GOVERNMENT STYMIED? NO DEFENCE CUTS SEEN

Reject Seven Appeals In Hungarian Court

BUDAPEST — (Reuters) — Women in the public gallery wept and shouted Wednesday when the Hungarian Supreme Court rejected the appeals of seven men, sentenced to death for the murder of police in last fall's uprising.

The court revived seven other convicted men. One of the seven who are to die, 43-year-old Laszlo Toth, shouted to the judges: "I ask only that I may speak to my wife for the last time," adding with a wave of the hand: "From you I ask nothing... God will help me."

A woman cried: "They should hang me with him." When the youngest of the condemned men, 21-year-old Laszlo Lengyel, slumped sobbing and moaning on the bench, an elderly man called out "do not cry, my child," and a woman shouted a remark about justice.

A teen-aged girl in a summer dress cried "daddy" as guards led the prisoners away. A life sentence on the only woman prisoner, Ilona Pinczel, was reduced to 15 years.

The cases arose from the killing of six policemen in Moskole, north-east Hungary. Both prosecution and defence appealed to the Supreme Court against sentences passed by a lower court on May 16.

The court raised one prison sentence and reduced others on seven more accused in the same case. They were given prison sentences ranging from life to 10 years.

During the court's sentencing some spectators left the public gallery and sat weeping on benches in a corridor outside the court room.

Twenty-one police guards in gray and khaki uniforms with sub-machine-guns slung on their hips surrounded the 21 prisoners sitting in three rows of benches as the judgment was given. Ten more armed police were posted around the court room and in the public gallery.

The accused were charged with:

1. Nuclear weapon testing could be suspended;
2. Conventional armaments might be reduced;
3. Armies could be cut to previously agreed levels, and
4. An inspection system should be organized to guard against the possibility of surprise attacks.

The next session of the five-nation disarmament committee—made up of Britain, the United States, the Soviet Union, France and Canada—is scheduled for Friday.

Canadian White, Carolina Negro Swap Pastorates

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — (AP) — A Canadian white minister and a North Carolina Negro minister plan to swap pastorates for a month this summer.

The ministers, Rev. Wilson Bridge of Lachute, Que., and Rev. E. R. Michael of Charlotte, will take their families with them when they swap next month.

The Canadian United Church minister initiated the move. He wrote to a minister in Winston-Salem and asked about the possibility of working out a transfer. The minister referred the communication to Mr. Michael.

P.C. Tax Cut Promise Faces Complications

OTTAWA — (CP) — No cuts in defence expenditures are expected in the current fiscal year, officials said today.

This could complicate the new Progressive Conservative government's avowed intention to reduce taxes and increase old-age pensions this year.

Defence expenditures account for nearly 35 per cent of all government spending and the defence department is considered the only one in which major reductions could be made.

The defence budget in the current fiscal year, which ends next March 31, is $1,746,000,000, including defence production and civil defence. This is down about three per cent from the previous year but the saving is accounted for almost entirely by near-completion of the $200,000,000 mid-Canada warning line.

A preliminary review of 1958-59 defence estimates is under way but officials said there is, as yet, no indication whether defence spending will be cut next year.

INTENSIVE REVIEW

An intensive review of the current year's estimates is also in progress but the main purpose of this is to acquaint the new defence minister, Hon. George Peakes, VC, with the fiscal operations of his department.

The difficulty in chopping defence spending is that more than half the budget goes to personnel and maintenance costs.

A major saving could be made in this field if manpower and day-today tasks of the armed forces were sharply reduced. But Mr. Peakes and Prime Minister Diefenbaker have already indicated that there will be no such reduction.

Mr. Diefenbaker has said the government intends to keep Canada's armed forces strong and Mr. Peakes has said he has no plans for sweeping changes in defence.

The rest of the budget goes mainly for new plant and equipment such as barracks, aircraft and ships. Officials said this amount is not enough to take care of all armed forces requirements at once.

COSTS RISING

Cutting appropriations for equipment may mean a further stretch-out of the procurement and construction programs. But

Chairman DesMarais said that after the 1954 municipal election several oil companies complained they were forced to make payoffs to certain councillors in order to obtain filling-station permits.

He mentioned no names and was accused by councillor J. M. Savigne of "smearing reputations." Councillor Roger Provost said the oil companies should be investigated "because the corrupter is worse than the corrupted."

The uproar came when the administration sought unsuccessfully to amend the method of granting the permits.

Massey-Harris Bids On UK Firm

LONDON — (AP) — Top interest for Britain's financial commentators today is the announcement by the Massey-Harris-Ferguson Company of Toronto of a £10,500,000 offer to buy the Standard Motor Company of Coventry.

The Coventry company employs about 11,000 workers on automobile and tractor production. It is the smallest of Britain's "big five" car manufacturers and the takeover, if achieved, would bring three of the five under North American control. Two others, Ford and Vauxhall, are United States companies.

Call Confidence Vote Over Police Powers

PARIS (AP) — Premier Maurice Bourges-Maunoury today staked his government's special life on his demand for special police powers to cope with Algerian terrorism in France itself.

The premier cut off hours of almost uninterrupted haggling after an all-night session of the National Assembly by calling for a vote of confidence on the issue. It was his second confidence demand since taking office June 13 and was fixed for Friday afternoon.

The vote will come on a bill to continue the government's special police powers in rebellious Algeria as well as extend part of them to France. But their application to the homeland was the only point at issue.

Taking up the provision of the bill individually, the assembly earlier this morning voted 362 to 173 to continue the virtually free hand in Algeria it first granted.

Chess Brawl A Draw

LONDON (AP) — Magistrate Frank Milton, a chess enthusiast himself, listened with interest Wednesday to an account of how the Piotrowski gambit was born.

The occasion was a match between Alexander Piotrowski and Kazimierz Osiecki on the lawn of their jointly-owned house in Calpton. Osiecki had just taken Piotrowski's Queen.

At this point, Osiecki told the magistrate, Piotrowski penetrated his king's Indian defence by striking him with a garden chair. Piotrowski recalled that his opponent countered by throwing the chess board in his face. The account of subsequent moves was somewhat confused.

The match was adjourned while the players retired for treatment of a fractured rib and assorted cuts and bruises. Each charged the other with assault.

Piotrowski said he originated the gambit when Osiecki captured his queen without saying "guard" when he threatened it on the previous move. The magistrate observed that this was a breach of continental chess etiquette.

Osiecki said he omitted the conventional warning because he anticipated his opponent would exchange queens.

The magistrate, observing that this had been the first chess match in 2,000 years to send both participants to hospital, declared it a draw by dismissing both charges.

$40 Million Pulp Mill In Maritimes

HALIFAX (AP) — Premier R. L. Stanfield said today the company planning to build a $40,000,000 pulp mill in the province "favors a location along the Strait of Canso" although a definite site has not yet been chosen.

The proposed pulp mill was announced by the government Wednesday night when a statement said the firm, known as Nova Scotia Pulp Ltd., would build a plant in the eastern part of the province to produce 300 tons of high-grade bleached pulp daily.

The statement indicated the new firm was closely connected with the Swedish firm of Stora Kopparbergs.

HAGGLE DEVELOPS

After that overwhelming majority, the deputies began haggling over the government's demand for wider powers to combat a rising wave of terrorism among North Africans in France itself.

Among other things, the bill would permit unlimited detention of suspected terrorists and the house arrest of persons convicted of "acts against the security of the state." Moderate deputies as well as extreme leftists attacked these provisions, fearing that they could be used against Frenchmen as well as North Africans. Opponents sought to load the bill with so many amendments it would be unacceptable to the government, and Bourges-Maunoury finally made his confidence demand, automatically cutting off debate.

Police Solve Vote Mystery

MONTREAL — (CP) — The case of the missing ballots in suburban Ste. Genevieve was in the hands of the Quebec government today.

Barring further local developments the next step was anticipated later this week, perhaps Friday at the usual press conference of Premier Duplessis, who as attorney-general was sent a full report of events.

Detective-Captain Marcel Patenaude of the Quebec Provincial Police said Wednesday the mystery has been solved. He declined to reveal details but "I can say there was no question of theft, holdup or drugging as had been indicated in early reports."

The ballots were taken "to prevent the holding of an election," scheduled for last Monday and ordered postponed indefinitely by Mayor Armand Lacombe that day on grounds the ballots had disappeared.

"We recovered about 1,600 out of the 4,000 that were printed," Capt. Patenaude said. "These now are in our office."

PAIR QUESTIONED

The police captain said municipal Secretary-Treasurer Roland Gratton, from whose house the ballots were reported stolen, and Mayor Lacombe appeared "by invitation" at police headquarters Wednesday for questioning.

A third man also was questioned. None was detained. There would be no charges laid in connection with the case immediately, the captain said. What might happen later was a decision that "has to come from higher up."

Aside from any legal action, a government spokesman has said that two choices are possible. New elections can be scheduled or a mayor and three or four councillors can be appointed by the government.

First reports of the missing ballots said Mr. Gratton was bearded in his home by a red-headed bandit who offered him up to $2,000 to allow any body vote in the election and later forced him to drink at gunpoint a tumblers of rye.

The ballots had been gone when he recovered, the reports said.

Washington — (AP) — Two officials of the United Textile Workers Union were summoned today to tell whether they used union money to buy expensive homes for themselves.

President Anthony Valente and Secretary-Treasurer Lloyd Klenert, who have denied any irregularities, go before the special Senate rackets investigating committee to reply to testimony that they used $57,000 from the union treasury to buy homes for themselves, and another $57,000 from the same source to "reimburse" the union.

Chairman John McClellan (Dem. Ark.), in a statement launching this new phase of the committee's search for evidence of racketeering, graft and other wrongdoing, said the public hearings would explore also allegations that Klenert dipped today to tell whether they used union money to buy expensive homes for themselves.

The two union officials said in a joint statement that "all expenditures of union funds have been made either with the authorization of the convention or the international executive council, the organization's highest governing body."

Martin J. Quigley, president of the Mutual Title Company here, testified he personally closed the real estate deal in early May 1952. Quigley said that to finance it, Valente and Klenert "originally put up $95,000" in the form of a cheque drawn on their union's funds.

He said this was what the two houses cost — $42,500 for Valente's and $52,500 for Klenert's. But they used only $57,000 of the $95,000, he said, because they agreed to take over and pay off mortgages totalling $38,000 outstanding against the two properties.

Quigley then identified a batch of bank drafts and cashier's cheques he said he had received about May 15, 1952, from Valente and Klenert amounting to another $37,000.

Counsel Kennedy told the committee later testimony would show that the union treasury was "the source" of this money, too.

Court Seeks Justice For Dr. Sheppard

DELAND, Fla. (AP) — A lie detector expert says Donald Wedler told only the truth in a lengthy examination but that he still is uncertain whether Wedler had anything to do with the killing of Mrs. Samuel Sheppard in Cleveland, Ohio.

Alex Gregory of the Court of Last Resort made the statement early today after examining Wedler for 3½ hours on his "confession" that he clubbed the head of a Cleveland woman about the time Mrs. Sheppard was killed July 4, 1954.

"In no place in the examination did Wedler tell anything except the truth," Gregory said, but added he needs further examination before making a final evaluation of Wedler's test.

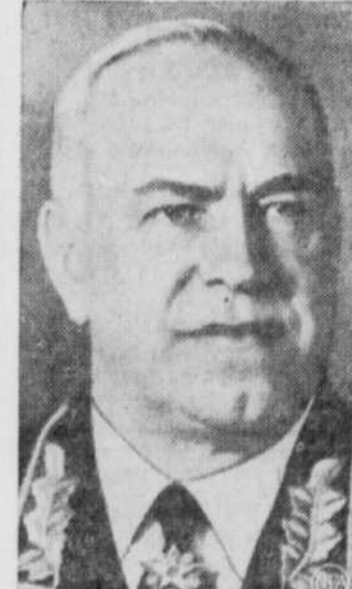

Gregory said he plans another lie detector test on Wedler today.

Mrs. Sheppard's husband is serving a life sentence for the slaying. The Court of Last Resort, a non-profit organization of legal and literary experts, has been investigating for some time to determine whether justice was done.

President Eisenhower Proposes Wilson, Zhukov Visit Exchange

CHARLES WILSON
To Exchange...

ZHUKOV
Visits With...

EISENHOWER

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A visit to Washington by President Eisenhower's old friend, Soviet Defence Minister Georgi Zhukov, appeared today to be a possibility.

Eisenhower himself said Wednesday that an exchange of visits between Zhukov and Defence Secretary Charles E. Wilson might serve a useful purpose in improving Soviet-American relations and easing world tensions.

Although the president didn't say so, one or more Eisenhower-Zhukov talks would be probable under such circumstances.

If Zhukov or his associates in the ruling group of the Soviet Communist party indicate an interest in following up the president's friendly attitude toward a talk, then events could move fairly fast.

In Moscow, the Soviet news agency Tass reported Eisenhower's statements in a brief dispatch notable for the lack of any hint of comment or criticism.

RECALLS ASSOCIATION
Eisenhower was asked several questions about Zhukov at his press conference Wednesday. He recalled that he had known the Soviet marshal well when he and Zhukov were commanders of the victorious Allied and Soviet forces in Berlin at the end of the war.

He said that at one time "Marshal Zhukov and I operated together very closely." He characterized the Soviet military leader as a "confirmed Communist" and "an honest man."

The president refrained from endorsing any general idea of a visit by any of various Kremlin leaders here.

Soviet embassy spokesman Anstol Gorsehnev said "we are in favor of exchanges between countries," including Soviet exchanges with the United States. But he declared that he could not speak specifically although his words reflected broad Soviet policy.

Eisenhower last met with Zhukov at the Big Four "summit" meeting in Geneva in mid-1955. The two men greeted each other enthusiastically on that occasion, their first get-together since their Berlin days. Eisenhower also had a private talk with Zhukov.

Induction Held

Roger Smith Heads Waterville Optimists

NORTH HATLEY — Roger Smith was installed as president of the Waterville Optimist Club at a dinner held at Pleasant View Hotel here last evening. In the absence of the district governor, Hugh Crochetiere, of Montreal, Fred Bean, the immediate past president of the Sherbrooke Club, accepted the oath of office from the incoming president and the other officers—Harry Krichew, vice-president; William Hitchko, secretary-treasurer; David Halchek and Thomas Bush, directors. The third director, Edward Stiles, was unable to attend the ceremony.

Before handing over the gavel, the outgoing president, Meredith Barter, made a brief report on the past year's activities and congratulated four of the club members—Gerald Milmore, Harold obtained its charter in November Robinson, Henri Mailhot and J. T. Ball—for having a perfect attendance record since the club 1952.

In his brief address to the club, Mr. Bean emphasized the idea of "service" — to fellow members, to the community and especially to youth. "We cannot lose sight of our motto, 'Friend of the Boy,' and although the pace of living gets faster every day and grasps most of our time and energy," he continued, "we cannot afford to sacrifice to this tempo the present and future of the youth. One willing individual can do much to help our youth train to replace us, but a group such as the Optimist Club with this their common goal can achieve much more."

Seated at the head table were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bean, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Barter, Norbert Keenan, president of the Lennoxville Club, and Mrs. Keenan. Other guests included Ronald MacDonald and Gordon Zakaib of the Sherbrooke Club.

Warm Weather Is Prime Need For Heavy Hay Crop

Spring frosts, combined with dry weather in April and May and sudden, heavy rains this month, have presented some considerable anxiety to farmers in the Eastern Townships. At the present, after an exceptionally wet first half of July, the farmers are hoping for a week of dry weather so that the good hay crop can be taken in according to Lennoxville Experimental Farm authorities.

Plenty of rain lately (three-quarters of an inch more than the average for the last 42 years) have made a good hay crop. As a result, the farmers are not having to open grain fields for pasturing. Potatoes and vegetables in general look good and an average crop is expected.

Except in low-lying areas where the heavy rain has caused flooding, the grain crops look good too. Late frosts in April have done damage to the apples and the crop is expected to be below average as will other fruit crops except for strawberries which have been good despite the spring frosts and the dry months later.

Livestock in the area is in good condition thanks to the abundance of pasture land which recent heavy rain has improved.

Arbitration Board Asks Increased Pay To Police

An arbitration board investigating a contract dispute between the City of Sherbrooke and the Association of Sherbrooke Police-men has handed down a report recommending an overall, average pay increase of $4 weekly for constables.

The increases suggested by the board range from $51 to $53 weekly in the case of first-year constables to $63 to $68 for constables with five years experience.

The union sought a wage scale from $56 to $73 weekly. The report also recommended the city increase its share of the employees' group insurance costs from 25 to 40 per cent, but the board rejected a union demand for a boost in the overtime rates from $1.50 to $1.75 an hour.

It also rejected a union request for the reduction in the work week from 48 to 40 hours. The arbitration board, comprising Judge J. C. Samson, Arthur Mateau, city representative, and Marc Lapointe, union representative, was unanimous on only a few points, Mr. Matteau dissenting from 12 clauses and Mr. Lapointe from seven.

Among the sections opposed by Mr. Lapointe were those dealing with hours of work, the photographer, the clerk of the Municipal Court and his assistant, overtime and payment for appearances in court and paid vacations.

The city representative dissented from the clauses covering salary increases, alternating service for constables, overtime payments for training officers, the fixing of pay days, paid holidays for social events, the city's obligation to maintain vehicles and stations, the equipment to be furnished and the duration of the contract.

The contract would be retroactive until Jan. 1, 1957, and continue in force until the end of the current year.

Sharp Tone Changes Mark Latest North Hatley Play

NORTH HATLEY — Two acts of good light comedy and an abrupt change of pace in the third act characterize John Van Drueten's "The Voice of the Turtle" which opened last night at the North Hatley Playhouse.

The cast of three, Joan Watts, Oliver Berg and Sondra Gibson, carry off the comedy delightfully and manage the switch into serious love-drama with conviction.

The plot is a simple one. Sally, played by Joan Watts, a pretty young actress with a head full of peculiar fancies and a kind heart has vowed to restrain her love life which she feels has been too unrestricted after the bitter experience of two love affairs. Sally's friend, Olive Lashbrook, Sondra Gibson, urges her to live life to the full but she changes her attitude when Sally dares to capture the attentions of an army sergeant whom Olive has just stood up.

But Sally can never quite overcome her fear of being hurt in love. The real action of the play is concerned with how Bill Page, the soldier, played by Oliver Berg, convinces Sally that his love is real.

The scene is Sally's apartment. It is set in New York during the Second World War. Bill is on furlough, and for him it is the time when the cold of winter leaves and the voice of the turtle (dove) is heard once more in the land. Sally, disturbed by a fear that she is living life wrongly, never seeing real life, but only the unreal life of acting, can't trust Bill or the promises of spring. Bill disillusioned, a bit cynical from the war, still nurses a hope for something good in life and he feels he has found it in Sally.

It's not a difficult play, but there is a double value for the comedy of the first two acts that comes into the open in the third and gives the play a certain punch to complement the comedy. The first and second acts skip past quickly and the hesitation on the part of Sally to love Bill seems not a serious complication. In the final act, something happens; Bill is dead serious and Sally has to make a decision in her heart. The fineness of the Playhouse performance lies in the complete believability with which Joan Watts and Oliver Berg effect this difficult transition.

Sondra Gibson, who portrays well the nasty Olive, is believable. She gives the play the necessary reality of life.

The sets by Helen Austin are excellent. Like the rest of the production, they are smooth and professional. Joan Watts, in her first starring role with the Playhouse for this season, began her acting career in Toronto and has working from 12 clauses and Mr. Lapointe from seven.

ET Residents Involved In Brown Strike

A number of Eastern Townships woodworkers are among employees of Brown Company of Berlin, N.H., out on strike from wood-cutting camps in Maine and New Hampshire.

The men, members of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers (AFL-CIO), walked out two weeks ago to back demands for higher wood-cutting rates, a better wage scale for hourly-paid workers, and improved working conditions.

The company recruits most of its labor force from the Lake Megantic area and has about 900 Canadian employees on its payroll.

The union is maintaining picket lines over an area covering hundreds of miles in the two states, and Quebec province. The company has offered a 25-cent-a-hour wage boost and a five-cent hourly increase for hourly-rated employees.

Henry L. Lorrain of Montreal, international vice-president of the union, said wood-cutters were getting $6 per cord up to 76 cords, then $6.50. Hourly-paid workers were getting from $1.06 an hour.

Inflation Threat In The West

Inflation, a persistent undercurrent in the postwar economy, is becoming more acute in a number of nations in the Western world.

In Britain and the United States, however, inflation poses a major threat. In both countries, tight money and a voluntary lessening of union pressure for higher wages are the main devices being used to fight the price-wage spiral.

France is under severe economic tension which threatens her with devaluation. She has continued many wartime controls, trying to limit imports to conserve foreign exchange while pushing exports.

also mark the French economic scene. Military expenditures in North Africa are a steady drain.

Britain has been faced with one crisis after another since 1945. Her anti-inflation measures have been undermined by the increasing industrialization of other nations.

The United States Congress is currently trying to find out why there should be inflation in the United States at a time when there appears to be a relatively even balance between supply and demand.

Canadian government economists appear to believe now that the record capital expenditures during the next year do not pose as serious an inflationary threat as they did a year ago.

Ambassador Of Hot Licks

Harassed U.S. State Department officials, beset with criticism of foreign policies from both politicians in Washington and critics abroad, must look with envy sometimes on one American ambassador who seems to have scored a smashing success wherever he has gone.

The diplomat who has emerged unscathed and unabashed from numerous forays into foreign territory is none other than that master of jazz trumpet and gravel-voiced song Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong.

Ambassador Armstrong, who is about to embark on new ventures into Latin America and perhaps the Iron Curtain, is not bashful about his success.

This is a commendable spirit. If only the envoys of the Communist world were real cool jazz fans, the world's troubles could be solved at an international jam session.

This And That

Doctors say the best way to help a drowning victim is to force air into the mouth. Another good way to reduce the summer water toll is for people to obey the elementary rules of water safety.

A 16-year-old British schoolgirl has found one way to solve her examination worries. She married her teacher (age 32).

Britain's sizzling heat wave will force pub wits to find a substitute for their standard summer joke: "We had a nice summer this year, it happened on a Tuesday."

Press Comment

STOPPING SMOKING (Manchester Guardian) What are the heavy smokers among us to do now? "Stop smoking," is the simple answer, but it is unlikely that a public pronouncement, even by the Medical Research Council, will have a dramatic effect on habits ingrained over several years. So it is natural to look to the Government for help. In many ways, of course, the Government has already done a good deal. The public endorsement given last week by the Ministry of Health to the proposition that smoking can cause lung cancer should have some effect.

On this issue, the Government's only fault has been that of procrastination: it has had to be bullied into doing something that should have been done at least a year ago. But what else can be done now? Could there be some form of direct legislation against smoking that would have some real effect, and which would not run counter to British susceptibilities?

It is hard to think of any. There is no evidence that smokers harm anybody but themselves; so an act forbidding smoking in public places — in cinemas, for example — would have no more moral validity than one prohibiting it altogether; it could not be argued that such a prohibition was needed to protect non-smokers from smokers.

Probably there is scope for more constructive action in the schools, but even here there are difficulties. Schoolteachers cannot reasonably be asked to lecture about lung cancer. There seems to be a case for asking local doctors to give regular talks to schools on the admitted dangers of smoking, or for including material like this in the broadcasts for schools. It may be suggested that taxation, penalising cigarette-smokers as against those who smoke pipes would drive the former to a less dangerous form of their indulgence. Unfortunately the comparative statistical innocuousness of tobacco pipes seems to be due in part, at least, to the fact that their users do not inhale.

Mystery In Indochina

Diplomat's Murder Still Unsolved

By JOSEPH NERBONNE SAIGON (P) —The brutal killer who put a gory end to the promising career of a young Canadian diplomat on the Indochina armistice commission is still at large more than three months after the murder that rocked the usually blasé capital of Saigon.

The target for the assassin's blade was Lucien Cannon, a 38-year-old career officer in the Canadian diplomatic service who had the rank of second secretary, but who actually headed the Canadian side of the mixed armistice team in Saigon.

Married, with two children, Cannon had to leave them in Ottawa as the Canadians on the commission serve the relatively short period of nine to 12 months and do not bring their families with them.

Friendly and well-liked, the handsome diplomat hardly had time to get settled in Saigon before the murderer tracked him down and escaped, leaving no important clues.

Shortly after arriving, Cannon visited Hanoi, capital of Communist-held North Viet Nam and the headquarters of the three-power (India, Canada, Poland) commission still supervising the Indochina truce three years after the fighting stopped.

The commission is not generally taxed with work these days and, being athletic, Cannon found plenty of time to swim and play tennis at Saigon's fashionable French-run Cercle Sportif, where the Vietnamese capital's foreign colony gather to gossip and play.

On the evening of April 11, Cannon, a native of Quebec City, and a group of 14 Canadian friends assembled for a farewell dinner to a departing colleague. They drove to Cholom — Saigon's twin Chinese capital — to eat at the most popular Chinese-run restaurant, the Ars en Ciel.

After a lavish meal including the local specialties of baked duck, cranes' eggs and shark's fin soup, the whole party went on to the Tabarin, a Saigon night club boasting a Philippine orchestra and pretty Vietnamese and Chinese taxi-girls.

The group settled in to the Tabarin for a few beers and to watch the attractive Chinese dance by in gowns split to the thigh and the more modest Vietnamese dressed in long tunics split at the waist and billowy silk trousers. A few girls joined the Canadians at $1.25 an hour.

One by one the party broke up and Cannon left, most think, about midnight. He was alone, his friends believe, but none can say for sure.

From this point, Vietnamese detectives handling the case found a complete blackout as no one saw the diplomat after he left the night club. They frankly admit it's the toughest case they've handled in years.

Cannon is thought to have taken his big, black French

Citron directly back to the commission compound reserved for high officials of the three nations.

The compound was guarded by Vietnamese sentries but they do not remember seeing his car come in and they did not record his car number as they were supposed to do.

Cannon entered his French-style villa, leaving it unlocked, and apparently went directly to bed. At six the next morning (April 12) his houseboy, peering behind a mosquito net, discovered Cannon's naked body covered with blood.

The investigation later proved he had been stabbed four times in the chest. Three of the wounds went expertly through the heart. The knife was not discovered but experts later said it was a triangular-shaped blade rather like a soldier's bayonet.

The most interesting clues found were two glasses—one half filled with whisky and water and the other empty.

Whether used before Cannon went out that evening or after he returned home is still unknown. If there were any fingerprints on the glasses, they were destroyed, for the bedroom soon filled with inquisitive diplomats, commission members, police and friends.

A foreign police expert arrived on the scene an hour or two after the body was discovered and was asked by a bewildered Vietnamese detective whether he had any advice to give.

"Yes," the expert replied, "take down the names and addresses of these 30 or 40 people here."

"It wouldn't do any good," came the response, "50 or 60 others have already come and gone."

Thus began the investigation of Saigon's first major international murder since the Ngo

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE.

(Ottawa Journal) A one-horse, hillside farmer with a penchant for minor crusades does not expect to convert many of his intransigent peers to the logical procedure of eating desserts at the front end of meals when taste buds are keener. It may, however, be possible to interest more citizens in the correct way to prepare and to consume a strawberry shortcake.

Each year heinous crimes are ruthlessly committed against this of all fruits. Some persons take a flat slab of sponge-like cake and slice berries over it; then to add finishing glastly touch they slap on a glob of gooey whipped cream. Some citizens make a cake, cover it with berries and whipped cream and then serve it in wedges. It is tragic that such things happen.

There is only one civilized way to serve strawberry shortcake. Take two brown-crust, hot-hearted biscuits. Open the biscuits gently and place them in a soup plate. Lather the four halves generously with butter, and then over the four halves pour a full pint of thoroughly crushed, juicy, dead ripe, room-temperature berries.

Add a sprinkling of white sugar if you wish but never, under any conditions, use such a barbaric accoutrement as whipped cream. What you want is the flavor combination of the berries plus the buttered biscuits. That is strawberry shortcake—flavorful, satisfying, and according to some men of experience and authority, the best dessert yet devised by the mind of man.

Jacoby On Bridge

NO-TRUMP BID SAFEST HERE

North's two diamond response to his partner's opening no-trump was the Jacoby transfer and showed a heart suit of at least five cards.

South's two hearts was the automatic rebid. North's bid of two spades was a force to game and showed that he held a secondary spade suit in addition to the heart suit already shown by the transfer bid.

South decided to bid no-trump at this point. He did hold four hearts but his stoppers in diamonds and clubs looked so good that he did not fear either of those suits at no-trump.

At this point North made a brilliant decision. He was looking right at ten cards in the major suits but he still raised his partner to three no-trump.

It was well that he did. Five no-trump was made but four hearts might have gone down.

All West would have to do would be to open a diamond. East would win with the ace and shift to the nine of clubs. West would win with the appropriate card and cash a second club. A third club lead would complete the deuce. Dummy could ruff high or low but in either case East would make his queen of trumps and beat the hand.

Bridge score table showing North, South, West, and East hands with card counts and a final opening lead of 4♠.

Q—The bidding has been: East 3 Spades Double Pass West 4 Hearts Pass

You, South, hold: Spades 2, Hearts A-Q-8-7-6, Diamonds A-J-10-5, Clubs K-J-4. What do you do?

A—Pass. Your partner has bid your best suit but he has merely responded to your takeout double and a slam is most unlikely.

TODAY'S QUESTION West bids four spades and your partner doubles. East passes. What do you do?

UNCIVIL PERFORMANCE

(Toronto Telegram) Toronto's reputation for receiving notable visitors graciously was scarcely enhanced yesterday when Controllers Brand and Allen declined to join Controllers Jean Newman and Cornish in the Mayor's office to extend a welcome to members of the Japan Steel Mission.

The two absent controllers, remaining in the Council chamber for the board meeting which had been called at the time the mission arrived, appeared to think that it was more appropriate to receive the delegation in the chamber. Whatever weight they might give to this contention, it is not impressive.

No more was asked of them than to join the other controllers for a few minutes to extend to members of an important delegation the greetings of the city and to wish success to their mission of goodwill. Their omission to do this was a surprisingly uncivil act, surprising because Controllers Brand and Allen are usually particular about such matters.

Soviet Biologist Lysenko Hopes To Boost Milk Output

MOSCOW (AP)—Biologist Trofim D. Lysenko has advanced a program for cross-breeding and prenatal feeding of cattle to increase milk production and decrease the danger of bovine motherhood.

It's the controversial scientist's contribution to Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev's drive to catch and pass the United States in the production of milk, meat and butter.

Cattle breeding-feeding doctrine was displayed prominently across two pages of Pravda Wednesday, apparently giving it the authoritative backing of the party in its official newspaper.

The substance of the theory amounts to the breeding of small bulls to large cows of high milk productivity to get small calves that won't endanger the mother at birth but will have the mother's high milk potential; then enrich the mother's feeding during calving time so the offspring will grow big and strong.

Lysenko said production of large calves created serious problems, but these could be solved by the breeding of high milk producing cows to bulls of a smaller strain.

The biologist said his experiments found that Holsteins crossed with Jersey bulls produced higher milk yields as well as higher butterfat content. Special feeding during gestation, he said, influenced embryo development along Jersey lines.

Lysenko's theory that acquired characteristics can be transmitted by heredity won him high favor under Stalin, despite the opposition it generated in scientific circles in the West. After Stalin's death, a Lysenko decline set in, resulting last year in his loss of the presidency of the Soviet Academy of Agricultural Sciences. But since then the Lysenko downturn has been reversed.

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP)—South Africa and other Commonwealth countries will have to guard their own coastlines now the Royal Navy is transforming into a nuclear striking force, Vice Admiral Sir Geoffrey Robson, commander-in-chief South Atlantic, told the Royal Empire Society.

KHRUSHCHEV—In climactic move against powerful rivals, he "jumped" Malenkov, Molotov, Kaganovich and Shepilov, putting them out of the game.

ZHUKOV—For his vital aid to Khrushchev, he was elevated to the Presidium, may be moved to the "king row" to be "crowned" with the premiership.

BULGANIN—Said to have backed the wrong checker player by siding with Molotov. Khrushchev may "jump" him out of the premiership.

VOROSHILOV—Now president of U.S.S.R., he's still in game but his chances of remaining in "king row" diminished with his reported backing of ousted Molotov.

MOVES ON THE RED CHECKERBOARD—So you can see at a glance the basic manoeuvres of the complicated Communist power game, here are the key personalities and their status after the recent Kremlin purge. They are Nikita Khrushchev, First Secretary of the Communist party; Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, Defense Minister; Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, Premier, and Marshal Kliment K. Voroshilov, Presidium Chairman or "President" of the U.S.S.R.

U.S. Ship Explosion Kills Four

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP)—Three men were killed and four others severely injured by an explosion aboard a U. S. navy escort patrol vessel Wednesday night in the Atlantic, about 120 miles southeast here.

The 180-foot craft, the Somersworth, is headed here under its own power. The injured are being taken to the Newport, R. I., naval base aboard another naval vessel.

The nature of the explosion was not disclosed.

A spokesman at the naval submarine base here said the Somersworth belongs to an experimental unit which tests new electronic equipment. He said there was "nothing out of the ordinary or explosive" in the way of new equipment aboard.

The explosion apparently did not damage the Somersworth severely or set it afire.

The liner Queen Mary, outward bound from New York to England, took the injured off the stricken ship, and was held up a little more than four hours in the process.

The navy sent the Sunbird, a submarine rescue ship, from here to pick up the injured from the Queen Mary.

MR. AND MRS. ALBERT W. BULLOCK, photographed following their wedding which took place on Saturday, July 13, in Centenary United Church, Stanstead. The bride, the former Miss Claire Elizabeth Adam, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Adam, of Rock Island, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Bullock, of Granitville.

Marriages

BULLOCK — ADAM
STANSTEAD — The marriage of Claire Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Adam of Rock Island to Mr. Albert W. Bullock, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Bullock of Granitville, took place at Centenary United Church, on Saturday, July 13th, at three o'clock, Rev. A. McKinley Rose, pastor of the church, officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The organ music was played by Mrs. A. P. Gordon, who accompanied Mrs. Nelson Pierce, of Ayer's Cliff, in the rendition of "Whither Thou Goest" during the signing of the register. Standards of multicolored gladioli were used to decorate the Chancel and white satin ribbon bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white bridal lace and nylon tulle over satin, designed with a lace bodice having lily-point sleeves, a round neckline, and self-covered buttons down the back. The lace extended into the skirt in an apron effect between the double tulle over-skirt. Her finger tip length veil of tulle, edged with matching lace, fell from a cap of lace and tulle, accented with tinted sequins and pearls. Her jewellery consisted of a triple strand of pearls and earrings, and she carried a colonial bouquet of red roses and baby's breath.

Miss Doreen Adam as maid of honor for her sister, was in a frock of white nylon taffeta, printed with blue cornflowers. The dress was styled with a scoop neckline having a blue scarf tied in a bow at the back with the ends trailing, and a semi-gathered skirt. Her head-dress was a white feather bandeau, and she carried a nosegay of white carnations.

Mrs. Beatrice Reed, of Newport, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, and was in a frock of daffodil yellow lace over taffeta, fashioned with a draped chiffon neckline caught in a V at the back, the ends trailing, and a gathered skirt. She wore a white feather bandeau and carried a nosegay of white carnations.

Mr. Leslie Bullock was best man for his brother, and Messrs. William Curtis and Marcel Simard ushered.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Adam, chose a frock of turquoise nylon jersey, with a black straw hat and accessories. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Bullock, mother of the groom, was attired in a blue silk frock, with a black straw hat and accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

The groom's grandmother, Mrs.

Maude Tiedeman, of South Tamworth, N. H., was in a printed silk frock in shades of blue and old rose, with a black hat and accessories. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

The reception following the ceremony was held in the flower-decorated church hall, where Mr. and Mrs. Bullock received the congratulations of 65 guests. The bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth centered with a three-tier wedding cake, made by the bride's mother and decorated by Mrs. Rose Thompson, of Ayer's Cliff, the top tier made in the design of a rose bowl holding blossoms. White tapers in crystal holders and bowls of pink tea-roses completed the arrangement. Luncheon was served by the members of the United Organization of the church.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Bullock left by motor to visit points of interest in the New England States. The bride travelled in an original model jacket frock of turquoise blue poplin, with a white hat and accessories. She wore a corsage of white carnations. Upon their return, they will reside on Western Ave., Rock Island.

Out of town guests came from Montreal, Lennoxville, several points in the New England States and the Boundary Villages.

THERRIEN — ROWELL

DERBY LINE — The marriage of Carolyn June, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rowell, of Derby, Vt., to Mr. Andrew George Therrien, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Therrien, took place on Saturday July 13, at nine o'clock in St. Edward's Church, Rev. Father Armand Fortin, parish priest, officiating at the double ring ceremony and was celebrant of the nuptial mass.

Miss Pierette Goudreau presided at the organ, and accompanied the soloists Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lord and Mrs. Raymond Petelle in the rendition of "Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus," "Mother At Your Feet Is Kneeling" and "Cantique de Marriage." Seasonal flowers were used to decorate the sanctuary.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white imported Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over bridal satin, designed with a basque lace bodice and with lily-point sleeves. The floor-length skirt was of double tulle accented with scalloped lace panels. Her finger-tip veil fell from a cap of lace, embroidered with seed pearls and tinted sequins. She carried a Colonial bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Richard Jackson of Canaan, Vt., as matron of honor was in a ballerina-length gown of periwinkle blue net over taffeta. Her bouquet was of yellow carnations.

Mr. Maurice Beaugard was best man for his cousin, and the ushers were Mr. Roger Therrien, brother of the groom, and Mr. Robert Taplin, brother-in-law of the bride.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Rowell, chose a frock of orchid lace over taffeta with matching hat, and white accessories. She wore a corsage of yellow roses.

Mrs. Therrien, mother of the groom, was dressed in a frock of grey nylon with blue accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Meadowbrook Lodge, Derby, attended by 100 guests. The bride's table was centered with a four-tier wedding cake, decorated in white and silver. Seasonal flowers and lighted tapers completed the arrangement. Miss Colleen Moore and Miss Nancy Whitcomb presided at the punch bowls.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Therrien left for a wedding trip to Boston and Cape Cod, Mass., the bride travelling in a frock of pale green cotton, with white accessories with which she wore a corsage of yellow roses. Upon their return, they will reside in Newport, Vt.

Out of town guests attended from Glen Falls, New York, Montreal, St. Helen Bagot, Ayer's Cliff, Rock Island, Beebe, Derby, East Charleston and Coventry, Vt.

Put Home In Comfort Zone With Air Conditioning

Air Conditioning Is Important To Health

Are you lagging behind in today's standard of living? Many homes now contain an automatic washer and dryer, a dishwasher, a radio... a television set.

These affect only the clothes we wear, the dishes from which we eat or entertainment from boredom. More important by far is your own comfort, your health and the freedom from discomfort which an air-conditioner would provide.

It is pointed out that an air conditioner is more important to a person's health, well-being and efficiency than any other appliance because the effect is not upon an inanimate object, but upon you.

Air conditioning is now within the reach of everyone. It not only provides cooling comfort in the oppressive heat of summer, but it has many additional advantages.

Families Healthier

Families are healthier because they eat more nutritious foods in hot weather. Keeping the house clean is easier. Houses stay cleaner longer. Dry cleaning bills are lower. Doctor bills are lower.

Persons with asthma, hay fever and heart conditions secure relief from their ailments. Costs of building homes are reduced because an air-conditioned house does not require outdoor living areas.

We have learned to take the necessary measures to guard against cold, but we have not yet learned that it is just as necessary to guard against heat. More people die from the heat in this country than from the cold. Heat kills you in slow stages by putting greater strain on your heart. The answer to relief from this problem is air conditioning.

These are just a few of the reasons why homes with year around air conditioning offer a "new dimension in living". Complete year around air conditioning is one of the most important advances in modern living.

Warm Air System

If you already have warm air heat, you have half of the air conditioning system for your home. Simply add a cooling unit to your present hot air system and take advantage of the ducts already in place. Air conditioning your home will increase its value more than the cost and make it more saleable.

For the renter or the older house, it may be most economical to install room air condi-

An air conditioner in the kitchen benefits every member of the family. Such window units will cool, heat, clean and dehumidify the air and also eliminate cooking odors. An electronic filter traps dust and other air-borne substances as small as 1/25,000th of an inch. Handsome, compact and whisper-quiet, the new window unit with heating element is a year-around joy to housewives. A built-in thermostat automatically maintains selected temperature and humidity conditions. Placement of unit does not obstruct the view.

Air Conditioners Are Now Made To Fit Any Location

No matter what your home's space limitations may be, the manufacturers of air-conditioning equipment, through their engineers, are making it possible to place an air-conditioner in almost any kind of a location. For the home-owner who wants to air-condition only one or two rooms, there are the room air-conditioners, which come in one third, one half, three quarter, one-ton, one and one half ton and two ton units, although the one and one half and two ton models are usually of the console type which sit on the floor just inside of the window.

Casement window units are now made by a good many manufacturers. Most units have thermostatic controls which automatically maintain an even desired temperature in the room to suit your own preference. Some of these units heat as well as cool. Units similar to the window units are now also made to be installed "thru-the-wall." One advantage of installing a unit in the wall is that the window is not obstructed.

Units are also available for use in the attic space or the space under the eaves as well as units which can be mounted on the basement ceiling or in the crawl space under a home without a basement.

In business, particularly in many small shops, where floor space is at a premium and where ceilings are high, it is practical to mount one or more room air-conditioners in the transom space over the doorway.

Heart Works Hard In Hot Weather

Your heart is the power plant of the human body and in one year it pumps enough blood through your system to fill 80 to 200 tank cars of 8,000 gallons each. Heat and humidity of summer weather place an additional strain on the heart. Studies show air conditioning can bring relief from the added strains of hot weather.

Then you can do your cooling naturally — because summer comfort is the result of cool air and a soft breeze. That's what you enjoy when on vacation in the mountains or at the seashore. And that's what you can have in your home with fans.

Everybody wants to keep cool in summer. It's important to do just that... not only from the standpoint of comfort, but for health and efficiency. You can work better and sleep better if your body isn't excessively overheated. Everyone realizes that instinctively.

People try to stay in the shade on hot, sunny days, and they get out where there's a breeze. For the same purpose indoors, people buy fans.

Basically, all fans do one of two things... they either circulate air inside a room or rooms, or they provide ventilation. They do this in various ways, and must be of the proper size to do their job well.

It pays to have a fan big enough to do its job properly. The larger the room or rooms to be cooled or ventilated, the larger the fan you need for efficient service.

In other words, the more air there is to move, the bigger the fan should be. You can find out from your fan retailer what size fan you'll need.

If you have the right sizes and types of fans, here's what happens: During the day, when your home is filled with cool air from the night before, you merely want to circulate it for comfort.

A circulating fan provides the cooling breeze which evaporates perspiration from your skin. If it evaporates quickly, you feel cooler. And that's one thing fans help you do — feel cooler! At night, when the outdoor air is cool and the indoor air is hot, you want to reverse the situation. You want to remove the hot, muggy air and bring in the cool air. That makes you feel cooler, too.

Fans can do a wonderful job of providing you with summer comfort. You needn't wait for breezes. Just make your own with fans that change stagnant indoor air into fresh lively air during the day, and replace overheated indoor air with cool outdoor air at night. With fans, life during the summer can be a lot more pleasant!

INSULATING WINDOWS

Double-pane insulating windows are important to summer air conditioning just as they are to winter heating, latest studies of temperature control problems reveal.

Builders are finding the double-pane glass, which reduces heat loss in winter months, plays the opposite role in summer by cutting heat intake by lightening the "load" of the air-conditioner.

Modern offices receive the benefits of freedom from noise, soot, dust, dirt, pollen and high humidity as well as cooling with a room air conditioner. Equally important in reception rooms and conference rooms, where there is need for additional ventilation to exhaust smoke. Modern room air conditioners provide this function along with their many other benefits... office workers feel better... think better... work better and produce more work.

COOL SLEEPING

An air-conditioned bedroom is a year-round joy. You can face the hottest summer day without wilting after a good night's rest because a room air conditioner circulates cool, fresh air all night long.

PROPER PRECAUTIONS

In preparing your present house for air conditioning, you should insulate walls and attic and paint walls a light color and the roof a white or light color.

Window fans like this one are called "suitcase" type because they resemble a fine piece of luggage in size and shape. They lead a double life, because they are easily portable. In the window, they're efficient ventilating fans. Lifted off the window in a jiffy, they can be used for air circulation anywhere else in the house. You place them on the floor on a table, plug them in — and the cooling action starts right away.

Davis Cup Captains Indulge In Quiet Battle Of Nerves With First-Round Draw Today; Bob Bedard No. 1 Choice

MONTREAL (CP)—The captains of the Canadian and Brazilian Davis Cup tennis teams indulged in a quiet war of nerves as they awaited today's draw for the North American zone first-round competition beginning Friday.

"We can beat them," said Gordie McNeil, non-playing skipper of the three-man Canadian contingent.

"We are pretty confident," retorted Armando Vieira of Brazil. "We have the better record."

Each has decided his singles nominees but neither was making them public until the 11 a.m. draw at the Mount Royal courts where the three-day meeting will be held on grass.

Likely Canadian choices for the singles are Bob Bedard, 25, of Sherbrooke, Que., and Don Fontana, 26, of Toronto, possibly against playing-captain Vieira, 32, and Carlos Fernandes, 19.

After lengthy three-hour workouts Wednesday Vieira and McNeil shunted their players off to a good night's sleep. Short warm-up workouts were planned later today.

Vieira's point is that he himself, a 10-year international veteran, has beaten Bedard, Canada's best. Fontana and Paul Willey, 25, of Vancouver, possible doubles player, don't have records to equal those of Fernandez and Jose Aguiro, 24, Brazil's third player.

Fernandez once beat Australia's Lew Hoad and Aguiro won the U. S. intercollegiate championship in 1955. Bedard has taken Fernandez.

On the other hand says McNeil, the Brazilians will be playing on a foreign court, on a grass surface and with a newcomer like Fernandez liable to feel the pressure.

Both McNeil and Vieira figured a split might develop in the four singles matches, leaving Saturday doubles the crucial match.

Bedard, despite a poor practice round Wednesday in which he consistently drove back-hand shots into the net, is practically certain to be one of Canada's doubles players. Whether Fontana or Willey will partner Bedard will depend on the outcome of Friday's singles, McNeil said.

Athletics Stop Indians, Move Into Top Spot

Lions' sponsored Athletics took over leadership in the Sherbrooke Little League last night when they downed the Rotary Sponsored Indians 6-4 at the Parade Grounds. Young Guy Ginguas was credited with the win while R. Labbe was the loser. White Sox meet the Indians at the Parade Grounds tonight at 6.30.

Indians got away to a three run lead in the top of the first inning when three walks and a triple by Mike Houle, sending the runs across. Labbe, on the mound for the Indians, kept the A's hitless and runless in the first three innings. Bottom of the fourth the A's started to get to Labbe coming up with singles in a row from Roy, Bourque and Viens these were good enough for three runs to tie the ball game.

Indians opened up the fifth inning with one run on two bases on balls and a hit by Beland. Two hits by Dore and Bourque of the A's gave them one run in the fifth and the teams were all tied once again.

Indians went scoreless in the top of the sixth and the A's got their chance to take the game. D. Ginguas, Fortier and G. Ginguas came up with hits to send home two runs and this was it. Athletics taking the game 6-4.

The Indians' infield played smart ball in the game and Labbe though the loser pitched smartly. Athletics all played well and rose to the occasion.

Giants And Dodgers Seem Headed For West Coast, Just Matter Of Waiting For Report From Brooklyn Committee

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP)—New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers definitely will be playing their regular season home games in San Francisco and Los Angeles, respectively, in 1958. The Associated Press was told today by a source close to one of the local National League teams.

No contracts have been signed, no money has changed hands and no negotiations have even been originated with member clubs of the Pacific Coast League. But, according to the informant, presidents Horace Stoneham of the Giants and Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers have given their word to San Francisco and Los Angeles officials that they'll bring their clubs there provided all promises made last May are kept. The California politicians have no intention of reneging, he said. The informant added:

"Stoneham, in fact, has a meeting scheduled Friday with San Francisco leaders who are expected to bring a definite proposal from Mayor George Christopher. Horace is awaiting only that before he officially recommends the move to his board of directors. O'Malley will make his recommendation to the Dodgers board the same day."

The informant said contracts actually have been signed with Skiatron Television to pipe closed circuit telecasts of home games into private dwellings in the San Francisco and Los Angeles areas.

"Skiatron has guaranteed the two clubs a million dollars a year," the man said. He said negotiations for the drafting of the San Francisco and Los Angeles territories will begin as soon as baseball law allows — Oct. 1 — and the two New York clubs will be in California before the major league winter meetings get under way in Colorado Springs, Colo., in December.

The Giants, he said, will play their 1958 games in Seal's Stadium, capacity 21,000, until a new 45,000-seat municipal stadium is completed. The Dodgers will play weekday games in Wrigley Field, 25,000 capacity, and weekend and holiday games in the Coliseum until their proposed new park is built in Chavez Ravine.

"Don't expect O'Malley to make any kind of statement until the Brooklyn sports centre authority makes its report late this month," the man said. "Between you and me and the lamp post, no one will be more surprised than O'Malley if the report is favorable."

At a so-called "showdown" meeting between O'Malley and Mayor Robert F. Wagner in city hall last June, a report was promised the Dodger boss within six weeks on the engineering and financial feasibility of a new park for the Dodgers on the Flatbush and Atlantic Aves. site. The report is due July 25.

Low Hoad Wins Second Match

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP)—Low Hoad and Frank Sedgman, the young and old of Australian professional tennis, swept to easy victories Wednesday in Jack Kramer's tournament of champions.

Hoad, playing his second match as a pro since signing for $125,000 for the next two years, crushed Pancho Segura 6-1, 7-5, 6-2. Sedgman, Aussie Davis Cup ace of a half dozen years ago, dumped Tony Trabert, 2-6, 6-4, 8-6, 6-3, while a crowd of about 2,000 watched in the West Side Tennis Club.

Along with champion Pancho Gonzales, Hoad is undefeated in the tournament. Gonzales didn't play singles Wednesday but he and Hoad meet Sunday.

Chalmers Wins Junior Crown

MONTREAL (CP)—Dave Chalmers of the Montreal Whitlock Club Wednesday won the Quebec junior golf championship, defeating Gordon LeRiche, of Montreal Hampstead 2 and 1 in 18 holes over the Elm Ridge course.

The Whitlock youngster, 17, reached the final by defeating John Phillips of Cornwall, Ont., 6 and 5 in a morning semi-final. LeRiche advanced with a 3 and 2 win over Ray Zabowski of Montreal Mariborough.

REMEMBER WHEN

Rocky Graziano reached the pinnacle of his stormy boxing career by stopping Tony Zale in the sixth round at Chicago 10 years ago today to win the world middleweight crown. Graziano, banned from appearing in several states because of his conduct in private life, lost his title to Zale less than a year later by a third-round knockout.

Posts His Fourth Win In A Row Stopping Dodgers; Cards Hold One Point Lead; Yanks Retain Hold

It may have been kids like the McDaniel boys who perked up St. Louis pitching, but at the moment it's latecomer Sam Jones who has won the big ones to put the Cardinals in the National League lead.

The 31-year-old righthander, who went to the Cards from Chicago Cubs in one of Frank Lane's deals last December, now has won four in a row for the first time in a five-year major league career and each has figured in the Redbirds' rise to the top.

He got them back into first place Wednesday night, breaking the Cards' four-game losing streak with a 7-3 victory over fourth-place Brooklyn that ended the Dodgers' spurt at five games and finally junked Don Newcombe's six-year wummy.

St. Louis regained the lead by one percentage point as Milwaukee dropped Philadelphia out of first with a 10-3 decision that lifted the Braves to second with a .570 percentage.

Cincinnati remained fifth, two games back, on a 5-4 victory over New York Giants with Redleg Frank Robinson shrugging off Tuesday's beaming to return to the lineup. Chicago scored twice in the to beat Pittsburgh 4-3.

In the American League, New York Yankees stayed four games ahead with a 5-1 victory at Detroit after Chicago's second-place White Sox had defeated Baltimore 3-1. Boston lost to Kansas City 4-3 in 12 innings, but Ted Williams took the league batting lead from Yankee Mickey Mantle. Washington rapped Cleveland off a five-game winning streak, 11-6.

Jones, tagged "Tootpick Sam" because he's never without one on the mound, has had three complete games in the four-game string that has put his record at 8-3. He gave up 10 hits, three to Sandy Amoros who homered, but struck out 12 and never was in much trouble.

Newk, who had won 12 in a row from the Cards since Aug. 23, 1951, finally got his lumps in a four-run fourth sparked by Wally Moon's two-run homer. The big righthander now is 9-7 after winning five in a row.

Del Ennis also homered and drove in two runs for the Cards, who have won only two of seven on the present eastern trip with Jones getting credit for both.

The Braves made it six out of nine with a five-run seventh to chill the Phils, who protested the game in losing their second in a row since taking the league lead Monday. The big feat came on a first-inning Milwaukee double play, leading to a quick shower for starter Robin Roberts when he menaced umpire Jocko Conlan during the row. Jack Meyer lost it while Lew Burdette won his eighth with Don McMahon's help in a three-run Philadelphia sixth.

George Crowe, replacing Ted Kluszewski again, drove in four runs with his 19th and 20th homers for the Redlegs as Brooks Lawrence won his 10th with relief help. Robinson, who suffered a concussion from the beaming, had a single in four trips and figured in two runs. Rookie Curt Barolay lost it.

The Yankees handed off a star game winner Jim Bunning an 11-3 record with his first defeat since June 21. Bob Turley won his fifth with a six-strikeout sixth-hitter that included Charlie Maxwell's 19th homer.

Bob Keegan won his fifth in a row for the White Sox and singled home the clincher in the fourth against Bill Wight, who walked seven. Keegan, now 6-3, had a four-hit shutout for seven innings, then needed Bill Fisher's relief in the ninth.

Williams, 3-for-3, upped his average to .367 Mantle fell to .356 with O-for-4 and walked three times for the Red Sox, who scored one in the top of the 12th, then lost it on three consecutive singles off Bob Chalkales. Charlie Thompson's hit brought the payoff for reliever Tom Morgan after starters Frank Sullivan and Ralph Terry battled through 11 innings to a 2-2 tie.

Chuck Stobbs, who picked the Indians to end his 16-game losing string last month, now is 3-13 with two in a row over the Tribe but needed relief help from Bud Byerly for the final out. Don Mossi lost it. Roy Sievers blasted his 21st homer for the Nats, while George Strickland and Dick Williams homered for five Cleveland runs.

Jackie Robinson Calls Tebbetts' Charges "Untrue And Unfortunate"

NEW YORK (AP)—Jackie Robinson, Negro pioneer in organized baseball, today called Birdie Tebbetts' charge of discrimination against Negro players "untrue and unfortunate."

The Cincinnati manager later retracted and apologized for his remarks.

Tebbetts made his accusations Tuesday night after Frank Robinson, his star left fielder, was hit in the temple by a pitch by Ruben Gomez, Puerto Rican righthander of the New York Giants.

"There is no question in my mind that they, National League pitchers, throw at him, Frank Robinson, because he's colored and he is at a disadvantage because he can't fight back," Tebbetts said.

Robinson, who had hit a double and triple in three previous times at bat, was back in the lineup Wednesday apparently suffering no ill effects over the beaming.

"I doubt very much whether Gomez deliberately threw at Robinson, let alone because Frank is a Negro," said Jackie Robinson, who retired from baseball last December after 10 turbulent years with the Dodgers. "In all my years with the Dodgers, except perhaps the first one, I can't honestly point a finger at any pitcher and say he threw at me or anybody else simply because the batter was a Negro. Baseball has gone far beyond that."

Robinson had no idea how often he was hit but was not surprised when told it was 71 times.

A study of the column "hit by pitcher" through the last 10 years fails to show any evidence of pitchers discriminating against Negro batters. The records

Claude Provost went all the way on the mound for the Canadiens, allowing nine hits, including a bases-empty homer to Hal Patterson in the first inning, and striking out seven men.

Sam Etcheverry pitched the distance for the Als, yielding six hits, three of them to Dickie Moore. He struck out one.

Burke Emery Is Slight Favorite Over Gene Hamilton On Tonight's Card

Local Fighter Is Given Nod Over Hard-Hitting Hamilton; Opening Bout Stated For 8.30 At Arena

BURKE EMERY

Burke Emery of Sherbrooke, the No. 2 ranking light-heavyweight in Canada, is a slight favorite to win over Gene Hamilton of New York this evening. Emery and Hamilton meet in the 10-round main event of the boxing program at the local Arena. Emery's height and reach advantages are expected to be the telling factors in this bout. However, Emery may have trouble solving the bobbing and weaving style of the crouching Hamilton.

In the semi-final Yvon Turcotte faces Bobby Gomez of Philadelphia. This 8-round bout will provide a lot of action as these two fighters really like to mix it up.

In a special 6-round bout two bright heavyweight prospects will clash. Johnny Floyd McCoy and Freddy Mack are the two principals. Both Mack and McCoy have had main-bout experience.

In the other 6-round bout Ernst Krenzek meets Rocky Ford in a lightweight bout.

Tonight's card will start at 8.30 p.m. and district boxing fans are advised to be a little early so that they will see all of the action.

Darling, McWha Advance In Golf

MONTREAL (AP)—Janet McWha of the Country Club and Judy Darling of Whitlock scored upsets over two other Montreal golfers Wednesday in advancing to the semi-final round of the Quebec provincial women's championship.

Miss McWha eliminated defending champion Mrs. Greame Pyke of Whitlock 5 and 4, while Miss Darling, winner of the provincial title last week, defeated Mrs. H. L. Mussells of Kanawaki one up. Results of the other quarter-finals assured an all-Montreal semi-final. Catherine Beer of Beconsfield scored a one-up victory over Mrs. G. R. Patterson of Kanawaki and Mrs. M. Nadler of Elm Ridge defeated Debbit Watts of Grand'Mere, Que., 6 and 5.

Stan Leonard Fires Three-Under 210 To Win CPGA Championship For Sixth Time; Pat Fletcher Ties For Second

PETERBOROUGH, Ont.—(AP)—Stan Leonard made probably the biggest decision of his life when he decided, at the age of 40, to give up a cushy club job and join golf's tournament trail. Financially, he's been a big success. This was demonstrated the last two days when he won the 54-hole Canadian Professional Golfers' Association championship for the sixth time. It gave him $750 and the Seagram Shield plus the satisfaction that his name in the record books appears six times, a record.

Leonard, who plans to take it easy for the next two weeks, finished with a three-under-par 210 over the Kawartha Club layout to beat out Toronto's Al Balding, first-round leader who slipped to a three-over-par 74 on his last 18. Tied for second spot with Balding was Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon and Montreal who came up with an even-par 71 on his final 8.

Leonard's victory boosted his 1957 earnings to more than $12,000. With this money, he plans to take it easy at his home club in Lacute, Que., for the next week or so before rejoining the big-time circuit at Chicago's Tam O'Shanter early in August. "I'm not a bit sorry that I gave up my job in Vancouver to join the trail," Leonard said Wednesday night after his victory. "I'm physically and mentally beaten, but it's worth it," he added.

Canadians Win At Bisley Meet

BISLEY, England.—(Reuters)—Canadian marksmen won the "Tuesday aggregate" list at the Bisley national rifle tournament with the best total scores in competition of 300, 900 and 1,000 yards Tuesday.

Top scorer with 137 out of a possible 145 was Maj. W. J. Strachen, of the School of Infantry team. Capt. C. M. Brown was second with 135 and Cadet. A. L. G. Clements was third with 133. Both were from the School of Infantry team.

Cpl. G. R. Ouellette of the Dominion team and Cadet Cpl. J. E. Grandfield of the Canadian Army Gadget Force were fourth and fifth with scores of 132.

Bisons Stop Leafs 5-2; Red Wings Edge Royals 5-4

Buffalo Bisons have reclaimed undisputed possession of first place in the International Baseball League by beating Toronto 5-2 in the ninth game of the season and it was former Toronto third baseman Pete Castiglione who made it possible.

Castiglione, a 36-year-old former major leaguer, belted a ninth-inning bases-loaded triple to give the Bisons a 5-2 victory over the Maple Leafs Wednesday night. The victory gave the Herd a half-game lead over Richmond Virginians and a full game edge over third-place Toronto.

The Virginians battled through eight scoreless innings with Miami Marlins when the game was called because of rain. The fourth-place Rochester Red Wings kept within 3½ games of the leaders by defeating Montreal Royals 5-4. Columbus Jets edged Havana Sugar Kings 3-2.

The Bisons, trailing Toronto 2-1 going into the ninth, scored four times to take the victory. Pinch-hitter Rod Graber's double scored Lou Ortiz with the tying run. An error and intentional pass loaded the bases to set the stage for Castiglione's game-winning blow.

Ortiz had sent the Bisons ahead 1-0 in the second with his 14th home run but Sam Jethroe's 11th homer tied the score in the eighth. Hector Rodriguez's triple and an error gave the Maple Leafs their 2-1 lead in the eighth. Mike Kume, second of three hard hurlers, got credit for the victory. Bob Tiefenauer, who relieved starter Humberto Robinson in the ninth suffered the loss.

The Virginians and Marlins each missed scoring opportunities. Satchel Paige saved it for Miami in the top of the eighth when he came in with none out and the bases loaded. An infield grounder cut one runner down at the plate and a double play ended the threat.

After Miami filled the bases with none out in its half of the eighth, Jim Post relieved Jim Coates to retire the side. Rochester scored three quick runs in the first inning, added two more in the fifth and then held off a late Montreal uprising. The Royals scored 1 in the sixth, added three in the eighth and had the tying run on second with two out in the ninth. Kelton Russell, third Red Wing pitcher, fanned Jim Gentile to end the game and preserve Dick Ricketts' eighth victory.

Fabi's General Gallon Comes Home In 2.10 For Fastest Time Of Night; Dead-Heat For Second Spot In Sixth

Fabi's aged mare, Allie Truax, walked off with the honors in the "D" Handicap Pace last night when she was teamed to first place in both ends of the class. The other top feature was the performance of Fabi's General Gallon in the eighth when he came home in 2.10 for the fastest time of the evening.

A dead heat for second place in the sixth race caused slight confusion as a quinella was slated in that event. After consulting two photos the judges still ruled an even finish between Halland and Trax Jones. Buster Huckins had teamed Plante's Peach Hill Girl to first place.

The combination of the winner and Halland paid $50.80 while the other setup rewarded their backers with $25.60. The Plante mare paid her backers the sum of $18.40, $9.70 and $6.20 across the board.

The Bennett entry of Alden Cane came through the winner in the fourth race and paid the high for a win bet during the evening, $22.20. The local horse also set the top mark for a place investment with $10.30 being doled out. The quinella of Alden Cane and Hauver's Maryland Port was $46.60.

In the ninth the quinella of Rosina B and Frisco Harvester C. paid off $18.60. The double of Combs' Honey Brooke and Clever Jimmy, in the second, paid the lucky pickers the sum of $23.00.

The "C" Pace, which was the main event, was the fastest event of the night. In the opening dash Amedee Beaudoin's Direct Harvester squeezed through at the finish to nip A. R. Reynolds' Victor Abbe while Kelly's Hieland Grattan was third.

On the second trip things were a little different with Fabi's General Gallon and Kelly's entry doing the fighting for the honors. In the first mile the Fabi gelding ran into trouble but the second-time driver F. St. Denis made sure getting away from fourth and moving to the fore for the rest of the race. At the finish Buster Huckins brought his steed right down the wire but just couldn't overtake the General. They were clocked in 2.11 the first time and 2.10 the second trip.

Joey Giardello Wins Decision Over Chico Vejar

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Post bout verbal clashes produced almost as much excitement Wednesday night as the nationally televised fight in which Joey Giardello took a unanimous—but unpopular—decision over Chico Vejar.

After the nearly 3,000 fans at Freedom Hall shouted their disapproval of the decision, the action continued on into the dressing room where Steve Ellis, who handled Vejar, announced he had been tossed out of Giardello's dressing room.

Ellis, in a verbal battle with Tony Ferrante, Giardello's manager, challenged the winner to a rematch—winner take all. Ferrante accepted.

Then, sports promoter Bill King said "Giardello never will fight here again as long as he has anything to do with Ferrante."

King said the statement was the result of financial differences between himself and Giardello's manager. King claimed Ferrante wanted 30 per cent of the gate instead of the 25 per cent he had originally agreed upon. King said Ferrante had threatened not to allow Giardello to fight unless the higher figure were forthcoming.

Lake Beauty

A barrel covered with pink paper and the chimes in white held the majority of the parcels—the larger ones being placed on a table which was centered with sweet peas. Supposedly, the gifts had come down into the barrel through a large eaves spout covered with white crepe paper which had been suspended from an electric light fixture.

The table left on which the gifts were later displayed was centred with a cake made by Mrs. Irene Williams, in the same design and colors as the rain barrel.

and eaves spout, and surrounded with pink flowers.
Upon the arrival of Miss Ingalls, the Bridal Chorus was played by Mrs. Anne Ashness-Wells, after escorting Miss Ingalls to a decorated chair, the hostess pinned a corsage on her, and expressed the good wishes of those present. The bride elect was busy for a long time opening parcels and was assisted in unwrapping her gifts by Misses Beverley and Gail Persons. The guests then joined in singing "For she's a jolly good fellow" with Mrs. A. C. Tanner, at the piano Miss Ingalls expressed her thanks for the gifts to the members of the Parish Guild and W.
