The biggest trouble with political promises is that they go in one year and out the other.

QUEBEC (CP) — Paul Gerin-Lajoie, Quebec education minister, announced Wednesday his department will be ready to submit certain education reforms, recommended in a recent royal commission report, to the cabinet by next March or April.

He told a press conference his department has given priority to the following suggested reforms:

Reduction of primary school courses to six from seven years.

Provision of course options for secondary school students.

Introduction of colleges teaching two-year pre-university courses.

New teacher training facilities.

He said the reforms will be studied "with all the necessary prudence and flexibility, but without delay." However, he said the department of education has not yet decided to put the four recommendations into practice. The priority designation was for the purpose of studying them.

The government should be in a position to put reforms decided on into practice by next May. The only reform requiring changes in legislation, he said, would be establishment of the pre-university colleges.

Autoroute open for Christmas

The Eastern Townships Autoroute will open for traffic at noon, Tuesday, December 22, in all of its main sector. This stretches from Champlain bridge, in Montreal, to Omerville, near Sherbrooke. Motorists will not have to pay tolls for the first nine days, ending at midnight, December 31.

After that date motorists will pay 50 cents at the first toll gate and 25 cents at each of four toll stations along the route, making a total of $1.50 for a one-way trip. Trucks will pay more.

The special Christmas gift was announced simultaneously, Wednesday night, December 2, by Roads Minister Bernard Pinard, in Quebec City, and by Quebec Autoroutes Authority president Guy Poliquin, in Sherbrooke.

Mr. Poliquin made the announcement during a speech before members of the Club Social in Sherbrooke. He used this occasion to announce the opening of a toll road which had long been sought by most of the public organizations of the Eastern Townships.

"By opening the Eastern Townships Autoroute," Mr. Poliquin declared, "we are, in no way, attempting to establish any records. Thanks to the critical path method used by our engineering service, thanks to the co-operation of the contractors and thanks to the tight and serious supervision maintained by our consultant engineers, it became possible to open the artery more than six months ahead of schedule."

Later in his speech, Mr. Poliquin invited motorists to be cautious. "The Eastern Townships Autoroute is not yet completely finished. For instance it will be necessary to wait until spring in order to add the final layer of surfacing, of bituminous asphalt, on 46 of the 72 miles concerned. Consequently, since the complete layer of concrete has not yet been applied on the entire length, we will have to exercise strict control over heavy traffic when the spring thaw arrives. In addition, paving at the toll stations is of a temporary nature. It will have to be removed, next spring, and replaced by cement concrete.

"The same thing applies for the toll collection equipment. It offers the maximum of security, but will not be permanently installed until later. Finally, landscaping, paving of the shoulders, as well as painting of the railings, will all be completed next year," Mr. Poliquin noted.

The president said he hoped that users of the new autoroute, who will be especially plentiful during the ski season, "will behave like they should, in order that the authority may never have to regret its decision of opening in December, or six months ahead of schedule."

"We had to choose," he said, "between finishing the entire project, thereby depriving a large sector of our population and of our economy for another six or seven months and opening this vast

Spies guilty

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—A Russian chauffeur and an American electronics engineer were convicted Wednesday night on conspiracy to commit espionage for the Soviet Union. The verdict could mean death. Their penalty will be decided by U.S. District Court Judge Anthony T. Augelli, who presided over the 36-day trial. No date has been set for sentencing. A federal jury deliberated 9½ hours before returning the verdict against the American, John W. Butenko, 39, and his co-defendant, Igor A. Ivanov, 34.

Fear men lost

HALIFAX (CP)—There was little hope today for survival of two lobster fishermen whose 38-foot boat was found overturned on Roseway Bank about 40 miles off the southwestern tip of Nova Scotia by the ocean-escort Cap de la Madeleine. The ship found the Jean and Judy early today but there was no sign of Philman Quinlan or James Smith, both of Stony Island, N.S. They were last seen early Tuesday about one mile off Clark's Harbor. Shortly afterward the boat, her engine out of commission and anchor dragging, started drifting out to sea before one of the worst storms ever to hit the Maritimes.

Seeking solution

LONDON (CP)—Canadian High Commissioner Lionel Chevrier today referred to reports of a possible drift towards disintegration in Canada and said the Canadian people and government "are not sitting on their hands in the face of this national crisis."

embarked on "a conscious policy of co-operative federalism," he said, and a final solution may require amendments to the constitution. But the core of Canadian problems will remain until all Canadians "have found full confidence in themselves and in each other as Canadians."

Loan report error

QUEBEC (CP)—The education department announced Wednesday that $275,864 in education loans was mistakenly paid to 700 students during 1962-63 and not $1,988,000 as first reported.

The errors made by multicopying services under the former Youth department, now replaced by the Education department, originally were reported at the higher figure by government auditor J. A. Vezina last year.

Peron in Spain

SEVILLA (CP)—Former Argentine dictator Juan D. Peron was flown back to Spain today after a short-lived attempt to establish himself in South America in preparation for a return to his homeland. Peron's airliner was diverted from Madrid to Sevilla, Informed sources said the switch was made on orders of the Spanish government—and probably at Peron's request—so he would not be exposed to more than 100 Spanish and foreign reporters waiting for him at Madrid's Barajas Airport.

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The UN General Assembly, after cresting the wave of a crisis on its opening day Tuesday, settling into the relatively calm waters of its annual general debate today. But urgent negotiations still were going on privately on peace-keeping finances. Rus-

500 WHITE HOSTAGES SOUGHT IN CONGO DRIVE

LEOPOLDVILLE (CP)—A mercenary-led government column penetrated further into the northeast Congo today in pursuit of rebels believed holding 500 whites as hostages. They found five more dead Europeans. The rebels fled to Watsa, near the Sudanese border, as a government force of 36 mercenaries and 200 Congolese soldiers neared Bunia, 350 miles east of Stanleyville.

Bunia had a white population of 250, most of them Greeks, but the Congolese army found only two Roman Catholic priests there. The rebels were believed to have taken the other whites with them to join hostages already at Watsa.

Reports of the Congolese advance through rebel territory were fragmentary. Latest word said the government column was headed toward Paulis, southwest of Watsa, after passing through Poko and Zobia.

It was not known here whether the mercenaries have rescued British Protestant missionary Aubrey Brown, his Canadian wife and their four children, who were last reported at the Poko mission station.

All must work for future says Pope

From AP-Reuters
BOMBAY (CP)—Pope Paul met today with leaders of ancient Oriental religions and told them all men must "begin to work together to build the common future of the human race." Marking a new dimension in the outlook of the Roman Catholic Church, the Pope asked the sages of Hinduism, Islam, Buddhism, Zoroastrianism and other non-Christian faiths: "Are we not all one in this struggle for a better world, in this effort to make available to all people those goods which are needed to fulfil their human destiny and to live lives worthy of the children of God?" "We must come closer together... we must come together with our hearts, in mutual understanding, esteem and love." On this, the second day of his four-day visit to India, where the Pope is receiving a tremendous welcome, he also talked with Indian President Sarvapalli Radhakrishnan, a world renowned Hindu philosopher. The Pope said that under the president's guidance, India was advancing to greater prosperity and even more cordial relations with other nations. Radhakrishnan said he felt that "ultimately, at the top all people will work together..." Earlier, the pontiff met Hindus, Moslems, Parsees, Sikhs, Jews and Jains who clamored with outstretched arms to touch the "holy man from Rome." Obviously delighted with the warm reception, the Pope spread his arms wide and made the sign of the Cross, then reached down to shake unpruned hands in the group of 300 non-Christians. During the talks with Indian civic and religious groups the Pope was presented with a copy of the Koran by the governor of Punjab State. A group of Catholic Naga tribesmen gave the pontiff a Naga spear.

Welfare court lack makes criminals — Bedford authorities

COWANSVILLE — Legal inadequacies in the District of Bedford are forcing teenage lawbreakers to the point of no return, say those concerned with correcting the problems of juvenile crime. Youthful offenders are being left to have brush after brush with the law until they are finally condemned to the penitentiary as hardened criminals, they continue. Only a Social Welfare Court can correct these youngsters, give them a chance to lead full, rich lives, by providing guidance in the formative teen years when it will be of service both to the youngster and society. There is no Social Welfare Court in this district. Under existing circumstances teenage law breakers are being left to solve their problems as best they can and instead of being offered an opportunity to join the community as law-abiding citizens they are being ignored by society, forcing them to remain outsiders. It is vitally important that teenage law breakers be treated properly, says Rev. John Peacock of Cowansville, Anglican Rural Dean of Bedford. At the moment, he continues, the Bedford District court at Sweetsburg ward is running the risk of turning out bitter young men who have no respect for law or honesty because they have had experiences with the legal procedures here. This happens because the Bedford court hasn't the facilities to cope with problems of juvenile delinquency. The only way—the court handles these problems at the moment—is by chamber hearings and although a chamber hearing is better than nothing it is not a very safe way of handling juvenile delinquency with a view towards rehabilitating the youngsters. In order for chamber hearings to be effective, Mr. Peacock continues, the judge must have a thorough knowledge of the juvenile's background, including home environmental conditions, the youngster's personality and the major factors that have influenced the boy's life. He must also have before him a resume of the boy's activities and an insight into his personality. This information and documentation can only be provided in a Social Welfare Court where a team of highly trained social workers go out and investigate, make analysis and give precise records concerning the minor to the judge. Only with this information before him can the judge decide properly what is best for the boy. In the District of Bedford juvenile offenders are being denied this benefit. Judges are being forced to pass judgment without even being properly informed about the case before them. But this is in no way the judge's fault. They are operating under a severe handicap. Nevertheless, it is the youngsters of the district who must pay the price for the omissions in the legal structure. It is vital, says Rev. Peacock, that juvenile delinquents be helped at the earliest possible time. If a youngster is curbed after his first offence it is possible that he can be set straight and shown that an honest life offers more in the long run than a life of crime. But this can only be done if the youth is handled properly, and the juvenile offenders in the District of Bedford are being made victims of a lack in the district's legal framework. It often happens, says the reverend, that the judge gives a lecture to the youngster about how embarrassed his mother must be at such irresponsible, shameful behaviour on the part of her son, whereas in reality the mother may be more to blame than the son, having no real affection for the boy and not really caring one way or another about her son's activities whatever they might be. If there were a Social Welfare Court in this district, staffed with a team of social workers and a psychiatrist, the judge would have a proper groundwork on which to operate, and then he could decide the best way to deal with the youth, whether it would be best to give him a suspended sentence, or if he should be taught a lesson and left to stay a few weeks in jail. Only a Social Welfare Court can give juvenile offenders their legal right to a fair trial, according to the letter of the law and according to what is in the best interests of the juvenile offenders, says Rev. Peacock. At the present time nothing is being done to retrieve these potentially good citizens. "For over 10 years," says the reverend, "judges, lawyers, clergy and social workers have been agitating to have a Social Welfare Court for this district, but no results have come from our efforts."

WHERE BOY DIED — The home of Peter Molenaar, a quarter of a mile from East Farnham, was a smouldering ruin after a fire early Wednesday morning that took the life of the second youngest child, Bernard, 9. When his mother opened the door of his room to waken him for school, the room was engulfed in flame. The boy was burned to death in his bed. The seven other children were rushed from the house in their night clothes by their mother. (Record photo by Studioclair)

Red Cross, church, friends help family stricken in fatal fire

EAST FARNHAM — (Staff) — Aid for the Peter Molenaar family who lost their home in an early morning fire yesterday is being given chiefly by the Cowansville Branch of The Canadian Red Cross. Reverend John Peacock and members of the Anglican Church in the area have also offered help.

The Red Cross yesterday supplied the family with blankets, a quantity of food and a complete outfit of clothing for each member of the family.

Rev. Peacock of the Cowansville Anglican Church, a number of other organizations, and friends and neighbors of the family in both East Farnham and Cowansville are giving material aid and shelter to the stricken family. All the family possessions in the house were lost.

Some members of the family are staying with the Lawrence Horner family, a nearby neighbor, and the rest are staying with other friends in East Farnham; it was learned from the Red Cross.

"As much as is humanly possible is being done to help them," said Gerry B. Philbin of the Red Cross yesterday afternoon. "The body of Bernard Molenaar, 9, was found by five firemen of the Cowansville Volunteer Fire department Wednesday afternoon at 1:35 p.m., said Chief Ernest Deschamps. Firemen were called to the area a second time late in the morning, this time by the QPP who aid in the search for the boyling.

RCMP leak provided Tories' ammunition

OTTAWA (CP) — The RCMP is working on the assumption that the first major leak in the 91-year history of the force provided the ammunition for Opposition charges of bribery and coercion which exploded in the Commons last week.

"You've got to work on the assumption there's a leak," said Commissioner George B. McClellan, 56-year-old native of Moose Jaw, Sask., in an interview Wednesday. "I can assure you there were no documents missing. The one document which seems to contain most of the information mentioned in the House—there were very few copies of that document and all have been accounted for."

Ever since Erik Nielsen (PC-Yukon) sprang his surprise to most MPs—in the Commons last week, there have been two recurring questions: Where did he get information to enable him to say with such confidence that the RCMP's investigation showed one thing or another about the charges? If a leak occurred, does that mean the secrecy of the rest of the RCMP's criminal, security and intelligence reports is in danger?

FORCE DIVIDED — The force is divided into two separate directorates — criminal investigations in one and security and intelligence in the other. Commissioner McClellan said: "There is nothing to suggest that any person having access to this report would of necessity have access to security and intelligence reports unless there's a joint operation. "If you have someone in a position to lay hands on information giving it to unauthorized persons, you are—and I am—worried about all the information we have on file. . . . Only a limited number of persons had access to the RCMP files on allegations by Montreal lawyer Pierre Lamontagne that he was offered a $20,000 bribe to go easy in opposing a bail application for Lucien Rivard, wanted in the United States on a narcotics offence.

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Broadcasting Company, in a sudden decision Tuesday, dropped most of its regular afternoon television programming for live coverage of the hearings by a Senate subcommittee investigating the Bobby Baker case.

The witness was insurance man Don Reynolds. His testimony concerning strange business deals in high places, plus the peppery wrangling between Democratic and Republican senators, was both fascinating and disillusioning.

The full treatment served up by NBC as a public service was infinitely more illuminating than the "highlights" of the day's testimony chosen for a special report by CBS in the late afternoon.

NBC plans to continue its coverage as long as the hearings continue.

IS ILLUMINATING Also highly illuminating was NBC's news special Tuesday night on Viet Nam and what narrator Chet Huntley called "a mad war." Color film dramatically illustrated the difference between the plush, easy life in Saigon and the Viet Cong terror nearby in rice paddies and villages where each day men are ambushed and die as the guerrillas strike—and disappear.

It was a discouraging portrait of a war in which our men are involved. We saw pictures of dead men and bleeding men, of frightened and hungry peasants—and brutality, both to people and to animals.

The hour was well done and shocking.

Baptism held at Stanstead church

STANSTEAD — During the 11 a.m. service at Christ Church on Nov. 29, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rolfe, of Stanstead, was baptized, the rector, Rev. R. W. Peirce, officiating. The baby received the name Gerald Percy. The godparents were his uncles and aunt, Kenneth Charleau, Coaticook, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sylvester, Waterville.

After the service, Mr. and Mrs. Rolfe entertained at dinner in their home, the godparents and Gerald's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Charleau, Coaticook. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Percy Rolfe, Rock Island.

Advertising in computer age

VANCOUVER (CP) — Electronic computers may someday be able to tell a businessman how certain kinds of advertising will affect sales, says William H. Erskine, Canadian president of J. Walter Thompson Co., world's biggest ad agency.

"We want to be able to tell the advertiser, 'If you run this amount of advertising in this type of publication you will get so many sales.'"

He says his and three other American agencies are experimenting with computers but that they're expensive for Canadian agencies at present and the Canadian Advertising Agency Association has discussed a pool arrangement for studies.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Achtung! Head 'em off at the crossroads."

"These town esn't beeg enough for both of us, Pierre."

"Ven you call me dot, Ludwig—smile."

This is the kind of dialogue that may be emerging from European films as continental movie makers continue exploiting their discovery of the western. Once considered Hollywood's exclusive property, it has been taken over by producers from Tokyo to Prague.

Australian-born Ron Randall has returned from Europe with a report on the horse operas. He should know. He was in one—a Viennese production filmed in Yugoslavia and Berlin!

"It's true," he told a reporter. "The film was called Hot Like the Wind and I was the only one from Hollywood in the east. The rest were German and Swiss. "It was made for an Austrian company called Stadthalle, and we shot the exteriors in two places in Yugoslavia. One was a ranch and the other was a western street. The company built it with an Italian firm which was going to make a couple of westerns after we finished."

"Later a German company came in on the production, so we shot the interiors in Berlin, mostly of the ranch house. Our director was Rolf Olsen, a Viennese who had also shot a western in the Canary Islands."

"Westerns are now being made in Italy, Spain, Yugoslavia, Sweden, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, and I understand, in Russia. The Europeans are actually paying more attention to the western than Hollywood, where they seldom make the big westerns any more."

What's more, he believes the Europeans are doing a good job of it.

"They seem to be going back to the original sources for their authenticity," Ron remarked. "Here in Hollywood, the same old directors seem to do the westerns, and they use the same old props. Sure, maybe the Colt .45s over there say 'Made in Italy' on them, but they're patterned after the real article, not a modern version, as in Hollywood.

"And the faces seem more authentic. Here they use the fresh-faced California boys who don't fit in the Old West. In Europe they use established actors who have character in their faces. As for the language, don't forget there were plenty of accents in the Old West. A large percentage of the pioneers were immigrants."

Hatley

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Cote, of Mansonville, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Gemmill.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Moss and Barrie, of Beebe, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Townshend.

Laurie and Bobby Dustin, of Stanstead, were with Mrs. W. Dustin and Miss E. Miller, for the weekend.

VALE PERKINS

Miss Hilda Jersey, nurse at Winchester Hospital, Ontario, who is spending five days at her home with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jersey and family, will also spend some time with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jersey, in Sutton.

Dr. and Mrs. Ben Alexander, of Montreal, spent the weekend at their home here. Dr. Alexander's son, John, and Mrs. Alexander, of New York, were here for two days with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Johnson, of Staten Island, N.Y., visited friends in the Vale.

Mr. and Mrs. Clement Knowlton and Steve, of Groveton, N.H., were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Sullivan and Barbara.

Weekend guests of Mrs. Claude George and family were Mr. and Mrs. Orin Gardner, of North Hatley, and Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Mills, of Sherbrooke.

Friends will be sorry to learn that Mr. Ralph George is a patient in the Sweetsburg Hospital.

Changed parts on stolen car evidence shows

A 32-year-old Victoriaville man is to be sentenced in Sherbrooke Court of Sessions next week for possession of a stolen car.

Aurele Verville, a garage operator, was found guilty on the charge yesterday by Judge Benoit Turmel.

Verville was given a preliminary hearing on another charge of possession of stolen goods before Judge Jean-Louis Pelouquin yesterday afternoon. Judge Pelouquin said he would render judgment on that case today.

Court testimony established that Verville had sold a car to a St. Hyacinthe man, on September 4, 1963. The car or almost the same car had been stolen on August 30, four days earlier, in Quebec City.

Since the theft a new motor had been installed in the car and the serial number changed.

Testimony established that Verville had purchased a car involved in an accident and given its serial number to the stolen car.

Upper Melbourne church plaque unveiled

UPPER MELBOURNE—The St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church of Upper Melbourne held a dedication service last Sunday, when the congregation witnessed the unveiling of a plaque on the church grounds, in memory of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. Evander McIver, life-time residents of the community.

In the regular Sunday morning service, Rev. Jake Vanderwal mentioned the day set apart for the patron Saint of Scotland, St. Andrew.

Mr. Vanderwal concluded the service with these remarks: "It is indeed fitting that the dedication service, this tribute to the memory of Mr. and Mrs. McIver, should be held on the eve of St. Andrew's Day, for the McIvers had a very deep affection for the old land of Scotland, and its traditions."

After the singing of the last hymn Pipe Major Andy Forret and Piper E. Stracchino, marched twice around the aisles of the church, then, followed by Mr. Vanderwal, the elders, and the choir, led the congregation outside the church and around the grounds into the newly renovated hall.

Here, the dedication of the building, now to be named, "The McIver Hall," took place. The dedication was as follows: "To the Glory of God, to His Son and to His Spirit; for the worship of God in prayer, in loving remembrance of those who made it possible and who have finished their course. In the hope of immortality through Jesus Christ our Lord, we now, the people of this congregation, grateful for our heritage, sensible of our sacrifice of the fathers, confessing that apart from us, their work cannot be made perfect, do dedicate our building to the worship and service of Almighty God."

The pipers then led the way outside the building, where a plaque in memory of the McIvers, had been erected. Mr. Vanderwal, in addressing the gathering, said, "It was the desire of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. Evander McIver, to make it financially possible to continue the worship of God, to have the young people to be taught the Christian religion, and, to have this charge served by an ordained minister of the gospel."

Two of the elders, Luther Wood and James Leckie unveiled the plaque. Earl G. Sims, in accepting the memento on behalf of the session and congregation, said, "It would be guarded in honor of the faithful and devoted lives of those

Enthusiasm greets vernacular change in RC church rites

Sherbrooke's English-speaking Roman Catholic community is discussing with interest and enthusiasm the Roman Catholic Church's decision to use the vernacular to a large extent in the mass and sacraments, instead of the traditional Latin.

In interviews conducted by the Record, English-speaking Roman Catholics showed that they approve of the change scheduled to go into effect in 1965.

"It's a breakthrough in the Roman Catholic religion," says Brian Morrill, a grade twelve student at St. Patrick's High School.

"I like the proposed change because it will make the mass more meaningful," he says.

"I don't think it will affect the unity of the Church in any way. The Church's strength will be increased and this strength will keep the difference of languages from causing disunity."

"We have to remember that the mass is a prayer and as such should be prayed and not just attended."

He doubts that many people understand the Latin text of the mass.

Target date for the change-over to large scale use of English is this Jan. 1.

Last Sunday Catholics in the United States began worshipping in this new way.

The Vatican has authorized the change voted unanimously by Canadian bishops at a meeting in Ottawa April 16.

The future date was decided upon in order that sufficient time be allowed for new texts to be prepared.

Details for bilingual and multilingual parishes, that is, where the vernacular is other than English or French, are being worked out.

Others like Francis P. Kenalty, feel that the change to English will "... make converts feel more at home in the Church."

church's mass and sacraments stands for progress, unity, and more understanding," says Father Rosario Moisan, pastor of St. Patrick's Church, Sherbrooke's only English-speaking Roman Catholic parish.

"I'm sure the hierarchy has looked into all sides of the question," he says.

"It will be good for the youngsters, it will give them a grounding, a better understanding of the church, and probably at an earlier age."

Father Moisan said, "I do not think that the use of the vernacular will deter from the unity of the church."

He pointed out that he did not think that English-speaking Catholics who live in the rural

SHERBROOKE SAID FREE OF CHARITY CON GAMES

With no history of Yuletide charity rackets in previous years, the municipal police department of Sherbrooke is confident that no charity con games will invade the city this year, says Captain Armand Genest, of the Municipal Police Department.

He told the Record yesterday that citizens have no need to worry that charity rackets will play on their Christmas generosity.

But Captain Genest does point out, "We would advise people to be generous to their own organizations or parishes."

"Be generous to only those that you know of. If they are reputable charities they will have been publicized."

"People of Sherbrooke can feel confident, that all local charity campaigns are reputable ones," he said.

Slush and snow below average last month

We're below the average snow fall level for this time of the year.

Sherbrooke has had 5.8 inches of slush destined white snow, but according to a press release from the Lennoxville Experimental Farm on weather averages in November, the snow level is almost four inches below the average for November.

Over the last 50 years, the average snowfall for November has been 9.33 inches. The snow fall for November last year was 7.9 inches.

The Experimental Farm notes that in 1916 no trace of snow was recorded.

The temperature for the month of November was normal for that time of year.

The average temperature for the month of November was 33.10 degrees. The average temperature for the month of November for the last 50 years is 33.52.

Last year the average temperature was 38.90.

The highest temperature for the month was a warm 60 degrees, and the coldest day recorded only 6 degrees.

The sun shone 31.6 hours more than the average, with 99.3 hours total sunshine, compared with last year's 50-year record of only 23.3 hours.

The highest monthly sunshine for 50 years is 105.6, set in 1932.

The average monthly sunshine for 50 years is 67.7 hours.

Rainfall was recorded at 2.24 inches in November and total precipitation for the month was 2.87 inches.

Rainfall was just below average with the average for the last 50 years being 2.44 inches. Precipitation was .50 inches less than the average for the last 50 years, which is 3.37 inches.

The rain fall for November 1963 was 3.43 inches.

The highest monthly rainfall in 50 years has been 9.46 inches, recorded in 1927. The lowest monthly rainfall in 50 years was .18 inches, recorded in 1917.

Total precipitation for the month last year was 4.22 inches. The highest monthly precipitation in the last 50 years was 10.08 in 1927. The lowest monthly precipitation in 50 years has been .88, recorded in 1939.

The highest precipitation for one day during the month of November 1964 was .54 inches on November 26. The highest monthly precipitation for any one day during the month in the last 50 years was 2.40 inches in 1927.

Initiate new members into Snow Shoe Club

Ten new members were initiated into the Sherbrooke Snow Shoe Club last evening.

Vice Captain Fred Currier and his crew led the recruits through their paces, which the audience of seventy two members thoroughly enjoyed.

Those initiated were Norman Conway, George Lidbetter, Michael Morrison, Dale Lindsay, Bruce Wallace, Albert Boisvert, Jack Drummond, Herbert Howes, Ron Dick and Rev. Geoffrey Rensison.

New members Stephen Wells, Herbert Derick, Doug Willard and Bert Greene were unable to be present.

Frank Parker was welcomed back and reinstated as an active member at last night's meeting.

President Gordon Douglass introduced the executive to the new members and each new member was introduced to the club. Special thanks were extended to Dr. Loomis, seated at head table, and also to past president Bert Noble and honorary purveyor Les Memory for their special efforts.

Honorary president Clarence Blake welcomed the new members, explaining their first year duties and some history of the club. Donated red coats were drawn and won by George Lidbetter, Herbert Howes, Ronald Dick, Michael Morrison and Albert Boisvert.

A late meal of hamburgers and cake was served. The meeting adjourned with a reminder to all members that next Wednesday's 7 p.m. meeting is new members night. They will be providing an entertaining program.

Shameful lack in Bedford district

The current series being published in the Record concerning the absence of social welfare court facilities in the District of Bedford emphasizes a paradox the lack creates.

And that is that, according to the district concerned with the matter, the deficiency is a factor in a worsening crime situation.

Youngsters who fall afoul of the law are seldom criminals. But because they must be conducted through a system of justice in the Bedford district designed only for adults, many of them tend to become criminals.

These are youngsters who are being punished by the law in a way which was never intended.

It is not possible, for example, to detain youngsters arrested for some offence in appropriate quarters. Instead, most of them are confined in the same jail as adults. Some of the grown-up inmates are hardened criminals. Some are drunks.

Because there are no trained social workers attached to a proper social welfare court operation, little investigation into the background of an offending youngster is possible. The result is that justice in the Bedford district ends up treating the symptoms of the youngsters' problems, instead of their causes.

The causes, then, multiply and grow worse.

They are aggravated by resentment on the part of many youngsters against a system that does not take either their ages or their circumstances into account. That respect for the law and for its institutions which can be imparted in a proper welfare court operation is, instead turned into bitter contempt in too many cases. Society, justice and the youngsters themselves all lose.

There can be no blame attached to the judges of the district, or the officers attached to the judicial processes there. Sincere men in both categories often go out of their way in an attempt to give young offenders the kind of treatment they need.

In a few isolated cases, success is achieved. But most of the time, the complete absence of proper technical resources, and proper welfare court procedures proves to be a handicap the most sincere cannot overcome.

The district of Bedford, which includes such places as Cowansville, Bedford, Knowlton, Sutton and Granby, is a rapidly developing one. Crime there is becoming a serious problem as it is in larger urban areas. And contributing to it is the shameful lack of social welfare court facilities.

Immediate steps on the part of the provincial government to remedy the situation are indicated. There is no disagreement about the need. What must be initiated is action.

Encouraging mental health patients

Officials of psychiatric institutions frequently have stressed that one of the great problems impeding the recovery of the mentally ill is the feeling of aloneness which so often develops among the inmates of mental hospitals.

By its very nature mental illness often provides conditions which make it impossible for the patients to receive frequent visits from their families. This causes the patient to believe that he is not wanted and removes any desire he may have to co-operate in bringing about his own recovery.

This feeling becomes especially acute at the Christmas season when the patient misses those remembrances of the festive season which are commonplace in the outside world.

To bring about a truer feeling of Christmas in mental institutions, the Sherbrooke English-language branch of the Quebec Division of the Canadian Mental Health Association, in cooperation with the Sherbrooke English-language Junior Chamber of Commerce, is sponsoring a Christmas gift campaign. The branch hopes to gather in one thousand gifts for the patients — women and girls — in two Eastern Townships mental hospitals.

This is a case where it is truly the spirit of the gift rather than its value that counts. Sought are articles of comparatively minor value — cosmetics, nylon stockings, toys, coloring sets, books and candies.

But each one will be accompanied by a card bearing the name of the donor, giving the recipient the knowledge that someone outside is thinking of him or her.

A little thoughtfulness on your part will bring incalculable joy to some mental patient.

Some people agree that honesty is the best policy—for everybody else.

Early litterbugs aid archeology

Amateur archeology is a popular activity in history-rich Britain.

The Times of London, summing up the past season the other day, called it a rewarding summer, both for people deliberately digging into the past and those who were merely sinking foundations and happened to run into an Iron Age camp or Roman basilica.

"The modern expert in this field," said the Times, "can derive from a few discovered stones or postholes the probable layout of a camp or settlement; but to fill in the picture, populate the scene and comprehend the customs of the time the archeologist may be abundantly grateful for a rubbish heap."

We moderns, who frown on the habit of litterbugging and have severely curtailed it, need not worry that we will be forgotten by the future.

We're amassing such a wealth of books, sales slips, income tax records and innumerable other printed, classified, catalogued and orderly filed information that even if only a fraction of it should survive, it will tell historians of tomorrow more about us than they really want to know.

The beer and soda pop cans we leave behind us will not, fortunately, last as long as the Greek amphora.

We may wonder how much of the early Indian treasure being uncovered in the Eastern Townships results from possible litterbugs among the early Red Men.

"WHEN I'M CALLING YOU...OO OO OO...OO OO OO..."

'An honorable way of dying'

US smoke status is kept quo by psychology and tobacco industry

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It was shortly after 9 a.m. when Surgeon General L. Terry breathlessly blurted out those few words which 70 million American (and Canadian) smokers—many of them suspecting full well what was coming—desperately hoped they wouldn't hear.

"Cigarette smoking is a health hazard of sufficient importance in the United States to warrant appropriate remedial action."

That was January 11, 1964—a day since referred to by at least one cigarette manufacturer as "Black Saturday"—when the long-awaited, much-publicized report on smoking and health was released.

The intervening time has been a period of despondency followed by hope for the tobacco industry; of frenzy for research scientists hunting for a "safer" cigarette; of rear guard fighting by tobacco state legislators; of frustration for Public Health Service (PHS) officials charged with educating the American public on the dangers of smoking, and of nerve-racking agony for smokers who have tried to kick the habit.

It has also been a period of very slight change in the status quo.

Cigarette consumption in the United States has dropped by 16 billion since the first of the year. U.S. Agriculture Department's latest statistics show that 369 billion cigarettes were smoked in the first nine months of 1964, compared to 385 billion for the same period in 1963.

But 13 billion of the 16 billion drop occurred in the first three months alone, with more modest declines of 1.5 billion in each of the next two quarters of the year. Tobacco experts speculate that many people who gave up cigarettes at the first impact of the surgeon general's report are now returning to the habit.

The beer and soda pop cans we leave behind us will not, fortunately, last as long as the Greek amphora.

We may wonder how much of the early Indian treasure being uncovered in the Eastern Townships results from possible litterbugs among the early Red Men.

By TOM NOLAN

The last quarter of the year may even rise above 1963 consumption during the same period.

Why this apparent lack of concern by smokers toward a habit which the surgeon general reported gave them a 70 per cent higher mortality rate than nonsmokers?

The main reason appears to be psychological.

"Smoking has always been viewed as a moral issue rather than a scientific or health issue," says one PHS scientist. "You might say it's an honorable way of dying."

"Let's say you eat too much rich food. You might die in your sleep because you're too fat. But people would still laugh at your obesity. But you're going down fighting if you die of lung cancer at 45. It's kind of like dying with your boots on."

Adds a PHS research specialist:

"Mental health people simply will not treat smoking as a priority psychological problem. If you're exploring tuberculosis, these barriers are easy to break down. But they think venereal disease is a more serious psychological health problem than smoking."

PHS scientists are not worried about their apparent failure to convince many smokers to kick the habit for good. "We're just kidding ourselves if we think we can lower the smoking rate overnight," says one. "What we've got to do is lower the incidence rate among teen-agers."

But PHS efforts to get across to the country's youth the message that smoking can kill them have received major setbacks in the past few months.

First, PHS' request for $1.9 million in supplemental funds for cigarette education and research was turned down flat by the House of Representatives Appropriations Committee.

Calling this action "unbelievable submission to private economic interest," Sen. Maurice Neuberger, D-Ore., who pointed out the dangers of smoking in her book "Smoke Screen" before the surgeon general's report was completed, said:

"The tobacco industry itself, at least in its public utterances, has continued piously to call for further research, yet funds for research requested by the Public Health Service apparently have fallen victim to industry pressure."

PHS officials in the meantime tapped an emergency bureau fund of $260,000 to get their programs started, awarded ten grants to support studies relating to cigarette smoking and its effects on health.

PHS scientists were initially heartened when some 27 states set up interagency councils to study methods of smoking education. But many of these turned out to be organizations in name only.

"Some of these groups meet because they have concrete ideas to interchange. Others just meet because they bosses tell them to," says one PHS specialist.

A good many other councils adopted unrealistic goals (such as lowering the smoking rate by 10 per cent in six months), others had trouble co-ordinating the activities of such member agencies as American Medical Assn., American Cancer Society and American Heart Assn. Overriding these problems was the sticky financial situation.

The biggest disappointment to PHS officials so far has been the decision by the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) to postpone until July 1965 its order requiring all cigarette packs and cartons to display a health warning.

Originally set for Jan. 1, 1965, the effective date was postponed at the request of Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., chairman of the House Interstate Commerce Committee.

Harris argued that legislation might be a faster route to effective regulation than an attempt by FTC to impose its planned rule on the tobacco industry. The FTC ruling, he argued, was certain to be challenged in court by the cigarette industry and the resulting litigation might be prolonged.

"It was a very nice, very respectful and very subtle argument," says one observer, "kind of like holding a gun to their heads."

FTC's postponement had the effect of leaving the final legislative decision in the hands of Harris' committee, where tobacco state representatives are numerous.

Fifty years ago today—in 1914—a reinforced German army began an offensive along the River Vistula in Poland; a new German drive began along the Yser River in Belgium; the British government agreed to a Japanese request that Australia should not occupy German islands north of the equator.

Second World War
Twenty-five years ago today—in 1939—British bombers scored direct hits on the German warship base at Helgoland; the Finns claim to have caused heavy losses to invading Russian armies; the League of Nations said it would convene to hear the Finnish-Russian case.

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — In the huge and complex machinery of government an executive assistant, even of a cabinet minister, should be no more than a cog.

In machinery of metal, cogwheels are designed and fabricated to withstand the maximum strains that may be put upon them. The reason is that a weak or defective cog can destroy the machine.

Several cogs in the machinery of government, each meshed into a Big Wheel, have recently proven defective. In two instances the Big Wheels were set into eccentric motion in sympathy with the defects in the little cogs, so that Big Wheels were damaged and the whole huge machine nearly broke down.

This raises the question of whether the little cogs that are ministerial aides are sufficiently well selected, inspected and tested before being meshed into places where a weakness or a flaw can cause a disastrous breakdown.

In the office organizations of cabinet ministers, the "exec" is the minister's "man Friday". He is a post-war phenomenon; before the 1950's the man Friday was the private secretary, often selected from the party organization in the minister's riding, and usually occupied mainly with constituency affairs.

The exec may be no more than a glorified private secretary, or he may function as an assistant minister, with responsibilities in relation to ministerial matters. There is no criterion, because the rule of thumb is that the exec works under the minister's personal direction in areas where his abilities and the minister's needs intersect.

I have known execs who were merely speech writers and publicity men — and others whose influence on their ministers, and consequently on ministerial decision, exceeded that of top civil servants. The outstanding example of the latter was Mel Jack, who for practical purposes was George Hees' associate trade minister under the Diefenbaker regime. Two Liberal ministers tried to hire old Tory Jack after the 1963 election.

Men of Mel Jack's ability are rarely attracted by the $10,000 to $15,000 salaries of executive assistants. Indeed, Jack turned down the Grit offers to accept a $30,000 job with industry.

But ministers who are burdened with responsibility, harassed by demands and pressed for time believe they must have execs — in addition to private secretaries and, in some cases, special assistants.

Moreover, an exec is a status symbol, necessary for the minister to keep up with the other 24 Joneses in the cabinet. Even the speaker of the Commons now has one — and soon perhaps every parliamentary secretary will have one.

Able, experienced men are hard to find for these political appointments because there is practically no job security. Tenure depends on a minister in a left-footed minority government remaining in office. However, there is a seemingly limitless supply of young lawyers with political ambitions who are eager to work in a minister's office for a couple of years. They have no interest in the work as a career, but only in the contacts and experience they will gain.

The risk a minister takes in giving responsibility and authority to an inexperienced, untested and self-seeking aide is out of all proportion to value received, as Justice Minister Favreau and Immigration Minister Tremblay should be about ready to admit.

The readers say:

Can't accept the new curriculum

Dear Editor,
Can you spare me a little space in your paper, as I would like to criticize the new curriculum that is being sponsored by the United Church of Canada, especially in regard to its teaching of our Holy Bible that is and has been the background of the religious teaching of Christianity.

The new curriculum is practically stating that the events regarding the formation of the world by God as recorded in the first part of the book of Genesis, also the Virgin birth are impossible, whereas our Bible states that all things are possible with God.

And to realize that this is what our children in the Sunday Schools are being taught especially teenagers from the book "God speaks through people."

It is impossible for me to accept these teachings and I think that it is time that we members of the United Church of Canada expressed our views and condemned the new curriculum, for it will break up several of our churches by members withdrawing their support and attendance.

Furthermore it appears to me that there is some of the teaching of Communism creeping into the new curriculum, which we surely do not want.

Legion elections tonight for Cowansville branch

COWANSVILLE — (Staff) — The election of officers for the 1965 executive committee of the Canadian Legion Branch here, will take place tonight. The meeting is to begin at 8:30 p.m.

All positions are open. The posts to be filled are as follows: president and vice-president—two members will be elected for each of these top executive posts; Sergeant-at-arms, five members will be chosen to form the basic executive committee and five others will be chosen from the rank and file membership to assist the first five, it was announced by Leslie Jordan, publicity chairman, Monday night.

The evening is to begin with a short business meeting which will be followed by the nominations and then the election itself is expected to be followed by a social gathering of all members.

During the course of the evening reports are to be tabled by the various Legion committees, said Mr. Jordan. Since late summer there has been no regular monthly meetings here. Meetings are now being held quarterly.

General meetings will be held the third Thursday of the month and the executive meetings are to be held the first Thursday of every fourth month, the publicity chairman said.

The election meeting is not open to the public. It is for members only.

Mr. Jordan said that the Poppy drive held recently proved very successful. Further details were not available however as all the returns have not come in from outlying areas as yet, he said.

FIRE COSTS

Damage by fire costs more than $3,750,000 a week in Britain, the greatest share of which is borne by industry.

For Knowlton district

Jersey Cattle Club meets

COWANSVILLE — The annual banquet of the Knowlton District Jersey Cattle Club was held at the Maurice Hotel, November 26. A turkey dinner was enjoyed by those attending and the leading Jersey farmers of the district were well represented.

The meeting was presided over by the vice-president Alan C. Webster of West Brome, in the absence of the president Wilfred Hadlock. The blessing was asked by George Hamilton of Stanbridge East.

Robert Simpson of Melbourne, secretary of the Quebec Jersey Cattle Club, and president elect of the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club reported on the present activities of the provincial and national organizations, also surveyed the Montreal milk situation so far as Jersey shippers are concerned. The fact that Jersey milk contains higher non fat solids than milk of any other dairy breed has developed a need for more Jersey milk in both Montreal and Ontario markets. More Jersey shippers are being sought by the large dairies.

William Gilmore of Wendybrook Farms, at Sweetsburg reported on Jerseys exhibited at the recent Royal Winter Fair in Toronto, as well as at some larger dairy meetings in the States.

The raffle of a purebred Jersey heifer calf donated by Willie Steiner was quite an event. The calf was won by Harold Knight of Bolton Glen.

Course out; no teacher turns up

KNOWLTON (Staff) — A Civil Protection Course to be given at the local town hall had to be cancelled Monday night when the instructor from the Quebec Civil Protection Service failed to show up.

"Twenty-five persons, including myself, turned out for the scheduled course, which had been planned for two weeks and the instructor failed to show up. The course in civil defense had been scheduled to start at 7:30 p.m. and then I decided to call the whole thing off," said Norman Page, Knowlton's Fire Chief early Tuesday morning.

"This is the second time the Protection Service was to have sent us an instructor and failed to materialize. The first time, we were informed that the instructor's child had become ill and therefore he would not be able to come. This time however we received no word at all," he said.

94th birthday

WEST SHEFFORD (Special) — Rev. Canon W. P. R. Lewis, who lived for some years in West Shefford with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Battley, a resident of the Wales Home, Richmond, will celebrate his 94th birthday on Dec. 7.

Farnham man, 39, injured in railroad crossing accident

FARNHAM (Staff) — A Farnham man was injured Monday night at the St. Alphonse Canadian Pacific Railroad crossing when his car was hit by a Montreal bound train.

Injured was Marcel Fontaine, 39, of Gregoire Street, Farnham. Mr. Fontaine received a cut to the forehead and to his tongue, and lacerations to his face and both legs.

The attending physician, Dr. Jean-Louis Cardin, of Farnham, reported Tuesday morning that his condition was not serious.

Mr. Fontaine, who was alone in his car at the time of the accident, was hit by Canadian Pacific Railway train number 42, at 8:40 p.m. Monday night, said Chief Anthony Robillard, of the Farnham Municipal Police Tuesday morning.

The car received an estimated $800 in damages, police said.

Golden wedding celebrated by Foster couple

FOSTER — Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Carter were at home to relatives and friends on the occasion of their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Nov. 21.

Flowers from friends and relatives made a lovely setting for the celebration and the dining table with its lace cloth was centered with a handsomely decorated cake, made by Mrs. Kenneth Miller, of Brome. Gold colored candles in appropriate holders were on either side.

Throughout the afternoon and evening friends of the honored couple served refreshments and also presided at the silver tea service.

Mr. Carter and the former Kate Murray were married on November 25, 1914, at the home of the bride's parents in Scots town by the Rev. Dr. McLeod, Presbyterian pastor there at that time.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter lived many years in Knowlton before coming to Foster to retire.

Among those from out of town calling during the day were: Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Murray, Messrs. Bob and Ian Murray, Mrs. Alex Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Burt, Mr. and Mrs. Norton Baldwin, Dr. Donald Buchanan and daughter, of Sherbrooke; Mr. and Mrs. Straker McIntosh, of Williamsburg, Ont.; Mrs. Arlie Mizener, Lachine; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Miller, Miss Ann Miller, Mrs. Marshall Miller, Miss Ethel Miller, Miss Christine Miller, Dr. and Mrs. L. Church, of Knowlton; Mrs. Kenneth Miller, Brome; Mrs. Fred Marsh and Miss Janet Marsh, Waterloo; as well as several friends from this place and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter were the recipients of telegrams, phone calls, cards and gifts to mark the occasion.

160 attend dinner of St. George's parish

GRANBY (Special) — St. George's Anglican Church held its annual parish dinner November 29, in the parish hall, when over 160 people attended.

The dinner was prepared and cooked by the men of the Parish, with Gib Clark as the convener. The young men of the parish acted as waiters and the young ladies assisted them. The dinner was a Christmas one, with turkey and all that goes with it.

Gib Clark takes charge of the Congregational dinner each year, and it is with regret that the Parish will be losing him soon as he with his family will be going to Montreal to make their home, Mr. Clark having been transferred from Granby.

Following the dinner a program of addresses given by several members of St. George's presented the financial statements. It was decided not to have visitors call on the parishioners, other than the shut-ins and those who were ill, and instead a dinner will be given.

The Venerable Archdeacon I. M. Lidstone, presided and presented a welcome to all those present. He, in turn, called upon L. G. Ball, people's warden, to give a report on 1964, which was accepted with interest being shown and with anticipation of the things to come.

Don Gamble, rector's warden, followed with a presentation of the 1965 proposal. The total goal for 1965 is $17,239.00, very little difference from last year, which was met most successfully.

The last speaker was S. Simms, chairman who gave a picture of what had been and what will be in the coming year, leaving all with a clear description of what the sector plan had done for the Parish.

Bedford Social Notes

The weekly meeting of the Bee-Lighters was held Nov. 26, at the home of Mrs. M.S. McCaw.

Miss Isabel Marshall, of Montreal, spent the weekend at her home here.

Mr. Frank Lumsden has returned from Montreal, where he spent several weeks with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. L. Barraket, in the Town of Mount Royal.

Mrs. D. Sampson, of Montreal, was with her mother, Mrs. William Campbell, for the weekend.

On Nov. 30 a rink from the Ladies Curling Club played in the Ladies Friendly at Cowansville, with Mrs. Lennox Ames, Mrs. A. Daves, Mrs. Eric Kemp and Mrs. L. Gingras.

Practices have commenced for the annual Christmas tree entertainment of the United Church, which will be held on Dec. 18, in the church hall.

On Dec. 4, commencing at 3 p.m., Missisquoi Chapter I.O.E., will hold a food sale and sale of fancy work and knitted articles in the Laundromat on Main Street, with Mrs. Lennox Ames, Mrs. Lewis Currie, Mrs. Richard Craighead and Mrs. Ralph Oakes in charge.

Mrs. Kenneth Creller, who has been a patient in Notre Dame du Rosaire Hospital, has returned to her home on Stanbridge Ridge.

Miss Connor, of Ste. Eustache, and Mrs. L. Thatcher, of Montreal, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Bird.

Mrs. Wilbur Borden has sold her property on River Street to Mr. Robert Lehman, of Drummondville, with his family, will take up residence in Bedford early in the new year. Mrs. Borden will occupy an apartment in the Lagace Apartments on Moreau Street.

Christmas lights

GRANBY (Special) — Main Street here is taking a look of Christmas, as attractive lights tinsel bells and evergreen ropes reach from one side of Main Street to the other side.

Most of the day music plays softly, giving the street a festive glow that will remain until early in the New Year.

Authoroute to aid Granby Commerce men told

GRANBY (Special) — A well attended meeting was held November 26, at the Mont Shefford Hotel to listen to Mr. J. Richer who spoke to the Granby Chamber of Commerce.

It was an opening meeting and all citizens of Granby were invited.

Mr. Richer, is director of the Commission of Transport in Montreal. He spoke on the advantages of having an autoroute and adequate access to it. He told those present that the autoroute was an asset to Granby and that this project has gone far beyond what was expected for this time, with the weather being in its favor.

He said that the way in which Granby was growing, that the autoroute would be a great advantage to Granby and the industries here.

The annual Sherbrooke Santa Claus parade will wind through the streets this Saturday.

The parade which is sponsored by the French-language Junior Chamber of Commerce, will begin its route on St. Francis Street South, East Sherbrooke, at noon.

The route it will follow is as follows: From St. Francis Street South it will go east along Jubilee Street to Bowen Street. On Bowen Street it will move along north to King Street. It will go along King westward to Wellington. On Wellington Street it will move north to Frontenac Street. On Frontenac it will go west again, to Dufferin Street. On Dufferin, it will go north, passing the television cameras at the La Tribune Building, towards Montreal Street. At the corner of Montreal and Dufferin the parade will end.

The approximate time the parade will reach the street intersections are as follows: Bowen and King Street at about 12:10 p.m., at the corner of King Street and Wellington at about 12:35 p.m., at the corner of Frontenac and Dufferin Street at about 1 p.m., and the parade will end at about 1:30 p.m. at the corner of Dufferin and Montreal Street.

The parade will have about 24 different attractions, eight floats, eight majorette drum corps and eight bands.

The eight floats are sponsored by, G. L. Boulanger — toy shop; John L. Dunn, insurance brokers; Allatt's Bakery Limited; Italian Pizzeria Restaurant; Fern Gagne tailor shop; Paul McKenna florist; the Sherbrooke Junior Chamber of Commerce; La Tribune; and Sunbeam Appliance service store.

The floats are made to the specifications by Montour and Sons. In this year's parade one float will feature its own band and of course, there will be a Santa Claus on one float.

The parade will include eight bands. Five from the Sherbrooke area and three from out-of-town. The three bands that are coming to Sherbrooke for this occasion are: Les Etoiles des Longueuil, Les Cadets des Asbestos, and the East Angus Band.

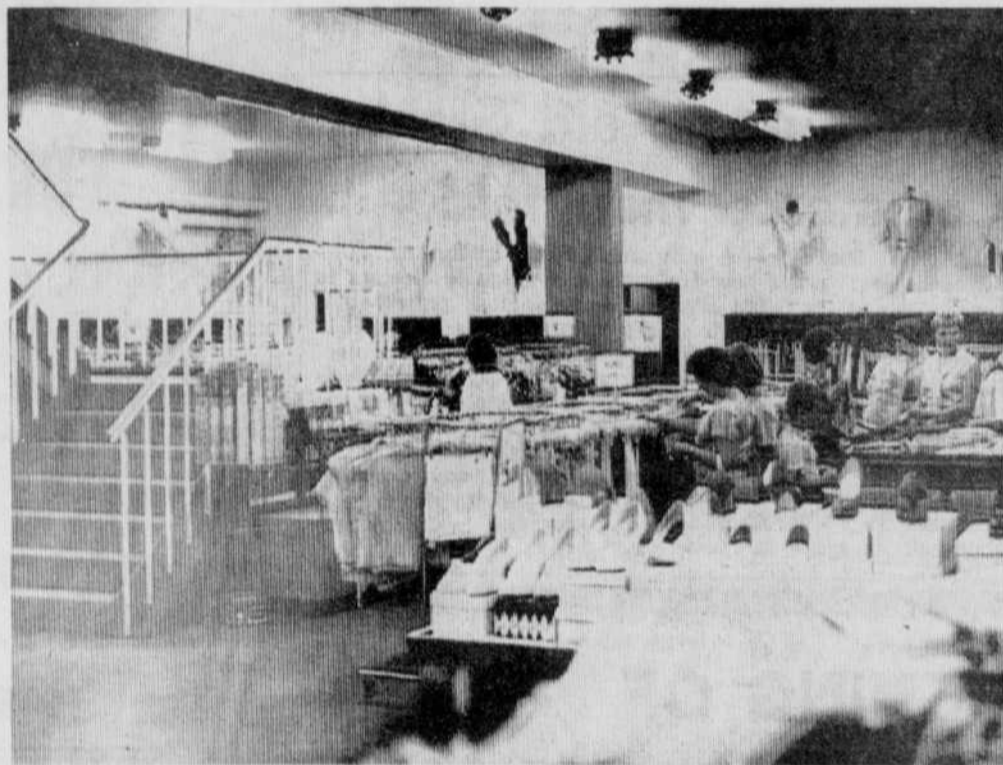

The eight majorette groups are: the Mont Joieleine Drum group, the Sherbrooke Marjets group, Les Chateaines of Warwick, Les Tourballons of Coaticook, The Chechenos of Asbestos, Les Eme-raudes of Richmond, and two other groups whose name at this time are not available.

The Sherbrooke Fire and Police Departments are also expected to join the parade.

The accent of the parade will be on the younger spectators on Saturday. Aside from the many clowns that will bring laughter, the Junior Chamber of Commerce announced that they will give out three thousand free bags of candy, along the parade route. This alone should be an incentive for the youngsters.

But the beautifully decorated floats and the many animals participating in the parade will surely make this year's Santa Claus parade the one to watch.

A writer's notes

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—You've got a pretty fair memory if you can look back and remember when—
The only frozen food people ate was ice cream—and they often froze it themselves. When you had a cold, mother rubbed your chest with a menthol ointment and covered it with a piece of warm flannel.

In winter children spent half their time scratching themselves because they all wore long woolen underwear.

Wallace Beery was getting rich from pictures that usually ended with him wiping a tear from his eye and saying: "Aw, shucks!"

Rich kids had stamp collections; poor kids made collections of cigar bands stripped from stogie stubs they found in the street.

You first learned the evils of gambling by playing marbles for keeps. All fat men were supposed to be naturally jolly—and not suffering from neuroses that caused them to eat compulsively.

It was a popular parlour sport to try to get messages from the spirit world via ouija boards.

IN METAL BOXES

Men openly took sandwiches to the office in metal lunch boxes instead of hiding them in expensive leather attache cases.

Summer wasn't really summer until the whole family had its first watermelon of the season on the back porch.

Women were esteemed more for the quality of the pies they baked than the style of clothes they wore. A really good cook prided herself on the fact she never served her husband "store bread."

You could always tell the richest folks in a small town. They had a cast iron deer on their front lawn.

Anybody who worked only half a day on Saturdays was a member of the leisure class. Grown men who played golf or tennis were regarded as somewhat sissy.

When a young man left home to make his fortune in the city, his father always warned him never to play pool with strangers.

If you tipped a waitress, she looked surprised.

It was seventh heaven to buy your best girl a five-cent cherry soda at the drug store and drink it with two straws.

Everybody took it for granted that sooner or later he would have to have his tonsils taken out—and probably his appendix, too.

Mothers didn't want their daughters to date a young man if word got around that he had been seen coming out of a burlesque show.

Girls with long curls had a better chance of marrying young.

The biggest financial problem of most small boys was how to raise the money to take a secret course in ventriloquism by mail.

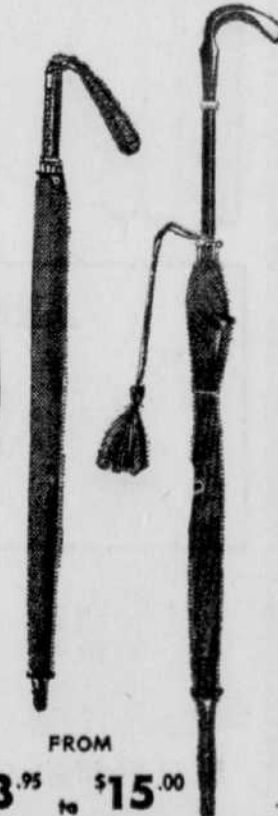

Those were the days! Remember?

Annual Christmas tea, sale held by Stanstead Guild

STANSTEAD — An air of festivity prevailed at Christ Church parish hall on Nov. 28, when the Guild members were hostesses for the annual Christmas tea and sale.

The hall was gaily decorated with a Christmas tree in one corner; stockings hung at the fire place; a gold white ornament suspended from the ceiling, with lighted candles and pine, the latter being the work of the Misses Luvia and Jessie Woolten; while in another corner were Christmas evergreen wreaths, made and donated by Mrs. Howard Miller, who sold them assisted by Mrs. William McIntyre.

The tea tables were attractive in Christmas motif and acting as waitresses for the tea were Mrs. N. C. Chamberlain, Mrs. Lindsay Smith, Mrs. John Smith and Miss Heather Peirce.

Attending to the kitchen details were Mrs. Lloyd Kezar, the Guild president, Mrs. Miriam Osborne, Mrs. F. MacLeod and Mrs. Charles Farrow.

The large number of guests were greeted by Mrs. E. J. Barnes, who sold admission tickets and were welcomed by Mrs. R. W. Peirce.

The tables of various articles were in charge of Mrs. George Millet, Mrs. Alton Grady, Mrs. Roy Wells, Mrs. Edward Hyatt, the Misses Luvia and Jessie Woolten, Miss Sharon Miller and Miss Diane Prangley.

Mayor turns potato farmer

PEMBROKE, Ont. (CP)—In his spare time Mayor Angus Campbell leaves city hall, climbs into a white Cadillac and heads for his muddy 125-acre potato plot in the country.

The past-president of the Ontario Mayors and Reeves Association turned to farming a year ago and now toys with the idea of making it a full-time business.

When he decided to try potato farming, experts from the Ontario department of agriculture advised him to buy some certified potato seed. Despite warnings from veteran farmers that it was a waste of time he went ahead and planted 125 acres on his Ponderosa ranch.

The first year the mayor and his partner, Mrs. N. G. Tennant, produced 900,000 pounds of potatoes. "We would have done better but we made a few mistakes we won't make next time," Mayor Campbell said. He's looking forward to a 4,000,000-pound annual production and is considering a potato-chip project to tie in with the farm.

He said he plans to set up a potato co-operative among farmers on both sides of the Ottawa River in the area. It would supply seed and fertilizer at cost.

Mr. Campbell, who also raises cattle, runs a riding academy and is president of Upper Canada Business Administration, says mechanized equipment was the key to his first-year potato-growing success.

A 5,000-foot irrigation plant was purchased during a period of drought. And he now has a two-row planter, hydraulic cultivators and plows, two three-row hillers and plans for a combine that will dig, pick, grade and put potatoes in a bulk wagon in one operation.

Physicians musicians

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The music stops when the telephone rings Wednesday nights at Dr. Arthur Watt's home.

That's the night a group of London doctors gather weekly to entertain themselves with instrumental music.

The number of participants varies as telephone calls demand the presence of one or more musicians at hospital while others arrive late after completing their medical rounds.

Dr. Watt, a violinist, is a staff physician at Beck Memorial Sanatorium. Sometimes as many as a dozen others turn up.

Urge exercise

WASHINGTON (AP)—Reorganization of work schedules in offices to allow regular, active exercise during the day has been recommended to help prevent heart attacks.

A panel of heart-disease experts recommended also that sponsors of all new housing plan to incorporate gymnasiums, swimming pools or "other facilities for active recreation" in their projects.

And the doctors said a proposal to establish special bicycle paths throughout the United States to encourage exercise

New dialect by electronics

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An electronic method for helping the American Negro quickly to change his dialect has been reported by a speech scientist of Howard University.

The strong ethnic dialect of many Negroes often costs them opportunity, cash and economic security, said the scientist, Dr. Charles G. Hurst Jr., assistant dean of the university's liberal arts college.

In a paper delivered at the American Speech and Hearing Association's annual convention, Dr. Hurst said studies have shown that some employers tend to associate a Negro job applicant's dialect with ignorance.

And the public may stereotype and downgrade the educated Negro because of his speech pattern, the researcher said.

He described an electronic training device that produced "significant speech-pattern changes" in a subject during a single one-hour session. The device, a button-operated panel using visual and auditory methods, enables the trainee to monitor and correct his own speech errors.

Verdun Pirates meet Beavers tonight

Two more prospective buyers appear in picture to buy Rough Riders, seven directors to decide Monday

OTTAWA (CP)—Just four years ago the Ottawa football club was purchased lock, stock and sweaters by eight men for about 12 cents a piece.

Next Monday, when the Eastern Football Conference club holds its annual meetings, each of the present seven-man board will be offered up to $80,000 for his share.

Club president Barry O'Brien and director Sam Berger announced their intentions Tuesday to bid for control of the team. Two other prospective buyers popped into the picture Wednesday.

One is wealthy city contractor Robert Campeau. Mr. Campeau, who says he's interested only in keeping professional football in Ottawa, indicated he'll go beyond $550,000 in his ownership bid.

The third bidder is former football great Eddie Emerson, now one of the directors and slated to succeed O'Brien as club president at the Monday meeting.

Neither O'Brien nor Emerson mentioned how much they're

Deluxe Auto and Clark's tie for first position

Deluxe Auto moved into a first place tie with Clark's Pharmacy in the Central Bowling League following the weekly matches. Both are tied with 19 points in the four-club circuit.

Deluxe posted a clean sweep over the Independents by taking all four strings while Lee Cafe and Clark's split their games, each taking two.

R. Simoneau rolled 467 and J. Joubert posted 454 for the best scores of the evening. J. Joncas holds the top spot in the individual race with 151 but A. Carrier is close on his heels with J. Joubert, both deadlocked with 150.

Lee Cafe is in third spot in the standing with 14 points while the Independents are close behind with 12.

Rangers' crop of rookies fighting, tie Hawks

The Rangers are fighting. That's one point no one considered when New York was picked to wind up in the National Hockey League cellar. Another factor overlooked was tied owned by the Rangers corps of rookies.

Both were obvious Wednesday night as the Rangers fought from behind three times to tie Chicago Black Hawks 3-3 in the only NHL game played. The tying goal came from a rookie.

Freshman right wing Lou Angotti took a pass from Jean Ratelle and beat Hawks goalie Glenn Hall from 10 feet out to earn New York the draw with less than four minutes remaining.

The tie moved the Rangers back into a tie for third place with Montreal and left Chicago three points behind in the constantly-juggled NHL standings. More musical chairs are scheduled tonight.

Toronto Maple Leafs visit Montreal Canadiens while Boston Bruins meet the league-leading Red Wings in Detroit. A Toronto victory and Detroit loss would put the Leafs in first. The Rangers, figuring .500 hockey will get them in the playoffs, maintained that pace by taking their 21st point in their 21st game. But it wasn't easy.

Chicago went into the lead three times as both teams scored once in each period.

Stan Mikita stickhandled the length of the ice to beat Jacques Plante for a 1-0 lead in the first but Bob Nevin got that back six minutes later.

Eric Nesterenko got the Hawks in front again, scoring after Elmer Vasko had broken up a Ranger power play rush and fed him a pass. New York, however, scored on their next manpower advantage when Camille Henry netted his 10th of the season.

Kenny Wharram sent Chicago ahead again at 12:34 of the finale. Angotti got the final equalizer four minutes later.

Chicago outshot the Blueshirts 30-21.

Four top scorers in league will be in action, game time 8:45 p.m. Granby moves to Drummondville

Four of the top scorers in the Quebec Provincial Senior Hockey League will be seen in action this evening when the Pirates of Verdun tangle with the Sherbrooke Beavers at the Arena. Game is slated to commence at 8:45 p.m.

Rene Pepin moved into top spot in the scoring race Tuesday evening when he picked up five points for a over-all total of 27 points, two more than Skippy Burchell, who has been the leader since the start of the season. Claude Cardin, who also had a good night Tuesday with his hat-trick and two assists, moved into a tie for second place with Burchell. Andy Bessette of Verdun is the fourth man in the race.

In the other game on the slate in the O'Donnell circuit Granby will move to Drummondville to take on their old foes, the Rockets. This should be a good game as the Rockets will be out to gain ground having lost Tuesday.

Coach Georges Roy announced that young Guy Desruis-seaux of the Thetford Mines Hawks will be in uniform again this evening. He has come in from the Beavers' farm club in Thetford.

Pepin's two goals move him into a tie with Rene Beauregard of St. Hyacinthe as the top goal-getter, each with 11. Burchell, Nolet and Roger Picard are close with 10 each.

Pepin's three assists Tuesday move him into a first place tie with Claude Cardin, each with 16 points. Skippy Burchell is second with 15 while Georges Guilbault, Fern Bernaquez and Andy Bessette are all tied with 12 in the play-making department.

Claude Evans took over first place with a 2.93 average for the goalies following last Sunday's games but the eight tied against him Tuesday will hurt and Serge Aubry picked up some ground on him. The

Minor ball league approve draft of high school and college players similar to professional football

HOUSTON (CP)—One of the most progressive moves in baseball history was approved Wednesday at the annual winter baseball meeting here, but trades made and missed were still of predominant interest.

The minor leagues, by a surprise unanimous vote, approved a draft of high school and college players similar to professional football.

The proposal was to be considered today by the American and National Leagues in separate meetings and was expected to win their endorsement.

There would be three drafts each year of players with no professional experience. The first two—in January and June—would involve college players and high school players who do not intend to attend college. The third—probably in August—would involve only American Legion and sandlot players.

Each major league team would be allowed a single choice in each draft with the teams getting their chance in inverse order to their league standing.

Commissioner Ford Frick said: "This new law, when it becomes effective, should be a strong factor in curtailing some of those exorbitant sums of money spent by big league clubs on untried talent."

If adopted, the plan would be come effective in January.

Elks lose but retain top spot in Central loop

The Elks Club retained top spot in the City Bowling League although they lost their match to Lemieux 3-1. Bergeron came up with a similar victory over Meteor Cyr while Duberger swept all four from Alouette Motel.

R. Provencher of the Bergeron team posted the high single of the week, 205, while Roland Jean of Meteor club rolled the high triple, 561. Following the games Elks is still in front with Meteor second, Lemieux third, Bergeron fourth, with Duberger and Alouette completing the list.

E. Gagnon is leading the race with 164 with A. Dulac and R. Ainslie battling it out for second while Jean-Paul Dusault and G. Lapointe tied with 159.13 each.

An informant said Paul Richards, Houston general manager, and Buzze Bavasi, Los Angeles general manager, had agreed to a deal whereby Howard would go to Houston in exchange for Aspromonte and pitcher Ken Johnson.

It also appeared there was still a chance Los Angeles Angels would trade pitcher Bob Belinsky to Philadelphia Phillies, but no one seemed to know which Philadelphia player or players might be involved.

There was also a rumor that Johnson and catcher Jerry Grote of Houston and catcher-outfielder John Blanchard and pitcher Stan Williams of New York Yankees may be swapped. Minnesota and Kansas City discussed a six-player deal involving outfielder Jimmie Hall, third baseman Rich Rollins and Pitcher Dick Stigman of the Twins and third baseman Ed Charles, pitcher Wes Stock and outfielder Nelson Mathews of the Athletics. The Twins said they turned it down.

NET GAIN FOR THE BLACK HAWKS

The puck hits the upper right hand corner of the goal as New York Rangers goalie Jacques Plante watches after Hawks' forward Ken Wharram (17) popped it in during scramble in front of goal.

Rangers' defenseman Jim Nelson also watches score in

NFL takes lead in first draft round over AFL

The National Football League pulled ahead of the American League Wednesday in the battle for competitive first-round draft choices even though Houston Oilers signed the AFL's No. 1 selection — Baylor pass-catching whiz Larry Elkins.

The Oilers, signing their No. 1 draft choice for the fifth time in six years, thus whipped Green Bay Packers of the NFL in the battle for Elkins' services and reunited last year's sensational Don Trull to Elkins passing combination.

Trull, now a rookie with the Oilers, was the Baylor quarterback in 1963.

The NFL locked up one of its major prizes when Illinois line-backer Dick Butkus agreed to sign with Chicago Bears.

Butkus, a first-round pick of the Bears, was taken on the second round by Denver Broncos of the AFL.

The signing of Elkins gave the NFL a 3-2 edge in signing of players drafted on the first round by each league.

Six Aces to join Jr. Habs against Russians

MONTREAL (CP)—Russia's national hockey team is going to get their first taste next week of what it's like to play against Canadian professional players with National Hockey League experience.

Admittedly, it's only half a taste.

But David Molson, president of the NHL Montreal Canadiens, said the fact six established pros will be facing off against the Russians is a "major breakthrough in what I believe may lead to an international playoff for the Stanley Cup in the foreseeable future."

Only NHL teams compete for the Stanley Cup, professional hockey's highest prize.

"It is my hope one day in the foreseeable future to see such a playoff," Molson said Tuesday at a press conference. "We (Canadiens) are very enthusiastic about the development."

The Russians begin an eight-game tour of Canada Dec. 11 when they face the Junior Canadiens at the Forum.

Molson announced the Juniors will be bolstered by six players from the Quebec Aces of the American Hockey League for the Russian game. It will mark the first time the Russians will have played against players of this calibre.

Aces, the AHL's Eastern Division leaders, are the most powerful team in Canada outside the NHL, and the six selected to face the Russians are largely responsible for this fact.

On loan to the Juniors for the game are goalie Lorne (Gump) Worsley, 35; defencemen Doug Harvey, 40, and Jim Morrison 33; forwards Gordon (Red) Berenson, 25, Bill Sutherland, 30 and Leon Rochefort, 25.

Harvey is the most experienced of the six with 1,041 regu-

DELONG TO CHARGERS

In addition to Elkins, Tennessee guard Steve Delong signed with the AFL's San Diego Chargers. The NFL's Chicago Bears signed Kansas halfback Gale Sayers, also the No. 1 pick of Kansas City Chiefs and Detroit Lions signed Indiana full-back Tom Nowatke, a first round selection by New York Jets.

Only one other player, Alabama quarterback Joe Namath, was picked in the first round in each draft. Namath, whose team plays in the Orange Bowl New Year's night, was picked by St. Louis Cardinals in the NFL and New York in the AFL.

Two other top draft picks were signed Wednesday. Purdue tackle Jim Garcia going with Cleveland Browns of the NFL and Southern California tackle Bob Stuhls signing with Oakland Raiders of the AFL.

Arnold Palmer breaks course record while waiting for Canada Cup event to open, US favored to win it again

KAANAPALI, Hawaii (AP)—opposition in its quest for a seventh victory from such nations as Spain, South Africa, Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

Gary Player is the hope of South Africa; Bruce Crampton and Bruce Devlin, the Aussies; Ramon Sota and Angel Miguel, Spain; Al Balding and George Knudson, Canada; and Bob Charles and Frank Buckler, New Zealand.

Before teeing off today, Palmer said he is going to start taking it easier.

"I'm through knocking my brains out. Next year I'll cut my tournament schedule almost in half."

Palmer and Nicklaus won the Canada Cup last year in Paris, and while Palmer has yet to capture the International Trophy, he issued a warning Wednesday.

Palmer broke the course record in the pro-amateur prelude with a seven-under-par 31-34-65.

Palmer takes honors Best ball low score honors of 62 went to Palmer and his amateur partner, Howard Clark of New York in the AFL.

Nicklaus had an individual 72. Runners-up to Palmer were Bruce Devlin of Australia, 69, and at 70, Ted Malakena of Hawaii and Chefvi Sayed of Egypt.

Jimmy Brown has top running mate in Green

CLEVELAND (AP)—Jimmy Brown has a corker of a running mate in Ernie Green—two good reasons why Cleveland Browns stand first in the National Football League rushing department.

The Browns have churned 1,904 yards, with Brown personally accounting for 1,288, also tops in the NFL.

But coach Blanton Collier says Green's performance this season has kept defensive units from keying on his big fullback.

Green doesn't capture the spotlight as much as his famous running mate, but he has been consistent. The six-foot, two-inch 205-pound halfback has a 4.6-yard rushing average with 448 yards in 98 attempts. He has seven touchdowns, compared with eight for Brown.

The Browns, in losing only one of 12 games while tying two, have managed to spread the touchdown wealth around. Slot end Paul Warfield has eight and flanker Gary Collins seven.

Collier feels the Browns are in good shape for their Sunday game against St. Louis Cardinals, in which a Cleveland victory or tie means the eastern conference championship.

News flashes from around the world

SAINT BRIEUC, France (AP) — A hair reputedly taken from the head of Napoleon Bonaparte six hours after his death was sold at auction Wednesday for $1,006. Its value may have been increased by theories the emperor died of arsenic poisoning. The purchaser was not identified.

RANGOON (AP) — Twenty-six passengers were killed Wednesday when a bus was mined by Communist guerrillas close to Tavoy, 300 miles southwest of Burma's capital, the Working People's Daily reported today. It said six policemen were among those killed.

After the mine exploded, guerrillas hiding nearby stripped the dead of all valuables, cutting off the ears of dead women to remove their earrings.

QUEBEC (CP)—Jean Chaperlain, a career diplomat, has been appointed delegate-general of Quebec House in Paris, Premier Lesage announced Wednesday following a cabinet meeting.

Former Canadian ambassador to the United Arab Republic, Mr. Chaperlain succeeds Charles Lussier who had held the Paris post since the Quebec cultural and commercial agency was opened in 1961.

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson and leading British journalists Wednesday honored a South African editor who has consistently challenged Premier Hendrik Verwoerd's segregationist policies.

A gold medal, first to be awarded by the British Institute of Journalists "for outstanding services to journalism and the freedom of the press," was presented by Wilson to Laurence Gandar, editor of the Rand Daily Mail, at a dinner here.

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Viet Nam sent 30,000 to 40,000 infiltrators into South Viet Nam during the last three years and the flow continues at a stepped-up pace, Ambassador Tran Thien Khiem said today.

The newly arrived envoy served as commander-in-chief of the South Vietnamese armed forces and as defence minister. He was one of the triumvirate along with Gen. Nguyen Khanh

Bribe charge probe should open Dec. 15

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—Chief Justice Frederic D'Orion Wednesday called a conference of lawyers for a week hence to discuss procedure and set a date for hearings to open in a judicial inquiry into charges which have rocked the capital's political world.

"I hope to be able to start the hearings on the 15th and will endeavor to proceed with all possible dispatch," he said in a prepared statement.

He spent the last 48 hours making arrangements, including appointment of inquiry counsel and secretary, to begin digging into allegations of bribery and coercion by ministerial assistants.

His terms of reference also call for an inquiry into how Justice Minister Favreau handled the matter when the RCMP turned over to him reports of their investigations.

Mr. Favreau told the Commons last week he decided against prosecution of insufficient evidence to get a conviction.

RIE OFFERED — The inquiry grew out of charges in the Commons last week by Erik Nielsen (PC-Yukon) that Montreal lawyer Pierre Lamontagne was offered $20,000 to go easy in opposing a bail application on behalf of Lucien Rivard.

Rivard's extradition to the United States was being sought by the American government for whom Mr. Lamontagne was counsel. He was wanted on a narcotics charge which U.S. authorities linked with the Mafia crime syndicate.

Mr. Nielsen said Mr. Lamontagne had complained that Raymond Denis, former executive assistant to Citizenship Minister Tremblay, offered the bribe, and that Guy Lord, former executive assistant to Mr. Favreau, suggested Mr. Lamontagne go easy or risk losing SECRETARY — Nicol Henry, a Quebec City lawyer, has been appointed secretary of a special inquiry which will open hearings Dec. 15 into charges of bribery and coercion by ministerial assistants.

Mr. Henry, now studying in England, denied this. Guy Rouleau, Liberal MP for Montreal Doreau, resigned as parliamentary secretary to Prime Minister Pearson saying he had made representations in the Rivard case.

Mr. Tremblay told the House Mr. Denis left his service after Mr. Favreau brought to his attention RCMP reports on the bribery allegation.

Mr. Favreau has said that Andre Letendre, one of his executive assistants, telephoned Mr. Lamontagne regarding bail for Rivard, now in jail in Montreal.

COMMISSION COUNSEL — Andre Desjardins, Quebec City lawyer, will act as counsel for a commission charged with investigating bribery and coercion charges made against ministerial assistants.

The commission, presided over by Mr. Justice Frederic D'Orion of the Quebec Superior Court, will open hearings Dec. 15.

Mr. Desjardins, Quebec City lawyer, will act as counsel for a commission charged with investigating bribery and coercion charges made against ministerial assistants.

Tax cut for farms is defined

QUEBEC (CP)—The Quebec cabinet issued an order-in-council Wednesday defining the farms which will receive 25-per-cent property tax reductions in the current fiscal year. The reduction was promised farmers by the government when the Catholic Farmers' Union organized a mass march on Quebec City last spring. The total of the reductions, to be paid municipalities and school boards by the Quebec government, is not to exceed $5,000,000. The order-in-council said the eligible farms must be at least 8.5 acres in size and that an eligible farmer must be "owner of a farm worked as a main occupation by himself, his family, children or tenants who also work the farm as their main occupation."

As the flag debate drones on

Senate swipes again at CBC

OTTAWA (CP) — While the flag debate droned on in the Commons Wednesday, the CBC was taking another going over in the Senate. Senator Grattan O'Leary accused the radio and television network of living beyond its means and thereby contributing to the destruction of the magazine industry in Canada. Three other senators attacked the CBC before the red chamber passed government spending estimates for the year ending March 31, 1965. They include an $88,000,000 grant to the CBC and an additional $15,000,000 loan. In the Commons the Liberals didn't put up a speaker for the second straight day as debate continued on a Conservative amendment to the flag committee's report asking for adoption of a flag with a single red maple leaf on a white ground with a red panel at each end. The amendment, moved Monday by J. Waldo Monteleo (PC-Perth), asked the committee to sit again and consider recommending that a plebiscite be held at the next federal election to allow all Canadians to have a say in the new flag. Five Conservatives and one New Democrat made speeches during the abbreviated 3 1/2-hour session. The flag debate resumes today. Senator O'Leary, president of the Ottawa Journal, said it is fine for Canadians to insist that the CBC put on the best programs possible.

Besides the mass, the following sacraments and ceremonies will be carried out in English: baptisms, confirmations, weddings, anointing of the sick, funerals, benediction of the blessed sacrament, 40 hours devotion, blessing of the candles on Feb. 2, (Candlemas Day), and the distribution of the ashes on Ash Wednesday. English will also be used for the ceremonies in Holy Week, the blessing of the palms, and the Palm Sunday procession, blessing of the oils, washing of the feet on Holy Thursday, for Good Friday services, and the Easter Vigil. Parts of the mass to be read in the vernacular, in union by the priest and people are: Gloria, Nicene Creed, Sanctus, the Lord's Prayer, Agnus Dei, and a prayer preceding distribution of communion. Paris to be read in the vernacular by the priest include: the Introit, Collect, Gradual, Alleluia, Tract, Sequence, Offertory, Communion, and post-communion. Latin is retained for the opening prayers at the foot of the altar, as well as for the Canon of the mass. The Kyrie Eleison will be read in Greek as a symbol of unity with Catholics of the Eastern Rites. Roman Catholic lay people, like Mrs. C. Sirois, are unanimous in their belief that change to an English mass, "... is a good thing. We will be able to understand the language, and I don't think it will affect the unity of the Church. Archbishop Cahana is in Rome for the Ecumenical Council and could not be reached for comment. An official of the Sherbrooke Chancery office said they approve of the change. He said they think it is good for the church.

Tidal power is becoming a reality on rugged Brittany coast of France

DINARD, France (AP) — A bold plan to harness the powerful tides of the English Channel to generate electricity is becoming reality on the rugged Brittany coast of France.

French engineers, adopting the principle of sea-side windmills that have utilized the power of tides for generations, have blocked the mouth of the River Rance and are working now to install turbines that will furnish electric power for a large region of western France.

The foundations for the tidal project were laid in January 1961 when giant concrete curtains were lowered into the river bed at a point near its entrance to the channel. Since July of last year, the river waters have been separated from the channel sea water by the dam.

Giant concrete pylons and additional layers of cement are being constructed as engineers push the project toward completion.

FIRST IN 1966

By early 1966, engineers expect to have the first of 24 projected turbines in operation, using the simple rise and fall of the channel tides for the production of electrical energy.

When completed, the tidal power plant will be the first of its kind in the world.

Similar projects are under study in the Bristol Channel in Britain and at Passamaquoddy from regular sources at off-peak, cheap periods. The total estimated cost of the project is 500,000,000 francs ($100,000,000).

The dam will be topped by a two-lane highway linking Dinard and St. Malo.

Russians to break St. Lawrence ice but deepsea ports less than keen

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Russians will be breaking the ice in the St. Lawrence River this winter but their navigational greeting is expected to get a frosty reception from Canada's deepsea ports.

Denmark was the pathfinder in winter trade along the St. Lawrence, trade which the salt-water ports say could cut deeply into their traditional business if more and more countries get into the act.

The Danish Lauritzen fleet, engaged for several years in winter navigation on the river, this year brought its first ship into Montreal Jan. 4, earliest date in Montreal port history.

So, while traffic fell to a trickle, the port was truly closed for only seven days.

Plans have been announced for the Russian line, Arctic Steamship Lines of Murmansk, to send at least four vessels into St. Lawrence ports this winter, the first with an anticipated arrival in Montreal Jan. 2.

The Russian ships will be especially strengthened so that they can handle winter conditions, requiring the services of regular ice-breakers only in extreme instances.

Several other companies also have indicated they are ready to join in the winter trade which, not too long ago, was considered impossible.

COAST PORTS CONFIDENT

Nonetheless, a Cross-Canada Survey by The Canadian Press indicates a favorable winter season for the ports which are blessed by year-round open water and which count on winter for their bread-and-butter business.

Ray March, executive secretary of the Port of Halifax commission, said shipping should be "pretty good—it all depends on the world trade situation which is good at the moment."

"We're going to lose some cargo due to winter navigation in the St. Lawrence but I don't think it will be more than last year."

Mr. March said Halifax experienced a surprising increase in shipping traffic last year, largely a result of the Russian wheat deal.

He said Halifax may get a shipment of Canadian flour bought by Russia for Cuba "but these things are not announced until the last minute."

G. C. Moulard, Saint John, N.B., port manager, said a favorable summer trend is continuing "and this makes the winter prospects look good."

"St. Lawrence Seaway traffic also was up in the summer," he said, "and that's another indication of a good season here."

Lumber exports will continue intermittently through the winter and New Brunswick potato shipments will continue during the next two or three months.

Winter shipping prospects look better than ever for the port of Vancouver, which normally experiences its busiest period when many Eastern ports are closed by winter ice.

RECORD FOR VANCOUVER

A record year is anticipated, with exports already running 25 per cent above last year.

Key export cargo includes grain and flour, lumber and logs, coal, ores and concentrates, sulphur and potash.

Import business also is up considerably over last year but will not reach the levels of the peak year of 1956 when imports handled totalled 1,500,000 tons.

Capt. B. D. L. Johnson, Vancouver port manager, said the present high level of business "seems certain to continue to the end of the year."

Vancouver in past years tended to be a wintertime port with a heavy grain movement during the winter months.

Now, however, the port is more evenly balanced throughout the year, with increasing tonnages of other products such as coal, ore, potash and sulphur.

The port is not affected by winter weather except for periods of fog which can close down activity, especially during the morning hours.

MANSONVILLE —

On Nov. 27, the local Association of Girl Guides and Brownies sponsored a Record Hop in the Mansonville Intermediate gymnasium. The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Newell; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jewett and Mrs. Kevan Heath. Proceeds were $35.25.

Mrs. J. Clark Reilly, who spent the past seven months at her home here, has left for Victoria, B.C., where she will spend the winter.

Mrs. Herman Steinbach has left for a visit of several weeks with friends and relatives in Germany.

Before commencing Sunday School on Nov. 29 the local Association of Girl Guides and Brownies presented a quilt which they had made, to Mr. Bob Brown, the Sunday School Superintendent, and Mrs. Brown. The presentation was made by Guide Ann Jewett and Brownie Roberta Newell.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Grenier, of Sherbrooke, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hamelin and family.

Miss Cecile Cadorette, of Dunham, and Miss Doris Cadorette, of Cowansville, spent the weekend at their home here.

STANSTEAD — The regular year by six, making a total of 16 subscriptions. The United Thank Offering amounted to $87.20. The G.A. and J.A. groups are progressing well, with several successful activities and efforts the past year, under the leadership of Mrs. R. W. Peirce and Mrs. Donald Pringley, for G.A.; Mrs. Alfred Middleton and Mrs. Robert Brock; for J.A.; Mrs. Leo Perault reported on the Little Helpers.

The meeting opened with a devotional service, a hymn was sung, and parts read by Mrs. A. H. Scarth, Mrs. George Hatch and Mrs. Edward Hyatt, concluding with prayer.

A sum of $40 was donated for the Anglican World Mission and another $5 to the Dorcas secretary.

The annual reports showed that the aims of the W.A. had been accomplished during the past year. Much was done in the way of welfare in the church, community, in the Province of Quebec among the Indians and Eskimos, as well as abroad in the Mission field.

It was reported that there were 10 subscriptions to the Living Message, increased this treasurer, Mrs. Edward Hyatt. The following are secretaries, Dorcas, Mrs. John Shipway, social, Mrs. Donald Macfarlane; Living Message, Mrs. George Hatch; Thank Offering, Mrs. Lloyd Kezar; and educational, Mrs. Cayley.

Mrs. Alger, resuming the chair, thanked all the past officers for cooperation and the members for their support.

Plans were made for Christmas remembrances to shut-ins and for welfare. There will not be a meeting in December, the next will be held in January.

du MAURIER
testing never ends

Let's take another look.

In this simple statement, you have the philosophy of du MAURIER quality control. Sometimes the naked eye is not sharp enough, so the second look is taken through a microscope. That's one way in which tobacco, or paper, or packaging give up their secrets.

This procedure takes a lot of time. But when you produce cigarettes in the millions, and when your customers have come to expect an unvarying level of excellence, then you can never let up.

If you are a du MAURIER smoker, you are now enjoying the important benefits of this control — if not, make a test of your own. Smoke du Maurier—full King Size or regular size—for one week. Prove to yourself that the last cigarette is every bit as satisfying as the first. Meanwhile, we'll carry on with our own testing. Like a circle, it never ends.

Retired sea-captain recalls his exciting days with Bombay pilot service

AYER'S CLIFF — To chat with Captain Edward Brown in the living room of his one hundred year old Ayer's Cliff home, filled with curios of the east and souvenirs of his thirty years service with the Bombay Pilot Service, helps to explain why for centuries boys have run away from home to go to sea.

In the low-ceilinged living room of his home, Captain Brown can talk with zeal of his forty years of experience with the sea and how he became a British

"There was a seven ton ship loaded with cotton and explosives . . ."

Merchant Service Cadet at age 16; how he later was an officer on a tanker plying the Indian coast and how after six years of that became a pilot for the port of Bombay. He was later harbor master and finally became Deputy Conservator of the Port of Bombay.

He is now painting the scenery of the Eastern Townships, having moved to Ayer's Cliff with his wife last year. Captain Brown retired in 1960, and went to live in England. Last year he and his wife came to Granby to visit their daughter. They like Ayer's Cliff so much, and the house in which they now live, that they decided to live in the Townships.

The living room in the quaint house has a lightly finished oriental carved chest at one end. At the other, there are wooden statues and ivory carvings. A number of Captain Brown's paintings are on the walls, and a carved ivory tusk is affixed to the sill of one window.

"I was in Bombay during the dock explosion in 1944. Bombay was then an assembly point for explosives. It's a huge port, and was crowded with ships. There was this seven thousand ton ship loaded with cotton and explosives. We, at the port, weren't told of the explosives," said Captain Brown. "Everything was very secretive."

"The cotton caught fire, but not much notice was made of this, because cotton fires are very common. The cotton can light itself by spontaneous combustion. The fire was going, but we weren't doing too much about it. Then the authorities got wind of it and told us about the explosives."

"Well, the alarms rang and everyone was told to get out of the area. But three minutes after the call, the 3,000 tons of ammunition exploded, and destroyed all the surrounding area," said Captain Brown. "The explosion was so great that it lifted the 7,000 ton ship out of the water — the ship made a quarter turn, and then landed on a shed 60 feet high. The fire spread to the dock area, and all night long we moved ships out of the harbor with skeleton crews. Any available men were used."

Sees Canadian fear of U.S. domination

By MAX HARRELSON

OTTAWA (AP) — Canadians are determined not to let their country become a United States satellite—or even to have the appearance of being one.

They have demonstrated their political independence by trading with Cuba and China and they are moving toward eventual recognition of the Peking government.

But they are tied closely to the U.S. through the North American defence system and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Since last year they have had American-owned nuclear warheads at two Canadian Bomarc missile bases.

For this reason, they are extremely sensitive to U.S. foreign policy decisions.

This accounts in part for the keen interest Canadians showed in the U.S. presidential election. Both Prime Minister Pearson and Opposition Leader Diefenbaker hailed President Johnson's victory as a guarantee of continued friendly U.S.-Canada relations. DO BIG BUSINESS On economic matters, Canadian nationalists find it much more difficult to assert their independence. The two countries do more business with each other than with anybody else. About 60 per cent of Canadian exports go to the U.S., and about two-thirds of Canadian imports are from the U.S. One common complaint of Canadians is that Americans own so much of their country that Canada is no longer master of its own house.

"There is no country in the world," says Finance Minister Gordon, "that can make any pretense of being independent if it does not control its own communications media, its own financial institutions and, in one way or another, the general nature of the decisions made by those who direct its industries."

Comedian Dave Broadfoot joked: "If President Johnson wants to do something to help celebrate the 100th anniversary of Confederation he might give Canada back to the Canadians."

INVESTMENTS UP

There have been efforts by both main political parties to discourage foreign investments, but the pressure of provincial governments and of business was so great the proposed measures were dropped. U.S. investments are increasing. Non-residents, mostly Americans, control 70 per cent of the investments in Canadian petroleum and natural gas, 59 per cent in mining and smelting and 60 per cent in manufacturing. This means that major decisions often are made by people who live outside Canada. It also means huge sums of money flow abroad in interest and dividends.

Foreign control of Canadian economy worries Canadians and hurts their pride.

They are afraid, for example, that in the event of a business slump U.S. owners might close their Canadian subsidiaries and cause large-scale unemployment, while keeping their U.S. plants in operation. They also resent the application of U.S. laws, such as those restricting exports to Cuba and China, to Canadian subsidiaries.

Trade Minister Sharp has said Canada is not worried that the U.S. will be unfriendly but that it may "neglect to take our legitimate interests into account."

AUTO PARTS VITAL

The biggest problem at the moment is the question of importing auto parts from the U.S. and exporting assembled automobiles to the U.S.

The seriousness of this problem, in relation to Canada's balance-of-payments deficit, can be seen in figures recently cited by External Affairs Minister Martin.

In 1963, Martin said, Canadian exports of automobiles and parts to the U.S. amounted to $36,000,000 while imports of automobiles and parts from the U.S. totalled $600,000,000. This is due mainly to the fact Canada's automobile industry, almost all U.S.-owned, consists largely of assembly plants and that high tariffs make exports to the U.S. difficult.

Canada now is trying to get the U.S. to end the tariffs so that Canada can build more cars for the U.S. market.

LIFE SPAN UP

Rambler knows a thing or two about Canadian winter: and does something about it with these 10 special features for winter driving.

Ice, snow, wind, slush, salt... you name it, Rambler's thought about it. More important, Rambler has done something about it. That's why every Rambler has these 10 winter driving features—many of them industry exclusives.

3 An Alternator charges your battery even when your engine is idling. A generator doesn't. That's why an Alternator is standard on a Rambler; that's why the electrical system won't drain your battery dead.

4 Rambler's famous self-adjusting, Double-Safety Brakes have two sets of hydraulic lines (one to the front brakes, one to the rear). If tough driving conditions cause one set to go, the other continues to operate.

5 The world's most complete rustproofing. Six times into rustproofing solutions then up to the roofline in primer paint. It's the only sure way to protect every nook and cranny.

6 Ceramic-Armoured Muffler, Tail-Pipe, and Exhaust Pipe—one more Rambler exclusive. Galvanized metal is covered with a ceramic shield designed to halt heat and corrosion, causing exhaust system failure.

7 No matter how cold it is outside, Rambler's large-capacity, Weather Eye Heater gives you plenty of heat—immediately.

8 Rambler's Plastic Kick-Panels take on winter slush and snow and come through with shining colours. A small point? Sure. Until you see what happens to the composition materials that are usually used.

9 Every Rambler comes equipped with a Heavy-Duty Coolant that's good all year 'round, inhibits rust and corrosion in the cooling system.

10 Rugged, powerful, with high resistance to low temperatures, Rambler Heavy-Duty Battery will deliver the punch under any conditions.

Add up the features and it's easy to see why Rambler is the first car you should consider this year. Take a test drive at your nearby Rambler Dealer's.

Pioneer Girls

New organization meets on Fridays at Grace Chapel

A new organization entitled Pioneer Girls has been in operation in the Sherbrooke area since September. Pioneer Girls is an international organization with a membership of over 80,000 girls, and it has been in existence in the U.S.A. and Canada for 25 years. Its program is interdenominational in scope and is church-centered, with each Pioneer Girls' Club geared to interest girls between the ages of 8 and 18. The Club for this area meets once a week at Grace Chapel at 7 p.m. each Friday evening.

To observe the Silver Anniversary of the founding of Pioneer Girls, the week of November 15-22 was set aside across Canada and the U.S.A. for special programs in churches of all denominations to commemorate this anniversary. In keeping with this observance, two special events were planned locally. The first was a special worship service which took place at Grace Chapel on Sunday, November 15, when the Pioneer Girls attended as a group with their leaders. Dr. R. Kimoff chaired the program, and others taking part were Dr. W. J. Klinec and Mrs. H. A. Welch. Among the items featured was a summary of the history of the Pioneer Girls' organization, and this was outlined by Mr. R. Rublee.

Those ladies serving on the local Committee for Pioneer Girls were introduced. They are Mrs. N. Gentry, Mrs. H. A. Welch, Mrs. A. Patton, Miss M. Beckwith and Mrs. R. Paudler. Serving as guides or leaders for the older girls are Mrs. R. Rublee, chief guide, along with Miss B. MacMillan, Mrs. A. Moorehouse, Miss C. Connell and Mrs. F. Hatch, as assistant guides. Acting as guides for the younger girls are Miss B. Beckwith, chief guide, along with Miss P. Staiton and Miss G. Tucker as assistants. Working with the youngest age group (6 yrs.) to prepare them for participation in the Pioneer Girls Club at age 8 are Miss E. Beckwith and Miss S. Crichtley. It was announced that the local Pioneer Girls' Club already has a registered membership of over 50, including girls from Lennoxville, Huntingville and Sherbrooke.

The second event during this special Pioneer Girls week took place on Friday evening, November 20, at Grace Chapel. The mothers of all the girls were invited to attend the regular Club meeting to observe such a meeting in progress. At this time also, badges and ranks were awarded to those girls who had achieved them since joining the Club in September. Those girls achieving their 1st Rank in the older group were Mary Reynolds, Helen Rublee and Shirley Rublee. Those receiving badges in this group were Mrs. Reynolds, Wanda Neil, Sandra Brodeur, Donna Moore, Shirley Rublee and Helen Rublee. In the younger group, those achieving their 1st Rank were Sylvia Buchanan, Dawn Tucker, and Vivian Baker. The girls awarded badges in this group were Sylvia Buchanan, Ruth Gentry, Joyce Buchanan, Dawn Tucker, Edith Dix, and Vivian Baker. All badges and ranks were presented by the chief guide in each group.

To end this program, a skit entitled, The Story of Three Lives was acted out under the direction of Mrs. A. Patton, who was also the narrator. The girls participating were Ruth Gentry, Kathy Sparkes and Helen Rublee. The ladies taking part were Miss B. MacMillan, Mrs. F. Hatch, Mrs. N. Gentry, Mrs. F. Buchanan, Mrs. E. Harvey, and Mrs. H. A. Welch. A very enjoyable evening was had by all, and a good representation of interested mothers was present.

For and about Women

The clothes poll

By HELEN HENNESSY

The biggest fashion news today lies undercover. But if you haven't got a good figure, forget it. The new foundations (if they can be called that) won't do a thing for you.

Women want easy fit and no restraint. They clamor to climb out of their boned and wired cages. With the new underpinnings, some can. But can you imagine a size 40 slithering around in a garment called, "The Body Stocking"?

This "Barely There" number (that was its original name) is the closest thing around to a second skin. Made of stretch nylon, it only weighs half an ounce. It's flesh-toned, but opaque. It won't hide even the tiniest bulge. But if you're in good shape anyway, it's great to wear under the transparent clothes so big in the news these days.

Newest on the almost invisible fashion front is the "No Bra" bra. This, too, is for the trimly built and 38 Cs are about as welcome as basket parties in the automat.

Made of stretchable sheer nylon, it is so light that you would have to pile 29 on a postal scale before it would register one ounce.

The bra (?) was the brainchild of Exquisite Form. At their request, it was designed by Rudi Gernreich whose topless swimsuit sent his manufacturers running for their tranquilizers.

Afraid that the bare-top trend would ruin the bra business, this enterprising firm got the pioneer of that trend to design a bra so transparent that it would appear even to the "go native" set.

There is no trimming on this bra. In fact, Gernreich made a rather obvious point when he said that there was little need to put ornamentation on a bra to make it look feminine when, by its very nature, it couldn't possibly be masculine. Wonder how he ever thought up that one?

To make sure that anyone who isn't a sylph doesn't go away mad, there's under cover news for her, too. It's a far cry from the bare-trend, but a good bit more useful. It's the slip with sleeves.

Available now in nylon tricot, it will be here for spring in nylon taffeta. This slip is actually a dress liner and it does for unlined dresses what a full lining does for more expensive clothes—makes them hang better and hold their shape.

SCOTCH TEA — Purple heater, Scottie dogs, and Christmas decorations combined together, provided the theme for the St. Andrew's Scotch Tea and Sale, held Tuesday, at St. A. drew's Presbyterian Church Hall. The guests were received by Mrs. George MacDonald, president of the Lennoxville Women's League of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, who sponsored the event.

Personal Polly's pointers

The pourers for the Sangster Memorial United U.C.W. Christmas Tea and Sale on December 5, will be Mrs. Mackie A. Fuller, Mrs. George C. Hall, Mrs. W. Grey and Mrs. W. Lunnie.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman White, Viny Street, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Greer and daughter Beryl of North Hatley to St. Lambert, Sunday, to visit Mrs. White's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Greer.

Receiving the guests at the Municipal Chapter I.O.O.E. Sherry Party, being held in the Officers' Mess of the Sherbrooke Regiment Armoury, on December 5, from 4-7 p.m. will be: Mrs. G. Smith, regent of the Municipal Chapter; Mrs. J. Strickland, convener; and Mrs. Charlebois, wife of Major W. P. Charlebois, president of the Officers' Mess.

Additional members of the St. Peter's Guild, who assisted at the Christmas Salad Tea, held recently in St. Peter's Memorial Hall were: Mrs. Len Barlow, server; Mrs. A. Allenger and Mrs. J. Gillam, kitchen; Mrs. J. Northey, Mrs. F. Povey, Mrs. C. L. Blain and Mrs. A. Hedenbergh, salads.

DEAR POLLY — Love that column! Use a small size crochet hook to de-vein shrimp. It takes out the veins easily — MRS. J. G.

DEAR POLLY — Many times the holes in rolls of kitchen-sized paper towels are not large enough to slip onto the brackets from which they are to be unrolled as used. An ordinary pop bottle is just the thing to enlarge these holes. Insert the tapered end of the bottle in the hole, push it hard and twist. This will enlarge the hole so the roll will go on the holder easily.—GALE

DEAR POLLY — Please let me stress the necessity of wearing eyeglasses or sun glasses when doing a job with spray cans. I learned the hard way using molproofing spray on woollen clothes and had eye trouble afterwards. Protect your eyes from all sprays — B. E.

GIRLS — It certainly pays to use every precaution as so many things we use every day seem to be potential dynamite when misused or when instructions are not followed to the letter.—POLLY

Today's recipe

BAKED BANANA CHEESECAKE

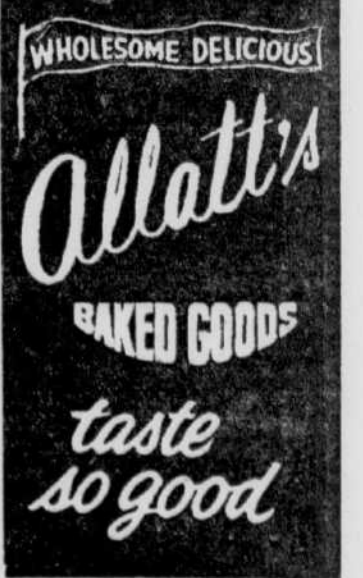

- 1/2 cup graham cracker crumbs
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 2 tablespoons butter, melted
- 2 8-ounce packages cream cheese, softened
- 1 cup light cream
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 3 egg yolks
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 3/4 teaspoon grated lemon rind
- 3 egg whites
- 1/2 cup strawberry preserves
- 2 bananas, sliced

Grease a 7-inch spring form pan. Combine crumbs, sugar and butter and press to bottom of pan; refrigerate. Cream softened cream cheese; add light cream gradually and beat until smooth. Combine sugar, flour and salt; add to cream cheese mixture. Beat egg yolks until thick and pale lemon color; fold in with vanilla and lemon rind. Beat egg whites to soft peaks and fold in. Pour into pan and bake at 325° F. for 1 hour. Turn oven off and leave in oven 1 hour longer. Cool to room temperature; remove sides and refrigerate until cold. Beat preserves until no longer lumpy. Force through strainer to remove pulp and seeds. Spread over top of chilled cheesecake, allowing some to dribble down sides. Top with banana slices. Makes 8 servings.

CARROT CASSEROLE BREAD

- (Makes 5 or 6 servings)
- 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
 - 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
 - 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 cup butter
 - 1/2 cup lightly-packed brown sugar
 - 2 eggs, separated
 - 1 1/2 cups finely-grated carrots
 - 2 tablespoons milk
 - 1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs

Preheat oven to 350 deg. F. Sift together flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Cream butter until soft, gradually blend in sugar. Add egg yolks, one at a time beating in well after each addition. Add carrots and milk, and mix well. Add sifted dry ingredients part at a time, combining well after each addition. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Sprinkle half the bread crumbs in the bottom of shallow 2-quart casserole, spread carrot mixture carefully in pan; sprinkle with remaining crumbs. Bake in preheated oven 40 to 45 minutes. Serve warm with butter.

Festive cooking around the world

Christmas time is a very special time in kitchens round the world. Cooks everywhere are baking up their own specialties right now, each one delicious and incorporating the best of one country's cuisine. And while we know Canadian home-makers can hold their own with cooks anywhere, still it's fun to add an international flavor or two to the old stand-bys.

Today's recipes come from Switzerland, Germany and England, via the Canadian Dairy Foods Service Bureau, where the home economists have adapted them for use in Canadian kitchens. We're sure it will come as no surprise that the basic goodness of each one comes from foods such as milk, cream and/or butter... for all good cooks depend on them, adding their own touches by way of flavorings and seasonings.

Lemon Almond Ring provides a change of pace from other Christmas sweets... try it with coffee, morning or evening. For the cookie plate, Anise Seed Cookies are an old German favorite, and when your buffet offers a variety of cold cuts, accompany them with warm Carrot Casserole Bread, as the English do.

Back-seat driving not so bad if intelligent

If you're a wife, chances are you do a little back-seat driving occasionally. Chances are, too, that your husband doesn't appreciate your help.

Well, if it is any consolation to you, the Chicago Motor Club has come out with a good word for back-seat drivers. Intelligent back-seat driving can be a big help to the driver of an automobile, says the motor club.

Of course, if you report this news to your husband he may say, "Yeah, intelligent back-seat driving" and think he has put you in your place once and for all.

You can be sure your brand of back-seat driving is intelligent: If you don't indulge in such annoying tactics as trying to tell the driver what route to take, instead of leaving that up to him. If you resist the temptation to read road signs aloud when the driver can read just as well as you can. If you don't nag him about speed when he is driving within the speed limit. If you don't make him nervous by bracing yourself every time you think he should slow down.

If you will just confine your back-seat driving to calling his attention to the unexpected traffic hazard you are aware of before he is, to watching out for freeway exit signs while he concentrates on driving, and to read road maps for him, your husband may even admit that as a back-seat driver, you aren't too bad.

Of course, he won't be any more enthusiastic about your back-seat driving than that (what man thinks he needs any help?), but that's all right. Anything you can contribute to safety on the highway is all to the good, even if it does make you a back-seat driver. But just be sure you're an intelligent one.

Questions readers ask

Q — Please tell me what is meant by the prudent diet.

A — The key points of the prudent diet are these:

- Provide equal quantities of three types of fat: saturated, polyunsaturated and monosaturated.

- Reduce the total fat content of diet to 33 per cent of all calories from current average of 45 per cent.

- Limit beef, mutton and pork to four meals per week.
- Require at least four meals of fish; the rest of the meals can be poultry.

- Replace butter and hydrogenated shortenings with high polyunsaturated margarine and one-ounce vegetable oil daily.
- Avoid ice cream and hard cheese, but permit skim milk and cottage cheese.
- Recommend green, leafy and yellow vegetables and plenty of fruits.

Q — What can the prudent diet do for my husband's health?

A — According to Dr. George Christakis of the New York City Department of Health, seven years ago doctors, nutritionists and statisticians of the department began a study of men of high-risk age for coronary disease. He claims that findings of the study show that men of ages 40 to 59 who adhere to the prudent diet have one-fourth the heart attacks of men eating an ordinary American diet.

LEMON ALMOND RING

- (Makes One 9-inch ring)
- 1 cup seedless raisins
 - 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
 - 2 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 cup butter
 - 1 1/4 cups sugar
 - 3 eggs
 - 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
 - 1/3 cup milk
 - 1 cup sliced almonds
 - 3 tablespoons fruit or fine granulated sugar

Wash raisins; drain. Butter a 9-inch spring-form pan. Preheat oven to 325 deg. F. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter; gradually beat in sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating in well after each addition. Add lemon rind. Add sifted dry ingredients to creamed mixture, alternately with milk, combining lightly after each addition. Fold in raisins. Spread batter evenly in prepared pan. Sprinkle mind you of the old "dunking" cookies that are all too scarce these days. If you prefer a softer cookie, store them along with an apple wedge in a covered container. Either way, most folks love the unexpected licorice flavor the anise seed gives to these little butter cookies.

ANISE SEED COOKIES

- (Makes 6 to 8 dozen cookies)
- 4 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
 - 1 teaspoon baking powder
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 3/4 cup soft butter
 - 2 1/2 cups sugar
 - 4 eggs
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
 - 2 tablespoons anise seed

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter until soft, gradually blend in sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating in well after each addition. Beat in vanilla and anise seed. Add sifted dry ingredients part at a time, combining well after each addition. Divide dough and shape into

British Columbia and western USA ride electrical merry-go-round

By STEPHEN SCOTT
VICTORIA (CP)—British Columbia and the western United States are two hungry giants on merry-go-round.

They need electric power to grow. The more they grow the more they need; the more they grow the more they will grow. Hungry and growing, they enter 1965 with the Americans coveting the power of the province.

The western U.S. has expanded until it has used up most of its available sources of cheap hydro-electric power. It now is looking farther afield while studying the more expensive nuclear power.

B.C. is a giant because it has an abundance of rivers with which to produce cheap power to spur industrial growth. It is spending more than $1,000,000,000 to develop hydro projects on the Columbia and Peace Rivers in the south and north respectively.

In 1964 it made it clear that it is willing to sell power surplus to its needs, if only on a temporary basis. The Americans, in turn, took initial steps toward building massive power lines to carry electricity from the Pacific Northwest states to California. B.C. power will move on those lines.

BACKS NATIONAL PLAN

Premier W. A. C. Bennett meanwhile renewed proposals for a national power grid and continent-wide marketing of power.

The B.C. Hydro and Power Authority has two chairmen who speak in terms of millions. Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, one of the co-chairmen, is in charge of the $448,000,000 Columbia River project, subject of a treaty between Canada and the United States that was settled in 1961 after 20 years of negotiations. A $15,899,887 contract for the Duncan Lake dam, first of three treaty dams, was let during the autumn.

Dr. Gordon Shrum is co-chairman in charge of the $800,000,000 northern Peace River project which has been under construction for two years. Work on the $73,000,000 main dam is well under way.

The federal and provincial governments have some broad agreement over a proposed $400,000,000 scheme to construct eight dams on the upper Fraser River and to redirect the river. The project would provide flood control and power.

Under present planning Canadian power potential on the Columbia is about 4,500,000 kilowatts; on the Peace 4,000,000, and under the Fraser scheme about 1,000,000.

This compares with the present hydro authority generating capacity of 1,300,000 kilowatts and the total hydro generating potential of the province of 100,000,000 kilowatts.

WILL CARRY POWER

This year and next the province is concentrating on creating a provincial grid into which

SHIPS WAIT TURN — If a current cold snap continues, many of the 80 ocean-going ships still in the St. Lawrence Seaway could be trapped by the freeze-up. At Port Colburne, Ont., Tuesday, these ships were waiting their turn to enter the Welland Canal on the downstream passage. There were 34 ships in Lake Erie southwest of the Canal. (CP Wirephoto) eventually power from the Peace and Columbia will join with other sources.

In 1968, 550,000 kilowatts will flow from the Peace. A potential of 2,300,000 could be reached by 1973-75 and another dam could be built later.

The Mica dam, only one of the Columbia treaty dams to have generating facilities, is due for completion in 1973. The smaller Duncan dam is due in 1968 and High Arrow, for which contracts have been called, in 1969. Mica will produce almost 2,000,000 kilowatts and other dams can be built later on the Columbia system to realize the full potential.

Nobody will speculate when Fraser power will be added to the provincial grid. Mr. Bennett has called for federal action and both governments appear to agree that they should share the cost of flood control with he rest being paid for by hydro development.

SEES THIRD PROJECT

Dr. Keenleyside said recently that the American desire for power may result in the damming of a "third river." He did not say whether he was referring to the Fraser or a tributary of the Columbia.

Resources Minister Ray Williston has said it was believed the Fraser River scheme would have to wait for five or six years because there would be no market for the power produced. But the Americans have taken first steps on what will eventually be a $700,000,000 grid covering 11 states, including a high-voltage inter-tie between the Pacific Northwest and California.

This will carry power that B.C. has already sold to American interests under the Columbia treaty and Mr. Williston said it could carry other B.C. power. Senator Henry M. Jackson of Washington State has said the construction of the inter-tie will probably provide

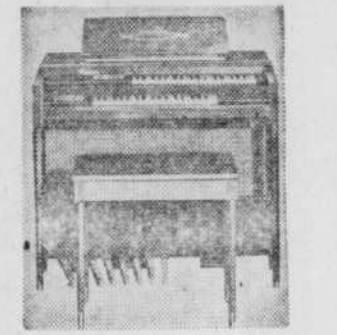

B.C. with a regular market for surplus power.

Expected to move over the inter-tie are the millions of kilowatts that B.C. has sold over a 30-year period to an American consortium. The province in September received $273,000,000 for this power which will be created downstream in the U.S. as a result of water storage behind the three Canadian dams.

In making his bid for a national power grid at the October federal-provincial conference, Mr. Bennett also asked Prime Minister Pearson to start studies on a Canadian-American integration of transmission lines.

"Increased integration of all energy supplies for continent-wide marketing is an inevitable and logical economic step," he said.
