Incredulous Hoffa guilty of jury rigging attempt

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—James R. Hoffa, president of the largest U.S. labor union, stared in grim disbelief Wednesday when he heard himself declared guilty of trying to rig a federal court jury.
It was his first conviction in five trials.
"We will appeal," Hoffa told reporters.
His lawyers said motions for a new trial would be filed with U.S. District Judge Frank Wilson within four days.
The conviction could mean 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine for Hoffa, head of the International Teamsters Union.
The verdict brought congratulations to the prosecutors from Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy — long accused by Hoffa of waging a vendetta against him.
KENNEDY APPROVED
Kennedy, once called a "punk kid" by Hoffa, just smiled when asked his reaction to the verdict. Pressed for a statement, he would say only that "it was in the hands of the jury and the jury has spoken."
Hoffa told reporters that "despite what you think" he has no intention of relinquishing the presidency of the Teamsters, an independent union with 1,700,000 members including several thousand in Canada.
"I can rest assured of one thing," he said, "that the membership will be behind Hoffa in the fight all the way."
Initial reaction from members of Hoffa's home local in Detroit was unanimously in his favor.
Hoffa, 51, who is scheduled to go on trial April 27 in Chicago on charges of misusing $20,000,000 in union pension funds, became president of the Teamsters after his predecessor, Dave Beck, went to prison for income tax fraud.
HOFFA'S BOND RAISED
Hoffa's bond was raised to $75,000 from $10,000 by Wilson. Smaller bonds were required by the three men convicted with him of attempting to bribe the jury that heard Hoffa's 1962 conspiracy trial at Nashville. That trial ended when the jury couldn't agree on a verdict.
The jury received the case Tuesday night after six weeks of testimony and deliberated five hours and 40 minutes. It acquitted Hoffa on one charge, but found:
1. Hoffa, Larry Campbell of Detroit and Thomas E. Parks of Nashville sought to offer $10,000 to the son of a juror in the Nashville trial.
2. Hoffa and Ewing King, former Nashville Teamsters president, tried to influence another juror by offering to help her husband get a promotion on the Tennessee Highway Patrol.
Campbell, a Teamsters business agent at Detroit, Parks and King face sentences of five years and fines of $5,000.
The jury of eight men and four women acquitted Hoffa and two businessmen on charges they offered "things of value" to a Nashville bar operator if he would try to make contact with members of the 1962 jury.

Teachers to return today; end longest school strike

By IRWIN BLOCK
(Record staff reporter)

Some 15,000 Roman Catholic, French-language students in eight Eastern Townships centers were to return to their classrooms this afternoon, after a four-week enforced holiday.

The schools were to re-open this afternoon. Yesterday 527 striking Roman Catholic teachers decided to accept a preliminary understanding with School Commissions and end their walkout which had paralyzed education in Asbestos, Richmond, Windsor, Bromptonville, Danville, East Angus, Magog and Coaticook.

The strike was the longest in Canadian educational history. The decision to return to work was taken at a general meeting of Sherbrooke Diocese teachers in Sherbrooke's New Wellington Hotel, late Wednesday afternoon.

The secret ballot vote — 370 for the return-to-work, 56 against and 3 abstentions — was taken after a 6-hour meeting, during which teachers discussed the preliminary brief of understanding which their leaders had accepted provisionally in Quebec City, Tuesday.

The brief states that conciliation proceedings will be set up at the local level after the teachers return to work.

It insures that 24 of 26 clauses agreed upon in previous mediation with Michel Marengo be maintained.

It assures the teachers that no reprisals will be taken against them as a result of their walkout.

This was the second preliminary understanding to be presented to the teachers since Youth Minister Gerin-Lajoie intervened in the conflict.

The first brief which was rejected by a rank-and-file meeting of teachers was essentially the same, except that it would have set up an arbitration board to iron out the dispute.

OPPOSED ARBITRATION
The teachers are vehemently opposed to arbitration, whose decisions, taken by a three-man panel, are mandatory.

The business agent of the Federation of Catholic Teachers of the Diocese of Sherbrooke called the new brief "a victory."

The brief was signed this morning by eight Catholic school commissions and union local presidents.

The conciliator, Montreal labor-lawyer Leon Lalonde, arrived in Sherbrooke early this morning to supervise the signing of the brief and to set up conciliation proceedings to iron out the two remaining points which retard a settlement of the conflict — salaries and a sick-leave fund.

At a press conference yesterday, Marc Lapointe, legal counsel for the striking teachers described why the new understanding was a "victory."

Negotiations will now proceed on the local level not on a diocese-wide basis as the school commissions had insisted.

Arbitration repugnant to the teachers, was avoided, and a solution not specified in the law—conciliation—was achieved.

The teachers insistence that a collective agreement be signed before they return to work was "partially satisfied" by the maintenance of 25 of the 27 clauses already agreed upon during mediations.

GIVE REASONS
At the press conference, the three leaders of the 527 striking teachers—Marc Lapointe, Joseph Leblanc and Roland Lussier (President of the Federation of Catholic Teachers of the Diocese of Sherbrooke) discussed the reasons behind the prolonged strike.

They claimed that the Association of Catholic School Commissions of the Diocese of Sherbrooke had given a "false interpretation to the question of planned salary scales" in the diocese.

"They confused planning with uniformisation" said Mr. Lapointe.

He said that this policy had been "Teachers To" Page 7

Plumbing combine charged

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's anti-combines commission today named 18 manufacturers and wholesalers of plumbing and heating supplies who, they said, conspired illegally to fix prices and restrict competition in Montreal and other parts of Quebec.

The report by the three-man restrictive trade practices commission, made public by Justice Minister Farveau, called for court action to prevent resumption of "collusive activities." It did not recommend prosecution of the companies.

The commission found that 16 firms, members of the Quebec Plumbing and Heating Council, were parties to an arrangement which used discount lists, boycotts and other pressures to achieve its aims. Their customers were mainly building contractors.

COUNCIL WAS DISBANDED
The council, formed in 1958, was disbanded early in 1961, a few months after the justice department's combines investigations director, David Henry, launched a formal inquiry and seized council records.

The commission also found that six companies in another group—four of them members of the first group—were parties to a price-fixing arrangement on plumbing and heating supplies sold to major industrial purchasers.

Mr. Farveau gave no indication of what action may be taken except to say the "usual consideration" will be given to what further steps should be taken.

Mr. Hebert said in the book that he had been told by John Edward Belliveau, 50, a Toronto advertising executive, that a tattered note that might have saved Wilbert Coffin's life had been found in the area where three American hunters were killed in 1953.

Mr. Hebert said in the book, J'Accuse les Assassins de Coffin, (I Accuse Coffin's Assassins), who also wrote a book on the case, had told him the note was dated "June 13, 1953," and signed by one of the three missing hunters.

This in effect would have given Coffin, hanged for shooting the Americans, an alibi since he was in Montreal June 12, 1953. Coffin was hanged Feb. 10, 1956.

Mr. Belliveau's book, The Coffin Murder Case, mentioned the note and said photographer Maurice Edwards of Quebec City had taken a picture of it, but had not read it. It had been found in pieces by the police.

Mr. Belliveau said in the book and repeated Wednesday that he hadn't seen this note himself, nor a second written by relatives of the slain men and mentioned by Mr. Hebert.

He said he might have discussed the notes with Mr. Hebert in a lengthy conversation in Toronto a year ago but he couldn't recall doing so.

Raymond Daoust, counsel for Mr. Belliveau probably will take the stand again and there were indications the commission might call Edwin Feeney, a Toronto Star reporter.

Separatist boss warns Queen of 'aggression'
MONTREAL (CP) — A Quebec separatist leader slipped out the back door of Sir George Williams University Wednesday after telling 600 students the Queen faces possible "aggression" if she makes a scheduled visit to Quebec this fall.

Guy Pouliot of Quebec City, leader of le Rassemblement Pour l'Indépendance Nationale, was giving interviews after his speech when it was learned the students had left the auditorium and were standing around in the street outside the university's front door.

There was cheering as Quebec's fleur-de-lis flag, carried by one of the students, was thrown to the street and trampled.

Several students inside the building escorted Mr. Pouliot to the back door and he sped away in a taxi.

A spokesman for the students' association said later it was normal for students to congregate in the street because the downtown university has no campus.

The students were generally peaceful, the spokesman said, although "a small group of irresponsible students — maybe three or four—had a Quebec flag and did attempt to dance on it."

"Other students retrieved the flag and had it placed in a police car. The flag was not torn." The students had invited Mr. Pouliot to address them in French as part of the English-Language university's bi-cultural week activities.

His speech on separatist principles was interrupted frequently by boos, catcalls and shouts of "speak English."

Before it began, students sang O Canada, while Mr. Pouliot sat quietly on stage.

Referring to the Queen's visit, he said:

"I think the Queen could very well be the victim of aggression when she comes here.

Queen warned
MONTREAL (CP)—Le Rassemblement Pour l'Indépendance Nationale, a Quebec separatist group, has cabled Queen Elizabeth that her visit to Quebec next fall could create incidents which would be "unfortunate but inevitable."
The Queen is scheduled to visit Charlottetown and Quebec City next October to take part in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of consultations which led to Confederation in 1867.

Two die in riot
SUNDERLAND, England (AP)—Two persons died and more than 100 were injured as thousands of football-crazy fans stormed through barriers to see a soccer match Wednesday night.
Scores were trampled underfoot as the fans swarmed unchecked into the already-packed stadium where Sunderland was playing Manchester United in a Football Association Cup quarter-final replay.

Cyprus siege on
POLIS (AP)—The siege continues for 700 Turkish-Cypriots in the town of Polis.
More than a month ago outnumbered Turkish families gathered in a Turkish school, seeking safety from the undeclared civil war between the Greek and Turkish communities on Cyprus.

Inside, 112 families are still there; jammed into a building where 270 pupils until recently attended classes.

Issues bonds
QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Jean Lesage announced Wednesday the province's second issue of savings bonds will go on sale Monday, April 13.

The 10-year bonds would have interest rates of five per cent for the first three years; 5 1/2 per cent for the next three and 5 3/4 for the last four years. This gives an approximate average of 5.25 per cent, he told the legislative assembly.

The first bond issue, put out last year, carries an average interest rate of 5.30 per cent.

King near death

ATHENS — King Paul of Greece was given holy communion today as he hovered between life and death.
Athens radio announced that a palace priest gave communion to the 62-year-old king, the world's only reigning Orthodox monarch, after a mass in the chapel at Tatoi palace.

Dealer profited

MONTREAL (CP)—A real estate dealer said Wednesday he bought land sold by the CPR for 52 cents a square foot and resold it to the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal at a rate of $1.46.
Michael Hornstein, who said he masterminded $60,000,000 in real estate deals in 13 years, was testifying before the Quebec royal commission inquiry into land transactions of the school board during the last 10 years.

Navy raided

OTTAWA (CP)—Navy headquarters said Wednesday two men attempted illegal entry at the naval supply depot in the Montreal suburb of Ville La Salle Monday night but were chased away.
A sentry spotted one man who tried to climb over the fence surrounding the depot and another sentry challenged another man outside the fence.
A navy statement said warning shots were fired when the two men started to run away, but both escaped.

Talks collapse

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Efforts to solve the Malaysian crisis collapsed tonight for the second time in 24 hours as Malaysia, Indonesia and The Philippines failed to settle the question of withdrawal of Indonesian guerrillas from Malaysian Borneo.
Word that no agreement had been reached in last-ditch efforts to find a solution came from Philippine Foreign Secretary Salvador P. Lopez who acted as a middleman between Foreign Minister Subandrio of Indonesia and Malaysian Deputy Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak for most of the day.

Strike to end at the altar?

Is the Federation of Catholic Teachers of the Diocese of Sherbrooke also a marriage bureau?

It seems that it is. It was learned yesterday that five couples, who met during study sessions, held every day at Richmond's Roadside Pavilion, are planning to get married.

The study sessions brought teachers from five of the strike-bound centers together.

They apparently passed the time of day studying provincial labour laws and various government bills, namely 60 and 54.

But it seems that more than studying went on at the session. One of the teachers who was at the sessions said that after a while the teachers began to meet their conferees from other centers and developed some "intimate friendships."

Now, five couples have emerged from the four week "sessions" and are planning nuptial union. Union solidarity gets a boost.

Assembly files teeth of education Bill 60

QUEBEC (CP)—The legislature assembly rejected Wednesday two amendments made by the legislative council to the government's bill creating an education department.

But the assembly accepted three others and sent the bill back to the Upper House.

On a vote of 53 to 27, the assembly's Liberal majority turned down amendments which would have forbidden the deputy minister of education to sit at meetings of the Protestant and Roman Catholic committees of the superior education council, an advisory body being set up with the department.

At the same time, the assembly rejected a change which would have opened the way for the council to maintain records separate from the department.

The assembly unanimously agreed to amendments which cut down the powers of the minister to appropriate classical colleges and other independent institutions. It also accepted amendments which changed the position, within the bill itself, of the preamble to the law which spells out the rights of parents and children in education.

The government agreed to reduce expropriation powers, although it said they were the same as those contained in existing education legislation.

Premier Lesage insisted that the original disposition of the bill regarding the attendance of the deputy minister at committee meetings must be maintained.

The opposition said coordination between the committees and the department could be maintained through the attendance of the assistant deputy minister at committee sittings.

Regarding maintenance of records, Mr. Lesage said there was no difference with current practice contained in the legislation. Youth Minister Paul

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

FINESSES ARE ALWAYS RISKY

If Hamlet had played bridge, he might have soliloquized, "To finesse or not to finesse. That is the question."

Now, how would you go about playing today's hand? The East and West cards are not shown, but you do get a king of spades opening.

ceedings by leading a low diamond toward dummy. If East wins with the queen, you will have tossed a trick right out the window. No matter which opponent wins the trick, however, you will be sure to bring home your contract.

Suppose West takes the queen and leads a club. Now you finesse dummy's queen. If that loses, East will have to lead something and before West can get in to lead another club through dummy, you will have set up two diamonds in your own hand and will be able to discard dummy's ten of clubs and eventually to ruff your last club.

If you go out for everything that isn't nailed down, you will lead a club toward dummy and finesse the queen. If that holds, you will lead the jack of diamonds and finesse against East for the queen.

You will make six on that line of play if the king of clubs and queen of diamonds are where you want them to be. But, you will go down at your game contract if both these cards and the jack of clubs are where you do not want them to be.

Card Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

She finds time, and you are brought in, as if on a tray.

A conversation starts before you get in the room with her, runs hell-for-leather while you're there and continues until you're halfway up the driveway. Only you wind up talking about everything but what you went there for.

Method acting, for instance. "Stanislavsky was essentially right, of course," she says. "An actor must have a method. But there are method actors today who've strayed far from what Stanislavsky meant. They are so subjective in a role, they impose their personal selves upon it so much..."

WORK TOO HARD

"They work so hard at being the character that they lose their audience right away. The audience just sits there and thinks, 'well, you're up there and you're a real mess, but I'm down here and I'm not like you at all...'"

You ask, "Okay, so what's your method?" She sinks back in her chair, lights a cigarette and spits out: "Oh, I just do it. I don't bleed and die. I just do it. And pray to God."

A mounting pile of cigarette butts moves you to comment on the U.S. surgeon-general's smoking report.

"I think I'd die if I quit," she says. "Twice I tried to quit. Instead I knit. Which I hated. But it's the hands, you see. I've got to have something for them to do. So I smoke. But I don't really inhale very much."

Television lessons supplement but cannot replace the teacher

MARJORIE SWAN

A schematic diagram of a plot structure? Certainly, that is an excellent method of presenting the basic plot structure of Great Expectations. The Quebec School Broadcasts discussing Great Expectations used this method of presentation and thus made the general outline of the plot much more memorable. Devices such as diagrams and pictures helped make these telecasts beneficial.

In all the broadcasts, especially the third one concerning the symbolism of the river, I found that a different point of view from the obvious one was expressed. At the same time, however, I found that so much information was stated in so little time, that it was hard to follow the trend of thought in some places. It is because of this that I feel classroom teachers will never be replaced by television teachers. In television lessons, discussion is impossible and the characters, settings, and incidents. There were the obvious comparisons between the relationship of Pip and Magwitch with that of Estella and Miss Havisham, as well as unexpected ones such as the comparison of Miss Havisham and Magwitch, who never actually met in the story.

Symbols, too, were pointed out and explained in very meaningful ways. The gibbet and the beacon, for example, were illustrated by sketches. By presenting to the mind a picture, rather than words alone, the imagination is aroused, and the memory lingers longer.

The time lost from our other subjects was not so long that it could not be made up. I certainly believe that I gained much from these programmes in understanding not only Great Expectations as a novel but also social attitudes in London at the time of the story. To name only one general benefit from the program, I can now pick out more easily the comparisons, symbols and attitudes related in other novels.

It was agreed that members in arrears for more than one year be notified and if dues are not paid within the following month, they will forfeit their membership and will be asked to return cap and pin.

It was also decided that flower tributes be sent to paid up members only.

Cdes. E. McCourt and B. Roberts were entered as honorary members.

It was voted that new books be purchased for the secretary and treasurer.

Cde. McLeod thanked the hostesses Cdes. M. McCart, J. Lemieux and V. Davidson.

BORN 60 YEARS AGO, EXISTENCE RECOGNIZED

The existence of a 60-year-old Sherbrooke man was officially recognized this week when a Superior Court Judge registered his 1904 birth date.

The strange story unfolded itself before Judge Louis Phillippe Cliche.

The man, identified only as Mr. Shwisberg, was born on April 4, 1904, the son of immigrant parents, who apparently "forgot" to register the birth of the new arrival.

He decided this week that the time had come for his birth to be recognized. He knew he existed but did anyone else?

His petition to Superior Court was granted and his birth was recorded in the registers of the city of Sherbrooke.

But the registration, made Tuesday, did not say that he was born on March 3, 1964.

It was made retroactive to 1904.

Home delivery for liquor is smashed by Sherbrooke QPP

An illegal liquor delivery service which had been operating in Sherbrooke during the past few weeks has been smashed by the Sherbrooke detachment of Quebec Provincial Police.

A 24-year-old Sherbrooke man, Robert Garneau was brought before Judge Redmond Hayes yesterday and charged with selling liquor without a permit.

A quantity of liquor was seized from his panel truck and he was fined $200 plus court costs.

Police also seized some 500 cards which read:

"Roger's Center" day and night Tel. 569-6812

A thirsty person could simply dial the number, as the cards say and have beer or hard liquor delivered to his home.

Police apprehended the man by having one of their agents pose as a prospective customer.

When Garneau arrived at the house he was paid in marked bills.

When Garneau completed the transaction he emerged from the house only to be met by QPP officers, marked bills in hand.

This is the second such "business" that has been uncovered in Sherbrooke in recent years.

Corporal Rene Simard of the QPP was in charge of the investigation and arrest.

Study groups set up

Parish halls of ET and Quebec start family finance education

QUEBEC (CP) — The little parish halls of Quebec, a province where the powerful credit unions flowered, are sowing the seeds of a new pioneer movement aimed at educating the family in everyday finance.

In one such parish, the asbestos-mining centre of Thetford Mines 50 miles south of here, 300 families are studying credit buying, budgeting, small-loans legislation and interest rates.

Similar study groups have been set up in other parts of the province as the Confederation of National Trade Unions, a 125,000-member Quebec body, distributes a series of 10 lessons on family finances drawn up by Andre Laurin.

Just about every Saturday night Mr. Laurin, 37, travels 115 miles north to Jonquiere to give a televised 15-minute talk on private station CJRS-TV.

Last winter his series on the same station caused an uproar in the Saguenay region and made it evident there is strong viewer interest in such matters as credit buying.

Mr. Laurin had originally intended to make a single 15-minute appearance on TV but ended up appearing on a series of 15 - minute and half - hour shows over a period of several months.

The confederation is also distributing copies of the lessons in pamphlet form.

The series has been modified since Mr. Laurin, a member of a wealthy Quebec City family who describes himself as a socialist, delivered his fire-breathing programs in Jonquiere last winter. At that time he used real invoices to show how small-loan laws were being broken.

He takes a more constructive approach now but the series still stirs a lively reaction, particularly in business circles.

When Mr. Laurin advocates use of the Lacombe law to get out of hopeless debt positions, some credit managers writhe.

Under the Lacombe law, passed in the 1940s, Quebec families may present their debts to a court.

Judgment against RC school board

Valuation factors protest brings order for revision

In a judgment which is believed the first of its kind in Quebec jurisprudence, Judge Jean Louis Pélouquin of the St. Francis District Court, Wednesday ordered the Roman Catholic School Board of St. Barthelemy, Ayer's Cliff, to establish new valuation factors for the assessment rolls of the five municipalities coming under its jurisdiction.

Ernest Bouffard, representing a group of 41 Ayer's Cliff proprietors, through his attorney, Edmund Tobin, of Sherbrooke, entered an action against the Ayer's Cliff Commission, claiming that the factors they used to establish a common assessment roll for all residents of all five municipalities was unfair to the Ayer's Cliff taxpayers and made them share an excessive share of the school cost burden.

Under Quebec law, the assessment rolls are prepared by municipal valuers and are used as a basis for school taxation. But the law also provides that where one School Commission embraces more than one municipality, the Board must determine if the assessment basis is similar in all municipalities.

If one, or more, of the municipal councils adopts a roll which does not assess properties at their real value, the school board must multiply the roll by a factor that will establish a uniform valuation for school purposes.

According to the plea of Mr. Tobin and his clients, only Ayer's Cliff valued the properties at their real worth. Valuations in the other four municipalities — Stanstead East, Hatley West, Ste. Catherine de Magog and Magog Township — were at only a fraction of their real value, the appellants claimed.

At a meeting held Nov. 23, 1963, the Ayer's Cliff Commission adopted the Ayer's Cliff, Hatley West and Ste. Catherine rolls as prepared by the municipal valuers.

The Stanstead East roll was multiplied by a 2.3 factor and Magog Township by 1.5.

Following a letter of complaint to the Superintendent of Public Instruction on Nov. 30, in which the plaintiffs claimed the changes did not establish a true basis for assessment.

the School Board held a meeting on Dec. 12, 1963.

At this time, acting on a suggestion from Quebec the Board changed the Stanstead East factor to 3.4, Ste. Catherine to 1.45 and Hatley West to 1.4. Magog Township was left at 1.5.

This roll was homologated unanimously by the four commissioners present. One was absent.

But on Dec. 30, according to the appellants, another Board meeting was held at which all commissioners were present.

The Dec. 12, meeting was declared illegal and the Nov. 23, roll was re-established. The tax rate was set at $1.75 general and 22 cents special for a combined rate of $1.95.

The protesting ratepayers urged that a valuation expert be retained by the commission to review the rolls and determine the proper factor for the valuations. This was refused.

Mr. Bouffard and his associates then engaged Rosaire Morin, a valuation specialist who has acted as chief of the Sherbrooke Municipal Valuation Board for 14 years, to study the situation.

After an investigation, Mr. Morin reported that the Ayer's Cliff roll was based on approximately 100 percent of the true worth, but that in all other municipalities the assessment was far below the proper figure.

He suggested a factor of 3.75 for Stanstead East, 1.96 for Ste. Catherine de Hatley, 1.92

Mines minister visit scheduled on Mar. 13

Hon. William Benidickson, Minister of Mines in the federal government, plans a visit to the Eastern Townships on Friday, March 13, during which he will inspect the Canadian Johns-Manville asbestos operations in the Danville - Asbestos area. The visit is being made at the invitation of Patrick Aselin, MP for Richmond-Wolfe which includes the asbestos operations.

Mr. Benidickson and his party, which will include Jean Paul Drolet, assistant deputy minister; Orval Troy, special assistant to the minister; and H. M. Woodroffe, an expert in asbestos mining attached to the department, will arrive at the Sherbrooke municipal airport at 9:30 a.m. and will proceed to Asbestos where they will make a tour of the CJM installations. They will be guests at a reception to be given by the Town of Asbestos.

The Minister is expected to make at least two addresses during the day.

Pleads not guilty to stealing chain saw

A Coaticook man, in his early twenties, appeared before Judge Redmond Hayes in Sessions Court yesterday, charged with breaking and entering a warehouse and stealing a chain saw.

The man, Lucien Letourneau, pleaded not guilty to the charge.

"I didn't go there to do that," the accused said.

He was sent to prison to await trial before a Sessions Court judge and will appear again March 12.

Two East Angus youths were charged with attempting to commit a crime after they forced their way into St. Peter's School in the Township of Westbury, near East Angus.

The two, Real and Denis Martin appeared before Judge Redmond Hayes in Sessions Court Wednesday and pleaded guilty as charged.

The two, who are not related, were remanded for sentence March 16, and will await the judgment in prison.

Rock Island deficit is shown

ROCK ISLAND — (Special) — Thomas Edney certified auditor was present at the Rock Island Council meeting held on Monday evening, in the Town Hall with Mayor Albert Fregeau in the chair.

Mr. Edney discussed with the Council the financial statement as audited by him. The town has a deficit of $23,954.27.

The audit was accepted by the Council and at a later date a summary will be printed.

A resolution was made hiring Mr. Edney as auditor for 1964.

The mayor and secretary were given authorization by the council to sign the deed of sale of the Customs warehouse sold to Kenneth Buzzell without liability to the municipality when it is moved to another site.

Mr. Fregeau presented a letter he had received from Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy in response to a message of condolence sent her at the time of the death of the late President Kennedy.

The St. Hilarie property on Wyman street, tendered for by Adrien Cote is to be demolished and removed under supervision of the Town maintenance chief, Oscar Roy, for $200.

Bills were presented and voted to be paid.

Council recently held a meeting concerning a proposed sewerage system.

The cost given by the engineers is $317,000. Next step is to call for tenders and accept a bid, then apply for all grants as available, deduct this from the contract price, then present the balance of the costs to property owners for a referendum.

Preliminary discussions held regarding purchase of ETAA

Preliminary discussions between city officials and the executive of the Eastern Townships Agricultural Association have been held concerning the purchase by Sherbrooke of the ETAA's buildings and grounds.

Earlier this week, Mayor Armand Nadeau announced that the city was preparing a bill to buy the Association's grounds and buildings.

Last May, city council had agreed to purchase the East Ward properties of the Association for an estimated $200,000. The ETAA would have turned over race track, fair grounds and Arena in the transaction. When the ETAA accepted a $50 per share offer from the city, plus additional charges for other objects and properties on the grounds, city council was enthusiastic.

No one at the time raised any objection to the sale. At a later council meeting, however, the offer was rescinded and it was decided to renegotiate another agreement.

The offer was withdrawn and early in January, the President of the ETAA said that as far as he was concerned, "the deal is dead."

No Man Is an Island—

Federal tax reduction now unlikely

Unless the minority Liberal Government feels it must call a general election within the next few months, the record-making estimates presented to the House of Commons Tuesday by Finance Minister Walter Gordon virtually end any hope the average Canadian may have held for taxation relief this year.

With the main estimates indicating federal government spending during the 1964-65 fiscal year will exceed eight billion dollars, or $500,000,000 above those of the current term, it is obvious that the only hope the administration has of holding its overall deficit to the $655,000,000 estimated for this year is to maintain current levels of taxation.

Any tax reduction would be strictly political, designed as bait to the electors in the event a general election is called.

A disturbing feature of the estimates is that it has become apparent that the greater part of the national outlay is uncontrollable.

Present and previous administrations have committed the country to such annual outlays as one billion dollars for debt service, $420 million for hospital insurance, corresponding outlays for old age pensions, payments to provinces, etc., which cannot be reduced unless there is a marked change in the thinking of the electorate.

Only a strident demand on the part of the taxpayers that the government curtail its welfare programs can bring about any substantial cuts in the overall outlay. And, apparently, the politicians do not believe the people really believe they are not getting something for nothing. At any rate, they are promising increases in almost every section of government welfare payments, bonuses and subsidies.

When you have more guests than chairs just call it a buffet dinner.

Agricultural scientific paradox

Technological unemployment caused by automation apparently will not be the only problem caused by scientific research.

Work has been under way for five years at various midwestern United States agricultural experiment laboratories on development of a strain of hybrid wheat that will double the per acre yield of this basic foodstuff. This is being undertaken at the very time the Washington administration is seeking to curtail wheat production to curtail surpluses. Already this has been achieved with corn and grain sorghums.

But science goes forward, developing new discoveries without regard to their ultimate use or place in modern life — from atomic bombs to wheat hybrids.

The physical scientist presents the results of his alchemy and leaves it up to others to make discoveries serve society. Hybrid wheat could mean that present grain producing countries could feed twice as many human beings with the same amount of land effort.

But if the past is any guide, much of it might be plowed under or stored in bins to spoil.

Probably the best solution for the seeming paradox would be to induce some of these scientists to develop methods for improving distribution of surplus foodstuffs from the surplus to the hungry countries.

Big wheels in business don't get up there by rolling around at night.

Making punishment fit the crime

Brother Clement, prefect of discipline at a Montreal college, apparently believes that punishment should fit the crime — or at least that the type of punishment should fit the mental age of the criminals.

As a result he has ordered that a dozen seniors at Mont St. Louis college, in the 20 and 21 year age bracket, must stay in after school, just like nine-year-olds, for engaging in what he regards as a stupid incident.

The youths were picked up by Montreal police after driving through the northeast section of the city in open convertibles brandishing old-fashioned weapons. They drove up to several radio and television stations, shouting and displaying their weapons, which they obtained from the college museum.

Police agreed to release the victims after Brother Clement said the students would be given a fitting punishment.

In explaining why he regarded the "stay-in" order as fitting punishment, Brother Clement said:

"They're being punished like children for acting like children" and that the length of the punishment would "depend on their reaction to the treatment."

Obviously Brother Clement is seeking to impress upon his charges that their actions were not smart, not bad but just stupid and childish.

To the smartie, treatment as a child or an imbecile is far worse than making his offence a major crime.

Diversion unlikely to dry up lake

A surprising amount of interest was shown recently when it was announced that Sherbrooke officials were proposing to pipe water from Lake Memphremagog to quench the thirst of their constituents. Suddenly everyone wondered if the lake would be drained dry.

Not likely. Since Lake Memphremagog has a dual citizenship its water level is protected by international treaty. Therefore anything affecting the lake's volume comes under the jurisdiction of an International Joint Commission. Thus the plan conceived by the Queen City of the Eastern Townships to draw 15 million gallons of water a day from the lake for a municipal water supply involves the IJC. It will, therefore, be up to Sherbrooke officials to calculate very carefully lest the supply be turned off just when 50,000 people are running water into their tubs for Saturday night's ablutions. Under the circumstances it might in fact be wise for Sherbrooke to have a second source of supply available in case the lake level reaches the minimum mark.

Maximum and minimum water levels have been set by treaty for the lake which is checked daily in Newport. Since the lake's outlet is at Magog it is there that the level is controlled and the responsibility rests to abide by treaty specifications.

Every ten years or so a joint U.S.-Canadian committee meets to air any complaints involving Lake Memphremagog. The last such meeting, held about two years ago, was enlivened through a complaint that the lake level was being kept too high. It apparently pushed the maximum at times, causing property damage, particularly in the spring. Fall is the time of year when the water approaches the minimum level. The Dominion Textile Co. operates a dam at the outlet of the lake in Magog for hydro-electric power. If the city of Sherbrooke draws water from the lake it will mean that there will be just that much less available for electric power. Thus the textile firm and Sherbrooke are creating for themselves quite a bone of contention.

With all this in mind it seems that it will not be necessary for Newporters to equip themselves with dip sticks with which to check the lake level every morning to see just how thirsty Sherbrooke residents were the night before.

The United States, United Kingdom, Soviet Union and China invited 39 nations 19 years ago today—in 1945—to San Francisco in April to draw up a charter for the United Nations. The charter was signed following the conclusion of the United Nations Conference on International Organization June 26 and entered into force Oct. 24 when the inviting states, France and a majority of 46 signatories had deposited their ratifications.

Elective school boards set up but tax collectors appointed

After the union of Upper and Lower Canada in 1841, a school act was passed establishing elective school boards, but not giving these boards the right to levy taxes. All taxes were to be collected by municipal councillors, who were appointed to their positions. Taxation itself was so unpopular, and this system of having taxes collected by an appointed body so against the principles of local self-government, that the act had to be replaced in 1846.

The first entry in the Register and Receipt Book of the Corporation of School Commissioners for the Municipality of Frelighsburg in the County of Missisquoi, Volume 1st records what was probably the reaction of most school boards.

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — You may have seen in the papers that some nuts are going to sail a boat from Vancouver around Alaska and through the Northwest Passage to the Atlantic this summer, and then turn around and sail back again. I'm one of them.

In fact, I organized the whole thing, as vice-president and general manager of the North West Passage Co. Ltd. However, it wasn't my idea. The vision and imagination behind this venture were provided by my old friend Scott Alexander, now president of the NWPC.

In the Mounted Police the old timers remember Scotty as a rookie constable who insisted on his right to be paraded before the commissioner in order to request an Arctic posting, not knowing that if he'd so much as looked northward he'd have been on the first boat down the Mackenzie.

Esquimos, traders, trappers, missionaries, servicemen, DEWliners and other Arctic hands all know him, for he's spent all or part of every one of the last 28 years in the Arctic. He served under Larsen in the ST. ROCH, then practically went "over the hills" to join the RCAF at the start of the war — only to be posted to Goose Bay, for the air force wanted his Arctic experience.

He retired from the RCAF two years ago as a squadron leader, after years as the service's top expert on problems associated with RCAF operations in the north. Ottawa lent him to the Americans to advise on how to build and supply the DEW line, and in 1957 he showed the US Coast Guard how to sail three cutters through the Northwest Passage, from Seattle to Boston.

It was from his experiences during that voyage, charting for the first time a deep water route through the Arctic, that Alexander developed the idea of proving up the passage as a feasible route for commercial shipping in the two to three months of open water every summer.

He worked on the idea for five years, using his furloughs to ship as ice pilot aboard tugs in the western Arctic, studying conditions along the coast, studying weather, ice and other scientific reports, studying the records of all those who had sailed the northern sea since Martin Frobisher set out in 1576 to find a salt water route to Cathay.

In November, 1962, he came to me with a proposition. "Let's charter a ship and sail through the Northwest Passage," he said. Just like that. Just like hiring a taxi to drive to Montreal.

We sail in mid-July, upward bound from Vancouver to Frobisher Bay, back in September, a 12,000 mile voyage to prove a man's vision and add a new dimension to navigation in Canadian waters.

We will be backed by three Canadian companies, British American Oil, Eldorado Mining & Refining, and Northland Navigation Co., have vision and a willingness to venture on a project to open up the vast Arctic.

I sail — well, because there's news to be covered in the voyage of the seventh ship in history to transit the passage, and the first ever to sail both ways in one season. But that's not the main reason. I sail because the organization and consummation of this project are something I can do for Canada. Writing about what others are doing is no longer enough.

High in Himalayan 'Heavenly Abode' Lonely Lama longs for liberation

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—The Tibetan Dalai Lama is leading a lonely, almost forgotten life in an obscure village high in the Himalaya Mountains nearly five years after he fled from the Chinese Communist invasion of his country.

With him are most members of his cabinet, many of them in their 60s or 70s, but still hoping for a political miracle which will enable them to return to Tibet.

Scattered all over India, Nepal, Sikkim and Bhutan are an estimated 70,000 Tibetan refugees who escaped with the Dalai Lama in the spring of 1959. They, too, dream of the day when they can go back to their homes on the windswept Tibetan plateau.

The Dalai Lama, now 28, devotes most of his time to the welfare and resettlement of these loyal followers who preferred life in exile with him to living under Chinese rule.

While the young Tibetan ruler is practical enough not to raise the Tibetans' hopes of an early liberation of their land, he does seize every opportunity to stress his undying faith in the ultimate success of his efforts to regain his lost land.

The modern bungalow, called Heavenly Abode, set against the picturesque backdrop of peaks, lives in a far cry from his great palatial palace in Lhasa.

The Dalai Lama's entourage is housed in and around the bungalow in a self-contained settlement of about 20 houses.

Kolar is a town and a district in the state of Mysore, India. The town is about 50 miles east of Bangalore, India. Local industries include blanket weaving and turkey breeding. Near the town are fields and mines which produce 98 per cent of India's gold output.

The Lama has drawn up a comprehensive plan of reforms to be introduced inside Tibet on his return home.

At the same time, the presence of the Dalai Lama has raised many problems for the Indian government.

While New Delhi sympathies are with the Dalai Lama and his request for asylum was readily granted, he and his cabinet have not been given the status of an "emigre" government.

Despite India's border dispute with China, authorities have not permitted the Dalai Lama to campaign actively against the Chinese occupation of Tibet because they feel such a campaign would be a breach of diplomatic propriety.

Equally difficult have been the arrangements for the protection of the Tibetan ruler. Ever since his arrival in India, a special team of detectives has been assigned to protect the Dalai Lama.

The Indian government also meets all expenses connected with his presence in the country, including the cost of maintenance of his entourage. But the Dalai Lama is not without funds. His escape was hastily contrived and he was unable to bring with him all the fabulous treasure hoarded over the centuries, inside the strong-rooms of the Potala.

But he and his cabinet had transferred a part of this treasure to Gangtok, in Sikkim, nearly 15 years ago.

The ruling family of Sikkim hid it for nine years. The treasure, mostly in gold, has been estimated to be worth between $5,000,000 and $8,000,000.

PRAYER: O God, we thank Thee for Thy Son Jesus Christ, our Redeemer, whom Thou didst send to live with us and to uphold us in the battles we fight and in the work we do. We commit ourselves into Thy hands with utter faith in Thy Son, in whose blessed name we pray. Amen.

Smoke and water damage in Sutton chimney fire

SUTTON — (Special) — Sutton's fire brigade answered the siren's summons at 11 p.m. on March 3 to control a chimney fire at the farm home on upper Mountain Street occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Cooke and family and Gordon Cooke.

The fire, soon controlled, broke out a second time around the chimney. But the firefighters extinguished it before it could make much headway. Said Mrs. Lloyd Cooke, "Everything was messed up and there is a considerable amount of smoke damage. But things could have been much worse."

Attracted by sound of the siren, many cars filled with spectators streamed up Mountain Street to the scene.

Newspaper week marked by Kiwanis Club

WATERLOO — (Staff) — Newspaper Week was marked by the Waterloo Kiwanis Club March 3.

Hugh Doherty, editor-in-chief of the Sherbrooke Daily Record was guest speaker at the weekly meeting at the Warden Hotel. Mrs. Alice Buckland, The Record's Waterloo correspondent was a special guest.

"A newspaper is a business — with the same element of profit and loss," was Mr. Doherty's opening sentence.

"It has to be run with some profit or no newspaper. But it has its important place, in spite of television or radio. One may get the news instantly by the other mediums. Nothing has even approached the speed with which the story of the shooting of Oswald was spread through the world. It was the first murder televised. And yet," continued the speaker "it was the newspapers which had the time and space to go into the depth of the matter."

Only newspapers sent reporters to get information on every angle of this event and the reaction of the people, the speaker said.

The value of newspapers in elections is great Mr. Doherty said. They are generally able to forecast the results accurately by getting facts together and interpreting them.

Mr. Doherty gave the Kiwanians a good insight into the workings of a newspaper. Then he held a discussion period. Proof of the keen interest in his talk was shown by the many questions which followed. Only the time element prevented more information being asked.

The men asked the sports angle of the news explained.

"Is the newspaper responsible for its advertisements?" one member asked.

It is morally responsible that the ads are in good faith and not fraudulent. When the latter is suspected the matter is investigated. Generally a group simultaneously uses many newspapers to trick the readers. If this is detected by one newspaper, the whole chain is notified and the ad withdrawn Mr. Doherty said.

"Does a newspaper prepare its own headlines?" another asked.

This is entirely the privilege of the paper to do its own headlines. It is the editor's responsibility to pick out stories to headline, said Mr. Doherty.

The front page is unbiased. On the editorial page opinion of the newspaper is expressed. At all times a newspaper is extremely careful to avoid libel, Mr. Doherty stated.

Mr. Doherty was introduced by Art Reed and thanked by Lew Waterhouse. The Kiwanians showed their appreciation for his visit in the usual manner.

Wanted: Homes, apartments

Residence hunting difficult problem at Cowansville

COWANSVILLE — A school teacher in Cowansville recently decided to pay her apartment for two summer months to guarantee she'll have it when she returns next September after the summer holidays.

Newly-married couples are having trouble finding homes to rent in Cowansville.

Couples intending to get married are waiting an undetermined period of time so they will have adequate housing when they do get married.

These are just a few comments made by some apartment owners in Cowansville (at last count, there were five persons who owned three and more apartments in town).

Fernand Paquette, who owns five apartments above his store on South Street told the Record about the school teacher who decided to pay for the apartment in advance.

"I get calls every day from people looking for apartments or lodging to rent in Cowansville."

A reliable source of information at City Hall said "rental housing is not easy to find in Cowansville. Because there's practically none," he added.

He said about 50 or 60 couples get married each year, and they need a place to live, "while they can't find any suitable residences, and they decide to either wait until housing is available, or get married anyway, and then room and board somewhere."

"The situation is not yet acute," said the source of information, "but it could be a lot easier than it now is."

He also stated there are no empty tenements in Cowansville.

The Cowansville Junior Chamber of Commerce recently decided, at an executive meeting to study the wage level and housing situation in Cowansville, "because something must be done," said the Jaycee president, Claude Gagnon.

A bank manager said his bank used to make loans for housing, but stopped about 1957, "because of higher interest charges." He said the bank received a few applications, and those are usually referred elsewhere.

The bank manager, who asked to remain unidentified, said his bank received two applications this winter.

The home-for-sale situation, on the other hand, is getting better and better. General contractor Leo Faucher said he built a number of homes in Cowansville, and "they were sold before I finished them."

And he said he received many daily requests about house renting.

According to another reliable source, there are about seven or eight duplexes in Cowansville that are being rented. There are no more.

John Dunn, who was a co-owner of a 17-unit apartment building on Main Street before it burned down last autumn said "we have proven and shown conclusively that there exists a need for bachelor-type apartments in this town, and also a need for more rental housing."

"The town needs bachelor apartments," he said.

To date there are less than 40 apartment units in Cowansville. The latest population figures from City Hall (as of Oct. 1963) show that Cowansville's population is 8,300.

The apartments vary in size from one-and-a-half rooms (ranging in price from $10 to $16 a week) and two-and-a-half rooms ($16 to $20 a week) to three and four-room units.

The 1963 construction permit report, issued by the Town Hall, valued at $2,292,425, shows 55 single-family dwellings built; 19 two-family dwellings and three four-dwelling units built for a total of $1,026,200.

The remainder of the construction figure (not including the $6.5 million penitentiary) revolved around commercial, industrial, and alteration construction.

W. Pelletier, owner of a new nine-unit apartment house said he receives daily requests about apartments and rental housing.

So does Robert Lizotte, a restaurant owner who has five apartment units; likewise John Dunn, former apartment co-owner.

Mr. Dunn added "many young couples who come here to purchase furniture ask to store it, or after looking it over, decide to wait until they can find a place, and say they'll buy it later."

The labor situation in Cowansville "is good." The wage level is "adequate, and it could be better as it could be worse," said J. L. Labbe, manager of the local National Employment Office.

He stated that not too many people ask him about housing, but many lodge complaints concerning apartments and rental housing. "The apartment situation is quite dull here," he said.

J. R. Ouellette, secretary-treasurer of Cowansville said there were no applications for building permits for an apartment, other than Mr. Pelletier's project.

Many of the individuals contacted by The Record stated of hearing a rumor of a large apartment-house project here. Attempts to verify this rumor, or track it down to its source proved futile.

"But, that's what we need," many of the persons contacted stated.

ST. GEORGE'S GUILD L'VILLE
The February meeting of St. George's Guild Lennoxville was held in the Parish Hall recently with the president, Mrs. H. O. Burt in the chair, and 18 members present.
The meeting was opened with the Lord's Prayer, followed by a period of silence in memory of Mrs. Matthew Pegg, a faithful member of the Guild who recently passed away.
The minutes of the last meeting were read.
The choir of King's Hall, Compton, provided the music for the 11 o'clock service on a recent Sunday. Following the service, the Guild under the convener'ship of Mrs. E. L. Atto, provided the luncheon.
Mrs. Burt graciously thanked Mrs. E. L. Atto for arranging the luncheon and stated that a letter of appreciation had been received from the Girls' Choir.
It was moved that the Spring Rummage Sale be held in the Parish Hall on April 18.

Discussion was held concerning various articles to be made for the June sale. Aprons and wool were given out to those who wished to help. All members were urged to bring in articles for the novelty table.
Mrs. T. J. Matthews addressed the Guild on behalf of the Sunday School, stating that three teachers were needed for the 11 o'clock classes.
Following the roll call, the meeting was adjourned. Tea was served in the Lower Hall.

ST. AGNES GUILD CHURCH OF THE ADVENT
St. Agnes Guild, Church of the Advent, met at the home of Mrs. U. Middleton, Perry St., on March 2. Mrs. D. Price, the president, presided.
Proceeds of the Food Sale were very gratifying.
Further plans for the Salad Bar Tea to be held on April 4 were made.
Mrs. D. Price will hostess the next meeting at her home on King St., East on March 31.

Bremmer-Wood

SHAWINGAN — The marriage of Margaret Grace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McNaughton Wood, of Shawingnan South, to Cecil Edward Bremmer, of Brooklyn, N.Y., son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bremmer, took place on Saturday afternoon, February 15, 1964 at half past two o'clock in the Church of St. John the Evangelist. The rector, Rev. Canon S. W. Williams, officiated. The church was decorated with white and yellow poms. Mrs. Ole Kiar played the wedding music.
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a two-piece silk knitted turquoise suit, a beige hat and accessories. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and white carnations.
Miss Dawn Anne Wood, niece of the bride, was the attendant and wore a dusty pink linen suit, toning accessories and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.
Mr. Edward Bremmer was best man and the ushers were Messrs. Walter D. Wood and Philip A. Wood, brothers of the bride.
Mrs. Wood, the bride's mother, wore a navy blue dress, white accessories and a corsage of red roses.
The reception took place at Cascade Inn where the bride's table was centered with the three-tier wedding cake, flanked by white and yellow poms.
Later the couple left on their honeymoon trip to Washington, D.C., the bride travelling in her wedding dress and a brown beaver coat, with a yellow rose corsage. They are now residing in Brooklyn.
Guests attended from Hatsboro, Penna., Greenfield, Mass., Thetford Mines, Stayer, Ont., Montreal, Joliette, Lachine.
Miss Wood was a teacher at Sunnyside School for a few years, she resigned last year to go to the Indian Residential school at La Tuque.

Polly's pointers by Polly Cramer

DEAR POLLY — If your readers can stand a bit of humor, I am sure I have the perfect answer for A. G. who wanted information on how to obtain a distressed or antiqued finish on furniture. If other suggestions don't work properly I will donate (no service charge) one 4-year-old niece, a 2-year-old nephew and 3-year-old grandson all equipped with assorted toys, cookies, etc., and one Boxer puppy thrown in for good measure. I will guarantee that not only will her furniture wind up with a distressed finish but so will she. If necessary for a quick job I will throw in some of the neighbors' prides and joys.—MRS. E. J.

GIRLS — Anything that brings a laugh or even a smile is a good hint for breaking the possible monotony of the daily household routine. Mrs. E. J.'s suggestion cannot miss attaining a distressed finish even though it may not be the kind A. G. had in mind.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I have lots of costume jewelry and a small jewelry box. No matter how often I straightened the box, chains and necklaces were always tangled when I selected a piece to wear. Now I keep each chain or necklace in a separate sandwich-size plastic bag. If I have a matching set of earrings they go into the same bag. Now there is no more tangling and I can see what I am hunting without removing the jewelry from the bags.—MARY

DEAR POLLY — When we return from the library with a stack of books, I remove all the cards from the book pockets and place them in an envelope with the due date or dates penciled in red. This is tacked up on the bulletin board out of reach of little fingers that like to tear and I have a check on the books to be returned on a certain day. Many overdue book charges are eliminated.—E. Y. W.

DEAR POLLY — I have a big window that requires two pairs of curtains. The first time I washed them, the pieces came out four different lengths. I put small tacks underneath my window sills and ran a small cate type curtain rod through the hems of the drapes and fastened the rod over the tacks. I hung the curtains in place at the top while they were still damp. They dried the same length and the only pressing needed was along the bottom hems where the curtains were gathered on the rod.—CAROL

GIRLS — If curtains are floor-length, the emergency rod could be placed at the bottom of the baseboard. When only the bottom of curtain needs pressing, after drying, place the ironing board in front of the window and do this job without having to take the curtains down and put them up again.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Hospital chairs are often not too comfortable to sit on for long periods of time so when I stayed at the hospital each night during my husband's illness, I carried an aluminum lounge so I could stretch out comfortably.—MRS. C. E. M.

Buffet, card party to be held at North Hatley Curling Club
Looking for a game of cribbage, five hundred, bridge, poker, canasta, hearts, rummy or eight?
Most women are thinking what fun it would be to make up a table and invite the gang in, but this time of the year the living room needs painting, the drapes need washing, a dozen and one things need fixing.
Why not forget it all and invite your friends out for an enjoyable evening of cards, plus a buffet luncheon.
But where?
The North Hatley Curling Club are sponsoring a buffet card party on Saturday, March 21, starting at 6 p.m. in the Club Room. The price of the ticket includes supper, cards and prizes.
Wouldn't you like to invite someone for a meal and a game? If so, you are kindly asked to bring your own tea cloths, bridge table cloths, cards and scorers.
For further information call Mrs. J. H. Whelton, Tel. North Hatley 842-2725.

Personals

Mrs. A. Norman Flint, Mount Road, Lennoxville, and daughter Mrs. Roland Blunt, of St. Johns, have returned to their respective homes, after spending several days in Brewer, Me., guests of Mrs. Flint's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Wood and family.

Friends of Mrs. Earl Wells, Massawippi Street, Lennoxville, will regret to learn she is a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital.

Sherbrooke County W.I. quarterly meeting held

Sherbrooke County Women's Institute held their quarterly meeting in the Brompton Road Community Hall with the Brompton Road Branch as hostesses.
Mrs. Dawson Savage, president, presided and over thirty delegates and members representing the five counties were welcomed.
Opening in the usual form a moment of silence was observed for deceased members.
Mrs. William T. Pearson gave the financial report in the absence of the treasurer, Mrs. Stewart Coates.
Mrs. Elgin Decoteau, secretary, read the minutes and several items of correspondence, including a letter from Mr. Glen Brown, M.P., regarding Bill 16 and copy of same.

A request was made for handbooks. Any branches having extra copies were urged to send them to the office at Macdonald College. Each branch was asked to send one donation of a small piece of handcraft to the office, also by May 15 to be sold at the F.W.I.C. convention in June, to aid in defraying expenses of same.
The matter of an educational bursary was listed for branch discussion and the Christmas from Canada stocking project to be carried on again. Pennies for Friendship boxes may be obtained from office. May Leadership training course to be three full days instead of five, unvening of plaque at Dunham and other items of interest, voted by Mrs. Warren E. Ross, county and provincial convener of Home Economics who was also in attendance.
At the close a supper was served by the hostesses for which Mrs. Wentworth Richardson voiced appreciation.
Mrs. George McGibbon, provincial second vice-president, will be the guest speaker at the annual county meeting on May 7, when Belvidere branch will be the hostesses.
The president, Mrs. Dawson Savage, was named a delegate to attend the annual Provincial Convention to be held at Macdonald College in June.

Today's recipe

GARLIC BUTTER
1 tablespoon dry garlic dressing mix for salads (about) 1/2 cup butter, softened or melted.
Combine ingredients, mixing thoroughly. Spread between slices of a partially sliced loaf of French bread before heating. Make 1/2 cup.

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS

MONTREAL, March 5th—In just ten months we'll all be Christmas Shopping! That's why I suggest it's a good idea—now—to open a Special Christmas Savings Account at your local branch of the BANK OF MONTREAL. Then, when Christmas comes, buying gifts will be a genuine pleasure... and no after-Christmas bills to worry about. Relieved of this nagging worry, your mood will match the merry sound of jingle bells. Do open a separate Christmas Savings Account at "My Bank". It will guarantee that ten months from now you'll enjoy the happiest Yuletide ever. Why not drop in at your neighbourhood B of M branch tomorrow?

BRAND NEW ON THE MARKET—and a bright idea, too—is a gentle new laxative for children. FEEN-A-MINT CHILDREN'S MINT Laxative comes in attractive pink pastille form, can be chewed or sucked. Children's Mint Laxative has been developed by Pharmaco (Canada) Ltd., the makers of the well-known Feen-A-Mint. If your tykes need a laxative now and then, they rebel against ordinary forms, I suggest you try this Feen-A-Mint Children's Mint Laxative. It is gentle, predictable... and tastes good! Available at your neighbourhood drug store.

ANY COLOR... SO LONG AS IT'S RED! An old Irish lady I once knew never missed saying this to dress shop assistants—after they were out of ear-shot. Well, you're not out of ear-shot, and it IS a good way to remind you. CN'S RED DAYS ARE BARGAIN DAYS! Canadian National's Red Bargain Days offer you tremendous travel savings and luxury. On both the Super Continental and Ocean Limited, you and your family are absolutely pampered! On Red Bargain days, save lots of money and have a fun trip. Don't just travel. Go CN... The Way of the Worry Free!

ALMOST ANY TIME IS PANCAKE TIME... when you can bake pancakes so quickly and easily the MONARCH TEA-BISK way! Pancakes, muffins, shortcakes or dumplings... you'll be proud of your baking when you bake with Tea-Bisk... a promise from the makers that I've put to the proof many and many a time! That's why I can say I'm speaking from experience when I say that Monarch Tea-Bisk gives the kind of baking results you've always dreamed of. Ask for Tea-Bisk—the all-purpose mix—at your grocer's... in the 19-ounce size with the handy pre-measured one-cup envelopes—or the big 37-ounce size with convenient pouring spout.

WHEN PEOPLE ASK ME to recommend a light and nourishing way to start the day, I invariably suggest Post Bran Flakes. They're crisp, golden flakes of the purest bran and other parts of nourishing wheat; with added Vitamin B. Because they're so light and easy to digest POST BRAN FLAKES are a breakfast favourite. As well as providing a nourishing base for the day's activities, they are also a natural and gentle aid to regularity. Enjoy the well-being of breakfast with the brand-dandy flavour of Post Bran Flakes. Good for you, good for the whole family. Serve Post Bran Flakes with milk and topped with a favourite fresh or canned fruit. If you haven't already tried them, find out how good and nourishing Post Bran Flakes really are. I have! I always start my day a little bit better with a cereal fresh from POST BRAN FLAKES!

I'D LIKE TO INTRODUCE YOU to one of Canada's most popular red table wines... Bright's MANOR ST. DAVIDS Claret. It's a delightful wine made here in Canada from grapes grown in the Niagara Peninsula. Its price is low enough so that everyone can enjoy it and its taste is just right with steaks, chops, hamburgers—red meat of any kind. When you serve it, you'll probably have the same happy experience I have with it... you'll notice that even your "wine-snob" friends are delighted with Bright's Manor St. Davids.

Ruth Millett
Half a loaf for wife, too

From a male reader comes this complaint. "Why should my wife expect me to help with the children or housework when I've got a full-time job to take care of? I feel a man should have his evenings and weekends free to relax, or to study to further his career, especially when he works all day, Monday through Friday."
That's one way of looking at it, all right, the masculine way. But let's look at it from the wife's point of view for a moment.
Is she free to spend her evenings and weekends relaxing, pursuing a hobby or improving her mind?
Without any help from her husband, her evenings are anything but "free evenings." After dad comes home and settles down to relax, there is dinner to get on the table, dishes to be done, children's baths to supervise, children to be put to bed, and so on and so forth.
Is that how it should be, men working an eight-hour day five days a week and a woman working a 12-hour day seven days a week?
Is a man a fool or a woman selfish in thinking things should be evened up a little—that when dad is away from his job he should pitch in and help around the house enough so that mom gets to do a little relaxing, too?
If the breadwinner is successful enough to be able to afford to hire some help for his wife, or provide her with enough labor-saving devices that she can do her work with a minimum of time and effort, that's another story.
But the average 40-hour-a-week husband with an 84-hour-a-week wife, shouldn't be grudge her life. He'll be happier with the extra free time they have together.

It's like no other biscuit you've ever tasted

"It's not really a biscuit. We call it a 'Pastry Waffle biscuit'. It's two beautifully glazed halves of French pastry, separated by a touch of pure seedless raspberry jam, made in P.F. kitchens from whole berries.

It's light and airy, crispily tasty in a not-sweet way. You've never tasted a biscuit like it. Like it? You'll love it! Just try it."

16th "KADO-RAMA" GRAND PRIZE WINNER

The lucky winner of Sherbrooke Shopping Centre Merchants' Association, February 28th, "Kado-Rama" drawing was Miss Louise Dion of 200 Four Pines in Sherbrooke, shown here receiving her prize from Jean Joncas M.C.

The prize was a $50 in cash. Also in the picture, on the left, Mr. Roy, and on extreme right is Mr. Bousquet, both members of the Association.

The Shopping Merchants take this opportunity to thank their many customers for the patronage they have given during this First Series of "Kado-Rama" drawings... and soon another "Kado-Rama" series will be on the go.

Federal bilingualism goes to penitentiary

OTTAWA (CP)—The new federal prison for women at Cornwall, Ont., will be a bilingual institution and this was a main reason for a government decision to place it in Cornwall, Ont., Penitentiaries Commissioner A. J. MacLeod said Wednesday.

He was commenting on an announcement by Justice Minister Favreau last week in the Commons that a new medium-security women's prison would be erected in the bilingual community of Cornwall, replacing the present women's prison in Kingston.

"Although there are only about 15 French-speaking women out of 120 in the Kingston prison at the moment, it is logical to expect that a certain proportion of the women entering the new institution in the years to come will be French-speaking," Mr. MacLeod said.

TO HOLD 150 INMATES
The Cornwall institution will be designed for custody of 150 women—one-third from Quebec, one-third from Ontario and the others from the rest of Canada.

The commissioner said the new prison will have a number of "cottage" design, with a number of small dormitories each housing 12 or 15 women. They will be clustered around larger buildings for eating, recreation and educational purposes.

Commissioner MacLeod said the modern prison will be similar in design to a larger American institution, Corona penitentiary for women near San Francisco. It will cost about $1,500,000.

Construction of the prison, expected to begin about April 1, 1965, will make possible a greatly expanded rehabilitation and educational program for women prisoners, the commissioner said.

ASSEMBLY FILES TEETH

Gerin-Lajoie added that by keeping one set of records, cooperation between the superior council and the department would be facilitated.

He said he is sure private secondary institutions such as classical colleges will play an important role "for many years yet."

The government has given assurances it doesn't intend massive expropriations of such institutions.

Meanwhile, Mr. Lesage refused to answer when asked if he intends to discuss the labor code, now before the legislature, with labor unions.

Speaker Richard Hyde said there could be no discussion in the assembly of a bill already before the house.

Opposition members referred to union demands that they be allowed to discuss the measure with the government.

News flashes from around the world

LONDON (Reuters)—If Beatlemania typifies western society than "with all their faults, give me the Soviets," Methodist leader Dr. Donald Soper said today.

Soper, who belongs to the Opposition Labor party's left wing, launched a blistering attack on the British pop group in the Methodist Recorder, a weekly newspaper.

"The Soviets at least believe that all aspects of life must be related to their over-riding political beliefs," Dr. Soper said. "Into what aspect of the full life of the kingdom of God can we find a place for the Beatles?"

TEACHERS TO RETURN
"Removed flexibility from the negotiation" and resulted in "an absence of real negotiating."

The conferences said the negotiations were too laborious on a diocese-wide basis and had gone on for too long without producing any results.

They claimed that teachers had lost confidence in arbitration because of its slow pace and because of recent "partial decisions."

Mr. Lapointe charged that the government, which names the chairman of the board, cannot be impartial since it must make up for school board deficits, and is thus a party in the dispute.

He further charged that an arbitration board is not appropriate in school disputes because any regulation passed by a school board is absolute and cannot be overruled by an arbitration board decision.

WITHOUT PRECEDENT
Mr. Lapointe, who has served as legal counsel for a number of large unions, claimed that the choice of conciliation over arbitration was without precedent and said it would have repercussions in the near future.

He declined to elaborate but informed sources say it will have an important effect on the upcoming discussion on Bill 54—the controversial labor code for the province.

The bill specifies arbitration as the means of settling strikes of public servants.

The CNTU has gone on record as opposing compulsory arbitration for public servants.

The final point which had prolonged the conflict was the teachers' insistence not to return to work without a signed collective agreement.

TORONTO (CP) — A Canadian investment house says a reduction in Canadian income taxes such as the United States has experienced could be a "mistake."

Dominion Securities Corp. says in an economic review that "the argument that Canada, too, needs tax cuts for stimulating the economy is modified to the extent that in the last half-year or so Canadian expansion has proceeded more quickly, and Canadian employment has fallen faster than in the United States."

The U.S. reduction will only bring U.S. taxation rates down to Canadian levels if all forms of taxation are considered, the review states, adding that "the stimulus to U.S. economic activity provided by the tax cut will help Canadian exports."

REV. JOHN S. GILMOUR, B.A., B.D., Principal, Feller College, Grande Ligne, Quebec, will be the guest preacher when First Baptist Church, Sherbrooke, celebrates its 92nd Anniversary on Sunday. Rev. Mr. Gilmour, a native of Edmonton, Alberta, received his BA degree from McGill and his BD from McMaster. Prior to his appointment to the office of Principal of Feller College Mr. Gilmour was pastor of Eglise Baptiste Francaise, Quebec City from 1952 to 1959 and of l'Oratoire, Eglise Baptiste, Montreal, 1960-1962. Mr. Gilmour will speak at both morning and evening services 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

JUDGMENT AGAINST

for Hatley West and I.S. for Magog Township.

These figures were adopted by the Court which ordered that the School Commissioners prepare a new roll within 15 days based on these suggestions.

Costs were awarded against the school board with $500 as expert fees for Mr. Morin being included in the costs.

In his judgment, Judge Pelouin pointed out that during the hearings it had been shown that one Donat Goulet sold his property to a Haitian on Nov. 15, 1963, for $21,000 while the property was listed on the Standard East roll as being worth $3,400.

A witness for the School Board claimed Mr. Goulet was lucky in that he found an outsider who was willing to pay far more than his property was worth.

But, commented the judge, earlier in 1963, another individual had offered Mr. Goulet $20,000 for the farm and had been refused.

"Evidently," said the judge, "Mr. Goulet considered his property worth $21,000."

The judge emphasized that it was not the duty of the school board to revalue every property on the individual municipal rolls but rather to assure that the global valuation of the rolls was equitable between each municipality.

Thus the boards were compelled by the Education Act to increase or decrease the valuation of the individual properties on each roll by a common factor which would make the overall rolls equal.

While the judgment is expected to set a precedent on this particular point, it cannot be regarded strictly as a test case. Before the hearing both parties waived any right of appeal so the higher courts will not be called on to rule on the issue.

The Adams Memorial Race takes place at Mt. Orford this weekend.

The Mt. Orford Ski Club is presenting the race for the 13th consecutive year, this year. The race, which was of a rather limited character at its beginning, has with the years become a national classic, now levelling with the well-known Kandahar and Ryan races.

The race is held in memory of Dr. Marston Adams who was credited with introducing large scale skiing to Mt. Orford. He was active in organizing and promoting ski competitions throughout the Eastern Townships, although much of his time was taken up by his dental profession.

The race will consist of slalom and downhill events. The slalom will take place on Saturday, March 7 at the Mt. Giroux Trail. There will be two runs, the first taking place at 11 a.m.

On Sunday, March 8 the downhill event will take place at Three Creeks Trail, conditions permitting. There will be one run, starting at 11 a.m.

The race committee is reserving the right to change any site if snow conditions warrant.

Trophies will include the Dr. Adams Memorial Trophy, which will be awarded to the competitor winning the combined downhill and slalom championships and the Dow Trophy, donated by Dow Kingsbeer Brewery, and awarded to the best downhill time.

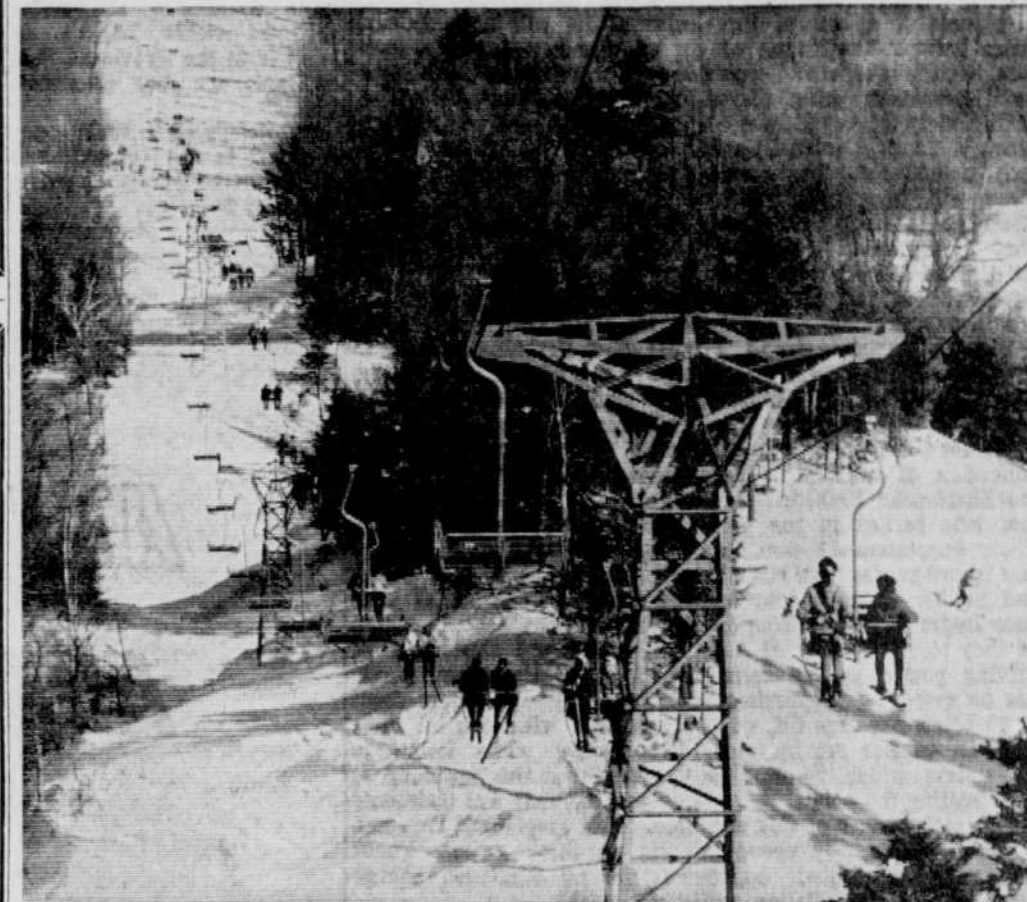

All trophies and prizes will be awarded on Sunday, March 8 in the Mt. Orford chalet.

City of Magog becoming important tourist centre because of skiing

MAGOG — A common dream among Magog businessmen is to see their community flourish as a tourist centre, and that goal is drawing closer every day. Probably the greatest contribution made toward achieving this goal, can be attributed to the importance skiing has given Magog as a winter resort centre.

Always regarded as a noted summer holiday district, the catering season has finally been rounded out to cover most of the year's twelve months.

To the enterprising people of Magog, skiing was the answer for fulfillment of their dream, as they see their city gradually gaining ground with its tourist trade, which is becoming an industry for the community.

The enthusiasm is shared throughout the city, and the attitude is a healthy one. Everybody here, skier or not, is behind the movement, and this is the height of good community spirit.

Travel between Magog and the Mt. Orford ski centre is helped by the good highway connections.

A motor trip from Magog to the Mt. Orford ski centre takes approximately twelve minutes over the well paved highway, just surfaced last summer.

Long waited for, the black-top surface will contribute immeasurably to enhancing the popularity of the Mt. Orford Ski Resort, and should prove beneficial in numerous other ways.

The resort's facilities operators, Compagnie de Gestion Orford, took even greater measures to guarantee the centre's future, by purchasing four hundred lots adjacent to the Provincial Park, and constructed a road of their own to the resort from Highway No. 1, beginning three miles out of Magog. This wide, well maintained shortcut to the centre for motorists coming from the west, will save seven miles. The short cut will be most appreciated by skiers who come here from Montreal and the Brome-Missisquoi districts.

Mrs. B. Buzzell and Mrs. N. Buzzell were joint hostesses on Feb. 26, to St. Faith's Guild in St. Luke's Church Hall. Mrs. J. Lowde won the gift donated by Mrs. N. Buzzell. Mrs. A. Comeau will be the hostess for the next meeting.

St. Luke's Guild met on Feb. 26, at the home of Mrs. M. Gustin, with Miss Perry and Mrs. Hardy as joint hostesses. Mrs. O. Holt was the winner of the gift donated by Mrs. Gustin. The next meeting will be held in the church hall.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Lowther, Mrs. E. Renaud and Mrs. J. Lowde were recent guests of Miss Marion Woods, Concord, N.H.

ADAMS MEMORIAL RACES

You are doing a wonderful thing in keeping alive the memory of the late Doctor Marston Adams, a man who contributed generously to the good of Magog and district, and particularly to the sport of skiing. The races you hold in his honour each year cultivate the competitive enthusiasm Dr. Adams enjoyed seeing in existence. This annual event in turn has done a lot to promote our district Magog, Mt. Orford and skiing, and I am sure Dr. Adams would be proud of this accomplishment.

To you who are competitors, please accept my sincere wishes for success in your endeavour to win the ADAMS MEMORIAL. My advice is ski conscientiously and honestly, and you'll be performing in the image of the man whom we will be paying tribute to this Saturday and Sunday.

Mt. Orford skiing resort boasts many new features since last year

To a skier visiting the Mt. Orford resort for the first time this year, and being able to remember the centre as it was in 1963, there's a surprise in store for him, or her. In fact this skier, if he is at all observant will spot changes everywhere.

First most noticeable alteration, was an enlarged porch to the restaurant building, which is now joined by a wide set of stairs and a walk to the second floor of the main chalet. A new ski shop has been set up in the lower floor of the main building, and there's a new door to the basement locker-rooms of the restaurant building.

The centre's ski repair, rental and adjustment shop is now with the retail shop, and an inside and an outside ticket vending arrangement adds considerable to the task of buying rides.

The biggest, yet least noticeable changes however are along the trails, which have been exceptionally well groomed and modified where necessary for better skiing.

The double-chair lift has been lowered at the top for more comfortable riding, and the small 1,200 foot T-bar has been improved so its capacity has been considerable increased.

Another outstanding development is the centre's newly arranged program of hill maintenance. Now a "round the clock" operation, crews work night and day.

Results of the 24 hour grooming schedule has proven a success, and has already been noticed many times by patrons. To make working of the slopes ever easier for crews, who get more done than ever before, many new pieces of equipment have been purchased by the Compagnie Gestion d'Orford.

Another improvement worthy of mention, is the newly appointed parking lot staff, who are endeavoring to greet skiers in the most courteous manner.

There's no doubt about it, Orford has a new look, and a more pleasant countenance than ever.

Still tied for first place Rangers edge Black Hawks while Boston ties Leafs

One consolation for Toronto Maple Leafs: They won't have to face Boston's battling Bruins again until next season. Maybe in the interval they'll be able to devise a sure strategy for winning against the perennial last-place National Hockey League club. Wednesday night's 4-4 tie in Toronto—while New York Rangers edged the visiting Chicago Black Hawks 4-3—was the latest in a series of Toronto humiliations that goes back to mid-January.

The Leafs seemed to have the Bruins' number in the early half of the schedule, well enough to win six of the first eight games between them. Then the Toronto team lost the touch suddenly, and managed only one victory and one tie in the last six encounters. Two of their losses were shutouts, including an 11-0 landslide that Toronto fans doubtless would rather forget.

Veteran Red Kelly salvaged the tie Wednesday night, last game of the season between the two clubs, when he scored on a close-in backhand with 21 seconds to play and both teams a man short.

Leafs bounce back from a three-goal deficit in the last half of the third period. Sloppy Toronto defensive play gave veteran Leo Boivin the chance to score for Boston in the first period and Gary Dornhoefer to make it 2-0 early in the second. Then Ron Stewart, a standout for Toronto all through the game, scored the first of two goals on a clean breakaway after Bruins defenceman Ted Green fell with the puck at the Toronto blueline.

Don McKenney muffed a chance to tie the score before the end of the second period when he slapped a penalty shot a foot wide of the Boston net.

He was awarded the shot after Bruins defenceman Tom Johnson hooked him from behind. In the third period, Boston moved ahead 4-1 when Wayne Rivers banked a shot into the Toronto net off defenceman Carl Brewer and Dean Prentice scored after breaking into the clear at the Leafs blueline. Stewart started the Toronto comeback at 11:15, scoring his second goal on a 45-foot screened shot that Boston goalie Eddie Johnson never saw.

Two minutes later Andy Bathgate, a former New York star, scored his first goal in Toronto uniform to make it 4-3 and Kelly tied it up at 19:39. In New York, former Maple Leafs winger Dick Duff provided the margin of victory with a goal in each of the first and second periods. Harry Howell got New York's third goal and Phil Goyette notched the winner late in the second period.

PHL finals start on Sunday
Contrary to all reports the finals of the Provincial Hockey League will not open until Sunday at Granby. Whether the series will be a four out of seven or three out of five has not been fully decided upon. Gilles Dube and Roger Bedard managers of the two teams involved will probably settle this before the weekend.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS

St. Pat's edge Lennoxville 65-64 as Pariseau paces winners with 31

St. Pat's Old Boys edged the Lennoxville Grads Tuesday evening by a close 65-64 count. The game was tight throughout the first half as neither team was able to get a decisive advantage. The Old Boys took an early nine point lead but were soon overpowered by the Grads who put on a rally to match the visitors. Both teams fought hard as they pretty well matched baskets from then on to end the half 31-29 in favor of Lennoxville.

In the second half the Lennoxville squad took what seemed a game winning lead of 17 points as they crashed through the Old Boys' zone defense. The Grads pressed the Old Boys with a man-to-man defense and as a result kept their lead as the green and white boys couldn't hang onto the ball. With just five minutes left in the game the Old Boys came alive with a man-to-man defense in an effort to keep their hosts' lead down.

ball away from Lennoxville and managed to move it for enough fast baskets to get within one point of the Grads. With just a few seconds before the last whistle Dick Finlay hit for two points to give the Old Boys the victory.

Ken Pariseau led the victors with 31 points while Mike Bryson and Dick Finlay hit for 13 and 8 respectively. Doug Sullivan continued his scoring for the Grads as he hit for 22 points. Vern Horseman, Dave Little and Grant Peck followed with 15, 13 and 11 respectively. A hot contest is expected on Thursday evening at 8 p.m. at St. Patrick High School as this game will determine the team to meet Molson's Independents in a best two out of three playoff series in the ETABA.

Saskatchewan and B.C. leading in Charlottetown curling meet

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—Saskatchewan and British Columbia, pulling away steadily from the rest of the field in the Canadian curling championship, had three more opportunities today to jockey for position before their climactic meeting Friday.

The redoubtable Richardsons from Regina and Lyall Dagg's Vancouver foursome both remained unbeaten in five starts as Saskatchewan's defending champions took advantage of a B.C. bye in Thursday night's sixth round to catch the Pacific Coast rink.

Manitoba, rebounding from a pair of opening-day losses, was third with four victories in six starts, followed by Northern Ontario, Prince Edward Island and Quebec with 3-2 records. Nova Scotia, with an even split in six games, was next. Then came Ontario at 2-4, New Brunswick at 1-4, Alberta at 1-5 and Newfoundland, winless in six tries.

Today's schedule, the busiest of the five-day round-robin tournament, sent Ernie Richardson against Newfoundland and B.C. against Nova Scotia in the seventh round with the other matches pitting Manitoba against New Brunswick, Northern Ontario against Quebec and Ontario against P.E.I.

Bruce Hudson's Winnipeg foursome faced B.C. in the eighth round while the Richardsons were drawn against Jack Polyblank's Northern Ontario crew. The other pairings matched Newfoundland P.E.I., Ontario and Alberta and New Brunswick and Quebec.

In tonight's ninth round, Saskatchewan was due to face Harold Mabey's New Brunswickers and B.C. drew Elmer Black's Quebec foursome as opponents. Alberta - Newfoundland, Manitoba-Nova Scotia and Northern Ontario-P.E.I. constituted the remainder of the draw.

Alberta drew the bye in the morning round with Nova Scotia idle in the afternoon and Ontario in the evening session.

Richardson, seeking his fifth Canadian title, knocked off Ron Northcott's Calgary foursome

8-5 in Thursday's fifth round while Dagg, in what he described as his best game of the tournament, whipped New Brunswick 10-6. Then, curling with pinpoint accuracy, the champions downed Bob Mann's Hanover, Ont., quartet 12-8 while B.C. sat out the evening round.

Manitoba stayed within shouting distance by dropping Newfoundland 15-8 and Northern Ontario 10-8.

Northern Ontario topped Nova Scotia 7-4 and Quebec defeated Ontario 12-8 in the remaining fifth-round games. In the sixth round, Quebec outscored Newfoundland 12-9 and Charlottetown's Art Burke drew hometown cheers by counting one with his last rock to edge Alberta 9-8.

The evening session also produced the lowest-scoring game in tournament history as Ian Baird's Kentville, N.S., rink defeated New Brunswick 4-3 as six of the 12 ends were blanked.

Alberta's Northcott, tied 5-5 with Saskatchewan after 10 ends, lost a possible chance for the upset of the week when he chose to go for the bundle instead of blanking the 11th end to retain last rock. His difficult attempt for a two count raised a Richardson rock into the house and his opponents counted three.

The 11th end of the Saskatchewan-Ontario match also produced fireworks as both skips drew twice through an 18-inch port. Richardson, who had last rock, finished with a four count. Baird had to draw to Mabey's shot rock with his last effort to win the low-scoring Maritime battle, which eclipsed a 5-3 result in 1950 that found Nova Scotia on the losing end to Quebec.

Flyers and Hawks playing tonight

RICHMOND — (Special) — The final series in the E. T. Junior B loop continues in Richmond Thursday night at 8:30 p.m. when the Thetford Mines Hawks, with their backs to the wall, meet the "high-flying" Richmond Flyers in the sixth game. Flyers came up with 4-2 win to go ahead in the best-of-seven final three games to two.

A win for Flyers Thursday will give them the E. T. Junior B Hockey championship, of which Connie Dion of Asbestos is president. Flyers played to the largest crowd in the Coliseum last Sunday-over 1,000-and the arena may be filled again for this tilt. If Flyers lose this one, then the deciding seventh game will move back to Lake Megantic perhaps on Sunday if not before.

Champagne, with two goals in the Tuesday game, paced the Flyers while Junior Tibbitts and Leclerc scored the others. Coach Harry Topping is confident his charges will bring the cup to Richmond. The Thetford coach, however, may have other ideas on this. It remains to be seen and tonight's tilt may be the big factor.

Rain has forced all ski resorts in the Eastern Townships to temporarily stop operations today. The Sherbrooke Tourist Information Bureau said this morning the resorts are not closed for the season but just closed today because of the weather conditions.

Marymount plays LPS this weekend in basketball league championship

Final playoff action in the Sherbrooke Basketball League will begin this weekend with the first game of a best of three series between the league winners, Loisirs Perpetuel-Secours and Marymount being played Friday night at the Perpetuel-Secours Youth Center. Game time is 8:00 p.m. The second game will be played Sunday afternoon at Marymount beginning at 2:00 p.m. Should a third game be necessary, it will be played at the L.P.S. gym Wednesday evening.

Both clubs are strong in shooters as well as in rebounders. L.P.S., a team unknown and non-existent before this year, has come up with a good collection of players to take the Sherbrooke Basketball League title earlier in the year. Their impressive 11 won, one loss record proves their strength and ability. Pete Brodeur and Pete Dugas make up a fine duo as they represent most of their driving power, as the former has an average of approximately 40 points per game tilt, while Pete Dugas has set up many fine plays which resulted in their netting the points.

Another member of this newly formed club may prove to be dangerous to their opponents. Rick "Wilt" Vallee will apply his jumping ability in controlling the backboards as well as keep close tabs on his fellow opponent while in defensive action. Not only is he outstanding on defense but also he will be sure of tallying a few points for the final results.

The big threat from Marymount lies in Dave Nutbrown, as this scoring ace leads his team in the game. His set shot, as well as a jump, will cut the strings many times for additions to Marymount's scoring column. He will be supported by his teammates who also have certain outstanding capabilities. Ross Wilson may be relied upon for rebounds while Sonny Bessant and Alan Marit are good at drawing a personal foul. Robert Henry will control the ball for his team. Although Marymount has a small team, they have a lot of power and play well under pressure as shown when they won the annual Hi-Y Basketball Jamboree earlier this year. L.P.S. also can play under any circumstances. They have brought a livelier interest in basketball and have created a greater spirit in the cage spectators.

These playoff tilts should prove to be interesting as they will provide good cage action and close competition as both players and coaches will match their skills and stratagems in fighting for the final berth. Loisirs Perpetuel-Secours dealt Marymount with two of their three losses while losing to Marymount at the beginning of the season. This was their only loss. All spectators are welcome to these games. There will be no admission charge Friday night.

Lennoxville beats Sherbrooke 9-6 in two-game bantam hockey playoff

Lennoxville High School Bantams took their two game semifinal by 9-6 over the Sherbrooke High School Bantams in the Sherbrooke and District bantam hockey play-offs. The series was a total point affair. In the first game the Lennoxville squad won by 4-3 and in the second game that went into overtime the Lennoxville boys took this one by a 5-3 score.

In the first game Desjardins of Lennoxville who plays on defence as well as on the forward line did most of the scoring for the winners. Crosby Cotton the Lennoxville goalie was also a big star in the Lennoxville win.

Sherbrooke High knowing they had to get goals fast in the second game found themselves further behind as Desjardins and Watters each tallied for Lennoxville in the first part of the opening period.

The Sherbrooke boys did get one of these back before the period ended as Ricky Haffenden scored on a pass from Louis Hendy.

Sherbrooke High took up the offensive in the second period and they did manage to cut down the Lennoxville lead as David Laforge, with Haffenden assisting, got the only goal of the period. The Sherbrooke boys were unlucky in the period in not getting more goals as both Haffenden and Hendy were robbed of sure goals by the puck hitting the goalpost with Cotton beaten on their shots.

Ricky Haffenden made it three-two for Sherbrooke near the nine minute mark in the third period and the game ended that way with a 3-2 result for Sherbrooke, but as the two teams were now tied in goals at six apiece, overtime was called.

Three quick goals by Lennoxville in the overtime settled the issue. Desjardins with two goals and McVety with one other were the winners goal-getters.

Though going down to defeat the Sherbrooke team put up a great fight against their bigger and stronger opponents and should have had more goals.

The Lennoxville boys all played well and the team is well balanced. Desjardins is a coming player and was the big man in the series. Lennoxville now meet B.C.S. Algonquins in the next semi-final.

ERNIE RICHARDSON'S
CURLING CAPSULES

Having dealt with the qualifications of the front end players, now we take a look at what a skip should expect from a third, or a vice-skip, as he is known in parts of Eastern Canada, and as mate in the Maritime.

When the skip is playing his rocks the third must be a good houseman, quick to decide when to call the sweeping or off. He must also be able to read the ice and check the information with his skip. It is essential that every member of the team be able to read the ice since it is much easier to make good shots if you understand the ice conditions.

Primarily, a good third has to be a steady clutch curler with the ability to make the most difficult and important shots when the pressure is greatest. It takes highly varied skill to be a qualified third player in championship competition.

Such a player is more valuable to a team as a third, where his shotmaking is of great value, than to lose that shotmaking in key spots when acting as skip. That is just one of many peculiarities that come to light in all sports. (TNS)
