald.

"Being a hockey player gives you a wonderful advantage in Parliament," says Howie Meeker.

Both of these chaps should know. Bucko spent 12 years as an MP — from 1945 until he retired in 1957 — following a big league hockey career with Toronto Maple Leafs where he built a reputation as a hard-hitting defenceman.

Meeker spent four years in the House while still playing with the Leafs. Now Kelly, a 15 - year National Hockey league veteran, will try to mix politics with hockey.

The nifty, play - making centre with the Leafs won the York West riding as a Liberal in the June 18 federal election and since then people have been aiming well-meaning advice at him.

MPs ARE FRIENDLY

"I certainly don't want to say whether he can mix politics and hockey," McDonald said from his Sundridge, Ont. home. "I never had to do it, so I wouldn't know. I went into politics after my hockey days were over.

"One thing is pretty certain though: He'll get along fine in the House. Politicians follow hockey just as any other persons do and Red probably will find that fellows from both sides of the house will talk to him. They were nice to me, regardless what side of the House they were on."

Bucko was first elected as a Liberal in the Parry Sound constituency in 1945, was re-elected for Parry Sound - Muskoka in 1949 and again in 1953. He now is director of hockey in his home town and coaches the intermediate team.

Meeker, sports editor of a radio and television station in St. John's, Nfld., represented Waterloo South as a Progressive Conservative from 1953 to 1957.

As an MP he also played right wing for the Leafs.

His advice to Kelly:

"You can't do justice to either job."

"I never got in top condition as a hockey player, wasn't able to spend enough time in Ottawa to do the work of the riding, and neglected my family," he told reporters in St. John's.

"Red could do it for a year, but I expect he will have 25 personal problems a week from his district which he will have to look after and which will require a lot of leg work."

But, added Meeker, who later coached the Leafs; playing hockey was a "wonderful in" as a politician.

"After a big game, a cabinet minister would look over at me, then come over and say 'you couldn't beat the Rocket (Maurice Richard) last night, eh' and spend a few minutes reviewing the game."

Jack Nicklaus to play in Canadian Open

MONTREAL (CP) — The Royal Canadian Golf Association announced Wednesday that Jack Nicklaus, newly - crowned U.S. open champion, will play in the Canadian Open next month.

Word reached RGCA officials here from Chicago, where Nicklaus is preparing for the Western Open.

The $30,000 Canadian Open will be held at Montreal's Laval-sur-le-Lac course July 26-29.

Cal Griffith is happy with Minnesota club

NEW YORK (AP)—Cal Griffith, a long-time loser at Washington, has found a bright new world in Minnesota.

Despite a 7-3 defeat by New York Yankees Wednesday, owner Griffith's Twins are in second place, only one game behind the pace-setting Cleveland Indians. The club has not finished in the first division since it was fourth in 1946.

"There isn't an outstanding club in the league," said Griffith. "Certainly, we are far better off than we figured. Who expected the race to be this tight? Any one of five or six clubs could win it, including us."

Griffith traced his club's resurgence from a deal he made in 1960 for catcher Earl Battey.

"That deal with Chicago was the greatest deal I ever made," said Griffith. "We got Battey, Don Mincher and $150,000 for Roy Sievers. Everybody criticized me at the time because Sievers had been a big home-run hitter, but it turned out fine."

Griffith rates his big 1962 deal almost on par with the Battey swap. Just before spring training ended, the Twins traded Pedro Ramos to Cleveland Indians for Vic Power and Dick Stigman. Power "made" the infield and Stigman helped the pitching staff.

"Now things are falling into place. We have good spirit. This is a happy bunch. I think the rest of the league realizes that the Twins are for real."

Gilles Dube ends playing career

Gilles Dube, playing-coach of the Sherbrooke Beavers in the Eastern Townships Intermediate Hockey League, announced his retirement from active ranks last night at a meeting of the league held in Granby.

Dube, who has been an active player for the past sixteen years, will remain as coach of the Beavers in the loop. His retirement was brought about for business reasons and as owner of the Auberge Royal in Sherbrooke it is impossible for him to give as much time to hockey.

At the meeting last night in Granby the league studied the demands of three teams to join the loop and at the same time discussed changes in some of the league rules pertaining to players. The final demand for new franchises will be decided at the next meeting in Granby on Wednesday, July 11th.

Dube's decision to retire is final and not a rumor. Dube has been a pillar of strength for the local club in the dual role of coach and player. His services on the ice will be hard to replace but the valuable experience he has gained will be a great help to the Beavers.

JULES DUBE

Dube started playing organized hockey at the age of 16 years and since then has been with the Junior Canadiens of Montreal, and a few games with the Canadiens, with Cincinnati in the American League, Sherbrooke Saints, Shawinigan Cataracts, in the Quebec loop, and for the past five years with Sherbrooke in the Intermediate league.

Dube finds it harder to get and remain in shape as business doesn't permit him as much time to devote to the game. He realizes he has slowed up but despite this he always was a hard player and always gave his best all the time.

One thing is certain, Gilles Dube is not abandoning hockey. Hockey has been good for Dube and Dube has been good for hockey—he'll be back whether it be as a manager, or a coach —he'll be back.

There is no doubt that the Beavers will miss him. He was a player who gave his all no matter what position he played. While with the Beavers he played every position except goalkeeper—and the only reason he didn't play there was because nobody asked him.

He made his presence felt on the power plays with his neat stickhandling, on a penalty killing line with his great speed, and on the blue line with his solid body checking.

We have seen Gilles play with Sherbrooke's old St. Francois team, we have seen him win a league scoring championship with the Cataracts and we've seen him repeat the feat twice while playing with the Beavers.

So the Beavers are out a good hockey player—but they will retain a top coach.

Bessette gets second win of year, Kurty shows base-running skills, both teams clash again tonight

Sherbrooke Alouettes defeated the St. Johns Pirates 5-2 at the Park Avenue Stadium last night and advanced to within 2½ games of first place.

The win marked the fourth in a row for the Larks over the Pirates.

In other league action, the Drummondville Royals backed a three-hit pitching performance by Marcel Guilbault and edged the league-leading Acton Vale Beavers 2-0.

The Pirates and the Als clash again this evening in St. Johns while Coaticook meets Granby.

Andre Bessette went seven innings for last night's Sherbrooke win. He was replaced by Gilles Bernier after he was hit for a double and a home-run in the seventh. It was his second victory of the season.

Bessette gave up two hits in the first five innings but Kurtz doubled in the seventh and Gauvin followed with a homer to tie the game.

Ralph Shield, the losing pitcher was the victim of his teammates errors. He gave up only eight hits and struck out five. Shield also did well at the plate, getting two hits in four appearances.

Frank Kurty, the Larks second sacker, once again showed his terrific base-running ability.

Kurty got the Als first point in the first inning when he stole home. He was walked and moved to second on Mandala's line - drive single to left.

Both players got the steal sign and as the throw went to second to get Mandala, Kurty scooted home.

Sherbrooke's big inning was the sixth. Chet Wodjie led off with a single and Gilles Robichaud followed it up with a walk. A passed ball permitted both men to move up a base and then Jacques struck out. Fernand Dube followed with a ground ball to the shortstop Morrocco who chose to go to home with the ball to get Wodjie. The throw was high and .two runs scored. Dube then moved to second on another St. Johns error and Frank Kurty brought him home with a single. After Mandala, up for the second time in the same inning walked and Jacques Monette scored Kurty with a single.

Crimson Satan, winner of Richards Stake last Saturday, disqualified following urine test after race

STANTON, Del., (AP)—Crimson Satan, winner of last Saturday's $42,500 Leonard Richards Stakes at Delaware Park, was disqualified Wednesday by the state racing commission because of a "substance found in the horse's urine" in a post-race examination.

Crimson Satan, owned by Peter Salmen, Sr., of Detroit, won the 1⅛ mile race by a length and a half over Noble Jay with Cyane third.

The Delaware State Racing Commission said the report of its official chemist showed, "that a substance in the nature of phenylbutazone was found in the urine sample of the horse, Crimson Satan, winner of the sixth race at Delaware Park on Saturday, June 23."

The commission ordered Crimson Satan, last year's two-year-old champion, disqualified and the purse re-distributed.

Crimson Satan, the hard luck colt of this year's three-year-old crop, earned $30,500 of the gross purse for his come-from behind Richards' victory. Noble Jay now gets the winner's share, with Cyane taking second money of $6,500 Smart the show purse of $3,500 and Water Hole fourth money worth $2,000.

DOESN'T AFFECT BETS

The ruling of the commission, of course, in no way effects the wagering in the race.

36 --- Downhill Lies

Getting the ball properly in the air from a downhill lie—one in which the right foot is higher than the left—is a most difficult problem.

Select a club with more loft than you would play from a flat lie. Go one or two clubs higher if necessary. Grip the club as you would for any other shot. Don't grip short.

To compensate for the tendency to put too much weight on the right foot, play the ball off it with most of your weight in the left and with your right side down more than on level ground.

A little more than half a backswing is best. Shift laterally with the slope of the ground. If you don't do this, you probably will dig into the ball, instead of hitting it cleanly. Don't let the downhill lie trick you into moving your body to the right on the backswing. Keep your head fixed in relation to the ball.

If you find a downhill lie causes you to slice, compensate for it by aiming a little to the left of the target.

ABOUT a half backswing.

If the lie causes you to pull the ball, it is because your hips, shoulders and hands have rolled, creating an outside-in swing.

NEXT: High ball.

Pinnacle Golf Club to hold tournament

The Pinnacle Golf Club of Abercorn will stage a three-day tournament over Dominion Day weekend commencing Saturday, July 1st, at 1.00 p.m.

Players can play any of the three days, Saturday, Sunday and Monday with prizes for the low net and gross on the weekend. The course is situated at the foot of Pinnacle Mountain with the White River winding around the layout.

It is a new course and is considered one of the most beautiful in the Eastern Townships. It is in fine condition and although it is only a nine-hole course it is tricky.

St. Mike's sell junior franchise to Maple Leafs

TORONTO (CP) — St. Michael's College sold its franchise in the Ontario Hockey Association junior A series Wednesday to Toronto Maple Leafs of the National League.

Sale of the franchise will mean for the second time in two years the Majors have withdrawn from junior A hockey.

St. Michael's withdrew at the end of the 1960-61 season after the team won the Memorial Cup but last season it decided to play in the five-team Metropolitan Junior A League.

The sale follows the OHA's refusal to permit St. Michael's to enter the Metro league on condition it might withdraw from competition by March 31 in any year.

Robin Roberts posts his 4th win, Don Drysdale stops Braves

Hurls five-hitter, Jim Gentile belting two homers, Tigers blank Indians, Yanks and Angels win

Nearing the end of the ride in his roller-coaster career, Robin Roberts is on a definite up-curve.

The 35-year-old right-hander who hit a dip when he was handed his unconditional release by one American League club this season, won his fourth straight for Baltimore Orioles Wednesday night, beating Chicago White Sox 3-1.

Supported by the resurgent home run power, of Jim Gentile, Roberts posted his victory with a neat five-hit effort. Gentile broke out of a slump with a pair of homers, driving in all three Baltimore runs.

Roberts, who was purchased by New York Yankees last fall after 14 seasons with Phiadelphia Phillies and then released by the Yanks in late April without ever pitching for them, has put together a 4-2 record since joining the Orioles.

Elsewhere, things tightened up among the league front-runners. Paul Foytack and Detroit Tigers trimmed the first-place Cleveland Indians 4-0, the Yankees whipped Minnesota Twins 7-3 and Los Angeles Angels blanked Boston Red Sox 3-0—leaving the Indians one game ahead of the Twins, with the Yanks and Angels two games off the pace. In the AL's other game, Kansas City Athletics scored over Washington Senators 4-1.

SEEMED WASHED UP

Roberts was a 20-game winner six years in a row for the Phils but gradually tailed off and last year was a dismal 1-10. The word was the stocky mid-westerner's fast ball was gone —and he hadn't developed a delivery to replace it.

Could be. But he's winning somehow with the Orioles. After two effective no-decision stints for Baltimore, he suffered two one-run setbacks. Since then Roberts has beaten the Yankees, Senators, Red Sox and White Sox — giving up nine earned runs during his winning string.

The White Sox drew first blood Wednesday night when Joe Cunningham singled in a sixth-inning run, but Gentile rapped left-hander Juan Pizarro for one homer in the last of the sixth and smacked another with one on in the eighth. He had collected only one homer and four runs batted in the previous 14 games.

Foytack won his sixth in seven decisions, six-hitting the Indians while the Tigers dealt Cleveland ace Dick Donovan his third loss against 11 victories. Jake Wood scored Detroit's first run in the opening inning when he singled and eventually came in from second on a throwing error by Donovan. Then the Tigers bunched four hits for two more runs in the second.

YANKS BOMB KAAT

The Yankees went to work early against Jim Kaat, roughing up the Minnesota southpaw for six runs in the first two innings. Tom Tresh led New York's attack with a homer and single. Roger Maris also homered for the Yanks—his 13th of the year.

Ralph Terry gave the Twins eight hits, including a homer by Don Mincher.

The Angels, no-hit by Boston's Earl Wilson Tuesday night, rebounded as Don Lee and Dean Chance collaborated on a five-hitter against the Red Sox. The Los Angeles runs came in on a single by Billy Moran, Leon Wagner's double and Lee Thomas' sacrifice fly.

Kansas City netted a pair of unearned runs in the fourth inning and went on to win their third in a row as Ed Rakow handcuffed the Senators.

Coach Morin's Indians on warpath scalp White Sox and Yankees, one game tonight in Little League

Coach Bob Morin of the Indians in the Sher-Lenn Little League has had his boys on the war path and they have come up with the scalps of the White Sox and Yankees this week. Tuesday evening they edged the White Sox 7-5 and in last night's tussle with the Yankees they came through with a convincing 29-9 victory.

Tonight the Senators and Red Sox clash at the Parade Grounds.

In Tuesday night's win the Indians broke into the winning column for the first time this season and in doing so upset their more fancied opponents White Sox. Berthol Fortier was the winning pitcher in this one and young D. Farrell the loser.

The game was close until the fifth inning in which the Indians got four runs which gave them a 7-4 lead. White Sox got their fifth tally in the top of the sixth.

Jacques Pepin with three hits and Marcel Blais with two were the big hitters for the Indians. George Meisner was the White Sox star with a home run and a single.

Indians at no time in last night's game were in any trouble. The Indian batters in this one came up with a 19-hit barrage that was good for 29 runs. They started off with five runs, eight in the second and in the remaining three innings pushed 16 more runs across the plate.

Yankees were away under par in the game. Loose fielding was a big factor in their defeat. They had one good inning coming up with five runs in the top of the fifth.

Jacques Pepin, playing first base for the Indians had four hits in the game his team mate Berthol Fortier also had four, one of them a home run with two men aboard.

Ronnie Desjardins led the Yankee hitters with three singles. Crosby, Cotton and Richard Smith each had two hits. O'Conner, Faucher and Dussault were the umpires in last night's tilt.

All-America Bowl to be played Friday

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The All-America Bowl, featuring the cream of last season's college stars, gets the football—that's right, football—season off to an early start Friday night.

Both squads, the East and West, finished heavy preparations Wednesday for the second annual game, which is expected to draw a crowd of about 22,000. The game will be televised (NBC) over 176 stations.

East coach Woody Hayes of Ohio State and the West's Murry Warmath of Minnesota named their co-captains Wednesday, but neither has announced his starting lineup.

Hayes nominated Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State and Larry Onesti of Northwestern to co-captain the East, while the West picked a pair of quarterbacks, Bobby Ply of Baylor and Sandy Stephens of Minnesota.

Gabriel is expected to head the East's No. 1 backfield that includes Ernie Davis of Syracuse, Angelo Dabiero of Notre Dame and either Bob Ferguson of Ohio State or Al Rushatz of Army.

Warmath is expected to counter with a starting backfield of Stephens, who has signed with Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League, halfbacks Jim Saxton of Texas and Bobby Lee Thompson of Arizona and fullback Art Perkins of North Texas State.

Wilf Greaves signs to meet Blair Richardson

SYDNEY (CP) — Canadian middleweight boxing champion Wilf Greaves of Edmonton has signed to defend his title against Blair Richardson of South Bar, N.S., in a mid-summer bout.

Promoter Gus MacLellan of Sydney said today he had both Greaves and Richardson under contract for a bout to take place either July 28 or Aug. 3. He was still negotiating for the site but it would be "either Glace Bay or Sydney."

The Greaves-Richardson bout was earlier proposed for Halifax but Richardson's manager would not agree to terms offered by Halifax promoters.

Richardson, recognized as the easter Canadian middleweight king, has a record of 34 professional ring victories, including 28 knockouts. He has suffered two losses and fought to a draw in one bout.

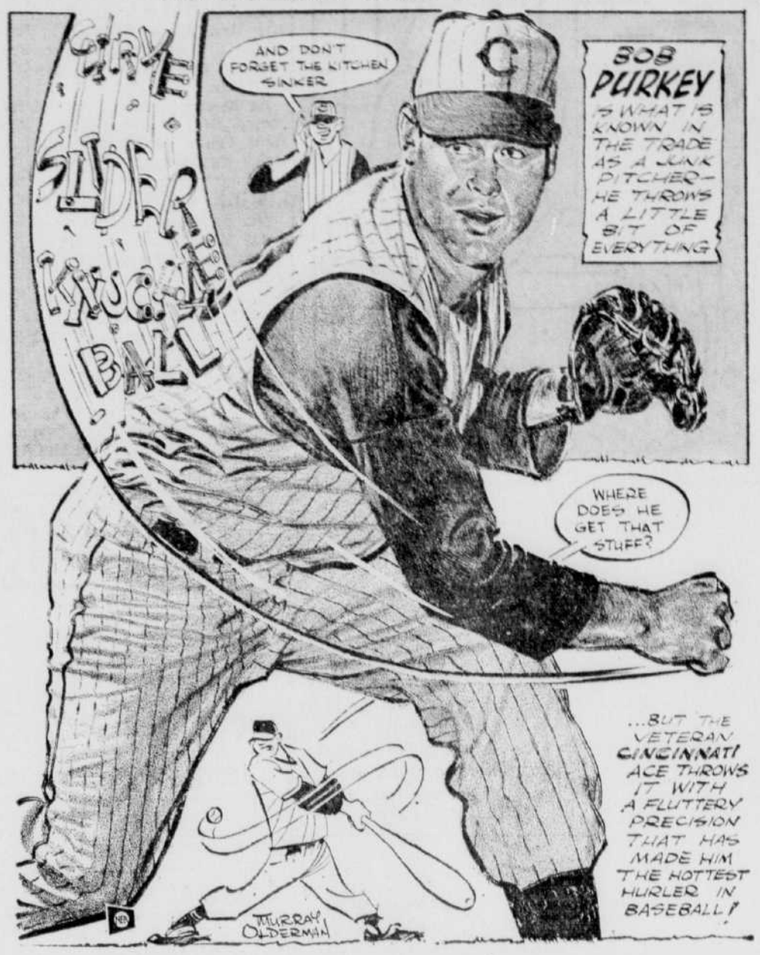
Greaves, who now fights out of Detroit, has not defended his championship since a bout with Bobo Fiddler in Calgary two years ago.

The one-time world contender has had more formidable opposition than the 21-year-old Nova Scotian. Greaves has fought such top men as Dick Tiger, Sugar Ray Robinson, Gene Fullmer, Spider Webb and Joey Giardello.

REMEMBER WHEN

Ingemar Johansson of Sweden won the world heavyweight title by a technical knockout over Floyd Patterson in the third round at Yankee Stadium three years ago tonight. In the return match the next year, Patterson became the first heavyweight in boxing history to regain the title, and Patterson defeated Johansson again in the third match in 1961.

HE DOESN'T MISS A THING



Larkspur declared fit and ready for Saturday's Irish sweeps Derby

LONDON (CP) — Larkspur, the hard-running little horse that specializes in winning big races between off-color spells, Wednesday was declared fit and ready for Saturday's £67,000 Irish sweeps derby.

The American-owned colt, by Never Say Die out of Skylarking, went through a workout Wednesday in satisfactory fashion, and a veterinary pronounced him set for Saturday.

Earlier this week, trainer Vincent O'Brien announced his diminutive but lion-hearted horse was suffering from a slight hock injury.

Larkspur turned up with an identical ailment just before the June 6 Epsom Derby, but was all right on the day — good enough to win by two lengths in a 26-horse field.

The colt was a 3-to-1 favorite for the Irish classic before O'Brien's announcement, which caused British bookmakers to suspend the scheduled Tuesday night betting callover. Wednesday Archie de Young, chairman of the callover committee, said he isn't sure when the next official betting list will be formulated.

ISSUE NEW PRICES

Two big London bookies said they will issue new prices tomorrow. Meanwhile an Irish betting man, Malachy Skelly, tentatively advertised Arctic Storm as favorite at 4-to-1.

Other Skelly prices included 5-to-1 Arcor; 7-to-1 Sebring and Tambourine; 8-to-1 Saint Denys; 12-to-1 Cyrus; 14-to-1 le Pirate; 16-to-1 London Gazette, March Wind and Sicilian Prince; 20-to-1 Our Guile; 33-to-1 Running Rock and 40-to-1 Atlantis, Gail Star and T.V.

Quotations ranged up to 500-to-1 on Talgo Abbess. There still are 26 probable starters for the 1½-mile race, to be run at the Curragh, a righthand, circular course 20 miles southeast of Dublin.

KEEPING FIT

By LLOYD PERCIVAL

Heard of the kangaroo who went to his doctor for a check-up because he wasn't feeling jumpy enough? Probably Bob Hope has nothing to fear from me but, bad joke or not it's not funny if you're jumpy.

Tension is the single greatest restrictor of efficiency, enjoyment and the ability to stand pressure. It is a health hazard of great concern to the medical profession, it makes you old before your time and it takes the fun out of living. Learn how to keep muscles loose.

Try this at your desk, when watching TV, or whenever you can. Take a deep breath, hold it. Raise the arms to the sides, tighten jaw, shoulders, turn-back hands stiffly. Hold for count of three. Exhale in long sigh and let arms and head drop loosely—like a dishrag on a nail. Let the jaw open loosely as you collapse. Repeat several times.

Alouettes sign five players

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes today announced the signing of three United States players and Canadian quarterback Cal Connors.

Connors, Queen's University star, was all-Canadian collegiate quarterback in 1961 and was a choice in Alouettes' college draft.

Two of the three signed Americans are halfbacks Sam Fernandez, from University of Miami, and Darwin Holt, from University of Alabama.

The third is John Charette, a six-foot, 230-pound guard from Syracuse University. He hails from Berlin, N.H., and speaks French.

Claude Harmon refused entry in British Open

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) — American golf professional Claude Harmon missed a chance of playing in this year's British Open because he submitted his entry too late, it was announced today.

Brigadier Eric Brickman, executive secretary of the Royal and Ancient Club, the ruling body of British golf, expressed regret that Harmon's entry had to be refused.

Harmon had suggested in New York that maybe officials of the Royal and Anicnet had never heard of him although he won the Masters tournament in 1948 and played in the British Open that year.

Explaining that this was not the case, Brickman said:

"Entries for the Open closed at 5 p.m. on Saturday, June 2, and it was not until the following Monday that we received cabled entry from Mr. Harmon."

The British Open will be played at Troon, a famous Scottish course, beginning July 9.

Emile Griffith meets Dupas in title fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Will Emile Griffith be able to forget the Benny (Kid) Paret tragedy and go all out against Ralph Dupas in their July 13 welterweight title fight?

"I hope so," said Emile as he prepared to leave today for Las Vegas, the fight site. "I guess I won't know until I get in there. I know in my heart that Benny's death was an accident. Boxing is my business. It got me and my family out of the slums and I never want to be poor again. So I will continue to fight."

Talking in the sing-song of his native Virgin Islands, the welterweight champion added: "I'm still a little uncomfortable in the ring. In training I know what I want to do and sometimes I can do everything and sometimes I just can't.

"I know I will have to be sharp and at my best against Dupas. He is a smart, tricky and very experienced fighter. I respect him highly. I have been working hard and I just hope I will be my best and that it will be a good, clean fight."

Griffith hasn't fought since he regained the 147-pound division crown in a 12th - round knockout March 24 that resulted in Paret's death 10 days later.

Wins No. 13 in series of incidents but managed to control his temper, Giants won, Cards blank Cubs twice

Calm, cool and collected, that's Don Drysdale.

The 25-year-old Los Angeles Dodgers fireballer, whose pitching talents have been diminished in the past by an easily reached boiling point, has learned to curb his temper and seems headed toward his first 20-victory season in the National League.

Drysdale won No. 13 Wednesday night with a five-hitter that whipped Milwaukee Braves 6-2 but had to maintain his composure during a series of incidents that must have given his new-found control its severest test.

Twice he was hit by pitches and twice had to pitch out of jams created by errors. In the sixth, Maury Wills booted a grounder by Hank Aaron, allowing the Braves' first run to score. In the eighth, Ed Mathews got a double when Frank Howard misjudged his fly, and took third on a passed ball.

Drysdale worked out of that spot and set the Braves down in order in the ninth, tying Cincinnati's Bob Purkey for the most victories in the majors and keeping the second-place Dodgers half a game behind San Francisco Giants.

GIANTS 'WHIP REDS

The Giants remained on top with their fifth consecutive victory, 6-3 over the Reds. The third-place Pittsburgh Pirates edged New York Mets 6-5 in 10 innings and the fourth-place St. Louis Cardinals blanked Chicago Cubs twice, 4-0 and 8-0 on shutouts by Larry Jackson and Ray Sadecki. Houston Colts and Philadelphia Phillies were not scheduled.

Drysdale (13-4) got the Dodgers started in the fifth when he was hit by a Bob Shaw (9-4) pitch. Wills forced him, then rode home on Willie Davis' homer. The Dodgers clinched it with three in the seventh against reliever Hank Fischer on Tommy Davis' two-run single and a double steal that sent Jim Gilliam across the plate. The triumph snapped a three-game losing streak for the Dodgers.

Ed Bailey, who hit a pinch grand-slam homer for the Giants Tuesday, tagged a Ted Wills pitch for a two-run homer in the sixth inning that snapped a 3-3 tie against his former Cincinnati teammates. Harvey Kuenn and Felipe Alou also homered for the San Franciscans. Wally Post hit his 12th for the defending NL champs and added two singles for a 3-for-4 performance.

SKINNER BREAKS IT UP

Bill Virdon's fourth single, a walk to Dick Groat and Bob Skinner's third single got the game-winner across for the Pirates against Mets' starter Roger Craig (4-10).

The victory went to 43-year-old Diomedes Olivo (3-0), who hurled one-hit ball for the final three innings. Frank Thomas hit home run No. 14 for the Mets.

Jackson (7-7) checked the Cubs on four singles in the opener and Sadecki (5-4) held the Chicagoans to five hits in the windup as the Cardinals ran their latest winning streak to five games.

Ken Boyer accounted for two runs batted in with three singles in the opener and Charley James drove in the others with a two-run double. Homers got the job done in the second game with Carl Sawatski, who entered the game when Gene Oliver was ejected in the third inning, hitting a pair and Julian Javier and Curt Flood one each.

ET towns to celebrate Dominion Day

Parades, fireworks, sports events and in general lots of good fun will characterize Dominion Day celebrations in the Eastern Townships Saturday.

Hatley, Bury and the Border villages have some of the most extensive and carefully organized festivities.

Hatley which this year will conduct its 54th consecutive festivities claims to have the oldest celebrations in the Eastern Townships.

The day's activities at Hatley will begin at 10.30 a.m. with a street parade led by the Coaticook Harmony Band and Majorettes. A hot dinner served by the Women's Auxiliary will be followed in the afternoon by sports including the traditional baseball game and a tug-of-war.

Highlight of the festivities will be the evening's program which will include a variety entertainment by the Sky Blue Revue from Montreal featuring such well known personalities as Canada's Mr. Pastry, Roger Peace, and Carol and Sandy.

Fireworks at 9.30 p.m. will end the day's activities.

Festivities at Bury under the organization of the Bury Athletic Association will begin Saturday at 12.30 p.m. with a mammoth parade. The parade will be headed by the colorful Sokokie Indian Chiefs drum and bugle corps from Gorham, New Hampshire.

Track and field events including high and broad jumping, races, horseshoe pitching and many others will fill the afternoon's program. Highlight of the afternoon will be a special drill performance by the Sokokie Indian chiefs and their all-girl color guard.

An amateur contest at 8 p.m. and a fireworks display will be presented in the evening, climaxed by an open air dance in the new pavilion in Bury's Memorial Park.

Celebrations at the Border communities sponsored by the Royal Canadian Legion once again begin Saturday with a parade at 10 a.m. Led by the 24th Tech. Sqd. R.C.A.F. and the Richmond Harmony Band the parade will end at the Beebe Memorial Park where the festivities will be held.

Long record of patriotic acts

(The following is an extract from "The Story Of Hatley" written by the late Maude Gage Pellerin).

Around 1908 the band held a ball game, dinner on long tables under the trees, a band concert, etc. This event proved so popular and profitable, that the Patriotic Society sponsored a similar gathering for a couple of years after the First Great War, to help in financing the erection of the Soldiers' Monument which now stands among the trees at the front of the Commons. . .

On July 1st, 1947, the second tablet was unveiled. This was a feature of the Dominion Day Celebration. Mayor Ralph Whitcomb, who had shown great interest in the project, acted as master of ceremonies. A number of military men from Sherbrooke were present and made short speeches on this occasion.

The Patriotic Society, under the leadership of the President, Mrs. Fannie Bowen and the Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Elsie Boyes, was once more chiefly responsible for this undertaking.

For many years the two churches have joined together in putting on the July 1st Celebration on the Common, which follows the pattern of that first held by the Band in 1907. One year the leader is chosen from the Guild of St. James' Church and the next from the Women's Association of the United Church, and all the people of both churches and no church, join carrying out this really big undertaking, which yearly seems to grow more popular to judge from the crowds which throng the Common and sit down to dinner under the trees.

RICHMOND —

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Dyson, were recent guests of Mrs. Ethel Burns at Montreal, Mrs. Dyson has entered the Montreal General Hospital, where she will be under observation.

Mrs. Nora Smith, Dufferin Apts., spent 10 days in Portland, Me ., with relatives. She was accompanied home by her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. E. Westcott.

Mrs. H. Frazer has left to spend a few days in Montreal. Mr. Watson Frazer, of Fort Chambly, was a weekend guest of his mother, Mrs. Frazer.

THE BLUE SKY-LINERS TO BE PRESENTED AT NORTH HATLEY

Entertainment to be presented at Hatley

Hatley residents have long been prepared for Dominion Day festivities. They are all old hands at getting this great day celebration organized too.

These Dominion Day festivities were originally planned by the Hatley Cadet Band. Following World War 1, the proceedings were taken over by the Hatley Patriotic Society and in 1922, the ladies groups of St. James Anglican and the United Church of Canada became the leaders and have remained so ever since.

And Dominion Day celebrations at Hatley promise to be up to their usual high standard again this year with entertainment from morning to night.

There will be band concerts, parades, fireworks, sing-songs, sports and everything else that makes this day celebrations the highlight at Hatley for decades.

Celebrations begin at 10.30 a.m., with the giant street parade led by the Coaticook Harmony Band and majorettes. Floats, horseback riders, cars, pedestrians in costume and a children's section promise to make this year's parade one of the most colorful ever.

Anyone wishing to enter in the parade are asked to contact T. Ride, H. Ayer or K. Doherty.

The parade will go through the colorful tree-lined streets of Hatley to the Village Common where a dinner cooked by the women of Hatley wil be served 11.30 to 1.30 p.m.

This dinner is always a much anticipated treat not only for the excellent food that will be served but also for the period of time that it allows old friends to get together and just sit around and talk. Due to this custom the celebration is affectionately called Old Home Day.

Sports will feature the afternoon program and will include a baseball game and tug-of-war.

Canada's own "Blue Sky Revue" will be the star attraction of the evening, at Hatley on the Village Common.

Sponsored by the Village's two churches, Hatley United and Hatley Anglican, this will be an evening to remember with radio and television artists all massed into one neat enjoyable entertainment package guaranteed to please young and old, and lasting a good hour and fifteen minutes.

It is the first appearance in the Townships for the Blue Sky Revue.

Featured with Blue Sky Revue will be such well-known entertainers as:

Carol and Sandy: The young lady who has been acclaimed as Canada's Youngest Ventriloquist. Carol has been featured on such coast-to-coast television shows as: Talent Caravan, Open House, 70 Show, Junior Roundup and Montreal Matinee.

Carol now has a television show of her own, called Cartoon Corner which is seen over CBMT Channel 6, every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon at 4.30 p.m.

The Blue Sky Liners: Filled with the latest in Rock 'n Roll for the teen-agers, and of course the Twist, this popular foursome will entertain to perfection, and will no doubt stop the show.

The Charleston'ettes and the Boop - Boop - De - Doop Girl will bring back many memories of the Charleston era. Performing the latest Charleston steps, Louise, Roger and Baby Cathy will make the oldsters cheer for more.

Canada's Mr. Pastry in the person of Roger Peace will perform his very popular Lancers dance and the Passing Out Ceremony.

Known for his appearances on the Ed Sullivan Show in character form, whenever Mr. Pastry appears on Ed's show the show's rating zooms up as it draws at least 95 percent more viewers. Fun? It's terrific.

Louise Gerouard: Well known for her tap and acrobatic routines, this young lady will amaze the audience with her fine acrobatic numbers. Louise has been starred on some of the well-known television shows and last year was awarded a scholarship at Banff for her outstanding performance in modern ballet.

Cathy Blythe: known as Canada's Judy Garland and even though only 5 years old, she has travelled across Canada with the Blue Sky Revue entertaining the Armed Services. This youngster has a photographic memory and her work both style-wise and showmanship-wise has won tremendous acclaim.

The show has its own Blue Sky Revue orchestra and the master of ceremonies for the evening will be the Blue Sky Revue's own amiable and versatile producer-director, Tom Blythe.

At 9.30 p.m. there will be a colorful fireworks display bringing the celebrations for Saturday to an end.

On Sunday evening beginning at 7.30 p.m. there will be an open air service on the Hatley Common with a massed choir and a special preacher.

Heading the women's department is Mrs. Dale Miller and Howard Ayer is chairman of the men's activities.

Dale Miller is convener of parking cars. Ken Little of sports, Rev. H. C. Denton for prizes, Beaven Bowen of the refreshment booths, Tom Ride of advertising, Ken Ward of the milk bottle booth, Lawrence Johnson, for a tug of war, and Archie Moulton and Harold Carter head the list for get ready preparations and clean-up activities.

COMET THE COMPACT MERCURY

Mercury Comet Custom 2-door sedan...one of Ford of Canada's fine cars, built in Canada.

Success hasn't gone to its price The 1962 Comet repeats everything that made it the success compact of '61, but adds benefits that put it even farther ahead of the compact crowd. Comet has the fine car styling of a Mercury. Comet gives you a wheelbase 4 inches longer than most compacts. (You'll love the beautiful ride this provides.) Here's what keeps Comet ahead: 6,000 mile oil change cycle • 30,000 mile anti-freeze • galvanized steel body parts • double wrapped aluminized muffler • super enamel finish • choice of 85 hp. or 101 hp.* engine • automatic* or standard transmission • 2 and 4 door sedans and station wagons • S-22 with bucket seats and special appointments* • Dealer warranted for 12,000 miles or one full year, whichever comes first. Wheel covers, whitewall tires, and items marked with () are optional, at extra cost.*

VIENNA COUP SQUEEZES WEST

Perhaps South overbid his hand when he went all the way to six no-trump on the strength of his partner's vulnerable overcall, but South had a mighty good hand.

West opened a club and a quick count of his winning tricks gave South a count of only 11—six in clubs—three in hearts and the other two aces.

A diamond or spade finesse could give South his 12th trick, but West had opened the bidding and was marked with both those kings. Hence, some sort of squeeze against West was indicated. South started proceeding by knocking out the ace of hearts. West took the second heart and returned the suit. South cashed his fourth heart, discarding a spade from dummy and now was almost ready for the squeeze.

The trouble was that if he ran off clubs he would have to discard before West and would be squeezed first.

South handled this problem by means of theplay known as the Vienna coup. He cashed his ace of diamonds to establish West's king. Then he ran off dummy's clubs andd iscarded the queen and seven of diamonds and the six of spades.

West had to go down to two cards and either had to unguard his king of spades or throw away his good king of diamonds.

Q—The bidding has been:

2 Spades	Pass	3 Clubs	Pass

You, South, hold:

Spades K-J-10-6-5, Hearts A-2, Diamonds 6-4, Clubs K-Q-10-4.

What do you do?

A—Bid four clubs. You have good club support, but a jump to five would be an overbid.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner continues with a bid of four hearts. What do you do now?

CHILDREN make up a very important part of Dominion Day festivities in the Eastern Townships. Most of them look forward to the day with great anticipation, whether it is to ride on one of the floats, like the little girl above, to show off a decorated bicycle or to be able to stay up to watch the fireworks when it is past their bedtime.

TUG-OF-WAR — Even the grown ups can gets in on Dominion Day festivities in the Eastern Township communities. While the youngster will enjoy the parades, fireworks, soda pop and ice cream Dad can join in the sports events. The most favourite event of any sporting competition in E. T. Dominion Day festivities is the tug of war when Dad, cheered on by Mom and kids, tugs his team to victory.

Best wishes to all Canadians on our National Holiday DOMINION DAY!
