WANTS ELECTIONS AT ONCE.

Colonel J. S. Hendrie Would Also be Pleased to See Ontario Appeal.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Hamilton, Ont., June 29.—The Liberals of this city have executed a flank movement on the Hamilton Conservative Association by securing a lease of the association's club rooms. As a result, the association has been forced to vacate, and it held its last meeting in the rooms it had occupied for twelve years last night.

Messrs. Samuel Barker, M.P., and T. J. Stewart, M.P., and Colonel John S. Hendrie, M.L.A., were present and spoke. Colonel Hendrie said he would be delighted to see the Dominion elections brought on by August 1, and also would be pleased to see Sir James Whitney go to the country, although he expected no provincial election this fall. Mr. John Milne was re-elected president of the association.

MANY ATTENDED THE LAST SERVICES

Funeral of Rev. John McKillican Took Place To-day from Calvary Church.

The funeral of the late Rev. John McKillicon took place this afternoon, from 638 Dorchester street west. The mourners present were Mr and Mrs. E. W. Wright, daughter and son-in-law; Miss McKillican, daughter; Messrs. W. E. McKillican, of St. Elmo, and Finlay McKillican, of Vankleek Hill, nephews, and Mr. T. Y. Foster.

The funeral service was held at Calvary Church, Argyle street, of which deceased was senior deacon. Rev. D. Martin officiated, and delivered a short address. Rev. Prof. Warriner also addressed the congregation. Rev. Frank Day led in prayer, and the Scriptural portions of the service were read by the Rev. A. W. Main. At the conclusion of the service the funeral cortege proceeded to Mount Royal cemetery, where the interment took place. The service at the graveside was conducted by Rev. D. Martin.

Many expressions of sympathy from sorrowing friends have been received by the widow and other relatives of the deceased.

Several very handsome wreaths were sent by sympathetic friends, they included a handsome pillow-wreath of white flowers with the word "father" in violets from the daughters and son-in-law of deceased. A cross composed of roses was sent by Miss Goodhue, and other wreaths and floral tributes from The Ladies' Missionary Society, the deacons, and Young Men's class of Calvary Church. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gurd, Mrs. F. G. Ross, Miss Banks, Mrs. E. W. Waud, Mrs. T. Y. Foster, Rev. H. and Mrs. Pedley, Miss R. A. Brown, Mr. H. W. and Miss Wilson, Miss Mathias, Miss Dorothy Foster, and Messrs. J. D. Duncan, and N. W. Lyster.

SEAMEN'S STRIKE HOLDING UP ENGLAND'S FOOD SUPPLY AND THE SITUATION IS SERIOUS

Premier Asquith Takes Hand in Effort to Bring About Settlement Through Action of Local Boards of Trade — Seamen's Union Blame White Star Officials and Declare the Men Will Under No Circumstances Return Unless Every Demand is Granted—Rioting Reported from a Dozen Cities—Huge Amounts of Food Stuffs Held Up—Liners Unable to Reach Their Berths — Lightships at Mersey Mouth are Deserted

CANADIAN PACIFIC AND CUNARD LINES SUBMIT.

Special to the Montreal Star.

London, June 29 —First break in the strike of Seamen and Allied Trades came at Glasgow to-day, when the Anchor and Allan Lines gave in to unions. Agreements were immediately signed and crews and dock hands supplied in sufficient numbers so that Saturdays sailings will take place on schedule.

Canadian Pacific has arranget terms with men and the Cunard Steamship Company this afternoon agreed to recognize all the seamen's unions, including the dockers' organizations. The strikers are returning to work.

The stewards of the Empress of Britain have returned to work, and the loading of the Tunisian has been resumed.

The stewards of the Arabic, of the White Star line, due to sail for Boston on Saturday, and the Bovic and Suevic of the same line report all quiet to-day, and have picketed their ships.

Special to The Montreal Star.

London, June 29.—With the prices of the necessities of life already advanced twenty-five per cent. as a result of the strike of seamen, dock laborers and associated trades at nearly every port in the United Kingdom; rioting reported from a dozen cities, and coastwise and foreign traffic, with the exception of channel steamers, absolutely paralyzed, England is to-day facing the most serious crisis of recent years.

Advices received at the headquarters here of the Seamen's Union show that the tie-up is complete. Not only are the steamers in dock held, but vessels coming into port are compelled to drop anchor, as there are no experienced men available to aid them in entering their usual berths.

At Liverpool to-day the steamer Zeeland, of the Red Star line, after hours of delay, managed to get her passengers ashore by tenders, but the steamer herself is in mid stream unable to secure tugs to get her to the dock.

Serious Menace to Navigation.

To the trouble ashore is added a serious menace to navigation. The big lightships in the mouth of the Mersey are deserted, their crews having joined the strikers.

The Government is moving everything to replace the men, because unless the craft are at their anchorages with their lights set by nightfall, incoming steamers will be in danger of missing the harbor entrance, and piling up on the rocks.

Factories in a dozen cities shut down this morning because of lack of raw materials, and the railroads have reduced the number of goods trains to a minimum because there is no freight available at the seaports.

If the strike is not settled by Saturday, a score of ocean liners, whose passengers lists are complete with tour lists returning from the Coronation, will be held here.

The concessions made by the Shipping Federation, which included meagre increases in wages and slightly improved working conditions, but absolutely refused recognition of the Union, have been rejected unanimously by the various unions.

All the stewards on the various liners, joined the strike this afternoon. Because of continued rioting all the reserve police have been detailed to duty on the docks.

Premier Asquith is endeavoring to settle the strike through the local Boards of Trade. Enormous quantities of badly needed imports of provisions from the United States and Canada are in the cargo holds of steamers now in dock at Liverpool, Southampton, and other coast ports. Unless these can be released soon and got into the market, the effect will be serious, as the United Kingdom's present supply of food-stuffs for which dependance is placed on other countries is only little more than one month. The Seamen's Union have issued a statement blaming the White Star Line officials for most of the new trouble, and saying that under no circumstances will their men return to work unless each and every demand is granted.

Police Take Sternest Measures.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Hull, England, June 29.—With the harbor filled with all classes of freight steamers, many with perishable cargoes, and business completely at a standstill because of the dock-workers' and seamen's combined strike, the Board of Trade began an energetic effort to settle the trouble.

Hull Ship-Owners Defiant.

The ship-owners are defiant, and insist that they can operate after the strike-breakers are given protection. There were numerous incipient riots to-day, but the police and military adopted the sternest measures, and managed to prevent serious trouble.

Southampton in Trouble.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Southampton, June 29.—The entire harbor is congested with vessels of all kinds, whose crews have joined the strike of dock laborers. The local hotels are jammed with tourists anxious to return home, but unless there is a change in the situation within the next forty-eight hours, all sailings will have to be cancelled.

LIVERPOOL MEN ARE IN AN UGLY MOOD.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Liverpool, June 29.—Every bit of shipping in the harbor, with the exception of half a dozen mail tenders, is tied up to-day. The situation is so serious that efforts of the Board of Trade to settle the strike are being aided by a volunteer committee of city officials and by the city authorities.

The strikers declare that under no circumstances will they go back to work until their Union is recognized and more substantial concessions are made than are already promised.

If strike-breakers are imported it will be necessary to call out the military to preserve order, as the strikers are in an ugly mood.

The strike has had a serious effect on the distribution of Canadian and American food-stuffs. The quays are littered with huge quantities of bacon, cheese lard and butter, which the dock-hands prevent the carters handling.

The merchants are much perturbed, as their stocks in hand are limited.

The trade in Manchester is equally disorganized. From forty to fifty ships, including many transatlantic vessels, are tied up as also are a number of fruit laden vessels, and those having other perishable cargoes.

More Rioting at Glasgow.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Glasgow, June 29.—There was considerable rioting among the dock strikers to-day, following an attempt by the companies to operate with non-union men. All through the harbor shipping is at a standstill.

STEAMERS SMASH TOGETHER BELOW MURRAY BAY TO-DAY

SS. Aranmore Snibs SS. General Wolfe in Dense Fog An Hour After Midnight.

EVERYBODY ON BOARD RAMMED VESSEL SAVED

Heartrending Cries of Passengers Who Fell Into Water and Were Rescued.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Quebec, June 29.—The SS. Aranmore a few miles below Murray Bay in a dense fog at one o'clock in the morning ran down and sank the SS. General Wolfe. Both boats were owned by the same firm Holliday Brothers, of this city. Those on board the General Wolfe report that they saw nothing, even from the deck of the other ship, until the shock occurred.

The Aranmore struck the Wolfe on the starboard side, causing her to swing around and then after the recoil struck her again on the port side. The General Wolfe sank in thirty-five minutes, and lies in thirty fathoms of water, having carried down with her a valuable cargo consisting in part of two or three hundred cases of salmon, destined for the United States, and specially bought up by a dealer for the fourth of July market. Both ship and cargo are insured.

Immediately after the shock both vessels launched their life-boats, and all the passengers and chrew of the Wolfe were rescued and brought up to town this morning by the Aranmore, which was on her way down the coast.

Most of the passengers of the wrecked vessel were residents of the coast. Among the number were seven nuns. Some of these were rescued with difficulty.

In the confusion and darkness several of the passengers fell into the water, and their cries for help are described as heart-rending. These cries were their only means of being saved, for it was too dark to discern the bodies in the water.

Prince of Wales Stakes.

London, June 29.—Lord Derby's Twynford, 3 to 1, won the Prince of Wales stakes to-day at Newmarket. Lemberg, 4 to 6, was second, and King William, 9 to 2, third. The race is a mile and a half and is worth $50,000.

Bristol City Line Gives In.

Avonmouth, Eng., June 29.—The Bristol City line yielded to-day, completing the local victory of the striking seamen. No further trouble here is anticipated.

Royal Edward Sailed on Time.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Bristol, June 29.—The Canadian Northern liner, the Royal Edward, left this port on time last night with a full complement, not having been affected by the seamen's strike.

Would Throw Police Into Sea.

Amsterdam, June 29.—The striking dock hands terrorized the quayside to-day, beating non-unionists and molesting their wives and children and smashing the windows of the ship stores.

Policemen who tried to intervene were saved from being thrown into the sea only by the timely arrival of reinforcements in the form of troops.

CORONATION DOINGS THRO' EYES OF A CANADIAN WOMAN

London a Bower of Flowers Days Before the Great Event.

(From a Special Correspondent)

London, June 19.

ONE of the most striking features to the visitor, to London at the present moment is the abundance of flowers. Flowers, flowers everywhere. All the restaurants and hotels are profusely decorated, the private houses are gay with window boxes without and endless bouquets within. Even the poorest houses have their pots of geraniums and daisies on the window sills.

"Flowering fuschia, three ha-pence" calls the man with the barrow and who would be without a plant when a graceful flowering fuschia can be had for three cents?

"Penny a bunch, penny a bunch," cry the flower girls and for a penny one can get a bunch of roses or a posy of sweet-peas.

The coronation flower the Queen has decreed shall be the carnation and quantities of them, chiefly pink, are being sold on the streets. The huge pale pink malmaison is a prime favorite and keeps its sweetness and beauty for days. But the sweet-pea runs it close and the English sweet-peas are revelations of fragrance, beauty and size to the Canadian flower lover. For the small sum of sixpence a bouquet can be bought from a street pedlar which will decorate a good-sized room. If one were extravagant enough to spend a shilling the room would be a bower of beauty.

Then the marvellous spots of color that the man with a barrow of growing plants makes on the London streets! One went by just a minute ago with nothing but scarlet geraniums such a blaze of brilliant color against the old stone walls. Another will have all pink or pink and white, another blue and so forth. They seem to possess an eye for color and for arrangement.

To add to the general appearance of festivity there seems to be a determination on the part of the women to wear nothing but light and dainty colors. Black is never seen; probably a re-action after the long court mourning.

Taxis flying to and fro, busses wending their way in and out, foreign visitors in all sorts of weird garments, soldiers in every imaginable uniform even to pale blue, all together form a pageant of beauty and splendor, probably unsurpassed in the history of the world.

Arrival of the Canadian Scouts.

On this, the day of writing, a splendid church parade of the overseas soldiers was held at St. Paul's, attracting huge crowds. In the afternoon the Canadian Boy Scouts arrived in London and proceeded to Roehampton where they are comfortably quartered.

Yesterday took place one of the most impressive features of the Coronation, namely the procession of women suffragists. This procession was seven miles long and numbered over forty thousand. It marched from the Embankment to the Albert Hall with the streets packed with onlookers all the way and thousands of policemen on foot and mounted to keep the crowds in order.

With the Suffragettes.

As an experience, the writer marched with them, and it was one of the most thrilling and novel events to see the entire traffic of the world's greatest city, held up for three hours by a band of earnest women, striving for the advancement of the cause.

At one of the halts a respectable workman said:

"Are you really from Canada? I have two sons in Manitoba."

"A very good place to be," was the reply.

At another place, a man asked, "but you have the vote in some of your States?"

This gave an excuse for a very short explanation that Canada is not part of the United States, but part of the British Empire, a mistake that is too often met with in England.

There was perfect order throughout the march, and cheers were plentiful.

At the Albert Hall, there was a monster meeting, with two overflow meetings elsewhere. Mrs. Pankhurst, Miss Pankhurst, Mrs. Patrick Lawrence, and Mrs. Annie Besant all spoke at the Albert Hall, the last, making the finest and most eloquent speech that the writer has ever heard from a woman. Subscriptions were asked for, and flowed in with such rapidity that in a few minutes fifteen thousand dollars was raised.

Most Popular Show.

Other Coronation events include the Horse Show, which is magnificent, the Festival of Empire, at the Crystal Palace, the Coronation Exhibition at the Great White City. Besides these, and others, there are the countless theatres and music halls.

The most popular piece at present in London is "The Count of Luxembourg," by the author of the "Merry Widow."

For those liking something rather different there are two exceedingly clever plays, by Bernard Shaw, one, "Arms and the Man," being a revival, and the other, "Fanny's First Play," being one of the wittiest and most amusing thing ever written by "G.B.S."

The Irish players are at the Court Theatre, and are well worth a visit. They are playing some of Yeat's some of Lady Gregory's, some of Synge's and several quite new plays.

All in all, the trouble in London these pre-Coronation days is, not to find something to do, but to do and begin to see all that should be done and seen.—A.C.

THE SOCIAL WORLD

Kilbourn—Wright.

At the Westminster Presbyterian Church, Toronto, yesterday, the marriage took place of Miss Ora St. Clair Wright, daughter of Mrs. Wright, and the late John Douglas Wright, to Mr. Frederick Burns Kilbourn, of Montreal. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Neil, and the church was decorated with palms and peonies. The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Mr. William Hamilton Merritt, wore a tailored suit of white Ottoman corded silk, with Irish and Limerick lace, and French bonnet of Irish lace with willow plumes. She carried a bouquet of white orchids, lillies of the valley, and white roses, and wore the groom's gift, a diamond ring. The bridesmaid, Miss Grace Stone, was in white lace over blue, and Irish crochet lace hat, with blue ribbons and flowers, and carried pink roses. The groom's gift to her was a gold bracelet. The groomsmen were Mr. Herbert Horsey, of Montreal, and Mr. Howard Bobell. Mrs. Wright held a reception after the ceremony at her home in Pelham Place, Toronto, and later Mr. and Mrs. Kilbourn left by boat for the Saguenay trip before taking up their residence in Montreal. The bride travelled in a blue tailor made with black and white stripe facings, and black and white hat.

Johnston—Riff.

St. Martin's Church was the scene of a quiet, but pretty wedding yesterday, when Miss Violet May Riff, youngest daughter of Mrs. Jane Riff, was married to Mr. Robert Wesley Johnston, of Montreal. The ceremony was performed at half-past five o'clock, by the Rev. G. Osborne Troop. The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Mr. J. Thomas, wore a tailored costume, of King's blue broadcloth, with ecrue chiffon blouse, and hat trimmed with willow plume to match, and carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid, Miss Grace Tresidder, wore a gown of white mousseline de sole, and back picture hat, trimmed with pink roses and white ospreys, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Mr. Frederick Walker was best man. The bridegroom's gift to the bride, was a gold bracelet, to the bridesmaid a pearl ring, and to the best man, a pearl stick pin. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston left immediately after the ceremony for a trip down the Saguenay and on their return will spend the summer months at Summerlea. The bride received many beautiful presents.

Thompson—Lynch.

Miss Katharine Lynch, youngest daughter of Mr. James W. Lynch, of Ogdensburg, N.Y., and Mr. Daniel Wallace Thompson, of Montreal, formerly of Ogdensburg, were married at St. Mary's Rectory at nine o'clock yesterday morning by Rev. Father Cole. The bride was given away by her father. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Katharine Lynch, and the best man was Mr. Thomas Brannen. The bride wore a white serge suit and a white picture hat trimmed with willow plumes and she carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid was attired in white with a picture hat, and carried pink carnations. Following the ceremony the wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, and later Mr. and Mrs. Thompson left by boat for Montreal and other cities.

McLaughlin—Phelan.

Miss Irene Phelan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Phelan, of Rosedale, Toronto, and Mr. Frank McLaughlin, were married yesterday in the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes, Toronto, Rev. Father Morrow officiating. Miss Mona McLaughlin, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Florence Phelan, of Montreal, cousin of the bride; Miss Alice Rooney and Miss Daisy Dorien. Mr. Leo McLaughlin was his brother's best man, and the ushers were Mr. Thomas Case, Mr. Fred Phelan, Mr. Harold Shapley and Mr. Fred McLaughlin.

Engagements Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Sayter Reed entertained at dinner at the Place Viger Hotel Tuesday evening, previous to their departure for the West. Among those present were Miss Cavert, of Brooklyn; Mr. Gordon Reed and Colonel Campbell. Mr. and Mrs. Reed left for Banff, Wednesday evening.

The engagement is announced in Toronto of Marion Cecil, daughter of Mrs. Cecil Gibson, to Mr. Frank Austin Smith, grandson of the late Sir Frank Smith.

The engagement is announced of Miss Hazel Wilson, daughter of Mrs. James Wilson, to Mr. Duncan Alves of Tunbridge Wells, England.

ANNIVERSARIES.

W. C. McIntyre, Montreal, died two years ago to-day.

Hon. Thomas Ballantyne, Stratford, died three years ago to-day.

Hill—Neill.

The marriage of Miss Nellie Neill, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Neill of Montreal, to Mr. William A. Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hill, of Longueuil, Que., at the residence of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Canon Dixon under a large floral wedding bell suspended from a canopy of cut flowers and fernery, banked on either side by palms. Miss Florence Harrington played the wedding march. The bride wore a white Duchess satin gown trimmed with embroidered net and pearls, with embroidered tulle veil and orange blossome. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley, and wore the gift of the bridegroom, a pearl and amethyst pendant. Miss Della Neill, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and was in yellow silk crepe de chene and carried yellow roses. Mr. Albert Hill acted as best man for his brother. Immediately after the reception, following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Hill left for a trip to Quebec and the Saguenay. Out-of-town guests included Miss K. Ewing, of Flodden, Que.; Miss Belle Ewing, Richmond, Que.; Miss Dorothy Acheson, Ottawa, Ont.; Miss Sophie Nicholson, Boston, Mass.

McCann—Macdougall.

The marriage was quietly solemnized in St. Patrick's Church, at seven o'clock this morning, of Miss Agnes Estelle Macdougall, daughter of the late Mr. J. S. Macdougall and of Mrs. Macdougall, of Montreal, to Dr. J. Harry McCann, son of the late Dr. J. H. McCann, of South Framingham, Massachusetts. The Rev. T. W. O'Reilly officiated at the ceremony which was attended by only a few relatives and intimate friends. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. J. Macdougall, was unattended. She wore a travelling costume of deep coronation blue broadcloth, with tucked waist of white Liberty satin and Irish lace, and black picture hat trimmed with blue feathers and ornaments and carried a mother-of-pearl covered prayer-book and sheaf of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the residence of the bride's mother. On their return from a short honeymoon trip in Ontario, Dr. McCann and his bride will spend a few days here before going on to their home in South Framingham.

Personal Mention.

The marriage of Miss Ernestine Bregent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bregent, to Comte de Sars le Comte, of Chicoutimi, took place this morning in the Church of St. Louis de France, the Rev. Father Bourgois, of the Jesuits, officiating. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Place Viger.

THE BEST ENGLISH STOCK COMPANY TO VISIT MONTREAL

The Manchester Players Will Give a Month's Performances at His Majesty's.

Mr. D. S. Walker, of His Majesty's Theatre, has returned from England, having completed arrangements for the appearance here about the middle of February next of the famous Gaiety Theatre Company organized by Miss Horniman,—perhaps the best English-speaking stock theatrical company in existence to-day.

The company will be the same, in regard to personnel and accessories, as the repertoire company from the Gaiety Theatre at Manchester. Miss Horniman, who is keenly interested in the development of the drama in Canada, will produce plays at His Majesty's for at least one month, and may visit other cities in the Dominion later, though her Canadian stay is necessarily limited by reason of a previous engagement for her company to play three months at a London theatre next year.

Mr. Walker is unwilling at the present juncture to give full details as to the plays to be performed here, but declares that they are from the pens of the modern English dramatists, have been given by Miss Horniman's company in London and Oxford, as well as in Manchester, have won warm praise from the leading English dramatic critics, and have been well supported by the British public.

The work of such leaders as Bernard Shaw, John Galsworthy, and John Masefield will be represented, in addition to those of other dramatists of European reputation. In addition, Oliver Goldsmith's famous classic, "She Stoops to Conquer," will find a place among the repertoire.

It is intended to present two plays a week, and the list will include many which have never been produced previously, either in the United States or in this country.

Miss Horniman, who is coming out ahead of her company to study dramatic conditions in Canada, will also make a speciality of notable one-act plays while in Montreal.

KING ENTERTAINS ONTARIO MINISTER.

Toronto, June 29. — Hon. James Duff, Minister of Agriculture, was entertained yesterday by King George at the Royal Agricultural Show, Norwich, England. The Minister starts for home July 14th. Sir James Whitney is expected home a week earlier.

PORT HOOD DISASTER UNIQUE IN MINING ANNALS.

Colliery Break Was 1030 Feet Below Level of Tide.

Halifax, N.S., June 29.—Hiram Donkin, deputy commissioner of mines, stated yesterday that the accident to the coal mine at Port Hood is unprecedented in the annals of mining. Breaks have occurred previously in submarine mines, but never at the very bottom of the mine. In this case it is 1,030 feet below the tide level. The Mines Department took measurements at hourly intervals to-day to see if the inflow continued at the same rate as at first. If any material diminution is reported, the officials would conclude that the fissure was filling up with silt. With the breaks so far down there is more chance of this than if it had occurred in the upper levels.

RESPITE FOR TREPANIER.

Granted to December 21st, While Motion for New Trial is Argued.

Quebec, June 29.—In the Court of Appeals yesterday a motion was presented by Mr. Desy, advocate, of Three Rivers, asking for a new trial in the case against Trepanier, sentenced in Three Rivers lately to be hanged on the 19th of July for murder.

Mr. Wilson, K.C., Montreal, opposed the motion, and the Court ordered that the prisoner be granted a respite until the 21st of December next. Meanwhile the motion will be argued at the October term of the Court of Appeals in this city.

Messrs. Laflamme, Montreal, for the prisoner, and Beique, Three Rivers, for the Crown, were also present, but neither were called upon to address the Court.

Mr. F. W. Thompson Recovering.

Mr. F. W. Thompson, who received a scalp wound, when his automobile collided with a street car yesterday afternoon, is reported as doing very well as the Royal Victoria Hospital, and it is expected he will be able to return home in a couple of days.

NAUGHTY TRUANT RUNS FROM HIS POST HAS NO PERMISSION

Please Don't Tell the Governor-General, He Asks of Newspapermen.

Lieutenant-Governor Tweedie, of New Brunswick, is in Montreal on private business to-day, and is thereby rendering himself liable to unmentioned pains and penalties.

"You see," he laughingly remarked at the Windsor Hotel to-day, "I don't want to say much to attract attention, because I am not supposed to put my foot outside the province of New Brunswick without the special permission of the Governor-General."

"And have you got that permission?" he was asked.

"No, that's the trouble," he replied. "I am playing truant."

Mr. Tweedie's mind was somewhat relieved by the promise not to tell the Governor-General, but he declared that if the worst comes to the worst he will try to bear up with Christian fortitude.

In New Brunswick at the present time, he remarked, the principal topic of interest is the policy of the Government to acquire a system of branch lines as feeders to the main line of the Intercolonial. This policy, he remarked, was one that was generally approved, as it was believed it would be a source of prosperity both to the Intercolonial and to the province generally.

"We have an excellent instance of the wisdom of this policy," he said, "in the old Canada Eastern line that runs from Chatham to Fredericton. That line, which was acquired under the Emerson regime, is proving of great value to the system generally. There is no separate balance-sheet published, but I am sure if there were, it would be seen that the line is a very profitable one."

The Provincial Government's campaign for immigrants in Great Britain was bearing fruit, he said, but the progress in settling the vacant lands of New Brunswick was slow, because of the great advertising of the Canadian West, and because the big railways were interested in getting people to the West in order that they might benefit from the long haul.

"But New Brunswick," he added, "is gradually coming into her own."

"SMALL AND JOLLY," SITTING ON FLOOR

Latest Style of Smart Entertainment—Take All Seats Away, Help Yourself.

London, June 29.—One of the queerest society functions of the coronation season was given last night by Sir Philip Burne-Jones, the painter, and Sir Richard and Lady Muriel Paget, at the Burne-Jones residence, which was converted for the occasion to resemble an atelier in the Quartier Latin.

It was styled "small and jolly" and was intended to be a Bohemian contrast to the usual society parties. All the chairs were removed and there were no floral decorations. Formal receptions were dispensed with, and the guests huddled on the floor on rugs on the staircases or in the back garden, the men smoking "churchwardens," and the women cigarettes—if they wished.

If they wanted refreshments they had to help themselves from a long cask of lager beer, which stood in the corner of the room, wreathed with greens. It was a free and easy affair all quaffing beer and joining in the chorus of the "Drinking Song." But the supper, somewhat inconsistently, was one of epicurean delicacy. It was served on the floor or the stairs or wherever there was room to put a plate.

Kipling Writes On Declaration

Tells the Asquith Government it is "Panting to Shame the Nation," Etcetera.

London, June 29.—Rudyard Kipling has brought a poem into the political arena in behalf of the opponents of the Declaration of London, which the Government is pushing through the Commons. Basing the reported intention of the Government not to allow its followers to vote independently, but to insist upon coalition in support of the declaration, Kipling apostrophizes the Government as "Panting to shame the nation" even before the Coronation guests have departed.

Recalling the service at the Abbey, the poem runs:

The light is still in our eyes
Of faith and gentlehood,
Of service and sacrifice,
And it does not match our mood
To turn so soon to your sophistries
That starve our land of her food.

Another stanza runs:

Wait till the money goes,
Wait till the visions fade,
We may betray in time, God knows,
But we would not have it said,
When you make report to our scornful foes,
That we kissed as we betrayed.

TO HONOR IMMORTAL MEMORY OF THACKERAY

Centennary Exhibition Will be Opened To-morrow by the Earl of Rosebery.

London, June 29.—The Thackeray centenary exhibition will be opened on Friday by Lord Rosebery at the Old Charter House school, in Greyfriars, the scene of those revels wherein Dobbin vanquished Cuff, and Colonel Newcome uttered his final adsum.

In the Governor's room of the weatherworn building has been gathered together by far the most representative collection of Thackeray manuscripts, drawings and relics ever seen under one roof.

The individual exhibits run close to four hundred, but this conveys no idea of the interest which, viewed as a whole, they must inevitably arouse in every Thackeray devotee.

RUN DOWN HELPLESS OLD MAN AT A STREET CROSSING

One Leg Was Severed Under the Fore Truck of Street Car.

Elzear Nantel, 69 years of age, living at 180 Joliette street, was run down by a street car at the corner of Ontario and Nicolet streets at 7.30 a.m. to-day and sustained injuries from which he is not expected to recover.

Nantel was trying to make the crossing with a push-cart when he was struck by an east-bound Ontario street car. He was knocked down, and before the motorman could stop his car the front truck had passed over his limbs. One leg was severed from the body and the other was so badly crushed that amputation was necessary at the Notre Dame hospital.

Nantel was also badly bruised and battered about the head.

The motorman claims his car was not going fast at the time. He says he did not see the old man until he stepped in front of the car.

STRANGE VERDICT QUASHED.

Review Court Throws Out Judgment In Which Both Sides Were Blamed.

The verdict rendered by the jury in the case of Trottier against Deschenes, which caused considerable comment two months ago because both plaintiff and defendant had been declared solely responsible for the accident which was at the bottom of the action, was quashed yesterday by the Court of Review. Trottier had received injuries through a dynamite explosion and was suing Deschenes, his employer, for $8,500. After hearing evidence, the jury rendered verdict that Deschenes was solely responsible for the accident; that Trottier was also responsible and that he had a right to an indemnity of $2,000, to be paid by defendant. This verdict is now quashed.

Messrs. Justice Pagnuelo, Charbonneau and Dunlop wer on the bench. Mr. Justice Pagnuelo dissented and declared that in his estimation the plaintiff should be allowed $500 damages.

COURT COSTUME MUST BE DIGNIFIED.

Mr. Recorder Weir Objects to Fashion of Prisoners' Garments.

Clad in a suit of blue overalls of the striped material, and with the bands of their hats surrounded with cigarette pictures, J. Bonin and L. Lucas appeared before Mr. Recorder Weir this morning on a charge of driving on the wrong side of the street.

The Recorder after looking the prisoners over carefully inquired if they had not been out on bail, and on being informed that they had, remanded the case until to-morrow and informed the prisoners that they could not appear in Court in such a costume.

The prisoners left the court smiling and apparently not at all disturbed over the Recorder's remarks.

A few minutes later, however, the same two names were called again, and the same two prisoners stepped up to the bar, but their appearance was completely changed.

In the passage they had met constable Valade whom they informed of their trouble and the constable immediately led them to his locker, and fished out a couple of old coats for them. In these borrowed plumes they appeared before the Recorder pleaded guilty and were fined $1 or eight days.

AVIATION TOWER FOR CALAIS.

Will Serve as Beacon to Airmen Crossing Channel.

Paris, June 29.—Calais is to have the first aviation tower in the world. The tower will be 450 feet high and 15 feet in diameter and is being erected on the spot where on July 25, 1909, Bleriot started on his memorable flight across the Channel. The object of this tower is to serve as a beacon or signal tower to aviators crossing the Channel. It is to be tresselated, of wood, without being entirely closed in. This is supposed to improve its visibility at a great distance and to distinguish it more easily from other objects in the landscape. The tower when complete will be easily visible at a great distance, to aviators flying at a height of 1,500 or 2,000 feet.

Babies Crowding Their Nurses Out
Over Eleven Hundred Arrive This Month in New York Hospital.
New York, June 29. — Babies have been arriving with such frequency at the Jewish Maternity Hospital here that five physicians, six nurses and the hospital superintendent have had to give up their rooms to accommodate the new comers.
Since June 1,165 babies have been born, including twelve sets of twins. The doctors and nurses are sleeping under tents on the roof of the hospital.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING 1500 FEET UNDERGROUND.
Miner Badly Injured by Bolt While Working in Colliery Chamber.
Special to the Montreal Star.
Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 29.—While working 1,500 feet underground in a colliery, James Conroy, of Kingston, was struck by lightning and was so badly injured that he is not expected to recover.
He did not know there was any storm until the chamber in which he was working was filled with blazing light and he was knocked senseless and badly burned. The stroke of lightning had followed the intake of the air current as far as Conroy's chamber. Fortunately there was no powder or dynamite in the chamber at the time.
This is not the first accident of this kind in this section, and to-day one of the companies arranged for a telephone system at its colliery, so that when a lightning storm is approaching mine workers may be called out.

THANKSGIVING AT ST. PAUL'S TO-DAY STRIKES NEW CHORD

Common People, Excluded from Abbey Last Week, Lift Their Voices in Hymns To-day.

CANADA'S PREMIER A LEADING FIGURE

"There's Laurier!" Shouts the Crowd and Cheers and Hearty Applause Follows.

By Special Cable from our own Correspondent.

London, June 29.—Lord and Lady Strathcona's dinner last night at their house in Grosvenor Square was a brilliant affair. The guests included: Sir Wilfrid Laurier; Sir Frederick and Lady Borden, who were looking cheerful again over the excellent news of their son-in-law, Captain Macoun, whose skull was not fractured as the doctor at St. George's Hospital at first said; Senators and commoners of the Canadian delegation; Colonel McLean, and Commissioner Perry, of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police.

There were no speeches. The bagpipes, in which Lady Strathcona has unwearying delight, played at the close of the dinner, Kathleen Parlow played the violin and Beatrice La Palme sang.

Royal Thanksgiving Day.

This is Royal Thanksgiving Day, and the King and Queen, looking thoroughly well and happy, accompanieid by the young Prince of Wales and the Princess Mary, drove in procession to the great metropolitan cathedral of St. Paul's in the heart of mercantile London to acknowledge the Divine goodness.

King George's grandmother, Queen Victoria, did the same at her great jubilee; his father, Edward VII., did the same when in early manhood he recovered from typhoid fever, and again at the close of the Boer War and after his coronation. Memories of these give to-day's service and pageant their own places in the minds of Londoners.

The service at St. Paul's to-day was short and simple. It included what were much missed at the Westminster Abbey Coronation ceremony, viz., hymns in which the people could take their full share in a great national occasion; for, after all, even in England, it is not society but the people who really count in the long run.

In a great cathedral like St. Paul's, and with such an audience as to-day's, "God Save the King" and such hymns as, "Now thank we all our God," gain a new inspiration. With the King himself there, wearing a Field Marshal's uniform, and surrounded by soldiers in gorgeous costumes, Lord Dundonald foremost among them, made this fact all the more marked.

The outburst of popular prayer in the new second verse of the National Anthem, in which Heaven is besought to make wars to cease and to let there be peace, was inspiring in the extreme.

Sir Wilfrid's Reception.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier as he passed through the crowded streets from the Palace to the Cathedral, had, perhaps the greatest reception of his entire visit. In his full levee uniform ,and cocked hat, he sat alone in the first of the state carriages, looking every inch of him a great personage.

Premier Fisher, of Australia and his wife were absent hence Sir Wilfrid's splendid isolation.

Upon the box of the carriage were two magnificently attired Royal servants, whose brilliant scarlet coats flashed all down the line of route and, as the prancing steeds drew the carriage along the broad centreway, between strictly kept lines of police and soldiery, the London populace, who crowded the sidewalks cheered again and again.

"That's Laurier," they cried. "That's Canada; give them a cheer." And they did it right heartily.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier was obviously delighted, he kept his hand moving up and down to and from his cocked hat, thus giving military salute, after the Royal pattern and not raising his hat as lesser mortals might do.

Entered by Royal Entrance.

When Sir Wilfird reached the Cathedral another honor awaited him. The Lord Mayor of London and other dignitaries no matter how gorgeous their attire were sent around to the smaller north or south doors; but Sir Wilfrid's carriage was directed by the police to none other than the Royal and crimson-carpeted entrance at the main west door, where the Bishop of Ripon received him on behalf of the Anglican Church. As he passed up the steps into the Cathedral, his uniform, slashed with the blue band of a Knight of the Grand Cross of St. Michael and St. George, came into full view and made him a most notable figure.

Mounted Police Win Applause.

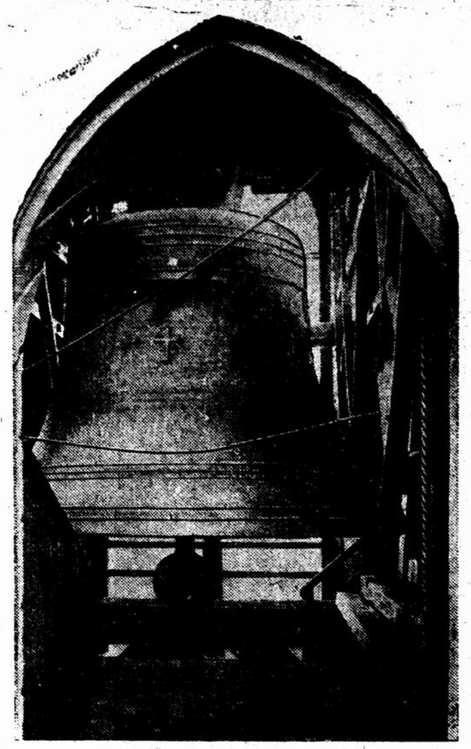
Earlier Canadian incidents in the procession had been the passage through the streets of the company of the North-West Mounted Police. They were received by enthusiastic cheering to which a special Canadian flavor was given as they passed the Canadian contingent, under Colonel McLean, who saw the procession from the Government stand at St. James Palace.

A rough-haired terrier, with a black patch over one eye, has attached himself as mascot to the Canadian eight at Henley. The Canadians are working hard and Thames River men say they are rapidly getting into real form. Their cox wears a coat of crimson and red with blue bindings, so that with the dog and their color scheme they may be thought to have everything in their favor.

However, without these extraneous aids good judges here are inclined to fancy their chances in the grand event. They get plenty of pace upon their boat and their style resembles that of the Argonauts, of Toronto, when last here; moreover, they are not afraid of work but, indeed, appear to thrive upon it.

WINDERMERE.

THE BIG BELL OF NOTRE DAME, BLESSED SIXTY-SIX YEARS TO-DAY.



Sixty-six years ago to-day there took place the blessing, by the late Mgr. Bourget, of the large bell of Notre Dame, commonly known as "Le gros Bourdon," which occupies alone the west tower of Notre Dame Church. The weight of the bell is 24,780 pounds, while the height is something like nine feet and its greater diameter about the same proportion.

It was cast by C. & G. Mears, of London, was baptized under the names of Mary and John the Baptist, and was a gift of the local merchants and tradesmen.

The ten other bells of Notre Dame were blessed in 1845 on the 29th of June also. Each of them was the gift of a private person, the largest, called Mary Victoria, 6941 pounds, being given by the Seminary, the other ones being the gifts of Mr. Alb. Turmin and Mr. Ed. Dowling, Johan Doulgani and wife, O. Berthelet and wife, Father Parent, P.S.S., Mr. John Bruneau, Mr. T. Bouthillier and Mr. Aug. Perrault.

The gros bourdon had been delivered with the other ten bells, but about one year after its being placed into position a flaw in the casting cause the huge mass to break, and in 1851 was replaced by the gros bourdon of to-day, which is an attraction to the many tourists visiting Montreal.

NO LEVEL CROSSING WILL BE SANCTIONED

So Controllers Inform Representative of Maisonneuve and Jacques Cartier Line.

The Board of Control authoritatively announced to-day that the members were unchangeably opposed to any more level railway crossings in the city.

Mr. Arnold Wainwright, representing the Maisonneuve and Jacques Cartier Railway Company, waited upon the Board this morning and endeavored to come to an amicable understanding in regard to the crossings of certain streets in Hochelaga where the company proposes to make railway extensions. Their application in this respect is now before the Railway Commission, and while the Chairman of that Board refused to sanction any level crossings he suggested that perhaps some understanding might be reached if the company's representatives had a conference with the civic authorities of Montreal. Hence to-day's meeting.

Mr. Wanklyn stated afterwards that the Board had informed Mr. Wainwright that they would refuse to acquiesce in any proposition which would involve the closing of any streets or the construction of level railway crossings over them.

The matter will be settled by the Railway Commission.

Castro Not Wanted.

St. Thomas, D.W.I., June 29.—In accordance with instructions from the government ta Copenhagen, all steamship agents of St. Thomas, have been notified that the government forbids the landing on the Island of General Cipriano Castro, the deposed president of Venezuela, in the event of his arrival here.

FINE THESE GAMBLERS FOR THEIR GAMES

Used the Same Methods as the Others, But Paid No Money.

Another gambling case was concluded this morning. Omer Dufresne and Damase Daigneault, who were arrested by Detective-Sergeant Charpentier charged with keeping a common gambling house on Notre Dame street east, opposite the main entrance of Dominion Park, came up to-day for voluntary statement.

When first arraigned they had pleaded not guilty, but yesterday morning, the date fixed for the investigation, they appeared before Judge Lanctot and elected to change their plea into one of guilty. Their names were again called this morning and they reiterated their plea of guilty.

They were sent up for sentence in the Court of Sessions, Judge Choquet presiding. The Court immediately imposed a fine of forty dollars and costs.

The games conducted by these men were similar to the ones formerly in operation at Sohmer Park. Cigars and cigarettes were used, with this difference the winner had to take the weed away. No matter how much was won, cigars and cigarettes was the best one could get out of the game, the proprietors declining to repurchase the smokes.

TROUSERS LOST BUT HOUSE SAVED

City Surveyor Minus a Garment After the Smoke of Battle Cleared.

Mr. John Barlow, the City Surveyor, is now mourning the loss of a pair of fine trousers, Mrs. Evans, is suffering from burns on her left hand and arm; while a District Fire Chief and a Police Captain are preparing literary gems of official reports on the danger of using benzine near an open flame.

It all happened to-day in Mr. Barlow's residence at 78 St. Luke street. Mrs. Evans, who was hired for the day to do the washing, worked hard to remove a spot from a pair of fine trousers. When the work was done she suspended the garment near a lighted gas stove. There the real trouble began.

So violently was the alarm given that not only did the men of the western division of the Fire Department respond, under District Chiefs Briere and Marin, but District Chief Mann with some of the Central Division's apparatus, including a pumping engine hurried to the scene.

A squad of police from No. 10 station on St. Catherine street, near Guy street, also arrived before the excitement of the disaster had subsided.

NO RESPONSIBILITY BUT WILL INSPECT.

The local officials of the Public Works Department of the Province of Quebec, state that they know nothing at all of the conditions of the building or the arrangements for the inspection of the King Edward Park pier at Isle Gros Bois. It was further stated that the probabilities were that if the department had any concern at all with the inspection of the wharf, the work would have been referred to Mr. Louis Guyon, the provincial building inspector.

Mr. Guyon, however, disclaims again all responsibility in the matter, "although," he added, "I am now going to undertake the duty of making an official inspection. The weather conditions are such that a place of that kind ought to be examined in the spring of every year before the place is visited by any large number of people."

TOWN SHUT OFF FROM THE WORLD, CAUSE SMALLPOX

Citizens of Lac-Au-Saumon Refuse to Be Vaccinated and Stringent Steps Taken.

I. C. R. ORDERED NOT TO MAKE CALLS THERE

Provincial Board of Health Will Take All Legal Steps to Enforce Their Order.

The Provincial Board of Health has requested the authorities of the Intercolonial Railway to discontinue all train service to Lac-au-Saumon, in the county of Matane. The request is an order and must be complied with. The move was made by the officials of the Board after a severe outbreak of small-pox in Lac-au-Saumon, the local authorities notifying the Board that they were unable to cope with the situation, owing to th resistance of the population.

A few days ago a case of smallpox was discovere in one of the local sawmills, and the man affected was isolated. Measures were immediately adopted to vaccinate and disinfect not only the family of the man, who had fallen sick; but, also all the hands of the mill where he had been working. The men resisted the local health officers and refused to be vaccinated and put under observation. The matter was immediately referred to the Provincial Board and pending investigation, regular communication to Lac-au-Saumon will be interrupted.

Messrs. Keoffrion and Geoffrion attorneys for the Provincial Board of Health, will look over the legal side of the question, and take against the citizens of Lac-au-Saumon, what procedure they see fit.

BEATEN BY POLICEMAN F. AUGER COMPLAINS.

Asks $500 for Alleged Assault by Constable Roch.

Complaints have been made to Chief Campeau and an action for $500 damages has been entered in connection with an alleged brutal assault by Constable Joseph Roch, of the Gain street station, upon F. Auger, of 449 Visitation street.

Mr. Auger in his complaint says that at 2 o'clock in the morning of June 18, he was peacefully sleeping on one of the benches of Bellerive Park, when the policeman took him by the arm and at the same time struck him five blows with his baton, four of which were administered on the head and one on the right leg. In addition, Mr. Auger declares that he avoided other blows by raising his arm, but that as a result his arm is seriously injured.

Moreover, Mr. Auger declares that while the constable was conducting him to the Gain street station, he agreed to liberate him on the payment of $1.

Mr. Auger says that his doctor reports that his condition is very serious and that as a result of the assault he has been unable to do any work.

Assistant Chief of Police Hebert today stated that Roch had been on the force for over a year and that there had never been a single complaint of any kind against the man, except in the present instance. He had always discharged his duties in such a way as to give satisfaction to his superiors.

Constable Roch denies Mr. Auger's charges in toto.

Accuse Two Of Same Crime

killing Emil Amann at Warren Pa., on January 27 last, Mrs. Stella Hodge, 35 years old, of that place, is being held at police headquarters here pending action by the Warren authorities.

The sensational feature of the arrest lies in the fact that John M. Andrews, formerly superintendent of the Warren Water Works Co., was only a few days ago convicted of murdering Amann, despite his vigorous protestations of innocence of the crime.

H. G. Silcox, a Philadelphia detective, testified at the woman's hearing to-day that he had been employed by Andrews' counsel along with a private detective agency to look up the woman.

ASKS SEPARATION; COURT GIVES HIM THIRTY DAYS' REST

Husband Says He Has to Cook His Own Meals, But Court Sends Him Down.

Claiming that his wife would not cook his meals, and giving this as an excuse for creating a disturbance and using insulting language to his wife, Philippe Hanley, 78 Rozel street, appeared before Mr. Recorder Weir this morning and, on being found guilty was sentenced to a fine of $20 or one month, and to furnish two bondsmen of $100 each to keep the peace for one year or serve three months in jail.

Mrs. Hanley accompanied by her fourteen-year-old daughter was in court this morning to give evidence against her husband. She said that her husband held a good position, but that he never gave her any money and that she was compelled to support her family of six children with the earnings of her daughter.

Asked by the Recorder if he had anything to say, Hanley replied, "Well, to tell you the truth your honor, the wife and I don't get along very well together, and I would like to get a separation."

"You will get a separation, alright," replied the Recorder.

Hanley then told of his troubles in cooking his own meals when his wife refused to serve them up to him, but the story did not have much weight with the Court and he was promptly condemned.

SCOTCH TENDER LOW FOR MACHINERY.

Controllers Receive Bid for Part of Filtration Plant.

The Board of Control today opened tenders for the supply of pumping machinery, cranes, and blowers for the filtration plant which is to be erected at Point St. Charles, for the city's water service. Five were received as follows:

Canada Foundry Company, Toronto	$ 46,700
W. H. Allen and Co., Bedford, England	$ 47,200
John Inglis & Co., Toronto	$49,500
British Electric Plant Co., Aloe, Scotland	40,250
Daniel Adams & Co., Manchester, England	49,500

The lowest tender is that of the Scotch firm for $40,250, but before making any recommendation on the matter, the Board of Control asked the chief engineer and Mr. T. Lesage superintendent of the waterworks to make a report on the merits of the tenders.

The John Macdougall Caledonian Ironworks Company, Ltd., Montreal, put in a tender after twelve o'clock today, but Controller Wanklyn informed Mr. Lester, the company's representative, that the tender had been received too late, and it could not be legally considered. It was therefore returned unopened.

HUNGRY, HE STOLE.

Judge Takes Pity on Youth of Suspended Sentence.

Joseph Belair, aged 15, presented a pitiful appearance in the dock of the Police Court this morning, when he stood charged with the theft of a pair of shoes, worth .50, from a store in the East End. The boy was crying bitterly and his grief was apparently sincere. He explained to the Court that he had been out of work for a few days, and was on the verge of starvation; and he decided to take the boots, and sell them for the price of a morsel of food.

The Judge was very much impressed by his appearance, and allowed him to go on suspended sentence. As the boy was going out he expressed a desire to know, where the next meal was coming from, and a sympathetic Assistant High Constable, who is so modest as to what his name witheld presented him with a two-bit piece.

No Prosecution Follows Fire.

No arrests have been made in regard to the fire in the shed of John Richardson, coal merchant, which was burned May 19. The enquete is closed and Mr. Richardson does not wish to prosecute anyone. Napoleon Barry, who was said to have been arrested was not arrested but called as a witness. The case is now closed.

Dr. Ouimet Found Not Guilty

Demonstration in Court When Judgment Freeing Hull Physician is Rendered.

Ottawa, June 29.—Dr. J. A. Ouimet, of Hull, arrested in Ottawa on June 7 on a charge of murder, was given his freedom this morning in Hull Police Court by Magistrate Goyette. He was accused of having caused the death of Mrs Frank Spain by a criminal operation.

The preliminary hearing ended on Monday, but judgment was reserved until to-day. The magistrate decided that there was no evidence by the crown establishing that Dr. Ouimet had performed the operation, which could have been done by the woman herself. While admitting that Mrs. Spain had called at his office, the doctor claimed he had simply prescribed for the woman's illness. There was a demonstration in the court by the prisoner's friends when judgment was announced. Dr. Ouimet broke down and wept, and the spectators cheered and applauded loudly.

SHOULD NOT ALLOW BOYS TO DRIVE WAGONS.

Rules of Road Not Obeyed, and Such Work Is Bad School.

The necessity of a by-law prohibiting boys of from ten to fifteen years of age driving vehicles of different kinds in the city was expressed this morning by Mr Recorder Weir, in referring to the number of boys who had been brought before him recently on charges of driving without a license, and infractions of the traffic by-laws.

Recorder Weir said that there was a by-law forbidding a cabman's license to a man under 18, but the city had no jurisdiction over carters of other descriptions.

Besides endangering the lives of our citizens by allowing these inexperienced boys out on the crowded streets with a rig, it is anything but a proper school for a young boy, as many carters are not fit associates for young boys.

This is only one of the many cases coming before this court said the Recorder over which we can exercise no control because they are not covered by city by-laws.

CEDAR RAPIDS CO. NOT CANADIAN LIGHT AND POWER

Report of Mr. Dubuc Attributed to Wrong Company by Certain Papers.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Ottawa, June 29.—It is upon the plans of the Cedar Rapids Manufacturing Company for development works on the St. Lawrence that Mr. A. E. Dubuc, engineer of the Public Works Department, has submitted a report to the Department, and not upon those of the Canadian Light and Power Company, as was first reported.

The two schemes have been confused. While they were considered simultaneously by the Department, they are wholly separate.

Respecting the Cedar Rapids proposition, Mr. Dubuc would make commencement of the work conditional upon the construction of more remedial works than are proposed.

In his conclusions, the departmental engineer says:

"1st.—The canal as proposed in the new plans will allow, at low water, substantially the flow granted by the Order-in-Council, or 95,000 feet per second. Any excess may be controlled either with the stone gates at Ile aux Vaches or with the log gates at the power house.

"2nd.—The fact that the proposed development, without adequate remedial works, will interfere with navigation does not prevent the Department from allowing the company to start work immediately, all other conditions as to sites, financial standing, etc., being complied with. But if the Department can legally do so, I would, before one drop of water is allowed to pass through the power house, make said approval conditional upon the construction and completion of adequate and improved remedial works. The flow of the river should be carefully measured, and a complete survey made of the steamboat channel. A discharge curve should be established at the rapids.

"3rd.—The best remedial works, which will be much more easy to determine when the above suggested survey is reported, might be either the dredging of the steamboat channel or a restriction of the flowing section below or south of Point du Cedres."

These restrictive works, the engineer says, could be made by constructing dykes or dams to the south embankment of the head-race, or a series of dams connecting the islands in the locality.

The Canadian Light and Power Company's project will hardly be dealt with finally till a commission is appointed to go into the whole question.

SHOT IN HIS SLEEP, SAYS FATHER OF SON NOW UNDER ARREST

Solomon Lusser Declares Son Harry Used Gun as He Lay in Bed. Asleep.

HAD REMONSTRATED OVER LATE HOURS

Asserts He Was Awakened by Blinding Flash as Shot Was Fired.

That his son shot at him as he lay sleeping at his home is the extraordinary story told to-day by Solomon Lusser, who was taken to the General Hospital early this morning, and treated for a bullet wound in the head.

Meanwhile the son, Harry, is under arrest, charged with an attempt on his father's life.

In court to-day, Harry declared that the whole affair is a mystery to him. He asserts that he was not at home when the shooting occurred, saying that when he entered the house at a quarter to two o'clock this morning, his father had then been removed to the hospital. He further stated that he does not own a revolver, that he never had one, and had not even handled one.

Three revolver shots in succession coming from the direction of the St. Lawrence Market, about 1.30 this morning, startled late wayfarers and residents of the neighborhood.

Paul Cells, a night watchman, at 413 City Hall avenue, and Charles Bourgeois, residing on Mount Charles Place, were the first to reach the scene of the shooting. They saw an old man leaning out of a window at No. 1 Mount Charles Place and loudly calling for help. Cells rushed upstairs while Bourgeois sent in a call for the police.

Lieut. Dandeneault, of the City Hall police station, found a man lying on a bed with blood flowing freely from a wound on the right side of his head.

He proved to be Solomon Lusser, employed as a foreman at M. Workman's button manufacturing plant on Notre Dame street. He was taken to the General Hospital, while a policeman remained on duty at the house. After having his wound attended to he told the police a story of the shooting, accusing his son, Harry, aged 24, of being responsible for the wounding. Lieut. Dandeneault returned to the house and found the young man, whom he took in charge. He was confronted with his father at the hospital, the latter positively identified him as the one who had fired the shots.

Father's Strange Story.

Lusser did not like the idea of remaining at the hospital, and asked that his daughter, Mrs. Morris Belinsky, 86a Rivard street, be communicated with. She came down and took her father to her home.

This morning, Mr. Lusser, although in a highly nervous state and suffering very acute pain in the head, related his story of the shooting in a fairly lucid way.

He and two sons have been residing at No. 1 Mount Charles Place. Mrs. Lusser being away on a visit to Paterson, N.J. They had to look after the house and each took a hand at housekeeping. Last night after supper, they were chatting in a quiet way until 10 o'clock, when the father retired. He did not have any words with his son, Harry, last night. He claims he never had any trouble further than remonstrating with him, when the latter acquired the habit of keeping late hours, which affected his efficiency during working time. He first took him to task in a gentle manner and later in a more forceful way, but for a week or so, the subject had not come up between them.

Awakened By Shot.

About 1.30 this morning, he says he was awakened by a blinding flash and a loud report. He immediately jumped out of bed and groping his way in the darkness grappled with his assailant. Another shot was fired this one taking effect in his head. He states he recognized his boy and exclaimed: "Harry, don't shoot me, Harry what are you doing? Have not I always been a good father to you."

He heard another shot and lost consciousness. When he came to he called for help.

The wound is not very serious, but the doctors state that had the bullet struck a fraction of an inch to the right, Lusser would have been instantly killed.

Although a thorough search of the premises was made by the police, a weapon could not be found. A 32-calibre revolver was used.

Harry Lusser was arraigned in the Police Court this morning, before Judge Lanctot and pleaded not guilty to a charge of attempted murder. He was remanded till July 5 for preliminary investigation.

SEE-SAW RACES AT ISLE GROS BOIS YESTERDAY

Some Favorites Won in the Early Part and Outsiders Later on.

The bookies made an even break at Isle Gros Bois yesterday afternoon, and, although in the first three races the favorites came romping home, the remainder of the programme turned out to be all in favor of the outsiders.

The principal favorite was Elizabeth O., which started in the betting as a 6 to 1 shot. A tip seemed to have been sent broadcast about her, and the money poured in so fast on the bookmakers that they soon marked her down to 4 to 5, and at that she won easily from Carissima, which she outsped at the first turn, holding the lead steadily after.

Troxler, after coming third in the first race with Inwood, finished first in the third race with Bensand, but in this there was a little luck, for Isabelle Casse stumbled badly after starting off well in the lead.

Punky went after Miss Cardigan in the stretch of the fourth race, but failed to pull ahead of her. Phoronis, an outsider in the betting, was third.

O'Connor made Starboard take the lead in the back stretch of the fifth race, and from there fought it out with Mirdil, who finished a strong second, with Forester third.

Most of the money wagered in the sixth race was placed on Semi-Quaver, but Warner Griswell romped home in the lead, a comparatively easy winner.

Creuse, in the last race of the afternoon, beat Creole, the favorite, which got a very bad start.

FIRST RACE, purse $200, for 2-year-olds, 4½ furlongs:

1. Mazard, 120, Bergen, 4 to 5 and out.
2. Bait, 111, Irvin, 3 to 1, 6 to 5 and 1 to 2.
3. Inwood, 115, Troxler, 2 to 1, 1 to 2 and out.

Time, .57¾.

Congressman, James and St. Agathe also ran.

SECOND RACE, purse $200, selling, for maiden 3-year-olds and up, 4½ furlongs:

1. Elizabeth, 114, Peak, 4 to 5, 1 to 2 and out.
2. Carrissima, 104, Girondo, 3 to 1, even and 1 to 2.
3. Daniel O'Grady, 106, White, 3 to 1, 4 to 5 and 1 to 2.

Time, .57 4-5.

Bertha D., Lady Gwendolyn, Cousin Peter, Lady Bass, and Brendemeer also ran.

THIRD RACE, purse $200, selling, for 3-year-olds and up, 5½ furlongs:

1. Bensand, 109, Troxler, even, 1 to 2 and out.
2. John Marrs, 117, E. Griffin, 3 to 1 even and 1 to 2.
3. Sally Savage, 106, Dreyer, 15 to 1, 6 to 1 and 4 to 1.

Time, 1.10¾.

Isabel, Casse, Don Hamilton, Warden, Quincy Belle, Sandy Hill also ran.

FOURTH RACE, purse $200, selling, for 4-year-olds and up, 4½ furlongs:

1. Miss Cardigan, 110, Grand, 6 to 1, 2 to 1 and out.
2. Punky, 110, Austin, 2½ to 1, 4 to 5 and out.
3. Phoronis, 110, O'Connor, 6 to 1, 2 to 1 and out.

Time, .57 2-5.

Sanguine and Billiard Ball also ran.

FIFTH RACE, purse $200, selling, for 3-year-olds and up, 6 furlongs:

1. Star Board, 119, O'Connor, 3 to 1, even and 1 to 2.
2. Mirdil, 120, Matthews, 2 to 1, 4 to 5 and 2 to 5.
3. Forester, 107, Grand, 6 to 1, 2 to 1 and even.

JOCKEYS ENGAGE IN FISTIC DUEL

Rough Ride at King Edward Park Culminates in Fight.

For the space of five minutes immediately after the finish of the second race at King Edward Park yesterday, the ground by the scales was made the scene of a very earnest and highly interesting knuckle fight between two scrappy lightweights, but which was very fortunately stopped before any damage was done.

Jockey Girondo and Jockey Peake were the principals, and Girondo, according to the statements of eye-witnesses, was the aggressor. It is stated that after the boys had left the scales, having weighed in, Girondo hooked his fingers in Peake's shirt collar, and, getting his head in chancery, proceeded to punish him in the face. Peake retaliated, and the two boys mixed things up in nearly style until a track policeman got to them and hauled them before Chief Steward John Boden.

To Mr. Boden, Girondo said that Peake, who rode Elizabeth O., the winner of the second race, had fouled his mount on the back stretch. Girondo, who was on Carissima, which ran second, declared that Peake had reached over and grabbed his bridle, holding Carissima back until the horse took the turn into the stretch in front of the stand. But for this action Girondo declared he would have won the race. Girondo said also that he was in such a position that it was impossible for him to loosen Peake's grip.

Peake denied the accusations strongly, but Mr. Boden decided against him and banished him from the track and the meet forthwith. Girondo was allowed to stay, but a further enquiry is to be held today.

There has been considerable grumbling about rough riding ever since the meet started, and the racing public expects the officials of the track to sift these charges to the bottom and hand out drastic punishment to the offenders.

POSTPONED SOCCER GAMES.

The sub-committee of the P. F. A., which was required to meet delegates from the C. P. R. and Locos to arrange matters regarding the postponement of the first division game scheduled for Saturday, which the Locos wish postponed and C. P. R. wish played, has arranged with the clubs, and the game will be played on the Angus Shops ground on Tuesday evening next. This means that Locos loose the advantage of playing on their own pitch.

C. P. R. being still without a game for Saturday, are trying to arrange with R.R.Y.M.C.A. to play a league game with that club on that date, it being an open day for both clubs.

George Bothner Won.

Boston, Mass., June 29. — George Bothner defeated Will Bingham, of England, at the American League Baseball grounds winning two straight falls. Bothner secured his first fall in 23½ minutes, and the second in 21½ minutes.

Sporting Views And Reviews

The playing of baseball at East Northfield, Mass. by McGill and Varsity students seems like carrying coals to Newcastle. However, it was a pretty good kind of coal—good enough to delight the spectators, most of whom were delegates to the Y. M. C. A. conference, and good enough to enable the boys of Old McGill to defeat their friends, the hereditary enemy, from Toronto.

In their cricket match with Toronto University, the team from "Old Penna" missed victory by a very narrow margin, for five runs in cricket are not much, except when they form the winning majority. The Pennsylvania students are having a good time, and they are playing a good game, although up to the present that of their opponents has been somewhat better.

The fact that New Westminster have signed Murray, who last year did some good work for Vancouver, shows that the slightly fading champions realize that laurels cannot be depended upon. It is not so much what you have been but what you are that counts when the ball is faced, and the referee's whistle blows. The champions evidently realize that there are some weak spots in their ranks, and how to strengthen them is now the question of the hour.

These are the days when higher education counts in about every field of human endeavor, from writing campaign songs to playing baseball. Here is a case in point, which ought to encourage every college student to improve the shining hours on the diamond field, even if he has to forego some of the pleasures of the class room and the study. S. B. White, known everywhere, except on the college roll, as "Steve," has for three years been "the mainstay," as well as the short anchor and likewise the pitcher of the Princeton nine. The other day he shut out Yale, and almost immediately a place with the New York Nationals opened up to him. Some day he may go back to his Alma Mater as the greatest striker out in the League. What pygmies his former professors will then appear in comparison. There is nothing that helps a youth like learning—that is, learning to pitch a ball that a batsman cannot hit.

It is a mistake to think that the Cornwall Lacrosse team, or the Cornwall people, are in a blue funk and have thrown up their hands in despair because the Nationals are hot on their trail and will have to be faced on Saturday next. The Cornwalls know that the Nationals are strong. They know it by experience, and they have not to be taught that truth by any third party. But Cornwall have, in their long day, faced many strong teams. Sometimes they won, and sometimes they did not, but win or lose they never shirked the issue, they never showed the white feather, and they never cried quit until all was over, whether it was defeat or victory.

That twelve-inning draw with the Royals will long stand in the annals of Jersey City as one of the events of time. Could the sun have lingered a little longer above the horizon there is no telling what might have happened. Darkness came to the Skeeters' relief, and in the gathering gloom they slinked home, well satisfied with having escaped without a drubbing.

ONLOOKER.

THE BIG WINNERS AT THE HAMILTON MEET

Special to The Montreal Star.

Hamilton, Ont., June 29.—The Hildreth stable won the most races and the most money at last week's meeting. The owners winning more than $1,000 were:

Owner.	1st.	2nd.	3rd.	Amt.
S. C. Hildreth	6	1	1	$4,565
R. F. Carman	5	4	3	4,245
A. Belmont	3	5	2	3,895
R. Davies	3	0	0	1,995
R. Parr	2	3	2	1,610
R. T. Wilson	3	3	1	3,545
J. E. Seagram	2	1	0	1,310
J. W. Schorr	2	5	0	1,240
P. M. Walker	2	4	1	1,220
H. Giddings	1	0	2	1,115

Mr. Carman's Meridian was the money earning horse, with Whist and Rose Lawrence not far behind. The winners of more than $1,000.

	1st.	2nd.	3rd.	Amt.
Meridian	1	2	0	$2,190
Whist	1	0	0	1,950

Captain Hoagland on the left and Coach Williams on the right, of the Pennsylvania crew, which came third.

ANOTHER STAR RACE

When at the solicitation of Lieut.-Col. Lockerby, President, and the Executive of the Montreal Caledonia Society, The Montreal Star last year decided to offer a cup for another Amateur Star Race, to be run in connection with the Annual Caledonia Games, it made a rule that it should be won twice in succession before it becomes the property of any one.

The race this year will be run on Saturday, July 22. It will start from Dominion Square and will finish at Dominion Park. The distance is about seven miles.

It will be run under the rules of the Amateur Harrier Union of Montreal.

The race is open to any amateur in the world. The runner who has the first claim on The Star Cup, having won it last year, is Ellard White, of Brockville.

Entries may be sent in now to the Sporting Editor of The Montreal Star and will be closed Tuesday before the race.

In addition to the trophy presented by The Montreal Star, the Caledonian Society will offer a number of medals.

Further details will be published from day to day.

Purtell Going? Not a Chance

Outfielder Red Murray, of St. Louis, who was turned down by Montreal, as announced in yesterday's sporting Star, has been snapped up by Buffalo, according to a despatch from Buffalo to the Star this morning.

The same despatch states that young Ben Purtell, the bleachers' idol, who is a utility shortstop of no mean calibre, has been sold to the Herd, but this is promptly denied by the local management.

"So far as I know no such deal has been suggested," President Lichtenhein said this morning. "This is the first I've heard of it."

In reply to a suggestion that Manager McCafferty might have made some arrangement with Buffalo, the president said "No." So that should settle that.

While President Sam would not say that the club would never let Purtell go without a string on him, at the same time, he declared decidedly that it was his present intention to have this snappy little infielder stay right here.

ANSWERS THE CHALLENGE.

Kid Dunn is Anxious to Meet Woodbine at 125 lbs.

An answer to Mr. J. Woodbine's challenge, printed in yesterday's Star, has been received as follows:

Sporting Editor Star:

Having seen Mr. J. Woodbine's challenge, last night, to fight anybody at 125 lbs. would you kindly state for me that I am ready to meet him at that weight and for any number of rounds, and for a side bet if he prefers.

The bout to take place in private or for any club.

Sincerely yours,
KID DUNN.
95 St. Urbain street,
Montreal.

Cornwall got $76 as their share of the gate at the Island on Saturday, in their game with the Tecumsehs. It cost them $40 for their share of referees' expenses, and $20 in fines, so that they got away with $16 clear. Their expenses were about $300, so that they were out considerable on the trip.

ARGONAUTS WITHDRAW U. S. HENLEY ENTRIES

Do Not Want to Race if There are No Other Eights Present.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 29.—An effort is being made to have the Malta Boat Club's intermediate eight-oared crew also race in the senior eight-oared event, in which the Argonaut Rowing Club, of Toronto, is the only entry at the People's Regatta, to be held at Schuylkill River here on July 3rd and 4th. The Malta crew is the only eight training among the local clubs, and the only intermediate eight entered, the three crews it will row against being the junior eights of the Vesper Boat Club, of this city; the Potomac Boat Club, of Washington, D.C., and the Detroit Boat Club.

As there is an interval of 1 hour and twenty minutes between the intermediate eight oared shell race and the senior eight-oared race the last race on the programme, the local officers feel it to be the duty of the Maltese Cross crew to enter the contest in order that the Canucks may have a race and the feature race of the day may not be abandoned.

The local officials yesterday received word from the Argonauts to cancel all their entries, they having also entered a senior four and E. B. Butler in the senior single race, if there was no crew to race against their senior eight; the local officials replied that they surely would secure an entry of some kind in order to make the race, but so far they have received no other message from the Toronto club.

The prizes have been already ordered, and in any case the officials here feel that the Argonauts' failure to come would be a distinct loss to the regatta. The Argos have thousands of admirers in this city, and vicinity, and their appearance on the Schuylkill is always heralded as one of the rowing treats of the season's regatta.

Boxing Match On 4th of July

The fifteen-round glove contest between Hilliard Lang, of Toronto, and Joe Borelli, of New York, which is scheduled to take place on Tuesday evening next at the Hippodrome in Maisonneuve, is beginning to cause comment among local followers of boxing.

Both men have posted a forfeit for weight and appearance, and the promoter states that the meeting between these men should prove to be one of the most interesting yet seen here.

In addition to the main event there will be a semi-windup of six rounds between Jem Stockley, the fighting sergeant of the Highlanders, and Sailor Chapman, who knocked out big Tom Davis in his last bout here.

There will also be a contest for the 105-lb. championship of the province between Rene Mercier and Young Carpenter.

SEMI GOLF FINALS.

Western Open Championship of the United States.

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 29.—Chicago, Boston, Detroit and Kenosha, Wis., will be represented at the Kent Country Club in the semi-final matches of the Western Golf Association's open championship tournament.

Robert Simpson, of Kenosha, Wis., will be pitted against Jack Croke, of Westward Ho, Chicago, while Tom McNamara, of Boston, and Wilbur Oakes, of Detroit, will tee off together. Albert Seckel, of Chicago, the only amateur to qualify for the championship rounds, was eliminated yesterday afternoon by Oakes' three up and one to play, the professional outplaying the Chicago youth nearly all the way.

The match between Robert and James Simpson proved the stellar feature of the afternoon play, although interest was intense in the McNamara-Sherwood battle. The Kenosha golfer was one down on the eleventh hole, but he negotiated the twelfth in three, and continuing his splendid play clinched match three up and two play. The winner made the 18 hole course in 72, while his Milwaukee brother took 74, the two best scores of the afternoon.

British Golf.

Sandwich, Eng., June 29.—Charles W. Evans, Jr., of Chicago, the western open golf champion, again went around the links in 78 in the third round of the open golf championship to-day. His total score is 234.

THE MONTREAL LACROSSE TEAM VERY HOPEFUL

Irwin and Menary Will Not Play —Byrne Will Be in the Goals.

Barney Dunphy, who is taking a sort of a lambent interest in lacrosse again this season, said last evening:

"If they have any defence worth having, Montreal ought to defeat Toronto on Saturday.

"They certainly have a splendid home."

"I remember," he said, musingly, "how the two Scotts, when they first started, were timid when they came close to the poles, and look at them now—there are no greater daredevils in the game anywhere.

The friends of Montreal certainly look to them to win, and it is expected that quite a number of them will accompany the team to Toronto.

Reports from there say that Irwin will not be able to play, that Menary will again direct the team from the side, and that Byrne will once more take the place of Tierney in goals.

President W. E. Findley, of Montreal, who has just returned from a stay at Lake Memphremagog, where his family are stopping, seems quite confident.

The team will be selected from the following: Brennan, Finlayson, Neville, Kenna, Aspell, Hamilton, Kane, Layden, F. Scott, Roberts, H. Scott, F. Hogan, Thompson, Milloy and O'Kane.

Junior League Suspends Man

Player Who Performed for Rose and Thistle Under Assumed Name is Penalized.

Stern measures were adopted last evening at a meeting of the junior division of the P.Q.F.A. in regard to a club which played an ineligible player in a league game under an assumed name, and the league unanimously expressed its intention of stamping out all such practices in its ranks.

The club at fault was the Rose and Thistle Club, and the player was Martin, late of Tetreaultville. It was stated by President Payne that Martin had played against St. James on Coronation Day under the name of Edwards. The club did not deny the allegation. The St. James' Club, although suspicious of Martin's identity, was unable to offer any definite proof of the offence inside the time limit for protests, and therefore the result of the game remains as played.

Martin was suspended for two playing Saturdays under the rules of the constitution.

A similar offence alleged against Tetreaultville was held over to give the club an opportunity of making a defence.

A protest made by the Grand Trunk against the Rose and Thistle Club for the playing of unregistered players was withdrawn after discussion, the meeting deciding that the fault did not lie with the Rose and Thistle. A revision of the registration law was placed on the books as a result.

The transfer application of J. Brown from the Rose and Thistle to the Grand Trunk will be laid before the P.Q.F.A. this evening, as a matter of obligation is involved which requires a final ruling.

The league decided that it could not admit the Jenkins Bros.' team at this late date in fairness to the weaker clubs, and the decision reached last week to continue as a nine-club league was upheld.

THE M.A.A.A. TEAM BOWLING DOUBLES.

Fifteen Ends Will be Played Till the Final, Which Will be Eighteen Ends.

The first round of the M.A.A.A. lawn bowling reversible doubles will be decided on July 4th. Fifteen ends will be played per game, and in case of a tie an extra end will be added. The final will go eighteen ends. The drawing has resulted as follows:

MISS MAYES DEFEATED

Pittsburg, Pa., June 29.—One of the most important matches yesterday in the women's tennis tournament of the Pittsburg Field Club was the game between Miss Hazel Hotchkiss, of Berkeley, Cal., national champion, and Miss Lois Moyes, of Toronto, Ont., the Canadian and international champion. Miss Hotchkiss was at her best and won easily, 6—2, 6—0. Miss Florence Sutton defeated Miss Dorothy Wilson, 6—1, 6—0, and Miss Elizabeth Bunce, of New York, the indoor champion, won from Miss Edith Schmidt, of Pittsburg, 6—3, 6—4. Miss Bunce and Miss Sutton play to-day, the winner to meet Miss Hotchkiss in the finals.

In the mixed doubles Miss Moyes and J. E. McLain defeated Mrs. T. S. Jacques and Charles Garland, 6—2, 6—4, 6—4.

Miss Bruce and J. L. Cote won from Mrs. T. W. Stephens and Dr. Craven, 7—5, 6—5. Miss Hotchkiss and P. D. Sivers defeated Mrs. and Mr. Sunstein, 6—2, 6—2.

New Steeplechase Course.

Fort Erie, Ont., June 29.—Among the improvements made at the Fort Erie race track this season in preparation for the race meeting opening Saturday next are a new steeplechase course, built up to regulation height, and a six-furlongs chute. The latter improvement obviates the necessity of starting the three-quarter races on the turn.

CANADIAN CHAMPION WHO WAS DEFEATED.

MISS MOYSE.

FORAN AND McINTYRE FOR TORONTO MATCH.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, June 29. — President Murphy, of the National Lacrosse Union, announced last night that the officials for the Toronto-Montreal game at Scarboro Beach Saturday would be W. Foran, referee, and Billy McIntyre, judge of play. The game of the season is looked for and both teams need this game in order to stay in the running, the blue shirts especially.

OTTAWA AT HENLEY.

Henley-on-Thames, June 29.—The Ottawa eight were out this morning at Henley with Kent. They did a half course in three-thirty-eight, and afterwards had a short burst of rowing. The crew is progressing and getting away well. They have two outings daily.

ST. LAMBERT AND GRAND TRUNK ARE RIVALS

Great Activity Amongst Paddlers of Both Aquatic Organizations.

There is great activity amongst the members of the Grand Trunk Boating Club.

All the spare time of the paddling members is taken up with preparations for the coming regattas, and it is pretty certain, judging from the work that has been going on, that the club will make a pretty good showing in the course of the summer.

Every night every available racing craft is out, and it will be between St. Lambert and them, those who have watched aquatics say, that the supremacy for the season will be decided.

St. Lambert boys have been working as they never worked before, and the collection of war canoes, which they sport is bigger than that of any club on either the River St. Lawrence or Lake St. Louis, they claim.

CANADIAN BALL LEAGUE.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, June 29. — Hamilton and Guelph split a double header in the Canadian Ball League at Hamilton yesterday afternoon, Guelph taking the first by 1 to 2 and Hamilton the second by 7 to 3. The feature of the day was a homer by Manager Bill Lane, of Guelph, who hit the ball over the left field fence, the first time this has been done this season. Berlin defeated St. Thomas at St. Thomas by the score of 6 to 3. Rube Denaus' new pitcher, Teed, holding St. Thomas to five hits. London defeated Brantford 12 to 1 at home, Brantford sending three men to the mound in a vain endeavor to save the game.

LACROSSE MATCH AT CORNWALL SATURDAY

The Factory Town Feels Confident it Can Beat the Nationals.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Cornwall, Ont., June 29. — The big Dominion Day match between the Nationals and Cornwalls is the sole topic of conversation here, and the all-absorbing question is: "Can Cornwall defeat the Nationals?"

This question might be answered in the affirmative if one were certain that the Cornwalls would put up the same brand of lacrosse as they did last Saturday against the Tecumsehs on the Island Oval at Toronto. And, if they do not, it will not be from lack of condition. The team, as a whole, is down to proper form, and if they do not defeat the French-Canadians on Saturday they will not be able to attribute their inability to the fact that their form was not up to the mark. That they were in good enough condition to hold the Tecumsehs as they have not been held on their own grounds in many a day was evidenced last Saturday, and with the extra work given by the fine weather this week, they should be as hard as nails and capable of meeting any pace the champions may set. It is probable that there will be little or no change in the line-up from the Tecumseh match. The officers were well satisfied with the work of the team, and will probably leave well enough alone.

The match is being extensively advertised throughout the district, and is expected to attract a large attendance from the country roundabout. Boat excursions are also coming in from points to the south, and altogether it will be a great holiday crowd that will gather to witness the contest. The Nationals are reported to be bringing a big following. Little or no betting has been indulged in as yet, but it is expected to be quite brisk when the advance guard of the Nationals arrive on the morning trains on Saturday.

HOW TO SAVE LIFE.

Demonstrations Saturday at Three Local Regattas.

The Quebec Branch of the Royal Life Saving Society will give life-saving demonstrations at three different regattas on Dominion Day. Mr. C. W. Ross, of the Club Nautique, and an enthusiastic member of the association, will conduct the demonstration at the Club Nautique regatta on Saturday, while Messrs. Gould and James Ross, swimming instructor at the M. A. A. A., will be at Chateauguay, and Mr. Leonard Norris, secretary of the local branch, and Mr. E. Bradley, will demonstrate at the St. John, P.Q., regatta.

A JINX SURELY HAS HIS WEATHER EYE ON CAPS

Dr. Nagle, of Football Fame, Busy Sewing Them All Up.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, June 29. — Not satisfied with hoodoing the team all over the N. L. U. circuit, the Jinx that has been following the Capitals to date, put in its appearance at Lansdowne Park last night, when just as Alf. Smith was calling off the greatest work-out that the club has had this year, Jack Ashfield was hit in the eye with the ball, having to retire from the field. But the casualty list does not end here. Tommie Gorman was welted across the right eye, Teddy Groulx stopped a stick with his head, drawing the crimson from his wound, while Buck Sarazin was knocked cold in a collision with Dupras, the husky Capital defence player returning after a short rest.

Capitals sure have it on any other in the union for tough luck, Billy Fagan wearing a cast over his right eye that may prevent him from playing for several weeks, while different members of the team have had to be sewed up because of the nifty club swinging that goes on during the work-outs. Doc. Nagle has had more to do this year in a month than for years past, the injuries counting everything from gashed heads to broken noses.

PROSPECTS FOR GOLF CHAMPIONSHIPS

George S. Lyon and Fitz-Martin Will Be Among the Entries.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, June 29. — Though Secretary Sparks has not yet closed his list of entries for the Dominion golf championship, which close to-morrow evening, letters have been received from the most prominent golfers in Canada stating that they will be on hand, the large number of entries issued meaning that Ottawa will feature a golf tournament that will be second to none.

Geo. S. Lyon, the great Lambton expert, and Fritz Martin, of Hamilton, the present Canadian champion, are a pair of well-known stars who have signified their intention of competing, while Montreal and other Eastern cities will also send along large representations.

Ottawa will have a score of entrants for the Dominion honors, the programme attracting many of the younger golfers of the Aylmer Road club house.

FOURTH PLACE! FIRST DIVISION! RAH!-- BY TAKING TWO FROM SKEETERS THE ROYALS GO ONE GAME ABOVE BUFFALO

Yesterday we moved into new premises.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Jersey City, N. J., June 29. — After trouncing the Ryanites in the first session of yesterday's double-barrelled affair with a ninth inning rally, which cut off all hope of the locals getting on even terms, the Royals went right on with the march of victory in the second contest and the Skeeters lost once again, this time by three runs to one.

The heavy hitting which featured the first game was not in evidence in the second, and the longest smite of either twirler was the two-bagger which Bill Abstein connected with.

Southpaw Burchell started for the Royals when the second game was called at four o'clock, and for three innings he made the Ryanites look like also rans in a heavyweight selling handicap. In the fourth he was hit on the hand by a fast shoot of Justus and had to retire. The injury is a severe one and it was at first feared that some bones had been broken. A careful medical examination revealed the fact that this was not the case, but Burch had to quit the game, and Dubuc took his place.

The big right-hander pitched sterling ball for the remainder of the battle, allowing only three hits in the six innings and striking out five men. Justus, who opposed the Royals was more successful than either Bartley, Frill or Kissinger had been in the first game and by the aid of some good fielding he held the harc hitting Montrealers down to a bare half-dozen safe bingles, no one of which was good for more than one sack.

As in the first game, the Royals got away to a flying start, pounding Justus hard in the first and running bases like track athletes at an Olympic meet. Justus started with a wobble, passing French, but Yeager forced him with a biff to short. With Yeager on first, Miller walloped a warm ground baby past Roach into Gettman's mitt, but big Jake let the ball bound away from him, and before the error was covered, Miller had galloped home on Yeager's heels. Only lightning work on the paths allowed Miller to score. Justus plunked Hanford in the ribs, but the latter was caught stealing, by a snappy throw to Roach. Gandil died on first from third.

Dubuc signalized his entrance to the game by retiring the side in the fourth, one, two, three, but in the fifth a pass to Tonneman, sacrifice and a single to left, scored Jersey City's only run.

The Royals did not need the one they put on in the eighth, when Miller singled and stole and Hanford also walloped safely. A double steal scored Miller.

The score:—

Summary—First base on errors, Montreal 1; two-base hits, Abstein; sacrifice hit, Breen; stolen bases, Breen, Miller, Hanford, Curtis; left on bases, Jersey City 3; Montreal 7; double plays, Gandil and Nattress; bases on balls, off Dubuc 2, off Justus 2; struck out, by Burchell 2, by Dubuc 4; by Justus 1; hit by pitcher, by Justus 2. Umpires Murray and Hart.

Picked Up From the Diamond.

Jersey City again to-day. Home to-morrow.

A win to-day is also needed to make that coveted first division place secure.

J. Dubuc deserves credit for heaving good ball.

Does this mean that Fred. Burchell will step into George Winter's place as the unluckiest pitcher on the pay roll?

Rochester return to-morrow. Game at 4.

The Rochester uniforms will add a lot to the festive appearance of our fair city on Dominion Day.

The hits in the first game yesterday were not only clean but mighty hard.

If Chick Gandil can go on hitting like that, he'll soon be the best all-round first-sacker in the League.

All the foreign sport writers hand it to Outfielders Hanford and Miller.

Providence is so tickled with the toboggan stunt that it's starting to slide again.

The Eastern League is bearing out its old reputation of always providing the thrills among the minors. Baltimore is beginning to squeeze Rochester for a first place, with Toronto only a game behind. Montreal, Buffalo, and Jersey City are bunched for the fourth position, and either may be there before the week's out, while at the bottom, Newark is only seven points behind Providenc.

SOLILIQUY BY E. McCAFFERTY.

When I change 'em I'm a lemon,
When I "leave him in" a quince,
If we lose my judgment's rotten,
When we cop—why I'm a prince.

Apologies, etc., to A. Austen.

In Pitcher Benn, the Dubuque, Ia., club claims to have the original "Wild man of Borneo." In three games that Benn started he pitched a total of nine innings, in which he issued 24 passes to first base, hit two batsmen, forced in two runs, made a balk and an error and was nicked for nine safe hits.

Frank Russell, a brother of the $12,000 beauty, held Maryland Athletic Club down to two hits recently, and but for a little wildness in the fourth inning, when he gave three bases on balls, and hit a man, forcing in a run, would have shut them out. As it was the Courthouse team won, 5 to 1.—Baltimore News.

The Chicago White Sox have had more games postponed on account of rain this season than any other major league club.

The Boston club is reported as having purchased from the Denver club for September delivery Pitcher Hagerman, for $3,000 cash.

Corhan, the young shortstop with the Chicago White Sox, was a find of the late Frank Selee while handling the Pueblo club.

JETTY MIXTURE

Nothing But Natural Sun-Sweetened Tobacco

It's rare to find a pipe tobacco that's free from doctoring.

The reason for this is that most pipe tobaccos are so lacking in natural flavour that artificial flavouring is required.

Thus often when you think you're smoking just tobacco, you're consuming a mixture of tobacco and licorice, or molasses, or gum.

It is the utter absence of these adulterants—together with a fine tobacco blend's natural fragrance and aroma—that has made so popular the famous

JETTY MIXTURE

Natural Tobacco—1 oz., Ten Cents

Other manufacturers say that the smoker likes artificial flavour. He may if he hasn't known any other.

That's why every man who smokes a pipe owes to himself a trial of Jetty Mixture.

Here's a product of Carreras, Limited, and of the same matchless quality as the Carreras brands in London, England.

Fill up your pipe with this natural tobacco to-day—see how different it is from the artificial kind you probably have been smoking.

SENATOR CUMMINS CONFRONTED WITH SPEECH FROM 1904

But Denies Charge of Inconsistency Brought by Senator Williams.

SAYS TAFT DOES NOT REPRESENT REPUBLICANS

Washington, June 29.—Senator Bristow, of Kansas, insurgent Republican, declares that President Taft does not represent the majority of the Republican party on the reciprocity bill.

"He does not represent the majority of the Republicans in the House or Senate," he said, "and I do not believe he represents a majority of the Republicans of the country."

Special to The Montreal Star.

Washington, June 29.—When Senator Cummins started to speak further on reciprocity, in the Senate today, and to urge the amendment of the existing agreements, so as to provide for the admission of previous articles used by the farmer, Senator Williams (Democrat) sprung on him, one of his old reciprocity speeches, delivered back in 1904, while he was Governor of Iowa.

Senator Williams got permission to read from this speech.

Senator Cummins had just been urging the Senate not to do the farmer the injustice of forcing him to sell in a free market, and buy in a protected market. Senator Cummins had declared he would rather have a revenue tariff than the disorder that would follow such an arrangement.

The extract from a former speech of Senator Cummins, which Senator Williams read, was a strong argument for reciprocity with Canada. The tenor of it was that free admission of agricultural products from Canada would do the farmers of this country little injury and that the middle-western farmers would not discern the influence of such admission.

Senator Williams, in the colloquy that followed, thought if he had spoken thus and then argued as the Senator was now doing, he would be open to the charge of inconsistency.

Senator Cummins denied the charge of inconsistency. He said he was not contending now against the free admission of agricultural products.

"I am simply asking," said he, "that when you admit free the product of the farm, you admit manufactured articles free, and the Senator from Mississippi is not willing to admit them free except by separate legislation, which will be very long deferred."

Senator Williams insisted he would go farther than the Senator from Iowa in letting down the bars for free manufactured articles, but Senator Cummins pointed out that it was plainly impossible to do this by trying to put through separate schedule tariff bills.

SIR LOUIS DAVIES TO ACT FOR EARL GREY.

Ottawa, June 29.—Sir Louis Davies was to-day sworn in as Deputy Governor-General to act in the absence of Earl Grey, who is going up the Saguenay on a fishing trip.

HOME FOR HORSES SEEMS PROBABLE.

Progress is being made towards establishing a home for broken down and aged horses. Already a deep interest is being taken in the proposition published in the Star on the 22nd instant. Two prominent members of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals have signified their intention to contribute $100 each towards the establishing of such a place. They also propose that in connection with the special pasture there be kept a home for dogs. This is to be run and operated after the example set at Battersea, England, where the dog probably receives better care and attention than in any other place in the world. Here lost and stray dogs are kept until their owners call for them. If they are not called for, after a certain time, the dogs are put up for sale, and in those cases where the dogs are not bought, a home is found for them.

In Montreal at the present time all aged horses or horses that are incapable of work are bought up by the S.P.C.A., and put to death. In the cases of the dogs they are taken to No. 4 Police station and if not called for in a short time are put in the lethal chamber. In this way many valuable animals are done away with, and owners often find too late that a pet dog has been killed.

M. AND D. F. A. IS NOW DISBANDED.

An amicable last meeting of the Montreal and District Football Association was held last evening at 180 St. James street, when the old association was wound up and its business settled for all time.

There was a fair sized sum left over from last season's operations, the disposal of which raised some discussion. It was finally decided to hand the money over to the Royal Edward Institute, for the cure of tuberculosis.

CHURCH RUINS BLAZE.

Fire in the debris of St. Jean Baptiste Church, to-day, brought the northern division of the Fire Brigade under District Chief Hooper to the disastrous scene.

A street railway conductor saw smoke while on his way to work at 5 o'clock this morning, and sounded an alarm. When the firemen arrived, one stream was brought into operation.

A large wooden beam which was smouldering in the bell tower was ablaze. The firemen extinguished the outbreak in ten minutes.

St. Lambert Hygiene Committee.

At last night's meeting of the St. Lambert Town Council the following Hygiene Committee was appointed:—Messrs. W. McPherson, Walker, Howard, Allwright, Barfoot and Parish. Dr. Desaulniers was appointed medical health officer, Mr. Howard secretary, and Mr. Millard, inspector.

The Citizens' Association of St. Lambert have nominated six candidates for the position of school trustees, Messrs. Barfoot, Murphy, Reeves, Kipps, Sharp, and Turner. The election is fixed for Monday next. Five will compose the board.

TORONTO DAY BY DAY

From a Special Correspondent.

Toronto, June 29.

THE Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, after getting themselves "in bad" with the public by a series of decisions which seemed to lean more to the side of the public service corporations than to the desires of the people, have now evidently set themselves to gain popular favor. The first sign of a change of heart was given early this year, when the Board rescinded the by-law of the Toronto Railway Company under which the pay-as-you enter system was put in force in Toronto without properly constructed and equipped cars. Now the board has come out unequivocally in favor of the city's scheme to provide street car facilities for the rapidly-growing suburbs which were not part of the city when the Toronto Street Railway obtained its franchise, and which therefore the company is not obliged under its agreement to serve. The board exercised a proper caution in withholding its sanction until furnished with satisfactory data as to the city's plans and intentions, but once these were furnished, they were approved after a surprisingly short interval, while the very next day judgment was delivered on the vital point of interchange of traffic with the company's existing system, without which the city's lines would have almost certainly have proved losing ventures.

The company's counsel contended that the city should first get its lines constructed before seeking to come to terms with the company, but the board coincided with the claim of the city's representative that Toronto would be thus taking a leap in the dark.

In another scarcely less important issue to Toronto, that of allowing the Metropolitan Radial Railway, an allied concern of the Toronto Railway to move its line off Yonge street to a private right of way within the city's limits, the board has announced its intention of granting the company's request, but it has undertaken to see that the rights of property owners, and of the public in regard to avoidance of level crossings, are fully safeguarded.

The result of these recent decisions has been to make the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board much more popular around the City Hall and throughout Toronto as a whole than has been the case since the Board was first created by the Whitney Government soon after it came into power.

With the franchise of the Toronto Railway still having ten years to run, it is perhaps a little early to speculate as to the proper person to be placed in charge of the system when the city takes it over as a municipal enterprise, as it is almost sure to do, but it may not be amiss to point out that there is in Toronto a man of varied interests, wide experience and uniform success who would on his record make an ideal general manager of so large and complex a system of transportation as the Toronto street railway will be ten years hence. Lawrence Solman, known to hosts of friends as "Lo," has tried his hand at managing many widely differing enterprises, and has emphatically made good at all. The public hear most of him in connection with sports and amusements, but it must not be forgotten that he is, and has been for a score or more of years, the manager of the Toronto Ferry Company, a corporation performing for the citizens a service on the waters of Toronto Bay very similar to that which the Toronto Railway accomplishes on the city's streets, and doing it too, with one hundred fold more satisfaction to the public.

A comparison of the respective records of the two companies is a fair one, for after making allowance for the divergent conditions and facilities, it will be acknowledged that the Ferry Company in carrying 40,000 to 50,000 persons to the Island on a big day is performing quite as notable a feat as does the street railway in transporting three times that number. The almost total lack of friction between the public and the ferry company is due principally to the latter's uniform policy of courtesy, to intelligent anticipation of and provision for the growth of traffic, and its possession of a staff of well-treated and contented employes.

As for Mr. Solman's other interests, their name is legion. He is the power behind the throne in the Toronto Baseball Club and the Tecumseh Lacrosse Club. The voices may be the voices of President McCaffery and Manager Querrie, but the hand that holds control is the hand of Solman.

He is manager of the amusement park at Hanlan's Point, which continued to make money while its newer rival, Scarboro' Beach, went bankrupt in three years.

When the beautiful Royal Alexandra Theatre was erected in Toronto at a cost of close to a million dollars, and the Czar of the Theatrical Trust scornfully declared that he would turn it into a stable for his horses, the Shuberts engaged Mr. Solman to manage the house, and his success was such that they also gave him control over their Montreal house, the Princess.

It was Mr. Solman who looked after the business end of the races of his famous brother-in-law, the late Edward Hanlan, and he acts in a similar capacity for Hanlan's nephew, Eddie Durnan.

He owns a hotel, and has a few other interests on the side to which he devotes his spare moments.

It is safe to say that, judging him on his past performances, the city of Toronto could afford to pay Lawrence Solman $25,000 a year for running the city's railway in whatever portion of his time he could abstract from his other interests.

COURT IN HOSPITAL HEARS QUEER STORY

Man in Hospital May Die So History is Taken by Judge.

The Enquete Court was transferred to the Notre Dame Hospital yesterday afternoon, when Judge Lanctot accompanied by Court Stenographer Desjardins made a visit to the hospital to take the anti-mortem statement of Joseph A. Colombe, the victim of Sunday night's shooting affray.

The story told by Colombe was a strange one, the greater portion of which would hardly permit of publication. He said that on Sunday afternoon, after taking his wife to the home of a relative he was accosted by J. Vaillancourt, who explained that he had a school in which instruction was given on unusual lines and suggested that they should go and see this institution. After entering the school at the corner of St. Catherine and St. Christophe streets, Colombe noticed that his new found friend locked all the doors through which they passed and the room which they finally entered had a spring lock. After various objects had been shown the visitor a bottle of gin was produced and each partook. At this point the victim says that Vaillancourt's actions made him suspicious that all was not well and he reached for his hat and coat to leave the place, and it was then that Vaillancourt whipped out a revolver and fired five shots at him.

Colombe's statement was taken at the suggestion of the hospital authorities, who explained that an operation was to be performed in an effort to locate the bullets and that it was an extremely dangerous one.

Vaillancourt appeared yesterday afternoon in Court and an application that he be released on bail was refused.

The enquete will be continued on Tuesday next.

RUSSIA LAUNCHES FIRST DREADNOUGHT

Battleship Sevastopol Floated To-day at Government's Baltic Works.

St. Petersburg, June 29.—Russia's first Dreadnought, the Sevastopol, was launched successfully this noon from the Baltic works in the presence of the Ministry of Marine, naval attaches, a large representation of society, the legislative bodies and officialdom.

Special precautions against a mishap had been taken, as there was only a foot of space on either side of the slip, and the cruiser Almaz was anchored athwart above the works to lessen the current.

The battleship was laid down on June 16, 1909, and it is expected that another two years will be occupied in equipping the vessel. The Sevastopol has a displacement of 23,000 tons and with 42,000 horse power is expected to develop a speed of 23 knots an hour. Her length is 590 1-2 feet, and her beam 87 feet.

The battleship will carry 3,000 tons of coal and 170 tons of naphtha. Her armament will consist of twelve one-inch guns, sixteen 4.7-inch guns and smaller artillery. All of the vessel and its equipment has been or will be built in Russia.

The Poltava, a sister ship of the Sevastopol, will be launched on July 10, the anniversary of the battle of Poltava.

The keels of these two battleships and of two others, the Petropavlovsk and the Gangut, were laid on the same date and when commissioned will form the first squadron of the new Baltic fleet.

To Double Track Mountain Line

C.P.R. Will Probably Undertake This as Far as Ste. Agathe Next Year.

The traffic from Montreal into the Laurentian Mountains over the Canadian Pacific is growing to such an extent that the Company has under consideration the double-tracking of the line as far as Ste. Agathe. It is possible that this work will be undertaken next spring, and also that considerable improvements will be made in straightening out the route.

Mr. D. McNicholl said to-day that the double-tracking of the line as far as Quebec Junction already carried out, had brought considerable relief to the traffic, but the Company intended to carry the double-tracking much further.

"In fact," he said, "we intend to double-track every portion of our lines in the Eastern Division where the traffic warrants it. We have, however, so much work on hand in improving our facilities in and around Montreal that we cannot undertake the double-tracking of the Ste. Agathe line this year. It is possible, however, that when the appropriations for next years are made this work will be included in it."

THIS FIRE LOOKED BIG BUT WAS SOON UNDER CONTROL

Strong Odor of Coal Oil Says District Chief Mann in His Report.

A mysterious fire at 1.40 o'clock this morning in the three storey building at 240 Lemoine st. caused damage through fire and water of $50,000.

The ground floor and basement is occupied by the Smith Hardware Co., while the upper floors are used by the Dominion Cloak Mfg., Co.

No watchman is kept and in the opinion of District Chief Mann, the fire must have been burning for over an hour before it was seen by Constable Lalonde, of the Central Station.

So fiercely were the flames raging that the District Chief thought a second alarm would be necessary. However, such quick work was done that six streams were immediately in operation and subdued the fire preventing a spread to the surrounding wholesale houses.

The fire was fought from the inside, only one stream being taken up a ladder. Captain Doolan of No. 1 station, went up to the second floor with a line of hose and by a stairway in the rear got the nozzle directed towards the heart of the fire.

"What struck me and the men," said District Chief Mann, "and this I shall put in my report, was the odor of coal oil, which was very noticeable". Enquiries failed to elicit any reason why coal oil was kept in the place.

In twenty minutes the fire was extinguished, much to the surprise of the firemen themselves, as the appearance was that it would be an all-night fire.

Mr. D. G. Smith, of the Smith Hardware Co., said to a Star representative this morning that only yesterday over a dozen cases of imported tools and cutlery from Germany and the United States had arrived. The usual stock carried is between $30,000 and $40,000, and most of this Mr. Smith believed to have suffered damage, though he had not yet made an estimate.

He could not understand why he was not notified of the fire by the police as is usually done, and it was not until he went down as usual to his establishment that he learned of it. He stated that the firm's specialty was high grade cutlery and tools.

The damage to the Dominion Cloak Co., is $10,000, and to the building, $10,000.

Guides at Levis.

Quebec, June 29.—This is the first time that the Corps of Guides has been assembled at the Levis camp, and today or to-morrow they will start out on a map-sketching expedition of the country in this district.

The corps is under command of Major Paley, C.M.G. (Rifle Brigade), director of military operations and staff duties, with Captain L. H. Stitwell, assistant director of military intelligence.

CAR BUTTED WALL INTO C. P. R. HOTEL

Jumped Tracks at Corner of St. Lawrence and Bernard.

An open infringement of the early closing by-law startled Mr. M. Catudal, proprietor of the C. P. R. Hotel at the corner of St. Lawrence Boulevard and Bernard street at midnight, when car No. 933 made a beeline for the bar room and stuck its nose three feet inside of the brick wall. Two wooden telephone poles failed to stop its mad course, and they were smashed like tooth picks. The car came up St. Lawrence street, it is said, at a great speed and jumped the tracks at the Y, plunging across the street.

None of the passengers or the crew in charge of the car were seriously hurt. Olivier Puquette, of 3 Craig street east, complained that his hip was hurt, but was able to go to his home.

A great hole was made in the wall of the hotel, and considerable damage done to the interior furnishings of the bar room. The front of the recalcitrant car was of course badly smashed, but it was soon pulled back on the tracks.

CAN MONTREAL MAKE LEGAL FIGHT ON WILL?

Relatives of Gustave Meurling Likely to Turn Up and Contest Validity.

Mr. Ethier, City Attorney, has today forwarded to the city's lawyers in England all the documents that have come to hand in connection with the testament of Gustave Meurling, who has willed his entire fortune to the Mayor and Corporation of Montreal for distribution among the poor of the city. The London lawyers will watch all the probate proceedings on behalf of the city.

"It is most extraordinary," remarked Mr. Ethier to-day, "that a man without any apparent reason at all should leave a vast sum of money to a city where he is not known from Adam. Surely he must have relatives somewhere, and surely they will contest the will, in which event a nice little point will arise as to how far Montreal can spend the public's money in contesting the demands of legitimate claimants under what, on the face of it, looks to be one of the most eccentric wills in history. The matter needs caretul watching, and we have friends who are looking fairly after the city's interests."

DIED IN THE CAPITAL.

Coroner Will Inquire Into Recent Arrest Case.

Michael O'Keefe, 47 years old, who was arrested on the night of June 22, for drunkenness and was taken to the General Hospital when he complained of being sick, died in that institution last night. He was picked up on Craig street in a very bad condition and was taken to No. 5 police station, where he spent the night.

Lack of food seemed to be the trouble with him more than anything else, and in the morning his condition became so serious that he was removed to the hospital, at 6 a.m. An inquest will be held to-morrow.

HOLD BOYS FOR FIRES IN POINT ST. CHARLES

Two Who Plead Guilty, Say That the Others are Not.

"This matter is to be investigated thoroughly," said Judge Lanctot in the Police Court this morning. "there seems to have been an organized gang of young incendiaries operating in the Point St. Charles district and Grand Trunk yards for a period of over two months. This investigation will be conducted carefully and we will get to the bottom of it."

These remarks were made when the case of John Collins, James Malloy and Raymond Banford, three youths, aged fourteen and fifteen, were charged with having set fire to piles of lumber, th property of Shearer, Brown and Wills. The specific charge reads for fires which occurred on the 22nd and 25th days of May, but it is claimed by the prosecution and is a matter of record that there has been numerous fires in that vicinity during April and May.

Thomas Mitchell and John Currie, aged 15, were arrested last week in connection with some of the fires and had pleaded guilty. They have been confined in the Reformatory since and are to come up for sentence on Tuesday. They were brought back from the Reform School to testify against their alleged comrades, but both of them exonerated their chums from any blame, Currie and Mitchell both agreeing that while Collins, Malloy and Banford had been present when the arrangements were made for setting the fires, they had always skipped when the pinch came, and the fire was actually set. Currie swore that Malloy went with him to the Grand Trunk yards to secure the waste soaked in oil, which was used in setting the fire. When the combustible was ignited he had made his escape and was nowhere near the scene of the fire.

In reply to queries from Mr. R. O. McMurtry, who represented the prosecution, they both declared that they had never actually seen any one of the accused in the act of committing arson.

Mr. William Betts, manager of the Betts' Detective Bureau, who made the case against the boys, took the stand and related confessions that the boys had made to him. Attorney for the defence argued that this should not be taken as evidence as the boys had not been sufficiently warned. He was allowed to testify, objection being reserved, and it will be argued before a higher court.

Judge Lanctot absolutely refused to grant the release of young Banford on bail. He ordered that the boys be kept separate in the reform school, and when asked to permit the mother of the boy (Banford) to talk to her son a few minutes in the cells, ruled that this could not be allowed.

"This case is a very serious case. These boys are intelligent and knew perfectly well what they were doing. They are a menace to society. In the interest of justice I cannot grant bail. They will have to stay in the reformatory until the 4th of July, when they will appear for trial," concluded Judge Lanctot. This is the date fixed for senetnce in the case of Mitchell and Currie.

HOLIDAY FOR MEN AFTER BIG WORK.

Harbor Commissioners to Give Picnic to Elevator Builders.

To celebrate the completion of the walls of the new grain elevator on the harbor front, the commissioners have granted the workingmen a holiday on July 6th. A picnic has been arranged for that day, and Mr. Bishop has arranged a fine programme of games and sports for the men and their children.

Work on this new elevator has been rushed ahead as fast as possible, and the men were kept constantly busy day and night building the high walls of cement. This is the first holiday that the men have received since the elevator was started.

A short time ago, to celebrate the completion of the first half of the wall, the officials hoisted numerous flags, and these same flags are today blowing high up on the top of the elevator, to signify the completion of the wall, which was finished yesterday afternoon.

Octogenarian Missing.

For the last few days the Police have been trying to locate Alex de la Ronde, aged 83 who disappeared from the home of his daughter at 212 Quesnel street, Monday and has been missing ever since. They have been unable to get any information as to his whereabouts and it is feared that he has met with some accident.

He is five feet eleven, grey hair and moustache and was wearing a grey suit when he left the house.

To the Editor.

The Local Coronation Day Celebration.

To the Editor of the Montreal Star:

Sir,—Permit a few remarks apropos of the official manner of the celebration of the King's Coronation in the metropolis of the Dominion of Canada. Firstly, I believe there was a general order from militia headquarters calling for a review of troops and "feu de joie" wherever there was sufficient units or regiments to parade. May I ask is Montreal a nonentity in this respect, having one two-battalion regiment and at least two others of considerable strength, not to speak of the artillery and other units at present not in camp? Yet in this loyal city the citizen militia could not muster sufficient men to make some sort of a military show appropriate to the occasion. I am one amongst others who are very much interested in the military strength of this grand Empire, which I am led to understand Canadians are proud (or perhaps the correct term "would be glad") to belong to, but it certainly sticks in my throat when on such auspicious occasions as the one we are celebrating, the local citizen soldiers haven't got enough "stuffing" in them to sacrifice their personal desires for baseball, lacrosse or a joy ride with their best girl, to turn out in their fullest strength and raise their helmets in a cheer for King George and Queen Mary. However, "honor to whom honor is due." The Highland Cadets and Boy Scouts did turn out, and the 21st Westmount Battery did their best with two horses to the gun.

Some of my friends told me the dearth of militiamen was due to Farnham camp, but the city corps are not at camp now. While appreciating that this is not a garrison town, it is, or ought to be, of some status in the military make-up of Canada, and whoever is responsible for the military inertia on this occasion ought to rid the service of their lethargic personality, in view of the general order not having been confined to garrison towns.

PRO FORMA.

Flying a Foreign Flag.

To the Editor of the Montreal Star:

Sir,—Can there not be something done to teach foreigners, and more particularly people from the United States, to show due respect to the flag of this country? Why is this question not settled for good and not allowed to crop up every little while? Americans know well that it is an act of discourtesy to give precedence to the Stars and Stripes in this country over the Union Jack. We all know how utterly intolerant they are to having the Union Jack flung to the breeze on the other side of the line. It seems that something will have to be done to compel a proper attitude to our flag, while they are within our borders at least.

The Yankee flag is very much in evidence at Dominion Park. In the case of one side show the Stars and Stripes flag on a large scale is streaming across the entrance. Beneath this and carefully calculated to occupy an inferior position are a few tiny Union Jacks. One of the attendants, when asked about it, said it was because the show was American. This explanation implied that, being American, they could do as they wished in this country in the matter of flags.

SASKATCHEWAN.

Neglect to Celebrate Coronation.

To the Editor of the Montreal Star:

Sir,—I would like to call attention to the neglect on the part of our civic authorities to suitably notice the coronation of our King. The neglect to do so is undoubtedly due to the result of the recent provincial elections, and one can trace the hand of a certain corporation in the matter when I inform you that the statutory holiday on June 22nd was denied to both the employes in Sydney and Glace Bay on the grounds that July 1st would be a public holiday, and that the men had June 3rd as a day off.

In the town of Glace Bay, too, the city fathers could come to no working arrangement as to what they ought to do, so they unanimously decided to do nothing. The town offices were decorated with a ragged Union Jack and two quarantine flags. It is a pity that this Island of Cape Breton cannot be towed down abreast of New York in time for the islanders to see how their American cousins celebrate July 4th.

CATHOLICS ARE WARNED AGAINST SOCIALISM

Heresy and Evil, Viciousness of Which is Apparent, Says Archbishop Messmer.

Chicago, June 29.—Socialism was condemned as a heresy and an evil and all Catholics were warned against it by Archbishop Sebastian G. Messmer, of Milwaukee, who was one of the central figures in yesterday's proceedings of the Catholic Eucharistic Congress in session here.

"Socialism is a heresy and an evil, the viciousness of which is apparent to every thinking man," said the Archbishop. "The immorality which Socialism breeds and the dangers which it leads to can be averted only by the influence of religion and religious teachings."

Five children are left parentless by the tragedy.

Those Poor Dollar Princeses.

Washington, D.C., June 29.—Representative Sabath's resolution calling on Secretary of State Knox to find out why "only two dozen of our dear peeresses in Europe, designated as 'dollar princesses,' have been permitted to take part in the coronation," was humorously considered yesterday in the House Committee on Foreign Affairs and tabled.

MRS. A. MATOUS.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (Special).—"I was troubled with indigestion for many years and dreaded eating, because I would get such an intense pain in my stomach. I tried many different doctors, but could only get relief for a while. My brother read of what Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey had done, so I tried it. It was just what I needed. I have been taking it for about a year and now I can eat everything and am never bothered with indigestion. We use it right along in our house as the family medicine. MILITANT PASTOR VISITS MONTREAL, WILL PREACH HERE

Rev. Dr. John Clifford is Termed "The Modern Oliver Cromwell."

"The Modern Oliver Cromwell," is coming to to Montreal in the person of Rev. Dr. John Clifford, the venerable pastor of the Westbourne Park Baptist Church, London, and by far the most militant Nonconformist in Great Britain. He is expected to arrive tomorrow evening, and on Sunday he will preach at the Olivet Baptist Church, at the corner of Dorchester and Guy streets.

Although he is 75 years of age, and has been for 53 years a pastor, Dr. Clifford shows little abatement either of his energy or his enthusiasm, and he is still in the forefront of the fighting ranks of Free Churchmen in the Old Country. Small and wiry in figure he is exceptionally active, so much so, that, he is not content with the scope afforded him by his religious and social duties, but often mounts the political platform, to speak in his own fiery and vehement fashion on the topics of the day.

The pseudonym of "The Modern Oliver Cromwell," was applied to him when he led the forces in the fight against Mr. Balfour's Education Act of 1902, a bill which caused in England the greatest religious controversy of modern times. If not the originator of the passive resistence movement, he was at any rate one of first to put it into practice and he seemed to take a martyr's delight in having his goods seized for sale to pay school rates, part of which would be applied to the maintenance of Anglican elementary schools.

It was, however, during the Boer War that, he came into the greatest prominence, for he headed a vehement campaign against the war, and was the chairman of the Stop-the-war Committee, stumping the country from end to end, and delivering perfervid speeches agains what he described as a national crime.

Dr. Clifford is a notable preacher, draws large crowds to his church in London and is in great demand as a speaker all over Great Britain.

TOO MUCH HURRY.

Magistrate Lectures Man for Breaking Past Park Barrier.

Because, in his hurry to board the ferry boat at the King Edward Park, Alfred Tremblay had broken through a barrier, he was arrested by the police of the park and taken before Magistrate Leet. The offence took place on the 13th instant, and yesterday in rendering sentence, the magistrate said such unreasonable violence and haste was of the kind that should not be tolerated with crowds, as it was conducive to panics and all its consequences. Thinking that Tremblay had had enough with his arrest and a good lecture, the magistrate sentenced him to the costs only.

MONTREAL TO MADRID.

Cable of This Archdiocese Received With Enthusiasm.

Monday, at the opening of the Eucharistic Congress in Madrid, Rev. Canon Roy, administrator of the archdiocese, cabled to His Grace, Mgr. Bruchesi, that the whole diocese was in unison with the pastor during the celebration of Madrid. Yesterday, Canon Roy received the following answer: "The cable of the archdioceseof Montreal was received with great enthusiasm by the general meeting of the Congress."

Clarke Given Another Chance.

James Clarke, who was yesterday morning sentenced to six months in jail by Judge Lanctot, on a charge of non-support of his wife and family, was in the afternoon given another chance by Judge Lanctot, who allowed the prisoner his liberty on suspended sentence, after Detective Samson, of the Provincial force, had argued that Clarke was not a man of habitual dissolute life.

The body of I. Meloche ,the sixteen-year-old son of Mr. P. Meloche, of 53 St. Hyacinthe street, Hull, was recovered from Brewery Creek, Ottawa, yesterday.

Steamers Have Anxious Time

Immense Waterspouts Threaten Vessel and Her Disabled Consort.

Special Cable to The Montreal Star.

Melbourne, Australia, June 29.—The steamer Pilbarra, of the Australasia-United Steam Navigation Company, arrived at Freemantle yesterday in tow of the steamer Kurnalpi, having had a thrilling experience in mid-ocean.

Pilbarra was disabled shortly after leaving Geraldstown, but her plight was opportunely seen by the Kurnalpi and arrangements made for towing her. With difficulty a hawser was passed aboard in the high wind and terrific seas that prevailed.

The vessels made fast and started for the nearest port. As they were proceeding slowly, five waterspouts suddenly appeared a short distance away and whirling near, threatened to overwhelm both steamers. Great apprehension was felt on board, but by a fortunate chance the waterspouts, which were of huge size, changed their direction and passing close to the laboring craft left them unharmed.

THE WOMAN'S CORNER

DAILY FASHION HINT

SUMMER BEACH COSTUMES WITH NEW SLASHED SKIRT.

Slashed skirts are the craze in Paris, and everything that Callot turns out has the fashionable slash, sometimes to the knee, often only to the ankle. The smart little permo costume in a cool linden green shade has a narrow skirt slashed over a petticoat of satin in the same color. The coat, made on Norfolk lines has deep incroyable revers, faced with the green satin. The buttons are of unpolished white pearl. The hat of white straw is faced with black and trimmed with white satin and wings.

All correspondence for this department should be addressed to Agnes Chesley.

The Mary's Gift To the Queen

The latest despatches from England tell of the presentation of the Marys' gift to the Queen. This amounted to sixty thousand dollars, also part of a diamond set of the Insignia of the Garter and pictures of the King and Prince of Wales. The Queen's original idea was to present the whole of the gift to some charitable object, but in deference to the wishes of the subscribers she accepted the personal gifts as well. Lady Grey telegraphed our Canadian gift, which amounted to three thousand five hundred. In due course portfolios containing the names of all the subscribers will be presented to the Queen, but no amounts will be given.

The Queen's reply, which will be published in the form of a Coronation letter, was as follows:—

I thank most warmly all the Marys of the Empire who have so generously contributed to the gift which has been presented to me.

The thought of the affectionate impulse which prompted it has, I can assure you, deeply touched me. The beautiful Insignia of the Garter and the pictures of the King and my son, which will form the personal part of the gift, will be treasured by me throughout my life, and will be handed down, as precious heirlooms, to those who come after.

I look forward with special satisfaction to devoting the remainder of this noble gift to a charitable object in which I am greatly interested. There are still some subscriptions from outlying parts of the Empire to come in, but the result is most gratifying as it must be remembered that it consists in a number of small donations from Marys in all walks of life, and thus forms a happy and spontaneous expression of loyalty to the Queen, who is a model wife and mother.

Dusters.

To keep the house clean and bright in every part there must be a large supply of dusters, clean, soft and suitable. These may be kept in a drawer in the kitchen, or in a large bag hung on a convenient nail. Some people — not of the thrifty type—will catch up the nearest soiled apron, tea towel, or even a bedroom towel for the purpose of dusting a room. Pieces of old undergarments may be used, but they should be selected with a little common sense. Old linen or cotton underwear, if torn into suitable size and run round on the machine, make very good dusters. They are especially useful for window cloths and lamp or stove rags. Soft unbleached cotton, very wide, may be bought during a sale at the rate of one penny a yard, and when this is steeped, washed, cut into large squares, and hemmed, you have a supply of dusters to last several months, and these are very easily washed— other clean dusters taking the place. Rags used with polishing pasts, kerosene, or anything of a similar nature, should be kept apart, or they are apt to be taken up by mistake.

Book Chat and Anecdote

A Strange Coincidence.

A writer to The Times draws attention to the following strange coincidence. In that most interesting book, "Father and Son," generally believed to be the work of Mr. Edmund Gosse, there occurs the following passage:—

"Out of the darkness of my infancy there comes only one flash of memory. I am seated alone, in my baby-chair, at a dinner table set for several people. Somebody brings in a leg of mutton, puts it down close to me, and goes out. I am again alone, gazing at two low windows, wide open upon a garden. Suddenly, noiselessly, a large long animal (obviously a greyhound), appears at one window-sill, slips into the room, seizes the leg of mutton, and slips out again. When this happened I could not yet talk. The accomplishment of speech came to me very late, doubtless because I never heard young voices."

In the Right Hon. R. Farquharson's book, "In and Out of Parliament," the passage is repeated almost word for word:—

"Out of the darkness of infancy there comes only one flash of memory. I am seated alone in my baby-chair at a dinner table set for several people. Somebody brings in a leg of mutton, puts it down close to me, and goes out. I am looking at two low windows, wide open upon a garden. Suddenly, noiselessly, a large, long animal (obviously a greyhound), appears at one window-sill, slips into the room, seizes the leg of mutton, and slips out again. When this happened I could not yet talk. The accomplishment of speech came to me very late, doubtless because I never heard young voices."

Harriet Beecher Stowe.

The story of the life of Harriet Beecher Stowe, the renowned writer of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," by her son, Charles Edward Stowe, has just been published by the Houghton Mifflin Company. The charm of the book is that, as the authors claim, it is not a biography in any sense: "It is rather the story of a real character, telling not so much what she did as what she was, and how she became what she was." There are several biographical works about the life of this marvellous little woman, but none of them give us such a graphic touch as that from one of her own letters, at the time when her book appeared in this volume:—

I am a little bit of a woman—somewhat more than 40, just as thin and dry as a pinch of snuff; never very much to look at in my best days, and looking like a used-up article now.

One delightful chapter after another, writen by those who knew her best, builds up before us the character of her who did more than any other by her epoch-making work to free the slave, by rousing up feeling in America and England to white heat against this iniquity, the woman to whom President Lincoln said, with a humorous twinkle in his eye, when he received her in audience at the beginning of the Civil War: "So you're the little woman who wrote the book that made this great war!"

Bits of Bright Brass.

Brass is much more used in houses than it was a few years ago, and in our kitchen we have brass blowers to draw up the fire; brass mantel-rods and brackets; brass door handles, and brass ring-handles to our dresser-drawers. Our windows are supplied with brass sash lifters, and many of our ornaments are of the same metal. Where all are kept clean and brightly polished, the effect is a cheery one; but in too many houses these "bits of brass" are left for days without being touched. It is a good plan to give all a thorough polishing once a week with the Matchless Metal Polish, and every morning after cleaning the front brasses, bell, door-plate, etc., take the same leather and give all a slight rub. A pair of chamois gloves is a splendid brass brightener. The very fact of turning the brass handle of a door with the glove covered hand gives sufficient polish. The sash lifters are rapidly cleaned in the same way; and by rubbing the hand along the mantel-rod every morning a brilliant surface is the result. The old saying, "Where there's a will, there's a way," is true indeed, and the old countrywomen say, "When Will's at home, anything can be done."

BATHING SUIT WITH SEPARATE BLOOMERS

With Square or Round Neck.

The bathing suit that is made with separate bloomers is one that is much liked just now. Here is a model that is smart in the extreme, and which will be found adapted to all materials that are used for garments of the sort. In the illustration it is made of serge, with bands of silk, but the model is just as desirable for pongee, for silk and also for the slightly heavier mohair and flannel that some women prefer. Silks made especially for salt water use are to be found in desirable colors and are attractive as well as practical. The suit made from one of these and trimmed with braid would be exceedingly handsome.

The bathing suit consists of the blouse, the skirt and the bloomers. The blouse is cut in one with short sleeves and the skirt is six gored. The two are joined and closed at the left of the front, in semi-princess style. The bloomers are separate and dart fitted, and are closed at the front. If liked the skirt and blouse can be joined and the bloomers omitted.

The quantity of material required for the medium size is 6¼ yds. 27 ins. wide, 5⅝ yards 36, or 4¾ yards 44, with ¾ yard 27 inches wide for the bands.

The pattern, No. 6998, is cut in sizes for a 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inch bust measure, and will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paste, on receipt of ten cents. (If in haste, send an additional two-cent stamp for letter postage, which insures more prompt delivery.)

FURTHER DETAILS OF PELAGIC SEALING SETTLEMENT

Conference Ending With All Parties Satisfied Declares Washington Despatch to New York Paper.

RUSSIA AND STATES HAVE BEEN GENEROUS

It is Affirmed, and Canada Has Made Some Concessions on Her Part.

New York, June 29.—A Washington despatch says:

"The International Fur Seal Conference has reached an agreement which will effectively put an end to pelagic sealing. Only the drafting of the formal treaty remains to be accomplished, and, with an agreement on the points at issue, it is not expected that this will require much time. Russia and the United States who have the only important seal rookeries, have been remarkably generous in their treatment of Canada and Japan, and Canada, through the British Ambassador, has made certain concessions from the advantage the Dominion obtained in the earlier negotiations, which were necessary to the successful outcome of the conference.

"The conference will end with all the parties thereto well satisfied with the results and the enormous good which will result from the abolition of pelagic sealing, which makes possible the practical conservation of the fur seals.

Canada and Japan Indemnified.

"Under the terms of the agreement, which is to last for fifteen years, the United States, Russia and Japan, will each contribute in skins, 30 per cent. of their catch to a general fund, although the Japanese herd is so small as to make the contribution of that country a negligible quantity. This general fund will then be equally divided between Canada and Japan to indemnify them for the loss entailed by their abstention from pelagic sealing.

"Furthermore, the United States agrees to advance to Canada a cash bonus of $200,000 to be used for the reimbursement of the owners of the vessels engaged in pelagic sealing, but the equivalent in skins of the sum so advanced, will be deducted from the percentage of catch which the United States is to turn over to Canada in annual instalments until the entire amount shall have been repaid to the United States.

Safeguarding Against Poaching.

"To guard against poaching, and illicit pelagic sealing, the parties to the agreement, pledge themselves to admit to their countries, no sealskins which do not bear some mark which shall identify them as having been taken under the governmental supervision, of one or other of the contracting powers, and to treat as contraband, such unidentified skins as they may find within their borders. It is further agreed that steps shall be taken immediately, to prevail on other countries, like China, Mexico, Chile and Norway, to institute and enforce such regulations as will make it impossible for pelagic sealing to be conducted under their flags or the products thereof marketed in their territories.

Halifax Captain as Expert.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Halifax, N. S., June 29.—Captain Mathew Ryan, who has just returned from the South Seas, left today, for Washington, having been summoned by the Canadian representatives at the International Fur Seal Conference to give expert evidence on the seal fishery before the Conference.

TORONTO BROKER DROWNED.

Reached for Lady's Hat and Fell Into the Bay.

Toronto, June 29.—Harvey Kirwin, a broker, aged 29 years, was drowned in Toronto Bay yesterday. The body has not yet been recovered. With Miss Anna Swindlehurst, of 98 Seaton street, he started for the island in a gasoline launch.

The lady's hat blew off and Kirwin tried to get it. He leaned over too far and fell into the water. Miss Swindlehurst did not know how to stop the boat, and it pursued its steady course, and finally ran aground at Cherry street, three miles away.

Old University Charter Found.

Kingston, Ont., June 29.—The charter of Queen's University, signed by Queen Victoria in 1841, and missing for years has been found in the vault of the Frontenac Loan and Savings Society, by the manager, Lieutenant-Col. S. C. McGill. The document is in good condition. It was handed over to the registrar of the university and reposes in the university vault for the first time.

VISITOR ADVOCATES BRITISH UNIFICATION

Mr. Sidney Webb, Economic Expert, is Imperialistic in Hope.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Webb, who are recognized authorities on social economics in Great Britain, are in Montreal to-day, on their way for a world tour of ten months to study social problems in various parts of the world.

Both are members of the Fabian Society, and have been prominently identified with socialistic work, much upon the same lines as are advocated by Bernard Shaw, and, indeed, sometimes in conjunction with him. Mr. Webb is a prolific writer on social problems, and is lecturer on political economy at the London School of Economics and Political Science, while Mrs. Webb has written much upon the same lines. She is hon. secretary of the National Committee of the Prevention of Destitution, wrote "The Co-operative Movement in Great Britain," contributed to Charles Booth's "Life and Labor of the People," and was a member of the Royal Commission on Poor Law from 1905 to 1909.

Coming to Canada more as learners than as preachers, Mr. and Mrs. Webb are naturally diffident about expressing opinions on Canadian subjects, but they say that there is every indication that Montreal has some serious problems that ought to be tackled in improving the streets and in preventing the growth of slums.

Mr. Webb is an advocate of the unification of the Anglo-Saxon units of the world, saying each unit would derive a higher and nobler gain from being part of a great entity.

"It is better to rest with the imperialistic federation," he said. "until some higher and grander federation can be consummated. It is absurd to think of Canada at present as being at peace when England is at war, or at war when England is at peace. No foreign country would recognize it. It is to the advantage of the colonies to remain British, which represents the highest ideals of Government yet dreamed of."

ORDAIN PRIESTS.

Bishop Archambault Officiates at Cathedral To-day.

His Lordship Mgr. Archambault officiated at the ordination of priests and ecclesiastics at the Cathedral, this morning, being the feast of Saint Peter and Saint Paul.

Those who were conferred with the priesthood were: Messrs. Donat Belisle, Henri Belanger, Napoleon Prieur, Louis Gauthier, Georges Granger, Samuel Valiquette, Wilfrid Leonard, Henri Payment, and P. Magnan for the archdiocese of Montreal, and Messrs. J. Tougas, J. Lapointe, V. Cardin and J. Latour for other dioceses.

Deaconship was conferred on Messrs. Etienne Pepin, J. A. Fournier, A. Chausse, E. Desmarais; sub-deaconship, Messrs. J. Dalpe, J. Emon, Therien, and E. Meilleur.

PERCHED 7 STOREYS UP, PERSPIRATION OOZED

Cohen Tells Police, But Does Not Get Warrant Because He is Not Dead.

I. Cohen came to the Police Court Office yesterday with a sad tale of woe. Cohen pushes a hand cart and collects various articles, scraps, mostly old rubbers. When passing a rubber factory near Osborne street he claims he was hailed by a man leaning out of a window, who inquired if he wanted to buy any old rubbers. He was delighted with the prospect, and walked in the building.

He states he was met by three men and together with them entered the elevator. One after another of his companions left at different floors until they reached the seventh floor, when he says, the elevator man opened the door for him and told him to get out. Another door, about two feet away, proved to be locked, and when the elevator door was slammed behind him, and started on its downward journey, Cohen was standing on a twenty-four inches square platform seven storeys high. Mr. Cohen states that every time he gazed down at the ground, he could feel a cold perspiration breaking out all over him. After twenty minutes he states, the elevator came up once more and the elevator man expressed great surprise at finding him there.

Mr. Cohen went back to his push-cart, but had not proceeded more than a few yards when the wheels came off, some of the nuts having been abstracted from each end of the axle.

The Police Court Official to whom he told his troubles appeared inclined to treat the matter in a light vein and told Mr. Cohen he could not issue a warrant, he had not been hurt, had suffered no damage, he had not been killed. A great light seemed to dawn on Mr. Cohen: "Oh, I see, I get killed, you take warrant." He left for Headquarters and when last seen was in deep conversation with one of the Detectives.

Must Demolish Part of House.

Judgement was rendered yesterday in the case of A. H. Lapierre, representing the estate of the late Jos. Brunet, against O. Magnan and A. Iens. The action was entered to compel the defendants to enforce the clause of a contract by which defendants, buying some building lots from the late Mr. Brunet, were bound not to build inside of twelve feet from the street. Mr. Justice Brumeau ruled in favor of the plaintiff and ordered the part of the house complained of to be demolished inside of fifteen days.

BOULEVARD PLAN COMES TO FRONT; OBJECTIONS MADE

Company Now Wants to Expropriate Strip 600 Feet Wide by Some Twelve Miles Long

WILL RESELL LOTS, PROPRIETORS OBJECT

Say Should Not Be Forced to Sell for Speculation.

Statutory notice has been given that the Compagnie du Boulevard de Montreal Est will apply for formal permission from the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council to proceed to the construction of the boulevard which it has had authorization from the Quebec Legislature to build from Maisonneuve to the eastern limits of Montreal island, a distance of about twelve miles.

One of the main features of this scheme is that the company has power to acquire along with the land it needs for the construction of the boulevard a strip of real estate on either side which may be converted into building lots.

Some of the interested property owners object that in this regard the company has been granted unreasonable expropriation powers. They submit that under the law no expropriation of lands can justly be made compulsory except when the land is required for road making or giving other means for transportation. In this case, as part of the lands to be acquired may afterwards be re-sold as building lots the company will reap the enhanced values which, it is claimed, ought to accrue to the present proprietors.

"While we may be compelled to sell our land for a moderate sum," they say, "the company will sell again at greatly increased profit, but we ought not to be forced to sell our property for others to speculate with."

An Important Clause.

The clause in the company's act, assented to on June 4, 1910, bearing on this point, reads as follows:—

"For the purpose of establishing the said boulevard, the company shall have the right to purchase and acquire the immovables through which the said road may pass, to a width of six hundred feet, by private sale, if possible, if not, by means of expropriation, according to the laws of the Province of Quebec.

"Out of the said six hundred feet of land the company shall take two hundred in the centre for the boulevard proper; one hundred and fifty along each side thereof for building lots; and fifty for each of the two streets which it shall establish, the one to the north and the other to the south of the said strips of one hundred and fifty feet."

Montreal's Powers.

It is noteworthy that the Legislature last spring gave the city of Montreal powers of expropriation on almost parallel lines to those laid down in the East Montreal Boulevard Company's Act the year previous.

In the city charter amendments it is provided:—

"The city of Montreal is authorized . . . to acquire by mutual agreement or to expropriate, within two years from the sanctioning of this Act, the lands required for the extension of St. Joseph Boulevard (heretofore Palace st.) from the eastern limit of the said boulevard in Laurier ward to Papineau avenue on the boundary of St. Denis ward; to sell by auction in whole or in part the lands thus acquired by mutual agreement or expropriation on either side of the said boulevard."

By thus being allowed to acquire a wider strip of land than is actually required for the construction of the boulevard, and to afterwards dispose of the portions not used, the city hopes to realize by the re-sale, through the enhanced values of the bordering property, sufficient money to pay the whole cost of opening and laying out the boulevard.

A MAIL ADDRESS FOR CANADIANS IN LONDON.

Before sailing, Canadian visitors to the Old Country may arrange to have their mail forwarded in care of The Star's London Office, where it will be held until called for, or forwarded to any point desired.

All such mail should be plainly addressed "Mr. _____, c.o. The Montreal Star (not "The Star"), 17 Cockspur street, Trafalgar Square, London England.

The Montreal Star Office in London offers every comfort and convenience for visitors, and is now universally regarded as the rendezvous of Canadians in London.

PATENT NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that manufacture, under Canadian Patent No. 115,140, dated November 17th, 1908, for Improvements in Tobacco Stemming Machines, was commenced September, 1910, and carried on continuously since that date, in accordance with Sec. 22 of the Patent Act. The Machines covered by the above patent are offered for sale, and any information relating to same may be obtained from Charles W. Taylor, of Fetherstonhaugh & Co., Patent Solicitors, Canada Life Bldg., Montreal.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

From a Staff Correspondent.

New York, June 29.

A NEW and somewhat unexpected complication has arisen in connection with the subway situation. The Board of Estimate offered certain portions of the proposed routes to the Interborough Rapid Transit Company to build and operate, and certain other portions to the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company.

The answers were received from the two companies yesterday. The Interborough has flatly refused to accept the offer at the city's present terms, claiming that it will lose $17,500,000 during the first five years of operations if it does so.

The "B. R. T." offer has also many strings attached to it, and it may be that the city will be forced to build what is known as the "Tri-borough route," after all. This particular route would be city-designed and city-built, and was proposed in case the two companies concerned refused to put their private capital into the subway building.

The Interborough having refused, the city will now submit to the "B. R. T." the option of building all of the system laid out. If the Brooklyn company does this, it is generally thought that the city will have a very satisfactory system. However, there is one defect. There is one line of subway that is sorely needed, and this was included only in the Interborough plan. If the Interborough stills holds out, this "West Side" line will never be built, and the congestion will continue in that part of Manhattan Island.

The Interborough has, however, even in its refusal left itself some loopholes, and it is possible that it may yet be brought to terms.

In the meantime, the conferees will get together and consider the answers submitted by the two companies.

There is a public hearing now in progress in the case of Dr. Doty, the health officer of this port, that from the opening day's testimony seems to smack of the sensational.

It has been charged that steerage passengers and saloon passengers detained at New York's quarantine do not receive equal consideration from the quarantine officials that immigrant women detained on the quarantine islands waiting for their sick children to recover are put to work in the wards and paid 30 cents a day; that a charge of $1 a day is made in the case of each sick child and that adults are charged $1.50 a day for maintenance during detention.

There are also complaints that the food is very poor, and the immigrants receive bad treatment. Both cruelties and insults from the guards are alleged. Several witnesses testified this afternoon.

The matter has been brought to the attention of Governor Dix by some of the societies in this city that represent the immigrants, and the Governor has sent a special investigator to this city who is conducting the hearing.

The largest seizure of opium ever made in this city was accomplished yesterday by customs officials and detectives when they confiscated 250 pounds of the drug, valued at $40,000. The opium was taken from Goon Chung, an Americanized Chinaman, who is manager of an "Oriental Cafe" in New York's Chinatown.

George Chung, as he calls himself, is said to own a grocery store in Boston, and another in Lynn, Mass., and Customs officials believe that they have now found the man who has been either the brains or the most intelligent tool of a secret wholesale enterprise that has been distributing smoking opium throughout the country since the opium exclusion act passed by Congress in 1909. This conclusion was based not only on the unusual quantity of the expensive "dope," but also on the manner in which it was packed ready for shipment, in a manner well designed to evade suspicion.

Since the raids made on various opium dens in this city early this year, the Customs authorities have been trying to discover by what means opium was being brought into this country. The exclusion act made importation very difficult; nevertheless all the opium desired by anyone could be obtained. The strictest supervision of all vessels failed to reveal smuggling, and all indications began to point to extensive smuggling of the "dope" across the Canadian border. Customs men were hopeful this afternoon of being able to find out at last how the trick is turned.

The police gave the credit for the capture to a central office detective who got a tip and with regular Chinatown sleuths caught Chung in a poultry store, just as he called for a packing case. The case contained just 180 pounds of opium.

The owner of the store explained to the police that Chung frequently purchased chickens in his store. Four days ago, he brought this particular case to the store, and asked to have it placed in the proprietor's vault. It was marked "Glass, handle with care."

In Chung's rooms were found his Chinese wife, who came over here from 'Frisco just a month ago. When they told her that Chung had sent them for opium she readily produced it. They found it under the bed and in closets. There were 75 pounds of raw opium, 50 pounds of cooked opium ready for use, and 40 pounds of "yen shee" or ash of smoked opium, which is a very costly article.

The Customs officials assert that none of the opium was packed in packages bearing the Customs stamp. This will make impossible a defence that the opium was brought into this country prior to the exclusion act, and a criminal action will therefore be possible.

MORE DARE-DEVIL STUNTS ENACTED AT NIAGARA FALLS

Man Goes Thro' Whirlpool in Barrel; One Crosses Gorge on Wire.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 29.—Lincoln Beachy, the aviator, last evening disappointed many thousands of people by failing to repeat his feat of Tuesday of sailing his machine under the upper steel arch bridge at Niagara Falls.

"I would not do that again for $5,000," Beachy says.

He is well paid for his work, however, for he makes something over $3,000 by coming to the Falls. Last evening Beachy simply gave an exhibition of air sailing about 2,000 feet above the river, and, after circling around a few times, he alighted on the race track on the Canadian side. The strong wind which blew all day bothered him a lot, and he did not have the same control of his machine as Tuesday.

Oscar Williams, a Niagara Falls, N.Y., man, who goes by the name of Professor Houdin, yesterday afternoon performed the dangerous feat of crossing Niagara River holding on to a trolley on a wire cable with his teeth. He started from the Canadian shore, but stuck by reason of the cable sagging twenty yards from the American bank. A man swam out into the river, threw a line over the cable and Houdin slid down it and swam to shore.

Houdin was marooned for half an hour on the wire on which he slid across the gorge.

Bobby Leach, of Niagara Falls, Ont., in a barrel trip through the Whirlpool to-day sustained injuries which may result fatally. Starting from the old Maid of the Mist landing at 11 o'clock, he was tumbled through the rapids, his steel barrel several times being shot clear of the water in the rush to the pool. The barrel was swept into the middle of the pool and remained there for two hours before it swung close enough to the shore to be captured by watchers. Several times the barrel was sucked under. Leach was bleeding from a number of wounds.

Three hundred thousand people saw the feats.

After dark an old scow representing the rebel steamer Carolina was set on fire and sent over the Falls.

This was the closing of the International Carnival. A New York moving picture film concern took pictures of Beachy's and Williams' exhibition.

Slayer of Arthur Brown Indicted.

Albany, N.Y., June 29.—The grand jury has indicted for murder in the first degree, John V. McStea, the New Orleans theatrical man, who two weeks ago shot and killed Arthur Brown of Wilkerbarre, first baseman of the Albany State League baseball team.

FIRST AEROPLANE DELIVERY TO FAST GOING SHIP AT SEA

Department Store Employs Airman to Overtake Customer on Steamship.

Special to The Montreal Star.

New York, June 29.—Aviation circles are deeply interested to-day in the feat performed by "Tom" Sopwith, the English birdman, who flew from Mineola over the Narrows until he was above the speeding giant liner Olympic and dropped a package which only missed the deck by inches.

It was said to-day that enough had been accomplished to show that without any great preliminaries an aeroplane can go aloft and with a reasonable prospect of success use a moving vessel as a target.

This is what Sopwith had to say about his trip.

"Sinclair and myself started out for the bay at 3.37. We lost our way and as it seems to me, we covered the length of Long Island. We went all over Brooklyn and went back and forth half a dozen times over the bay. Finally, we caught sight of the Olympic just as she reached the Narrows.

"We were 1,000 feet in the air. We fell to 200, when I dropped the package. It was about a foot square, and wrapped in heavy manilla paper. It was some job to do it, as it seemed to me, and that it did not strike the deck of the Olympic is really no surprise to me. She was going at a speed that astonished me."

W. Atlee Burpee, of Philadelphia, had contracted for delivery before sailing, with a New York and Philadelphia department store, which in turn engaged the services of Sopwith. With Richard R. Sinclair, secretary of the Aero Club, Sopwith rose from the aviation grounds at Garden City.

ANGLO-AMERICAN SYMPATHY NATURAL

History's Realities Overweight Temporary Quarrels, Says Rt. Hon. A. J. Balfour.

London, June 29. — The Pilgrims' Society gave and dinner in honor of Mr. J. H. Hammond, special ambassador from the United States to the Coronation.

Among the speakers were: Rt. Hon. A. J. Balfour and the Rt. Hon. A. Bucrill.

After referring to the presence of Mr. Hammond as the representative of the great democracy of the west at ceremonies dating back to immemorial antiquity, Mr. Balfour observed that Americans had their problems of empire and other difficulties just as Great Britain had, and whatever temporary quarrels had from time to time appeared between England and the United States, the realities of history were too strong for them. They could not help being in sympathy with each other.

Both countries were enamoured of liberty; both had the same ideals, and surely it was predestined that in the world's history of the future they should work together, not by formal alliance, but by deep sympathy in aims and ideals for the cause of civilization, progress.

He could not help thinking of what had recently passed with regard to the arbitration treaty, and he pointed out the inherent truth of this. Both nations were democracies, and democracy was not a machine to run by itself. It was one of the most difficult forms of government to work the world has ever seen, requiring ardent, self-sacrificing patriotism on the part of the very best men of the community to ensure that the will of the people moved along the lines of true progress.

Mr. Hammond spoke on the proposed peace treaty. He said it was a felicitous coincidence that the Coronation of King George occurred at the moment so exceptionally auspicious for the Anglo-American relations, and he believed that the arbitration treaty between the United States and Great Britain would speedily be followed by similar treaties with other powers, paving the way for universal peace.

SNOW STORM ON THE LAKES.

Duluth People Don Winter Wraps and Steamers are Delayed.

Duluth, Minn., June 28.—Steamers down the lake are sending in wireless messages stating that they are late because they have been held up by a snowstorm this side of the Canadian Soo. Snow fell in abundance, according to the reports, all Tuesday night. During the storm most of the freighters anchored and rode safe until the snow fall ceased.

Forty-one degrees with a stiff east wind blowing through the city streets brought out winter wraps in Duluth yesterday, despite a brilliant sun.

SENATOR LA FOLLETTE'S PART IN THE RECIPROCITY MANOEUVRES

Insurgent Leader of the Washington Upper House Wants to "Save the Face" of the Tariff Reform Republicans — His Programme May Force President Taft Into Vetoing the Reciprocity Agreement—Deep Political Moves Back of Action—Splash Made by Overthrow of Root Amendment Merely for Effect.

Special Staff Correspondence.

Washington, June 28.—The formal throwing-over board of the Root amendment to the reciprocity agreement was discounted a whole week in advance. The splash it made as it fell from the decks of the Senate into the troubled waters, on which the ship of state is at present floating, consequently hardly added a ripple to the excitement. Except as an evidence of the way the Administration senators are disinterestedly devoted to the cause of reciprocity, pure and simple, the whole incident is already forgotten.

Holding not only the centre, but the wings, the foreground and the background of the political stage is that nondescript gladiatorial combat, introduced by Senator La Follette last week with the kind assistance of his fellow Insurgents, all the Democrats and three "Regular" Republicans which has already reduced Senator Penrose, the Republican leader of the Upper House, to despair and whose denouement may mean almost anything in the way of the destruction of national plans, the interment of presidential ambitions, or the formal recognition of new lines of demarcation for the great political parties.

During the last week there have been several changes in the situation but none of any overwhelming importance or extraordinary significance. The alliance which, to outward appearance came into existence, full-panoplied, as a result of a half-hour discussion, is still dominating the situation. What to call it, no one seems to know; it is more Democratic than anything else, but its Democracy would be of no avail unless the Insurgents and their three Republican allies lent it their full support. It is not Insurgent, because, as a whole, it looks on Insurgency as impracticable if not insecure, and makes no secret of its suspicions. And it certainly is not Republican, for its sole object is to get the Administration into a hole either by not doing what Mr. Taft has promised to do, or by doing what he has promised not to do.

The Democrats Hesitate.

It is still undecided whether or not the Democrats will take advantage of the new alliance which is offered them to put the President on record as refusing to allow a reciprocity bill to become law if it reduced the duties on anything except products of the farm. That would be a distinctly unpleasant position for both Mr. Taft and his party to have to defend at next year's elections.

The President has told the public time after time that he was in favor of genuine downward revision of the tariff; he has just as frequently told private individuals that there was nothing to fear in the way of his signing any bill which would change the measure of protection now accorded the great manufacturing interests. If Congress adds to the President's own reciprocity agreement some supplementary clauses affecting woollen goods, cotton goods, iron and steel manufactures and a few others and the President declines to accept any or all of them, an added weight will attach to the complaints of the farmers that the whole burden is being deliberately laid on their shoulders while most of the benefit goes elsewhere. This is exactly the position the Insurgents are especially anxious to force Mr Taft into taking. If they can do so, it will largely justify their insurgency in the eyes of a large section of the country, it will raise a definite issue between them and the "Regular" Republicans, and it will, last but not least, defeat the present reciprocity agreement.

Some Complications.

From the Democratic standpoint, things look a little more complicated In the first place, if it is possible, with the help of the Insurgents, to force the President to veto reciprocity because he will not also accept a reduction of the woollen and other tariff schedules, would such a course be more to the advantage of the party than to allow the present reciprocity agreement to become law, to the joint credit of President Taft and the Democratic party, while putting the full responsibility for the defeat of other measures of tariff revision on either the Republican majority of the Senate or the President himself? There is considerable to be said on both sides and there are, apparently, plenty of Democrats to say it. Bailey, of Texas, the deposed leader, favors union with the Insurgents on this matter; Martin, of Virginia, the nominal minority leader, is suspicious of it, and Williams, of Mississippi, who is regarded as the head and front of the party's fighting force in the Senate, is outspokenly opposed to it.

Insurgent Arguments.

The strongest of the Insurgent arguments is that, while reciprocity of the kind exemplified by the present agreement is unfair and discriminatory, reciprocity as represented by the Underwood Bill plus the proposed amendments would be just, equable and worthy of the strongest support. Amended, the bill would represent a policy which the President could not repudiate without stultifying himself and if he failed to accept it, the consequences would be on his own head

The Democrats, on the other hand, make much of the principle that half a loaf is many degrees better than no bread at all. "Let us take this measure of reciprocity," they say, "which may or may not be lop-sided, and then try to get as much more as we can. You Insurgents pose as tariff-reformers; join with us in voting for the revision of some of the worst of the Payne-Aldrich schedules. If they are vetoed, so much the worse for the President and his party. You, at least, have been consistent."

It was as an answer to special pleadings of this kind and to demonstrate that quite possibly the Democrats had no monopoly of tariff-tinkering that Senator La Follette and some of his associates have been approaching the "Regular" Republicans with suggestions of tariff revision of a sort which would steal some of the thunder of the coming Democratic campaign. If the President is to veto any tariff measure which affects harmfully the great protected interests, the interests are fairly secured from suffering. Consequently they should not take it amiss if their Republican friends use the circumstances to put themselves a little more in line with the trend of public sentiment and make some tariff revision suggestions themselves. It would be definitely understood on all sides that the suggestions would not be accepted by the President; hence, even though the Senate should pass them, they would do no harm to anyone except the Democrats.

Mr. La Follette is said to be making these suggestions shyly—as well he may—and simply as an alternative to worse things. Inasmuch as his fellow-Republicans—excepting always the twelve Insurgents—distrust and fear him while the Democrats are only suspicious of his purposes, the propaganda will have to carry itself on by force of its inner righteousness rather than be forced ahead by the personal popularity of its promoter. If it serves as a notice to the Democrats who are baulking at amending the reciprocity agreement that the resources of their temporary allies are not yet exhausted, it may do all that is expected of it.

Dominion Coal Opens New Mine

Construction of Railway to Colliery No. 20 Was Commenced To-day.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Glace Bay, N. S., June 29. — The construction of the Dominion Coal Company's new line of railway, from Morien Junction to Birch-Cove where the company's new colliery, No. 20 is located, started today.

The line, which will be about four miles long, will be constructed by the company's own men. The development of this new mine will be rapid after the new railway is completed and already the company is preparing to sink a new slope which will be started this week and will be about 2,000 feet south of the present one.

The coal at this mine is of the best quality, and it is expected that operations will be far enough advanced to begin the shipment of coal before the close of the navigation.

F. Armstrong, secretary of the company's Employees Relief Society left for Springfield, last night and may organize a branch of the benefit society there among the employees.

SENATOR CUMMINS OPPOSES AGREEMENT

Says Reciprocity Would Accomplish Only Free Importation of Canadian Products.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Washington, June 28.—The debate on Canadian reciprocity dragged wearily along in the Senate this afternoon, with no prospects of an agreement to reach a vote.

Senator Cummins, of Iowa, opposing the bill, put in his amendments adding to the list of articles to be imported free into the United States from Canada, and then proceeded to oppose the bill from the standpoint of the American farmer.

No attempt was made by the Republican leaders at the opening of the session to fix a date for a vote on the bill.

Senator Cummins said it was apparent Republicans and Democrats favoring the bill had determined to submit to the repeated statement that the President will accept no amendments to the Canadian agreement.

"I make no comment on this situation," said he, "save that it seems to me an abdication of the duties of the Senate and an abandonment of its responsibilities."

Senator Cummins attacked the combination of regular Republicans and Democrats to pass the Reciprocity Bill.

"It seems to be conceded," he said, "that a minority of the Republican senators, most of whom have advocated high and indefensible duties in the tariff law, on manufactured products, and a majority of the Democrats, who have professed adherence to the principle of a tariff for revenue only, purpose to pass this reciprocity bill without change."

The bill, he said, would accomplish only two important things—admit free of duty the agricultural products of Canada, and admit a small quantity of wood pulp and print paper.

After the passage of the bill through this combination, Senator Cummins said, the Democrats expected to make a combination with Republicans who favor tariff revision to pass other bills.

"It is perfectly plain to me," he added, "that the Republicans, whom I have mentioned, will be valiant enough in defence of the high duties for the rich and powerful manufacturers.

Supported Entirely by Voluntary Subscriptions

Through the generosity of the public, the Montreal General Hospital has been supported for the past eighty-seven years on a scale commensurate with the needs of the community.

The unprecedented growth of the city during the past five years has so enlarged the demands upon the institution by the suffering public as to necessitate the reconstruction of the Hospital buildings.

The modernized Montreal General Hospital will be fireproof, and will embrace the latest improvements in hospital architecture and equipment.

This important undertaking, necessitating increased expenditure for maintenance, has been assumed by the Committee of Management, in the full hope that the public will recognize the growing claims of this venerable institution.

Severe Headaches

Cured by Booth's Kidney Pills

The way to cure a headache is by removing the cause—more often than not headaches are the outcome of a uric acid poisoning—this was the case with Mrs. John Wagner, of 110 Hollis St., Halifax, N.S., who says: "Dull shooting pains would catch me across the small part of my back and extend into my shoulders and neck, often causing me to suffer with severe headaches and spells of dizziness. Spots would dazzle before my eyes, and everything would turn black. I would fall to the floor and be unable to get up again without assistance. A friend told me of Booth's Kidney Pills and I began their use. The first box gave me relief and I am now well and strong."

Every woman should try these wonderful pills. They are sold by all dealers, 50c a box, and guaranteed. Free trial will be sent on application to The R. T. Booth Co., Ltd., Fort Erie, Ont.

TO SMASH PROTECTION—SMALL TOWNS TAKE NOTICE.

A great deal is being said in some quarters about the motives which actuate the people who oppose Reciprocity. It seems difficult for some natures to understand the attitude or action of men who do not study every public question through the misshapen lenses of class interest but who ask themselves how a proposition will affect the nation as a whole—whether it will bring the greatest prosperity to the greatest number and whether it will augment the stability of the nation as a political unit.

But since this question of motives and purposes has been raised, it is surely legitimate to examine with attention the motives avowed and the purposes proclaimed by some of the people who favor Reciprocity. An opportunity to do this is furnished by the publication in the "Grain Growers' Guide" of a full report of the papers which were read to Mr. Borden by the officers of the Manitoba Grain Growers' Association at the famous meeting in Brandon. Here we have motives exposed and purposes set forth in the most open fashion. We are not left to draw inferences or to deal in insinuations. No secret is made of the objects which these men have in view. They are published, advertised, insisted upon, and recommended to Parliament as the basis of immediate action.

Let us look at a few of them.

Mr. J. S. Wood, Vice-President of the Manitoba Grain Growers' Association, read a paper on "The Tariff." It was nothing more than a bitter onslaught on the principle of Protection. After arguing that the "delusion" of Protection is vanishing in the United States, Mr. Wood said that "of recent years, the organized farmers have been making a study of the effect of Protection, and, having reached a definite conclusion as to its economic fallacy, have become fixed in their determination to persist in their demands for relief from the burden imposed by customs duties.'"

This is definite enough; and yet the sentiment is constantly repeated and amplified in Mr. Wood's paper. Most of the stock arguments against Protection are revived; and calculations made to show just how much this iniquitous system mulcts the farmer. That these calculations are based upon the assumption that "it may be accepted as a business proposition that the manufacturer adds to the selling price of his commodity the full amount of the protection he receives," seemed to make them all the more convincing to Mr. Wood—though this absurdity has been disproved again and again.

To conclude, Mr. Wood favored not merely Reciprocity but "reciprocal free trade between Canada and the United States in all natural products and manufactured goods not largely exported from Great Britain" and "free trade" in everything "between Canada and Great Britain." That is Protection is to be absolutely annihilated; entire free trade is to exist between Canada and Great Britain; entire free trade in natural products is to exist between Canada and the United States, and in all manufactured goods except those which Britain largely exports.

Mr. J. W. Scallion then read a paper on "Reciprocity." But he began by attacking Protection, which he described as "nothing short of a license to practice grand larceny on the people." He, too, wanted full free trade with Great Britain within ten years.

Now no one will question for a moment the right of the Grain Growers to oppose Protection, root and branch. But it is equally within the right of those who believe—rightly or wrongly—that some measure of Protection is to-day, and will for a long time be, necessary to preserve the industrial independence of this country, to open their eyes fully to the fact that the men who claim to have forced Reciprocity on the Government, have also enlisted in a war of extermination upon Protection.

When we talk of motives and purposes, this motive and this purpose must not be forgotten. These men are not thinking of Reciprocity alone. They will not be satisfied for a minute with the bargain to which Mr. Fielding has put his hand. They have a purpose far beyond this measure—destructive as some of us think it—and that purpose is to let out the fires and stop the wheels of every industry in this country which cannot face the huge industrial combinations of the United States without moderate tariff protection. We especially call the attention of those Liberals who are "banking" on Mr. Fielding's promise to maintain industrial independence to the deadly purpose here avowed.

The acceptance of Reciprocity will encourage this policy. It will not satisfy the appetite of these men; it will be the lips of one Paul Kruger reposing in an exile's grave will sharpen it. They will fight the harder because of their initial success; and every time they win a victory, another Canadian industry will bite the dust—another small Canadian town will know what it is to gaze on a silent factory falling to pieces amidst vacant houses and empty shops. If we want these results—if we agree with this purpose—if we care more for our party than for the prosperity of our country—by all means let us strike an alliance with these friends of Reciprocity who tell us so frankly what sort of a "killing" they intend to make.

And they will be very likely to make it. President Taft will be their adroit and tireless ally. He, too, wants "free trade in everything"—though he will never permit the free trade with Britain of which they dream. The Congress of the United States has adopted this "close-the-Canadian-factory" policy as well, and has instructed President Taft to continue his negotiations for further Reciprocity—or, as Mr Scallion puts it— "the widest possible measure of Reciprocal trade with the United States."

Some opponents of Reciprocity may have hidden purposes which will not bear the light; but certainly some friends of Reciprocity have advertised purposes which should alarm every Canadian who does not want to see his country tumbled into the industrial condition of Ireland—Ireland tied to a big neighbor and exposed to the "blessings of free trade" without a shred of protection to shelter the smallest local industry.

OUR NEW GLADIATORS.

THE International Carnival at Niagara just failed of being a distinguished success. During the course of its last day's proceedings, Beachey, the aviator, was almost killed while making scientific experiments as to how close it was possible to bring an aeroplane to the brink of Niagara Falls and get it back safely. Leach, another scientist, whose specialty is demonstrating that a human being can be tossed about in a steel barrel through the Whirlpool rapids and sometimes come out alive, nearly failed to demonstrate the second part of the hypothesis; and Houdin, who equilibrates on a slack wire over gorges and other particularly dangerous places, was marooned on his precarious platform for two hours before he could be drawn to safety. There is, of course, no excuse for failure,—and yet one cannot fail to appreciate at least the ambitious conception of the committee. To have furnished entertainment and amusement for several hundred thousand guests by the killing of one star performer would have been creditable, but to have sacrificed all three in one day, without any extra charge for admission, would have set a new standard in modern gladiatorial circles. When the public comes to appreciate more generally the keen pleasure of seeing a man buffeted to death in a whirlpool or the rare delight of watching an aviator fall to destruction while attempting a particularly senseless feat, or a tight-rope walker slip from a wire and plunge over Niagara Falls, this difficulty, however, is going to present itself—the demand for victims will far outrun the supply. Unfortunately, we cannot recruit them as the Romans did, but the ingenuity which could conceive and carry out a refined and high-class programme such as that offered the visitors to Niagara last week will doubtless be able to grapple with and solve this problem satisfactorily—unless the law intervenes.

ONLY ONE REMEDY.

IT is becoming more and more evident with each successive clash between the Board of Control and the City Council that there can be no assured harmony at the City Hall until the authority of each is much more definitely defined than is the case to-day. And there is only one way in which this can be done; if the votes cast at the election of next February eliminate the obstructionists in the Council as thoroughly as the votes at the election last year did their predecessors it will require more than ordinary lack of intelligence on the part of an alderman not to see the writing on the wall and realize that the only way to remain a member of the city's government is to help and not hinder the work of governing the city honestly and economically.

There is no need of recalling the history of the last two years to the electors; apparently there is still less to be gained by doing so to the aldermen. Twice the voters have declared by overwhelming majorities their desire to see the administration of civic affairs removed permanently from the domain of ward politics and ward politicians and placed upon an intelligent and practical basis. Had the will of the citizens, as represented by their votes, been regarded at Quebec last year, we would have none of the present recrimination and quarrels which obstruct business and make efficient government impossible. Since the people's servants, in this matter, proved more influential than the people themselves and have taken continuous and aggressive advantage of their victory ever since, the only remedy would seem to be to get rid of the unfaithful at the earliest possible moment and to chose the next lot with a more careful attention to their fitness for the work.

THE AXE IN THE HOUSEHOLD.

AN Ottawa magistrate has thrown a little light on a much discussed topic by handing down a decision that a wife is not legally entitled to use an axe on her husband except in extreme cases. This accords entirely with the recommendations of the S. P. C. A., and with the manual of etiquette accepted by the most advanced of the Militant Suffragettes. A husband, it is generally conceded, should not be killed except as a work of necessity or of mercy, or of both. Many a woman who has taken an axe to her husband simply in the way of kindness, has lived to bitterly regret it as she hurried through the humble household tasks which the departed wage-earner had once so cheerfully performed. Far better to endure inefficiency patiently, hard as this sometimes is, than to roughly and generally in anger correct the erring one by a well-placed blow with an axe. A hatchet is different especially if it be a dull hatchet, but why not return to the methods of the pre-suffragette days and use that good old-fashioned weapon, the flat-iron? The moral effect is quite as effective and a live husband, with all his faults, is considerably more useful than one who has become defunct in the process of learning manners. We commend this thought to all axe-wielding women.

An Ottawa magistrate has ruled that there are circumstances in which a wife is justified in carressing her husband with an axe. In view of the movement for the pardon of Signora Neapolitano who merely killed her husband with an axe, ladies will soon begin to regard that dainty weapon as the charter of their liberties. The hatpin had better look to its laurels.

The new French Ministry will contain Delcasse which guarantees a courageous foreign policy. Delcasse is to continue his work of getting the French navy in trim to fight, which is probably a better place for him than risking war in the Foreign Office without knowing exactly how much force lies behind him.

If Hon. Frank Oliver finds himself embarrassed in his campaign work by his failure to explain "where he got it," he knows whom to blame. A few frank words when the charge was made in the House would have settled the whole matter.

Another man has been hurt by going through Niagara Rapids in a barrel—an exceedingly useful performance. It is to be hoped that no silly public sympathy will be shown at the prospective funerals of any of these fools.

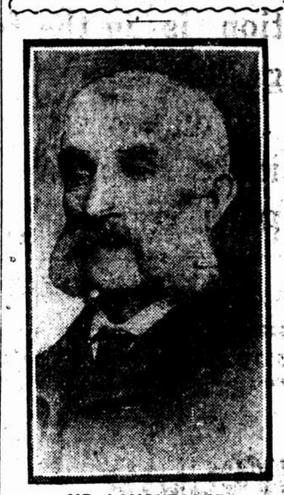
A New York crowd encouraged an angry woman to shoot at her lover, and two of them were mortally wounded as a result. It is seldom that justice follows so swiftly on the heels of folly.

They have had a snow-storm on Lake Superior that delayed navigation which puts them one point ahead of us for variety in summer weather.

It is an insult to call the American Peeresses "the dollar princesses." Nothing short of several million dollars enables them to qualify for the competition.

The news that John Hays Hammond is posing as a champion of universal peace will surely bring a smile to the lips of one Paul Kruger reposing in an exile's grave.

"I Remember—"



MR. LAMONTAGNE.

"I believe that I am the only survivor of those who attended the first service in the French Parish Church; who saw a man hanged in the old jail, close to the City Hall; or who worked side by side with the Hon. W. L. Mackenzie, former Prime Minister of this country, when the latter was pursuing his trade as a stonemason."

Mr. L. J. Lamontagne, retired City Assessor, and ex-alderman, wears his eighty-six years well, although he suffers somewhat from rheumatism.

It was Mr. Lamontagne's father who built the French church.

"See, this is the very hammer with which my father laid the corner-stone of the church on the 24th of September, 1824—the very day, by the way, on which I was born," said Mr. Lamontagne, producing the implement in question. "Not much silver or gold about it, like the modern presentation hammers, but then those were simple days. We had no style then. We had no Bishop of the diocese then. We had no great dignitaries to take part in these ceremonies. But my father, who built the church, laid the corner-stone with this ordinary working hammer, which I have preserved. Curiously enough, I was baptized in the old church, which was on Place d'Armes Square, and I attended the first Mass ever said in the new parish church.

"The church took some six years in building—that is, it took that number of years before service could be held in it. The opening was attended by all the great ecclesiastics of the time, while Sir James Kempt, the administrator, was also in attendance.

"I remember that first service distinctly," said the narrator, with pride, as he recalled the several incidents.

* * *

"About that hanging affair," he continued. "The man who was hanged in the old jail yard, quite open to the general view, was named Dewey. He kept a store on St. James street, and was in a good way of doing. He was jealous of his wife and was suspicious of a neighbor named Mercure. Both of them, on a particular Sunday, went to Mass. After their return home he attacked his wife with an axe, and then cut her throat. He hid her body in the cellar, where it was afterwards discovered, together with the razor, with which the deed was done. He was tried and found guilty, after an exciting trial, in which great interest was taken.

"I remember very distinctly the day of the hanging. There was a great crowd present. The hanging took place in the full view. It was a shocking affair. I remembered it only with a shudder for a long time afterwards.

"The old jail and court house were afterwards burned down, and this same man Mercure, was suspected of being the incendiary. I saw the buildings burn. I remember the completion of the new jail—that is, the present old jail, and the fact that a man named Westbrooke was the first to enter it involuntarily."

In regard to Mr. Lamontagne's working comradeship with the Hon. Mr. Mackenzie, the old gentleman tells an interesting story. Mr. Lamontagne was a stone mason by trade. He had gone to the States in early life, and travelled about a good deal there. Then he returned and took work on the Welland Canal. His working mate, both there and subsequently at the Lachine canal, was the man who later became Canada's premier.

"We were the best of chums," said Mr. Lamontagne. "We used to have to push the big stones, which are used in canal building; and when Mackenzie would get his back ready for the push, I would say 'Push, sacre, Mac!' and Mackenzie christened me 'Sacre, Mac!'"

"Did you see in the stonemason the future Prime Minister of Canada?" was asked.

"Well, I guess not. Neither did he. He had not at the time thought of politics. He had no thought beyond his trade that I could see. But he was regarded as a clever man, apart from his trade. He had a strong mind. He came to right conclusions. He had some education, and I know that in spare time he read a good deal. He was a thorough stonemason and a most conscientious worker.

"Well, it was many years after that that I met him when he was Prime Minister. I was introduced to him, by a mutual friend. He did not know me. I reminded him of the Welland and Lachine Canal; of the fun we had together, of his christening of me. Then he gripped me close and showed his regard for me."

* * *

In Mr. Lamontagne's young days you could pull the wild fruits, "right where we are now sitting," as the old gentleman remarked.

"Why," he said, "it was all country up from Craig street. There was a corduroy road right out to the Back River. Of course, there was the creek on Craig street, in which I have fished with a string and a worm, as I also did on Place Viger. We lads used to swim in the big hole which is now the site of Christ Church Cathedral. And by the way, I built the spire of that church—at least, cut the stone for it."

Mr. Lamontagne remembers when you had to use the flint to produce fire; when domestic light was supplied by grease and a bit of rag; when the water was peddled in buckets, when travelling circuses used to give performances between St. James and Craig streets; when land in the north-east part of the city could have been bought for one cent per foot—and which is now worth $40 per foot.

"But if the streets were dark and narrow then," he says, "and there was plenty of land to make the streets wide; but when the city was first formed, there was constant danger of invasion; and the streets were made purposely narrow that they might the better lend themselves to the purposes of barricading against a possible enemy.

"And that reminds me of the cells in the old court house, about which so much has been written," added Mr. Lamontagne. "In my opinion these cells were built under the French, and not the British, regime. They were built for the reception of the prisoners, who might be taken in the constant fighting of the time.

There was the military regime, of which Mr. Lamontagne has vivid recollections, and of which a feature was the occupation by the officers of quarters in St. Louis street, which came to be called the "street of the seven galleries," from the fact that a number of the galleries were alike and were in use by the officers; there was a bare St. Catherine street, a partially built Fleury street, a vast stretch of land from Laguachetiere street west, right up to the base of the mountain, which the Redpaths bought from the Phillip estate for a song (£1,560), the founder of the Redpath family, who worked for Mr. Lamontagne's father at the stonemason trade; there was the cholera, the ship fever, the rejoicings at Confederation, the picturesque life which centred round Dollys Chop House and Tattersall on St. James street.

Of all these features Mr. Lamontagne can give a vivid glimpse, aided by a remarkably clear memory. As an assessor of long experience, Mr. Lamontagne does not hesitate to say that realty values are going up too high. "There is bound to be a reaction before long. We are, to all intents and purposes in the thrall of a boom. It is dangerous," is his opinion.

"Don't forget that I gathered straw-berries where we are now sitting," said the old gentleman, smilingly, in conclusion.

STOPPING AT BOUCHERVILLE

The King Edward Park ferry having been duly cast off after the usual agony of reversing and going ahead in order to reverse again, grinding into the wharf, and flaking splinters of sodden wood from that long suffering structure, snaked an oily way up the river, headed for the city. There were but few passengers, fifty or sixty perhaps, altogether. Most of them were race track followers, several were holidaying young French-Canadians clad in gorgeous raiment, and battlemented with cigars which must have been very good value for the money.

There was also a young canoeist, brown, with bleached hair, and brown sneakers on his feet; a tall Englishman costumed in a suit of grey tweeds, a pipe and the inevitable cap; several ladies of varying ages and charms, and the usual equipment of near-sailors with bored expressions and large quids of tobacco.

The evening was close and there was no outward sign of interest in life on the part of any of the passengers until the boat approached the Boucherville wharf.

The engines, which up to then had been throbbing a rythmetic beat strongly reminiscent of the pounding of hard beefsteak with a mallet, as practiced in certain boarding houses, suddenly stopped, in response to two sharp clangs of the engine room bell, and the ferry slowed down with a perceptible current-impelled drift toward the side of the river bank.

* * *

The passengers displayed individually languid and unemotional signs of interest.

"Wot's the matter?" asked the Englishman, "run on a bloomin' sand bank?"

The canoe expert smiled with superiority and shook his head without replying. Whereupon the Englishman relapsed and gazed longingly up the river toward the place where a dark muss of smoke marked Montreal, on the flat map of the right bank.

Nobody had yet had any supper.

Two more noisy clangs at the bells and the engines were violently reversed.

Another clang and they stopped again, while at yet another clang the boat began to move ahead.

The ferry was some distance below the Boucherville wharf and having gathered way once more she was instantly headed in the direction of the wharf, and the dying interest revived somewhat.

"He's tryin' to make the wharf," remarked one of the race track gentlemen with a Broadway positiveness.

"Wot for?" demanded the Englishman, suspiciously.

"Search me!" was the reply to the London query. "How do I know. I'm no navigator."

"No more is the captain," remarked another turf decorator. "He's goin' to miss it by a mile. The bonehead rummy!"

He was, too.

The ferry approached the wharf inevitably about six feet on the north side of the north corner.

"He'll never do it," remarked the canoe youth with emphasis again. "He can't get in there."

"Why?" again demanded the man from London.

And again there was no reply.

* * *

More frantic gong work on the engine room bell, and the engines were once more reversed. By this time the whole boat was interested and tired, but husky French Canada joined England, English Canada, and the United States on the rail at the bow of the boat.

It was more exciting in the bow. You could see if the boat ran into the wharf head first.

French Canada took a hand.

"What for the boat did she stop?" enquired the nearest representative, realizing that the turf man to whom the query was addressed would not understand.

"Cochon!" again remarked French-Canada, with still deeper emphasis.

But, whether he was referring to the turfman or the passenger was not clear.

In any case the turfman did not understand.

And, anyway, he didn't hear it.

A united and deep throated cheer arose from the fore-deck, with an accompaniment of handclapping from the ladies, and cat calls from the turf gentlemen. Higher and louder the sound arose and Boucherville was startled. Lights came out of the houses, and hurried down garden paths, while questions were heard from the road asked in shrill, high pitched voices.

It was a fine ovation. The passengers grasped the little fat boy by the hand and marched in solemn dignity up the path to the village. Turning at the top of the hill, he gazed with the dignity of short stature on the crowd of cheering passengers. Then he raised his hat and with one hand on his heart, bowed deeply.

The boat moved on up stream.

"I bet he's the Mayor of Boucherville," remarked one of the turf men. "Th' little runt."

"Wot for?" asked the Englishman not understanding.

WESTERN GRAIN CROPS ARE COMING UP SPLENDIDLY.

One Farmer Exhibits Sample of Wheat 42 Inches High.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Winnipeg, June 29. — Reports from the west continue to speak of rapid growth of the crops, and give indications of a high yield.

A Rosthern, Sask., farmer has exhibited a sample of his wheat which has attained a height of forty-two inches, and asserts the rest of his crop is all headed out. At Moosomin, Sask., the average height of the crop is twenty inches, and in addition to the wheat, barley, oats, rye and flax are coming out rapidly.

More rain fell Wednesday, while the cool weather is helping the growth of the cereals.

FROM THE STAR FILES THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

The late Dr. Jas. Bell.

"Dr. James Bell, late house surgeon Montreal General Hospital, No. 38 Beaver Hall Terrace." — From The Montreal Star, June 29th, 1881.

"THE late Dr. James Bell, whose splendid services to mankind for many years, was thirty years ago one of those young men whom Dr. G. Fenwick and Dr. Roddick were pleased to draw near their own great personal influence, and in him they always felt justified in their selection. It was owing to the shrewd judgment of men shown by Campbell, Fenwick and Roddick, that capable and promising men from all over the Dominion were retained near old McGill, so that there should always be a competent force to select from. In this case Dr. Bell was an Ontario boy, hailing from Carleton County, the place of his birth in 1852. He was educated in the local Ontario school, supplemented by private tuition. On his graduation from McGill he obtained the high honor that had been obtained by his friend and mentor, Dr. Roddick, the Holmes medal, and was naturally selected as the house surgeon and medical superintendent of the Montreal General Hospital in 1877, becoming a full surgeon of the Hospital nine years later. He was appointed surgeon at the Royal Victoria Hospital in 1894. He was appointed associate professor of clinical surgery to McGill in 1895, and professor of clinical surgery in 1896. During the troubles of 1885 in the North-West he did valuable services in the establishment of the field hospital work under Dr. Roddick, who had implicit confidence in his executive ability. Dr. Church said of him that he was the ablest surgeon in America. His calling away at a comparatively early age was a distinct loss to McGill and the profession at large.

"The Cultivateur has been put in a thorough state of repair at Cantin's dry dock, and will be put on the line between this city and Cape Vincent along with the Magnet on Monday next, to try and out out the boats of the new St. Lawrence Steamboat Company." — From The Montreal Star, June 29th, 1881.

"THE new St. Lawrence Company was the outcome of one of many attempts to head off the Richelieu and Ontario, and, as usual, the opposition was not of long duration. The Magnet was a historic boat, originaly built as a British gunboat for service on the lakes, and one of the three for which fresh water tanks were provided through the thoughtfulness of the Lords of the Admiralty or the outfitting contractor. After many years' good service as a popular and safe passenger boat on Lake Ontario, her hull is still in use as a grain barge."

FARMS
On the Lake Shore

I have on my list the two best propositions on the lake shore. One is a farm of 144 arpents with a well shaded water front of 112,800 feet of land, adjoining the MacDonald College, at St. Anne's. The other is situated at Bale d'Urfe, having an area of over 95 arpents, and one of the last, if not the only farm having its full lake front. As a speculative investment it has no equal. Further details on request.

What Star Readers say:

"The Star is not, as we have been told recently regarding the Chinese, 'content to stand still.'

"To keep pace with Canada's and Montreal's great growth, The Star has inhaled the spirit of the times, and exhales 'what the people want.'

"It maintains a trenchant, sharply defined policy right in the van of the civic and commercial march.

"Big advertisers seek big circulation. The Star is no Chinaman. It possesses red corpuscles—it's alive."

ENGLAND'S ONE ARCHPRIEST.

England possesses one, and only one, archpriest. He is the rector of Haccombe, in Devonshire, who will be found duly credited with the title of "archpriest" in "Crockford." The archpriest of Haccombe can claim the right to wear lawn sleeves, to sit next to the Bishop of Exeter at all public functions, and to be exempt from all "visitations," except those of an archbishop; but the present rector claims immunity only from his archbishop's visitation. The office of archpriest must be of immense antiquity, because it is found among the Copts of Egypt who seceded from the rest of Christendom in the fifth century.

C.P.R. Steamers Change Dates.

The steamer Montrose will replace the Mount Royal on her next sailing from Antwerp. This change is to accommodate the heavy bookings from the Continent.

It is also announced that the Empress of Britain, which should sail from Liverpool to-morrow, will be held over until Saturday in order to bring back the Canadian Contingent, which has been assisting at the Coronation.

OPPOSITION IS CRITICISED BY UNITED FARMERS

And Mr. Borden Tells Them They Should Get Accurate Appreciation of Facts First.

HAS NO HARD AND FAST TARIFF POLICY

Wetaskiwin Farmers Contend it Would Not Pay to Mix Wheat.

Special Staff Correspondence.

Edmonton, Alta., June 29.—Mr. Borden was last evening welcomed by the provincial capital. He spoke to an audience of about 3,000 people in the Thistle Rink, and among his hearers was the Minister of the Interior, who had just concluded a pro-reciprocity tour of the West. The audience was considerably smaller than that which greeted Sir Wilfrid Laurier last year, but the enthusiasm was about equal. Mr. Borden was in good form, his voice having practically recovered its accustomed strength.

Earlier in the day Mr. Borden spoke at Wetaskiwin, in the riding of Strathcona. Both there and in Edmonton he met the United Farmers, and both gave him a civic welcome. In Wetaskiwin an address was presented from the Conservative Association of the constituency which expressed confidence in Mr. Borden, and condemned Sir Wilfrid for his attitude at the Imperial Conference.

UNITED FARMERS RAISE FEW POINTS.

The United Farmers' memorial at Edmonton contained several new features. It commented on the large expenditure for immigration and agriculture, "with no dissent from the Opposition," and added that there was "very little attempt to provide markets" in dealing with the tariff. It asked for relief from the duties on agricultural implements, woolens and cement. It asked Mr. Borden to support reciprocity and the Grain Act. It asked him to assist in securing the construction of the Hudson's Bay railway, and its operation by the Government. "We are not a political organization," said the memorial, "nor do we bind ourselves to support any party."

Mr. Borden, in reply, took issue with the criticism of the Opposition in regard to immigration. He pointed out that the Opposition had moved a resolution in Parliament declaring for the abolition of bonuses on immigration.

"I have no doubt this criticism is due to misapprehension," said Mr. Borden, "but it would be just as well to get an accurate appreciation of the facts before such statements are made." The rest of Mr. Borden's answer was at other points.

After he had concluded Mr. Rice Shephard, of the United Farmers, asked for a further statement on the tariff. He declared that he paid $200 a year in taxation under the tariff, and he was ready for direct taxation.

Mr. Borden replied that he had no cut and dried tariff. He would first ascertain the facts and then apply common sense and business principles. (Hear, hear).

THINK CANADA COULD CONTROL U. S. TRUSTS.

The United Farmers' memorial at Wetaskiwin argued against the view that reciprocity would lead to the loss of the distinctive character of Canadian wheat. It contended that it would not pay to mix, because that would lower the price, and it also cited a statement by the Premier that legislation could be passed to cause it to go by the Canadian route.

The memorial declared that Canada had trusts in spite of the tariff, and maintained that even if American trusts came in, our laws could control them. Finally, it declared for an increase in the British preference and against any tariff that would give any foreign nation any preference over Great Britain or any part of the Empire.

Mr. Orlando Bush, former M.L.A. for Grenville, Ontario, and now president of the Conservative Association for the constituency of Strathcona, read two resolutions passed by a convention held in the morning. The first condemned the "Separatist" policy of Sir Wilfrid, and advocated the admission of Canada to a voice in Imperial affairs, and "a real and effective contribution" to Imperial defence. The second expressed confidence in Mr. Borden, and "in the policy he has laid down."

Mr. Bush stated further his belief that the great mass of the farmers of the riding were not in favor of reciprocity. He added that they approved Mr. Borden's policy on the Hudson's Bay Railway and terminal elevators.

Mr. Borden answered the arguments in regard to the mixing of grain by pointing out that on the theories of advocates of reciprocity, they would not get the higher prices for grain if it did not go to the United States. He declared himself in favor of closer trade relations with Great Britain, but added that within the Empire he was for Canada first. "An industry in Canada," he said, "is just as good for the Empire as in Great Britain."

THREE RIVERS CAMP IS UNDER STRENGTH OWING TO POOR PAY

Heavy Demand for Labor in the Country Districts is Also a Factor in the Situation.

OFFICERS ORGANIZE NEW ASSOCIATION

Advocate Better Pay, Fewer Restrictions, and Canteen Re-establishment.

Special Staff Correspondence.

Three Rivers Camp, June 29.—Owing to the rain the morning parade was cancelled on Tuesday, but by noon the weather had cleared and the troops paraded, carrying on the syllabus of Squad drill.

Owing to the absence of Major Mack, the camp paymaster, the muster of troops was postponed until yesterday, when all the men and horses in camp were checked. The men were examined physically, by the principal medical officer.

The 85th regiment is up to full strength, as they are recruited in Montreal and vicinity but the other two regiments, the 80th, and 11th, report a shortage, owing to the poor pay and general plentifulness of work in the country districts, where they recruit.

Major Patterson, of the 85th, regiment, who was injured by being thrown from his horse, is in the military hospital and although he was badly shaken, has had no bones broken.

The Y.M.C.A. tent was opened yesterday, with Mr. Smith, who was in charge of the tent at Petawawa last year. This is good news to the men as it provides them a place to write their letters, read magazines, and for a sing-song each evening. The physique of the troops this year is good, but each year the numbers are diminishing, owing to the pay, which depends on the scores made at musketry. This is rather restrictive to troops armed with the present style of Ross Rifle.

The Khaki clothing of the troops makes them more uniform and saves the more expensive outfit with which they are supplied, and is also more comfortable.

The Army Service Corps, under Lt.-Col. L. J. Desrosiers, using a motor truck this year which saves the horses much of the heavy work, as the truck was able to convey from the wharf to the camp a load of some 80 tents and poles weighing about 9,000 pounds, which would tax four waggons to their utmost.

Tuesday night the camp was drenched by a terrific thunderstorm, which started at about ten o'clock and continued until yesterday morning.

Reveille.—The sun came out before parade and with a good wind the ground was soon dry and drill was not interfered with.

The various regiments are forming an Infantry Officers' Association, with the object of securing better pay for the men and the re-establishment of the regimental canteens, where beer may be secured under the supervision of the officers. This latter would obviate the prevalent habit of going to town and would do much to prevent drunkenness. The rates of pay desired are $1 per day for each man, free of all restrictions, and $1.50 for each horse, which is in accordance with the demands of the other camps held this year. Although the musketry should start to-day, the Ordinance men are without oil to clean the rifles and consequently it may be necessary to postpone the firing practices until some is secured. Colonel Helmer, the Adjt-Genl. of Musketry, was in camp yesterday to inspect the ranges and general conditions affecting the musketry practices. Capt. Lister, Director of Signalling, also arrived to inspect the various regimental signallers.

There is no provision again this year for a bugler instructor, which necessitates the men practising by themselves, consequently they will leave camp no more efficient than when they arrived.

FINDS BURIED HOARD IN CELLAR OF HOUSE

Matteawan Doctor Locates $40,000 Planted in Underground Vault.

Matteawan, N. Y., June 29.—Dr. Arthur R. Tiel, of this town, went into the cellar of his home yesterday afternoon and found in an old home made vault under the ground some $40,000 in money and securities.

The treasure is believed to have been placed there by William H. Badeau, who boarded at the Tiel home, and died several months ago.

In looking over Badeau's papers there was found a roughly drawn plan of the cellar on which was indicated a square with the word "Vault" written near it. Dr. Tiel took the plan, went to the cellar and unearthed the fortune.

After Badeau died it was found he had left an estate of over half a million dollars. No one had known of the treasure buried in the Tiel cellar.

Badeau was a bachelor and had been connected with a photographic supply firm in New York.

MAY USE AXE ON HUSBAND.

But Only in Case of Extreme Emergency, Says Ottawa Magistrate.

Ottawa, June 29.—According to Magistrate O'Keefe, Mrs. A. Paquette was quite justified in using the axe on her husband last week to defend herself, but he did not believe in using an axe unless in extreme cases.

The magistrate yesterday let the accused go on suspended sentence. He warned her that an axe was a formidable weapon to use except in cases of extreme emergency. The bench, however, considered that the prisoner was goaded to use the axe and had done so without intent to kill.

BATTLE OF WORDS IN CITY COUNCIL OVER PAVEMENTS

Ald. Lamoureux and Controller Ainey Lead in the Attacks on Each Side.

MR. WANKLYN DENIES STATEMENT MADE

Only Business Done is to Pass One Report for Granite Work.

The City Council Chamber yesterday afternoon bore more of the resemblance of a bear garden than it has done since the days of some of the more memorable fights under the old regime. The outburst of ill-feeling reached its height during a discussion on the subject of a recent public meeting where Controller Ainey took several of the aldermen to task for, as he expressed it, having obstructed the work of the Controllers.

The discussion on the actual proposals before the meeting was less animated, and in the end the only progressive decision was as follows:—

To adopt the Controllers' reports recommending the pavement of half a dozen streets with granite blocks at a cost of $60,000. The division on this question was as follows:—

In favor of the report: Ald. N. Lapointe, Leclaire, O'Connell, Prudhomme, Dandurand, Gauvin, Roux, Garceau, Monahan, Tetreau, Clement, Letourneau, Mayrand, Emard, Larivierre, McMahon and Lavallee.—17.

Against: Ald. L. A. Lapointe, Ward, Lamoureux, Bastien and Lussier.—5.

The streets to be paved include Cathedral, Mountain, Osborne, Shearer and St. Patrick.

The report recommending scoria blocks for other streets was rejected by sixteen votes to six, and the matter remains for the time being in abeyance.

Ald. Lariviere opposed the report because, he said, the controllers had not yet purchased the scoria blocks.

The expenditure involved in this report amounts to $119,000.

A Battle of Words.

Ald. L. A. Lapointe declined to support the reports under a plea that the supplementary information asked for on Monday last was not furnished until yesterday's meeting commenced. Therefore, he said, the aldermen had not had the time to consider the question properly.

The brunt of the battle of words between aldermen and controllers was borne by Ald. L. A. Lapointe and Lamoureux on the one side, and Messrs. Wanklyn and Ainey on the other.

Ald. Lapointe took exception to the remark of Mr. Ainey at a public meeting a few days ago to the effect that the aldermen were forming a combine to systematically obstruct the work of the Board of Control.

Controller Ainey—"At that meeting I read over the list of motions made by Ald. L. A. Lapointe deferring our reports. He calls this saying dirty things, but it is not my fault if his name is mixed up with these motions."

"I declare your statement at the meeting was false and malicious," retorted Ald. L. A. Lapointe, "and I defy you, Mr. Ainey, to prove that I have obstructed the controllers' work."

Mr. Ainey:—"It is difficult to actually prove that obstruction exists, but the conduct of several aldermen during the last few months certainly gives that inference. There is a power here besides that of the controllers. Ald. L. A. Lapointe is a power here, and he may impose his will on others, but I am determined that he shall not impose it on me."

Ald. Lamoureux denied that he had taken part in any systematic obstruction.

Ald. Lariviere said he had worked for the laboring classes for nothing. He did not get $25 a week for it like Mr. Ainey. Neither did the aldermen receive $7,500 a year, though they had done good service for the city.

Mr. Wanklyn's Statement.

Mr. Wanklyn complained that at the public meeting in question, one of the aldermen present, had asserted that contractors had a friends on the Board of Control. He hoped the alderman who asserted this, would repeat the accusation and name the controllers.

Ald. Lamoureux:—"I made that statement on the strength of a current rumor that the Hofeller Company had a friend among the controllers. I admit that I had Controller Wanklyn in mind, but I was speaking only according to rumor."

"That rumor is false," replied Mr. Wanklyn. "I have no friends among contractors. I was elected to represent the whole city and cannot understand why Ald. Lamoureux should entertain such an idea. All our reports are signed by the board and not by one man. I think on the whole it would be better to pay less attention to all rumors."

A protest was read from St. George's Church authorities against the paving of Osborne street, with granite blocks principally on account of the noise.

Laflamme, Mitchell & Chenever notified the city that they had been advised by the Hassam Paving Company to take the necessary measures against the city by injunction or otherwise if the $50,000 extra grant for cement sidewalks were not competed for by calling for new tenders.

Newsboys Will Have Outing.

The Newsboys' Drive will take place this evening, leaving the Post Office at eight o'clock. By a happy coincidence, the event takes place on the fifty-seventh birthday of Peter Murphy, the president of the Newsboys' Union.

DOVE HEAD FIRST FROM SPEEDING TRAIN; IS UNHURT

Shock of Landing Restored Senses to Shackled Dangerous Lunatic

Shackled hand and foot Charles Kepka dove through the window of a G. T. R. train near Coteau, going at thirty miles an hour and was unhurt. He and three others were being brought back from Seattle for deportation as lunatics when Kepka became violent yesterday and was put in shackles. After his sensational dive the train was stopped and the track searched for his remains, for no one thought anything but a corpse would be picked up. But he was found wandering along the track dazed but unhurt except for a cut from the glass of the window.

The shock had restored his reason and he made no attempt to escape. His greeting to the guard was a request to tell what had happened. He is at the General Hospital. He will leave the hospital this afternoon and will be looked after by the United States Immigration Department.

C. P. R. TO KENNEBUNKPORT.

The Canadian Pacific Railway service to Old Orchard, Kennebunkport, and other Maine Seaside Resorts, is this year the quickest service that has ever been in effect between Montreal and the seacoast. The train leaves Windsor Street Station at 8.00 p.m. and arrives at Old Orchard at 7.40 a.m. The roomy and large sleeping cars of the Canadian Pacific are on this train and go through to Kennebunkport.

The day train leaving Windsor Street Station at 9.00 a.m. carries the large parlor cars of the Canadian Pacific and also goes through to Old Orchard and Kennebunkport.

ALL YOUR STOMACH TROUBLE VANISHES

Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn, Sourness and Dyspepsia Go and You Will Feel Fine in Five Minutes.

Every year regularly more than a million stomach sufferers in the United States, England, and Canada take Pape's Diapepsin and realize not only immediate, but lasting relief.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't fit comfortably or what you do eat lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your Pharmacist a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belchings of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach or gas or heartburn, fulness or heavy feeling in the stomach. Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and besides, there will be no undigested food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other stomach disorder.

FULL OF QUALITY NOBLEMEN CIGARS

ROBINSON CRUSOE'S "SURE SIGNS"

When the celebrated adventurer of fiction discovered human foot-prints in the sand, he argued to himself, "there's a man around here."

If the smoker would employ the same brand of logic, he would use DAVIS' "NOBLEMEN" CIGARS (2 for 25c), and save himself 50%. Because the "NOBLEMEN" embodies the unmistakable and "sure signs" of a good cigar. The choice Havana leaf, and Cuban workmanship which combine to produce the "NOBLEMEN" CIGAR, are the finest in the world.

When you buy "NOBLEMEN," you buy intrinsic value. When you buy imported cigars, you pay twice the price for the same thing, because you make a voluntary contribution to the treasury by taxing yourself.

"NOBLEMEN" Size 2 for a quarter.
"PANETELAS" size 10c straight.
"CONCHA FINA" size 3 for 25c.

THE HOUSEHOLD REALM.

The realm of the household looks to Star Want Ads when it is necessary to make a change of servants.

Experience has taught most housewives that a Star Want Ad will summon a number of capable, well recommended applicants for a position as housemaid, cook, nursemaid, or other place in the home.

Most housewives know, too, that it is not necessary to put up with incompetent and careless servants, when the better grade of helpers in the home will be glad of the opportunity to prove their efficiency if given a chance through a Star Want Ad.

Home workers and housewives look to the Wants as a means of bringing them together with mutual advantage to both.

Star Wants cost only one cent a word—25 cents each insertion—and are quick in bringing response.

OH, GOODNESS! PLEASE BE GOOD, TEACHERS HERE

Truants Beware, New England School "Marms" Study Canadian Geography.

OFF TO 'FRISCO TO MEET OTHERS

Ten Thousand are to Meet in Session and Talk it Over.

A trainload of "New England school marms" arrived at Windsor Street station this morning en route for San Francisco, where they will attend the convention of the National Educational Association, July 8th to 14th. The party, which numbered 150, got in from Boston at an early hour and left the city at 10.40 a.m., travelling by a special train as a second section of the Winnipeg Express.

The party was in charge of E. G. Renney, of the Boston office of the C.P.R. They are travelling via Ottawa. The first stop will be at Winnipeg, where they will stay several hours, accommodation having been reserved for them at the Canadian Pacific Railway's hotel, the Royal Alexandra. From Winnipeg the train will travel through to the coast as the second section of the Imperial Limited, and two stops will be made during the trip over the mountains to give the teachers a chance to gain first hand information about the Rockies for their classes in geography.

The first stop will be at Banff, where a whole day will be given up to an exploration of the Canadian National Park, with its herds of bison, its waterfalls and its lakes, and then the party will proceed to Glacier where a stop of two hours will be made to allow of a visit to the great Glacier.

At Vancouver the teachers will embark for Seattle on one of the C.P.R.'s coast vessels and from there will travel to San Francisco.

While teachers were looking forward to the whole trip with pleasurable anticipation, they were especially pleased that they were also travel over the Rocky Mountains. Arrangements for the return trip have not been fully completed as yet, but it is known that after the convention is finished they will connect with the C.P.R. at Toronto for the return journey from that point to Boston. It is expected that about 10,000 teachers from all over the world will attend the convention.

Mexico Pays for Its Revolution

Country Learning That Uprisings are Not Good for Trade and Commerce.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, June 29.— A W. Donly, Canadian Trade Commissioner to Mexico, in a letter to the Department of Trade and Commerce, states that the revolution has affected general business, the financial situation, and the sown areas of the country. Retail business has felt the effects much less than the wholesale.

Canadian trade with Mexico has fallen off, this being ascribed to the non-importation of foreign wheat. Foreign capital has ceased to come in, while it is estimated that fifty million pesos were shipped out for greater security.

The area of crops is much less this year, but they are coming on well. The country, Mr. Donly states, is settling down cheerfully to quiet conditions, and generally accepting the new ides of things.

VEDRINE IS AGAIN THE VICTOR IN AERO RACE.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Calais, June 29.—Pierre Vedrine to-day won the Roubaix-Calais stage of the European circuit race, making his third victory in the six stages of the race that have so far been flown.

He arrived at 2.16, Vidar arrived at 2.46, and Comerma at 2.50. Vedrine's share of the prize money is $10,000.

A heavy fog at Roubaix delayed the start of the flyers today.

The next flight will be from Calais, across the English Channel to London, with stops at Dover and Brighton.

Accept Paul Chevre's Design.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Quebec, June 29.—The design of Paul Chevre of Paris, who planned the Champlain monument on Dufferin Terrace, has been accepted for the bronze statue of Garneau the historian, to be erected by Mr. Geo. E. Amyot, at a cost of $15,000, on the Parliament House grounds.

PORT HOPE, Ont.—Mary Ann Coleman, widow of the late John F. Hawkins, of Welcome, is dead, aged 72 years.

A LOVE STORY OF THE SEVENTEENTH CENTURY NOVELIZED FROM THE PLAY BY SIR W. S. GILBERT By P. S. C. HAMILTON

This little tale is based upon "Dan'l Druce," a drama written by the late Sir W. S. Gilbert (novelised by his special permission), and produced at the Haymarket Theatre, London, in 1877. It may be remembered on this continent as a piece associated with the name of the late E. L. Davenport. It was the play in which he made his last appearance, followed by his death, in 1878. It is now published in narrative form for the first time.

CHAPTER I.

THE dull leaden sky of a September evening in 1651 cast a gloom over the rugged coast of Norfolk. The moan of the wind and hissing squalls of sleet and snow, presaging an early winter, added to the discomfort and made the cheerful blaze of an open fire in a lonely village inn look inviting to a traveller who arrived at once. He was a man of middle age, clad in the sober raiment then affected by the Parliamentary party. He seemed a man of substance, though he travelled alone. Spurs on his boots indicated that he had ridden his horse somewhere and continued his journey afoot.

The seductiveness of the inn parlor seemed to please little Sharm for from the moment he entered the room—when he was a man of middle age, clad in the sober raiment then affected by the Parliamentary party. He seemed a man of substance, though he travelled alone. Spurs on his boots indicated that he had ridden his horse somewhere and continued his journey afoot.

The seductiveness of the inn parlor seemed to please little Sharm for from the moment he entered the room—when Evans as he shook the rain from his cloak and hat he asked the host if there was a village near which to direct him where to find a man who lived alone in a ruined habitation somewhere there-abouts; a stranger who had come to them a few years before.

"Aye, master, that should be Dan'l Druce, and no other," spoke up an evil-faced man in the garb of a fisherman. "Right well we know him, surly old curmudgeon at that. I am going to see him now to pay the old miser for his nets, if so be as you want to come now, well and good. It's going to be a dirty night and I would go back before it gets to its worst."

The stranger at once resumed his hat and cloak and went out with the Joe Ripley the fisherman. Twenty minutes walk in the teeth of the fast rising gale brought them to a miserable hole of a place on the bleakest part of the coast.

It was but a half-ruined, tumble-down old shanty of the rudest description, bearing every mark of the most squalid poverty.

"Hello! Dan'l, art within?" called Ripley, knocking loudly at the door. "Dan'l I say, open, will you?"

Receiving no reply, the fisherman kicked the crazy old door open and looked in. "Why the hut's empty!" he exclaimed. Where's the old devil gone I wonder? Come in master out of the storm. Don't be afraid; he'll be a bit rusty about our coming in without leave, but that'll blow over sooner than the gale outside."

The stranger entered and closing the door behind him advanced to a miserable little spluttering fire of drift wood and tried to warm his hands.

"Is the man away?" he enquired.

"Nay," said Ripley, "he's never a hundred yards from this; he's hauling up his boat on the beach maybe, or taking in the nets, and making all snug and taut for the night; and well he may, for the devil's let loose and there'll be mischief afore morning. The devil likes these Norfolk coasts, burn him!"

The fisherman kicked the fire into some semblance of life with his heavy sea boot, and, by the light thus given, the stranger in the cloak looked about the miserable interior.

"And so Jonas lives here?" he said in a tone indicative of deep disgust.

"Jonas?" said the fisherman. "No Dan'l—Dan'l Druce."

"Well Dan'l Druce, if that's what he calls himself. Its a strange hole for such a man as he!" said the stranger, as though speaking more to himself than to his companion.

"It's a fit hole for such a dog as he," replied the fisherman. "A surly, scowling, drunken, miserly half-starved cur! Never was a fitter hound so far athwart the world's ways as Dan'l Druce. Why he's as rich as a Jew, and never gave bit nor sup to a soul in the town. Oh, take my word for it, it's a fit hole for such as he. There's only one fitter and I wish he was in it."

"Stop that cursed red rag of yours," angrily exclaimed the stranger.

"Come, civil words master; civil words," said Ripley, surprised at the resentment his words had aroused.

"Set the example," retorted the other. "I am the man's brother."

"Well, you've got his family tongue in your head, anyhow," muttered the fisherman. "If you're his brother may be you know how he came to live here and be all alone?"

"I can be I do," sulkily replied the stranger.

"They say that before he came here—a matter of five or four years since—he was a decent sort of body enough, a blacksmith I do hear, but he got struck half silly through some bad luck, and he's been a changed man ever since.

"Oh, they say that, do they?" coldly responded the stranger, biting his nails and showing no disposition to continue the conversation.

Joe Ripley, however, was not to be stopped in his efforts to gain information.

"Aye," he said. "Well, I don't know what he was, but I know what he is; that's enough for me. The scowling-est, black-browded, ill-favored chap I ever saw, cept as regards children, and he's as fond o' children as a young bear, and he's littler they are the more he likes them, and they likes him. Now I'm as tender-hearted as a kitten, but I hates children and they can't abide me. That's odd ain't it?"

"Ay," replied the other with ill concealed impatience.

"Yes, that's Dan'l Druce's story as far as we knows it down in these parts. May be you know more?" suggested the loquacious fisherman.

"May be I do," was all the satisfaction which master Ripley's gossip brought forth.

"Now I dare swear there was a woman at the bottom of it all. I never got my chain cable kinked but a woman had a hand in it," continued Master Ripley.

"Hark ye, my lad," said the stranger angrily turning round from the fire into which he had been gazing abstractedly. "You're hard on women. From the look of you, I've a notion no woman ever had much to do with any trouble of yours, save your mother when she bore you. No, no, your tongue's done all the mischief that ever came to you. You let women alone; I'm sure they never interfere with you."

At this point, the noor opened and the owner of the shanty staggered in. He was carrying a bundle of nets on his shoulder and was manifestly half tipsy, while a light of seeming insanity gleamed in eyes shaded by heavy eyebrows.

He appeared to be about fifty years old, unkempt, ragged and unclean. His gray hair was long and matted and a shaggy beard was on his chin.

"Hullo!" he shouted in the ill-lighted hovel to see who his visitors were. "Joe Ripley, eh! Why, Joe Ripley, what dost thou, skulking in other men's huts when they're away? Nothing to lay hands on here, Joe Ripley. And thou'st brought a friend, eh? Didst thou think there was too much plunder for a man to carry that thou'st brought an ass to help him. There's nowt for thee here. Take thine ugly face into the storm; maybe thou'lt get it battered straight. Come, out wi'ee!"

The old man was sturdily built and as he advanced threatningly upon his visitors it was evident that he would be a formidable antagonist.

"Hold thy peace man," laid Ripley in a conciliatory tone. "I want nowt of thine. I've brought thee money for thy two nets."

"Where is it?" snarled the old man.

"And here's a man as says he's thy brother—and I wish him joy of his brotherhood," continued the fisherman. "I found him at the village inn enquiring for thee."

The stranger in the cloak now advanced and held out his hand to the old man.

"Gi' me the money," exclaimed Dan't Druce, taking no heed of the proffered hand, "and be off wi' the stranger."

"Dost thou not know me, Jonas Marple?" said the stranger sadly.

"Dead," muttered the old man, "Dead three years ago."

"Aye, thou gavest thyself out as dead, that he might get the honest woman of her," said the visitor.

"Thou liest!" shouted the old man. "She was the honest woman, for all she left me. 'Twas him that stole her, God bless her. Jonas Marple died the day she left him. I'm Dan't Druce."

"I knew there was a woman in it," chuckled Ripley.

"And if Jonas died, hast thou no word of welcome for Jonas's brother?" resumed the stranger, again offering his hand.

"None," said Dan't Druce, and turning to Ripley he said, "Get me the money."

"There," said the fisherman, handing him a few coins which the old man clutched eagerly. "Ay count it; we're all thieves and liars. "That," he continued in a lower tone to the visitor, "is his craze. Is it right?" he asked Druce, who was turning the coins over and over in his hands.

"I dunno, I can't count to-night," he replied. "Let it be, I'll count it to-morrow."

Then turning to the visitor he asked in a surly, but less offensive tone: "How didst thou find me?"

"I found thee through this fellow," answered the stranger. "I was in the town on law business, and I heard much talk of such an one as thou, and I asked and asked and found out that thou was the fisher who sold fish to the wif me. I've come to ask thee to come back to us, and be the man thou wast wont to be. Come, put away this old self; thou can't not be better; throw off thy present self; thou can't not be worse," and the stranger affectionately and pleadingly laid his hand on the old man's shoulder.

"Not worse?" asked Dan't Druce. "Why man, I'm a King, alone here! Here I live free from liars and thieves. Alone! Alone! What, back to the world, the hollow lying world? Not I. Back to the rock on which my ship was wrecked? Not I. Back to the den of thieves that stripped me? Not I. No, no; I don't find fish come back to my nets when I'm away," he slipped through the meshes, and I'm no more a fool than my fish. See here—I've lived here nigh upon four years, and 'cepting some such gaping fool as him, pointing over his shoulder at Ripley, "I've seen no soul and no soul's seen me. I've done harm to none, and none's done harm to me. I've robbed no one and none's robbed me. Can anyone who walks the world say as much? I've lived on the fish I've caught, the garden I've dug, and I've saved money by the nets. I've made, no; much—a trifle to such as thou, and I've sent it far from here—I never keep it here. No, no, I've no hopes, no cares, no fears. And thou askest me to go back to the foul old world. The world, that poor dead and gone Jonas Marple was robbed in; the bitter black world that blighted his poor harmless life. No, I'm going to bide here."

"Well, as thou will, Jonas," said the visitor with a sigh.

"Dan't—that's my name, Dan't Druce, Jonas Marple died the day his wife left him," muttered the old man. "His wife's a widow and mayhap married again. God bless her."

"Thou'll do no good wi' him, said Ripley in a low tone, beckoning the visitor. "There's a devil's flare in his eyes. Lest let him bide."

Low as he had spoken, the old man's ears caught the last words, as he stood muttering over the fire, and turning to the other he said: "Ay, best let him bide. I'm a poor thing of skin and bone, and this arm with which made light of a forty pound hammer four years since, is but a soft-roll now; but when muscle went out devil came in. "Steer clear o' me and let me bide. He should his hand menacingly and then turned again to the fire.

"Thou'rt sadly changed," said the visitor; "it's fearsome to see a good honest soul changed into the white-faced ghost of what he was. Time was when every beggar had the pulling of the poor purse-strings, and none were turned empty away from the door. Is it to think that Jonas Marple should have earned the name of miser."

"Does it seem so strange to thee," screamed the old man. "Hast thou ever known what it was to set thy heart night and day on one object, to dream of it, sleepin' and wakin' to find the hope of it flaruring thy meat and drink and livin' itself up into thy life that every thought o' thy brain is born of it, and every deed of thy hand has some bearin' on it. And bavin' done all this, and so fashioned and twisted and trimmed, and trimmed the chances at thy hand that the one hope of thy soul shall be helped on by it. Hast thou known what it is to find at one bitter black blow, thy hope made hopeless, thy love loveless, thy life lifeless? So did I hope and pray to be blessed with a little child—so was my hope withered when I thought I'd sunk all faithlessness had a store of love in my battered heart to set on some one thing of my creating; it was there for that end and none other. When she left me (curse him!) I knew for certain, that one thing would never be of flesh and blood, and it never will, for the love of my heart has gone over to the next best thing—gold and silver, gold and silver. Ay, brother, I love my gold as other men love their bairns. It's of my making it, I love it. I am my gold myself, love, may be, but hard and bad and base as thou thinkest me, I've prayed a thousand times that my gold might take a living form, that the one harmless old hope of my wretched life might come true!"

The old man's voice softened and a light of great yearning came into his eyes.

"The age of miracles is past, Jonas," coldly replied his brother, gathering his cloak about him. "Well, I've said my say and done my do. Stay where thou art and Heaven forgive thee, Jonas Marple."

"He's dead," said the old man sternly.

"He is," said the other man, warmly; "dead to the call of reason, dead to the voice of human love, dead to everything that makes a reasoning man off from the beasts that perish. Thou hast well said, Jonas Marple is dead—rest his soul!"

"Amen! Now go," said Dan't Druce.

The stranger shrugged his shoulders, pulled his hat more firmly over his brow and accompanied by Joe Ripley, strode out into the darkness and storm.

CHAPTER II.

At this time, following the overwhelming rout of the Royalists at the battle of Worcester, fugitive cavaliers and knots of pursuing ironsides were constantly breaking in on the quietness of villages. Many prominent Royalists had not fallen on the bloody field nor been made prisoners by the Parliamentary forces. That such men were in hiding and were trying to make their way to the sea coast, was fully understood by the Roundheadsand the approaches to the sea were being especially watched.

Even as Joe Ripley and the stranger approached the village inn they saw a number of horses standing about and the parlor was filled with grim-faced soldiers with the rain dripping from their helmets and shining on their breast plates.

It was learned that they had information of some fugitive cavaliers on their way to that very neighborhood, and guards had been stationed on the roads.

As if any one not downright daft would venture out on the sea a night like this," growled Joe Ripley, kept back from the warmth of the fire by the clustering soldiers.

Yet that was just what some one was going to try and do, and that attempt had much to do with the future life of Jonas Marple, "Dan't Druce," as he called himself.

When the old man found himself alone in his hut, the last words of his brother still rang in his ears, and he muttered away to himself as he crossed over to the fire:

"Ay, he's dead, dead! dead! He died then that the blackest devil that ever cursed this earth might put her right with the world. Heaven send he has done so. And the bairn! It was promised me—promised—but the promise was a lie, a damned black lie—not hers, no, no, nor hers, but a figure of the double-dyed devil who stole her from me."

Getting down on his knees whilst thus mumbling, his fingers clawed away at one of the bricks in thehearth, until he raised it. Beneath was a small excavation from which he took out a leathern bag of gold and silver coin.

He untied the string with the aid of his teeth, with eager, fevered haste, and ran his fingers in among the coins.

"This is my bairn now," he chuckled, "see, here's another day to thy life, another inch to thy height; grow as thou growest, child, and thou'lt be a golden beauty ere long. Gold, the best thing in the world; as good as gold;—as gold! Ha, ha, ha! Gold is the best thing on earth to make a bairn of. Here's a child that will never grow up to bring sorrow on its Dad's head, that costs nowt to keep, and never grow so big but you can fit bigger—my Bairn! I've worked for thee and starved for thee that I might see thee grow, and thou has grown, grown and grown royally! Ile there, my beauty, ile there in peace; I'll never wake thee, but to add to thy life, my bairn, my beautiful golden bairn!"

While the old man was crooning and chuckling over his money, there was a sound of hurried footsteps without, the door burst open and two tattered and dirty men darted in as if pursued.

The foremost of them now in rags, and feathers broken and soiled, as well as their long hair, once perfumed and curled, was a man of middle age, and in spite of his tattered garments, there was no mistaking the fact that he was a gentleman.

"When thou destrest him to be efficient, it is well to gag him; when thou wouldst have him speak it is judicious to remove the gag!" remarked the officer.

"As you will, sir," said the sergeant removing his hand. "Dost thou clearly understand?"

"I clearly understand that ye are two marauding devils, who—" began Dan't Druce, when the heavy hand again closed his mouth.

"He does not understand," said the Sergeant, grimly.

The officer listened at the door for a moment and then remarked: "They've wheeled about and their hoofs are dying away in the distance. Reuben, let the old beggar go; he may give tongue now 'til he splits his lungs if he will. We are safe at least for the present, Reuben, and see to thy pistol—we may have to stand a siege yet, and this door must be barricaded; but with what?"

Dan't Druce, when he was released crept over to the fireplace, and grasping an iron bar which he kept there for stirring the logs, advanced threateningly upon the unwelcome visitors

"Go your way, both of ye," he exclaimed; "or as I am a man I'll brain ye with this bar!"

"The very thing," exclaimed the officer, snatching the iron bar from the old man's feeble grasp, and using it to the door. "A thousand thanks old gentleman."

Dan't Druce was no coward, and at once sprang at the officer, who easily shoved the old man off and he fell upon a bench where he remained panting and glaring furtively at the intruders.

"Hark, sir, I think I hear them sacking," said the sergeant, listening at the door.

"Who and what are ye?" again called the old man, his shrill voice rising almost to a shriek.

"Hold thy fool's tongue, or I'll slit it," returned the officer.

"But"—continued Dan't Druce. Ere he could complete the sentence the sergeant seized him and clapped one huge hand over his mouth, effectually gagging him. The old man, enfeebled by long privation and self-inflicted starvation was like a child in the grasp of the huge soldier.

"Nay, it is necessary that some one hold thy tongue," said the sergeant, "and if thou will not do it I will!"

"Listen to me, my friend," began the officer. The sergeant removed his hand from the old man's mouth for a moment, but only to clap it once more to the opposite coast. In the meantime we appeal to you our host, and we shall be prepared to look favorably on whatever meat or drink you can set before us."

"Do I look like a man who keeps open house?" growled the old man.

"No, hang me if you do," replied the officer, with a smile.

"If I had my way I'd hang you every-way," retorted Dan't Druce.

"Ay, there's many more of your way of thinking," continued the undisturbed officer.

"I'll be plain with you there are," said Dan't Druce, having now recovered his breath, h resumed his hostile attitude.

"Well, get out of my house; this is not your way, thi' is not the road to the gallows."

"My good fellow that is why we took it," coolly replied the Cavalier.

"Who in the devil's name are ye?" enquired the old man.

"I'm a Cavalier, Colonel, a trifle out of repair and a thought begrimed maybe, but that'll wash off. Royalist to the backbone, as I proved some time since at Worcester, when my backbone had to bear the brunt of the flight. This is my regiment, the King's Dragoons," and the officer pointed grimly to the sergeant. "Come doff thy hat, King's Dragoons and salute the gentleman: the credit of the corps is in thy keeping, Reuben, for thou'rt all that's left of it. A worthy fellow this regiment of mine, resumed the officer," addressing his bantering again, "to his unwilling host, "but somewhat shy and restrained in good company, but he will improve when he sees that flask of Schiedam, that thou art about to surprise us with. Now, tell me, are thou for the Parliament?"

"No," said Dan't Druce.

"Then thou art for the King."

"It's a lie! I'm for myself," replied the old man.

"And for us."

"Nay, I'll be damned if I am." said the miser.

"Nay, I'll swear that thou art for us if thou be not traitor to thyself—for if we hang at all we all hang together. If that be the case, Now what food have you got?" enquired the officer.

"None," sulkily replied Druce.

"What can you get?"

"Nothing."

"Where are we then?"

"Nowhere."

"Harken, Sir," said the officer sternly. "I am just in that mood that I don't care the flash of a flint whose life is swept out of my way when it comes betwixt me and my wants. I want food—get it."

"I've no food—I'm a beggar," sulkily replied the old man.

"Here's a scein—our last," said the cavalier. "Go and get bread and drink. Now be off, or Reuben there shall whip you with his sword-flat 'till he drops. And mark me, if by deed, word or sign you do aught to give cue to our hiding-place, I'll burn the hut to the ground and everything in it."

"But——" began the old man, when Reuben pushed him.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES HELD IN LONDON TO-DAY

The King and Queen Cheered by the Great Crowds on Their Way to St. Paul's Cathedral.

LUNCH WITH LORD MAYOR GUILDHALL AFTERWARDS

Popular Enthusiasm Undiminished, Despite Lack of Ceremonial and Display

London, June 29.—King George and Queen Mary accompanied by the Prince of Wales and Princess Mary made still another progress through the capital to-day. Although the procession lacked the ceremonial and military display of those of last week, popular interest was undiminished, and from Buckingham Palace to the City and back through Northeast London, great crowds lined the route and enthusiastically cheered Their Majesties.

The object of to-day's progress was to attend the Coronation thanksgiving service at St. Paul's, and afterwards to lunch with the Lord Mayor and the Corporation at the Guildhall.

The procession, consisting of four carriages with the members of the Royal Family and the chief officers of State and their ladies, was accompanied by the usual picturesque escort. The route was lined by 15,000 troops, each regiment accompanied by its band.

The service at the Cathedral was short but impressive, and was attended by a congregation representing every interest and every branch of the service of empire, ambassadors and distinguished visitors.

As on all Royal visits to the city, the Lord Mayor and the Sheriffs met the King at Temple Bar and preceded him to St. Paul's, thence to the Guildhall, and after luncheon there, to the city boundary. Upwards of 700 guests sat down to the luncheon, which was served in the lavish style for which the Corporation is famous.

Enormous Crowds Hail King.

The weather proved bright and fair, and enormous crowds hailed the Royal party as they made their way through the streets. The crowds were larger than those of last Friday, when King George and Queen Mary made a Royal progress through South London. Forecasts of pleasant weather and the absence of rigid restrictions that kept the bulk of the masses from witnessing the royal procession on previous occasions were responsible for the gathering of a large crowd.

A great throng congregated about the Mall near Buckingham Palace where the strictest precautions were taken by the police. Promptly at 11.30 the gates of the Castle quadrangle were flung open, and a detachment of Horse Guards trotted through. Following them came the landau, drawn by the famous cream-colored horses of the Royal stable. King George was dressed in the uniform of a British Admiral; Queen Mary wore white.

JUDGE GUERIN SCORES DEFENDANTS IN CASE

Acted With Malice Against Harry Sterling, He Finds.

By judgment allowing $1,759 to the plaintiff, in the case of Sterling against Olsen and Sapery, Mr. Justice Guerin has brought to an end the final settlement of a family feud that has kept the courts busy for three years.

In 1908, Harry Sterling, conducting business in Syracuse, N.Y., received a letter from William Levine, brother-in-law of the Saperys, inviting him to come to St. Anne de Bellevue. On his arrival Sterling was arrested on a writ of capias.

After the quashing of the second capias Sterling entered action against Levine, Sapery and Miss Olsen for conspiracy and illegal arrest.

Judgment for $2,000 was rendered against Levine, and judgment was rendered yesterday afternoon against Louis Sapery for $1,750 and $100 against Miss Olsen.

Mr. Justice Guerin, in delivering judgment said conduct of the defendants constituted a very grave invasion of the rights and liberty of a citizen of the United States. The defendants had acted without reasonable and probable cause, and with malice; the plea of defendants was totally unfounded.

WOMAN MAKES A SUCCESSFUL FLIGHT

Over Five Towns in Massachusetts Mrs. J. V. Martin Flies With Ease.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Boston, June 29.—Mrs. James V. Martin, wife of the Harvard aviator, yesterday made the first successful cross-country monoplane flight ever made in this country bya woman flying alone. She used a Martin-Blerlot machine.

Mrs. Martin was in the air eighteen minutes, flying over Waltham, Watertown, Newton, Waverly and Belmont, watched by thousands. She circled in the air with the same speed and adring that has marked the flights of her husband and landed wiht as much ease and grace as any male operator.

Mr. Martin recently returned from England, where he graduated from the Grahame-White school. He has been making daily flights in a Blerlot, which he brought from abroad, and his wife was his pupil.

Aviator's Lucky Escape.

Chicago, June 29. — John J. Joyce, an aviator, fell 500 feet in a bi-plane at Hawthorne Park, yesterday, and escaped with only slight injuries.

He broke five telephone wires, one trolley wire, and a heavy wooden backstop for a baseball diamond. The backstop was wrecked, and the biplane was literally ground to pieces, but Joyce escaped with only a sprained ankle, a scratched face, and a fracture of one small bone of the leg.

Berlin, Ont., June 29.—Levi Graybill, aged 60, mayor of Waterloo, and a prominent citizen of Waterloo county, died at an early hour this morning of heart failure. He is survived by a wife and seven daughters.

GUELPH, Ont.—Emma Smedley, wife of Francis Law, is dead.

SEEK NEW SCALE FOR CARPENTERS IS NOW PROBABLE

Meeting of Trade is Called to Discuss Rates and Hours of Labor.

Rates of wages and hours of labor will be discussed at a mass meeting of the carpenters and joiners of the city which will beheld in the St. Jean-Baptiste Market Hall, corner of Rachel and St. Lawrence streets, tomorrow evening. A demand for a higher scale is anticipated.

According to Mr. Richard Lynch, business agent of Local Union, No. 1,244, and Mr. J. E. Campeau, secretary of the District Council of Carpenters and Joiners, there are four thousand men at work at the trade in the city.

Mr. A. Martel, general officer of the seventh district of the International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, will be present and the general executive, who have been dealing with the wage question, will submit their final report. All the members have been requested to bring their blue books.

Mr. J. H. Lauer, secretary of the Builders' Exchange, told a representative of the Star, to-day, that the wages of all the carpenters and joiners in the city had been voluntarily increased on May 1, by about ten per cent. The rates paid, he said, are from 37 1-2 to 37 1-2 cents an hour.

Mr. Lauer said that the open shop principle is in operation in Montreal and that men are paid according to their ability.

He had heard that there were some trouble-makers in the city from Buffalo, but as far as he knew the men were all satisfied, and he did not anticipate any trouble.

FOUL PLAY IS SUSPECTED IN OTTAWA CASE

The Mysterious Death of Mrs. Wright in Hotel to Be Probed.

Ottawa, June 29.— The police are trying to find the whereabouts of Thomas Marvel, who was the last person seen in company with the woman who died suddenly at the Almonte House on Tuesday afternoon. Relatives who identified the body of the woman as Mrs. Mary Wright, of Warren, Ont., say that she had a considerable sum of money with her when she arrived in Ottawa, but only $5 was found in her purse when a search was made after death. In view of this there are strong suspicions that the woman may have met with foul play, and a conference was held between Coroner Baptie and Crown Attorney Ritchie yesterday as to the advisability of having the contents of the stomach analyzed at Toronto.

A few weeks ago the dead woman's husband sold out at Warren, and told his wife he intended taking a trip abroad. She accompanied him as far as Montreal and saw him aboard ship. He is said to have left with her a considerable sum of money. She came to Ottawa afterwards and for a few hours saw her brother here. After that her movements are a mystery.

Thomas Marvel, who spent the week with Mrs. Wright, was an employe of her husband at Warren. He has completely disappeared.

GIFTS TO HARVARD TOTAL OVER A MILLION DOLLARS.

President Lowell Announces University was Given Over $1,200,000 During Past Year.

Cambridge, Mass., June 29.—Gifts to the amount of $1,200,000 received by Harvard University during the past year, were announced by President Lowell to the 2,000 or more Harvard men gathered for the alumni meeting in the Quadrangle yesterday afternoon.

Almost simultaneously with this announcement, William C. Boyden, of Chicago, handed to President Lowell a cheque for $100,000 as the gift of the class of 1886 to the University, the sum to be invested in the college funds and only the income to be used.

The meeting was presided over by Major Henry L. Higginson, class of '55, and for the first time women were admitted, some 200 being present.

TO HONOR QUEEN'S MAN.

Graduates Will Establish Scholarship Bearing Name of Prof. Dupuis.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Kingston, Ont., June 29.—A circular is being sent out by a committee of graduates and professors of Queens to the graduates and friends of the university, asking that they contribute toward the establishment of a scholarship bearing the name of Professor Dupuis, who has resigned recently after having completed the 45th year of his teaching in the University.

A re-union of Prof. Dupuis' former students and others will be held October 17th, when he will be honored suitably.

FRENCH EDITORS TO DUEL.

Paris Public Looks Upon Scrap as Huge Joke.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Paris, June 29.—An early duel is looked for between Henri LeTellier, director of "Journal," and Bunau-Varilla, one of the editors of the "Matin."

LeTellier has sent his seconds to Bunau-Varilla. The fight between the newspapers has become so bitter that rival staffs down to the office boys, are talking duels.

Other newspapers and the public generally view the situation as the highest sort of comedy.

BRANTFORD, Ont.—Rosa Barche, formerly of Brantford, is dead in Hamilton.

Toronto Rails Boom--Losses by Cotton Stockholders--Crop News is Fine

"RAILS" ARE NOW ON THE RAMPAGE, SELLING NEAR 143

Toronto Railway was hitting the high spots to-day, and made 142¾ by the close at the morning session.

Montreal pleads not guilty to this movement, and brokers asserted that most of the buying came from Toronto. It was also asserted that London took a little. Sir William Mackenzie, by the way, is in London.

The theory is that Sir William has either put his "O.K." on that long-looked-for increase in the dividend or has "O.K.'d" the equally long-looked-for increase in the capital with the new stock at par—perhaps both.

Definite information is about as scarce as it was when Power was shooting up.

"Soo" was firm, and the "Street" is still of the opinion that there is something doing.

JOHN W. GATES SMOKING TOO MUCH

Special to The Montreal Star.

Paris, June 28.—John W. Gates is confined to his bed, the result of several slight operations for an abscess of the throat. He is expected to be around in a few days.

It was reported that an over-indulgence in smoking was responsible for Gates' trouble.

Erie showed a net increase in May of $270,052. For the eleven months the net gain is $378,415.

FINANCIAL PERSONALS.

Mr. James Speyer has sailed for Europe.

Mr. James A. Farrell, president of U. S. Steel, has gone to Brussels.

Mr. George Baer, president of the Reading, has gone to Europe.

RUBBER BUSINESS IS SLOW.

Col. Colt, the president, states that the U. S. Rubber Co. is working about 60 per cent. of its capacity.

TWIN CITY GAINS SMALL OWING TO THE LOW WATER

Twin City shareholders will not be particularly cheered by the statement for five months received by The Star to-day, as the surplus for the period is only 1¾ per cent. better than it was this time a year ago.

The five months' statement in detail follows:

	1911	1910
Revenue	$3,070,528	$2,911,069
Other revenue	29,921	20,573
Total	$3,100,449	$2,931,643

Low water in the river is still a factor in the company's affairs.

CONSOLS A LITTLE EASIER.

Consols were a little easier at 79 9-16 for money and account.

Cause of the Drop In Dome Extension.

The break in Dome Extension stock from $6 to $0 was facilitated by a report that the attack was to be made on the company's title. The vendors of the property are having a dispute as to the division of the price they received from the present company, but the latter's title is in no way involved.

OPINIONS on the MARKET.

Laidlaw & Co.: Should the weather continue seasonable, the market should preserve its strong undertone, and its gradual upward tendency.

Head & Co.: We would buy the better class stocks on reactions.

Shearson, Hammill & Co.: A trading market looks probable for the time being.

E. & C. Randolph: The news from the crop regions continued satisfactory, and bulls argued there was nothing in the situation to cause any holder of the stocks to sell.

CEMENT PFD. DIVIDEND.

The regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent. has been declared on Cement pfd., payable August 16, to shareholders of July 31.

SHAREHOLDERS OF COTTON STOCKS ARE BADLY HIT

Although Canadian cotton mills are paying dividends, cotton mill shareholders in the States have been badly hit.

All told, there have been 20 changes in the dividend rates of major New England cotton mills, 14 in Fall River, where the coarse goods mills have been the worst sufferers, two in New Bedford and three elsewhere.

This tells the dividend story in a nutshell.

2 Directors

Mr. A. C. Flummerfelt, western director of the Eastern Townships Bank, and Lieut.-Col. Carson, were yesterday elected directors of Cassidys Limited.

SIR W. McKENZIE AND RUMORS OF BIG POWER DEALS

Special to the Montreal Star.

Toronto, June 29.—An interesting story has been current lately in financial circles to the effect that the Mackenzie interests had secured control of the Ontario Power Co., the concern from which the Hydro-Electric Commission gets its power, the effect of which, if true, would be that Sir William Mackenzie, who controls the Electric Development Co., would be supplying power to his chief competitors.

The story is doubted for a number of reasons. In any event, the Hydro-Electric people are protected by their contract for five years, and it is probably renewable.

There is another story that the three power companies on the Canadian side of the Niagara River are to be merged, but details are lacking.

NO EXTRA HOLIDAY GIVEN.

Next Tuesday is the Fourth of July. Wall Street wanted an extra holiday on Monday, but the governors would not grant it.

Shareholders of "Mex" Northern Met To-day

A proposal made by the Mexican Northern Power Company to issue of $200,000 bonds in the denomination of $100 each, such bonds to be exchanged for bonds presently outstanding in denominations of $500 and $1,000, and to give each bondholder one vote for each $100, instead of one vote for each $500, was agreed to by the bondholders and shareholders at meetings held in the company's offices to-day in the Canada Life Building.

Doubts were removed as to the provisions regarding the sinking fund contained in the deed of trust executed by the company in favor of the trustee. Modifications and variations to the deed of trust and supplementary trust deed were assented to.

Other matters of purely routine business were subsequently disposed of.

TOPICS of the STREET

When they are selling stocks promoters are most profuse in the information handed out about the properties concerned. The papers are deluged with more news than they can print.

After the stocks are sold the curtain comes down, and the stockholders hear about their company once a year, and are lucky if they hear much, even then.

The fact that "Soo" will not earn its dividend this year does not worry the shareholders in the slightest, for "Soo" has a fine healthy surplus, and also a bumper crop in sight.

"Soo" now sells higher than the Hill roads sell, and is a better stock than either Great Northern or Northern Pacific.

For one thing, "Soo" stock is more closely held. The C.P.R. owns 51 p.c. of it, and if any man offered 300 for that 51 per cent. he couldn't get it.

Mr. H. Gordon Strathy, president of the Stock Exchange, is 65 to-day.

The famous Esperanza mine, in the El Oro district, paid dividends of 20 per cent. last year, and since the inception of the company seven years ago has paid in all 490 p.c., or £2,229,000 to its shareholders.

It is seldom that Mr. James A. Farrell, president of U.S. Steel, gets his name in the papers. One reason is that Mr. Farrell keeps out of the divorce courts and does not try to break the bank at Monte Carlo.

Mr. F. W. Thompson was better to-day. The news that the genial vice-president of the Ogilvie Company was injured was a shock to a host of friends, who will now be glad to know that his injuries were comparatively light. He will be able to get back to his office in a few days.

THE RUSH INTO THE GOLD COUNTRY.

A good strike is reported on the Porcupine Imperial.

Dome stock has sold at $40, or eight times its par value.

Claims in Bristol township are offered at $300 to $5,000 each.

Some good showings are reported on the Miller property.

The Preston East Dome reports a 15 foot vein

Samples from the Eldorado show $17.50 in gold

Prospectors from Turnbull and Carscallen Townships have brought down samples of quartz.

KING GEORGE GOT MORE ATTENTION THAN THE MARKET

London, June 29.—King George's visit to the city interrupted business on the Stock Exchange to-day, and only a limited amount of trading was done.

Home Rails and Rubber shares improved on bear covering and foreign rails hardened; but Consols and Grand Trunk and mining shares declined.

American securities opened steady, and during the forenoon advanced on fair buying. Then prices moved irregularly until the late trading, when New York supported its favorites and made the closing steady.

TELEPHONE SHARES LOST.

MR. C. H. CAHAN ON A REPORT ABOUT MR. T. S. SAUNDERS

Mr. C. H. Cahan, K.C., states that the statement made in a Mexico City despatch to the effect that an order has been issued in Mexico City for the arrest of Mr. T. S. Saunders, former manager of the Bank of Montreal in Mexico City, is utterly ridiculous.

He says that the record of Mr. Saunders in Mexico may be searched with a magnifying glass, and absolutely nothing will be found reflecting upon Mr. Saunders' integrity.

Rising Tide in Steel Trade in United States

Special to The Montreal Star.

Wall Street, June 29. —The most striking feature of the steel trade to-day is the rapid recovery from the point of depression in May. The industry as a whole is now operating about 70 per cent. of total capacity; some interests slightly and others slightly less. This rate is scarcely 2 per cent. under the point of greatest activity in March, and is an increase of nearly 25 per cent. over operations early in January. The most encouraging feature at the moment is the sudden and substantial increase in the contracts for railroad equipment placed and the bright prospect for a much larger volume of railroad business. Even raw material is beginning to feel the stimulus from the greater activity in finished products.

Pork in Big Demand With Prices Higher

Receipts of provisions, 196 barrels pork, 7,685 packages lard, 286 packages tinned meats, and 125 boxes hams and bacon. The market for live hogs is in an unsettled condition, and prices are irregular, with sales of selected lots being made all the way from $6.50 to $7.75 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars. A fairly good trade is passing in abattoir fresh-killed hogs at $10.25 to $10.50 per 100 lbs.

Pork—Heavy Canada short cut mess pork, 35 to 55 pieces, brls., $22.50; half-barrels Canada short cut mess, $11.50; Canada short cut back, 45 to 55 pieces, brls., $22.50; half-barrels Canada short cut back, $11.50; heavy short cut clear, 20 to 35 pieces, brls., $21; flank, brls., $22; brown brand heavy boneless pork (all fat), brls., $21.50.

Dry Salt Meats—Flanks, boneless, not smoked, 11c; long clear bacon, heavy, 10½c; long clear bacon, light, 12c.

Barrelled Beef—Extra plate, beef, half-barrels, 100 lbs., $7.50; barrels, 200 lbs., $14.50; tierces, 300 lbs., $21.50.

Receipts of eggs 881 cases, compared with 1,066 a year ago. A fairly active trade continues, and prices are unchanged. Sales of straight gathered stock in round lots were made at 17½ to 18c; single cases, 18½ to 19½c, and selected stock, 21½ to 22½c per dozen.

BANK OF ENGLAND RESERVE IS DOWN

The Bank of England's proportion of reserve to liabilities showed a substantial decrease this week, the comparative figures being as follows:

	This week.	Last week.
Circulation	£29,431,000	£29,006,090
Public deposits	15,807,000	14,761,020
Private deposits	47,225,000	41,068,000
Govt. securities	14,971.00	14,971,000
Other securities	36,355,000	29,281,000
Reserve	29,456,000	29,319,000
Proportion	46.7[illegible] p.c.	52.49 p.c.
Bullion	40,239,000	39,677,000

This week last year the reserve declined to 42¾, against 49⅝ the week previous.

De'roit United

Detroit United earnings in May showed an increase in net of $29,614. For the 5 months the net gain was $157,215.

Bought 20,000

(N.Y. Journal of Commerce.)

Shearson, Hammill & Co. were credited with the purchase of 20,000 shares of Union Pacific. This house is supposed to act for some of the most powerful capitalists in the country.

CHATS ON CHANCE.

Walter C. Hatley, who is connected with one of the big packing-houses in Chicago, has just returned from England, and says that America can do business in the meat trade in Europe only on a strict basis of competition. "Argentina is filling up all the countries over there with splendid beef and mutton, and is selling it at 'low prices,'" said he. "The Swifts have houses all over Europe and are distributing the Argentine stuff on a large scale. I never saw finer mutton, lambs, or dressed steers than the Argentine product on sale abroad."

From April 1, 1910, to March 31, 1911, Argentina exported 106,000,000 bushels of wheat. Latest advices say there will be practically nothing for export this season.

Broomhall cables that the Spanish Government proposes to increase the import duty on wheat by 2½ pesetas gold per 100 kilos. The duty on wheat at present is 8.00 pesetas gold.

WHEAT PROSPECTS WERE NEVER BETTER

The Lake of the Woods Milling Co. received the following telegram from their Winnipeg office:

"Prospects never better in Manitoba or Saskatchewan for good crop with favorable weather. Wheat now in shot blade. Have reports of some heading out. We understand North Dakota and Minnesota same conditions."

POTATO PRICES STRONG.

Potato prices hold strong at the recent advance, owing to the scarcity of supplies and the good demand, and sales of choice stock in a jobbing way were made at $1.75 per bag.

WHEAT LOWER ON BIG CROP IMPROVEMENTS

From the Special Correspondent of the Montreal Star on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Chicago, June 29.—July wheat sold at 89⅞ off to 88⅞ and up to 89⅝, and September at 89⅜ to 88⅞, compared with closings yesterday of 89½ and 89½ respectively at the close Wednesday.

Advices from the Spring wheat countries on both sides of the international line say that the crop outlook since the rains shows marked improvement, and that the job of the "crop killers" has disappeared for this season and normal conditions will carry the wheat crop to a finish. The St. Paul road reports rains along its entire system, and says that the promise for all grain crops is considerably above the average.

In its weekly resume of the western crop situation the Cincinnati Price Current says thresining returns are more favorable than looked for, and that in some sections record yields have been raised. Kansas was offering round lots new wheat here to-day for a prompt shipment, and Illinois and Missouri were again in the market in the way of "hedging" new crop in July and August, with a scattering of the September.

Secretary Smiley, of the Kansas Grain Dealers' Association, estimates the wheat crop of the "Sunflower" State at only 55,000,000 bushels, against estimates of a much larger amount by authorities. Secretary Coburn, of the Kansas Agricultural Association, is the only authority in that state whose figures are given any attention on the Chicago Board of Trade.

LAKE & CO. TO PAY IN FULL.

Chicago, June 29.—W. H. Lake & Co., who suspended recently, are preparing to pay in full. The suspension was due to a margin fright.

CHEESE DEMAND MODERATE.

Receipts of cheese 6,789 boxes, against 7,415 a year ago. The local market is quiet but firm, finest western being quoted at 11⅞ and eastern at 11⅛ to 11¼c.

BUTTER PRICES STEADY.

Receipts of butter 2,291 packages, against 571 a year ago. The local market is steady, with finest new make creamery quoted at 22½c, and held at 19 to 19½c.

WINNIPEG WHEAT A SHADE LOWER

Winnipeg wheat was lower to-day, the July option showing a decline of ¼c and December ¼c. The October option showed ¼c gain.

Private bids are away out of line, while the Liverpool cable showed prices to be about steady.

Prices up to 1.30 p.m.:

	Opening.	High.	Low.	Latest
July	96¼	96½	96¼	96⅛
Oct.	90⅜	90⅝	90⅜	90½
Dec.	89⅝	89⅞	89½	89⅝
Oats—
July	37b	37	36⅝	36⅜
Dec.	38½	38½	38¼	38¼

Receipts to-day were 155 cars, compared with 103 a year ago.

CHOICE HAY IN DEMAND.

A fair volume of business is passing in hay, and market is firm for top grades, owing to the limited supply. The low grades are plentiful and easier.

Extra No. 2, $12 to $12.50; ordinary No. 2, $11 to $11.50; No. 3 hay, $10 to $10.50; clover, mixed, $9.50 to $10; pure clover, $7 to $7.50, car lots.

Answers To Questions

D. G. — Black Lake bonds are in denominations of $500 and $1,000 each. The bonds are 30 year 6 per cents., and are a first mortgage on the property. The authorized issue is $7,500,000, and $1,000,000 have been issued. (2) The bonds are not gilt-edged, but the interest is regarded as reasonably safe.

Ignoramus. — A "business man's investment" is one which is reasonably safe but entails a small element of risk. (2) Carriage Co. is now earning around 8 per cent. on the common, so that the dividend on the preferred is safe.

Anxious. — Dome sold at $40 a share, but there is practically no stock for sale. Temiskaming is a risky gamble. (2) Pearl Lake is showing up rather well, but you know, of course, that purchases of all mining stocks mean that you are taking chances.

C. P. R. ORDERED 30,000 TONS OF RAILS IN STATES

It was reported to-day that the C. P. R. had purchased 30,000 tons of rails from the Illinois Steel Co.

That the order did not go to the "Soo" or Dominion Steel Co. caused some surprise on the "Street." It is known, however, that both companies are well filled with orders, and it is presumed that the C. P. R. wanted the rails for quick delivery.

CRIMINAL CHARGE AGAINST LEADERS OF WALL STREET

New York, June 29.—What promises to be the most sensational and far-reaching anti-trust action the federal government has ever undertaken, is expected to take definite form late this afternoon or tomorrow, when a federal grand jury which has been hearing evidence against certain officials of the United States Steel corporation, its subsidiaries and many independent steel companies, makes its report.

It is known that the findings of the grand jury promises to be a greater revelation than any of the published rumors have indicated.

Criminal indictments, charging conspiracy to control the price of steel, and steel products the country over, involving men high up in the financial world, are said to be ready.

WALL STREET WAS DEAD.

Wall Street drifted aimlessly all day. Steel was 78 5-8, Union 189 1-8, Reading 160 1-8, Atchison 113 3-8, "Soo" 142 Erie 37 1-4, Lehigh 180 5-8, Great Northern 137 1-2, Northern Pacific 134 3-4.

RAILS AND R. & O. BOOM.

Toronto Rails kept it up this afternoon and crossed 144. Richelieu was also a feature, selling over 119. Power was easier.

Wayagamack Up.

Wayagamack was stronger this afternoon, going over 39.

Firemen Fight 25th Floor Fire

Travelled by Elevator to Twentieth Story and Walked Rest of Way.

Special to the Montreal Star.

New York, June 29.—The highest blaze ever fought by the New York fire department, according to Acting Deputy Chief Thomas J. Hayes, was discovered early last evening on the twenty-fifth floor of the new Municipal building, now in course of construction at Park Row, Duane and Centre streets.

The fire started in a pile of lumber, which had been placed on the twenty-fifth floor. The blaze, which is thought to have originated from a heated rivet, was first discovered by men on the fireboat Geo. B. McClellan, docked at the foot of Washington street, Brooklyn.

The fire spread to another pile of lumber on the floor above. Fifty firemen were taken in the elevator to the twentieth floor, and later lines of hose were carried up. The blaze was extinguished with difficulty, as standpipe connections were not completed.

A POPULAR MUSICIAN'S PIANO.

The Willis Piano is alive, responsive, resourceful—seems to meet the musician half way and help to carry out his thought. The sensitiveness of the human touch marks no difference between the artistic and the commercial piano. No expense is spared to make our modern factory turn out an instrument on which we can stake our reputation of over thirty years' standing. Says it Would Hamper Police Governor Dix Vetoes Bill Prohobiting Photographing of Suspected Criminals.

Albany, N. Y., June 29.—The Grady bill, prohibiting the photographing and measuring of suspected criminals, has been vetoed by Governor Dix, on the ground that it would "hamper the police in securing the most usual and simple means of identification of suspected criminals, and add a difficulty to securing evidence of crime and clues to its detection."

Another section of the bill made it a felony for an officer to hold a conversation with or question any person under arrest, further than to ascertain names, addresses, etc.

Lords Begin to Amend Veto Bill

Committee of Sixteen to Replace Speaker in Deciding What Money Bill Is.

London, June 29.— The House of Lords by a vote of 183 to 44 last night made the first vital amendment to the Government's veto bill. The change affects the first clause, which forbids the Lords to alter a money bill and empowers the Speaker of the House of Commons to decide what a money bill is.

The Earl of Cromer moved to replace the Speaker with a committee of seven members from each House, the Speaker and the chairman to be allowed to cast their votes.

Viscount Haldane stated the Government's objections. Lord Lansdowne, Lord Morley and other prominent peers shared in the debate. A division resulted in a majority of 139 against the Government.

Lord Lansdowne's amendments will not be reached probably until July.

The amendments provide for the exclusion from the operation of the measure of bills such as that relating to Irish Home Rule; for a joint sitting in case of a disagreement between the two Houses, and for a referendum to the country in other cases.

Urgent whips had been sent out by both parties and the benches were crowded with members.

Debate on the bill is likely to be prolonged until the end of next week.

Mammoth Strawberries.

Ottawa, June 29.—Mr. J. W. Wright, of Carling avenue, has been exhibiting a box of mammoth strawberries. Usually there are from 120 to 160 berries to a box, and this box contained only 14, and it was well filled at that. Some of the berries measured fully 9 1-2 inches in circumference.

Nominations for Next Elections

North Ontario, Centre York, West Victoria and East Peterboro Select Candidates.

Uxbridge, Ont., June 29.—North Ontario Conservatives have renominated Major Sam Sharpe, M.P. and W. H. Hoyle, M.L.A. The latter was criticized by one delegate because of some recent local appointments.

Thornhill, Ont., June 29.—Hartley H. Dewart, K.C., of Toronto, has been nominated by Centre York Liberals to oppose Captain Tom Wallace, M.P., son of the late Hon. N. Clarke Wallace. Mr. Dewart unsuccessfully opposed A. Claude Macdonell in outh Toronto in 1904. He is the son of the late Rev. Dr. Dewart, of the Methodist Church.

Lindsay, Ont., June 29.—West Victoria Liberals have nominated C. E. Weeks, K.C., of Woodville, to contest the riding for the Legislature. They also passed a resolution sympathizing with S. J. Fox, the Conservative member, who has been ill for months, and expressing hope for his speedy recovery.

Norwood, Ont., June 29.—At a convention of East Peterboro Liberals, F. D. Kerr, barrister, of Peterboro, was chosen as candidate for the House of Commons, and E. E. Hawthorne, of Warsaw, was selected for the Ontario Legislature. Both seats are held by Conservatives.

WILL VETO ANY GENERAL TARIFF REVISION BILL

New York Tribune Says President Taft's Mind is Made Up on This Point.

RECIPROCITY ALSO, IF THE BILL IS AMENDED

Allegation Insurgent Senators Seek to Injure President in Eyes of Country.

Special to the Montreal Star.

New York, June 29.—The Tribune's Washington correspondent says:—

"Will President Taft veto the Canadian Reciprocity Bill if it is amended by the addition of general tariff revision features?"

"Will the President veto other tariff revision measures, such as the Farmers' Free List bill, the Wool bill, etc.?"

These questions are being asked in the Senate with every appearance of gravity, but with a total lack of sincerity.

Every Insurgent Senator knows full well that the President will veto any general tariff revision measure, in whatever form it comes to him, and that he will veto even the Reciprocity Bill if it is so amended. These questions are pharisaical.

They are not put with a view to eliciting information, but because it is desired to place the President in an unfortunate light before the country by inducing him to answer that he will. To those who have a right to know his views, to the friends of Canadian reciprocity, he has made his position perfectly clear, and they have told the Insurgents where he stands, precisely as Senator Stone, leading advocate of reciprocity on the Democratic side, has been informed and has communicated his information to his Democratic associates.

But the President will not threaten the Senate with a veto. Neither is he likely to take further steps to make his position clear, although it is possible he will deal pretty frankly with this situation in his speech at Indianapolis on July 4.

But there is no need for further information on the part of the members of the Senate. What angers them is that the President does not do something which might injure him with the country. In so far as general revision is concerned, in his message explaining that the Tariff Board was not ready to report on the wool industry, President Taft made his position quite clear enough to satisfy those who sincerely desired information.

In fact, his position is so well understood in the Senate that the Democrats will not run any risk of a veto by tacking general revision amendments on the Reciprocity Bill—a fact which is heart-breaking to its Insurgent opponents.

TERMS OF ARBITRATION

Washington, D.C., June 29.—After a conference between President Taft and Ambassador Bryce, of Great Britain, announcement was made at the White House that the arbitration treaty between Great Britain and the United States was practically complete, and, with the exception of a few comparatively unimportant details, the terms of the treaty had been agreed upon.

UNFORTUNATE INCIDENT HAPPENS IN AUSTRALIA.

Ministers Depended on Each Other to Attend Governor's Levee and No One Turned Up.

Special Cable to The Montreal Star.

Melbourne, Australia, June 29.—The unfortunate incident arising out of the non-attendance of members of the Commonwealth Government at the Coronation Levee, given by the Governor-General in Melbourne, has been settled satisfactorily.

The Ministers have explained, as they did when first approached, that the occurrence was a purely accidental one, the coincidence being that each of the members of the Cabinet left it to some one else to put in an appearance.

Esel Dudley, has now professed himself satisfied that no slight was intended and the incident is regarded as closed.

A PECULIAR ACCIDENT.

Australian Freight Train Splits and Rear-end Collision Occurs.

Special Cable to The Montreal Star.

Melbourne, Australia, June 29.—A remarkable accident happened today to a goods train, travelling from Peterburg to Port Pirrie.

The brakeman was in the centre of the train, and at one point in the journey, the cars behind broke away. Just then the train was crossing the summit of a hill, and the engine driver seeing that a collision was imminent, put on full steam, in order to escape the racing trucks. The latter, however, acquired so much momentum that, they overtook the train and crashing into the brake van, smashed it in pieces, killing the guard on the spot.

NO MURDER WAS DONE.

Winnipeg Mystery Cleared Up by Post-Mortem Examination.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Winnipeg, June 29. — The post mortem on James Reive, who was thought to have been murdered at the foot of Water street, showed no fracture of the skull, but that drowning had caused death.

The man was subject to lumbago, and the theory is held by the police that he was seized with an attack, fell back, striking his head on a plank, and lay, unable to rise, with his head under water until he was drowned.

McMANIGAL SAYS WIFE NOT TREATED BADLY BY POLICE

Nothing Approaching Third Degree, He Declares in First Interview Since His Arrest.

INTERVIEW ARRANGED AT HIS OWN REQUEST

Contempt Proceedings Begun to Compel Mrs. McManigal to Answer Grand Jury.

REITERATES GUILT OF THE MACNAMARAS.

Special to The Montreal Star:

Los Angeles, Cal., June 29.—McManigal declared to-day that the charges he has made against the McNamaras are true and that he will not repudiate his confession. He asserts that sympathizers have won his wife away from the prosecution by paying her money and giving her assurances for the future.

"The McNamara's are guilty and I don't propose to tell anything but the truth.. I am not going to change front now," is the way McManigal asserts himself.

Los Angeles, Calif., June 29.—At an interview, the first given since his arrest more than two months ago, Ortie McManigal, alleged confessed dynamiter, to-day between sobs spoke of the arrival of his wife and made assertions that largely contradicted statements given out by the defence of the McNamara brothers charged with the murder of 21 persons in the Times dynamite disaster.

The interview was given in the presence of a private detective, and McManigal's statements were principally in response to questions that related mostly to incidents of the last few days since Mrs. McManigal and her two children arrived from Chicago and arrayed herself on the side of the defence.

McManigal declared that it was at his request that the interview between himself and his wife in the anteroom of the Grand Jury chambers was arranged on Tuesday.

"The detective present did not say or do anything ungentlemanly to her, and there was nothing approaching the third degree in their treatment of her," McManigal said.

Speaking of his wife's first visit to him in the county jail, last Sunday, McManigal said: "She wanted me to write to Clarence S. Darrow, the attorney for the McNamaras, saying, 'Mr. Darrow, I want to see you.'

"She told me that unless I did so, I would never see her again. Under that influence, I wrote the note. Later, I wrote another not, repudiating the first."

McManigal said he had not been promised immunity or reward of any kind by the prosecution.

Contempt proceedings were begun yesterday against Mrs. McManigal because of her refusal to answer what the prosecution declares were pertinent questions when she appeared before the Grand Jury. The questions will be read in open Court on Saturday to determine whether she should answer trem.

ARCHBISHOP OPPOSES DIVISION OF DIOCESE.

Proposal to be Discussed by Synod of Rupert's Land.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Winnipeg, June 29.—His Grace Archbishop Matheson, at the Synod of Rupert's Land today declared emphatically that he would veto the plan to divide the diocese on the ground that the consolidation of the diocese the extension work, and the endowment of other works would make it impossible to endow a new diocese.

The movers were inclined to withdraw the proposal, but a discussion was wanted and it will be threshed out.

THE WESTERN HARVEST.

Forty Thousand Men Required to Handle the 200,000,000 Bushel Crop.

Reports from the Canadian West estimate the coming crop at 200,000,000 bushels; the largest in the history of this country. There is a much larger area under cultivation this year than ever before, and the climatic conditions have so far been ideal. An army of men will be required to handle this crop, between 38,000 and 40,000, and the West is looking to the East for the larger part of the supply.

Saskatchewan alone, it is officially stated, will require at least 20,000 harvesters, almost double what it secured last year, and Manitoba and Alberta will need the balance. The railways will, of course, run harvest excursions at reduced rates, as in former years, commencing early in August, and as good wages are likely to rule, thousands of young men will doubtless be attracted to the West this autumn and will be able to return with lots of cash and valuable experience.

Special Notice.

CHANGES IN TRANS-ATLANTIC SERVICE

White Star Liners of Celtic Class Alter Sailing Day from New York.

Special to The Montreal Star.

New York, June 29.—The advent of the Olympic into the Atlantic trade has brought changes in the White Star line service, which will go into effect in August. The Adriatic, hitherto the commodore ship of the fleet, will start on her last sailing from Southampton, on July 26, and enter the New York-Liverpool service, on Thursday, August 10, from this port.

For the last four years, Liverpool boats of the Celtic class have left New York on Saturdays. The change to Thursday has been made to avoid competition with the Southampton service, the sailing date for which has been changed to Saturday, instead of Wednesday.

It is reported that the White Star line Liverpool steamers will call at Fishguard to land London passengers on their way from Queenstown to Liverpool, when the Great Western Railway Company has completed the work on its breakwater at that port.

EMPRESS SPECIALS.

In connection with the "Empress of Ireland" from Quebec, Friday, June 30.

"EMPRESS SPECIAL" of colonist and first-class coaches and Standard Sleepers, will leave Montreal, Windsor Street Station, 8.30 p.m., Thursday, June 29.

"EMPRESS MAIL SPECIAL," of day coaches, diner and parlor cars, will leave Windsor Street Station at 9.45 a.m., Friday, June 30, running direct to the ship's side at Quebec. Breakfast in diner ready at 9.00 a.m.

RUSSIA AND JAPAN JOIN IN PROTEST

Send Memorandum to Four Powers Taking Exception to Manchurian Loan Bill.

Peking, June 29.—Japan and Russia have protested to the four Powers against article 16 of the currency reform and Manchurian development loan.

The article objected to provides that should China require additional loans to continue the operations contemplated under the loan agreement the British, German, French and American financial groups interested will be first invited to provide the required funds, and that should China decide to invite foreign capitalists to participate with Chinese interests in the Manchurian business undertaken in connection with this loan, the same four groups will be first invited.

Japan and Russia contend that this operates to "shut the door of equal opportunity" against their national banks in Manchuria.

It is believed here that the protest will not cause any change in the consummated loan arrangement, but that it may result in Japanese and Russian participation in future loans.

BETTER TIMES IN JAIL.

Brisbane Authorities to Give Convicts Electric Lights if They are Good.

Special Cable to The Montreal Star.

Melbourne, Australia, June 29.—A new system for the treatment of prisoners is being tried as an experiment at Brisbane. An electric light has been installed in the prison and all convicts whose records are good, will be allowed the privilege of using the light until 9.30 each night. The cells are being better furnished and more attention is being paid to the physical welfare of the prisoners.

HEROIC MOTHER'S SACRIFICE IN VAIN

Gave Blood to Obtain Money to Bring Children Out, But Fainted, Fell and Died.

New York, June 29.—Mrs. Ida Schiff, who gave of her blood to save a dying woman and to obtain money to bring her five children here from Russia, made her sacrifice in vain. Weakened by the loss of blood, she fainted last night while on the fire escape balcony at her home, and fell eighty feet to a court pavemen. She died an hour later.

Ever since Mrs. Schiff came to this country two years ago to join her husband, she and her husband had been planning to save money enough to send for the children. They had saved nearly enough when, a month ago, the husband was left without employment

A week ago, Mrs. Schiff was told of a woman whose life could be saved by blood transfusion. She eagerly took advantage of the opportunity to obtain the money necessary for her children's journey. The woman died in spite of the operation, and Mr. Schiff says his wife did not get the money.

Halifax, June 29.—Mrs. Isabella Ross, 50 years of age, dropped dead here last evening. She was in the barn milking a cow, when she was stricken and passed away before medical assistance arrived.

Special Notice.

Values, Remarkable, are listed below for Friday's Sale

The opportunities here afforded to-morrow, of buying at absolutely rock-bottom prices, arise out of two all important reasons. Primarily is the fact of to-morrow's being the day before Dominion Day, and secondly, of its being the day upon which our June Sale terminates. These facts combine to enable you to accomplish much with comparatively small outlay. For verification of the truth of this statement, we invite your attention to the items given below, which, amongst others, have been specially reduced for to-morrow.

An Ideal Outing Dress

$4.95 for Dominion Day

The Very Latest New York Style, in Mercerized Linen with Sailor Effects

That You May Look Charming and Feel So. To-morrow we sell a $12.50 Dress, for $4.95

At the outset let us emphasize most strongly that this style, which we sell Friday at less than Half Price, is the newest model upon which fastidious New York has stamped its mark of approval. To describe them as they deserve would be most difficult—they are beyond the pale of mere superlatives, and have to be seen, that their charm may wield its irresistible influence upon the heart of style lovers. A miniature description would be as follows:—

They are made of Mercerized Linen, in the high waist style, and have a White Inlaid Sailor Collar, and inlaid turned back cuffs. Also they have new Pannel Backs and a large Satin Sailor Knott Tie, which lend much beauty to their appearance.

There are 50 only, so we accept no Phone, Mail or C.O.D. orders. Owing to their absurdly low price, we will be obliged to charge for alterations where necessary.

These Dresses can be had both in Ladies' and Misses' sizes. See our window display. $12.50 DRESSES ON SALE FRIDAY $4.95

Sues Railway for Damages.

Toronto, June 29.—The first of the victims of the Newcastle wreck on June 16th to bring an action for damages against the Grand Trunk is R. W. Higginbotham, a passenger in the car in which James Madill, who was killed, was a passenger.

A writ was issued at Osgoode Hall yesterday on behalf of Mr. Higginbotham, claiming unstated damages.

Church Celebrates its Centenary.

Brockville, Ont., June 29.—The one hundredth anniversary of the English Church at Delta, one of the oldest churches in the provinces, was celebrated yesterday. Bishop Mills conducted the services.

The corner stone was laid in 1811 although the exact date is not known. It is simply built of stone, after the Celtic fashion, without chancel and with a square tower.

Live Stock on Cassandra.

The Donaldson Liner SS. Cassandra, which arrived in port yesterday, from Glasgow brought amongst her cargo, two prize bulls, five fine horses and a dozen sheep.

Goodwin's Semi Annual Begins To-Morrow; The Sale That Means Business

GOODWINS' SEMI-ANNUAL

To-morrow we start to cut sheer into the heart of all the goods in this store. By the end of July the stocks must be reduced to an absolute minimum. We will take advantage of every legitimate means of having as few goods as possible left in the store on the first Thursday in August. That is the Stock-taking Day. The clearance in the meantime will mean thousands of dollars gain to our customers. We have a running start into this Great July Sale by beginning to-morrow—the last day in June, and we will keep the goods going out.

Sketched from Models in Department.

New York Tub Dresses for $2.98

For Junior Misses and Small Women, Also Regular Sizes.

We put these Dresses on sale last Friday at $2.98, the same price as we will sell them to-morrow. There has probably never been a more popular dress sold at this store. The demand was so great for them that we had to disappoint a lot of our customers, especially those who wanted the end dress shown here, which is in black and white stripe, blue and white, mauve and white. A shipment of these dresses which should have been here, arrived too late, so we will put 350 of these same models, including plenty of all patterns, on sale to-morrow at ..... $2.98.

Our artist has drawn three of the models in the department, so that we can show these regular $5.00 dresses here.

Judging from the eagerness of our early customers last Friday, we think these 350 Tub Dresses will not last long to-morrow at $2.98

White Lawn Dresses and Children's Dresses Are Also in the Honor List

10,000 Pairs of Correct Style High Grade

Corsets, .39 a Pair

Friday to be the Very Greatest Corset Day We Ever Had

PER PAIR .39 — $1.00, $1.50, $2.00, $2.50, $3.50, $4.00 — PER PAIR .39

Many Silk Broche and imported Coutil and Batiste. Did you ever in your life hear of the best makes of corset for .39 a pair? It not only seems astonishing—IT IS ASTONISHING. This is how it happened.

These corsets were in a big fire in one of the largest Corset factories in America. They came through the fire without being even scorched. True, some water fell on them, but outside of a drenching and a little rust here and there, they are as good as the day they nestled in the boxes ready to be sold at $1 to $4. Even 10,000 pairs of them at the absurd price of .39 a pair will not satisfy all the ladies who will be here to-morrow to buy them. We want to give you plenty of room, so we are putting them in a big cleared space IN THE BASEMENT. SOME OF THESE CORSETS ACTUALLY SOLD AT MORE THAN FIFTEEN TIMES THE PRICE YOU CAN GET THEM FOR TO-MORROW.

Naturally we cannot take telephone orders for them, nor can they be exchanged.

There are included Self Reducing Corsets for stout figures, corsets for slender, medium or short figures, made of finest coutille net or batiste, six and eight hose supporters, draw strings, skirt hook, bows stopped top and bottom. Sizes 18 to 36. White or drab. Regularly sold at $1.00, $1.50, $2.00, $2.50, $3.50, $4.00.

From the way it looks at the present moment, we sincerely advise you TO BE AT THE STORE AT 8 O'CLOCK SHARP. That is, if you are anxious to have the very best choice. These 10,000 pairs of corsets will be here at 8 o'clock, but they will not all be here at a quarter past eight or ten minutes past eight.
