MANION, WHITE TO SPEAK--ABBOTT RALLY MARCH 20

CONSERVATIVE CANDIDATE TO HOLD OPEN MEETING IN VICTORIA HALL TUESDAY

Gathering to Commence at 8.15 Sharp as National Leader is Scheduled to Address Later Meeting — White Scores King's Excuse For Calling Three-Hour Session of Parliament

The Honorable R. J. Manion, national Conservative candidate, will address the electors of the St. Antoine-Westmount division in support of R. S. White at a public meeting called by Mr. White in Victoria Hall on Tuesday evening. The rally will commence at 8.15 o'clock sharp as Mr. Manion is scheduled to speak at an east-end gathering immediately following his address here and for this reason all who wish to hear the Tory party leader should make it a point to arrive on time. The meeting is to be held in the lower main hall of the building.

Mr. White will address his "contituents following the address of the leader of his party. Others prominent in public life in the riding will also be heard.

In the opening radio address of his campaign Tuesday night the veteran Parliamentarian referred to Prime Minister King's excuse for the three-hour session of Parliament in January — "that of having promised the House of Commons another session before election" — an affront to the intelligence of the people.

Mr. King, the local Conservative candidate declared, has "Loaded the dice in his favor by torpoedoing Parliament and denying proper measures of his Government, save in such a one-sided way as he and his ministers choose to divulge it.

During the broadcast Mr. White condemned a "whishering campaign" which he said was being conducted against him and which had as its basis the "heinous crime of having grown old." The House of Commons is a place where brains and experience are of prime importance and not an arena for athletes, he declared. Mr. White has attended 31 sessions of parliament under ten of the 11 Prime Ministers since Confederation.

Excepts from Mr. White's radio address follow:

How comes it that we are in the throes of a general election at this time? The answer is because the Prime Minister broke his word to Parliament.

Let me recount the facts. In September last, Parliament was called into special session, at which session formal declaration of war against Germany was made. Toward the close of the session Mr. King was asked whether another session of Parliament would be held before a general election, and he replied, "It is my intention to have Parliament called again in January."

Time ran on. The Government busied itself with war measures of one kind and another, and then toward the end of December Mr. King advised the then Governor-General, Lord Tweedsmuir, whose tragic death is so deeply lamented, to summon Parliament on January 25 last "for the despatch of business."

As you are aware, the words "despatch of business" mean a session devoted to discussion and enactment of measures, to voting of money for carrying on operations of all departments of Government, and to inquisition into all the various branches of administration. Up to this time, therefore, and indeed, until the very day Parliament met, it was taken for granted Mr. King would have a regular session in keeping with his pledged word, and in keeping with the proclamation he had caused Lord Tweedsmuir to issue. What happened? Within three hours of its assembling, the

GRIT STANDARD-BEARER HOLDS SEAWAY PROJECT NOT ISSUE AT PRESENT

Will Address Gathering This Evening in St. Joseph's Hall — Winning of War Must be First Concern of Country, He States in Radio Address — Believes Waterway Plan Should be Shelved

D. C. Abbott, Liberal candidate in the St. Antoine-Westmount division in the forthcoming Federal election will hold his innaugural open meeting in this section of the riding in Victoria Hall on March 20.

He will speak before an open meeting of his electorate in the St. Antoine section in St. Joseph's Hall this evening.

In a radio address Monday night Mr. Abbott stated: "I have been asked repeatedly to state my views on many questions not related to the main proposition of fighting and winning the war. In particular I have been asked to say what my stand is on the St. Lawrence seaway project.

"Let me say at once that I don't consider that this question is, or should be, an issue in this election. It is nevertheless a question of not only national but international importance, and the electors of St. Antoine-Westmount are entitled to know what my views are.

"This important feature of Canadian-American relations has engaged the attention of the nation for the past 20 years. You will recall that in 1932 Mr. Bennett's Government, of which Mr. Cahan was a leading member, signed the St. Lawrence Deep Waterway Treaty, which treaty failed to pass the United States Senate and was never ratified. In 1938 the United States sought to renew negotiations and further discussions have since taken place, but no new treaty has been signed.

"The proposal is one which, from the point of view of both navigation and power development, involves technical and economic questions of great importance and difficulty, upon which opinions not only can but do differ.

"But, whatever the merits or demerits of this project may be, I cannot see how it can be justified as a wartime measure. It is obvious that it must involve the expenditure of very large sums of money. We are already burdened with a crushing debt and are faced with ever-increasing expenditures in order to prosecute our war effort. These expenditures will impose a tremendous strain upon our economic resources. The winning of the war must be our first concern, and I feel strongly that this country cannot afford to even consider a huge public expenditure on a project such as the St. Lawrence waterways."

Referring to the opposition in the election as provided by Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion, leader of the Conservative party, Mr. Abbott remarked:

"The Conservative party, under Dr. Manion's leadership, has changed its coat, and today no one is quite sure just who or what constitutes that party. Dr. Manion has been curiously vague in one speech he said he didn't particularly care what name Conservatives called themselves so long as they stood for what he calls a National Government. Apparently each of Dr. Manion's candidates is allowed to choose a party name which best fits the political requirements of his particular constituency. It is clear that in this election there is no such thing as a Conservative party as we have known it in the past. There is only a party headed by Dr. Manion and Mr. Stevens labelling itself Conservative in one place, National Conservative in another, and National Government somewhere else."

CALL TENDERS FOR ADDITION TO BUILDING

New Section Will be Added To St. Paul's Academy At Cost of $150,000

Tenders for the demolition, reconstruction and enlargement of St. Paul's Academy will be received by the School Commission of Saint Leon-de-Westmount, until 3 o'clock Friday afternoon March 29. The project consists of the erection of a three-storey addition to the school at an approximate cost of $150,000 and will represent the most important school undertaking here since construction of the Argyle Junior High School.

The addition to the building will measure 53 by 165 feet, to be constructed with stone and brick walls for the housing of a chapel, assembly hall, teachers' quarters and nine classrooms. Gaston Gagnier is the architect.

Work on the project will commence on April 8 and will be completed by October 8.

Langley, who was arrested by Constables Morgan and Dagg on Saturday, had a criminal record listing 12 previous convictions. He had been arrested in Westmount on two former occasions. The accused's record showed that he had been arrested in Toronto and sentenced for theft and that he had been picked up for being drunk, begging and loitering on numerous occasions.

BOYS BRIGADE GIVES DISPLAY OF DRILL WORK

First Westmount Company Takes Part in Youth Display Held in King's School

Accompanied by the unit's bugle band, the First Westmount Company of the Boys Brigade gave an exhibition of drill movements at the annual youth display sponsored in King's School Friday evening by the Westmount Hobby Show. The company was under the command of Captain J. Howard Richardson while Lieut. M. Angus was in charge of the drill work. The excellence of the band was highly commended by Scoutmaster R. Rush, of the Weredale Troop.

Robert Beal, Warrant Officer in the Company, was presented with a pair of silver Brigade cufflinks by the company for the valuable services he has rendered the unit during the past year. In presenting the gift, Captain Richardson praised him for his untiring efforts.

This Saturday the company will hold an aquatic meet on which occasion the challenge medal will be put up for competition. Boys should meet at Melville Hall for 4.15 P.M. so that the meet may be started promptly. Points will be awarded for each section, to first and seconds, the total aggregate of which will be counted toward the medal. Squads will also benefit from first and second places being won by their boys.

Cycle trips into the country have been planned for Saturdays as soon as the highways are open. Some very interesting trips are among them, taking in some of the historical sections of the vicinity. Educational tours will take place during the Easter vacation to various factories in the city. These are sponsored by the educational department of The Brigade under the section of the educational badge.

The Life Boys, junior section, is making rapid progress under its new leader, Rodgie B. Stewart. Handicraft work of varied form is being commenced this Friday.

City Buys Summit Circle Area For Municipal Park

A project first formulated some eight years ago became a reality Tuesday night with the announcement by the city that it had purchased the area of land enclosed by Summit Circle from McGill University for development of a municipal park.

Official announcement of the close of the contract came following a meeting Tuesday evening to give final consideration to the matter. The area, which is a million and a half square feet on top of Westmount Mountain, was purchased for $300,000, or approximately 20 cents per square foot.

There is now a dwelling or building of any sort on the area.

The text of the statement issued by the city Tuesday night follows:

For many years it has been the wish and hope, not only of the Mayors and Councils of the City of Westmount, but also of the Westmount Municipal Association and many citizens, that the top of Westmount Mountain might some day be acquired by the city and preserved for future generations.

It has been and is the policy of the city to acquire immovable assets which will remain for the benefit of the community, so that the City of Westmount will, by reason of its parks, playgrounds and open spaces, always be a desirable place to live in.

Tentative negotiations in the past had to be abandoned, as it was found that the price asked for the acquisition of the property, which includes all of the area inside Summit Circle and comprises approximately 1,500,000 square feet, was — when general real estate values were much higher than at present — far in excess of what it was felt that the city could afford to pay.

The matter was again taken up by the present Mayor and Council, and it was decided to again approach McGill University, the owners of the property, to ascertain whether, at this time, the property could be purchased at a price which it was felt the city would be justified in paying.

The result of these further negotiations was most gratifying. The city received an offer from McGill University to sell the property en bloc for $300,000, or approximately 20 cents per square foot, payable over a period of three years without interest. This offer, after having been discussed with the executive of the Westmount Municipal Association, the Mayor and Council unanimously decided to accept, believing that the present is a particularly advantageous time to buy at a very attractive price.

In view of the location and extent of the property and its splendid possibilities as a park and playground, the Mayor and Council consider that as the purchase of the property can be financed with funds which are and will become available, without imposing any additional burden on the citizens, the citizens will be fortunate indeed in being able to preserve what is perhaps the last available open space in the city, which will, no doubt, become as popular as King George Park for both summer and winter use by young and old alike.

Young Ladies' Sodality Show Outstanding Success

The Young Ladies' Sodality of Ascension Parish, Westmount, scored another hit in the production of their "Emerald Fantasy" The theme of the show was, of course, Irish and all the old Irish songs, ranging from the most popular favourites to old melodies now forgotten, were sung in all their appealing beauty by groups of charming young ladies from the Sodality and by gaily costumed girls and boys from St. Paul's and St. Leo's Academies. The youngsters scored a big hit in both their numbers opening the show with a number entitled "In a Little Irish Schoolroom". Their songs were sung in an entirely unsophisticated and carefree manner and little Neil Culbert, as the teacher, was excellent, his characterization being no less enjoyed than his singing.

Jane Adams, Peggy O'Brien and Fred McCaffrey proved a very tuneful trio and their interpretation of "You Brought Ireland Right Over to Me" was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience.

One of the most effective scenes was "An Irishman's Dream" and here great technical skill was

CANADA'S WAR FILM

Premier Hepburn is letting his pique against Prime Minister King gain the upper hand over his better judgment. Mr. Hepburn's latest exhibition is the banning of Canada's war film from Ontario. As head of the censors in that province, Mr. Hepburn has clamped down with all the severity of a Dr. Goebbels.

The March of Time has been making a film to show what Canada has been doing in the war. The movie depicts scenes among the troops and also deals with Canada's economic effort.

Mr. Hepburn says the film is nothing but propaganda for the King Government and it is election fodder. That may be true, but the film is also good propaganda for the Dominion of Canada. The people are anxious to know what is being done and this movie helps to tell them about it.

Now, Mr. Hepburn crashes down like any Nazi or Communist Dictator to say that the movie cannot be shown in Ontario for the time being. In so doing he performs a favor for the enemy, because he stifles some propaganda for Canada.

Perhaps, when Mr. Hepburn thinks it over a little longer, he will see that his hatred of Mr. King has carried him away. Anxious as he may be to oust Mr. King, we doubt if Mr. Hepburn would torpedo Canada just to see Mr. King drown.

MUSSOLINI DICKERS

Mussolini has been playing both ends against the middle for so long in Europe, he has come to enjoy the reputation of being one of the best international poker players in the gambles of diplomacy. The Duce understands that he is something of a belle of the ball. Both the British and French on one side and the Germans on the other are wooing him.

With Germany sending Joachim von Ribbentrop to Rome, and Great Britain releasing the Italian boats laden with German coal for Italy, Mussolini is playing his cards close to his chest.

Both the Duce and his son-in-law, Count Ciano, realize that they are in a good position in Europe. They are greater realists than Hitler, who lets his dreams carry him away at times. Both Mussolini and Ciano grasped the fact that Britain and France would go to war, if Germany invaded Poland. When they told Hitler that, the Fuehrer intimated that the two Italians were crazy. Events proved Hitler wrong and Mussolini and Ciano right.

During the next few days there is going to be plenty of jockeying for diplomatic position in Europe. Mussolini will try to play off Britain against Germany. That is a natural avenue for him to travel. He sees how important his friendship is to both sides in the war.

The Duce has one chief thought in mind regarding Europe. He wants Italian influence to dominate the Balkans. Rome had Austria under her wing until Hitler walked in and added it to the Reich. That was a bitter pill for the Duce. He lost that trick. Right now he is watching both the Allies and Germany and he is determined he will get all he can for Italy out of his bargaining.

BACK TO DUTY

With the British Navy getting down to even more serious business than ever, five Admirals of the Fleet have been recalled to duty. They had retired after rendering long and gallant service.

The five are:

Sir Henry F. Oliver, G.C.B., K.C.M.G., M.V.O.

Sir Osmond de B. Brock, G.C.B., K.C.M.G., K.C.V.O.

Sir Roger J. B. Keyes, Bt., G.C.B., K.C.V.O., C.M.G., D.S.O.

Sir Frederick L. Field, G.C.B., K.C.M.G.

Sir Reginald Yorke Tyrwhitt, G.C.B., D.S.O.

The youngest of the five admirals is Sir Roger Keyes, who is 67. The oldest is Sir Henry Oliver, who is 75.

All five men have seen plenty of action. They know what naval warfare is all about. It is not likely that they will be called on to take active commands at sea. But they can still perform valuable staff service and permit younger men to get away from desks in London to take over active duties with the fleet.

Out of the Frying Pan

Frederick was visiting his Aunt Matilda, and was trying hard to mind his manners. As he was tasting hesitatingly at a rather small bowl of unfamiliar liquid, his aunt remarked, "Don't you like the soup, Frederick?"

"Oh yes!" he exclaimed eagerly. "It's very good soup—what there is of it."

And then, realizing in consternation what he had said, Freddie rushed on: "And there's plenty of it, too—such as it is."

Young Ladies' . . .

brought into play in the lighting effects and in the use of a shadow curtain to produce a dreamlike atmosphere. This scene was very artistic in its setting and several songs were delightfully sung by the Young Ladies' Sodality demurely gowned in white evening frocks. The whole selection was rendered notable by the singing of Raymond Barrett and by Fred McCaffrey, who added just the right touch of humour.

The original one-act play which was presented for the first time deserves the highest praise. Its manner of presentation, the skill and understanding with which the lines were handled and the smart dialogue make it a noteworthy attempt. Here, again, the stage setting was very attractive. Every member of the cast filled his part ably and it would be a difficult matter to single out any particular member for special mention.

The final number on the programme — Listening to an Irish Band — brought together the entire ensemble and combined in one grand finale to bring to a close a thoroughly enjoyable evening. The highschool choruses looked very smart their costumes being military outfits of white and green.

Great praise is due the technical staff for the smoothness with which the whole programme was run off and for the excellent lighting effetts. Music was under the capable direction of Art Morrow.

THE FORUM

Conducted by HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C., D.C.L.

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper and it does not accept responsibility for them.

There are about 600 colleges and universities in the United States. Most of these colleges and universities have a department of economics or at least a professor of economics. There are over 6,000 members of the American Economic Association.

Now after ten years of this temporary depression, this chronic emergency, this national economic mess, we have yet to see any single college economist or a group of university economists offering a program or constructive suggestions for what ails the nation. What suggestions or what programs as have been offered have come almost entirely from non-academic sources.

The other day we asked a man from the most "liberal" academic centre in the mid-west just what the professors of economics in that institution were thinking and doing. His answer was to the effect that they were thinking largely in terms of individual advancement and hoped to ride out the depression without proposing anything, at least without proposing to do anything fundamental. In other words, the academic economists think they are "sitting pretty" and have no intention of "sticking out their necks."

Such is the intellectual leadership of our colleges and universities. This is the sort of "courage," "idealism," "research," or what you will, that taxpayers, churches and philanthropists subsidize to the tune of hundreds of millions. In a national crisis, our intellectual leaders are just "not there." Those million-dollar college and university buildings seem to be just "whited sepulchres."

What good are colleges and universities when they fail us in a national crisis?

—The American Guardian.

Many persons use the expression "Rule the Roost." It was recently brought to my attention that the correct expression is "Rule the Roast." The figure is drawn, not from a chicken roost, but from the turning of a spit with a haunch of venison or other meat on it before an open fire. The person who superintended this process was said to "Rule the Roast."

President William K. Pendleton said: "The way to make speeches is the way they build ships down in Maine. They don't build ships; they build ship, miles and miles of ship, along the shore. When a ship is required for launching, they cut off so many fee of ship, squeeze the ends together, shove it into the water, and there you have your ship. So should speeches be made."

Free trading among nations should appease all kings of hungers. To bring it about, a long course of education of all nations must be inaugurated, education against nationalism and in favour of a policy of live and let live, live and help live, among individual men and among nations — in short, a training in the Golden Rule. It sounds discouraging enough, calls for patience enough; and it is idealistic enough. A stranger paradox this, perhaps, that trade should be the cause of wars and yet the cure for wars. Most modern wars admittedly spring from economic causes, from the greed of nations for trade, the attempts to grab trade. Yet the cure would seem to be more trade for everybody.

CALVARY CHURCH NOTES

The Easter season is here again and what mixed feelings are ours this year; joy-sorrow, triumph-fear, retrospection-anticipation. We are glad to welcome the Rev. D. I. Forsyth to the leadership in Calvary again. He will preach on two challenging themes on Palm Sunday, and again on Good Friday night. The Easter music will form a very important part of our services. At the evening service on Palm Sunday, — March 17, our three Choirs will lead the choral praise. The senior Choir led by our organist, G. W. Cornish, and the Intermediate and Junior Choirs led by Mrs. W. S. Walker will render together and antiphonally the following programme of Easter Music: Jerusalem; Hosanna; Come Children; Join to Sing; Thou Camest; Lord, in Kingly State; Hosanna loud Hosanna; Ye Fair Green Hills of Galilee; All Glory Laud and Honour.

The theme of the morning sermon will be "King, Dictator or — The act of Jesus," life that is most difficult to explain is the Thiumphal Entry into Jerusalem. Outwardly this act seems to indicate that for a few moments Jesus wanted to experience the thrill of riding as a King or Dictator. Actually the entry of Jesus into Jerusalem meant something entirely different. It indicates that Jesus today has a definite relation to the phrase "King, Dictator or". That relation gives the answer to the meaning of the Thiumphal Entry.

A short address to the team "Hebrew, Greek and Latin" will be given by Mr. Forsyth at the evening musical service. The death of Jesus was more than a happening in an obscure province of Rome, it was a world event. The words by the fross were written in the three languages of the day so that all the world might read. Although many could read the words there were few who understood the actual meaning and significance of the cross.

Monday, at 8:15 P.M., the Young People's Union will meet. Jack Moore, the citizenship convener wil be in charge of the meeting.

Tuesday, 2:00 P.M., and Thursday at 7:30 P.M., the Red Cross Units will meet.

Wednesday, 2:30 P.M., the Women's Association will hold its semi-monthly meeting, all ladies of the congregation urged to attend.

WESTMOUNT BAPTIST CHURCH

The Pre-Easter Services in Westmount Baptist Church will find their focal point in the actual experiences of Christ. At the morning service, Rev. J. A. Johnston will speak of "The Knight of Galilee—Approaching His 'Zero Hour.'"

In the evening the theme of the sermon will be: "With Christ at Life's Cross Roads." Far too often we erroneously assume that Jesus took everything in His stride without gruelling struggle. In these pre-Easter meditations we shall think of the Real Christ who alone can sustain baffled, blundering, oft-times beaten men. Visitors are cordially invited to these services.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

TAKE UNUSUAL PICTURES

Can you identify this subject? The answer is below—with other ideas for novel and amusing pictures you can take.

WHEN you run out of ideas for the usual type of pictures—try your hand at unusual pictures. Look out for novel angle shots, and opportunities for "puzzle pictures." This is fun—and such shots will add novelty to your snapshot album.

There are all sorts of unusual things worth trying. For example, odd lighting effects when you are taking night snapshots. Instead of having your photo bulbs at eye level, put them on the floor for a few shots,—so that they shine up toward your subjects, and cast long shadows on the wall. It's a stunt that yields surprising effects.

Try shots at unusual angles. Take a picture from an upstairs window, with a subject directly below you looking straight upward. Try a steep up-angle shot of a tall building. Shoot straight down a stairway well. The picture above is a shot of a deep circular staircase, taken with the camera pointed almost straight down. You'll agree it makes a novel effect.

For another stunt, try tricks with perspective. Take a shot of a subject sitting down, with his feet extended toward the camera. If the feet are fairly close to the lens, they will show up absurdly large in the picture. For shots such as this, use the smallest lens opening on your camera, as you need extra "depth of field." It won't matter if the nearest objects are slightly out of focus, but they shouldn't be too "fuzzy."

Try some double-exposure tricks. For example, a close-up shot of a newspaper page—and then a close-up of a person on the same film. Use a dark background for the shot of the person. You can produce some unusual "combination" effects in this manner.

Try all these stunts — and keep your eyes open for other novel picture chances. They'll give added spice to your camera hobby.

Parliament was dissolved, and the election in which we are now engaged precipitated.

REASONS HELD WANTING

But, you will say, there must have been some reason given by Mr. King for this flagrant violation of his pledged word. There was one only such reason advanced by him in his speech in the House of Commons on January 25 last, namely, the passing of a resolution by the Ontario Legislature "regretting that the Federal Government at Ottawa has made so little effort to prosecute Canada's duty in the war in the vigorous manner the people of Canada desire to see." Yet, on the day following this vote of censor by the Ontario Legislature, Mr King in an interview by the press stated that he would deal with the matter, and give his answer to the censure in the proper place, namely, on the floor of the House of Commons.

How hard pressed Mr. King was for justification of his burlesque act of calling Parliament for the despatch of business, and summarily sending members back home three hours later after listening to three speeches, will be understood from his statement—that of having promised the House of Commons another session before election! I submit that such a statement in an affront to the intelligence of the people, and that no person outside an insane asylum will regard the farce at Ottawa on January 25 last as a Session for the despatch of business. What Mr. King has done is this: Loaded the dice in his favor bl torpedoing Parliament and denying proper knowledge of the war measure of his Government save in such one-sided way as he and his ministers choose to divulge it.

Mr. King calls for unity of Canadians to win the war. So do I. But there can be no national unity in his conception unless it be unity to sustain him in office Now, upon what meat doth this our Ceaser feed that he is grown so great! He and he alone, we are told can typify national unity. Has Mr. King lost his sense of logic? Consilder the case. When war was declared. Dr. Manion offered Mr. King the co-operation, aid and support of the Conservative Party in war activities, and in the special session in September the House members of that party refrained from opposing or criticizing Government measures. Yet from that time down to this very day, Mr. King has refused, almost spurned, co-operation of Dr. Manion and his supporters. Is that Mr. King's idea of national unity?"

BOYS' AND GIRLS' HOBBY SHOW OPENED YESTERDAY AT "Y" BY ALD. W. SCOTT

Large Attendance Marked Innaugural Night of Exhibit — Nearly 1,000 Individual Exhibits Entered by 300 Contestants — Quality of Exhibits is Impressive Feature of Event

The Westmount Boys' and Girls' Hobby Show, sponsored by the boys and girls Hi-Y Clubs, was officially opened at the local 'Y' branch last night by Alderman W. B. Scott.

The large attendance at the 'Y' amply demonstrates the tremendous popularity enjoyed by this type of show. Despite the comparatively short time the Westmount Hobby Show has been in significance, its affects on Westmount school children and young boys and girls has been marked. This year close to 1000 individual exhibits have been entered from more than 300 exhibitors. But the most impressive aspect of the show has been the quality of the exhibits. In every class where planning, effort and skill in craftmanship were necessary these qualities were abundantly displayed. Nor will these qualities be confined to inanimate exhibits. The sports events, public speaking and elocution contests, the model aeroplane meet, the dancing and entertainment competitions which are scheduled for today, tomorrow and Saturday promise to provide still further proof of the intelligent interest and approach demonstrated by local children in the all-important subject of recreation.

Hi-Y Clubs Sponsors

Judging from the comments heard at the 'Y' last night, as hundreds of proud parents and excited children milled about the exhibits, the Hi-Y clubs of Westmount High School, under whose sponsorship the show is being staged, have further secured the high reputation they enjoy. More than one parent was heard to remark that the Westmount Y.M.C.A. through its various young people's groups was assuring a continuance of interest in those virtues which stood for character building and good citizenship Particular praise was paid the exhibitors in the arts and crafts section which drew a huge entry list covering a wide range of hobby activity. An indication of the variety of exhibits is found in exhibits classes with further subdivisions amounting to more than 350 sections for juniors, intermediates and seniors.

History Class Leads

In the field of collections seven classes with 51 sections were necessary to accommodate the large number of entrants. In point of numbers the natural history class led with 14 sections ranging from leaves and wild flowers, through minerals, fossils, shells and insects, to photographs and drawings of animals and birds in natural environment. In household arts sixteen divisions were required to take care of entries in the cooking classes. Eleven sections were made to handle sewing exhibits, four for embroidery, and seven for needlework.

In the literature class no less than sixteen divisions afforded entrants opportunities to submit essays, short stories, poems, one act plays, school or club newspapers and business letters.

Sports And Games

A comprehensive list of items comprises the classes for the department of sports and games. Boxing, fencing, swimming, diving and lifesaving for boys and girls, table tennis, wrestling, chess, checkers and indoor athletics provide more than eighty divisions in which competitors have entered.

To describe adequately the numbrous details, particularly the exceptionally high standard of the loan exhibits which have been furnished by several prominent Montreal business organizations, would require more space than any weekly newspaper could spare. As proof of the pudding is to be found in the eating so it is with the hobby show. Only personal inspection can possibly give a complete picture of what Westmount girls and boys have achieved in this hobby show, under the direction of the executive and with the advice and assistance of the advisory council.

MRS. M. CORNELL, CENTENARIAN, LAID TO REST

Noted Resident Had But Recently Celebrated Her One Hundredth Birthday

Final tribute was paid to Mrs. Manley Cornell, of 55 Selby street, at a private funeral service held on Monday afternoon at the chapel of Tees and Co., St. Luke and Tower streets. Mrs. Cornell, who died on Friday, had celebrated her 100th birthday slightly less than three weeks ago, and was apparently in good health, despite her age, at that time.

Mrs. Cornell was widely known here and was a noted church worker being active up to a few years ago in the affairs of the Methodist Church and latterly the United Church.

A native of Belfast, Ireland, she came to Canada when still a girl. She came across the Atlantic on a sailing vessel, the trip lasting six weeks. Not fond of sailing, she never returned to the Old Country.

Although fond of motoring and other modern activities, she disliked moving pictures and never saw one in her life. Recently her main interest was the radio.

Though a firm beliver in the "good old days," Mrs. Cornell had a fondness for young people and liked to have them around her whenever possible. Her interest in her 18 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren never diminished.

In her early days she was a member of Douglas Methodist Church, which stood then near the site of the present Seville Theatre, and she seldom missed a Sunday service. Latterly she had been a member of Westmount Park United Church.

She is survived by five sons and daughters, three living in this city, C. A. Cornell, Mrs. A. D. Buchanan and F. E. Cornell; A. H. Cornell of Brookline, Mass., and Mrs. Thomas Mace of St. Johns, Que. Her husband predeceased her some years ago.

In fact, one of the choruses is made up almost entirely of young N.D.G. girls, while Eva Watt, who is instructing and leading the lines with Jim Groom, is a Westmount resident.

All preparations have been completed. As was the case last season, the production has been left in the hands of co-producers Gerry Mahoney and Harold Potter. In charge of stage management is Olaf Meyer. Mr. Meyer reports that every possible detail in stage furnishing and lighting has been carefully selected and put into shape for opening night.

Prominent again this year in the skits are Dave Campbell, Don Quinn, and Herb Quinn. Although the show refuses to star any one particular person, the central theme of the production is carried throughout by Herb Quinn. In charge of musical scores is Harold Potter. Mr. Potter states that all music included in the Revue is original, and that is has been written especially as a background for scenes which take place in Arabia, South America, Russia and the southern part of the United States.

FINAL TRIBUTE PAID TO LATE MRS. G. MURRAY

Resident of City for Past Ten Years Died on Friday Following Long Illness

Friends and relatives paid final tribute to Mrs. Gerald Murray, of 459 Mount Pleasant avenue, at the funeral mass held Monday morning in the Church of the Ascension of Our Lord. A son, Bishop Gerald Murray, of Saswatchewan, officiated at the service.

Mrs. Murray, the former Julia Casey, died at her late residence on Friday afternoon following a lengthy illness. She was 92 years of age.

She had been a resident of Westmount for the past ten years, formerly having lived in St. Ann and St. Patrick parishes.

She is survived by her husband, two sons, John E. of this city and Bishop Gerald Murray of Saskatchewan, and a daughter, Catherine Frances.

SPLENDID CHANCE TO VISIT METROPOLIS

If you want to see New York at its best and gayest, be there at Easter week end. Mrs. H. B. Pope is arranging a special, all expense five day tour, including all exchange, Radio City Music Hall, N.B.C. Studios, sight seeing, and night club at a reasonable cost.

There is also an all expense, personally conducted party to New York, Virginia Beach, Norfolk, Va, and Washington, by rail, ship and motor coach. There are several lovely sight seeing trips in Virginia and Washington, and the Cherry Blossoms are always a great attraction in the Capitol city. It will be necessary to book at once as little accommodation remains available.

Lightweight Luggage In Smart New Colors

For people who are going south and want to splurge a bit on luggage, there are some new light weight bags in surprising colors. The leather is fine soft cowhide, in forest green or deep blue (not so dark as navy) trimmed with white, or burgundy-edged with black. The leather is stretched over steel frames rather than over plywood boxes, which makes for lightness. There are a hat box, three sizes of overnight bags, two sizes in pullman cases and a wardrobe bag.

DR. SOUTHAM IS NEW HEAD OF INSTITUTE

Succeeds Mrs. Wishart at Mackay Institute—Long Experience

Dr. Harold D. Southam, assistant professor of education, McGill University, has been named as superintendent-principal of the Mackay Institution. He succeeds Mrs. R. B. Wishart, M.A., the present principal, who is retiring four years of outstanding service from her work in Montreal after in the Mackay School.

Returning in 1919, after three years' service in France with the 11th Canadian Field Ambulance, he taught in the elementary and secondary schools of British Columbia. in 1929, Dr. Southam, graduated in arts from the University of Toronto and the bia and for the next three years undertook post-graduate studies in education and psychology at the University of Toront and the University of London, England. IN GEORGIANTICS

EVA WATT

Well-known Westmount performer, who is taking an important part in "Georgiantic '40," the production of the Sir George Williams College presented tomorrow and Saturday nights at the Community Hall.

Drop Cakes

1 cup white sugar, ½ cup shortening, 2 eggs, ½ cup water, 1¾ cup flour, pinch of salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Mix all together, divide the batter into one half, add 1 tablespoon molasses, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon cloves, ½ teaspoon nutmeg. Bake in muffin tins, first drop dark batter, then the white on top, put icing on them if desired.

Costa Rico shipped over 3,000,000 bunches of bananas to other countries last year.

"CARRY ON!"—WATCHWORD ON HOME FRONT

Guns and grain, metal, meat and machinery, agriculture and aircraft—Canada is "carrying on" at home with a gigantic up-swing in production of all kinds.

War effort is readily recognized as three young airmen study a reconnaissance map (upper right) and as Major-General McNaughton, commanding the First Division, C.A.S.F., discusses operations with Lieut.-Col. Lee, Camp Commandment, C.N.E. Barracks, Toronto. But behind the scenes, the blast furnace and forge call the expert metal workers to the colours (centre) and armed only with a dinner pail, Canada's army of workers march to win this war through their power to produce (upper left).

The CBC Feature Production staff, three of whom are shown lower left, including Samuel Hersenhoren, musical director, Harold Symes, sound effects operator, and J. Frank Willis, producer, will give Canadian listeners, each week, a glimpse behind the scenes, of Canada's great war effort on the home front. CBC Mobile Units will visit munition plants and granaries, machine gun factories, abattoirs and shipping depots.

The CBC Feature Department is working in close co-operation with the office of the Director of the Department of Public Information to bring to National Network audiences each Sunday evening, an up-to-the-minute survey of Canada's war effort in all its aspects.

Reweaving Of Rugs Is Depression-Born Industry

There's an old saying to the effect that it's an ill wind that blows nobody some good. Much has been written in the past few years of the evils of the late lamented depression. It seems to us that none of these writers have paused to think of the many new industries that have sprung from the roots of an enforced need for economy.

A rapidly growing youngster born of the depression is the new industry of rug reweaving. To many of us who had never heard of such a business, the fact that new rugs are being made from old ones was startling news. The answer to how this was possible was revealed to us upon our visit to a modern rug reweaving factory. One surprise after another greeted us. Here we found the latest in scientific equipment reclaiming wool from apparently useless old carpets.

To those, who, like ourselves, have always thought of rewoven rugs as a makeshift affair this new process is a revelation. We were treated to the sight of reclaimed wool from all kinds of old carpets being washed, sterilized, bleached and finally re-dyed. Unfortunateiy, lack of space forbids a detailed description of each step in the transformation of old rugs into new. However, we found the dye-rooms to be one of the most interesting and important stages of all. Here the wool is dyed to any shade in the rainbow. Those dyes, being what are technically known as "stock dyes", are sun-fast.

The looms, to which are fed the spun yarn, are the final step in this amazing plant. On these looms are woven beautifully reversible and seemless Broadloom rugs, which can be made in any size, no matter how unusual.

In the sample room we examined the finished product. Remembering the shabby, worn materials at the first stage of the process, it was a revelation to see these thick-piled, durable rugs. Solid colours of every hue, smart modern patterns — rugs to satisfy the most fastidious taste, and all at a price a good deal less than one would expect to pay for an ordinary domestic carpet.

Thanking our guide for a most instructive afternoon we left with the firm resolve that that shabby rug on our living-room floor would soon take its last journey to the rejuvenating plant of a modern rug reweaving factory.

RECITAL TO BE GIVEN BY THE MASONIC CHOIR

Will be Heard at Victoria Hall on April 3—Unique Organization

n An important event in Montreal's musical calendar is the annual concert of the Montreal Masonic Choir which, this year, will be given in Victoria Hall, Westmount, on April 3, at 8:30 p.m.

Founded three years ago, this unique organization of seventy-two men, under the direction of Walter Clapperton, Hon. A.R.C.M. has already earned an enviable reputation for the quality and variety of its programs. Rehearsals have been in progress for some time and many new numbers have been added to its repertoire.

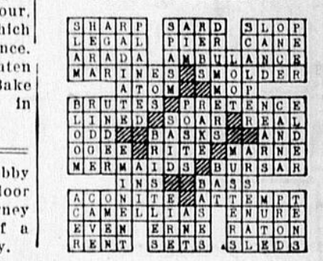

Comforming to its usual practice, the choir will present as guest artist an outstanding figure in concert and radio circles, Miss Frances James, soprano, a Montreal girl who has made a rapid ascent to the top of her profession and whose career has been followed with interest by her many friends. Miss James had the distinction of appearing before Their Majesties, The King and Queen during their visit to Canada last year and will sing some of the songs with which Her Majesty, The Queen, was so pleased.

Advance tickets may be obtained shortly, from any member of the choir, all seats being reserved.

CROSSWORD SOLUTION

A Liberal Message

to CONSERVATIVES

of St. Antoine-Westmount Constituency

- You are not merely electing a Member for St. Antoine-Westmount, you are electing a Prime Minister and a Government for Canada at War.
- You have the choice between Mackenzie King, Lapointe and Ralston – or Manion, Stevens and . . . ?
- The "Conservative" Party of today is not the Conservative Party of other years with a forthright policy and a definite identity. Dr. Manion has sectionalized its policy; scuttled its time-honoured name.
- Dr. Manion's organizers for Quebec are none other than defeated and discredited Duplessis henchmen.
- Your votes defeated Duplessis and Disunion last October: they can defeat Manion and Disunion today.

A Vote for ABBOTT is a vote against Manion and Mystery

A Vote for ABBOTT is a vote for KING and UNITY

DOUGLAS C. ABBOTT, K.C.

Douglas Abbott was born in Lennoxville, Quebec, in 1899 and was educated at Bishops College and McGill University. He has lived in St. Antoine-Westmount Constituency for the past fifteen years.

At the age of sixteen he was serving with a Canadian Field Battery. He served with this unit during 1916 and 1917 and until May 1918, when he was commissioned in the Royal Air Force. Following this honourable service in the Army and the Air Force, he graduated in Law at McGill and was admitted to the Bar. He then returned to France for post-graduate work at a French university.

Since his return from France, he has been practising law in Montreal and is now a King's Counsel. He has been honoured by his fellow citizens with many private appointments that indicate their confidence and the measure of their respect. At the present time he is Vice-President of The Canadian Club, a member of the Council of The Montreal Board of Trade, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the McGill Graduates' Endowment Fund, and holds other posts of a similar nature.

Douglas Abbott is married and is the father of three children. He attends a Westmount church; his children are being educated in Westmount schools.

Interesting Talk given by Sir G. Campbell at Club

"It has been noticed with interest and amusement that Hitler recently said that Germany intended to fight until what he is pleased to call the British stanglehold, on trade and commerce of the world is broken", Sir Gerald Campbell, High Commissioner for the United Kingdom in Canada told members of the Westmount Women's Club at the Charter day luncheon held on Friday afternoon in the Windsor Hotel.

German Methods

The speaker continued saying, "One would not wish normally to question Herr Hitler's peculiar fitness for deciding what exactly a stranglehold means. He is, for instance, at the present moment engaged in endeavouring to put what might fairly be described as a stranglehold on sea borne commerce reaching the British Isles. He has his own methods of trying to do this, and they are indeed the methods of the common criminal and murderer who gets hanged at last. The torpedoing of unarmed and in many cases neutral ships without warning many miles from land, the machine gunning from the air of women and children in open boats and of the lightship men whose tash it is to keep the seas open and safe for all who come, are fair samples of this sort of daily work."

Hitler's Stranglehold

"I might add in passing that Herr Hitler is an adept at putting a stranglehold on the right of his own people to think, live and worship as they see fit; on the right of the peoples whom he has conquered to a treatment at least equal to that normally enjoyed by animals: and on the right of his neighbours to enjoy that measure of security which comes from the knowledge that he would keep his engagements with them. We can all agree therefore that when Herr Hitler uses the word "stranglehold" he ought to have some idea of what it means in practice.

Hampered Trade

But when he talks about a British stranglehold on world trade, I very much fear that Herr Hitler finds himself hampered by the fact it is so long since he has himself allowed the free flow of trade with or from his own country that he no longer recognises it when he sees it elsewhere. He has not made it altogether clear whether he is speaking of peace time trade or war time trade. If it is peace time trade, Herr Hitler has not only no idea of the many successful attempts (not least with our great friend and neighbour the United States) which we have made to lower the world's tariff barriers and to promote a freer interchange of the commodities and services which we all need; he has, alas! forgotten the many well-meaning, though perhaps in the light of after events imprudent or injudicious, attemps to get him to join in, and even in the past to lend his people money to enable them to play their part.

If it is war time trade of which Herr Hitler speaks, I ask you to consider who is doing its best to strangle world trade: the country which torpedoes unarmed neutral ships on sight, or the country which protects them by armed convoy from these new perils of the sea, the submarine, the aeroplane and the magnetic mine?"

Hitler's Fault

In concluding his remarks the speaker said that he had no hesitation whatever in saying that if it were not for that Herr Hitler has done and is doing there would be many more ships sailing the seas at this minute than there are to-day: and that, if it were not for what the British Navy and its Allies are doing, there would be many, many fewer than there are now.

Introduced by Mayor Walter Merrill, K.C., the speaker was thanked by C. Gordon Hyde, K.C., M.L.A.

Mrs. Harold Mills presided and offered congratulations to Mrs. Dorothy Sproule, a member of the club, who was recently awarded a gold medal by the New York World's Fair. Mrs. T. de G. Stewart, founder of the club was also present.

M. J. Stevenson, accompanied by Mrs. Colin Forrest was the guest soloist.

Following the luncheon a bridge was held under the convenership of Mrs. R. E. Parker. Flowers from the head table were sent to Mrs. J. Stott, Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Spencer, all members of the club, who are ill.

BEHIND THE HEADLINES

(This commentary is prepared by Robert Joyce, a student at Loyola College and does not necessarily reflect the views of The Examiner. It is offered as interesting comment by a young man who has travelled widely in most European countries.)

Rumours came fast in European capitals last week. The unexpected commencement of Russo-Finnish negotiations, and Herr Von Ribbentrop's sudden visit to Rome led to many surmises.

Why did Russia, with the Finns seemingly on the run, sue for peace? With the advent of Prime Minister's Chamberlain's speech before the House of Commons on Monday, the situation became clearer. Russia's terms being too severe, Britain had refused to transmit them to the Helsinki Government, and instead had notified Finland that on request the Allies would go to their aid with all their might.

For long Russia had been fearing substantial aid to their enemy from the outside world; the final blow had now been struck. It was the threat of allied intervention that forced Russia to redouble her efforts against the Finns. Thanks to the latter's gallant defense of Vipurii, their military attempt had failed. They had to conclude a peace, or face possible war with the allies. The British announcement merely made their peace plans more imperative.

Why however did Finland accept these terms transmitted to them by the Swedish consul, terms which Britain and France had considered to harsh, too menacing to Finnish independence? Two explanations went the rounds last week. Some said that Finland in a desperate attempt to arouse British and French declarations of support was staking all on a peace move, whilst others held that all but beaten to the ground, were strictly correct, but both had out, and falling like flies before the Russian onslaughts, Finland welcome with open arms this peace overture. Neither of the two were strictly correct, but both had some vestige of truth in them.

Though her defence was cracking, Finland was determined to fight on until her independence was assured.

Yet if Helsinki considered that there was any possibility of a just peace, she was not prepared to throw it overboard merely to satisfy the tactical considerations of the Allies. And Finland had good reason, last week, to hope for a favorable pence. In the first place with the threat of a British and French invasion of Scandanavia, the Germans would be only too glad to bring about peace. Secondly, Germany was in desperate need of oil to launch the promised Spring Offensive on land and in the air. Nor could it be thought that the Russians with the prospect of British and French troops in the lines against them could in any way have deserved a continuance of this campaign. So all things considered the Finns had a mighty good chance of obtaining the terms they wanted.

Berlin nevertheless was taking no chances. Desiring a free hand to act in Scandanavia should Britain and France endanger her iron-ore supplies in Sweden, the Nazis despatched Von Ribbentrop to Rome, to see the Pope, and Mussolini. It was however the interview with the Papacy that was most important. Germany wanted to assure herself that should she act in the North (and hence become Russia's ally) the Italian Government would not break their agreements with Berlin not to enter the war on the side of the allies. In return for promising investigation of the position of Catholics in Germany and her occupied territories, Von Ribbentrop may well have asked His Holiness not to influence unduly the Italian Government to break off relations with a government associated to the Church's greatest ennemy, the USSR.

The sudden return of the German Envoy from Rome seemed to indicate that Mussolini at leatst had agreed to Herr Hitler's plans. For it was obviously to the Italian advantage to emboil the allies and Russia in a Northern campaign from Scandinavia to the Balkans, and thus distract attention from her beloved Balkans. If ever a Balkan state were to be embroiled in war with Russia, Italy's neutrality would be theatened. Just as Britain's frontier is the River Rhine, so too in this war and Italy's, boundaries those of the country's bordering on the USSR.

And so the whole world awaited the outcome of the Finnish negotiations which in one instant might shift the scene of conflict knows what will happen, but come which might force Italian and other countries to the enter the war. This was the spark that might set the whole world on fire in earnest. As we write, who knows what will happen, but come what may, one point will remain certain. Finland will not turn down any acceptable offer to satisfy any power on earth. Thus the world rolls on.

Holman, Basketball Pioneer, Developed Short-Passing Game to Offset Small Gyms in Sport's Early Days

Few men stand out in their fields as Nat Holman does in basketball—America's No. 1 winter sport.

Nat Holman has often been called the greatest and most colorful figure basketball has known.

No one devoted more time to basketball and gotten more out of it than Holman, College of the City of New York's head coach and assistant professor of Hygiene and Physical Education.

Holman brought first class basketball to the big cities by originating a type of game that could be played best on the small courts of congested areas.

For 25 years he has been the model and idol of a good share of the basket-shooting youngsters of Manhattan and elsewhere.

Holman played basketball all day as a boy. His mother had to go out and round him up at meal time.

Result was the Holman system patterned after that of the Original Celtics with the premise on possession through short passing. Holman early learned that the close work required to offset the advantages of bigger players demanded skillful ball handling.

DIRECTED ATHLETICS

While Holman always is identified with basketball, he was an all-scholastic goalie in soccer and once was offered a baseball contract by the Cincinnati Reds. He was a corking infielder and pitched well, but he wasn't interested in professional diamond activities.

He was getting $14,000 a season from the Celtics, coaching City College, running a boys' camp in the summer, and writing "Scientific Basketball."

Holman, now 43, became coach of City College in 1918 after taking a course at the Savage School of Physical Education.

He was athletic director of the Naval Training Base in Brooklyn during the World War. He was director of the Department of Physical Education of New York's 92nd Street Young Men's Hebrew Association—the largest of its kind in the nation—for eight years. For 20 years he has been director of Camp Scatico for Boys and Girls at Elizaville, N.Y.

Holman wrote "Winning Basketball" and is now finishing a third book on the game which is as yet untitled. Two motion pictures have been made on the Holman type of play.

Holman played professionally until 1933, touring with the Original Celtics for eight years.

Coffee Cake

1 cup milk, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 teaspoons baker's yeast, 3½ cups flour, 2 eggs, 1¼ teaspoons salt, 4 tablespoons butter, 1-3 cup brown sugar, ½ cup rolled cracker crumbs, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, chopped nuts, candied cherries. Gannett Presents Program For Recovery In Six Months

Frank E. Gannett, Rochester, N.Y., publisher and candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, charged at a political rally recently "the New Deal has been a complete failure" and offered a 17-point program which he said would "bring substantial recovery in six months."

"The dictators of Europe rose to power because of unbearable economic conditions," Mr. Gannett said. "After seven years of spending and spending, taxing and taxing, piling up the greatest deficit in all history, the New Deal offers no hope of any improvement."

The published for the first time offered what he termed his complete program:

1. Solve the unemployment problem and give every willing worker a job at a fair wage.
2. Restore to the farmer his normal income so that he can buy products of industry.
3. Provide for those on relief a higher standard of living without additional cost to the Government by cutting "politics, waste and corruption from our relief programs."
4. Encourage in every way sharing of profits with employees.
5. Set up a monetary authority under mandate of Congress to stabiliz the purchasing power of the dollar.
6. Assure the public beyond any question that this country would not become involved in this or any other foreign war.
7. Cut waste n defense programs by co-ordinating various departments.
8. Introduce rigid economy into all departments of government.
9. Stop the extension of federal control and regulation over everything and everybody.
10. Take from the President all extraordinary powers he now holds which should rest with Congress.
11. Guard carefully the independence o the three departments of Government.
12. Promote better international relations and leave the people of other countries the right to determine for themselves their form of government.
13. Adopt a constitutional amendment limiting the President's term to eight years, and one to protect the Supreme Court against change except by constitutional amendment.
14. Withdraw the Government from private business and from competition with private enterprise.
15. Promote a policy of abundance instead of a policy of scarcity.
16. Bring into government service able, successful businessmen, leaders of agriculture and labor. ("Today there isn't a successful businessman within a mile of the White House.")
17. As soon as possible, without restricting recovery by higher taxes or by arbitrary curtailment of relief, balance the budget.

THEATRICAL ATTRACTIONS

HERE IS WHY GREER GARSON BECAME STAR IN OVERNIGHT ROUTE

The fact that motion picture experts disagree on the quality responsible for Greer Garson's sudden screen success following her "Mrs. Chips" role is believed to be the real reason why the star today is considered one of the most arresting newcomers now before Hollywood movie cameras.

A variety of interesting replies were obtained in an analytical poll of Miss Garson's talents and assets taken among those who worked with her in filming "Remember?" the picture co-tarring her with Robert Taylor, which opens Sunday at the Westmount United Theatre playing until Tuesday.

Her restraint is one of her outstanding qualities, in the opinion of Norman McLeod, who directed "Remember?" McLeod claims she has the same knack of underplaying scenes that has contributed so much to Spencer Tracy's reputation as a fine actor. This gives Miss Garson a wide and effective emotional range, and coupled with her ability to do either drama or comedy makes her a versatile and competent actress.

Cameraman George Folsey contributes much of Miss Garson's appeal to her smile. "It has an electric quality that wins friends quickly," he declares. "It is warm, natural, spontaneous and photographically appealing."

Soundman Ralph Shugart had an opinion on Miss Garson's voice. He declared it to be an international voice, not English, not American, but with an unusual sincere, unaffected and romantic timber.

ALSO INJURED

Lewis Smith, 4761 Palm street, suffered concussions when he hit a cement base while going through the subway on Girouard avenue Monday. Smith was taken to the Homoeopathic hospital.

The "Little Players of the Air" will present their annual St. Patrick's show at the Snowdon Theatre on Saturday morning. There will also be midget Boxing Bouts by two popular young stars of the future.

Those taking part in the production are... Eddie Kirwan, Catherine Parker, Red Sheehan, Patsy May Morrice, Ella Leahy, Ronnie Morin, Jimmy Dammant, Billy Long, Lorna Bianchhi, Tommy Donnachy, Danny Bradley, John and Fracis McLaughlin, Tommy Dowd, Elizabeth Ross, Raymond David, Catherine Nicholas, Margeau Gaisforth, Patricia Griffeths, Dorothy Melville, Jessie Brownley, Harvey Herman, Sheila Dobrin, Kathleen, Laughran, Sheila Gardner, and a special ensemble of Dancers. Lovely Betty Field Is Not Glamour Girl Type

Meet Betty Field, Hollywood's "Unh-Unh" girl. Which is a brief way of explaining that Miss Field wants no part of glamour. Her answer is the simple negative: "Unh-Unh."

Glamour, the synthetic, painfully-built up variety, is a common thing in the film city today. The atmosphere reeks with it. It gets in the hair, the eyes, mostly the nostrils.

Practically every motion picture actress under the age of 35, possessed with an adequate figure and a face that doesn't look too much like a poached egg, is a glamour girl, whether she likes it or not. Usually, the chief ingredient in the recipe for cloaking her with this elusive quality is to pin upon her some prefix that sounds like a kick in the stomach.

Miss Field enters this scene as a phenomenon. She simply wants to be herself. Nor does she mind at all if her screen roles demand that she be, not only de-glamourized, but a tart — overdressed, overpainted and downright earthy.

Miss Field Talks

"Deliver me from the groove of the perpetual ingenue," said Miss Field in an interview. "There are some actresses of the stage and screen, who despite creaking knees and tier upon tier of double chins, must go on and on being breathless, wide-eyed cuties.

"Playing such rolls time after time, since Grandma backed into a bustle and the Cherry Sisters stopped the show, is like giving the public a steady diet of chocolate eclairs.

"I dont want it. I want parts with meat in them, even if the meat may occasionally be a trifle raw."

She is currently getting her wish, as Mae in Hal Roach's filming of John Steinbeck's novel, "Of Mice and Men," which was produced and directed by Lewis Milestone for United Artists release and is opening Sunday at the Monkland United Theatre playing until Tuesday.

Why He Was Promoted

Guest: "This room looks to me like a cell."

Bellboy (politely): "Well, it's all a matter of what a person's used to."

NELSON EDDY BECAME STAR DESPITE SELF

Nelson Eddy became a motion picture star in spite of himself. If he had been given his own way he would probably be known as a concert singer only instead of a famous personality in every nation on the globe.

Eddy, who co-stars with Ilona Massey in the new musical, "Balalaika," at the York United Theatre starting Saturday playing until Tuesday. Theatre, always had the urge to sing, but as far as motion pictures are concerned he tried twice to quit them before he even got started. After he got his break it was a different matter.

The indisposition of a concert singer, billed to appear in Los Angeles, was the particular incident that led Eddy to Hollywood in the first place. Flown from San Diego as a substitude, he attracted the attention of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer representatives and was placed under contract.

Mrs. C. Groome and Mrs. de Castro entertained at a bridge on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. de Castro in aid of the Earl of Bessborough Chapter I. O. D. E.

Romance in a great hospital, baffling mystery in a beautiful girl's mysterious terror, and thrills of amateur detective work are blended in "The Secret of Dr. Kildare," scientific detective romance which comes Sunday to the Westmount United Theatre playing until Tuesday, with Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore.

The story deals with a mental mystery. Ayres, as Dr. Jimmy Kildare, is called on to diagnose the mental state of beautiful Helen Gilbert. Employing detective methods he traces her terror to the suggestions of a fanatical nurse who insists she has a brain tumor and takes her to a quack doctor (Grant Mitchell). The dramatic denouement is Ayres' cure of the girl's blindness under the guidance of Lionel Barrymore, as the veteran Dr. Gillespie, by practical mental suggestion.

A Medical Miracle

Based on the popular story by Max Brand, the picture shows many interesting modern medical discoveries as sidelines to the central plot. Barrymore demonstrates the use of Prostygmin in a strange case of paralysis, a seeming miracle, in one dramatic highlight. A scientific apparatus, one of the latest miracles of science, is seen on the screen for the first time. Many comedy episodes, such as Barrymore's game of "craps" with George Reed, playing his servant, enliven the thrills and heart interest.

Harold S. Bucquet, who directed "On Borrowed Time," piloted the production. Settings include the interior and exterior of a great New York hospital, gay night clubs, the home of a millionaire, and a high tower from which a view of New York is photographed.

Y.M.C.A. CAGERS WILL MEET STANSTEAD SATURDAY

NOBLE SQUAD SEEKS TITLE OF PROVINCE

District Hoopsters Down Sir G. Williams for City Championship

Hugh Noble's Westmount Y.M.C.A. city championship basketball squad meet Stanstead on Saturday in a game that will decide whether the local cagers will go on to play Shawinigan Falls the following Saturday for the Provincial championship.

Last week the district hoopsters downed Sir George Williams College 29-24 to take the city intermediate crown in a match played in the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gym.

The win marked the first time since 1929 that the Westmount "Y" squad had held the crown and the third in the history of the branch.

During the entire season Noble's squad lost only one regular league fixture; and that to Sir George Williams, a team which they twice defeated.

Syd Thomas, sturdy guard for Westmount Y set the pace Saturday night as his team took a 15-point lead over Stanstead in the first of their home-and-home semi-final series for the Provincial intermediate basketball championship, as they beat the Eastern Townships five 38-23 at Central Y floor.

Leading 22-11 at half-time, the Y boys had to play heads up ball to make up for the All Stars early lead as the yellow-shirted visitors got off to a flying start.

Stanstead rallied again to open the second half and in three minutes cut the leader's margin to 22-17. Westmount, however recovered from this quick outburst and with Syd Thomas setting the pace, piled up a neat 28-17 lead. From then on, Westmount had it quite their own way, and will carry their comfortable lead into the second game next week against Stanstead, who went undefeated in gaining the Sherbrooke City and District title.

Outstanding Girl Athlete To Appear In Ice Carnival

When the curtain goes up on this year's combined Winter Club Rotary Club of Westmount Ice Carnival on April 5 and 6, the customers will have an opportunity of seeing in action the outstanding girl athlete in Canada.

Mary Rose Thacker, who gained the distinction last year of being selected Canada's leading girl athlete, has been booked for this year's Carnival and will appear in several solo free-skating numbers.

Miss Thacker, already a seasoned carnival trouper at seventeen, is living proof of the saying that figure skaters are made, not born. She has been skating ever since she was three years old, appeared as a solo artist at four and won her first championship at six. Today she holds the North American Figure Skating Championship and is one of the greatest 'draws' in ice carnival circles.

Mary Rose Thacker comes by her skating honestly, having been born into a family of enthusiastic skaters. Her mother was one of the leading performers of the Winnipeg Skating Club when Mary Rose was a mere infant, and her two brothers were both showing outstanding talent on the blades.

The foundation of her present success was laid by Ferdinand G. Chatte, Coach of the Winnipeg Skating Club. He it was who gave her a thorough grounding in school and fundamental figures. In later years Mary Rose Thacker trained under Howard Nicholson, today considered the outstanding skating coach in the world. Indeed, Miss Thacker worked under Nicholson for two years in both London and New York and quickly became one of the top figures in the world of skating.

Mary Rose Thacker is a talented young lady. In addition to her ability as a skater she is an expert swimmer an excellent horsewoman and has studied dancing and fencing. Her taste for music finds expression through both violin and the piano and she is at present studying for her final grade in pianoforte. She speaks French, German and Spanish and is a prodigious worker often rising at 5 a.m. to start her practice at the skating club. In spite of this she manages to keep pace with her classmates at school.

Sports Have Limelight In Y.W.C.A. Activities

While the many activities of the Young Women's Christian Association are going on in full force, this week sports have the limelight. The two major events are the Misses Edgar and Cramp's School Gymnastic Display on Friday at 8:15 p.m. and the Senior Gymnastic Competition on Saturday evening.

Girls from the Y.W.C.A. in Quebec, Cornwall and Sherbrooke are competing in the first gymnastic competition sponsored by the Health Education Department. The program will include mat work, flying rings and vaulting. Miss Lucy Box, of Trafalgar School; Miss I. Munroe of the McGill School of Physical Education and Miss Jean Brown of Quebec City will judge the events, and Mr. Edward Beaupre, who has been interestd in girls' sports and has followed girls' basketball for years, is giving a trophy. The Montreal competitors are Anita Williams, Kay Mailer, Gladys Allen, Jean Brown, and Marjorie Vivian.

Junior, intermediate, and senior girls will take part in Miss Edgar and Miss Camp's School Gymnastic Display. The programme which includes apparatus work, basketball technique and folk dancing, will open with Naas (Swedish) March.

A special Palm Sunday Service is being sponsored by the World Fellowship Council. The service will begin at 9.00 a.m. and there will be special music and prayers. This will be followed by breakfast in the Cafeteria.

BASKETBALL LOOPS START

Yesterday afternoon four basketball leagues with 22 teams got under way at the NDG YMCA. Each year at the close of the Hockey season all teams automatically go into the in-between-season basketball activities which continue until the end of the first week in May when softball commences. This year there will be five basketball leagues in all, including Explorers, Preps, Juniors, Intermediates, and Seniors, with a total of 26 teams. Yesterday four of these leagues got under way with eight teams seeing action. Before the week is out 20 more teams will have completed their first game and all leagues will be going full swing.

Arrangements have been made with the Board of Education to use the Willingdon School Gymnasium on Wednesdays and Fridays after school and on Saturday mornings, for the next two months.

The Explorers will have a special period of their own every Saturday morning and will have four teams, Flints, Flares, Flashes and Flames pitted against each other not only in basketball but other indoor activities as well.

In the Prep Section are entered the Indians, Bruins, Hawks, Thunderbolts and Wings. The Juniors will include the Streaks, Aces, Bullets, Royals and Zephyrs. In the Intermediate sections are the Wings, Bulldogs, Lions, Bombers, Rovers and Cubs. The Senior Boys include the Royals, Bruins, Leafs, Rangers, Comets and Generals.

Members of the Juvenile Basketball team will again assist the physical director with refereeing and will include Bill Surphlis, Ernie McReady, Graham Bower and Ken Shaver.

Softball Fans Are Ready For Action

Despite the fact that snow is still on the ground, the softball fans around Snowdon are beginning to think ahead to the days when they will transfer their activities from rink to diamond.

The Junior Stars are looking forward already to taking their fourth straight championship and to retaining the Ald. Donnelly trophy, which was donated last season.

FARE BETTER THAN ON ALTMARK

Westmount Rover Crew News

CAPT. R. F. SCOTT

Up to last Tuesday evening, the Capt. R. F. Scott crew have been engaged in redecorating their den on Renfrew avenue. Last Tuesday, however, the Crew managed to have a short business meeting before closing.

There was a new law enforced at the meeting, it reads as follows: "Any person or persons discussing women in connection with a personal matter, will be fined 5c which will go to the aid of the 'binge box'."

The newly appointed S.R.M., D. Beresford Munn took over the meeting on Tuesday evening, while Ian McAuley, ex-S.R.M. preferred to take a back seat as a R.M. as he is now in charge of the 1st Westmount Scout Troop.

The Crew wishes to acknowledge the following firms through this column for their kind donations of an Investiture Outfit—the Easy Electrical Co., L. N. & J. E. Noiseux, and the Melrose Hardware situated in N.D.G.

A Court of Honour will be held this Tuesday at the home of R.M. Ian McAuley, 4217 Western Ave., at 3 o'clock. Next week's programme will be discussed together with any "brainwaves" the members may have.

New British Sisal Process

An important development in the process of exeracting fibre from the leaves of sisal — the plant like a cactus from which twine and ropes are made — promises to extend its use and also the export of processing machinery from the United Kingdom.

The new machinery handles the sisal far more gently than heretofore, and so reduces loss from broken fibre. Finer strands will open up new commercial uses and experiments with other fibres already indicate an extension in the demand for Empire fibre products.

Each of the new units turns out about 1,000 tons a year and costs about £4,500.

A Navy Is Born

A navy was born on the River Thames when a pennant was hoisted in a coastal motor torpedo boat alongside a pier at Chelsea, two miles above London Bridge.

It was the first warship ever to belong to Eire (the Irish Free State) and Mr. J. Dulanty, the High Commissioner, took delivery of it on behalf of the Eire Government by sending the pennant fluttering to the masthead.

The historic little ceremony took place in the presence of Commander Dunphy, R.N., Naval Adviser to the Eire Defence Minister, and Sir John Thornycroft, head of the world-famous firm of warship constructors which built the craft at their Hampton-on-Thames shipyard, a few miles further up the river.

The vessel, to be known as M. 1, is the first of six which have been ordered by the Eire Government to make their neutrality effective by patrolling their coasts. The torpedo boats will have a speed of 50 miles an hour, and will carry depth charges as well as torpedoes.

There is no record that the Irish, although islanders, ever possessed any sort of national fleet, though it is possible that some of the ancient warships known as "curraghs" which carried raiders to Britain thirteen centuries ago.

Director Bans Polish For Scene in Prison

Thirty actresses, including Ellen Drew, Mae Busch and Kitty Kelly, were today forced to remove all enamel and nail polish before they were permitted to play in a scene for Paramount's "Women Without Names."

They were all enacting roles of long termers in a prison sequence and Director obert Florey, a stickler for realism, insisted that they remove the coloring from their fingers.

"Short-term prisoners might have colored nails, but it won't do for those serving more protracted sentences," he explained.

A General Clean-up

"Mother says may she have a proud of butter and some sugar on trust till father comes home," said the little girl in the grocer's shop.

"And why doesn't your mother come herself?" asked the grocer suspiciously.

"Oh," said the child, full of innocence, "mother's trying another shop."

MISS CAMERON SUCCESS IN ICE CARNIVAL

Local Junior Ice Queen Took Part in Event at Verdun Auditorium

Westmount was most fittingly represented last Friday and Saturday evenings by its own junior ice queen, Miss Carol Cameron, at the vivid and impressive ice-pageant held in the newly-built Verdun Auditorium on Church Street. This figure skating carnival was a shining example of the high quality of local talent in this increasingly-popular field of entertainment.

The show, which was unique because it drew so close as to almost parallel the professional spectacles, was presented by the Montreal Figure Skating Club, Inc. was under the auspices of the Verdun School Children's Aid Committee.

The 19-act program was an irresistible attraction for the 9,000 persons that witnessed it both nights. A number of feature skaters from Ottawa's Minto Club aided considerably in making the performance the closing hit of the current season.

Miss Carol Cameron and her well-known partner, Douglas Coughtry, who are the leading pair-skaters for 1939 and 1940 in the Montreal Figure Skating Club, received enthusiastic applause for the smooth-flowing manner in which they so cleverly combine acrobatics and a quiet grace of style. Miss Cameron's happy smile and her partner's strength in supporting their difficult lift-jumps made their act the more appealing. This year they have paid special attention to a delicate manoeuvre known technically as the "zip-curve from rear to front". Their "back-drape-spin" and dangerous "right-angle - blade - drop" were also greatly appreciated. Carol wore a snow-white, fan-skirted costume bedazzled with a thousand tiny sequens of silver and black. A shallow cap topped with a bow of sky-blue velvet completed the outfit.

NEW APARTMENT SITE PROGRESSES

Scott Realties Co. are completing the Arliss and Beacon apartments, twin buildings of 16 suites each on Coronet Ave., a new smart location which is attracting a fine class of people. This short new street, built as a cul de sac, runs south from L'Oratoire Ave to the Westmount Mountain and joins the Shrine. It is away from noise yet only one block from stores and trams which reach the centre of the City in seven minutes.

The Charles Sales Corporation affiliated with the above named company several weeks ago sold the Edison & Downing apartments on the same street.

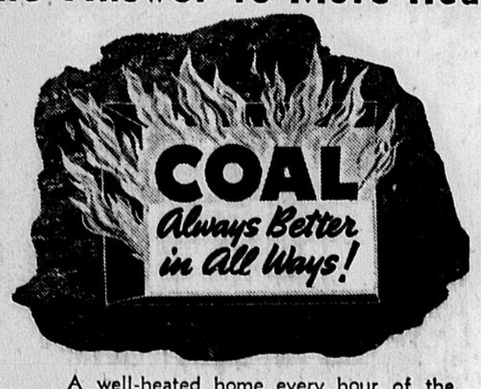

The buildings now being completed are ultra-modern and have many desirable features. All are outside suites assuring plenty of sunshine and fresh air with the added attraction of living alongside the mountain. Smart layouts, large foyers, all deliveries through service stairs and each apartment with its own service entrance lends privacy to each dweller.

The policy of the company 'Luxury living at moderate rentals' has resulted in more than half of these suites being already leased during the first month of the rental season.

This is a great tribute to the managing director Mr. Chas. Herschon who has established during his first year of operation a record and standard of square dealing with the public, contractors, architects and the trade.

MAE WEST SPEAKS

Hollywood, March 13. — Rossmore Avenue in Los Angeles becomes Vine Street at that point where suburban Hollywood shoves its nose deep into the City of the Angels — and at this precise spot in one of the choice midtown residentia districts, is situated the six-story Ravenswood Apartment Hotel.

Legend has it that one summery day eight years ago Mae West was forbidden to park her car outside the Ravenswood by an overdiligent dooman who sourly explained that said parking-space was reserved for tenants of the building. Thereupon, say the sages of celluloid, Miss West flew into a rage, raced straight to her real estate agent, bought the Ravenswood, part and parcel — and moved in, demoting the unchivalrous doorman to a position as third-assistant-flunkey.

Truth of this tale, which is but one item in the fabulous legend of the curvaceous damsel, has never been established because of Miss West's constant refusal to discuss her personal affairs with the press, and her apartment has always been forbidden territory to writers on any shape or description. Suddenly, however, three weeks ago Miss West apparently relented her coldness to the press and invited two photographers and one newspaperman to join her separately at cocktails in her suite. The lucky lensmen were representatives of Life and Look magazines, and for some mysterious reason, the lone reporter was your humble correspondent — who thus became the first and only newsboy ever to cross the threshold of Miss West's apartment.

I COME UP AND SEE

Welcomed at the door by Daisy Jones, freckled young negress who has been personal maid to the star for eight years, I was ushered into Miss West's living room one Thursday afternoon and told the actress was completing her toilet but would join me shortly. In harmony with all eight chambers of the sixth-story suite, the parlor is furnished in Louis XV style, with sofas, chairs and drapes of egg-shell satin. A huge bear-skin glares at you from a corner, and one wall is dressed with an elaborate mirror running the length of the heavily-carpeted room.

Atop the grand piano is a striking statue of Miss West in the flesh, and a replica of this stands elsewhere in the room while an oil painting of the actress, nude, hangs just above the divan. Photographs of her Parisian-born mother and prize-fighting father, Jack (Kid) West, leading featherweight of the Corbett era, also grace the walls. They have since passed on, and Mae's present immediate family includes only a brother, Jack, and sister, Beverly, both living in Los Angeles.

Entering quietly, Miss West caught me gazing intently at the undraped statue. Smiling, she beckoned me to a couch and we sat down.

"My fans!" she said, by way of explaining the galaxy of statues and oils. "They write by the thousands asking for autographed photos, and I've had these photographed to satisfy the demand."

ADVICE TO WOMEN

Nearing her fifties, the star of "She Done Him Wrong", "Diamond Lil" and other cultural dramas is one of the most attractive women in Hollywood. She neither smokes nor drinks, Weighs 118, measures five feet two inches — and boasts one of the loveliest peaches-and-cream complexions in the entire movie colony.

"Creams and cosmetics are just so much paint," she told me, smoothing her negligee of peache maurée with turquoise blue satin stripes. "Sleep, good food and exercise are the secrets of good appearance. I sleep until I can sleep no more, diet on steaks and vegetables, and get plenty of fresh air and exercise. That's all!"

Miss West's personal appearance is further enhanced — or hindered, depending on one's point of view... by false eye-lashes and bleached hair. Her lips are soft and her eyes are green. Despite reports to the contrary she denies she's ever been married. As to the future...

"Well, I've yet to meet the man to whom I can say 'You're him!' Wherever he is, he'd better come up and see me some time!" She shrugged her shoulders as she does on the screen, and offered me a cigarette.

"Personally, I'm not the homey type," she continued. "I hate cooking, too — its too dull and monotonous!"

Although Miss West has written all the films in which she has appeared, she has yet to study literature or journalism. Her talent is indisputable and natural, and her wit ready and genuine.

"How would you advise women to hold their men?" I asked her.

"Why, in their arms, of course!" she shot back, and that was that.

AND SO GOOD BYE

Mae West picks Garbo and her favorite actress — and James Cagney as her attractive leading man, with 'nary a word for Robert Taylor or other pretty boys of the screen.

"Man needn't be physically strong or a broad-shouldered six-footer to be attractive to women," she explained. "Cagney has lure in his eyes and crude, rough manner. Bing Crosby has it in his voice."

Those who think Miss West an intellectual — and many do — are either sadly misinformed or whimsically wishful thinkers. There are no books in evidence in her apartment, and she frankly professes a dislike of reading. Her Preferences in music run toward swing and jazz.

Her literary abilities, too, have been overrated — but her ingenuity, memory, business sense and knowledge of showmanship offset any scholarly deficiency in her makeup. She believes being seen in public cheapens a film star — and, accordingly, she is seen only at the occasional prize-fight. She carries the same mannerisms that have made her famous on the screen into her private life — the careless sway of the head while talking, and a weaving style of carriage when she walks.

Mae West lives alone and likes it — but when she ventures out she is accompanied by a liveried chauffeur and plain-clothed bodyguard. She derives her comedy from situations rather than joke books, and believes that burlesque is the scourage of the amusement industry. She hopes some day to produce important films — but meanwhile is content to make one film every 18 months.

A most amazing woman, Miss West — a definite name in the history of theatre and cinema.

Considerate

"What makes you think Jones has such a toughful wife?"

"She always has pork chops ready when he comes home from a fishing trip."

Light or an Old Problem

Small Daughter (during performance): "Mummy, do you see those shiny heads in the front row?"

Mother: "S-s-sh. Yes, dear, I do."

Daughter: "Did they buy their tickets from the scalpers?"

'Show Must Go On'; Actor Back in Bed

Because he was reluctant to concealed from Director George hold up production and therefore Archainbaud the fact that he was supposed to keep out of drafts, Robert Paige is back in bed again today.

Paige had been out of action for two days with an attack of influenza, which compelled Archainbaud to shoot around him in filming "Opened by Mistake" at Paramount. The actor spent the two days at home, swathed in a blanket and shunning drafts.

eturning to work this morning, Paige spent two hours being tossed into and hauled out of a huge refrigerator by Lawrence Grossmith.

Now Paige is home again — swathed in two blankets, with his feet in a pan of hot water. And he still hasn't told Archainbaud he's supposed to keep out of drafts.

"Big boy, ah wonders was George Washington as honest as de people says dat he was?"

"Ah tell you, black boy, he was the honestes' man in the world."

"Den how come dey allus close all de banks on his buff-day." — Tex-Croaks.
