City's deficit at record level

Sherbrooke spent $20,464,487 in 1968, $728,209 more than it received in revenue.

The 1968 financial statement, presented at last night's council meeting, showed the deficit was $162,268 more than had been expected.

Ald. Marcel Savard said a belt-tightening program had not worked.

City revenues were $19,736, 278 collected from nine sources.

Hydro contributed the largest single revenue, $5,668,396 or 28.72 per cent of the total. School taxes were $3,813,841, 19.33 per cent and other revenue departments broke down as follows: Municipal taxes $2,722,011, 13.79 per cent; sales tax and licences, $1,616,378, other taxes $1,513,196, 7.67 per cent.

Industrial assistance accounted for 2.82 per cent of the revenue and the water taxes gave 6.10 per cent or $1,203,282. Public utilities supplied the remaining 9.37 per cent or $1,850,000.

The biggest single city expense was the Hydro which cost $5,614,201, 27.44 per cent of all expenditures. Money remitted to the school commissions amounted to $3,813,841, 18.64 per cent. Debt payments were $3,315,688, 16.20 per cent. It cost the city $1,173,796 to operate the police department and $1,000,892 for fire protection. Almost six per cent of the expenditure, $1,224,003, was spent on public works. The Health department spent $904,263, 4.42 per cent. General administration made up 4.08 per cent of the expenditures, $835,616. Parks and recreation cost $819,448, 4 per cent. The water works and miscellaneous expenses accounted for the remaining 8.66 per cent, $1,250,601 and $512,138 respectively.

The total debt of the city rose from $38,172,648 to $41,809,084 during 1968.

During the year Sherbrooke became the first Canadian municipality to borrow on the German market. The city borrowed $5,386,250 at 6 3/4 per cent for two years.

Blames governments for civic woes

A frustrated city council last night blamed Sherbrooke's serious financial problems, revealed in the 1968 financial statement, on the provincial and federal governments.

Ald. Marcel Savard general administration committee chairman, in presenting the statement said the total deficit of $1,101,960 presented "a grave situation but not yet a tragic one."

Ald. Savard said Sherbrooke wasn't the only city with similar problems and he would like to know what municipalities would have to do before the higher governments would listen to the cries for help.

Several other aldermen expressed their frustration with the provincial and federal governments who, they said, refuse to aid Canadian municipalities that are sinking fast.

Ald. Savard said the principal problem of Quebec citizens today is an economic one, and the government is not facing it. "Culture, satellites and the constitution will not resolve the economic problems city dwellers will have to face if something isn't done soon. Useless discussions and contests are surely not helping Quebec's economic climate and are visibly running off investment capital."

He said the cities are not asking for help but demanding what is rightfully theirs. "During the last two federal-provincial fiscal meetings, Quebec has gained $400,000,000 from the central government. I'm very happy about this. But by right, a part of this money should come to the cities and this is what we should fight for."

Ald. Savard said Lucien Saulnier, Montreal executive chairman last year proposed that the revenue from a proposed one per cent increase of sales tax to seven per cent be given entirely to the municipalities. Quebec raised the sales tax to eight per cent and kept all the revenue. Ald. Savard said this move cost Sherbrooke $800,000.

He said municipalities have put up with financial injustices long enough and it is time something was done to force both levels of government to act.

Ald. Savard said a belt-tightening effort on the part of all departments would be necessary and he urged expenditures in education for "castle-schools."

"We can't continue to accumulate deficits without hurting the city's good credit standing."

Ald. Romeo Quintal asked whether, despite lotteries and other means of gaining revenue, higher taxes are the only solution. He said the city tightens its belt every year and still the deficits grow.

"We'll do what we have been doing, only better," Ald. Savard said.

Ulster PM offers concessions

BELFAST (CP) — Rioters stoned two police barracks Monday night in Belfast and threw flaming gasoline bombs in the streets, but British troops guarding key installations in Northern Ireland stayed out of sight.

Police scattered the crowd of about 100, and by midnight the city was quiet. There were no casualties.

More than 200 British soldiers were stationed at power plants, fuel depots and similar plants to guard against saboteurs. In London, Home Secretary James Callaghan stressed the troops would not be used to maintain order in the streets.

Earlier Monday, Roman Catholic demonstrators in Londonderry battled police for the third day despite appeals by civil rights leaders for the crowds to disperse.

Fighting also flared at Lurgan between Roman Catholics and Protestant extremists who oppose Catholic demands for more jobs, better housing and abolition of property requirements for local voting.

LEADERS TO MEET — The British government announced that Prime Minister Harold Wilson will meet soon with Prime Minister Terence O'Neill to grant more concessions to the 500,000 Catholics, one-third of Northern Ireland's people.

Officials of the Catholic civil rights movement issued a statement supporting the use of British troops and warning their supporters to stay off the streets to prevent more violence and bloodshed. The Civil Rights Oxford Committee sent a telegram to Wilson warning that civil war was possible and asking for further British intervention. Premier John Lynch of the Irish Republic announced after an emergency cabinet meeting that he is seeking a meeting with Wilson and is sending Foreign Minister Frank Aiken to confer with United Nations Secretary-General U Thant about the situation in Northern Ireland.

A civil rights delegation from Northern Ireland told Lynch a United Nations peacekeeping force should be sent to maintain order in the north.

The Irish press, which speaks for Lynch's government, said that if his meeting with Wilson produces results, "Mr. Aiken's projected meeting with U Thant may not prove to be of such urgency."

O'Neill is expected in London this week for his talks with Wilson on ways to end violent demonstrations which have seen more than 260 persons injured.

Wilson was reported prepared to get tough over the one-man, one-vote issue in local elections in Ulster.

The main civil rights case is that present laws, which bar nearly 250,000 persons from voting in local elections because they are not home owners, are unfairly weighted against the Catholics.

The British House of Commons will hold an emergency debate on the crisis today and Bernadette Devlin, the 21-year-old civil rights leader who became the youngest woman elected to the House when she won a byelection in Ulster last week, is expected to make her maiden speech.

The outlawed Irish Republican Army, meanwhile, denied charges by the police in Northern Ireland that the IRA was responsible for the explosions.

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. marines caught 150 North Vietnamese trying to cross a river southwest of Da Nang Monday and killed at least 50 of them with the help of artillery and an aerial gunship, military spokesmen said today. One marine was wounded.

It was one of two ground battles reported by the U.S. command. The Viet Cong shelled 17 bases and towns Monday night, and a delayed report told of heavy material damage to the U.S. air base at Nha Trang, 200 miles northeast of Saigon, in an attack with rockets and recoilless rifles Sunday night.

The marines sprayed the North Vietnamese with machine-guns 16 miles southwest of South Vietnam's second largest city as they attempted to cross the Vu Gia River in sampans.

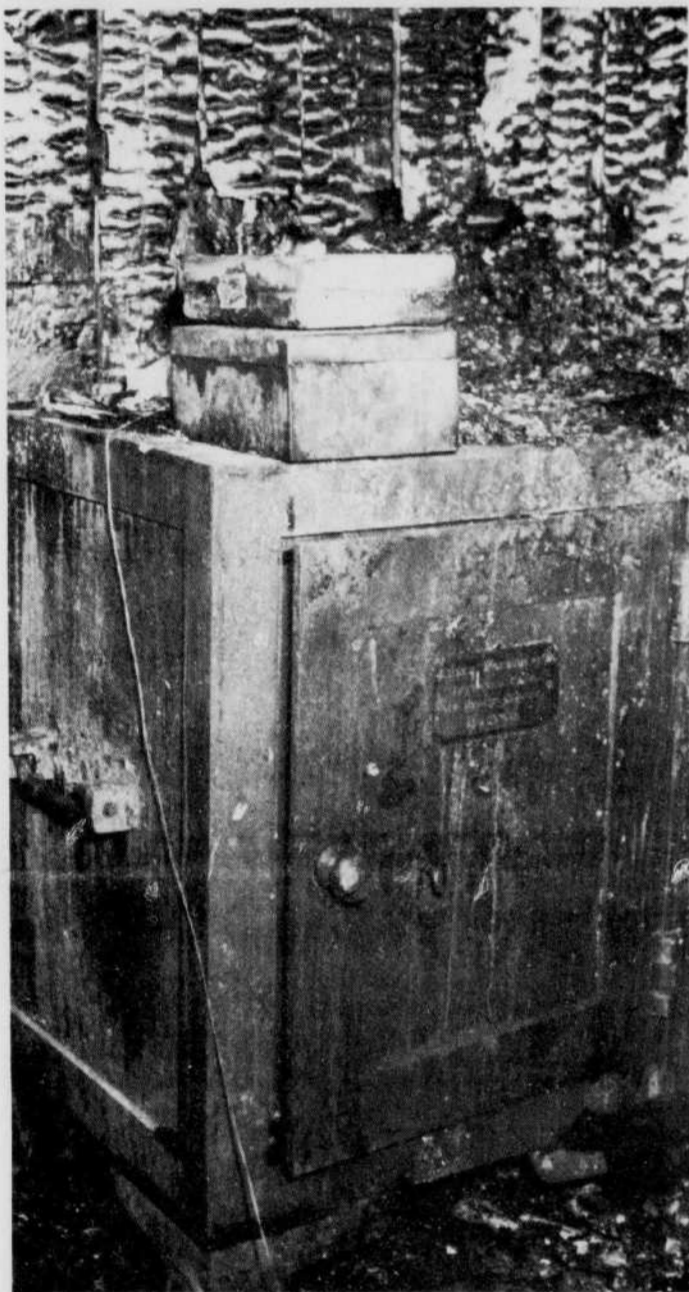

The marines counted 50 bodies floating downriver after the shooting.

In another action 27 miles northwest of Saigon, North Vietnamese regulars attacked a column of U.S. troops in night bivouac. But they were beaten back in a 15-minute fight, leaving 21 dead, the U.S. command said. No American casualties were reported.

The U.S. command said several Americans were wounded and damage was light as the Viet Cong nightly shelling continued. Four South Vietnamese civilians were reported killed and 19 wounded.

BURNT-OUT RUINS OF THE C. J. BROWN CLOTHES PIN FACTORY

Arson suspected in Danville fire

By WM. H. LUNAN (Special to The Record)

DANVILLE — The C. J. Brown Clothes Pin factory, which has operated since 1920 by the Brown family of Danville, was completely burnt to the ground, Monday evening, despite the hard work of the firemen.

According to Bill Brown, manager, and Chief of Police, Leo Gagnon, who were on the scene shortly after the alarm was sounded at 9:20 p.m. evidence showed that someone had broken into the office and arson is expected.

Gerald Anthony, a 19-year-old employee at the plant, was the first to arrive on the grounds.

Mr. Anthony saw that a winter storm window of the office had been removed and flames were emerging from near the centre of the plant proper.

Further investigation found that the office had been ransacked — filing cabinets had been opened and papers strewn about the floor. The safe had been unlocked by the vandals. According to Mr. Brown there was no money in the building.

Ironically, the chief of police and a constable had made an inspection of the grounds the same evening around 8:15 p.m.

Some 25 volunteer firemen under the direction of Gilles Petit fought the blaze into the early hours of the morning with a skeleton crew throughout the night who were kept busy pouring water into the smouldering ruins.

Damage was estimated at $125,000 which is partially covered by insurance.

The main production plant was the only property damaged. The warehouse and other buildings were saved.

The plant employed 20 operators when in full production — this was a seasonal industry.

At the time, Bill Brown could not predict the future of business. The company had recently installed some new machinery costing in the vicinity of $20,000. This alone was a major loss.

The Quebec Provincial Police were called in to investigate the possibility of arson and will continue their work today.

This factory was one of three such industries in Canada.

This is the second major fire in Danville this winter. The Roy and Sons Feedmill and Grain Elevator was destroyed, December 30.

News in brief

To Moscow

PRAGUE (CP) — Czechoslovakia's new Communist party chief, Gustav Husak, went to Moscow today and his party's reform faction hoped he would return with some Soviet concessions.

Husak was welcomed at Moscow airport by Soviet party chief Leonid Brezhnev, Premier Alexei Kosygin, President Nikolai Podgorny and other top officials. This red carpet treatment indicated the Kremlin's pleasure that the pro-Moscow Husak had replaced Alexander Dubcek.

Open office

BANGKOK (AP) — Canadian Trade Minister Jean-Luc Pepin today opened Canada's first trade office in Thailand.

Pepin, on a tour of Thailand, Malaysia, Singapore, Australia and New Zealand, later went to sign a most-favored nation agreement with Thai Premier Thanom Kittikachorn.

Higher tolls

WASHINGTON (CP) — Congressman Henry Reuss says a still-secret government study of the St. Lawrence Seaway proposes another tolls increase of 20 to 40 per cent plus a halt to any steps to increase its capacity.

The Wisconsin Democrat, who opposes higher tolls on the seaway, says the outgoing administration of President Johnson actually left behind two separate reports on the seaway

State lotteries attacked

OTTAWA (CP) — Government lotteries are the wrong way to raise money, opposition MPs argued Monday as the Commons continued debate on the government's omnibus bill to amend the Criminal Code.

"We want this House to take a stand against state lotteries," said Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre).

Mr. Knowles, a United Church minister, said the government is right in its move to liberalize the law and allow private organizations to conduct lotteries.

But Mr. Knowles wanted elimination of two clauses which would permit the federal and provincial governments to run their own lotteries.

He opposed lotteries as an alternative to taxation for raising money, "as no consideration is given to ability to pay." In fact, the people least able to pay are enticed to gamble in the hope of winning a prize, he said.

Montreal's voluntary tax lottery had not solved that city's financial problems and the New York state lottery was unsuccessful, he said.

SUPPORTS KNOWLES

Gerald W. Baldwin (PC—Peace River) said Conservative MPs are free to vote as they wish on the question, but he personally supported Mr. Knowles' amendment, which did not come to a vote Monday night.

Creditist Leader Real Caouette said games of chance are a necessary source of revenue for charitable institutions, but governments shouldn't get involved.

Since the Montreal voluntary tax lottery began, most forms of municipal taxes there had to be increased, he said.

Justice Minister John Turner, defending the lotteries provision, said he knows of no plan by the federal government to establish lotteries.

The legislation merely took lotteries out of the Criminal Code and made them a question of "civil public policy."

Airline negotiations resuming today

MONTREAL (CP) — Airline and union negotiators were scheduled to get together today for the first talks since April 8 aimed at settling a strike which has grounded all Air Canada flights since Sunday night.

Sources indicated the first discussions will concern allotment of job duties before getting around to the issue of wages.

The six negotiators for each side had been meeting separately with Bernard Wilson, assistant deputy minister of labor, and William Kelly, director of the department's conciliation and arbitration branch, since early Monday.

They gathered at the request of Labor Minister Bryce Mackasey who cut short a Spanish vacation to return to Canada.

Mr. Mackasey told the Commons Monday he would be available to join the talks if necessary.

ALL CRAFT GROUNDED

Air Canada's entire fleet of 112 aircraft was grounded for the second time in the Crown corporation's 31-year history when some 6,300 members of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers walked off their jobs at 11:59 p.m. EST Sunday.

Approximately 3,000 pilots and flight attendants are also off work, as well as an undetermined number of other workers in associated businesses.

The union members—mechanics, mechanics, storemen and maintenance men—previously grounded the airline in a two-week strike in 1966.

An airline spokesman said the company will lose about $580,000 in revenue daily because of the strike.

The strike became imminent Saturday when the union announced members had rejected an Air Canada offer of a 23-per cent wage increase over three years by a vote of 3,333 to 1,116, although the Winnipeg local endorsed the proposal 481 to 204 with 250 abstentions.

The union executive had recommended rejection. It is asking for a 20-per cent increase in a one-year contract.

Wages under the last contract, which expired Dec. 31, ranged from $2 to $3.97 an hour.

SCRAMBLE FOR SEATS

Meanwhile, passengers—Air Canada normally carries 18,000 a day—scrambled for seats on other airlines.

In Ottawa, the Canadian transport commission approved Monday a series of emergency flight services from coast to coast.

The subject will be Accent in Dress.

It was agreed to have a silent food sale and an active food sale during the month of May, with plans to be completed at the April meeting.

The jitney was won by Mrs. Judd.

After adjournment, the subject of the meeting, furniture arrangements, were presented by Mrs. Miriam Kelley and Mrs. Rita Blais showing how to bring out the best of furnishings by using drapes and knick-knacks.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Bicknell, Mrs. Jenne and Mrs. Macaluso.

Kinnear's Mills W. I. holds April meeting

KINNEAR'S MILLS — The Women's Institute held its monthly meeting on April 3, at the home of Mrs. Russell Rothney.

Mrs. Eric MacRae, the newly-elected President, opened the meeting by repeating the collect, and the salute of the flag.

Members answered the roll call with either a joke or a proverb. Four guests, Mrs. Will Allan, Mrs. J. Allan, Mrs. John Kinghorn and Miss Bessie Guy were present.

The treasurer's report, given by Mrs. Victor Lowry, showed a favorable bank balance.

New business discussed was the possibility of catering to several social events. Members are to ascertain how many children are in the age group to receive seeds for the annual fair. Material was on hand to be made into ditty bags to be filled by members with items to be sent to Save the Children's Fund. Copy of Federated News was on hand.

Members had donated homemade cookies which were sold and proceeds went to Pennies for Friendship.

A drawing, donated by Mrs. R. Rothney, was won by Mrs. David MacRae.

Mrs. Edgar Nugent will be hostess for the May meeting.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and a social hour spent.

REGIONAL PLANNING — The Mayors of 16 municipalities surrounding Sherbrooke gathered together, yesterday, in Sherbrooke, as part of the Eastern Townships Regional Economic Council's regional animation committee. Seen

Mayors see economic plan as answer to Eastern Townships' economic doldrums

Whenever a crisis develops in a community in the Eastern Townships, the mayor is the first to feel he is left alone to face it. This is a conclusion reached during a meeting yesterday of 16 mayors from the Sherbrooke vicinity called by the Eastern Townships Economic Regional Council (CERCE). Citing the demolition and possible closing of the Johns-

Manville factory in 1972, and the closing down of Penmans in Coaticook this year, the mayors criticized the absence of a co-operative system on the regional level.

The group concluded that the only way to settle such a crisis was through emergency planning, aimed at the region. They noted that everybody knew the problems the Townships were facing, but nobody was doing anything about it.

The stagnation, becoming more apparent, is crippling the economic growth of the region. Although the Eastern Townships are in some trouble, the mayors expressed confidence, that if they could unite on a common front now, they stand a chance of turning the trend noticed in past years.

Again yesterday, the assembly recalled the problems they were facing in regard to research and proper planning. A temporary committee was established to build plans for a second meeting to be held soon. It is composed of Coaticook Mayor and MNA Georges Vaillancourt, Windsor Mayor Lewis Craig, Cecil Dougherty, Lennoxville, Dorilas Gagnon, Bromptonville and Richmond Mayor Roger Trudeau.

The representatives at yesterday's information meeting expressed their eagerness to meet again, and their hope that the proliferation of information and co-operation will help the Townships to regain some of its prestige and economy back.

The mayors also presented a resolution aimed at probing the possibilities of a regional budget for the economic council. If such a measure were to become fact, CERCE would have the necessary funds to promote research and instigate realistic regional planning.

City teachers in classrooms as their confreres walk out

Except for the odd hookey-player Sherbrooke Protestant Teachers showed up for work this morning while 6,000 of the confreres across the province staged a one-day strike.

A Sherbrooke High School spokesman said this morning teachers are hard at work.

Sherbrooke and area Protestant instructors are not certified in an association and therefore have no legal right to strike.

Despite reports of possible picketing several teachers said yesterday they had orders to come to school and they would.

In Montreal, about 6,000 Quebec Protestant teachers were to go on a one-day strike today despite government threats to halt the walkout.

Protestant high school students also were to hold a strike in sympathy for the teachers, members of the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers.

The teachers say they will walk out for an indefinite period in May if the one-day strike does not resolve the 21-month dispute.

The teachers have worked without a contract since June, 1968. In 1967, a six-week strike involving most of the province's teachers was ended by government legislation which extended their 1966 contract to June, 1968.

A new contract was to be negotiated in June, 1968, but no agreement has been

STUDENTS PARTICIPATE

An estimated 1,000 students were to participate in today's walkout, said Peter Starr, co-chairman of the Provincial Association of Secondary Students, sponsors of the student's strike in conjunction with the Association of Student Council Presidents.

Student organizers said their strike is directed against the government and not the school boards.

Marcel Masse, minister without portfolio attached to the civil service, said last week the government would take steps to halt the teachers' strike.

He also suggested that teachers should hold a referendum to determine if individually they would accept government contract offers to end the lengthy dispute.

However, Donald Peacock, president of the Montreal Teachers Association, said Protestant teachers would defy any government action against the one-day walkout.

Meanwhile, Montreal's English-speaking Catholic teachers, representing the majority of the 2,500-member Provincial Association of Catholic Teachers, announced last Friday they would accept their expired 1966 contract as a basis for working conditions through 1971, ending their plans to walk out with the Protestant teachers.

Work restitution sought

Several aldermen seeking restitution for deterioration of the Terrill Street Bridge approaches met face to face with the engineer who handled the initial construction last night in council.

Despite agreeing with Jacques Lemieux's explanation of the reasons of the collapse, council asked city attorney Albert Rivard to study possible actions to obtain compensation for the damages.

Mr. Lemieux came to the meeting last night after a motion by Ald. Romeo Quintal to notify him of city action had been passed.

The engineer was called because council wanted him to have a chance to brief them before he read of proposed actions in the newspapers.

He explained the reasons for the collapse and council agreed that there was no question of negligence but the city was bound to look after taxpayer's interests by trying to obtain restitution for the damages.

Mr. Rivard said he would consult experts on the question and make his report next week.

Mr. Lemieux explained the collapse was a result of a natural settling of the foundation over five years. He pointed out that it was side fill that slid away and not the actual foundation collapsing.

Mr. Lemieux said the city was partly to blame for not maintaining the bridge properly.

Back low cost city hall

Aldermen, reacting to a letter from the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce, agreed last night that lottery or no lottery, a new city hall for Sherbrooke is still a long way off.

Ald. Everett Nicol said the only way Sherbrooke would build a new city hall would be after a referendum in which citizens agreed to higher taxes.

The discussion resulted from a letter from the C. of C. which estimated the price for a suitable city hall would be at least $1,250,000, and offered its support of such a project, while refusing to support other estimates which have gone as high as $4,000,000.

Alderman Romeo Quintal said he was happy to receive the letter but he wanted it made clear the city does not look at the city hall project as one for the immediate future.

He said he was sure people realized the city hall wouldn't be built until the money had been found.

The C. of C. letter suggested means of bringing down estimated prices for a new building by recommending the use of other buildings for some services.

Expansion of police facilities could be handled by using St. Patrick High School, the letter suggested.

Management students presented with certificates at Bishop's

Twenty-two night students were presented with certificates last night at Bishop's University as the result of a two-year course in executive development.

The course is part of the extension service of the Business Administration faculty. Professor R. E. Duval explained that the course is on the middle and senior management level. Students are introduced to the fields of accounting, management, personnel procedures and public relations.

through the presentation of case studies. It is a non-credit program.

The students presented the University with a cheque to be remitted to the highest ranking student in undergraduate studies in Business Administration.

The recipients later took part in their last case discussion with teachers of the course. They were presented their certificates in the presence of their wives and close friends.

Jacking nets fine and loss of six rifles

Two men were fined $100 each and lost their firearms yesterday, when Sessions Court Judge Benoit Turmel, found them guilty of hunting with the use of a spot light last October.

They are Fernand Lauzon, of Ville Laval, and his brother Leo, of Ascot North.

Fernand Lauzon told the court he used the spot light to check out a cabin, located on the side of the road.

Two game wardens who were nearby testified that the driver or someone inside the car, had flashed their lights on several occasions.

The Lauzon brothers were represented by Attorney Jean Cormier.

Judge Turmel ordered the brothers to pay a $100 fine and permanent confiscation of their six rifles.

Richmond eyes meters, town hall, hockey, PTA

RICHMOND — (Special) — A new Town Hall building and parking meters are being considered for the town, as outlined by Mayor Roger Trudeau at a recent council meeting.

In considering the construction of a new administrative building, the offices of the Quebec Provincial Police, agronomy, and other provincial government functions would form a part of the revenue to help defray the costs of such a project, depending on the consent of the Provincial Government.

The town has land in the area of the arena upon which the new Town Hall could be built. The firm of Laboratoires Serrat has been hired to take soil samples of the land in question.

City parking meters have taken under consideration, also, whether to place parking meters along the East side of Main Street, from the intersection of Craig Road to the intersection of King Street, near the Quebec crossing (CNR). This would limit parking to the one side of the street.

Will Richmond be the town to hold the Provincial Mosquito Hockey tourney - in 1970?

Fernand Fredette, president of the Minor Hockey Association was much impressed by the work done by the local organizers in the holding of the district tourney, last month, at the arena.

Mr. Fredette said that if Richmond could organize 24 teams to play over a two weekend period, they might well carry on the Provincial tourney, here.

A Parent-Teachers Association has been formed at the new Richmond Regional school, a first for the district.

Meetings were held March 12, 19 and 21 to outline the project and officers have been elected.

Paul Delaney, of Richmond, was elected president of the group with Gordon Kitting, Drummondville, vice-president; W. S. Rick, Danville, vice-president; Mrs. Kenneth Stevens, Richmond, secretary; Ernest Barrington, Windsor, treasurer.

The directors are: Nelson Mastine, Richmond; Mrs. Galen Coote, South Durham; Merton Webb, Asbestos; E. T. Stevens, Danville; Mrs. John Koselek, Asbestos; R. J. McDonald, Windsor; Sister Beverly Jay, C.N.D.; Wayne Mellish, Walter McGee, Bruce Taylor, principal.

Some 250 parents attended the meetings and met with the 55 members of the teaching staff.

Asbestos delegates press for new hospital

ASBESTOS — (Special) — A delegation from Asbestos was received recently in Quebec by Jean Paul Cloutier, minister of health, to discuss the construction of a new hospital for the area.

Heading the group was Mayor Leo Paul Thibeault, along with Alderman Armand Larrievie, president of the Corporation of the Hospital for Asbestos; Gerard Piche, representing the Canadian Johns-Manville Company; Fernand Rainville, town engineer, and Emilien LaFrance, deputy for Richmond County.

For several years the citizens have been promised a new modern construction to replace the St. Louis Hospital on Du Roi Street, situated on the rim of the Jeffrey Mine open pit.

Beebe Institute to host Stanstead North W.I.

BEEBE — The meeting of the Women's Institute was held April 18, in the Council room, with Mrs. Reg. Enyou, presiding over the session.

The roll-call was answered by 12 members, by naming a tree and use for its wood. An invitation was extended to the Stanstead North W.I. members to be guests in June at a social evening.

Delegate appointed to the county meeting in May was Mrs. Charles Bullock, with Mrs. Gerald Boisvert as alternate. Mrs. R. Eryou will attend the provincial convention, at Macdonald College, in June. Plans were finalized for April 18, card party. A sum of money was voted for use in the Elementary School Cafeteria.

The program was in charge of the Agriculture convener, Mrs. Ezra Woodard, who gave a reading on The next 12 Months, and conducted a jumbled word contest on flowers. She also presented each member with a plant slip and donated an African violet to be auctioned off.

The hostesses, Mrs. Erma Lepitre and Mrs. E. Shepard, served refreshments at the conclusion of the meeting.

Chamber of Commerce needs public support

An active and aggressive Chamber of Commerce can be and generally is an important factor in the development and growth of any community.

Basically an organization of businessmen, great and small, and not involved in the field of municipal politics it can offer important advice to the city council whether in support of or opposition to the proposals forthcoming from time-to-time from the aldermen. And it can play a vital role in the field of industrial development, offering contacts with prospective investors seeking locations for new plants.

In these and many other fields of community advancement the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce has played an effective role in recent years, a role which it plans to present to the public during the current Chamber of Commerce Week.

Supplementing its work in the municipal and industrial field, the Sherbrooke Chamber has aided in tourist promotion, urban renewal, education and improving transportation facilities.

But like any other organization, the Chamber requires practical support from the businessmen of the community, a support that is best forthcoming by increased memberships.

To achieve the financial base needed for its future expansion the local Chamber is seeking to have every local business and professional establishment represented in its ranks, and objective it hopes to achieve during the present recruiting campaign.

Doing nothing all day won't insure a long life, but it will make whatever span of years is allotted to you seem like two lifetimes.

Streamline labor laws

Federal Labor Minister Bryce Mackasey has earned himself something of a reputation for his successful intervention in major labor disputes, his personal efforts being responsible for averting at the last minute a number of strikes that could have seriously disrupted the Canadian economy.

But, without in any way detracting from the efforts of the Labor Minister, the question might be asked if the whole system of labor contract negotiations in this country should not be revised and the legislation updated.

It is very well for a Labor Minister to intervene personally in the last stages of a dispute in a national industry and after days and nights of constant negotiation work out a compromise just before the strike deadline.

Perhaps it is very dramatic but it hardly seems sensible.

If it is possible to work out a last-minute compromise as a result of high-level intervention, it should be equally possible to bring about a solution in the early stages of the negotiations, especially if both parties to the dispute act in good faith.

One possible means of bringing about an earlier settlement would be to streamline the existing conciliation legislation which provides for months and months of argument and debate under the guise of conciliation and arbitration and cooling off periods.

When originally adopted these delaying processes may have seemed the best answer to precipitate strikes, but instead of easing the situation in most cases the laws seem to have aggravated the problem. As the delays in negotiations continue, the positions of the opposing parties tend to harden with frustration often replacing reason.

A go-getter is a fellow whose girl won't come downtown to meet him.

Over the heads of legislators

Time-honored French referendum still bitter

PARIS (CP) — Current word battles in France over the legality or otherwise of the April 27 constitutional referendum are only the latest chapter in a passionate controversy that has raged for generations.

The often-lyrical tributes paid the referendum method by Gaullists derive force from having been an insistent theme in French politics since the 18th century.

The bitterness of the procedure's critics recalls such 19th century clashes as those between Bonapartists and liberal republicans in a country where political memories are long.

Admirers of emperors Napoleon I and Napoleon III no longer count for anything in themselves among the political organizations of modern France.

But the Bonapartist tradition remains vibrant, especially with the lavish celebrations this year commemorating the 200th anniversary of the first Napoleon's birth.

To a republican of the old school, believing in the primacy of parliament, the very word Bonaparte conjures up visions of "Caesarian democracy" — strong-man appeals over the heads of legislators, directly to the people, for ratification of controversial measures.

POWER LEGALIZED

In 1851-52 Napoleon III used this method to legalize his achievement of total power in France and establishment of what was called the Second Empire.

Contemporary opponents of President Charles de Gaulle react with all the vehemence of anti-Napoleonic crusaders to his procedure for having the constitution changed by referendum, without prior parliamentary consideration of the revisions.

Anti-Gaullists consider parliament sacrosanct, even though its powers are not what they were before de Gaulle established his Fifth Republic in 1958.

Changing the governmental system is the work of elected representatives whose duty is to put their specialized knowledge of such matters at the disposal of the people, argued one anti-Gaullist.

Backers of the president counter such contentions with phrases that have an 18th century revolutionary ring—"the people only," "absolute democracy," "the general will."

The referendum, they say, is a prime means for implementing these ideals, since it settles major questions by appeal to the people directly.

DRAW ON ROUSSEAU

In arguing his case, Gaullists draw on philosopher Jean-Jacques Rousseau and the practice of government under another great feature of 18th century history, the French Revolution. References to Napoleonic practice are not readily in evidence.

Direct democracy "is the principle which governed the institutions of the true republics, those of 1793 and 1958," argued Michel Bonot in one defence of the referendum.

Bonot, who is president of an organization called the "Direct Democracy" club, echoes a familiar Gaullist theme in denouncing the idea of government by "little pals, parties all linked to one another, sterile games, unending crises."

These are the terms usually applied by de Gaulle and his followers to political life under the fourth and third French republics, with their all-powerful parliaments.

"The practice of the referendum and the election of the president of the republic by universal suffrage under the Fifth Republic," says Bonot, "constitute the two foundations of our democracy."

Quebec teachers turn back

The organized groups which are most powerful in directing, conditioning and finally shaping the attitudes of young Canadians are those of teachers. Parents, of course, play a large role, but it is an individualistic one: they are not organized; they cannot throw their organized weight behind years of training to produce a particular viewpoint.

In Quebec the largest teachers' organization, the Corporation des Enseignants du Québec with 62,000 members, has adopted an attitude which is essentially anti-education, inward-looking, isolationist. It would form the minds of children for life in the Nineteenth-Century enclave of Quebec, just when they should be learning to live in the world community of the Twentieth Century.

The Corporation has demanded that the Quebec Government adopt official unilingualism. It would require political action to ensure that only French will be indispensable in the political and economic life of Quebec. Such action would permit a public school system in English for real Anglophones and those already integrated into the English-speaking group; but it would interfere with individual rights by obliging new immigrants to send their children to French schools. It would alter the Constitution to give Quebec sole control over immigration.

Students in English-language schools and colleges would be compelled to have a working knowledge of French (and so they should), but English would not be compulsory in the French school system.

The Corporation's brief, released this week by President G-Raymond Laliberté, calls in fact for a language policy virtually identical with that proposed by René Lévesque's Parti Québécois, which also endorses separatism. It is sad that 62,000 teachers are conditioning Quebec children—for their views cannot fail to permeate their teaching—for separation from the rest of Canada. Sad for Canada. Sad for the children, and the adults they will grow to be.

The move comes at a time when other parts of Canada—some grudgingly and all belatedly, it is true—are taking some positive steps to make French-speaking Canadians at home outside Quebec, by extending the opportunities for French-language schooling, Government services and cultural activities. As the other provinces turn to the light, these Quebec teachers turn to the dark. For it is the antithesis of education to limit deliberately the scope of a child's learning, to freeze him within a single culture, to convince him that such isolationism is virtuous.

In earlier days Quebec kept its people French-speaking by limiting the schooling of all but the elite, and most of the elite was prepared only for the church, medicine and the law. Quebec has rightly attacked the English-speaking for suppressing the French-speaking; it has not accepted its own responsibility for so educating its people as to make them susceptible to such suppression.

With the Liberal Government of Jean Lesage came the belated opportunity for mass education and mass advanced education—enlightened, diversified, capable of shaping a new Quebec with an equal footing in Canada and the rest of the advanced world. It would be sad to see this opportunity denied.

A French-only enclave in the continent of North America would be a prison. The economic language of this continent is English; increasingly, indeed, the economic language of the world is English. If Quebec separated it would have purchased its nationalistic goal at the expense of its people's standard of living, at the expense of opportunity for its French-speaking-only youth. And once the nationalistic goal was won, how long would it remain the goal?

We in Canada, of both languages, should know. We have been anxious to preserve our sovereignty from the United States; but put to the test we have never been willing to pay for it with a large gap between our standard of living and theirs. A small gap, yes, provided it is constantly reduced; a large gap, no. Once secure of sovereignty, an impoverished sovereignty, the most vigorous young Quebecers would direct their ambitions to attaining the riches of the rest of the continent; and they would have to jump over walls to get them. What was left behind would almost certainly vanish into the maw of North Americanism.

French can survive within a Canada deliberately designed for bilingualism, in which French-language rights are enshrined in the law and preferably in the Constitution, in which both language groups co-operate to protect and extend it. It cannot survive as a French island in a hostile sea of English.

The 62,000 Quebec teachers believe they are fighting for the life of the French language. They should reconsider their tactics and re-examine the risks.

COMMENT

by Lubor J. Zink

OTTAWA — (TNS) — When Quebec tells the rest of the country "We are too busy with our specific internal circumstances to worry about what effect our maitres chez nous concept may have on Canada as a whole," the province is accused, and rightly so, of pursuing an inward-looking, narrow-minded, selfish, shortsighted and unity-endangering course.

No one is more vocal in castigating Quebec City for isolationist and separatist tendencies than Prime Minister Trudeau.

Yet, when Ottawa tells our allies that "We in Canada face very special circumstances" of domestic development which the Trudeau Government consider more important than continued maintenance of our role in collective security, that is supposed to be all right.

This is strange logic. For what Mr. Trudeau set out to do to NATO is not essentially different from what the tantrums of Quebec nationalism are doing to Canada.

Through his external affairs minister, Mr. Trudeau told our allies recently that "we are still engaged in the development of much of our potential" and cannot therefore be expected to do our best within the larger framework of the Atlantic community.

This is precisely what, within the framework of Confederation, Quebec City keeps on telling Ottawa. In other words, in relation to NATO Mr. Trudeau talks and acts very much the same way Mr. Bertrand talks and acts in relation to Canada.

Mr. Trudeau is therefore practising a double standard when he blasts Quebec's particularism and at the same time plays the same self-centred and unity-endangering role within the Atlantic community.

True, the analogy is not perfect, because the Atlantic community is not a political entity in the sense the Canadian Confederation is, but as an instrument of collective Western security it is an established supra-national agency of inestimable value and importance to all its members. And like the Canadian Confederation, it cannot endure without wholehearted co-operation of its component parts.

"Unilateralism," as British Defence Minister Healey told the NATO Council in Washington, "is very infectious."

Mr. Trudeau's "decision in principle" to reduce Canada's military contribution to our forward defence in Europe was a unilateral decision. Saying, as the PM does, that Ottawa is willing to consult its NATO partners on the timing and extent of the reduction does not make that decision less unilateral or less infectious.

Some people argue that since the alliance survived France's withdrawal from NATO's integrated command, reduction of Canada's small military contribution cannot endanger the collective defence structure.

This argument overlooks the fact that de Gaulle's move was coupled with a substantial increase in France's military spending and did not entail any weakening of the Western defence position in Europe by withdrawal of troops across the Atlantic.

On the contrary, France's military buildup, though undertaken separately, has made it clear that more firepower would be available to collective defence in case of an emergency.

What makes Trudeau's unilateralism more dangerous than de Gaulle's is its attempted justification in terms of domestic economic needs.

Every member of the alliance has economic problems. If a country with the second highest standard of living in the Atlantic community deems it necessary to reduce its already minimal contribution to collective security on economic grounds, why should the other contributors be less selfish and inward-looking?

To say, as the blind anti-militarists who applaud Mr. Trudeau's isolationism do, that Western Europe should now be able to take care of its own defence, is a feeble excuse for shrugging off our share of the burden of collective security.

For although Western Europe is now in a much better shape than it was when NATO was established 20 years ago, it faces an enormously strengthened and improved war machine of the Soviet bloc. In fact, over the past two decades, the balance of power in Europe (particularly in conventional forces) has been steadily shifting in favor of the Kremlin.

That is why the NATO council placed such emphasis on the necessity to maintain NATO strength in Europe intact unless and until a balanced reduction of troops on both sides of the dividing line can be negotiated.

The prospect of such negotiations cannot be jeopardized by the slightest unilateral pullback which the Soviets interpret as the beginning of disintegration of the Atlantic alliance.

Hence the NATO alarm over the Trudeau decision which is particularly harmful because it signals a split between the North American and European components of Western collective defence.

Such a split has been and continues to be one of the major objectives of Soviet strategy. It's sad to see Canada playing into the hands of the Kremlin.

Mansonville school will stay open

MANSONVILLE — The Mansonville Branch of the Quebec Home and School Association was host at a gathering of well over 200 parents, taxpayers and others interested, held in the gymnasium of the Mansonville Intermediate School. Members of the Brome County Consolidated School Board, under the chairmanship of Homer Blackwood of Knowlton, met with residents of this area for the purpose of discussing the pros and cons of closing the Mansonville Intermediate School. Albert Korman, president of the Local Branch of the Home and School, opened the meeting by introducing members of the Knowlton Central School Board. Mr. Korman said if the school were to be closed it would affect all businesses and churches in the area. Points brought out during the meeting were the long distances for small children to ride on buses if the school were closed; also the difficulty of maintaining a proper contact between parents and teachers when the children were attending school, so far from their homes. Mrs. Thelma Cote, head teacher of the school, said that the school would have an attendance of approximately 122 pupils in 1969-70 and that it could be efficiently maintained on a four and one-half teacher basis, which would meet the required norms.

East Farnham U.C.W. plans tea

EAST FARNHAM — The U.C.W. was entertained by Mrs. Earl Royea at her home on March 27. Miss Elizabeth Collins chaired the meeting and led the devotions. Written and personal thanks were expressed by members and friends who had been remembered. Grateful thanks were expressed by the Everett family for a donation of material received at the time of their fire. Two donations of material were forwarded to the chairman of the work committee by Mrs.

Bernice Thomas. Mrs. Grace Howard reported the entry and stairs had been covered with forest green, in-door-out-door carpeting at a cost of approximately $290. for material and labor. The date of May 31 was set for the forthcoming Lilac Tea to be held in the church hall. The next meeting will be on April 24 at Mrs. Rodney Jenne's home. At the lunch time, Mrs. June Royea presented Mrs. Grace Howard with a lighted cake in honor of her birthday, which she was celebrating on that date. The birthday song was sung and everyone enjoyed a piece of the cake. Miss Collins mentioned the annual presbyterial meeting will be held in Plymouth United Church, Sherbrooke, April 14 and urged the members to make a special effort to attend. The guest speaker will be Dr. McClure. Any one planning to attend is asked to contact Miss Collins by April 9.

Thanks were expressed to the members of the County Board by Fred Korman on behalf of the people of the area; while Mr. Albert Korman expressed thanks on behalf of the Local Home and School association. It may be worthy of note that as early as 1826, Mansonville had an Academy, the principal of which was Gardner Bartlett. Mr. Bartlett afterwards went to Theological School and was an ordained Baptist Minister. Coffee and doughnuts were served to the visiting board members before they returned to Knowlton.

BIG CHEQUE — At the recent Lions Club, of Knowlton, meeting held in the Lake View Hotel, the club was presented with a cheque for $3,500. This was part of the proceeds from the 1968 Foster Horse Show, which was held on the Lions Club Recreational Park in Knowlton in July 1968. This cheque is to be put to use in furthering the amenities at the Lions Park. Shown are: Lion Peter Crowe, Treasurer of the Lions Club receiving the cheque from Foster Horse Show Treasurer Jack Barr. Looking on is president of the Lions Club, Lawrence Eden. Visit with ET's 100 year young lady

By GLEN BROWN
MNA-BROME

How would you like to visit with a young lady who is merely one hundred years old? You would! Well all you have to do is knock on the door of the home of Mrs. Alice Spicer in Stanbridge East, and the chances are that she will open the door for you, guide you into a lovely sitting room, give you a talk on current events; and before you know it she will have refreshments before you and continue her visit as if she was merely a youngster of seventy or so. I can vouch for all of my statements because I was there just before her hundredth birthday. She is an amazing woman with all her faculties in good shape and her memory hitting on all four cylinders.

Sutton on the Judd farm which presently occupies the corner near the turns to Glen Sutton and Abercorn in Sutton Village. There she went to the rural school on the corner and her teacher at that time was Mary Este. She was married in Abercorn, lived there and then moved to East Dunham about a mile from the home of Lynwood Farnham who was, for some years, rated the world's most accomplished organist. She raised a large family of eleven and lost three children. In between times she was a practical nurse and capably delivered babies in her locality. Literally she brought into the world dozens of infants with her pride and joy being a delivery of twins, the two Perry girls. One is currently the wife of Mr. Rundle, the man who keeps the B.M.P. Hospital functioning from a mechanical point of view, and the other Geraldine, now deceased, having married a Brown and afterwards a Rumsby. She has a plethora of memories that include the scar she received when Welly Farnham drove his first car up the road with its lights on. All the family flew into the house and hid. She remembers her first phone call at the Farnham home also. Then there was her favorite horse Marie, her amazement at seeing a mowing machine work. Before the mowing machine, ten men with scythes and snaths would line up to cut the hay on a farm swinging the scythes by hand. She gave me a background study of preserving before screw top jars came into use. Then everything was "put down" in tubs or crocks, through the use of salt and sugar. Butter, berries, meat were kept for winter use. The maple sugar was the chief source of sweetness. Then, of course, apples were strung to be dried in the fall and used for pies in the winter. Alice Hazard Spicer started to work out at the age of eleven when water had to be lugged from the spring or well, and when it was standard procedure for the woman of the house to split kindling and start her own fire. She remembers sugaring vividly and still enjoys boiling the sap from four or five trees in front of her home. Her world, geographically, was between Glen Sutton, Sutton, Abercorn, Dunham and Stanbridge East. Her only trip of consequence was to California in 1960. The rest of the time she lived and loved in the heart of the Eastern Townships. Many of her friends and neighbors could have been richer and more famous in their time, but none could duplicate her tenacity and health. In life she has pinned her faith to God, her family and her friends. This lovely, diminutive great-grandmother could be a real lesson to a cynical modern world which has lost its value through artificial indoctrination. Our hats are off to you Alice Hazard Spicer, and God bless you.

LA's St. Patrick's tea makes $277

STANSTEAD — Stanstead Frontier Branch Auxiliary, Royal Canadian Legion, met in the lounge of the Memorial Home on April 1 with a good number attending. The president, Mrs. Geneva Lyons, presided and the chaplain, Mrs. Mabel Crawford offered the Auxiliary prayer. It was noted that $277.87 was realized from the St. Patrick's tea and sale in March. Mrs. Lyons thanked everyone who had supported it as well as those who attended to make it a success.

Plans were finalized for the serving of the annual Dart Club banquet. Kitchen details are in charge of Mrs. Helen Heald, assisted by Mrs. Cora Emslie, while Mrs. Geneva Lyons is in charge of the dining room, both to be assisted by members in providing and serving the dinner. The hostesses for the May 6 meeting will be Mrs. Grace Dezan, Mrs. Sylvia Bronson, Mrs. Cora Emslie and Mrs. Helen Heald. The meeting adjourned and refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Friends fete East Farnham lady at shower

EAST FARNHAM — Mrs. William Sylvester was feted at a pink and blue shower held recently at the home of Mrs. Barbara Moffatt, Sweetsburg, with Mrs. Kaye Rundle and Mrs. Elaine Grubb as co-hostesses. Mrs. Sylvester who expected to be joining friends for a plasticware party and was greatly surprised upon entering the living room to be greeted by Mrs. Moffatt, who presented her with a corsage of red carnations and escorted her to her special chair. Pink and blue streamers, with baby rattles attached cascaded from the ceiling to her chair where many attractive parcels were displayed. Mrs. Sylvester was also presented with a personal gift, which she greatly admired, giving Mrs.

Moffatt time to wheel in a lovely beige baby carriage, bought with money contributions from friends and relatives. The guest of honor graciously thanked everyone for the surprise party and for all the beautiful gifts. A social hour and refreshments were enjoyed by 20 ladies. The shower cake, made and decorated by Mrs. Irene Williams, Sweetsburg, was in the form of a miniature baby carriage. Guests from a distance included Mrs. William Dinning and daughter, Mary, North Hatley; Mrs. Lorne Murphy, Granby; Mrs. Wolf Kopf and daughter, Stanbridge East and Mrs. Pat Vallieres, Knowlton.

SPRING BONNET PARADE — A highlight of the Waterloo Legion Ladies' Auxiliary meeting held recently was a parade of spring bonnets which the ladies designed and made themselves. Prizes were awarded to three ladies, seated,

Champagne, Mrs. Grace Rainville, and Mrs. Chris Singfield. The judges, Marcel Cote and Tom Wilkinson, conceded that it was a very difficult job. (Record photo: Marcel Cote)

Bedford school forms new PTA Social notes from Bedford

BEDFORD — (Special) — After a lapse of some years a new association of Home and School has been formed at the Bedford school.

It was felt that there was a need for the organization, which formerly was very active in the school. Mrs. Clark of Farnham, vice president of the Home and School was at the organizing meeting and gave an excellent address on the aims and objectives of the Home and School.

The nominating committee was Mrs. Stanley Soule and Mrs. John Reiter. The following slate of officers was presented, which was accepted as given: President, David Jones; vice-president, Mrs. Earl Bockus; Mrs. Byron Rhodes, secretary; Mrs. N. Gasser, treasurer; Mrs. Burrill, programme convener.

It was decided to hold meetings every two months. Byron Rhodes gave a very informative address on the question of the consolidation of the elementary schools, and the benefits that would accrue when the merger was accomplished. At present there are three schools: Stanbridge East, Clarenceville and Farnham to join with Bedford, which will revert to the statue of an elementary school when the upper grades will attend the regional school in September at Cowansville.

BEEBE — On April 16, Mrs. Leslie Webster, was hostess at her home, on the Stanstead-Tomifobia Road, at a miscellaneous shower honoring the approaching marriage of Miss Louise Warner, of the Lakeshore Road.

Miss Warner was taken by surprise when she entered the Webster home to be greeted by approximately 50 relatives and friends.

She was presented with a corsage of a spatula and a foam dish mop by Mrs. Webster who escorted her to a decorated chair, by a table, well-laden with attractively wrapped packages.

Seated between her mother, Mrs. Arnold Warner and the mother of the prospective groom, Mrs. Grace Markwell, Ayer's Cliff, the bride-to-be opened the many packages, assisted by her mother and mother-in-law-to-be. These ladies were also presented with corsages of kitchen gadgets.

Also seated at the table was the sister of the bride-elect, Brenda Warner.

Following the opening of the packages Miss Warner expressed her thanks for the lovely gifts and pleasant evening.

The house was decorated with streamers of pink and white held at the corners and center of the room, with varied-colored balloons.

A cake in the shape of two hearts, iced in white with silver beads, a wide white bow with pink, green and white roses and leaves at the corners was in the centre of the table along with a small cake in the form of a bride.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Webster, assisted by Mrs. Ross Royea and Mrs. Gerald Stebenes, with Susan Stebenes and Michael Royea helping.

Guests attended from Ayer's Cliff, Waterville, Georgeville, Fitch Bay, Marlinton, Rock Island and Beebe.

Miss Warner and Clarence Markwell are to be married on May 3.

FASHION TIPS

Create Your Own "Look"

To make the most of your accessories, be an individualist about wearing them. Mix and match accessories: Use belts as necklaces and long beads and chains as belts. Combine plastic, silver and gold for an interesting effect. The important thing is that you create your own "look."

New Look in Pearls

Not only are single-strand, long, 1920s-type pearls a "must" fashion accessory, but the newest look in pearls is two separate strands—one worn tied in a low knot and the other hanging long and loose, serving as a kind of frame for the knotted strand.

The meeting of the Aldershot Chapter, IODE, held at the IODE house last Thursday, was chaired by the regent, Mrs. H. Y. Durrant. The standard was raised by Mrs. Ora Foreman and the prayer recited.

LENNOXVILLE WI

Lennoxville Women's Institute held its regular monthly meeting in the club room, with the president, Mrs. Neil Tracy, presiding and opening the meeting with the Salute to the Flag and the Mary Stewart Collect. Mrs. Tracy welcomed the members and several guests.

In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Lyman Rothney, the minutes and correspondence were read by Mrs. Francis Smith. Mrs. Gerald Cascadden, treasurer, gave a satisfactory financial report.

It was decided to enter the play competition and the first reading will be held at the Cancer dressing rooms when the members gathered for the regular work day.

Stand-ins were named to assist.

refreshments were served and an enjoyable social hour followed.

Approaching marriages

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Williams, Scarborough, Ontario, wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Adelaine May-Ling Young to Mr. Kenneth Wayne Magoon, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Magoon.

The wedding has been arranged to take place May 18 in Willowdale Seven Day Adventist Church, Willowdale, Ontario.

Mr. Rye, a September wedding is planned. Miss Bronson is a graduate of Derby Academy, class of 1966 and is employed in medical records at the Mary Fletcher hospital in Burlington, Vt. Mr. Rye is a graduate of the Vermont technical school, class of 1966 and is employed by the U.S. Forest Service.

Meets family organizations

MONTREAL — Mrs. A. F. W. Plumtre, president of the Vanier Institute of the Family will meet representatives of family organizations in Montreal, Saturday, April 26 at 5.30 p.m. at the Butch Bouchard Restaurant.

The meeting will serve to brief Montreal family organizations on Institute activities which are designed to strengthen family living through research and education. The meeting also will enable Mrs. Plumtre to become more familiar with the great number of family organizations in Quebec which leads all other Canadian provinces in this field.

Mrs. Plumtre will be in Quebec City, April 22 to have a similar meeting with members of family organizations in that area and also will have lunch with the Hon. Jean-Paul Cloutier, minister of Family and Social Welfare.

Mr. Gilles Lacroix, associate secretary-general of the Vanier Institute of the Family will accompany Mrs. Plumtre on her visit in Montreal and Quebec City.

Contaminated food may look, taste smell alright

OTTAWA (CP) — Food-borne illness, popularly referred to as food poisoning, may be caused by eating food contaminated by harmful bacteria, the consumer division of the federal health department's food and drug directorate says.

The symptoms are usually an upset stomach with severe pains, diarrhea, nausea and a general upset feeling. It can be mistaken for acute indigestion.

A food may look, taste and smell alright and yet cause an unpleasant illness if it has been exposed to contamination by harmful bacteria.

These bacteria come from such sources as a dirty kitchen or factory; food handlers with unwashed hands, bad coughs, or infected cuts; flies, insects and rats which may carry contamination and transfer it to food.

The most common bacteria causing food-borne illness are staphylococci and salmonellae. Staphylococcal bacteria cause food poisoning by producing a toxic or poison as they grow in the food. The food must be held at warm temperatures for several hours before toxin will form. Killing the bacteria by cooking does not render the food safe as the pre-formed toxin is not destroyed by normal cooking.

In salmonella food poisoning or salmonellosis, the harmful bacteria have multiplied to the extent that when the food is eaten, the bacteria may invade the tissues lining the stomach and intestines and cause an infection.

Harmful bacteria grow mostly in moist foods such as custards, cream fillings, salads such as egg and tuna, eggs from infected chickens, meat pies, cooked meats—especially ham and chicken and sandwiches made from them and unpasteurized milk.

While staphylococci and salmonellae can cause illness from any of these foods, generally speaking certain foods are more often associated with one type than another, such as salmonellosis from improperly processed or carelessly handled poultry products.

If you leave any food susceptible to bacterial growth in a suitably warm room you have a potential health hazard for food-borne illness.

The Food and Drugs Act and regulations include measures to help reduce the risk of food-borne illness. Continuous investigation is carried out, as well, in the microbiological laboratories into bacteria causing food-borne illness and sources of food infection.

Officers from the food and drug directorate inspection service make regular inspections of factories, bakeries, retail stores and storage places to ensure that regulations are followed.

completely at home.

—Select frozen and perishable food last during shopping, especially in the hot summer months.

—Follow storage directions on the labels of perishable or frozen foods.

—Promptly refrigerate leftovers from prepared dishes.

—For safe storage, keep cold food at less than 40 degrees and keep hot food at 140 degrees at least.

—Refrigerate all dairy and whipped vegetable-oil products such as toppings.

On a picnic or a trip, take extra care of foods which spoil easily in warm temperatures.

—Food hygiene is always necessary when handling food.

Serve prepared food containing eggs, milk or gravy within two hours or refrigerate.

—Refrigerate dishes like potato salad, chicken pies or chicken salad as soon as they are made in order to avoid bacteria growth.

—Always follow the time and temperature given on the labels for cooking frozen foods.

—Thoroughly cook all poultry and promptly refrigerate leftovers.

—Thoroughly clean cutting boards after every use.

Nuclear power on way

MONTREAL (CP) — Nuclear energy will make a major contribution to the world's energy requirements by the year 2000 by being harnessed to produce electricity.

H. B. Merlin, nuclear plant engineer at Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. at Chalk River, Ont., said Monday recent forecasts indicate that about 56 per cent of North America's electricity may be produced with nuclear energy within 31 years.

He told the 71st annual meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy the world production of electricity by that time will be almost three times the total electricity produced today.

More than 4,000 delegates, including some of the world's most prominent mining men, are attending the three-day conference which opened Monday. The meeting is the largest in the institute's history.

Mr. Merlin said forecasts show nuclear energy will be supplying 35 per cent of North America's electricity by 1980, 23 per cent of Western Europe's and 20 per cent of Japan's.

In Canada, most of the nuclear stations will be located in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes although they may be located in Western Canada toward the end of the century.

B.C. MAY BE LAST
Of the Western provinces, British Columbia may be the last to harness nuclear energy to turn out electricity because of its abundance of hydro sources which will meet electricity requirements.

Mr. Merlin said Quebec likely will go into the full-scale use of nuclear energy by 1980 although this date could be postponed to be more economical than nuclear energy.

Nuclear stations have higher capital and lower fueling costs than fossil-fired stations—stations utilizing coal, petroleum or natural gas.

The capital cost differential decreases as the unit size increases so the cost of electricity generated will be dependent on the unit size and the capacity factor at which the station is operated.

The unit capital cost in Canada should be reduced in the future by the trend to larger generating units, by technical improvements and by increased experience in engineering and manufacturing nuclear components.

Another speaker, Gerald Blackmore, vice-president of the coal division of the Cape Breton Development Corp., described the last 12 months "as unique in the history of the Canadian coal industry."

COKE FROM WEST
Mr. Blackmore said that after many years of market reduction and limited capital investment "we have seen the finalization of massive long-term contracts for high-grade coking coal from the Western Canadian coal fields."

At the same time, on the eastern side of the country, he said, the government has supported the recommendation of the Cape Breton Development Corp. to open up a new mine in Nova Scotia to produce coking coal.

"We have for the first time the opportunity of planning new operations with very modern high capacity equipment to look after an assured market of a minimum period of 15 to 20 years."

"If we do not in 1969 recognize technical, manpower, and commercial problems which will beset us in these 15 to 20 years then our return on capital over the depreciation life of the capitalized assets will fall far short of the optimum."

Cancer Society holds campaign to raise funds

DANVILLE — In connection with the Canadian Cancer Society's annual appeal for funds, five films were shown by J. L. Pedenault, field secretary to over 65 interested people on Apr. 10, in St. Augustine's Parish Hall. Seen were an interesting film on the newest methods of treatment, as well as one of experiments carried on in the hope of finding better methods of combatting the disease.

At the close of the films Dr. Johnson answered any question which the audience cared to ask.

The annual door-to-door campaign will be underway on Apr. 15 and Mrs. Ubald Couture, Campaign chairman, was also present at this meeting to distribute the necessary receipt books to the volunteers, who will be calling shortly for the much needed funds to carry on the work.

Coffee and doughnuts were served by members of the Shipton Women's Institute, who were sponsoring the evening.

On display also was the Gift Cupboard, under the supervision of Mrs. Stanley Taylor, who had a large table showing the various items made for the patients who need them.

Ingersoll-Rand Appointment

JOHN H. DALY

GREGOIRE A. JOURDAIN, C.A.

The appointment of John H. Daly as Vice-President - Manufacturing and Gregoire A. Jourdain, C.A., Vice-President - Finance, has been announced by Richard D. Wendeborn, President, Canadian Ingersoll-Rand Company, Limited, Montreal.

Mr. Daly, who joined Ingersoll-Rand at the Phillipsburg, N.J. plant in 1950, received his degree in Mechanical Engineering from Catholic University, Washington, D.C. Following extensive manufacturing and purchasing experience at Phillipsburg, Mr. Daly came to Canada in 1962, as General Manager, Sherbrooke Plant.

Mr. Jourdain holds a Master of Commerce degree from Laval University and is a member of the Quebec Institute of Chartered Accountants, the Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants of Canada, and the National Association of Accountants of the U. S. A.

With a broad background of accounting and statistical experience in the heavy industrial equipment manufacturing industry, Mr. Jourdain joined Canadian Ingersoll-Rand in Montreal as Controller in January 1968.

Bury W.I. votes $25 to work in Lawrence church

BURY — The April meeting of the Women's Institute was held on April 13 in the Legion Hall with Mrs. Douglas Clark and Mrs. Wilbert Buchanan.

Minutes of the annual meeting, and correspondence were read by the secretary, Mrs. Herbert Rowell. Correspondence consisted of a note from Mrs. McGibbon, provincial president of the QWI, a letter from the Department of Colonization requesting a contribution toward the cost of the electrification of the church at Lawrence, and one from the UN in Canada, asking support for a resolution to recognize the Republic of China.

It was decided to give a donation of $25 towards the Lawrence church project, but to make further study of the matter before taking action on the resolution of the United Nations.

A donation was voted toward the Student Loan fund of the Pope Memorial School, and membership in the UN was renewed. Twenty ditty bags, to replace the Christmas stockings, are to be brought in at the May meeting. Mrs. Garnet Morrison treasurer, gave the financial report showing a satisfactory bank balance and all commitments met. Mrs. Parsons reported on the anniversary committee, and it was decided to include all former members of the W.I. still in the community, on the invitation list.

Conveners' reports followed:

Mrs. Russell Dougherty, agriculture, reported that bulbs, plants and shrubs had been ordered; Mrs. Gilbert Wintle, education, read an informative article on the education of retarded children.

Mrs. Stuart Dougherty, health and welfare, gave out names of sick and shut-ins to be remembered with Easter gifts. She also conducted a poll regarding smoking in the new regional school, which members signed as for or against it.

In the absence of the convenor, no report was given on citizenship. Mrs. Garnet Morrison and Mrs. Gilbert Wintle will make arrangements for the play to be given later.

As the topic for this meeting was home economics, the program was in charge of the convenor, Mrs. Gerald Pehlemann, who had obtained three films, depicting, Interior Decoration, Wheat, the Staff of Life, and one showing various methods of cooking meat and vegetables, all of which were most interesting. Mrs. Pehlemann thanked Mrs. Wintle, Mrs. Fitzsimmons and Mrs. Morrison for taking charge of the projector and showing the films.

The roll call was answered by naming. My worst cooking failure, which brought some humorous replies.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Bessie Olson.

Sewers model own creations at fashion show held in Cookshire

COOKSHIRE — Sponsored by the director, S. W. Rowe, of the adult education for the Regional School Board, and directed by the sewing instructress, Mrs. Rupert Learned, a fine fashion show was held in the Cookshire High School auditorium.

These garments were made and in most cases modelled by the pupils who had, for 20 weeks, come for instruction, with an almost 100 per cent attendance, regardless of weather conditions.

Mrs. Learned welcomed the numerous guests and thanked the director, Mr. Rowe, for the use of the school, and the janitor, Frank Judge, for his services. She stated she had enjoyed working with the pupils, and appreciated the interest and enthusiasm shown among the participants during the sewing course.

At the close of the evening, refreshments were served by the pupils, and on their behalf, Mrs. Earl Dawson presented Mrs. Learned with a crystal vase, for which she expressed her appreciation.

The garments and those showing them are as follows: Wool skirt, made by Mrs. Fred Burns; a brown and gold printed bark crepe dress, by Mrs. Malcolm Burns; a polka dot summer dress by Mrs. Earl Dawson; a gay printed cotton dress by Mrs. Douglas Grapes.

Merle Grapes modelled a pair of slacks made by her mother; Linda Grapes, a pair of slacks, skirt and a cape, made by Mrs. Merlin Harvey; Mrs. Ronald Rothney modelled her bonded wool dress; Mrs. Garfield Spaulding, her light wool, sleeveless dress. Mrs. E. Watson modelled her tailored blouse; Mrs. Wayne Thorneloe, her dress, of red wool trimmed with eyelet lace; Merle Grapes an azure blue dress with lined cape of same material made by her mother; Mrs. Fred Burns, a light-weight green wool dress; Mrs. Malcolm Burns, a smock; Mrs. Earl Dawson, a dark blue checked jumper with light blue blouse, which she called teacher's pet outfit.

Mrs. D. Grapes, a coat and skirt; Mrs. E. Watson, gray wool slacks; Mrs. Garfield Spaulding, a brown checked suit, Mrs. W. Thorneloe, a sleeveless linen sheath dress. Mrs. Fred Burns modelled a nylon house coat, made by Mrs. Earl Dawson for her daughter, Diane; Mrs. E. Watson showed her buttercup yellow boucle dress; Mrs. Malcolm Burns, her flowered print dress; Mrs. W. Thorneloe, her wrap-around skirt, Mrs. Fred Burns, a light wool dress with contrasting plaid cape; Mrs. E. Watson, a black brocade satin dress with red velvet jacket and Mrs. G. Spaulding, her pink summer dress with lace jabot. Other garments displayed were a checked circular skirt and a small check dress with novelty stitching, made by Mrs. Harvey.

All the members modelled their own creations with the exception of Mrs. M. Harvey and Mrs. Keith Allen, Birtchton, and Mrs. George Pinchin, Bulwer, who were unable to attend the fashion show.

Two new members join at meeting of Bury U. C. W.

BURY — A meeting of the U.C.W. was held on April 9, in the Sunday school room of the church with 13 members and two visitors present. Two new members, Mrs. Little and Mrs. Claude Morrill, were welcomed. The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. Elvira Cathcart, with the theme, Our Christian Task, taken from the clip sheet.

Members planned to attend the annual meeting of the Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbytery, held in Trinity United Church, Sherbrooke. It was decided to donate $15 to the E. T. Protestant Colonization Association toward the cost of electrifying the church at Lawrence.

Two thank you notes were read from those remembered in bereavement. A card of appreciation is to be sent to Mrs. Lena McGee, for the tea and card sale held at her home earlier in the winter. Seven visits were reported made to shut-ins.

May, being Citizenship month, it is planned for each member to invite an elderly or other person to the meeting. There will be a plant and bulb sale. Each member is to suggest a way to become a better citizen. Mrs. Irene Flanders, the president, reported receiving four books from Ottawa: Citizenship Guide, Citizenship Contributions, New Comers to Canada and Progressive planning.

A letter from Mrs. Irwin McBurney was read telling of a lead-in to be held at Sawyerville in May.

Quilt blocks were brought in and a quilt is to be tied and given to a family who have lost their home by fire. Fruit, Juice, and a card signed by those present, was sent to Mrs. Raymond Morrison who is ill. Six contributions were made to the birthday box.

Mr. Walter Atkins was given authority to buy a new lawn mower. Sunshine bags and articles for the layette were brought in, and thank offering envelopes were given out to be brought in at the next meeting.

A film, China in Revolution, was shown by Rev. G. Lokhorst. He was thanked by Mrs. Edith Whitehead. The meeting was closed with prayer and pot luck refreshments were served by the ladies.

Sawyerville WI plans to make, pack ditty bags

SAWYERVILLE — The regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held on April 2, in the Town Building with 15 members present. The Roll Call was Hints from a Green Thumb. Several members did not have green thumbs so 80 cents was added to the treasury.

Some material was brought in to make ditty bags. They will be made up and members are asked to bring their donations to the next meeting. Since it is Sawyerville's turn to furnish the drawings for Cookshire Fair, it was decided to have a suitcase as first prize and a man's billfold as second prize.

Correspondence included a thank-you note, a letter from the Central School Board and a report of the Board meeting held in Montreal.

Clothing for Save the Children is to be brought to next meeting.

The program was in charge of the agricultural conveners, Mrs. Alvin Nugent read an article on sugar-making and also conducted a quiz. Prizes were won by Mrs. A. Robinson and Mrs. F. Robinson.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Hilda Dougherty and Mrs. Avis Willard.

Ladies Guild to aid church at Lawrence

BURY — The regular meeting of the Ladies Guild of St. Paul's church was held recently in the Parish hall. Mrs. Wilbert Buchanan, president, conducted the meeting.

Correspondence, read by the secretary, Mrs. Douglas Harrison, included a letter from the Department of Colonization requesting a contribution toward the cost of electrification for the church at Lawrence.

After some discussion it was decided to hold a card party and give the proceeds to this cause.

Several Sunshine bags were handed in. Several articles of knitting had been distributed at a previous meeting.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Gemma Ross, Mrs. Rayfield Ross and Mrs. Jack Matheson.

Cookshire

Easter weekend guests at the Manse were Mr. John Tyson and friend of Montreal, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Husolo and family, Town of Mount Royal.

Family gather to honor Beebe man on 87th birthday

BEEBE — Mr. Earl Bronson, who served his 87th birthday on April 4 at the home of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bronson, where he now resides, was guest of honor at a party marking the special occasion.

Several family members, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and friends gathered to help him celebrate. His daughter, Mrs. Cecil Astbury and Mr. Astbury, Kingston, Ont., presented her father with an appropriately decorated cake. He was also the recipient of gifts including money, cards and phone calls.

The day was pleasantly spent reminiscing, dancing and playing cards, with the celebrant doing some dancing.

The guest of honor expressed his thanks to everyone for joining him for the special event. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Astbury, Kingston, Ont., Mr. Leon Keeler, Kingston, with Mrs. Keeler and family, Graniteville, were among the guests.

Legion Auxiliary holds final 500 party in series

AYER'S CLIFF — The last in a series of 500 parties, sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion Branch 128, Hatley and Ayer's Cliff, was held in the Legion Hall on March 28.

The hall was attractively decorated in keeping with the Easter season by Mrs. Lancelot Piercy and Mrs. Algernon Piercy.

Cards were played at nine tables and prizes for the evening were won as follows: Mrs. John Lepine, high score; and consolation by Mrs. Charles Wells, Newport, Vt. Men's high score winner was Ivan Wood and consolation went to Howard Keeler.

Door prizes were won by John Beamish and Mrs. John Lepine. The prize for the highest score of the series was won by Mrs. Ed Allsop, Massawippi.

Refreshments were served by the ladies and a social time was enjoyed.

The Auxiliary would like to thank all those who have supported the parties and hopes to see everyone back again on April 18 when a Monte Carlo Whist party will be held.

Afternoon WMS group holds Easter thank-offering meet

SCOTSTOWN — The Easter Thankoffering meeting of the Afternoon Auxiliary of St. Paul's Presbyterian W.M.S. was held with Mrs. John E. MacDonald on April 9. The president, Mrs. Kenneth MacDonald conducted the meeting which opened with an Easter Service. She was assisted by several members.

The money from the sale of the quilt was handed in for supply work. Two members had sent articles to the Voice of Women, Toronto, Ont., for children in Vietnam. Further work for supply was discussed.

Mrs. Philip Boy conducted the study on The Good Samaritan. There were six members and three visitors present.

Final plans were made for entertaining the Presbyterian

Presbyterian Ladies' Circle holds meeting

SCOTSTOWN — Mrs. Harvey MacRae and Mrs. F. C. Goodin were hostesses for the Presbyterian Ladies Circle at the home of Mrs. MacRae on April 3.

The president, Mrs. Donald Morrison, presented Mrs. R. Rowat with a small gift as a remembrance from members of the Circle. Mrs. Rowat thanked the ladies for the gift and said that she had enjoyed the fellowship with the members during her stay in Scotstown.

Scripture was read by Mrs. John N. MacKenzie, followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison.

Twelve members answered the roll call. Sunshine bags were brought in and $20 was donated to the Cancer Society. Thank you notes were read.

Several more quilts had been quilted since the March meeting. Final plans will be made at the next meeting for a spring supper on May 31. Mrs. Donald Morrison and Miss Margaret Matheson will be hostesses for the May meeting.

The hostesses served refreshments at the social hour.

Four birthdays celebrated at Border party

ROCK ISLAND — The home of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Crawford, was the scene of a family gathering to mark four birthday anniversaries, that of Mr. and Mrs. Crawford's twin daughters, Jean and Jane, marking the exciting age of 16, a son, Bill, who was marking his 21st, and fourth, that of the young people's grandmother, Mrs. Mabel Crawford.

A family dinner was served and the table was accented with two birthday cakes, one for Mrs. Crawford the other for the twins and Bill. The cakes were attractively decorated in white and pink, with touches of pastel and were cut and served after the candle blowing out fun.

The foursome received good wishes and gifts. Their friends join in wishing them many more such happy occasions.

Easter thank-offering meeting held by U.C.W.

SCOTSTOWN — The Easter Thanking-offering meeting of the United Church Women was held at the home of Mrs. F. B. Mayhew with eight members and a visitor present.

The president, Mrs. W. A. Ladd, opened the meeting with Worship taken from the Clip Sheet. The theme was Our Christian task to be ambassadors of goodwill.

In the absence of Mrs. Ross MacDonald, the treasurer's report was read by the secretary.

Correspondence consisted of a letter regarding the yearly allocation, a letter from the cancer society and a thank-you from Miss Mary MacDonald for the sunshine basket given her.

A quilt top, made by three members, was on display and will be tackled when the lining has been purchased.

Three flannelette baby jackets had been made by a member and given Mrs. Roy Waldron for the supply sale.

A member has donated a fridge for use in the church hall and plans were made for cleaning the hall and church in May.

Mrs. W. A. Ladd read the history of the Ladies Aid and the Women's Association which she had recently compiled, which the members found very interesting.

A birthday card was signed for a friend having a birthday on April 11. Several members had visited the sick and shut-ins.

Six pot holders were sold and Mrs. Ladd reported several articles sold since the last meeting. A member is donating two pairs of pillow cases to be embroidered.

Mrs. Roy Waldron reviewed a chapter of the study book, The Age of Persecution.

The May meeting will be held with Mrs. Roy Waldron. The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction.

Mrs. Mayhew served refreshments at the dining table and a social hour was enjoyed.

Richmond-Melbourne UCW holds Easter Thank offering meeting

RICHMOND — The Easter Thank offering meeting of Richmond-Melbourne U.C.W. was held on April 2, with a large number in attendance. The devotional service was conducted by Mrs. Vincent Farrant, with Mrs. Ralph Healy, the president, and Mrs. G. Perkins receiving the offering.

The program took the form of a discussion on the importance of the Bible in our daily life, led by Rev. R. A. Cameron. Several other questions selected for discussion were covered. Mr. Cameron explained that it was helpful to remember that as the actual writing of the Scriptures was done by individual men, the facts were presented as these men saw and felt them. Suggestions of books and helps to better understanding were given. It was decided to have a further discussion at a later date, with the members to select their own questions.

In the absence of the treasurer, the financial report was given by Mrs. D. L. Dykeman.

Following discussion at the March general meeting and at the unit meetings it was voted that the U.C.W. initiate an In Memoriam Fund. The details for handling was voted to the fund, in memory of Morley Dean, son of Rev. and Mrs. J. Leslie Dean.

Thank-you letters were read, also two letters from the Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbyterian U.C.W. Reports were given by representatives of the units, as well as various committees.

Fifty-four calls had been made on Wales Home residents and others.

The president congratulated the Chalmers and Marjorie Units on the successful St. Patrick's tea and food sale, held March 15.

A youth rally will be held in the Church Hall on April 26. The U.C.W. was asked for assistance in providing cocoa and coffee at the noon hour.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. V. Farrant, Mrs. G. Perkins and Mrs. M. Husk.

Girl Guide and Brownie news

DANVILLE

The meeting of the Richmond Division of the Girl Guides of Canada, planned for April 19 in St. Augustine's Parish Hall, has been postponed until April 26, due to the fact that there will be Basic Training for the Guiders of the Champlain Area in Granby on that day.

It is hoped that as many Guiders, or those planning on becoming Guiders next fall, will avail themselves of the opportunity to qualify for leadership in this world-wide organization.

Training is of great importance if the high standard of the Guiders is to be maintained, and it is through these sessions that the Guiders obtain new ideas for their Companies and Packs.

Bedford UCW reports $61 realized from food sale

BEDFORD — The regular monthly meeting of the U.C.W. was held in the church hall recently, with 16 members and two visitors present. The meeting was opened with prayer by the president, Miss Lottie Casey.

The treasurer, Mrs. Ralph Oakes, reported that $61 had been realized at the recent food sale.

Arrangements were made for a spring tea and sale of articles to be held on April 18.

Following adjournment of the meeting members of the congregation gathered for a social evening, to honor Mrs. Mildred Short in appreciation of her 27 years of faithful services as treasurer of the church.

On behalf of the congregation Fred Gilman presented Mrs. Short with a handsome Bible, leather bound, and a beautiful glorioxia plant in full bloom. Mr. Gilman expressed the appreciation and thanks of the congregation to Mrs. Short for her many years of work. Mrs. Short expressed her appreciation for the gifts and for the kind wishes which accompanied them.

Rev. W. R. Lake also spoke and voiced thanks to Mrs. Short, Mr. Allan Palmer and Mrs. L. Huse who jointly look after the financial matters in the future.

The evening concluded with the serving of refreshments in charge of the social committee, Mrs. William MacArthur and Mrs. Victor Norris.

Brome Wardens name winners at card party

BROME — On March 21, the Wardens of St. John's Church held a card party in the Brome Hall beginning at 8 p.m. Cards were played at 12 tables.

During refreshments, served by various ladies of the parish, Gordon Marsh, acting as M.C., announced the winners of prizes: Ladies first was awarded to Mrs. William Doe, second, to Mrs. Lyla Owens and consolation to Miss Elaine Kirby.

Men's first prize was won by Mr. Sidney McElroy, second prize went to Earl Patten and consolation to R. Whitehead.

The floating prize was won by Mrs. Harold Miller and Robert Kirby. Door prize was awarded to Wesley Leavitt and the under the saucer prize was won by Leon Bennett.

Mr. Marsh thanked everyone for support and announced that another Card party would be held on April 11.

Brookbury Institute appoints conveners and committees

BROOKBURY — The April meeting of the Brookbury W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Oral Downes, Bishopton, with Mrs. Ralph St. Pierre as co-hostess.

Roll call was answered by 10 members each telling something she had always wanted to do.

The conveners and special committees were appointed. Mrs. Flora MacIntyre read the program which she had prepared for 1969-70.

Five ditty bags were turned in and Mrs. Hilda Hooker and Mrs. Ralph St. Pierre will make five more to be filled by June 30.

The branch will not be having a play. Money was voted to the Town of Bishopton for the use of the Bishopton school for two card parties.

Plans were made for 10 members to attend the Brompton Road W.I. on April 8. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Maple sugar recipes exchange feature of Institute meeting

STANBRIDGE EAST — The regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held April 10 at the home of Mrs. F. Corey, Stanbridge Ridge, with 20 members and three guests present. Roll call was an exchange of recipes using maple sugar or syrup.

The treasurer's report showed a satisfactory balance on hand. A donation of $2 was gratefully received from an anonymous friend of the W.I.

Many expressions of thanks were received from the Spicer family, as the branch, in cooperation with the Town Council, had sponsored the 100th birthday celebration in honor of Mrs. Alice Spicer. Refreshments, including a decorated birthday cake made by a member, were served by the W.I. group, with the president, Mrs. C. Rhicard, and a granddaughter of Mrs. Spicer, Mrs. Ferninough, a W.I. member at Dunham, pouring tea. A letter of thanks was read from Mrs. R. Craighead, secretary of the Missisquoi County Historical Society for the donation of a phone with extension, which is to be installed in the Museum for the summer months.

Citizenship convener, Mrs. K. Shepardon, read the rules of the Carine Wilson Competitions for the 1970 National Convention, which is an essay on The Second Century Challenge To Women, and brought a brochure, The Canadian Constitution, to be circulated among members for study. Mrs. Davitt, home economics convener, reported she had eight Christmas stockings finished. She brought the Consumer's Guide to be passed around among the members.

Subscriptions were taken to Federated News, official organ of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada. The new programs for 1969-70, which had been drawn up by Mrs. Shepardon and Mrs. Tait, were given out.

The program, Travelling broadens the mind, was in charge of Mrs. N. Creller, who gave an interesting talk on her trip to the British Isles, which she took in 1968 in company with Mr. Creller and Mr. and Mrs. K. D. Tree. She also passed around an album of views which she had taken and colored postcards. Mrs. Creller was thanked by Mrs. Rhicard on behalf of all present.

Assisting hostesses were Mrs. G. Hayes and Mrs. C. Primmerman.

Obituaries

MRS. ALICE C. DOBB, OF LENNOXVILLE

On Sunday, March 30, 1969, the death of Alice C. Dobb occurred at The Sample Nursing Home, Sherbrooke, after an illness of several weeks.

Mrs. Dobb was in her 82nd year. The daughter of Mark and Lois Bean, she was born in Compton and spent the greater part of her life in the Eastern Townships.

She is survived by her daughter, Thelma, Lyndhurst, Ont., Wallace Mesa, Ariz., and Oris, North Hatley. One brother and a sister survive her and reside in Barton, and West Danville, Vt.

The funeral service was held at Johnston's Funeral Parlor, Lennoxville, Rev. A. B. Lovelace officiating.

The bearers were Howard Symons, Harold Symons, Henry Leech, Harry Erno, Wayland Pope and Sid Davis.

Rock of Ages and The Old Rugged Cross were sung by Mrs. R. Olson and Mrs. E. Wells. Burial was in Malvern Cemetery, Lennoxville.

LLOYD H. HUNT, OF SAWYERVILLE

SAWYERVILLE — Funeral services were held in St. Philip's Anglican Church, on Tuesday, March 4, for Lloyd Herbert Hunt, who died suddenly on Saturday, March 1.

Mr. Hunt was born in Sawyererville on April 28, 1891, the only son of the late Herbert H. Hunt and Henrietta Goodenough, his wife. He received his education at Sawyererville High School, later taking a business course at Stanstead College. Upon returning from college he went into business with his father, running a general store, which business he and his sister, Blanche, carried on until the time of his death.

On Sept. 18, 1918, he was married to Julia Lois Hurd and set up housekeeping in a house adjacent to the family store. From this marriage there were two children, Bruce and Gordon. In the fall of 1968 Mr. and Mrs. Hunt celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary.

During his lifetime Mr. Hunt played an active and important role in the life of the community and surrounding areas with his varied interests. For many years he carried on extensive farming operations on the Hunt farms surrounding Sawyererville, frequently shipping livestock of his own and of other farmers to the Montreal stockyards, which yards he visited regularly in those days. He was a director of the Compton County Agricultural Society and of the Eastern Townships Agricultural Society and had served as president of both.

He was secretary-treasurer of the Sawyererville Protestant School Board for 50 years, and served on the Compton County Board for several terms and as its chairman for one term. Mr. Hunt also served his town on the Municipal Council for 40 years, holding the office of mayor for 20 of those years. He was a member of the Eastern Townships Settlement and Colonization Society and of the Compton County Historical Society. He had been a lifelong member of St. Philip's Anglican Church, of which he was warden for many years and at the time of his death.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. A. Fairbairn of Cookshire, assisted by Archdeacon T. I. Matthews of Lennoxville, Canon S. A. Meade of Thetford Mines, and Rev. Thorne of East Angus. The choir, augmented by the United Church choir, and with Mrs. Clinton Smith at the organ, sang two hymns, both family favourites: The Lord is my Shepherd, and Let Saints on Earth in Concert Sing.

The bearers, all close friends were: Zephirin Rousseau, Maurice Patry, Harry Ord, Harold Locke, Art Bennett, and Fred Robinson.

Interment was in Eaton Cemetery. Mr. Hunt is survived by his wife, a sister, Blanche, two sons, Bruce, of Chicoutimi, and Gordon, Lebel sur Quevillon; seven grandchildren, and an aunt, Mrs. Everett Goodenough, of Sherbrooke.

MRS. CHARLES McCALLUM, OF RANDBORO

RANDBORO — The death of Mrs. Charles A. McCallum occurred on Wed., March 5, 1969, at the Bennett Nursing Home, Lennoxville, following several months of failing health.

Born a twin daughter of the late Joseph Parker and his wife, Mary Jane Hamilton, on June 2, 1876, Lottie Margaret Parker was one of a family of 11 children, and she was the last surviving member, her twin sister, Lilly Rand, predeceasing her several years ago. Mrs. McCallum, who was in her 93rd year, with the exception of a short time spent in Boston, Mass., in her youth, lived her entire life in the vicinity.

She was married in 1898 to George Leggett, who predeceased her in 1905. Of this marriage two children were born, Luvia, Mrs. George McCallum, Randboro, and Harold Leggett, Boston, Mass., who died in May 1966. In 1907 she was married to Charles A. McCallum, who predeceased her in March, 1960. Of this union six children were born, Ernest of Lennoxville, Leslie, Randboro, Stanley, St. Petersburg, Fla., Edward, who died in infancy, Wilma, Mrs. Harold Knapp, Cornwall, Ont., and Colin of Simsbury, Conn.

Mrs. McCallum is also survived by 21 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren, a sister-in-law, Mrs. Ernest Parker, Boston, Mass., and many other relatives.

Prayers were held at the late residence, with funeral service from Randboro United Church on March 8, Rev. J. C. Arnold officiating. Mrs. Lloyd French acted as organist and the Sawyererville choir led in the singing of Abide With Me and Safe in the Arms of Jesus.

Bearers were Lionel Hurd, Malcolm Blue, Clayton Parker, William Graham, David Mackay and George Chute.

Interment was in the family plot at Maple Leaf Cemetery.

FRANCOIS GOULET, OF RICHMOND

RICHMOND — The death occurred at the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Sherbrooke, on March 21, 1969, of Francois (Frank) Goulet, well-known and highly-esteemed citizen, a retired CNR Locomotive Engineer and veteran of World War I, after a lingering illness. He was 68 years of age.

Frank, as he was known by his many friends, was born at Laurierville, son of the late Mr. Joseph Etienne Goulet and his wife, the late Orphilia Martel. He received his early education at the local school, and as a young man he served two years with the Canadian Army Overseas during World War I, having enlisted with the 22nd Battalion of Quebec City.

Shortly after returning home he came to Richmond and entered the employ of the G.T.R., later the C.N.R. Railways as a locomotive foreman and later on was promoted to an engineer on the Quebec Division.

He retired in 1965 after forty-seven years of service. Mr. Goulet's amiable disposition made him popular with both young and old.

He was twice married. In 1923 he married Ethel LaRoche of Richmond, who predeceased him in 1937. They had two daughters and two sons. In 1945 he married Aldora Morin of St. Felix de Kingsey, and a daughter and two sons were born of this union.

The deceased was a member of the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 15, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Knights of Columbus. During the evening prior to the funeral these organizations visited the funeral home where they conducted their memorial service. A cross of red poppies was placed on the casket by Branch 15. Mr. Goulet was also a faithful member of Holy Family Church.

Left to mourn his loss are his wife, three daughters, Doreen, Mrs. George Moore, Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Irene, Mrs. Bruno Carriere, Asbestos; Miss Carole Goulet of Richmond; three sons, Leo, Three Rivers; Robert, of the Imperial Bank of Commerce staff at Sutton and Master Richard of Richmond; a sister, Mrs. Alma Fournier, Montreal; two brothers, Jean Baptiste and Alphonse, both of Laurierville; three grandchildren and many other relatives. A son, Ronald, predeceased him in 1957.

The remains rested at the J. H. Fleury Funeral Home, Adam Street, whence the funeral took place on March 25. The long cortege proceeded to the Holy Family Church for the largely attended service.

If you're casting a wider shadow these days you could be in trouble

People in our "Stress Society" tend to over-indulge and as a result overweight and high blood pressure are common problems. If you're in your 40's or 50's the odds are high you have one or both of these problems. If you identify yourself with this group you'd be wise to do something about it. Like getting regular check-ups, finding out your limits, and sticking to them. If you've been thinking about life insurance, and discovered that the cost in your case is high, or even difficult to get, Manufacturers Life may be able to help. We have always believed that life insurance should be available to the largest group of people possible and at the lowest possible price. You will find the Man from Manufacturers well qualified and helpful in your selection of a plan to suit your particular needs. Call him soon.

CYNTHIA LOWRY About television

NEW YORK (AP) — The Broadway Tony awards, which in two previous television programs led the other awards shows in pace, class and general interest, seemed on Sunday night to be falling into the old Oscar trap.

With awards voted in 15 categories and five special Tonys to hand out—plus scenes from several top plays to present—the show bogged down with the introductions of the presenters, the envelope-opening and the thanks speeches.

Just about every great theatrical name, however, was on stage at some time—Sir Laurence Olivier flew over from England to pick up his special award. The program, scheduled to run 90 minutes, was close to 45 minutes late in winding up.

Tony's charm for the average viewer with little access to the Broadway theatre is always the liberal sampling provided from top shows. There were scenes from Zorba, The Lovers, Promises, Promises, 1776 and Hair—the last perhaps a bit disappointing since the cast sang a production number completely clothed.

TV STARS ON HAND

It was interesting to note the close relationship between the branches of show business. Alan King and Diannah Carroll, certainly two familiar TV faces, served as host and hostess. Carol Burnett, who certainly belongs to television, received a special Tony.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

There's No Evidence Cancer Is Hereditary

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—Is cancer hereditary? Can it be transmitted by kissing a person who has cancer of the face?

A—The ways in which a person gets cancer are still not well-understood but there is no evidence that the disease is transmitted from one person to another through heredity or close personal contact.

Q—Recently I had a Bolen test. What exactly is it?

A—This test for cancer is based on a difference in the behavior of a blood clot from a person with cancer and one without this disease.

Q—What are the early signs of cancer of the intestines?

A—Unfortunately, there usually are none. Often the first signs are pallor and loss of weight. A definite change in bowel habits is sufficient reason to have a complete gastrointestinal workup. In persons who are past 50 a proctoscopic examination every 12 to 18 months often facilitates an early diagnosis.

Q—What is the difference between radium and cobalt treatment? How do they work?

A—Radium and cobalt are two different elements. Radium is naturally radioactive and the cobalt used in treatment is converted into a radioactive isotope. Both work by killing living cells. The trick is to concentrate their activity on the malignant cells of a cancer without doing irreparable damage to the normal cells surrounding the tumor.

Q—I have heard that red clover tea will cure cancer if taken in the early stage of the disease. What do you think?

A—You're putting me on.

Q—I have some draperies made of glass fiber. When I handle them I get an itching in my eyes and throat. Could this be due to particles of glass fiber?

A—Glass fibers have been known to get into underwear laundered along with draperies made of this material. The wearers have then complained of generalized itching. Some itching of the hands might conceivably result from extensive handling of such draperies but some other source of itching of the eyes and throat should be sought.

Sensible Way to Relieve Diarrhea

Many people hope a sudden attack of diarrhea will quickly subside. So they do nothing. Others prefer to take a fast-acting, dependable remedy right at the start, like Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It relieves nausea, cramps and diarrhea—gently restores intestinal balance. Family-proven for over 115 years. For those sudden attacks that can strike at home, on trips or vacation, keep Dr. FOWLER'S Extract of Wild Strawberry on hand.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

North put down the dummy and remarked, "I never pass a forcing bid." South looked at the dummy and thought that a better statement would be, "I never pass." Then South decided to try to make his hopeless contract.

The queen of hearts lead had to be helpful except that South suspected it was a singleton and trumps would break 5-1. He played dummy's four and was delighted to see East produce the ace. East returned the queen of spades. South took his ace and played the king of hearts. If both opponents followed, he planned to draw trumps and trust to the club suit coming in. Unfortunately for South, to the same number of trumps that South held. Furthermore, he was on lead and decided to get two trumps for one. He didn't seem to see the danger in that long club suit in dummy.

He found out soon enough. East led a small trump and South took that trick with his 10. South cashed his last jack of trump and drew East's last trump. Then South played the ace and six of clubs. He paused for thought. You could just see him asking himself, "Would East have defended this way if he didn't hold the club-queen?" Finally South played dummy's jack. It held. The rest of the clubs were good and South had made his ridiculous contract.

BREAKS MONTREAL DEFENSE — Boston Bruins' Ed Westfall plows into Montreal Canadiens' Jacques Laperrriere (2), and goalie Rogatien Vachon, as he scores Boston's second goal in the first period of their National Hockey League playoff game at Boston Garden Sunday afternoon. Watching is Canadiens' Serge Savard (18). Boston won 3-2 to even the series at 2-2.

Stanley Cup Habs installed as 6-5 favorites

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens have been installed as 6-to-5 favorites to win their hockey game here tonight against Boston Bruins.

The current best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final round is tied 2-2, each club having notched two home ice victories.

Boston's high-scoring centre, young Derek Sanderson, likely will be omitted from the starting lineup. Sanderson has contributed eight goals and two assists in eight playoff games.

The Bruins arrived here Monday night and coach Harry Sinden promptly steered his charges clear of their usual downtown hotel in favor of an unannounced hideaway.

Sanderson stayed in Boston, nursing a severe charleyhorse picked up in Sunday's game as he scored a shorthanded goal to aid the Bruins in their 3-2 win.

COULD STILL MAKE IT

If further treatment today proves successful, the sophomore scoring ace and penalty-killer could still fly here in time for tonight's 8 p.m. EST faceoff.

Sanderson said after Sunday's game he had been told by the club doctor his injury would take a week to heal.

As a result of Sanderson's injury, the Bruins brought two extra forwards along—right winger Tom Webster, who won the Ontario Hockey Association's Junior A series scoring title with Niagara Falls Flyers last season, and Bill Lesuk, a left winger in his second season as a pro.

Both had short bursts with the Bruins earlier this season, but spent most of their time with Oklahoma City of the Central Hockey League.

Sinden gave the Bruins a day off Monday, with only defenceman Dallas Smith and goalie Ed Johnston turning out for a skate.

The Canadiens also held an optional workout. They too went into seclusion at a Laurentian Mountain retreat.

WINGERS WILL START

Monday afternoon, Montreal general manager Sam Pollock announced that left winger John Ferguson and right winger Bob Rousseau will start.

However, goaltender Lorne (Gump) Worsley is unlikely to get back into action because of a dislocated finger on his left hand suffered in last Thursday's 5-0 loss in Boston. Worsley took a hard shot from Boston's Ken Hodge on the back of his catching hand and still had a splint and pressure bandage on the injury today.

Ferguson suffered an eye injury Sunday and was forced to wear a patch Monday. He visited an eye specialist Monday afternoon before getting clearance to play tonight.

Rousseau suffered a charleyhorse in his right leg in a collision with Boston defenceman Bobby Orr Sunday. He was still limping badly from the injury when he visited the Forum clinic Monday morning.

Ferguson, centre Ralph Backstrom and Claude Provost usually draw the chore of holding high-scoring Phil Esposito, Hodge and Ron Murphy in check in Montreal.

Allan Cup Tigers win 6-2

VICTORIAVILLE, Que. (CP) — Victoriaville Tigers, paced by Jocelyn Hardy, defeated Galt Hornets 6-2 Monday night to narrow the best-of-seven Eastern Canada Allan Cup final series three games to two.

Hardy scored three goals as the Tigers forced a sixth game in the series. The sixth game is scheduled for Thursday at Galt.

Andy Bessette, Jean-Claude and Jacques Michel were the other Victoriaville marksmen. Pete Brennan and Fern Belanger were the Galt goal-getters.

Bessette and Hardy, with his first goal of the game, gave the Tigers, of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, a 2-0 lead midway through the first period.

Brennan scored to narrow the margin to 2-1 in the last minute of the opening period.

Marcotte gave the Tigers a 31 lead at 7:02 of the second period and Hardy completed his three-goal night with two goals in the middle period. Victoriaville goalie Jean-Guy Morrissette earned an assist on Hardy's second goal at 9:03.

The teams exchanged goals in the third period.

Boat Hurley started in nets for the Galts but was replaced by Errol McKibbin for the start of the third period. Morrissette went the full game in nets for the Tigers.

The Tigers had 46 shots on goal in the game. The Hornets fired 40 shots at Morrissette.

Jap wins Boston Marathon in record-breaking pace

BOSTON (CP) — No one was surprised when the first man to cross the finish line at the Boston marathon was a Japanese, Yoshiaki Uenetai, although his record-breaking pace was startling.

Many runners and reporters were surprised however, when Robert Moore, 29-year-old biologist from Toronto, finished fifth in 2:50:10. Chris Steer of Toronto finished 133rd in 2:56:33 while Jerome Drayton and Nick Hamlin, both of Toronto, did not finish.

Uenetai set a blistering pace through the 26-mile 355-yard course in the race run under a sunny sky with the temperature around 50.

He and the Mexicans ran neck and neck for the first part of the race but Uenetai began to pull away about seven miles from the finish and opened up a 200-yard lead going into "heartbreak hill," which has defeated many runners.

Uenetai used the grade to put distance between himself and the other runners, however, and was going strong with a one-half mile leading during the last part of the race.

Last year's winner, American Ambrose Burfoot, finished 17th in 2:29:50 after staying up front the first 10 miles.

SENT OFFICIAL TEAM

Moore, Aarbo and Wallingford were all members of Canada's first official team in the Boston marathon.

Among other members of the team coached by Paul Ponce of Toronto Olympic Club, Herb Monck of Hamilton finished 87th in 2:50:10. Chris Steer of Toronto finished 133rd in 2:56:33 while Jerome Drayton and Nick Hamlin, both of Toronto, did not finish.

Memorial Cup Jr. Habs dump Sorel

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Junior Canadiens outlasted Sorel Black Hawks 8-5 Monday night in the opening game of the best-of-five Eastern Canada Memorial Cup final hockey series.

Rejean Houle and Marc Tardif scored two goals each for the Junior Canadiens, of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A circuit.

Gilbert Perreault, Guy Charon, Jean-Pierre Bordeleau and Serge Lajeunesse added one each for the winners.

The Black Hawks, of the Quebec Junior AA Hockey League, got two goals from Richard Leduc and one each from Doug Moyse, John Stuart and Leslie Blain.

The Junior Canadiens led 3-1 after the first period and carried a slim 5-4 lead into the third period against the hustling Black Hawks.

Perreault and Tardif gave Montreal a 2-0 lead early in the first period but Moyse narrowed the margin to 2-1 at 12:01 of the period. Houle scored his first goal of the game one minute and 27 seconds later to put the Canadiens in front 3-1.

Stuart and Leduc scored early in the second to tie the score 3-3 but Charon and Houle, with his second, put the Canadiens back out in front. Leduc narrowed the score with an unassisted goal late in the period.

The Canadiens added three goals in the third as they fired 21 shots in the final frame at Sorel goalie Daniel Bouchard.

Bouchard was a standout as the Canadiens had a total of 49 shots at him. Wayne Wood, in the Montreal nets, faced 32 shots before a Montreal crowd of 10,625.

Second game of the series is scheduled for Wednesday at Montreal.

Calder Cup Aces clip Reds

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec Aces, playing before a hometown crowd of 8,495, spotted the Reds a 1-0 lead when Leduc scored at 4:10 of the first period.

Dufour got that one back with his first of the night at 12:42 and Morrison put the Aces in front 2-1 with 17 seconds remaining in the opening period.

Leduc scored the only goal of the second period to tie the game 2-2. Dufour put the Aces in front 3-2 at the 42-second mark of the third period and Paiement made it 4-2 at 9:17.

Meissner rounded out the scoring at 15:46 of the third period.

The fourth game of the series is scheduled for Wednesday in Quebec.

Cards slip past Expos 5-4

Willie Mays moved back into his old spot with success, but it didn't prevent Los Angeles Dodgers from breaking an old jinx against San Francisco's Juan Marichal.

The Dodgers, taking advantage of a pair of costly errors, scored five unearned runs in the fifth inning en route to a 7-5 victory Monday night over the Giants, knocking Marichal out of the box for the first time in 11 meetings. It was the Dodgers' seventh straight triumph.

Meanwhile, Mays returned to his old No. 3 spot in the batting order, after hitting leadoff in the Giants' first 11 games, and responded with two singles in three official trips.

In action elsewhere in the National League, St. Louis Cardinals broke its seven-game home-losing streak with a 5-4 victory over Montreal Expos.

Philadelphia Phillies edged New York Mets 2-1 in 11 innings. Cincinnati Reds ripped Houston Astros 11-5, and Atlanta Braves checked San Diego Padres 5-2 to maintain its half-game edge over the Dodgers in the West Division.

TOOK LEAD IN FIFTH

Marichal, who has a 25-12 lifetime mark against Los Angeles, kept the Dodgers in check until Willie Crawford's leadoff homer in the fourth and Tom Haller's double and Paul Popovich's single produced a 2-0 lead in the fifth.

Then errors by Don Mason and Willie McCovey opened the floodgates for Los Angeles. Mason's error enabled Crawford to reach first, and Bill Russell followed with an infield single.

Wes Parker sacrificed, but McCovey dropped Marichal's throw to first and Crawford came in. Andy Kosco and pitcher Bill Singer each produced run-scoring singles and Ted Sizemore singled home two runs before Ron Herbel came in to replace Marichal, who lost his first game after winning two.

The Cardinals ended their string of misfortune at home when Tim McCarver—with two out, the bases loaded and a 3-2 count against him in the bottom of the ninth—drew a walk from Montreal's Dan McGinn.

McCarver was the first man up after McGinn was called in to replace Carroll Sembera.

HITS FIRST HOMER

Lou Brock's first homer of the year had given the Cards a 4-4 deadlock in the sixth.

Larry Hise, a rookie centre fielder, tagged his first major league homer in the fourth inning, then scored the winning run in the 11th on Tony Taylor's single as the Phils dropped the Mets.

Mets rookie Gary Gentry, aiming for his third victory in three starts, scattered seven hits and fanned eight during his nine-inning stint.

Bobby Tolan rapped three hits, including a homer, and drove in three runs as Cincinnati handed Houston its sixth straight loss.

Orlando Cepeda slammed his fourth homer and Cleo Boyer his second in powering Atlanta past San Diego.

A triple by Roberto Pena and singles by Tony Gonzalez, Ollie Brown and Ed Spiezio accounted for the Padres' runs in the sixth.

Orioles rout Indians 11-0, Red Sox lose

Jim Palmer, restored from the scrap heap, has helped Baltimore Orioles to a first place perch in the American League's Eastern Division.

Palmer won his third game of the season Monday night, limiting Cleveland to four hits in Baltimore's 11-0 romp. It was the second shutout for Palmer, who won 15 games for the Orioles when they captured the pennant in 1966, but was virtually useless for the last two seasons because of arm and back trouble.

Palmer's aches and pains are gone now and the ones who are really hurting are the Indians, who dropped their fifth straight and 10th in 11 starts this season.

Elsewhere in the American League, Detroit Tigers blanked Washington Senators 2-0, Seattle Pilots tripped Kansas City Royals 4-1, Minnesota Twins took Oakland Athletics 8-4 and New York Yankees topped Boston Red Sox 6-4.

Merv Rettenmund cracked a three-run homer for the Orioles in a six-run seventh inning that wrapped up the victory over Sam McDowell. Brooks Robinson had doubled two runs across as the Orioles built an early 4-0 lead for Palmer.

ALLOWS TWO HITS

Joe Sparra allowed Washington just two hits—a fourth inning double by Bernie Allen and a two-out single in the ninth by Ed Brinkman—but the Detroit right-hander was in constant trouble because of eight walks. It was his sixth straight decision over the Senators.

Al Kaline homered for the Tigers.

Pitcher Mike Marshall drove in two runs with two key singles and limited Kansas City to seven hits, leading Seattle to its victory in the meeting between the two expansion clubs. Jack Aker nailed down the victory by getting the final out in the ninth for Marshall.

Dean Chance worked seven innings, allowing just two hits, and Minnesota beat Oakland for the Twins' seventh straight victory.

Harmon Killebrew and Graig Nettles punched a pair of two-inning home runs to pace a five-run Minnesota uprising in the third inning. Tony Oliva extended his hitting streak to nine games with a pair of singles.

Mel Stottlemyre won his fourth game with late-inning help from Lindy McDaniel securing New York's decision over the Red Sox. Three Yankee double plays in the first five innings eased Stottlemyre over some early rough spots.

George Scott homered for the Red Sox.

The Hawk discusses possibility of accepting trade

BOSTON (AP) — Ken Harrelson, the reluctant Indian who announced his retirement rather than go along with a trade sending him away from Boston, has been meeting with Cleveland officials to discuss the possibility of donning his new uniform.

The 1968 American League runs-batted-in leader was said to be huddling Monday night with Gabe Paul, president and general manager of the Indians, at a New York hotel.

There was no immediate word on the outcome of their talks.

Harrelson, 27, announced Sunday he was quitting baseball rather than accepting being traded away by the Red Sox.

He claimed that leaving Boston would cost him up to $750,000 in Boston business opportunities, including a clothing store, a night club, and television and recording deals.

The slugging outfielder-first baseman spent Monday playing golf while Paul spent all day trying to reach him before finally arranging a meeting.

Harrelson was sent to the Indians along with left-handed pitchers Dick Ellsworth and Juan Pizarro in exchange for catcher Joe Azcue and right-handed hurlers Sonny Siebert and Vicente Romo.

League officials said that under baseball rules a trade would be nullified unless all the players involved reported to their new teams.

Derby Fish, Game Club to hold banquet

DERBY LINE — (Special) — The annual banquet, meeting and program of the Derby Fish and Game club will take place Wednesday evening, April 23, at the United Church Hall in Derby Line, 6:30 p.m.

There will be several Vermont State officials of the Fish and Game Department of different levels at the event. The main speaker of the evening will be Robert Candy, biologist, from the Information and Education Department of the State.

The family-style turkey dinner will be served by the women of the church.

At the annual meeting there will be reports given, officers elected, and other business dealt with.

The program will include door prizes, speakers; an evening of sportsman fellowship to which all friends of the club are invited to attend.

Leandre Mercier last night was re-elected president of the Sherbrooke Beavers of the Quebec Provincial Senior Hockey League at their annual meeting in the team's clubhouse at the Sports Palace.

Mr. Mercier accepted his re-election and will be helped in the coming year by vice-presidents Leon Beaudry and Marcel Maheu. The executive will decide later this week who will fill the posts of secretary and of treasurer.

Real Veilleux was unanimously re-elected the Beavers' general manager for the second consecutive term and this, no doubt, was due to his untiring efforts during this year's hockey season.

Mr. Veilleux said last night he had already begun to search for new talent for next year's addition of the Beavers. According to Mr. Veilleux it appears Lou Poliquin will be asked to coach the Beavers again next season.

As yet no official announcement has been made but in all probability Lou will return, said the Beavers' general manager.

Leandre Mercier, after his re-election to the presidency of the team, said he hoped that in the coming season Sherbrooke would once again return the Allan Cup to this city.

The team's financial report showed the Beavers with a deficit of $11,330.12. The revenues from the club amounted to $117,882.17 while the team's expenses were $129,212.30.

In other Provincial Senior Hockey League news, it was announced that Phil Watson, coach of "hicutimi Saguenays, was released. He will coach Rosemount for the new Quebec Junior "A" League next season.

Hussars honorary colonel makes history

Defeat at Hong Kong in 1941 and four subsequent years in a Japanese prisoner of war camp were brought home again recently to Brigadier-General John H. Price, of Montreal, when he was presented with a history of the ill-fated campaign.

The fly-leaf of the history, a 1967 book, entitled The Hidden Years, Hong Kong 1941-45 by John Luff, contained the signatures of 60 other prisoners who shared the fate of BGen Price when the British bastion of the Far East fell to the Japanese onslaught shortly after the war in the Pacific began.

BGen Price, president of J. H. Price and Associates, was second in command of the Royal Rifles of Canada on garrison duty in Newfoundland in early 1941, and went to Asia with the unit just before the outbreak of hostilities there.

During the battle he was taken prisoner and held until V-J Day four years later.

Getting the book to Montreal for the presentation, made by LGen W. A. B. Anderson, Commander Mobile Command, was a year-long saga.

It started in early 1968 when destroyers of 2nd Canadian Escort Squadron paid an official visit to Hong Kong. A Canadian living there and who had also shared the prison camp with BGen Price, LtCdr J. C. M. Grenham RNR (Ret'd) proceeded to roundup the signatures of survivors of the old Hong Kong Volunteer Defence Force and charged the squadron commander, Captain J. B. Young, RCN, to have it brought back for a suitable presentation.

The inscription reads: "To Brigadier J. Price, from the 'Old Lags' Camp 'N' Hong Kong 1941-45. Remembering pleasant company in unpleasant surroundings."

BGen Price has had a long military career, still carried out as honorary colonel of the Sherbrooke Hussars. He was commissioned in 1916 with the Royal Regiment of Artillery and was wounded at Passchendaele. In 1918, while serving with the 10th Battery, Royal Field Artillery, he won the Military Cross.

Hatley W.I. plans travelogue, hears speaker on Bible School

HATLEY — Mrs. Arthur McClary, assisted by Mrs. William Shorman, was hostess at the April meeting of the Women's Institute. One new member, Mrs. Clinton Knapp, joined, bringing the membership to eighteen. Four visitors were also present, three from Ayer's Cliff and one from Hatley.

Mrs. L. Johnson, treasurer, reported a satisfactory balance on hand. Among the correspondence was a letter from Mrs. Morrow of Dalesville W.I. concerning a demonstration of Chinese foods, sponsored by the Dalesville W.I. It was the opinion of the meeting that while it was a worthwhile project, it would require a larger group of members and ample kitchen space.

It was decided to fill Ditty Bags for children. They will be sent to Montreal for distribution. Tentative arrangements are being made for a Travelogue by Captain Brown and Mrs. Brown, of Ayer's Cliff. It is to be held in the Town Hall on May 8.

Mrs. W. Shorman and Mrs. W. Dustin were appointed delegates to attend the County W.I. annual meeting in May.

Mrs. R. D. Miller then introduced J. Carter, who is well known here. It is through his efforts that a Vacation Bible School is held here during the summer.

Mr. Carter gave a full account of his work with the Canadian Sunday School Missions. He showed slides of Camp Livingstone at Crystal Lake where many children spend a happy vacation each summer. He also showed slides taken in Montreal and on his western trip.

Following Mr. Carter's interesting address a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served by the hostesses, with Mrs. McFaul, Ayer's Cliff, presiding at the tea table.

Brown's Hill

Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Auclair and child, Mr. and Mrs. Jean-Paul Marcoux and three children, Quebec City, were Easter weekend guests of their sister and brother-in-law, Mr. Stanley Keet, Mr. Keet and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Butler and Debbie, Oshawa, Ont., were weekend guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Wynne Waid and son, Cowansville, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Waid and family and Mr. and Mrs. Real Peron, all of Granby, were Easter Sunday guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Waid and Peggie.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Mosher and family were Easter Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Mosher's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Johnston in Stanstead, Little Miss Leslie Mosher returned home after spending a few days with her grandparents.

Recent callers of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Rolfe were Mr. L. P. Rodier, Iberville, and Mr. Brennan Findlay, Kingston, Ont.

Joint meetings held by

W.A. and W.M.S. groups

RICHMOND — The joint meetings of the W.A. and the W.M.S. of l'Eglise des Cantons de l'Est, Melbourne, were held at the home of Mrs. Philippe Perron, on April 9 with 9 members present.

Mrs. Gerald Fortier opened the W.A. meeting with a hymn, followed by the reading of the minutes of the last meeting by Mrs. Ray Gifford, in the absence of the secretary, followed by the treasurer's report.

Final plans for the rummage sale to be held in the church hall on April 25 from 7 to 10 p.m., were discussed and posters will be made and placed in Melbourne and Richmond.

The usual May tea was discussed and it was decided to have the sale and tea as usual but due to a busy May schedule, it will be held on June 18.

There being no correspondence, the meeting was closed with the Auxiliary Prayer.

W.M.S. MEETING

The meeting, with Mrs. Real Larochelle in the chair, opened with the singing of an Easter hymn, followed by prayer by Mrs. G. Doran, entitled A God of Impossible Things.

The offering was received and dedicated, followed by the reading of the minutes by Mrs. G. Fortier and the treasurer's report by Mrs. Lucien Perron.

Correspondence read included a notice of the annual spring rally at Scotstown, also a thank-you note from the Presbyterian Home for Senior Citizens.

A MOUTHFUL

zens of Montreal for a gift of money received.

Several cards and visits to sick and shut-ins were reported by the Friendship and Service secretary, Mrs. Florian Menard.

An invitation was received from St. Andrew's W.M.S., Upper Melbourne, to join in their Easter Thankoffering service on Sunday, April 13.

One birthday, that of Mrs. R. Larochelle, was celebrated by the usual birthday song.

On May 4 the W.M.S. group will take charge of the Missionary Sunday service, with most members taking active parts. During the service Mrs. G. Doran, leader of the C.O.C., and Explorer's Groups, with her assistant, Miss Chantal Parent, will present the members of these two groups with their badges.

Several articles for the sales tables and bales were brought in.

The business session over the Easter Thankoffering service was presented by Mrs. Larochelle and two scripture readings pertaining to the Easter story were read by Mrs. Lucien Perron and Mrs. Florian Menard.

It was followed by an Easter meditation by Mrs. Barbara Thomson, taken from the Glad Tidings magazine entitled, "Why did it have to Happen?"

The four speaking parts were by Mrs. R. Gifford, Mrs. G. Fortier, Mrs. Larochelle and Mrs. G. Doran.

The meditation, for which the ladies had dressed in character, proved very inspiring.

The meeting was closed by prayer by Mrs. Larochelle, after which members joined their hostess, Mrs. Perron, who served refreshments at the tea hour.

PLACE IN HISTORY — Four years in a Japanese prisoner of war camp were brought home recently for Brigadier-General John H. Price, left, of Montreal, when he was presented with a book on the history of the Hong Kong campaign in 1941 and its subsequent occupation by the Japanese. The presentation was made by Lieutenant-General W. A. B. Anderson, Commander

Mobile Command. The book was sent by a retired naval officer now living in Hong Kong who was a fellow prisoner of Brigadier-General Price. The fly-leaf contains the signatures of 60 other members of the "Old Lags" — old prisoners of Camp 'N' in Hong Kong. (Canadian Forces Photo)

Co-workers honor Border lady at 25th anniversary dinner

ROCK ISLAND — Mrs. Douglas Putney, was the guest of honor on April 9, the eve of her 25th anniversary with the Spencer Supports Company of Canada, at a banquet held in the lounge of the Royal Canadian Legion Memorial Home, Stanstead.

For the occasion the hall was decorated by silver 25 numerals and Happy Anniversary. Mrs. Putney had been invited by five of her co-workers "to go out for supper". She was blindfolded and brought to the Memorial Home, where she was greatly surprised to be greeted by some 50 of the office staff and former co-workers.

Mrs. Floyd Webb presented Mrs. Putney with a corsage of red sweetheart roses and escorted her to the head table. Seated with Mrs. Putney were Mrs. Webb, Mrs. Owen Quillinan, Miss Doris Seguin, Miss Rolande Dusseault, and Mrs. Doris Belanger.

After everyone had enjoyed the excellent dinner, Mrs. Putney cut her anniversary cake which centered the head table. The artistic work of Mrs. Albert Simoneau, the cake was decorated in white with yellow roses, scroll and touches of silver. Mrs. Putney, assisted by Mrs. Webb, passed the cake.
