

Canadian Girls Fly Between Two Worlds

West Coasters Like Orient

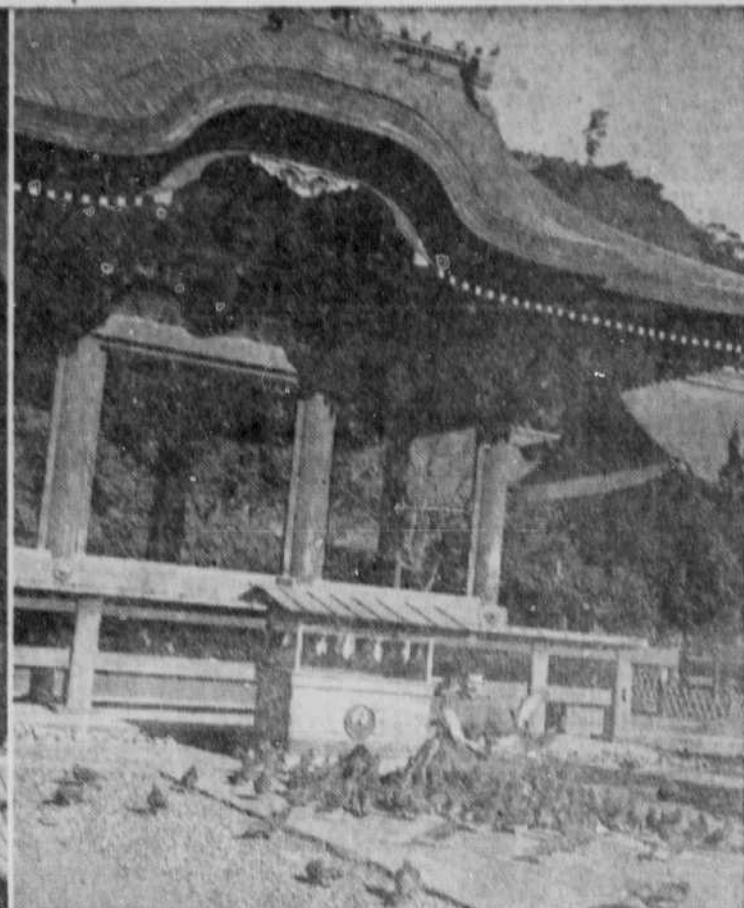

Canadian Airline Hostesses Colleen Watt of Rosebud, Alberta, (left) and Joanne Saimoto of Vancouver, B.C., (right) ply the skies regularly between Canada's West Coast and the Far East. Flying the Vancouver-Tokyo run, the girls have come to feel equally at home in both worlds and enjoy exploring the unique beauties of each. Above, the famous bronze Buddha at Kamakura is photographed for their album.

When in the East Colleen Watt believes in doing as the Orientals do. She uses chopsticks to sample the Suki-yaki dinner which the Japanese maid has prepared over a charcoal burner.

Japanese shrines are among the finest in the world and Miss Watt travels Japan seeking out the most beautiful ones. Pigeons, she says are the same everywhere: eternally curious, perpetually hungry.

Colleen Watt is a great admirer of the easy, graceful lines of the Japanese national costume. The gown she is trying on retails in Tokyo for about $10.

Colleen and Joanne don their Airline uniforms for the return flight to Vancouver — a 22-hour hop via Alaska. Both girls say they love the life and their fortnightly spin between two worlds.

First Ships To Sail Seaway This Month

MONTREAL (CP)—First ships to move through any part of the new St. Lawrence Seaway are expected to sail this month into the huge concrete lock and canal at Iroquois, Ont.

The Iroquois lock, 115 miles west of here, was completed in October as the seaway's gate to the Great Lakes. Sector gates at each end of the 1,200-foot main lock have been installed and tested "in the dry."

All that remains now is to flood the lock and float test ships through its concrete channel. The lock, finished in 56 weeks by round-the-clock crews in summer and two shifts in winter, will go into operations next spring—a year ahead of the whole seaway.

ON U.S. SIDE
Two other locks—both on the United States side of the International Rapids near Cornwall, Ont.—are also to be used for navigation after next July 1.

At that time, the St. Lawrence River will be blocked off by a mammoth power dam 3,300 feet long, split across the centre by the international border. Ontario Hydro and a New York State power authority are building the $6,000,000 hydro-project as partners. Two control dams, one at Long Sault and the other near Iroquois, will manipulate the water levels in the 40-mile-long lake that will back up from the power dam.

Seven old Ontario communities and parts of the present 14-foot canal system west of Cornwall will be flooded out by the new lake, so ships sailing to the Great Lakes will use the American and Canadian locks through most of next summer.

In 1959, the rest of the multi-million dollar seaway will be opened by the Queen—permitting large ocean ships to sail from the Atlantic down the St. Lawrence and into the Great Lakes. The seaway will replace obsolete 14-foot canals that blocked big cargo ships and 700-foot lake vessels from entering the St. Lawrence west of Montreal.

HUGE CONCRETE JOB
The Iroquois lock, much the same as the other seaway locks, contains 327,000 cubic yards of concrete—enough to build a sidewalk from Toronto to Winnipeg. Some 2,000,000 man-hours went into the job.

The ship passageway—canal and lock—measures 6,100 feet in length. Inside dimensions of the lock are 768 feet usable length, 80 feet wide with 30 feet over the sills. This will permit ships up to 27-foot draught to proceed through into channels dredged in the river.

To cut the lock channel, engineers had to slice through clay and boulders packed in place by ice-age glaciers. Some 4,700,000 cubic yards of this hard, tough glacial till was removed.

Vic Grant, who supervised the excavations, says the brown and grey clay was so hard it wore out teeth on earth-moving buckets with monotonous regularity. "You'll never get excavation work any tougher on this continent," he said.

You Can Bring Sunny Skies Indoors For The Winter

When autumn loses its dashing color and pulls down the gray shade of coming winter, the house must carry its own built-in cheerfulness and air of spaciousness.

Long and narrow rooms don't have to look cold and gloomy; small rooms needn't shrink under the weight of winter at the windows.

Our principal view doesn't have to be a cold, wet street with leaf-stripped trees and neighbors' yards as dormat as our own.

Many redecorating plans now taking shape begin with new wall treatments which introduce fresh color or help to overcome room defects and give a new look to furnishings we already have.

THEY'LL BE DONE with paint or wall paper or both. One popular way to extend the apparent width of a room is to use a wallpaper mural on one wall; the other three walls are then papered or painted in a light, solid color to harmonize with the colors in the mural.

A mural picturing an outdoor scene such as a garden, seascape or landscape will give depth and dimension to a room.

In a model modern room shown recently, the effect of a garden view was further heightened by the addition of sheer, open-weave curtains drawn across it.

Wallpapers with three-dimensional effects also work to trick the eye into seeing the walls as being pushed back. That treatment enlarges the apparent size of a small room or area.

Architectural scenes are especially suitable for such an effect.

A more conventional treatment to make a room seem lighter and sunnier makes use of papers with a light, open look. A bright, floral design widely spaced on a white or light background is one good example.

WALLPAPER MURAL in pink, turquoise, gold and black against an ivory background spreads a Venetian garden across one wall of this room. Other walls are papered in ivory to give spaciousness to the room. Venetian furniture carries out theme set by the paper in this simple and effective room treatment.

The range of wallpaper murals is extensive and covers designs suitable for use with almost any type of furnishing.

Hand-painted murals, long held in high esteem by top custom decorators, are no longer such a rarity in average homes.

Many communities, including mine, now boast artists who can work out an individual design for you and execute it with talent and taste.

Those I've seen are particularly effective in making long hallways look more interesting, in brightening playrooms and in setting a gracious background for small dining rooms.

One Color Look Important In Winter Fashions

Coco Chanel, the irrefragable French designer who enjoyed a lusty fashion heyday in the 1920's, has revived her signature thirty years later in the relaxed styles of 1937.

Famous in her youth for unstarving the stiff costumes of the Victorian era, Chanel's inspiration in the world of fashion has reached its highest peak this fall.

She prefers the two-piece costume look, with overblouse and pleated skirt, and the open cardigan jacket with its companion slim skirt. Her coats emphasize the oval shape, with blobs of fur trimming the neckline.

Chanel's one-color look is important. The woman of fashion must select her hat, preferably draped, her shoes, preferably pointed, and her other accessories to match her costume. She wears one color from her turbaned headpiece to her pointed toes. Her choice of color is an indication of her personality, with royal blues and bright reds sharing the color spotlight. Bib necklaces and ropes of pearls complete her fashionable picture.

Fabrics share the spotlight with the Chanel Look this fall. The French designer has always selected supple fabrics which drape the figure in soft lines and mold without clinging. She believes that her relaxed lines can be expressed best in crepe, chiffon and soft wools.

Canadian designers following Chanel's influence, have chosen a lovely crepe of Chemcell Acetate and viscose to express the new fluid line. This crepe has superb draping qualities which soften the silhouette into willow lines, resist wrinkles, and is pliable to touch.

Acetate crepe is available this season in glowing shades. They include brown and beige tones, Oriental hues, sapphire and cranberry reds.

The secret of Acetate crepe's success in Canadian fashion lies with the "Beauty Fibre" Chemcell Acetate. It lends a natural talent for softness and resiliency to crepe fabrics, and gives them an unsurpassed richness of texture.

Weight No Hindrance To This Model

MONTREAL (CP)—Mag Cour-nou is a fashion model of unusual proportions—59, 48 and 52 inches in the accepted measurements.

Weighing 230 pounds, the bronze-haired, brown-eyed Parisian woman naturally models clothes for stout women.

"I guess I'm plumper than most of them," she said while here on her way to a fashion show in Toronto. "When people come to me for advice on clothes, I point this out and they find it consoling."

Miss Cour-nou, who describes her age as "in the young-middle bracket," said she was 118 pounds when she started her modelling career in France at the age of 18.

LIKES TO EAT
"But I like good living. I gained weight steadily and eventually needed larger and larger size clothes. I wear a 56 now."

She wears clothes of all colors and believes large women should not buy dark shades in order to minimize the appearance of plump figures.

"Red is a good color for stout women," she said. "But I find light and livid blues add more girth."

She said oversized women shouldn't feel conspicuous about their weight because many men are attracted to them simply because of their proportions. "Men know that a plump woman is usually a good cook. Besides, she's good-natured, gay, enthusiastic and understanding in most cases."

Homemaking

Burning candles at both ends, when a teen-ager, seems like fun. But for long-term health and good general appearance a girl needs plenty of rest.

There are several methods of attacking blackheads. One is to use cereal grains. Apply moistened cereal, perhaps oatmeal, to the face. When it has dried, use a coarse towel to rub it off. This should dislodge blackheads.

Little Chance Of Uniformed Blonde In The RCMP Force

Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—There seems little chance of a uniformed blonde ever slipping into the RCMP force.

But there may be hope. If the need for women "red-coats" ever arises, the force certainly will do something about it, says an RCMP official.

So far, a women's division hasn't even been considered. The duties of the force don't call for uniformed women members.

The RCMP is organized essentially as a rural police force and does little work in large metropolitan areas where a police-woman almost is a must.

An RCMP spokesman said he doubts whether uniformed women RCMP officers ever will be necessary.

When the force needs a police-woman—to search a female prisoner, for instance—a reliable woman is sworn in as a temporary matron.

SPECIAL CONSTABLES
Women have served as special constables in the force, which now numbers 4,863 uniformed men serving in detachment from the Arctic to the United States border.

Women stewards or waitresses in RCMP messes may be sworn in as special constables. Some years ago dietitians working for the force were special constables. New they're listed as employed civilians.

Special constables—men or women—never wear a uniform. Furthermore, it's against the law for anyone not in the force to wear an RCMP uniform, except on the stage.

Perhaps the most recent Mountie-in-a-skirt appears in the current McGill University musical satire My Fur Lady.

In the show, a willowy Constable Renfrew—in scarlet tunic and a gold stripe on a dark skirt—guards a governor-general.

And traditionally, part of the annual Miss Canada costume is a red, Mountie-type tunic tightly belted into a frilly, well-above-the-knee skirt.

In case anyone wonders, the RCMP motto is "maintain the right," not the Hollywood refrain that "Mounties always get their man."

Beauty Tips

For a healthier head of hair, wait before having a permanent if you have just dyed or bleached your hair. This gives the hair a chance to rebuild, since dyes and bleaches tend to weaken it.

FLATTERY FIRST—Colorful crepe, draped into the slender lines of a basic sheath, adds fresh beauty to this fall fashion. The high bodice, which has a flattering V-neckline, is shirred at the waistline. Available in fall shades, the fabric drapes well and has a soft texture. A blend of Chemcell Acetate and viscose, the crepe is the ideal fabric for timeless elegance in fashion.

3 squares (3 oz.) unsweetened chocolate, 1/2 cup sugar, dash of salt, 1/4 cup hot water, 1 tbsp. cold water, 1 1/2 tsp. unflavored gelatine, 4 egg yolks, 1 tsp. vanilla, 4 egg whites, stiffly beaten, 1/2 cup cream, whipped, 2 doz. lady fingers.

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Add sugar, salt and hot water, stirring until sugar is dissolved and mixture blended. Add cold water to gelatine and mix. Add to hot chocolate mixture and stir until gelatine is dissolved; then cook until mixture is smooth and well thickened. Remove from boiling water; add egg yolks, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each. Place over boiling water and cook 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Add vanilla, cool. Fold into egg whites. Chill. Fold in whipped cream.

Add thin layer of thickened chocolate mixture, then arrange lady fingers and chocolate mixture in alternate layers, topping with chocolate mixture. Cut off lady fingers around sides of mold and arrange cut pieces on chocolate mixture. Chill 12 to 24 hours in refrigerator. Unmold. Serves 8 to 10.

If desired, 1/2 cup finely cut walnut meats may be added to chocolate mixture before turning into mold. Toast nuts lightly by heating, stirring with a little butter or oil.

Dr. H. R. C. Avison Speaker At Opening Border Community School Meeting

ROCK ISLAND—Dr. H. A. C. Avison, Director of Adult Education Service, Macdonald College, was the guest speaker at the opening meeting of the community school held in Sunnyside school auditorium.

The theme of the program was "education", and upon this subject, Dr. Avison gave a most interesting talk. He stressed the importance of people altering their thinking about money and education if we are to continue to improve our system. He further pointed out that we as parents, have gone too far in letting young people and children make up their own minds, for the mind of a child is not mature enough to make decisions which will form the basis of their adulthood.

Dr. Avison said there is a great need for more and better teachers and of a method of directing the efforts of students along proper lines.

A lively discussion followed led by Lloyd Bliss, editor of the Stanstead Journal, on Russia's great advance in education made evident by the launching of the satellite.

Later the group were entertained at the home of the president, E. J. Struthers.

The next session will be held at the Sunnyside school on November 19, when a discussion will take place on "Whither our Communities". Mr. Struthers will lead the discussion which should be of considerable interest to everyone.

There is no admission or registration fees, all are invited to attend.

CRYSTAL REBEKAH LODGE
A regular meeting of Crystal Rebekah Lodge No. 14 took place in the I.O.O.F. hall, when the newly installed Noble Grand, Sister Hattie Eryou, presided.

Plans were made for the annual district meeting to be held here on November 26. Mrs. Eryou urged all members to reserve this date and try to attend this important meeting.

Mrs. Eryou won the round robin in which was passed around.

LADIES AID MEETS
The Ladies Aid of Stanstead South Church met at the church hall with the president, Mrs. H. Smith, in the chair.

The treasurer, Mrs. A. P.

Miss reported approximately $250 realized from the turkey supper after all expenses had been paid. The sum of $50 was voted to be paid into the church budget which completes the pledge for the 1937 year.

The women were reminded of the Christmas tea and sale taking place in the church hall on November 30.

The next meeting will be in the church hall on Thursday afternoon, November 14, with supper as usual.

Attending this meeting were Mrs. L. Rye, Mrs. F. Flinn and Mrs. B. Smith all of the Holland Ladies Aid and they were welcomed by the Stanstead South group.

SPOOKS ABROAD

There were ghosts, witches, fairyland characters and all types of animal portrayals as well as many others on the streets of the Boundary on Hallowe'en night.

From the hour of dusk until the sandman's near arrival, little folk were tapping on doors asking for "charity please", "treat or trix's". These little people were well received and all went home with their hearts' desire of candy, nuts and other goodies.

Around seven o'clock, many of the little folks went to the Border theatre where the Boundary Rotary Club members were their hosts. A western movie was shown, then the ones in costume paraded onto the stage. As they left the theatre each one was given a bag of candy and a toy.

Under the sponsorship of Stanstead North Women's Institute and co-operation of the Girl Guides, Boy Scouts and students of Sunnyside school, many of the children did not ask for charity gifts for themselves, but instead asked for U.N.I.C.E.F. donations. The public were most responsive to the children's appeal for the sum of $85.38 was collected. Of this Patricia Cordeau of the Rock Island Girl Guide troop collected $7.12.

Police were on duty all night, two extra deputies in Derby Line and three in Rock Island and more in Stanstead kept everything under control. There were windows marked with chalk, and other colorful things and a few deflated tires, but this seemed to be all.

Irwin Haines Gives Gardening Hints At Cowansville Community School

COWANSVILLE. — The guest speaker at the Armchair Travel Group meeting in the Community School on October 30 was Irwin Haines, who gave many useful hints on gardening. One that he especially emphasized was the value of the compost pile. It is wasteful, he stated, to rake up leaves and then burn them. They should be placed in a trench to nourish the earth.

From his experience Mr. Haines discussed types of soil in this area, in Valois, where he used to reside, and in the West Indies, his original home. On the West Indies Mr. Haines had much to say that was of interest to his "travellers." His descriptions of crops, including sugar, were particularly graphic. At the close of his lecture, he answered a number of questions, most of which were about those "islands in the sun."

The Community School continues to be the social Mecca for the area on Wednesday nights. It is reported that there are three new pupils in Mrs. Sanderson's Art for Beginners.

ANNUAL SUPPER

On the evening of All Saints Day, Trinity Memorial Hall was the scene of the annual bean and oyster supper organized by the Men of the Select Vestry of the Anglican Church in Cowansville. Between 5:30 and 8 p.m., 400 people, including a good number of children, were served. The event was a tremendous success in every respect.

Appreciation is due to everyone who co-operated, to the ladies who sent in pies, salads, etc., to Mr. Alan Webster who arranged for the donation of the oysters, and to Mrs. William Sharples who cooked the beans to such perfection. The proceeds of the supper are used for church work.

$40 FOR UNICEF

According to plan, the Canadian Girls in Training of Cowansville canvassed the area on Halloween. They left the United Church at 7 p.m. and returned an hour and a half later, having collected about $40 from public spirited citizens, for the good cause of UNICEF.

Following the canvass, the girls enjoyed a social hour which began with a singing. Games were directed by leaders, Mrs. R. Holliday and Mrs. D. Smith. One game "Unjumble Words" was won by Eunice Hitchcock; her sister Susan, was judged the best at drawing a sketch of a witch in the dark.

Claire Christie read an interesting story on the meaning and origin of Halloween. Pennie Redmile supervised the serving of refreshments. A new member, Opal Kinsella, was welcomed. The evening closed with the singing of Taps.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

Members of the Students' Council of Cowansville High School, under the able chairmanship of Jeannine Downes, entertained the pupils of Grades 1 to 6 at a Halloween party. The merry children paraded in their costumes, played games, had refreshments, listened to a story told by Rev. John Peacock and went home, each with an apple and a giant lollipop. A number of adults were present.

GMC PICKUP — New, massive-look styling is one of many features announced by General Motors of Canada, Limited, for its 1958 trucks. The 76 Canadian-built GMC truck lines have new, power-packed engines, and improved cooling systems, giving greater horsepower. Front-end metal has been reinforced for greater rigidity. Above is a new GMC Pickup of the 9310 series. For the first time, GMC bodies will be offered on two forward control Utility Panel models.

Officially, Mrs. Hawke and Miss Barker represented the staff. Three other teachers, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Lechasseur and Miss Mason, acted as judges for the costumes. Prizes were given in each age group for originality and humor. Among the winners were Robert Forster, Matthew Goettel, Sandra Yates and Karen Barker.

GENERAL NOTES

Miss Jeanne Maurice spent a week visiting her sister, Therese, Mrs. Louis Roy and Mr. Roy, in Berlin, N.H.

Miss Ida Murray and Mrs. A. L. Leach went to Montreal to visit Mrs. Leach's son, Norman, and his family.

Little Master Rexy Coleman spent the week-end with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. King and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gunson and their children, Claudia and Murray, were guests of Mr. Gunson's sister, Mrs. Charles Flavell and Mr. Flavell, in St. Lambert.

Again a number of spectators enjoyed two good basketball games in the gymnasium of Cowansville High School. In the first game, the scores were Vilas 61, Albany 58. In the second, they were Sweetsburg 39, Farnham 35.

The Cowansville Boy Scout Troop, under the direction of Scoutmaster Graham Sharman, enjoyed a successful two-day camping trip in the hills near Sutton. It is their ambition to obtain a pennant in the Yamaska Valley District Camporee in the spring, and this week-end gave them useful practice. They cooked with aluminum foil, practised trail signs and tree felling. Overnight they camped by patrols in separate tents.

BOOSTING FRENCH

QUEBEC (CP) — The St. Jean Baptiste Society of Western Ontario has appealed to the organization's members here for aid in setting up a French-language library in Windsor, Ont. The Ontario group seeks donations "so that our people may be encouraged to read French."

Pakistan's first comprehensive agricultural census will be taken early in 1959.

Mark Golden Wedding

MR. and MRS. E. C. PAINTER, of Sawyerville, are seen above cutting the cake at the recent celebration of their golden wedding anniversary, when they were feted by their relatives and many friends. A turkey dinner for the immediate family was held early in the afternoon at which their three sons, Chester, Ashton and Thomas, were present. Their daughter, Ellen, of Ottawa, was unable to attend. The room and table were attractively arranged with yellow mums, marigolds and gladioli and the table was centered with the three-tier wedding cake, which had been decorated by Mrs. Gerald Alden of Eaton, L. H. Hunt, mayor of Sawyerville, presented the honored couple with a purse on behalf of their friends and they received a television from the family, the presentation being made by their oldest son, Chester. DESIGN FOR SURVIVAL — Shown above is the result of five years' study of auto crashes by Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory of Buffalo and Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. of Boston. Designed with the sole aim of eliminating the major causes of passenger injuries and fatalities in smashups, the car affords maximum safety to its occupants without sacrificing exterior styling. Innovations include centrally seated driver, lever system to replace steering wheel and column, padding, seat belts or yokes and roll-over bars above passengers. Note one "club-car" seat facing rear. Outside, shock-absorbing material is sandwiched between the bumpers. Telephone booth-type doors and reinforced frame prevent cave-ins of the sides in collisions.

Pentagon Complacent On Russian Progress

WASHINGTON (AP)—The official word at the Pentagon these days is "don't panic."

It is nearly a month since Russia launched its Sputnik and set off an avalanche of speculation as to what it would mean to the military future of the United States in a restless, powder-keg world.

But the atmosphere at the Pentagon — U.S. defence headquarters — is one of almost studied calm, even against a background many Americans consider disquieting.

Russia, employing a huge, powerful rocket, launched a 184-pound earth satellite Oct. 4, heralding the dawn of inter-planetary travel.

The U.S. satellite program, employing a much smaller rocket and a 21½-pound satellite, is behind schedule.

Both Russia and the United States have intercontinental ballistic missiles in the experimental stage.

The United States still is trying to iron the bugs out of a 1,500-mile intermediate range ballistic missile. Russia claims to have been in quantity production on such for two years.

EMERGENCY BASIS

The Russian missile program has been on an emergency basis since 1945. The U.S. program was practically non-existent until 1953 and even now is generally on a five-day week.

Outside the Pentagon and among men informed on both the U.S. and Russian progress in satellites and missiles, the Pentagon's calm view is regarded chiefly as a form of complacency.

Erik Bergaust, editor of the magazine Missiles and Rockets, and one of the best informed civilians on the Soviet and U.S. programs, says in an editorial in the issue now in the mail:

"One of the things we must strip away is that complacent feeling that what the Russians can do, we can do better. That probably is true for we undoubtedly have the better scientists, but in this race—and it is a race—the prize is to the swift. The prize, of course, is world leadership."

FOUR POINTS

An informed military source, who insisted on anonymity, made these points in an interview:

1. "I think nobody can give a categorical answer to the question of military implications because the effect is different each year and governed by developments. The goal of the joint chiefs of staff is to maintain a military machine on a changing nature."

2. Military men regard missiles and satellites as new weapons in the evolution of the science of warfare. "For every offensive weapon a defence has been devised."

3. The United States has in its present bomber fleets more destructive power than the Russians. "It may take a missile 18 minutes to reach New York from Moscow and a bomber 18 hours to go in the other direction, but the destructive power is the same."

4. The joint chiefs cannot scrap the present military establishment because it also is confronted with the possibility of a limited war using today's weapons.

Lynn Lake Community Bustling Mining Town

LYNN LAKE, Man. (CP)—"This is a town of young folks and its residents are genial and enthusiastic."

That's how Ted Burke-Gaffney, personnel director of Sherritt Gordon Mines Limited, describes Lynn Lake, a bustling lakeside mining community, 500 miles northwest of Winnipeg.

A few years ago Lynn Lake didn't even have a name. Now it has a population of 1,800, including 650 children, and is growing at the rate of 200 a year.

ARRIVED IN 1947

Mr. Burke-Gaffney and his wife, Helen, first came to Lynn Lake in 1947 when Ted was a geologist. They had two children then and lived in a frame house while exploration work on the rich Sherritt Gordon finds of nickel and copper was going on. Their groceries were shipped in.

Previously they had lived at Sherridon, 143 miles to the south. When Sherridon ore reserves dwindled, the company decided to develop the deposits at Lynn.

So the town migrated by tractor-train. Houses were loaded in big wooden sleighs and hauled by tractor over a trail of ice and snow to Lynn during the winters of 1952 and 1953.

Row upon row of neat, gaily-painted homes are spread along the banks of the lake. The rough and tumble of the traditional mining town is missing. There are lawns and gardens, a summer resort just 12 miles away, theatre, curling rink, modern community centre, liquor store, schools, hotel, stores—and lakes in the area abound with some of the best fishing in the country.

"It's a wonderful place to bring up children," Mrs. Burke-Gaffney said in an interview.

MOTHER OF SEVEN

At 42, she is the mother of seven children. There's May, 15, Pat, 13, Maureen, 9, Tom, 8, Teresa, 4, Cathy, 2, and one-year-old Christopher.

A graduate nurse from The Pas, Mrs. Burke-Gaffney has been in the North Country all her life.

The Burke-Gaffneys live in a modern two-storey home, which has a games room in the basement.

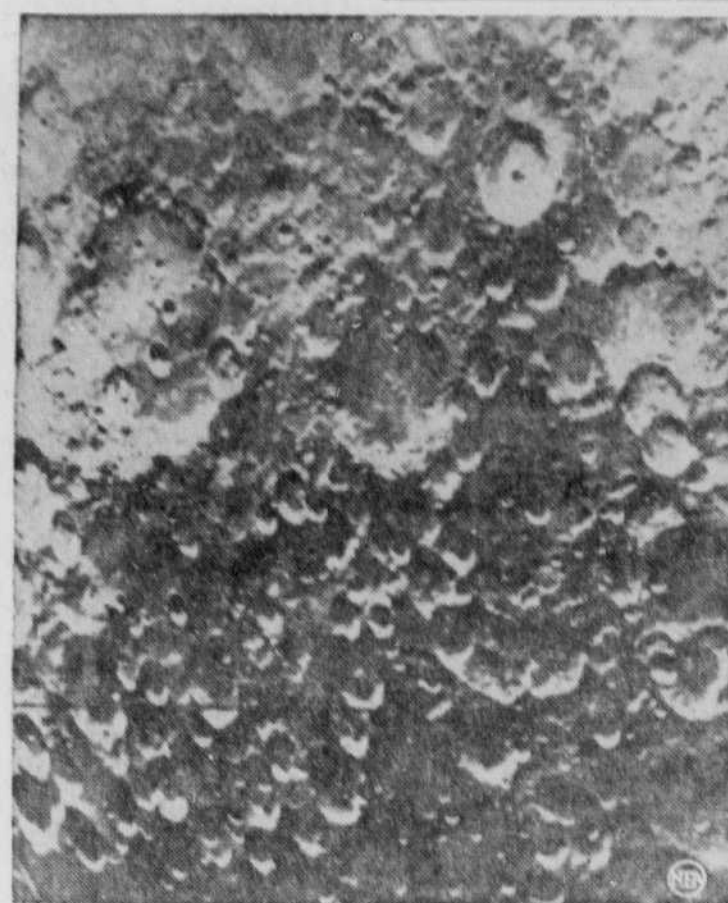

Why do they like the North? They speak of it with pride, as do other Lynn Lakers.

"It's the people in the town—always right beside you," said Mrs. Burke-Gaffney. "There's a wonderful community spirit."

ACTIVE COMMUNITY

"We're always busy here. There's the drama club, hockey for the kids, a couple of people teach figure skating. There's curling. If you don't curl, you're out of everything. Then, of course, there's church work and an 80-piece students' band."

Residents do most of their shopping in a modern super-market. Fresh meat is shipped in from Prince Albert, Sask. Fresh fish is always on hand. Butter costs 70 cents a pound, fresh milk is 32 cents a quart, a head of lettuce 35 cents, plums 80 cents a dozen, corn cobs a $1 a dozen. A train comes in three times a week.

CLOSEUP LOOK AT THE MOON — This closeup of craters on the moon was taken by a new optical tracking system for missiles in operation at Melbourne Beach, Fla., miles from the Cape Canaveral missile testing grounds. The camera-telescope, called the Recording Optical Tracking Instrument, brings the viewer to within 250 miles of the moon's surface.

Miners make good wages. The average earnings of hourly-rate employees at the mines is $5,400 a year. A graduate mining engineer can start at about $425 a month. The company will help a young couple, and any others, with their housing. There is no down payment.

Annual payroll of the mining company in all departments was $2,640,000. Two mines now are in production. Another shaft is being sunk. Power comes from the Laurie River power plant, 45 miles south.

BORDER LAKE

Lake Champlain, which extends a few miles north of the Quebec-U.S. boundary, was discovered by Samuel Champlain in 1609.

SWEETSBURG —

Mrs. D. J. Normandin has been ill for two weeks at her home on Yamaska Blvd.

ISLAND BROOK —

Mr. John Wilkin of Sherbrooke and Mr. Nelson Ross spent a weekend with Mr. and Mrs. K. French. Miss Shirley Wilkin of Sherbrooke also spent a weekend at the same home.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Kerr were Miss Elaine Kerr and Miss Jo Ann Peterson of Montreal. Other guests at the same home were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wallace and baby, Kim, of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

REAL VACATION

OTTAWA (CP)—Fourteen Boy Scouts from Port Hope, Ont., made 6,400-mile 30-day trip to Victoria, B.C., and back in a used truck which they converted into a comfortable passenger and equipment vehicle. Boy Scout headquarters here said the boys financed the trip by paper salvage and scrap metal drives.

REMEMBRANCE DAY

NOVEMBER 11th

On Armistice Day . . .
We Rededicate Ourselves
To The Cause Of Freedom . . .

A busy nation pauses to honor the dead of World War I — a war that failed to end all wars. We have since fought another war, World War II. The liberty we possess has been most dearly paid for — and on Armistice Day, 1957, we are more determined than ever, to hold on to our liberty for ever and ever more.

Use Funds To Help Vets

The annual Poppy sale by the Canadian Legion will be held this Friday and Saturday, J. A. Bourgeois, chairman of the Poppy committee announced yesterday.

The poppy is the official emblem adopted by the Canadian Legion to commemorate those who died in war service. The poppies are made by a group of disabled veterans and the funds derived from their sale are used to help needy veterans and their families.

Ministers To Dedicate WW II Book

The World War II Book of Remembrance will be dedicated on Remembrance Day, November 11th, the Minister of Veterans Affairs, the Hon. Alfred J. Brooks, and the Minister of National Defence, the Hon. George Pearkes V.C., jointly announced today.

The book will be dedicated by His Excellency the Governor-General in a simple ceremony in the Memorial Chamber of the Parliament Buildings following the usual Remembrance Day service at the National Cenotaph. The Memorial Chamber, where the First Book of Remembrance is permanently enshrined will be the temporary repository of the Book.

Consisting of 612 pages of calf-skin vellum and bound in tooled morocco, the Book records the names of 44,891 Canadian servicemen and women who gave their lives in the Second World War. It weighs about 100 lbs. and is the result of nine years of work by heraldic expert Alan B. Beddoe and his staff of artists and calligraphers.

The columns of names are in black script and stand out in sober contrast to the illuminations. Names of places with which the Canadian Armed Forces were associated are recorded in painted ribbons on nearly every page: Hong Kong, Iceland, Dieppe, Pas-de-Calais, the Atlantic, North Africa, Hamburg, Kiel, Messina, Regaluto, Ortona, The Orne, Frankfurt—the list seems endless, for in the Second World War the Canadian contribution was worldwide and all three services were operating at full strength.

The individuality of each service has been respected in the geographical and heraldic references, and the names of the fallen, with rank, unit or corps, and decorations, are recorded in alphabetical order by year of death.

It is planned that a page of the Second Book of Remembrance will be turned every day and a calendar published so that incoming visitors may know the dates on which the names of relatives or friends will be shown. This is the practice which has been followed with the First Book of Remembrance, which has been visited by millions since it was dedicated to its repository in the Peace Tower on Remembrance Day, 1942.

It is also intended to provide a public reference index in provincial capitals, together with the page-turning calendar, so that those wishing to visit Ottawa to see the Book will know when it will be open at any particular page.

Special illuminated pages record outstanding campaigns and battles in which Canadians took part, such as the Battle of Britain, the Dieppe Raid and the Battle of the Atlantic, which will be displayed on anniversary dates. A "Page Without Names" is dedicated to the memory of those who have died as a result of their war service since September 30, 1947.

Compton - Sherbrooke Farm Forum Rally

BIRCHTON. — The Compton-Sherbrooke Farm Forum Rally held at Birchton Hall, was well attended by representatives from Minton, Waterville, Ives Hill and Drapers Corner, 3rd Range, Birchton, Spring Rd., Scotch Rd., Bury, Cookshire, Bulwer, Sawyer-ville, High-Low Forest and East Clifton.

Speakers gave encouragement to the Forums to extend their membership for a very worthy cause, as well as to organize for a voice to speak in their behalf on marketing boards and governmental policies.

Leslie Young, provincial secretary from Macdonald College, asked that a thousand members be added to Farm Forum. The last few years a small minority has been carrying the expenses of expressing the English speaking farmers' voice in Quebec. Now that extensive results are evident, particularly in the present acts in Parliament at Ottawa, it was felt only fair for every English speaking farmer to share in the payment of these costs, which last year were shared by less than 700.

Benefits available for the farmer as well as a very loud voice in agricultural politics are car insurance for farmers at a continually declining price, farm liability insurance covering hired help and livestock, and the opportunity the Farm Radio Forum presents in education.

Television experiments with Farm Radio Forum will be carried over Station WCNX, Ontario, Thursday evenings in January, and March. New Brunswick stations are carrying an accurate translation to their French farmers.

Ernest MacAuley, chairman, introduced W. G. McDougall, Sherbrooke agronomist, who spoke on "Changing Times." Describing the extension work carried on in the United States, he urged farmers to attend Forum meetings and "keep up with the times."

Four benefits can be realized by attending Farm Forum: Every person going forward must learn something every day; co-operation in communities, county, province and Dominion; social intercourse in communities, and a voice to express to the government the requirements of the farmers, he concluded.

Keith Greig, president of the Quebec Farmers' Association, spoke on the need of a self-help pattern among farmers in Quebec. Throughout the 17 years of Farm Forum the Quebec Farmers' Association has been its biggest undertaking. From a vote taken 70 per cent were in favor of an action group. Its charter has been received and two marketing boards have been set up. They are in contact with the Quebec Marketing Board set up within the year by the Quebec Legislature.

Mr. Greig attended a meeting at Port Arthur, where an agricultural policy was drawn up and presented on July 30 to Prime Minister Diefenbaker. This is being acted on at the present session of Parliament. He asked for continued support to I.F.A.P., stating that 32,000,000 people went to bed hungry every night, while we had surpluses that would give better nutrition and peace-making policies than the present arms and atoms now being bought by these peoples.

Lee Pomeroy, R. G. Hodge and Clayton Bernard reported on the activities of the local Milk Producers Board.

Don MacMillan, Compton County agronomist, urged each one to advertise for Farm Forum, ask for governmental support and apply more thought and action to marketing as production is increasing with improving of herds and methods.

Speakers were thanked by R. G. Hodge, Gordon McElrae and Col. W. Bishop. Mr. MacAuley thanked all for the support given to the rally.

BRIGHAM —

The Thanksgiving meeting of the W.M.S. was held on October 10th with friends from Cowansville and Farnham present. Mrs. Winsor, of Cowansville, was guest speaker.

Mr. Ross Crawford, of Regina, Sask., has returned home after visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Crawford.

Mrs. C. R. Andrews, of Bishopton, and Mrs. G. L. Wilkin, of Sherbrooke, spent a few days recently with Mr. and Mrs. Clark Powers.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Teel, of Verdun, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. O'Brien, of Farnham, Mrs. C. Miller, of St. Johns, and Mr. and Mrs. Austin Lee and family, of Sweetburg, were week-end visitors of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Thomas.

Japanese Feel Brunt Of American Withdrawals

TOKYO (Reuters) — The "go home Yankee" slogan has almost vanished in Japan today.

Instead, large groups of Japanese — military camp workers, storekeepers, restaurant proprietors and land owners — are petitioning the United States authorities and the Japanese government for protection of livelihood and compensation for the losses they will suffer when the American troops withdraw.

Earlier this year, the United States department of defence announced that all or most U.S. forces would be withdrawn from Japan this year and air force and navy installations pared down preparatory to a complete pull-out as soon as the Japanese were able to take over the defence of their own islands.

PREMATURE CHEERS

The initial outburst of cheering which followed this announcement died away as many thousands of Japanese directly affected began to count their losses.

At Sendai, a country town in northern Japan which owed a large part of its prosperity to the soldiers of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division, the blow already has fallen. Commenting on the withdrawal of the entire division from its 14 camps in and around the town, the mayor of Sendai said that the economic effect on the town and the prefecture was equivalent to closing down a firm employing 20,000 workers.

The last U.S. soldier left Sendai on Sept. 4.

More than 2,000 camp laborers, who enjoyed good jobs and relatively high pay under the Americans, now are looking for work. They will work hard and earn a subsistence wage if they are lucky, but 60 per cent will have to live on the unemployment roll.

MANY JOBS

When the division was at full strength a few years ago, it employed 23,000 Japanese laborers, clerks and interpreters.

The eastern side of the town adjoining the camp areas has taken on the look of a gold mining centre where the gold has run out. Bars, cafes, souvenir stores, laundries and houses are deserted.

From Gotemba, a provincial town at the foot of Mount Fuji, the U.S. Marines are withdrawing. The 42,000 townspeople, most of whom have been directly or indirectly dependent on American spending for their livelihood, are uncertain about their future. The city expects to lose 70 per cent of its annual revenue. Plans for bringing in factories to absorb the newly unemployed have come to nothing.

From camp and base areas all over Japan, the same story is brought to Tokyo by union and municipal office delegations, who come to seek compensation from the government or ask manufacturers to move factories to their towns.

In 1953, the U.S. forces spent $43,863,000 in Japan.

Catering to the American forces became a major industry. It employed or supported more than 250,000 Japanese and was Japan's second largest source of income.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

Wednesday afternoon the United Church junior choir members with their mothers as guests, held a Halloween Party in the Church Hall. It was an exciting affair with the children all in costume and the hall decorated in Halloween spirit.

Mr. David Scott, director of the Junior Choir, did a splendid job of planning the program and there is little doubt everyone enjoyed the affair, from the tiniest clown to the mothers who were served a bountiful lunch on a long pumpkin centered table.

A costume parade was held with the mothers as judges. First prize for the prettiest costume went to Iris Owens, the funniest costume prize was won by Phyllis Owens and the most original costume was "The Menu" worn by Margaret Haddow.

Assisting Mrs. Scott with the games was Miss Isobel Robinson. Assisting with the refreshments were Mrs. Henry Robinson, Mrs. A. Hollett and Mrs. Oliver Morrison.

Border Park Assn Outlines Plans For Public Beach

ROCK ISLAND — A meeting of the Weir Memorial Park Association was held in the Town Hall attended by several leading and interested citizens of the Boundary villages.

Hugo LaPenna, Mayor of Beebe was elected Association president, with E. J. Struthers, Stanstead, vice-president, J. A. Bacon, Rock Island and W. T. May, Beebe, re-elected treasurer and secretary. Alton Grady, Rock Island, C. J. Labonte, Stanstead and C. J. Jeffries of Ogden municipality were named directors.

Reports showed that considerable advancement has been made on the Lake front park at Cedarville on Lake Memphremagog, the beach having been cleared of trees and brush and levelled, with the parking area fenced in. A new road has been built several feet back from the beach. In the spring the plans are to build bath houses, toilets, administration buildings and picnic facilities.

Mr. Jeffries, an engineer, has agreed to make a study of the park needs and give an estimate on the costs. The facilities will be planned to accommodate as many as 800 persons at one time.

Harold Cass was appointed chairman of finance and a full scale campaign will be launched shortly, so that completion of the park may begin in early spring that the beach may be open to the public in the summer.

Already the municipalities and several organizations have made donations to this worthwhile project. There has been need for a public park in the locality, where under supervision the public may spend their leisure hours at the Lake.

Lively Debate At Cookshire Institute Meeting

COOKSHIRE — The president, Mrs. Ronald Learned, was in the chair, at the November meeting of the Cookshire W.I., when business was reduced to a minimum in order to give as much time as possible to the program for the day, entitled "A Good Square Look at the Cookshire Branch."

Under the convensership of the publicity department the following questions were debated: "Do we expect too much of our officers?" "Are our meetings too long?" "Have we undertaken too much financial responsibility?" "Have we unused talent in our group?" "Are we better educated women because of our membership?" These and other searching questions from a list previously circulated provoked lively discussion and produced many constructive suggestions for action at the next annual meeting.

Plans were made and committee appointed to prepare for the annual bridge and "500" marathon after the New Year. Mixed games to be played by those who do not play the main games.

It was decided to ask members to provide six layettes of the 25,000 layettes needed for Arab refugee babies, as requested by the Unitarian Service Committee.

Prevalent illness made the attendance somewhat smaller than usual, but those present enjoyed a lively session and the hospitality of Mrs. H. Scowen and her assistants, Mrs. Clark and Mrs. O. C. Farnsworth.
