

Don't Deface Park Is Plea Of Citizens

Skating Rink Construction Is Opposed

While the City of Westmount is preparing plans and getting ready to call for tenders for an artificial skating rink at the corner of Melville avenue and Sherbrooke street on the north east corner of Westmount Park — citizens in the area are going door-to-door with a petition aimed at halting the project.

City Manager Tom Hughes yesterday told the Examiner nothing definite had been arranged to date. Plans were being prepared, he said and tenders would be called, but city officials were not ready to make a definite move until cost of the project could be ascertained.

Those opposing the plan claim it will destroy handsome trees, deface a prized beauty spot on an important thoroughfare, lower the standard of architecture in the area, and a concentration of children entering and leaving such an edifice will constitute a further traffic hazard.

The petition follows:

"Whereas it has come to our attention that the City of Westmount proposes to construct an enclosed artificial ice skating rink at the corner of Sherbrooke St. and Melville Ave., we, the undersigned, property owners, tax-payers and/or residents of Westmount, recognize the desirability of an artificial rink, but suggest that it be more centrally placed within the park.

"We deplore and protest the selection of the proposed site for the following reasons:-

(1) It will require the destruction of many handsome trees and will deface a prized beauty spot on the city's most important thoroughfare.

(2) However well designed, an artificial rink will not be in keeping with the high standards of public and private architecture in this area.

(3) Other areas in the park are available which will not require the destruction of noble trees and where the type of structure necessary will not be such a misfit, or at least will not be blatantly exposed.

(4) A concentration of children entering and leaving such an edifice close to a main thoroughfare will constitute a further

Police Chief Hangs Up His Hat

"A policeman's lot is not a happy one," according to the old song, but Westmount's police Chief Robert Byford seems to have no regrets about the 31 odd years he has spent as a policeman in Westmount. Retiring today from his position as head of the Westmount police force Chief Byford likes to look back on his first days as a rookie.

"Things were not so easy then," says Chief Byford, "When I joined the force in 1924 you worked a 12 hour day, for a weekly wage of $23.25 and you only had a day off every 2 months."

The chief worked his way through every rank from constable to his present position. He was involved in investigations that led to the apprehension of many well known criminals. The most notorious of whom was Gerald Dennis who looted Westmount homes of over $130,000. Dennis was arrested by police in the U.S. on information supplied by the Westmount police.

Because Westmount is a wealthy residential area the force does not have to cope with problems that plague other areas, but it has always been a target for burglars and other light fingered gentry. However the vigilant 49 man force has managed to discourage them from entering the City and figures indicate that this type of crime has dropped during the past few years. Traffic however remains a major problem and it becomes more acute each year, with the increase in the numbers of vehicles on the road.

Chief Byford was born in London and came to Canada with his family at the age of 12. He is married and has 4 Sons, and is a past president of the Quebec police and fire chiefs association. He does not intend however to retire to the country and take things easy but plans a new career in real estate. His present deputy, Richard Edmondstone, is expected to succeed him as Westmount police chief.

The cast included the following: Evelyn Desjardins, Joan Desjardins, Yvonne Mastro, June Dollard, Patsy Leger, Wayne McCullough, Linda Mascis, Frank Bonanno, Louis Blais, Gerald Hebert, Diane Desjardins, Muriel Lawrence, Maureen Rennie, Brian Christie, Carole Waterman and the Rythmaires, Lily Parks, Billy Walker, Sylvia and Lorraine Thoun and Louise Herbert.

Handicrafts Registered Marks 1st Anniversary
 By ELLEN CRAFTS

Handicrafts Registered, one of the brightest and most interesting spots on Sherbrooke Street West, celebrates its first birthday this weekend and Mrs. E. McMartin, who owns and operates it, has just cause to be proud of its amazing success.

Actually, the success of Handicrafts Registered is the end product of Mrs. McMartin's ideas on handicrafts, hobbies and housework. Mrs. McMartin is a friendly woman with lots of energy and ability. She has become well acquainted with handicrafts which she explains are made for fun and not for financial return. This basic fact invariably makes the product one of much higher quality than if it were mass produced for profit, she says. Another idea which sparked Handicrafts Registered, is that many people who have handicrafts as hobbies too often hide their talent behind bushels of (Continued on Page 6)

Camp Counsellors Get Set For Term

Camping counsellors from the West End are fast putting togs and training together in preparation for the forthcoming camping season, and indications are that it's going to be a mighty fine year for campers.

In all, there are about 50 organized, private and day camps in and around the city. These receive some 10,000 children during the summer months. The job of looking after the youngsters, aged 8 to 15 on the average, goes to the counsellors.

"But these are further divided into counsellors-in-training, counsellors and staff counsellors," explained Mrs. Agnes Mutchler at Friday's convention for counsellors. President of the Quebec Camping Association, Mrs. Mutchler 3255 Rigewood avenue said that one counsellor was needed for every six children, one staff counsellor for every six counsellors-in-training. "During the summer, more than 1,000 counsellors are actively engaged in supervising the camp program. At least one-quarter of this number come from the West End."

The convention featured guest speaker Harold Potter, professor of Sociology at Sir George Williams College, who said that, although the effect of the leader varies with the group and the situation, the counsellor should be excellent in something flexible, absolutely trustworthy, decisive, able to initiate action, clarify information, arbitrate disputes and dispense justice and have contacts outside the group. "He gets no leisure nor material gain for his good judgment and confidence. He learns to accept unreasonable behavior and to maintain communicable links in dealing with people. In the final analysis, what makes life worth living but the possibility of serving others?"

Also addressing the convention was Mrs. Alice Turnham, curator of Redpath Museum, who advised the counsellors to take an active interest in wild life, lants and flowers. F. M. Van Wagner, president of the Canadian Camping Association, hoped that "camping will always be simple living out-of-doors."

The convention was opened by folk singer Alan Mills and concluded with supper and a dance.

Wheeler Airlines Turn To Turbines

St. Jovite, Que. — Canada's oldest existing air service, Wheeler Airlines Limited of St. Jovite, Quebec, will be the first Canadian non-scheduled operator to turn to propeller-turbine aircraft. Wheeler have taken up options for the purchase of two F27 Fairchild Friendship prop-jets to be delivered in late 1958 and in 1959. The high wing twin engine aircraft, powered by two Rolls-Royce Dart engines, has been hailed as the jet age successor to the famous DC3 for feeder line service, and has a cruising speed of 280 miles per hour, capacity for 40 passengers and payload of 11,000 pounds.

The 36-year old airline, which operates largely in Northern Quebec, Labrador and the Eastern Arctic, has a wide range of equipment in its 26 plane fleet, all the way from three four-engine DC4's to Stearman spray planes. The F27, among its numerous fine features, requires comparatively short landing and take-off space for an aircraft of its size, and thus should be particularly well suited to Wheeler's northern operations, where small airstrips are frequently utilized.

Victoria Day

Let us Not Lose What Is Left of Virtues of Gone Era

Victoria Day is a day on which to recall one of the greatest personalities and one of the finest characters of our history.

Victoria was well named "the Great Queen." Her steadfast adherence to the principles of truth and justice made her universally respected. Her long reign coincided with a period of expansion and growth of influence, wealth and power the like of which has been experienced by few nations.

The solid consolidation achieved during her reign made the British flag a symbol not only of power but of stability and progress, recognized throughout the world. Victoria's own personal qualities contributed greatly to this pre-eminent position.

It is good to look back, but this is also an appropriate time to examine the present and think of the future. Members of the Commonwealth, like other free nations of the world, are in a state of flux, confronted by problems of a complexity unknown in Victoria's time. We might yearn for the stability of an era gone by, but the world we now live in is one of fear, confusion and national and ideological rivalries in which stability seems as remote in the future as it is in the past, and there is no escape from it.

The world being what it is, the most important questions facing us perhaps are these: What will be the future relations between the overseas nations of the Commonwealth and the Motherland and what will be the future relations between the Commonwealth and the United States?

The world confronts us with powerful and growing rivals, nations whose political and social ideals are not only different from but antagonistic to ours. Never was solidarity among free nations more vital.

Let us not lose what is left of the character, courage, and patriotism that ran so high during Victoria's reign. These characteristics, strengthened by contemplation of the great figures of our history, will help meet the critical challenges the future will inevitably bring.

Voters' Last Chance

Offices of Revision Open for Three Days Next Week

Last chance for voters who were missed in the enumeration comes up next week-end when offices of revision will be opened throughout the district for three days.

Next Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, May 23, 24, and 25, revising officers, acting under Associate Chief Justice W. B. Scott will hear applications for additions and corrections after which the lists will be closed.

Voters should bear in mind that after next Saturday, May 25, no further changes can be made. The lists as amended by the revising officers will be the lists used by the polling officials on election day.

So, if your name isn't on the preliminary list as compiled by the enumerators, go to the revising officer for your district on the dates mentioned. If you fail to do this, you don't vote.

Comparatively few countries give their citizens the opportunity to freely choose those who rule over them. It is a right that every free citizen should exercise, a responsibility every elector should discharge. Don't be one of those who neglect this fundamental duty.

See that your name is registered, then vote.

TALKING POINT

At the end only two things really matter to a man . . . the affection and understanding of his family.

—ADMIRAL BYRD.

By the Way . . .

SOMEbody had the brilliant idea that if a road-sign, warning motorists to drive carefully, were erected upside down, it would rouse their curiosity sufficiently to make them slow down in order to read it.

The sign was put up. If such signs became all the rage in cities, drivers who now tear along at four miles an hour will be forced to reduce speed to read the warnings; the more foolish of them may even get out and stand on their heads.

Anyhow, the only movement in congested areas will be when the head of the queue passes the sign, and the rest creep forward to read it. Signs in invisible ink would be a good idea, the warnings only becoming visible when rubbed with orange-juice.

Tra-la-la

MENTION in some travel literature, issued abroad, of "The famous English defective, Shylock Homes," brought back to mind the celebrated passage: "Hansom girls in the latest cloths are to be seen in all the coffees of Milan, supping up operatives before fooding." (If you can dance the minaret, you will adore Constantinople.)

Quiet hours with goldfish

THE pill-merchants have a humble rival. The latest sedative recommended is the contemplation of goldfish. How a secretary is to persuade a ramping, raging business man to sit down and watch the office bowl is another matter. "Miss Cobblestone! Tell Travers to . . . where's that infernal . . . hello wrong number . . . go away Bewley . . . take this letter . . . A-a-a-ah! Thank you, Miss Cobblestone. Round and round and round and round they swim, the dear little creatures, round and round and round and round . . . Sh! Mr. Smith, Mr. Whackstraw is relaxing at the bowl."

STAMPS

by Margaret Ward

Special tweezers, the postage stamp catalogue, a watermark detector, and a perforation gauge are examples of the more advanced accessories available to the stamp collector.

Special tongs or tweezers, made with flat tips which slide easily under the stamps, prevent them from becoming damaged or soiled.

The postage stamp catalogue is the encyclopedia of philately. It is an annual publication which gives all information likely to be needed concerning every postage stamp issued. Some catalogues list stamps from all over the world, while others are specialized for one country or group of countries.

Since stamps are valuable they are often watermarked as an extra means of identification and as a protection against forgers. These watermarks are faint designs put into the paper by wires at the time of manufacture. Many stamps differ only because of them. Since watermarks are seldom seen easily, a detector has to be used. The stamp is placed face down on this small black tray, and a little carbon tetrachloride is poured over it. The watermark, which might consist of letters or some geometric pattern, is then immediately visible.

Perforations are the small round holes punched between stamps in a sheet. A perforation gauge, then, is a cardboard or metal ruler which is used to count the number of perforations in the space of two centimetres. Most modern stamps are perforation 10 to 12.

Just a reminder to Westmount Junior Stamp Club members to start their stamps exhibits for the exhibition in connection with the club's annual banquet May 30. We are hoping to have as large a showing as possible.

is when enormous banks are built all over the place. I notice that they are springing up overnight in dozens. There is a story of a man whose bank refused to cash him a cheque, as he had no money to meet it. He was taken to the manager, and he said: "I'll tell you what it is, Barclay, old man. You're losing your nerve."

Marginal comment

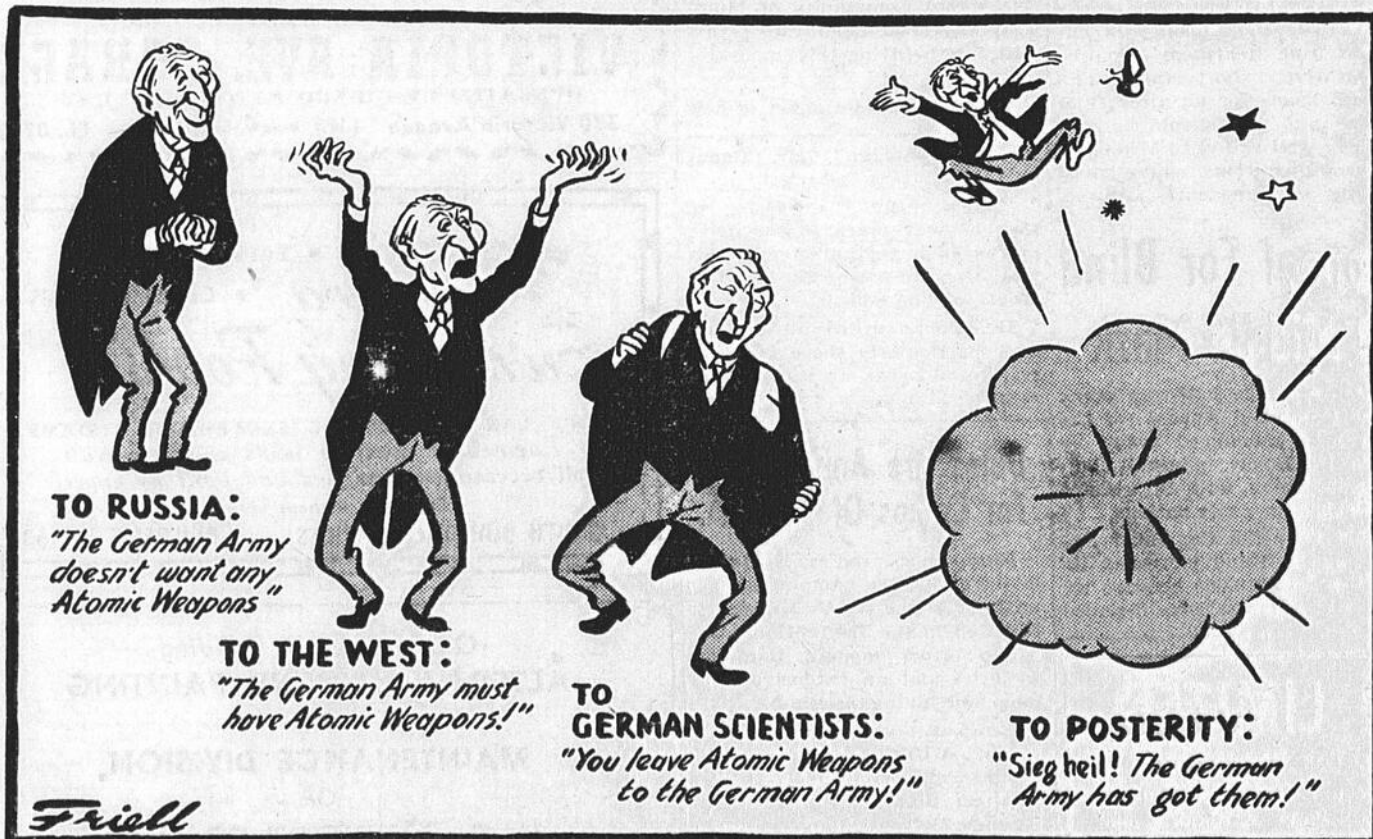

WHAT is really wanted is a deterrent powerful enough to deter countries from trying to deter other countries by testing deterrents. When tests become so lethal that they have to be abandoned it may occur to some statesman with a towering intellect that the whole business is insane.

Red Shield Drive At Half Way Mark

This year's Salvation Army Red Shield Appeal was officially closed Wednesday night but canvassers were asked to completely cover all cards for a final report. When the Wednesday night deadline passed the campaign was just under 50 per cent of the $250,000 objective. Donations and pledges up to that time totalled $120,640.

J. L. Walker, general campaign chairman announced that every effort would be made to get in lagging returns and it was hoped that the final report dinner early in June would see all divisions over the top.

An early riser left his not-too-new car in front of our service garage one morning with this note on it: "Please fix the throw-out, I'll be back at 3:30."

Our mechanics, after scratching their heads checked the throw-out bearing at the clutch, but they found it working perfectly. However, when the owner arrived in the afternoon and we explained the situation to him, he still insisted something had to be wrong with the "throw-out."

"That car," he said, "throws out a quart of oil every couple of miles!"

relatives. That is, people will make beautiful things to give to members of their families but never in all this wide world will they think of selling them.

As regards house work — Mrs. McMartin thinks that it is just fine except that you can hardly make a career of it if you possess a perfectly happy, healthy and practically grown-up family who are quite capable of taking care of themselves.

Mrs. McMartin hit upon the idea of a shop for handicrafts. It could have many values. People in hospitals would have some place to market their work, older people would have a chance to make a little pin money and even the making of handicrafts would be stimulated. Also, Mrs. McMartin would have the fun of operating the shop.

ONCE A COUNTER

Not knocking what to expect in such an adventure, Mrs. McMartin began with a counter on one side of Croft's Fabric Centre, located at Victoria and Sherbrooke. She contacted about a dozen people and put their handicrafts on display. In no time at all growing pains developed and it was soon necessary to move to larger premises.

When Handicrafts Registered opened to the public a year ago, Mrs. McMartin had approximately two hundred suppliers, now there are over five hundred.

The shop has never been operated with a view to profits. Each supplier marks his own value on his work, and there is a small markup to cover handling. The work remains in the shop for three months and if not purchased at the end of that time is returned to its owner. All merchandise is covered by insurance.

Mrs. McMartin hasn't found it necessary to look for suppliers because after the first dozen, items poured into the shop. Such places as Sanitariums and hospitals, the Arthritis Society, Rehabilitation Centre, Epileptic House, and even the blind send in their work.

What amazes Mrs. McMartin is that her range of handicrafts now include leatherwork from Holland, wood carvings from Poland, sweaters from Germany, jewellery from France, cocktail blouses from Portugal, blouses from Greece, and even after the uprising in Hungary, embroidered belts from that country. Wood carvings have arrived from Africa, hand woven pure silk scarves from India and hand woven stoles with homespun wool from Columbia.

Mrs. McMartin is constantly delighted with the high caliber of the work sent to her shop.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

BY
WINIFRED E. WILSON

Nature's concert orchestra has tuned up again, and for the next six weeks or so will be at its best. Each section has a great many members, and if you listen attentively to several individuals you will find that they are actually playing different tunes, yet all the notes blend together, making perfect harmony. This is what human musicians might call counterpoint.

Dawn, the conductor, gives the signal for the violins to begin — softly, but with clear cut notes — and the White-throated Sparrows are heard. In the distance Veerys twang their Jew's harps, and all the flautists, Hermit Thrushes, Wood Thrushes, and Meadowlarks join in. Full, rich tones of violincellos are added by Purple Finches and Rose-breasted Grosbeaks, giving stability to the music. This is necessary, because there are quantities of tiny Warblers playing piccolos. From a marsh comes the boom of the Bittern's bassoon, and when a flock of Canada Geese pass overhead we are thrilled to hear their trumpets.

The percussion section is by no means omitted. Kingfishers work hard rattling the bones, Winter Wrens and Pipits tinkle their tambourines, Cuckoos keep the time with long sessions of beating on their kettle-drums, while Ruffed Grouse and several kinds of Woodpeckers thump their side-drums, and Juncos ring their tiny bells. All the time Red-eyed Vireos are playing a piano obbligato.

Once the sun is well up the music dies down, until by noon little can be heard except Song Sparrows picking out tunes on their clarinets, as though practising for the evening concert.

Then, after most of the instrumentalists have taken time off to rest and dine, a new conductor, Dusk, takes over. The silvery sustained tone of flutes is heard as our great artists, the Hermit Thrushes, begin again. The sound swells as various musicians join in — Baltimore Orioles giving staccato notes on their French horns, Red-breasted Nuthatches sounding their tiny tin horns. Possibly a Great Horned Owl may show off his double-bass, the deepest tones of the entire orchestra.

When complete darkness has fallen, the music once more fades away, and for a short while all is silent, except for the occasional soft but clear notes of a Song Sparrow, still practising the clarinet, or perhaps a White-throat trying how high he can go on his perfectly tuned violin.

Of course, to hear these concerts you must arrange for suitable seats — far from crowded cities, on the edge of woods, not too far from water. And you must forgo a full night's sleep.

Do pairs stay together?

Your Family

PET CORNER

BOXERS AS PETS

A lady we know acquired a dog one day as she was walking along the boardwalk in Verdun.

A little bundle of fur came tripping after her, and despite repeated attempts to shoo it away it followed her home. It was a pup of indeterminate breeding, but it was intelligent enough to adopt the right master. It just parked itself outside the front door and announced its arrival by barking. As the lady said, when the children saw it out there in the snow they just could not turn it away. It became the family pet and today, grown to maturity it is a bushy faced long bodied, banner tailed Mutt but everybody loves it.

That is one way to find a pet, but if you are looking for a dog that the children can play with it is best to buy one.

The boxer comes immediately to mind. Everybody loves the boxer, with his big ugly face, and friendly grin, he looks like a benevolent Alderman. When he wags the tail he hasn't got, his whole body, from the ears back oscillates. They are ideal for children, never vicious, but woe betide the stranger who tries to interfere with his young charges, in his vein courses the blood of three great fighting breeds, the great dane, the bulldog and the terrier.

When you are buying a dog it is best to buy them when they are young, because at that age he is not attached to anybody, is more easily trained, and you will have him longer.

If you live in an apartment or a house without a garden do not buy a boxer because they need exercise and it is cruel to keep them penned up. When you are selecting your pup look for the following signs, which mean that the dog is unhealthy: running eyes, cough, body temperature should not be more than 102 degrees, it should not be listless, and there should be no marks or blotches on his skin. The legs should be straight and strong, and it is advisable to have an agreement with your petshop that you can return him if the vet says he is unhealthy.

Next week we will deal with the selection and care of your boxer puppy, whether you want a male or a female dog, how to treat him in his early years, and the preliminary training, which applies to other breeds as well.

Your family pet man has practical experience in the rearing and training of dogs, and he is an advocate of the old school that kindness must be tempered with discipline if your dog is going to be well-behaved and trained.

Unity Of Action

By
The Venerable
R. Kenneth Naylor, D.D.,
Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

St. Paul speaks of two kinds of activity in his Epistle to the Galatians: the first the works of the flesh, and the second, the fruit of the Spirit. They help to explain the agreements and disagreements of mankind. Rather, unexpectedly, St. Paul puts the disagreements first — under the term "the works of the flesh". It is interesting to note the plural of the noun. The works of the flesh are all the evil and unpleasant thing that a man brings into his life, and the plural is used because they produce a continual clash both within him and without. The evil man is divided in his own inner life, and is also divided from his fellow,

On the other hand St. Paul speaks of "the fruit of the Spirit" in the singular; because love, joy, peace are simply different aspects of one thing. We cannot imagine a mind divided if it is marked by gentleness, goodness, faith. Nor can we imagine a clash between two persons who are so endowed.

For it is endowment. Love, joy, peace are not qualities that one achieves by great effort; they are the gift of the Spirit. Or, to hold to the figure that St. Paul uses, they are a natural growth in the life which is devoted to God.

There was a distinguished scholar a few years ago who contributed a great deal to the Christian knowledge of his generation. One felt that he worked very hard to produce the best books possible for his time. But once he was called upon to produce a set of lectures. I do not believe that he worked at them at all. He sat still — like a Hebrew prophet — and listened to what the Lord God had to say to him. The result was a series of lectures which must have given great joy to the hearers. We do not find very much unity of action between individuals; nor between groups of people; and still less between nations. Individuals fail to achieve it in spite of their shared human characteristics because each individual is affected by sin. The groups emphasize the sin, especially the sin of selfishness. I may escape the taint of selfishness myself, but I feel bound to be selfish for the group to which I belong; and in the case of nations selfishness is raised to the virtue of loyalty. It is no wonder that the one world is divided. Every selfishness on the part of my national group is condoned and every selfishness on the part of others is condemned. We might apply to nations as well as individuals St. Paul's words to the Corinthians: "If we would judge ourselves we should not be judged."

Athabaska Bishop At Trinity Sunday

Rt. Rev. Reginald James Pierce, D. D., Anglican Bishop of the Diocese of Athabasca, will be the preacher at the 11:00 o'clock service next Sunday morning at Trinity Memorial Church.

The Diocese of Athabasca was founded in 1874. It begins 50 miles north of Edmonton and covers an area of 600,000 square miles. There are 23 parishes, 61 missions and one Indian Residential School. These are looked after by 17 clergymen, 18 women workers and 17 lay readers.

From these statistics it will be understood that the Bishop of Athabasca has quite an organization under his jurisdiction and a tremendous area to cover.

The visit of the Bishop to Trinity Memorial Church will be particularly interesting to the members of that parish as it is in the Diocese of Athabasca that the Rev. and Mrs. D. T. Rowe are now serving at North Star, as they are former members of the parish and first hand news of them will undoubtedly be much appreciated by their many friends.

'Open House' Held Monday At New IODE House

Montreal Municipal Chapter IODE Buys House For Headquarters

By MILLICENT HICKMORE

IODE House, 4112 Western avenue, Westmount, was a hive of activity Monday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. when Montreal Municipal Chapter Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire held Open House for members of the 37 Chapters under its jurisdiction, in the new headquarters recently purchased.

IODE was founded in 1900 and the Municipal Chapter of Montreal organized in 1910 by Mrs. Clarke Murray, better known as Margaret Polson Murray. Rented quarters in the Mount Royal Hotel were used until rental became too high, a basement premises was then rented on Atwater avenue which proved to be inadequate.

Five years ago two chapters disbanded leaving a balance in the treasury which was set aside for the building fund. This fund more or less lay dormant and in May 1956, Mrs. E. M. Gibaut was appointed chairman of the Building Fund with Mrs. C. C. Cornielle as Secretary. They immediately commenced conscientiously raising money for a house suitable for headquarters. They were given three years in which to raise the objective of $30,000. Within seven months they had raised enough money to purchase this house and while they have not yet reached the objective, have paid for the house in cash, and hope that within the not too distant future to raise sufficient funds to make the necessary improvements in the house.

The money, with a few exceptions has been raised by the members, or by donations from some personal friends of the Order. This is the first time the IODE have owned headquarters which can be called its own.

The house, a dignified old home of sandstone, was purchased from Miss Marguerite Beaudin, daughter of the late Judge Beaudin. Three storeys high it contains twelve rooms. On the main floor the large entrance hall is enhanced by a stately staircase, off which is a large sitting room with seating capacity of fifty-two persons, which will be used as a meeting room another smaller room on the main floor will also be used for a meeting room.

There will be accommodations for the Provincial Chapter office; caretakers quarters; packing facilities for the Services at Home and Abroad Secretaries of which Mrs. R. Roberts is Municipal Services Secretary and Mrs. J. C. Manson is Provincial Services Secretary; a large office for Municipal Secretaries; and kitchen facilities for all 37 Chapters under Municipal jurisdiction. There is one room set aside which will be suitably furnished in memory of the late Dorothy Stikeman, who was an outstanding member of the Order and held the offices of both Regent and Provincial President.

On the top floor there is what will be known as a quiet room, and is furnished by a Chapter under Provincial jurisdiction. There will also be a meeting place for the Darby and Joan Club, which has a membership of over one hundred elderly people and is one of the Municipal Chapter's projects. This Club is ably convened by Mrs. Frank Vipond and Mrs. Stanley Neilson.

Caretakers have been employed and will be on the premises at all times.

A very beautiful piano was presented to the members by Mr. H. J. Knubley in memory of his wife Jeannie, who was Municipal Treasurer for many years.

On the front door is a beautiful bronze plaque with the inscription IODE House, Montreal Municipal Chapter. This plaque was presented by another Chapter under Provincial Jurisdiction.

The City of Westmount was most co-operative in helping to locate a house and this one is spacious although perhaps a little austere, a fact which the members hope soon to remedy.

Mrs. F. W. McLaughlin is Regent of the Municipal Chapter and Mrs. J. R. Beveridge is the Provincial President.

The IODE is the largest voluntary, patriotic, nonsectarian, non-partisan and philanthropic women's organization in Canada. Its motto is, "One Flag, One Throne, One Empire".

Silver Cross Mothers

The closing meeting for the summer recess of the Silver Cross Mothers, Unity Chapter, will be held in the Y.W.C.A. building, Tuesday afternoon, May 21 at 2 p.m.

SMALL VICTIM
 Young children, if allowed to play outdoors on the street, may become victims of traffic accidents, unless there is an older child or adult to supervise them. Youngsters often do not realize the danger of running out into the road after a ball and the motorist is not always able to stop in time. Children should never be allowed on busy streets unless a guardian is near enough to keep them from danger.

T. L. "Tommy" Gosnell was elected president of the Montreal Caledonia Curling Club at its 106th annual meeting held in the Burnside Place clubhouse. He succeeds Kenneth McIntosh as head of the club.

D. A. "Dad" Whittaker was named honorary president. Other officers elected were: Philip Richardson, vice-president; A. F. Hutchingame, honorary secretary; C. G. Bird, honorary treasurer.

The following were named members of the management committee: G. E. Dockrill, R. Osmond, W. H. "Bill" Logan, R. Gagnon, G. Fiddes and Brian McCarthy.

East All Stars Beat West Nine

With Maisonneuve pitching ace Claude Bastien showing the way both on the mound and at bat, the Eastern All-Stars trounced the Western 'Stars' 15-7 at RMR Armory in the Bill Hutchison game.

Bastien limited the west side to 10 hits and picked up three safeties with the bat. Hank Leith, Bastien's teammate, chipped in with four hits for the winning Easterners.

Dick Bunyan of Navy was charged with the pitching loss. Ron Tanaka, a McGill player, led the west hitters with three-for-four.

The game, in honor of Hutchison's 30 years association with the Military Fastball League, was watched by members of HMCS York of Toronto, Ontario champions, who played the Quebec titleholders, McGill-COTC, in the Eastern Canada sudden-death military final.

But, otherwise everything is rolling along at a fast clip. Rain hit the schedule last Thursday and two games have been placed on the postponed list.

Verdun fans were disappointed because they were going to see The Grocers and Dow in action. But, there will be other times.

Westbury Park on Va. Horne will be the site of one game next week when Dow Brewery takes on FBI.

The game is slated for Wednesday, May 22. Other games will be staged at the same Park on Sunday afternoons, starting May 26.

Other games which should be interesting will see The Grocers and Dow at Trenholme Park tonight at 7.45. At Willibrord Park in Verdun, FBI will take on Pepsi Cola.

On Sunday, the two games scheduled will be played at Trenholme. At two, Combines who seem to be the team to beat at the present, will be seen in action again The Brewers. In the evening at 7.45, The Grocers will meet Pepsi.

Come Monday at Trenholme, FBI will be out for revenge for their last Sunday night loss when they meet Verdun Sportsmen. Verdun Sportsmen will have to deal with The Grocers on Tuesday night when the teams tangle at Willibrord Park, Verdun and Wednesday, action will shift to Westbury Park on Van Horne.

BILL FAIRWEATHER, Wentworth manager, smiles in anticipation of busy season ahead.

Wentworth Golf Opens Play May 20

Wentworth Golf Club kicks off the competitive schedule May 20 with the Star Fresh Air Fund event.

It's a low gross-low net affair with proceeds being turned over to The Star's Fresh Air Fund.

It will be the 11th annual competition. In the past the event was staged midway through the club fixture list but the holidays kept the entry low.

Club manager Bill Fairweather, says for this reason, the event was advanced to the opening competition this year to assure a large entry and a bigger contribution to the Fresh Air Fund.

Pro Jim Westwell says the course is in excellent shape and should present a real test for the Quebec PGA championships and the Quebec-Ontario PGA team matches in June.

The Quebec Hockey League will hold their annual tournament at Wentworth, May 24. This event attracts all the top hockey officials and players of the QHL, NHL and other leagues.

Plante Plays For Braves

Jacques Plante, goalie for Canadiens of the N.H.L., has been signed by Saint Laurent senior baseball team and will play first base.

Coach Léo Gariépy has worked hard with the Braves for their Montreal senior league opener which is set for Monday night at 6:30. The team will be seen in action on Sunday night at Lafontaine Park under the lights.

Marlborough Golf Club 1st Tourney May 24

Jim Swarbrick, Quebec PGA tournament chairman and pro at Marlborough, reports the club in the best shape for this time of year than he has ever seen it in his 10 years as professional.

The pro-amateur director tournament May 24 will be the first major competition at the Cartier-ville layout.

The official opening cocktail party is slated for May 26 and this will be followed by the Quebec Spring Open May 31 which will launch the PQGA's heavy competitive season.

West Hill Captures School Golf Match

A 14-year old West Hill student by the name of Gordon LeRiche set the pace in the school boy's golf tourney held at Summerlea Monday afternoon to give the NDG school a team score of 328.

In second place was team No. 2 from West Hill who came in with a 343 count. Town of Mt. Royal finished third with 345, Loyola College was fourth with 361. Westmount finished in 12th place with 446.

Le Riche scored a five over par 75 score, which is very good.

The boys gained the A. R. Tinker Trophy which was presented for this tourney last year and won at the time by Catholic High School. Tinker was on hand to present the trophy while Frank Shaughnessy, Jr., president of the club, welcomed the schoolboys to Summerlea.

Other scores for the winners were Bob Dines 81, Barry Code 85 and Keith Randall 87. The second West Hill team totalled 343 with Bob Kerr shooting 81, Johnny Elias 84, Ian Henderson 87 and Keith Conklin 91.

Le Riche earned his birdie when he chipped home with his No. 8. The score is not a surprise since the youngster is a three handicap player and won a Royal Montreal junior field day last year with a 76. He plays under Buddy Clark at Hampstead.

Second low individual score was turned in by Frank Drury of Town of Mount Royal who shot a 78. Other scores on the Mounties third place team were Mike Walsh and Bill Benson 88s and Harold Hickie 91 for a 345 total.

Loyola wound up in fourth place in the team competition with 361 while the defending champion CHS squad shot 362.

D'Arcy McGee finished with a 369 total for sixth place laurels while Lower Canada College counted 380, Cardinal Newman 385, Rosemount 426, Outremont 442.

Benoit Masse of Legault and Masse Ltd, has been elected chairman of the committee for the 1957 Food Distributors of Montreal golf tournament. The tournament will be held at the Lachute Golf and Country Club June 19.

Albert Nixon of Standard Brands Ltd, was named secretary of the committee.

Along with Combines, Dow and Grocers are holding down second place with two wins apiece while pre-schedule favourites FBI are without a win in two starts. Verdun is in fourth spot and Pepsi Cola, who have lost their opening four starts are in the cellar.

The big upset of the week was when Verdun Sportsmen edged out FBI 8-7 Sunday night in a game that saw 20 walks given up by four pitchers.

Pepsi won a protest and in the re-play game against Combines they lost 3-2 and then in another regular game, they lost 4-1 to the same team. Then on Monday night Pepsi lost their third game in two days when Grocers came up with a 9-3 victory.

Rain killed two more games, one at Verdun Tuesday night and last night at Westbury Park. The schedule is now four games down.

In the FBI game, Verdun went out in front 2-0 in the first inning but Golden Gifts had their turn and they slapped five runs across the plate. Tony Demers gave up four walks and in-came Paul Saindon.

With good hitting, although Ace Holden only gave up five hits, but Verdun's hitting was timely, especially from Eddy McLeod, Verdun overcome their deficit and went on to win 8-7.

Pepsi made a game bid to win their first game when they played Snowdon in the protest tilt. Combines were ahead all the way, 3-0 but in the last two innings of play Pepsi rallied and drove in two runs, but still short of a victory.

In the second game it was almost the opposite. Snowdon rallied with two runs in the seventh inning to pick up their third win of the season.

Grocers slapped in seven runs in the first inning against Pepsi on Monday night and that was all they needed to stay in the running behind Combines and remained tied with Dow.

Gil Dupuis was knocked out in the first inning and McLean came into the game holding Grocers to single runs in the fifth and seventh.
