World News In Brief

Montreal — Some 250 tramway workers Saturday night resolved to support an independent union's bid to replace the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and other Transport Workers (CCL) as bargaining agent for the Montreal Transportation Commission's 4,700 employees.

At a meeting called by the Canadian Transport Workers Association — incorporated as a labor union only last week — the men resolved to ask the Quebec labor relations board to certify the association in place of the brotherhood.

Paul Emile Marquette, president of the independent union's parent body, the Canadian Worker's Association, Inc., said that at least 1,500 MTC employees have transferred their check-off agreement from the brotherhood to the new union — allowing deduction from their salaries of a $2 inflation fee and $1 a month in union dues.

Wellington, New Zealand — (Reuters) — A government-backed inquiry is to investigate immediately "shocking degree of immoral conduct" among New Zealand adolescents.

Prime Minister Sydney Holland announced the decision today after a cabinet meeting, following a police roundup last week of 60 youths and girls.

Eight youths were remanded at Hutt city court on July 6 on charges of unlawful carnal knowledge and indecent assault. The police prosecutor said investigations had revealed a "shocking degree of immoral conduct."

Streetsville, Ont. (CP) — Six men lifted a car to free a woman trapped under it after the vehicle ran over her Sunday while she was resting on the ground at nearby Creditville park. Elvira Kimerals, 24, of Toronto, was taken to a Toronto hospital with severe head injuries and facial cuts. Her condition was serious. Police said the Douglas Harley, 19, of Toronto had been looking for a parking spot.

Senator Buchanan, Pioneer Western Publisher, Dead

Lethbridge, Alta. — Senator William Ashbury Buchanan, publisher of the Lethbridge Herald and a pioneer in co-operative news-gatherings in Canada, died Sunday at the age of 78.

His death followed a long illness. He underwent a serious operation in Edmonton last autumn, attended sittings of the Senate in Ottawa during the winter and fell critically ill several months ago. He died about 4 a.m. Sunday.

He will be buried in the Buchanan family plot in Mountain View Cemetery following funeral services here at 4 p.m. Wednesday from Southminster United Church. Rev. Nelson R. Mercer will officiate.

Senator Buchanan was one of Canada's best-known publishers but he achieved equal prominence in the political field as a Liberal member of the Senate. He served in the Alberta legislature and the House of Commons before he was called to the Senate in 1924.

A native of Fraserburg, Ont., he served his apprenticeship on newspapers in Peterborough, first as a printer's devil and later as a cub reporter, then moved onto the Toronto Telegram and the St. Thomas Journal. In 1905, he headed west with $500 in his pocket and a wish to own a newspaper. He found the weekly Lethbridge Herald — and in two years transformed it into a daily.

In 1907, he helped to establish the old Western Associated Press, the first co-operative news-gathering agency in Canada and the forerunner of The Canadian Press. At his death, he was the only founding member of the WAP still actively engaged in newspaper work.

Nearly two score of years later he was to serve as president of C.P. He was elected in 1944 after many years on the directorate of the national news co-operative. In 1949, he was named honorary president.

He entered politics soon after coming to Alberta. He was elected to the Alberta legislature as a Liberal in 1908 and served briefly in Premier Rutherford's cabinet as

Rushing Aid To Danubian Flood Areas

By RICHARD O'REGAN
Vienna, Austria — (AP) — Relief supplies for thousands of homeless victims of central Europe's worst flood in centuries poured into stricken Austria and Germany today.

Holland, Sweden, Switzerland and the Saar were the first to offer bedding, food and clothes to thousands of families made homeless by the raging Danube and a dozen tributaries. Their five-day rampage has claimed at least 24 lives on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

The aid began to arrive as rescue workers struggled to reach submerged Austrian and German towns where inhabitants were still stranded on rooftops and upper floors. More than 5,000 American soldiers have been taking part in the rescue work.

Sketchy reports from Czechoslovakia and Hungary indicated those two Danube valley countries have been hard hit by the floods. Prague and Budapest radios said Communist authorities had ordered entire farm communities evacuated and that many hamlets were under water and crops destroyed.

The death toll in the two Iron Curtain lands were not known. Nine deaths were reported Sunday night in Communist East Germany.

In West Germany, skies cleared and flood waters began to subside, but thousands of acres of rich farmland were still under water. Countless houses, bridges and industrial plants were damaged — some beyond repair.

In the venerable town of Passau, surrounded by the Danube, Inn and Ilz rivers, houses and streets were submerged beneath the flood waters which have inundated at least a third of the community. An estimated 1,000 were homeless in Passau alone.

While the worst seemed over in Germany, the churning Danube forced thousands more victims from farms and villages along its banks in Austria.

The steel city of Linz, where 24,000 persons have been evacuated, desperately attempted to stem the tide of destruction. Nearly 40 water-soaked houses sank beneath the flood crest. More than 650 persons were still marooned in houses along the Danube quays. Linz municipal authorities warned police to shoot all looters.

The Danube spilled over Vienna's commercial docks Sunday night, flooding cellars and halting rail traffic. The main railroad linking Vienna to the West also was inundated.

Prime Minister Sees Improvement In Western Relations As Result Of Washington Visit.

London — (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill said today he went to Washington for his conference with President Eisenhower because he "was deeply concerned at the lack of information we possessed" about the hydrogen bomb.

"I thought I ought to have a personal meeting with President Eisenhower at the first convenient opportunity," the Prime Minister told the House of Commons.

Murmurs of approval echoed through the House. Churchill said that a speech about the hydrogen bomb by Sterling Cole, chairman of the joint congressional committee on atomic energy, on Feb. 17 had astonished him.

In that speech, Cole, New York Republican member of the House of Representatives, said the U.S. had hydrogen weapons even more potent than the devices that tore a hole a mile wide and 175 feet deep in the floor of the Pacific ocean during 1952 H-bomb tests at Eniwetok atoll.

Referring to Cole's speech, Churchill said:

"I was astounded by all that he said about the hydrogen bomb and results of experiments made more than a year before the United States at Eniwetok atoll.

"Very little notice was taken over here of Mr. Sterling Cole's revelations, but when some Japanese fishermen were slightly affected by the radio activity generated by a second explosion at Bikini an intense sensation was caused in this country . . .

"Considering what immense differences the facts he disclosed made on our whole outlook for defence . . . I was deeply concerned by the lack of information we possessed and in view of the past history of this subject, I thought we ought to have a personal meeting with President Eisenhower."

Lord Cherwell, his former adviser on atomic affairs and Sir Edwin Powden, chairman of the British Atomic Energy Authority, had discussed at length with Admiral Lewis Strauss, chairman of the American Atomic Energy Commission, technical matters connected with the current atomic and hydrogen problems.

"I have every hope that a more satisfactory position will prevail between our two countries in the future," the Prime Minister said in his references to atomic energy.

Churchill said that although he originally called for the talks because of concern at the "lack of information" possessed by Britain on the H-bomb, other international problems arose before he embarked on the trip.

The packed house listened closely as Churchill told of his reception in Washington. His statement came at a time when the air on both sides of the Atlantic is full of accounts of American-British disagreements, largely stemming from divergent policies toward Communist China.

Speaking of the conversations he and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden had with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Churchill said:

"We talked in perfect frankness and in full friendship with each other. We dispelled, I think, some misunderstandings, even some nightmares, from the minds of our American friends about the direction of our policy.

"I think we convinced them that we have changed none of our ultimate joint objectives and that there is, at any rate, some common ground in the means by which we are proposing to reach them."

Referring to the six-point declaration which he and the President issued after the conference, he said:

"These six points of unity transcend all party differences and give a framework within which the incidents of daily life can be amicably resolved."

Analyzing the declaration, Churchill said:

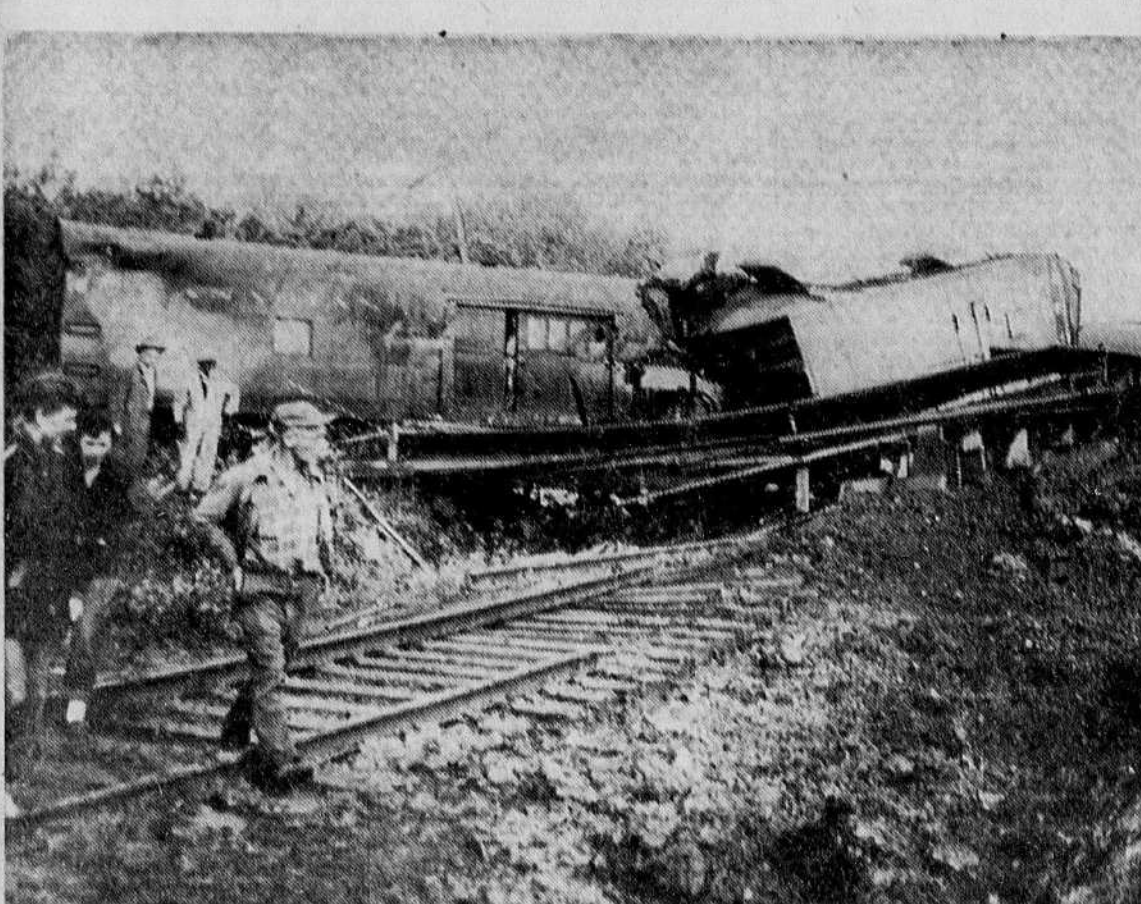

"In that declaration we reaffirmed our comradeship with one another; we stretched out the hand of friendship to all; we reasserted our devotion to the principle of loyalty with those still in bondage."

Fire Chief Vince Pierce of Kingston said his men had the fire under control late Sunday night. Firemen patrolled the outer rim of the blaze all night just in case it broke out again.

The fire reached the north side of Highway 2 but did not jump across.

Calgary — Funeral services will be held here Tuesday for George Gilbert Murdoch, a son of the first mayor of Calgary and an old-timer of the Crossfield district of Alberta, who died Friday at the age of 72. Born in Saint John, N.B., Mr. Murdoch came west on the first train to arrive in Calgary in 1853. He farmed at Crossfield from 1896 to 1951.

TWO KILLED IN WRECK — Two railway employees were killed when a seven-car Edmonton-Winnipeg passenger train jumped the tracks Friday near Wetaskiwin, Alta., 40 miles south of Edmonton. Killed were engineer Giles Macdonald, 58, and fireman Mike Mackowichuk, 41, both of Edmonton. The 35 passengers were no more than shaken up. The engine, mired in mud, caught fire. A refrigerator car was crushed to kindling. Two of the three passenger cars were also derailed but remained upright. (CP Photo)

British Jetliner To Cross Atlantic In Eight Hours Ready For Delivery

Mrs. Petrov Still Loves Native Land

Melbourne, Australia — Mrs. Evdokia Petrov told today she has not changed her feelings about the Soviet Union.

"I still love my country," the attractive 40-year-old former espionage agent said softly, clasping her hands and looking down.

"I am the same as I was, but they have spoiled everything for me."

Mrs. Petrov, wife of former Soviet embassy official Vladimir Petrov, said she had "bitterly opposed" her husband's leaving Russian service.

She made the admission when she was recalled to the witness stand for cross-examination by E. P. Hill, counsel for Rupert Lockwood, Australian newspaper man accused of writing a document alleged to contain a series of criminal libels.

Earlier today, Lockwood refused to tell the commissioner whether he had written the document.

Last week Mrs. Petrov testified she saw him typing it in the Soviet embassy.

Just before Lockwood was called to the stand the high court, sitting in the same building as the commission, rejected as "absurd" a writ by Lockwood asking the court to restrain the commissioners from questioning him.

Lockwood's attorneys had challenged the validity of the commission, contending that it was sitting in contempt of the high court in view of their client's libel action begun last Tuesday against W. J. Windyler, chief government counsel, and the Australian government.

Lockwood was called as soon as the high court's ruling was announced.

Tunis, Tunisia — (AP) — Five Tunisians were killed in central Tunisia Sunday night in what was believed a retaliatory attack for the terrorist killing of six persons in Ferryville Saturday night.

The new attacks took place in Djemmal and El Battan, about 80 miles south of Tunis. Four other Tunisians were injured.

Unidentified persons driving a black automobile at high speed sprayed three cafes with sub-machinegun bullets and made their escape. The cafes were open only to Arabs.

Saturday night in Ferryville two terrorists sprayed a cafe terrace killing four Frenchmen and two Tunisians.

By FRASER WIGHTON

London — Reuters — Britain's new giant transatlantic jetliner, the Comet Mark III, is due to fly within the next two weeks while an official announcement is awaited on what caused two of the original Comets to crash earlier this year with a loss of 56 lives and brought an order grounding them.

Duncan Sandys, Minister of Supply, recently stated he hoped it would not be many weeks before investigations were completed on these disasters — in the Mediterranean, near Elba, Jan. 10, when 35 persons were killed, and off Naples May 8, when 21 lost their lives.

A third of the ill-starred originals crashed earlier at Calcutta killing the 22 persons aboard. But officials are satisfied that they have determined the cause of the Calcutta crash and it is not a part of the current investigation.

Official confirmation — and comment — is still lacking on reports that tests of a comet have pinned the cause of the other two disasters on "compression fatigue."

These reports say that the cabin of a Comet which has been submitted to incessant pressure stresses in a tank of water for six weeks eventually shattered under the strain.

Jetliners fly up to eight miles above the earth, where cabin pressurization is necessary to enable passengers to breathe. Commentators here say that the stratosphere may impose even greater strains on the 500-miles-an-hour plane than was hitherto supposed.

Comets of the Series Two type, now in production, incorporate nearly 60 modifications made to each of 10,000 pounds static thrust, about the same power as the world's biggest atom bombers.

The Comet III will carry from 58 to 76 passengers and will cruise at "better than 500 miles an hour. It will be capable of linking London and New York with a single stop at Gander, Nfld., about 3,500 miles — in seven to eight hours.

New Clashes On Egyptian Border Strip

Jerusalem — Six Egyptian soldiers and one Israeli soldier were reported killed in fighting at an Egyptian border outpost in the Gaza strip Saturday night.

An Israeli spokesman said the Israeli troops stormed the Egyptian outpost after an Egyptian attack on an Israeli unit on reconnaissance in the Kissouf area.

In Cairo, an Egyptian government spokesman accused the Israelis of "armed aggression" and said that in addition to six soldiers killed, four are missing and two were wounded.

The Israeli spokesman said the casualties included one Israeli killed and two wounded in the fighting which lasted several hours.

The Egyptian official, Brig. Mahmoud Riad, said Israeli forces attacked the frontier post east of Dier Elbalah village with mortars, hand grenades and incendiary shells. The Israelis, he said, overwhelmed the small force and seized their arms and ammunition including machine guns and mortars, and set the post afire before retreating.

Egypt has requested an emergency meeting of the joint armistice commission to investigate the incident, an Egyptian communique said.

Improvement Reported In Air Defence

St. Hubert, Que. — An air defence exercise that saw American planes carrying "atom bombs" roar in over Canadian cities ended Sunday night and was described as an outstanding success by RCAF officials.

Four jet crashes were the only incidents to mar a "surprisingly good" exercise, Canadian spokesmen said. Two Canadian airmen died at North Bay in separate crashes and a third was injured. Two U.S. airmen rode their flaming jet fighters to a crash landing but were unhurt at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

The exercise — named "Operation Checkpoint" — was the third such yearly test involving U.S. and Canadian air force units. While American planes "bombed" Canadian cities, RCAF squadrons were blasting key points in the U.S.

RCAF officials would not say whether any of the American bombers had succeeded in penetrating Canada's air defence system to hit industrial targets. They did say, however, that the operation proved that Canada can stand up against sustained attacks.

Results of the operation will be several days to complete, the RCAF said, and then they will not be released to the public. Even the length of the exercise, which started Friday, was revealed only to Canadian squadron leaders.

A five-inch drop was reported in the Fraser's level during the weekend at Mission, B.C., where the river was reported at 10.6 feet, well below the danger mark of 22 feet. The level was more than a foot below that recorded July 7.

At Trail, residents of low-lying property used sandbags and pumps in efforts to keep basement water levels down. Pumps also were put into action by the city waterworks department to clear backed-up sewers on three main streets.

At Castlegar, 20 miles north of Trail, normal water service was restored Sunday. An emergency system had been set up Thursday when high water caused a major break in the town's main.

Colorado Springs, Colo. — (AP) — Air defence officials closed the mammoth 3,500-plane "Exercise Checkpoint" Sunday and indicated they think the continent's defence is getting better.

Officers were reported enthusiastic over improvements shown in the high-altitude war games.

Canadian Wheat Exports Show 30 Per Cent Drop

Ottawa — Canada's wheat exports dropped by 30 per cent in the first 10 months of the current crop year, leaving a surplus of 614,500,000 bushels on June 1 — equivalent to all the wheat she produced in 1953.

The bureau of statistics, in its monthly review of the wheat situation, estimated today that Canada exported 208,700,000 bushels of wheat, and flour in terms of wheat, in the period August 1, 1953-May 31, 1954.

This was a drop of 88,800,000 bushels or 30 per cent from the 297,500,000 shipped in the similar period of the previous crop year. However, the Bureau noted that United States exports dropped by 39 per cent and those of Australia, another major wheat exporter, by 35 per cent.

In contrast, Argentina, another big exporter, made a spectacular comeback from a crop-failure year to boost exports to 94,100,000 from 19,200,000.

Though Canada's exports declined, her share of the world market remained fairly constant, the bureau said. Her shipments in the 10-month period represented 39.8 per cent of the world market, down from 43.7 per cent in the previous year. The U.S. share dropped to 32.4 per cent from 41.1,

Four-Power Treaty For Bonn Ready

London — (AP) — American and British diplomats have worked out a short, four-power treaty that would give West Germany near-independence this year, official sources said today.

The pact has been drafted as a way of giving the federal republic powers to control most of its own affairs in case France fails to ratify the European Defence Community project. Under present treaties the United States, Britain and France would end their occupation of West Germany only when the EDC comes into force.

The latest British-American plan is reported to grant sovereignty to West Germany in all but military matters in a treaty signed by the United States, Britain, France and the federal republic.

Informants stressed the plan in no way provides for German rearmament outside the EDC, although London and Washington are believed to have one or two favored alternatives up their sleeves in case the EDC as it stands now is rejected.

American and British officials drew up the plan in the course of a week of discussions at the foreign office that ended Sunday. They had been ordered to do so by President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill after their Washington conference.

The British foreign office explained the experts' proposals have still to be accepted by the American and British governments. When this has been done, the final version of the proposals will be submitted to France and other members of the Atlantic alliance.

Lennoxville Red Cross To Hold Picnic Wednesday

The picnic tendered each year by the Lennoxville Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society to its volunteer workers and their friends will be held this year on Wednesday, July 14, at the summer home of Mrs. R. H. Fletcher on Lake Massawippi.

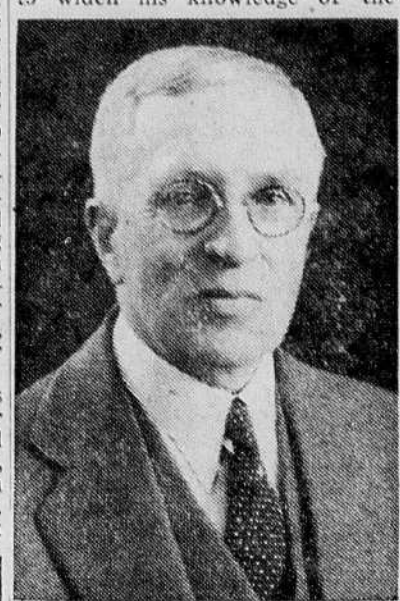

This event is in the nature of a "thank you" expression on the part of the Society to the many people who have aided so liberally by their efforts—in the war years and the years after the war—to bring the Lennoxville branch for so successfully completing every project it has undertaken. An invitation is extended to all these workers and their friends to attend this gathering and those intending to participate are asked to get in touch with either Mrs. R. C. McFadden, phone LOrraine 2-9410, or Miss G. Stevens, LOrraine 7-4392, who are in charge of arranging for transportation.

Philias A. Dionne, Coaticook, Pioneer E. T. Motor Dealer, Passes In 77th Year

Coaticook, July 12 — One of the pioneer automobile dealers of the Eastern Townships, Philias A. Dionne, died at his home here on Saturday in his 77th year.

Mr. Dionne was born at Coaticook June 19, 1878, the son of the late Pierre Dionne and his wife, Sophie Valada, formerly of St. Jerome, and was educated at the Coaticook schools and also attended the Southville, Mass., high school for a two year term to widen his knowledge of the English language. Returning to Coaticook, he entered the employ of J. D. Bachand, general merchant, rising to the position of general manager of the company, which post he held until 1915. In that year, with Mr. Bachand, he formed the firm of Bachand and Dionne, Ltd., which took over the franchise for the sale of McLaughlin-Buicks, later adding Chevrolet and Oldsmobile, other General Motors lines. He continued as general manager and secretary-treasurer of this firm until 1948, when he acquired complete ownership of the company, assuming the post of president.

P. A. DIONNE

Because of advancing years, he retired from active business in 1949, selling his business to the Robitaille Automobile (Coaticook) Ltd.

The bearers were William Shaw, Carroll Cate, Lee McKay, Stanley Sharpe, Forrest Keene, Chénier Picard, N. P., P. M. Robins and Percy Donahue.

Mr. Dionne was born at South Durham, the son of the late F. N. McCrea, and Mrs. McCrea, but came to Sherbrooke at an early age, receiving his education at the Sherbrooke High School. Upon his graduation, he entered the lumber business with his father, who served for many years as Liberal Member of Parliament for Sherbrooke County.

During the First World War he served with the Royal Flying Corps in the Middle East. Upon his return to Canada, he again joined in the lumber business with his father.

About twenty years ago, he left the lumber business and in partnership with Frank Woodard, of North Hatley, established the Woodard-McCrea Boat Works at North Hatley, which company and its successors, Hatley Craft, Ltd., and the Hatley Craft Marine and Manufacturing Co., now being operated by his son, turned out many fine vessels and won an international reputation for his small craft designs.

In more recent years, he formed McCrea Sales dealing in fire fighting equipment and was instrumental in organizing new fire departments in several Eastern Townships localities.

An ardent and enthusiastic follower of almost every branch of sport, Mr. McCrea was a member of the old Sherbrooke Gun Club and competed in skeet and trap shooting events all over North America as "high gun" for Canada.

He also raced on many Eastern Canada tracks in racing cars, some built to his own design and on motorcycles. He won the Sherbrooke track motorcycle record which stood until the late 1940's.

During his operation of the Woodard-McCrea Boat Works, he became interested in speedboat racing and competed for several years on Lake Massawippi against boats owned by Col. O. R. Pope and later designed and built several of the fast class boats in Canada. In 1929 he won the Dominion championship, earning the right to enter the international competition held in Washington, D.C.

He also did much to encourage and foster sailing competitions, not only on Lake Massawippi, but throughout Eastern Quebec. He was a director of the Canadian Boating Federation and a member of the International Contest Board of the American Power Boat Association.

He originated the Interlake Sailing competition for the La Tribune Trophy and at the time of his death was trustee for the trophy. He was instrumental in organizing countless regattas, including the now well-known Valleyfield regatta.

Active in church and community affairs, he was president of L'Œuvre St. Gerard Majella de Ste. Philomene; vice-president of the Coaticook Property-owners Association; vice-president of the Coaticook Hospital Corporation; of the Coaticook Dairy and of the Metalco Company of Coaticook; a member of the St. Jean Baptiste Society since 1896, being president in 1940; a charter member of the Knights of Columbus, Council 2106, 4th Degree; a charter member and captain of the Coaticook Company of Pontifical Zouaves; a warden of St. John the Evangelist Church for the years 1938-39-40; a member of the Coaticook Choral Society since 1896 and a former president of this society; a member of the Catholic Order of Foresters since 1896 and a member of Les Francs, a French service club.

His favorite recreations were singing, travel and his summer cottage at Lake Lyster. He was an ardent sport fan, being particularly interested in cycling, hockey, fancy skating and bowling.

He was married in April 22, 1902 to Adele Reid, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Reid, of St. Jean d'Iberville.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday evening, July 13, from his late residence, 235 Wellington street, Coaticook, for service at St. Jean the Evangelist Church at 9:30.

Final Tribute Is Accorded To James E. McCrea

Final tribute was paid to a well-known resident of Eastern Townships when relatives and friends gathered yesterday at Johnson's Funeral Chapel for the last rites of James E. McCrea, of North Hatley, who died on Thursday evening following a long illness in his 69th year.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. E. W. Harrison, of the North Hatley Anglican Church and interment was in Elmwood cemetery.

The bearers were William Shaw, Carroll Cate, Lee McKay, Stanley Sharpe, Forrest Keene, Chénier Picard, N. P., P. M. Robins and Percy Donahue.

Mr. McCrea was born at South Durham, the son of the late F. N. McCrea, and Mrs. McCrea, but came to Sherbrooke at an early age, receiving his education at the Sherbrooke High School. Upon his graduation, he entered the lumber business with his father, who served for many years as Liberal Member of Parliament for Sherbrooke County.

He also raced on many Eastern Canada tracks in racing cars, some built to his own design and on motorcycles. He won the Sherbrooke track motorcycle record which stood until the late 1940's.

During his operation of the Woodard-McCrea Boat Works, he became interested in speedboat racing and competed for several years on Lake Massawippi against boats owned by Col. O. R. Pope and later designed and built several of the fast class boats in Canada. In 1929 he won the Dominion championship, earning the right to enter the international competition held in Washington, D.C.

He also did much to encourage and foster sailing competitions, not only on Lake Massawippi, but throughout Eastern Quebec. He was a director of the Canadian Boating Federation and a member of the International Contest Board of the American Power Boat Association.

He originated the Interlake Sailing competition for the La Tribune Trophy and at the time of his death was trustee for the trophy. He was instrumental in organizing countless regattas, including the now well-known Valleyfield regatta.

Two Killed, Six Injured In Series Of Week-End Accidents In District

Deaths from various accidents over the week-end in Eastern Canada numbered 20. The Eastern Townships fell in step with this toll and this morning two fatalities were reported and another six were injured.

Dead are:
Mrs. Napoleon Ruel, 55, Bromptonville.

Roger Martin, 9, 5th range, Massawippi.

The injured are:
Bertrand Pariseau, 20, R.R. No. 1, Sherbrooke.

Henri Cayer, St. Francois Street, Sherbrooke.

Pierre Bernier, 4, 448 Mt. Pleasant Street, Sherbrooke.

Charles McLeod, 164 Court Street, Sherbrooke.

Mrs. Albert Gadois, 53, 205 St. Jean Baptiste, Magog.

Claudette Rouleau, 6, Rock Forest.

Mrs. Ruel, died Saturday night at St. Vincent de Paul hospital two and a half hours after she was admitted, after being kicked by a horse while working on the farm of her husband.

She was returning to the barn on a rake, after having all day, when suddenly at the top of a hill the harness became detached from the horse and the rake rolled down the hill with Mrs. Ruel sitting on it. She finally fell off and was dragged quite a distance in the teeth of the rake. Finally the horse and the rake both came to rest against a tree.

Mr. Ruel, who had been alerted by his young son, went to take hold of the bridle of the horse, who was frightened by the action and reared, kicking Mrs. Ruel. She was taken to St. Vincent de Paul hospital where she succumbed shortly after.

Young Roger Martin, aged 9, dashed in front of a car driven by Mrs. George Morrison of Stanstead around 7:30 Friday night on the Sherbrooke-Stanstead highway. The child was instantly killed.

Mrs. Morrison endeavored to avoid the accident and drove her car off the highway as the child suddenly appeared almost directly in front of her 1953 Chevrolet. She suffered a fractured left leg and the car received considerable damage after striking a power pole.

Mrs. Morrison said she was driving slowly as she was carrying her mother, Mrs. T. Larocque, who had just suffered a heart attack and the accident aggravated her condition.

Bertrand Pariseau, 20, of Sherbrooke fell asleep at the wheel of his car at 2:30 this morning at the intersection of the Drummond and Rock Forest roads. He left the road and came to rest against a tree. Pariseau was brought to the Hotel Dieu Hospital by Gerard Belose where he is suffering from a broken nose. He is under the care of Dr. Lefevre.

A collision between a motorcycle and a car at King and Bowen Streets shortly before noon on Saturday sent Henri Cayer, of St. Francois Street to Hotel Dieu with Cayer was turning onto King street from Bowen Ave when he collided with a car driven by Jean Marc Rouleau of Windsor Mills.

Little Pierre Bernier was hit in front of his home on Mount Pleasant street by a car driven by Albert Boyer of the same street. The child was playing with a wagon in the middle of the street when he was hit. He was taken to the hospital by Mr. Boyer suffering from facial lacerations. Claudette Rouleau, aged 6, was hit on the head by a horseshoe while she was watching a game of horseshoes, and was taken to hospital by her father, Irene Rouleau. She required several stitches to close the wound before she was taken home.

A pedestrian, Charles McLeod, was hit as he was crossing the street at the corner of Dufferin and Court streets by a car driven by Leonard Deschênes of 876 Ontario street. Mr. McLeod went to Station No. 1, where he received first aid.

An elderly woman, Mrs. Albert Gadois, of Magog, received a fractured right leg and arm after the car in which she was riding left the road near Huntingville last night. The vehicle was driven by her husband, who took the ditch as he feared a collision with another car. Jean Louis Gadois, 21, who was travelling with his parents, was also slightly injured.

UN Battle Major Part Of Military War

It is the consensus of American military diplomatic officials in Asia that the question of Red China's admittance to the United Nations could well determine the fate of western Asia and the future of the Big Three alliance.

According to them the real issue is not the moral question of whether Red China should be recognized, but rather the hard boiled choice of methods to keep the Red Chinese in check.

A United Nations seat for Red China means the withdrawal of recognition for the Chinese Nationalists and technical elimination of their international rights to wage any further warfare against the main land. With that might go the allegiance of most of the 12,000,000 influential and wealthy Chinese who dominate economic life in free Asia.

It also represents a springboard for a new local demand to hand Formosa over to the Peiping government. This island fortress, with airfields 100 miles from the U.S. base on Okinawa, could outflank American defense positions in the Far East.

Red China would also gain world recognition as a major power which would convince many free Asians that there is no longer any use in opposing constant Chinese Communist pressure.

But, while predicting these results, some American diplomats abroad say that the choice is between accepting Red China or eventually risking the breakup of the Big Three Alliance.

An effort to win the co-operation of Red China must be made because the basic British-Indian position is that the west is incapable of blocking them by force.

If Red China gets into the United Nations American officials believe it will eliminate the last chance for an Asian defensive alliance to stop Red China either in Southeast Asia or by striking directly at the mainland. Western Asia's security would then depend upon whether Peiping reforms.

If the United States keep China out of the United Nations, an intensified effort will definitely be made to sever the western alliance.

Will the United States reconsider their refusal to discuss Red China acceptance?

Who Are The Savages?

When some two hundred Canadian Indians from all parts of the country came to the Parliament Buildings the other day on a good-will visit they were described as being surprised and somewhat shocked by what they saw and after watching the House in session they came out shaking their heads, rather stunned by the experience.

"Are these the men who govern us?" some of them asked. What would one expect them to say after seeing M.P.'s sitting with their feet on desks, cracking jokes and making noises while another M.P. spoke? "Our children in mission schools behave better than that," the Indians commented.

Again, while the guests were eating in the parish hall at the Cap de la Madeleine shrine, the white men displayed their ignorance as scores of curious crowds crowded the windows to stare in on them. One of the eaters looking up: "We are the savages?" he asked.

This trip is something the Indians will talk about for the rest of their lives and we can only hope that they will be considerate enough not to regard what they saw as a representation of white peoples on the whole.

It all seems to point to the old story of racial prejudice. But there is nothing very different about a Canadian Indian. They are a simple, serious people, whose trades happen to be more closely connected with nature than others. Its too bad that people cannot be "inoculated" against racial prejudice, in the same way as against smallpox — it seems far more contagious.

The Indian had a good point: Who are the savages? It makes one wonder.

A True Pioneer

Senator William Ashbury Buchanan, whose death occurred at Lethbridge, Alberta, over the week-end can be numbered among the real pioneers of Canada. Not only did he establish one of the first papers to be published in his adopted province but he also pioneered in the establishment of co-operative news-gathering in the Dominion.

Barely two years after establishing the Lethbridge Herald, first as a weekly and later as a daily, he was instrumental in setting up the old Western Associated Press, the first co-operative agency in Canada and the forerunner of The Canadian Press, which provides the vast majority of the Canadian papers with their national and international news needs. The struggles of these early organizations have been told many times and in many places and the part Senator Buchanan played in meeting and surmounting the problems gained recognition in 1944 when he was named president of The Canadian Press and again in 1949 when he was named honorary president of that organization.

While carrying on an active career in journalism, he also found time to for a notable life in politics. Starting out as a member of the Alberta Legislature in 1909, he entered federal politics in 1911 and for the next ten years represented his district in the House of Commons. In 1924, he was called to the Senate and soon won a reputation for his ardent support of various projects for the development and advancement of his beloved prairies.

His work for the advancement of Western Canada went beyond the field of politics and journalism and he devoted much time and effort to such schemes as water conservation and irrigation, which have resulted in reclaiming many thousands of acres of barren soil to crop production.

His career was an outstanding example of an Easterner, struck by the possibilities of the opening West, who went there, came to love the country and in promoting its interests, also advanced his own.

FRANCO'S IDEAS

The Montreal Star
We do not ordinarily look to General Franco for either wisdom or statesmanship and can find neither in his proposal for a complete economic boycott of the Soviet Union and the Communist-dominated nations. It is pleasant to contemplate a world in which the Communists would be hived off and left to their own devices, but it is not a world we are ever likely to see.

For General Franco, economic boycott is a sure way to thwart Moscow's warlike preparation and aggressive plans. But is it? Is it not more likely that somewhere along the line, before its strength ebbed completely under the impact of boycott, the Soviet Union would break out in sheer desperation? Assuming, of course, that an economic boycott could be worked.

It may be true, as the Spanish dictator says, that Russia is determined not to collaborate in the establishment of a permanent peace. Would economic or any other kind of boycott bring her to collaboration? It is more probable that, if it worked, it would bring her to the fighting desperation of the cornered rat.

So far the policy of the western nations with regard to Communism has been one of military containment and the denial of strategic materials. This has worked in Europe. Since the end of the war the Soviet has taken over no territory by military aggression. It has not worked in Asia where, with Soviet backing in both Korea and Indo-China, expansionist Communism has made gains and may not yet be stopped.

Peaceful co-existence, as Franco says, may be an illusion. But must we not keep struggling toward it, keeping our powder dry and watching for those openings that will advance freedom? Nothing is to be gained by simply ignoring the Soviet Union, as Franco proposes.

PRISON FOR DEBT

Windsor Daily Star
Technically Errol Flynn is not threatened with imprisonment for debt in Great Britain, but it amounts to the same thing. If he does not pay his board bill, to jail he will go. Judge Edgar T. Dale in Westminster County Court ordered the actor to pay Mrs. Margaret Lucy Peters £46. The jurist found that Flynn owed that much on a house he rented from Mrs. Peters.

If Flynn does not pay the money, he will not be put in jail to pay the debt. But, he will be jailed for failure to comply with the order of Judge Dale to pay the money. The jurist has given the actor seven days to pay or else.

It is the same in all countries where judges order people to pay sums of money that are found owing to some individual or company. If the defendant fails to pay, he is not jailed for debt. But, he is put in prison for failing to comply with the order of the court that he pay the debt.

It's a technical difference, but it all adds up to paying the bills or going to jail.

My father-in-law is a wily guy, but I never thought he'd go to the lengths he did to fix things for me. Sometimes I think he actually hates me, the way he talks about Anabel having to work so hard and the kids needing shoes and things. Then again he's pretty decent to me. You never know. So I always try to keep my big mouth shut and let him think he's a big shot. That's the way it was last Sunday.

We were cruising along home from visiting Anabel's brother and family in the suburbs of Chicago. C. A. and Grace were in the back seat wrestling with our kids as usual, with Anabel putting in her lick from the right front.

"Sit down, Hap, and look out the window for a change." "In my day—" C. A. began.

"Now Charles, we all know in your day children were seen and not heard," Grace cooed.

"Hap, you cannot tie the cat's tail to Grandpa's shoe-string," Anabel remonstrated. "One more move and you'll have to come over here."

"And that would be calamity," C. A. remarked dryly. "Your father would probably put us all in the ditch at the rate he's driving."

Now I can stand just so much, but criticism of my driving, especially by C. A., who weaves in and out of city traffic like a snake on a cow-path, gets under my skin. I clenched my jaws shut to keep back the flip answers I could have made and stepped on the gas a little harder. Anything to get this trip over and deposit the in-laws at their door.

"The motorcycle man is trying to pass us, Daddy. The motorcycle man is going around you. Go faster! Go faster!" But it was too late. I pulled over to the curb, listened to his harangue, admitted everything I'd done for the last ten blocks was wrong—jumping the orange light, passing on the right, stepping too heavy on the gas—and followed him meekly to the nearest station.

PERJURY DEPENDS ON INTENT

Toronto Telegram

Magistrates and judges are frequently on record as commenting upon obviously perjured testimony. Said an Ontario judge, addressing counsel: "I don't believe a word any of your witnesses has said." In a Montreal case, a judge declared: "I never heard so many lies told by witnesses." No charges were laid in these instances, and evidently much false swearing goes unpunished.

Perjury being an attempt to defeat justice, Parliament quite properly takes a serious view thereof. MPs believe they have discovered much perjury in divorce cases. The relevant section of the Criminal Code has been recast. It provides that anyone who in a judicial proceeding gives evidence contrary to his previous evidence is liable upon conviction to imprisonment for 14 years. John Diefenbaker protested the wording as likely to deter witnesses from making any change in testimony once given. That of itself might obstruct justice. However, it is provided that the court in each instance must be satisfied that the accused intended to mislead, and the approval of the Attorney General of the province concerned will be required before action is taken.

The number of prosecutions has always been small, partly on account of the difficulty of proving intent and, perhaps, because counsel hesitate to incur the risk of an accused being sent behind the bars for 14 years. But sentences imposed bear little relation to the maximum provided. In one recent case the penalty was 12 months; in another, two months, and in a third case a fine of $100. Perhaps that is why perjurers still take a chance.

TRADE AND THE CURTAIN
Christian Science Monitor
Conviction in a British court of five men on charges of smuggling copper and brass behind the Iron Curtain is a reminder that although the British Government has been frankly interested in promoting East-West trade, it has also been punctilious in observing the agreed bans on strategic materials exports.

Frequently this conscientiousness has caused attacks on the government by Britons who have felt that London's enforcement of regulation has put British businessmen at a disadvantage with traders in other European countries. For example, one reliable spokesman for the businessmen's point of view stated that he had seen being laid in a Far Eastern country cables of European manufacture. Originally British manufacturers were offered the order, but had been forced to forgo it because British authorities refused an export license. So it went to another country where enforcement was less rigid.

Americans should set such reports, and the convictions of copper and brass dealers, against widespread criticism of Britain for its interest in East-West trade. Britain looks on such trade as useful not only commercially but also

Now just leave everything to me," C. A. boomed. "I know how to handle these guys. Give me the ticket and your driver's license. I'll tell them you're from the country, just visiting here and don't know the law."

Well, I left it to him. I did not even argue. C. A. marched into the police station, pompous and dignified. I covered under Anabel's scathing remarks, Grace's caustic silence and the children's gleeful jibes. I didn't even quibble when C. A. came back waving the little card and chuckling triumphantly.

"Nothing to it. Nothing to it my boy. You just need to know how to handle these fellows, that's all." With a flourish he tore up the little card and tossed it into the ditch, then climbed in.

At last I opened my repressed mouth. "Well, thanks, C. A. I'll take my driver's license back now, please."

"Huh? What? Eh? Your driver's license? Oh yes. Good grief, that was it I just tore up! They kept the ticket then and handed me back your driver's license. Ha! Guess I got mixed up."

We scrambled out—all six of us—and searched for the tiny scraps of cardboard in the ditch. I never said a word. When we got home Anabel painstakingly pasted them together like a jigsaw on another card which I slipped in to my wallet.

"Well, anyway, it was big of dad to fix that for me. I honestly didn't think he had that much pull or that you could talk the police out of a thing like that." I admitted. Anabel gave a guilty little laugh. "Don't ever tell Dad I told you, but he whispered to me that he had to pony up twenty-seven fifty, only he doesn't want you to know it, darling."

And to this day I can't figure whether the old man really thinks that much of me, or whether it was worth it to impress me because he hates me so. He's a wily guy.

From The Record Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Eric Liddel, thin legged Scottish divinity student, won Olympic glory for Great Britain yesterday when he led the 400 metre race with a time of 47 3/5 seconds — a world's record.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Cookshire—Hundreds paid their final tribute yesterday to Graydon "Bud" Goff, popular athlete, who was the victim of an accident earlier this week.

Women members of the Sherbrooke Country Club carried away four of seven prizes at Windsor Mills yesterday. The eight leaders in the field were: Mrs. P. E. Knox, Drummondville, 98; Mrs. Gordon Miller, Sherbrooke, 105; Miss Mae Harris, Sherbrooke, 106; Mrs. F. W. Norcross, Sherbrooke, 107; Mrs. J. Watt, Windsor, and Mrs. S. R. Fuller, Sherbrooke, both 111, and Mrs. Lee Watson, Lennoxville, 112.

TEN YEARS AGO

One of Stansfield's oldest citizens, Miss Jennie Patton, passed away yesterday at the Huntingdon County Hospital in her 86th year. Miss Patton, member of a pioneer Stansfield family, was long prominent in community, church and social affairs.

Milo M. Lathrop, 72, died at his home, 146 Prospect street, Sherbrooke, yesterday.

An impressive memorial service for Lieut. Trevor Charles Stevens was held yesterday in St. Peter's Church, Sherbrooke.

The girl had been told by the immigration officials only that she "didn't meet requirements." He quashed the deportation order on the ground the girl never had been told why the Department of Immigration sought to eject her from this country. Neither the basis of its case against her nor the grounds of its suspicion of her had ever been communicated to her in intelligible form, said Judge Wilson and as a result she had been given no opportunity to meet objections to her entry — "Whatever the Immigration Department has against her should have been disclosed."

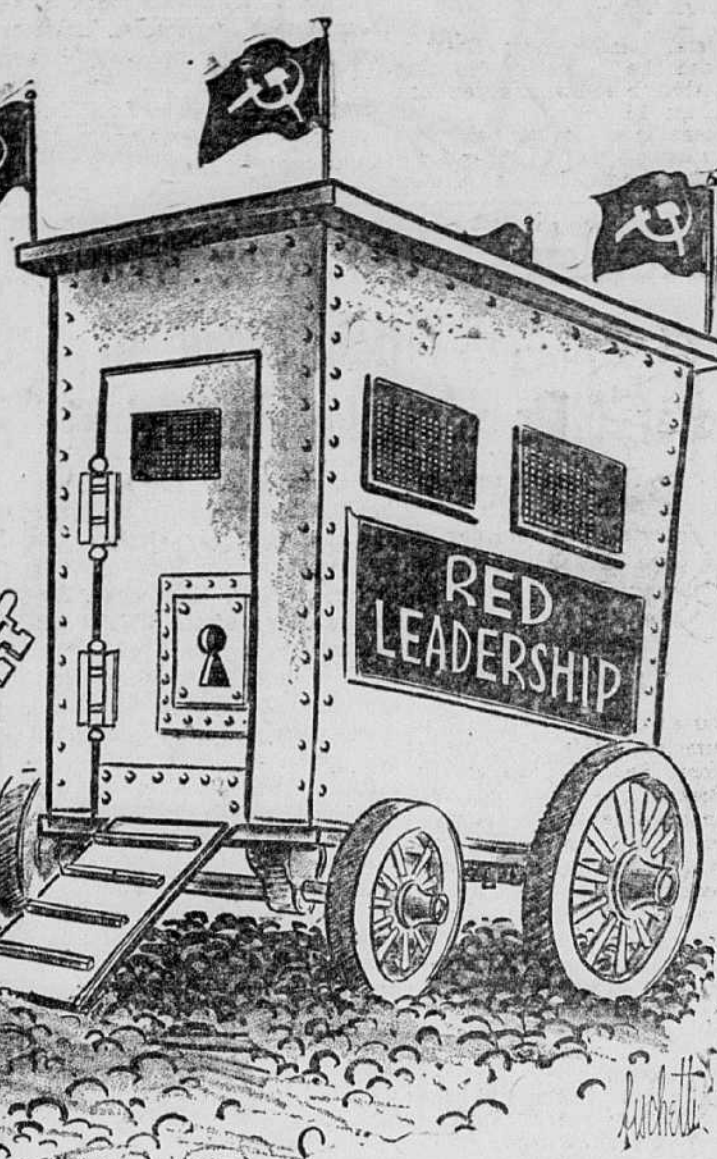

And His Lordship quoted an opinion of the Supreme Court of Canada in another case that "the deportation order must fully state their reasons."

This admonition should improve the manners of the Department of Immigration in its dealings with strangers in our midst. The case reveals a touch of official arrogance which most Canadians will find distasteful in the public service.

PETROV CASHES IN

Toronto Telegram
There seems to be big money in this spying business. Vladimir Petrov, for long Moscow's No. 1 spy in Australia, has testified to receiving around $1,000 a month, while Mrs. Petrov got just under $250. Savings in a Moscow Bank amounted to the tidy sum of $25,000. On the face of it Mr. Justice Owen, chairman of the commission now hearing evidence, was right in saying that "the salaries are surprising to me."

The Kremlin is not, however, traditionally generous, and when the Petrov salaries are more closely examined it appears that the senior partner was only paid in hard Australian cash a quarter of what he earned and that, after "voluntary" state loan deductions, the rest was "credited" to a bank account. Mrs. Petrov, in these circumstances, well have joined in the spy business to help the housekeeping go along, though she showed herself as an amateur when, after a quarrel, she broke a rule of eti-

Jacoby On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY

CHAMP WILL RISE TO THE OCCASION

I have just been looking through the latest book of my old friend Pierre Albarran, the great French expert. Albarran captained a French team in an international match held against my team (the Four Aces) in New York in 1936.

Albarran's book describes the bidding and play of a hundred extraordinary hands, and I was delighted to find one of my own among them. Here, in my best schoolboy translation, is what Albarran has to say:

"In the following hand, Jacoby was up against very strong competition. At his right was Howard Schenken and at his left was the late Jimmy Maier, two of the world's greatest players.

"In order to hoodwink such champions something more than a mere juggling trick was required. 'Ossie,' as it turned out, was able to rise to the occasion.

"Jacoby, North, opened with one diamond. Schenken bid four hearts, and Mrs. Jacoby (South) bid four spades. Maier passed, and Jacoby bid — but we leave to the reader the task of finding his bid.

"Let us say only that it won the admiration of many experts, and that, even to this day, it is still regarded as one of the most astonishing bids ever made.

"Perhaps you have now guessed it: Jacoby calmly bid seven spades and his wife made this grand slam without difficulty. As it happened, Maier led the ace of clubs, which was ruffed, and the diamonds supplied the necessary tricks.

"Why take such a risk? you may ask. Jacoby would answer that you must bid four spades or seven spades, but surely not six, since a champion like Maier would lead hearts against a small slam. Against a grand slam, however, the temptation to lead the ace of clubs would be too strong.

"We still don't know which to

Canada's 73-Member British Empire Games Team Commences Training For Event; Two Double Winners Head Squad

Vancouver (C)—Canada's 73-member British Empire Games track and field team, named here during the week-end, today begins a rigorous training program for the July 30-Aug. 7 spectacle.

The squad, comprising 54 men and 19 women, was selected at the conclusion of the two-day B.E.G. track and field trials. Some 144 athletes from all parts of the country took part.

Sprint stars Don McFarlane of Hamilton and Petite Gerry Bemister of Vancouver, both double winners in the trials, head the team.

Miss Bemister, out of action for a year with a leg injury, showed top form in winning the 100 and 220 yard sprints by comfortable margins.

McFarlane, a member of Canada's 1952 Olympic team, whipped over the rain-soaked University of B.C. stadium track in 21.9 seconds in the men's 220. McFarlane copped the 100 yard event the previous day.

Glamorous Jackie MacDonald, a Toronto school teacher, captured her second event with a 122 feet, four inch loss in the women's discus. The five-foot, 10-inch blonde set a Canadian record in the women's shot put Friday night with a heave of 41 feet, one-half inch.

Keith Holmes of Montreal, a student at the University of Iowa, clipped his own Canadian native record in the 440 hurdles by four-tenths of a second, winning in 55.3.

Another Canadian native record was established by Harry Kennedy of Toronto in the three-mile run. He hit the tape in 14:29.9.

George Hillier of St. John's, Nfld., was picked for the Canadian marathon team, and Margery Squires of Fredericton for the 100 yards, the 80-metre hurdles and the broad jump.

James Warner of Halifax was picked as a reserve choice for the 440-yard relay.

Stan Leonard Cops Fifth CPGA Title With Five-Under-Par 205 For Event; Jack Kay, Mt. Bruno, Places Third

Edmonton (C)—Stan Leonard of Vancouver Marine Drive burned up the Edmonton Mayfair course Saturday to capture the 1954 Canadian Professional Golfers Association Championship with a scorching five-under-par 205 for 54 holes of medal play.

Leonard won his fifth CPGA title only after a tremendous struggle with defending champion Henry Martell of Edmonton Highlands which saw them tied for the lead with one-under-par 69s for each of the first two rounds Friday and Saturday.

But the mighty mite of Canadian golf pulled away on the final 18 holes with a three-under-par windup while Martell finished with a par-7. Precision irons and a hot putter won it for Leonard.

Martell, who edged Leonard by a single stroke for the 1953 title at Quebec City and lost to him by three strokes this year, had his putter fall him when he needed it most.

Best Yet

Leonard's 205 was the best 54-hole score in CPGA history and made him the tournament's only five-time winner along with Willie Lamb of Toronto. Lamb won it in 1940, 1941, 1950 and 1951.

Unheralded Jack Kay, 25-year-old power-hitter from Montreal Mount Bruno, finished third in the $4,175 tournament with a one-under-par 211. Leonard collected $750 in prize money, Martell $600 and Kay $500.

The other leaders: Al Balding, Port Credit, Ont., 212; Jules Huot, three-time CPGA winner from Montreal Laval—Sur-Le-Lac, 213; Bill Kerr, Montreal Beaconsfield, 215; Stan Horne, Montreal Isle-mere, another three-time winner, 215; Pat Fletcher, Saskatoon Country Club, 217; Murray Tucker, Toronto Rosedale, 219; and Fred Wood, Vancouver Shaughnessy, 220.

New Zealand Skipper Goes With Vessel

Bombay, India (Reuters)—Capt. C. H. Turner, 55-year-old New Zealand, went down with the ship when his freighter ran aground and sank Sunday night near Jaffrabad on the west coast of India, according to radio signals picked up here today.

Turner was last seen as a lone figure standing at attention on the main deck of the 5,296-ton Panamanian vessel San Mardeno as she slowly keeled over and disappeared.

The 40 other members of the crew were rescued.

The last man to be taken off was a Chinese crew member who had stayed on deck with Turner supervising rescue operations. Injured during the rescue, he was being taken to hospital on arrival in Bombay this evening.

The ship's agents in Bombay said there was still a faint hope that Turner might be picked up but admitted that such a chance was remote.

A gaping hole was torn in the hull when the ship ran aground. The engine room and boilers flooded and all hope of saving the ship was given up.

She was steaming empty from Bombay to Bhavnagar on the Saurashtra coast of western India to load salt.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York—(AP)—Everything's happening to the Brooklyn all-star game at Cleveland, manager Walt Alston's shell-shocked crew has to head for Milwaukee to play off a postponed game the following night, and the club is burning about it.

There is an agreement that no games will be played in either league on the days before and after the all-star tussle, but a series of early season rainouts at Milwaukee has made it necessary to get in the game on Wednesday or risk losing it entirely.

Ordinarily those players who are not chosen for the mid-season fixture can look forward to a three-day vacation, and the Dodgers in their present state could use some relaxation. There was even talk that they might protest to the players' association and refuse to play the game, but vice-president Buzz Bavasi put a stop to that with the quiet remark: "They don't have to play if they don't want to. We don't have to pay them, either."

Winning the British open golf championship is not worth what it once was, judging by appearances. For the first time in many a year not a single American top-ranking professional thought it was worth the effort in last week's event at Birkdale. Jimmie Demerit, now well past his prime, was the only American who might have been given an outside chance to win it.

The British title for many years was the most prized of them all. Such immortals as Walter Hagen, Bobby Jones, Gene Sarazen and last year, Ben Hogan, built much of their fame and earning power by winning on the windswept British links. The feat put the final stamp on their greatness.

Now there is so much money to be won that the prestige of capturing the oldest of the opens no longer has great attraction. At a guess, the average young pro now would rather win the Tam O'Shanter tournament with its certain $50,000 reward than bring the British cup home three times running. You can't eat on glory alone.

Russ Meyer of the Dodgers became the latest member of the Willie Mays fan club after that remarkable young man clouted his 30th home run off him, a mighty swat that cleared the high Ebbets' Field screen in right centrefield.

"That ball he hit," Meyer reported incredulously, "was a change-up and it was about a foot outside the plate. He just reached out and hit the hell out of it."

Indians And Miners Split; Canadiens Here Tomorrow

Bill Williams Sets Merry Pace In Saturday's 14-7 Win; Miners Turn Tables To Win Sunday's Tilt 5-4

A week-end split enabled the Sherbrooke Indians to gain half a game on the second-place Quebec Braves in the Provincial League close battle. On Saturday the locals walloped the Miners of Theford 14-7 but yesterday afternoon the Krueger squad came through with a close 5-4 victory. Last night's tilt at Theford was rained out.

The Braves shutout the Canadiens Saturday evening 5-0 but yesterday they lost both fixtures by the tune of 5-4 to lose ground in the battle for first place. Three Rivers made the most of the week-end by moving up one step into fourth spot over the A's of Drummondville. They took two from the A's and dropped one.

This evening the Indians return to Theford for their final game of the series and no doubt they will play a doubleheader to make up for last night's rained out affair. Tomorrow evening they will be hosts to the Canadiens of St. John's in a twin-bill commencing at 6.30.

On Saturday evening the Indians came through with a 14-7 decision over the Miners. Lanky John Luthern went the route and posted the victory. He gave up nine hits for seven runs but was never in what could be called serious trouble. He retired nine via the swinging method and issued six passes.

On the other hand his mates pounded three hurlers. Carson, who was shelled from the mound in the big third inning, Thode, who was lifted for a pinch-hitter for a total of thirteen hits. Carson started off well but in the third he ran into a barrage of heavy bats and before things had blown over the locals had shoved eight runs across the plate.

In the second eight batters faced Carson and accounted for four runs. Bill Williams connected for a home run to lead the parade. In the third thirteen men stepped into the batter's circle before the side was out. Dick Brown made the most of it with two hits for his trips to the plate.

Thode held forth until the seventh and the Indians could only pick up one single. In the eighth they got to his replacement, Febraro, and shoved two more runs home on two hits, a walk and an error. It completed the scoring for the locals.

On the other side of the score sheet the Miners were in trouble in figuring out Luthern's offerings. They had two good innings, the second and third, and accounted for six of their runs. In the second two runs were scored on two hits and an error. In the third they registered four more and this ended their scoring until the sixth when they completed it with a singleton.

Bill Williams led the parade with four-for-five while Stephens, Brown and Bartunek collected two each. Williams poled out a round-tripper in the Luthern and Pedigree were the only ones to go hitless. The locals' husky short-stop had only one official trip to the plate. He was hit by a pitch twice, drew a free pass and laid down a perfect bunt. The other time he struck out.

Yesterday afternoon it was the Miners' turn and they took over and although they only managed to eke out a close 5-4 decision they held the upper hand and smashed out a total of twelve hits compared to four for the Indians.

Gary Kold, who commenced the tilt, had trouble from the opening when he gave up two hits but kept them away from the third base however in the third they picked up two more safeties coupled with a walk, sacrifice and a hit-by-pitch to shove two runs across the plate.

It was in the sixth when they had their big innings when they collected four hits good for two more runs and then in the eighth after they had drawn a walk and a single Manager Wylie lifted his starter for Bill Miller. He was loused for two safeties in the ninth for a run.

The Indians had trouble with Wosnick and failed to do anything until the seventh. He allowed three hits during that time. In the seventh he lost his control and issued three walks and Manager

Dodgers Recall Royals' Amors

Brooklyn (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers today recalled Sandy Amors from their Montreal farm in the International League and released outfielder Dick Williams and infielder Charley Kress. Amors is hitting .361 and has 13 homers at Montreal.

Williams was released outright to St. Paul of the American Association. Kress goes to Rochester if the International League club wants him.

SUNDAY'S STARS

Pitching
Billy Pierce, Chicago White Sox, set Cleveland Indians back with two hits for a 3-0 victory.

Batting
Don Mueller, New York Giants, singled, doubled, tripled, and homered in five at bats in 13-7 victory over Pittsburgh Pirates.

Krueger sent left-hander Febraro to face two southpaws but he issued walks and that was the end of him. Tunison came to the rescue but the Indians had three runs across the plate.

In the ninth two walks accounted for the Indians' fourth tally with Bill Williams driving in the run, with the tying and winning runs on the sacks Jerry Bartunek failed to deliver and lifted a long fly ball to centre to end the rally and allow the Miners to post a 5-4 verdict.

HOW TO BROADCAST TONIGHT'S GAME

The second tilt in Theford Mines between the Sherbrooke Indians and Bill Krueger's squad will be broadcast this evening over CHLT and will be sponsored by Dow's Brewery.

The game was slated for last night but it was rained out. Tonight the teams will play a double-header and the second game will be carried over the local station commencing around 8.15. Jean-Paul Lassonde, Dow sports-caster, will do the broadcasting in French with an English commentary.

Indians, Dodgers And Mohawks Post Wins In Minor Baseball League On Saturday; Game Slated This Evening

Two games were played in the Babe Ruth League Saturday afternoon. At the Stadium North Ward Indians defeated St. Joseph Yankees 13-10 while at Sangster Park West Ward Dodgers set back North Ward Phillies 15-2. In the Little League fixture Mohawks upset St. Pat's Yankees 13-9.

The game at the Stadium was played loosely by both teams whether it was the large diamond or the heat the players did not seem to have any life in them at all. Indians got away to a two run lead in their part of the first inning with the Dodgers getting one of three back in their part of the inning. Indians got five runs in the top of the third while the Yankees got three runs.

In a big fourth inning each team served five runs. The runs were scored by both teams on mostly errors and walks. Indians clicked for two more runs in the sixth and seventh and won on the long end of a 13-10 result.

Peak and Cote were the stars of their respective teams. At Sangster Park Dodgers had no trouble with the Phillies. Dodger batters clicked for four hits and three errors to get eight runs in the opening inning.

Phillies had registered two runs in their part of the first inning and that was all the serving for Indians in the game, as Rousseau the Dodger hurler had control of the game from there on. Dodgers added seven more runs in the remaining innings and ran out easy 15-2 winners.

In a Little League game at Sangster Park Saturday afternoon Mohawks won their second game downing St. Pat's Yankees 13-9. The game was closely played all the way and Mohawks in the closing innings finished up strongly to take the game. Parker Bryson worked well for the Yankees while R. Kirby and Mawhood stood out for Mohawks.

A total of 24 matches were played at the Fraser street courts in the Sherbrooke City Championships over the week-end with all the favorites advancing. Jean Levesque and Amedee Gaudreault went into the next round but not before they had fought long and hard against elimination.

Amedee Gaudreault had an even harder time against Bill Bilodeau. Gaudreault, who is seeded fourth, had to use all the tricks to finally take the match, 6-2, 5-7, 7-5.

Majella Charest advanced into the semi-finals by downing Peter Murray, former champion of the City courts, 6-2, 6-0. Charest lost only two games in his week-end matches. On Saturday he disposed of Camille Charron 6-0, 6-0.

The Henry Demers Shield was awarded to Brault, a two-time winner of the event.

The low net in class "A" went to Leonard Lickfold, of Cowansville, who shot a 79 minus a 12 handicap for a 67 net. He won the toss of the coin as Harold Demming, of Cowansville, with 60-13-67, and Russ Marois, of Sherbrooke Country Club, with 70-12-67 took second and third positions.

American League Race Developing Into War Of Nerves; All Three Top Clubs Sure Of Winning Championship

The American League pennant chase is developing into a war of nerves.

Cleveland manager Al Lopez says he isn't afraid of the Chicago White Sox — they haven't got the pitching to last out the long season. He's more concerned with the New York Yankees — but Tribe still has the better club.

Chicago manager Paul Richards merely shrugged last month when his club went into first place — he expected it all along. The Pale Hose team is the one to lick the Yankees, he avers.

New York manager Casey Stengel doesn't have much to say—he's been spending his time watching the other two, hoping they'd eat each other.

Knock Each Other Off

Right now, it appears that Stengel's hopes have been coming true. Last week, the Indians swept the Sox four straight games. In the four-game set just ended, however, the Sox won all four, finishing with a 3-0, 8-2 double win Sunday.

The Yankees, who have been taking advantage of the second-division clubs, won their ninth in a row and 12th in 14 by slugging Washington Senators 7-3 to climb within a half-game of the Indians. The White Sox are three games back.

Lopez may have to eat his words about the Sox' pitching. His club produced just five runs in the four games. Since Billy Pierce, Mike Fournier and Harry Dorish all have recovered from their sore arms, the White Sox must be considered a factor, Lopez' opinion notwithstanding.

Pierce tossed a two-hit shutout in Sunday's first game and Virgil Trucks held the Tribe to five hits in the nightcap. Until the Indians managed two runs in the ninth they had gone 28 innings without scoring.

Minnie Minoso hit a two-run homer and Matt Batts hit one with none on to account for the first-game scoring. Bonus rookie Ron

Invigorator Wins Brooklyn Handicap

New York—(AP)—The Saxon stable's Invigorator, with Eddie Arcaro in the saddle, won the $58,600 Brooklyn handicap Saturday. Alfred Vanderbilt's Find was second and C. V. Whitney's Cold Command third.

The favorite, Mrs. J. R. H. Thouron's Royal Vale, finished seventh in the field of nine.

Invigorator, sixth choice in the betting, was timed in 2:03 for the 1 1/4 miles and paid $27.50, $10.40 and $7.30. Find paid $5.20 and $4.50 while Cold Command returned $6.00.

Junior Gilliam. Gil Hodges had clouted two home runs and Carl Furillo one earlier in the game, but Carl Erskine couldn't stand such prosperity.

The second tilt was tied 1-1 in the seventh. Then Del Ennis homered off Don Newcombe to break it up. Herman Wehrer, with Robin Roberts' aid, stopped the Braves.

Big Blow For Rookie
Jim Command's first major league hit for the Phils was a grand slam home run during the big first-game eighth inning.

The Redlegs beat the Braves in the first game on back-to-back home runs by Gus Bell and Ted Kluszewski. Bell also had a home run, a triple and two singles in the second game. Andy Pafko had a homer in each game for the Braves.

Joe Cunningham hit his fifth home run since joining the Cardinals from Rochester June 30 as the Birds beat the Cubs. The blow broke a 3-3 tie in the sixth.

By collecting 40 hits off Philadelphia Athletics pitching, Boston Sox moved from the American League cellar into sixth place. Ted Williams had four hits and now is batting .367. The A's lost Gus Zernial, probably for the season, when the outfielder slipped and broke his left collarbone while fielding a line drive in the first game.

WINS BY NECK—Cadet Hanover is shown edging out the field in a close finish Saturday evening in the fourth race of the card. Sara Brooke, number five, placed second while Grattan Directly, number four, came through to cop third with fourth going to Eugene Cote's Ritz Teddie of Richmond. The winner belonging to Dr. R. Veilleux of Sherbrooke, covered the first mile in 2:15 4/5 while in the second they swapped positions. (Record Photo by Rene Lafond)

Reynolds said his left leg and hip had bothered him in his last four appearances.

Harold Abbe Posts Low Mark Of Current Season 2:08 2-5; Daily Double $65.20; Quinella $35.65

Harold Abbe, recently purchased by J. D. Blanchette, of Chartierville from the blue and gold stables of Lucien Dugre of Sherbrooke, last night won both heats in the junior-free-for-all class. The 10-year-old brown gelding captured the fifth race in 2:07 2/5, the fastest time of the week-end, and came through again in the eighth race, this time in 2:08 4/5.

Ad. Dumas' entry of Mary G. Herbert placed second in both heats and was the only threat to the fast, Harold Abbe. A newcomer to the Sherbrooke Racing Club track, Baden's Ray, owned and driven by C. Cass, won the first race on last night's program. Amedee Beaudoin drove Lena Directly across the wire in first position in the second race, and the combination of Baden's Ray and Lena Directly paid $85.20.

Del Miller, lowered her mark for the mile in the third race, when she outdistanced the field to win in 2:14 3/5. This surprise upset paid $25.20 on straight, $8.20 to place and Jeanne All paid $4.80 to place. Professor Mc, and Dave Adam respectively came in to pay $8.10 on the quinella in the fourth race.
