ARMIES IN HAND-TO-HAND FIGHTING

Chinese Seeking To Stem Drive Against Shanghai's Gateway

Bombs, Shells and Machine Gun Fire Turn Lotien, Twelve Miles Northwest of Shanghai, Into Smoking Heap of Ashes as Reinforced Japanese Troops Seek Possession to Back Door of Shanghai—Fighting in Progress on Three Fronts.

Shanghai, August 27.—Three divisions of Chinese troops last night fought desperately northwest of Shanghai to stem a Japanese charge against the back door to this city.

Bombs, shells and machine-gun fire turned Lotien, twelve miles northwest of Shanghai, into a smoking heap of ashes.

Near the town, waves of Japanese infantrymen met a sheet of machine-gun fire in a bayonet charge through shimmering rice fields. The tide of battle swung from side to side. Thousands were killed or wounded.

Japanese, late today, claimed occupation of Lotien, foothold for an advance of Kiangwan, just northwest of Shanghai proper. But the town, as such, was no more.

The thirty-four hours of fighting at Lotien opened with heavy artillery bombardment. Two Chinese divisions held a thin line. From positions in the rear, machine guns were trained on their backs to force them to stand fast.

After continuous shelling, Japanese infantrymen fixed bayonets and went out. Storming through machine-gun and rifle fire they met Chinese forces hand-to-hand. A Japanese company commander, leading the charge, was either killed or wounded. Another Japanese officer was seriously wounded.

Chinese said three thousand Japanese were killed or wounded at Lotien, but Japanese army spokesmen denied the claim. Chinese told of a retreat by Japanese from Lotien to Lion Forest. Japanese said the only time their forces had retreated thus far was when fires raged in the Yangtze sector.

SYDNEY BRIDGE EARNS REVEUNE

Sydney, N.S.W., Aug. 27.—If the present rate of toll collections continues, Sydney's harbor bridge will be free of debt in fifty-three years. In the past five years, toll collections amounted to nearly $5,000,000, and directors expect a working surplus of about $150,000 for the current year. The bridge is capitalized at $50,000,000.

RACIAL RIOTS FEARED IN SAN FRANCISCO

San Francisco, Aug. 27.—Anti-Japanese feeling was so tense among the seventeen thousand residents of San Francisco's Chinatown today, Chief of Police James Quinn ordered officers to guard Japanese stores.

PAPA OF THE FAMOUS QUINTS IS 34 TODAY

Callander, Ont., Aug. 27.—Olivia Dionne was thirty-four today but the father of the quintuplets wasn't at all excited about it. He moved about the Dionne homestead, across the road from the Dafoe Hospital where stay his five famous daughters, just as he usually does on any other day. Members of the staff at Dionne's souvenir booth will present him with a birthday gift tonight. A cake with thirty-four candles also will be presented to him. What other plans were being made for the day were not disclosed.

CANADA'S DISTINGUISHED VISITORS

Planning a coast-to-coast trip on their first visit to Canada, the Marquess and Marchioness of Titchfield and their daughters, Lady Margaret, right, and Lady Anne Cavendish-Bentink, left, are shown above on their visit to Montreal. Lord Titchfield is heir to the Duke of Portland, has been for many years a Member of Parliament for Newark, Nottingham, and is a member of the Empire Parliamentary Association. Lady Margaret was a train-bearer for Queen Elizabeth at the Coronation.

British Demand Complete Satisfaction From Japan For Attack On Minister

Government Considers Severance of Diplomatic Relations Unless Japan "Takes Appropriate Action" in Connection with Serious Wounding of British Ambassador to China by Japanese Plane—Press Shows Great Restraint.

New York, August 27.—According to a cable from the London bureau of the Associated Press the British Government was reported today considering breaking off diplomatic relations with Japan unless full satisfaction is obtained for the wounding of the British Ambassador to China in an attack by Japanese airplanes.

The cable continues: Sir Hugh Knatchbull-Hugessen, his back broken by a Japanese machine-gun bullet, was in critical condition in a Shanghai hospital. Foreign Office officials were said to take a grave view of the attack made on the envoy's car.

Explanations from the Japanese Government were awaited before a decision was made on just what would constitute the "appropriate action" the Government has pledged itself to take.

The Japanese embassy announced Ambassador Shigeru Yoshida had asked for an appointment to see Foreign Secretary Eden at the Foreign Office in order to express his Government's regret at "the most unfortunate" injury to Knatchbull-Hugessen.

Yoshida, the embassy said, will inform Eden a "thorough investigation" of the attack has been undertaken in Tokyo and express Japan's hope that the wounded Ambassador will have a speedy recovery.

ONTARIO INAUGURATES PENSIONS FOR BLIND

Toronto, Aug. 27.—An Order-in-Council providing for a system of pensions for blind persons over forty years old became effective in Ontario today as the Provincial Department of Welfare moved to receive applications for the twenty dollars monthly payments.

Three-Point Demand Expected.

Britain was understood to be considering a three-point demand for satisfaction. These were: 1—Drastic punishment of the air-men involved in the attack. 2—Guarantees from Tokyo that steps would be taken at once to prevent any possibility of recurrence of such an incident. 3—Full compensation for the victim.

Distinct Improvement Noted In Condition Of Ambassador

Official Bulletin Announces Sir Hugh Knatchbull-Hugessen, Attacked by Japanese Airplane, Hit by Bullet in Right Kidney and Back Was Broken Although Spinal Cord Was Not Injured—Victim Resting Easily.

Shanghai, August 27.—Improvement in the condition of Sir Hugh Knatchbull-Hugessen, British Ambassador to China, was reported in a medical bulletin issued tonight.

Sir Hugh was at County Hospital, to which he was brought fifty miles by automobile yesterday from Wushih, northwest of Shanghai, where he was critically wounded when a Japanese airplane machine-gunned his motorcar.

The bulletin said it had been established that his right kidney had been hit by a bullet, but that bleeding was moderate and decreasing. His back was broken but the spinal cord itself not injured.

Sir Hugh's temperature was 103. He rested easily throughout the day. "The general condition of the patient has improved distinctly," the bulletin concluded.

No further bulletin will be issued until tomorrow morning.

BLOOD TRANSFUSION TO PLAY A MAJOR PART

Shanghai, Aug. 27.—The life of the British ambassador to China, seriously wounded by an attack from Japanese warplanes and possibly the future of relations between Japan and Great Britain hung today on the success of a blood transfusion. Continued on Page 2, Col. 5.

Situation in Foreign Section Eased.

Withdrawal of belligerents from fringes of the International Settlement eased tension among Shanghai's foreign residents. For the first time since hostilities started, crews of neutral warships were granted shore leave.

A shell hit the Ward Road jail where 6,500 prisoners are held because of Japanese refusal to permit their release. Two of the inmates were killed and seven persons were seriously wounded. Three of the wounded were British Sikh guards.

A Japanese airplane raiding the Chinese lines at Kiangwan crashed in flames, killing its crew. The British and United States Chambers of Commerce urged their governments to undertake to ensure that Chinese and Japanese planes would cease flying over foreign areas. The business men appealed to London and Washington to take immediate action. Flying over International Shanghai they pointed out, was placing foreign lives and property in continuous and grave danger.

Tension among foreign residents continued unabated and the guards along the Settlement boundaries were increased. One of the most serious problems was the great horde of starving Chinese refugees, crowded into the International Settlement and the French concession from the war-torn Chinese areas.

Mussolini Jubilantly Proclaiming Santander Fall As Italian Victory

Claims Franco Victory "Will Liberate Spain and Mediterranean from Every Threat to Common Civilization" of Two Fascist States.

Rome, Aug. 27.—Premier Mussolini jubilantly acclaimed the Spanish insurgents' capture of Santander today, a victory that cost Italy 341 soldiers killed and 1,676 wounded.

General Franco had telegraphed the Duce of his "pride in having your valorous legionnaires at my orders, together with sincere admiration for the daring and skill with which they carried out so rapid an advance."

of Santander. This, now intimate, fraternity of our arms is a guarantee of the final victory which will liberate Spain and the Mediterranean from every threat of our common civilization.

At the same time, Duce responded to a telegram from the commander of the Italian "Black Arrow" troops. He said: "The victory crowning the heroism of the Italian legionnaires is recognized and exalted not only in Italy but also in the entire world. The Italian people followed the battle passionately and with the certainty of victory. Italy is proud of her combatants on Spanish soil."

NOTED BRITISH PEER PASSED ON THIS MORNING

Lord Rothschild, Who Was Sixty-Nine, Had Been Ill for a Long Time—Took Up Study of Zoology as a Hobby.

Tring, Hertfordshire, Aug. 27.—Lord Rothschild, great-grandson of the founder of the House of Rothschild and head of the British branch of the great banking family, died today after a long illness. He was sixty-nine.

Before succeeding to the peerage he sat in the House of Commons from 1899 to 1910. As a hobby he took up the study of zoology, on which subject he was the author of numerous works.

He was unmarried and the peerage falls to his nephew, Nathaniel Mayer Victor Rothschild.

Lord Rothschild also held the Austrian title of baron of the Austrian Empire. He was one of the lieutenants for the City of London. He was Continued on Page 2, Col. 6.

BRITISH BOARD MEMBER TO PRY INTO TAXATION

Hon. Martin Fisher Has Selected Member of Britain's Treasury Board to Investigate Quebec Taxation—Appointment Subject to Duplessis' Sanction.

Quebec, Aug. 27.—Announcement was made here yesterday by Hon. Martin B. Fisher, Provincial Treasurer, that he had selected a member of Britain's Treasury Board to investigate taxation in Quebec, the appointment to be made on the approval of Premier Duplessis.

Mr. Fisher stated that he could not divulge the name of the investigator until sanction of the appointment has been given by the Premier. (In the Duplessis platform there was a promise that the subject of taxation in the province would be thoroughly investigated by either an English or a French expert.)

The Provincial Treasurer returned from Europe on the liner Empress of Britain to report favorably on one of the main objects of his overseas trip. This was to investigate the peat industry in Denmark, with the view of developing this substitute for coal in Quebec.

"I am thoroughly convinced," he declared, "that the peat bogs of our province can be developed. The system of briquetting peat in Denmark has proved a success. I'm sure it can be done in this province, provided the fuel can be successfully marketed."

According to Mr. Fisher, an English concern approached the Quebec Government last year with an offer to develop peat bogs in the province. Continued on Page 2, Col. 6.

EDISON "COMES BACK" TO GIVE GOOD ADVICE

Five Years After His Death, Famous Inventor Outdid Spirits and Made Decision Which Kept One of His Largest Manufacturing Plants from Shutting Down.

West Orange, N.J., Aug. 27.—Thomas A. Edison, five years after his death, outdid the spirits two weeks ago and made a decision which kept one of his largest manufacturing plants from shutting down.

The plant was the battery division of Thomas A. Edison, Inc. Nickel was discovered in $40,000 worth of Swedish iron, used to make the negative "active materials" for alkaline batteries. This is an unusually pure form of iron and no more was available at the time in this country.

A staff conference was called to consider whether the nickel impurity ruined the iron for battery manufacture.

"How would you like to have Thomas A. Edison make the decision?" asked one of the conferees, George E. Stringfellow, vice-president and general manager of the battery division.

"I'm not sure," Stringfellow added, "but I think it can be done." Then he told them this story. In 1926, while Edison was the active consultant for the battery company, Stringfellow proposed:

"Mr. Edison, would you be willing to arrange to continue as consultant?"

Japanese Threat Against Shipping May Invoke U.S. Neutrality Measure

United States International Law Experts Studying Implications of Japanese Threat to Close Chinese Ports to Shipping of All Nations.

Washington, Aug. 27.—Secretary of State Hull conferred today with State Department experts in international law on the implications of the threat by a Japanese spokesman to close Chinese ports to foreign shipping.

The Secretary told newsmen, however, he had no information on the threat except that contained in press dispatches.

Some observers think such an action by Japan would bring to an immediate head the question of whether President Roosevelt must invoke the United States neutrality law.

This law, which embargoes shipments of munitions to belligerents, must be invoked when the President decides war exists. The question raised by observers was whether a blockade might be considered legal evidence that a war—still undeclared by Japan or China—is actually in progress.

Roosevelt left last night for his home at Hyde Park but he took the thorny issue with him as a vacation companion.

Cessation Of International Patrol Around Spain Advised

Chairman's Subcommittee of "Hands Off Spain" Body Reports that Present Naval Patrol System Practically Useless—Britain and France Complain at Failure of Other Nations to Pay Assessments for Maintaining Blockade.

FLOODS AGAIN MENACE LARGE U.S. DISTRICT

Creeks Overflow and Large Areas Inundated in New York and Pennsylvania as Result of Heavy Twenty-Four Hour Rain.

Elmira, N.Y., August 27.—A twenty-four hour rainfall caused creeks to overflow and inundate portions of New York and Pennsylvania today, bringing fear to residents of a repetition of the disastrous 1935 floods.

Rising sharply during the rains, which began early yesterday and continued unabated through last night, the creeks overflowed their banks, forcing evacuation of entire families in some sections.

Numerous bridges were washed away in the area, extending from Watkins Glen, N.Y., on the north, one hundred miles south to Wellsboro, Pa., and as far west as Painted Post, N.Y. Power lines were down and several state highways made impassable.

Several houses were washed away at Hendy Hollow, N.Y., five miles southwest of this city, and at Pine City, Elmira suburb, two families were reported marooned.

Chemung County Sheriff Harry J. Tiffitt called out all available deputies and asked for volunteers to remove residents from the danger zone.

NIGHT OF TERROR IN WASHINGTON

Washington, Aug. 27.—Two hundred Washington residents went back home today, after a night of fear that water backed up from over-taxed drains might flood their houses.

Firemen said they took more than one hundred marooned persons from one neighborhood. There were no reported injuries.

GREAT RESTRAINT IN BRITISH NEWSPAPERS

London, Aug. 27.—After lengthy examination of the circumstances surrounding the shooting by Japanese of the British ambassador in China, Sir Hugh Knatchbull-Hugessen, the Foreign Office was expected to issue a statement late today or tonight.

Meanwhile officials refused to amplify yesterday's declaration that "appropriate action" would be taken as soon as full information had been received.

They declared there was no precedent of an important ambassador having been injured under similar circumstances and that, therefore, forecasts of possible government action were purely guesswork.

(The Associated Press in a dispatch from London said it was received Continued on Page 2, Col. 4.

Andrew Mellon, Noted Statesman And Unostentatious Philanthropist, Dead

Built One of World's Greatest Fortunes Out of Banking, Oil and Aluminum—The Family Estate Is Estimated at $500,000,000.

Southampton, N.Y., Aug. 27.—Andrew W. Mellon, who built one of the world's greatest fortunes out of banking, oil and aluminum and who spent his late years as secretary of the United States Treasury and as ambassador to Great Britain, has passed from the American scene.

The shy, diffident, white haired financier, whose eleven years of service under three presidents was surpassed only by one of his predecessors as head of the Treasury Department, died peacefully last night in his eighty-third year.

He died in the home of his daughter, Mrs. David K. E. Bruce, after a month's illness from uremia and bronchial pneumonia. At his bedside as life ebbed away were his son-in-law, his son, Paul, and his daughter, Alissa, Mrs. Bruce.

The death of Pittsburgh's most powerful figure and one of the United States unostentatious philanthropists was not unexpected.

Plans were made for funeral services in Pittsburgh, where he was born and spent his life with the exception of his years in Washington and London.

The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at the East Liberty Presbyterian Church, a magnificent edifice Continued on Page 2, Col. 5.

HAVE AGREED TO MEDIATE U.S. RAIL DISPUTE

Prompt Acceptance of Federal Mediation Board Offer Removes Threat of Strike for Thirty Days at Least.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—A threatened strike of 350,000 workers who operate United States trains faded today as federal mediators tackled the job of settling a wage dispute.

The strike threat was precipitated when representatives of eighty-six major railroads rejected the demands of the "Big Five" railroad brotherhoods for a twenty per cent wage increase.

An offer by the National Mediation Board to seek a compromise was accepted by both sides yesterday, thus forestalling a strike in the immediate future.

A nationwide walkout of conductors, engineers, switchmen, trainmen and firemen was still a possibility although the agreement to accept federal mediation precluded such action for thirty days or more.

ARGUMENT CONTINUES IN AUTOMOBILE WORKERS STRIKE

Milwaukee, Aug. 27.—John L. Lewis, drive-wheel of the Committee for Industrial Organization, became today the "man of the hour" at the strike-torn convention of the United Automobile Workers Union.

His presence at the convention today in the role of peace-maker was awaited even as warring "unity" and "Progressive" factions claimed "clear cut" victories in test votes of their strength.

The Progressive faction of President Homer Martin won the first skirmish yesterday when delegates supported him in a ruling on parliamentary procedure which prevented further minority reports by his opponents.

JOHN MONTAGUE IS RELEASED ON BAIL

La Verne Moore, Alias Montague, Released on Seven-Year-Old Charges by Supreme Court Judge at Elizabethtown, N.J.

Elizabethtown, N.J., Aug. 27.—La Verne Moore, better known as John Montague, was released from behind the bars yesterday under $25,000 bail by Supreme Court Justice Osceola Byron Brewster after spending two days in the Elizabethtown jail.

For seven years Moore had been facing a charge of first degree robbery and hating into insensibility with a black jack a sixty-seven year old farmer who resisted him during

AUSTRALIA'S SURPLUS FOR ENSUING YEAR PLACED AT $120,000,000

Canberra, Aug. 27.—A surplus of $30,000, Australian, ($120,000 for the year 1937-38 was forecast by Commonwealth Treasurer Richard Casey in presenting his budget to the House of Representatives today.

No reduction in taxation was announced while an increase of a shilling per week in the scale of old age pensions was proposed at an extra cost of $2,000,000 annually.

Casey estimated revenue at $85,190,000, of which approximately $11,500,000 will be spent on defence, as follows: Navy, $3,616,000; army, $3,264,000; air force, $2,672,000; civil aviation, $2,940,000; munitions, $1,088,000.

A CATERPILLAR ARMY MOVES INTO ALBERTA

Millions of Caterpillars Are Surging Across Saskatchewan Border into Triangular District Southeast of Youngstown, Alta.

Youngstown, Alta., Aug. 27.—Across drought-scoured farmlands and sun-wilted gardens, millions of caterpillars, in a slow but relentless invasion, moving westward from the Saskatchewan border, sweep in a triangular district today southeast of this town 140 miles east of Calgary.

The silky "army" worms, a crawling mass, moved on from the borderlands, leaving a path of destruction, destroying even Russian thistles, the last hope of farmers in the dried-out district for winter cattle feed. In scores of fields, where an abundance of thistles grew, only the stems remained when the "army" had passed over. The few trees in the area were stripped bare.

In some gardens, where late rains had revived wilted plants, destruction by the caterpillars was complete, the invaders eating their way through beans, beets, corn and cabbages.

Only one remedy is known to combat the menace—poison bait—but few farmers use it as it endangers horses and livestock.

Cessation Of International Patrol Around Spain Advised

These reports said the column hurriedly packed up and rolled out of the Biscayan seaport which it helped occupy yesterday, leaving other brigades of Franco's 100,000-strong northern army to prosecute cleanup operations east and west of Santander.

The motorized force will be thrown against the Madrid-Valencia army in the northeast, where Zaragoza was being attacked from two directions, apparently in a Government attempt to make up for the telling loss of Santander.

Zaragoza is one of Franco's important bases and one-time capital of the old Aragon kingdom. An insurgent communique said yesterday's attacks in the Zaragoza sector had been repulsed but Government reports told a different story.

A Valencia communique said crack troops had swept to within four miles of the heavily fortified city, flanking it from the north and south to squeeze out the insurgents. Zaragoza itself was under artillery fire when Villamor de Gallego, less than five miles to its northeast, was seized in the Government drive at dawn.

Franco also was reported shifting the air fleet he used at Santander to meet the government's Aragon push. This report came from several insurgent airmen who landed behind the Government's Aragon lines and were captured.

HANDLING OF REFUGEES PRESENTS BIG PROBLEM

Bayonne, France, Aug. 27.—With about 29,000 Santander refugees crowding the ports of the southwestern France, civil authorities announced today they would take all disabled women and children to Puigcerda, Spanish town near the eastern end of the Franco-Spanish frontier.

Most of the refugees, who had fled from Santander before its capture by the insurgents, were in small boats along the French coast. The authorities refused to permit them to come ashore, as they presented a serious food and housing problem.

Officials said all wounded militiamen, weak and ill persons, civilians unable to bear arms and the women and children would be assisted to Puigcerda. They will be accompanied by a medical unit and Mobile Guards.

Port authorities decided yesterday to establish a floating city near Bayonne for the refugees, concentrating the trawlers, fishing smacks, sloops, rowboats and other craft bearing them at a wharf, until other arrangements could be made.

Chief havens for the boats are Bayonne and La Rochelle, farther north, each of which has scores of craft with thousands of destitute passengers anchored in port.

A French sloop arrived here today with fourteen civilians and forty-two militiamen rescued from the sea near Santander. Among them were a French newspaperman, M. Tantaruy, and Mrs. Hede Reppeke, a German correspondent.

PRESENTS CREDENTIALS TO VATICAN SECRETARY

Vatican City, Aug. 27.—Pablo de Churruga, Marquis of Aycañena, today presented his credentials as unofficial chargé d'affaires of the Spanish insurgent regime at the Vatican to Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, Papal Secretary of State.

No ceremony marked the event. The Marquis drove up to the Vatican in a carriage decorated with the insurgent red and gold flag. No Vatican officials were waiting to receive him. The new charge d'affaires simply went in and offered his letters to Cardinal Pacelli.

Acceptance of the credentials represented formal acknowledgment of the relations which have existed for some time between the Spanish insurgents and the Holy See.

Vatican prelates insisted today's reception did not mean formal recognition of the kind granted to General Franco by Italy and Germany and that relations between the Vatican and the Republican Spanish Government were not precluded.

Edison "Comes Back" To Give Good Advice

In your mind there is information about it that no one else has. Will you let the staff give you written questions about the battery?" Edison agreed. Over week-ends he penciled answers to lists of typewritten questions. They were filed away in a black-loose-leaf book. The book remained in the files after Edison's death in October 1931. No one knew whether it would contain the nickel question; but it did.

"If there is nickel in iron," Stringfellow had written, "does it adversely affect the life of the cell?" "No harm," Edison wrote. The conference accepted this decision. It turned out to be the correct one.

Continued from Page 1. ported the Government was considering recall of its ambassador to Japan if the Japanese Government refused to comply with the demands of the government).

It was announced that R. G. Howe, for three years counselor of embassy at Peking, would be sent from England to China to take charge of British diplomatic affairs in China. Naval and military authority is vested in Admiral Sir Charles Little, commander-in-chief of the China station who is personally in Shanghai directing the defence of British interests.

Howe has been instructed to fly as far as possible via commercial airlines and then to get into China as fast as he can. The British Press today assumed an attitude of restraint towards the shooting in China of the British ambassador, Sir Hugh Knatchbull-Hugessen. Representative comment followed.

"The Times": "Apologies alone will not be sufficient reparation for an accident' of this kind. The outrage committed against Sir Hugh serves to underline the implications of an intolerable situation. With that situation the Government—when reports from the front particularly in view of the incident—will doubtless know how to deal. They may be assured of the strongest public support in any appropriate action which they decide to take."

The News-Chronicle (Liberal): "Every day's news illustrates afresh the dangerous state of anarchy into which the world is drifting. The British ambassador is shot at and wounded by Japanese planes. The Japanese are sorry, of course, but the ambassador, they say, really ought not to get in the way of peaceful bullets."

"Of the coast of China, Japan is preparing to blockade Chinese ships although no state of war has been declared. Italy, which is officially not intervening in Spain, celebrates the capture by Italian troops of Santander. General Franco's plans for another British ship. The alarming thing is not so much that the robber nations openly flout international law and decency but that nobody seems very much to mind."

The Daily Telegraph (Conservative): "No hasty conclusions must be drawn in this country until the incident has been thoroughly investigated."

The Daily Herald (Labour): "The Japanese certainly are not such fools as to make a deliberate attack on the British ambassador, or even on a British car, at this stage. So there is no point in getting worked up, striking outrageous gestures or clamoring for retribution. It was a tragic accident—like the bombing of the Deutschland perhaps—and no one in Britain is going to ask for a sequel like Almeria."

The Morning Post (Conservative): "This outrage, for such it was, was without excuse, and it is to be expected that the Japanese Government will not be slow in demanding to know from those in control of the military operations in China how such a indefensible outrage was allowed to be perpetrated."

The Liverpool Post (Liberal): "This alarming mishap emphasizes the perils of the confused situation. Experience is showing that not only in China, but also in Spain, that the military aircraft of some powers are quite reckless about how they attack. All foreigners in Shanghai live in peril and have already lost immense sums by the destruction of property."

The Daily Mail (Independent): "All circumstances indicate this unfortunate happening undoubtedly was an accident. If friendly relations are to be maintained between Great Britain and Japan all possible steps should be taken to see that unfortunate incidents with such grave implications are avoided in the future."

The Western Mail (of Cardiff): "The outrage will arouse deep resentment through the Empire and the civilized world, which have been watching with anxious and growing indignation the high-handed action of Japan. The Japanese excuses are not sufficient. For one thing war has not been officially declared, and the news, which have equal rights with Japan, are entitled to some notification of attack to their nationals and interests may effectively be protected."

"For another thing no power can claim the right to shoot capriciously and without adequate precaution whatever target its aerial machine-guns may choose. The assailants must have seen that the car carried some Japanese flag. If they could not distinguish it they should have made certain before attacking."

"We trust it will be made clear to Japan and China alike that Great Britain will not tolerate outrages against her officials and subjects in or near the area of hostilities. The Manchester Guardian (Liberal): "Japan's action is and must be unpopular enough among all the other great powers concerned in China without her armed forces committing murderous blunders at their expense."

Hill seldom falls at night, for the same reason that it seldom falls in cool weather. The earth, being cooler at night, does not then furnish enough rising air currents to force raindrops to a sufficient height to freeze them.

Mellon was fabulously wealthy but the extent of his personal fortune was in the realm of speculation when he died. The only official estimate made public was $205,000,000 given by Mellon's secretary during the banker's income tax appeal in 1934.

However, they believed the combined fortune of the financier and his two children would amount to approximately $500,000,000. Mellon's vast enterprises reached around the earth. Banking, oil and aluminum were his principal interests and their corporate names were the Mellon National Bank of Pittsburgh, the Gulf Oil Company and the Aluminum Company of America, dominant in its field.

Only a few weeks before his last illness he visited President Roosevelt and made final arrangements for his last great public benefaction—establishment of a national gallery of art with the national capital with his $50,000,000 art collection, one of the finest extant, as the nucleus.

One of the last great statesmen-financiers of the nation, Mellon successfully shunned the limelight and was little known to his countrymen until he became secretary of the Treasury under President Warren G. Harding in 1921.

He returned to the job until 1932 when he retired to become ambassador to Great Britain. Fellow Republicans hailed him as "the greatest Secretary of the Treasury since Alexander Hamilton," but he was the target of sharp attack by the Democrats who unsuccessfully attempted to drive him from office in 1924.

Shanghai, August 27.—Japanese morning air raids on Nanking were reported today to have killed or wounded hundreds of civilians. They prompted foreign envoys in Nanking to ask Japan to promise to confine the bombing of the Chinese capital to military objectives.

Dispatches from Nanking were delayed and fragmentary—presumably due to censorship. Unconfirmed reports from Nanking to Shanghai said two Japanese planes had been shot down during a raid by eleven Japanese bombers.

In 1932 Lord Rothschild sold his $1,000,000 collection of birds, comprising 280,000 specimens, to the American Museum of Natural History.

Two Chinese battalions were holding a thin line at Lotien, twelve miles northwest of the city and three miles from the Yangtze river area where Japanese troops have been landing for the last seventy-two hours. They held out against superior numbers of Japanese until Chinese reinforcements arrived.

It is expected the first big Japanese offensive in the Shanghai area will be launched at Lotien within the next twelve hours. The two battalions were ordered to hold off the Japanese until reinforcements arrived under penalty of being shot down from the rear by their own second line machine guns. Wave after wave of Japanese smashed against the wall they made. The battalions were snatched but they held until strong positions were built behind the falling ranks.

Lady Knatchbull-Hugessen was rushing to her husband's side aboard a British destroyer from her summer home. She was expected to arrive tomorrow. The only visitor the ambassador was allowed to see today was the Japanese ambassador, Shigeru Kawagoe, who called this morning to explain the attack by the Japanese air force as "a mistake."

The Japanese envoy said the pilots were unable to see the British flag flying from the ambassador's car as he sped from Nanking to Shanghai.

The British envoy had planned his meeting with Kawagoe for a different setting and a different cause. Although it was not so described officially, it was generally understood he intended to see Kawagoe in the hope of ending the conflict which has raged for two weeks about Shanghai.

Situation Reviewed by Japanese Cabinet Tokyo, Aug. 26.—The Japanese cabinet discussed today the shooting of Sir Hugh Montgomery Knatchbull-Hugessen, British ambassador to China, and agreed to determine the measures it would take when a full report is received.

Foreign Minister Koki Hirota and Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai, Navy Minister, reported in detail on the lack of available information on the machine gunning of the envoy yesterday while he travelled from Nanking to Shanghai.

A Foreign Office spokesman said the fullest investigation was being made but until a formal report was received he was unable to comment on any phase of the incident.

Chinese Seeking To Stem Drive Against Shanghai's Gateway

Engagements were being fought on two fronts southwest and northwest of here and on the third, south of Tientsin, steady pressure was being applied by 70,000 Japanese against a Chinese army of 100,000.

Foreign military observers believe Japan's attempt to advance on all three fronts simultaneously depends on crushing deterring Chinese resistance at Lianghsiang, twenty-five miles southwest of Peking, and at Nankow Pass, thirty miles north-west.

The Chinese anking movement southwest of here still presented a threat to the 150-mile Japanese front. Some 10,000 Chinese troops were pivoting around the western flank of 35,000 Japanese.

At Nankow Pass, 25,000 Chinese have held up an effort of 15,000 Japanese, heavily mechanized and supported by artillery, to smash through the gateway to the north.

Japanese reports here claiming decisive victories in the vicinity of Kiangnan were received skeptically by foreign observers despite the vivid descriptions of fleeing Chinese troops from the areas allegedly surrounded by the Japanese.

However, foreign experts are convinced by the avalanche of incoming Japanese supplies and mechanized units that the Japanese state "we have come to settle the North China question permanently" is undeniably a true statement of their purpose.

HUNDREDS OF CIVILIANS KILLED IN BOMB RAIDS

Shanghai, August 27.—Japanese morning air raids on Nanking were reported today to have killed or wounded hundreds of civilians. They prompted foreign envoys in Nanking to ask Japan to promise to confine the bombing of the Chinese capital to military objectives.

Dispatches from Nanking were delayed and fragmentary—presumably due to censorship. Unconfirmed reports from Nanking to Shanghai said two Japanese planes had been shot down during a raid by eleven Japanese bombers.

"I cannot say the Government will grant a subsidy," he stated, "but I am fully convinced that the question should be thoroughly investigated here. We spend millions of dollars exporting foreign coal to this province, and if this can be countered in a reasonable measure by the development of a home industry it will mean much to Quebec."

The briquetting system applied to peat in Denmark, he said, gives a hard brick that does not break in shipment and is cheaper than coal. There are several worthwhile peat bogs in this province, he stated, capable of development.

MAGOG AND BEEBE TO PLAY FOR CARPENTER CUP Plans were completed today to have Magog and Beebe meet tomorrow on the baseball diamond at Ayer's Cliff Fair grounds in the first of a three-game series to decide the winner of the Carpenter Cup. This cup is awarded to the team in the Stanstead County Amateur Baseball League which emerges on top in the round-robin following the regular scheduled games. The second game in the cup finals will be played at Beebe on Sunday, September 5, and the third, if necessary, on neutral grounds. Waterville will be the five-team league championship with a perfect record.

In the first scheduled three-game series of the round-robin semi-finals, Magog took two straight victories from the Stanstead squad, blanketing them two to nothing in the first and gaining a four to three decision in the second tilt, a ten-inning affair, and Beebe romped into the finals with two straight wins over Ayer's Cliff, routing their opponents by nine to three in the first skirmish

No War Danger Seen By Hon. Howard Ferguson

Former High Commissioner to London and Ex-Premier of Ontario Visited Sherbrooke Yesterday as President of Crown Life Assurance Company — Describes Industrial Conditions in Great Britain as Wonderful.

There is no immediate danger of war breaking out in Europe, in the opinion of Hon. Howard G. Ferguson, former High Commissioner to London and ex-Premier of Ontario, who was interviewed by a Record reporter while in Sherbrooke yesterday afternoon.

He regarded Great Britain as the "moving spirit" in the struggle for peace and harmony among European nations.

He saw in Premier Mussolini, dictator of Italy, a threat to the peace of the world. "Every factory is operating at top speed and the million unemployed are actually unemployable people."

Canada's trade with England had never been so great in history. "I experienced a jump of fifty per cent. in the past year," Hon. Mr. Ferguson said.

He extolled the Britisher as a "sane, well-balanced people." It was this quality of mind and heart that made Great Britain a leader in international affairs.

"But has not the great rearmament programme been largely responsible for the upswing in Great Britain's industrial activity?" the ex-High Commissioner was asked.

"Of course," he replied, "it has been responsible to a certain extent, but not as much as people are wont to think. The country's ordinary commercial business has doubled in the past two years."

This was Mr. Ferguson's first visit to Sherbrooke in twenty-five years. He left for Montreal and Toronto last evening, after paying a brief visit to Senator Rufus H. Pope at Cookshire.

The present situation in Europe is tense, delicate—but not yet beyond peaceful solution.

A general war had been averted in the Italo-Ethiopian conflict last year by Great Britain eliminating other nations from the picture and letting the Italians and Ethiopians fight it out among themselves. The same thing was now being done in the Spanish civil war, the former High Commissioner to London stated. A greater threat existed in the Sino-Japanese situation in the event that Russia entered the picture and Germany also decided to intervene.

"But Hitler does not want war. He wants to rebuild the German empire by peaceful penetration. I think that he will enlarge Germany by peaceful methods. With Mussolini, it is a different story. He is a megalomaniac. He wants to rebuild the Roman Empire. There is no saying when a man possessing his ambitions and his exaggerated ego will ignite the spark that will set Europe ablaze."

He described conditions in Great Britain, from an industrial viewpoint, as wonderful. "Every factory is operating at top speed and the million unemployed are actually unemployable people."

FINE EXHIBITS ON DISPLAY AT AYER'S CLIFF

Ninety-Second Annual Fair of Stanstead County Agricultural Society Got Away to Fine Start—Thrilling Sport and Entertainment.

Ayer's Cliff, Aug. 27.—Another major Eastern Townships county fair got underway yesterday at Ayer's Cliff where the Stanstead County Agricultural Society inaugurated its ninety-second exhibition.

Ideal weather prevailed for the opening and the quality of the livestock and agricultural products on display was the best in many years.

The vaudeville before the grandstand provided an original and clean form of entertainment that was appreciated by the spectators at the afternoon and evening presentations.

The performance was entirely different from that which has been staged at other county fairs in this district to date this summer.

In the afternoon the harness races and a baseball game between Bees and Ayer's Cliff supplied the major part of the amusement. The ball game was won by Bees by the score of thirteen to five. It is planned to have Bees and Magog stage an exhibition game tomorrow.

Among the exhibits, those in the Children's Department deserve special praise. Irene Poedevin, of Stanstead, was awarded the special prize, donated by the Women's Institute for the best knitted sweater or other knitted article by girls between fifteen and eighteen years.

Mrs. J. H. Turner's special prize for best darning, fourteen years and under, went to Miss A. Cote, of Tomifolia, while the special award for best patching went to Pearl Webster, of Rock Island.

In the Calf Club competition, Russell Taylor, of Ayer's Cliff, won the first prize for showmanship, and the special awards for best Ayrshire and Shorthorn calf and Holstein and Ayrshire one-year-olds.

The prize for the best Jersey calf went to Robert Whitcomb, of Massachusetts, while that for best Jersey one-year-old went to Ernest Bufford, of Ayer's Cliff.

Carlton Whitcomb, of Massachusetts, captured first prize in the Calf Club judging competition, with Murdock Parker, of Barnston, as runner-up.

Detailed result of the harness races follow:

Requests Police Aid To Re-Open Acton Plant

Impasse Reached in Negotiations for Settlement of Acton Vale Silk Mill Walkout—Local Textile Worker Assaulted by Two Men Last Night—Parley, with Premier Duplessis as Mediator, Opened in Montreal this Morning.

While Dominion Textile Company officials and strike leaders, with Premier Maurice Duplessis as mediator, went into a "tete a tete" this morning to settle the dispute that has kept ten thousand Quebec Province textile workers in idleness for twenty-five days, P. Demers, proprietor of a silk mill at Acton Vale that employs 125 workmen, requested police protection to enable him to re-open his plant tomorrow morning.

Demers and the silk mill strikers were deadlocked today after striving since yesterday morning to attain an agreement that would be satisfactory to both sides.

The three Eastern Townships textile centres—Sherbrooke, Magog and Drummondville—today patiently awaited the results of the conference in Montreal. A slight disturbance in connection with the strike in Sherbrooke occurred last night when two men alleged to belong to the National Catholic Syndicate are said to have assaulted Joseph Goulet, non-union textile worker, in front of his home.

Goulet, it is reported, has been circulating a petition among the idle textile workers in an attempt to definitely determine what proportion of the men desire to return to work in defiance of the strike that has existed for twenty-five days under authority of the National Catholic Federation of Textile Workers.

Last night two men went to Goulet's home, they induced Goulet to emerge from his house, and are then alleged to have assaulted him. Warrants charging them with common assault have been taken out against the pair.

Police declined to reveal their identity until they are apprehended. The warrants are in the hands of police officers today and a search for the pair is being conducted.

P. P. Demers, proprietor of the Acton Vale Silk Mill, this morning addressed a communication to Robert Fagnon, secretary-treasurer of the Town of Acton Vale, requesting police protection from the municipality so that he may endeavor to re-open his plant tomorrow morning.

Mr. Fagnon stated this morning that Provincial Police Chief Philippe Aube of Montreal and Dr. Philippe Adam, of Acton Vale, were to meet some time today to discuss the situation.

Demers and a strikers' committee have been negotiating since yesterday morning in an effort to reach a settlement.

The Premier's invitation to the conference, the Textile Workers' Federation replied, "we are agreeable to formation of a committee presided over by the Premier in order to bring about a settlement."

Dominion Textile's four Montreal plants continued to produce with about one quarter of the 4,000 men they normally employ on duty while the strikers and company executives at Sherbrooke, Drummondville, St. Gregoire, Magog and Valleyfield, who have made no moves toward settlement, stood by awaiting outcome of the discussions here.

STRIKE PARLEY WITH PREMIER AS MEDIATOR

Quebec, Aug. 27.—A round-table parley, with Premier Maurice Duplessis acting as mediator, today tackled the problem of settlement of Quebec Province's strike of 10,000 textile workers now almost four week old.

The conference was called yesterday by the Premier after an appeal from Cardinal Villeneuve, who is Archbishop of the Province, for quick settlement of the dispute over union recognition, higher wages or shorter hours and better working conditions which tied up production at nine plants of the Dominion Textile Company in six cities and towns.

G. Blair Gordon, managing director of Dominion Textile and Alfred Charpentier, president of the National Catholic Syndicates, parent body of the union which ordered the walkout August 2, arrived in the capital last night for the meeting to be held in the government head's office. Charpentier was accompanied by Albert Cote, leader of the National Catholic Federation of Textile Workers, claiming a majority of the strikers in his membership.

Acceptance of the conference proposal by the disputants yesterday was the first indication of a probable end to the problem, deadlocked almost since it arose. Mediation by Labor Minister William Tremblay, who met company leaders and union leaders independently about three weeks ago, had proved fruitless, though Tremblay said the government went as far as it could.

Learning of the strike-parley Gordon announced the company agreed to meet strikers' representatives under the Premier's eye and expressed hope for a "just, equitable and rapid settlement" of all trouble.

To the Premier's invitation to the conference, the Textile Workers' Federation replied, "we are agreeable to formation of a committee presided over by the Premier in order to bring about a settlement."

U.K. INDUSTRY IS OPERATING AT TOP SPEED

Volume of Industrial Production in Second Quarter of 1937 Greatest Ever Recorded in United Kingdom.

London, Aug. 27.—Volume of industrial production in the United Kingdom in the second quarter of 1937 was the greatest ever recorded according to the Board of Trade Journal.

The Journal reported industrial activity in the June quarter was 2.3 per cent. greater than in the first quarter of 1937 and 9.1 per cent. greater than in the second quarter of 1936.

Index numbers for the three periods, based on the quarterly average of 1930 as 100, were 134.7, 131.7 and 123.3, respectively.

Expansion in industrial production, the publication said, continued in the second quarter of this year. The index numbers both for manufacturing industries (140.2) and for all groups represented the greatest volume of production yet recorded for any quarter.

Manufacturing production in the second quarter was about eight and one-half per cent. greater than in the June quarter of 1936.

Production of iron and steel goods and textiles, activity in the industries covered by the engineering and shipbuilding group, the non-ferrous metals and the chemicals, oils group and the factory production of food, drink and tobacco constituted records since 1927, when calculations first were made.

ALBERTA READY TO CHALLENGE BANK MEASURE

Provincial Secretary Questions Constitutionality of Federally-Enacted Legislation Controlling Banks.

Calgary, Aug. 27.—Hon. E. C. Manning, Alberta's Provincial Secretary, questioned the constitutionality of the federal Bank Act.

Speaking before a Social Credit rally here last night he said: "I am not so sure but that the Dominion Government has not overstepped the bounds in its Bank Act. It would be interesting if the Privy Council, instead of the declaring Alberta laws ultra vires, found that sections of the Bank Act were ultra vires the Dominion Government."

He did not amplify the statement. Mr. Manning referred to federal disallowance of Alberta banking legislation as a "grave disappointment."

CLAIMS NO CERTIFIED COPY OF B.N.A. ACT IN DOMINION. Calgary, Aug. 27.—There is not a single certified copy of the British North America Act in Canada, C. E. Johnson, Social Credit member of Parliament for Bow River, told a party rally here last night.

Mr. Johnson said he had hunted in vain through the libraries of the House of Commons and the Senate in Ottawa for a certified copy of the Act. The Parliamentary Librarian, he said, was unable to direct him to where he could find such a copy in Canada.

Textile Strike Settlement Believed Near.

Indications are decidedly more encouraging that the textile strike will be settled within the next few days and that Quebec's troubled textile horizon will assume much more encouraging outlook.

The plea made to both employer and employee by His Eminence Cardinal Villeneuve cannot but have decidedly quietening results. The Cardinal is using his influence to bring about peace and a settlement which will work to the benefit of all concerned. As head of the Roman Catholic Church in Canada, His Eminence's plea cannot be ignored by those who look to him as their spiritual head, while his exalted position and his reputation as a churchman of broad vision will be respected by the company officials, who may be depended upon to show every desire to co-operate with him in bringing about a settlement to a situation which has been regarded with general alarm.

At the request of His Eminence the Cardinal, Premier Maurice Duplessis has been asked to act as mediator. His Eminence and the Premier may be relied upon to do their utmost to straighten out a most troubled situation. The officials of the textile company have, since the beginning of the strike, expressed a willingness to co-operate in any reasonable proposal to bring about a settlement.

It now behooves the workmen to use judgment and, in the interest of their own personal welfare, to lend their support to any reasonable scheme which will enable them to return to work and provide for their families. It is to the men to barken to the plea of the Cardinal and of the Premier to turn a deaf ear to any agitation which might try to induce them to remain on strike when they have an opportunity of accepting a proposal which will end the strike and enable the closed mills to open again.

Friendly Neighbor.

President Roosevelt must be given full credit for announcing for the first time the policy of the good neighbor. Signor Mussolini has taken a leaf out of the American President's book. He halted in the midst of war manoeuvres in Sicily to announce his desire for friendly relations with the world in general and Britain in particular.

The Duce's evident desire for a reconciliation with Great Britain, let the motive be what it may, is definitely encouraging. It has served to create a brighter atmosphere in Europe and has undoubtedly released much of the tension caused by the clash of opinion over Ethiopia and Spain. There can, it seems, be peace in the Mediterranean for Mussolini has at last discovered in Britain no jealous enemy but a friendly neighbor.

Will the new atmosphere prevail? There is reason to believe it will. The friendship of a powerfully-armed Britain is worth the having. Dictators scorn weakness and respect strength. The Britain of today is a different nation from the Britain of two years or even a year ago. That much is acknowledged indirectly in the Duce's newly professed desire for conciliation and peace.

Are You This Sort Of Motorist?

The Ottawa Citizen gives a list of rules for motorists which, it says, may be seen in operation every day on the streets of Ottawa. They may also be seen in Sherbrooke and in many other places. They are as follows:

When you are approaching a street intersection—where there may be pedestrians crossing—be sure to speed up.

When you are making a left turn around a corner, make certain that you pass as close as possible to the near left-hand corner.

When you are approaching a yellow light—with other motor cars waiting at the right—be sure to regard the light as an invitation to speed up, not as a warning of caution.

When you are caught in a traffic jam, three or six cars back from the front, keep your horn operating at full blast. It is good for the nerves of the drivers in front of you.

When you are driving on crowded streets, be sure to keep as close to the centre of the street as possible, so that passing cars will have to turn out into the lane intended for traffic coming in the opposing direction.

If you are a car driver, it will do no harm to check up on your ways of driving and decide whether you follow any of these rules. It may help your driving to do so.

Working Co-eds.

More girls in the United States will work their way through college than ever before this year, if you can take figures compiled by the University of Iowa as typical of the rest of the country.

These figures reveal further that the co-ed is more particular about her work than the average male student. Boys applying are apt to take anything and be happy over it. They will even start to school on a shoestring in the hope that they can pick up any odd job which will pay living expenses.

The girls, though, want assurance of a place before they enroll. More than that, they indicate the jobs they want and most of them lean toward typist and secretarial positions. College employment bureaus mourn that jobs of housemaids, for instance, are going begging while there is an abundance of neat young women waiting with pencils poised for dictation.

EDITOR'S NOTE-BOOK

We congratulate Maurice Cormier, who has been appointed acting treasurer of the City of Sherbrooke, and also Max Dubois and Georges Belisle who have been given well-merited promotions. The City Council is wise in showing recognition to those who have rendered years of faithful service to the city.

Another several thousand satisfied persons viewed the presentation of the Centennial pageant at the Exhibition Grounds last evening. The continued interest which is shown in this unique spectacle is sufficient proof of its quality and appeal.

At last Sherbrooke is to have artificial ice. The need of such an equipment has long been felt and it is gratifying to the sporting element, to the lovers of winter sports and to the citizens who have the welfare of Sherbrooke at heart that the Queen City of the Eastern Townships is coming into her own.

We must take off our hats to the Weather Man. He has been kind to the Sherbrooke Centennial celebration and is now looking with favor upon the county fairs. We hope he remembers the Sherbrooke Exhibition next week.

The only happiness a brave man ever troubled himself with asking much about was happiness enough to get his work done.

No man is worth his salt who is not ready to risk his body, to use his well-being, to risk his life in a great cause.

The League of Nations has been very quiet lately. Perhaps it has switched jobs—from umpire to scorekeeper.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From the Files of the Sherbrooke Record, August 27th, 1901.

Walter Hazell, chairman of the Central Distress Committee of the Unemployed, of London, Eng., has recently visited Sherbrooke on a tour of inspection of the families his committee has sent out. He went to Eustis and Capelen with Mr. Walter Odell, the local correspondent of the E. E. E. Fund.

Mr. P. L. Jenkins, a well-known resident of Sutton, dropped dead while sitting in his chair. The deceased was seventy-nine years of age.

Mr. C. H. Remick was appointed secretary-treasurer of Barnston Township to succeed Mr. H. Howe, who resigned.

The marriage took place at the home of Mrs. Jane Miller, Clarenceville, when her daughter, Miss Winifred Miller, was united in marriage to Mr. Edgerton Stokes, of Bury.

Deaths reported: The death occurred at Granby of Marian Sheppard, wife of John Elkins, at Sherbrooke, Mr. P. A. Fressler, of the Dominion Express office, Sherbrooke, at the age of forty-seven years.

Mr. M. O'Brady has taken possession of his new residence on Ball street.

Mr. T. Delorme has purchased a residence from Mr. O. Hugo, on Galt street, Sherbrooke, for $2,100. The death occurred at St. Gervais de Bellechasse, of Mr. Antoine Fournier, prominent farmer. The deceased was the father of Mrs. Edmond Gervais and Mrs. T. Sergerie, of Sherbrooke, and of Mr. Antoine Fournier, of Orford.

Lieut. H. R. Sampson, of the 53rd Regiment, won third place in the Dominion meet.

It is reported the Provincial Board of Health has entered an action against the City of Sherbrooke, based on an alleged neglect to report cases of contagious cases to the Board.

ONE THING I DO.

This one thing I do: Leaving all else behind, I press toward the prize Of Infinite Mind.

Though rugged the way, I know but one aim: To walk in Christ's steps And serve in His name.

I yield all to Him. His Truth makes me free; I live in full faith, Since He lives in me.

This one thing I do: My eyes set above, I press toward the prize Of Infinite Love.

DRIVING "SCOTCH" FROM THE LANGUAGE

(Glasgow Bulletin.)

A firm plea to save the word "Scotch" from being driven by intellectual snobs from our language was made by Dr. William Grant, editor of the Scottish National Dictionary, when he spoke in Edinburgh at the Congress of the International Association for European Folk-Lore and Ethnology.

"Can you imagine us speaking of 'Scottish brot' or even 'scots brot'?" Dr. Grant asked the congress. "I and many of my friends would never dream of using any other word but 'Scotch' for such a reference."

"As a matter of fact," continued Dr. Grant "if I, as a boy, had spoken of Scots brot my people would not have understood, and it would have been taken as an open attempt to show off. The punishment for that at the parish school was to be dipped head down in the burn running past the playgrounds."

Whisky was another word with which "Scotch" was the only adjective one could reasonably use, and as an instance of the manner in which this at times essential word was being driven from the language Dr. Grant referred to the Scottish Education Department.

In former days, he said, the body was known as the Scotch Education Department, but now that this "stunt"—that was the only word he could use—had come into favor the Board had changed its name to that now used.

He urged the delegates to the Congress not to be swayed by this new type of speech, but to stick to words which in their own minds expressed their thoughts best. Dr. Grant's address was founded on the compilation of the Scottish National Dictionary, and in a reference to the national ideals of the country he said to the delegates.

"There are some things which are still represented best in the national speech. Why should we not have a feeling of reverence for the things that have welded together these warring races and are more sacred than monuments in bronze and brass?"

CANADIAN POLICY ONE OF SHIRKING

(Australasian.)

When Canada takes stock of her vulnerability in considering her share in Empire defence, she cannot be blamed for including the protection that she can reasonably expect from her powerful neighbor, the United States, as an important item on the credit side. It would be another matter entirely if she held her place in the Empire merely for what she could get out of it in the way of benefits. The time might come when those benefits would be in danger of being destroyed by an enemy. Take Australia alone. We buy from Canada more than we sell to her. Would Canada stand idly by and see that market lost to her through some cause which she could have helped to prevent? Her market openings in Great Britain are vast. The time might come when those openings would be in danger of being closed by the other Dominions and also the colonies and dependents to be added.

THE SECOND DEFENCE LINE

(London Morning Post)

The threat to merchant shipping in war can never be entirely countered by a country so dependent on shipping as ours. But the plans, which the Admiralty have just announced, should help to minimize it. They are twofold. First, merchant ships are to be armed, at any rate to the extent of enabling them to defend themselves until assistance can be called. It is satisfactory to learn that provision has already been made for guns suitable for this purpose. In this respect we are better prepared than we were in 1914, when there was no serious plan for the arming of merchantmen. Next, merchant marine officers are to be made conversant with the principles of trade defence and familiar with the weapons available in the event of war. To this end Merchant Navy Defence Courses are to be provided in principal seaports around the British coast. In this respect also we have evidently learned something from the experience of the Great War. The Merchant Navy Defence Courses will no doubt overcome many difficulties; and, together with the arming of merchant ships, should provide some security against severe inroads on our second line of defence.

"BIG APPLE" IS A DANCE

(Toronto Star Weekly)

With gradual lifting of the depression, except in certain localities where unfavorable conditions persist, there has been more dancing in Canada this summer than for several years past. There has been dancing in the cities, at the summer resorts and in the rural districts.

Young people on the farm nowadays, after their hard work, can drive to the nearest lake with its orchestra and its gaiety. Also, especially in the earlier months before the harvest there were many barn dances and such good-humored games as "hog calling," where some of the girls competed with the young men in testing the strength and quality of their vocal cords.

Waltzes and fox-trots under various names, make-up the larger part of the dance repertoire, but a new dance is reported coming over the horizon from the south. It is called "Big Apple" and the New Republic, a serious-minded New York weekly, describes it as a combination of the old-fashioned square dance and the modern "swing." The dancers stand in a circle, applauding rhythm as their members advance to the middle, two by two or four by four, and there perform whatever is their own specialty. Suddenly all this is changed; the word of an announcer, the dancers break into a Virginia reel or some other old-fashioned dance which they must have patience and skill enough to learn.

A dispatch from Charlotte, N.C., in Variety, entertainment-paper, says that the new dance is sweeping across the southern beaches. If past experience repeats itself, Canadian young people will soon be trying the "Big Apple." It has a Canadian flavor to its name, even if its origin is in Dixie rather than among the orchards of the north.

(Detroit Free Press.)

Complaints regarding the conditions under which factory workers in Red Russia labor, made by Yevdokia Vinogradova, a twenty-three year old girl who won the Order of Lenin last year, should make instructive reading for the communistic enthusiasts in this county who consider Soviet-land a sort of terrestrial paradise.

The young woman returning to her job in a textile factory after a term in an industrial academy was because she invented a way to operate 216 looms at once, has written a letter to "Pravda" in Moscow. In it she makes these charges: "The girls in the factory operate looms in a temperature of ninety-six degrees.

A new ventilator costing 45,000 rubles pours water instead of air into the plant. Drinking water in the place for use of the workers is always hot.

The factory's last shower has been removed and a club and park, uncared for, and used only by drunks, has been substituted. The stores in the town where the factory is situated are so bad that the loom operators must travel thirty-five miles to get food.

Fellow workers told the girl that Communist officials kept check on her factory on when she was absent, her position as a national heroine making it prudent for them to seem to be on the job.

These are the conditions in one of the largest and presumably most advanced Soviet textile factories, as described by a person high in favor with the Moscow Government and certainly not prejudiced against it. They are conditions which perhaps are forgivable in a backward country struggling to catch up with the rest of the world; but they are conditions which would be considered impossible in this country.

MEALS ON RAILWAY TRAINS THESE DAYS.

(Chicago Daily News)

One of the oldest problems of American railroads has been to see that the travelling public are supplied with that which is essential to the wants of the inner man, as is recorded in an 1887 notice of the erection by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad "at very great expense" of a series of "large and commodious hotels." Those were the days of "twenty minutes for dinner" proclaimed by a bell on the station platform, summoning passengers to grab and bolt—a plan even yet not entirely obsolete.

A decade later a new solution was given to the problem with George M. Pullman's first "hotel car" that provided a "broiler buffet" in one end of a sleeping car. This led directly to the first dining car, devised by the Pullman Company in 1858.

Since then vast improvements have been made in luxuriousness—at increasing expense for the passenger. This was all right as long as travel was regarded as a luxury for the few—the rest could, if necessary, bring lunches in shoe boxes. But with the advent of the motor car, the railroad found a new competitor in a cheaper mode of travel.

As far back as a quarter of a century ago, there had been a "dollar-dinner war" stopped when expenses of operation became more than the railway could stand. With dinners at considerably more than a dollar, the railroads, in 1931, spent $30,488,452 on their dinners, of which $7,504,318 was chalked up as loss.

Since prices could not be raised to meet this expense, the experiment has been tried recently, of lowering

1937 TOURIST SEASON

(Le Nouvelliste, Three Rivers)

Tourism is an indication of prosperity on the part of those who travel, and at the same time it contributes to ours. In its last monthly letter the Canadian Bank of Commerce, making a review of the tourist season and its results at the present time, estimates a noticeable progress since last year.

The tourist season will last another month in Canada, it says, but already it shows that the expenditures of tourists in the Dominion will surpass those of last year. First figures indicate a fifteen per cent. increase in the Dominion, figures in the West and in Ontario probably surpassing this average, while in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces the increase hovers between the ten per cent. and fifteen per cent. marks.

The amount of money Americans will spend here this year is difficult to reasonably estimate. Ontario usually receives about sixty per cent. of them, and will probably see an increase, since the interest in the Dionne quintuplets seems to increase rather to diminish, and an amazing number of visitors visit their home, although it may not be the chief object of their travels.

If the movement continues as it has since the opening of the season the total expenditures of tourists in the Dominion should equal, if not surpass, the 300 million dollar mark, the record figure established in 1929.

WAR DEBTS OWING TO U.S.

(Le Canada, Montreal)

The governments of six States which fought in the Great War and borrowed billions from the United States recently warned Washington of their present incapacity to pay the sum which they undertook to remit semi-annually.

That is not anything new. Up to date these nations have total arrears of $1,520 millions towards the United States. The Government of the United Kingdom itself is in arrears. It should have remitted more than $5 and a half millions on the 15th of June to the American treasury; it is content to assure the American Government through the British Ambassador at Washington of its profound desire to resume with the Government of the United States dealings on the subject of this formidable war debt.

Thus Great Britain owes Washington for its own part $872 millions due and remaining unpaid. All this will probably wind up by cancellation, well and truly agreed upon.

That would be nothing but a routine operation, for from this on it is generally admitted that Washington will never get a cent out of its heavy credits.

Wilberforce College, the answers to her advertisement were unsatisfactory. Those who wanted to marry her were either too young or too old. One was a preacher 55, another a boy of 21.

It is evident that the supply of eligible men is limited. The advertisement specified a man about forty-two years of age, tall and thin, one with at least half the experience of the advertiser, "not a real dumb man" and "some money, not much."

However, though the lady from Ketchikan is going to pursue her hunt further, making a trip to Australia, she is not so poorly off if she doesn't achieve her goal for at thirty-seven years of age she owns a profitable restaurant and beauty parlor in her home town, along with some gold claims which she proposes to work.

Evidently when a man or woman gets down to an analytical basis of trying to select a life partner, the field is quite limited. The faults that bar the candidates are many and unthinkable. It would lead to the conclusion that if love wasn't afflicted with frightfully defective vision, most people would be pursuing the single life.

Miss Dorothy Colter, who spent a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Colter, Quebec street, left last night to visit friends and relatives in Saint John and Fredericton before resuming her duties as teacher in Upper Gagetown, N.B.

The Misses Gwen Hurn, Buddy Walley, Fernande Labonte, Joy Planché, the latter of East Angus, Mrs. Franklyn Terrey and her little daughter, Jane, are spending a week at Mr. T. C. Hurr's camp on Mirror Lake.

Mr. Augustus Wood, who with Mrs. Wood has been in Dorval, Ottawa, Montreal and at the Seignior Club, Lacorne-in-Quebec, has returned to his home on Melbourn street. Mrs. Wood will return to Sherbrooke during the coming week-end.

Mrs. Andrea Paton Robinson entertained Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Langston, of Toronto, informally at luncheon yesterday at "Rockmount," they afterwards going on to the Hermitage Club, Lake Memphrémagog, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Skelton at their summer home.

Master Stuart Weatherhead, whose lovely voice and winning personality quite captivated the immense audience at the presentation of the historical pageant in the new amphitheatre at the Exhibition Grounds last evening, left today for his home in Winnipeg. Master Stuart has been visiting his mother's sisters, Mrs. Helen MacIver in Gould and Miss Margaret MacIver, of Sherbrooke, and music lovers generally will regret to hear that last evening was his final appearance on the Centenary programme to which his sweet singing lent much additional charm.

Brigadier and Mrs. W. H. P. Elkins and their daughters, have returned to Toronto after holidaying for several weeks at Metis Beach.

The Lord Bishop of Quebec, the Right Reverend Philip Carrington, has left for Halifax to attend the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada.

Miss Gillard, principal of King's Hall, Compton, who arrived in Quebec yesterday on the S. S. Empress of Britain, is spending a few days in Sillery a guest of Rev. and Mrs. J. S. Brewer.

Additional guests who have signified their intention of attending the Centenary Conventionette arranged by the Sherbrooke Business and Professional Women's Club for the coming week-end are Miss Hazel Taylor, of Montreal, Miss Jeannette Coutier, of Rock Island, and Mrs. Anne Aldrich, of Derby Lane.

Mrs. George Dick, London street, received word this morning that her sister, Mrs. James Paton, passed away on August 22nd at her home in Alva, Scotland, after an illness of two years' duration. Mrs. Paton was also the sister of Mr. Charles Robertson, of this city, and of the late Mrs. John Dempster, who predeceased her sister on August 22nd.

Miss Edith Hill, R.N., left this morning for Montreal, en route for Toronto, where she will enter the university in that city to take a post-graduate course in public health nursing. Miss Hill has been a valued nurse of the Victorian Order in this city for several years, and her friends wish her every success in her studies.

Miss K. H. Brock, R.N., has returned home to Montreal after spending the summer in North Hatley a guest at Pleasant View Inn. During her stay Miss Brock has been entertained on several occasions by friends in Sherbrooke, her former home, her father, the late Rev. I. Brock, D.D., having been rector of St. Peter's Church for many years.

Miss Edith Hill was hostess last evening in the reception room at the Parthenon at a miscellaneous shower and bridge party in honor of Miss Helen Robertson, who is being much feted prior to her marriage, which takes place shortly. Bridge was played at three tables, after which delicious refreshments were served. Much fun was added to the party by fortune telling from tea cups by Mrs. Haultain, who is an adept in that popular art.

Mrs. John E. Wier, who has been a guest for six weeks of her sister, Mrs. F. E. Messenger, and Mr. Messenger, King street west, left this morning for Montreal, where she will spend a few days en route to her home in Toronto. Master Stewart Wier, who has been visiting his aunt, Mrs. A. E. Abercrombie, in Lennoxville during the interim, will accompany his mother on the return trip to the Queen City.

Put three-quarters cup of milk in a double boiler; add a teaspoon of butter and a dash of salt—another of paprika, if you like. Heat the Shredded Wheat and serve it on a plate. Put the seasoned hot milk into a bowl and serve with a little pitcher of cream. Break the biscuit into the milk a half at a time. Easy to eat and just right as to softness, this is a pleasing variation from the usual breakfast cereal. If canned whole apricots, cookies and a cup of tea follow, a perfect luncheon is served in a jiffy.

A buffet luncheon was served to about forty guests. On the centre of the bride's table was a large three-tier wedding cake, over which was suspended a white bell, from which pink and white streamers were fastened to the table corners with pink gladioli. The floral decorations of the table were antirrhinum and gypsophila.

Mr. and Mrs. Salisbury left by motor amid a shower of confetti for Granby, Montreal and Ottawa. The bride's travelling costume was a navy blue taffeta suit, with matching accessories.

The many presents, including cheques, silverware, china, linen, glass, etc., were beautiful and valuable, showing the esteem in which the bride and groom are held.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Duboyce, N.P., of Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. Cedric Goddard, of Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Goddard, of Chatham, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Dorman and daughter, of Sherbrooke, Mrs. Mabel Salisbury, Miss Marjorie Salisbury, Mr. G. Buckingham, Miss Christie, Miss Gertrude Gillespie, Miss Norma MacGregor, Miss Gladys Wade and Mr. Harry Cretts, all of Montreal, and Mrs. F. C. Ireland, of Montreal West. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Salisbury and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hayes and three children, of Granby, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Inglis and Miss Irene Inglis, of Bonville, Mr. and Mrs. Grayson Cousens, of Bolton Glen, and Miss Helen Little, of Inverness. Notable among the guests was the bride's aged grandfather, Mr. Alfred Turner, who is in his ninetieth year.

FOR CLEANING METALS A paste made of flour, vinegar and salt is excellent for cleaning copper, pewter and brass. After applying paste allow to remain for an hour, before rubbing off. Wash with water and polish with soft cloth.

MARRIAGES

BATSTONE—MAIRS
Mr. and Mrs. John E. Mairs, of Upper Melbourn, Que., announce the marriage of their daughter, Doris Mildred, to Mr. Joseph Robert Batstone, eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Batstone, of Green Harbour, Prince Edward Island, which took place recently at the home of the bride's parents, the Rev. J. Lloyd Hughes officiating, assisted by Rev. G. H. Seavey, of Penacook, New Hampshire, brother-in-law of the groom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white printed afternoon dress, with white printed georgette redingote, and white accessories, and was attended by Miss Gladys Stinson, as bridesmaid. Mr. Frank Thompson, of Asbestos, acted as best man for the groom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held, immediately after which the bridal couple left for their honeymoon, which was spent in the New England States and along the Atlantic coast.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Batstone will reside in Danville, Que.

DION—SEVIGNY
Inverness, Aug. 27.—The marriage of Mr. Jules Dion and Miss Alina Sevigny took place in the Roman Catholic church here on Saturday morning. Rev. Father Humphries officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was dressed in a floor length gown of plum colored chiffon velvet with large hat to match and purple slippers with silver openwork. She carried a bouquet of gladioli and ferns.

A reception was held at the home of the bride immediately following the ceremony.

Mr. Dion is the son of Mr. Joseph Dion, and Miss Sevigny a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philbert Sevigny, all of Inverness.

SALISBURY—HONEY
West Bolton, Aug. 27.—The marriage of Frances Pearl, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Honey, of this town, to Mr. Heenan Cedric Salisbury, late of Ottawa, was solemnized on Saturday, August 21st, in St. Matthew's Church, Stukely, at 4.30 o'clock. Rev. F. C. Ireland, of Montreal West, officiated.

The church was profusely decorated with flowers, the bridal party standing in an archway of hydrangea and greenery, from which was suspended a bell of hydrangea and gladioli. The guests were marked with white bows. Mrs. Lindsey Martin rendered the Wedding March, and played softly during the entire ceremony.

The bridesmaid was Miss Marjorie Salisbury, of Montreal, sister of the groom. Little Miss Heather Hayes, of Granby, was flower girl, and Mr. Gordon Hays, twin brother of the bride, acted as best man, and the ushers were Mr. Howard Salisbury, brother of the groom, and Mr. Percy Honey, brother of the bride.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a gown of powder blue net over taffeta, with picture hat to match. Her bouquet was of pink roses. The bridesmaid wore a pink georgette over-taffeta gown made on princess lines and picture hat to match. She carried pink carnations. The little flower girl was becomingly dressed in a long frock of blue silk, and on her head was a garland of small pink flowers, which matched her nosegay.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the house was most beautifully decorated with a profusion of pink and white gladioli. The bride and groom received the guests in an archway festooned with pink and white streamers and pink larkspur, with pink and white gladioli at the base.

A buffet luncheon was served to about forty guests. On the centre of the bride's table was a large three-tier wedding cake, over which was suspended a white bell, from which pink and white streamers were fastened to the table corners with pink gladioli. The floral decorations of the table were antirrhinum and gypsophila.

Mr. and Mrs. Salisbury left by motor amid a shower of confetti for Granby, Montreal and Ottawa. The bride's travelling costume was a navy blue taffeta suit, with matching accessories.

The many presents, including cheques, silverware, china, linen, glass, etc., were beautiful and valuable, showing the esteem in which the bride and groom are held.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Duboyce, N.P., of Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. Cedric Goddard, of Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Goddard, of Chatham, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Dorman and daughter, of Sherbrooke, Mrs. Mabel Salisbury, Miss Marjorie Salisbury, Mr. G. Buckingham, Miss Christie, Miss Gertrude Gillespie, Miss Norma MacGregor, Miss Gladys Wade and Mr. Harry Cretts, all of Montreal, and Mrs. F. C. Ireland, of Montreal West. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Salisbury and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hayes and three children, of Granby, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. ## RECENT BRIDE FETED BY MANY GRANBY PEOPLE

Popular Granby Girl, Who Was Married on Saturday, Was Guest of Honor at Several Receptions on Thursday and Friday.

Granby, August 27.—On Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Stanley Hansford entertained at the tea hour in honor of Miss Muriel Irwin, whose marriage took place the following Saturday.

The rooms were profusely decorated with gladioli, which were most effectively arranged.

Two little maidens, Joan Hansford and Ruby Lewis, wheeled in a prettily decorated table covered with parcels which, when opened, were found to contain dainty and useful gifts of linen, for which Miss Irwin very sweetly thanked the hostess and friends present.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her little daughter, Joan, and niece, Ruby Lewis.

YOUNG LADIES' GROUP HONORED BRIDE-TO-BE
On Thursday evening of last week, Miss Irwin was honored by a call of a delegation from the Young Women's Evening Auxiliary, of which she was president.

The members of the society presented her with a tenpot and a sugar and cream set in brown pottery with stinging silver deposit.

The vice-president, Miss Mary Fuller, in making the presentation, regretted the loss of their able president, but expressed the wish of the members for much happiness in her new home.

Those present were Mrs. Harold Ball, Mrs. Vermer Doe, Miss Mary Fuller, Miss Alice Fuller and Miss Gladys Nicholson.

On the same evening a number of neighbors called at the home of Miss Irwin and Mrs. Anderson, in a few well-chosen words, followed by Mr. Heator Choquette, M.P., speaking in French, presented the bride-elect with a beautiful clock as a token of esteem and also as a remembrance.

A pleasant evening was spent at the close of which delicious refreshments were served by the guests.

REBEKAH LODGE ENTERTAINED FOR MISS IRWIN
On Friday evening of last week, Miss Muriel Irwin was guest-of-honor at the Rebekah Lodge and was presented with a "shower" of silver money. Mrs. Leland Webster, Noble Grand, made the presentation, expressing regret at her removal from Granby.

This was followed by another gift from the lodge of a silver and pyrex casserole and a silver sugar and cream set and tray.

Miss Reid, of Sherbrooke, president of the Rebekah Assembly of the Province, who was on her annual visit to Granby Riverside Rebekah Lodge, No. 12, very kindly consented to make the presentation to Miss Irwin, who is Past District Deputy President. Miss Reid eulogized on the efficient work done by Miss Irwin in the past, and wished her happiness and success in her new home.

This was followed by a banquet which had been prepared by the ladies. The I.O.O.F. Hall was very pretty, with a quantity of cut flowers used for decorations.

Before leaving, Miss Irwin thanked them very sincerely for their lovely and useful gifts and all their kind wishes.

During the evening, Miss Reid was asked to accept a silver compact from the members, for which she gracefully thanked them all.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

SCORES SLAM BY END PLAY

Eleven Tricks in Sight, Declarer Forces Opponent Into Leading Up to the Crucial Finesse

By Wm. E. McKenney, Secretary, American Bridge League.

Many bridge contracts are made by what are termed end plays. An end play consists in giving the lead to a chosen opponent so as to compel him to give you an additional trick or at least save the declarer from making what proved to be a losing finesse.

Most of these throw-in plays develop naturally from distribution revealed during the play of the hand. Others are planned practically from the play to the opening trick. The fact that the game was duplicate and that his own hand was so evenly balanced as to have no ruffing power whatever, caused North to insist on the no trump contract. South, after the strong rebid, was justified in giving North a chance for the slam, which North quite naturally accepted.

SHREDDED WHEAT AS MILK TOAST

Put three-quarters cup of milk in a double boiler; add a teaspoon of butter and a dash of salt—another of paprika, if you like. Heat the Shredded Wheat and serve it on a plate. Put the seasoned hot milk into a bowl and serve with a little pitcher of cream. Break the biscuit into the milk a half at a time. Easy to eat and just right as to softness, this is a pleasing variation from the usual breakfast cereal. If canned whole apricots, cookies and a cup of tea follow, a perfect luncheon is served in a jiffy.

Creamed Dishes on Shredded Wheat

If a heartier meal is wanted, or guests drop in, any creamed dish is all the better for an underpinning of hot, buttered Shredded Wheat, either crumbled or using the half turned up as a cup or patty shell, to hold the mixture conveniently. But don't be stingy—let it run over so that the biscuit will be well moistened but not soggy.

SLAVE SHIP

GOUVERNEUR MORRIS

Illustrated by GORDON GRANT
The story of the 20th Century-Fox Picture
starring Warner Baxter and Wallace Beery

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

Captain Jim Lovett, of the slave ship Albatross, marries a beautiful Southern girl, Nancy Marlowe, after a whirlwind courtship in the year 1854. Keeping from her the secret of his trade, he orders his mate, Thompson, to fire the crew, flog the ship, and get ready for a legitimate trading voyage to Jamaica. With his bride aboard and the Albatross at sea, Lovett discovers that Thompson and the crew had tricked him. They take over the ship, tell Lovett they are returning to Africa for another cargo of slaves, and refuse to let him leave the ship at a port. He is forced to confess to Nancy, and she, in horror, turns from him. Alone, he faces a mutinous crew. Hopelessly outnumbered, he pretends to agree to aid the mutineers. When the ship arrives in Africa, he goes ashore with them to arrange the slave purchase. But, when the slaves are on board, the mutineers attempt to sail without him. He manages to board the Albatross and, just as she is getting under way, and reaches Nancy's cabin. Then, with the aid of Swiftly, the cabin boy, he obtains materials for floating a net in the wake, in the hope it will be picked up by a pursuing British man-of-war, which has given chase to the Albatross.

commander of the frigate don't get the letter?"

"The chances are, he won't," said Lovett, "and that's why I want you out of his cabin. It hangs in the port open in readiness the minute I go on deck. And now here's Swiftly with Mr. Thompson's sextant. It's a pity because it's a fine instrument, London made, and cost a pot of money, but you'll throw that overboard too. We're in a fix where one sextant aboard a ship, and that's mine, is better than two."

"I remember," said Lovett. "They call it a revolver. It shoots five or six times without stopping to reload."

"He's got two of 'em, said Swiftly.

"When I hear you dancing a hornpipe on the deck over head, I'm to open the port and throw this overboard."

"Right, and you'd better set the port open in readiness the minute I go on deck. And now here's Swiftly with Mr. Thompson's sextant. It's a pity because it's a fine instrument, London made, and cost a pot of money, but you'll throw that overboard too. We're in a fix where one sextant aboard a ship, and that's mine, is better than two."

"I remember," said Lovett. "They call it a revolver. It shoots five or six times without stopping to reload."

"He's got two of 'em, said Swiftly.

showed most of his teeth and then Nancy asked a question which he himself was longing to ask.

"Why," said she, "do you have to throw Mr. Thompson's what did you call it, overboard too?"

"Without his sextant," explained Captain Lovett, "Mr. Thompson can't navigate. He won't be able to ask the sun to come down to the horizon and tell him where he is. He'll be like a babe lost in the woods. He'll be worse off than any babe because whoever finds him won't be a friend. And now, my lad, be kind enough to step up to Mr. Thompson and tell him—tell him you think Mrs. Lovett is dying."

Swiftly gave the message and added a little something for his own account.

"She thinks maybe you'd know what ailed her," he said, "and could do something to help her."

"The door of the cabin had no lock to leave the deck even for a few minutes but in case the cargo had to be jettisoned, there were the ten thousand dollars worth of goods paid to him if he delivered Mrs. Lovett safe and sound to the bank in Norfolk."

"Hi there, Zac!" he called.

A burly sailor tore his eyes from the weather rail and shambled aft.

"Take her!" said Thompson, "and hold her just so. The woman's sick. I'll be back in a jiffy."

Following up the boy, he eased himself down the aft companion and knocked at the door of the master's cabin. There was no answer. He turned the handle of the door and pushed it impatiently open. Nancy lay on the bed, her face turned to the wall and one hand pressed to her side, just over her head.

"What seems to be the matter?" asked Thompson in a voice which, without success, he strove to make soothing.

"Then all in a crumb of time, he perceived that the matter was not with the woman but with himself. The door of the cabin had closed behind him. Swiftly's work. And turning to see who had closed the door and why, Mr. Thompson found himself looking into Captain Lovett's stern blue eyes and into the black muzzle of one of the new fangled pistols which could be fired five or six times without reloading.

"Keep your mouth shut," said Captain Lovett, "and pull the mate of this weapon out of your hip pocket and drop it on the floor."

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

NANCY read in her sweet, clear voice: "The ship you are chasing is the schooner Wanderer. She is carrying six hundred negroes and will attempt to land them on Pirate's Island, two hundred miles southwest of Cuba, at the longitude and latitude written on the other side of this paper. This is against the wishes and the commands of the ship's master. She is in the hands of mutineers. Go to Pirate's Island and wait for her. She is going to make a slow passage."

"That letter," said Captain Lovett, "is intended for the commander of the frigate. He got to his feet and examined the reverse of the letter to be sure that Nancy had written down latitude and longitude correctly. Then he turned the sheet over and signed his name in bold letters, 'James Lovett, (master).'"

"But," said Swiftly, "what if the Lovett covered the surprised Thompson with his pistol. In tones that admitted to hesitation he said "Keep your mouth shut. Pull the mate of this weapon out of your pocket and drop it on the deck."

"He carries one and the other's hid under his mattress."

"Bring me that one, if you can," said Lovett, "do it now."

Ten minutes later, the boy returned with the sextant and the revolver. During those ten minutes Captain Lovett had worked quickly and handsily, as all seamen could in those days. He had rigged his spar.

To one end, the bottle containing the letter intended for the commander of the war ship, tightly corked and the bag of salt were nearly lashed with marlin. To the other end, he had fastened an approximately equal weight of sheet lead.

"Now, Nancy," he said, "just what are you to do? Let's be sure we've got it right."

"What to know how this patent mail-carrier works?" he asked.

"Yes, sir," said Captain Lovett, "here's enough wood to float both the lead and the salt. But what happens when you put salt in water?"

"It melts," said Swiftly.

"So the salt will melt away and float out through the hole I've cut in the sack until the lead end of this little spar is heavier than the bottle end, and then the bottle will begin to come up out of the sea and soon it will stand almost straight up. If there isn't even one pair smart enough to see out bottle riding at the end of the white spar, it won't be our fault."

The boy was tickled with the simple ingenuity of the device and

"HEAP HOT" FOR REST OF SUMMER

Dunkirk, N.Y., Aug. 27.—Weather prediction for the rest of the summer:

"Heap hot."

The forecast is made by Indians of the Cattaraugus reservation. They base it on the fact geese and ducks are quacking louder than usual, wild birds' songs are more prolonged and fish are leaping higher in the streams.

DECLINE RECORDED IN ELECTRIC POWER OUTPUT

Ottawa, Aug. 27.—Output of central electric stations in July this year took more than a seasonal decline as compared with June, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported but was well ahead of July, 1936. The figures were 2,188,055,000 kilowatt hours for July, 1937; 2,265,338,200 for June and 2,021,147,000 for July last year.

KICK FOR SLAP THEN IN COURT

Coleman, Alta., Aug. 27.—Domestic drama and court room sequel: Mrs. H. Halluck slapped the young son of J. Kennedy in the face. He had caused her some annoyance. Mr. Kennedy retaliated. Miss Mary Fuller, Granby, Led Large Field Of E.T. Golfers

Turned in Best Score at C.L.G.U. Field Day Held at Lennoxville Course Yesterday—Mrs. B. N. Holtham, of Sherbrooke Country Club, Was Runner-Up—Thetford Mines Won Gross Cup on Year's Play and Drummondville the Net Cup.

Miss Mary Fuller carried off the premier honors at the Canadian Ladies Golf Union field day staged at the Lennoxville course yesterday. The young Granby player turned in a card of ninety-two to head a field of fifty Eastern Townships golfers competing for the laurels.

Table with columns: Player, Club, Out, In, Gross, Hdcp., Net. Lists scores for various players like Miss M. Fuller, Mrs. B. N. Holtham, etc.

THREE RIVERS BEAT PANTHERS IN A TWIN BILL

Trifluvians Upset Black Panthers in Both Ends of a Double-Header and Moved to Third Place in Provincial League Standing—Sorel Downed Drummondville.

Three Rivers, August 27.—When they took both ends of a Provincial Baseball League twin bill from the Montreal Black Panthers here yesterday, Three Rivers moved into third place in the pennant race.

Table with columns: Club, W, L, P.C. Lists standings for Three Rivers, Drummondville, etc.

CITY LACROSSE CHAMPS GIVEN RENNIE TROPHY

Harold Mooney, Captain of St. Pat's "Fighting Irish" Squad, Presented Rennie Cup in Public Ceremony at Dufresne Park.

Emblematic of supremacy in the City Lacrosse League, the Rennie Cup was presented at a well-attended public ceremony at Dufresne Park last evening to Harold Mooney, captain of the St. Pat's squad.

Following the brief ceremony, an exhibition match was begun between the two teams, but darkness ended it after the first period, with the cupholders leading by three to two.

DEAN'S SORE ARM MAY RUIN CARDS' TITLE CHANCES

Cubs and Giants Are Not Shedding Any Tears Over Frankie Frisch's Misfortune—Phils Trimmed Cardinals Yesterday.

Bill Terry and Charley Grimm, a couple of guys who are about as chummy as the Japs and Chinese, had one thing in common today.

When "Dizzy" served Leo Norris with a two-base ball to open the Cards' game with the Phillies yesterday, and then announced that his right arm—the most valuable piece of pitching bric-a-brac in the business—was on the fritz, the dark clouds overhead landed right in Frisch's lap.

CAPELTON CREW TOOK FIRST OF SERIES GAMES

Barnston Routed by Thirteen to Six in Opener of Intermediate Baseball League Play-Offs—Bilodeau Had Big Day at Bat.

Capelton, Aug. 27.—In the first of a three-game series to determine who will represent the Eastern Townships Intermediate Baseball League in the provincial play-offs, the Capelton crew routed Barnston by thirteen to six.

Table with columns: Club, Won, Lost, P.C., F.C. Lists standings for various teams like New York, Detroit, Chicago, etc.

NEW SUPPORTER LAUDS ABILITY OF TOMMY FARR

Noted Referee Declares Welshman Greatest Heavyweight that Britain Has Produced in Last Thirty Years.

New York, Aug. 27.—Turns out there's another fellow around town named C. B. Thomas, who doesn't think Tommy Farr got a reprieve from oblivion when Promoter Mike Jacobs imagined he detected rain in the air yesterday afternoon.

What Jacobs actually smelled, when he abruptly postponed the Welshman's engagement with Heavyweight Champ Joe Louis Monday night at Yankee Stadium, was, of course, some fresh money coming down from Saratoga this week-end on the racing special.

YOUNG GOLFER HIBBARD BOYS TO FORE IN U.S. TITLE TOURNAMENT MOVED UP IN SINGLES PLAY

Twenty-Four Year Old "Bud" Ward, Johnny Fischer, Johnny Goodman and Ray Billows Are Semi-Finalists in U.S. Amateur Championship Competition.

Portland, Ore., August 27.—A young upstart from the Pacific northwest who has never won a title of any kind—Marvin "Bud" Ward—caused a lot of commotion in the United States amateur golf tournament today as he teed off with three big shots in the thirty-six-hole semifinals.

Johnny Hibbard, former city champion and one of Sherbrooke's top-flight tennis players, advanced to the semi-finals in the annual men's singles matches for the City of Sherbrooke tennis title by defeating Yvon Cote in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2, on the St. Patrick's Academy courts yesterday.

Jimmy Bradcock is more popular than ever. He came in from the country yesterday and visited the Hippodrome. Fully three hundred jammed the sidewalks in front of the joint for more than an hour until Jimmy came out.

SPORT FLASHES

New York, August 27.—This makes twice the old adage from which he picks his fight dates has done Mike Jacobs wrong.

The thrifty Tommy Farr carried all his sparring partners the minute he quit training the other day and now has to recruit a new lot.

Don't see how that limb holds all the experts who are out there on Louis.

When Jimmy Johnston moves out of the Garden on October 1, he may bob up as a rival promoter to Mike Jacobs, Mike controls the big fellows, but most of the little fellows, from the middleweights down call Johnston "uncle."

SMYTHE AGAIN PITCHED ROYALS TO VICTORY

Harry Smythe, Montreal Royals' crack left-hander, will never get any votes as the most popular player in the league from the Toronto Maple Leafs.

In dugout argot all he has to do to beat the Leafs is "throw his glove out on the mound." His habit of winning, which is by no means casual to Toronto, is doing plenty toward pushing the second-place Royals into the play-offs.

Smythe has allowed ten hits in his last sixteen innings on the mound. He added to it last night by beating the Leafs with four hits by nine to two to further consolidate the Royals' hold on second place.

YESTERDAY'S BASEBALL AMERICAN LEAGUE Cleveland 10, Philadelphia 5. Chicago 4, Washington 3. Detroit 6, Boston 5.
