BRITISH BOMBARDMENT GOES ON

ROGER CASEMENT IS SENTENCED TO DIE ON TREASON CHARGE

Found Guilty by Jury After One Hour's Deliberation—Chief Justice Summed Up Against the Prisoner—Bailey is Set Free by Crown

Special Star Cable by Wilbur S. Forrest of the United Press.

LONDON, June 29. — Sir Roger Casement was this afternoon found guilty of high treason and sentenced to death in connection with the Irish rebellion and his attempts to induce Irish prisoners in Germany to desert the British colors. The jury deliberated about one hour.

Casement's mouth fell wide open when he heard the word "guilty." He started, as if to rise from his seat, fell back, and finally succeeded in getting to his feet to address the Court. He supported himself by resting his hand on his chair, but his body rocked violently. His voice quavered so that his remarks were barely heard.

The few sentences heard by those closest to him indicated that he was protesting that an English court had no jurisdiction over him, since he was an Irishman.

"What I have to say," he said, his voice steadying for the moment, "is intended for my own countrymen."

Casement then began to read a very long statement, which occupied a half hour and which was a contention for the right to be tried by Irishmen and for Irish nationality.

The death sentence was then pronounced by the Lord Chief Justice, Baron Reading.

There is some speculation as to whether Casement, who is an Irish Knight, will be permitted to avail himself of the privilege of being hanged with a silken rope.

SIR ROGER CASEMENT.

VERDICT NO SURPRISE.

The verdict occasioned no surprise in the Court room. Sir Roger had offered only a weak defence to the charge that he gave aid and comfort to England's enemies. This was the contention he made in a personal statement to the jury that he was recruiting an Irish regiment among the prisoners in Germany solely to defend Catholic Ireland against the Ulsterites. He declared the Crown had failed to establish his connection with the Irish rebellion.

The Lord Chief Justice bowled over the defence in his instructions to the jury. He charged the jurors that any act, the effect of which was to weaken England's power of resistance, was an aid and comfort to her enemies. Then he instructed the jury to return a verdict of guilty on any one of the several accusations against Sir Roger.

Witnesses offered by the Crown did not show Sir Roger's direct connection with the seven days' Dublin rebellion, but they proved conclusively his attempts to form an Irish brigade among the prisoners in Germany. The Crowns' witnesses revealed, too, how a Kerry County farmer, en route to a well to get a pail of water, accidentally uncovered Casement's landing from a German submarine and frustrated his plans for heading a revolution.

Casement's defence consisted solely of his personal statement to the jury. No witnesses were offered in his behalf.

COUNSEL UNABLE TO TALK.

Sergt. Sullivan, the Irish barrister upon whom has rested the chief burden of the defence, was unable to appear in Court today and finish his argument in behalf of the prisoner. Sergt. Sullivan collapsed under the strain of excitement while delivering an impassioned speech in Court last night.

Artemus Jones, assistant counsel, announced to the Court when it convened this morning that Sullivan had been forbidden by his doctors to continue the argument.

The Chief Justice expressed his sympathy and said that it had been evident that Sergt. Sullivan had been laboring under a heavy strain. Mr. Jones then addressed the Court.

Mr. Jones admitted that at the first thought it semed an outrage for Sir Roger to go to Germany, but he insisted that the defendant had attempted merely to organize an Irish Brigade for use against the Ulsted volunteers recruited by Sir Edward Carson. Mr. Jones was proceeding to argue that this did not constitute treason when the Chief Justice interspersed.

INTERPRETATION OF LAW.

He explained he would direct the jury that in law "giving aid and comfort to the King's enemies" meant assisting the King's enemies in the war with this country, and that any act that strengthened or tended to strengthen the enemy in the conduct of this war against us would be giving aid and comfort to the King's enemies, and that any act which weakened or tended to weaken the power of this country to resist the attacks of the enemy was "aiding and comforting the King's enemies."

Mr. Jones contended that the work Sir Roger did in Germany was precisely the same sort of work he carried on in Ireland before the war. While the importation of arms was a wrongful act, it did not constitute treason, but an offence against the Defence of the Realm Act. He reminded the jury of the responsibility resting upon it, saying:

"This trial may mean a tragedy to the prisoner on account of the responsibility resting upon you. The ancient and valiant race from which this man comes has produced men who do not shrink from going to the scaffold for what they think are the rights of their country."

ATTORNEY-GENERAL'S SPEECH.

Mr. Jones' speech occupied a little more than half an hour, after which the Attorney-General, Sir Frederick Smith, began summing up. He argued that even if the defence which Sir Roger's lawyers had attempted to set up was a valid one the evidence in the case held in no wise supported it. In days before the war Sir Roger's defence might have had some weight, but "one circumstance not insignificant had intervened—the greatest military Power the world had ever seen was trying to destroy the British Empire."

The Attorney-General dwelt on the truce between the Irish parties. He said the question he asked at the beginning—why Sir Roger had gone to Germany—had never been answered, because no answer was possible. Sir Roger had gone to make arrangements to raise "the hideous specrte of insurrection' in Ireland.

The Germans, Sir Frederick continued, were not people who gave money for nothing. They were not going to keep soldiers of the Irish brigade as their guests so that they might go after the end of the war to free Ireland.

The Attorney-General's speech lasted for an hour, in whichm time he dissected the evidence in an exhaustive manner. He delivered no peroration, but reminded the jurors his duty was as painful as theirs. He said he had discharged his duty, and they must perform theirs.

CHIEF JUSTICE SUMS UP.

The Chief Justice then began his charge to the jury by saying th t no prejudice must be entertained against members of the English bar because they had defended the prisoner against such a charge. He said they were performing the highest duty of members of the Bar and that Mr. Sullivan had conducted the defence in accordance with the highest traditions of the English Bar, delivering a speech of greatest eloquence.

"Treason in time of war, when all persons in this country are making sacrifices to defeat the common enemy, is almost too grave for expression," he continued.

"You must dismiss from your minds all you have heard or read outside this Court. We have heard about politics in Ireland. For myself, in the court of justice, I always feel anxiety when political passion is aroused.

"Pay no more attention to what has been said regarding conditions in Ireland before the war or after the war than is necessary to consider conditions of this case."

Mr. Sullivan had paid the highest compliment he could to an English jury, the Lord Chief Justice said, in speaking to it as he did in regard to Ireland. After defining the law of treason, he pointed out that many facts in the case were undisputed.

Adjournment for luncheon was taken before the Chief Justice had concluded his charge.

The jury retired at 2.55 o'clock, and returned with a verdict of "guilty" at 3:55. At 4:35 Casement was sentenced to death.

DANIEL BAILEY IS FREED.

Daniel Bailey, Casement's soldier confederate, who confessed details of the Irish rebellion plot when he was arrested on landing from a German submarine, was discharged from custody immediately after Casement was sentenced.

Bailey was to have gone to trial on a treason charge. He gave evidence for the Crown in the preliminary hearing of Casement. It was announced later that the Crown had withdrawn the charge against him.

An appeal will be taken.

MAY MEAN VISIT OF KING AND QUEEN TO THE DOMINION SOON

Special Cable to The Montreal Star, From Our Own Correspondent. (Copyright.)

THE MONTREAL STAR OFFICE, 17, Cockspur Street, London, June 29.—The presence of the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire in Canada may be taken to assure the fulfilment, soon after the war, of the King and Queen's long-held desire to revisit Canada.

The Duchess is not only Mistress of the Robes, but the Queen's most intimate friend.

The Duchess and the Duke are enthusiastically anticipating their approaching sojourn in Canada, while their family of two sons and five daughters see illimitable and most pleasurable prospects in their Canadian residence.

Canadian cablegrams published today record general Canadian satisfaction with the selection. Both Sir George Foster and Sir George Perley, speaking as Canadian Ministers, take this view.

The Duke's proprietary association with great shipbuilding and mineral enterprises may prove of the greatest assistance in the reconstruction of Canadian iron, steel and other industries, to suit the greatly enlarged opportunities arising from the new economic intimacies between Canada, Britain and the Allies.

WINDERMERE.

COUNSEL MAKES AN ATTACK ON GENERAL HUGHES

Special to The Montreal Star from Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, June 29—Memoranda by counsel in the case of the small arms ammunition sale through Col. J. Wesley Allison have been submitted to the Davidson Commission, by H. H. Dewart, K.C., representing the Liberal party, and by J. E. Hutcheson, K.C., assisting counsel for the Commission.

There appears, however, to be a misunderstanding as to the use of the documents. Mr. Hutcheson, who is still to reply to Mr. Dewart, takes the position that the memoranda submitted were private for the Commissioner's use and declines to make his public.

Mr. Dewart, K.C., who has left for Winnipeg, has not withheld his argument. A condemnation of Major-Gen. Hughes is a feature of it.

ATTACKS MAJOR-GEN. HUGHES.

Says Mr. Dewart:

"The Minister of Militia appears to have lost his head in his intense desire to justify Allison and all his works—to shut his eyes to cogent testimony, and to use coarse language to everyone, be he counsel, Auditor-General, or even higher dignitary, who crosses his imperious path.

"I must press upon your Lordship's consideration as one of the matters upon which your Lordship should make a finding, the question of the competence and official fitness of this Minister of the Crown, who in face of such damning evidence still insists upon bolstering up his discarded friend Allison."

Mr. Dewart declared that the attitude of Sir Sam Hughes before the Commission showed that he was prepared to defy the Parliament and the people of Canada.

Touching upon "the knowledge or deliberate ignorance" on the part of the facts disclosed at the inquiry, Mr. Dewart argued that not only do these facts discredit Allison, but that they "equally prove that the Minister is not a safe, sane, or responsible person to administer the business of the Dominion, as one of his Majesty's Ministers of the Crown."

He declared that Sir Sam's failure to correctly present the facts in the House and before the Commission was inexcusable.

ARTILLERY ATTACK ON GERMAN POSITIONS IS CONTINUED VIGOROUSLY

British Guns Search Out Enemy Trenches and Do Great Damage—Germans Retaliate by Bombarding Canadian Positions — French Make Gain in Champagne

By Canadian Press.

PETROGRAD, June 29, via London, 5:08 p.m.—Russian troops fighting in Volhynia and Galicia yesterday took prisoner 221 officers and 10,285 men, says the official statement issued today by the Russian War Office.

Special Star Cable by United Press.

PARIS, June 29.—French troops took the offensive in the Champagne region last night and after cleaning out German first-line trenches west of LeMesnil, penetrated the enemy's second line, blowing up several shelters, the War Office announced today.

Special Star Cable by United Press.

ATHENS, June 28.—The Bucharest Cabinet has taken very serious decisions provoked by Bulgaria's closing of the frontier and continual concentration of troops on the Roumanian confines. The military chiefs participated in the Cabinet's deliberations.

BRITISH CONTINUE BOMBARDMENT

By Canadian Press.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Wednesday, June 28, via London, June 29, 12:30 p.m.—Unusually heavy artillery firing, with numbers of trench raids, have continued all along the British front during the last twenty-four hours. Here and there were intense outbursts from artillery concentrations on both sides.

The British used both gas and smoke to cover their trench raids. In the Ypres salient were found the bodies of Germans killed by gas in their trench. The Germans retaliated by bombardment of the Canadian positions at Observatory Ridge and Sorrel Hill.

The ease with which raiding parties, under cover of bombardment, can rush a trench of the enemy, inflict losses and bring back prisoners is such that it has become systematic nightly business along the whole front in the last few days, on a scale not attempted before.

REVIEW OF THE WAR ARENA

Special Star Cable by Ed. L. Keen, of the United Press.

LONDON, June 29.—Rome despatches today, reporting the maiden speech of the new Italian Prime Minister, Paolo Boselli, before the Chamber of Deputies, emphasized the determination of the Allies to wage an offensive war from now on.

Suggesting great significance in the present Italian offensive, Premier Boselli said amid cheers:

"Italy intends to continue the same policy pursued by her Allies. We intend from now on to intensify the war until the final and decisive victory."

On practically every front except Verdun and a small sector in Volhynia, Allied armies are now on the offensive. The British War Office gives few details of activities along the line from La Bassee to the Somme, but despatches from British correspondents at the front report no interruption in the systematic bombardment of German trenches.

"The object of this artillery fire is a simple and terrible one," reported the correspondents at the front of the Chronicle. "It is to kill Germans in large numbers and save British man power as far as possible. The zone of shell fire has been very wide and far-reaching, and a large number of important positions have been searched by high explosives and shrapnel."

The French official statement today announced that French troops were on the offensive last night in the Champagne, penetrating German second line trenches, and that strong German attacks around Verdun were repulsed.

On the eastern front, the momentum of the Russian drive has been checked in the past three days. The Carpathians are proving an obstacle to rapid progress on the Bukowina front, and the necessity for a redistribution of Russian troops probably has further delayed the Russian advance.

FRENCH SUCCEED IN CHAMPAGNE

By Canadian Press.

PARIS, June 29, 12:30 p.m. After a violent bombardment which lasted the entire day the Germans attacked the French positions northwest of Thiaumont, in the Verdun sector, but were repulsed with heavy losses, according to an official statement issued by the War Office today. The French machine gun and curtain fire is declared to have devastated the attackers.

The text of the French official statement follows:

"In the Champagne district, in the vicinity of Tahure and at a point to the west of Butte de Mesnil, a successful surprise attack made it possible for us to clean up certain trenches of the enemy's first line, and to penetrate at several places as far as the second line.

"Here we blew up a number of sheltering works. On the left bank of the river Meuse there has been artillery fighting in the sector of Hill 304, but without any infantry fighting.

"On the right bank of the river, after a violent bombardment which lasted all yesterday afternoon, the Germans, at about 8 o'clock in the evening, delivered a strong attack upon our positions to the northwest of the Thiaumont work.

Checked by our curtain of fire and the fire of our machine guns, the enemy was not able to reach our lines at any point, and they sustained great losses.

"Last night there was very spirited bombardment in the region of Chenois.

BRITISH NAVY HAS ACCOUNTED FOR 81 HUN SUBMARINES.

Special Star Cable by United Press

MONTEVIDEO, June 29. — Up to May 1, the British navy has destroyed or captured eighty-one German submarines.

This information was received here today from a source close to the British Admiralty. Nets dragged between two trawlers were the most effective weapons against the submarines.

High explosives, trailed at a great depth behind ships engaged in submarine hunting, counted for several U-boats.

Mother's Search for Soldier Son Ended by Ottawa

LONDON, Ont., June 29.—After fourteen months of constant inquiry Mrs. J. Mercer was today officially advised that her son, Pte. John Mercer, of the 48th Highlanders, was killed at Ypres.

A returning soldier brought her the first report of his death, declaring Mercer was crucified by Germans after having fought his machine gun to the last and then dashed pieces of it at the enemy. His brother Robert, of the Twelfth Battery, was killed in a field dressing station.

TWO HUNDRED CASES OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS IN N. Y.

By United Press.

NEW YORK, June 29.—More than 200 cases of infantile paralysis in Brooklyn led the department of health, co-operating with the Rockefeller Institute and scores of volunteer physicians, to start a systematic fight against the dread disease today.

Several cases have been reported in New York's crowded East Side and fears were expressed today that there might be an epidemic which would carry off thousands of babies because of the difficulty in making foreign born residents understand the necessity for isolation, hygiene and personal care of the infants.

The Board of Health has issued special instructions to mothers describing the preliminary symptoms of the disease, and urging the greatest possible care, and the immediate calling of a physician.

During the month ended May 24, immigration into the United States from Canada, by way of Detroit, increased 65 per cent., the figures being 1,609 (of whom 1,350 were Canadians) against 967 in the corresponding period in 1915.

City Holds That Absence of Law Gives Controllers the Choice—Case Taken Under Advisement—The Star's Counsel Holds City Council Rules Prevail

"I submit that, in the absence of any specific provision of the law on the point, the Court is incompetent to step in and declare that the Board of Control shall hold its meetings otherwise than it is now holding them," said City Attorney Charles Laurendeau, K.C., arguing yesterday afternoon against The Star's petition that the meetings of the Board be thrown open to the press and the public.

"I respectfully submit that the very absence of any specific provision of the law is an argument in our favor. For, the Board of Control was instituted to take over part of the work formerly done by the City Council," said Arnold Wainwright, K.C., counsel for The Star. "And the inference is that the Board is to be governed by the same rules as governed the City Council. These rules declare that the meetings must be public. And we submit that these rules apply to the Board of Control."

In the above citations is resumed the whole case upon which judgment was reserved by Mr. Justice Bruneau late yesterday afternoon. His Lordship promised that he would hand down judgment without delay.

CITY'S ARGUMENT.

City Attorney Laurendeau's argument centred principally about the point that there was no provision in the city charter compelling the Board of Control to throw its meetings open to the public.

"We, however, submit," he said, that the meetings, even under the present system, are sufficiently open to the public. Any person having a right to take cognizance of proceedings before the Board is perfectly free to see the minutes of every meeting. The members of the press have never been prevented from exercising this privilege. As a matter of fact, during the past five years, the meetings of the Board have been open to all, inasmuch as all proceedings before the meetings have been recorded and have been placed at the disposal of the citizens generally.

"In its last analysis the question is one for the electors alone to decide, and this they do on election day. As long as there is no specific provision in the law compelling the controllers to throw open their meetings to the public generally, we submit that the Board has absolute discretion in the matter of reciding just how it will hold its meetings."

ARGUES FOR PUBLICITY.

Arnold Wainwright concluded his argument in the course of the afternoon. He submitted that, theoretically, the Board of Control was obliged to hold its meetings in public.

From a viewpoint of public interest, he said, it was incumbent upon the Board to have its deliberations open to the press and public generally. As a public body, transacting public business, it owed it to itself to transact business in public. In emphasizing the necessity of public meetings of the Board of Control from the standpoint of expediency, Mr. Wainwright pointed out that the proceedings of the Board were made subject to all the provisions of the City Charter which were not inconsistent, these including the enactment that City Council meetings be held in public. Again, one of the functions of the Board was to award contracts after calling for and opening tenders, and a section of the Charter insisted that all tenders must be opened publicly.

NOT LIKE A CABINET.

Leaving the ground of an implied intention of the Legislature that the meetings should be held in public, Mr. Wainwright insisted, as his second point, upon the expediency of a body of the nature and exercising the functions of the Board of Control excluding from its meetings press and public. He pointed out that the Board of Control was not in any sense analagous to a board of directors or a committee or cabinet. It was a public body elected by and responsible to the people for the purpose of governing and administering, in certain matters, the affairs of the people of, Montreal. He contended that it was a clearly established principle of our public law that the public, whose affairs are being administered, and whose money is being expended, are entitled to be present at all meetings of their representatives and to hear and see all that goes on. This was a principle of common law established by custom, tradition and precedent.

The Imperial Parliament Mr. Wainwright took as the chief example the growth, development and final establishment of the principle of publicity as regards the meetings and deliberations of public representative bodies. Every reason that has led to the recognition of the principle of publicity as regards the proceedings of Parliament is clearly a reason for publicity and against secrecy in the case of the proceedings of the governing bodies of municipalities, the municipality being merely an image or reflection of the state, and the council, or other governing body of the municipality, exercising in its own restricted sphere functions analagous to those of Parliament.

Mr. Wainwright contended that there was no good reason for distinguishing in this connection between the meetings of the Board of Control and those of a town council and local governing bodies in general. The Board was an elective body, possessing independent functions of local government. True, it was without legislative functions, but the basis of the right of publicity lay in the fact that the bodies in question were public bodies, elected for purposes of government, general or local, and because those who are governed are interested in knowing and are entitled to know what their representatives are doing and in keeping a check over them.

MUCH REMAINS HIDDEN.

It was said by defenders of the secrecy system that the public had access to the minutes of the board, and that an inspection of these minutes would give sufficient information of what the controllers were doing. But this offer was obviously futile and useless, the minutes being a bare record of resolutions passed and votes given. An inspection of them would give no information whatever as to how the results were obtained. The ratepayers of Montreal were interested in having, and were entitled to have full information as to what actually occurred at the meetings of the controllers, and that was not possible unless the meetings were made open to the public and in particular to members of the press.

In conclusion, Mr. Wainwright insisted that in case of there being any doubt on the points raised, as to the intention of the Legislature or as to the nature of the general law covering the matter, that doubt should be resolved in favor of the issue of the order for which application was made. It was a well established rule that on any application for an interlocutory injunction the question of balance of convenience must be given serious consideration.

CARRANZA PERSISTS IN DEMAND

Makes U. S. Withdrawal Essential Factor of Settlement

BUT AMERICANS INTEND TO STAY

Situation Still Serious with No Settlement in Sight

Special to The Montreal Star by United Press.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Having eliminated all provisions for the relief of the National Guardmen's dependents, the Senate today adopted a resolution empowering the President to draft militiamen into Federal service.

Special to The Montreal Star by United Press.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The Mexican Ambassador-designate, Senor Arredondo, today announced receipt of word from the Mexican Foreign Minister, Senor Aguilar, that the American prisoners taken at Carrizal had been released and should arrive in Juarez, shortly.

MEDIATION LIKELY LATER.

Special to The Montreal Star by United Press.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Any offer of Pan-American mediation just now would be useless; in view of the absence of knowledge of Gen. Carranza's attitude toward the United States, the Bolivian Minister, Senor Calderon, was informed by Mr. Lansing today.

Mr. Lansing, however, did not throw cold water on a possible future mediation offer, and Senor Calderon indicatod that he would probably make an offer formally after official word comes from Gen. Carranza.

U. S. SCOUT BLAMES AMERICANS.

Special to The Montreal Star by United Press.

MEXICO CITY, June 29.—Complete text of the statement by Lem. A. Spillsbury, American scout for Capt. Boyd at Carrizal, on which Gen. Trevino bases his declaration that the 10th Cavalry department, started hostilities, was made public today.

The statement said 'Gen. Gomez courteously warned Capt. Boyd of orders not to permit the Americans to advance into the city and concluded:

"I consider that the fault of the fight belongs to the Americans, as Gen. Gomez was very courteous in his insistence that they must retire and frequently pointed out that he must be loyal to his superior's orders and would open fire upon them if they persisted in advances. But Capt. Boyd seemed to think that they were bluffing. He seemed to think he could force a passage."

U. S. WILL NOT WITHDRAW.

Special to The Montreal Star by United Press.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Danger of immediate hostilities between the United States and Mexico has been averted. With the release by Gen. Carranza of the American prisoners at Chihuahua, a big step has been taken in avoiding "the gravest consequences." There is yet much to be done, however.

How fully the Mexican crisis has been modified will not be known until the text of Gen. Carranza's reply to President Wilson's two recent notes reaches Washington.

The President is willing to go more than half way to meet the First Chief. There is no question, however, that the recent crisis has served to retard rather than increase any hope, Gen. Carranza may have had for an immediate withdrawal of the American forces from Mexico. This will not be done under any circumstances at this time.

Carranza Insists Upon U.S. Withdrawal

Special to The Montreal Star by United Press.

MEXICO CITY, via Galveston, Tex., June 29.—The principal feature of Gen. Carranza's next note to the United States will be a repeated and insistent demand for the retirement of the American troops from Mexican soil. Upon this point he will be inflexible.

Gen. Carranza's reply to the American note threatening "grave consequences" if the American forces are attacked and reciting alleged Mexican outrages, will allege that several of President Wilson's statements are based on unauthenticated rumors.

The reply itself has not been completed, but Gen. Carranza himself indicated something of its character in an address to a group of students.

"The American note, purporting to be an answer to the Mexican note, is in reality not an answer at all, but a series of charges," he said.

"A reply is being prepared, rectifying these statements. The American note and the reply will be given to the public here as soon as possible."

Referring later on it in his address to the possibilities of armed conflict, Gen. Carranza said: "Mexico is the guardian of this race. We must defend not only the sovereignty of this country, but of all Latin-American countries."

GOMPERS APPEALS TO CARRANZA.

Special to The Montreal Star.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—American Federation of Labor leaders continued with renewed vigor today their campaign to avert war between the United States and Mexico. In addition to appeals to the two Governments, the Federation is dealing directly with representatives of Mexican labor organizations, now in Washington.

Efforts of the Federation are now credited by officials here as having been influential in inducing Gen. Carranza to order American soldier prisoners released.

Samuel Gompers today made public the following telegram which he despatched to Carranza yesterday:

Population of Canada 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 in 3 years after the war

LORD BURNHAM URGES PREPARATION AND CLOSER IMPERIAL CO-OPERATION

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star:

Sir,—Believe me, we very much appreciate the splendid spirit of Imperial patriotism that has been shown in Canada in pursuing the hard, cruel course of this war, so as to ensure the prevalence of our British principles, freedom and humanity, by the triumph of our cause. Nothing could be more effective than the advocacy and support of The Montreal Star and other organs of public opinion in Canada in elucidating and voicing these general sentiments; and because of my sincere appreciation of what has been done by the press of Canada during this crisis in the world's history, I gladly send you a few pages, written in much stress of work, for your use if you think them worthy of publication.

Speaking at the London School of Economics at the end of February, Mr. Bonar Law said: "Whatever the subject might be, we are all inclined automatically to think of it in connection, not with the United Kingdom only, but the Empire as a whole." This is well and opportunely said. In his suggestive essays on the development of the British Empire, Mr. George Peel goes far to prove that Professor Seeley's famous epigram about the British Empire having been built up "in a fit of absence of mind," is only half a truth, even if so much as half. From the days of the earliest plantations in America there were always far-seeing minds, which pierced the darkness of the future and foresaw that in building up her Empire overseas, Great Britain was "pegging out claims for posterity" that would exceed the Mother Country, as the centuries went by, not less in wealth and might than in area and amenity. But these minds were rare and isolated. For the most part the rulers of this country have never wished to deal with an Imperial problem of trade or government, until its difficulties have been forced upon them by some urgent claim or dangerous outburst. Their imagination has generally been bounded by narrow channels, and they have trusted to what has been called "the practical common-sense of the people."

LORD BURNHAM.
Proprietor of the London Daily Telegraph.

"Practical" it certainly has not been, for practical means business-like and the secret of successful and triumphant business is to "live ahead of yourself," to use Meredith's phrase. To wait upon chance is to deserve failure, if not to encounter it. Just as this war is the most earth-shaking of all the wars in history, so its consequences—what the doctors call its "sequelae"—will count for more than any of the forces that can mould and re-mould human destiny, and it will show a terrible lack of purpose and preparation if no plans are drawn and considered for the development of the world-fabric of the British Dominions.

Mere theoretical essays and fancies light as air are of no use; but experience and caution must be illumined by imagination and inspired by enthusiasm. The spirit of the old Downing Street—that bogey-man of colonial statesmen—must be for ever exorcised from the counsels of Empire. In the future there can be no high table for British Ministers; the lot and scot must be shared in common. The days of patronage on the one hand and sufferance on the other are gone forever. It is not only that nothing be done without common consent, but that nothing can be done without common desire. Whatever may be the call for digging up and strengthening the political foundations, it is the commercial question that will crowd upon us first and most clamant. Before the war enters upon its concluding phase, all over the Empire the capitalist and the workman, the merchant and the manufacturer, will be asking what is to be done to shut out enemy trade, so as to prevent the Central Empires regaining their grip upon what have been variously called the "key industries," and by Mr. McKenna, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, the "master trades." The examples given have been so numerous and striking that it is unnecessary to catalogue them here. At home there stand out dyes and glass; overseas, base metals and chemicals. The key industries are, of course, the key of the commercial position.

The Imperial Trade Congress, of which notice has just been given at the meeting of the Chambers of Commerce in London, to be brought together in Canada, will surely lay down the lines upon which these can be framed and brought to fruition. For this, however, the full concurrence and the vital co-operation of every part of the Commonwealth must be carefully secured. Whatever else be done, we must, so far as is possible—and with that blessed word "co-ordination" it is possible—make the British Empire self-supporting and self-sufficient in all the necessities of Imperial ways and means. It depends wholly and solely upon the organizing power to use the resources, which every variety of soil and climate place at our disposal, within the area of the Empire. Not only the nature power, but the man power of the whole must be wisely directed and to some extent distributed, considering the Empire as the integral unit. Nothing is more lamentable in past history than the successive failures of the many schemes of state aided emigration that have been attempted. What has been voluntary and spontaneous in the settlement of the outer parts has succeeded well enough, and the colonial system; with all its anomalies, is the living proof of British achievement in basing world power upon rampant individualism. The Imperial Parliament abandoned its policy of subsidizing colonization in the middle of last century, and at no time were the grants of large amount or wisely disbursed. Later on special experiments, like the Crofter settlements in Canada, showed how little, even in the eighties, we had learnt how to avoid the pitfalls of official credulity and cast iron methods. State-aided emigration has failed where it has been directed from home and has looked backwards instead of forwards; but State directed emigration, working through voluntary agencies and by expert advice, has often turned out well. Without the knowledge, born of multiform experience, there will be a general breakdown and confusion in the crowded competition to take advantage of the opportunities that present themselves after the war in the New World under the old Flag. The heroes of this war will want to make good in peace, as they all have made good in war, and the city life of Great Britain will be all too small for their adventurous spirit. Home colonies will turn out, as they always have turned out, a snare and a delusion, for the exhausted soil of the Old Country can only be kept up to its average of fertility by a bounteous shower of artificial fertilisers, which in their turn require the expenditure of a large capital for a small return. It is overseas that the men of the new armies will want to go, so soon as the home coming is over and done. To prepare for that, those in authority at home and overseas should make plans and preparations, calling into council the leaders of the transport world by sea and land. Those who are in charge of the emigration offices in London—the directors and their correspondents—should be called upon for the fullest aid and effort in "intelligent anticipation of events before they occur"—to use Lord Curzon's phrase. They should work together, by co-operation instead of in competition, and the end in view should be the best distribution possible of the man-power of the Empire, as it has been trained and tested, refined as by fire into purest gold. To keep our aims high and our methods straight we must bear in mind the larger vision of an Empire that is at Unity in itself and that knows no purpose but the common weal—the Empire that is fighting now for a common faith and a common ideal.

BURNHAM.

TWO REBUKES FOR BOARD OF CONTROL FROM ALDERMEN

Two strong rebukes for the Board of Control were decided upon at the Aldermen's caucus this morning, and will be voted at the Council meeting this afternoon.

The first one regards the report of the Board asking the Council to join hands in serving notice on employes that their services will not be required after December 31 next. The concurrence of the Council is a necessity for six of the staff, Chief Attorney Laurendeau, City Treasurer Arnoldi, and Finance Comptroller Pelletier (these three being under the joint jurisdiction of both bodies), City Clerk David and his two assistants, Messrs. Bauset and Crepeau, who are under the sole jurisdiction of the Council.

On the suggestion of Ald. Lariviere, leader of the Council, it was agreed to return the report to the Board with a gentle hint that the aldermen are not lacking in courtesy, as are members of the board, and adding that such high-handed treatment is entirely disapproved of by the Council.

The second rebuke regards the aqueduct. The special committee appointed on May 17, 1915, to make a special study of all questions pertaining to the aqueduct made a report to the council that they have carefully considered the reason given by the engineers in support of their request for the appointment of a commission of competent engineers to inquire into the cost and the necessity of the proposed improvement to the aqueduct, and "your committee is of opinion that the members of the Association of Canadian Civil Engineers should be given an opportunity of looking into plans and designs of the works now being carried out in connection with enlarging the aqueduct and erecting a hydro-electric power-house, provided, however, that the city be not called upon to make any disbursement or to pay any fees in this connection, the Society being actuated in the matter solely by public spirit and having no pecuniary interest in view."

The Aldermen, therefore, recommend that the Board of Control be requested to invite the members of the Society to look into plans, designs, specifications and details of the works.

The report was concurred in by the caucus, and will be adopted this afternoon. In one way it is a disapproval of the vote given last Thursday by the Council, but the aldermen do not see it in that light. They claim that without suspending the work, they want all the information available and that they are entitled to hear from both sides, as the city engineers seem to be alone against the rest of the world.

BRITISH BOMBARD GERMAN LINES TO NOTABLE EFFECT

Tremendous Artillery Attack Does Great Damage to Huns' Defences

BRITISH MAN-POWER IS BEING SAVED

French Made Gains at Hill 321 and Near Thiaumont

LONDON, June 29. Under date "With the British armies in the field, June 29, a despatch to the London Daily Chronicle says:

"The steady shelling of the German line along the whole length of the front from Ypres to the Somme still continues, and, beyond doubt, the work of the guns is inflicting severe damage upon the Germans. Apart from numerous raids, in which the British troops have penetrated trenches and brought back prisoners, the object of this artillery fire is a simple and terrible one.

"It is to kill Germans in large numbers, and save British man-power as much as possible. It is to destroy German batteries, break up defensive works, and blow up ammunition stores behind the lines, bring down observation balloons, reach the Germans in and beyond their communication trenches in their billets and rest camps, on their railways and generally to cause destruction to the German offensive powers over a wide area.

BRITISH GUNS SUCCESSFUL.

"I know from various sources the British gunners have been successful in many of these objects. At various points of the line from Neuville-St. Vaast southward to the Somme, British batteries carried out a concentrated bombardment with great effect. The eyes which look down from kite balloons have been blinded, and batteries have been silenced.

"The zone of shell fire has been very wide and far-reaching, and a large number of important positions have been searched by high explosives and shrapnel. Without moving a man the British have 'strafed,' the Germans severely. All that I know from information received in northern as well as southern sectors of the front.

GREAT DAMAGE TO HUNS.

"From personal observation I know that the work of the British guns has been very destructive. Today I went to a part of the line not far from Albert. The German lines stretched out before me clearly marked by well known woods and landmarks from Thiepval to La Boiselle and away to Fricourt.

"'I am glad I'm not in Thiepval,' said an officer by my side. We were looking across to the woods. There shells were bursting above them continuously, with white clouds for shrapnel and black clouds for high explosives. In less than half an hour I reckoned five hundred shells have fallen over Thiepval.

"But that was only one place. Along the whole German line shells were bursting. La Boiselle was being slashed with fire. Above Fricourt there was a continued flash of bursting shell through the smoke which shrouded it. The German reply was feeble. Only a few shells answered the British batteries. It was a day out for the British artillery, and it was doing great damage to the German lines. Infantry on both sides were invisible."

HIGHLANDERS' LIGHT RAID.

The War Office communication issued tonight says:

"During last night there were raids and patrols entered enemy trenches at several points, bombing the enemy and inflicting casualties. Near Angres one of our raiding parties found the enemy trenches badly damaged by shell fire. The enemy apparently had suffered from gas we had successfully discharged from our trenches.

"A particularly successful raid was carried out by the Highland Light Infantry near the Vermelles-La Bassee road, when forty-six prisoners and two trench mortars were captured and two enemy mine shafts were destroyed with the loss of only two men.

"Today the enemy exploded a small mine near Neuve-Chapelle and another near Hulluch, but excepting slight damage to one of our saps they achieved no other result. We successfully exploded two mines southward of the Bethune-La Bassee Canal. Bad weather yesterday prevented much flying."

FRENCH GAIN AT HILL 321.

PARIS, June 29. The official communication issued last night by the War Office reads:

"In Champagne, after intense artillery preparation, the Germans succeeded in penetrating some of our small posts in the direction of the Tahure salient. They were driven out soon afterwards by counter-attacks.

"On the left bank of the Meuse the bombardment continued with big shells in the sectors of Avocourt and Chattancourt. Preparations for an attack reported going on in the German trenches east of Hill 304 miscarried under our artillery fire.

"On the right bank we made some progress with the grenade north of Hill 321 and in the neighborhood of the Thiaumont work.

"The Belgian communication 'Quiet prevailed.'"

RUSSIANS DRIVE BACK HUNS.

PETROGRAD, June 28, via London, June 29. The following official communication was issued today:

"Southeast of Riga the enemy Tuesday night opened an offensive on the Pulkarn sector with considerable forces, having previously directed salvos of grains and clouds of gas against our positions. Thanks to the opportune arrival of reinforcements and the concentration of our artillery we threw back the Germans with heavy losses.

"On the Dvina and in the region of Jacobstadt there has been artillery and infantry fire. Enemy aeroplanes make frequent raids over our lines, dropping bombs. During a bombardment of Dvinsk Tuesday the Germans dropped sixty-eight bombs with insignificant effect. Two tanks of petrol were set on fire.

"We repulsed by gunfire an attack south of Krevo. On the remainder of the front as far as the Rakitno marshes there have been artillery duels. Monday evening the enemy attacked us near Linewka, on the Stokhod, but was repulsed. In this district the enemy continues to maintain a violent artillery fire.

"In an attempt to halt our advance in Bukowina the enemy is using every possible means to prevent us from constructing bridges and is destroying bridges already built, but our engineers are surmounting all obstacles and successfully accomplishing their task.

"Caucasus front—South of Lake Urumiah we pushed back the Turks from the region of Bann toward the Turco-Persian frontier. In the direction of Baghdad we have defeated the Turks, driving them toward the fortified region of Kalaystrahine.

VIENNA CLAIMS SUCCESS.

LONDON, June 29.—Successes for the Austrians against the Russians near Kuty, in Bukowina, and by the Germans over the Russians in Volhynia are recorded in the Austrian official communication received here last night.

The communication says:

"We have repulsed further Russian attacks near Kuty.

"The Germans are storming the Aka-Linewka line and other positions west of Sokul (Volhynia)).

"On the Italian front we captured 540 prisoners Monday in repulsing attacks between the Etch and Brenta rivers, and on the Pasubio front."

DRAMATIC APPEAL BY KELLY MARKS WINNIPEG TRIAL

Aged Prisoner Allowed Considerable Latitude in Impassionate Address

Special to The Montreal Star.

WINNIPEG, June 29.—An unprecedented and intensely dramatic scene marked the closing hours of the case in which Thomas Kelly is being tried on the charge of looting the Provincial Treasury of $1,500,000 in connection with former Ministers of the Roblin Government on the Parliament Buildings contract.

Following weeks of sensational revelations during which the prisoner has refused to participate in the proceedings, the evidence was all in and R. A. Bonnar, for the Crown, had concluded an impassioned appeal to the jury.

Judge Prendergast turned to the aged defendant and asked if he desired to say anything before he charged the jury. The crowd suddenly relapsed into silence as the tall contractor rose, stepped over vigorously in front of the jury and faced the Court, remarking:

"I should say I have got something to say to this jury, and it's going to take me about four hours to say it."

Pushing his long hair back from his forehead, the prisoner leaned over the railing surrounding the jury and delivered an address that is probably unique in the history of Canadian judicial procedure.

COURT REFUSES TO INTERFERE.

Thos. Kelly is not accustomed to public speaking, but his earnestness, his striking figure and his position constituted a situation of moving appeal. He read documents, snatched bits of paper from the table which had been placed as exhibits by the Crown, and was at times leaning half-way over into the jury box, his eyes aflame and his index finger pointing first to one juror and then another.

Repeatedly the Crown counsel urged the Court to interfere, and as regularly the Judge shook his head.

After one particularly violent outburst a representative of the Crown leaped to his feet and demanded that the Court curb the prisoner. Kelly turned on the counsel and challenged his statements.

"You know I am telling you the truth; don't you dare deny it," he exclaimed, vigorously pounding the table in front of the lawyer. The prisoner had in his excitement turned his back on the Court.

The Crown counsel suggested that he address the Court.

"I am fighting for my liberty, for British justice, which is being denied me, and I propose to stand on my rights," the accused ripped out as the Court interfered in what promised to be a personal altercation.

DENOUNCES CROWN COUNSEL.

The prisoner subsided, and Mr. Justice Prendergast remarked that he wanted to be fair, and that the situation was a peculiarly difficult one.

"I will permit Mr. Kelly to continue but I will instruct the jury as to the weight to be attached to his specific statements," concluded the Court.

Continuing, Kelly said with peculiarly dramatic emphasis, waving his hand toward the new Parliament Buildings, which could be seen through the window, "I have worked thirty-five years here in Winnipeg for that. It is all I have, it was to be my one great triumph as builder, a monument to me and my sons. Can you blame me if I feel deeply about this situation?" and the prisoner's lips trembled and he wiped his eyes as if about to break down.

Then he flared up even more savagely than before and continued his spirited address until the Court, observing the intense excitement under which the accused man was laboring, ordered an adjournment, and assured the speaker he might continue his address today. Kelly smiled grimly and sat down by his guard. As Court was adjourned Kelly and his two sons approached the Crown Counsel and denounced the two lawyers in passionate language, declaring them unfair and outrageous in their treatment of the prisoner.

As Kelly passed out en route to his cell his hand was grasped repeatedly by old friends who lingered to congratulate him.

HOME RULE STILL PIVOT UPON WHICH THE CRISIS TURNS

Unionists in House of Lords May Kill Lloyd George Scheme

NEED OF BRITAIN'S MORAL SUPPORT NOW

Deep Regret Expressed by Papers Generally at the Situation

LONDON, June 29.—Whitehall and Westminster were scenes of great political activity and of many Cabinet and other discussions yesterday. Westminster, particularly, was a hotbed of rumors, among which the most important was that Lord Robert Cecil might join Lord Lansdowne and Walter Long should the two last named follow the example of Lord Selborne in resigning because of a disagreement with the Irish settlement negotiations.

With almost the single exception of the Morning Post, all English papers express the deepest regret at the new Irish crisis. Even two such usually opposed organs as the Daily Mail and the Daily Chronicle on this occasion take practically a similar view that seeing Lloyd George's proposals had been accepted by both parties, Unionist and Nationalist alike in Ulster, their withdrawal would wreck the entire credit of British statesmanship for many a long day, not only in Ireland but to a serious extent in the Dominions.

The rumors about Lord Robert Cecil are not generally credited any more than was the statement printed in an evening paper that Lord Lansdowne and Mr. Long had already handed in their resignations.

It was noticed that Lord Crewe, speaking in the Lords yesterday for the Government members present, included Lord Lansdowne in his designating gesture.

LORDS HOLD UPPER HAND.

The anxiety which the situation has credited is nevertheless most intense. It is not only a crisis which will provoke Ireland by the collapse of the negotiations, which is feared, but there exists also deep apprehension of the imminence of a clash over English domestic politics.

The outlook as viewed by those who forsee the untoward developments is briefly this: That should Lord Lansdowne and Mr. Long resign, the Unionist House of Lords would probably take the bit in its teeth and refuse to agree to any settlement of the Irish question that might be arrived at.

The consent of both Houses would, of course, be required for legislation necessary to carry the Irish settlement into effect. The Coalition Government would carry such legislation in the Commons, but would possess no control over the House of Lords, particularly if opposed by men like Lord Lansdowne and Lord Midleton, and with a potent personality like Lord Robert Cecil signifying his disapproval of the Government's Irish policy by his resignation.

COULD BRING ABOUT ELECTION

The "backwoodsmen" of the Lords, who came into the open in the struggle of 1909 between the Upper and Lower Houses, and who are amenable to no influence which the Coalition Government could exercise, would once again be masters of the situation, and the House of Lords, by refusing assent to any Bill embodying in legislative form the term of the Irish settlement would precipitate a general election.

As has been said, those apprehensions exist. Hopes, nevertheless, are cherished that they will be proved unjustified by events. As the Star says:

"It would be a national calamity if the Unionist party were to split over the Ulster settlement. It would be unfair to Redmond and the Irish party, unfair to Carson and the Ulster covenanters, unfair to the Allies, unfair to the Empire."

It is pointed out in view of the possibility that some such action by the Lords as has been foreshadowed would precipitate a conflict between democracy and aristocracy, that the trades unions agreed that munition workers would not be allowed to strike and would be subjected to penalties if they subordinated national interests to sectional grievances, and they have a right to expect the same spirit of patriotic self-sacrifice from Unionist statesmen.

"The spectacle of men like Lord Selborne, Lord Lansdowne, Walter Long, or Lord Robert Cecil downing tools because a minority of wealthy Unionists in Leinster, Munster and Connaught object to the Ulster settlement would provoke odious comparisons between the public spirit of labor and the public spirit of the Unionist leaders," the Star says.

NEED BRITAIN'S MORAL SUPPORT.

Another point which is clearly brought out is that in order to carry their task in Ireland to complete success both Sir Edward Carson and Redmond ned all the moral support Great Britain can give.

A Dublin despatch to the Manchester Guardian throws a white light on the difficulties that still remain to be overcome in Ireland. The general Nationalist convention has yet to approve the Lloyd George proposals, for last Friday's Belfast convention only represented the Nationalists for six Ulster counties.

"Though Mr. Redmond," says the Guardian's correspondent, "is likely to carry a Nationalist convention with even a larger majority than Ulster has given, there are still some difficulties which may be too easily minimized. To those who know how grievously the general body of Nationalist sentiment has been alienated from the newly British sympathy by measures taken to suppress the rebellion and by the continuance of martial law, Friday's decision gave profound relief."

Questions of great practical difficulty are bound to arise when it comes to working out the details of the exclusion of Ulster and the attitude of the Ulster press is regarded as an indication that some of Sir Edward Carson's supporters merely gave formal assent to the proposals in order to avoid the odium of rejecting them.

With the southern Unionists, who mix freely with their Catholic neighbors, and who always have been reckoned milder than the Northern Orangemen, following the lead of Lord Selborne, the Ulster extremists would probably be brought into open opposition to Sir Edward Carson, whose strenuous and whole-hearted work for an early settlement is recognized by his erstwhile bitterest foes.

PRIVATES TAKE MANY TROUBLES TO AN OFFICER

British Soldier Praises Canadians—Little Incident Shows Reliance of Men Upon Those Who Help Them with Little Worries and Play Rol eof Margaret Currie

SHORNCLIFFE, June 7.—I saw a new battalion come in today. As the train pulled into the station cheers sounded from every compartment. It was the Eighty-Umph from the West and as the companies detrained and formed up it was splendid to see the stalwart men fall in smartly, shoulder their kit-bags and march off to their camp. Some of them were a bit unsteady. Several hours in the train, ten men crowded into each compartment had not done a great deal to put them on their landiegs after a week on the rolling deck of the troop-ship. But for all that they swung along at a magnificent pace, glancing about at the rich country-side, at the quaint cottages and murmuring high commendations anent the road, smooth and springy, which lay under their rhythmic feet.

They were splendid. They had that same air of self-reliance, of absolute confidence that marks the Canadian units. They were big and straight and their backs seemed no weight whatever on their broad backs.

A British officer stood on the platform, with a Canadian captain.

"I've heard a lot of stories of these Canadians, but, by Jove, we've got to admit that they are men," said he.

Undoubtedly they are men, fine chaps every one, but they are soldiers as well. And all sodiers are children, very small children, whose tragedies, in the eyes of the big world are mere pin-pricks. Perhaps it is, because of this that they are so liked.

WHY HE WAS LATE.

Just the other evening I was to have dinner with an officer. I know that such meetings are frowned on by all who wear brass hats, but he was a very old friend and we had chosen a very secluded restaurant. The young lieutenant was very late. Just when I had finally given him up he appeared.

After the apologies and usual formula of greeting he began to explain. It was a curious explanation, with a beginning that leapt to his younger days.

"The dad, you know, always told me, should I ever enter the army, to win the confidence of my men before all else," said he, apropos of nothing. His father had been in South Africa, and knew more than a little of the ways of officers and men.

"Well?" said I.

"That is why I was late," he replied.

There was a momentary pause. Then he went on. "I'm afraid that perhaps I have overdone it. At any rate, I know that I do not have half the time to myself the other chaps have. They can come into town five nights a week. It's not very often that I get away."

He smiled and glanced at me. "They are such children, these big men," he mused.

My mind leaped back a few weeks to the days when I lived in a hut with forty other privates. I thought of the jokes, the horse-play, the little intrigues, the petty quarrels, the fine glowing friendships of those brief days and I too smiled.

"Yes?" I said.

"They come to me with their troubles," he went on. "Such little things."

THE PRIVATE'S SOCKS.

There was another pause. He appeared to be weighing the wisdom of further confidence.

"They take these things so seriously. To tell anyone of them seems almost like betraying a confidence, or perhaps, a little like ridiculing them.

"For instance, Pte. Jones sent his laundry away with Mrs. Smith of Ashford. It comes back with a sock that does not belong to him, being much too small and green, while his were all grey. He brings his trouble to me. What redress has he? It's a very important matter to Pte. Smith. He has no fond aunts who spend their time knitting soft wool for him. He needs socks. The army issue soon wears out, as you probably know.

"Can you imagine Pte. Smith carrying that tale of woe to his foreman or his boss over in Canada before he joined the army?" he asked.

"Hardly," I answered. Then, "And is that the result?" nodding toward a small parcel, which he had brought in.

"Well," he replied apologetically, "I had to do something. I told him I would look into the matter, and it would hardly do to confess that I could not do anything. They only cost me two shillings, and I can give him a great deal of pleasure by pretending that I forced the price of the socks out of the unfortunate lady who lost his."

"Now I know why they call you Margaret Currie," said I. I also knew why his brother officers had to admit that his was the best platoon in the battalion. But I did not say this.

THE SERGEANT'S GIRL.

He blushed.

"Margaret Currie has nothing on me," he admitted. "You may not believe it, but one of the men had the sergeant parade him after we finished this afternoon to ask me if, considering the fact that he was going with a girl in Montreal, it would be all right for him to see some girl he had picked up with down in Hythe."

"You lectured him properly?"

"'In loco parentis,' as Kipling used to say. I rather fancy that Margaret herself could not have done it better. I pointed out that the girl in Canada would not expect this of him, and that he should try and live up to her ideal of him. As a matter of fact it's bad business, if the men start having little love affairs. It keeps them out late at night, and they get into all kinds of trouble."

He continued and told me of all the petty jealousies that threaten to break into open hostilities in a platoon, of the plots and counter-plots of various factions, of the petty crimes that it is the duty of the platoon commander to straighten out before they come to the ears of the company officer, of the cruelty of some men towards their slower-witted fellows.

Some platoon officers do not bother about these things. When the order "dismiss" is given they are as glad as the men to be through. They hurry away and are as inaccessible as a railway magnate. These officers are unpopular. They may buy beer and may shower cigarettes about, but they can never be one with the men, by reason of these obvious bids for popularity. The man who gives his own time, when he might be down town enjoying himself, is the man who will be followed over the parapet in France. It means a big sacrifice, but it is worth it.

For they are children in many ways. Perhaps it is because they are in a strange land, far from familiar faces and known customs that they seem so lacking in self-reliance in these thongs. Over home there was always someone, though. At one time it was father, or mother. Then it may have become the boss, or perhaps a girl, or maybe the local secretary of their union. There was always someone. Here, if he seeks it, these responsibilities and rich wonderful confidences may come to the officer. If he does not look for it, if he dodges, the sergeant or the corporal may be the repository. But whoever it is, him they will follow faithfully, blindly into No Man's Land, into the ultimate darkness.

Monument to Hun Kultur to Remain Long Unrepaired

PARIS, June 29.—Rheims Cathedral will not be repaired for several years after war closes, according to the plans of the French Government as outlined by the Petit Journal.

This decision has been reached in order that Frenchmen and foreigners may have an opportunity to see how the cathedral has suffered from German gunfire.

The famous structure is reported to be suffering serious deterioration from wind and weather. The Administration of Fine Arts had decided to erect a temporary shelter about the edifice and reconstruct the roof, but these plans have been abandoned in deference to the wishes of the Government.

PREMIER TISZA SAYS RUSSIAN PROGRESS ENDED

By Canadian Press.

BUDAPEST, via London, June 29.—Premier Tisza, speaking in the Lower House, assured the members that the Russian offensive has been arrested, and that there is no danger of the enemy over-running Transylvania. The Premier frankly admitted the loss of important places in Bukowina, but praised the manner in which the Austrian retreat was conducted, and asserted that the tide of battle was now shifting in favor of the Teutons.

"At the last sitting," said the Premier, "I said measures had been adopted to meet the Russian offensive, which would soon make themselves perceptable, and that the unfavorable events which had taken place, were only a passing episode. My hope has been realized to its fullest on the Volhynian battlefields. The reinforcements which our German ally swiftly sent to the endangered points proved effective.

CONTINUE TO RETREAT.

"Today our offensive is progressing and we have re-conquered an important portion of the ground occupied by the Russians. In Bukowina the change has not been effected so quickly. Owing to the superior strength of the enemy our army has been obliged to continue its retreat. This unfortunately has caused some important positions in Bukowina to fall into the hands of the enemy, but the retreat has been carried out in complete order.

"Our army is now in new and stronger positions. It is wholly intact, is resisting the enemy and is fully able to fight. Therefore during the last three or four days the Russian offensive has halted and we have repulsed enemy attacks with heavy losses. Today in Volhynia our counter-offensive is progressing and in Bukowina and southern Galicia the enemy's advance has been arrested. On the latter front the strength of the forces engaged is shifting in our favor."

Replying to a question regarding the safety of Transylvania, Premier Tisza declared that the Austrian army was ready to give battle in a strong position, and would have the advantage of numbers.

Questioned about the Austrian losses the Premier said that he could assert, with justice, that, in all probability, the losses of the enemy greatly exceeded those of the Austrians.

TRIBUTE TO WORK DUCHESS HAS DONE IN THE DOMINION

OTTAWA, June 29.—Commenting on the expressed wish of the Duchess of Connaught that the women of Canada, under the present circumstances of the war, should not implement their desire to make a fare well presentation to Her Royal Highness, the following statement was issued from the Premier's office.

"While in one sense partaking of the nature of a disappointment, the women of Canada will not fail to recognize in this farewell message a fresh illustration of that gracious and kindly consideration which has endeared Her Royal Highness to all classes of the community. True at all times, this attitude of Her Royal Highness has been especially manifest since the outbreak of the war.

"It is not too much to say that during the past two years Her Royal Highness, by precept and example, by her untiring energy and zeal, by wise advice and counsel, by the complete disregard she has shown in her exalted station of her own comfort and convenience, has proved herself an inspiration to all those who, animated by a desire to do their duty in this great crisis of our country's fate, lacked, at the outset, that practical knowledge and experience necessary to the effective co-ordination of their efforts.

"Her Royal Highness has judged right in that she needs no material token of those feelings of respectful and affectionate regard which she will take from our shores, where her name will long be cherished in the hearts of those who, in various ways, have benefited by her gracious presence amongst us; who view her departure with unfeigned regret, and who cordially unite in wishing Her Royal Highness a safe return to her home, and many years to come of health, prosperity and happiness."

HUN VICTORY IN AIR CONFLICT BERLIN REPORTS

By Canadian Press.

BERLIN, June 28, via London. —An official statement issued here today reports two aerial engagements at the western entrance of Riga Bay, in which the German aviators had the advantage, the statement asserts.

In one case a German naval plane fought five Russian aeroplanes, and brought down one, the report says. The other fight was between five Russian and five German aeroplanes, in which two Russian machines were brought down, badly damaged, according to the report. One German plane, because of damage to its propellor, dropped and sank, but its crew was rescued.

The remainder of the German craft returned undamaged.

ITALY STANDING FIRM IN RESOLVE TO FIGHT TO END

By Canadian Press.

ROME, June 28, via Paris, June 29. —Premier Boselli today asked the Chamber of Deputies to vote provisional credits until December 31.

Signor Boselli in his address said that the aim of the Cabinet was chiefly to bring a happy issue to a great enterprise which would give the nations the rights of civilization.

"To this objection," said the Premier, "we shall continue daily to work with our Allies until there is a definite triumph, resolutely following the same foreign policy which several times has been approved by a large majority of the Parliament and the country.

"We shall work strenuously to strengthen and co-ordinate the military operations on the various European fronts. We have a perfect understanding with our Allies with regard to their action for economic defence against our enemies."

Signor Boselli made a strong appeal for national accord until the war is over. In outlining the program of the Cabinet, the Premier spoke of King Victor Emmanuel who, he said, was among his fighters, disdaining every danger and boldly renewing the traditional bravery of his house.

He ended by referring to the "nefarious deeds of the enemy," alluding to the aerial bombardment of Italian towns, notably Venice. The Premier sent greeting to the Italian soldiers and sailors, praising them for the reconquering of Italian territory.

MERE Advertising, however brilliant, could not have made Regal "the most popular shoe in the world." The cause lies deeper—Organization, Standardization, Specialization to produce custom styles at people's prices.

Regal started with one store which has multiplied to a hundred. It has been the way-blazer in shoe values and the crusader in shoe-store service.

Regal sells more shoes and better shoes at popular prices than any shoe organization in the world.

MORE MONTREAL OFFICERS ON LIST OF THE WOUNDED

Capt. G. E. Riley and Capt. S. C. Norsworthy Mentioned

OTHER NAMES ARE REPEATED AGAIN

Two montreal officers appear in the casualty lists, issued yesterday, both of them wounded, Capt. George E. Riley, who went overseas with the Reserve Depot of the Canadian Field Artillery, has a bullet through the leg, while the nature of the wounds of Capt. Stanley Counter Norsworthy, of the 42nd Highlanders, has not been stated.

CAPT. G. E. RILEY.

Capt. George E. Riley has twice been on the casualty list, having to go off duty last May, owing to injury to the drums of his ear from gun explosions. He is a well-known yachtsman, being a member of the St. Lawrence Yacht Club, at Dorval, and sailing the sloop Thorella in the Seewanaka Cup races. He is a life member of the M. A. A. A., and was educated at Tucker School. He went over to France with a howitzer brigade. He is the son of the late Capt. J. J. Riley and Mrs. Riley, of Dorval, and was secretary of the firm of Curtis and Harvey, manufacturers of explosives, before going overseas, his brother, Col. J. J. Riley, being manager of the firm. Capt. Riley was for many years an officer in the 17th Hussars and went to England for the coronation with a detachment from that unit.

CAPT. S. C. NORSWORTHY.

Capt. Stanley C. Norsworthy is a brother of Major Edward C. Norsworthy, of the 13th Battalion, who was killed in action at St. Julien in April of last year. He is the son of James C. Norsworthy, of Ingersoll, Ont., and gave up his position in the Bank of Montreal to go to the front. He was manager for the Bank at Mexico City, is 35 years of age, and unmarried. He is now in a hospital at Boulogne.

PTE. E. RONTE.

Pte. Edward Ronte, reported in the casualty list, went to the front with the first contingent, but he has escaped wounds. At present he is reported as dangerously ill with rheumatism in No. 4 General Hospital at Camieres. His mother resides at 1749 Hutchison street, and has another son in a Montreal battalion, who has been reported by private letter to have been gassed and is seriously ill, but she has not received any official notification of it, although she has had two telegrams, one reporting that Edward is seriously ill and the other that he is dangerously ill. Pte. Ronte tried to enlist in a Montreal unit, but was rejected several times and then crossed to England and joined the Army Service Corps. He was formerly employed by the Canadian Fairbanks Morse Co.

PTE. S. J. BEARDMORE.

Pte. Samuel J. Beardmore, who is reported as suffering from gunshot wounds in the shoulder, enlisted with the 23rd Westmounts, but on reaching England was drafted into the 3rd Battalion, and has seen some heavy fighting.

On one occasion he was on guard duty when a shell exploded so close to him that it threw him twelve feet in the air, and he was unconscious for some time, but was not seriously injured. At another time a bullet hit a bundle of letters he had in his tunic pocket and became imbedded in the letters. He also had a shrapnel bullet enter his pocket and pierce a box of salve he was carrying. Another bullet hit his watch and shattered its works, but did not even scratch him, and still again he had a bullet enter his clothes and bend a metallic button he had on his underclothes. He has sent what is left of his watch, and the button, and the box home to his mother as souvenirs. His brother, who was with him in the Grenadier Guards, went overseas with a Montreal unit last fall, and has also been wounded. His father is a veteran of the Egyptian and Afghanistan campaigns, serving under both Earl Roberts and Lord Wolseley, and at present employed at Lamontagne's Ltd., his residence being at 2252 Esplanade avenue.

PTE. G. MOWATT.

Pte. George Mowatt, 2290 St. Hubert street, has been wounded in the shoulder for the first time seriously after eighteen months in the trenches. # LAWN BOWLERS GET $1000 FOR RED CROSS--ODDS ON DILLON

DILLON SLIGHT FAVORITE FOR MORAN FIGHT

Promoters Expect to Take in $150,000 — Dillon Quick and Clever; Moran Big and Experienced —Both in Fine Shape

NEW YORK, June 29.—The eyes of the entire fistic world will be turned to Washington Park, Brooklyn tonight, where Frank Moran of Pittsburgh, and Jack Dillon of Indiana, will battle for a purse of $40,000 and the next chance at the heavyweight crown.

Despite the fact that he will concede thirty pounds and some six inches in height and reach to the husky Pittsburgh, Dillon the Hoosier "man killer" will clamber through the ropes a slight favorite.

Among the professional layers of odds he is regarded as a five to four bet.

The fighters finished their training in perfect condition. Dillon plans one of his rushing, tearing two handed fights, which he thinks will carry him to victory. Moran expects to beat the little "man killer" just as Willard turned the trick against Frank himself, by letting Dillon do the rushing, and wearing him down with his greater strength.

BIG AMOUNTS OF MONEY.

Weather conditions today were ideal and if they hold out the promoters expect a crowd of over 25,000, to pay $150,000 admissions to the open air arena. Moran will receive $25,000 for his share in the ten-round battle, with an option of 40 per cent of the gate receipts. Dillon will get $15,000, or 25 per cent. This is the largest purse ever offered for a non-championship bout.

Dillon will be the favorite because he has greater speed, more cleverness, a harder left, and a rushing aggressive attack which makes him one of the greatest little heavyweights of all time. Against these qualities, the auburn haired Pittsburger will display six inches advantage in height and reach, thirty pounds in weight, and the experience he has gained against the best men in the ring.

Each has a stout heart that laughs at punishment. Each is a mixer so that no battle of recent years has held so great a promise of real milling.

Moran is twenty-nine years old, while Ernest Cutler Price, Dillon's real name, is twenty-five. Their measurements compare as follows:

| Moran. | Dillon. |
|---|---|
| 202 pounds .. weight .... | 168 pounds. |
| 6 feet 4 in. height.. | 5 feet 7 1-2 ins. |
| 77 1-2 inches.... reach.... | 72 inches |
| 43 inches ..... chest ..... | 42 inches |
| 17 1-2 inches ..neck.. | 16 1-2 inches |
| 8 1-2 inches ..wrist.. | 8 1-2 inches |
| 15 1-2 inches ..biceps.. | 14 1-2 inches. |
| 36 inches ..... waist ..... | 31 inches |
| 21 inches .... thigh .... | 22 inches |
| 15 1-2 inches ... calf ... | 16 inches |
| 9 1-2 inches .. ankle .. | 9 1-2 inches |

ANOTHER MONTREAL SPORTSMAN ON THE CASUALTY LIST

Pte. W. Peters has been reported wounded and missing since June 2nd. He was in the Princess Pats, and his wife and three children reside in Bozel street, Point St. Charles. Pte. Peters was well known in amateur boxing circles in Montreal, and previous to enlisting was an enthusiaste soccer player and official trainer of Sons of England F. C.

JACK DILLON

A slight favorite over Moran for tonight's bout.

KILLED IN ACTION

The well known Irish International footballer, Fred C. Grant, whose name appeared in Wednesday's casualty list as killed in action, was well known in soccer circles, having played for the Royal Rovers and C. P. R. He belonged to "A" company of the Irish-Canadian Rangers and enlisted for overseas with the Irish Company of the 60th Battalion. He leaves a wife and one child. His brother lives at 485 Nicolet st.

MELVIN OF STARS TAKES WEEKLY LEAD CITY LEAGUE HITS

Melvin, the Stars' second-baseman, steps to the front this week, as the leading City League individual hitter. Two two-baggers and a single was the result of his slugging Sunday last against the Crescents.

Ray Cutter, of the champions, falls back from the leadership last week to seventh place.

The ten leading hitters are now as follows:

Melvin, Stars, .556; Morgan, Indians, .462; Gaudreau, Nationals, .444; Heffernan, Indians, .435; Thompson, Athletics, .429; Spears, Stars, .429; Cutter, Crescents, .417; Pittman, Indians, .417; Layton, Stars, .400; O. Major, Crescents, .391.

Crescents being held to four hits on Sunday last by "Lefty" Spear, of the Stars, brings the champions' hitting down to .305. While they still lead in this respect, they are but one point over Nationals, who have an average of .304. The others are: Stars, .295; Indians, .259; Nationals, .205; La Casquette, .179.

STARS LEAD IN FIELDING.

The Stars now lead in team fielding. They replace Nationals, who were on top last week, the Stars' average being .925, while that of the French club is two points lower, or .923. The others are: Crescents, .913; La Casquette, .911; Indians, .900; Athletics, .891.

The two games scheduled for July 2 at Delorimier Park are:

1:30—Indians vs. Nationals.
3:30—Athletics vs. Crescents.

BIG PROGRAM FOR VERDUN MOTOR CLUB ARRANGED

At the regular meeting of the Verdun Motor Boat Club, held Tuesday the 27th inst., it was decided to run an excursion for the band of the Verdun Methodist Church on Dominion Day. On July 8th., the Club is running a stag trip down the river, calling at Longueuil Boating Club, the Club Champetre and then going down the riven as far as Vercheres. All boats in commission and with sufficient power, are expected to take part.

The annual picnic of the club, will be held on July 26, to the far side of Nun's Island. Boats will leave the wharf at 9:00 o'clock, going up river, then down through the short channel. As there are seventy-three boats in commission at the present time, there will be lots of room for everybody, and seeing the good time that the members and their friends had at the last picnic, a record crowd is expected.

SPORTING CORRESPONDENCE

The following letter explains itself:

Montreal, June 26, 1916.

The Sporting Editor, Montreal Star.

Sir,—As a spectator of local soccer, would you please allow me a small space in your sporting column regarding the dirty play of Grand Trunks against Verdun City on Saturday last. The sending off of Watkins, and the display of Stott's temper in jumping over a four-foot barrier to fight a spectator, were alone enough to disgust the average football spectator, and this with the display of McLeish, did not improve matters. One would like to ask Referee Moore, why was Stott allowed to come back on the field, after leaving it without the referee's permission? This alone is a serious offence. Grand Trunks would do well to take a lesson off their backs, Payne and Harris, as to clean play and cool temper. One would almost look to such a team as Grand Trunks to set a good example to the Verdun team, but this was certainly not the case on Saturday.

A DISGUSTED SPECTATOR.

ATHLETICS SECURE PITCHER DAVIDSON

Manager Billy Innes, of the Athletics of the City Baseball League, has secured pitcher Tom Davidson, who last year twirled with much success for St. Johnsbury, Vt., and Barre, Vt.

Davidson is a right handen and has been in Toronto this season where he won nine out of ten games in the Toronto City League.

He has just been transferred by his firm to this city, and will make his first appearance July 2, at Delorimier Park against the Crescents. With Davidson and "Big Jim" Moffat for mound duty the Athletics will be exceptionally strong in this department.

TEAMS CLOSELY BUNCHED IN BIG LEAGUE CANTER

Special to The Montreal Star.

NEW YORK, June 29.—With the major league clubs swinging down toward mid-season and many double headers, the matter of picking the pennant winners is simple. That is, the bunting will go to the clubs winning the most games.

In the American, with all of the clubs except Philadelphia past the sixty game mark, the race is one of the closest in years. The Chicago White Sox in sixth place being but three and one-half games behind the new leaders—the Yankees. Cleveland, which has thus far pooh-poohed the celebrated strain under which it was slated to crack is still there a million even, though the rough housing the Sox gave 'em yesterday pulled them from "that place."

Detroit is commencing to show the signs that made Jennings' men a favorite in the betting on getaway day.

The Boston Red Hose aren't missing Speaker a bit—not a bit more than Tom Jones would miss $1.000 were he to donate to the Belgians in a moment of spiritual exaltation. The Athletics are the stand-bys of the dopesters, running absolutely true to form—hopelessly last.

IN THE NATIONAL.

In the National it's different, but not so much so. The Robins have a nice little margin of four and one-half games over Moran's Phillies, but the Phillies are only six games ahead of the tailenders—ten and one-half games from front to stern. In such a situation it might be said there are possibilities.

The Giants are looking toward the day when they swing onto foreign scil for there they make the Russian offensive look like so much croquet. Like politicians, the Whale-Cubs are finding the hyphen a stiff obstacle, not knowing which side to settle on. Timber is proving, if anything, that it takes more than a year to take two ball teams and mould them into one smooth running machine.

LAWN BOWLING

By a majority of 25 shots, the St. George's lawn bowlers defeated St. Lambert's in a friendly match played on the greens of both clubs last night. Three rinks played on each green, St. George's being three shots up on the South Shore greens and twenty-two shots to the good at home, being up on five out of the six rinks played.

W. Drysdale and A. E. Gallagher become holders of the Dewar challenge trophy for reversible doubles, open to members of the Outremont Lawn Bowling Club, when they defeated F. H. Dennison and A. T. Campbell by 26 to 9 shots.

The Westmount lawn bowlers play their return friendly with the members of the Ottawa Lawn Bowling Club in the Capital on Saturday afternoon. It is the intention of the Westmount Club to make up six rinks, and all players desiring to go should communicate with the secretary by tomorrow, as accommodation can be arranged for all wishing to make the trip.

A surprise was furnished in the St. Pierre Trophy lawn bowling series last night, when the Montreal West rinks, reversed the tables on the Outremont bowlers on the latter's greens by a four shot margin.

The match between Westmount and M.A.A.A. settled on the Westmount greens repeating their victory of last week, by a majority of thirty-four shots.

PUNISHED SOCCER PLAYER CREATES SOME SENSATION

It appears quite a sensation was created at the last P.Q.F.A. board meeting, when, according to report, a player after being suspended, accused an unnamed official of conduct unbecoming a gentleman.

His remarks were left unrebuked, but it is now suggested that some action should be taken in the matter.

The First Division wasted but small time last night, in getting through their business. Shamrocks are declared defunct, and all points expunged from the record. Through not sending delegates, St. Paul Rangers are running up a queer old bill in fines for the day of reckoning. Twenty minutes finished the meeting.

Lachine's notice to approach "Pep" Edwards, of Locos, the lone stray of last year's M.A.A.A. men that have not entered their fold, expired, to be precise, at 12 o'clock last night. So if any of Norman Wilson's sleuths were about at 12:05 a.m., they were at liberty to secure the clever little outside left, the only known "Yankee," not American, because we also live on this continent, plying in these parts, and they will get a good 'un.

Plans are now afoot for the Locos' team of Schenectady to play the return game with their Montreal brethren, on July 15, and what our Locos will do to them is a shame, that is, in honest intentions. By a peculiar coincidence Schenectady also have "intentions."

No fewer than six members of a recent Watsonian team have been killed in action.

Driver David Walters, another member of the Treherbert Rugby Football Club, is reported to have been killed at the front.

The relatives of Gunner Jim Evans, the Welsh Rugby Footballer, who played for the Treherbert, and was awarded the D.C.M. for conspicuous bravery a few months ago, have received official intimation of his death in action.

Lieut. C. H. Abercrombie, who went down with H. M. S. Defence in the recent naval battle, was the well-known Scottish Rugby International forward, who assisted the United Services and played altogether six times for his country. He was also a fine Service cricketer, and in 1914 appeared with considerable success for Hampshire.

COLLEGE STARS IN FOLD OF GIANTS.

NEW YORK, June 29.—College stars are swelling the ranks of the Giants these days. "Pie" Way, former football and baseball star at Yale, joined the club yesterday. Infielder Stafford, former captain of the Tufts nine, reported Monday. George Smith, star pitcher for the Columbia team, is expected to join today.

Way is a pitcher. He worked an exhibition game against the Giants last summer, and impressed Manager McGraw with his work. Way achieved wide fame on the gridiron last Fall by grabbing a fumble and running for a touchdown that won the game from Princeton.

Stafford comes with a record of extra heavy hitting with the Tufts team. He played four years with the club, and captained it during the past college season.

Smith starred on the mound for Columbia, and is highly recommended by Coach Andy Coakley and Mike Donlin, who have watched his work closely.

Sherman's Double with Bases Full Won for Birds

BALTIMORE, Md., June 29.—The Royals dropped the opening game of the series here yesterday to Jack Dunn's Birds by a score of 4 to 3. Sherman, the local hurler, won his own game when he rapped out a double in the fourth inning with the bases crowded. Both Colwell and Sherman were hit hard, but with the exception of the fourth inning, when the Birds won the game, the hits were kept well scattered.

HORSEMEN WANT TO AID RED CROSS FUND

Special to The Montreal Star.

HAMILTON, Ont., June 29.—A meeting of the Canadian Branch of the Thoroughbred Horsemen's Association was held here last night.

Close to one hundred horsemen were in attendance and many new members were enrolled. The committee elected is as follows: Messrs. H. Giddings, J. Nixon, Capt. W. J. Press, Ed. Glassco, Wm. Walker, Thos. Bird, Henry McDaniel, Pat Delaney and W. Stormont.

It was moved by James Arthur and seconded by P. M. ## Watching the Score Board

Yesterday's hero: Fred Pfeffer, Brooklyn hurler, whose single in the fifth with the bases full scored two runs and won his own game from the Braves.

The Pirates avenged themselves for the double defeat the Cubs handed them Tuesday by licking the Bruins twice in 27 innings. The second game went eighteen innings, a record for the season.

Hornsby, of the Cardinals, his safe every time he went to bat against the Reds. He got five hits.

The White Sox toppled the Indians out of first place by registering a five to one win over them.

Spectacular fielding by the Clevelanders prevented the Hose running up a larger score.

The Yanks took the lead in the American League race by beating the Athletics. Speed on the paths was responsible for New Yorkers' win. They stole nine bases.

Horses Move to King Edward Park Monday

The book of the King Edward Park Jockey Club meeting of Ile Gros Bois, July 5-12, is being distributed among horsemen, and has met with a favorable reception. Purses rule at $400—but this is not a novelty for King Edward Park, where at the 1913 meeting no purse of less than $400 was hung up, and that amount was exceeded in at least one race each day. The plant at the island has undergone a thorough overhauling, and is reported to be in good shape for racing at the present time. Parimutuel machines will be introduced at the meeting for the first time at a half-mile track, and will run in opposition to the books. The officials will be the same as last year with the addition in the judges' stand of E. C. St. Pere, of Montreal, as a steward representing the Canadian branch of the Thoroughbred Horsemens' Protective Association, and J. Sutherland, like Mr. St. Pere, a Canadian, as starting judge. Sheridan Clark will be presiding judge, and James F. Milton the starter.

Transportation arrangements for the Island will include both boat and train, special trains being arranged for over the Grand Trunk to Boucherville, where racegoers will connect with a ferry boat to the island. The usual steamer service from Maisonneuve will be in force.

NORTH END Y.M.C.A. SWIMMERS TO BATHE IN FILTERED WATER.

The North End Y.M.C.A. Athletic Department is going to be very much up-to-date in regard to its swimming bath.

Work has been started preliminary to the installation of a three-unit filter which, which will cost about eight hundred dollars, and will be able to filter the thirty thousand gallons of water used in the bath in about ten hours.

According to Physical Director W. S. McGuire, the filter will be of great assistance and saving in winter time, as with it, the desired temperature of the water in the bath will be much easier maintained.

The filter is going to be installed by the Norwood Engineering Company of Cowansville, and though not a new thing in connection with swimming baths in Montreal, will have all the latest improvements.

G. T. B. CLUB WILL HAVE ROWING SERIES

At the weekly series held last night at the G. T. B. Club the following were the results: Junior single, — 1, E. Bender; 2, H. Wilson; 3, H. Brownrigg; 4, L. Simons.

Junior hembers' single—1, H. Brownrigg; 2, L. Simons.

Intermediate single — 1, N. Brownrigg; 2, P. Hollingsworth.

Next Wednesday night it has been decided to start a new series race something different from all other series events ever held. It will be in the line of a pleasure skiff race, and, as with the other series races, competitors will hold a practice once a week for points. This race will surely appeal to many of the former active members, as well as to retired followers of this particular sport. Though rowing for some time back has almost been forgotten, it is hoped that the first race will be a big success. Robert Laing, who in former years has taken keen interest in the different aquatic sports, has offered to the winning crew a pair of oars.

The Amusement Committee wish to advise the members that the regular fortnightly hop will be held this Friday, June 30.

The St. John Baseball Club wants Saturday and Sunday games with any clubs outside the City League. Farnham, Marieville, Granby, St. Hyacinthe, and teams about Montreal are desired. Write the manager, St. John's Baseball club, Windsor Hotel, St. Johns, Que.

As a little inducement to the first player that makes a "clean" home run in the City League games, "Catta & Leo" (Joe Cattarinich and Leo Dandurand) will give a box of their special cigars.

DOMINION DAY BASE BALL GAMES WANTED

The Richmond Baseball club would like to arrange to play any club in the province of Quebec on July 1, and 2. M. McGoogan, Tel. M. 1016, 78 Cathedral.

GOOD RACING AT DELORIMIER PARK; PRICES LIBERAL

Favorites were slightly more prominent among the winners at Maisonneuve yesterday, three of the first choices living up to expectations. In the remaining five events the winners carried odds ranging from five to twelve to one.

Rip Van Winkle was the best thing of the afternoon, paying 12 to 1 and repeating his Maisonneuve performance. It was thought by many that he would not be able to repeat his mud performance on the fast track, but he was hustled to the front in the early stages of the race and from then on was never headed.

Tyro a 10 to 1 shot captured the first event, with Beach Sand second. This race provided the closest finish of the afternoon the horses coming under the wire noses apart. It is worthy of note that Beach Sand, which ran such a splendid race, is a half brother of August Belmont's Friar Rock, which although unplaced yesterday in the Brooklyn Derby, has the Brooklyn Handicap and the Surburban Handicap already to his credit this year.

The riding honors of the afternoon went to Jockey McEwen, who had three winning mounts, piloting Dromi Edmond Adams and Eddie Mott successfully under the wire. Beak rode two winners and was in the money on another occasion.

The track was the fastest of any day since the opening, and the attendance was well up to the week-day standard. Starter McGinty had less trouble at the barrier than on previous days, the starts were good and the majority of the events keenly contested.

TESREAU WILL STICK.

NEW YORK, June 29. — John McGraw's projected trade of Big Jeff Tesreau for Slim Sallee, of the Cardinals, was all off today. The reason was that yesterday Tesreau held the slugging Robins to six widely scattered hits, blanking them through as beautiful a bit of pitching as the Giant leader has seen this year. His spitter never worked so dazzlingly

FRIAR ROCK WAS UNPLACED IN BIG DERBY; CHICLE WON

NEW YORK, June 29. — H. P. Whitney's Chicle won the Brooklyn Derby at Aqueduct yesterday. He ran kindly and this tells the story of a wonderfully fast, but uncertain horse with a temper.

It also tells the story of the defeat of A. K. Macomber's Star Hawk, which ran second, as he did to George Smith in the Kentucky Derby, and the defeat also of August Belmont's Friar Rock, the first three year old to win the Brooklyn Handicap and the Suburban Handicap in the same year.

Friar Rock was unplaced but once again he gave abundant evidence of his outstanding quality. As was the case in the Brooklyn Handicap he was badly outrun in the first half mile and straightened up the back stretch six or eight lengths behind the leaders. He settled down to racing in the stretch and closed so gamely, even under 126 pounds, that he was right at the heels of Star Hawk, Churchill and Spur which finished in that order, behind the free running Chicle.

Jimmy Rowe, who trains the H. P. Whitney's horses has said more than once that Chicle is one of the fastest he had ever handled, but the son of Spearmint who was bred to go a distance, has been a disappointment with most of his races this year and for the reason it seemed that he would not always run kindly.

At the recent meeting of the Canadian Racing Associations the suspension against Steeplechase Jockey Crawford was continued. Ward and Lafferty were restored to good standing.

ACHIEVEMENT WON HAMILTON DERBY; DAMROSCH SECOND

HAMILTON, Ont., June 29—Wilfrid A. Viau's Hasting colt Achievement accounted for the Hamilton Derby yesterday when he beat a band of three-year-olds in the afternoon feature race. He was ridden by Metcalf, who trailed the pacemaker Damrosch, owned by J. K. L. Ross, for a mile, then assumed an easy lead and won going away by three lengths. The mile and a quarter was run in 2:06 2-5, good time for the track. Damrosch set a fast pace in the early stages, but the 125 pounds told on him at the end and he tired badly. Achievement will be shipped back to New York to join the remainder of the Viau horses, which are at Aqueduct.

The attendance was the largest of the meeting. Apart from the Derby the program was a good one, the added features being the Oakville Handicap, which proved an easy thing for the fast Canadian sprinter Kama, and the June Selling Handicap, which was won by Fountain Fay.

John Shields, who has been racing a string of horses at Tia Juana, was an arrival from California yesterday, and will remain for the balance of the season on the Canadian circuit.

E. G. Mines, who has a couple of two-year-olds here in charge of J. V. Sykes, is making an effort to purchase the sprinter Bringhurst.

E. J. Crawford, who is handling that consistent two-year-old Golden Bantam has turned over Paymaster and Greenwood to G. H. Marlman, who will train them himself in the future. Crawford has arranged to ship Marshon to Saratoga. In her twelve starts in Maryland and Canada this year Golden Bantam has been out of the money but twice, winning five times, second twice, and third three times. Her winnings total over $4,000

Joe Wright Will Be Retained by Pennsylvania

Special to The Montreal Star.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 29.—Joe Wright will undoubtedly be engaged to coach the Pennsylvania Crews once more. In the minds of the Quaker authorities Wright made good, and they seem to want him continued.

Wright faced a serious situation when he reached Philadelphia in January. His men had had no fall training, and he had to work with a lot of green material. He showed what he could do when his eight best the Yale Varsity, but on account of the light material the crew did not develop as expected for the four mile competition. Then, too, the heavy water at Poughkeepsie handicapped the Quakers more than it did the other college crews.

Pennsylvaniaa has much to do in every line to regain its long lost rowing prestige. The trouble with the Quakers is not their present coach. Joe Wright has a wonderful personality, and is loved by all who work under and with him. He knows rowing, and at Toronto produced nine winners in eleven races, some years ago against Coaches like Ten Eyck and Rice.

His overwhelming defeat at Poughkeepsie was particularly annoying. The trouble at the Philadelphia Institution is a lack of interest in rowing matters by the rowing authorities.

"Trooper" Mulloy Gives Address to the Local Canadian Club

FAVORS SERVICE BY WHOLE PEOPLE

Volunteer System Not a Success—French in Ontario Do Well

A very forceful appeal for a spirit of conciliation to bring about a better understanding between discordant elements in Ontario and Quebec and a condemnation of the voluntary system of military service were the outstanding features of the address delivered at the Canadian Club luncheon today by Lieutenant-Colonel Mulloy, who has been addressing recruiting meetings throughout Canada since the outbreak of the war. Colonel Mulloy served through the South African war as a private and was wounded in a skirmish during an action there.

He admitted that there were certain practical difficulties in the way of concerted military action in Canada, but believed that Government registration was necessary. The people of Ontario were asking "What about Quebec?" He hoped it would be possible for prominent men in the two provinces to meet to see if some arrangement could not be made to solve the difficulty.

During the first few months of the war the people of Ontario felt that there was much consolation in one thought at least. With France pouring out her blood in rivers for the defence of her ideals it was surely the strategical moment for French Canada which would silence forever the cavillings of her critics. Ontario thought that at last the two races would unite. Men of moderate views in Ontario could not but feel that Quebec was letting slip a golden opportunity as a French province. To them it seemed that Quebec's grievance, real or imaginary, must under present circumstances be a secondary thing. Today our soldiers were fighting for the whole nation and all Quebec's rights are staked on our ability to control our own affairs. Those who would keep alive the spirit of animosity between the two people were in the position of a wife who, upon the outbreak of a fire in the house would detain her husband to apologize for some wrong he did not know he had done her, or to demand the restitution of some right he did not know he had taken from her. Or they were like a faction in the crew of a ship in deadly peril of the rocks stopping work because they claimed a part of their rations had been withheld.

THOSE IN ONTARIO JOIN.

Colonel Mulloy pointed out that the French-Canadian in Ontario was enlisting as well if not better than those who spoke English and on behalf of those in both provinces who had offered their lives to the great cause he appealed for understanding and harmony.

Speaking on the failure of the voluntary system of enlistment to measure up to the needs of a great crisis Colonel Mulloy declared that it was not really British. Britain had always with the exception of the Crimean and South African wars, raised men by means of the compulsory military levy, including the military ballot. With one or two exceptions volunteer units were unknown in the British army until the middle of the eighteenth century. The voluntary system was not reliable, it had never stood the test of a real war and some form of compulsion was always found necessary. The primary responsibility in which all citizens' rights are in common founded is the obligation to defend the State when at war. A call for volunteers gave a legal justification to the man who would not go and is a confession to the world that the nation issuing it is not wholeheartedly committed to the struggle. It is a violation of the principles of democracy in that it does not impose the common burden equally. It imposes the maximum of industrial derangement; is prodigiously wasteful and riotously extravagant. Furthermore it produces the maximum of ineffectives since boys of sixteen and seventeen and men of fifty and sixty "adjusted their ages" to meet the requirements of enlistment. Some form of authoritative selection was necessary, "not for the purpose of drag-netting the country for men to fight, but for the purpose of conserving our wealth-producing powers and putting into the field in the most expeditious manner the most effective force compatible with this main object."

Canadian Guilty of Neutrality Law Violation in U. S.

NEW YORK, June 29.—An Associated Press despatch from Seattle, Wash., says:

Captain H. J. Thompson, of the Canadian army, was found guilty by a jury in the United States District Court yesterday of violating the United States neutrality laws by enlisting men here for the Canadian army. Capt. Thomsen was released on bond pending sentence.

UNITED STATES WANTS APOLOGY FROM AUSTRIA

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The American rejoinder to Austria regarding the Austrian submarine attack on the American steamer Petrolite made public yesterday by the State Department, describes the act as "a deliberate insult to the flag of the United States and an invasion of the rights of American citizens" and requests a prompt apology, punishment of the submarine commander, and payment of indemnity.

In vigorous language the communication sent a week ago today makes it clear that the U. S. Government believes the facts of the case entirely different from what the Austrian submarine commander reported them to be and that immediately amends are expected.

The Austrian claim that the Petrolite's captain voluntarily gave up supplies taken from the steamer by the submarine commander as flatly contradicted, as are the claims that warning shots were fired across the Petrolite's bow before she was shelled and that her appearance was such as to justify the submarine commander in mistaking her for a cruiser.

The attack on the Petrolite, a Standard Oil tanker, occurred in the Mediterranean on December 5. A protest sent soon afterward on preliminary reports from the tanker's captain and crew brought the Austrian communication to which the new American note replies.

The consumption of ice in the United States annually is estimated at 25,000,000 tons, for which consumers pay $120,000,000. The capital invested in the industry is $160,000,000.

STANDARDIZED SHIP BUILDING BEGUN IN BRITAIN

By Canadian Press.

LONDON, June 29.—Details of the scheme for the building of standardized ships at Chepstow are announced. The enterprise will have an initial capital of £100,000 sterling which has already been subscribed.

The stockholders are all large shipping companies, including the Peninsular and Oriental, the New Zealand Shipping Company, and the Orient Steam Navigation, the Furness-Withy, the Shire Line and the Federal Steam Navigation Company.

No public issue of stock is contemplated. The head of the new enterprise is James Caird, president of Turnbull, Martin and Co., and director in numerous shipping and allied companies.

A site has been obtained on the river Wye, and the plans provide for a plant capable of building ten large ships at the same time, all to be of a standard type of 8,300 tons. All the parts of the hulls and engines will be standardized.

Paris plans to obtain 300,000 electrical horse power by damming the River Rhone at a point 300 miles from the city.

JUDGMENT GIVEN AGAINST NEVILLE

LONDON, June 29.—Judgment was given yesterday for plaintiffs against Charles William Neville, whose promotions in Western Canada were once notorious.

The plaintiff's present action is on an alleged fraudulent misrepresentation over contracts for land on the east coast supposed to be intended as seaside resorts.

The judge said that the defendant did not choose to defend a serious charge of deliberate fraud, therefore he could only blame himself if the Court thought that his conduct stamped both himself and his scheme with trickery and dishonor.

ROYAL PARTY AT FORT WILLIAM, ONT.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., June 29.—Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and Princess Patricia passed through Fort William yesterday afternoon, en route west on what will be their last tour of the Dominion. Mayor Murphy and W. L. Bird, president of the Board of Trade, met the Royal train, but there was no official reception. The train left at 4:15 p.m. for Winnipeg.

They spent part of this morning in sight-seeing on the Lake-of-the-Woods, as guests of the Kenora Board Board of Trade, arriving in Winnipeg this evening.

His Royal Highness said he was very sorry to leave Canada, while the Duchess complimented the women of this city for their work in connection with patriotic matters.

DEAD SOLDIER IS HONORED IN BURIAL

Valleyfield turned out en masse yesterday at the funeral of the late Capt. Alfred O'Sullivan, who died from wounds received at the front. Capt. O'Sullivan was shot through the lungs, and was invalided home six months ago.

The service was held at the Cathedral, the Rev. Father Laframboise officiating. Flags were at half-mast throughout the town, and numerous business firms closed their premises.

Capt. O'Sullivan was a civil engineer, a graduate of McGill University, and was twenty-three years of age. The principal mourners were two nephews and four brothers, Eugene, John, Arthur and Louis O'Sullivan, all of Montreal.

A watch requires 175 separate parts, more than 2,400 operations being necessary in its manufacture.

Many Sailors' Bodies Drifting on Norway Shore

By Canadian Press.

CHRISTIANA, June 28, via London, June 29.—The fact that so many bodies of British and German sailors daily are being brought ashore on the southern coast of Norway with life belts securely fastened about them, suggests that they are victims of the Jutland battle, and that the men drifted for many hours before succumbing to cold and exhaustion.

The papers therefore are urging that neutral Powers be notified after a naval battle, so that they may be able to send out boats to search for survivors.

Daily funerals of unidentified German and British men-of-war's men are attended by great crowds, who strew the graves with flowers.

London had 40 streets with German names.

TO PROVIDE FOR THE DEPENDENTS OF RETURNED MEN

Special to The Montreal Star.

OTTAWA, June 29.—The Military Hospitals Commission is arranging a scale of pay for convalescent soldiers who have recovered sufficiently to enter upon a cause of vocational training for work suitable to their condition.

While with the completion of this training the soldier will have learned a trade from which a livelihood can be derived, it is recognized that provision must be made for his family while he is taking the course, and a scale of pay will therefore be drawn up making a reasonable allowance for the families of such men.

It will be sufficient to ensure a livelihood for the man's dependents until he is able to look after them himself.

Tageblatt Finds Sauce for Goose Sauce for Gander

By Canadian Press.

BERLIN, via London, June 29.—The suppression of the Tageblatt, one of Berlin's leading newspapers, by order of the military commander, was due to an article printed Monday, discussing the demand for the publication of a memorial of six associations representing big business and agricultural interests for sweeping annexations, which it declared was inspired by selfish interests because a continuance of the war was profitable for members of the association. The newspapers thereby gave currency to a charge it had earlier rebuked the Socialists for advancing in the Reichstag.

As the Deutsche Tages Zeitung and other organs advocating annexation had been repeatedly punished for breaking the political truce in the other direction, the authorities found it necessary to apply the same treatment to the Tageblatt.

The suppression of the newspaper probably will continue for several days. The memorial in question was presented to the Chancellor a year ago. One provincial paper then succeeded in publishing it.

ITALY LEADS THE ALLIES—RUSSIAN HAMMERING — BALKAN UNREST — BRITISH PREPARATION—CARRANZA'S COURAGE

ITALY GAINS.

THE greatest progress in the closing Allied ring of steel is being made for the moment by the bayonets of the Italians. They are finding the fighting harder as they penetrate into the more mountainous country that leads back to the Austrian frontier; but they are making daily gains of the utmost value. Between the Val Lagarina and the Val Arsa—where they are fighting on Austrian territory—they have captured trenches near Malga Sugna; and, farther round the circle, between the Posina and the Astico, they have turned the enemy out of several strong positions. Still further around to the northeast, near Asiago, they have reached the covering heights of Interotto and Moschiere, and have even penetrated in the north to the approaches of the Galamarra Valley. The Galamarra is a little over half-way between Asiago and the Austrian boundary.

This is significantly rapid progress for so difficult a country. It implies a very serious disorganization of the enemy forces. The gunpower and numerical superiority which enabled the Austrians to smash their way down past the strong Arsiero and Asiago positions, would not so swiftly give back before the attacks of the same armies they had so recently compelled to retire if they had not suffered serious diminution. The Italians still have a considerable distance to go before they clear their own soil of the enemy—let alone re-establish themselves in their old positions menacing Trento—but the great thing is that they are moving in the right direction and at a considerable pace.

The Austrians never succeeded in reaching the Italian plain. That is a fact to be remembered. The defence of the first Italian positions in the sub-Alpine districts was rendered doubly difficult by the steadiness and meagre capacity of their communications. The heavy Austrian guns were able to put them out of commission very easily; and then the Italian garrisons had no choice but to fall back. The Austrian advance was almost entirely a gun-victory. But it failed to dislodge the Italians from their last line of resistance on the edge of their fat plains in the Supra Command. For, at that point, railways and highways in plenty fell the forces of Italy from Vicenza, Schio and Bassano.

* * * * *

THE RUSSIAN OFFENSIVE.

The Russian hammering still continues. The Austrians claim to be holding at Kuty, and the Germans to be gaining ground near Sokul. But the bulk of the fighting, from the Pripet down, is against repeated Russian assaults. The vigor and dash of the aggressive has not yet waned. The effect of the practical releasing of the armies which have overrun Bukowina upon the Austrian defence of Galicia, is yet to be seen. They will probably strike up from the south along the Carpathian foothills, and will likely have a decisive effect upon the battles about Kuty. The German drive down from Kovel will not disturb this movement at all; for it is well west of it. That is the Germans cannot at this point drive a wedge in behind the Russian armies and so compel a retirement along the Dniester or the Strypa.

* * * * *

BALKAN CHANGE OF FRONT.

It is altogether probable that the reports of disquiet in the Balkan district are true. The Balkans seem—after the Serbian campaign—to have settled down into a condition of coma, accepting with reluctance the belief that the Central Powers were the "top dog" in that region at any rate. Roumania ceased to discuss the possibility of intervening on the side of the Allies, and finally made trade bargains with Austria and Bulgaria. The Greek King got about him a Government which acted as if it thought its best policy was to make the most profitable bargain possible with the Teutons and their Allies. The Entente lost whatever prestige it had enjoyed in this whole Peninsula.

Then came the Russian victories in Volhynia and Bukowina. In a dramatic fortnight, they changed the entire Eastern situation. The theory that the Teutons could hold their line indefinitely was blown to pieces. The new prestige of Austrian arms was shattered. Bukowina was occupied by the Russians, thus reminding the Roumanians that the Allies would probably be in a position to decide the fate of a large number of Roumanian populations after the war. At the same time, the Allies applied their naval grip to Greece, and unseated a suspected Government. A Greek election is fixed for early in August, when Venizelos is expected to come back to power. This will mean a pro-Ally policy at Athens.

The hypnotic trance, caused by the flash of the German helmet from Monastir to Czernowitz, has been broken. The Greek people are recovering control of their own Government. Roumania has awakened and is again moving her troops. No wonder that Bulgaria feels uneasy, and finds it necessary once more to establish a watch on the Danube. If Greece and Roumania should decide to enter the war at once, it would be a repetition of the second Balkan War, so far as the Bulgars are concerned. But it is wise, perhaps, not to jump too far toward happy conclusions. Greece has demobilised her army as a preliminary to Venizelos' victory in the coming elections; and it is very likely that his policy will be neutrality—at least for the present. As for Roumania, she has shown no disposition to plunge while the issue is at all in doubt. She will certainly await the results of the combined Allied offensive.

* * * * *

THE BRITISH ATTACK.

There is still no word of an infantry advance on the British front. We are engaged, apparently, in thorough artillery preparation and the nervous feinting of patrol attacks. Our gunfire is probably heavier and more searching than one would infer from the bald and meagre official reports. The patrols do a sort of scouting in force, and bring back the news as to how much damage is being done. All this caution and deliberate preparation indicates that our "drive" this time is to be of the greatest possible weight and determination, and will not be permitted to fall short of complete triumph if that is at all within our grasp. Any day may bring the glad and terrible news that we have begun our thrust. At any hour, it may be under weigh; and our gallant lads be paying the awful price of victory. These are critical, history-making and world-shaping moments; and, if we at all realized their import, we could hardly go about our daily business. It is like attending calmly at the office while Waterloo is being fought.

* * * * *

CARRANZA FOR PEACE.

The release of the American prisoners, held at Chihuahua, is a proof that President Carranza at all events does not want war. He is sane enough and informed enough to know what it means. It means the subjugation of Mexico, the obliteration of his own office, and the ruin of every Mexican of importance who fights with him. So he takes a conciliatory step of the greatest difficulty and daring, cutting his own popularity in half and imperilling his hold on the Presidency. If President Wilson and his advisers are willing to make half as great personal sacrifices for peace, they can probably secure it. If they live up to the spirit which presumably inspired the President when he declared that there was "such a thing as a man being too proud to fight,"—live up to it as courageously as has the "greaser" President—they will save two neighboring nations from a frightful war.

But will they? "Joe" Cannon, clamoring for the conquest of Mexico, will not help them much. Mexican Generals, in actual command of the troops, yielding to Carranza only under pressure, are unpromising figures. They can unmake Carranza more surely than he can unmake them. Villa might come to life again. German gold is presumably still paying its blood-money for the embroilment of the dreaded Americans. But, whatever may come, President Carranza will always have the credit of having made a long, perilous and unpopular step towards peace.

Having sent Karl Liebknecht to prison, Germany will be very happy, trying to keep truth under lock and key being a traditional German policy.

---

Sir Roger Casement says he left Germany poorer than when he went there. If he means that Germany was poorer one is inclined to doubt it. Any country that Sir Roger left would be better off through that very fact.

---

It is very interesting to note that the very newspapers in the United States which have most frequently insisted that President Wilson must "stop the war" in Europe are now most bitterly rejecting the notion of arbitration by a third party between their own country and Mexico.

THE THRESHOLD

Life lies before me, but shut is the door
On all my childish days. No more, no more
Shall I in all my years again be free
And careless—happy as I used to be.
So be it, Lord! I know that all is right,
I would not alter it, or shirk the fight.
But then the door!—but leave a little crack
That when I meet a child I may slip back!
—Barbara Seymour, in Harper's.

THE WORLD'S PRESS

Not Much Help

Springfield Republican:—Does the Berlin newspaper that believes "there can be no end to the struggle until the soil of England herself, also, is saturated in the life blood of its people" represent the sentiment back of the killing of noncombatants in air raids? The blood thus spilled hasn't helped the Teutonic cause much.

As to Imperial Preference

London Daily News:—As for Imperial Preference, we cannot feel that the moment when the blood of Canadians and Australians has drenched the soil of Gallipoli and Flanders is the time for insisting that new commercial ties are needed to reinforce the bonds their life and death have forged. We are not ready to see the overseas contingents made pawns in a tariff controversy.

Will Continue Note Writing

New York World:—It would be a mistake, for instance, for Berlin to assume that because of any conditions that may arise in Mexico the United States would be less disposed than it has been to insist upon the observance of the rights of neutrals on the sea. There are indications here and there in Germany of a growing desire that the old methods of undersea warfare which the Kaiser's Government has been forced to abandon shall be resumed. If Mexico's attitude encourages that policy it would be a serious blunder for Berlin to think that there has been or will be any change in the course laid down in Washington.

Taught By Grim Experience

Westminster Gazette:—When, before the war, we read German books palliating and recommending methods hitherto banned in the warfare of civilized peoples, arguing that there could and should be no limits to fraud, violence, and cruelty when practised in the name of the State, we thought it to be a kind of savage sophistry which need not be taken seriously. But we have learnt in this war that this is the real doctrine of the German General Staff, and we have seen it practised at every turn, in open warfare and in underground plotting, on the territory of friendly neutrals as well as on the battle-ground of enemy countries.

Britain's War Financing

London Telegraph:—What is it we are doing in the matter of finance to-day? We are not merely paying and pledging our wealth for the meeting of our own colossal expenditure upon war by land and sea; we are diverting a continuous flow of it, in the shape of loans made by our Government to those of the Dominions and of our Allies, to the war-uses of other communities. There is no great virtue in that fact by itself, for their cause is ours, and we stand or fall with it; but what is, we suggest, a notable thing is that it affects in no degree the intensity of the war-spirit, and wins no tolerance for any counsels in favor of an indecisive peace.

. . . That Passeth Understanding

Collier's Weekly:—Religion has been bankrupted by the war in Europe, according to some pessimists; others say that the war has meant a great wave of mysticism that at times seems mere superstition. The best religious war news we have seen is summoned up in two sentences found in the Rev. W. W. Holdsworth's "Impressions of a Hospital Chaplain" in the Contemporary Review": A rabbi serving as a chaplain in Flanders was one day asked by a dying French soldier to unbutton his tunic and to hold the crucifix he was wearing so that in his last moments his eyes might rest upon that symbol of love unto death. With a fine humanity the Jew held up for the comfort of the dying man that which stood for the condemnation of his own people. We wish all our Know-Nothing friends might note this paragraph!

There is Belgium; There is Greece.

New York Times:—In the treatment of Greece by the Allied Powers there is nothing parallel to the treatment of Belgium by Germany, except in German dialectics. If you say the neutrality of Greece has been coerced and that the difference lies only in the fact of ultimate means having been employed in one case to achieve an end which in the other was gained by a foreshortened method, the assumptions are wrong to begin with. One is that the ends were the same. That is untrue. From the first assumption follows another, equally and independently erroneous, that if the ends be the same the means thereto differ not morally but only in degree of intensity, as the degree of necessity is. Though the ends sought to be attained had been in both cases the same and the neutrality of Greece had been, in fact, coerced, the parallel would fall. The neutrality of Belgium was wondered. All that the Allied Powers have done in Greece has been to restore its neutrality, as, indeed, it was their ancient duty to do.

"The Lard Polonaise"

London Chronicle:—Numerous articles in the Berlin Press deal with what is called the "Lard Polonaise," or the queue formations now so prominent a feature in the landscape of numerous streets. Gone are the days, says the Berliner Tageblatt, when shopping was an easy matter. It has now become a fine art, and the principal attributes necessary in the shopper are patience and much humility. It began with petroleum in the Autumn of 1915. It was then that the long queues of waiting people outside shops began, now so painfully prevalent. They were called petroleum polonaises, and only came to an end when petroleum was no longer to be had. The polonaise has, however, extended to a number of other articles, of which the following are a selection. People who do not understand the word polonaise understand "waiting," and they all wait for:—meat, sausages, bacon, tripe, lard, municipal pork, municipal lard, butter, margarine, flour, coffee, sugar, potatoes, milk, bread, eggs, sour cabbage, etc. If you go to a railway station you will find the crowd waiting there also, waiting for the country-women to come in with cheese, butter, fowls, eggs, etc.

THE FURNACE FIRE

"Oh, middy lad of the beardless chin,
Canst tell thy friend how the fight doth speed?
For little hear I save the cannons' din,
As I stoop my ravenous fire to feed!"
"Oh, stoker man of the shaggy head,
We steam in the wake of a flying foe!
But our sides are torn and our decks are red,
And the water entereth from below!"
"Pray for us, middy lad, pray for us all!
Pray for the soul of son and sire!
For the good ship's smoke is her funeral pall;
I have seen her doom in the furnace fire!"

"Oh, stoker man of the mighty frame,
Dost hear the boom of our forward gun?
Why starest thou at the roaring flame?
Lo, the day of the Prussian wolf is done!"
"O, middy lad of the sparkling eyes,
I know it is death that our guns bequeath;
But the words of the furnace flames are wise;
'Beware the last snap of an old wolf's teeth!'"
"We have finished her, stoker man!
God above all!
Hark to the shouts of son and sire!
I go to cheer with the gunners tall;
While thou dost gaze at thy furnace fire!"
"Oh, middy lad, hast thou life to show?
Canst see thy friend in the gathering gloom?
They minded our path ere they went below
And some are trapped in this iron tomb!"
"Oh, stoker man of the gentle hand,
I can see your face by the fiery glare!
My arms are crushed, and I cannot stand,
But the pain of it all is no longer there!"
"Courage, my middy lad . . God's above all!
For, by the soul of son and sire!
I can hear the Master Bosun's call;
I can see His face in the furnace fire!"

—Dudley Clark, in London Daily News.

THE PASSING HOUR

"Don't you remember me?" said she to the parson.
"I remember your face, but don't recall your name," replied the minister. "It's strange you should forget me. You married me twice."
"Well, well," exclaimed the reverend gentleman. "And to think, I should have forgotten one of my best customers."

"This bill has been running now for three months," said the collector.
"Dear me," said the debtor, "how tired it must be."

Mike Hanagan was busily engaged painting some railings. He was working so hard that Pat, who knew his dislike for labor, was astonished.

"Faith," said Pat, "you are going it. I've never seen you work so hard before."
"Begorra," answered Mike, still working feverishly, "don't bother me. I'm trying to finish painting before the paint's all used up."

First Woman (angrily)—Your Johnny gave my Willie the measles.
Second Woman—No such thing! Your Willie came over where my Johnny was and took 'em.

A Chicagoan was driving with a visitor recently and as they passed up the Midway and took note of the university buildings he said:

"We are now passing through a neighborhood which has more culture to the square foot than any other part of the town."
"Well! Well! Everybody about here, I suppose, is a highbrow."
"Yes. Why, the people in this neighborhood talk about Shakespeare as if he hadn't been dead more than a week."

FROM THE STAR FILES

THIRTY YEARS AGO.

The Late Col. Stevenson.

"The first through Canadian Pacific Railway train to the Pacific started last night at 8 o'clock. His Worship the Mayor gave the signal to start, and the engine with its ten cars steamed out of the station amid the salvos from the Field Battery and the cheers of the spectators. Lieut.-Col Stevenson was the officer commanding the battery. The Victoria Rifles paraded as a guard of honor."—From The Montreal Star, June 29, 1886.

The late Lieut.-Col. Alexander Allan Stevenson was born in Scotland in 1829 and came to Canada in 1846, taking up residence in Montreal. He devoted himself to the printing business, his firm being known as the Montreal Printing Company. For six consecutive years he was a member of the Montreal City Council, retiring but to re-enter that body in 1882. He was instrumental as alderman in bringing the fire brigade to a high state of efficiency, but his greatest service to Montreal was in securing Mount Royal for a public park.

He commanded the Montreal Field Battery while it was on active service during the Fenian Raid. Col. Stevenson held high rank in the Masonic body, being Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Canada from 1868-1870.

"Madrid, June 29.—A service of thanksgiving for the birth of the King was held today in the Cathedral. The ceremony was made the occasion of the first public appearance of the Queen since her son's birth. She was given a hearty reception by the people as she drove through the streets." — From The Montreal Star, June 29, 1886.

"Mr. Potter has sold to Mr. T. F. McConkey the two vacant lots next the corner of Mackay and St. Catherine streets, each 25 x 84, for 55 cents a square foot." — From The Montreal Star, June 29, 1886.

"New York, June 29.—Three-quarters of a million dollars in gold is engaged for export to Europe, making $1,750,000 ordered this week."—From The Montreal Star, June 29, 1886.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

"One of the most important piling contracts ever carried out in this part of Canada is in preparation for the foundation of the new building of the Royal Victoria College in connection with McGill University." — From The Montreal Star, June 29, 1896.

"Quebec, June 29.—The English warships Crescent, Intrepid and Tartar are in port. The Crescent gave an example of her speed by running up from L'Islet—forty-two miles—in two hours." —From The Montreal Star, June 29, 1896.

HE WANTS FIGURES.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—Would you be kind enough to publish the number of men who have gone to the front from the City Hall, the Post Office and the Tramway Company. How many foreigners are working in the munitions factories in Lachine and Montreal; also the number of Austrians, Bulgarians and Germans in Montreal who should and have not been interned. How many of Mayor Martin's relations are at the front? As I am doing my bit I like to see others do the same.

I remain,
Yours truly,
WIN 'EM AND WEAR 'EM.

THE CANADIAN FORESTRY BATTALION.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—I wish to make a few remarks on an article which appeared in your paper of the 24th inst. re the Canadian Forestry Overseas Battalion.

The only Forestry Battalion of which I am aware is the 224th. Now, if the article (which, I believe, was copied from an English paper), referring to that battalion, publishing it in a Canadian paper, in the province where the battalion was raised, it must have been a joke! But to those who are not familiar with it, the article would prove rather misleading. Let me try to correct one or two impressions. It states that the battalion is composed of "French-Canadians and Indians, with a few Scotch and Irish emigrants,"—"from the wilds of Canada," who have spent most of their life under canvas, both in summer and winter." This is arrant nonsense. The battalion is composed, as most of the C. E. F. has been composed, of English-speaking Canadians, to the greatest extent, returned soldiers, veterans of the South Africa campaign, rejected for some trifling defects by active-service battalions. Expert woodsmen, many of them, but some who are serving their apprenticeship with axe and saw. The only taste of life under canvas some have had was at the training camps at Farnham and Petewawa. "French-Canadians"? Well, of the 700 in barracks at Quebec in the latter part of April, or early in May, about ninety attended the Roman Church and many of these, English-speaking.

Should this come to the notice of the writer of the article under consideration, I extend to him a hearty invitation to come and spend a winter "under canvas in the wilds of Canada," but I'm thinking "By Jove, 'twould be rathah parky, don't you know!"

AN OLD PURE WATER SCHEME.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—The clipping herewith was taken from the Daily Star of January 13, 1904: it is before the Board of Commissioners for consideration today.

TYPHOID SITUATION AND WATER SUPPLY.

Mr. F. I. Gilman, in discussing the typhoid fever outlook and its possible connection with our water supply, said in an interview with The Star today:

"I think that a gang of workmen should at once be employed to cut a canal through the ice jam near the second arch of the Victoria Bridge, so as to relieve the intake pipe of the Water and Power Company of the filth that backs up to it from the River St. Pierre.

"I think that pipe lines can be laid which will run a constant supply of pure water three times greater than at present used by the city, from the centre of the river St. Lawrence near the C.P.R. bridge to the pumps at the wheel house of the city waterworks.

"Also that these pipe lines from the centre to the side of the river, together with a small pumping station upon the river bank, a covered conduit alongside the aqueduct, and all extra expenses in connection with the supplying the present wasted works system with this pure water, can be furnished for an outlay of less than two million dollars, or a total cost for interest and working expenses of $120,000 per annum.

"A minor advantage of this scheme is that after the pipe lines have been constructed, the present open cut, being no longer required to supply the city of Montreal with drinking water, may be deepened with one of the harbor dredges until it is large enough to supply all the power required by the water works in future years.

This pure water scheme was previously published in The Daily Star on September 10, 1887, July 25, 1888, and Sept. 9, 1888.

If it had been copied accurately, the water would not have been drained out of the aqueduct at all, but the harbor dredges would have deepened the bottom of the aqueduct in exactly the same way as they have deepened the bottom of the Lachine Canal. The concrete conduit would not have been broken. The water famine would not have been caused, and the whole of the waterworks job would have been finished several years ago.

I am told that another look at the old pure water scheme would greatly interest many of our citizens, who are opposed to the enormous cost of building ten miles of vertical walls alongside the aqueduct, as well as to the cost of keeping the ten miles of vertical walls in constant repair in the future.

I am told that the new concrete walls of the aqueduct should be made of the same natural slope as the new concrete walls of the Lachine canal, between Cote St. Paul and Lachine, are being today; no matter how much extra land is required, or how much the aqueduct is being widened for power purposes.

TWO OF A KIND

By Henry Dalby.

Justice Hughes, of the Supreme Court of the United States, has pronounced his nolo piscoparie. He does not want to be President of the United States. He wants to remain on the bench. A lot of people who have no other sympathy with him will sympathise with this laudable ambition. Like many other men who have had greatness thrust upon them, the wise and learned Judge is the victim of a paramount sense of duty. He says to the Republican Convention "You voice the demand for a dominant, thorough-going Americanism with firm protective upbuilding policies essention to our peace"; and then he goes on to fill up the rest of his message of acceptance with a lot of verbiage, "full of sound and fury signifying nothing." The message might have been written by President Wilson himself. It only goes to show how closely the principles of the two candidates resemble each other, and that even their phraseology is of the same orand. The same high-faluting patriotic declamation, the same broad, very broad generalizations, the same stern and determined insistence upon the obvious — the same ghastly silence or indefiniteness upon the only great issues now before the country. Both candidates are evidently scared to death of the hyphennted vote. Timidly and nervously, Judge Hughes, like President Wilson, declares his belief in preparedness, adequate preparedness; but innocent of any policy of aggression, of all lust for territory and all zeal for strife. (The Kaiser might have written that.) Without fear of contradiction or opposition, he unhesitatingly demands a fair and wise readjustment of the tariff on sound protective principles to ensure economic independence and maintain American standards of living, but particularly they should seek the expansion of foreign trade. What either Wilson or Hughes would consider adequate preparedness or adequate protection is their own cherished secret. In conclusion, the Judge says he has resigned his judicial office. This forbids the idea of his staying in that haven where he would be, on the bench. He may attain a higher position if it is only on the shelf. What the country will gain by substituting Hughes for Wilson is not very clear so far as their respective personalities go. They are too much alike. It may benefit the Republican party a little; but apart from patronage and pork, not to any great extent. They cannot exercise much influence on American politics, home or foreign, without the control of the Senate; and they cannot hope for a majority in the Senate without the support of the Progressives, which may or may not mean Colonel Roosevelt.

Teddy has one great advantage over the other two candidates. He knows what he believes, and he is not afraid to say it. He told the German-Americans in St. Louis that the hyphen had no place in American citizenship, and by so doing drove a lot of the German-American Republicans into the Hughes camp. You could ont imagine either Hughes or Wilson using such unladylike language.

There is no preparedness worth talking about unless the Government is prepared, and Roosevelt is the only candidate who gives the impression of being always ready to stand up boldly for those patriotic principles, which the other two are always ready to talk about in the most guarded and indefinite terms. Yet Roosevelt has always been one of the strongest influences for peace that the United States has had. The others give the impression that they ought to wind up all their oratorical firework displays with the grand peroration: "These are my unalterable convictions, but if you don't like them I am always ready to change them." The foreign nations understand this all right, and that is why they do not take American "notes" seriously.

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE.

Somewhere in France he lies,
My Love, whose dear dark head
Has lain upon my breast
night after night,
And now upon his face,
His open staring eyes,
Beats down the rain and sleet
After the fight
Somewhere in France.

I hear the tender words
He whispered in my ear,
I hear the moaning wind
on the naked hill—
I see his burning eyes
With fervid passion gleam,
I see those frozen eyes,
glassy and still,
Somewhere in France.

Black, bitter days and nights
Stretch on in endless rows,
Haunted by ghostly shapes which beckon me
And call with strident voice,
With ghostly hands outstretched
Pointing to where he lies insistently,
Somewhere in France.

Dear Lord, for Christ's sweet sake,
Blot out this ghastly scene,
These piteous arms outflung
by death distraught!
In mercy let me find
Forgetfulness complete,
Wipe from my tortured brain
this grewsome thought.

Send Death and bid him take Me firmly by the hand; Gladly I'll follow him with eager feet—
When that bleak hill we reach,
Shrouded by his dark wings,
With loving arms outstretched
My Love I'll meet—
Somewhere in France.

OLD GRANNY FOX HANGS AROUND.

(Copyright, 1916, by T. W. Burgess.)

When Old Mr. Toad told Peter Rabbit that he thought he would stay a day or two in the dear Old Brier Patch to see how Peter got along, Peter thought that this was the only reason Old Mr. Toad had in mind, and he was very grateful. It didn't enter Peter's head that Old Mr. Toad was too tired to think of going back to Farmer Brown's garden at once. You see, to Peter, when he is well, it is no journey at all over to that garden. But to Old Mr. Toad it is a very long journey. If Peter had realized how long and how tiresome it had been to Old Mr. Toad he would have realized more than he did how very much Old Mr. Toad thinks of him.

The same thing was true of Spotty the Turtle. It had taken Spotty all afternoon to get from the Smiling Pool to the dear Old Brier Patch, whereas Peter, when he is well, can get from one to the other in just a few minutes. It is just this way all through life. There are Peter Rabbits and Old Mr. Toads among us humans. That is, there are people who are naturally quick and others who are slow and have to work hard and persistently to get the things which others can get so quickly and easily. And very, very often it happens, just as it did in the case of Peter Rabbit and Old Mr. Toad and Spotty the Turtle, that people who are quick do not fully understand and appreciate all that the doing of certain things means to those who are slow and cannot possibly be fast no matter how they try.

It's easy to misunderstand and so misjudge a fellow man,
Because it happens God has made us each upon a different plan.

So Old Mr. Toad and Spotty the Turtle remained for a couple of days in the dear Old Brier Patch partly to rest, but Peter thought it was wholly because they wanted to be with him. He was very glad of their company. Now that he couldn't run around poking his wabbly little nose into all sorts of places it was nice to have some one to talk to.

The day after Peter's surprise party little Mrs. Peter, out getting her breakfast of sweet clover, saw Old Granny Fox coming toward the dear Old Brier Patch. Mrs. Peter ate as fast as she could and then as Granny drew near scampered back into the dear Old Brier Patch.

"She has heard that Peter is sick and can't run and she's come over to see if she can catch him," thought little Mrs. Peter bitterly. Then she hurried to the very middle of the Brier Patch where she couldn't possibly be seen by Old Granny Fox. Mrs. Peter always feels safer when she is where she knows she cannot be seen. Granny Fox trotted up to the edge of the Old Brier Patch and peered in along one of Peter's private little paths. No one was to be seen and Granny trotted around to the entrance to another private little path. The same thing happened there; she saw no one. Granny looked disappointed and continued all the way around the Old Brier Patch, stopping every few minutes to peer in between the brambles, and to cock her sharp ears and listen. But she saw no one and heard no one. Then she went off a little way and sat down where she could watch. Strange to say she made no attempt to hide. No, sir, she didn't try to keep out of sight. Little Mrs. Peter, stealing to a place where she could peep out, noticed this and puzzled over it a great deal. It wasn't at all like Granny.

Mrs. Peter Didn't Tell Peter About Granny Fox, but Kept Watch.

"She must know that even if Peter could get about, which he cannot, he never would come out with her right in plain sight, never in the world," muttered little Mrs. Peter.

Mrs. Peter didn't tell Peter about Old Granny Fox, but kept watch. By and by Granny went away, but she didn't stay away long. A dozen times that day she went away and came back again. It made little Mrs. Peter, who is very timid as you know, nervous.

"What is she hanging around this way for if it isn't in the hope of catching Peter?" she kept asking herself over and over again.

Once Granny brought something and left it at the entrance to one of Peter's private little paths. When she had gone away, Mrs. Peter stole out to see what it was. It was a young Meadow Mouse, which she had caught. Mrs. Peter was more puzzled than ever. Finally she decided to tell Old Mr. Toad what was going on. She was very suspicious of Old Granny Fox, was little Mrs. Peter.

9095 (With Basting Line and Added Seam Allowance) Dress with Three-Piece Skirt, for Misses and Small Women, 16 and 18 years.

This dress designed for small women and for young girls, combines a three-piece skirt with a simple blouse. This blouse is completed by a chemisette with a collar that makes a very dainty touch. In the illustration, the material is rose colored linen and the chemisette and collar are made of white handkerchief linen, but there are various simpler washable materials that would be quite correct. The ginghams are very charming and plaid gingham with the chemisette and collar of handkerchief lawn would make a very smart frock.

For the 16 year size will be needed 7 yards of material 27 inches wide, 5 yards 36 or 4¼ yards 44, with ⅝ of a yard 36 for the chemisette and collar.

LOUISE H.

I have sent your letter to Mr. Cooke who will answer it for you.

ANXIOUS ONE.

1.—If you want the boy to take you to various places of entertainment, and object to his not doing so, you had better drop his acquaintance.

2.—Salts of lemon will remove rust stains.

3.—Try massage treatment for hair.

STAIN AND MARRIAGE.

Would you please advise me what would remove a grease or oil stain from a navy blue taffeta suit; also if a marriage performed by a priest (the contracting parties being Catholic and Protestant), is considered legal and binding by the Protestant church?

"SHAMROCK."

Ans.—(1) Sponge with ether. (2) Yes, if the legal requirements are fulfilled.

SHE DISPISES HIM.

1.—"Can you tell me what to do to a girl who after chumming with a fellow about a year or so she despises him without any reason whatsoever. She admits she has no reason but cannot help herself. Is there any way of stopping this fooling habit?"

2.—Is it true that if a fellow has a picture of a girl in his watch, is it a sure sign of being in love?

STRANGER.

Ans.—1.—I think I would have her alone for a while until she recovered from her spasm of "despising." Do you suppose she has a "morning hate" like the Germans?

2.—Not necessarily. He might put it there "just for fun."

FIRST NAMES.

Would you kindly help to settle this argument. I am a clerk in an office. About three years ago a young lady about my age got a position in same office. Since that time we have been the best of friends, and I have taken her out on several occasions of an evening. I always call her by her first name outside of office hours, but she has always refused to do the same for me, arguing that she is likely to forget herself and use it in the office. Now, don't you think it is a very poor reason, when she is in the habit of calling all her other boy friends by their first name. I am sorry to take up your valuable time with such a trifling matter, but I would esteem it a favor if you would express your views on the subject, as I know it would go a long way towards convincing a stubborn little girl.

Ans.:—I think she might call you by your first name in private, but I don't think it advisable for her to call you "Jack" in the office, because people might not understand your relationship.

BEAUTY SPOTS.

Some time ago, I noticed you asked readers to describe beauty spots of Montreal and places of interest. I have looked in vain for answers. I had hoped some would reply. I also wish readers would describe places near Montreal. I hope some day to make my home in the vicinity of Montreal, near enough to come to the city occasionally for amusement or business, and for friends in the city to come week ends, but I have not the slightest idea what are the particular attractions of each place, or advantages; would you be kind enough to ask readers to describe various places? Later, I could advertize and should then be in a position to know if I was selecting a favorable locality. Another thing I want to ask your advice about. Just a year ago, we started a Branch of Women's Institute and I was elected president. It was the first institution of any kind here. The people are very uneducated, and I cannot get them to give papers or even little talks, if I ask questions they will answer. They are splendid workers for Red Cross or making articles for Red Cross Bazaar, and they love the monthly meetings and new members join every month, but they are too afraid to speak. One woman I called on, said it made her heart beat, if she tried to speak; another time I asked each to repeat or read a joke (just as an easy way to get them to speak) and one said, she did not know what a joke was! How do you think it would be if I take a paper each time and read it, and then invite discussions? We had a patriotic picnic this month at which we made $75 clear of expenses, and at Christmas we made $65 for Red Cross and Institute purposes, but I feel it would be better for the women and girls if we could all take a more active part in the meetings. I can count on about four or five who will try to do their bit, the others speak when they are spoken to, and there are about thirty of us now.

Could you give me any suggestions how I can help them, or would you just go on as I have done, fill up gaps myself? I don't want to frighten them away, for it is a bright spot each month for them, we have light refreshments each time, which we take in turn, going to a different house each time, the hostess makes tea.

"A COUNTRY WOMAN."

Ans.—You would find exactly the same difficulty in any place. It is always very hard to get women to speak at a meeting of that sort. I would continue asking them to do little things of that sort. Ask each to bring the best recipe she has, or the best labor-saving device, to give for the benefit of the others. There seems no necessity to give it up when you have such a flourishing society. The other part of your letter is referred to readers.

THE OLD GARDENER SAYS.

That while nasturtiums are pretty nearly trouble proof, they sometimes fall victims to the black louse or aphis in warm weather. The best remedy for these pests is a nicotine preparation sold by seedsmen. Only a little will be needed, for it is to be diluted with water. It is easily applied with a little tin spray pump, but care must be taken to get in on the under part of the leaves. Nasturtiums will grow in partly shaded spots, but will have more leaves than blossoms. This will be the result, too, if the ground is very rich.

BERLIN, June 29, via London, 4:38 p.m.—The fighting on the western front attained proportions of considerable violence at various points yesterday and last night, the War Office announced today, but attacks of the British and French were repulsed everywhere, it was asserted.

"In the western war theatre, the statement says the same conditions prevail along the British front and the north wing of the French front as have existed during the last few days. Attacks by enemy patrols and strong infantry detachments, as well as gas attacks, have become more numerous.

"Everywhere the enemy was repulsed. Waves of gas have given no results. Artillery fighting attained great intensity at certain points."

"On our front north of the Aisne and in the Champagne between Auberive and the Argonne, the French kept up a lively fire. Here, also weak attacks were easily repulsed.

"Northwest of the Thiaumont works (Verdun front) there were minor infantry engagements."

"Eastern front: Russian attacks made by some companies between Dubatowka and Smordon failed under our curtain of fire.

"Near Guessitschi, southeast of Jubtscha, a German division (detachment?) stormed an enemy point of support east of the Niemen, taking two officers and fifty-six men prisoners and capturing two machine guns and two mine throwers.

"Balkan front: There is nothing to report."

TERRIBLE STRUGGLE.

By Canadian Press.

LONDON, June 29.—A Lutsk dispatch to the Times, dated Tuesday, describes the terrible fighting on the Russian front.

"This town," says the correspondent, "is a veritable maelstrom of war. From not many miles away by night and day comes the almost uninterrupted roar of heavy gunfire, and all day long the main street is filled with the clatter of caissons, guns and transports going forward on one side, while on the opposite side is an unending line of empty caissons returning, mingled with wounded in every conceivable form of vehicle. And among these at breakneck speed dart motor-cycles carrying dispatches.

"The weather is dry and hot, and the lines of the road are visible for miles by clouds of dust. The soldiers are all filled with high hopes and the morale is at its highest pitch.

"Along the entire front the contending armies are locked in a fierce and ceaseless struggle. No hour passes when there is not somewhere an attack or counter-attack going forward with bitterness and ferocity. The troops coming from Germany are rendering the Russian advance difficult, and the general nature of the fighting is defence (by vigorous counter-attacks.

"The results on this front probably depend purely upon the German capacity to concentrate overpowering masses of troops against the Russians. But it seems safe to assume that whatever happens any possible Austro-German advance will cost the enemy forces incalculable losses.

"The first instalment of the Prussian Guard is arriving at Kovel, and the German Emperor himself is at that point, where the Germans are straining every effort to accumulate troops and bring up heavy guns for one of their characteristic drives.

"The inhabitants of Lutsk report that the enemy forces stated they expected to return within a few weeks."

AUSTRIAN ADMIRALTY REPORT.

By Canadian Press.

BERLIN, June 29, via Sayville.—The following report from the Austrian Admiralty, issued on June 24, was received here today:

"Austro-Hungarian torpedo boats on the morning of June 23, shelled a factory and a freight train in motion near Giulianova, on the Italian east coast. The locomotive blew up, four freight cars were set on fire and several others were dimaged. Our warships returned without molestation by the enemy.

"On the evening of June 23, the battleship Lieutenant Rahnfield shot down, eight minutes after it rose high over the water, a hydroplane which was advancing in order to attack. The Italian observer was killed and the French pilot was captured. The aeroplane was numbered 'F B A-12.' It was taken to Trieste."

REFUSE TO FEED MILCH COWS.

AMSTERDAM, via London, June 29.—German newspapers received here contain an order to the Federal Council compelling towns and communities exceeding 25,000 inhabitants to collect kitchen refuse from all households to be converted into condensed feed for milch cows.

SCHAFER GIVEN LEAVE TO APPEAL FOR A NEW TRIAL

Application of Counsel Granted by Mr. Justice Cross

Israel Schafer, convicted by a jury in the Court of King's Bench last week on a charge of treason, the first conviction of the kind in Canada since the days of Louis Riel, has been given the right to appeal from the verdict of the jury.

This morning Mr. Justice Cross, who presided at the trial, handed down judgment on the application of M. J. Morrison, K.C., Schafer's counsel, for leave to appeal on the ground that the verdict of the jury was against the weight of evidence. Without going into the merits of the case, Mr. Justice Cross said he felt it incumbent upon him to grant the desired leave to ask the Court of King's Bench for a new trial.

Schafer was admitted to bail for appearance before the Court of Appeal and later before the Court of King's Bench if a new trial is granted. The bond is $20,000.

Schafer was arrested in October, 1914. He was charged with aiding and comforting the enemies of His Majesty by selling steamship tickets and otherwise assisting Austrians to return to their native land after the outbreak of war. He was tried twice before the Court of King's Bench. At the first trial the jury disagreerd. At the second he was convicted.

TO FORCE COMPANY TO SUBSTANTIATE

A resolution of the Board of Control asks the Stinton Reeb Builders' Supply Company to make good certain charges made by one of their representatives against civic servants regarding dishonest propositions about a contract to be obtained, failing which, their tenders for civic supplies would not be considered in the future. This threat was made last week but apparently did not have any effect, as no reply has been received. Yesterday the Board asked the law department to advise on the possibility of compelling the company to make good the charges.

No More Gray Hair

A Simple and Effective Mixture Can Be Prepared at Home That Soon Darkens the Silver Locks

Gray, streaked and faded hair is as unsightly as it is unnecessary. Youth is our greatest asset, and we should preserve it and prolong it by every proper means available. Here is a remarkably good recipe, simple and inexpensive, which can be readily prepared at your own home.

To a half pint of water add:

|---|---|
| Glycerine | ½ oz. |
| Bay Rum | 1 oz. |
| Orlex Compound | 1 small box |

You can get these ingredients at any drug store, and the preparation will be just as efficacious for removing dandruff, stopping falling hair and other scalp ailments as for darkening gray hair. Apply it once a day until the hair reaches the desired shade, and then one application every other week will be all that is needed. Be sure to try this. It's fine.—Advertisement.

WORK IS NEEDED TO MARK VICTORY FOR ALLIES CAUSE

The speaker this morning at the headquarters for recruiting of the Irish-Canadian Rangers was F. G. Rykert who said:

"You are now asking me to enlist in this regiment, and they are enlisting at a time when victory is in sight. Undoubtedly victory is in sight. Not only do we in Canada believe this but those in Great Britain and those in France, particularly those who have returned from France, believe that the Germans reached the crest of their success three months ago, and the people of the United States believe this also. Victory is in sight but it will require hard work to consummate it.

"I think it is a matter of very good omen indeed that this regiment should be composed of descendants of the North and of the South of Ireland, and I think it is specially a good omen when at this time the Irish question is nearly settled.

"The fighting spirit of Irishmen is known from worlds-end to worlds-end. When I was a youngster I remember that I took great care not to knock the chip off an Irishman's shoulder unless I was well prepared to fight. That fighting spirit has been apparent in the armies of Europe for hundreds of years. They have always formed an Irish Guard, an Irish Legion or an Irish Brigade. You Irishmen, with your fighting qualities, with your determination to do your duty, will be with the others, a tremendous factor to deciding this war."

CIVIC POOR KITCHENS STAY OPEN IN BERLIN

THE HAGUE, via London, June 29.—The municipality of Berlin has decided to keep open indefinitely the municipal poor kitchens, which in previous years were open only during the winter months, closing at the end of March.

This year the closing has been postponed month after month under pressure of the needs of the poor people, and it has now been finally decided to keep the kitchens open for an indefinite period.

The Vorwaerts says the kitchens are crowded as in midwinter, and that there are many complaints regarding the insufficiency of the rations served.

INSULTED TROOPS; RIOT FOLLOWED.

ELIZABETH, N.J., June 29.—Because several pro-German employes at the Marconi Wireless Company made insulting remarks yesterday about the troops as they passed the shop on the Central Railroad on their way to the border, a riot followed.

GERMAN ACCOUNT PAYS TRIBUTE TO CANADIAN PLUCK

Details of a General's Death, However, Lack Confirmation

Special Star Cable From Our Own Correspondent. (Copyright.)

THE MONTREAL STAR OFFICE, 17 Cockspur street, London, June 29. —The Cologne People's Gazette's account of a Canadian General's heroic fight in the Ypres conflict of June 2, is thought here to refer to Gen. Mercer who, only in today's casualty lists is officially reported killed.

The Cologne account says that the Canadians were completely exhausted, but that they resisted stubbornly, refusing to surrender.

"A General, who was captured, drew a sword and struck in the face a sergeant who had summoned him to surrender," it says.

"The sergeant thereupon attacked the General, who was fighting like a madman, and ran him through. Numerous other officers were killed because they refused to surrender."

WINDERMERE.

OTTAWA DISCREDITS STORY.

Special to The Montreal Star From Our Staff Correspondent.

OTTAWA, June 29. — Only one Canadian General, Major-Gen. Mercer, has fallen at the front, and it is doubtless this officer who is referred to in a cable despatch as having died valiantly, surrounded by Germans, after drawing his sword and slaughtering one of them.

In the account of the circumstances of the General's death, however, some one apparently has drawn upon a resourceful imagination. It is not borne out, either by the postcard from his aide, Lieut. Gooderham, or the Eye-Witness report, which came later.

Both agree that the General was stunned and lay on the field for upwards of a day, when he was instantly killed by the explosion of a shrapnel shell. The body was afterwards recovered and buried by the Canadians.

The story of the General having drawn his sword may be discredited, for officers do not carry swords in the trenches.

NOTE—As is pointed out above, two circumstantial, but in some respects variant accounts have been received of Major-Gen. Mercer's death. There does not appear to be any doubt that he was killed while lying wounded and unable to move.

It is possible that the Cologne paper's story has reference to the death of some officer of lower rank. The incident of the sword, however, may be taken as picturesque but inaccurate detail.

OWNERS OF SUN AND PRESS NEGOTIATING

NEW YORK, June 29.—William C. Reick, owner of The Sun, said last evening in reference to the report that Frank A. Munsey had bought The Sun and The Evening Sun or that The Sun Publishing Company had bought the Press:

"Mr. Munsey and I have been doing business affecting our papers for a long time—nearly two years, in fact—but we have come to no definite conclusion. Whether we shall or not is very uncertain. There is nothing more that I can say at this time."

BROWN IMPASSIVE WHEN SENTENCED TO 7-YEAR TERM

Special to The Montreal Star.

REGINA, June 29. J. P. Brown stood like a graven image before Judge Hannon in the District Court yesterday afternoon. Impassively he listened to H. Y. MacDonald's plea for leniency on his behalf. Impassively he listened to the quietly-spoken but severe strictures of the Crown Prosecutor, H. H. E. Sampson. Still impassively he heard Judge Hannon's earnest address in passing sentence, and when sentence was passed, never a muscle of his face twitched.

Brown will be taken at once to Prince Albert penitentiary. Three of the five charges against Brown were of forgery and of these two were in the class for which the maximum sentence is life imprisonment. One charge was for uttering and one of obtaining $59,000 by false pretences.

PROBABLY PREFERS JAIL.

Edward H. Devline, Liberal member for Kinistino, was brought up at the same time as Brown, but elected for trial by Judge and jury in the autumn. Devline is still without counsel and apparently does not intend to employ any. He has made full confession of his guilt before the Wetmore Commission and will probably not offer any defence when the case is called at the autumn Assizes.

His guiding motive in asking for the jury trial is probably that he is better off as prisoner in Regina jail awaiting trial than as a convict in the penitentiary, while the time he spends in jail here is likely to be considered when his sentence is determined. Brown's sentence dated from the time he was placed in jail here.

The Wetmore Commission has spent several days now in investigating the connection of J. F. Lindsay, the prominent political worker who died suddenly shortly after his arrest. Of his connection with the road work frauds there is no doubt, but as to Lindsay's degree of culpability there is much. Lindsay has been quoted by several witnesses as saying just before his death that he had cashed Government cheques for Brown but that the latter had had a smooth story fixed up to account for his possession of them.

On Friday morning the Haultain Commission will resume discussion of the new particulars of the charges relating to the asylum at Battleford, in which frauds of $400,000 are charged by counsel for Lieut.-Col. Bradshaw, M.L.A.

MISTAKE IN TENDER; COMPANY TO BLAME

The City Hall has had a bi-lingual incident which resulted in a misunderstanding with the Dominion Architectural Iron Works. A few weeks ago the city called for tenders for two fire escapes to be erected at each end of the Hall, and the Dominion Architectural Iron Works replied. When the manager asked for specifications, he was asked if he wanted an English copy. He stated that it did not make any difference, as his accountant understood French. When the tenders were opened, the Dominion Architectural Iron Works were the lowest by more than $300, and were awarded the contract.

Later, the Company wrote to the Board that they had figured on only one fire escape, as per the plan, the mistake being due to the fact that the French specifications were not properly understood. The Board hesitated over what to do, Mr. Ross claiming that the city should not take advantage of a man or a firm because of a bona fide mistake. It was finally decided that it would be unwise to open the dor too wide, Mr. Ainey remarking that it frequently happened that a contractor tried to cancel his contract in order to share in the profits of the next lowest tenderer. Consequently, the company was advised that if it did not build the escapes, they be built by someone else, at the expense of the accepted tenderer.

RANGERS' COLORS TO BE DEPOSITED IN CHURCH'S CARE

Ceremony Arranged for Sunday Morning in St. Patrick's

The Irish-Canadian Rangers will attend St. Patrick's Church at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, when the colors of the battalion will be deposited in the sanctuary to remain in the custody of the church.

Lieut.-Col. H. J. Trihey, officer commanding the battalion, will come up from Valcartier for the ceremony, and will head the church parade. At the church special seats will be reserved for the officers of the battalion and for the officers of St. Patrick's Society who presented the colors. A sermon will be preached by the Rev. Father Donnelly, of St. Anthony's Church. At the conclusion of the mass the colors will be handed by Col. Trihey to the Rev. Gerald McShane, pastor of St. Patrick's, and placed by the latter in position.

A party of forty recruits for the Rangers left for Valcartier last night in charge of Sergeant Kelly. They were conveyed to the Moreau street station on a special street car, which was decorated with flags.

NEWS FROM CAMP.

Col. Trihey, who was in the city yesterday on business, and will return tonight, reports that the men of the Rangers are rounding into condition very rapidly at the camp.

Pte. Gill, a veteran of the English Army at the front, who was half-blinded by gas and severely wounded by shell fragments, was one of the speakers last night at the recruiting meetin gheld for the Rangers at their trench and dugout in Dominion square. He made an eloquent appeal for recruits, calling upon a number of individuals in the audience to come forward, or to give their reasons for refusing. One man so accosted silently indicated an empty sleeve in his coat. He had been to the front already.

Pte. Gill said that at the beginning of the war he was working in a German bank in London, which "went broke." He at once joined the army. His father was killed in France and his mother went down on the Lusitania. At the close of the meeting, William Morrison, a Scotchman resident in Boston, went up to the dugout and enlisted. He has three brothers at the front, one of them having served at the Dardanelles.

The 5th Pioneer Battalion yesterday secured a number of recruits, including a rivetter, a forger, and several mechanics. The battalion held two parades yesterday, one in the forenoon to the Grand Trunk football grounds in Point St. Charles for squad drill and one in the afternoon to Fletcher's Field for company drill.

The 4th Canadian Field Engineers have secured about nineteen men this week in their recruiting campaign.

PETER MURPHY 62 YEARS OLD TODAY

This is Peter Murphy's birthday. He is sixty-two years old today and has been selling papers for over half a century.

"What a stock of Star's I have sold in that time," he said today. "However, I am still young and strong and on July 19 will treat the newsboys and girls to a picnic at St. Rose."

INVESTIGATIONS BY SIR CHARLES DAVIDSON CLOSED

Special to The Montreal Star from Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, June 29.—The Davidson Commission yesterday afternoon concluded its sittings with the hearing of the Auburn Woollen Mills case. For the present at least no new matters are in prospect.

At the beginning of the hearing Sir Charles Davidson stated that he had received a memorandum from J. A. Hutcheson, K.C., giving his views on the recent inquiry into the small arms ammunition sale to the Admiralty, through Col. J. Wesley Allison, while P. H. Dewart, K.C., had wired that his argument had been sent. It had not reached the Commissioner.

Sir Charles expressed the view that it would be desirable to hear from Col. Allison's counsel in regard to the case.

Afterwards the Auburn Mills case was concluded. It has dragged along for weeks. The charge was that the Peterboro firm had finished cloth for soldiers' uniforms that was not up to standard. Dr. Milton Hersey giving evidence recently spoke of an analysis he had made and stated that it showed the cloth, while not bad, to be about 15 per cent below the sample.

NO PRESSURE EXERCISED.

Evidence to the contrary was given by Charles Burns, of the contracts branch, who regarded the cloth as up to specification. He stated that no pressure had ever been exercised to induce the acceptance of goods below the standard except that when they were rejected manufacturers often asked that the supply be taken off their hands at a reduced value.

James Kendry, ex-M.P., of the Auburn Company, claimed that the Hersey analysis was not practical and this view was corroborated by R. S. Bartlett, of the American Woollen Mills, of Vermont, who said that a mixture of shoddy or short-fibre necessarily meant inferior quality. Charles Ferril, a military clothing inspector, said the Auburn cloth was up to specifications in every respect.

CITY CREST ON ONLY FEW OF THE AUTOS

Fifteen city automobiles lined up on the Champ de Mars yesterday afternoon, to be inspected by the Board of Control, composed for the time being of Controller Villeneuve alone. The appearance of the cars seemed satisfactory, except that eleven out of the fifteen were minus the crest, showing that they belonged to the city.

The review was made at the request of Controller Villeneuve, who stated after the inspection that he will insist on all the cars bearing the city crest as well as a number that will permit of their identification. He stated also that he favored the purchase of smaller cars. Small roadsters could be used by the engineers and inspectors of public works, saving cost and maintenance. There were only two small automobiles in the fifteen. The big car placed at the disposal of the Mayor was somewhere else.

Chester, Pa., dance halls are now policed by women by order of Mayor W. S. McDowell.

WOUNDED HEROES GET CHIEF PLACE IN LOCAL PARADE

Extensive Preparations for Dominion Day Celebration—Motors Wanted

Wounded and invalided soldiers back from the war will have the place of honor in the Dominion Day parade of those who have relatives at the front. Then will come members of the British Army and Navy Veterans' Association, the French Soldiers' Society and the Belgian Veterans, composed of men of the allied forces who have been invalided home. Male relatives of those who have gone will be given the next place in the parade, and the women and children will form the remainder of the procession.

Automobiles will be provided for those returned soldiers of all nations, who cannot march, if they will communicate with the Irish-Canadian Rangers' office, Uptown 7767. Members of the Automobile Club of Canada and also of the Automobile Trade Association have been asked to loan their cars between nine o'clock and noon for the wounded heroes. Owners of cars can communicate with the Rangers to receive instructions as to which convalescent home or hospital, or soldier's private home, they are asked to go.

There will be speeches at the massed gathering on Fletcher's Field after the parade, each national society arranging for its own speaker. Scout leaders and cadet officers to marshal the procession are asked to communicate their names to the Rangers' office at 524 St. Catherine street west.

There will be a review of all the troops in training at Valcartier on Dominion Day, while in the afternoon there will be inter-regimental sports. The troops will be inspected by Brig.-Gen. E. W. Wilson, the camp commandant, and the usual salutes given.

RAISING DRAFT OF HIGHLANDERS TO GO OVERSEAS

The 5th Royal Highlanders are starting in at once to raise a draft of 250 men with five lieutenants to go over as reinforcements to the Highlanders battalions that are already on active service. Authorisation for this was received yesterday by Lieut.-Col. C. N. Monsarrat, and will be announced to the battalion this evening at the parade in the Bleury street armory.

It is understood that as soon as this draft is completed it will be sent overseas to train with the 73rd, from which will go drafts to the 13th and 42nd battalions, which have had many casualties. This authorisation will be followed by further calls for drafts, and the opportunity of a speedy trip to the front is thus offered to men who desire to be connected with the Highlanders. Col. Monsarrat stated yesterday that there are thirty-five officers qualified to go. Many of them hold captain's and even field officer's certificates, but will be willing to go as subalterns in order to get overseas. A large number of men in the 5th Highlanders have also expressed a desire to go across the ocean, and it is believed that when volunteers are called for tonight, the nucleus of the draft will be found ready at hand.

The raising of these drafts will not interfere with the raising of another Highland battalion, which will be undertaken by Lieut.-Col. W. D. Birchall as soon as authorisation is received.

Delegates at the St. Louis National Democratic Convention will be besieged by scores of suffragists who will present their arguments to them.

SUDDEN INVASION OF CUSTOMS MEN CAUSED A PANIC

Customs Officials Invade Woodstock and Stir Up Residents

WENT AWAY BUT RETURNED AGAIN

Same People Caught Twice —Taught Valuable Lesson

There is always a great temptation for people who live near the border between Canada and the United States, to obtain goods cheaply in one place and cross the boundary line without undergoing the formality of paying duty on articles purchased. Some people, who would be considerably annoyed if they were accused of robbing the Treasury, not only get things for themselves, but bring over goods for their friends and relatives.

So widespread is this practice that in many of the towns within easy reach of the border storekeepers have complained to the Canadian Government that they are being forced out of business. Owing to the geographical position of the border towns, it is not an easy matter to keep a check on all articles brought in by rail or road, and for a long time the people of all classes who were engaged in the business, either from motives of friendship or for profit, had things their own way.

WOODSTOCK INVADED.

This was the case particularly at Woodstock, and the uproar caused in that little town this month, when half a dozen or so customs officials, of both sexes, descended upon it, and held up and searched every passenger on the train at Debec Junction, which had carried them across the border from Houlton, Maine, would have put an American Presidential convention to shame. The ladies were highly indignant at being accused of trying to defraud the Government, and they were more indignant when the female searchers found all sorts of dutiable articles concealed about their clothes, and when they ascertained that they would either have to pay the full value of the goods, plus the duty, or have them confiscated.

It was a severe blow at free trade, and several of those caught declared their intention of going out of the business right away. For a few days there was nothing more doing. The hauls of the customs officers gradually became smaller, and it was thought by those who watched proceedings and backed up the officials, that a salutary lesson had been taught the public.

A SUDDEN RETURN.

So the customs officials bade goodbye to the district and congratulations were extended all round that they had wiped out an abuse. Even a local paper published a fond farewell to the customs people. For the length of a week-end things went on as usual, and then, without any warning, there was a bunch of men and women at Debec Junction again, and there were loud lamentations, as one person after another had to undergo the search, and was caught with the goods.

Their professions of contrition a few days before had been forgotten, but the lesson that was taught them the second time will, the customs people expect, do a great deal towards keeping them in line, and giving their local storekeepers a chance to turn an honest penny in fair trade.

There are other places along the border where the same process is being carried out.

Life and Character Reading

JUNE 29.

If the person of this birthdate desires happiness, let him conquer his desire to acquire money for money's sake and be willing to listen to adverse criticism, realizing that in so doing he will be able to correct those faults which will mean failure in his life.

Cancer, the governing sign of this birthdate, indicates that persistency and stubborn hold of purpose, which is a chief characteristic of the Cancer-born.

Venus, the star of love, is the governing planet and imparts a deeply ardent love nature.

Love of home and family are dominant.

Appreciation and praise will always help this person to success. Marriage with one born in the first two weeks of February will be happy.

Iron workers, machinists and metal workers will be favored by prosperous planetary conditions if using The Montreal Daily Star Want Ads during the coming month.

DR. LIEBKNECHT SENT TO PRISON; HE MAY APPEAL

BERLIN, June 29, via Amsterdam to London.—Dr. Karl Liebknecht, the Socialist leader, was sentenced today to thirty months' penal servitude and dismissed from the army, for attempted high treason, gross insubordination and resistance to the authorities.

The Court adopted the view that Dr. Liebknecht was guided by political fanaticism and not by unpatriotic feeling, and therefore imposed the lowest penalty on him. Dr. Liebknecht is entitled to appeal from the sentence.

Dr. Liebknecht, whose criticisms of the Government in speeches in the Reichstag previously had led to his expulsion from the Socialist party in that body, was arrested on May 1, during the demonstration, and since has been held in custody, the Reichstag having on May 11, by a vote of 229 to 11, declined to order his release.

He has been accused not only of taking part in, but of arranging a demonstration, at which it is alleged cries of "Down with the war!" and "Down with the Kaiser!" were raised.

A report on his arrest, made to the Reichstag, contained these charges, and in detailing the circumstances of the incident asserted that he resisted the police, but finally was knocked down and overpowered.

Parliamentary immunity for Dr. Liebknecht was claimed, but not allowed. It was announced he had denied that he was guilty of treason, but had admitted taking part in the demonstration.

Dr. Liebknecht's conviction automatically debars him as a lawyer, and makes him ineligible to hold public office. It does not, however, affect his position as member of the Prussian Diet and the Reichstag, since these offices are held as the result of election by the voters, and not by government appointment.

His status as a legislator is unaffected, as the Court refrained from revoking his civil rights.

Viscount Crichton's Body Found by the Huns and Buried

LONDON, June 29.—Germany has notified Great Britain through the American Embassy, that the body of Major Viscount Crichton has been found and re-interred. This is the first definite information the family has had of the fate of Lord Henry William Crichton, who had been missing since November, 1914.

Viscount Crichton was born in 1872, and was a member of the Royal Horse Guards. He had been missing since November, 1914, and had been reported a prisoner in the hands of the Germans. His father, the Earl of Erne, died in December, 1914.

The latest records of the Peerage name Viscount Crichton as the new Earl of Erne, but owing to the fact that he was missing, say that his successor to the title was uncertain. Viscount Crichton married Lady Mary Cavendish Grosvenor, daughter of the Duke of Westminster, and their son, the Hon. John Henry George, born in 1907, therefore becomes Earl of Erne.

TO CONTINUE FESTIVAL.

The St. Ann's parish stawberry festival will be continued for two evenings more.

NEW HOSPITALS COMMAND FOR CANADA CREATED

Special to The Montreal Star.

OTTAWA, June 29.—A Canadian hospitals command has been established as a regular branch of the Canadian Expeditionary Forces, but having jurisdiction especially over the military hospitals and convalescent homes.

The work of the Hospitals Commission has grown tremendously in the last few months, and when the great numbers of invalided soldiers from the recent fighting in Flanders come home it will be further increased greatly.

Some special provision was consequently necessary. Heretofore the work has been divided between the Hospitals Commission and the medical branch of the Militia Department. The dual authority is to be done away with and a new hospital unit has been formed for purposes of administration, discipline and command.

There will be ten divisions, one for each military division in Canada. An officer and subordinates will be in charge of each hospital or convalescent home and will direct its affairs subject to the Commission at Ottawa.

Lieut.-Col. Sharples, of Quebec, who has been in charge of the Depot for returned soldiers there, is to command the unit.

SAYS 1 BATTALION LEFT OF ELEVEN IN HOOGE FIGHT

Wounded Private of 60th Says Losses Were Terrific

Were Told to Go In to Try to Retake Them—The Fighting

"Out of the eleven battalions that took part in that fighting I do not believe you could make a regiment if all the survivors were put together," is the way that Pte. Cecil Bradford, of B. Company, 60th Battalion, describes the great battle at Hooge in which he was wounded. He is now in the Grayllngwell Military Hospital at Chichester, and in a letter to his parents, who reside at 28 Agnes street, St. Henry, he says:

"I am now in a hospital in England in a town they call Chichester, Sussex. I am just suffering from shell shock through a shell exploding in front of me, the concussion bruising my eyes, nose and cheek. The battle was simply awful.

"The 60th had just come back for a rest after being sixteen days in the same trenches in which I got shell shock in the last battle. About three p.m. we got an order to fall in, fully equipped, in ten minutes. After the company had fallen in Capt. Vessey told us the Germans had captured the trenches we had just left and we would have to go up and try to push them out. He also said it was not likely he would have the whole company before him again if we did get into action so he warned us to be careful and not do anything rash, and above all to keep up the good name of the 60th. We got our first taste of it about nine o'clock that night when three of our fellows were hit by shrapnel.

WEEPING GAS FIRST.

"As we advanced we began to feel our eyes smarting and burning. Pretty soon we were blinded from the weeping gas that the Huns were sending over. The water ran from our eyes and nose in a stream and the pain was awful. Soon after we jumped into an old trench to get a rest. About an hour later we started our advance under heavy shelling to Sanctuary Wood. That trip, only two miles long, took about five hours. The communication trench we went up was all destroyed and choked with dead and wounded.

"When we arrived in the wood we must have been seen from a German observation balloon because because they started to shell us badly. We kept on going until our platoon got into the front line, which was held by dead men. We had not been there five minutes before the Germans started to come over on our left to cut us off, as they held our right. So as we were only seventeen men, although we had started out with forty, we had the order to retire or be captured, so we fell back without any confusion although we were in full view of the enemy most of the time. We took up our position in a second line.

"By this time the shells were coming so fast that it seemed impossible to live under them. We got out our cigarettes, which seemed to lessen the strain by fifty per cent. I was sitting in the trench when a shell hit the parados, sent me flying backwards against the parapet, and knocked me out for a couple of minutes. When I came to my nerves got the best of me and I was sent out with two fellows who were wounded. I cannot describe that journey very well as I was pretty nearly off my head. About half way down a shell struck the wall in front of me, blowing it in and catching me square in the face.

"When I woke up again someone handed me my rifle and I started down the trench once more, with the blood coming out of my nose and mouth. I managed somehow to get to a dressing station in Ypres, then to the clearing station, got on a hospital train and arrived in Boulogne, stayed the night there and next day crossed over to Dover, took another train and here I am. I don't think many of the 60th are left. As for the Princess Pats, the 42nd, 49th, the R. C. R.'s, four battalions of the Canadian Mounted Rifles, 10th, 16th—you could not make a regiment from all of them put together."

ADDITIONAL PRICE RALLIES---BANK CLEARINGS GROWING

LEADERS ALL WENT HIGHER STRONG TONE

Under the impetus of a very strong opening in New York as the result of the more conciliatory character of the news from Mexico, the local list acquired fresh strength with still higher prices for the leaders on the rally.

The three steel leaders and to a more moderate extent Smelters and Cement absorbed the great proportion of market interest. Iron, Steel of Canada and Scotia attracted about an equal amount of attention and all three worked higher very soon after the opening.

After the first buying rush was over the market cooled down considerably and prices eased back from the best, but the steel group closed above yesterday's highest range.

Iron opened at 55½ which compares with yesterday's high at 55¼ and close at 51¾. In the first hour it touched 56¾ and held for the balance of the session at 56.

Steel of Canada started off at 58½ compared with yesterday's high at 58 and close at 57¾. In the first hour it went to 59 and closed at noon at 58½.

Scotia continued to feel the effect of the buying movement started yesterday when New York figured prominently in the dealings, and after opening at 130 went to 131, but reacted to 130 compared with yesterday's high at 129½ and the week's low at 129.

Smelters opened at 38 to 38¼, but eased back to 37½ at which it equalled yesterday's high and close. Cement was 67½ to 67¾.

Power was a fraction stronger at 235¾ and Civic, in the unlisted, was 78. Other features were Brazilian 57¾, Laurentide ex-dividend 2 per cent, 180 to 179; Bridge in odd lots at 221, Detroit 115 to 115¾, Ames 29 to 30, Wayagamack 53½, Quebec Ry. 28¼ to 28, General Electric 115, and Toronto Rails 100.

C. P. R. was strong but quiet in New York at 176½. In the unlisted department there was a little more active market for Tram. Power at 34.

Opinions from Wall Street

Jenks, Gwynne & Co.—We look for the stock market to respond to the favorable overnight Mexican news by a bettering of values. But at the same time we do not regard the international situation so clarified as to warrant assuming a definite market position. We believe quick trading commitments are still advisable for the present.

Laidlaw & Co.—While the release of American prisoners by Mexico by no means settles the questions at issue between the two governments it nevertheless relieves the immediate tension and paves the way for more pacific overtures.

Post & Flagg.—The market opened up strong this morning on the more favorable Mexican situation. Stocks especially affected, like Mexican Petroleum, naturally showing the biggest advance. Steel also opened up sharply and there are rumors current that favorable developments were considered at the board meeting yesterday.

Burnett & Co.—The extreme advance at the opening was no doubt largely due to short covering, and the technical position was thereby weakened.

E. & C. Randolph—The Mexican situation is still unsettled one way or the other and until it is settled will remain as a retarding market influence.

Shearson, Hammill & Co.—Good buying of past few days coupled with scarcity of offerings made it hard to get stocks. At the present the market is steady and shows a firm undertone.

GOOD IMPRESSION ON LONDON BY NEWS

Special to The Montreal Star.

LONDON, June 29.—Markets firm and quiet. Consols, 60¼; Rio Tintos, 61; War Loans, old, 89½; British 4½'s, 96 5-16; French loan, 87. American stocks were irregular within narrow limits.

The better Mexican situation and an official announcement that the Australian Commonwealth loan had been fully subscribed for created a good impression on the Stock Exchange today, although business did not increase in view of the holiday Saturday and the final abandonment of minimum prices Monday.

Home rails and shipping and industrial shares were the best sections, copper stocks had a good tone and there were signs of reviving.

The Bank of England today shipped £165,000 in sovereigns to Spain. Money 4 per cent. Discount rate, short bills, 5 per cent; three month, 5⅛ per cent.

TRAM POWER 35 BID

Tram Power sold at 34 in the unlisted market but closed at noon 35 bid, 35½ asked.

BAR SILVER LOWER

Bar silver was fractionally lower today, selling in New York at 65⅞c, compared with 66¼c yesterday. The London price today was 31 7-16d.

Financial Personals

Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, General Manager of the Bank of Montreal, left Montreal last night for New York and will sail from there today on the Kroonland for London. It is understood that Sir Frederick is going to London in connection with the affairs of the bank and to attend the postponed Banbury trial at which he will be an important witness. It is interesting to note that this is the first occasion on which Sir Frederick returned to England since assuming the general managership of the Bank in December, 1913.

C. P. R. NET EARNINGS BREAK PREVIOUS BEST

Canadian Pacific shareholders are now assured of the best year in the history of the company so far as net profits are concerned, judging by the return for eleven months to the end of May, notwithstanding the gross revenue for that period was slightly over $10,000,000 below the record year of 1912-13. The net profits of $45,536,287 are close to $3,000,000 in excess of the previous eleven months' record.

The May gross and net are far ahead of any previous month this year and gross was only exceeded in November and December last year.

Gross earnings last month amounted to $12,472,167, an increase of over $5,200,000, or 71.8 per cent, compared with May of last year. Net returns of $4,372,282 were $1,929,280, or 78.9 per cent.

The May figures in details are as follows:

| | 1916. | 1915. | Inc. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Gross.... | $12,472,167 | $7,261,495 | $5,210,671 |
| Expenses | 8,099,884 | 4,818,493 | 3,281,391 |
| Net..... | $4,372,282 | $2,443,002 | $1,929,280 |

For eleven months gross is $10,000,000 below the 1912-13 record, but net is close to $3,000,000 better than that year's showing, as will be seen by the following comparisons:

| Eleven Months. | Gross. | Net. |
|---|---|---|
| 1915-16.......... | $117,589,275 | $45,536,287 |
| 1914-15.......... | 91,353,175 | 30,896,596 |
| 1913-14.......... | 119,760,401 | 38,990,362 |
| 1912-13.......... | 127,721,269 | 42,618,120 |
| 1911-12.......... | 112,918,142 | 39,451,640 |

Comparative returns for the eleven months of the past two years, given out yesterday, show the results in greater detail, as follows:

| | 1916 | Increase |
|---|---|---|
| Gross ... ....... | $117,589,275 | $26,236,100 |
| Expenses ...... | 72,052,988 | 11,596,409 |
| Net profits ..... | 45,536,287 | 14,639,691 |

N. Y.—Northern Pacific, regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent.

Press Opinions on N.Y. Situation

NEW YORK, June 29.— Tribune.—Dealings in stocks yesterday fell away to an unusually small total, and prices moved in uncertain fashion as the market waited for some word as to what Carranza was going to do in response to our demand that our captured soldiers be released. Should this lead to an admission of an actual state of war there might, it was thought, be a test of the theory so widely held that a sharp break would come on such news.

Times. — Yesterday's stock market was the creature of uncertainty. The narrower fluctuations in prices are controlled by those who take a day-to-day view, or even an hour-to-hour view, rather than by those who look to the longer range effect of current news.

Sun.—A favorable indication of stock market stability, after the heavy liquidation and declines this month, was furnished yesterday by the contraction of business. The reduced volume of dealings suggested that the disappearance of selling pressure after Monday night has marked the restoration of the list to a state of comparative equilibrium.

Press.—Absence of an important demand for stocks, either for public or Wall Street account, and the general unwillingness of substantial professional operators to enter the market pending more definite news regarding the character of the Carranza reply to this Government's ultimatum were reflected yesterday in a small volume of business on the Stock Exchange.

American.— Expectation that Carranza's message to President Wilson will be that the American public will consider impertinent was used yesterday in Wall Street as an excuse for a weak market. The true reason was the technical condition.

World.—Stocks marked time. There were a few fractional advances, but these were about counterbalanced by moderate reactions. Many extra dividends were declared, several corporations resumed payments on their stock, and there were reports of impending dividend disbursements on industrial railroad shares.

AFTER SHARP JUMP PRICES BACKED SOME

Special to The Montreal Star.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Responding to favorable Mexican developments, the Stock Exchange opened with a bang today, prices jumping one to four points. Stocks which have been driven down during the past several days made the greatest gains.

Butte and Superior was up 3½ to 70, American Smelting gained 3⅛, Studebaker 2½, Chandler Motor 3¾, Crucible 3¾ and Marine Pfd. 3⅛. U. S. Steel sold up to 1⅛ to 86. Mexican Petroleum opened at 101, up ten points.

More than a quarter of a million shares were sold during the first hour. Prices declined after the opening rush of buying, and the market soon turned upward again. Mexican Petroleum dropped to 96⅝, then soon sold above 97.

The importance of the Mexican situation as a financial factor was demonstrated at the opening. The decision of the Mexican government to release the American troopers was made the occasion of excited trading in which special issues rose 2 to 5 points, with 10 for Mexican Petroleum. Other active stocks, including rails, the war group and metals were higher by 2 to 3 points. U. S. Steel's first transaction consisted of 12,000 at 86 to 85½, an extreme gain of 1¾.

Reactions of 1 to 4 points resulting mainly from profit-taking were registered before the end of the first half hour.

The buying movement, which included much covering of short accounts, soon ran its course, dealings diminishing to less than normal proportions before noon.

There were further reactions, Mexican Petroleum yielding about half its gain, while Maxwell Motors and similar specialties showed greater reversals. Reading and Southern Pacific receded 1 to 2 points and U. S. Steel, which led the busy first hour, lost all but a fraction of its gain. This same condition applied to shipping shares and miscellaneous issues. Bonds were firm.

Topics of the Street

There will be the customary observance of Canada's national holiday on Saturday (Dominion Day) in the financial district, and there will be no session of the Montreal Stock Exchange that day.

Although C. P. R. shares are almost a forgotten factor so far as the local market dealings are concerned, the wonderful showing being made in earnings as the fiscal year draws to a close ought to have an important influence on general security values.

The last day of the fiscal year is tomorrow, but it will be nearly a month before the detailed returns for June are ready, but the completion of the approximate weekly returns next week will give a relatively close idea of the gross and the net can be fairly well estimated.

The returns for May and eleven months, published in another column, constitute a wonderful exhibit of the ability of the property to come back to former high levels. The returns also indicate the wonderful activity throughout the country.

The news from Mexico assumed a favorable turn two days after the stock market rally succeeding the bear attack developed.

One of the natural inferences to be drawn from this is that the underlying conditions in the market are such that the bears dreaded being caught unsupported and hurried to cover before decisive news one way or the other had a chance to break.

Had the news respecting the delivery of the American prisoners taken in Mexico been a refusal it would have made it easy for the bears to stand out, but the possibility that this might be the case did not entice them, and they were fortunate to have covered when they did.

The sharp rally in Wall Street helped to further strengthen the local market.

The entire removal of minimum price restrictions next Monday will free the London Stock Exchange from all important rules except the prohibition against speculation.

The securities now under the minimum regulations include the Indian, Irish and Transvaal loans, home corporations and Indian railways. Prices will be adjusted so that these securities will yield 5 to 5½ per cent, involving declines of 10 to 20 points on different issues.

This broadening of the list of available investments will be warmly welcomed in view of the shortage in stocks.

"I cannot see much hope of a real bull market unless the European war is to be continued indefinitely," remarks Jules S. Bache, the well-known to his clients on the general situation. New York financier, in a special letter By indefinitely he means war for at least a year longer.

The one potent reason he considers against any advance is that "the public and Wall Street are loaded. The books of the active brokerage houses are full of stale bull accounts."

Most traders, he adds, are watching the ticker for the time when prices will be low enough to buy. Investors are waiting to see which way the cat will jump when the war is over. His conclusion is: "I do not wish to be construed as advising the sale of stocks —in my opinion the great majority of them are cheap at present prices even when the war is over, but I cannot advise speculations pure and simple to load up, even if prices are low, until I can see who is likely to relieve them of their stocks at higher prices."

"Greater than the wildest dreams," is a phrase used by Edward Shearson, the New York broker, in referring to expectations of U. S. Steel earnings for the current quarter and the balance of the year, in an interesting letter on that company with reference to the market position of the shares.

He points out that while there may be some things against the market for its shares at the present, the position of the company is so strong that "the question for a man to decide is whether or not he should wait for a break in price of the stock or buy it now. If he waits he may be disappointed, as realization of these enormous earnings may influence widespread investment in the stock on account of the popularity of the company and its management.

"The ultimate outcome with the (Supreme Court) suit decided in its favor is only one way, and that means eventually very materially higher prices than the present level. I am trying to lay these facts before you so that you may know of the favorable developments that are coming this year. I am not undertaking to prophesy whether the stock is going up or down, but leave this to the judgment of yourselves."

Canadian Car & Foundry expects to complete shipment of 1,500,000 shells of Russian order this week. These are valued at $22,000,000 out of total of $83,000,000.

PROGRESS ON MUNITIONS NEW CREDIT

Special to The Montreal Star.

OTTAWA, June 29.—The new credit which the Canadian Bankers' Association proposes to establish for the purposes of the munitions board will likely be on a monthly basis—the amount being equal to the requirements of the board in financing its shell, explosives and other orders.

The expenditures of late have aggregated upwards of a million a day, and little doubt exists that this will be continued, it being pretty clear that the volume of Canadian orders will be corresponding to the capacity of Canada to take care of them financially.

When the next war loan is negotiated it is quite probable that as before a portion of it will be devoted to establishing credits for British war orders.

In the meantime the assistance of the Bankers' Association will be further invoked on precisely the same conditions as heretofore.

OTTAWA, June 29.—Good progress was made at yesterday's conference between Canadian bankers and the Minister of Finance, respecting the matter of further credits to finance munition and war orders in Canada.

No official statement is yet made as the negotiations will call for time. There is no reason to doubt, however, that additional money will be forthcoming to finance a project whose effect on the general business of Canada has been very great.

At the present time the Imperial Munitions Board is disbursing in Canada from a million to a million and a half dollars per day, keeping busy over three hundred establishments and employing many thousands of men in the manufacture of shells, explosives and other war material for use at the front by Great Britain and the Allies.

Preparations for an increased export trade with Russia and other Allies were also urged by Sir Thomas White, and it is understood that attention will be given to the question of establishing financial agencies for the purpose of advising upon and dealing with Russian and other foreign credits. At present it is felt that no more can be done than to mature and prepare well in advance plans for facilitating future business of this character which, it is hoped, may largely take the place of the munition and war supply business in which Canada is participating so largely.

The bankers who attended the conference included the president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, the president of the Bank of Montreal, the general manager of the Dominion, Royal, Commerce, Nova Scotia, and Imperial Banks, and Messrs. J. W. Flavelle and C. B. Gordon, of the Munition Board.

CROWN RESERVE'S ORE

After drifting twenty feet on the big vein found on the 700-foot level, a six inch vein was encountered on the Crown Reserve running across it. The character of the rock has changed, leading to the belief that conglomerate will be encountered shortly. The two veins are rich mill ore with patches of high grade. If the veins extend into conglomerate it is likely that they will be high grade bodies.

Notes on 'Change

The Winnipeg grain exchange will be closed on Saturday, July 1, on account of Dominion Day. The Chicago Board of Trade will remain open as usual.

A. G. Thomson, of Duluth, Minn., was introduced on 'Change today by A. G. Thomson.

In spite of the fact that a large acreage has been planted in cotton this season, and that it is practically certain that the United States will raise 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 bales more than last year, cotton continues to advance in price and new crop deliveries are now at a level that would be considered high in times of peace.

"Canadian commercial travellers calling at this office state that local importers are placing large orders for Canadian goods for fall delivery. One traveller representing a Canadian hat factory sold $6,000 worth of caps to one firm, and in a few days sold over $20,000 worth of goods. Other travellers report record trips this season," writes W. B. Nicholson, Canadian Trade Commissioner, St. John's, Nfld.

Steamer rates continue to ease off, and in some trades are quotably lower due to the continued absence of demand of consequence and the increasing offerings of boats for prompt delivery.

Four thousand motor trucks for army use are to be purchased by the American Government. The contracts will be placed in a few days. Agents of the truck manufacturers are on the ground to confer with the military authorities.

Minneapolis wheat stock decreased 45,000 bushels in two days.

BULLS WERE HANDICAPPED, WHEAT DOWN

CHICAGO, June 29.—Notwithstanding higher quotations from Liverpool and despite too much rain in the domestic spring crop region, wheat prices today underwent a sag. Burdensome supplies and the apparent absence of any adequate outlet seemed to be too heavy a handicap for the bulls.

Opening prices, which ranged from a shade off to ¼ to ⅜ higher, with July at 100¾ to 101 and September at 104 to 104⅜, were followed by a material down turn all around.

With July wheat 3½c under September and a full carrying charge, wheat bears say there is nothing in the bull side at present, says the Herald. Any time that the bull has to pay carrying charges, conditions are regarded as against him. This encourages the bears to believe that the rally at the close was merely technical and resulting from shorts covering. Light offerings of new wheat and indications of a better demand when it is available create the impression among the bulls that good new wheat will be wanted around the present level and that the pressure from hedges will be light.

STRONG UNDERTONE, MARKET HELD STEADY

From the Winnipeg Office of James Carruthers & Co., Limited.

WINNIPEG, June 29. — There was considerable Manitoba wheat worked after the close of the market yesterday, and European exporters reported cable acceptances this morning for further lots. This had a strengthening effect on the market, and although prices did not advance, the undertone was strong.

Importing countries apparently are going to take care of any surplus old crop Manitobas and continue picking it up on any decline.

1916 FRUIT CROPS TO BE ABOUT AVERAGE

Special to The Montreal Star.

OTTAWA, June 29.—The July fruit crop report, which is now being distributed by the Fruit Branch of the Department of Agriculture, contains the following information regarding the condition of fruits in all parts of Canada:

In western Ontario there will be a light apple crop and much of the fruit will be of a poor quality. East of Toronto, Spies are light, but on the whole indications point to a crop nearly medium. Duchess and Wealthy promise a heavy crop in eastern Ontario. Fameuse and McIntosh will be a full crop where orchards have been sprayed. The total crop in British Columbia is estimated as slightly larger than last year. Nova Scotia reports two-thirds of an average crop, or slightly over one million barrels.

Peaches—There has been considerable damage from "leaf curl" in Niagara. The crop is estimated at 75 per cent of last year. British Columbia reports a crop about equal to last year.

Pears—In Niagara, Bartletts are a good crop, Anjou and Kieffer fair and Duchess very light. Prospects are generally favorable in British Columbia.

Plums—There will be a light crop in Ontario. There are practically no Japanese plums except Burbank. European varieties will average a half crop. In Quebec there will be about as many plums as last year. European varieties have set particularly heavy.

Cherries—In Niagara district sweet varieties will be about 30 per cent of 1915 and sour varieties 20 per cent. British Columbia reports sweet varieties light and sour varieties a fair crop.

THAT BANKING DEAL

NEW YORK, June 29.—Sir Frederick Williams Taylor, general manager of the Bank of Montreal, was in this city today. He said he was on his way to England to complete arrangements with the British Government for a $25,000,000 loan by Canadian banks. "The Banks of Canada," Sir Frederick said, "are advancing to the Imperial Munitions Board an additional $25,000,000, making a total of $101,000,000, counting the previous $76,000,000 advanced in April last year. The inducement to the banks to make this additional advance is that war contracts of a similar or greater value shall be placed in Canada."

Canada's Plans for Trade with Russia

Special to The Montreal Star.

OTTAWA, June 29.—In keeping with the policy outlined by Sir Thomas White to the Canadian Bankers yesterday advocating steps for developing trade with Russia, the Trade and Commerce Department in the past year has been making investigations and generally looking over the ground.

C. F. Just, one of the trade commissioners, has interviewed Russian importers and has forwarded to the department numerous communications dealing with trade prospects. It has been decided to make Mr. Just trade representative in Russia premanently, while W. Wilgress, after several months service in the department, has been assigned to a trade mission in Siberia. His headquarters will be at Omsk. A. K. Kennedy, who recently graduated at Toronto University, replaces Mr. Wilgress in the department.

CROWN COUNSEL AND WITNESSES SCORED BY KELLY

Sas Expert Evidence is Unfair and Horwood Unbalanced

By Canadian Press.

WINNIPEG, June 29.—Thomas Kelly resumed, at 10 o'clock this morning, his address to the jury, which has to decide on his guilt or innocence on the charges arising from his work as contractor on the new Parliament buildings. Kelly was advised by his sons, Lawrence and Charles, who sat at the lawyers' tables.

"Mr. Bonnar," declared Kelly, "has evidently disregarded the truth in several instances in addressing you. In view of all his misstatements, can you believe anything he says?"

Kelly pointed to the four different estimates as to the alleged overpayments to him. Which were the jury to believe? He referred to "the indefensible stand of the Crown," in forcing him to trial without time to secure counsel. All the evidence submitted was the uncorroborated evidence of a conspiracy for which he was not being tried. Horwood was referred to as a "self-confessed perjurer and conspirator."

Kelly insisted that Horwood had always worked on the basis of Kelly's tender for the caissons at $844,037. He declared Horwood was "living on the luxury of the land and being paid by the Government to give such evidence as they want."

NO CREDIT GIVEN.

Horwood was "more to be pitied than censured," said Kelly, who added that he had come to the conclusion that he was "mentally unbalanced."

Kelly reviewed John Woodman's report on the buildings, and claimed that he had omitted any credit for many items, including a macadamized road around the building. He had allowed less than a fair amount for many more items.

Kelly declared Woodman was "incompetent and unreliable," and no expert on caisson construction. No definite conclusions could be arrived at from testing a few caissons.

He claimed Russell, another expert, also omitted making any allowance for numerous items of work and plant. He thought he had sufficiently shown Russell's incompetence and unfairness" and he said Russell's prices were absurd. Both men, asserted Kelly, were either incompetent or dishonest. He thought the Government realized that the experts Russell, Woodman and Scielor were incompetent, because they had not employed them in revising the plans for the dome.

Kelly claimed that architect F. W. Simon's original plans for the building could not have been used without changes. Simon said the floors would carry 140 to 150 pounds to the square foot, but E. C. Shankilnd, a Chicago engineer, Professor Brydone Jack and others were of the opinion that they would not carry over ten to twenty-five pounds per square foot. He claimed Simon's design for the dome was faulty.

INSPECTORS AT FAULT.

He referred to the evidence that Simon suggested a joint supervision of the building with Horwood, they to split one per cent commission—about $30,000. Kelly declared that this was offering Horwood a bribe. "Horwood," he said, "told me himself Simon tried to bribe him. Horwood was paid by the Government for full time."

Kelly claimed if any fault was to be found with the caissons it was because the Government inspectors did not do their duty. "I gave instructions," he said, "that not a pound of concrete should be poured into the caissons without the inspector's approval. I could not be there all the time."

J. B. Coyne interrupted to remark that many of Kelly's statements were "absolutely unutterable fabrications."

Kelly took exception to this, and Justice Prendergast permitted him to proceed.

Accused declared it would cost the Government at least one to twenty millions more to finish the building than it would have under his contract. The Crown was afraid to call local contractors who could tell about prices. Caisson work in Winnipeg had cost from $20 to $38 per yard.

Kelly declared that both Wm. Salt and L. Villeroy, the Government inspectors on the caissons were still paid by the Government though not working. He said he had done his best to put in good caissons.

A STORMY SCENE.

Kelly claimed he had never seen a building without cracks. Those in the Parliament buildings were most in the plaster outside the brick work of the foundation, and there was no settling of the caissons.

A storm arose over Kelly's desire to refer to the alleged agreement between himself and the Government f the arbitration of civil disputes.

"This document," said Kelly, "was approved by the Attorney-General and Mr. Coyne."

Mr. Coyne objected to "this shameless mendacity," and protested.

His Lordship allowed Kelly to proceed despite Mr. Coyne's protests.

"I'll address the jury and correct whatever is amiss," he said.

R. W. Craig stated for the Crown that the document in Kelly's possession was not signed by the Attorney-General or Mr. Coyne.

"But agreed on," said Kelly

Mr. Craig—"The best evidence of an agreement is in the signatures."

APPEAL FOR JUSTICE.

Kelly left the subject of the agreement and talked of the jury being "locked up like cattle," at the request of the Crown. He concluded by a reference to "a tyrannical government," and an appeal for justice. Two or three minutes of claps from the crowded Court followed his conclusion.

Kelly spoke all day yesterday and for two hours today.

R. A. Bonnar suggested he should reply. The Judge offered no encouragement, and no reply was made.

The Judge began his charge to the jury at 11:30 by saying the case was a very unusual one and informed the jury as to the technical aspects of the charges against accused. Commonsense more than any other quality was what the jurors needed.

PREMIER ASQUITH STATES ATTITUDE AS TO OBJECTORS

By Canadian Press.

LONDON, June 29.—Premier Asquith today made his promised statement in the House of Commons regarding the procedure of the War Office towards conscientious objectors to military service who had committed offences in this connection.

All men who honestly objected to military service, said the Premier, ought to be able to avail themselves of the exemption privileges. Those who put forward the plea of conscientious objection as a cloak to cover indifference to response to the national call ought to be treated with the utmost vigor.

The Premier announced that genuine conscientious objectors who undertook to perform work of national importance would cease to be the subject of military discipline.

WEEKLY PAY ROLL OF CITY IS HUGE; $125,530 IN ALL

The number of people figuring on the city pay roll for the week ending June 17, was 8,004, of whom 5,160 are day laborers, and 2,844 permanent civic servants, policemen, firemen and the like.

The total of their pay for that week, was $126,530.61, which would mean an annual outlay of over $6,500,000 if the same number of men were employed every week.

The weekly pay of civic officials of all kind, for the same week is $61,598.89, and the pay of the day laborers employed on the parks, the incineration department, on the water works, on the roads and the sewers, $64,931.72.

The 5,000 extra men are distributed as follows: parks, 199; incineration, 304; water works, 647; roads, 2,376 and sewers, 1,734.

In the City Hall, there are 922 clerks and other officials; the police force has now 1,104 men and the fire brigade 718.

The grand total of 8,004 includes the twenty men "fired" by Controller Cote on June 17.

Very Innocent is Capt. Hans Tauscher of Any Conspiracy

Special to The Montreal Star by United Press.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Capt. Hans Tauscher, husband of Mme. Gadski, and agent of the Krupps in this country, took the stand in his own defence today in his trial for complicity in the plot to blow up the Welland canal.

"I never knew or heard of the Welland canal, until I read of it in the newspapers," Tauscher declared.

He emphatically denied any connection with the plot to destroy the famous waterway. He admitted having conferred with Capt. von Papen, former German military attache, but said he told von Papen he would do nothing "against the laws of this country."

Tauscher admitted he had purchased munitions, but said he did not know they were intended for purposes of violence.

The defence will rest its case this afternoon, and it is expected to be in the hands of the jury late today.

IS LET GO

George Blackwell, convicted of wounding Levi Spencer was let go by Judge Bazin this afternoon, the court deciding that the time he had spent in jail was sufficient punishment. He had been charged originaly with shooting to kill.

ITALIAN ADVANCE IN THE TRENTINO IS BEING CONTINUED.

By Canadian Press.

ROME, June 29, via London, 4 p.m.—The Italian advance continues on the Tretino front.

The Overseas Agency says that in the Arsa valley the Italians stormed Fort Mattassone and carried the ridge of Monte Trappola.

The occupation of Pedescala in the Astico valley by Italian forces is also announced.

WILL SEE PREMIER ABOUT LICENSE GIVEN TO HOTEL

Dominion Alliance Won't Accept Department's Decision

When seen this morning regarding the question of the license of the Hotel National, St. Lawrence boulevard, which it was announced yesterday, at the meeting of the License Commissioners, had been granted from Quebec, despite the ruling of the Commissioners some few weeks ago, John H. Roberts, secretary of the Dominion Alliance, said:

"The Comptroller of Provincial Revenue at Quebec, A. Brosnan, with whom I spoke on the telephone this morning informs me that the Attorney-General's Department has ruled that the action for gambling was taken against Martin personally, and, therefore, the license of the Hotel National, Limited, is not affected by the judgment. In answer to this I told him that the complaint names The Hotel National, Limited, Joseph A. Martin, president, as the accused. How could an individual be condemned when a company is charged? To me it appears that the Attorney-General's Department has upset the judgment of the courts, and this is something for which I am absolutely confident, the Attorney-General himself is not responsible. The Dominion Alliance will exert every means within its power to see that justice is not baulked. I am taking the matter up with the Attorney-General personally.

AUSTRIA CLAIMS USUAL VICTORIES ON ALL FRONTS

By Canadian Press.

BERLIN, June 29, by wireless to Sayville.—The official Austrian report of yesterday follows:

"Russian sector. Near Kuty the enemy failed, as on previous days, in repeated attacks. In Bukowina and East Galicia there were no developments. Southwest of Novo Poczayel five Russian night attacks were repulsed by our vanguard. A strong Russian attack west of Torozyn broke down under our artillery and infantry fire.

"West of Sokul German troops stormed Linewka farm and several other positions.

"Italian front: The Italians made attacks in several places on the front between the Adige and the Brenta: at Valdi Foxi, on the pasubio, against Monte Rasta and on the slopes of Monte Zubio. All these attacks were repulsed with heavy losses for the enemy.

"In the advance made by heavy forces of the enemy against Monte Rasta, 530 Italians, including fifteen officers, were captured. In the Ploecken sector the enemy made further useless efforts. His attacks were directed principally against Freikefel and Gross Enpal.

"At certain places there was hand-to-hand fighting. Our brave defenders firmly maintained all their positions.

"On the Isonzo front there were very spirited artillery duels for a time.

"Our aviators bombarded stations and military establishments at Treviso, Monte Belluno, Vicinza and Padua, and Adria, and military establishments at Monfalcone."

Machine Guns of British Order Go to United States

NEW YORK, June 29.—Through the courtesy of the British Government the United States War Department has been enabled to obtain, for immediate delivery, 250 Lewis machine guns, made by the Driggs-Seabury Ordnance Company for use in Europe, says the Times.

At the same time, because cartridges of the kind hitherto used by United States troops are not suitable for the Lewis gun, the War Department has ordered 6,000,000 cartridges from the United States Cartridge Company.

The ammunition also was being manufactured on British specifications for shipment to the British forces. Both cartridges and guns will go forward at once.

The city granted them licenses for one year commencing March 15, but the Legislature has since passed the Act declaring these licenses void.

The city did not ask the Legislature to pass the Act, and what will be done by them as regards the licenses or the money paid for them has not yet been determined.

PROPOSAL TO ESTABLISH MINISTRY OF COMMERCE IN GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, June 29.—Committees composed of members of the House of Commons and members of the Associated Chambers of Commerce in Great Britain are to hold a conference, with a view to establishing a Ministry of Commerce.

RATEPAYERS OF EMARD WARD WIN OVER SEWER BILL

Question is Now Payment in Ten or Twenty Years

The suit of Ernest Sauve, hardware merchant, of Monk Boulevard, Emard Ward, who seeks to have the city forced to reduce a sewer construction bill, was taken under advisement by Mr. Justice Bruneau today.

The case, as a result of developments accruing in the course of the argument, resolves itself into a question of whether Mr. Sauve will have ten or twenty years within which to meet the account, as Paul Emile Lamarche, K.C., M.P., for the city, submitted that the municipality did not desire to charge Mr. Sauve and his forty-nine co-petitioners more than the $1.25 per running foot mentioned in the by-law of the former town of Ville Emard.

Mr. Emard, for the petitioner, submitted that, according to by-law IV., of the former Ville Emard, ratepayers could not be forced to pay over $1.25 per running foot for sewer construction work.

Mr. Lamarche admitted that the bylaw of the former municipality applied. He, however, denied that any ratepayer could benefit by a delay of twenty years to pay the sewer account in installments unless due notice was given to the municipal authorities in accordance with the law.

Arthur Emard explained that, in 1908, Ville Emard passed a bylaw enacting that all sewer work in the municipality would cost only $2.50 per running foot for sewers; that is, $1.25 per foot for each property owner on both sides of the street. The bylaw also provided for the means of collecting the tax.

HIGHER TAX.

"We allege," proceeded counsel, "that the city of Montreal, after annexation, illegally tried to collect a higher sewer tax. We claim that the city had no right to claim a higher rate."

Mr. Sauve, on the stand, declared that he had been a property owner in Emard Ward for several years. He produced a bill which he had received from the city, demanding payment of a sewer construction account.

"You never contested the account?" asked Mr. Lamarche.

"No, never, except at the present proceedings," replied witness.

"That's enough," remarked Mr. Lamarche.

Emile Fruitier, engineer, of the sewer department, testified as to the method of building the sewer and of collecting the tax. He testified that on November 11 and 12, 1914, advertisements were published in two English and two French newspapers notifying all property owners of the cost of the sewers in Emard Ward. No protest had been filed against the cost.

"We made an account of the whole cost of the work," said Mr. Fruitier, "and we totalled up the number of property owners. We charged up each at the rate of $1.25 per running foot. After making this roll, we gave notice in the newspapers, and none of the proprietors came before us to make a protest against the roll. Of 2,046 property owners in the district, 180 paid the account in full and 800 have made part payments; 287 have paid two installments, though, by law, they had ten years in which to make the payments in full."

Hon. Dr. Roche Leaving Tomorrow for Western Trip

Special to The Montreal Star from our Staff Correspondent.

OTTAWA, June 29.—The Hon. Dr. Roche, Minister of the Interior, leaves tomorrow night on a trip to the West. Before he returns he will visit the Yukon. During his absence, the Hon. Arthur Meighen, Solicitor-General, will be Acting Minister of the Interior.

EXTORTION CHARGE, CASE IS DISMISSED

Without hearing evidence for the defence, Judge Bazin, in Court of Sessions this morning, dismissed the case of alleged extortion of money, laid against Damase Compeau and Henri Decarie, by Eugene Lefebvre.

Lefebvre claimed that one night when with his niece in Maisonneuve, the two accused stopped them and told them they would arrest Lefebvre and his niece unless they paid over some money. The conversation was carried on in French. This morning when the niece was placed on the witness stand she could not speak French, yet made it understood she had heard all that passed between the two men and Lefebvre. His Honor dismissed the case on the grounds that there was no proof against the two accused.

WELL KNOWN HERE, IS UNDER ARREST NOW IN NEW YORK

Robert Gunter Seems to Have Many Aliases

"Major" Robert Gunter, also known as "Capt." Gunter, and "Lieut." Gunter, is in the toils in New York, charged with obtaining $100 on a bad cheque from the Franklin National Bank in Philadelphia. Gunter is well-known in Montreal, having spent some time here last spring. The New York World in reporting his arrest, says:

"The World learned that Gunter, who, it is alleged, also has used the names of Garret, Herrick, and Shirley, has been under the scrutiny of the authorities in Canada and representatives of the British Government in this country since early in April, when he began to attract attention in Montreal.

"He obtained admittance to the St. James Club and spent much of his time there. He attracted attention by wearing the ribbon of the Legion of Honor. He boasted he had won the D. S. O. (Distinguished Service Order.)

"On the card he used in Montreal was printed: "Major Robert Gunter, B. Sc., Royal Engineers, Manager Metropolitan Munitions Committee, National Factory, Wilsden, England."

"To his acquaintances in Montreal the 'Major' said he had been working at $800 a month for the Canadian Munitions Association, and that he had a private income of several hundred pounds a year. He talked of going to Bridgeport to offer his services as a munitions expert to the Remington Arms Company.

"Investigation by the Canadian authorities disclosed that one Robert W. Gunter had been on probation for the Royal Artillery, but had been found undesirable. At the outbreak of the war he was once more on probation with the Army Service Corps. His probation ended when he was discovered going abroad in the uniform of a staff officer and informing acquaintances that he had won the Victoria Cross.

"No such officer as Robert W. Gunter now appears on the British Army List.

"In May the "Captain" came to this city. He stayed for a time at the Plaza Hotel and obtained access to some of the best metropolitan and country clubs, including the New York Yacht Club and the Tuxedo Country Club. He described himself as a friend of Capt. Gaunt, Naval Attache to the British Consulate here, a connection which Capt. Gaunt repudiated whenever he got the opportunity."

MONTREAL VESSEL BREAKS GATES OF WELLAND CANAL

Special to The Montreal Star.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., June 29.—Confusion of signals between the captain and the engineer of the old wooden steamer India, of the Montreal Transportation Company, caused the craft to carry away both headgates of lock 12 in the Welland Canal this morning. The steamer was bound up and had entered the lock when Captain Roach signalled what he claims was instructions to the engineer to reverse, but instead the boat went ahead faster and crashed into the gates, tearing them out and turning loose the waters of the level above which flooded the surrounding land, causing considerable damage, in addition to the loss of the gates. A hole was made in the bow of the India by the collision.

The Central Football Alliance, at its annual meeting in Nottingham, decided to hold no further competitions until after the war. The chairman (Mr. G. Stevens, Derby) suggested that the officials should remain in office until the time was opportune to call the clubs together. If the war ended soon the clubs would be called together, and invitations issued for applications to fill up the losses caused by the resignation of clubs. "Personally", added Mr. Stevens, "I am satisfied we shall have no difficulty in filling up the vacancies." The suggestion was unanimously agreed to.

VIOLENT DEATHS FOR UNKNOWN MEN

No one has been able to identify the body of the Italian track laborer who was killed by a Grand Trunk Railway train near Beaconsfield on Tuesday. Although the case has not been definitely disposed of, it was made clear at the inquest that it was accidental.

An inquest was held this morning over the body of John Durnin, 880 Drolet street, who died of injuries received in an automobile accident on June 17. He was struck by an automobile and taken to the General Hospital with his spine injured. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of excusable homicide.

The unidentified body of a man was found in the slip by Shed No. 10, yesterday afternoon. It had apparently been in the water for months and was clothed in a heavy winter coat over a grey suit coat, two pairs of trousers, one grey and the other black, tan shoes, grey socks and thick underwear. Identification by any other means than by the clothing will be impossible.

The body was taken to the morgue.

Only 254 people signed the visitors' book at Shakespeare's birthplace last year, as compared with over 8,000 in 1914.
