THRONE SPEECH TOUCHES ON MANY ISSUES

World News In Brief

New York, Sept. 7.—(P)—An Eastern Airlines representative said today the company had been unable to contact a 21-passenger plane since about 2 a.m. E.D.T. this morning, when the plane reported it was running into bad weather and attempting to reach Florence, S.C.

The plane was en route from Miami to New York, the spokesman said, adding that no further information was available immediately. There was no scheduled stop at Florence, he said.

"The plane evidently was just north of Florence when we last heard from it," Beverly Griffith, Eastern Airlines public relations manager, declared. "But the static was so bad we are not sure."

Ten civilians, nine military personnel and three crew members were aboard, he said.

Ebensburg, Pa., Sept. 7.—(P)—Nine-year-old Lloyd James Edwards of nearby South Fork, Pa., was being held in Cambria County jail today awaiting a hearing on a charge of murder in the death of a three-year-old neighbor's girl, Phyllis Jean Epperson, last night.

State Police Sgt. Vincent F. Bunch said he filed an information charging the schoolboy with murder before Justice of the Peace Elizabeth Rowland of Ebensburg last night.

The little girl was found dead by searching firemen on an embankment along the rocky bed of the Little Conemaugh River. Her head had been crushed.

Nanking, Sept. 7.—(P)—Indications today were that the official Japanese surrender in this capital Sunday (Chinese time).

American troops here will stand by and do only what the Chinese asked them to do during the surrender of Japanese troops in China, estimated at about 1,090,000 men.

Quebec Sept. 7.—(P)—Premier Duplessis announced last night appointments of August Desjardins, Grand' Mere, Que., lawyer and former battalier of Quebec as commissioner of study and prepare modifications to be made to the Civil Procedure code of the province.

Yokosuka Naval Air Station, Aug. 30. (Delayed)—Japanese Kamikaze suicide bombing attacks upon American shipping slackened in the closing stages of the war because of the empire's inability to promote volunteers for the "divine to death" missions.

This disclosure was made today by Hagime Onishi, 32-year-old Japanese seaplane pilot, who stayed behind to greet American Marines as they stepped ashore at this air base.

Onishi said the "Divine Wind," which is the English interpretation of Kamikaze, lost its appeal to the Japanese fliers after an initial outburst of spiritual and patriotic fervor.

Good Weather Attracts Big Crowds To Fair At Granby

Granby, Sept. 7.—Exhibits of fine quality mark the thirty-ninth annual Granby Fair here this year. The fair, sponsored by the Horticultural Society of the County of Shefford, opened yesterday and will run through until the end of the week.

Good weather brought crowds to the opening. Many inspected the exhibits, had fun in Sims' Grand midway and attended the evening grandstand performance.

Before the night grandstand show, the Granby Harmony Band gave a concert. This highlight will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night. Jack Adams' show this year features six-year-old Jackie Adams, quiet wonder, and the Gangler Brothers circus.

Yesterday, pleasure-seekers crowded the midway until a late hour, with the merry-go-round and the Ferris wheel always the most popular attractions.

Judging is proceeding well in all divisions, with winners announced in the fruit, fancy and domestic work, cooking and canning and the Ferris wheel divisions.

Fruit: Joseph Gaudreau, Granby; Miss M. S. Fisk, Abbotford.

Fancy and domestic work: Mrs. E. K. Lebrun, Cowansville; Mrs. R. Lacasse, Granby; Estelle Bachand, St. Joachim; Mrs. Omer Lacasse, Granby; Mrs. T. B. Vincent, Sutton.

Cooking and canning: Miss Ethel Brandrick, Granby; Mrs. T. B. Vincent, Sutton; Mrs. C. Nelthorpe, Granby; Mrs. W. P. Hibbard, Gran-

Wreckage Of Lost Plane Is Sighted

Sumter, S.C., Sept. 7.—(P)—The Shaw Field army air base reported today the wreckage of a plane, believed to be a missing Eastern Air Lines plane with 22 persons aboard, had been sighted ten miles east of Florence, near the Pee Dee river.

The report said the plane appeared to be a complete wreck.

Army planes from Shaw Field and other bases had been searching for the plane since early morning when it was first reported missing.

The plane, carrying 10 civilians, 9 military personnel and a crew of three, was on a flight from Miami to New York.

WINDSOR PLANT WORKERS FAVOR STRIKE ACTION

Members of Local 195 in Four Plants Urge Action if Necessary to Enforce Demands for Jobs, Wages and Union Security.

Windsor, Ont., Sept. 7.—(P)—Members of Local 195 of the United Automobile Workers (C. I. O.) in four Windsor plants have voted for strike action if necessary to enforce demands for "jobs, wages and union security."

This was announced today by Regional Headquarters of the U. A. W. Votes are still being held in three other plants in which Local 195 is organized.

About 1,000 workers are employed in the four plants in which the results have been announced. Their vote as follows: Auto Specialties Company (Canada) Limited, 94 per cent; Bendix-Eclipse Company, Limited, 93.3 per cent; Dominion Forge and Stamping Company, Limited, 94.6 per cent; Truscon Steel Company, Limited, 97.4 per cent.

No figures were announced for the Chrysler Corporation, with 2,000 employees, Canadian Industries, Limited, with 300 and the Backstay Standard Company, Limited, with 100.

It was also announced today that employees of the Detroit-Windsor tunnel, members of the U.A.W., will take a strike vote soon.

Ottawa, Sept. 7.—(P)—An outline of what the first session of the 20th Parliament will be asked to accomplish was before members today in the Speech from the Throne read yesterday by the Governor-General, the Earl of Athlone.

Stressing the need for new programmes for reconstruction and for the maintenance of peace, the Speech forecast the introduction of legislation dealing with international affairs and such domestic issues as the consolidation of rehabilitation legislation, the expansion of external trade and the definition of Canadian citizenship.

Read in the Senate Chamber amid some of the pomp and ceremony that surrounds peace-time openings of Parliament, the 2,500-word speech, in brief, forecast:

1. A bill defining Canadian citizenship and bringing the law of national status, naturalization and immigration into conformity.

2. Additional measures to assist in relief of destitute people and rehabilitating devastated areas in Europe.

3. Ratification of the charter of the United Nations establishing a permanent peace-maintenance organization.

4. Extending specified emergency executive powers for the reconstruction period.

5. The setting up of a select committee to approve a design for a distinctive Canadian flag.

6. Measures to stimulate external trade.

7. Approval of Canadian participation in the international monetary fund and bank for reconstruction and development.

8. Merging the Department of Munitions and Supply with the Department of Reconstruction into a single Department of Reconstruction and Supply.

9. Abolition of the National War Services Department.

The Speech said that until a national flag has been selected the Government has directed use of the red ensign as a distinctive Canadian flag.

The ensign, carried into battle by Canadian troops, flew from the Parliament's peace tower as the Governor-General presided at the opening ceremonies. Those attending sweltered in Ottawa's hottest day of the year—89 degrees.

Arriving at the Parliament Buildings in an open car with Princess Alice, the Governor-General, dressed in a Major-General's uniform, inspected a guard of honor made up of members of the three services. While the guard gave a royal salute, a 10-gun artillery salute boomed from nearby Nepean Point.

Later from the Speaker's dais in the Senate he read the Speech to the assembled members of both houses, diplomatic representatives, high officers of the forces and invited guests. The peace-time custom of a reception by the speakers of both Houses followed the opening.

New speakers were installed in both Houses at preliminary ceremonies that preceded the opening. In the Senate, Dr. J. H. King of Ottawa was installed and in the Commons, Dr. Gaspard Fauteux of Montreal was elected.

Dr. Fauteux was in his chair when it was decided that the addresses of the mover and the second of the Address in Reply to the Speech from the Throne will be heard today.

Wing Cmdr. William Benedictson, Liberal member of the Commons for Lennox-Rainy River, and Lieut. Leopold Langlois of Gaspé, will be mover and seconder.

In the Senate mover and seconder will be Senator Brewster Robinson of Prince Edward Island and Senator Vincent Dupuis of Quebec.

While the Throne Speech mentioned selection of a national flag, it did not intimate that any steps would be taken to select a national anthem.

The legislation dealing with the defining of Canadian citizenship is expected to do away with the present practice of having Canadian citizens listed only as British subjects.

The speech, reflecting Canada's growth in the councils of nations, paid tribute to the fighting forces of Canada and other United Nations, expressed sympathy for the bereaved and the maimed and made special mention of prisoners liberated from the Japanese.

With reference to the recent preliminary Dominion-Provincial conference, the Speech said that a "successful beginning" was made in considering proposals directed to high employment, high income and Dominion-wide social security. The government hoped that when the conference resumed an agreement would be reached which would "make possible a reorganization of the Dominion tax structure on a simpler, more equitable basis, conducive to the expansion of enterprise and employment."

Inside Bombed Tokyo

SEE BIG ROLE FOR PEACETIME CONSCRIPTION

Survey Reveals Official Support for Some Sort of Compulsory Military Training in Great Britain, Canada and New Zealand.

By HENRY JAMESON
London, Sept. 7.—(P)—Peacetime conscription—long the basis for continental military power—seems destined for a larger role in the world's post-war military establishments.

A survey today revealed official support for some sort of compulsory military training in Great Britain, Canada and New Zealand—all powers which depend upon voluntary enlistment to maintain their modest military strength before the Second Great War.

Canada is keeping informed upon the discussion of peacetime training in the United States, with the possibility that if the United States adopts such a programme Canada would follow suit.

(Basis of the "possibility" that Canada would follow suit is the United States adopts peacetime training was not mentioned in the dispatch.)

The historic opposition in the French section of Canada to conscription in both great wars, was directed not so much against conscription as against conscription for an Overseas war which some declared to be "imperialist."

Canadian proponents of a peacetime draft favor several weeks or months of training annually on a universal basis. Already certain Canadian universities have announced compulsory officers' training courses.

At present the Canadian draft law only plans to continue on the same basis. Holland contemplates no change in her present compulsory military service laws before 1946.

France which puts every physically qualified man of 21 into uniform for two years unless he is a navy or air force volunteer, intends to continue that policy.

The British Cabinet is known to be discussing peacetime compulsory military training. Several ministers in the Labor Government are committed to peacetime conscription, including Foreign Secretary Bevin.

Three-Mile Parade In Tokyo Will Mark Entry Of General MacArthur

Yokohama, Sept. 7.—(P)—A three-mile parade of Allied military might through the heart of Tokyo, beginning within sight of the Emperor's palace, will mark the triumphant entry of Gen. MacArthur Saturday (Japanese time), it was learned today.

Battle-equipped divisions of the 1st U. S. Cavalry regiment will march through the bomb-shattered capital city of surrendered Japan the first such march of a conqueror there in Japan's long history.

Domei said the first troops would enter the city at 6 a.m. tomorrow (5 p.m. E.D.T. Friday). Gen. MacArthur is leading 15,000 troops into Tokyo.

With occupation forces already holding strategic points from the south tip of Kyushu to Tokyo, in central Honshu, negotiations were underway for the American Navy to occupy elsewhere than in the Japanese home islands was stepped up at Singapore and in China.

Reluctant Japanese elements of 85,000 officers and men in Singapore, nervously eyeing vengeful Chinese and Malayan guerrillas, were given until 10 a.m. today, Singapore time (10 p.m. E.D.T. Thursday) to dump their arms. They were given until 6 p.m. (6 a.m. E.D.T. today) to evacuate southern Johore.

In China, transports were engaged in the greatest airborne movement in Asia's history. Flying contingents of 80,000 Chinese to Nanking and other cities in coastal provinces. The movement will require 40 days.

The merciful task of freeing Allied prisoners of war was highlighted by a rescue team of 24, including five army nurses, which boldly took a Japanese troop train to Kobe—300 miles beyond the nearest occupation troops.

The team took 603 infirm prisoners.

BELIEVES MANY A-BOMB CASES CAN BE CURED

Analysis by Japan's Leading Authority on Anatomy and Pathology Divides Effect of Atomic Bomb Into Four Categories.

New York, Sept. 7.—(P)—A Tokyo Radio broadcast last night said that Dr. Masao Tsuzuki, a professor at Tokyo Imperial University and Japan's leading authority on anatomy and pathology, is confident that a majority of moderately injured victims of the atomic bomb can be cured.

The broadcast, recorded by the Associated Press, cited an analysis by Dr. Tsuzuki that divided the effect of the atomic bomb on humans and animals into four categories:

1. Burns caused by light and heat waves. These differ from ordinary burns and resemble those a person received from an electron bomb.

2. Mechanical injury through explosion and concussion. According to Dr. Tsuzuki a human body almost 110 yards from the centre of the explosion will receive the full force of gaseous bodies and substances travelling at the rate of 7,635 yards a second. At a distance of 2,187 yards from the explosion, the force of the explosion will travel with the speed of light (186,000 miles per second) and injuries will be sustained simultaneously with the destruction of substances.

3. Injury resulting from some strong force, as yet unknown even to scientists, the radio said. Dr. Tsuzuki attributed this type to radio activity caused by the effect of neutrons and gamma rays of radium, or else the X-rays. Although the latter two rays decrease in effectiveness in proportion to the distance they travel and are absorbed by structures such as concrete buildings, neutron rays penetrate anything and, therefore, may injure a person in a building or even an air-raid shelter.

4. Harmful effects of the pitch-black smoke following the explosion. Although the exact nature of this smoke has not been determined as yet, Dr. Tsuzuki observed, it doubtless had certain harmful effects on living things because many persons were known to have suffocated.

REPORT FRANTIC EFFORT TO KEEP JAPAN AT WAR

Fanatical Young Japanese Officers Tried to Prevent Imperial Surrender Announcement From Reaching People.

Well-informed Japanese sources said today that fanatical young Japanese officers on August 14 killed the commanding general of Emperor Hirohito's Personal Guard Division and by forging his name sent troops to surround the palace in a vain effort to prevent the Imperial surrender announcement from reaching the people.

The killing climaxed a fantastic attempt to keep Japan engaged to war, these sources related. The finale to the battle over surrender, between the Emperor and certain militarist elements, involved a hot chase after the vital radio recording containing the Emperor's historic capitulation message, they said.

Numerous Kamikaze (suicide) pilots died to death in Tokyo Bay as a result of the surrender and some threatened to kill Japan's surrender envoys to Manila—but there were no further major disorders.

I've seen a small army of peasant girls digging with shovels on a great estate in Bulgaria, and have had the wealthy landowner tell me with a laugh that he paid them only 15 cents a day each, with a spot of food at noon. This sort of thing has been more or less typical of many parts of the Balkans and Eastern Europe. There's been much of it in Western Europe, for that matter, though not so medieval in form as one has seen in other sections.

Of course the mere ownership of many acres doesn't make a man a rascal. It's true, however, that in numerous parts of Europe there still exists a feudalism which at one and the same time has kept land from the peasant and has waxed fat from the sweat of farm laborers. In many instances these families of serfs have been attached to the same estates for generations, unable to break away and set up farming for themselves, even though untold thousands of acres were set aside by the barons for deer shooting and the like.

Now comes news that the tide has reached Western Europe. This is in Saxony, Russian-occupied Germany, where large landed estates are being broken up and turned over to the small tillers of the soil. There seems no reason to believe that the programme won't spread to other parts of Germany, Poland, Hungary, the Balkans and East Prussia.

The development in Saxony is disclosed in a decree published in Berlin newspapers, breaking up the landed estates—one of the first great West European experiments in Communist land reform. This decree is sweeping. It expropriates all agricultural wealth belonging to anyone who was actively associated with the Nazi Party in any way, shape or manner. It's a net with a mesh so small that few fish will escape.

The fever of reform has spread from Saxony to Mecklenburg, Brandenburg and Thuringia. There German Communists are arranging mass meetings at which farmers and small peasants are passing resolutions, condemning the Junkers and other land barons as reactionaries. Thus the way is being paved for further possible expropriations.

The reform in Poland has been sweeping. The Polish press agency, which is the official medium of the provisional government of Poland, says that by the end of last April 7,269,652 acres of land had been parcelled out to 269,899 families. As a concrete illustration of what is happening, it is said that the 6,000-acre estate of Count Alfred Potocki has been distributed among 1,500 peasant families.

An important development in connection with this vast Polish land reform is the establishment of new agricultural schools. The news agency says 329 are now in operation.

Without attempting to draw sweeping conclusions from these expropriations, it is an important commentary that much of the wealth of the Russian war lords has come from great feudal estates which have been in the same families for generations. Thus it is obvious that some of the strongest roots of German militarism are being torn up in this manner.

Four Canadians who were reported to have attempted to escape from a prison camp were said by Japan to have been shot and killed. Drafts to Japan from Shamsu Camp at Kowloon, totalled 1,184 and the movement was carried out in 1943 and 1944.

Landed Gentry Redistributed

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Quietly, but with that inevitability which characterizes the European politics-social upheaval, the expropriation and redistribution of the rolling acres of the landed gentry is proceeding in the eastern and central part of the Continent.

With the comings and goings of that section of Europe more or less sub rosa, few details have been available. We know there has been extensive expropriation of the properties of the feudal barons of Poland. There are indications that similar changes are going forward in Hungary, the Balkans and East Prussia.

Now comes news that the tide has reached Western Europe. This is in Saxony, Russian-occupied Germany, where large landed estates are being broken up and turned over to the small tillers of the soil. There seems no reason to believe that the programme won't spread to other parts of Germany, Poland, Hungary, the Balkans and East Prussia.

The Research Enterprises Ltd. local of the steel union passed a similar resolution Tuesday night.

What An Accent!

London, Sept. 7.—(P)—Hundreds of British fathers and mothers are welcoming back the sons and daughters who went to Canada and the United States when the war began—and the surprise is mutual.

One father, a sturdy Englishman, was proud of his Canadianized son, strong and self-reliant, but obviously was shaken with the greeting: "Say, dad, you've an awfully accent!"

Make New Record For Atlantic Hop

London, Sept. 7.—(Reuters).—The Air Ministry announced last night that the fastest recorded east to west Atlantic crossing was made by an R. A. F. Mosquito yesterday in seven hours and two minutes covering a distance of about 2,300 miles. It was believed to have knocked five hours off the previous best time for the east to west crossing.

The Mosquito, a photographic reconnaissance aircraft of the R.A.F. Coastal Command, flew from St. Margan's near Newquay, Cornwall, England, to Tor Bay, Newfoundland. It was on a duty flight and was not seeking a record although it was thought that a fast flight might be accomplished despite Atlantic winds and weather that were not too favorable. The plane made an average speed for more than 325 miles an hour.

Brutality Of Germans During France's Occupation Is Described In Interview

By BETTY DAVIDSON
A vivid picture of France during the occupation was given here yesterday afternoon in an interview with Georges A. Nicolas, Doctor of Law and director of the Scheurer-Lauth, a textile printing firm in Thann, Alsace, France. Mr. Nicolas arrived in Canada on Saturday from France aboard the freighter Cephe with his charming wife, their two daughters, Paule, five, and Marie Odile, two, and a governess. They are here with a view to settling in Canada, and presently are asking permission of residence.
"A native of Paris, Mr. Nicolas was in France throughout the entire period of the occupation, and was a member of the Secret Army until August, 1944, when he put on the uniform and fought regularly, first with the Maquis group under Captain Guy D'Artois, formerly of Sherbrooke, a Canadian Army officer who parachuted into France before the Allied European invasion, then with the First Free French Division, until March of this year.
During the first part of the war Mr. Nicolas was with the French General Staff. He continued intelligence work during the occupation with friends who were in touch with the de Gaulle movement over Switzerland.
"At first," he explained, "friends grouped themselves together, then later, the Secret Army began to take shape," this army was distinct from the Resistance, the Frontier Partisan and the Ora. "A group recruited exclusively from professional soldiers, and therefore small."
In May, 1944, Captain D'Artois, with a radio operator and two other men joined the Secret Army in the county in which Mr. Nicolas was working, became chief, elected his officers, supplied arms for the group and generally organized affairs.
"Captain D'Artois did a wonderful work for us," Mr. Nicolas stressed. Queried for singular highlights during his association with the Secret Army of France, Mr. Nicolas replied that it was impossible to recount any, since everybody did his part that the whole might be satisfactory.
"There is hardly a village throughout France, however," he continued, "where there is no record of German brutality. The German is a beast who has been educated to brutality."
"At La Varenne Les Digoin, a group of German soldiers were detained because of a bridge that had been blown up by a unit of the Secret Army. The Germans surrounded the village, stood fifty of its inhabitants, including myself, against a wall, selected five men between eighteen and twenty, and for no reason, shot them before their fellow citizens. And all the while the German soldiers urged their officer to allow them to shoot more."
Arrested by the Germans in Lyons, Mr. Nicolas had a narrow escape on one occasion. Having disembarked from a train, he was apprehended in the city for overstaying the curfew. He was released, however, when he explained in German that his train had been late. Showing papers that proved that he had come from a train, he was released fortunately without being searched.
He told of another incident. When the Maquis from Roanne attacked the German airport at St. Yan, the Germans took sixteen people of the village, who had not taken part in the affair, kept them for two days in a garage, then stamped them to death with their boots. One of the sixteen was a veteran of the last war who could not walk.
"The Germans have left division and corruption in France," Mr. Nicolas stated when asked for a brief on conditions in the country today. He stated that there is no great possibility for immediate reconstruction as there are no elements.
"Economically, France has to begin from the base. The Germans have plundered scientifically beginning with the raw material. It will take many, many years with the hardest and most competent industry to build up the country."
When a country has been occupied for many years by corruptors, seeds of that corruption are sown in the land of the occupation; and so the Germans, who are themselves terrible corruptors, left a mark on France. The elimination of the poison that the Germans have put in the veins of France will slow down the process of reconstruction in the country.
"Belgium in 1939," Mr. Nicolas employed as an example, "had not recovered from the German occupation during the last war."
He spoke of Petain, "whose ingenuity as a puppet brought into the country a party which was working for the Germans without knowing it." As a result, these people, whose first rule was to "obey the Marshal," divided the country against itself.
Asked about the current political situation in France, Mr. Nicolas declared that he was not qualified to speak on it since his only source of news at the front was the military publication, "La Patrie," which did not cover politics.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicolas are visiting here with Captain D'Artois. Their children are in Montreal in the meantime.
Mrs. Nicolas herself recounted a few of the difficulties of life in France during the occupation.
Food was rationed, of course, and very strictly. A child was allowed only two slices of bread a day, with butter almost non-existent.
"It was possible to go on for three or four months without seeing but one different section of a city, as the people were not nourished, and had no strength to build themselves up if there was an illness," she continued. "It was a kind of slow starvation."
"Dress was an expensive project," she sighed. Clothes had to be bought on the point system, with black market prices exorbitant. Shoes were difficult to find, and most had wooden soles. A pair of leather shoes cost four or five thousand francs on the black market.
In Paris, bicycles were the main means of transportation. There were a few motor cars and pony carriages on the street with the majority of citizens crowding the metro's to get from one place to another.

Rumored Alderman Gervais Will Resign From City Council Seat

Prevalent in civic circle rumors today was the question of whether or not it is true that Alderman Eugene Gervais intends to tender his resignation from the City Council before the next meeting of that body on the 17th of this month.
Ald. Gervais, when approached on the subject declared that he had no comment to make. Pressed to either deny or confirm the rumor he refused to answer directly, stating simply, "I have nothing to say." Mr. Gervais was not present at the last meeting of the Council.
Elected in 1938 as a representative of the Centre Ward on the City Council, Mr. Gervais is now serving his third term as an Alderman. He was re-elected to the Council in 1941 and 1944 by acclamation.
During his term of Alderman, Mr. Gervais has served in the capacity of Chairman of the Real Estate Committee, Chairman of the Waterworks Committee, and since 1943 has been Chairman of the Municipal Administration Committee of the City Council.
At present he is also a member of four other committees of the Council, including: Waterworks Committee, Recreation Committee, Community Services Committee, and the Fire and Police Protection Committee.
VALUATION ROLL FOR YEAR 1945 NOW COMPLETED
Public notice will be given tomorrow by the City of Sherbrooke informing citizens that the Valuation Roll of the City for this year, 1945, has been completed and deposited at the office of City Clerk Antonin Deslauriers.
The Roll will remain open for examination by parties interested in their representatives for a period of thirty days beginning tomorrow, September 8th, to October 8th, inclusive.
Following this, the City Council at their next regular meeting on October 15th will take into consideration and decide upon all complaints against the Roll. The Council will then proceed with the examination, revision and homologation of the Roll.
PRODUCTION IS INCREASED BY BEEBE PLANTS
Beebe, Sept. 7.—Business is booming in Beebe! This is indeed true if one takes into consideration the upswing in industrial activity that has taken place during the past few months. So great has been the demand for their products that Dominion Glove Co. Ltd. not only has been forced to work to top capacity, but have also had to open a branch factory at Waterville, and Harold Beane, the General Manager, anticipates a production of approximately 800,000 dozen gloves per week, from both plants, by the beginning of next month.
The company took over the old Baptist Church property in Waterville, and made extensive repairs to enable them to get under production immediately. Still further enlargement is being planned for the future. At present, the company is employing 35 girls in Waterville, and it is planned to increase the staff to 50 very shortly. The Waterville branch operates as a subsidiary plant to the main factory in Beebe, making up the gloves and shipping them to Beebe where the finishing and shipping is done.
Another addition to the industrial life of Beebe is the new plant opened under the name of Rough and Ready Wood Products. Branch of the enterprising Walden woodworkers, of St. Johns, the new mill specializes in bobbin production and all types of wood specialties. Walden, son of F. W. S. Walden, the well-known preacher-industrialist, is the plant manager and director.
At present the plant is only in its infant stage, but plans are being formed to increase capacity and enlarge and modernize the whole mill in the coming months. Electrical power is being installed and several new machines are on order. The management hopes to produce 6,000,000 bobbin blanks per year, and states that their products are shipped to all parts of the United States and Eastern Canada.
The aim of Rough and Ready Wood Products is to supply finished merchandise and rough stock to other mills, and the production of hawling pins and dimension stock is also planned for the future.

STUMPS DELAY SIDEWALK PLAN IN EAST WARD

Work on the laying of the sidewalk on King street east for a distance of 1,500 feet between Dollard and 10th Avenues, which was started yesterday, has been temporarily delayed by the uncovering of huge tree stumps just below the surface of the lawn over which the walk is being laid. The stumps are all that is left of huge poplar trees which at one time lined the street.
City Engineer J. C. Cote stated that so far two such stumps have been found and that they are within the first hundred feet up from Dollard Avenue. He said that they were well rooted and showed no signs of decay.
Attempts to haul them out by using the city's five-ton flusher truck with a crane to clean the streets with water, failed when the hooks on the back of the truck to which chains were attached, broke. It is planned to use one of the city-owned bulldozers today to extricate the stumps.
"Even by using this powerful machine we expect to experience some difficulty in removing them," said Mr. Cote.
The possibility of using dynamite was discussed by the City Engineer who declared that it would be too dangerous because of the proximity of the homes to the street.
According to Mr. Cote, if half a dozen more stumps are found $500 will have to be added to the estimated cost of the project of laying the walk, which amounts to $4,000.
CHIMNEYS OF ALL BUILDINGS MUST BE SWEEPED
Officials of the Fire Department today issued a warning to Sherbrooke property owners that their chimneys must be swept before October 15th.
Residents were reminded that according to By-law 621, which was passed by the Municipal Council in May of 1942, all chimneys of buildings in the city must be swept between April 1st and October 15th. Those who fail to comply with this order are subject to a fine of not more than $20 or two months in jail.
Owners may sweep their own chimneys or hire a licensed plumber or chimney sweep to do the job. Whatever method they choose, upon completion of the work they must contact the Fire Department so that the chimneys may be inspected by the City Fire Prevention Inspector, Wilbrod Lapierre.
All buildings in the city come under the By-law including homes, offices, warehouses and manufacturing buildings.
DATE FOR 1945 CAMPAIGN FOR LIBRARY FIXED
At a meeting of the Board of the Sherbrooke Library in the Library Building last night, dates were set for the annual financial campaign for the week of September 17th. A campaign dinner for all canvassers will be held on September 13th, with Howard Kennedy, Library Treasurer, in charge of arrangements.
Representing the women's committee of the Library at the meeting last night was Mrs. E. Bayley. E. G. Bascom, newly-elected chairman of the book buying committee, reported that just this week, eighty-six new books had been ordered. They include fiction, non-fiction and children's books, and are expected soon.
The Board expressed themselves in resolution as being desirous of giving every possible assistance to the forthcoming Art Exhibit being sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce here.
CONTROLS UPON FOOTWEAR HAVE BEEN REMOVED
Simplification controls affecting production of men's and women's footwear have been removed, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board announced today.
Originally imposed early in 1942 as a means of reducing manufacturing costs and conserving materials, the order limited the colours in which shoes might be produced and detailed the construction of heels, stitching, linings and other particulars of manufacture. Limits were placed on the number of new patterns of women's shoes which might be introduced each year, and standard sizes were established for packaging. Manufacturers were also forbidden to make fewer than 15 pairs of any class of footwear on any one order.
G. G. Hodges, administrator of footwear, emphasized that price controls are not affected by removal of the simplification controls and supplies will continue to be distributed according to the Board's policy of equitable distribution.
Similar simplification controls were recently removed in the United States.

Sherbrooke's Jewish Community To Observe Rosh Hashona, Or New Year

Rosh Hashona, the Jewish New Year, commences at sundown tonight, and Jews of Sherbrooke will attend special Holy Day services in the local synagogue marking the two-day period of observance commencing the Hebrew calendar year 5706.
According to Jewish tradition, Rosh Hashona is the anniversary of the creation of the world and this year, say Jewish leaders, it brings a challenge to help build a new world. The Jewish New Year is a time for self-analysis and meditation, more significant this year in view of the coming of peace. This day ushers in the ten penitential days during which Jews seek to make peace with themselves, their God and with their neighbors. This day is entirely spiritual in its celebration.
The blowing of the Shofar, or ram's horn, as a call to repentance, is a picturesque part of the synagogue service. It was a ram's horn which called people to service and assembly in ancient Palestine. The beginning of this new year, too, say Jewish leaders, is a call to a new era of better understanding, of greater sincerity and dedication to the pursuits of peace.
Samuel Bronfman, president of the Canadian Jewish Congress, said last night in a Jewish New Year's message that the status of equality cannot be implemented for the Jewish people until they are granted their "right to a commonwealth in Palestine."
Referring to the San Francisco world charter, which called for equality of status for all people, Mr. Bronfman said:
"Certainly Jewish suffering, certainly Jewish need, certainly the pledged word of the leaders of world civilization demand that at end be put to Jewish homelessness that an age-old wrong be corrected and that the Jewish people, which has contributed so much in the past to world culture, be permitted once more to resume its destiny upon its ancestral soil."
Mr. Bronfman said Canadian Jewry stood ready to assume the responsibilities involved in the problems of European Jewry, broken and decimated under the Nazi regime.
These responsibilities, it must be stated, do not, however, fall upon us alone," he added, "clearly do the pronouncements of the leaders of the United Nations indicate that the establishment of a just world order in which no people shall be forgotten people, is the major objective of the new era which victory ushers in."

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE
HOW INDUSTRIES CONSERVE FUEL
Talking about the continued shortage of coal, a Johns-Manville engineer gives some interesting examples of how insulation saves fuel. In one plant where a boiler was insulated, the savings totalled 165 tons of coal in a single year. In another case an insulated storage tank saved more than 15,000 gallons of oil.
To make such savings possible, Johns-Manville has developed special insulating materials which control temperatures from 400 degrees below zero way up to the intense heat of 2600 degrees above.
Throughout Canadian industries, Johns-Manville insulations render two important services. First, they help conserve fuel at this crucial time when Canada faces an estimated shortage of 2,600,000 tons of coal. Second, they slash industry's operating costs by thousands of dollars each year.

THE THRONE SPEECH

The Speech from the Throne read at the formal opening of the first session of the Twentieth Parliament of Canada yesterday followed the practice set by its predecessors in that it gave a minimum of information on the Government's policy on a wide range of subjects. But from such information as was given and such legislation as was forecast, it seems apparent that the House of Commons will be provided with numerous opportunities for turbulent sessions. Many of the bills forecast will meet with general approval, but many more are bound to produce severe opposition.

The decision to create a distinctive Canadian flag is bound to bring much bitter comment with pointed exchanges occurring between those who believe that such a move should have been made years ago and those who believe that the Union Jack is sufficient for this nation. Whatever the Select Parliamentary Committee may decide upon, considerable objection may be expected to its decision, as no action in this respect will meet with general approval.

The decision to introduce legislation revising and clarifying the definition of Canadian citizenship will be generally approved as something long overdue. In the same way, the announcement that war restrictions will be relaxed as soon as possible will be welcomed. The decision to extend some emergency powers for a post-war period will create certain misgivings in quarters who feel that controls should be removed as soon as possible, but the proviso that the Government's powers in this respect will be strictly limited to specific subjects will reduce the threat of an extensive administration of the country by Orders-in-Council rather than by act of Parliament—a danger which had become very close in view of the almost unlimited powers placed in the Cabinet.

One significant feature was lacking in yesterday's Speech—the intimation that the heavily-burdened taxpayer might look forward to an early reduction in taxation. Of course, this is a subject very often reserved for the budget speech itself but it is difficult to see where any substantial cut in the burden can be achieved in the near future. Direct war costs have dropped, but there is the task of rehabilitation and reconversion which will be a heavy burden on the taxpayers. Then there will be the interest charges on the war-inflated public debt while the various social security schemes advanced will cost hundreds of millions of dollars.

NEW INDUSTRIES FOR CANADA

With the termination of hostilities both in Europe and Asia, one of the main problems which faces the people of Canada is the securing of new industries. A recent survey of industrial opinion across the Dominion listed the various factors needed to ensure the proper expansion of industry through the establishment of new factories.

At the head of the list in the replies was the suggestion that Canada be given the right kind of publicity abroad and in the United States, in order that industrialists of other lands might learn of opportunities for investment in Canada.

Other suggestions were principally in regard to internal conditions in the Dominion, and included the following:

- Stable and prosperous labor conditions.
- Lower taxation.
- Larger domestic and export markets.
- More immigration, especially of skilled labor and technicians.

A stable government policy in regard to business, for outside capital and initiative would not be interested in establishing in Canada where their plants might be taken over by the government or subject to direct government competition, was also mentioned as a prerequisite for industrial investment by outside capital.

With peace once more reigning throughout the world, there is little doubt that foreign money at this moment is looking to Canada for opportunities for investment.

Many of these are essentially in the field of federal jurisdiction, but the municipalities can play their part in aiding the movement, especially in connection with taxation reduction and the providing of efficient public services required by the prospective plants.

GERMANS PLANNED TO STAY IN NORWAY

There is not the slightest doubt but that the Germans planned to remain in Norway forever, in the opinion of Lieut. Gen. Sir Douglas Brownrigg, former Adjutant General of the British Field Force, who declares that upon a recent tour of Norway he found evidences of the intended "permanency" of the German occupation on all sides. Two places in particular — Harstaad in the Lofoten Islands and Trondheim—showed the limits to which the Nazis went to establish a lasting grip on the hapless country.

The Lofotens guard the waterway which leads to Narvik; and Narvik is the ice-free port through which the Germans used to ship to their own country the best iron ore in the world. The iron ore was essential to German war production, so defences of Harstaad had to be strong. There the Germans built a battery of four sixteen-inch guns which experts claimed were far ahead of any similar battery in the world, particularly in regard to their ranging and sighting contrivances.

The underground chambers for ammunition and gun crews vied with anything in the Maginot line but the guns were nearly double the size of anything to be found in the French frontier defences. At Trondheim the works were even more astounding. These were U-boat pens—five completed and five under construction. Each pen could be rapidly turned into a drydock and the whole group of pens had a forty foot reinforced concrete roof. The pens were indestructible by anything but perhaps the atomic bomb.

The work was largely done by slave labor and 1,800 Russians lost their lives at Harstaad alone. The poor slaves were worked to a standstill and then were shot when no longer worth their keep. This was the method used by the Pharaohs to build the pyramids, but perhaps the Pharaohs were more merciful.

General Brownrigg declares that it is fortunate indeed that the only unbeaten German army — the Army of Occupation in Norway—was content to lay down its arms when the Fatherland collapsed. To have retaken Norway by force would have been a long and costly job.

CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTORS

During any war there are substantial groups of people who refuse to bear arms on the grounds that they are conscientious objectors—declaring that they are opposed to taking human life, whether it be that of a German, Jap or any other enemy. The handling of these people proved a major problem for the authorities, who had to decide upon the bona fides of each particular case. However, it was found that the vast majority of those whose conscience really prevented them from entering the armed forces were willing to take up useful civilian occupations and in many cases expose themselves to risks in the interests of science as great as those experienced in the armed forces.

A large number allowed themselves to become "human guinea pigs" for experimental purposes. One large group in the United States submitted themselves to experimentation in scientifically prepared rooms to discover human reactions to extremes of heat and cold, and another are still undergoing a six-months test of starvation diet in order that scientists may ascertain how much under-nourishment the human body can endure and what may be done to bring about recovery.

Now we read about a conscientious objector who has died in a laboratory where he had been undergoing tests regarding poliomyelitis, or infantile paralysis.

After all, there are young men who sincerely object to killing human beings under any circumstances, but humanity can bow its head in tribute to those who are willing to risk their own lives in the interest of saving other lives and preventing human suffering.

A CALL TO CANADIAN WOMEN

A practice, which has become a tradition in Canada, is for the women of the country to raise a fund by public subscription to obtain and present to the wife of the Governor-General a suitable gift on the impending departure of the Vice-regal couple. Sometimes the gift is made to the chateleine of Rideau Hall and on other occasions the collection is devoted to some particular public service in which she is interested. With the departure of Princess Alice due in the next few months, a movement has been launched to set up a special "Princess Alice Foundation Fund for the Education and Development of Youth Leaders." This, the sponsors believe, would be a most appropriate tribute to a gracious lady who has always shown a keen and great interest in various social organizations and particularly those concerned with the youth of the country.

The minimum objective set for this fund of $50,000 which should yield an annual revenue of $1,500. The primary purpose of this fund is to provide scholarships, bursaries and grants-in-aid to help worthy young people to attend some recognized training centre where special training in youth work is available. Such a training centre, incidentally, to be either in this Dominion itself or in some suitable place or school outside the country where such special facilities exist.

Provisional trustees for the fund will be Chief Justice Thibodeau Rinfret and Canadian Auditor General Watson Sellar. A co-ordinating committee of five, two honorary secretaries and two honorary treasurers—all women, of course—also have been appointed, and the purpose of this committee is to supervise the fund. Individual contributions to the fund will be free from income tax.

It is hoped that the fund will be well established before Her Royal Highness returns to England, probably late this fall or early next year. The call is addressed to the women of every section of Canada to participate in this fund so that the truly worthy undertaking may be a real national contribution of Canadian womanhood.

CANADIANS MUST PAY FOR SOCIAL SECURITY

Kingston Whig-Standard

The prediction that little relief could be expected for individual income taxpayers in the forthcoming budget recently brought a plea addressed to Finance Minister Isley by a labor delegation for reduction of such taxes. Mr. Isley answered that if the demand for high employment and an extensive social security system were withdrawn, he would be able to introduce a very satisfactory budget. His answer was a forthright and timely reminder that all the people of Canada must pay for expenditure incurred by the Government in meeting the people's demands for social security and high employment—a fact too often disregarded by those who advocate even more comprehensive measures than are now on the statute books.

It is true that individual income taxpayers may expect some relief in future, when the international commitments which have replaced war's demands are no longer necessary. Relief might very easily come before that time, for it seems certain that the costs of war were higher than the costs of reconversion and peace will prove. However, there is not the slightest hope that individual income taxes will ever return to a basis comparable to that of the pre-war period—as long as the people demand governmental measures to assure high employment and social security.

A favorite cry of many who advocate these measures is to "soak the rich," and let their taxes pay for the measures. The absurdity of this is readily seen in the income tax returns for 1944, which reveal that individuals in the $5,000-and-over income bracket paid taxes of $255,300,000 on incomes of $657,000,000. In other words, 44 per cent of these incomes was collected for taxes. The amount from this revenue source was far below that needed; as a consequence, people in the $5,000-and-over income bracket paid taxes of $470,000,000 on incomes of $4,110,000,000, or less than ten per cent.

The figures above show that the total earnings of those in the low income brackets were much greater than those in the higher. Taxation in the latter bracket is virtually confiscation under present rates; any increase would be manifestly unfair. It is obvious, therefore, that government of the future will be forced to go on tapping the larger source of revenue in order to provide the measures demanded by the people. And the rate of taxation must be maintained at a level which will make up government revenue needs from income tax after collections in the higher brackets.

It all boils down to a simple fact pointed out by this newspaper and many others when various social security measures have been under discussion. If the people want these things, they may have them. But they must pay for them. The Government has no money of its own; its money comes from the people. And the cost to the people should be indeed, must be—fairly distributed. It is now distributed by tax levy running from about one per cent to fifty per cent of income. When reductions are made, it would be decidedly unfair if they were not made all along the line; any other course would be a further damper upon the initiative and industry which have helped so greatly to bring Canada to its present level of prosperity.

"Oh, that!" she replied, with a sweet little blush. "That means 'Heaven Only Knows!'"

THREE-SPADE CUE BID COPS HONORS

The national men's pair championship was won this year by Leo Hazen and Sylvester Ginnell of New York against what I consider the strongest field ever entered in this event.

Ginnell's cue-bid of three spades on today's hand was the bid that helped them get into the game contract.

The spade king opening held and the ace of spades was continued. Hazen (East) ruffed with dummy, came back to his hand with a trump and ruffed another spade. Returning to his hand with the ace of diamonds, he led a small club. When South played low Hazen went up with the king, picked up the trumps, then went over to the diamond by leading the three-spot. On the other hand, North had to do was to concede two club tricks to his opponents.

Carp In Sauce Good Eating

BY GAYNOR MADDOX

Carp is a delicious fresh water fish often overlooked by housewives. As a first-class protein, it deserves more attention.

Carp in paprika sauce puts a lyrical note in the meatless menu, according to Rose Bampton, American soprano of the Metropolitan Opera. Mrs. Bampton is a good cook and gives two favorite recipes.

Carp in Paprika Sauce

(Serves 6)

One 4-pound carp, 2 large yellow onions, 1 teaspoon butter. Slice the carp in six pieces. Simmer chopped onions with the fat and two cups of water for one-half hour on a slow fire. Add one teaspoonful of paprika and salt to taste, and put in the fish. Cover with water and allow to simmer for three-quarters of an hour. Serve with boiled potatoes.

Potato-Egg Casserole

(Serves 6)

Two pounds potatoes, 6 eggs, 1 pint sour cream, 2 tablespoons butter, bread crumbs. Hard cook the eggs. Boil potatoes unpeeled but do not allow them to become too soft. While they are cooling, slice the hard-cooked eggs. Grease a casserole. Place a layer of sliced potatoes on the bottom of the dish, then a layer of sliced eggs, and continue until the dish is half full. Pour on half of the sour cream and continue to fill the dish with alternate layers of potatoes and eggs. Salt and pepper to taste.

If you have left-over chopped ham or frankfurters, place the meat between layers of potatoes and eggs.

BREAKFAST: Tomato juice, French toast, syrup or jam, coffee, milk. LUNCHEON: Potato-egg casserole, sliced tomatoes, enriched rolls, butter, stewed plums, tea, milk. DINNER: Carp in paprika sauce, boiled potatoes, green peas, mixed garden salad, enriched bread, butter, peach-upside-down cake, coffee, milk.

RECOVERY FROM RHEUMATIC FEVER IS OFTEN VERY SLOW

By William A. O'Brien, M.D.

Symptoms of rheumatic fever, are fever, sweats, weakness and inflamed joints. It is not usual for all the joints to be inflamed at one time as the redness, pain, swelling and tenderness tend to subside in one joint as another is affected. Onset is gradual or sudden. Although rheumatic fever is most common in childhood, it can occur at any time of life.

Rheumatic fever is a general infection of the body and not a disease of the joints alone. When physicians advise their patients with rheumatic fever to stay in bed after the joint inflammation disappears, they do so to help the body fight the infection in the internal organs. Rheumatic fever of the brain is called chorea or St. Vitus dance, rheumatic fever of the heart causes change in the muscles, in the valves and in the coverings of the heart. Other parts of the body are also affected.

Must Be Cautious

Rheumatic fever is due to an unusual reaction to streptococcal infection. The usual story is that the patient had without difficulty from one to four weeks before, then rheumatic infection occurred. Rheumatic fever seems to affect certain families more than others. The disease differs somewhat in the various sections of the country.

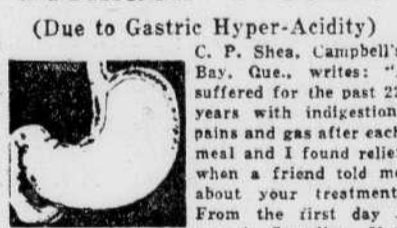

There are certain medicines in practically every case of rheumatic fever. This is the reason physicians listen for heart murmurs in rheumatic fever patients; for if they are found the heart must be given time to heal out of bed. When complete healing occurs the patient is encouraged to lead a normal life, but is cautioned about the danger of streptococcal infections. If permanent damage of the heart occurs the patient should follow his physician's advice.

Treatment for certain medicines which help patients with rheumatic fever, but none which cure them. Bed rest, relief of pain, and nourishing food are nature's best allies. Most patients find it difficult to remain in bed a long time, but this is necessary for all signs of the infection to disappear. To keep a child happy and contented he should have a planned daily schedule of things to do. A visiting teacher can bring lessons for the child so that he can keep up with his school mates.

Treatment for rheumatic fever would be a simple affair if only the joints were affected, but it takes a long time for the body to overcome the effect of the disease in the internal organs. Because the heart is involved in practically every instance, it must be allowed to heal before the patient returns to his usual activity. Patients with rheumatic fever are urged to co-operate with their physician in order that sore throats do not cause a return of their trouble. Exposure is avoided and sulfa drugs are used.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK MARKET

Montreal, Sept. 7.—During the week ending, Sept. 6, 1945, there were 2,511 cattle, 4,606 sheep and lambs, 4,394 hogs and 2,498 calves for sale on the two Montreal markets. In addition, 770 cattle, 323 sheep, 166 hogs and 237 calves were received on direct consignment to local plants and 42 cattle, 2 calves were handled on through billing to Canadian points.

Due to the fact that some of the buyers were absent on Labor Day, trading started slowly on Monday. Cattle trade was fairly steady and prices from steady to slightly lower in spots. Calves were in better demand and prices 25 to 50 cents higher in spots. Sheep and lambs started very slowly but were fairly well cleaned up by Wednesday. Hogs sold slow and some sold 25 to 50 cents lower.

There were no choice steers. Quality was lower on cattle.

Good quality steers were bringing 11.25 to 12, medium 10 to 11 and common kinds down to 8. Heifers ranged from 6 to 10. Good butcher cows were moving at 8.50 to 9, tops 9.25; medium kinds 7.50 to 8.25, and common down to 6.50. Canners and cutters 5 to 6.25. Bulls sold at steady prices. Good butcher kinds brought 8 to 8.75, a few at 9, common as low as 6.

Electric Fences Control Live Stock

Livestock as a rule need little training to keep away from electric fences. Observations at the Dominion Experimental Station at Swift Current, Sask., show that the animals learn very quickly and do not approach a fence even when it is not charged. A Swift Current, a 13-plate wet battery was used on an electric fence that was used throughout the summer months last year for pasturing cattle. The cattle were well controlled, no harm was done to the cattle or the attendant, and the battery was still charged at the end of the season.

The use of electric fences is gradually becoming more widely adopted for pastures. These fences have many advantages but care is necessary in establishing the equipment. Among the advantages are reduction of cost in erecting temporary fences, reduction of expenditure for wire, posts, and gates, reduction of injury to livestock; the adaptation in the west to winding coulees or temporary pasture areas otherwise impracticable to fence, and the enclosure in the fields of unutilized lands that otherwise might be wasted. As a rule, one or two wires are sufficient to carry the electric current. One wire is sufficient for horses and cattle. Two wires are considered preferable for pigs and sheep. The wire can be supported by porcelain insulators on 2 by 2 inch stakes set in the ground 90 to 40 feet apart.

Canadian Horses For B. W. I. Police

Eighteen police horses are on their way from Canada to do constabulary duty in the British West Indies. All halfbreeds, they were selected by the Dominion Department of Agriculture from Breeding Stations at Brampton and Ailsa Craig, Ontario.

Of this shipment, the six horses going to Barbados average 15 hands, 1 1/2 inches in height and range in age from 4 to 7 years; the twelve horses for Trinidad average 15 hands, 3 inches, with an age range of 3 to 6 years. Since 1933, both Trinidad and Barbados have obtained all their police horses from Canada.

MIXED FERTILIZERS

Canada imports about 60,000 tons of superphosphates annually from the Eastern United States but returns about one-half this quantity in the form of mixed fertilizers. Vermont, upper New York, and the State of Maine import a total of 55,000 to 75,000 tons of mixed fertilizers from Canada—one-half of this mixture is superphosphate.

Annual Flower Show Is Sponsored By Stanbridge East Church Guild

Stanbridge East, Sept. 7.—The annual flower show sponsored by the Guild of the St. James Anglican Church was held in the Memorial Hall, Stanbridge East, on August 15 and 16. The show was officially opened at 3 p.m. by Mr. Hall, of Montreal.

The hall was indeed a beautiful sight, both sides and one end were completely banked with flowers of all kinds, artistically arranged each in its own class.

The walls were decorated with the Allied flags and the wind curtains and stage decorations were of green and white crepe paper. The stage was set with evergreen and arranged with huge baskets of gladioli.

In the center of the hall was a bird bath, banked about by cut flowers very beautifully arranged by Mrs. Howard Quinham, of Providence, R.I. Tea tables were arranged about the hall, each proudly flaunting its miniature table center of cut flowers.

A very large crowd attended on the first afternoon, it being the occasion of the V-J holiday, making it possible for many to come, who would otherwise have been on their respective jobs. Afternoon tea was served to all attending.

The men's donation to the show was a huge table of vegetables, groceries and other saleable articles and was set up at the side of the entrance and was under the supervision of Mr. Lawrence Perry.

In the afternoon a table of soups, the war was on exhibition. They were the personal property of Rev. A. D. Rollit, Sgt. B. A. Rhicard and Cpl. T. A. Dawes. There were guns, pistols, shrapnel, shells, helmets, money from several foreign countries and other articles too numerous to mention.

The ladies' sale table was on the opposite side of the entrance and was adorned with many dainty saleable articles. Mrs. Asa Westover was in charge.

On the wall at the back of this table hung a beautiful hand painted picture of the local dam, and mill donated by the artist, Mr. T. Knowlton, of Dunham. Tickets were sold on this picture and the lucky winner was Mrs. G. Palmer, of Selby Lake.

The winner of the rug raffle was Mrs. H. Minkler, of Providence, R.I. The fruit cake made and donated by Mrs. Asa Westover was won by Mr. Myron Callaghan.

The "Guess-the-Weight" cake was drawn by Mrs. G. Hayes, of Stanbridge Ridge.

On the evening of the first day a large card party was held. There were upwards of twenty-five tables of bridge and "500". The prizes in "500" were won by Mrs. A. Goodman, of Dunham, and Mr. A. Gaudreau, of Boston, Mass., and Mrs. D. Cameron, of Winnipeg, Man.

Canadian Chicks Fly To Mexico

One hundred baby chicks are to be flown to Mexico. These chicks selected from approved flocks, have been ordered from an Ontario hatchery for delivery to Mexico for breeding purposes. Their buyer has also ordered 30 R.O.P. pullets and six R.O.P. cockerels each of Barred Rocks, White Leghorns, and New Hampshire. This breeding stock, aged from 12 to 14 weeks, will be shipped by express.

The Director of Agriculture, St. John's, Newfoundland, has recently ordered 100 R.O.P. White Leghorn pullets and 12 R.O.P. cockerels from Canada. The birds were selected from the flock of a breeder in the Province of Quebec.

The Dominion Department of Agriculture which arranged for the purchase and shipment of these chicks is also making arrangements to obtain for Newfoundland an additional consignment of 80 New Hampshire pullets and 12 cockerels and an equal number of Barred Rocks. This breeding stock, all R.O.P. and aged 12 to 14 weeks, is being ordered from breeders in New Brunswick.

KNOWLTON

The annual general meeting of the Knowlton Branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society was held in the United Church. Rev. N. W. Booth, district secretary, was present on his first visit. Music was played by Rev. R. A. Mitchell and Rev. K. C. Bolton conducted opening and closing prayers. Mr. L. M. Knowlton presided and asked for the minutes, which were read and approved. Mr. Knowlton said that a report on the sale of Bibles would be forthcoming at a later date. This was moved by Mrs. M. Knowlton, seconded by Rev. R. A. Mitchell and the 1945 collectors had been Mr. F. Couzens, Mrs. H. L. Hastings, Mrs. J. Andrews, Mrs. Whitehead, Mrs. Albert Needham, Miss Marion Irwin and Mr. K. H. Battley, and the total collection to date amounted to $83.09. Methods of arousing interest in the Bible Society were discussed. Rev. Mr. Booth suggested holding a Sunday night service for the united congregations and the month of October was chosen. It was felt that a smaller and more active executive committee might accomplish the desired results. It was moved by Mrs. M. Knowlton, seconded by Mrs. Bolton and carried that the President Mr. Knowlton, and the Secretary, Mrs. K. H. Battley be re-elected, and this motion was amended to include Rev. Mr. Booth and Rev. Mr. Mitchell as Vice-Presidents. The meeting also agreed that two members of the United Church be appointed to the executive by the session, and two members of St. Paul's Church be appointed by Mr. Bolton, thus reducing the members from eight to four. Owing to the small attendance Rev. Mr. Booth agreed to incorporate his prepared address in his remarks at the educational service in October. Rev. Mr. Booth also expressed a wish to meet the collectors at that time.

WHAT'S THIS A PHOTOGRAPH WITHOUT LIGHT?

THE CURIES TRYING TO ISOLATE RADIUM

THE PERPETUAL ATOMIC BOMB

(1) X-rays, discovered 50 years ago by Wilhelm Konrad Roentgen, started a spectacular trail of research that produced the atomic bomb. They helped Antoine Henri Becquerel at Paris in 1896 discover radioactivity. Roentgen's X-rays caused certain minerals to glow with a phosphorescence. Becquerel observed some minerals had a natural glow, and discovered that invisible rays from these minerals produced photographs in the dark. A metal key placed between the mineral and the photographic plate left its image on the plate.

(2) Chief radioactive minerals were pitchblende, an ore containing uranium. Searching for the source of radioactivity in minerals, Pierre Curie and his wife Marie Sklodowska Curie in Paris isolated a small fraction of a gram of radium salt from tons of pitchblende. They also isolated radioactive polonium, and Andre Debierne in France prepared a pure compound of radioactive actinium. All three charged the air around them with electricity.

(3) Radium had startling properties never before observed among the chemical elements. It was a constant source of heat which seemed never to diminish. Radium compounds could be boiled in water or cooled in liquid air and the rate of heat production remained the same. An enormous supply of energy or power, it seemed to be contained in an infinitesimal amount of matter. This gave some hint of a new source of power, which later was to become an atomic bomb.

(4) Studying radioactivity, scientists found that the chemical elements, the foundation stones of the universe, were not as unchangeable as the 19th century chemists seemed to believe. The 20th century physicists found that radioactive elements, as they gave off their radiations, changed to other elements. The metal uranium changed to radium and radium finally to lead. The heat from these transmutations were supposed to be the source of the heat in the earth's interior. It is also believed the heat of the sun is due to this form of atom smashing, and that the sun is actually a huge atomic bomb.

MONTREAL ROYALS TAKE BOTH ENDS OF DOUBLEHEADER

Defeat Rochester Red Wings 3-2 And 13-4 Playing On Home Diamond

By The Canadian Press

Montreal Royals took both ends of a home doubleheader last night from the Rochester Red Wings, winning the opener 3-2 and the nightcap 13-4.

John Gabbard annexed his 20th victory of the season in the opener, in which he let the Red Wings down with six hits and didn't walk a man.

The nightcap was a loosely played affair with Dick Mady, who went the distance for the Royals, walking 11 men, but he gave up only six hits and the Red Wings left 12 men stranded. Royals won it in the sixth with an eight-run outburst.

Roland Gladu established a new batting mark for a Montreal player when he belted a triple in the second inning of the nightcap to bring his total number of hits for the season to 202, breaking the old record held jointly by Bill Urbanski and Oscar Runtger.

Steve Hresko probably has pitched his last game for Buffalo Bisons. Switched to third base, the reformed pitcher connected safely four times in five trips to the plate as Buffalo crushed Toronto Maple Leafs 7-2 with six runs in the last two innings.

DANVILLE TRACK WILL BE SCENE OF KEEN RACES

The Asbestos-Danville Racing Club is sponsoring a good harness racing programme at their track on Sunday afternoon, September 9. A total of $750 is offered in purses for three races. There will be a free-for-all, with a purse of $400, a classified trot, with a purse of $200, and a 2:25 trot and pace, with a $150 purse.

Feature race, of course, will be the free-for-all. Officials announce a number of good entries already. Dominator, owned by Albert Touant, of Wotton, and who will be driven by Pat Paquin, is a big threat. This stallion, who has raced against the best horses in the province, will be running on the Danville track for the first time on Sunday. A week ago today in the free-for-all "Derby" at the Sherbrooke Exhibition, Dominator drew first and two firsts in the three heats of the race for a $800 purse. His time of 2:16 1-2 in the second heat on that day came close to the Sherbrooke track record of 2:05 1-4 for the mile.

In the same race in Sherbrooke, Brady Hanover, owned by H. Dotson, and Quebec bred horses in a third. This horse will also be racing at Danville on Sunday.

Lee Volo, a new entry in the free-for-all in the province, is scheduled to start in Danville's free-for-all. Owned by A. D. Harrison, of Brandon, Man., this horse scratched in the 2:12 trot and pace at Sherbrooke on August 27.

Two other popular entries for the feature race this Sunday are Rip Harvester and Wild Cat Volo. It is possible that Abbe O'Neill, owned by H. L. Dion, of Asbestos, may also start.

Many owners have entered their horses for the 2:28 class trot and pace.

The track has been improved, graded and banked and the course is in excellent condition for these races on Sunday.

Division of the purse will be as follows: Forty per cent for the first horse, thirty for the second, twenty for the third and ten for the fourth.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Toronto, Sept. 7.—Three unrelated items from the nation's sport pages stress the theme for sport's post-war coming-out party:

1. In Windsor, Ont., a writer suggests an "Olympic-sized sports palace" for Ottawa as a national war memorial.

2. In Toronto, a senior football team with players whose names scream power may play league games in a public park because no stadium is available.

3. In Vancouver, horsemen feel racing may not survive against increasing competition from wealthy United States tracks.

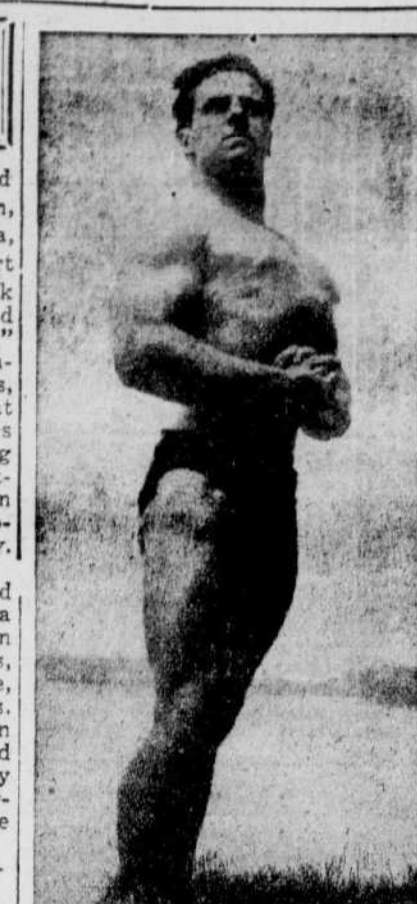

In suggesting Ottawa as an Olympic stadium site, John (Windsor Star) McLean recalls Prime Minister Mackenzie King's statement that the men who fought for Canada made her a "nation among nations" and that Jacques Grober, Paris city planner, has been invited to visit Canada to plan a memorial.

"Mr. King is not alone in his belief that now as never before the Dominion of Canada is ready to 'stand up and be counted,'" says McLean. "There is no reason... why Canada, one of the greatest amateur sport centres of them all, should not look to the future and to Canadian-staged games in... 1960 or even sooner."

The football problem is more immediate. Toronto Oakwood Indians, potential Grey Cup material with at least six championship veterans signed, face the prospect of playing in an open park because other suitable sites already have been taken by other Toronto teams—Argonauts, Balmy Beach and Varsity. There just isn't room for Indians.

In Vancouver, Cum Laude and Koroway offered a natural for a match race but both horses, bred in Canada and owned by Canadians, trekked to Longacres in Seattle, Wash., in search of bigger purses.

In Ontario last year, hiked 75 Canadian-owned horses, hiked across the international boundary from Woodbine to Detroit and Garden State Park. The lure was the same.

A. L. Pennant Race Complicated As Clubs Go Back To Single Game Gait

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
Hal Newhouser's aching back and Dutch Leonard's lame shoulder further complicate the American League flag race today as the clubs go back to a normal single game gait after two dizzy days and nights of doubleheaders.

Newhouser reported to the Tigers yesterday, before their split with the Yankees, but Manager Steve O'Neill is not sure when he'll be able to start.

Leonard came up with his salary wing trouble after retiring St. Louis Browns in order in the first inning of their two-night twin bill at Washington. Marino Pieretti finished off the job in satisfactory fashion but Manager Ossie Bluege has cause for future worry in Leonard's condition.

Dutch hasn't gone the route in any of his last five outings, losing three of four before last night. With only 20 games to play, and five doubleheaders listed before September 23, loss of Leonard for an extended period could well doom the Washington pennant chances.

But things look brighter for the Senators today in the won and lost column for they are only 1-2 games back of the Tigers. Washington took a hard-fought pair from St. Louis Brown, 2-0, behind Johnny Ringling and 9-2 on the Leonard-Pieretti combine. In addition to an efficient relief job, little Marino contributed three hits to the winning cause, scoring the big run after singling to open the ninth.

Detroit almost lost two to the Yankees but rallied to pull the second out of the coals after trailing 2-0 for six innings. Roy Cullenbine's two-run homer tied it up and Hank Greenberg drove home two with an infield hopper as Nick Etten held the ball after the New York infield had tried unsuccessfully for a double play. Even Joe McCarthy got so excited, arguing that Doc Cramer had interfered with Frank Crosetti's throw at second, that he was thrown out of a game for the second time this season.

Mr. Grant MacDonald has gone to Island Brook to teach this year.

Misses Ruth MacDonald and Rosemary Barnett are attending school at Knowlton.

with the last-place Philadelphia club which took the first contest, 6-5, on George Kell's ninth-inning single. Wally Moses' triple helped Orval Grove even the score in the 2-1 finale.

St. Louis Cardinals lost another half game to Chicago Cubs in their uphill struggle toward a fourth National League pennant. Billy Southworth's gang now trails by five games. Ed Wright of Boston turned back the world champs with three blows, 9-1, and Ken Burkhardt, of the Birds squared matters for his 16th victory in the 7-3 second game of a two-night double.

Chicago flattened New York Giants, 6-1, in the afternoon, an easy seventh victory for Fordham Hank Borowy, the ex-Yankee. Bill Nicholson's 12th homer with a man on batter up Borowy's efficient effort.

Brooklyn took it on the chin, but hard, in Pittsburgh, losing 17-5, amidst a usual uproar with the umpires. Leo Durocher and Luis Olmo were chased by Tom Dunn during an argument about a called strike in the fourth frame.

Freshman Howard Fox of Cincinnati celebrated his first pitching success since July 6, snapping a nine game losing streak, at the Phil's expense, 4-1. Izzy Leon was the victor.

Plessisville Is Eliminated From Play Offs By Lachine Black Sox

Three Rivers Que., Sept. 7.—The Lachine Black Sox eliminated Plessisville from the Provincial Baseball League play-downs last night when they noyed out the Plessisville club 1-0 on the strength of a mighty homer by Dave Lambton.

Lambton's game-winning drive, a rock that cleared the right fence 352 feet away, came in the seventh inning and was one of the six hits given up by Pitcher Petro of Plessisville. Poliquet kept eight hits well scattered in toiling for the Black Sox.

The victory gave Lachine the series two games to one, and gave them the right to meet Quebec in the next round which will open in Quebec Sunday.

The Black Sox will play their remaining games of the season in three games, it was announced here. Lachine... 000 000 000—0 8 0 Plessisville... 000 000 1 6 1 Petro and Couture; Poliquet and Reddick.
