BIG GAME

The prize bag of the hunting season of 1917 was taken by a French peasant of Bourbonne-lès-Bains, who went out after rabbits one raw, foggy morning and came back with the entire crew of a German Zeppelin, the L-49, marching submissively in front of him. The great dirigible, returning from an air raid in England, had lost its way in the fog, wandered far to the southward, became unmanageable and crashed down helplessly into a French meadow. The hunter's story as he told it to a correspondent of Forest and Stream is as follows:

He had started out in the early morning in the hope of getting a rabbit for the noon meal. There was a very thick mist. Hunting was not good. An hour passed and he had failed to so much as start a single rabbit. He wandered through the fields, beating the brush along the fences, but without success. He started to work his way through the swamp grass that borders a little stream when the heavens became suddenly darkened and there descended through the thick fog an unknown thing, black, monstrous, terrifying in its size.

The hunter concealed himself in a little clump of trees. He had seen pictures of Zeppelins. He realized that one was before him. The machine came lower and lower until it settled, one end in the trees on the knoll of a tiny hill, the other buried in the embankment close beside him. Blond men clambered excitedly over the side.

Realizing that they were in the enemy's country, they debated for a minute. One stepped forward to apply the light that would have left the Zeppelin a smoking mass of ruins a few minutes later. The hunter realized that bigger game was in sight than any rabbit.

He stepped from his concealment, bringing the old shotgun with its 4's to his shoulder, he ordered the crew to throw up their hands. There was no mingling of words. One fellow reached for his revolver. The hunter's finger fairly trembled on the trigger as he repeated his command. Up went sixteen pairs of hands; up the slope and straight down the muddy road to the right marched the crew, the hunter, with the old hammer gun still at the shoulder, bringing up the rear and cautioning those before him that he would instantly shoot the owner of the first pair of hands to descend.

Half an hour later the village jail held the crew and the world was hearing of the capture, in fact, of one of Germany's biggest and most modern air machines. The bravery and quick action of that rabbit hunter has given the Allies a knowledge of Zeppelin construction and also a valuable code book taken from the commander's cabin, so quick was the capture. Honors took the place of the rabbit for that day's dinner.

Hamilton, May 8.—Lieut.-Col. W. G. McKendrick, Director of Roads for the Fifth British Army, told the Good Roads congress here today of some of the work he had done in road-making at the front. The army did not seem to be able to build roads, and at one point of the line, when he was put in charge, he had hundreds of miles of roads to repair where the centre way was a ditch. I pretty nearly ruined the British army by going out, as a lieutenant-colonel, taking a pick and shovel out of a man's hands, a private, and showing him how to do it. They said it would ruin discipline, but it didn't. He said he reversed all methods ever taught him in standing the cobble stones on edge for he placed them on the flat, as close together as he could get them. Often they made a depth of nine inches. Then they put a good crown on, threw macadam upon the top, and rolled it in. These roads today were carrying the heaviest loads of heaviest motor trucks. He had handled all sorts of laborers, said Col. McKendrick, but the best and quickest workmen were the Canadians. They wanted to get the work done, and went right at it.

When once we understand the basic idea that dirt is unhealthy we take more scrupulous care of our person. We wash our hands more frequently, and thus avoid many diseases that have come from neglecting to do so, we do not drink from a common drinking cup, because we have reason to believe that it is dirty; we care for our teeth more thoroughly, and thus avoid many rheumatic and other ailments that modern science traces to neglected teeth; we frequent cleaner restaurants and demand cleaner milk for our tables; we aid in the campaign against public expectation, and we commit less frequently that great sin of carelessness—sneezing or coughing without properly covering the mouth. Especially in the winter, when the bacilli of grippé and of colds are prevalent, the careless sneezer or cougher does an immense amount of harm especially when in crowded places. The American people have learned to abhor the use of the common towel and the common cup, and I look for the day to come when the careless cougher will be as rare as the roller towel is today. Then we shall have made another stride away from promiscuity and we shall have gained another victory over disease and its favorite medium, dirt.

THE LOAFER LAW

Montreal, May 11.—Idleness is becoming a serious offence in Canada, and in Montreal in particular, so far, for the city policemen are rounding up all the idle young men they can lay their hands upon, and making them show reason why they cannot do something useful for their country. The order-in-council that decrees against idleness is a popular one with the policeman, and this was shown yesterday before Judge Lanctot when 36 young men appeared charged with idleness. They were a motley crew, many showing signs of dilapidation. The great majority were loafers whom the police have been long for some time to get rid of, but never had a chance to do so prior to this order-in-council. One policeman, who gathered in ten of the prisoners, said that he had known them all for some time, and that they were young men who simply clung around street corners and did nothing except to move a little bit when he appeared. Give me a chance to enlist, asked several of the accused, and if the military want them they will be given the chance of serving. There were four among them who are believed to be in the category that the army is looking for. All of the men who appeared before Judge Lanctot claimed Canada as their native land. The work is to be energetically pursued, and will be in full swing next week, and the results will be twofold. One will be that deserters from military service will be gathered in, for the city policemen, who are familiar with their districts, are good at knowing who's who, and why. Another benefit will be that men who have been doing nothing, and have no intention of doing anything, will be gathered in and made to do some useful work, or go to jail. These are the youths who follow fashion's latest fancies, and appear to have plenty of money for pool games, card playing and betting of all kinds, but who neither toil nor spin. By gathering them in it will also be possible to keep down other classes who support them, and tend to a better moral atmosphere all round. Idle women are not to be left alone either for the government has announced that everyone must work, and the city police will shortly commence to arrest the idle women.

Toronto, May 6.—Ontario's water supply in the rural sections is receiving the attention of the Department of Agriculture, and a campaign is about to be waged which will have as its object the bettering of conditions in this regard. From recent tests it has been found that much of the water is impure and realizing that the water is as important as food if the country is to be healthy, it has been decided to launch an educational movement. Any farmer in Ontario may have an analysis made of the water on his farm by sending to the Agricultural college, Guelph. In reply he will be told the state of the water and what to do to purify it. By making application to the Department he can secure plans and specifications for installing a hydraulic ram, or other form of supplies, and information will be furnished as to the proper speed for engine pumping. In the past the farmer has had great difficulty in locating water, and thousands of dollars have been spent in drilling without result. There is now an electrical device at the Agricultural college which any farmer may use, and which will show definitely the proper place to drill. It has been successfully used in India and New Zealand, locating as many as 27 wells without a miss. The device will be loaned on application, but others can be purchased at very moderate cost. Last year over half a billion gophers were destroyed in Saskatchewan. The objective this year is a round billion, and shields and medals are to be given school children in order to encourage them to assist in the enterprise. As the gopher is an enemy to wheat production it is indirectly an ally of Germany, and deserves the sentence which the government of Saskatchewan has imposed upon it.

The worst sorrows in life are not its losses and misfortunes, but its fears.

Ottawa, May 9.—The proclamation was published here today calling up for military service men of nineteen years of age who are unmarried or widowers without children. The men are required to register on or before June 1. They will not be called to active service before July 1. To save time in getting out special forms the method of registration will differ from that adopted when the First Class was called out on Oct. 13 last. Then a man in the class called out filled one of two forms. Either he reported for service, or he claimed exemption. In the present case, however, the man is required merely to forward by registered post to the Registrar under the Military Service Act his name in full, the date of his birth, his place of residence and his usual post-office address. When the actual call to the colors comes the men summoned will be notified by registered post to respond for duty.

Ireland is kept distracted by a rumor that treasury notes had been issued as a war expedient and would be useless after the war. The story was believed especially in Munster, where the people changed their notes for silver which they hoarded. The result was that there was serious dislocation of business, the employers finding difficulty in getting money to pay their workmen, while the stores had to give credit for goods. The silver shortage affected the Dublin traders banks today. Even the post offices were unable to supply change for notes. Thirty chests of silver have arrived to relieve the stress.

To Pay Small Accounts

where you may not wish to send personal cheques, use Bank Money Orders issued by The Merchants Bank.

This is a convenient way to settle newspaper and magazine subscriptions—to pay for goods ordered out of town—in fact, to send any amount up to $50 through the mails.

Bank Money Orders are easily secured—safe to send in a letter—will be replaced without extra charge, if lost or stolen—and can be cashed anywhere in Canada or United States at face value.

Barn and Silo Roofed with Brantford Asphalt Roofing.

Resists Fire, Sheds Water, Wears Long

Flying sparks and embers from a burning building often cause roofs near by to catch fire, especially in a dry, hot season. Under like conditions, roofs covered with

Brantford Asphalt Roofing

are in no danger from flying embers, because any that fall on Brantford Asphalt Roofing die out harmlessly. Build a bonfire on a roof of Brantford Asphalt Roofing and the fire will not spread and the boards underneath the roofing will be protected in a surprising manner.

If a fire starts in the interior of a building Brantford Asphalt Roofing acts as a retardant and keeps the fire from spreading. Fire chiefs and insurance companies endorse its use in the most congested cities.

Brantford Asphalt Roofing does not absorb water, but sheds the heaviest rain with ease. Acid proof and alkali proof. Reliable, durable, economical. Three weights—60 lb., 70 lb., and 80 lb. per square.

Brantford Rubber Roofing
is the same quality as Brantford Asphalt, but has a smooth, rubbery surface instead of the sand. It is particularly suitable for verandah decks and floor coverings. Three weights—40 lb., 50 lb., and 60 lb. per square.

Standard Mohawk Roofing
is made of the same materials as Brantford Asphalt Roofing, but is lighter in weight. A thoroughly reliable roofing at a low price. Tested for years and has given entire satisfaction. Sanded on one side. One weight—40 lbs. per square.

Mohawk Rubber Roofing
The same quality as Standard Mohawk but with a smooth surface. Used for all classes of temporary work—sheds, bunk-houses, camp sites, even dugouts in the trenches. 35 lb., 45 lb., and 55 lb. weights.

Leatheroid Roofing
Slightly lower quality than Mohawk Rubber. Used for same purposes. 35 lb., 45 lb., and 55 lb. weights.

Samples of any of these roofings and prices will be furnished on request.

Notes of the Week

When a German submarine runs out of provisions and gasoline it makes for its home port, which is either Zebrugge or Ostend. In the harbors of these two places U-boats are refitted and leave to resume their dreadful work of sinking ships without warning. Britain has repeatedly tried from land and sea to destroy both refuges but with only partial success until last month, when she managed to block the harbor of Zebrugge by sinking boats in whose holds cement had been stowed. The effort to do likewise at Ostend failed. Not discouraged, a new attempt was made Thursday morning, and again the iron-clad cruiser Vindictive led. With a calm sea Ostend was speedily reached and the Germans found to be on guard, for powerful searchlights were turned on the entrance to the harbor. Concealed by smoke-clouds the flotilla got well in before discovered. A hurricane of shot and shell greeted them, which the British returned. The victim ship was to be the Vindictive. She was an obsolete type and been so badly riddled in the affair at Zebrugge that she was not worth repairing. Slowly the veteran was navigated to her place of doom at the entrance to the harbor. Then her crew got into a motor-boat leaving a lighted bomb behind. They had just got far enough away to be safe, when the explosion took place, and the mighty iron-clad settled in the water. As she had been loaded with cement, she lies at the mouth of the harbor a combination of iron and stone. This done the boats that had escorted her made for England. The Berlin press declares the attack was a failure, because the Vindictive does not entirely block the harbor, and ships can get past her. This might be believed, were it not that the same papers claim the sinking of the Vindictive was the result of their fire! The loss of the British was one motor-boat, and less than 20 casualties. The bravery of the sailors who navigated the Vindictive and remained amid a hail of shell until she was got into the desired position is past praise.

No public man has more enemies than Lloyd George, and of them none are so persistent and bitter as military officers who think they have been slighted by him or who, in their conceit, think they know more how to conduct the war than he does. One of these officers, General Maurice, wrote a letter to the London press in which he accused Lloyd George of misleading parliament and the nation by not telling the truth as regards the actual state of affairs at the front. The main charge was that the British had taken over more of the French trenches than they ought and that the British were weaker in men than the government represented. The charge was a serious one, of deceiving the country in a matter that might have entailed disaster. The premier's explanation was full and satisfactory. Instead of his government having offered to assume the defence of more of the battlefield, it did so with reluctance, and only because of urgent representations by the French commander that he had not men enough to cover the ground. General Haig knew the risk in spreading out his men and possibly the 21st March would have resulted differently had he been able to keep his men where they were. There had been no deceit or concealing of facts, the government had made known all it could without exposing the weakness of the French army. By an overwhelming majority, the house of commons endorsed what Lloyd George had done and his enemies have been covered with confusion. General Maurice will likely be discharged from the service. The incident brings into strong light the need of men at the front, and why the Imperial authorities have been so insistent on Canada's sending more.

The Ormstown show opens three weeks from Tuesday, so that the event of the spring is close at hand and should be kept in mind. There is stronger cause than ever for helping to make it a success. In their desire that the exhibition be second to none in the province, the directors have greatly increased the prize-money. This extra expenditure they look to be made up by larger attendance. The highest prize for a horse last year was $10, this year it is $25. In cattle the highest last year was $8, this year it is $20, all other prizes in proportion. Such a jump is quite a venture, but the directors considered it was essential for the show to take a forward step, to give it the standing it has a good right to claim and to draw the attendance its merits deserve. Planned in the centre of as fine an agricultural district as there is on the continent, it is fitting the show of such a community should be in the front rank. Are the farmers going to stand by the directors in their effort and help them? We hope so, and they can do so by entering exhibits, ensuring it to be the biggest show yet held, and by attending with their families. Boost the show, make it your personal concern to make it something to be proud of, to extend its fame, to draw crowds from distant parts, and to let the stockmen of the Dominion know, that in draft horses and dairy cattle, if they desire the best, they can have pick and choice by coming to Ormstown.

The determined drive being made by the Nationalists and the Laurierites outside of Quebec, discredit the Union government, reached its height on Tuesday. By persistent effort and wide organization they got up a delegation of farmers to go to Ottawa and demand exemption from military service. Estimates vary, but it seems, at least, 4000 made their appearance. That so many should desert their fields at the busiest time for spring work, rather disputes their assertion about the scarcity of labor. Each of them lost, on an average, three days by going to Ottawa. They were divided by the organizers of the demonstration into two classes. The French being assigned one theater and the English another, for headquarters. Sir Robert Borden, Mr. Rowell, Mr. Crerar, and General Mowbray went first to the English gathering. Mr. Doherty of Walton, Ont., was their spokesman. He showed how the government had for months been urging upon the farmers greater production, yet now they were taking the help away which was necessary to increase production. Then he dwelt on the promises given last year, that farmers would be exempt from the draft, and declared their treatment had caused among them a feeling of unrest and that dissatisfaction and want of confidence in the government was spreading. The exemptions given by the local tribunals should be held sacred instead of being quashed by parliament. In reply, the premier declared parliament was not a free agent in this matter of defence of the Empire. They were advised by the Imperial government that more men at the front was essential and must be had. He went on to say—

Do you imagine that any man who stands within the ranks of the Government of Canada today would find it in his heart to impose any unnecessary hardship or inequality on any man in Canada? It was a hard thing for us three years ago to ask the splendid youth of Canada to go overseas to fight in the greatest cause which humanity had ever taken up before. It was more serious and a sterner duty to say to the people of Canada that the time had now come when we could not fulfill our whole duty to humanity and the world and more than that, greater than that, to Canada, unless compulsory military service were adopted in this country. It was a still sterner duty when, on April 20, after discussing the matter, we passed that order-in-council to which reference has been made, and which empowers the Government to abolish exemptions in certain ages in any class called out.

Regarding the charges of inconsistency of the government, first asking for greater production and then taking away men from the farms, and the other charge of breaking their pledges given that farmers would be exempt, his reply was, that the situation had been completely changed by the battle that had been begun by the Germans on the 21st of March and was still going on. Do you realize, he asked the farmers, if the British line breaks that Canada would be at the mercy of the enemy and greater production and exemptions be of no use to you? We are facing such a danger as never menaced us before and must act to avert it. This can only be done by sending the men asked by Britain. I am not minimizing more production. God knows we need all of it. But we need men to hold the line. You speak of solemn covenants and pledges. Do you imagine for one moment we have not a solemn covenant and a pledge to those men, some of whom have been in the trenches for three years? Have we no pledge and covenant with them? When the battle is over, and what is left of these brave fellows come back to us, are we to tell them we did not send them the reinforcements they asked because we were too much absorbed in greater production and in granting exemptions to those who could have gone to their help?

Disappointment with the premier's reply was not concealed and he was treated with scant courtesy. The extraordinary request was made that the delegates be allowed to be heard in the house of commons in protest against his decision. This being shown to be impossible, those who remained over held an indignation meeting Wednesday forenoon. That Germany is behind the Sinn Fein movement in Ireland there is not a shadow of doubt. Is it not likely, that wealthy Germans in the States are co-operating with the Nationalists and extreme party men in Ontario, in fostering their agitation in Canada to embarrass the Union government and weaken its efforts in helping to win the war? Who can be got to believe, that 2000 habitants could be induced to leave their farms during seed time to make a journey to Ottawa, unless they got more or less money?

Dr. Beland, postmaster-general in the Laurier cabinet left in 1914 for Belgium, to marry a lady to whom he had become engaged in that country. During the honeymoon Germany declared war, Belgium was invaded and the doctor was made a prisoner. While he was in jail, his young wife took sick and died. All efforts to get him released proved ineffective, the Germans pretending he was a spy. Word now comes that he has been set free, apparently because he is broken in health, and is now on his way to Canada.

Russia is in a dreadful condition, disorganization prevailing everywhere, with civil war between contending parties in some sections and fighting with the Germans in others. Germany no longer disguises her intention to annex several provinces and the men who profess to constitute the government of Russia have consented to its annexation of Poland. The farmers in the south of Russia who hold great quantities of wheat, refusing to sell, the Germans threaten to take it by force. They demand the surrender of the Black Sea fleet.

The United States have not only sent an army to help the Allies but a number of iron-clads, which have joined the British fleet in the North Sea. Should the German fleet come out of its hole in the Kiel canal they will have something to tackle. That U-boats are being sunk faster than Germany can build them is now proved by the large falling off in vessels torpedoed.

Of the progress of the war nothing can be said, for it has made no progress for over a fortnight. There has been fighting daily, but it is of the minor kind that decides nothing. The great thrust, the continuation of the battle begun on the 21st March, has not taken place. It will come, may be made any day, for the Germans are in that position they must either win a great victory or sue for peace. It is certain they are preparing that they are gathering every available soldier, and gun and that their second attack will surpass their first. Britain is striving with every nerve to reinforce Haig, and it is comforting to know that Italy has sent 250,000 men to help the French. The U.S. troops will count in the coming fight, for it is believed half a million of them are now brigaded with the Allies. General Foch expresses full confidence in being able to repel any attack. The fact that he brought the German advance to a standstill is proof of his ability. The Kaiser and the Emperor of Austria have had a meeting, the result of which according to Vienna papers, is that Austria has agreed to send reinforcements. In the last great drive Austrian artillery played a large part in the second they will be Austrian infantry.

ORMSTOWN
As a result of the canvass made in Ormstown and vicinity for the Y.M.C.A. fund on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week $986 was subscribed. Doctor Morison occupied the pulpit of St. Paul's on Sunday morning and evening, as Rev. D. N. Coburn was called to Boston on account of the death of Mrs. Coburn's brother.

A severe thunder and lightning storm, accompanied by rain and hail, passed over this section, about 6 o'clock a.m., Friday morning. The lightning struck a post at John Orr's and splintered the end of a barn belonging to Wm. Hamilton, killing one of three pigs that were in a corner of the barn. Thos. Watson has bought the property of Mrs. Dr. L. O. Hebert and intends moving into the village. Price $2700.

Edgar McIntosh, only son of John McIntosh, has enlisted in the Royal Engineers. Edgar leaves his father to work 150 acres of land. The Parish School Commission met on Monday evening and engaged the following teachers—Stoney Creek, Miss Ethel McKell, re-engaged; River Outarde, Miss Olive Ross, re-engaged; Lower Ormstown, Miss Cameron, re-engaged; Tullochgorum, Miss Francis McDonald, re-engaged; Upper Ormstown, Miss Pearl Cameron; Island, Miss Irene Cullen; McCormick's, Miss Edna McClatchie; Grant's, Miss Ruby Elliot. Saml. McKee was put in as manager of District No. 5 in place of Gordon Cameron, who has resigned. The following accounts were ordered paid, John Graham for wood, Tullochgorum School, $40. John Beattie for wood and kindling fires, Upper Ormstown School, $34.10.

BEAUHARNOIS
The canvass for the Y.M.C.A. was carried out last week and although at the time of writing a few returns have yet to be handed in, there have been $705.90 collected. Meetings were held each evening at the St. Lawrence Men's Club rooms to receive returns and direct the canvass. The ladies of the Red Cross willingly co-operated and did good work. Three teams were appointed by them to canvass; Miss M. Holmes and Mrs. Hatfield; Miss A. Wilson and Miss Robert; Mrs. J. D. Anderson and Mrs. Hunter. Mrs. Jas. Wilson took charge of the men in the furniture factory. Mr. J. H. Metcalf the paper mill, Mr. H. W. Fletcher the Beauharnois Electric Co. and Mr. E. Hamilton, Melocheville. Canvassers were well received by all and there were very few called upon who did not make a contribution.

Walter Pierce, who was so recently called to the colors and given a position in one of the military bands, is in the hospital with typhoid fever. Rev. G. A. MacLennan occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian church on Sunday evening and presented the claims of the Bible Society. The amount collected this year is $54.12.

CHATEAUGUAY BASIN
The Khaki Home is to have a public opening for this season on Saturday afternoon and evening. The committee is looking forward to a full house throughout the summer, as the Home was in great favor last season. Donations of food and money are always thank-

HOWICK
The regular W.M.S. meeting was held in Howick on Tuesday, with a good attendance, presided over by Mrs. Woods. Mrs. James Miller read a selected article on hospital work in Honan, and Mrs. W. Orr an article on Protestant Beginnings and Development. The heavy rain that fell recently flooded some low places but no great damage has been done to crops. Potatoes and corn are not yet generally planted. Miss Martha Cameron of Tullochgorum has been appointed to the elementary department of the school here, in place of Miss Cairns, and Miss Wilson to the intermediate grade. A selection for highest grade has not yet been made.

The butter factories are not receiving much milk, owing to several reasons. The Riverfield one was not opened till this week. A carload of cement has been purchased for the village sidewalks, which will cost about 70 cents per bag, 10 cents being allowed for the returned bag. Some portions of the macadamized roads were washed out by running water this spring, leaving a layer of loose, sharp stones, which are hard on auto tires. Even bad stone roads are preferable to mud roads for it has been noticed this spring that drivers have been using the macadamized side of the river.

St. MARTINE
Since Friday, the rain fell till Monday in such a quantity that the land was covered in many places. Water could be seen in the fields Tuesday evening all along the railroad from Ottawa to Howick. This (Wednesday) morning the sun shines and no water is to be seen around here, but the land is still too soft to work. If help was not so short it would be fine weather to plough more land but as it is, too much is already ploughed.

The Secretary of the agricultural society of the county of Chateauguay has distributed prize-lists for the coming fair to all members having paid their subscription for the present year. Delegates from every parish of this county went to Ottawa on Tuesday to meet the Ontario Farmers protesting the government against taking farmers' sons and help for the front, which is a contradiction to their call for more production. Women cannot do farm work in this country for they have not been trained or asked to do so for many years.

HEMMINGFORD
The collectors appointed to solicit subscriptions for the Y.M.C.A. Red Triangle Fund completed their calls on May 9th. They reported being on the whole well received, and with few exceptions, the people contributed liberally. The objective for Hemmingford and Havelock, and a small part of Lacolle was set at $500. The results show that over $900 was collected. The following were amounts turned in by the different collectors: Geo. W. Keddy and T. G. McClatchie for Cleland's road and Covey Hill road, $151.00. Dr. de Moupilled and J. McCause for McNaughton road to Stockwell, $143.65. Rev. Mr. Matthews, Julius and Philip Smith for Keddy road, Fisher St. and Roxham, $63.90. Rev. Mr. Caldwell, A. E. Keddy and P. H. Somerville, for Hallerton and Henrysburg, $151. Donald McFee and Geo. McKay, for north road and west to Russelltown, $76. Frank Cleland for Barrington, $54.25. M. B. Fisher for Hemmingford Village, $120.50. Rev. Mr. Campbell made a collection in and around Chrysostome, of which the exact figures cannot be given. The case of Donald McNaughton against the township council, over a verdict rendered by a justice of peace court on McNaughton's liability to pay a tax on a dog, has been decided by Judge Mercier in favor of the township. The text of the judgment has been crowded out this week.

RIVERFIELD
The annual meeting of the Y society was held Monday night. The following officers were elected: President, Miss Nell. Craig Vice-Pres., Mr. Gordon Easton Treasurer, Mr. F. Peter S. Milne Rec.-Secy., Mr. J. J. Anderson Cor.-Secy., Miss M. Rutherford Delegates to Convention, Miss Katie MacGregor and Miss Aggie Black. Professor Starrak of Macdonald College, will be present on the 20th inst., to address the Farmers' Club of the parish on underdrainage. The professor will have a day or two at his disposal, and remain to advise any of the farmers as to their special needs in draining.

VALLEYFIELD
At a meeting held last week in the Gault Institute, presided over by Mr. J. A. McDonald, a stirring address was delivered by Mr. Terry, a representative of the Y.M.C.A., who has spent a considerable time on the battle-front, in aid of the Red Triangle Fund. After the meeting a committee was formed to canvas the town with the result that the handsome sum of $940.10 was collected for the Y.M.C.A. to help the boys at the front. An event, which will be of interest to many readers, took place at the convocation at McGill University on the afternoon of the 13th inst. when Mr. William Smithson had the degree of Mrs. Bae conferred upon him. Mr. Smithson is practically a Valleyfield boy, he having come here when a mere child. Being possessed of high musical ability and with an ambition to attain a certified position in the musical world, he worked hard, and his efforts have been now rewarded. He was for some time organist in the Presbyterian church at Valleyfield, also in the Methodist church at Huntingdon. A grand dance was held in the Gault Assembly Room on Friday evening, under the auspices of the Valleyfield Industrial Co-operative Society. There was an extra large number of dancers and with the fine music supplemented by Mr. J. McMeekin's orchestra they kept it up till nearly five o'clock in the morning.

ROCKBURN
A meeting in the interest of food conservation was held in the Church Hall on the 8th, the following Huntingdon ladies being present, viz. Mrs. H. R. Graham, Mrs. C. B. Kelly, Mrs. J. W. Kirk, Miss M. Walker, Mrs. Cluff, Mrs. Wm. Hunter, Mrs. Dr. Rollit and Mrs. W. F. Stephen, the chair being occupied by Mrs. N. J. Goldie. Mrs. Graham gave a short address on present food situation at home and at the front, emphasizing the need of substituting other foods for wheat, beef and bacon. It was encouraging to hear that the saving in bacon has resulted in there being sufficient on hand to fill all available shipping space at present. In the use of wheat we must economize even more than we have. Mrs. Stephen gave a demonstration and much interesting information regarding the fireless cooker, and Mrs. Kirk gave briefly the latest Government regulations regarding the use of sugar. An informal discussion followed and all the ladies present signed the food pledge cards.

W. J. Sloan, a former Rockburn boy, who enlisted with a British Columbia Regiment and went overseas two years ago, is reported seriously wounded. A later cable, received by his wife, states that he hopes to reach England. Clark N. Goldie, son of N. J. Goldie, left for Kingston Monday morning to enlist in the artillery corps.

—Robt Jack M. Reid, son of Mr. Peter Reid, Chateauguay Basin, has graduated at Macdonald College, having completed the fourth year course and obtained the degree of B. Sc. He was one of the three prizemen, winning the minister of agriculture's prize. We understand Mr. Reid has secured the position of manager of the largest fruit farm in the Province.

—At the meeting of the executive committee of the Y.M.C.A. campaign, held in Huntingdon last week end, the treasurer, Mr. J. A. Hunter, reported the receipts to date were $638. This list may be swelled yet as the subscription list will be left open for further subscriptions at the Gleaner office until Monday the 20th. This subscription, that has been so successful, is due largely to the ladies who canvassed the village thoroughly. The list of subscribers was ordered to be printed. A vote of thanks was heartily moved and seconded to the ladies and to O'Connor Bros. for the free use of the hall on the 19th.

—Mr. Sparrow, manager of the Merchants Bank has received acknowledgement from the Halifax Relief Department, for the sum of $2250.45 sent from the Western part of Huntingdon County towards the relief last winter.

—Auction sales still bring high prices. At the sale of W. J. Moore, three year old heifers averaged $108, while two year olds averaged $100. Four weeks old pigs sold for $9.50, seed corn 5c a cob and oats at $1.80 a bushel. C. A. Gavin conducted the sale.

—Among those to enlist this week are Geo. F. Dixon, Mike Moriarty and Stephen J. Waldie, grandson of Robt. Waldie of Athelstan, in the R.A.F. while at Kingston A. Auger, John Hingston and Norman Murdoch enlisted in the artillery.

—Among the list of casualties is seen the name of G. Cronshaw of Valleyfield.
 —Mr. Philips, M.L.A., visited Lachute last week. He reports that the complaint was general of orchards having been blasted by the extreme cold of the past winter.

—Rivers were at flood height on Monday and overflowed low-lying lands. Whatever injury was done by excessive rain was much more than made up by the start given to meadows and pastures, the country being now radiantly green.

—The rector of St. John's has an eye for the boys and girls and has organized both into clubs. An entertainment to provide funds for expenses was held last evening when the schoolroom was crowded. Rev. C. Reid presiding. The program was varied and went off with the snap characteristic of young folk. Recitations by the boys and girls and music by the recreation club were all enjoyed. Proceeds $24.

—At the meeting of the Encampment of the Grand Lodge of I.O.O.F., Donald Houghton of this village was chosen Grand Warden.

—The advice of all in touch with coal production is, that those who can do so should lay in next winter's supply now.

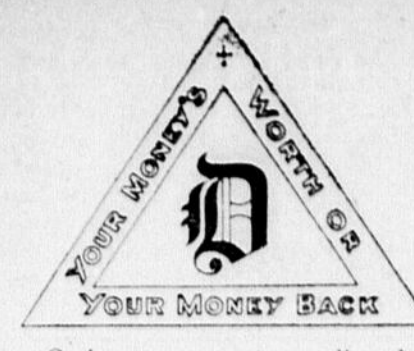

Chapleau, May 10.—The Quarterly Official Board, of Chapleau Methodist Church at its regular meeting tonight extended a unanimous invitation to Rev. C. Sinclair Applegath, the present pastor, to remain for another year. The salary has been increased to $1,600. Mr. Applegath came here last July, and under his pastorate Presbyterians, Baptists and Methodists have been united into one strong congregation.

Montreal, May 9.—McGill University has let down the bars to women so far as to admit them to the study of medicine and dentistry. The Corporation of McGill announced this today. It is stipulated that the women who are to be admitted to these courses must have taken a degree in Arts from a recognized university.

The note of welcome which King George sent to each of the U. S. soldiers who paraded in London read—Soldiers of the United States: The people of the British Isles welcome you on your way to take your stand beside the armies of the many nations now fighting in the old world the great battle for human freedom. The Allies will gain new heart and spirit in your company. I wish I could shake hands with each one of you and bid you God-speed on your mission.

The government of the United States is melting down for export as bullion silver dollars which have been stored in its treasury vaults, some of them for forty years. Also they now go at par, the government loss in interest more than swallows up the difference in price since the silver was coined. The silver goes to China and India.

British casualties in one week were 40,204 or more than half the number of the Canadian infantry at the front. Britain is calling for men up to fifty years of age to make good her losses, but there is no serious protest.

Owing to present peculiar domestic situation, under existing war conditions we deem it necessary to close up our business.

We are therefore in a position to offer some exceedingly attractive prices on both Groceries and Dry Goods.

TRENCH FEVER

Trench fever, a disease unknown in this country, is described by returned medical officers as being the second biggest disability factor among the troops on the fighting front today. Its toll among men is only exceeded by those suffering actual wounds from enemy attacks. It was ascribed to the fever is spread by lice or fleas. If the American boys and their Allied comrades in the trenches can refrain from scratching when bitten, the susceptibility of the soldiers to trench fever will be reduced to a minimum. This has been the conclusion of American and English medical specialists who spent months upon experiments. Fifty gallant men of Pershing's forces volunteered to assist in the research and went through the agonies of the disease so that science might find a remedy to protect other thousands of American soldiers who might come across.

The heroism of the half-hundred of Pershing soldiers in submitting to the inoculation of the trench fever germs at a stationary hospital back of the English lines on the western front was revealed today for the first time by Major E. L. Opie, Dean of the Washington University, St. Louis, who has just returned from abroad. Dr. Opie, a noted specialist and author, was a member of the American medical commission that assisted in the experiments.

When the Pershing forces were ready to take over for the first time a sector of the Allied front the subject of trench fever was brought before the general staff. There had been no definite conclusion on its origin and treatment had heretofore been unsatisfactory.

A call was made among a regiment of Sammies and the response was liberal, although the soldiers had seen and been warned how painful the ravages were. The experimenting also established that the fever would not spread by human contact.

The fever was contracted anywhere from three to twenty days. It had many painful symptoms, which started with very peculiar twinges similar to rheumatic attacks in the shins. Spots on the skin as in typhoid and headaches are among the symptoms. Dr. Opie, in summing up, said that there was no doubt but what the disease could be, and would be, eliminated.

Ottawa, May 3—That by exercising self-control and entertaining a determination to recover completely, a soldier suffering from a functional disability caused by shell-shock, can always be cured, was the declaration made before the special committee of the House of pensions yesterday by Dr. Russell, a neurological expert on the board of consultants of the militia department.

Senator Cloran complains that many women "with no more capacity than children to vote intelligently" were led to the polls to vote for the Union Government. Of course if they had voted the other way the Senator's estimate of their intelligence would have been much higher.

"Mamma, when people are in mourning do they wear their nightgowns black?"
"Why no, of course not."
"Well, don't they feel just as bad at night as they do in the daytime?"

London, May 13.—Troops of the national army of the United States arrived in London Saturday morning for a parade through the principal streets of the city. There was a regiment of three battalions in line. The men were brought in from a nearby camp. Large crowds cheered them in the streets, and they were reviewed by King George and United States Ambassador Page. On arriving at Wellington Barracks, at Hyde Park, where they were marshalled for the parade, each trooper received a personal message from the King. The envelope bore the royal arms and these words: "A message to you from His Majesty King George V." The message was on the notepaper of Windsor Castle, and was written in facsimile of the King's handwriting. The route of march through London was past the British Admiralty, the British War Office, the United States Embassy, the American and Navy Headquarters, and Buckingham Palace for the march past King George. Shortly before the troops swung into view before the Palace, King George and Queen Mary walked from the palace to the street before the front gate, where they met Major-General Biddle, commanding the American forces in the United Kingdom. The King congratulated the general on their appearance.

Switzerland is in want because it can get no wheat. The United States is ready to send it all it needs, but the Germans sink the ships that carry the wheat and threaten to keep on doing so unless Switzerland will give up part of the cargoes—which would of course be in violation of the agreement with this country. That is what Germany calls making war, not on the enemies of Germany, but on a helpless neutral, too small to defend its rights. A bully cannot act contrary to his nature—not at least until he has been well thrashed. Braving torpedoes ships are being sent.

Montreal, May 7.—Alas! The day of the idler, the bum, the tramp, the vagrant, the "low life" is past. This is an age of industry. No more will the young man who has no visible means of support and whose only exertion is a game of pool, be allowed to thus exist. His day is gone, as a crusade against him and his ilk has started. Henceforth, anyone caught idle, and who is unable to give a good reason for being idle, will be arrested and prosecuted under the new order-in-council which provides a heavy penalty. Deputy Chief Grandchamps has had a special squad of men working on these cases for the past two days, and has already rounded up eight men. Two of these appeared in the Arraignment Court this morning, and were remanded for trial.

In the Northwest the anti-loafing law has worked wonders. The streets in the towns and cities of the west today are entirely clear of men who have no permanent jobs. Tin-horn pedlars, sports, and bums have practically disappeared, having all gone to work on the farms. The west is taking this law, and, in fact, the whole campaign for production, with absolute seriousness. Last Saturday in the city of Winnipeg alone, there were 27 prosecutions under the Anti-Loafing Act. All the men that can be spared from every city, town and hamlet in the three western provinces are busy on the farm, helping put in the crop.

When this war is over it will be the west, with its great resources that will pay the interest of the war debt and not any other part of the Dominion, said Mr. W. P. Hinton, general manager and vice-president of the Grand Trunk Pacific, on Monday.

Something New, Something Helpful, The B-H Color Scheme Adviser
WOULD you like to "see" your house in its new coat of paint, before you paint it? You can. The Brandram-Henderson "Color Scheme Adviser" enables you to try out different color combinations before deciding on the color scheme most pleasing to your eye.
This unique device consists of a transparent outline of a house, behind which you place color cards of every known shade—one color for the walls and another color for the roof. With the transparent sheet, there comes a set of 40 cards each of a different color. First you try a white card on the walls, in combination with a green card for the roof. Then you try a brown card behind the wall section of the transparency, along with a red card for the roof. And so on, until you have exhausted the possibilities of every known color combination. We have one of these "Color Scheme Advisers" and will be pleased to let you experiment with it before you select your B-H "ENGLISH" 70% Pure White Lead (Brandram's Genuine B.B.) 30% Pure White Zinc 100% Pure Paint for the Spring painting of your house or any other building. Of course you are going to paint this Spring—and equally, of course, you are going to use B-H "English" Paint—the paint with the guarantee behind it.
Our store is the B-H Store—which means that this is paint headquarters. The outstanding reputation of this brand is based on its superior covering-capacity and exceptional durability—both of which features we know to be due to the combination of Brandram's Genuine B.B. white lead and pure white zinc, which the makers of B-H "English" Paints maintain in spite of the repeated advances in the cost of these ingredients.

MARTIN-SENOUR
"100% PURE" PAINT
The Paint That Costs The Least is the Paint that covers the greatest surface—that takes the shortest time to apply—that wears the longest. Martin-Senour "100% Pure" Paint does all three. Here's the proof. "100% Pure" Paint covers 900 square feet of surface per gallon.
Hand-mixed-lead-and-oil and cheap prepared paints, cover only about 500 square feet.
The greatest cost of painting is for labor. It takes less time to apply Martin-Senour "100% Pure" Paint because its fine, even texture spreads much easier.
is guaranteed to be exactly as represented. The purity of the White Lead and Zinc Oxide—the high quality of the Linseed Oil—the minute fineness of the grinding by powerful machinery—insure a paint that gives years of protection and beauty to your home.
Why use cheap paint—that is expensive to put on—when Martin-Senour "100% Pure" Paint wears nearly twice as long?
If you are painting this year, you'll be interested in our books—"Town and Country Homes" and "Harmony in Neu-Tone". Call or write for copies—free.

Christ's birthplace at Bethlehem is in the hands of the British troops, and an interesting story concerning it is told by Captain Albert Larking, of London, in a letter to a friend here. He said: "I am on guard at the birthplace of our Lord. It is a very wonderful place and I never thought when I read about it that one day I should stand guard over it. The manger is marked by a 14 pointed star, presented by the French Government. The stable is hung with lamps from all different countries. They are always alight and look beautiful. The manger itself is cut in natural rock, but marble has been put in to keep it in good condition."

In Palestine on the 1st of May the British infantry and Australian mounted troops, in their operations east of the Jordan, struck at Es-Salt, a junction point on the Hedjaz Railway. The Australians entered the town and took 33 German and 317 Turkish prisoners. Meanwhile at the Jordan crossings Turks won a victory by passing the river at night and falling upon a mounted brigade which was guarding the crossings. It was compelled to fall back, and nine horse artillery guns, co-operating with the cavalry, support was provided at once for the mounted brigade, and the operations are continuing. During the night of May 2nd and the morning of May 3rd the enemy renewed his attacks on Es-Salt from the northeast and north with considerable reinforcements. In each case the attacks were repulsed with heavy losses and 314 prisoners remained in our hands.
