Mrs. Charles Moe, Ormstown Celebrated 102nd Birthday Wednesday, July 21st

Large Number of Visitors Call To Offer Congratulations—Interview Broadcast Over Radio—Presented With Wheel Chair.

Being interviewed by members of the press and radio and receiving congratulations from a large number of visitors and friends, Mrs. Charles Moe, undoubtedly the oldest resident of Ormstown and probably of the Province of Quebec, celebrated her 102nd birthday on Wednesday, July 21st. The lady appeared to be in the best of health and carried out her task in fine manner. She was interviewed by members of Radio Stations CFCF and CKAC of Montreal, which was recorded on tape and broadcast from these stations over the week-end. The broadcast over CFCF was heard on Sunday, July 25th, at 12.05. Mr. Bill Pettit of CFCF was in charge of the interview for his station. Following the recording of the interview on the tape, it was played back for Mrs. Moe, so that she could hear what it would sound like and she was greatly impressed and pleased to hear her own voice. A large number of people visited the Moe home in Ormstown during the afternoon of Wednesday and Mrs. Moe was the recipient of several very useful gifts. Several officials of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind were present and offered congratulations to Mrs. Moe on her 102nd birthday. The officials from Montreal were—Messrs. McClintock, Zuplasky and Corbell and local officials were: Mr. D. O. Wing and Mrs. Vallee of Ormstown. A gift from the C.N.I.B. was a long-playing record of favorite hymns of Mrs. Moe and no doubt she will obtain much enjoyment from this. Following the interview for the radio broadcast, which was taken in the bedroom of Mrs. Moe, the little old lady was brought into the living room to receive her gifts and congratulations from the gathering. She looked quite charming as she stepped into the room supported by two of her children and was seated in a chair. She does not show her great age in her face and she appeared deeply interested in all that was going on. Mrs. Moe's hearing is not too good and her sight is failing, but she understood most of what was going on and what she could not see was explained to her. For instance, photographers were present and were taking flash pictures. She saw the flash and could not understand what it was, but it was explained to her and she laughed and seemed very pleased. She thanked all who spoke to her, for coming to wish her a happy birthday and even had a little joke here and there. She seemed very pleased when her minister congratulated her and said a few words to her. Mr. D. O. Wing acted as chairman and turned over the job of master of ceremonies to Mr. McClintock of the C.N.I.B. All of the proceedings were recorded by Mr. Pettit of CFCF. Mr. Wing first of all announced the outstanding persons present and presented the regrets of some who were invited, but were unable to come. Mr. McClintock offered Mrs. Moe his congratulations and brought a message from the C.N.I.B. of the enjoyment of being able to visit her on many other occasions. He presented Mrs. Moe with 102 roses from the Old Estate, one rose for each of the 102 years. The roses were very beautiful and in several different colors. Both Mr. Zuplasky and Mr. Corbell offered their congratulations and spoke of the pleasure they had on other occasions when they visited her. Mr. Andrew Fawcett, President of the Huntingdon Rotary Club, presented Mrs. Moe with a wheel chair which had been purchased through the funds of the Easter Seals campaign. While Mrs. Moe can still get around, it was thought that the wheel chair would make it much easier for her. She sat in the chair and tried the operation of it and smiled in pleasure at the gift. Rev. I. Dunn, her minister, said a prayer and then congratulated Mrs. Moe. Mrs. R. A. MacDougall, daughter of Mrs. Moe, thanked all on behalf of the family and her mother, for being present and for the lovely gifts and hoped that it may be possible to repeat the occasion next year. Mrs. Charles Moe was born Janet Muir, at Hinchinbrooke, Que., on July 21st, 1852. She was educated at Huntingdon Academy and taught school from 1869 to 1874. She was married to Charles Fisher Moe, on March 12th, 1874, and has lived in Ormstown in the same house for 80 years. The house was built in 1852 and thus is the same age as Mrs. Moe. Seven children were born, four of them still living. Three of these were present at the birthday party, being: Charles A. Moe, at home; Archie M. Moe of Lethbridge, Alberta, and Mrs. Robert MacDougall (Ellen) of Tatchurst, Que. Mrs. G. E. Learmonth (Margaret) of Calgary, was unable to be present. Mrs. Moe was very bright and cheerful and recounted some things she remembers of the earlier days for several persons including a representative of the Huntingdon Gleaner. In brief, these recollections follow: Charles Hosmer who came to Huntingdon as first telegraph operator, who also taught John Gilmore and wife to operate telegraph in 1867. The first engine to whistle in Ormstown in 1884. In 1886 there was a big flood in Ormstown—basement full of water and had to be boat to the house. Only six children she knew at (Continued on Page Ten)

Pioneer Business of Huntingdon Changes Hands

Riel Bros. Transport Sold to Smith Bros.—Laurent Riel to Act as Huntingdon Manager—Established in 1885, Business Continues for 70 years.

On Monday, July 26, H. Smith Transport of Montreal took over one of the longest-established business enterprises in Huntingdon when the Company took over the transport concern of Riel Brothers. After deliveries to the Huntingdon Gleaner and Marton's Shoe Shop and other local places of business on Monday morning, Riel Brothers officially closed their doors, and Smith took over. The local cartage business was established in 1885 by John Riel who used horse-drawn vehicles exclusively. Many a story can be told of these days, for the firm has been noted for its splendid horses. In 1928, after graduating from the Huntingdon Academy, Laurent Riel took over the operation of John Riel & Son. The firm got its first truck in 1924, but for many years they still continued to favour the use of horses for drawing. During these early years, John Riel and Son also delivered gasoline for the Imperial Oil Company.

As time passed, however, John Riel & Son became a mechanized form of transport in conformity with the trend of modern times—heavier loads and demand for speedier transportation caused the downfall of the horse-drawn express, and the motor truck came into being. Laurent Riel recalls that 1948 was the last winter a horse was kept.

In 1943, Laurent Riel and his brother Herman formed a partnership, and the business then became known as Riel Brothers Transport Registered. The same year, the two brothers bought out Harold Daniel and started regular long distance hauling between Montreal and Huntingdon.

In 1951, Riel Brothers sold their local cartage and hauling business to Rosario Taillefer. The Riels continued their long distance hauling between Montreal and Huntingdon, carrying freight and express between these two points.

Starting out in 1926 with a single truck, Mr. Riel built up the business until he owned six trucks, and five semi-trailers, when Smith Brothers took over the business this week.

All the present drivers are to be kept on by Smith Transport, and Mr. Laurent Riel will act as local manager. A local truck and a pick-up truck will be maintained in Huntingdon but the main part of the business will originate in Montreal. Trucks will be sent out daily from there and return to Montreal each night.

This hauling and cartage business operated by the Riel family has been a local institution for almost seventy years. Its disappearance from the local scene means the end of a business which has come through various stages of Canada's history and taken part in the history of the community.

The Missing Cannon

This picture must have been taken a good many years ago as the three youngsters on the cannon, left to right are: the McCoy brothers David, Dr. Clarence and James.

THE CANNON THAT USED TO BE IN THE PARK

Above is a photograph of the cannon that disappeared from Prince Arthur Square some time ago. As it is seen above, it was in the original setting on the property of its owner.

About two weeks ago mention was made in this newspaper that a cannon that used to be at Prince Arthur Square was not there any more and that it had been sold for scrap for a paltry sum. Word came to us and also the above photograph of the history of this cannon.

It appears that the late George Blatchford, who was owner of "Idlewild" now known as "Burnbrae" of the Lord Athelston Estate, had in mind to make of the property an amusement park and picnic grounds. With such idea in mind he began searching for equipment which would make attractions for such an undertaking. This was that the late W. S. MacLaren, who used to own the property which is now the Huntingdon County Hospital, secured the said cannon from Ottawa for Mr. Blatchford. The cannon had been used in a war and it is believed that it was in a war in which Russia was involved. It is not known on which side the cannon was used however. For a good many years the cannon was kept on the Blatchford property and was mounted upon a cement base. The property was originally purchased from a Grey Nuns order.

Time went on and the property came into the hands of T. S. Gardner and it was known as "Idlewild". The cannon still remained, but the original idea was never followed. In due time the property was sold to Lord Athelston, which would be approximately 30 years ago. It was at this time that Mr. Gardner decided to make a gift to the Town of Huntingdon of the cannon. This was accepted and it was set up in Prince Arthur Square. During the years it attracted a great deal of attention and we believe the citizens of the Town were quite proud of it.

Just when the cannon actually faded out of sight is not certain, but within recent years. A descendant of Mr. Gardner heard that the cannon was behind the Fire Station and urged his mother, who is a daughter of the late T. S. Gardner, to ask for the cannon to be given back and to place it on their property. It was not thought to do this, so nothing was done. By these people felt quite badly when they learned that the cannon had been sold for scrap and without any question as to whether it should have been or not. They felt it was a gift to the town and as such should have been preserved for all time and that it would not be right to ask for such a gift back even though it be one of the family and for which it held a sentimental value.

Had the matter been discussed and it had been decided to dispose of it providing no one claimed it, then a different light would have been placed on the matter. Under such circumstances those interested would have had an opportunity to lay claim to it and thus have preserved it for themselves. Now the cannon is lost entirely. It is to be hoped that no other gift of this nature will be disposed of without first making full enquiries as to whether there is anyone who would be opposed to it. The people of the town have a right to know what is done with such gifts or what is proposed to do before such are disposed of.

Grade Ten Results at Huntingdon High—Gloria Lacey is First.

The results of the Grade Ten June examinations conducted by the Department of Education of the Province of Quebec have just been released. Certificates of Proficiency have been forwarded to the successful pupils.

To obtain a High School Leaving Certificate of proficiency in Grade Ten, a pupil must pass in English and French and four other subjects. The pass standard is 50%. In English and French, in which there are two papers, failure in one paper will be overlooked provided that a pupil obtains not less than 40% in one paper and 50% in the two papers. However, a pupil who has failed in one paper of his minimum course will receive a certificate if he obtains 65% in this minimum course. Of the eight pupils in Grade Ten who wrote the June examinations at Huntingdon High School, the entire class passed. The following are the results of the pupils in that class:

1) Gloria Lacey 81.9%; 2) Brian Smith 69.8%; 3) Russell Thornton 67.7%.

Three Local Boys Attending Anglican Camp at Laurel

Three Huntingdon boys are attending the newly opened camp for Anglican boys, at Laurel, in the Laurentians, near Sixteen Island Lake. The camp is under the auspices of the Boys' Work Committee of the Diocese of Montreal.

Boys from the various parishes are chosen according to quota allowed and by the Minister of the parish in which they reside. In the case of Huntingdon—St. John's Church, the quota was three. Rev. W. S. Hatcher, Rector of St. John's, took the boys to the camp on July 19th and they will remain there until August 2nd. The cost for the two weeks is $25.00 and an excellent program has been mapped out for this period which will appeal especially to boys between the ages of 11 and 17.

Following the boys' camping period, one will be held for girls from 10 to 17 years, from August 2nd to the 16th. The camps are for Anglican boys and girls only. The camp is entirely new and is being operated for the first time this year.

The boys from Huntingdon who are now at the Camp are: Kerry Johnson, Jimmy MacLean and Victor Hatcher.

Rev. W. S. Hatcher told the Gleaner that the camp is situated in a very beautiful spot and that cabins have been built which have running water and good sanitary facilities. A special instructor is in charge and is assisted by two clergy and some lay members of the church.

Ormstown Men Likely to Form Rotary Club for Benefit of Service to Community

Huntingdon Rotary Club Demonstrates Willingness to Aid in Forming Neighbouring Club

Ormstown may have a Rotary Club formed in early fall, at least that is a consensus of feeling that prevails amongst some people of Ormstown. The Huntingdon Rotary Club hopes a Club is formed in Ormstown and on Monday demonstrated its willingness to help promote such a community service organization.

During the past number of weeks several Huntingdon members have met with twenty odd men of Ormstown and discussed the idea of an Ormstown Club. From the interviews made it is quite evident the nucleus of a good club can be found. On Monday the Huntingdon Rotary Club held its regular weekly meeting in the Ormstown Hotel and invited many men of Ormstown to be present so that they in turn could form their own opinion as to whether they wished to form a club or otherwise. Due to the fact that so many in Ormstown were either away on holidays or business, and likewise of Rotarians of Huntingdon, the attendance was not large.

Francois Cleyn, the Vice-President of Huntingdon Rotary Club when it was founded ten years ago, addressed the meeting and told of some of the highlights in the way of achievements of the Huntingdon Rotary Club. In his opening remarks he expressed the feeling that Ormstown was not only large and able enough to have a good active Rotary Club but that if such a club were formed the united efforts of the two clubs could untiedly co-operate to the mutual benefit of the two communities such as was demonstrated when the united campaigns of Ormstown and Huntingdon was held for the benefit of the two Chateaugay Valley Hospitals.

told the assembled gathering on Monday.

The Adventure of Rotary

We anticipate that at an early date the men of Ormstown will make an adventure into Rotary. What will you get out of this adventure? As a citizen of Huntingdon I will endeavour to give you a rough outline of how Rotary has fared during the past ten years in Huntingdon and what it has meant to the community. It is surprising that a group of men united by a common desire to serve their fellow men can achieve for their fellow citizens and their community. You have demonstrated this ability in Ormstown by two outstanding achievements, your beautiful Hospital and the Ormstown Fair. Rotary will help you to further promote these two projects and to arouse interest in many other activities so necessary for a balanced community life. In getting together every week for a meal you will be surprised how much better you will get to know each other and Rotary is very anxious to promote a feeling of good fellowship amongst its members that can easily be enlarged to take in the whole Community. For this reason it is expected of you to be present. You cannot belong to Rotary if you are not keeping up your attendance. It is important that you have a proper meeting place and this hotel is ideal, and to arrange your meetings at a time most convenient for the majority of the members. All members of Rotary are busy men therefore a strict timetable has to be kept and meetings must start and finish on time. We all have to eat and very few are the men that can argue that they cannot afford an additional half hour a week to help their fellow men.

What would you get out of Rotary? I am sure every one of you would find that you would get out of it far more than you are putting in. By that I mean that if you are prepared to serve and help others then the pleasure of this work will be a very important reward. This desire to serve is common to all Rotarians around the world and if you happen to travel you will find in every town in North America and in most towns elsewhere a group of men having the same ideal, with whom you will immediately have a common bond. You will enlarge your acquaintanceship and come in contact with a number of people who will be in a position to help your various community projects. The Huntingdon Rotary Club was formed October 26th, 1944 and our first President was Gilbert McMillan. Gilbert told me that he never undertook a job with more misgivings, and never found one much easier to carry out.

We started in Huntingdon with 17 charter members and I can assure you that it is not the number of people that belong to Rotary that matters but the quality of the people that form a club. I strongly advise you not to ask anybody to join the club, that you are not sure that is doing so because he wants to serve. When your president asks you to do something you accept the assignment without argument. I would now like to list a few of the projects undertaken by our club in the past ten years.

Youth Work
We have had yearly picnics, Halloween, skating rink and Christmas Parties for our children.

We promote a yearly public speaking contest with Montreal Rotary. (Continued on Page Four)

Seventh Annual Valleyfield Fair Attracts Thousands

For the seventh consecutive year, the Rotary Club gave the citizens of Valleyfield and district the opportunity to see Valleyfield's annual Fair. Although there were no agricultural exhibits this year, industrial ones and those of Valleyfield merchants however were numerous. And, as usual, rain spoiled the fun, and the George Hamid Revue had to be cancelled Wednesday night and also Children's Day which was supposed to take place the same day. This was postponed to Thursday afternoon when a good attendance of children in front of the standstill witnessed a special show presented for them. They saw the acrobat Agramonte, and Nafto with his wise dogs. Numerous prizes were distributed to the youngsters who had the best decorated bicycles. Two bicycles were also raffled among all the children on the ground. Free tickets had been given them earlier. The two lucky winners were Claude Bouchard and Jean Claude Picotte, both from Valleyfield. Due to the generosity of the Rotary Club and La Crémierie de Valleyfield, ice cream was given to all youngsters. This year there was no entry charge and this probably brought more people to the Fair. The great amount of work contributed by the Rotary Club added to the success of the Fair. The organizers of Children's Day for instance sure had quite a bit of work and they did wonderfully well in bringing joy to numerous children. In the arena a large number of exhibits were presented, which proved interesting and instructive. Among them was the Shawinigan Water and Power Co. displaying electric appliances. A. H. Besner with sporting goods and electric accessories, and for the first time, Molson's explaining by automatically changing pictures the fabrication of ale. There was also Leclerc & Fils, plumbers, with an exhibit of bathroom accessories, the Agence Du Meuble displaying furniture of all kinds. A fine assortment of fur could be seen at Mrs. Grenier's booth. The winner of a television set drawn here was Miss Pierrette Lepage of Montreal. Sinray Store displayed electric appliances. J. O. Clermont, the Youngstown products, and the Duplan Dreing Co. new material made in their factories. The Anti-Tuberculosis League was present as usual. Mr. Lucien Juneau of St-Cesaire had an exhibit of Wooded Iron. Dew and Kingsber presenting a picture show, the Purina Co., Mrs. Lucien Paré with Stanley products Sharon Industries Co. Ltd. and Charles Cadeux & Fils presenting the modern house. On this beautiful display could be seen a kitchen, a laundry, living room, bedroom, nursery, all in wonderful colors and well furnished. ## AN ORMSTOWN BOY Ian Wills, Formerly of Valleyfield, Honour Student at Utica College

Ian Wills, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Wills, formerly of Valleyfield, Quebec, was among the students of Utica College whose names appeared on the Honour List prepared by Dean Ralph F. Strebel. Ian Wills is a graduate of Gault Institute, Valleyfield, and is entering his senior year at Utica College of Syracuse University, Utica, N.Y., where he is taking a pre-medical B.A., majoring in Biology. Besides appearing in the Dean's Honour List, he was elected to Student Senate for 1954-55, and is Social Chairman of A.D.E. Fraternity. He received his Honour Pin from the "Gallighers", the College Dramatic Society, having been an active member for two years and appearing over T.V. in two plays as well as appearing on stage for various organizations in and around the city with a group which donates its services for this purpose. Mr. Wills, Sr., was formerly Superintendent of Converting with Montreal Cottons in Valleyfield and is now General Manager of A. D. Juillard Inc., New York Mills Division. Garage Vachon from St. Timothee, Ludovic Montpetit, Paul Viau and others, had exhibits outdoors. Once again it was the commercial and industrial exhibits which called the attention of thousands of visitors to Valleyfield Fair, organized by the Valleyfield Rotary Club. The Fair ran for several days. From July 21-25.

Man Charged in Two Accidents

On Wednesday, July 23, Valleyfield police charged a 22-year-old man from St. Antoine Abbe, Huntingdon County, with driving under the influence of liquor and failing to stop after an accident.

His car, police said, collided with another auto at Victoria and Jacques Cartier streets at 10:20 p.m. Despite the accident, police said, the driver continued on through the downtown area and later returned to the scene, where officers were checking damage to the other auto. Forty feet away and some 20 minutes after the first accident, the auto crashed into a hydro pole.

The motorist was expected to appear in Magistrate's Court at Valleyfield.

Laguerre Drainage Canal Needs to be Recleaned

Huntingdon County Council in Hopes Provincial Drainage Department Will Do Work and Assume Costs.

Roughly, it was 25 years ago when a real agitation was made to have the Laguerre Drainage Canal dug. 40,000 acres of land are in the area and if these lands were as well drained as deserved, and in place of burning off the good muck topsoil, such could quite easily be expected to be some of the most profitable truck garden farms in south Western Quebec. In the Norton Creek, Barrington and Hemmingford areas where they have muck lands, the land is not only very expensive but is producing tremendous vegetable crops.

The County of Huntingdon has seen almost $248,000 spent on the Laguerre Drainage Canal. Of this amount the original contract represented $182,000, and the second contract $33,000. The cost of control dams represents another $27,000. This $242,000 was paid equally by the Federal and Provincial Governments. Unfortunately when the second contract was given amounting to $33,000 it did not fully complete the job.

The heavy banks of muck cause the banks to slide into the canal proper and thereby impair the drainage. Throughout the 12 miles of canal there is a fall of 15 feet.

The building of bridges over the canal became a problem that was met by the Huntingdon County Council. The cost of bridges, interest and other matters has meant an aggregate financial burden of $106,000. During the years the late

J. G. Rennie was representing Huntingdon County in the Legislature—some public bridges were built and paid for by the Provincial Government.

County Secretary James E. Barrett informs us that the canal debt has been further reduced this year by $7,000 and that a balance of $6,000 remains to be paid in 1955. In addition to this amount to be paid there will be the cost of building two private bridges and one public bridge.

There is an agitation on at present to have the canal cleaned, and if this is now done it would mean a big expense. The County Council does not want to shoulder this expense as the canal has been a long and continuous drain on the County's finances for so many years. Yesterday, Tuesday, July 27 the Quebec Department of Drainage had Mr. Bailargeon, one of their engineers, here to view the Laguerre Drainage Canal with a view to determining what should now be done, how and what it might cost to complete it.

The County of Huntingdon at large has certainly done much for the benefit of the many farmers in this area, but naturally wants relief from further financial obligations. It is quite possible the Provincial Drainage Department will view the project in a favourable light; at least that is the present anticipation.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cooper. Mr. Cooper has written an article that will appear in two successive issues of the Gleaner dealing with their stay in Akivik, well within the Arctic circle. Please turn to page 3.

Facilities for Travellers and Tourists

SOME time ago the matter of placing way-side tables and benches on the grounds at Filter Plant was discussed at the Huntingdon Town Council and the matter was to be investigated. At the time it was considered to be a very good idea and something that would extend a welcome to strangers and others to stop at Huntingdon for a short while at least. It was also felt that even our own local people would like to take advantage of such facilities. However, nothing has been done about the idea, although we are of the opinion that it was sanctioned.

It was brought to our attention that during the past week some people were noticed in Prince Arthur Square, sitting on the grass and eating a picnic meal. From all appearances these people were passing through and had stopped at this point to have a meal. It was further pointed out that there is a great lack of facilities for such people in all parts of this province. In Ontario, there are a number of such places provided by the Provincial Government at points along the highways for the benefit of the travelling public. In view of this, it was suggested that it might be well if tables and benches were set out at Prince Arthur Square as an invitation to travellers passing through this town to stop and rest and to eat their picnic lunches. Such facilities would be an inducement for people to stay awhile in our town and perhaps with beneficial results. This, it was thought, could be done by the Town Council. There is no doubt that suitable parking places off the highway could be provided by the Government at reasonable distances along our highways and such would be an inducement to tourists to stop awhile and take in a little more of the scenery than is possible when just driving through. It would also provide a safety factor by the fact that a driver of car could take this opportunity to rest awhile from driving and probably avoid an accident through fatigue. Many an accident is caused because the driver is tired, but because there are no suitable parking places, he decides to make it to the next largest point before he stops to rest.

Such places could even be set up as a private enterprise and facilities could be made available for travellers to bring their cars off the highway and to obtain refreshments and time out for a rest. At many points at this time of the year it will be noticed that motorists stop and pull their cars to the side of the highway while they refresh themselves with a picnic lunch before travelling on. Actually this constitutes a danger on our narrow roads, how much better it would be if proper places were provided for this purpose. This type of thing would be a great publicity builder for the benefit of this province and our towns.

No Hot Wars Now On --- World at Peace?

FOR the first time since 1939, the world is free from a fighting war, as the armistice and treaty terms were signed last week with regard to Indo-China. We had it in mind that right up to the last minute there might be a hitch and the terms would not be agreed upon. Premier Mendes-France won his acclaim in accomplishing a treaty within the almost stated time he had allowed himself. But it looked as if the terms were won at a cost to France in many ways. The fighting may have ended and French soldiers' lives may have been saved, but there was no victory for France after 7½ years of war. There was no victory for the Western Powers either, despite the efforts made by many of the nations concerned. The victory was for the Reds—for Russia and they can all afford to wear wide grins of satisfaction and be ready to plan the next point of aggression.

Similar terms are now being asked to settle the Korean question. If such are granted, then again the Reds will have won their way.

Only time will tell the exact amount of the loss to the Western nations, of Indo-China. Slowly, but surely, the Russian Bear is casting its shadow over the world and feasting upon the spoils from its ill-gotten gains. To all intents and purposes, Indo-China is just another Munich. Eden has stated that the world has been saved from another World War. That cry went up when Chamberlain with his umbrella came back from Munich and declared that the danger of war with Germany was over. But for how long did that situation last? There is no appeasement for dictators bent on world power as their goal. It is simply staving off the inevitable. A respite from war for the time being. There seems to be little doubt that Mendes-France will be the man of the hour in France because the people of France are weary from their struggle both externally and internally. But what may be the outcome when other matters have to be decided, as they must be and which were put aside in favour of settling the Indo-China affair. Russia with renewed energy from this recent victory will do her best to win France over to her side in the other matters and especially in view of the fact that France is not wholeheartedly in favour of raising an army of Germans in Germany.

The Russians will view the victory as a sign of weakness insofar as the Western Nations are concerned. A victory gained at no expense to herself.

The United States is probably acting wisely in refraining from signing the treaty and from interfering or passing comment upon it. She has warned however, that any signs of aggression will be met with stern determination. So far the United Nations has failed in its efforts to stop aggression and wars. In fact in this case the United Nations has not figured in it and this is a point that has also been won by the Reds. True, the nations involved in engineering the treaty are all members of the United Nations with the exception of the Chinese Reds. But the treaty was arranged and signed outside of United Nations action.

The world is at peace, but the aftermath has not yet been accounted for. Preparedness is still the watch word for the Western Nations.

County Sons in Government

THE biggest business in Canada is its own government. Those of us in business are quite familiar with that fact, for our Canadian Government is continually asking for some bit of statistical information or demanding that we collect taxes in its behalf. In general the public at large get pretty well fed up with governmental demands; yet none of us would want to forsake Canada for some other land where business and living conditions would not be near so congenial.

One of the many publications put out by Canada is called the Parliamentary Guide. This guide provides a substantial amount of historical information as to the personalities that have, or do represent the public at large in the administration of our land.

Since 1867 there has been two Ministers of the Crown who were born in Huntingdon county, viz the late Hon. James A. Robb and the Hon. E. B. Ryckman. It is true that Sir John Rose, the first Minister of Finance after Confederation, represented Huntingdon constituency for a few months but he was a Montreal financier.

The Hon. E. B. Ryckman was Minister of Public Works in the Meighen Government and as Minister of National Revenue in the Bennett Cabinet. Mr. Ryckman was born at the Methodist Parsonage in Huntingdon in 1866 and died in 1937.

Turning to Deputy Ministers or the equivalent. The late Robert Bredner was born in Athelstan and we believe was the first of the rank from Huntingdon County. Mr. Bredner was the first Commissioner of Income Tax and later was Deputy Minister of National Revenue.

The late John Fraser was Auditor General for a period of about ten years, starting about 1908. Mr. Fraser was a native of Lochgerry, Clengarry county, Ont., but spent his summer vacations at Fraser's Point and was related to the Fraser families in Dundee.

At the present time there are three native sons of Huntingdon county holding such ranking positions in our Federal Government, viz: Jules Léger, formerly of St. Anicet and brother of Cardinal Léger, Montreal, who is Under-secretary of State for External Affairs; Arthur Huntingdon Brown, Deputy Minister of Labour, who was born here in 1895 and with his uncle, Chief Justice Brown, A. H. Brown is a nephew of Mrs. E. C. McCoy and Mr. Frank Brown. The third official is R. Watson Sellar, the Auditor General of Canada, who has held that position since 1940. Watson Sellar is quite well known to a great many people in Huntingdon, being a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sellar, and presently being quite generally designated as the father of young Bob Sellar, a Gleaner columnist.

From the foregoing it is to be noted that Huntingdon county can justifiably claim that three of its sons are filling Federal Government positions with the rank of Deputy Ministers or the equivalent, out of a total of roughly forty such posts. In scanning over the remaining such men we note that four were born in Scotland, two in the United States, one in England. As for those born in Canada, four were born in Toronto, three in Montreal, three in Quebec city, three in Ottawa, two in Winnipeg and the remainder from various parts of Canada but none from the same county as the other. Evidently it is quite within our rights to lay claim to the fact that our County sons are maintaining the reputation that "Huntingdon County sons become worthy and reputable men."

Random Glimpses of The Past Taken from Gleaner Files

Tatehurst — Tuesday morning after patrons of the factory of R. W. Tannahill had delivered their milk, a fire was discovered on the roof, with the result that the factory was burned to the ground. The cheese and butter which was in stock was all saved, but a lot of empty boxes which he had just received, costing $450.00, were nearly all burned. The machinery is now in the ruins. The report is that $5000.00 insurance was carried on the factory, but this does not cover the loss. The inconvenience to patrons, at the season when milk is in full flow, is great. A spark from the smoke-stack was the cause.

Valleyfield — At the closing exercises in Macdonald College on Thursday evening, it is gratifying to note that the pupils of the Gault Institute were well represented in the prize list. Harold S. Cook, second on the list in the teacher's class, also won the Superintendent of Public Instruction's medal, the Robert Bickerdike gold medal for proficiency in mathematics and Hon. Sydney Fisher's prize in Nature Study. Miss Dorothy Hill won the special prize for history, while Miss Caroline Moore and Miss Martha Thomson were well up on the list. Mr. Wells, the principal of the Gault, is to be congratulated on four of his pupils having obtained such success.

Resuburn — The town has erected a platform over the sulphur spring on a level with the road and put in a pump, so that water is easily secured now and safeguarded from defilement.

Huntingdon — What in time is going to effect the water of the Chateauguay in its full length is being observed at Powerscourt. The pulp mills on the U. S. side are going full blast and the quantity of refuse from them is increased accordingly. A large part of the refuse is hairlike fibre loosened in the grinding of the wood, which forms a glutinous mass as it reaches dead water in the shallows, difficult to deal with in any way and polluting the water. In these days when paper is so dear, it would surely pay the mills to save this stuff and convert it into boards for cartons.

Early risers Monday and Tuesday mornings saw frost glistening on the grass. It was not severe enough to do damage even to beans. The sight of men hoeing potatoes the first week in June deserves to be noted.

Huntingdon — Monday and Tuesday were the days sheepmen brought their wool to Huntingdon to be sold. The result was that upwards of 11,000 pounds was taken in. The price will average around 70c per pound. At the beginning of the war, 16c was the price paid per pound.

Arctic Life

by
Ralph Cooper

Mr. Ralph Cooper, youngest son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Cooper of Ormstown, has very kindly prepared a story about the experiences he and his wife had when at Aklavik, several hundred miles within the Arctic Circle.

Ralph was always a full bodied boy, when in Ormstown, and irrespective of the fact that he was always lame he managed to keep up with the gang and his lung power was beyond normal when it came to being a roofer at a ball game, field day or hockey match. It would seem nothing but natural to expect Ralph to be doing unusual things or going to unusual places. Last summer when making his regular visit to his home town (Ormstown), and Huntingdon, he promised to write the Gleaner an article about experiences in Aklavik. The interesting article appears herewith.

When in Aklavik Mr. and Mrs. Cooper taught the native children in the Church of England School. Mr. Cooper was a lay preacher and evidently conducted many of the Sunday Services.

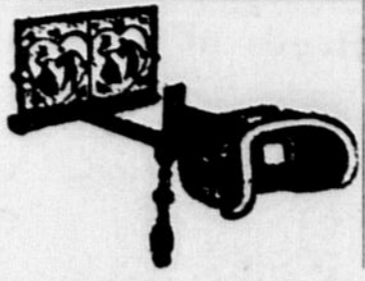

During the past year Mr. and Mrs. Cooper have been at Murdochville, Que., a new town in the Gaspé, where the Gaspé Copper Mine development is taking place. Let's hope Mr. Cooper will again take pen in hand and write another interesting story for the Gleaner that may tell us much about the new developments taking place in this newly opened up part of the Gaspé.

THE EDITOR.

Many people have the idea that the north is a dismal place to go to, and that there is nothing but snow and ice and igloos. After being there for some time I came to the conclusion that that is not so. I found that the north is very interesting and that what we read in books at school and elsewhere is wrong and has been very much exaggerated. I am going to try and give you a picture of what the north is like and about the work I did there and also about the various activities which go on in and around Aklavik.

Aklavik
Many people, upon reading this article will say to themselves, where is Aklavik? On a large map of Canada you will see that Aklavik is about seventy miles up the great Mackenzie River from the open sea. The Mackenzie River Delta is a maze of channels and streams. Aklavik is on the west branch of the Peel channel of the river. This channel is about one-half mile wide. Behind it at a distance of about eighteen miles is a low range of mountains which form the most northerly foothills of the Rockies. The hills are barren of trees. The Delta is well forested with spruce, willow and alder trees. There are a few trees of the poplar variety and fewer birch. The ground is flat and only a few feet above sea level. The soil is silt and when it rains, or during the spring thaw, one must wear rubber boots. To enjoy rocks or sand you must go up river or down to the Arctic coast. The ground thaws only to the depth of four feet where the soil is cultivated and only a matter of inches in the mossy bush areas.

A Growing Town
Aklavik is a growing town and at the present time there are many write-ups about it being moved to a new site. Where once there was only the Anglican Mission, there is now a good sized town, with a population of about 600. The Anglican Mission has three residences, the Hospital, School and numerous warehouses and a laundry. The Roman Catholics have similar buildings. The Royal Canadian Signals have a large plant. There are two large trading concerns and several

The Week At Ottawa...

OTTAWA — (CP) — Canada is willing to serve on the three-member Indo-China armistice commission — if the commission is able to act effectively.

It was invited to serve on the truce supervisory commission the night after the armistice was signed in Geneva by French and Communist-led Vietminh leaders. A cabinet meeting was called to discuss the invitation and afterward, External Affairs Minister Pearson told a press conference the final decision will depend upon clarification of exactly what the commission will be required to do.

"If that information and the terms of reference and procedure and details are all such as to give us reasonable assurance that the commission can operate effectively and do the job it is set up to do, I think the government will accept it."

Veto Seen
As an example, he added, there would be little likelihood that the commission could operate effectively if all its decisions had to be unanimous. If that were the case, any one of the three countries — the others are India and Poland — would hold veto power.

An Indian Government spokesman said at New Delhi that India has formally accepted membership on the commission and the previous Prime Minister Nehru's government will agree to serve as chairman. Mr. Pearson said it had been shown only too clearly in Korea that the Communist representatives could hamstring a true body unless details of procedure and terms of reference were spelled out exactly beforehand.

He said he assumes the commission will not have to enforce the truce terms. Though he did not say so, it was understood this would have been the main objection to Canadian participation because it would have meant commitment of Canadian troops to Indo-China.

Informants said the government provisionally accepted a commission job, though the final decision could not be made until details reached Ottawa this week. Actually there was little else the government could do if it wanted to continue to stand by its declaration to help the cause of peace.

Prestige High
It was realized, informants said, that acceptance would place Canada in a ticklish position. This country's prestige was high in Asia and many commission decisions supported by Canada might incur the wrath of either the United States or Asia. The Canadian view originally was that the truce commission should comprise the so-called Colombo nations — India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Burma and Indonesia — or these countries and one representative each from the Communist side and the west.

Mr. Pearson said the commission successful broadcasting station. It was used nearly every night of the week. We had a very large selection of records — bought, donated or sent in by interested parties outside. There were a great many recorded programmes from the Armed Services broadcast in the States. On Sunday, all services were broadcast. There is a hook-up from the (Continued on Page 9) job would probably last at least two years. He would guess that there might be 100 to 200 representatives from each of the supervisory powers, but he did not know whether they would be military or civilian.

Education In Black
Canada's larger universities and colleges, helped by sharply-increased government grants, made a small profit, collectively, 'way back in their 191-52 year, the bureau of statistics reports.

Student fees accounted for only 30.2 per cent of their revenues, the bureau found in a survey of 47 institutions that account for about 80 per cent of Canada's full-time enrolment in universities and colleges.

As a whole, they had a two-per-cent surplus with total revenues of $48,221,000 and expenditures of $47,194,000. The previous year they had a one-per-cent deficit.

The bureau's report shows the effect of the new federal program of university grants based on recommendations of the Massey commission on arts, letters and sciences. Grants are paid on the basis of 50 cents a head of population in each province and in the year under review $4,991,000 was paid to 83 institutions in Canada.

Total federal grants that year were $7,235,000 as against $1,706,000 the previous year. Grants by provincial and municipal governments also increased so that 52.4 per cent of university income came from government sources, compared with 46.2 per cent in 1950-51. Student fees accounted for 30.2 per cent of revenues and averaged $286 for each full-time student.

Unemployment Lower
The ranks of Canada's unemployed dwindled during June, continuing the trend away from the post-war unemployment peak of last March.

However, the number of jobless still ran well ahead of last year. Meanwhile, employment increased sharply to a point only slightly below last year, the government reports.

The bureau of statistics, in a survey of sample Canadian households, estimated that 185,000 persons were without jobs and seeking work in the week ending June 19, a drop of 32,000 from a month earlier but still more than double the 90,000 of a year ago.

The government also released labor department figures showing 285,747 persons registered for work at national employment offices on June 17, a drop of 62,333 from the May 20 figure but 116,466 more than last year's total of 179,361 June 18, 1953.

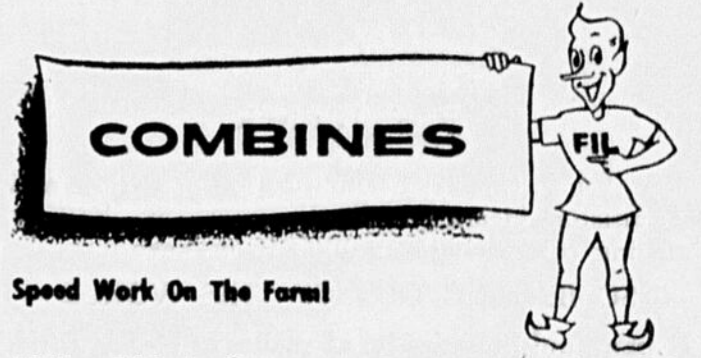

The government said there was a sharp increase in employment in outdoor work in June and estimated the number of persons at work jumped 91,000 during the month to a high for the year of 5,171,000 in the week ending June 19. The number of workers compared with 5,000,000 a month earlier and 5,172,000 at work on June 20 last year.

Support Ebbs
Government officials foresee difficulties in maintaining public support for heavy defence expenditures in the next year or two if the world situation doesn't get any worse. Canada's defence planners are thus caught in something of a paradox. They naturally want to see the world situation improve, but as — or if — it does, they feel they will have a harder time obtaining the large amounts of money they believe still will be necessary for defence.

Officials said despite the armistice in Indo-China, the truce a year earlier in Korea and an apparently reduced Communist threat in Europe, the need for heavy defence appropriations is going to continue for a long time.

In the last three years, the government has spent $5,000,000,000 for defence and in the current fiscal year plans to spend more than $2,000,000,000. The total budget this year is $4,500,000,000.

Defence officials said there have been some indications in the last few months that some Canadians would like to cut down on Canada's military commitments abroad, but they consider this view is not at all general and that the public is still solidly behind the current defence outlay as a necessary burden in a jumpy world.

We purchased the Officer's Mess for a Youth Center but found it difficult to operate because in order to make it successful we had to have a paid Supervisor which turned out to be too expensive a project for the size of our Club. Throughout the period of time we had this Youth Center there were no cases of delinquency brought before the court. Since the Youth Center was disbanded, I am sorry to say I can't say there have been no cases, for the actual number of cases reported by the Town Police is regrettable.

In Co-operation with the Ottawa Rotary Club we send a boy yearly from our Community to Ottawa for an adventure in citizenship.

Spent $300.00 for band instruments. We give prizes in our schools to promote better understanding.

We spent $400.00 for play ground equipment. Hospital Work
We raised $4,000.00 through a drawing of two town lots and presented the Huntingdon County Hospital with a modern X-Ray machine.

In the course of the years we have purchased $700.00 worth of Auxiliary equipment for our Hospital. Through our birthday fund we have given our Hospital sizeable yearly cash contributions.

International Projects
When the world was literally starving, the Rotarians planted a large acreage of beans and the beans were sent to hungry people. This project didn't turn out as well as we expected because our crops were small but it was nice to see a group of people that haven't worked in the fields for many years turn out for this type of work, and even if the result of the operation was a failure it gives you a good demonstration of the spirit of Rotary.

We have a yearly International meeting in Huntingdon which helps us to enlarge our acquaintanceship, promote better understanding and make our community known to a greater number of people.

In the short time at my disposal it is impossible to give you a list of all the projects that we have undertaken but the few that I have mentioned will give you an idea of what Rotary has meant to our Community.

Right at the moment we are engaged in one of the most important projects that we have yet undertaken, and that is to provide nurses for our hospital. It is our desire to have at least one nurse a year graduate and this will cost our club approximately $1,000.00 per year. We are trying to select candidates that would like to choose this profession but we have not got the means to enter it. In order to finance this particular project we are now raising money in selling tickets for a Duck Race.

Mr. Cleyn was introduced as speaker by Adam Seller who in turn intimated that it was his esteemed father, Victor Cleyn a former Rotarian of central Europe who felt Huntingdon would benefit through having a Club formed, and made the suggestion to the Montreal Rotary Club to so act. Thanks was extended to Mr. Cleyn for his talk on Rotary by Mr. Merrill Barrington and the Huntingdon Club for what they have already done toward the promoting of an Ormstown Rotary Club.

The Editor, The Huntingdon Gleaner Inc., Huntingdon, Quebec.

Dear Sir: Speaking for the residents of the Aubrey Post Office district, I would like to express a few public words of appreciation towards Mrs. George Robb who has, with the aid of her family, so ably conducted the affairs of the Aubrey Post Office since 1927.

The position of postmistress is not an easy one no job dealing with the public could be classified as such, but Mrs. Robb and Grace were ever willing to oblige and their help was given courteously and freely.

However, doctors' orders must be obeyed and the Robbs were forced to resign their office. They can be assured that the residents whom they served so well will not soon forget their many kind services that were rendered beyond their postal duties.

Sincerely,
Donald E. Black, Aubrey, Quebec.

Ice Cream Social Huge Success

An Ice Cream Social, under the auspices of the Evening Auxiliary, United Church, was held on Saturday evening, July 24, in the Church Hall. Ice cream and cake, with a variety of toppings for the ice cream, proved very popular and the waitresses were kept busy steadily throughout the evening. The home-made candy booth and fish pond did a rushing business with both children and grown-ups. The Auxiliary is most grateful for contributions from members, associate members and friends. The net proceeds amounted to approximately $125.00.

Flying Officer Grant L. Parent, son of Tris. Parent, Lennoxville, who is a good friend of many livestock people in this area, was in Huntingdon during the past week. His mission was that of arranging for "Observation Posts" set up in the area extending from Lacolle to Dundee. An observer every 8 miles is desired. David Zabitsky, Huntingdon, is the assistant Regional Supervisor for the Ground Service Observer Corps for this area. At the time of going to press, 10 men have offered their voluntary services and another 12 people are wanted to lend their assistance. When air maneuvers are on, the observers are requested to communicate reports as to when they see planes and in this way, the course of a play in flight can be recorded. It sounds like a rather unimportant chore in peacetime, but if a hot war developed, with, say Russia, such observation posts would become very important outlets for on-the-spot air movements. If you are willing to lend a cooperating hand, you are requested to have a talk with David Zabitsky for more details as to what is required from the observer.

Mrs. Francois Cleyn Gives Her Impressions of France and Belgium

Mr. and Mrs. Francois Cleyn, Wellington Street, left Huntingdon in the middle of June on a combined business and pleasure trip to England and the Continent. Mr. Cleyn returned to Canada by plane on June 29, whilst Mrs. Cleyn remained in Europe a little longer and made the return journey by boat. Mrs. Cleyn returned to Canada the past week with some very definite impressions of her trip abroad.

Just before the Cleyns disembarked, a funny incident occurred. A woman approached Mr. Cleyn and gave him a "good dressing down" for not looking after her baggage properly. The Huntingdonians were flabbergasted. Then they realized that because he was wearing a blue blazer with the crest of the Huntingdon Curling Club, the woman mistook Mr. Cleyn for the baggage-master.

When they landed in La Havre, France, Mrs. Cleyn was thrilled to see the country of her ancestors for the first time. Travelling from La Havre to Paris, she noticed how every bit of land was cultivated, and here, as elsewhere, the French countryside was beautiful.

In Paris they were met by Mr. and Mrs. Arnout, formerly of Huntingdon. They expressed a desire to be remembered to their friends in Huntingdon.

In arriving in Paris, the Cleyns were surprised to see all the small cars, many of them parked on the sidewalks. "As far as I am concerned," exclaimed Mrs. Cleyn, "I consider Paris the most beautiful city in the world." Being French-speaking, Mrs. Cleyn could enjoy the cultural aspects of Paris to the fullest extent. The wit displayed in some of the small theatres such as "le theatre des chansonniers" is unequalled anywhere else in the world. Life in Paris and in France generally is very expensive, and many people in France find it difficult to make ends meet.

From Paris, Mrs. Cleyn journeyed to Nice and on the train she met an English lady from Yorkshire. She was very surprised to learn Mrs. Cleyn could speak English, because she took her for a native of the south of France. Mrs. Cleyn said she nearly "floored her" when she characterized some of her best Yorkshire picked up in Huntingdon. The whole French Riviera is "really gorgeous," and she found the trips between Cannes and Monte Carlo picturesque and beautiful beyond description. Mrs. Cleyn was most impressed by the small mountain village of Eze, founded in the eleventh century. The car had to be abandoned at one point, because the streets in the ancient village are only about five feet wide and still contain the original pavement.

From Nice, Mrs. Cleyn went to Virazel to visit Mr. and Mrs. Arnout in their Chateau which was built in the sixteenth century. This beautiful historic castle was formerly the property of the Dukes of Eperlongues. The Chateau was just recently the scene of the Charter Night of the Rotary Club of Marmande.

Mrs. Cleyn was charmed with the courtesy and manners of the people in the south of France — even the poorest seemed to be gay and satisfied with their lot.

In her travels in France and Belgium, Mrs. Cleyn was pleased with the high esteem everybody seems to have towards Canada. Immigration and Customs officers couldn't have been nicer as soon as they saw the Canadian passport.

Bruxelles was the next stop for Mrs. Cleyn — Bruxelles was more modern and less expensive than Paris.

Her return trip on the New Amsterdam of the Holland-America Line was one of the nicest experiences of Mrs. Cleyn's trip — the courtesy, service and food were all perfect.

After having had the privilege to see all those distant places, Mrs. Cleyn still found Canada the best and most beautiful country in the world.

HOW AND WHY

A Column for Boys and Girls By Harold Don Allen

VII: PLANTS AND MEN

Walking through the woods can be fun — there's no telling how much you can discover! Plants of all kinds are everywhere, from tiny mosses to tall bushes and giant trees. Men can spend their whole lives studying just one kind of plant, and how and where it best grows. Plants are important. No animals or people could live in the world without them. Joyce learned how important plants were during a walk through the woods with her Uncle. Perhaps you'd like to go along with Joyce on her walk, in this week's Column and see if you too can discover "how" and "why!"

Joyce strolled past an old oak tree — she watched a squirrel skip away with a nut. When she bent down to pick a strawberry she saw a caterpillar eating on a leaf nearby. "Plants make food: all the animals in the world need plants," her Uncle explained.

Joyce didn't understand how a plant could "make" food! and it is a bit difficult to see. The plant sends roots down into the earth. Some roots go quite deep indeed. Through the roots the plant brings up water and parts of the earth that it needs. Air and sunlight, too, are taken into the plant, through the leaves. Food is made in the green of the plants, and stored away in roots, stems, leaves, seeds and fruit. Different plants may store food in different places. It is the part of the plant that contains the best food, that we eat.

Different kinds of animals can use different things for food. A horse or cow can eat grass, and we can't. Termites eat wood. Many insects eat leaves and plant juices that would interest us in the least. We eat certain parts of plants that store up the kinds of food our bodies need.

Perhaps you've never thought of it that way, but when you eat radishes, potatoes, carrots or peanuts you're eating part of a plant's root. It's leaves you're eating in the case of lettuce, parsley or spinach. With celery you eat the stem. Nuts, grain, peas and beans are seeds. Apples and oranges, of course, along with many other varieties, are fruits. When you taste maple candy, you're really eating part of a plant juice.

Plants are food — and much more. They are important to man in many other ways too. Trees provide wood for building. In some countries houses are built from branches and leaves. Plants provide clothing as well. Cotton is the fluff that surrounds the seeds of a plant. Leaves and berries make medicines. Hemp, twisted, becomes rope. There are few of his needs for which man does not turn to plants.

Men have lived on the world, scientists tell us, for tens of thousands of years. Animals of various kinds have lived for many millions! But plants were the first living things. They had to be. They made their own food, from earth, water, sunlight and air. They made the food that the first of the animals could eat.

Today there are animals that eat no plants whatsoever. They live by hunting and killing other animals. Lions, tigers, wolves and foxes seldom consider plants as food. But if plants were not with us, these great animals would die too, for there would be no plant-eating animals for them to hunt and to kill.

Plants go right on growing — ever so many kinds. When some are killed and eaten, seeds remain for others to grow up. It must be that way. For without the plants about us, the whole world would be dead, for there would be no way of anything else getting food.

Think of that next time you take a walk in the forest or look around in your garden at home. NEXT WEEK: A Look at Long Ago.

The Gore

W.A. and W.M.S.

THE GORE — The Gore W.A. and W.M.S. met on Wednesday evening, July 14, at the home of Mrs. John Ruddock with a good attendance of members and visitors. Mrs. Willard Anderson, President of the W.A., conducted the meeting. The meeting was in connection with Dominion Day and opened with 'O Canada' followed by prayer. A poem, 'Dominion Day', was read by Mrs. Anderson, also an article on the Dominion Day of long ago. The apron which had been passed around, upon which everyone sewed a patch with money underneath, had been received by the treasurer, Miss Isabel Foster. Everyone had a chance to guess how much money was on the apron, the one closest received the apron. $6.66 was realized, and Mrs. Mervyn Graham won the apron. The W.A. closed their meeting by singing "The Maple Leaf Forever". Mrs. Nelson Anderson, President of the Gore W.M.S., conducted that meeting, opening with a Hymn, followed by a prayer. Plans were made for the anniversary tea to be held in the Herdman Hall on July 27, to commemorate the 104th anniversary of the Union with the Dominion of Great Britain. Refreshments were served by the ladies.

The community was saddened on Monday, July 19th, when it was learned that Mrs. Kenneth McCartney had passed away at Ormstown. Mrs. McCartney had been seriously ill for many months. To her husband, her two sons Baird and Willard, and two daughters, Elsie, Mrs. G. Cassidy, and Fern, the community extend their sympathy.

Miss Roberta Ruddock and Miss Wood, of Shawinigan Falls, were week-end guests of her mother, Mrs. John Ruddock and Harriet.

Howick

Evening Auxiliary HOWICK — The Evening Auxiliary of Howick United Church met at the home of Mrs. W. K. McRae, on Tuesday, July 20, when 21 members answered the roll call, using a text with the word "obey". Mrs. Simms used the same theme for the devotional exercises. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Donald Templeton, and the treasurer's report by Mrs. J. J. Peddie. The funds on hand amounting to $80. will be sent in now. Mrs. J. J. Peddie had the study chapter and it was most interesting. 37 Asiatic students met at a Work Camp, they came from Japan, Burma, Malaya and other places. Four were Buddhists and the director was a young missionary. Because of war experiences, they had dreaded meeting and working together, but the spirit that pervaded the camp prevented any racial feeling.

Mrs. W. Brown of Howick was a guest speaker at this meeting and told about her work, which is of varied nature. Sometimes the day will be spent meeting new comers to Canada, when their boat docks. This leads to endless contacts in the future; finding employment, helping them when ill or in trouble. The Protestant and Catholic Churches send each one a letter of welcome to Canada and these are cherished possessions. Once again members were made to realize what it means to strangers to be given a welcome and a helping hand. As Mrs. Brown injects a bit of humour into everything she does, so do the weary travellers are glad to be helped by her. Mrs. Donald Chisholm thanked Mrs. Brown for her interesting and informative talk.

Mrs. W. K. McRae read current events, noting in particular the death of the great layman, Dr. Cliffe, who died recently. The group enjoyed singing familiar hymns before the meeting, and during the devotional period. Delicious refreshments were served by those in charge of the program.

Supper Party On Thursday, July 22, seven ladies enjoyed a supper party at the home of Mrs. Florence Mattice. This was the annual get-together of some of the neighbouring grandmothers and other friends. For genuine fun, these parties get top rating. After the usual greetings are over, the question of who is the youngest and who is the oldest must be settled. This year they were from 72 to 88 years old.

when this question came up, but because she overheard the remark: "Well do I remember the day you were born. Your father came for grandma C. — that was the year I was married."

Serving refreshment to these ladies is a pleasure too. They have worked long and hard so the waist lines are well under control, but there is no mention of diets. If you serve potatoes, everybody eats potatoes. So many hilarious stories are being told, they could eat anything with no ill effects. The biggest laugh this year went to the story teller who told about her early morning attempt to clear the caterpillars from her cherry trees. This involved falling into a ditch, just as a car passed by. Several days later the caterpillars were alive and well, climbing all over the furnace. The fire had gone out!

The daughter or daughter-in-law who brings mother to these parties, hears the greetings and farewells and looks forward to the day when she will reach the right age group for a grandmother party.

Personals

Fred Daigle is spending six weeks at Camp Chapeau near Morin Heights as a counsellor-in-training. He reports that having eleven boys (9-11 years) under his care can be difficult at times; especially at meal times when the boys claim: "There isn't enough to eat."

Lacombe Pitches Two Hit Shut Out Merchants win 8th in Row

With Rosie Lacombe pitching his first shut out and holding St. Regis Falls to six hits, the Huntingdon Merchants scored three runs off the Merchants and it was his eighth straight league game 3 to 0.

Lacombe proved very effective in the clutch, leaving three St. Regis' runners stranded in the sixth inning, two in the seventh, and two in eighth. This was Rosie's first shut out in the two years he had pitched for the Merchants and it was his fifth win of the year without a loss.

Ozzie Watson kept his bat hot by hitting three singles and batting in a run. Jon Proudfoot and Eric Salter each had two hits for four times at bat. Eric who filled in as first base played a fine game in the absence of Bill Bernhardt.

The Merchants got off to a fast start in the first inning when MacDonald walked, Proudfoot singled, moving MacDonald to second, and MacDonald scored on Watson's single. In the seventh inning, Lacombe was safe on a fielder's choice and came home from first on Callum's double. In the eighth inning, Proudfoot singled, moved to second, on Watson's single and scored when Salter singled and the ball got away from Lemieux, the St. Regis rightfielder, with Proudfoot scoring the Merchants' third run.

The fans were treated to some fine fielding by Jack McKane, the St. Regis shortstop, who came up with three plays that robbed Huntingdon batters of sure hits. The best of the three was a diving catch of Monique's low line drive.

Lloyd McFall pitched a fine game for St. Regis, giving up nine hits and striking out eight Huntingdon batters. McFall pitched well enough to win but his team could not get any runs off Lacombe.

The Merchants have two games lined up for this week. On Wednesday, July 28, they will play in Malone against the Amvets. This is a league game which was rained out earlier in the season.

On Sunday, August 1, the Merchants will journey to Burke, N.Y., to play the Burke Bears who are sitting in second place with only one loss in league play this season. The Merchants will be fighting for first place when they play this game.

Robert G. Sellar, the third Robert of the Sellar printing and publishing family of Huntingdon, Que., has been visiting the land of his forefathers and he has apparently been getting quite a kick out of his visits through Auld Scotia. Incidentally, it is now upwards of a hundred years ago since the late Robert Sellar, the first of his line in Huntingdon, came from Glasgow, Scotland, to Canada; ninety-one years ago since he came to Huntingdon where he established the weekly newspaper, "The Gleaner."

Frankly, CROWN & ANCHOR Ricebeer isn't meant for everybody. Tastes differ. But if you're one of those who prefer a beer that looks brighter, tastes lighter, and leaves a fresh, clean memory behind, chances are you'll say, "This dry beer is my beer!"

and brother Leslie Sellar. Following the death of Leslie Sellar in 1922 Watson Sellar and his younger brother Adam operated the Gleaner business until December 1924 when Watson Sellar left Huntingdon to become Private Secretary to the late Hon. James A. Robb, Minister of Finance; to later hold several responsible positions leading up to his present one. It might also be added that under the sons of the first Robert, The Huntingdon Gleaner branched out to become probably the largest printing plant and publishing firm in any town of the same size in Canada — under the name of The Huntingdon Gleaner Inc., of which the President is Adam L. Sellar.

The Third Generation
In addition to being the third Robert in the Sellar printing family, Robert G. is likewise the only grandson of the first Robert. He has also been fitting himself to become the third generation member of his family to carry on a printing and publishing business.

Edinburgh
Upon his return from overseas Robert (Bob) Sellar will doubtless give his experiences and impressions of Scotland and England in The Gleaner. In the meantime we may say that we recently received two most interesting letters from him from Aberdeen, Scotland, and Carlisle, England.

He was, of course enthralled with the beauty and historical sites of Edinburgh, Scotland's ancient capital. In the meantime we may say that we recently received two most interesting letters from him from Aberdeen, Scotland, and Carlisle, England.

Amongst the places he visited was the Experimental Farm of my old College, the North of Scotland College of Agriculture of Aberdeen University; and, of course, the Bridge of Don and the Auld Brig O'Balgonie. Both historical landmarks. The Garioch District

By bus, Bob took the old North Turnpike (which runs from Aberdeen to Inverurie, and stopped off at Inverurie and Insh. Inverurie is at the entrance, so to speak, to the famous Garioch district, the "Girnal of Aberdeenshire". (Referring to that district's grain, oats and barley—crops; a girnal being the receptacle for oatmeal). He there visited this writer's cousins Mr. and Mrs. Alec Napier.

From Insh he walked over the three odd miles of road which leads to the former Home Farm of Newton, the road over which this writer used to walk to and from the Insh High School. The Home Farm, where this writer was raised, was long the home of a famous Shorthorn herd, but is now just a farm. In fact all that is now left of the former farm reaching Newton Estate is the mansion house — Newton House, its grounds, gardens and avenues. The latter being owned by Mrs. M. H. Parkin Moore, the last of a long line of Gordons of Newton. At Newton House Bob was kindly and hospitably received by Mrs. Parkin Moore.

On the next day he went out to Hillhead Farm, Newton Hill, a few miles south of Aberdeen, where he visited this writer's sister, Mrs. Mary Crighton, and had "High Tea" with her and several visiting members of her family. Coincidentally, another visitor to Hillhead on that day was my brother Jim, from Grain Valley, Missouri, who is presently in Scotland in quest of a number of Shorthorns and Aberdeen-Angus cattle. Bob said he had a grand time but had some difficulty in understanding the Aberdeenshire dialect or brogue.

Glasgow and Ayrshire
Bob Sellar's next stop was Glasgow and then Ayr. In the latter district he visited the office of the Ayrshire Cattle Herd Book Society of Great Britain, etc. He also met and was cordially received by Mrs. A. W. Montgomery, Sr., and James Montgomerie, of Dunure, whose guest he was at dinner at Prestwick Airport. He also met Miss Jean Barr of Hobelard, a recent visitor in Canada who brought him up-to-date on Huntingdon news and happenings. At Carnell Home Farm he was hospitably entertained by Mr. and Mrs. George Templeton. After luncheon, Mr. Templeton took him across to visit Mr. and Mrs. Knox at Kersland where they had supper.

From Carlisle, in Cumberland, England, he was proceeding to the famous Lakes district and from thence on south to London. But, as we said before, he will probably be giving a resume of his travels in the United Kingdom in a later issue of The Gleaner.

Terrace Bank Sales
J. Earle Ness of J. Earle Ness & Sons, Howick, reports the recent sales of three promising young herd sires from the Terrace Bank Ayrshire herd.

The oldest of the trio is Terrace Bank Red Stamp, Class A, 18 months, old to Donald Chisholm, Howick. That bull was sired by Burnside Emperor whose first eight daughters on R. O. P. test, as helpers, have records which average 8,711 lbs. milk at 42% butterfat. The dam of Red Stamp is Terrace Bank Lily Stamp, classified "Very Good". She has 3 records which average 9,614 lbs. milk at 4.42%. The maternal grand-dam, the "Excellent" cow Burnside Lily Stamp, has a lifetime production record of 123,363 lbs. milk at 4.51%.

Terrace Bank Iron Duke 4 months old, was sold to Hugh McAdam, Hemmingford, and he was also sired by Burnside Emperor. His dam is Terrace Bank Brown Bess, classified "Very Good" and with a 2 year old record 9,600 lbs. milk at 4.33%; also a 4 year old record of 10,303 lbs. milk at 4.25%.

Terrace Bank Mayor, 10 months old, also by Burnside Emperor, went to Wm. Carcaud, St. Chrysostome. His dam is Terrace Bank Belle Again, classified "Very Good" and with 8 good R. O. P. records to her credit Her 4 year old record was 9,775 lbs. milk at 4.34%, while she produced 12,375 lbs. milk at 4.57% in her 5 year old lactation period.

Mr. Carcaud is in business in Montreal, but during the past three years he has also built up a nice herd of Ayrshires at St. Chrysostome.

Mr. Ness also reported that two more breeders had ordered bull calves by Burnside Emperor for Fall delivery.

He also reported the sale of a young Ayrshire female to Geo. Vallee, Ste. Philomete, and two young cows to a Mr. Burgess of New York State.

Four Terrace Bank females are being consigned to the Burnside Sale of August.

Huge Crop of Hay
"Like most farmers", wrote Mr. Ness, "we have a huge crop of hay. After filling two large silos early in June, will have almost 7,000 bales of hay."

It was also interesting to learn that recent visitors at Terrace Bank Farm included a couple from South Africa and two couples from Rhode Island, U.S.A. The latter being Ayrshire people on holiday.

Good-Will Visit
On Sunday, July 25, this writer and Mrs. Napier were privileged to accompany Douglas A. and Mrs. Ness of Burnside Farms, Howick, and Archie Roy of Balquhadder Farm, Howick, and Secretary of the Howick-Huntingdon Ayrshire Club, to the Field-day of the Clinton — Essex — Franklin Ayrshire Club.

That event was held at the farm of Thomas C. Norman, near Saratoga Lake, New York State. We were not in time for the picnic luncheon and the early part of the proceedings which were presided over by Sam Loudon of Champlain, N.Y., who is president of the Club.

Incidentally, Mrs. Loudon is also the Secretary of the Club.

However, we were in time for the tour of the various Norman farms and the inspection of the cow end of the Norman Ayrshire herd — some 40 head. Here we saw some 35 cows being machine milked and learned that the daily production of milk is around 13 cans. Altogether there are some 100 head in all in that herd, while on another farm are kept some 100 head of Holsteins.

We also learned that in 1840 the grandfather of the present Thomas C. Norman settled on 100 acres which are now part of the extensive, present-day Norman holdings; all of which 100 acres he subsequently cleared. "I am naturally rather proud of that grandfather", Mr. Norman told us, "during the course and half from Loucheux Indian homes. The Eskimo lived in the northern half of the Delta and along the coast east and west of the river. The Loucheux people lived in the southern part of the Delta and up river as far as Arctic Red River and westward across the mountains to Old Crow in the Yukon.

The parents of some of our Eskimo children lived west as far as Demarcation Point and one boy came from as far east as Perry River. Needless to say some of the children did not have a chance to go home for the holidays. The local Eskimos all visit Atlatik sometime during the summer. The children go out with their parents for the months of July and August. There are hundreds of Eskimo children of nomadic families who have not the opportunity of attending school because of lack of accommodation.
The government established a school in the settlement for those who had permanent residence. They took over the schools at McPherson and Tuktoyaktuk which were built by the Diocese of the Arctic. There will always be Indians there along with the Eskimo since there were many families who must live far from the settlement in order to earn a living.
Boys are boys and girls are girls the whole world over. If you were to go to Aklavik you might find the children very shy at first, but once they have learned to know you they are like any child in your own town. The girls are fond of making fancy belts, shoes and mitts. The boys like nothing better than to do woodwork. They both like art and music. They seem to know many modern songs. They are quite thrilled when a cowboy picture is shown and usually they are playing cowboys and robbers with imitation guns. They like to skate and they have a wonderful time playing with homemade hockey sticks and a ball or a can for a puck.
During the year there were organizations for every age. The Scouts and Cubs for the boys; Girl Guides and Brownies and W.A. for the girls. They met every week after their supper was over. The days were full of school activities, romps

Education
Our school was a large two-story building, one hundred and twenty feet long. It contained three classrooms, eight dormitories, playrooms, dining rooms, kitchen, furnace rooms, staff rooms and a store-room. There was accommodation for one hundred children and ten of a staff. The Principal lived in a residence of his own. The classrooms operated as our schools do. We followed the Alberta curriculum. The pupils were half from Eskimo in the fresh air and household duties in which all were expected to share. The girls learned to cook their own and staff meals at which some of them became very adept.

Rat Trapping
Three or four years ago a move was made to register the trap lines of all the trappers in the Delta. Every family had its own trapping area. The school had one too. Their area was allotted to both boys and girls who had their own lakes, and they went every spring under the supervision of one of the staff to trap muskrats. School closed at three o'clock for three weeks and then they went trapping. The trapping was very interesting, and every one of the staff has a chance to see it.
Early in the fall the children go to their lakes and mark their rat-houses which are called push-ups. It appears that the rats make their little houses on the ice and they are made of moss and weeds from the lake. These houses have from one to five "beds" depending upon the size of the rat family. The children and natives break down willow twigs and mark these houses when the springing season opens in the spring they find them at once. They have to clear all the snow away, then dig into the snow until they find a bed, which to me looks like a little shelf of ice. The rats sit on the shelf to eat and to sleep. There is only one opening where the rat comes through the ice into his house, and there the trap is set. They do not bait it. The traps are called "Jump-traps" and each is attached to the willow rod so that when the rat is caught he cannot carry the trap away. After setting the trap the house has to be carefully covered to prevent the rat's entrance from freezing. It makes one shiver to watch the children digging in the snow and ice and equally in ice water with their bare hands. They cover it with wet mossy stuff first and then pile on the snow. The axes or hatchets are used to chop away the ice from the traps next day. Quite often the rat is alive and has to be killed which they do by cutting a hole in the ice and putting the head with the axe. The rats are about a foot long and have a real rat's tail. The children skin them, put the skins on stretchers and leave them to dry for twenty-four hours. The cleaned rats are then brought into the kitchen and are roasted the next day, and then they have them for dinner. They also take the tails of the rats, put them in the furnace to roast and then eat them.
Movie Projector Procured
One year the children were so anxious to have a movie projector that they gave to a fund three hundred dollars of the rat catch to purchase one. The Department of Mines and Resources, which administers the Northwest Territories, supplied the balance of the money required to purchase a Victor Animatone. Since that time the Government has supplied the school with a radio and record player and also a slide and film strip projector. The local radio station broadcasted educational recordings from the Provincial Department of Education, which were sent in when used outside.

Athletic Association
Four years ago the leading lights of the town backed an Athletic Association and we had for a few years a large community hall and a curling rink. About a year ago the hall was sold. They were paid for through the activities of the Association which comprised about ninety per cent of the people. Labor was a community effort. There were no paid carpenters. Dances and card parties took place in the hall and in the winter time you would see the various players headed for the rink at seven and nine. Two games a night were played and the rink was used five or six nights a week. Our season lasted five months, so the players were able to have their share in the old Scottish sport. In the summer softball and horseshoes were the most important games, and once a year there was a sports day.
Church of England
Perhaps a word or two about our Church of England might be of interest. It is really a Cathedral, yet it is called a Pro-Cathedral as the Bishop does not live there. It is a beautiful building and has beautiful stained windows. If you attended a service on Sunday evening you would be surprised to see a choir of Indians and Eskimos robed in scarlet cassocks white surplices and ruffs. In front of the choir walks a native boy bearing the Processional Cross of Cong. The pulpit standing on the south side is like the rest of the screen, made of oak. At the entrance to the Chancel on the north side of the Lectern hangs the flag of the Governor-General of Canada. On the south side hangs another banner, which is the Hudson's Bay flag.
The most unique feature in the Cathedral is undoubtedly the oil painting over the Holy Table entitled "Epiphany of the Snows". This was painted by Miss Violet Teague of Melbourne, Australia. The picture, which measures eight feet long by five feet high, conveys the message that the Christ of God is for all people. On the extreme left is a tall Nascopee-Cree Indian from the Ungava Peninsula, who is dressed in leather buckskins and snowshoes and brings a live beaver, symbolical of the beaver sanctuaries recently established in the north. Kneeling below him is a Hudson's Bay Company man offering some white Arctic fox pelts, the result of his labour as a trader. Behind him stands a Royal Canadian Mounted Policeman in northern garb who offers protection, while two sled dogs, one white and the other black, are harnessed for service. On the other side of the Madonna is an Eskimo woman from Baffin Land with her baby in her hood, also in caribou clothing and bringing a gift that is hidden by the figure in front. At the back stand two beautiful reindeer instead of the traditional camels and are symbolical of the vast herds of reindeer established by the Dominion Government near the mouth of the Mackenzie River. Patients in hospitals and schools have received great benefit through the supply of fresh meat obtained from the herds. In the far distance the huts of an Eskimo snow

Such is a description of our four years spent at a Mission School at Aklavik, about five hundred miles north of the Arctic Circle, and I hope that I have given a fair description of same, in such a manner that you will now know that we had very few hardships, and that life is or was similar to that of any ordinary Canadian. I am now going to give you a description of the type of work Mrs. Cooper and the rest of the staff had to do preparing for and during the Christmas period.

Next Week:
Next week, a description of the type of work Mr. and Mrs. Cooper and the rest of the staff had to do in preparing for and during the Christmas period, will appear in the Gleaner.

Dundee Rifle Club Attends Outdoor Shoot At St. Jean.

Industrial Exhibits Numerous — Children's Day Huge Success — Again Bring Home Trophy

Dundee Rifle Club Attends On Sunday, July 25, six members of the Dundee Rifle Club motored to St. Jean, Que., where they attended the first annual 22 sporting rifle shoot at the St. Jean Rifle Club outdoor range.

Mr. Wright travelled light

When the Wright Brothers first took off at Kitty Hawk fifty years ago, weight-saving aluminum was already in on the act. Their tiny engine had a single cast aluminum crank-case and cylinder block. Aluminum has been growing with the aircraft industry ever since. Now strong aluminum alloys are helping to combat the heats and stresses of supersonic flight, and Alcan is busier than ever supplying aluminum for Canada's busy aircraft plants and other metals users looking for lightness and strength...

Club outdoor range. This shoot, the first of what is hoped to be an annual shooting event, was sponsored by the St. Jean Rifle Club in affiliation with the Province of Quebec Rifle Association and was attended by a fairly good representation from surrounding clubs. The team match was composed of three members each and was shot in an off-hand position. This position, although an unusual one for a team match, was selected because it is thought to be one of the most difficult positions to Master. Dundee Team No. 1, composed of George Sutton, Allan Sutton and Billy Tannahill took first place with a score of 480 out of a possible 600. Dundee Team No. 2, composed of George McFarlane, Danny McFarlane and Tom Gowdy stood second with a score of 409 and the Quebec Expert Class, Sharp Shooter and Marksmen combined. Allan Sutton stood first in the Grand Aggregate in the Sharp Shooter class, and Tom Gowdy won the grand aggregate in the Marksmen Class. Dundee Rifle Club has really done itself proud this year, and definitely presents a challenge to other clubs in the Sporting Rifle field.

Open Air Concert Judging from the number of people who attended the recent open air concert at Prince Arthur Square, there are a considerable number in Huntingdon and district who appreciate this form of entertainment. Cars were parked three-deep in the diamond opposite the park and others lined the streets. Thanks to the Town Police Department, Constable Brooks was in attendance and directed traffic and parking. People who walked to the park, however, were at a disadvantage — there were few benches in evidence and only a few of these were even near the bandstand. It is hoped better seating accommodation can be offered at future concerts. Another asset, both to audience and musicians, would be a sound system so that selections could be announced — the Bandmaster is quite accustomed to having people whistle or hum a few bars of a march played during the evening and being asked the title of it and the composer's name, etc. The band, under the direction of Bandmaster Moore, drew much applause. Numbers included marches, waltzes, sacred music, overtures, popular and novelty numbers, etc. Date of the next concert will appear in this newspaper.
