Space Pathfinder — This map shows by the heavy black line the path of Russia's earth satellite as tracked at present. Its orbit is thought to be an angle of 65 degrees to the equatorial plane and is expected to vary (light line) due to gravitational influences and the motions of the earth.

Canadian Scientists First To Make Accurate Calculations

OTTAWA — (CP) — Canadian scientists have tracked down the Soviet satellite in space and say their calculations are accurate within 50 miles.

A Defence Research Board spokesman, who Tuesday night announced results of three days satellite searching, said Canada is believed to be the first country outside the U.S.S.R. to get accurate information about the object's orbit and location.

DRB and National Research Council scientists generally can tell at a given moment the satellite's altitude and what part of the world the satellite is passing over, the spokesman said.

However, the spokesman did not say whether DRB had any information on a third satellite—the protective cone that shielded the earth satellite as it rocketed through space—which the Soviet newspaper Pravda Tuesday said also is moving around the world. A second satellite—the carrier rocket—was announced previously by Russia.

The spokesman said the orbit was determined at a 65-degree angle to the equator—as announced by Russia—shifting slightly because of the earth's rotation.

Pravda said the orbit is an ellipse reaching its lowest altitude in the Northern Hemisphere. The Canadians—DRB scientists working at Shirley's Bay in Ottawa's western outskirts and NRC scientists at the Montreal Road Laboratories in Ottawa's eastern outskirts—first found the satellite at an altitude of about 360 miles over Cochrane, Ont., at 1:15 a.m. EDT Oct. 7. Its altitude decreased by three miles a day since then.

But as gravity drew it earthward, its speed increased. It now was travelling at about 17,000 miles an hour. Over a two-day period, its average time circling the earth decreased from 96 minutes and 12 seconds to 96 minutes and seven seconds.

FIND FREQUENCIES
Its radio frequencies were determined at 40.0025 and 20.0050 megacycles, compared to the Russian—announced 40.002 and 20.005.

However, the scientists would not hazard a guess as to how long the object would survive in space. Astronomers have said they need accurate information on the object's orbit and location to observe it. The spokesman said the Canadian information will make things much easier for observers. The findings were being

Khrushchev Asks Top-Level Talks Between US-Russia

US Promises Canada No Interference In Canadian Markets

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States has promised Canada it will dispose of surplus farm products abroad "insofar as possible" in a way that will avoid interfering with Canadian markets.

This assurance—with a particular eye to wheat—was given in a formal communique summing up two days of Canadian-American economic talks which ended Tuesday.

The Canadian delegation led by Finance Minister Fleming stated that "fire-sale" prices charged for surplus American wheat abroad robbed Canada of many of its traditional customers.

The U.S. answer, as disclosed in the windup statement said that barter deals featuring American surplus wheat now have been revised. Each barter arrangement, it said, will be based on the policy that American surplus must be in addition to normal imports by any foreign country rather than a substitute for usual purchases.

Further, in cases where countries pay for American surplus wheat by deliveries of strategic materials, the U.S. will charge interest on the unpaid balance. This provision will be applied in order to make the surplus barter deal as near to a normal commercial transaction as possible.

FOUR-MAN DELEGATION
Besides Fleming, the Canadian group included External Affairs Minister Smith, Trade Minister Churchill and Agriculture Minister Harkness. Heading the American delegation was State Secretary Dulles who had with him Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson, Treasury Secretary Robert Anderson and Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks.

Beep, Beep Signal Reaches Tavern Through Cocktail

EUREKA, Calif. (AP) — A tavern owner concocted a satellite cocktail Tuesday, contending that after one drink you'll take a flying leap at the moon.

"The base is vodka, of course," says Donn Wilson, the originator, "but the rest of the contents are secret, comrade." He claimed one patron had two and took off, beeping.

Breath Test Before Court

REGINA (CP) — A case now before Saskatchewan courts may prove to be a test case as to whether a breath analysis is admissible evidence in cases of impaired driving.

Provincial Treasurer Fines said Tuesday the provincial government may appeal a decision by a provincial magistrate who refused to admit as evidence a breath analysis of a woman charged with the offence.

Magistrate E. Z. Anderson ruled that breath analysis was not acceptable evidence in the case of Mrs. Belle Wallace of Rowatt, near here.

He upheld the objection of defence counsel Nicholas Markewich who contended the breath analysis was not voluntary. The case, which officials said may turn into a test of Saskatchewan's new breath analysis legislation, was adjourned to Oct. 28.

Mrs. Wallace was brought to RCMP headquarters July 21 and charged with impaired driving. A constable asked if she wished to take a breath analysis test. When Mrs. Wallace refused, she was told she might lose her licence. Mrs. Wallace then agreed to the test.

UK Starts Uphill Struggle

LONDON (Reuters) — Peter Thorneycroft, chancellor of the exchequer, Tuesday night warned Britain that it is starting off on a long uphill economic struggle.

"We are at a turning point in our fortunes," he said. "Important decisions are in train. Events are on the move."

Speaking to bankers and merchants at a dinner in the Lord Mayor's mansion, Thorneycroft said:

"Our policy is to halt the increase in the supply of money. For this purpose money will be scarcer and more expensive to get hold of."

"In the year ahead it will be harder to earn profits under this policy. It is meant to be."

"It will be harder to get wage increases. They will need to be earned. But the profits and the wages will be paid in honest pounds."

Thorneycroft noted that the pound has reached parity—$2.80—with the U.S. dollar on world money markets.

Berlin Wants Billy

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Billy Graham said Tuesday he has received an invitation to conduct a religious crusade in Berlin.

Senator Kennedy Says

FREDERICTON — (AP) — Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts said Tuesday Canada has achieved a "national strength and prestige which denies portrayal of the country as an 'appendage' of either Great Britain or the United States."

The Democratic senator told the University of New Brunswick's fall convocation here that while Canada has some "special links" with both countries, it possesses a national destiny of its own which should be given foremost recognition.

He termed Canada and the U.S. "continental partners. Now, in addition to the Atlantic and Pacific coastlines, they share a long, common coast along the St. Lawrence seaway, which is giving birth to new maritime centres on both sides of the border."

Either Fight Or Talk; Eisenhower - Zhukov Meeting Is Suggested

NEW YORK — (AP) — Nikita S. Khrushchev wants a top-level conference between U.S. and Soviet leaders because he thinks the two countries must either fight or talk things out.

Soviet leaders were said to desire a meeting of Khrushchev or Marshal Georgi Zhukov, the Soviet defence minister, with President Eisenhower.

Khrushchev indicated that the launching of the Soviet earth satellite last week may bring the two countries closer to high-level talks.

One official asked whether presidential assistant Sherman Adams might accept an invitation to Moscow.

Informed diplomats in Moscow believe that after the current UN assembly session the Russians will try to set up disarmament talks involving Zhukov.

Khrushchev also showed interest in what he called a "new proposals" which the United States has made to increase cultural contacts in discussions scheduled to begin in a few weeks.

"There is no doubt that the Moscow government would welcome preliminary talks that might lead to serious negotiations at higher levels later on," Reston says.

SAYS OFFER REFUSED
Khrushchev said the United States had refused Soviet attempts to arrange a visit by Zhukov to Washington last summer after Eisenhower said at a press conference July 17 that it might be useful for the marshal to meet with Defence Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

The Soviet Union in a note July 23 offered to send Zhukov to Washington, Khrushchev said, but was told Eisenhower's remarks had been wrongly interpreted. No invitation was issued.

"That is a bad thing," Khrushchev said. "We are a proud nation and we do not want to go down on our knees to arrange these things."

Khrushchev seemed resentful about the matter and commented with feeling:

"We evaluated that press conference very carefully indeed."

No Desire To Make A-Bombs

CHALK RIVER, Ont. (CP) — A top Canadian nuclear scientist says Canada probably could make atomic bombs but has no desire to do so.

"I presume we could make an atomic bomb because no one who has tried to make one has failed," Dr. Wilfrid B. Lewis, vice-president for research and development of Atomic Energy of Canada Limited, said in an interview at the government's huge atomic project here.

But Dr. Lewis said Canada's atomic program is related to peaceful application of atomic energy.

BLIND RIVER, Ont. (CP) — Two armed men shot and killed bank manager J. J. Walter Brydges in an unsuccessful attempt to rob the Canadian Bank of Commerce branch in this Northern Ontario mining town today. The men escaped.

Police said two armed men entered the bank just before the 10 a.m. opening and shot the manager. The men were apparently unable to get at the money.

Police said the pair escaped in a stolen car which was later found abandoned on Highway 17. Police organized a posse which began searching the busy area surrounding this uranium mining town.

UK Opposes Space Talks

LONDON (AP) — Britain today declared her opposition to any negotiations between the United States and the Soviet Union on a pact for the international control of satellites and space missiles.

A foreign office spokesman defined the British position. He told reporters Britain would not want to separate the control of outer space missiles from the framework of a wider first stage disarmament treaty.

He said the British government, however, does favor the early establishment of an international working party that would begin studying the type of controls needed for any ultimate system of missile control.

Ghana Finance Minister Finds Delaware Color Bar

NEW YORK (AP) — The finance minister of Ghana, who had Vice-President Nixon in for lunch at his home in Africa last March, says he was not allowed to eat in a restaurant in Dover, Del., because of his color.

K. A. Gbedemah, who speaks flawless English, reported the incident Tuesday on his return to New York. It was confirmed in New York by Howard Cook, who operates the restaurant under a Howard Johnson franchise.

"If the vice-president of the United States can have a meal at my house when he is in Ghana, and if Adlai Stevenson can come into my home, then I must receive this treatment at a roadside restaurant in America," Gbedemah said.

Gbedemah attended a cocktail party last month in Nixon's Washington home.

The Ghana official was prominent in the movement that led to independence for the former British African Gold Coast colony. He has been in the United States since Sept. 20 for meetings of the World Bank in Washington.

WILL PROTEST
An official protest to the state department is being planned,

Gbedemah said the incident occurred Monday night while he was driving to Maryland State College in Princess Anne, Md., to attend a meeting in his honor.

He said he and his private secretary, Bill Sutherland, an American and a Negro, "went in and ordered two glasses of orange juice at the counter."

WRAPPED IT UP
"The waitress," Gbedemah said, "brought it—wrapped up. I said, 'We want to drink it here.'"

"She told me colored people were not allowed to eat in the restaurant. I intend to demand an apology from the Howard Johnson chain."

The chain usually does not operate a restaurant but allows its name to be used in return for the sale of its ice cream and other foods.

Gbedemah lunched Tuesday with Thomas E. Dewey, former New York governor. He plans to leave for London late today.

Faubus Supported By Girl

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A 19-year-old girl said today she saw soldiers inside a locker room at Central High School while school girls were changing clothes for a gym class.

The girl, who identified herself as Mickey Wright, is not now a student at Central. Reporters questioned six girl pupils who said they had not seen or heard of any such incidents.

Miss Wright volunteered her story to reporters.

Governor Orval Faubus of Arkansas has accused federal troops of invading the privacy of girls' dressing rooms while enforcing racial integration at Central High. The White House, the army and school authorities denied it.

A spokesman for the Segregationist Mothers League of Central High had told reporters that Kathleen Craighead, 16-year-old sophomore at the school, could corroborate the alleged incident.

But Kathleen told reporters "the soldiers did not go into the girls' dressing room."

Quake Rocks Tunis

TUNIS (Reuters) — Panicked householders fled into the countryside when four earth quake shocks rocked the Tunisian port of Sfax Tuesday night.

US - Russia Present Disarmament Plans

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — The United States, Russia and India were scheduled to take the wraps off their disarmament plans today. The UN political committee meanwhile cleared its decks to begin the arms debate Thursday.

The Western resolution had been held up last weekend for a working over to put more stress on control of outer space missiles.

State Secretary Dulles said in Washington Tuesday that the United States is ready to talk with Russia about international control of space missiles, but he said such negotiations should be held within the framework of the United Nations.

Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev said earlier his government would be agreeable to international control of pilotless missiles as part of a general U.S.-Soviet agreement to co-exist peacefully.

INDIA OFFERS PLAN
The 82-nation political committee decided to give disarmament top priority after appeals from both East and West.

Earlier Indian delegate V. K. Krishna Menon urged that the United States, Russia and Britain agree to suspend nuclear tests as a first step toward disarmament in the new "interplanetary age."

Mr. Allard, who met Annette during the 1955 Christmas holiday, said he was hoping to have a quiet wedding.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — North American moviegoers will get a chance to see how the Russians really live, thanks to a tough little capitalist who roamed behind the Iron Curtain with cameras and film.

The man is Sid Feder, and he has brought a documentary called This is Russia which Universal-International is releasing. A vaudeville actor as a child, Feder has some film theatres and other interests.

Feder's Iron Curtain caper arose while he was in London during the Bulgann-Khrushchev visit last spring. He figured he would test whether the Kremlin leaders were serious in their offers of friendship, so he applied to the Russian Embassy for permission to photograph Russia.

"I was lucky," he admits. "The Russians have a great respect for inventions. I happened to have been in on the first 3-D picture, Bwana Devil. I put up the money. Since the Russians have a theatre where 3-D movies are shown without glasses, they were interested in my visit."

After much red tape, Feder was admitted to Russia. He was not allowed to bring a camera-man, so he had to shoot the film himself. He brought along three cameras and lugged 160 pounds of equipment.

FIRM NOTIONS

The Russians had firm notions of what he should photograph, he said, but he had other ideas.

"They showed me the huge factories, which were impressive but not what I was interested in," he says. "I wanted to see the faces of the people—see them at work and at play, in their homes, at the theatres and on vacation."

"They arranged for me to visit a model apartment—and it was a model! It was all fixed up with a refrigerator, television set and electric toaster. There was only one trouble. There was no electricity in the building, nothing to plug into."

"I used my camera for all of the things they wanted me to shoot. I always kept one with no film in it just for that purpose."

Though often harassed by the police, Feder managed to get what he wanted. He travelled to Georgia at a time when the region was seething with unrest. He went to remote areas of Asian Russia — Samarkand and other areas where Marco Polo travelled and Genghis Khan ruled.

He saw another sight forbidden to most Western visitors — the slave labor camp of Siberia.

With some hairbreadth escapes, he managed to get his film out of Russia. Most of it was in good shape.

Rotarian Has Desire To Serve Says G. E. Heath, Club Governor

"Membership in Rotary is the outward evidence of an inward desire to serve," G. Earl Heath, of St. Albans, Vermont, Governor of Rotary district 785, told members of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club at their regular weekly meeting last night.

Mr. Heath was visiting Sherbrooke during the course of his visit to all clubs in the Southern Quebec-Vermont-New Hampshire district. His talk last night followed a conference with local Rotary officers and committee chairmen.

Governor Heath emphasized that the mere desire to serve was not enough, and that the desire must be put into practice for a member to be a really good Rotarian.

"If a man has that inward desire to do good things, Rotary will inspire him to do them," continued the speaker. "If a man is already doing good things, he will naturally be attracted to Rotary for he will feel that he is with a like-minded group of men."

In the final portion of his address, Mr. Heath said that all of Rotary comes right down to the individual Rotarian, and that it was what he did in his club, his community life and as a part of the world that determined the success of the organization.

In addition to the activities of Rotary's 9,500 Clubs within their own communities to promote the objective of international understanding, good will and peace, Mr. Heath explained that Rotary International has spent more than $2,250,000 in recent years through its program of student fellowships, which enables outstanding college graduates to study for one year in countries other than their own, as Rotary ambassadors of good will. Since 1947, when this program was established, 957 Rotary Fellowships have been awarded to students in 61 countries to study in 42 countries, with grants averaging $2,500.

Miss Katherine Dubie of Barre, Vt., will be the Rotary Foundation Fellow for district 785 for the year of 1957-58, and will study music in Paris, France.

"With fellowship and service to others as its keynote, Rotary provides a common ground for 446,000 business and professional executives throughout the free world, regardless of differing nationalities of political or religious beliefs," the Rotary District Governor emphasized.

"In addition to the promotion of international understanding," Mr. Heath concluded, "special emphasis is being placed by Rotary Clubs in this District on community betterment, care of crippled children, and the raising of standards for all businesses and professions."

District Governor Heath was introduced by past president Arthur Kerridge, and thanked by Col. Bert Lyon.

Seated at the head table, with the speaker and vice-president Cy Pyke were: Secretary Hawley Griffith; Eric Swanson; Ozzie Broadbelt; Art Kerridge; Bert Lyon; Harold McConnell; Hubert Johnston; Norton Beland; and Tubby Lane.

Program Outline Set For Halifax Guests

The itinerary for the visit to Halifax, Sherbrooke's "twin" city, was announced yesterday at city hall by Pierre Bachand, municipal treasurer, who is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the exchange.

Mayor of Halifax Leonard Kitz, and some 45 citizens of the Maritime centre will be in Sherbrooke October 20, 21, and 22.

The local committee is made up of Mr. Bachand, Robert L. Bessie, president of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce; Ivan Dugre and Paul Andre Joly, directors of public relations at La Tribune.

Sunday, Oct. 20—From 7.30 to 8 a.m. the visitors will be arriving in Sherbrooke. Their time will be free until 11 a.m. when they will attend church services. An official welcome will be accorded them at 12.30 p.m. They will be escorted by a detachment of police, firemen and Frontiersmen to City Hall, where a hot buffet will be served. A trip to Mt. Orford is scheduled for the afternoon.

Monday—10 a.m.: Visit to Mgr. Georges Cabana at the archbishop's palace. At 11 a.m.:

Flu Closes School In Coaticook

The Coaticook High School closed on Monday at noon and will remain closed until Oct. 15th, because of the sudden increase in the number of flu cases over the weekend.

Principal Philip Lawrence reported that up to that time the illness had not seriously effected the attendance but on Monday morning over sixty children were absent, or more than 35 per cent of the total enrollment. Two teachers were also on the sick list, Mrs. George Sarasin and Miss Williams.

Stanstead Police Chief Suspended

Council To Decide Action

STANSTEAD — (Special) — Stanstead Police Chief Youville Quirion was suspended this week by the Stanstead Town Council, pending an investigation into reports of discrepancies between the number of traffic violation tickets issued over the past few months, and the amount of money paid over to council coffers.

Chief Quirion was reinstated in good faith earlier this year after the Council suspended him pending an investigation into similar charges.

According to books turned in several weeks ago by Quirion 15 tickets were issued, and apparently paid for by motorists, but none of the fine money was put into council coffers.

Ex-councillor Roland Major, chairman of a police investigation committee appointed during the summer, told the council at its regular meeting Monday that in one case, his investigations found that a $25 fine imposed on a Manchester, N. H. man, had been paid, but never appeared on police records.

A special session of the council will sit on October 15 to hear Quirion's case, and to decide what permanent action, if any, should be taken.

In the absence of the police chief, sub-chief Baril and deputy policeman Giguere will provide the town with police protection.

At the same meeting, the resignation of Joseph Mayhew, a councillor in the municipality for the past 27 years, was accepted. Mr. Mayhew gave no reasons for his resignation.

Gerald Colt, of Stanstead, has been appointed within the past month to take the place of Mr. Roland Major.

Mayor C. J. Labonte opened the session with prayer, and a word of welcome to Mr. Colt.

It was announced that at a special meeting held since September, it was decided that the centennial celebration of Stanstead Municipality will be postponed until June, 1958.

The sum of $10 was voted towards the prizes for the annual Plowman's Association Match which will take place at Stanstead College farm on October 12.

In observance of fire prevention week, council announced that fire department chairman Lawrence Winter and Fire Chief Warren Soutiere will make an inspection of vacant lots to see if grass has been cut short, according to a by-law passed a few months ago.

Some 200 feet of 2½ inch hose is to be ordered for the fire department.

Tenders for keeping roads and sidewalks clear during the winter were opened and considered, and the contract awarded to Donald Dewey.

Several changes of property were noted for the valuation roll before the school tax bills are sent out.

Classical Form Featured In Ballet Show

Les Ballets Janine Charrat de France, the first of a trio of presentations sponsored by the Sherbrooke Community Concerts Association, was held at the Granada Theatre last evening.

It was the North American premier of this ballet corps.

Lack of ample scenery space forced some radical last minute cuts in the program but the troupe carried on with a series of dances in their purest forms.

Star of the show was Miss Charrat who choreographed many of the dances herself.

First act on the program was entitled "Domino" and featured 10 dancers dressed in black and white costumes who performed a terepshorean version of the age old game.

Although the dancing seemed to be in free form the technique was that of the vivid classical school.

The next performance was Miss Charrat's special choreography to the music of Grieg's "Concerto."

Miss Charrat and Juan Guillano dancing against a plain backdrop in the stark brightness of the klieg lights gave a presentation that was at once earthy and melancholic.

This act, by far, received the warmest applause of the audience.

Following intermission, three acts, "Hotel de Hope," "The Chains," and "The Leader," were cancelled and replaced with "Pas Classiques," music by Auber, and the Dying Swan scene from "Swan Lake" by St. Saens.

The "Pas Classiques" demonstrated the verve and gaiety that can be attained under the discipline of the classical dance.

Miss Charrat again starred in the Dying Swan scene, sensuously portraying the last few moments of the waning bird through precise and controlled movements.

The evening was given a final cheerful note by the "Harlequin" act. The presentation has the farcical atmosphere of the eternal triangle between the mischievous Harlequin, the hot-tempered Pierrot and the flighty Columbine.

idnight last night was fairly light at the Sherbrooke Winter fair's auction sale of Shorthorn breed cattle. Total average bid was $203.90.

Females on the average brought more than the males. Average bid for females was $243.75, while for bulls, the average bid was $164.06.

In breed cattle judging completed yesterday at the 24th annual fair the Aberdeen Angus male grand championship went to L. T. Porter of St. Andrews East, and the female championship to G. R. McCall of Lachute.

Tutira Farms, Arundel, owned by Mrs. T. C. Stuart, won the Shorthorn male and female grand championships, while the Hereford male and female grand championships were won by J. P. A. of Ste. Scholastique.

In market lamb judging completed yesterday, Gordon Cass and Sons, Ayer's Cliff, won the show grand championship for the best market lamb. The reserve championship was won by Howard Majury of Lennoxville.

Bacon hog honors were taken by Georges Ricard of St. Michel, Napierville Co., who won top prizes for the best pen of three hogs in the show, and the best pen of five.

Today, judging continues in market cattle. Tomorrow, the show will wind up with the featured sale of market cattle, hogs and lambs. Some 156 steers, 117 market lambs, and 47 pigs and hogs will go on the block. Bidding is scheduled to start at 1.30 p.m.

Tonight, a full and varied program is scheduled at the Arena. A breeders' banquet will be held at 6 p.m. followed by a square dance competition at 7.30 p.m. Groups taking part in this competition include Sunnyside School, Stanstead; Lennoxville 4-H Club; North Hatley Teenagers; North Hatley Dancers.

Soviets Get Things Done

One of the most illuminating aspects of the Soviet triumph in launching the first man-made earth satellite is in the comparison it invites between totalitarian and democratic research methods. To many, the Soviet achievement came as a shock because, despite the propaganda assault which accompanied it, the fact remains that the Soviet Union outstripped the United States in both time and quality.

Observers of Russian life point out that Soviet scientific achievement has been considerable for many years. In fact, even in pre-Bolshevik Czarist Russia a good many Russian scientists had made their mark in their respective fields. Development of the earth satellite and the intercontinental ballistic missile would not have been possible without a large body of top-flight scientific talent and almost unlimited facilities. The massive Soviet program for training scientists and technological personnel has been going on for years and is continuing at an accelerated pace. This in itself would almost assure Soviet leadership in science.

In addition, the Soviets have developed a world wide system for collecting all scientific information available, including the use of spies where necessary, and putting this information to their own uses.

Soviet analyst Harry Schwartz of the New York Times gives as an example of the Soviet method of getting things done the $10 billion volt atom smasher which is larger than anything the United States has. The giant magnet around which this device is built contains 30,000 tons of steel, enough to build a modern aircraft carrier. In the Russian totalitarian system, the authorities arbitrarily allocated this precious steel to such a project at the expense of other projects which might have bettered the standard of living of the ordinary people. In a democratic society, scientific research is often in the position of getting what is left over after the people's more immediate wants have been satisfied.

The Soviets considered that the prestige of launching the first ICBM and satellite was worth sacrificing something with more immediate benefit. The Americans, who have given their earth satellite low priority in the current scale of values, didn't. The results, and the lesson, are obvious.

Rough Days For Labor

Organized labor in the United States, and because of international ties, in Canada, faces a long period of civil war if the AFL-CIO federation carries out its threat to expel the powerful Teamsters union which Saturday elected corruption-tainted James R. Hoffa as its new president.

Later this month, Hoffa will take his hand-picked executive to New York to ask for a year to show that he can clean up the racket-infested Teamsters. But Oct. 24 is the deadline set by federation president George Meany and his associates for a report on what the Teamsters have done to eliminate practices condemned by both a Senate investigating committee and the AFL-CIO ethical practices committee itself.

The Teamsters themselves account for nearly 10 percent of the 15,000,000 combined membership of 140 unions in the AFL-CIO federation.

Their economic strength is even greater because they are the key union in the vast distribution system of the economy and can make or break strikes of many other unions. The federation, while possessing the responsibility for policing moral standards of member unions cannot interfere in the autonomous operation of a union.

If the Teamsters were ousted from the federation, one of the first problems would be to untangle an intricate web of mutual aid pacts with other unions. It is also doubtful that a large proportion of teamsters would forsake Hoffa for a federation-sponsored union. Hoffa himself is a clever and aggressive organizer with almost unlimited resources. He might steal as many members of other unions as he would lose. Labor is in for some rough days.

This And That

One advantage of having the flu is that being confined to bed for a while gives one time to wonder what all the hustle going on in the outside world is about.

With satellite moons flying around the globe, there will be two schools of thought on the weather. The curious will hope for clear skies so that they can spot the objects and those with an aversion to being looked down upon by unknown objects will hope for clouds so that they can retain some sense of privacy.

The Canadian government is keeping secret the gift it plans to give the Queen on her arrival here. The nicest gift she will receive, however, will be the warm welcome Canadians are planning for her.

FOR MORE FARMERS

(Halifax Chronicle-Herald)
At a time when Nova Scotia is experiencing a declining farm population against an increasing demand for farm products it is highly important that facilities be provided to encourage the youth to stay with the land. A major step toward this aim has been effected with the opening of a one hundred and twenty-five bed student residence at the Nova Scotia Agricultural College.

This is one college not beset by the problem of too many pupils, too few desks. But it is far from a happy situation. For while farming is now a highly specialized profession, too few young people are able to reject the high wages of other industry to stick with harder work and longer hours on the home-stead. Nova Scotia is not producing sufficient numbers of trained farmers with a thorough knowledge of soil requirements, grass land capabilities, crop rotation and other aspects of agricultural efficiency.

Free tuition is offered Canadian students at the Agricultural College, but for many farm families, the cost of boarding their sons and daughters while they are learning is too high. Now with the dormitory, and about fifty per cent of living expenses borne by provincial grants and the youth training program of the Federal Gov-

"You Use It or I Will!"

Great Development

Recalls First Edmonton Airport

EDMONTON (CP) — From a cow pasture to a booming terminal is the way Capt. James Bell describes the development of the Edmonton municipal airport.
Capt. Bell, airport manager since 1928, puts the growth of aviation at Edmonton into three phases—barnstorming, bush flying and airline operations.
Edmonton's first two aircraft, he recalled, were an old Curtiss Jenny owned by W. R. (Wop) May and an Avro P-5 flown by Keith Taylor. In the first years after the First World War they made a precarious living flying passengers on weekends and touring country fairs.

This happy-go-lucky era suddenly changed in 1921 when a diphtheria epidemic struck isolated Fort Vermilion, and anti-toxin was needed desperately. May and a friend, Vic Horner, took off in 40-below-zero weather with a wheel-equipped, open-cockpit aircraft. The anti-toxin arrived in time, and the day of the Canadian bush pilot had dawned.

The international trail-blazers were next, Capt. Bell said. Men like Wiley Post and Harold Gatty who landed their Lockheed Vega at Edmonton in 1931 on their round-the-world flight. Mired in the mud of the field, the plane was placed on a stone carrier and hauled to Kingsway Avenue—then Portage Avenue—which runs from the airport to downtown Edmonton, and there the two took off.

Two years later Post made the flight alone, again using Portage Avenue for his take-off due to the condition of the airfield.
"The route he followed paved the way for the same international routes flown today by Northwest Airlines and Scandinavian Air Services," said Capt. Bell.

Portage Avenue was used as a runway a final time in 1934, when Col. Reg Robbins was attempting a non-stop flight from the Pacific coast of the United States to Tokyo. He had to turn back over the Bering Sea when the Ford tri-motor with which pilot Jimmy Mattern had hoped to refuel Robbins in the car, could not match the speed of the Vega. Airport officials in Edmonton were startled a few hours later as the Vega made a neat landing on Portage Avenue, the tanker plane right behind it.

Capt. Bell recalled the importance of the early air service between Edmonton and Whitehorse, Yukon Territory, established by Grant McConachie, now president of Canadian Pacific Airlines. It laid the groundwork for the inland air route to Alaska over which Alaska was supplied when Japan entered the war in 1941, and for the great ferrying operations which delivered warplanes from North America to Russia.

Today's modern, 800-acre airport with its hard-surfaced runways grew out of the Second World War, Capt. Bell noted, when enlargement of the field was financed by the U.S. so it could handle the aircraft as well as the Canadian craft using it.

SEGREGATION IN CANADA

(Owen Sound Sun-Times)
Indignation has been high in Canada over the indignities to which many colored people have been subjected in several southerly United States cities. The whole segregation problem has been given a great deal of attention in this country. There has been very little sympathy for the U. S. Segregationists here.

A quite thoughtful and thought-provoking letter in a Toronto daily newspaper from a well educated and, it would seem, quite intelligent and wholesome colored girl points out that Canada actually hasn't got so very much room for criticism of the people of the south. While it is quite true that colored people are accorded most of the common courtesies of life here, certainly are not subjected to indignities which have been heaped upon Negro boys and girls and adults in such cities as Little Rock, Arkansas, these people are not accorded the right to equality in the employment field. The writer of the letter, one of a group of girls brought from the West Indies over a year ago says it is impossible for her, or other members of her group, to get anything but domestic work. The girls were allowed entry into Canada with the understanding that they would serve as domestics for a year. After that they were free to seek any other type of employment they might desire. They are girls of good education and otherwise qualified to accept many types of work, in offices, stores, shops, business places, etc. The difficulty is that they find no one is willing to engage them in such capacities. And, she says, domestic work means 12 hours a day, with perhaps a half day off a week and other not so nice features.

In support of her statements she points out colored people are not found working in Toronto banks, in offices, stores, even in most eating places. In fact a little careful consideration will make one wonder just where the colored people are employed. Expressing herself proud of the fact she is British, she nonetheless points out that such a situation is not the case in New York or many other big United States cities.

Sure we in Canada are against segregation. But perhaps we could be a whole lot more actively against it. There is no color line in our schools. But, unless these citizens, upon concluding their formal education period, have a good opportunity to profit by it then the equality of their youth is of little value.

Matter of FACT

No two leaves are exactly alike, even though they may come from the same branch of the same tree and seem to have the same size, shape and color. The leaf is the food factory of green plants and trees because they manufacture the food which plants must have to become full grown and healthy. Leaves have veins like blood vessels in the human body. These veins are hollow tubes which carry food and water back and forth between the leaves and the rest of the plant.

ment, more encouragement is held out to the young farmer who wants to grow.

MARGIE'S SKILL ROUTS OPPONENTS

Margaret Wagar of Atlanta has been one of the two or three best woman players for the last 20 years. More than that she has been just about the nicest and most popular. Her daughter Margie is one of our newest life masters and appears ready to follow in her mother's footsteps.

In today's hand Margie put Margie in a fine slam which would have been a laydown if spades or trumps had broken or if the defense had not started proceedings by playing two rounds of diamonds.

The second diamond lead forced Margie to use one of dummy's four trumps. Her next two plays were the queen of trumps followed by a low trump lead to her king. West discarded the five of clubs.

A careless player would simply have drawn East's last trump and relied on a spade break but Margie saw that there was nothing to lose and a lot to gain by first trumping her last diamond and then returning to her own hand with the ace of clubs.

Now Margie led out her last three trumps and discarded a club and two spades from dummy.

The last trump lead put the screws on West. He had to hang on to his four spades and therefore chucked the king of clubs in the vain hope that his partner would hold the queen. Of course Margie held the queen and it became her twelfth trick.

From the Record of Saturday, Oct. 9, 1937.

Impressive ceremonies marked the induction of the Rev. Fred Williams formerly of Saskatoon, as pastor of Trinity United Church, Sherbrooke. A formal announcement was made to the Eastern Townships Associated Boards of Trade meeting in Farnham that the Provincial Government was prepared to construct a highway to the top of Mount Orford.

Members of the Men's Club of St. Peter's Church last night opened the new season of activities at a dinner in the Church hall attended by some 40 members.

What do Life Insurance Companies Do with all the money?

Life insurance companies must report their financial operations to the Superintendent of Insurance. According to the latest official figures here are the facts about the Life Insurance Dollar:

Where each dollar comes from:

74¢ comes from premiums paid by policyholders for insurance to protect their wives and families... and for security in their own old age.

26¢ comes from earnings on policyholders' funds. These funds are invested under Government supervision and help to develop Canada.

What happens to each Dollar:

82¢ is for policyholders.
43¢ is paid out to living policyholders and to beneficiaries.
39¢ is invested for future benefits to policyholders.

18¢ is used for normal operating expenses which include taxes, licenses and fees paid to Governments.

*The latest report from the Superintendent of Insurance, Ottawa, shows that in 1956 the life insurance companies in Canada paid out $371 million in benefits to policyholders. By far the greater part of this money ($256 million) went to living policyholders.

Expect To Rest Red Control

SAN MARINO (AP) — Confident anti-Communists today expected to take over undisputed rule of San Marino by nightfall, ending a 12-year Communist rule of this tiny mountain republic.

Anti-Communists who set up a provisional "white" government on Oct. 1 gave the Reds until 6 p.m. (3 p.m. ADT) to answer an ultimatum demanding "complete surrender."

The leader of the rival Communist regime, Domenico Morganti, indicated Tuesday night that his side was ready to give in. "Really, we have no choice because we have been under siege by an enormous force of foreign troops," Morganti told a press conference.

Morganti referred to Italian police who have blockaded the 38-square-mile republic of 13,000 persons entirely surrounded by Italian territory. Italy and the United States have recognized the anti-Communist government.

Federico Bigli, unofficial premier of the white government who sent the ultimatum, would not say what would happen if the Reds rejected it.

Welfare Clinic Annual Tag Day Held This Week

The Sherbrooke Child Welfare Clinic is holding its annual tag days this week.

It is an institution which has operated for the welfare of needy children of Sherbrooke for over 39 years. Founded with the belief that when poverty strikes, children are the chief victims, the clinic has practised both preventative and curative medicine. During the past year, medical and dental cases have been treated through the clinic with doctors and dentists of Sherbrooke and Lennoxville donating their time and effort.

With the theory that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, the clinic has supplied milk and vitamin capsules in four district schools to children who otherwise would not receive these essentials. To quote the principal of one of the schools: "The children have certainly shown improvement, and I am sure their work has been of a higher standard because of this help." This service is to resume Nov. 1. However, with an average of one hundred children per day receiving milk and capsules, the milk bill alone is very large.

How A Model Takes Care Of Her Feet

You've heard about the smile that hides an aching heart. It's nothing, says a gal who knows, to the smile that hides an aching foot.

In fact, Jeanne Lord, whose big green eyes, red hair and shapely figure are familiar to you from fashion magazines and television programs, says modeling is harder on the feet than typing is on the back. Have you ever tried standing on one foot for two hours? That's a feat Jeanne has to perform frequently. The result is that, at the end of a hard day, just to touch her foot is agony.

Jeanne's remedy is simple and one that will help almost anyone's protesting feet. After her shower she uses a shampoo spray to drench her feet first in hot, then cold water, three to six times. Then she slips into a pair of leather house slippers. At a time like that, Jeanne says, leather is as good as a moss-covered bank. It's cool, it's supple, and yet it supports tired muscles and is easier on the foot than the bare floor.

Jeanne, who takes a size 8, says that all the shoes she wears—and that all the shoes she wears—and she owns 63 pairs—have both leather absorbs the shock of pavement pounding, she finds, and prevents burning and smarting. In the model's big bag that she carries with her every day are always two or three pairs of shoes for her own use as well as the ones she will pose in. Jeanne likes to change from medium heel to flats to medium-high heel in order to rest one set of leg muscles while using another. It's a trick she recommends to every woman.

Jeanne, who is one of New York's best-dressed women, says she spends about 20 per cent of her clothes budget on shoes. "Good shoes are the foundation of good posture," she says, "and the finishing touch to your costume."

She loves to wear a simple wool or silk sheath in a neutral color, with perhaps one tailored pin and a pair of bright leather shoes in an arresting new style. "Color is better in a small area," she says, "and at the bottom of your costume where it doesn't interrupt the line."

Mr. and Mrs. L. Clark Mark 25th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Clark were honored recently on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary, when a number of their friends gathered in the Brompton Road Community Hall, which was decorated with blue and white streamers and silver 25s for the gala event.

To the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. E. M. Goodfellow, the bride and groom of twenty-five years were met at the door by their wedding attendants, Miss Beatrice Johnston, sister of the bride and Mr. Herman Clark, brother of the groom. They were presented with a corsage and boutonniere and then escorted to the front of the hall where they received the congratulations of some 200 relatives and friends.

Mr. William Lavallee then presented the honored guests with numerous gifts and a purse of money with the best wishes for many more years of happiness from their assembled friends.

Speaking on behalf of Mrs. Clark and himself, Mr. Clark expressed their sincere appreciation for the gifts and party given in their honor. The guests then joined in singing "For They are Jolly Good Fellows".

Lunch was served at decorated tables, the honored guests table being centered with a three tier wedding cake, vases of fall flowers, white tapers in silver holders and silver twenty-fives placed around the table completed the attractive arrangement.

Seated at the head table with the guests of honor were the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Johnston and other close relatives.

Following lunch, dancing was enjoyed to music supplied by Mrs. E. M. Goodfellow and Mr. Cecil Dougherty, rounding out an enjoyable evening.

Those in charge of arrangements for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. R. Truax, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Goodfellow, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cullen, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Ross, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Ross, Mr. and Mrs. M. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. C. Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. M. Page and Mr. and Mrs. G. McElrea.

When their 15-year-old daughter ran off and married the 19-year-old boy she had been dating for several months, her parents were stunned with disbelief. They shouldn't have been. In fact, it was a possibility they should have considered when they let their tenth-grader start dating a boy who was through high school and was working.

The boy, no longer financially dependent on his parents, could do as he pleased. It didn't take him long to convince the girl that her parents were too strict, that she had a right to lead her own life, and that if they were married, there wouldn't be anything the parents could do about it.

And sure enough, there wasn't. For by the time the parents found out about the runaway marriage, a baby was on the way. All they could say to their daughter was: "We didn't choose marriage for you. You chose it for yourself. Now you will have to assume all of its obligations and responsibilities."

If the boy and the girl have enough character, despite their youth they may make a go of the marriage. It won't be easy. Both will have given up a lot for their shortsightedness.

NO ADVANTAGES

The girl will have given up her chance for an education made easy by parents anxious to give her every advantage. The boy will be stuck in the small job he has because with a wife and child to support he can't afford to take chances.

It isn't the kind of start in life thoughtful, loving, conscientious parents would choose for their children.

But, in a way, it is one of the choices the girl's parents offered her when they let her start dating a boy old enough to be on his own and to feel he could offer her marriage.

"What difference does it make that he is older than I am?" teenage girls who are flattered by the attention of an older boy ask their parents.

Instead of listening to the girl's immature arguments, the parents should say, "It makes a lot of difference," and sit down and explain the facts as they see them.

Fashion

Raincoats turned fancier than ever in the Paris collections. Printed velvet was one notion and printed plastic lined in mink tails was another.

Presentation To Bride And Groom By Brill Forum

DUBOYCE'S CORNER — Mr. and Mrs. Bill Badger entertained the Brill Farm Forum at their home to honor one of their members, Malcolm MacPherson, and his bride, Miss Doreen Leavitt of Nowlton.

The Forum presented them with a two piece waterless cookware set. Other friends present gave them small gifts. A bouquet was pinned on the bride by the hostess, also one for the groom made of clover.

Cowbells and pitch forks were the decorations, which caused much merriment, a string attached to the bells being rung noisily during the evening.

A sing song was enjoyed by all. The hostess assisted by several of the ladies, served lunch and a bride's cake was cut in the usual manner.

Braves 2-To-1 Favorites To Win World Series; Mickey Mantle Out

At Last It's Official; Dodgers On Way To Los Angeles; New York To Seek New Team, Says Mayor Wagner

NEW YORK — (AP) — With Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants now officially headed for the west coast, National League president Warren Giles today said expansion to 10- or 12-team leagues is the next logical step for further changes in the major league baseball map.

"I don't know of any club now considering relocation," said Giles. "If any cities now included in the major league baseball map are to have major league baseball it would seem to have to come through expansion, not additional franchise transfers."

Giles, commenting on the Dodgers' decision Tuesday to follow the Giants, Boston Braves, St. Louis Browns and Philadelphia Athletics in franchise shifts which have re-arranged the baseball map since 1953, said expansion has been discussed frequently and for some time by the majors on an informal basis.

"I don't believe there will be any such expansion, however, in the immediate future," said Giles, "say in the next two or three or four years."

Giles also doubted that the expansion question will come up in the joint major league meeting next December.

FAVOR TWO LEAGUES

While expansion to 10- team leagues or to three leagues, has been most frequently mentioned in baseball circles, some owners and other officials, in both the majors and the minors, now favor two 12-team leagues as the final answer.

With 12- team setups, each league would be divided into eastern and western divisions. The two division winners in each league would meet in a five- or seven-game playoff for the league championship and those two winners then would meet in the world series.

The Dodgers, in anything but a surprise move, formally announced Tuesday that club directors and stockholders had "unanimously agreed that the necessary steps be taken to draft the Los Angeles territory."

The announcement came within 24 hours of action by the Los Angeles city council, by a 10-to-4 vote, approving an acceptable offer to the Dodgers—swapping a 300- acre chunk of accessible Chavez Ravine for Brooklyn-owned Wrigley Field in Los Angeles.

New York Mayor Robert Wagner had barely waved the Dodgers goodbye than he announced he would appoint a committee in the next few days to start a campaign to lure another National League team to New York.

Still to be settled is the amount of damages to be paid by the Giants and Dodgers to the Pacific Coast League and its Los Angeles city council by a 10-to-4 for invasion of its territory.

Maritime Senior Ball Playoffs Still Doubtful

ST. STEPHEN, N. B. (CP)—Efforts to get the Maritime senior baseball finals under way hit another snag Tuesday when Canning Habs of Nova Scotia advanced another proposal to St. Stephen-St. Croix.

The club had agreed to a best-of-three series here starting next Monday but Canning manager V. E. Rooney informed A. G. Hayman, St. Stephen manager, Tuesday that the Nova Scotia team would prefer a two-game, total-score round to decide the title.

On Oct. 4, Hal Betts, president of the Maritime Amateur Baseball Association, ordered Canning to make that trip here and complete the series as agreed.

Seven Reds Are Floored By Flu

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Seven Providence players were bedded with the flu today as the Reds travelled to Springfield for their American Hockey League opener with the Indians.

Providence general manager Terry Reardon said that the Reds will be forced to play with 12 men unless help from other clubs arrives in time. The Reds topped the AHL in regular season play last year.

The seven players stricken after returning from an exhibition tour in Canada were Paul Larivee, Ken Davies, Jim Bartlett, Ray Cyr, Bob Robertson, John Hanna and Aldo Guidolin.

GLENN HALL

Glenn Hall Blanks Maple Leafs While Ted Lindsay Tallies Only Goal Before 11,198 Fans In Opener

CHICAGO (CP) — The trade that brought Ted Lindsay and Glenn Hall to Chicago Black Hawks paid quick dividends when the two paced the Hawks to a 1-0 victory over Toronto Maple Leafs Tuesday night in the first game of the National Hockey League season.

Left winger Lindsay counted game's only goal and goalie Hall made 26 stops, several spectacular, as the Hawks pleased 11,198 fans in a bruising game.

Lindsay and Hall were acquired from Detroit Red Wings during the summer and were two of the six new faces the Hawks sported in their 18-man lineup.

The revamped Hawks, aiming at a playoff spot after several seasons in the cellar, showed that on the basis of their latest acquisitions they could be successful.

Lindsay, who along with Hall was named to the league's first-team all-stars last year, sparked

Just past the 15-minute mark in the second period he took a pass from Litzberger at midice, sliced across the Leaf net and backhanded the puck past Ed

Brown Shoe Wins Richmond Softball Championship When Bob Pariseau Blanked Legion 5-0 In Final Tilt

RICHMOND — The softball season ended when Bob Pariseau of Brown Shoe hurled a three-hitter and 5-0 shutout victory over the Legion. Brown Shoe capped the league championship and Chamber of Commerce Cup. It was the second 5-0 shutout for big Bob Pariseau. He won by the same score in the first game of this final series and also scored a 3-0 victory over the Legion in the second game of the series.

Presentation of the cup was made by league president, Arthur St. Sauveur assisted by Henri Delorme, acting on behalf of the Jaycees. It was a fine series as far as the winners were concerned but the hapless Legionnaires had done very well in holding the team that went through the regular season without a loss. It proved different in playoff competition and the many fans that attended the games found it to be a great series.

Pariseau's three-hit performance was coupled by four strikeouts; he picked up a couple of hits himself, best on the club. Rollie Letourneau was tagged for seven hits, fanned three and allowed one pass. He was 0-for-3 at the plate, going down the same way each time with "Pat" Desrosiers at short relaying to first baseman Gerard Blais for the

Cards To Keep Coaching Staff

ST. LOUIS (P) — The St. Louis

Cardinals announced Tuesday they are keeping intact the coaching staff of Stan Hack, Al Hollingsworth and Terry Moore that helped guide the club to a second place finish this year.

Manager Fred Hutchinson was signed earlier.

Walker Cooper, who started this past season as a Cardinal coach and then was transferred to the active player list, remains on the active player list.

Bob Naylor Is Out After Paying Way To Camp

TORONTO (CP) — Hockey player Bob Naylor, who paid his own way from Picton, N.S., to try out with Toronto Marlboros, was injured in the first hour of practice Monday.

He was one of 32 hopefuls who were being tried out for the team's 1957-58 Ontario Hockey Association junior A season. Taken to hospital after being checked into the boards by Don Currie, he was found to have a fractured right ankle.

Bert Boucher handled the game behind the plate and did a good job aided by Ted Beland and Bob Beaudet on bases. About a hundred fans watched the game.

A party was held for the club after the game at the Richmond Hotel.

LAST NIGHT'S STARS

Ted Lindsay, Chicago — scored the only goal in the first game of the 1957-58 campaign to blank Toronto 1-0.

Glenn Hall, Chicago — racked up the first shutout of the new season and his first in the Black Hawks' nets to give defensive strength to the perennial tail-enders of the NHL.

Bob Buhl And Bob Turley Get Nod For Starting Roles; Flu Hits Both Teams; Casey To Use Joe Collins

NEW YORK — (AP) — Fred Haney's battling Milwaukee Braves ruled the 2-to-1 favorite today to win the world series as they faced New York Yankees in the sixth game needing only one more victory to clinch it.

With the weatherman predicting clear skies, after three straight wet days in New York, a capacity crowd of some 67,000 was expected to see a return match between Bob Buhl of the Braves and Bob Turley of the Yankees.

The Yankees were handicapped by the absence of their celebrated center fielder, Mickey Mantle, who has a torn tendon in his right shoulder. Milwaukee also had a top flight star on the sidelines in second baseman Red Schoendienst, who has a pulled groin muscle.

The Braves, who lead the best-of-seven series 3-2, were eager to wrap it up today because of the uncertain physical condition of Warren Spahn, their ace pitcher. Spahn, considered a certainty to pitch the seventh game, if it were needed, currently is laid low by a slight case of the gripe and upper respiratory inflammation, leaving his future participation in the series in doubt.

Late Tuesday night, the veteran lefthander was undecided whether to obey the command of the Braves' physician to remain in bed and watch this afternoon's event on television. Should the Yankees win today and there is no improvement in Spahn's condition, the chances are that Lew Burdette, who has already beaten the Yankees twice, will try to become a three-time winner.

The Yankees also had a pitcher hors de combat in Johnny Kucks. The young righthander spent Tuesday in a hospital, wrestling with the flu and he is not expected to see action today or Thursday.

The Yankees' other invalid, first baseman Bill (Moose) Skowron, felt a little better Tuesday night although his sacroiliac muscle is still painful. The Moose, who has missed the entire series with the exception of the first two innings of the opener, said he can pinch-hit but cannot possibly play in the field.

Mantle, alarmed when he woke up Tuesday and found he could hardly raise his right arm, was whisked to a hospital where X-rays showed there were no breaks or bone damage in his right shoulder but that he suffered a torn cartilage. The condition stemmed from his collision with Schoendienst at second in the first inning of the third game in Milwaukee.

"I don't expect it to go seven games," the Milwaukee skipper said. "Even with Red out, we're in pretty good shape."

This was Haney's way of expressing confidence in Felix Mantilla, who replaced Schoendienst at second early in Monday's game and gave a fine account of himself in the field.

"Mantilla will lead off," Haney said, and added he would use his lefthanded lineup with Frank Torre replacing Joe Adcock at first and Bob Hazle supplanting Andy Pafko in right.

REMEMBER WHEN
Hockey's big bomber, Charlie Conacher, announced his retirement as a player 17 years ago today. Possessor of one of the hardest shots in hockey, he worked nine seasons with the Toronto Maple Leafs, winding up with a stint with New York Americans, but won most fame as a member of the Primeau-Conacher-Jackson "kid line" of the Maple Leafs.
