ANNOUNCE REVISION OF CERTAIN WAR TAXES

Die-Hard Nazi Fanatics In Headlong Flight

Record's Conference Highlights

By PETER EDSON
Special to The Record
San Francisco, May 11.—One by-product of this United Nations Conference, not on the official agenda is the way the cultural relations programme is paying off an extra dividend. For, in addition to writing a United Nations charter filled with high-sounding principles on insuring the future peace and security of the world, some of the delegates are interested in doing something right now. Consequently they are taking time off from their conference labors not only to see the sights of America, but also to pick up information on what goes on in such diverse subjects as orange growing, public health, rural school lunches, historical research, labor legislation, student exchange, and stuff like that. For instance, assistant delegate to France, a law professor of Paris, has been putting in some time at the Hoover War Memorial Library, Stanford University. Formerly there were two other famous collections of documents on wars, revolutions and peace, one in Paris and the other in Berlin. The German collection in Berlin is believed to have been completely destroyed and the French collection was badly damaged. Dr. Basdevant is making preliminary arrangements to have the Hoover Library documents microfilmed so as to bring the Paris collection up to date. French technical adviser Jean Chatelet is visiting Stanford to do research for future reorganization of the French Ministry of Labor. Rene Hoffherr, another French adviser, met U.S. economists on the Stanford faculty and will return there to lecture. Ali Akbar Siassi, Minister of State for Iran and chancellor of the University of Teheran, is interested in U.S. higher education. Presidents Donald B. Tressider of Stanford and Herman Wells of Indiana have invited him to visit their campuses. Mrs. Isabel P. de Vival, Uruguayan senator and educator, is visiting San Francisco schools and will go to the University of California extension centre in Berkeley. Egyptian delegates, interested in improving the citrus fruit crops of their country, are visiting California orange groves. All these and other similar examples fit into the big pattern of improving international working relationships for peace times. Several representatives of the U.S. Department of State, Division of Cultural Co-

Impost On Building Materials, Electric Appliances Lifted

Excise Tax Ranging From 25 to 80 Per Cent on Passenger Automobiles Changed to Flat 10 Per Cent Tax and 25 Per Cent Levy on Radios, Phonographs and Cameras Also Cut.

Ottawa, May 12.—(P)—With a number of special war taxes cut or abolished Canada today had, in what amounted to a "baby budget," first large-scale revision of Government policy to meet the first stage in conversion from war to a peace economy.

The programme, outlined last night in a statement on behalf of Finance Minister Isley, acting Prime Minister, announced elimination of the eight per cent sales tax on building materials, the ten per cent war exchange tax on imported manufacturing and producers machinery and equipment and building materials and the twenty-five per cent excise tax on household electric and gas appliances.

The twenty-five per cent excise tax on radios, phonographs and cameras is cut to 10 per cent and an excise tax ranging from 25 to 80 per cent on passenger automobiles is changed to a flat 10 per cent tax.

Mr. Isley sketched the basis on which controls are to be relaxed and said restrictions on the manufacture of a number of household goods would be removed almost immediately, but there was no assurance goods would be immediately available. Rationing of automobile inner tubes would be lifted shortly.

It also was proposed to make an early announcement on easing the Foreign Exchange Control Board regulations which now limit pleasure travel by Canadians in the United States.

Last night's statement of Government policy is due to be followed Monday by a Prices Board statement outlining in detail the controls which are to be lifted immediately. It is expected these will be mainly

BIG PUSH WILL BE REQUIRED TO PUT LOAN OVER

Individual Sales Reported to Be Still Lagging as Result of Victory Celebrations—New Brunswick and Nova Scotia Exceed Objectives.

Ottawa, May 11.—(P)—Eighth Victory Loan purchases totalled $94,127,900 Thursday but the individual sales still are lagging as a result of the victory celebrations this week, National Headquarters announced today.

While the Thursday total compared with $88,084,160 for the corresponding day of the last loan, individual sales were not up to expectations, totalling only $87,932,300 against $82,890,350 at the same stage of the seventh campaign.

The cumulative total for the first 16 days of this loan is $1,146,398,850 compared with $1,207,660,650 at the same point six months ago, while the number of applications is lagging by about 240,000.

Officials said that if the minimum over-all objective of $1,350,000,000 is to be reached by Saturday night, Friday's and Saturday's sales will have to average slightly more than $100,000,000.

New Brunswick and Nova Scotia both topped their overall quotas yesterday—the first provinces in Canada to better objectives—the former reaching $26,712,850 on a $23,650,000 objective and the latter reporting $41,102,250 on an objective of $38,050,000.

These strides and continued support from "special names" subscribers boosted the national cumulative total to $1,052,270,950, still short of the $1,146,398,850 target at the same stage of the seventh loan, but somewhat of a comeback from the slump of Monday and Tuesday when Canadians celebrated victory in Europe.

The Eighth Loan drive ends Saturday with a goal of $227,000,000 to reach the minimum objective for the three-week drive. Half of the total is allocated to "special names" subscribers and the other half to individual purchasers.

National sales yesterday—which included a carryover from late reports of Monday and Tuesday—totalled $77,994,550 compared with $69,294,850 on the corresponding day of the Seventh Loan drive last fall.

Among the inter-city contestants, National Waterford, N.S., which won National recognition of the last loan, had passed its objective on the third day of the current campaign, and the other leaders are all in the Maritimes—Sydney with 127 per cent, Glace Bay, N.S., and Dartmouth, each with 107 and New Glasgow with 105 per cent. Summerside, P.E.I., has 127 per cent of general canvass and payroll subscriptions and Charlottetown 111 per cent.

Among the centres nearing the 100 per cent mark are Truro, N.S., 99 per cent; Three Rivers, Que., 97.2 per cent; New Westminster, B.C., 91.7 per cent; Victoria, 88.9 per cent; and Sherbrooke, Que., 88.5 per cent.

Latest "special names" subscriptions reported were headed by an $8,000,000 purchase through the Montreal office of Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States. Others included Dominion Life Assurance Co., Waterloo, Ont., $3,000,000; American Can Company, Hamilton and Vancouver, $2,250,000; Horton Steel Works, Ltd., Fort Erie, Ont., $500,000; Montreal City and Savoye, $200,000; Montreal, $1,000,000; and Ogilvie Flour Mills, Co. Ltd., Montreal, $1,000,000.

The Toronto joint board of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America (CIO) purchased $95,000 worth of bonds and the Toronto, Montreal and Winnipeg locals of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union purchased $100,000.

Many officials had hoped to avoid discussion of colonial questions here and to limit the whole problem of dependencies to that of setting up machinery for controlling former enemy territories.

DOOLITTLE SAYS GIGANTIC RAIDS WILL HIT JAPAN

Size of American Air Force Operating Against Japs Will Continue to Be Increased as Airfields Become Available and Supply Routes Established.

London, May 11.—(P)—Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, Commander of the U.S. 8th Air Force, who led the first air attack on Tokyo, predicted today that 2,000-plane raids would be made upon Japan.

"The size of the American Air Force operating against Japan will continue to be increased as airfields become available and supply routes and communications bases are established," Doolittle said at a press conference.

Doolittle said part of the 8th Air Force's manpower and equipment would be moved directly to the Pacific and the rest would be sent back to the United States or would be kept here indefinitely as part of the Allied Occupation Air Force.

He indicated that large numbers of Flying Fortresses and Liberators used in battering Germany would be shifted to the Pacific, where they would be used in the role of "medium bombers," augmenting operations of the ever-increasing fleet of Superfortresses.

"The number of operational planes on airfields today does not include a large number of others in repair depots, and new planes in reserve pools," he said.

The largest number of heavies Doolittle ever dispatched in one attack was approximately 2,000 last Christmas Eve.

"For every bomber we have at least two full crews," he said. "This is the only way we could have kept up the large-scale, non-stop raids over Germany."

The accident was investigated by Provincial Police officer S. Brassard, Chief of Police Joffre L'Heureux of Richmond, and Traffic Circulation Officer V. Lemire. Testimony of the passengers disclosed that the car was travelling towards Richmond when the blowout occurred.

A verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury, convened by District Coroner Georges Letendre of Danville, at the inquest into Gendreau's death. The jury was composed of Wilfred St. Cyr, Alfred Houle, Maurice Maurice, Albert Boucher, Andre Lemelin and Pierre Langlois.

The accident was investigated by Provincial Police officer S. Brassard, Chief of Police Joffre L'Heureux of Richmond, and Traffic Circulation Officer V. Lemire. Testimony of the passengers disclosed that the car was travelling towards Richmond when the blowout occurred.

As the car was being pulled back onto the road by a wrecker from nearby Richmond, a truck owned by E. Mooney, of Ulverton, approached and slowed down, whereupon a car, driven by Robert Boisvert, of L'Avant, who was immediately behind the truck, failed to stop and crashed into the rear end of Mooney's vehicle. Considerable damage to the car was done, but no one was injured.

INDUSTRIAL TARGETS IN KOBE AREA HIT

Washington, May 11.—(P)—Two large fleets of Superfortresses bombed industrial targets in the Kobe area on the main Japanese island of Honshu today and continued their attacks on Kyushu's air installations.

The War Department announced that some 300 B-29s struck at the targets hundreds of miles apart.

The specific targets of two raiding fleets were not identified in the brief War Department communique.

BLOWOUT CAUSED AUTO TO LEAVE ROAD—ONE DEAD

Lucien Gendreau, of St. Hyacinthe, Instantly Killed and Four Others Hurt in Accident Which Occurred Near Melbourne.

Richmond, May 11.—Lucien Gendreau, 22, of St. Hyacinthe was instantly killed and four Richmond men were hurt when a car owned and driven by Albert Lamare, 33, of Richmond, crashed over a 15-foot embankment near Melbourne following a blowout of the right front tire.

German Menard, 22, of Richmond, who suffered severe shock and facial cuts, was removed to St. Vincent de Paul Hospital in Sherbrooke by Fleury's ambulance, while the other passengers, Henri Proby, 18, of Richmond, Victor Lacroix, 19, and the driver, Lamare, were treated on the spot by Dr. Roger Nadeau of Richmond and Chief of Police Joffre L'Heureux who were summoned to the scene. All were suffering from shock, and were given first aid for minor cuts and bruises.

A verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury, convened by District Coroner Georges Letendre of Danville, at the inquest into Gendreau's death. The jury was composed of Wilfred St. Cyr, Alfred Houle, Maurice Maurice, Albert Boucher, Andre Lemelin and Pierre Langlois.

F-FOR-FREDDIE CRASHES TAKING LIVES OF CREW

Ft.-Lt. Maurice Briggs and Ft. Johnny Baker Killed When Famed Mosquito Bomber, on Victory Loan Tour, Cracked Up in Calgary.

Calgary, May 11.—(P)—A routine "shooting up" job on an airframe control tower ended in a flaming, 400-mile-an-hour death dive yesterday for famed F-for-Freddie and its distinguished two-man crew.

Unscathed through 211 operational flights over all the target towns of Germany, the British Mosquito plane LR 503 crumpled after a 300-yard skid within sight of more than 200 airmen at No. 7 Release Centre, killing Ft. Lt. Maurice Briggs, D.S.O., D.F.C., D.F.M., and Ft. Johnny Baker, D.F.C., and Bar.

Less than half an hour before the crash at Calgary's municipal airport, Briggs said to Capt. Edward Jack of the Royal Air Force Transport Command:

"Stay on the ground this afternoon, Jack, you're pretty tired."

Capt. Jack, Flight Engineer in Charge of Maintenance during F-for-Freddie's tour of Canadian cities in support of the Eighth Victory Loan, was standing beside the control tower when the plane dipped out of a long dive, struck an aerial mast with its starboard wing and plunged to the ground 50 yards from the last barracks block.

Planes plumed in the wake of the craft which Briggs and Baker flew from Scotland to Canada after their original plane—a Mosquito named D-Dog—started to act up "500 miles across the Atlantic."

The two R.A.F. men completed their 105th operation over enemy territory together last Christmas. Briggs, who celebrated his 25th birthday last Sunday, made his first operational flight in an ancient Whitley bomber six days after war was declared. After 40 trips as air gunner he reentered as pilot and made 105 operations in Mosquitos.

He once had been quartered less than 100 yards from the scene of the crash.

Baker, 24 last Friday, had 115 operations. A native of Malaya, his parents now live in California.

Konrad Henlein Commits Suicide

With the U. S. 3rd Army, May 11.—(Reuters)—Konrad Henlein, former Gauleiter of Sudetenland, committed suicide in a prisoner of war camp yesterday morning. He slashed his wrists with a razor blade.

Henlein was taken into custody on Wednesday by the 3rd Army, along with Karl Frank, Nazi Governor of the Bohemia-Moravia "protectorate." They were among the German troops and Nazi civilian authorities fleeing from Prague and the Russians toward American lines.

Three Soviet Armies Close Upon Germans

London, May 11.—(P)—Die-hard Nazi fanatics who fought on in Czechoslovakia in defiance of German unconditional surrender were reported in headlong flight toward American lines today as vast numbers by three Soviet armies threatened momentarily to envelop them.

The 1st, 2nd and 4th Ukrainian Armies opened the assault on broad fronts from the northwest, east and southeast when forces under Field Marshal Schaefer, himself wanted as a war criminal, and Col.-Gen. Woehler, ignored the surrender.

It was the only reported fighting by German troops in all Europe. Elsewhere the Germans were giving up docilely. The Soviet High Command announced capture of 209,060 German officers and men in preliminary checkups along the front. There were 26 Nazi generals in the bag.

Remnants of the beaten German surface and underwater fleet were in Allied hands, including the cruiser Prinz Eugen, which had been which had shelled Copenhagen last week-end. These were under the sentinal guns of the Royal Navy in Copenhagen Harbor, along with three destroyers, two torpedo boats, ten minesweepers, thirteen flak ships, nineteen armed trawlers and two armed merchantmen.

A report from L'Agence Francaise de Presse said French sailors in La Rochelle, Atlantic port which surrendered yesterday, officially had taken over the German Atlantic fleet units anchored there. The number of vessels was not announced.

Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, submarine fleet—the wolf packs which for so long had preyed on Allied shipping—was surrendering and putting in to British ports.

Dunkerque, scene of the British withdrawal in 1940, had surrendered. The Channel Islands of Sark, Jersey and Guernsey, which had been taken by the Nazis shortly after the fall of France, capitulated to a British task force. They were the only part of the United King-

Isley Surveys Riot Damages

Halifax, May 11.—(P)—Acting Prime Minister J. L. Isley reviewed riot damage in Halifax today, as Mayor Alan Butler appealed to civilians and servicemen for "tolerance and good sense," which had been taken by the Nazis shortly after the fall of France, capitulated to a British task force. They were the only part of the United King-

Meanwhile, the Cape Breton community of New Waterford became the latest of a series of Nova Scotia cities and towns to be the scene of victory rioting last night, as a mob of some 500 teen-aged youths and girls smashed and looted stores and injured two police officers.

The officers were injured by flying stones, as Mayor W. J. Inchey, of New Waterford, appealed for aid to Attorney-General J. H. MacQuarrie at Halifax, and to Lt.-Col. W. H. Dobbie, Officer Commanding military forces in Cape Breton.

The liquor store at New Waterford, looted the night before, again was attacked last night but there was little liquor left for the would-be looters. Post office windows were smashed also, but no attempt was made to enter the building.

In Sydney, and in Liverpool, early curfews were enforced to prevent further outbreaks in those centres.

Marcel Boivin Will Carry Liberal Banner In Shefford

Waterloo, May 11.—After a close contest, Marcel Boivin, of Granby, was chosen Liberal candidate for Shefford County at a convention held here under the chairmanship of Hon. Joseph Jean, Solicitor-General. Mr. Boivin is the son of the late Hon. G. H. Boivin, Minister of Customs in a former King Government and M.P. for Shefford for several years.

Other candidates were Mayor P. H. Boivin, of Granby; Paul Provost and Jean Goette. The first retired from the field and the third was eliminated in the first ballot. Following two more ballots, Marcel Boivin won by a slim majority. This decision was made unanimous after the other nominees had pledged support to the newly-elected candidate for the June 11th federal election.

Principal speaker was Mr. Jean, and others were Mayor Boivin, who presided at the public meeting fol-

The War Today

The Allies have had a great stroke of luck in getting their hands on Reichsmarshal Herman Goering, because the fat and outwardly amiable former Deputy Fuehrer is one of the most dangerous Nazis left alive—and it's good to hear from responsible sources in London that he soon will be tried as a war criminal.

We safely can award the gorgeously-uniformed and benedicted Goering second place on the list of men to be feared. He is outranked only by Franz von Papen, the unmatched Prussian plottter of two world conflicts, whom the Allies also have in custody along with a large and growing log of Axis war-mongers.

There's a third Hitlerer whom the world wants even more than Goering and Von Papen—not because of his power as a leader but because of his barbarities. That is Himmler the Hangman who, as head of the terrible Gestapo, has carried out massacres and tortures which have few parallels in history.

Himmler is in hiding, but the globe isn't big enough to conceal him from justice. Another bad actor—Hitlee Joe Goebbels, the Propaganda Minister—died in the battle of Berlin about the time Hitler was reported dead by Nazi authorities.

Goering is dangerous, not in the sense that Himmler is, but because he is possessed of great leadership and has shown unusual organizing ability. That, of course, is why Hitler picked him to be crown prince, and turned against his deputy only recently when—according to Goering—the latter wanted to take over the dictator's job.

A lot of folk have come to look on the strutting Reichsmarshal as an opera bouffe character, but that's underestimating him badly. We shouldn't let his eccentricities and penchant for personal adornment fool us, nor yet that boyish grin which the people of Germany have found so captivating.

Appropos of Goering's ability to handle people, I saw him give a typical demonstration with a huge audience in the Berlin sports palace one night while the crowd was waiting for Hitler to appear for an address. When the Reichsmarshal entered the vast hall the assemblage gave him an ovation, yelling "Hermann, Hermann," although not a mother's son would have dreamed of calling the Fuehrer "Adolf." Hermann handled wire-crack with members of the audience for a quarter of an hour—and they loved it. Several times he tried to sit down, and they called him back.

Yes, Goering knows how to handle the German people—and it would be unsafe to leave him at large. But that's not his only asset. He is one of those chiefly responsible for the organization of the Reich for war. He also created the Luftwaffe, which blazed trails of destruction and terror across Europe and played such a great part in Hitler's early conquests.

Goering exercised great influence with Hitler throughout most of the dictatorship. Take for illustration the Munich Conference, which came close to precipitating war. I saw Goering in action there and it was generally understood that his restraining influence had much to do with keeping the lid from blowing off completely, that wasn't because he was motivated by any good impulse but because he agreed with Mussolini, who wanted Germany to postpone the launching of war inasmuch as Italy wasn't yet prepared.

Goering's infectious grin and his glib tongue won't save him in Allied high court. Indeed one wonders whether there's anyone left who still believe enough in Hitlerism to step forward as witness in its defence.

Canadian Influence Will Be Exerted On Security Parley

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
San Francisco, May 11.—Canadian influence on the slow-moving United Nations Security Conference is scheduled to be exerted today in two directions when committees resume their deliberations.

The committee on enforcement is expected to debate and possibly to vote on the proposed Canadian amendment to the enforcement section of the Dumbarton Oaks draft security agreement.

Yesterday Prime Minister Mackenzie King presented his argument in support of the amendment, which would provide that any country not a member of the council would be invited to participate in and vote on decisions concerning the use of its armed forces in putting down aggression.

For two days M. J. Goldwell has waited to present arguments on the important Canadian draft revision of the Dumbarton Oaks chapter on establishment of an economic and social council, and there were prospects he would have an opportunity today.

Both amendments are receiving wide but unofficial approval although that presented by the Prime Minister does not go so far as some of the other middle powers would wish.

Delegates continued to watch with interest the Polish situation, although as Foreign Secretary Eden said yesterday at a press conference, the question is distinctly aside from the work of the conference.

Mr. Hisey placed emphasis on the need of preventing a post-war inflation and expressed the Government's determination to hold the line on its stabilization programme.

The tax changes also were linked with price stabilization providing assistance to the Prices Board in its policy of having consumer goods re-appear at 1941 prices.

cellent report of the work of the Women's Missionary Society. For them the year 1944 was encouraging because of the growth in finances, in junior work and in reading course assignments. The Presbytery had raised $8,062, an increase of $887 or twelve per cent.

The study book, "West of the Date Line" was highly appreciated, together with seven other booklets. The work of the W.M.S. is a part of the whole mission work of the Church, stressed Mrs. Stafford. The W.M.S. contributes about a million dollars a year to the work of missions.

The women will help in the local churches in the Moderator's appeal "For Christ and His Kingdom."

Four Missionaries have been chosen to go to Manila, reported Rev. A. R. Ross, Committee on Missionary Education and Overseas Missions, to await the fall of Japan, then to go immediately to Korea and Japan to resume the Christian work.

Mr. Ross introduced the question of the attitude of Christian people towards the Japanese within the Dominion.

Mr. Johnston, of Ayer's Cliff, spoke in high appreciation of the Canadian Commodity Exchange. Potatoes were firm with supplies light and a good demand.

It was moved by Mr. Ross, seconded by Mr. Matthews, "That this Presbytery ask the Committee on Evangelism and Social Service of the Montreal and Ottawa Conferences to give earnest attention and study to the question of the Canadian born Japanese." This motion was carried unanimously.

It was reported that Mansonville, South Stukely, Scottstown, Ulverton, Plymouth Church Sherbrooke, Charlesville Church Quebec, and the Arvida United Churches are vacant.

Mr. Pratt, the retiring Treasurer of the Presbytery, reported a balance of $154.18 in the Fund, and that arrears at the present time amount to some $200.

The Missionary and Maintenance Committee reported that the Church has asked all charges to consider more seriously the use of Duplex envelopes, to have their M. and M. committees meet more frequently, and to put on a special canvass for M. and M. funds. Rev. V. M. Gilbert, the Convenor, reported that the United Church of Canada has raised $40,000,000 since Union for M. and M. work, and that our Conference now contributes more per family than any other.

K. G. Nourse reported on behalf of the Lay Association in the absence of Mr. McFadyen. He asked, in summary, that the Association either be given a portion of the Presbytery Fund, for their own use, or be granted the right to assess all charges to that end. Presbytery approved that they have a share of the General Fund.

It was resolved to thank Premier Duplessis for his speedy action in closing taverns etc. for the V-E day celebration, which greatly helped the tone of our thanksgiving.

Manila, May 11.—Australian and Dutch troops have reached the edge of the Djocarta oil field, second largest on oil-rich Tarakan Island, against slight opposition.

Strong Japanese positions were reported in depth, however, between captured Api Hill and another eminence named Hill 105.

All above-ground oil installations at Djocarta had been destroyed.

A fleet of 100 to 150 Superfortresses, in a quick follow-up to yesterday's mighty 400-plane smash, raided the big Kawantian seaplane plant on Japan's main island, Honshu, today, bombing visually in good weather.

Another smaller force attacked Oita and Saika airfields on Kyushu, southernmost island in the mainland chain, in the 20th tactical raid on fields from which the enemy has been making suicide plane attacks against the Americans on Okinawa.

A determined United States offensive against Naha, Okinawa's capital city, was shaping up today after the 6th Marines division bridged the sea river estuary despite efforts of two Japanese human bombers to blow up the span.

Still another wide, winding river—the Asato—stands before Naha as a natural barrier to American troops.

Elsewhere along the southern front, marines and infantrymen made "limited gains" yesterday.

American infantrymen were reported making steady gains against stiff resistance in a mounting battle with Japan's Mindanao Island garrison near the captured port city of Davao in the Philippines.

On Luzon Island in the Philippines other infantry units, aided by guerrillas, closed in from four directions on vital Ipo, which diverts one-third of the Angat River into Manila's water system. Opposition was light.

during the post-war period. Among these he cited unemployment insurance, thanks to which, he said, if ever workers are in enforced idleness, there will be a reserve of several million dollars to pay them and their families independent of the Government. He also cited the Family Allowances Act.

The Minister claimed that by its wartime regulations, the King Government had assured stability in the economic life of the country and prevented inflation. Farmers and workers alike, he said, had benefited from these policies. By giving their support to the official Liberal candidate, Marcel Boivin, voters, he said, would be expressing their gratitude for what Mr. King had done in war and their confidence in what he intended to do in peace.

Graham Towers Emphasizes Need of Funds Although War In Europe Over

In spite of the end of the war in Europe, "the need for funds continues to be great and urgent as tremendous amounts are still required to bring home and re-establish the men and women of our Armed Forces and to fulfill the responsibilities of our unfinished business in helping to win the Japanese War," declares Graham Towers, Governor of the Bank of Canada, and Chairman of the National War Finance Committee, in a message to the people of Canada, calling for the strongest possible finish to a task so well begun.

It will be recalled that the Victory Loan of November, 1918, went on from Armistice Day to the greatest totals of the First World War. It is hoped, then, that the Eighth Victory Loan of the Second World War will establish an outstanding new record of achievement.

"Canadians will realize better than ever the personal value of savings as a protection for each individual in the days of readjustment which lies ahead," Mr. Towers states. "Above All," he declares, "I believe that there will be a strong national desire to give some tangible expression to the universal feeling of thanksgiving for victory, and

PROSPECTORS ARE PRONE TO EXAGGERATION

"As tradesmen, miners travel more and talk more shop than in any other trade," declared A. V. Corlett, manager of the Aldermar Mine, speaking before a meeting of the Y's Men's Club. He claimed that as a child brought up among miners he knew a great deal about mining in different parts of the world as a result, before he was fully grown.

He related several anecdotes of his experience in mining and told members gathered that prospectors are prone to exaggerate, but not always deliberately.

Telling of a particular happening, the speaker said a prospector once had a piece of ore appraised and found that it was very rich. The appraiser asked how much of this ore the prospector had found. "I have forty acres of it and I don't know how deep it goes," said the prospector. As it turned out, the prospector had been working someone else's claim all summer.

Mr. Corlett gave a very clear picture of the mining and world metal markets with their sudden and wild fluctuations. He illustrated some extreme cases of these fluctuations with their reasons and results.

Born and reared in mining country at Orillia in Southern Ontario, which is noted for petroleum, Mr. Corlett said that he began learning mining when he was just a child and has been learning ever since. The first well to be drilled in North America was drilled in his childhood neighborhood.

The speaker was introduced by Wesley Bradley and thanked by Harold Evans.

During the business session of the meeting, members were told that John Fitzsimons' long and active membership in the Club would terminate immediately since he is leaving for Ottawa on May 14th to accept a position in the Department of National Defence.

The Activities Committee announced that Mal Hallett's orchestra has been engaged for a dance at the William Street Armory to be held June 9th under the sponsorship of the Club.

Rev. E. D. Mitchell, Of Waterloo, Is Elected Chairman Of Presbytery At Busy Session In Lennoxville

The Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbytery, meeting in the United Church of Canada in Lennoxville, opened its second day's meetings yesterday with the celebration of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

The first item of business on the agenda was the annual election of officers, the results of which were as follows: Chairman, Rev. E. D. Mitchell, of Waterloo; Secretary, Rev. A. B. Lovelace, of Beebe; Treasurer, M. K. G. Nourse, of Richmond; and Statistical Secretary, Rev. C. A. Adey, of Inverness.

The report of the Home Missions Committee was rendered by the convenor, Rev. H. A. Carson, who said that nine charges would receive grants from the Home Mission Board in Toronto, and that the sum of $400 had been set aside for missionary work in the Presbytery. Mr. Carson also reported that student ministers, Mr. Starkey and Mr. Orr, had been secured for the East Bolton and Baldwin's Mills fields, respectively; and that Mr. Farquhar would presently supply the South Stukely charge. As in the past the Presbytery will undertake to send men to Comeau Bay for at least four Sundays between now and next November.

Rev. Carl Gustafson, speaking for the Pension Committee, placed before the court applications for annuities from Rev. W. A. Morrison, of Mansonville, and Rev. P. Pollitt, of Megantic. Both of these applications were accepted.

The report on publications was submitted by Rev. Roy P. Stafford, of Coaticook, who reviewed the work done by his committee since the rise of the last Presbytery. Mr. Stafford accepted a request to place before the Presbytery, in the future, sample copies of literature and pamphlet material which his committee deemed of interest to both ministers and laity. The Presbytery voted the committee the sum of $25 to carry on this work.

The Committee on Christian Education, under the chairmanship of the Rev. P. Mathams, of Magog, reported that tentative arrangements had been made to organize a vacation school in Knowlton which would receive help from Miss Semmons, Junior Work Secretary of the Board of Christian Education, and would serve the western areas of the Presbytery. Rev. G. G. Connolly, the Boys' Work Counsellor, outlined plans for a boys' camp to be held at Cedar Lodge from June 22-29. Rev. C. J. Gustafson, of East Angus, reported on behalf of the Young People's Union, outlining plans for their camp which is to be held at Cedar Lodge. He mentioned that the executive is planning four regional rallies at Richmond, Cowansville, Lennoxville and Stanstead, the aim of which will be to attract the Young People Movement and in their camp. A third camp will be held at Cedar Lodge for C.G.I.T. groups. It is also hoped that some time in the fall two regional schools will be set up, one in the Cowansville district, the other in the Sherbrooke area, which Sunday School teachers will be invited for instruction and fellowship.

Courses Held At Bishop's College For Airmen Proved Great Success

Results in a venture in which the Royal Air Force sent 183 members to attend a week's course on Canada and Canadian life at Bishop's University, Lennoxville, were reported at a meeting of the Western Quebec Regional Committee, Canadian Legion Educational Services, in Montreal by Col. the Rev. A. H. McGree, O.B.E., M.C., D.D., Principal and Vice-Chancellor of the university.

He advised the meeting that "The reports from the members of our faculty and the report from the educational officer at Dorval, indicate that it was successful. I think it probable that these courses will have repercussions far beyond anything which we anticipated in the beginning. We know that some of those who have attended them wish to return to Canada. I doubt whether any other department of the great work which the Canadian Legion Educational Services have carried on, will have more important or more lasting results."

It was announced during the meeting that a six weeks' course in mining under the auspices of the Department of Mines of the Province of Quebec would be opened by A. O. Dufresne, Deputy Minister of Mines. A member of the committee, he said the department intended exploring the possibility of sponsoring similar courses at McGill University and the Ecole Polytechnique, Montreal, and if there were sufficient demand from men in the armed forces they might conduct special shorter courses to acquaint them with the potentialities of mining as a career after their discharge from the services.

To officially open the series for the Air Force lads at Bishop's University, D. C. Coleman, L.L.D., D.C.L., Chairman of the Executive Committee at the University, in describing the purpose of the course, said, "It is fortunate that those of you brought here by the fortune of our common struggle for liberty and civilization, should learn more about Canada than is perhaps generally known in Britain. It must be for the lasting good of the Commonwealth that you should return to your homes, knowing the fortunes of war permit, knowing Canada as Canadians know Britain. The first requisite to this is that we know each other; that we know each other's history, and each other's present development, and circumstances. If these lectures succeed in giving you a fairer and clearer picture of Canadian history, and of the Canada which this history has produced, they will indeed have served their purpose. There is no group of men for whom we are happier to provide them than the representatives of the R.A.F.—whose work Mr. Winston Churchill immortalized in 1940 in a phrase—a phrase that kindled the imagination and exalted the heart of all mankind."

It was also reported that Sir George Williams College is providing free instruction to approximately 340 servicemen and women; that Macdonald College, Ste. Anne's, is giving handicraft instruction to the C.W.A.C. and other personnel under the auspices of the Legion; and that the Ecole des Hautes Etudes Commerciales had offered a reduction in fee to similar students.

Major C. B. Charron, District Army Education Officer, M.D. No. 4, reported on education work in the Canadian Army. He stated that progress is being made locally in classwork, increased attendance, correspondence courses, lectures, educational films shown, discussion groups and supervised study periods, and stated the Canadian Legion is the main support of educational work in the Canadian Army, wide use being made of its textbooks, courses,

ATTENDANCE AT BLOOD CLINIC IS VERY SLOW

Officials of the Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic on Dufferin Avenue reported that three first aid classes for the whole of the week. Citizens are surely aware that the minimum quota per week for Sherbrooke is one hundred donations. It must be stressed now that the unconditional surrender of Germany does not eliminate the urgent need for blood plasma. The success of the Canadian troops abroad should provide an incentive for those at home to help finish the job. One way of accomplishing this is to give blood to be made into plasma for wounded men.

At Stanstead on Tuesday, the Mobile Blood Donor Clinic received eighty-eight donors.

THE LAST CALL

The Eighth Canadian Victory Loan campaign is rapidly drawing to a close with indications that the developments of the past week in the European sphere have tended to reduce the enthusiasm with which Canadians are meeting the call. Subscriptions have been down substantially in the past week and the early gains have been more than wiped out.

The tendency to assume that the end of the war in Europe has relieved Canada of the bulk of its financial burdens has become too general. True, the direct war expenditures for munitions, etc., will be reduced materially but the indirect war expenditures are liable to mount for some months to come, thus offsetting the savings of armament costs. Weeks and even months will elapse before the Canadian forces in the Old World can be repatriated. Canada must continue to bear the burden of their maintenance, and the cost of their transportation will be substantial. Then there will be the payment of those gratuities, discharge and rehabilitation allowances which the Government, on behalf of the people, has provided for the returning men and women of the armed services.

Canada will also be called upon to bear its share of the cost of United Nations relief and restoration, which will no doubt maintain the Mutual Aid expenditures at a high level.

And last but not least — the war against Japan must be won. This will be a costly venture but the greater the expenditure on arms and munitions the less will be the expenditure in human lives.

Thus the Canadian people still have the responsibility of seeing that the Eighth Victory Loan goes over the top.

WHERE BEVIN ERRS

Now that the war in Europe has terminated, the people of Great Britain are looking forward to their first general election in ten years, the luxury of an electoral campaign having been suspended during the European hostilities. And there are many signs that the present National Government will undergo some drastic re-organization before Mr. Churchill leads it to the country, with a strong possibility that the Labor members may quit the coalition and seek to gain power in their own right. Already Ernest Bevin, Minister of Labor, has announced that while he was loyal to the Prime Minister as a wartime leader, he had no confidence to offer him as leader of the Conservative party. One of his major charges against the Conservative party is that it had brought the country to the verge of disaster owing to "complete failure" to prepare for the defence of the islands or warn the country where it was heading.

In this respect Mr. Bevin is a little away from the facts, however. It is not hard to recount that except for a period of nine months, Britain had an all-Labor Government from 1924 to 1931, and that for four years after that it had a coalition administration with a Labor Prime Minister and Labor representatives holding many other key posts, including that of Chancellor of the Exchequer. The latter, Philip Snowden, was an ardent pacifist and it was during the years of Labor rule that the British army and navy were reduced to a dangerous level of insecurity and that work was stopped on the mighty naval base at Singapore. In fact, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald proudly boasted of the manner in which he had slashed defence estimates and in this received the enthusiastic support of the Labor party. Mr. MacDonald was in office when defeated Hitler gained power in Germany and it is easy to believe that the German evil genius beamed with the greatest delight when he saw the British army and navy appropriations cut to the lowest possible level. Mr. Bevin might make a strong case for labor in the field of economics and social reform, which are matters of British domestic politics, but he is stepping on very dangerous ground when he starts placing the blame for Britain's unpreparedness at the outbreak of the war.

THE FUTURE OF IMMIGRATION

The problem of immigration is undoubtedly one of the greatest issues which will face the various governments of the world in the transition period. In many quarters of North America, Australia and New Zealand there is a strong belief that millions of people from the Old World will seek to cross the ocean and start life anew. They base their belief on the probability that huge racial groups will desire to end forever the danger of persecution and torture which has been their lot for years gone by as first one power and then another obtained control of their country.

But to others, the possibility for a large-scale migration wave is not so bright. They claim the idea that millions will seek homes in the newer countries is without foundation. Of the hordes of displaced persons now scattered over the face of Europe large numbers will return to their homeland, but those that are not repatriated will find their place in some other European country as that continent will be in urgent need of workers for reconstruction and rehabilitation.

In fact, the question of labor for the rebuilding of devastated Europe is already a critical one. It will take the untiring efforts of the entire population for many years to restore anything like a degree of normalcy to the continent which has been ravaged for five years or more of the bitterest fighting in history. Already the demand for labor is so great that the United Nations Governments, including that of the United Kingdom, have decided to put German prisoners-of-war in their possession to work on various reconstruction programmes.

Thus, so long as this acute labor shortage continues in Europe it is not reasonable, these observers say, to expect any substantial migration, except for perhaps a few minority groups who cannot fit themselves into the general picture.

But like any other forecasts, these predictions may be substantially affected by conditions and developments which are not taken into consideration at the present time.

A MIGHTY RECORD

Perhaps one of the greatest stories that will come out when the history of the Second Great War is written will be the account of the Murmansk convoys. Some of the secrecy surrounding this mighty undertaking was lifted recently by A. A. Alexander, First Lord of the British Admiralty. And the tale he told was breath-taking, although he himself expressed the hope that in the quieter days which lie ahead some historian of the war might do full justice to this great epoch.

But he did tell how, despite a constant battle against German airplanes, submarines and surface ships and against Arctic gales, more than ninety-one per cent of the merchant ships that sailed from Allied ports for Murmansk reached that port. In defence of the convoys the Royal Navy, which supplied most of the naval protection for them, lost two cruisers, five destroyers, eight escort ships and an oiler. Ninety-five officers and 1,561 men of the Royal Navy lost their lives on the convoy route and thousands of Allied seamen perished in the fight to get the essential supplies through to Russia.

In expressing the wish that the story of the run to Murmansk be recorded properly, Mr. Alexander advanced the suggestion, which will find popular support on this side of the water, that it be incorporated as an essential element in the history of the war which Prime Minister Churchill plans to write when he can find time from his present arduous duties.

PENSIONS AMOUNTS

Kitchener Record
Amount of pensions paid veterans of this war often a subject for argument. Here according to Hon. Ian A. Mackenzie, Minister of Veterans Affairs, are some of the pensions paid to single men:
Total blindness, 100 per cent pension, $75 per month.
Loss of one eye, 40 per cent pension, $30 per month.
Amputation at elbow, 70 per cent pension, $52.50 per month.
Amputation at knee, 60 per cent pension, $45 per month.
Amputation of both arms, 100 per cent pension, $75 per month.
Loss of one kidney, 15 per cent pension, $11.25 per month.
In addition to these pensions, there is provision for additions to the pension in cases where the veterans are helpless to supplement their pension money.
Veterans should make sure they exercise their pension rights, even though they may not need the pension. They should establish their right to draw the money, because it then becomes a part of their medical history sheet.

SOLUTION FOR UNEMPLOYMENT

New York World-Telegram
Federal, state and local governments employ more than twice as many civilians as they did thirteen years ago, says the National Civil Service League. Their annual payrolls also have more than doubled. The figures: In 1932 the federal government paid $1,125,000,000 to 675,000 employees; this year it is paying $8,000,000,000 to 2,900,000 employees. In 1932 the state and local governments had 2,170,000 employees at $3,369,000,000 a year; now they have 3,135,000 at $4,175,000,000. With what we hope is well-founded optimism, the league predicts a substantial cut in federal employment after the war. Even so, it estimates that there will still be more than five million civilians, drawing more than eight billion dollars a year from public treasuries, five years after demobilization. If 60 million Americans have jobs by that time, one in every twelve of them will be on a public payroll, at the expense of the other eleven.

CANADA'S ACHIEVEMENTS

London Financial Times
Canada's achievements in this war have been of a very high order and the lessons learned should have the effect of making the Dominion economically stronger. That aspect was touched on by Mr. George W. Spinnery at the meeting of the Bank of Montreal when he observed that due to the tremendous stimulus of war production the country's econ-

HAVE A SMILE

A rustic who saw a lady artist sketching a landscape in which she had given prominence to the sky, took a respectful interest in the work.

"Ah," said the artist, "perhaps to you, Nature opens her sky-pictures, page by page. Have you seen the lambent flame of the dawn leaping across the vivid east—the red-stained sulphurous islets floating in lakes of fire in the west—the razed cloud at midnight, black as a raven's wing, blotting out the shuddering moon?"

"No," replied the man, "not since I gave up drinking!"

"Last night was a night and no mistake," said Giddy. "Do you know, I finished up in the police station?"

"Lucky dog," said Brown, bitterness in his voice, "I found my way home."

"Is your husband up yet?" asked an early-morning caller.

"Yes, I believe he is," replied the stern-looking wife.

"I'd like to say a few words to him," said the visitor.

"I'd like to say more than a few. He hasn't come home yet."

Miss Fish: "I'd like an old-fashioned book for a change, if you've got any."

Assistant: "We have 'The Last Days of Pompeii,' Miss."

Miss Fish: "Oh, and what did the poor chap die of?"

Assistant: "Some form of eruption, Miss."

A couple of tourists were admiring a famous cathedral.

"Fine building," said one.

"What style of architecture is it?"

"I'm not quite sure," was the reply, "but I think it's Reminiscence."

Pa, what's a matrimonial bureau?"

"It's a bureau, son, with six drawers packed full of women's fixings and one man's necktie."

Suit directing is used not only to show an immediate entry card, but it is equally effective in disclosing which of two suits may be led safely by a partner.

DOROTHY DIX

Marriage Outshines Fun

Thrill of Motherhood Worth Surrendering Single-Blessedness

DEAR MISS DIX: I am engaged to a young man, but find that marriage is a most unattractive proposition to me, for I hold no illusions about it. I am a freedom-loving soul and I just hate the idea of staying home cooking when I would like to be out playing golf. I love dancing and fishing and tennis, but I see this shot to pieces with the advent of the first baby. When a girl gets married she has to give up so much. Do you know anything about marriage that would enhance it in my eyes and thus change my state of mind?

DOROTHY DIX

HAPPY THOUGH MARRIED

ANSWER: It is true that matrimony is no picnic, but after all, it isn't as bad as it is painted. When we see the number of divorcees and so many wives and husbands fighting together like the Kilkenney cats, it does seem that marriage is a failure and the surest way a man and woman can take to bring misery upon themselves, but just remember it is only the unhappy marriages we hear about. It is only the divorcees that get on the front page of the newspapers.

Of course, getting married is the greatest gamble you have in life on the outcome. But it is because when you do win out the reward is so great that men and women continue to plunge on in spite of the failures they see all about them.

For there is no disputing the fact that there are no other people so happy as those who are happily married. To love and to be loved is a necessity of the human heart, and lacking love we go hungering and thirsting for the bread of life on which to feed our souls. No love is so strong and enduring as this wedded love of a man and a woman who have found their mates, and who give each other a devotion that never falters, a companionship that never weakens.

As for your dreary marriage because you will have to give up your outdoor sports and dancing, that is an unfounded fear, as you will perceive if you will look around and see how many married people are playing games and going places and doing things.

Furthermore, I will hazard the bet that after the first baby comes, you would rather have it in your arms and have it call you mother than be golf champion of the universe.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 18, very much in love with a man eight years my senior, but my father refuses to let me marry him because he drinks too much. Why should he object to that when he gets drunk himself whenever he has the money? Please advise me. We are terribly poor and my mother has a hard life.

ANSWER: If you take my advice, you will certainly refuse to marry a drunkard. I am surprised that any girl who has a father who drinks heavily should even contemplate doing such a thing, because she has a warning right before her eyes of what drink does to a man.

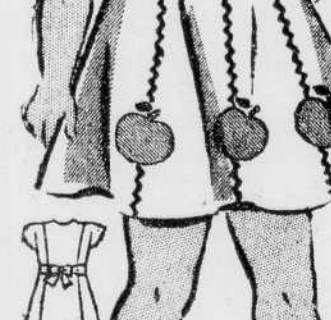

See what a beast drink makes of him. Observe how disgusting he is in liquor. See how worthless and no-account it makes him, and think of your poverty at home. Then reflect that if you marry this drunken sweetheart of yours you will have just such a miserable, poverty-stricken life as your mother has had.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been engaged to a man for the past three years. He is a widower with one child. His sister keeps house for him and takes care of the child. This man says he loves me and that he hopes we can be married sometime, but he also says that he would never take the child from his sister, nor live without it, nor expect his sister to live with his wife. What do you think of the situation?

ANSWER: Pretty discouraging for you. Evidently the gentleman cares more for his sister and the child than he does for you, and you had as well break the engagement. I shouldn't think that you would want to marry a man who was so selfish and inconsiderate of you as to keep you wasting your youth in hopeless waiting.

The Record will be pleased to receive any letters to this Dorothy Dix column. These will be forwarded to Miss Dix who will answer them as quickly as possible.

MIND YOUR MANNERS

The Situation: Someone says, "Now I want your honest opinion." Wrong Way: Give your opinion bluntly even though the person may not like it—telling yourself, "Well, he asked for it."

Right Way: Word your opinion tactfully. Many a friendship is ruined by a person giving a plain opinion in plain language—just because he was asked for it.

JANE WYATT: Careful.

Despite their fragile look, hats done up in flowers, starched veiling, looped bows and ribbon streamers will do yeoman service to make you look pretty, if you'll give your bonnet the care it requires.

Neglect it, warns Broadway's "Hope for the Best" star Jane Wyatt—she knows from experience what can happen—and it will look as woe-begone as yesterday's corsage.

Care, she says, means giving your hat a home in a box roomy enough for a veil to stretch out. Under and around the flowers Jane inserts tissue paper to keep petals and leaves from curling.

If blossoms curl, in spite of such care, a little fingerwork used on petals held at a safe distance from a steaming kettle will coax out the kinks, according to Jane. To un-wrinkle and re-stiffen a veil she presses it over waxed paper with a warm iron.

Women's Institute In Melboro Hold Meeting At Home Of Mrs. W. Adamson

Melboro, May 11.—The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. W. Adamson with Mrs. L. Driver and Mrs. W. McMorine the joint hostesses. There were 21 members, four visitors and five children present.

The President, Mrs. G. Frank, presided and the meeting opened in the usual manner with the pledge to the flag, the Ode and the Mary Sewart Collect. The motto was "An Early Morning has Gold in Its Mouth."

The roll call was answered by naming some new flowers to plant. The Secretary, Mrs. Mannie Solo-

Director. It was moved by Mrs. G. Beers, seconded by Mrs. W. Wright, and carried that Mrs. O. A. Fowler be the local National and International Relations Convener, attend this meeting as a delegate. Several other ladies also plan to attend this meeting.

Mrs. R. Kerr gave the Treasurer's report, which showed a balance on hand of $14.25. Seven members handed in their membership fees and one new member, Mrs. Neil Fowler, joined. It was announced that the Richmond County annual meeting had been postponed from May 12 to May 19. Arrangements were completed for the preparing of the lunch at Mr. P. Dunbar's sale on May 8. Three members handed in their self-denial money.

The meeting was then turned over to the Agricultural Convener, Mrs. E. Noble, who had invited the County Agronomer, Mr. Leon Beaudin, to address the meeting. Mr. Beaudin gave a very fine and interesting talk on the preparing and caring of the home garden and what to do in case of disease or parasites among plants and how to treat different kinds of soil. At the end of his very helpful address he was thanked by Mrs. G. Frank, while the rest of the ladies joined in a hearty handclap.

The school fair, which the W.I. is sponsoring, is to be held in mid-September in the Kingsbury Town Hall. The exact dates are to be announced later. The girls are to have a cooking class and a patching class as well as gardens.

A sale of plants and bulbs took place with Mr. Beaudin as the auctioneer. The sale netted $7.75.

At the June meeting, the subject of which is to be "Home Economics," an apron contest is to be held and a cooking contest, spice cake and white rolled cookies, being the two classes. The food and aprons will be sold after being judged.

The meeting adjourned with the singing of the National Anthem and reciting the W.I. Prayer for the armed forces. Mrs. O. A. Fowler presided at the organ.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The next meeting is to be held in the Melboro United Church Hall on Tuesday, June 5, with Mrs. C. Taber, Mrs. O. A. Fowler, Mrs. M. E. Taber and Mrs. E. Solomon the hostesses.

General Notes

WATERLOO

The local branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society wish to make it known that there will be a Blood Donors' Clinic held on May 29. All loyal citizens who so desire, may register at any one of the drug stores, or the factories. There is a tremendous need for blood plasma.

The employees of the Atlas Plywood Corporation, of Waterloo, tendered a banquet in the Waterloo Hotel in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin P. Hillhouse, who are shortly leaving for Mount Laurier, where he is to take over the superintendency of a mill. After sixteen years of faithful service to this local business firm, Mr. Hillhouse decided to leave town, and to show their esteem toward this popular member, the employees gathered at this banquet.

At the conclusion of the meal, the guests of-honor rose to thank the fellow workers for their kindness, and expressed the regret of his wife and himself at leaving them after so long and pleasant acquaintance. Good wishes follow them in their new undertaking.

A meeting of the Waterloo Salvage Committee was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. St. Denis, with representatives of the Boy Scouts, the C.G.I.T., and the Cadets present. There are to be regular salvage collections and each citizen is requested to co-operate by having his paper bundled and cardboard and scrap paper in such a condition that extra handling will be unnecessary. Waste paper is urgently needed and this need will continue for a long time. This work is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, and all proceeds derived therefrom go to the Youth Welfare in this town.

St. Luke's P.W.A. met in the Church Hall. Mrs. Hughes, the President, was in charge, and twenty-one members and two visitors were present. Reports were made by various committees, and letters were read by the Corresponding Secretary. The meeting closed with the benediction and tea was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Charles Slack and Mrs. A. J. Buckland.

The C.G.I.T. enjoyed a scavenger hunt one evening at their regular meeting. The girls assembled in St. Paul's United Church, where they were divided into teams and then went forth on their hunt. The items brought in proved to be numerous as well as most interesting. Later they returned to the hall, where games were enjoyed and refreshments were served. The losing side was forced to attend to all culinary duties. On Sunday morning, May 6, members of the C.G.I.T., under the leadership of Mrs. Marjorie Mackwell and Mrs. Clara McKergow, attended divine service in St. Luke's Anglican Church. Twenty-nine members, dressed in their newly-purchased uniforms, made a striking picture of Canadian youth as they entered the church. The anthem, "I Would Be True," was sung by the choir, with Miss Pauline Jones taking the solo part. The rector, Rev. Sidney Wood, chose as his text, "Verily I say unto you, whatsoever ye shall ask the Father he will give you," and pointed out that the future of the world rested on the youth of today, and that two world wars in the space of twenty years had a marked effect on youth and society of today, and would take generations to completely erase. Immediately following the sermon, the hymn, "Youth of the World, Arise," was sung by the choir and congregation.

The rummage sales in St. Luke's Church started May 5, which was a complete success both for the splendid collection of saleable goods and for the large number of people who attended. A very satisfactory sum was realized. These sales are to continue for 3 more consecutive Saturdays, ending May 26, and anyone who has anything to donate may do so by getting in touch with Mrs. E. J. McKenna.

Word has been received by friends in Waterloo that Pte. Omer Malboeuf, a former employee of the Mack Holding Ltd., has been wounded in action. Pte. Malboeuf trained in Farnham, after enlistment in August, and went Overseas on Christmas Day, 1944. After only six days' fighting in Germany, he was wounded in the foot on April 15, and is at present undergoing treatment in a hospital somewhere in Europe.

Mr. Jack Hillhouse is spending some time at the home of his parents at McGill University, Montreal.

Mr. St. Jean, former proprietor of the Waterloo Hotel, has purchased the home and furnishings complete of the property owned by Mrs. Edward Goodwill, on Western Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Cowling, of Scottstown, are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roger McKergow.

Mr. Kenneth Nish spent the week-end in Montreal.

Mrs. Alan McKergow spent a day in Montreal visiting her husband, who is a patient in the Montreal General Hospital.

NAZI ATTEMPT TO SET UP SPY BASE REVEALED

Large Purchases of Foodstuffs By Two Germans Who Bought Abandoned Farmhouse Near Tip of Gaspé First Aroused Suspicions of R.C.M.P.

Ottawa, May 11.—For more than six years, since 1939 when the world was at peace, Canadian officials have kept secret what may have been Germany's first big attempt to establish an espionage base on the shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence. It failed.

Unconditional surrender of the Germans has permitted disclosure of this story, but it was reported many other attempts were made by the Germans to place spies in Canada during the period when U-boats roved deep into the St. Lawrence.

It was at Barachois, Que., not long before war started and about the time a German syndicate was trying to purchase Anticosti Island, that two timid-looking and apparently fishing-bent Germans purchased an abandoned farm house.

Barachois is a hamlet near the tip of Gaspé and sheltered by precipitous cliffs which reach out to the famous Perce Rock. The water is deep even a few yards off shore and the beach is covered with sand—ideal conditions for docking U-boats.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police, always alert for espionage activity, first became suspicious when the two Germans started to make large purchases of foodstuffs—and of a type which ordinarily would not be used around a farm or fisher cottage.

Then one day the Germans mailed a package to an address in Mexico. It was reported that the Mounties got in touch with the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington and learned that the Mexican address was that of a widely-suspected German agent.

Inside the package was a chart of Gaspé waters with the location of the fisher cottage and other information pricked out by a pin in a sort of Braille code.

The two men were arrested and it has not been made clear what became of them. One report said they were handed over secretly to the F. B. I. for use in tracing other agents.

The Mounties, even today, maintain silence on the subject.

YOUR GARDEN

HENRY L. PREE
Written for NEA Service

Victory gardeners in smoky districts start out under a handicap, because the variety of tolerant vegetables is rather limited. Experience has taught us to stick to crops able to grow well under adverse conditions, or at least to tolerate them. When in doubt as to which varieties to choose, consult your neighbor gardeners and seedsmen.

As a rule, soil in smoky areas is run down and needs revitalizing. For an example, I can point to my garden, now being prepared for the third year. Soil in our section of the city is very sandy, with only a couple of inches of what one might call topsoil. Drainage is so good, since the sand is at least 50 feet deep, that constant watering is necessary.

My plot, 20 x 50 feet, originally part of a large lawn, was cut into quarters by cinder paths, 42 inches wide. That meant starting with one-sixth of the area in cinders. Replacing the cinders with topsoil was out of the question, so I dug out half, scattering them over the rest of the plot. Then I covered the entire plot with a three-inch layer of partially-decayed leaves, gathered in the neighborhood, and a load of manure. Fifty pounds each of coarse limestone and 4-12-4 fertilizer was then dug under to a depth of six inches and mixed. The area was deeply raked to improve the mixture and to fill in the area that had been walk.

The yield for the first year was

CONVINCING BRIEF ON COOPERATIVES

From the Montreal Gazette

One of the most orderly, understandable and convincing briefs thus far submitted to the Royal Commission on cooperatives was the joint submission this week by the Canadian National Millers Association and the Ontario Flour Millers Association. While adequately covering the legal and technical problems involved in tax exemption of cooperative business organizations, it was devoted chiefly to a lucid, rational exposition of the basic facts concerning this exemption and the principles now at issue.

The millers' brief was made all the more impressive by the limited, more or less passing attention it devoted to the particular problem of the milling industry itself. The brief alluded to the prospect that the lone cooperative flour milling business now in operation will be multiplied by the plans of other cooperative associations to enter this industrial field. Firm objection was registered to permitting such undertakings to operate free of taxation. But by and large the two associations directed their contentions at the fundamental inequity of exempting one form of any type of business, while another form remained subject to heavy taxation on profits.

It was pointed out that tax exemptions were claimed and enjoyed by countless cooperative enterprises outside the statutory definition of exempted cooperatives. But the millers made it quite clear they opposed the exemption of any cooperatives at all. They argued furthermore that if these exemptions were to be continued on both the distributed and undistributed or reserve profits of cooperatives, a similar relief should be extended to the ordinary forms of business conducted as joint stock companies.

Should this be regarded as not feasible, and should cooperatives carry out their threats to operate without ostensible profits, some method should be devised, the millers' brief urged, to put regular corporations and cooperatives on an equal tax footing.

This is getting down to the real essence of the serious and controversial problem upon which the Royal Commission has been asked to pass. The millers' associations are to be commended for putting before the commission and the public such a clear, realistic presentation of the issue to be determined.

Weekly Letter to Farmers

PAUL GERVAIS, Assistant, Dominion Experimental Station, Lennoxville, Que.

"BEAUTIFY THE FARM"

Each year, during the month of May, the cities and towns organize a clean-up week. In the country, this practice has also become a habit and almost everywhere there is a grand spring clean-up. A tidy house, a well cleaned yard, the barns in good order and whitewashed, a well kept lawn, flower beds tastefully arranged, a few shrubs here and there are some of the points which give a farm a clean and well kept appearance.

The Experimental Farm Service recommends two formulae for the making of a good white-wash. The first is for the preparation of a white-wash that is rain-proof for use on the exterior of buildings. It is made by slaking 62 lbs. of quick lime in 12 gallons of hot water and then adding 2 lbs. of salt and one lb. of zinc sulphate which was previously dissolved in 2 gallons of water. Two gallons of skim-milk are also added to this mixture. The addition of one ounce of alum improves the white-wash but is not necessary. The salt is omitted from the mixture when white-washing metal so as to prevent rusting.

The following formula makes a disinfecting white-wash; dissolve 50 lbs. of lime in 8 gallons of boiling water; then add 6 gallons of hot water in which has been dissolved 10 lbs. salt and one pound of alum. Lye is added at the rate of one box to 25 gallons of the mixture and one pound of cement for each 3 gallons of mixture. The cement is added only gradually and stirred vigorously. The alum prevents the lime from rubbing off; the cement makes the mixture creamy and easy to apply and the lye used as a disinfectant.

A coal tar disinfectant may be used in place of lye at the rate of one quart per 8 gallons of mixture. The lye, however, makes the white-wash more white.

Let us improve and adorn our farms and make them more attractive to those who live there. Become conscious of nice things.

nothing to brag about, but last year's crops were most satisfactory. This improvement was due to the spading in of more decayed leaves after the harvest, side dressing with fertilizer during the growing season, and digging in of all weeds while cultivating. A cover crop of winter wheat was sown last autumn and this, near a foot tall, was dug under this spring.

You who garden in the smoke and soot of industry, after my experience, should stick to carrots, beets, radishes, turnips, Swiss chard, leaf lettuce (in the spring only), onion sets, endive, parsley, and tomatoes. Insect pests and diseases thrive in smoke and soot, so be always ready with your spray and dust guns.

JERSEYMEN TO HOLD ANNUAL KNOWLTON SALE

More and more attention is being focused on the breeding records of Eastern Townships farms, and the prominence attendant on livestock shows is reflected in the initiative shown by a number of cattlemen in the Bromo-Missisquoi and Shefford districts in staging their own stock sale. The second annual Knowlton district Jersey sale is being held at the Bromo County fairgrounds near Knowlton on Monday, May 21.

Many of the outstanding herds of Quebec Province are located in this district, and under the guidance of W. Elmo Ashton, of the famous Gables Farm at Foxe, and one of the foremost Jersey breeders in Canada, the breeders have organized to hold an annual sale of Jersey cattle.

Some fifty head will be offered at this second annual event, every entry being selected by the committee, and are registered blood-tested, T. B.-free Jerseys. Breeders have consigned cows and heifers from the tops of their herds, many of which rank high in Canada for type, production and health.

Many of the Jerseys offered at the sale have R.O.P. records and all are from R.O.P. families, with the offspring of many Royal Winter Fair winners represented. The daughters of the famous Brampton Royal Basil, $5,460 prize bull of 1943, are included in the event, which will also offer the best Jersey individuals, show cows, show heifers, fresh-calving cows and many show prospects and foundation stock.

The Sale Committee for the sale includes Charles A. Robinson, of Cowansville, Charles Saunter and Lionel J. Dion, of Sweetsburg, Lawrence Draper, of Bromo, Walter Wright, of Granby, Horace Whitehead, of Knowlton, and W. Elmo Ashton, of Foxe.

PRICES FIRM ON LOCAL MARKET THIS MORNING

Only evident alteration at the Langdowne Market today was the absence of out-of-door stalls. January weather this morning failed to keep many at home, and all regular customers were on hand, with thoughts, however turned away from spring flowers.

The meat market was heavy, and prices throughout the entire market were firm in the main.

100 YEARS OF AGRICULTURE TO BE PORTRAYED

Something entirely out of the ordinary is being lined up for the big Centennial Exhibition at Ayer's Cliff on August 23, 24 and 25, when Stanstead County's "Fair of the Century" will portray the advances made by agriculture during the past 100 years. Plans now being arranged by the Centenary Committee include "The Parade of the Years," depicting the transformation from ox plow to the modern tractor and combine used on the farms of today, as well as special historical exhibits pertaining to the life in Stanstead County since its early beginning.

The emphasis will be on horses this year, states John Peters, of Magog, who is in charge of this department. Arrangements are being made to have a special horse show in conjunction with the regular grandstand performance. Horse classes will be judged in the ring adjoining the attraction platform and winners in the driving and jumping classes will appear on the track as part of the afternoon programme. In the evening a special one and a half hour horse show will be held prior to the evening performance, when some of the most outstanding horses in the county will be the centre of attraction. Apart from the show classes, horse races will again take the spotlight at Ayer's Cliff, with one of the top race cards in the Townships seeking new laurels on the newly-conditioned track.

Buildings throughout the fairgrounds are being readied and many changes are taking place. The attraction platform will be given special attention, benefiting both the audience and the performers. In many departments new exhibits are planned and the various classes are being increased to take care of additional entries for the Centennial Exhibition. Cattlemen will be interested in "Golden Jersey Day" which will take place on Friday, the middle day of the big fair.

Friends of Harold Waite are glad to know that he is home from overseas, after being confined to a hospital for several months due to a knee injury.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Taylor have received a message from their son, Russell, telling them that he is a patient in a hospital in Belgium, having an injured eardrum caused by a bomb exploding close by. Their many friends hope that the condition will clear up and that their son will be returning home soon.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Rowell, son and niece, of Newport, Vt., Mr. Clare St. Dizier, of Asbestos, Mr. Malcolm Taylor, of Massawippi, and Mr. Ozio Dustin were guests at the Ayer home.

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Butler and George Butler were in South Stukely to attend the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Martin. Continued rains and cold weather are hampering the spring work on the farms, although cattle are in pasture and the feed is extra good. Mrs. A. G. Ayer spent a day in Massawippi visiting her mother, Mrs. Carr, who has been very ill.

QUEBEC TOPS NOTRE DAME 7-5 — CUBS BLAST PLESSISVILLE 8-2

Verdonets Cut Off Sherbrooke Rally To Step Into Loop Lead

Quebec, May 11.—Breaking up a desperate eleventh hour Sherbrooke rally, the Quebec Verdonets yesterday banged out a 7-5 triumph over Notre Dame here to record their second straight win of the season and take over sole possession of the Provincial Baseball League leadership.

The fixture was lost to Sherbrooke in the early stages of the game as Quebec leaped into a commanding 7-0 lead by the end of the fifth inning, leaving the Notre Dame crew too far behind to catch up.

The Quebecers pumped home two runs in each of the first and second innings and rounded out their total with another three counters in the fifth stanza.

Notre Dame, on the other hand, didn't get started till the sixth frame when they put two runs across the plate, slammed home by Chuck Malfara and Cliff Couillard.

In the ninth, the Sherbrookers made a last-ditch effort to shake the game up, with Cliff Couillard knocking in two runs with a rousing double, and Chuck Malfara sending Couillard scurrying home on a single, but the uprising was ended all too soon as Chuck Malfara was cut off at first base as a result of an intercepted throw to the plate.

Errors played an important part in the Quebec win, with four of the Verdonets being scored on miscues—Cliff Couillard's and Alfie Malfara's two-run muffs in the second and fifth innings, respectively.

Ken Smith, Conrad Parent and Andy Parr were the big guns in the Quebec 8-hit assault, each gaining a single which resulted in a run being brought home.

Hitting star of the Notre Dame aggregation was Pitcher Lefty Dube, who collected three for four, a .750 average. Dube, a veteran at the game, also turned in a good performance on the mound, spacing the hits well considering the support he received from his teammates.

On the opposing rubber, Henri Labreque, equipped with a good change of pace, was touched for ten hits, including one double.

Cliff Couillard and Chuck Malfara also came in for credit, each gaining

WAR BOND SPORT SHOW INCLUDES MYRIAD EVENTS

Philadelphia, May 11.—(AP)—A sport fan's dream—or nightmare—is scheduled for Shibe Park a month from today. The Philadelphia sports committee for war bonds, the sponsors, call it "sports-go-bang."

A rough outline of the program as disclosed by committee chairman Bill Driscoll, sports editor of the Philadelphia record, includes simultaneous events:

Playing of 10 different games, featuring women's lacrosse and hockey teams, two professional basketball quintets on a movable court, tennis matches, plus cricket and soccer tilts.

Staging of four boxing bouts, two wrestling matches and a tug-of-war.

Exhibitions of gymnastics, rope climbers and a William Tell feat with a pretty model holding the apple.

The windup will bring together the Philadelphia athletics and the Phillies in a city championship baseball game.

It is all in the interests of the current war loan drive with admission by war bonds only.

was never touched by the first-sacker.

However, the only reward Notre Dame got for their arguments was a shower of cushions from the stands, heaved by the Quebec fans.

Though the Notre Dame squad suffered a 7-5 loss, the game showed that some good games were in store between the two squads, each team seeming to be of near-equal strength.

Dodgers' Patchwork Ball Club Is Within Rooting Distance Of Giants

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
Brooklyn's tattered Bums may not miss up the National League's first division for long but as of today the Dodgers rate a large E for effort.

Tabbed to spend the summer wrestling with the Phillies for a comfortable corner in the cellar shade, Leo Durocher has his gang in second place within rooting distance of the leading New York Giants.

It's a patchwork ball club with outfielder Augie Galan playing first base and a delegations of citizens originally destined for the Montreal farm club. But it's winning, hitting often and not doing too badly in the field.

Even Brother Rickey would be surprised at the club's .272 batting average, compiled without too much help from the bats of Dixie Walker and Augie Galan, the team's one-two punch.

Walker, the 1944 hitting king, is down among the pitchers at .254 and Galan is lower at .250 but both are on the way up.

Things were so tough that Durocher opened the season at second base but aching muscles and appearance of a conditioned Eddie Stanky ended that. Stanky has not made an error in 93 tries and has accounted for eight runs batted in on a .333 mark.

The Brooks' second western test with the Cards was rained out yesterday with all the other National League games and all the American contests except a night tilt in St. Louis.

Jack Kramer hurled the Browns to a second in a row over their first eastern visitors, Washington, by a 10-2 score. Mike Kreevich rapped out four hits and Vern Stephens touched Marino Pieretti for his fourth homer of the year to the Russ Berry of the idle New York Yankees for the league lead.

Pirates Will Race Cardinals And Cubs If Impatient Frisch Will Only Sit Still

Frank Francis Frisch played baseball superlatively for 19 years, has managed for 10, but has not yet learned to sit still in the approved Joe Mearns fashion.

If the old Fordham Flash will only decide on a batting order and let it stand until it settles in stride there is little doubt that the Pirates will race the Cardinals and Cubs all the way to the wire.

Pittsburgh won last year's series with St. Louis, 10 to 10, beat the Red Birds nine in a row just prior to the World Series, bagged 11 consecutive engagements, 15 of the last 16 to be the most formidable club in the dodge at the windup.

The Corsairs copped 90 strikeouts, which sometimes are sufficient to take the edge off the batting line.

With reinforcements and the natural improvement of the younger holdovers this spring a lot of people suspected that this might be the Smoky City's year.

I liked the Pirates chiefly because Jim Russell had finally arrived to complete an all left-hand hitting outfield and pick up the batting slack when Bob Elliott bogged down somewhat. As Elliott went, so went the Bucs.

But has been the story for the past several years. The switch-hitting, rangy, stylish Russell has it all—power, speed, arm and baseball acumen.

The club dropped five straight, however, and the season had hardly started when Frank Frisch was shaking up the batting order. Russell, considered a strong candidate for the batting championship, found himself in the dugout for not hitting.

Frisch this spring said he was convinced he erred when he took Russell out of centre field when Vince DiMaggio reported last season, yet when the Fayette City Flash returned to competition with a loud thump of his bat, he again patrolled left field, Johnny Barrett remaining in centre.

Confined to his New Rochelle home by rheumatism while the club worked in Muncie this spring, Frisch definitely announced that 22-year-old, six-foot, 188-pound Vic Barnhart, up from Albany with a grand record, would start at shortstop.

The name of Barnhart has yet to crack a boxscore, although not a few close followers of the Pirates are convinced the Hagerstown lad is the slickest shortstop in the party and by far the more formidable at the plate. Pooch Barnhart's boy led the Eastern League in runs-batted-in—115.

With all the early trouble, little Frank Zak, who can't hit the ball out of the infield, played short until he moved out to make room for Frank Gustine, who stepped across the sack when Pete Coscarart showed up.

Pittsburgh has considerable talent for a fourth year player, but impatient Frank Frisch must first deplore it properly and then let nature take its course.

Drummondville In Last-Minute Splurge To Record Initial Win

Drummondville Cubs won their first Provincial Independent Baseball League game yesterday beating Plessisville Braves by 8 to 2.

Joe St. Onge's Cubs scored four runs in the seventh inning, having already scored one in each of the first and second innings, and added two more in the eighth for good measure.

The Braves' first run came at the first and they added another one in the ninth.

Emile Genest was the star of the Cubs with a double and a triple.

HEALTH PROTECTING UNDERWEAR

War has taught the value of correct clothing in relation to health protection. When men shop with this in mind they will be quick to appreciate Penman's Fine Knitted Cotton (Balbriggan) Underwear. Its soft spun yarns absorb the quart or more the average man perspires daily. Its porous knit fabric permits evaporation of perspiration which helps maintain healthful body temperature—an especially important factor in Canada where the thermometer can change as much as 30 degrees in a few hours.

Look to the famous Pen-Angle trademark, as a guide to health-protecting underwear.

Wartime's limited supply has been fairly distributed to those dealers from whom you usually purchase Penman's Knitted Products.

DIXVILLE

News of the surrender of Germany, which came by radio on Monday morning, and was announced by ringing of the church bells, was received here with quiet rejoicing. Special services of prayer and thanksgiving were held in the Protestant churches. On Monday evening in St. Cuthbert's Church, the service was conducted by Rev. W. H. M. Church, of Coaticook. On Tuesday evening the pastor, W. R. Jackson, was in charge of the service in the Baptist Church, which had been made attractive with potted plants and draped flags. Rev. Mr. Jackson gave a brief address, speaking from the words found in II Peter 1-19, "Until the day dawn," stressing the fact that the long night of war with Germany was over. Both these services were well attended.

Mr. George Cunningham and daughter, Miss Jennie May Cunningham, of Coaticook, were calling on friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. George Barnes and family are taking possession of their new home in the Wallis house this week.

Pte. Albert Cutler, of Sherbrooke, visited his cousin, Mr. Norman Cutler, and family, and friends here.

Mrs. Annie Ham is spending some time with Mrs. Herman Byron, Pleasant Street.

The Dixville Women's Institute was entertained at the home of Mrs. Herbert J. Ferris one afternoon, with the President, Mrs. Gordon Bellows, in the chair. At the conclusion of the business session, Rev. W. R. Jackson addressed the meeting briefly, taking for his subject, "Some Essentials of Life." Before the company dispersed, dainty refreshments were served.

Mrs. A. W. Bailey, Misses Eunice and Lois Bailey and Mr. George Paige were business visitors in Sherbrooke.

A number of the Mobile Police from this town motored to Sherbrooke Tuesday.

Veteran Guard Ivor R. Whitehouse, of Sherbrooke, is spending a few days at his home here.

Mr. Connors, of Massachusetts, is spending some time here, where he is employed by Mr. M. C. Mayhew.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Gilson, of Sherbrooke, were guests of Mr. Gilson's sister, Mrs. Herman E. Byron, and Mr. Byron. Mrs. Byron, who was taken suddenly ill, is somewhat improved.

Miss Mona May, of Coaticook, was a guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mayhew, and family, of Parker Hill.

Messrs. Arthur Xeron, of Hillhurst, and Aime Quimet, of Heathton, were business visitors in town.

London.—(C)—Maj.-Gen. Howard Kippenberger, who as commander of the 2nd New Zealand Division lost both feet at Cassino when he stepped on a mine, has been awarded the C.B. in recognition of "gallant, distinguished services" in Italy.

V-DAY means not a thing to this husky young rascal, unless it is his Daddy's coming home. This little citizen is happy any day so long as he's well fed and feeling fine.

Yet he—above us all—is the one to shout for joy today.

Is it not for him—and for millions of bright faces of his generation—that men have been willing to suffer and to lay aside their freedom—bit by bit—so that one day they might have it complete, secure?

Even so—the fruits of Victory are not alone for those too young to know the privations of war... not alone for posterity.

Here and now, men and women of our generation—scarred and wearied by long, grinding years of war—shall know the blessings of a new-born day.

This new day is for the common man... for greater social justice, for broader opportunity to enjoy a richer, fuller life.

The prospect ahead is no easy one... Yet it cannot daunt the hardy stock of Canada—the men and women who carved this nation out of a wilderness, who through the years have fought the good fight as each emergency arose—down to the last Victory Loan... down to the last blood donation.

No, the prospect is hard, but a new spirit is abroad. We Canadians, like all our Allies who have fought this fight with us, have been chastened by the ordeal, and we are determined—by the effort of the individual citizen... by the effort of the community—to bring a better, stronger, healthier world out of the raging storm through which we have passed.

This is a day for cheering not simply for victory over dictatorship, but for the assurance we have of the dawn of a better day.

This message is published as an expression of faith in the future of Canada by the Bank of Montreal, which has been working with Canadians in all walks of life since 1817.

Say thanks

Our hearts go out in pride and thankfulness that in Europe God has blessed our arms with final victory.

We honour those who fought and toiled, and died—and we remember those who are bereaved.

In appreciation, and in recognition of the task still before us, in sincere and humble gratitude, let each one of us buy just one more Victory Bond!
