Team Oxen, Covered Wagon At Havelock Fair

This Saturday, Havelock Fair will be held at Havelock Fair Grounds on Route 52. This Fair is for one day and a lot is accomplished in a short time with a good attendance of patrons from both

It is truly a country fair with that homey atmosphere that makes you a part of the whole. There is everything that one would want to keep him occupied during the Fair. You can saunter in around 11 a.m. just as the judging is getting underway, take a look around, then go over to the dining hall and be just in time for the first serving of dinner. The dining hall has had some fixing done to it this year and this should be an improvement. Electric light has been added and is available to any one needing same, or for power. This is a highlight of the Fair and gets you off to a good start to enjoy all the other features. You won't be bothered by a rowdy midway, but you can play a nice little game of bingo and win yourself a nice prize or two. This is done in between watching the children's races the horse driving and tug-o-war. You have to look over the exhibits which by this time have been judged and you will see that the exhibitors from Havelock and area have some real fine produce.

Havelock has an art of getting something new each year and this year they have obtained a yoke of oxen and a covered wagon from the Saxton Homestead Farm at Brushton. The oxen have been trained from the time they were calves by Kermit Saxton. Mr. Saxton as a boy, day-dreamed of having a yoke of oxen and he started to train the Holstein oxen. It proved an interesting and practical hobby as the animals are used in present farming operations. These cattle and the covered wagon have been exhibited this summer at several parades and received favorable comment and several prizes. These oxen will be at Havelock Fair this Saturday and rides will be available in the covered wagon to anyone.

Thus besides all the usual attractions this is one feature that should not be missed. Saturday is a good day for a day's outing, probably the last for this season, so take advantage of the opportunity and plan to attend Havelock Fair.

Help To Board Of Trade For Christmas Lighting — Bridge Petition Dropped

All members of the Huntingdon Town Council were present at the regular meeting on Tuesday night, except Alderman Picard.

Following the reading of the minutes and passing a number of bills, a delegation from the Huntingdon Board of Trade, Messrs. J. McCoy and J. L'Ecuyer were heard. Mr. McCoy explained that the Board of Trade was intending to do something about extra street lighting for the Christmas season and asked if the Council would give some help in the matter. It was the intention to place colored lights and other decorations on the main business section.

After a short discussion, the council decided to grant up to one third of the cost, but not to exceed $666, plus the light bill for three months.

The same delegation appeared on behalf of Huntingdon Plaza and asked permission to paint the sidewalk with signs pointing to the stores which come under the scheme. Permission was granted.

Milk reports taken in July were read.

The tax roll was read and the amendments made and it was homologated with the amendments.

A letter was read from the Town Engineer explaining points the council had wanted to know and the projects that might be undertaken to put in sewer and water where required.

Complaints were made about motorcycles making a noise on the streets in town and racing around. There were also complaints about cars with improper mufflers. The police committee was asked to take this up with the police along with several other matters of traffic regulation. It was asked that car parking be restricted on Wellington Street at the Fawcett & Grant plant and also on Lorne Avenue, at Leach and Spinners.

Alderman Leduc suggested that the snow plow be got in readiness for the coming winter season and not wait until it is required. He said that some jobs needed to be done on the plow and these should be done without delay.

A petition, signed by a number of property owners was presented to the Council in behalf of the proposed new bridge in Huntingdon. The petitioners asked that further consideration be given and that notice be brought to the Engineers in charge as to the possible danger from flooding, if piers in the river are used to support the bridge. Alderman Walsh presented the petition, but explained that he was responsible for obtaining the names although he was in favor of it.

He felt that trouble would result in the spring and places in town would be flooded by the ice piling up at the bridge due to the piers being in the river. He felt that a suspension type of bridge is the only one and to keep the town safe from serious flooding. The petition mentioned that this was the main reason for it being circulated.

Considerable discussion ensued and an altercation between Mayor Lefebvre and Alderman Walsh took place. Finally on the motion being made to send the petition on to the Government Engineers, there was no seconder and the matter was dropped.

The meeting adjourned until September 10th.

Tombstones Stolen From Cemeteries In Rockburn And Franklin

A report has reached us from the Rockburn - Franklin areas which arouses us greatly. Within the past two weeks or so, two granite tombstones have been removed from Hillside Cemetery at Rockburn and a third one was partially dug out. It would appear in the latter case that those responsible were disturbed. It is also reported that two stones have also been stolen from the Franklin Cemetery.

In the case of the Hillside Cemetery, the caretaker noted that the stones were missing, but thought that they had been taken away for repair by the owners. On enquiry of the owners, it was discovered they knew nothing of it. The Cemetery Officials were also notified and they knew nothing of the matter. The police were then notified.

This week it was decided to notify The Gleaner in the hope that a news item on the matter might bring to light something of value in tracing down the missing tombstones.

Over a period of time The Gleaner has reported vandalism with respect to cemeteries in the area. In these cases, the stones were overturned, or pieces broken off, but not actually removed. Just what the object is in stealing the stones is hard to know. It may be with the object of refinishing and supplying to some other person at a price, or they may be sold to builders for use in buildings. A cemetery is hardly the place for such thefts and such acts are scandalous to say the least.

It is also reported that the flowers from new burials in the cemeteries have been stolen and the racks broken up. Also the glass cases with artificial flowers in them have been stolen.

It is hoped that those responsible will soon be found and that caretakers of other cemeteries keep a sharp watch for any missing stones or suspicious characters hanging around.

Franklin Centre Man Injured In Accident

An accident occurred this morning (Wednesday), on the Dorea Road about two miles from Franklin. Mr. Cecil Johnson of Franklin Centre lost control of his car at 12:14 a.m. Details of the accident are sketchy at time of writing but it is known that the car is a total wreck. Mr. Johnson was taken to the Barrie Memorial Hospital in Ormstown and is reported to be in a serious condition.

Rifle Used By Killer Found Near Ormstown

Ormstown is again in the police news but at time of writing, 11 a.m. Wednesday, little is known here about the 30-year-old Cornwall father of two being held by Montreal police in connection with the Sunday morning slaying of 32-year-old Lorraine Kenney of Sydney, N.S. in Montreal except that the rifle used was found near Ormstown.

Phone calls to Quebec and Ontario Provincial Police only revealed that Cpl. Trudel of the Glengarry detachment of the O.P.P. located the rifle. A report of the incident in a Montreal newspaper states that the rifle was found in a field; however, an Ormstown resident believes it was found in a threshing mill located near Brysonville. Whether or not the Cornwall killer is connected with the Chateauguay Valley is not known at this time.

Miss Kenney was slain in what police believe was a case of mistaken identity. She was shot in the face with a .303 calibre rifle as she entered her room about 1:30 a.m. Sunday.

Police said the woman was shot by a man hiding in the darkened room of a women's hostel operated by the Sisters of Service at 1923 Dorchester boulevard west.

John Dickson Meets English Dairy Queen

MONTREAL — A rosy-cheeked, 18 year-old English girl, Heather Bomford, who recently was named National Dairy Queen of England and Wales, arrived in Montreal yesterday by BOAC on the start of a trans-Canada tour sponsored by the Dairy Farmers of Canada.

Heather, of Sale Green Farm in Worcestershire, won the crown in competition with 6,000 other girls.

The British Dairy Queen and her entourage were met at Montreal Airport by John Dickson, President of Dairy Farmers of Canada, and Mrs. Dickson, and by officials of the Provincial Department of Agriculture. Her stop-over was brief, as she left a few hours later by plane for Ottawa.

Heather said that she works on her father's farm, mainly tending the hens and turkeys. In addition, she occasionally milks the 40 Friesian cows on the farm, and helps with the 160 ewes.

She is a member of the Young Farmers' Club of her district, and is a keen supporter of all outdoor activities, including riding, hockey, tennis and swimming.

In Toronto, Heather participated in the Ontario Dairy Princess Finals and the Canadian Dairy Princess Competition at the Canadian National Exhibition on August 30 and 31.

She will spend several days in Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Albert and British Columbia as guest of the dairy industry in those provinces.

LONG BELT SYSTEM

BELL ISLAND, Nfld. (CP) — Ten consecutive flights of belts carry iron ore for a length of 12,033 feet and a lift of 1,748 feet to the surface of the Wabana mine here. The system is believed to be the longest submarine belt carry in the world.

Huntingdon Fair Proves Very Successful In All Departments

The weatherman was very kind during most of the period of Huntingdon Fair and at least allowed most of the outside activities to be completed before storming in the late afternoon of Saturday. Thursday evening, opening night, was a nice warm evening after a bright day, while Friday came in real hot during the day, but cooled down a little during the evening. Saturday was much the same, but there was some cloud and threats of rain. At last, during the late afternoon, a storm broke loose that brought almost continuous heavy rainfall for the rest of the evening.

Attendances at the Fair we would report as quite good and especially on opening night and the other evenings of the period.

Early Thursday morning the fair grounds were a hive of activity as the exhibits were being brought in and the various other effects were being lined up in final readiness. Some of the midway had arrived and began setting up, but unfortunately for some reason the bulk did not move in until the early evening. As a result of this the midway did not begin operating until Friday and on Saturday afternoon it was rained out. Mr. Beaudin, the Secretary, announced over the public address system that the midway had been delayed from opening on Thursday night due to circumstances beyond control.

The Parade got underway on Thursday evening and after a route along some of the streets of Huntingdon, arrived at the Fair Grounds a little after 8 p.m. This was probably one of the best parades ever held in connection with Huntingdon Fair. Many more floats were entered and each had taken a great deal of time and effort to produce. The Ladies' Dutch Club entitled "Little Holland" was very well done depicting a Dutch scene complete with windmill and people in Dutch costume. This took the first prize and deserved it. Every year the people of Dewittville have had a float in the parade and it is usually a good one. This year was no exception and it was quite original. The title was "Summer 62" and as most people are aware this summer has been a little on the unusual side with rain at the wrong times and lots of it. Thus the float depicted a rainy season with umberellas, rain coats and rain hats and a huge rainbow, as Summer '62/ It took 2nd prize. Maple Leaf Grange took 3rd prize with a float standing for peace throughout the world. Various children were dressed in the costumes of many nations. The 4H Club for Huntingdon took the 4th prize with a float depicting the calves and the club mottos. 5th prize went to Chateauguay Valley Historical Society entry—the Surrey with the fringe on top and the old time family occupants and the old grey mare. Surely out the past pages of history. There were other floats, such as the Coca-Cola, the Wanderers, being a safety organization of Huntingdon youths; and some trade trucks. Novelty numbers were the girl riding the black bull and a girl walking beside; the big horse with a white shroud and riders, probably a horse of the knighthood days known as a charger. The Cubs and Scouts were also a part of the Parade.

Following are the winners of the decorated bicycles: 1st, Three Little Pigs, Henney and Douwe Rozema and George Tolhurst Jr.; 2nd, Shirley Moore; 3rd, W. Goundrey; 4th, W. Kruyk and 5th, Richard Benoit.

Mrs. Bessie Heath and Messrs. Raymond Rowat and Alex Fawcett were the judges and we believe they did an excellent job in placing the awards.

On the completion of the judging, the opening ceremony was proceeded with and Mr. Carl Wheeler, President of the Fair welcomed everyone to the Fair and hoped they would enjoy it. Mr. Jean Boucher, Federal member for Chateauguay-Huntingdon-Laprairie constituency, offered words of congratulations to the Fair Board and best wishes to the people for their Fair. Mr. Kenneth Fraser spoke next and offered good wishes. Alderman S. Gaw, pro-Mayor for the Town of Huntingdon, acting for Mayor Paul Lefebvre, gave a welcome on behalf of the Town of Huntingdon and congratulations to the officials of the Fair. Mr. Alister Somerville, M.P.P. for Huntingdon Country, offered best wishes to everyone and officially declared the Fair opened.

At this point the combined Ormstown and Huntingdon Band, which had taken part in the Parade, played "O Canada" and "God Save The Queen". With this the parade moved out of the arena and the band set up to give a short concert. This was something new and it was thoroughly enjoyed. After a few selections, the majorettes moved into a routine of marching and baton twirling which drew forth much applause and which was well deserved. A few more selections and the band concluded its performance amid great applause. The Horse Show then opened with several children's classes and carried on for the remainder of the evening. There was one mishap in the children's classes when a little girl was thrown from the pony she was riding soon after entering the ring. She was picked up and was able to walk out of the ring but dropped out of the competition. Another mishap happened on Friday evening during the children's class when on the final line-up Jill Smellie's pony, Chief, got a bit restless and fell over. He was pounced upon by four men and held down while the harness was taken off and meanwhile Jill was taken out of the cart. Jill turned out to be a third place winner in this particular competition.

The Salada Tea Wagon entered the grounds on Thursday evening and started to dispense free cups of tea to all who wanted them. Those taking the tea were asked to donate something in a box. At the close of the Fair the sum so collected was turned over to the Huntingdon County Hospital and the Huntingdon County War Memorial Arena, the amounts are not known at this writing. The tea wagon seemed to be meeting the needs of many for it was well patronized during the fair.

On Friday evening, the Huntingdon Firemen's Club set up a corn cob stand near the Tea Wagon and proceeded to sell corn on the cob to all who wanted this morsel. They appeared to the doing a good business.

Friday turned out to be a very hot day and there were not too many about the grounds. A fair crowd watched the judging of the Holsteins, it being Black and White Day, but the people moved quite frequently away into the shade out of the heat. The midway had a few strolling around. Most of the people were in the arena and in the other buildings getting a brief respite from the heat while looking over the exhibits.

The Grange booth did a good business in soft drinks, if nothing else, but we believe business was generally good for there was always a crowd around.

In the matter of exhibits, there was a good entry in practically all sections. Certainly there was no shortage in the various horse sections both with regard to the Agricultural exhibits and to the Horse Show. Cattle exhibits were quite good. Poultry exhibits were fewer this year, but were of good quality. There was a goodly number of flower exhibits and some very fine specimens were on display. The plant section was also well filled, good specimens of various species. Vegetables showed up well this year as it seems to be a good one for them. Root crops were especially good this year. Sunflowers were shown in some large sized heads, but corn did not show up too well. There was a very good display of apples, more than for several years. The ladies cooking and sewing exhibits were in goodly number and along with this the children's exhibits were quite good. The arts class was small, but preserves showed up real well.

Machinery and industrial exhibits were on the small side, but all booths in the industrial building were occupied.

On Friday evening the Horse Show again held sway and was well attended, some good classes were presented among which was a relay race with about four teams in the running. The team of the Davies' brothers was the winner of this event. Several Children's classes were run off also one for the Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wheeler trophy for combination harness and saddle pony, owner driver, boy or girl 14 to 15 years. This was won by Lois Ann McCoy and Mr. Carl Wheeler made the presentation on Friday evening. Another trophy presented that evening was one from Huntingdon Dry Cleaners to Mrs. Lois Dunn, by Mr. Dave Zabitsky, for combination harness and saddle. George Davies won a trophy donated by McCoy Bros. for a jumping class and this was presented to him by Mrs. D. McCoy.

During the early part of the evening attention was called to the fact that Mr. Howard Rick, a former president of Huntingdon Fair was present and watching the proceedings. It will be remembered that Mr. Rick had an unfortunate siezure which left him in very poor health, so he sat in a wheel chair in front of the windows which give a view of the arena. A hearty round of applause for Mr. Rick was given by the crowd.

Saturday saw the horse racing run off and the 4-H Calf Club competitions. In the evening despite the heavy downpour of rain in the late afternoon, the arena was packed for the Square Dance Competition and the annual Fair Dance which woundup the Huntingdon Fair for another year.

There were three entries in the Square Dance competition and all were from Maple Leaf Grange, Huntingdon. The Rhytmaires won first prize; Maple Leafs took second and the Gay Lords and Ladies took third.

The Tug-O-War was taken by default by the Town of Huntingdon team. Each man was given a set of two crystal glasses and two packs of playing cards as prizes which were donated by Dow Brewery.

There will be a further list of special prize winners in the next issue of this newtsapeper.

Rector Attends Assembly Of The Americans In Michigan

Over Labour Day week-end, the Rev. P. R. Stote attended the Moral Re-Armament Assembly of the Americans at Mackinac Island, Michigan. He travelled by special plane with 42 passengers, who joined the 734 delegates from Canada, U.S., Central America, South America, as well as those from Europe, Africa and Japan. The plane from Montreal carried a cross section of business, labour and professional men.

The purpose of the trip was to see first hand the World Force of Moral Rearmament in action.

One of his regrets is that the plane was not filled with residents of the Chateauguay Valley.

Two olympic gold medalists said that Moral Rearmament is what the Americans need desperately, people who firmly stand for absolute moral standards in personal, family and national life, applied on a world scale.

This was seen vividly in action. More conviction to follow next week.

Lacolle Children Enjoy Outing At Belmont Park

(by Mrs. Ralph Smith)

On August 23rd., the Federation of Leisure (Loisirs) of Lacolle was Host to about 190 children on a days outing at Belmont Park in Montreal The President Mr. Roland Gagné, Mr. Ralph Smith, Vice President, Mr. Jean Paul Barriere, Secretary and Mr. Aureul Parent, Mr. Philippe Hebert, Directors were all present to help keep the children organized. Some of the mothers and fathers also came along to give a helping hand.

There were two school buses hired from Mr. Albert Racine to transport the children to Belmont Park but when the children started to arrive about 9.30 a.m. their ranks kept swelling until two buses were not enough to hold them so two other buses had to be sent to accommodate the crowd. There were about 170 expected but due to the good time that was had on this trip last year word must have been spread around to increase the number to over 190. Two of the members took their own private cars to take the overflow from the four buses.

"It was a lovely day, not too hot of not too cold. We arrived at the Park about one o'clock p.m. and left about 5.30 p.m.

One of the girls lost her purse with $3.00 in it. Mrs. Ruth Smith took the girl to the police office and "Lo and behold" some honest person had found it and turned same over to the police. So she was a very happy girl, thanks to the honest person and the police of Belmont Park. One other girl also lost her purse with about $2.00 in it but wasn't as lucky, so far her purse has not turned up. She left the description and her address with the police.

The only fault that could be found was that the attendants at the park did not control the crowd at the rides, or help the little tots on and off the rides. Otherwise a good time was had by all.

Labor Day Ball Tournament At Ormstown A Success

Last Monday, Labor Day, thousands of fast ball fans attended the Annual Fast Ball Tournament at Ormstown, patronized by Dow Brewery through the local representative, Gaspard Crepin Ltd.

It was regretful that Ste. Therese team, the manager "Ti-Noir" Leveille, had not been able to be at the place to defend his Championship and the Dow Trophy.

The Chateauguay, New York Green Bowl Team, with manager Pat Patterson was the winner by defeating Jacques Cartier of Valleyfield Racket Club of Cliff Gouillard, 7 to 0.

Following the opinion of an expert who assisted at the tournament, Green Bowl Team would represent this year the strongest nucleus of fast ball players who ever participed in this annual event.

Jacques Cartier Team merited the right to pass to the final, by defeating Valleyfield Larocque Hotel, in a marathon game that lasted 22 innings and furnished great excitement. The pitchers Simard and Soucy provided plenty for fast ball lovers to talk about for a long time.

In addition to the Dow Trophy, the Green Bowl Team also won a prize of $40.00.

Organizers of the tournament thank all the teams for their participation and others for the success of this 31st annual tournament.

LACHINE HOSPITAL NEEDS HELP

Ambulances announcing their urgent warnings with sirens blaring, drew up to Lachine General Hospital's emergency department entrance last week, pinpointing dramatic attention to a group of men discussing the hospital's deficit campaign, the need to reach the target of $110,000 set.

Within minutes victims of accidents were receiving attention from skilled hands.

These are daily occurrences at he Lachine General Hospital, where the emergency department alone receivss a monthly average of 1,500 patients from all points.

Referring to this particular instance, Grover C. Furr, president of the hospital's board of management, said: "There you have one more instance of the importance of this hospital."

Mr. Furr emphasized that the campaign, which got underway last Sunday, was expected to be the last such now that the Quebec Hospital Insurance Service is operative.

"This appeal", he said, "seeks to wipe out past operating deficits accumulated over 54 years of service. It has no bearing on the expansion program, which is being financed separately".

On the expansion program, which will enlarge every department of the hospital, he said plans are now finalized and it is expected that work will begin at the end of the month or early in October.

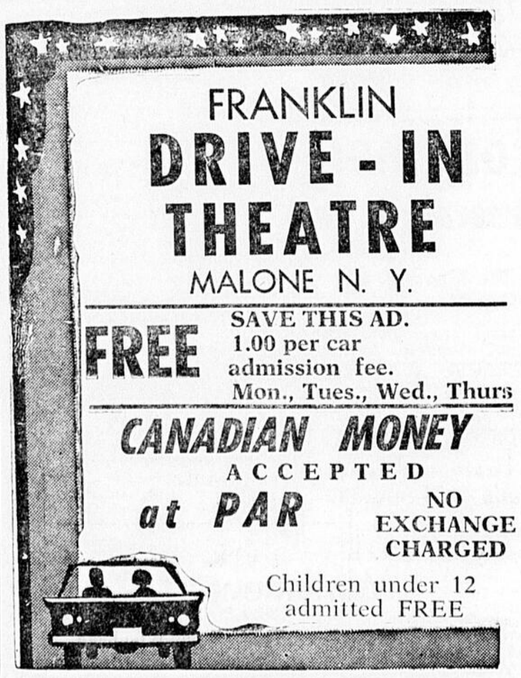

"The Lachine General", he said, "wants to begin this work free from the accumulated operating deficit. I'm sure our friends will co-operate, as they have done in the past."

FRANKLIN CENTRE — A meeting of the U.C.W. was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Wm. Hope, with a very good attendance. Mrs. James Manning and Mrs. Floyd Stevenson led the meeting with a short devotional, after which the usual opening exercises were observed. During the business period the treasurer gave a report of the funds on hand. Mrs. Manning reported that the reviring of the church will cost the society around $300. A report on the variety show was given which proved to be very satisfactory and it was decided to put the money from this show in a special account for a building fund, to go toward building an addition to the church, on the north end, in place of the one now in use. It was decided to put off the trip to the Botanical Gardens until next summer, also not to have a booth at Havelock Fair this year. The group then decided that October 20th, was the most suitable date for the Sunday School Convention and the menu was planned. Plans were made to hold a card party in November. There will be no meeting in September or October. The meeting then adjourned and refreshments were served.

Mr. Ross Goldie spent Friday and Saturday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Blair and family, then left for St. Hilaire, where he is teaching this year.

Mr. Lloyd Bruce spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Bruce. Miss Hazel Bruce and Mr. Huntley Bruce, also of Montreal spent the week-end and holiday at the same home.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Lindsay and Beverly Ann of Ormstown, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Dickenson.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Dickenson, Miss Audrey Dickenson, Mr. John Dickenson and Mrs. Girouard, visited Mrs. Wm. McKinnon at the Queen Elizabeth Hosptal, Montreal on Sunday and found her quite well after her operation on Friday morning.

Former Neighbors Honor Mr. and Mrs. Stanley McNeil

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley McNeil were pleasantly surprised on Wednesday evening, August 22nd, when about twenty-five of their former neighbours gathered at their new home in Brooklet, to spend the evening. An enjoyable time was spent by all playing '500' after which a few old time songs were sung with Mr. H. Clark at the piano. Mrs. F. Stevenson and Mrs. C. Waller then presented Mr. and Mrs. McNeil with a fitting remembrance of their forty-three years association. Delicious refreshments were then served by the ladies. In a few well-chosen words Mr. and Mrs. McNeil thanked everyone for their kindness and invited all to visit them again.

Looking Back into the Past

In looking through some old books the other day, I came across an article. It was intitled "How Canada Grew Up". This book was printed in 1926. In thumbing through its pages, I came across the name "McGill" and started reading. It was all about McGill University, and its beginning.

In the early eighteen hundreds Montreal at that time was a town of ten or twelve thousand inhabitants most of whom were French. The town lay along the river in irregular blocks and narrow streets. The ancient walls were gone, though some of the gates were still standing. The chief buildings were the Court House, the English and Catholic Church and the markets which were held on Monday and Friday were said to excel any others in America. The price of bread was set by the Justices of the Peace, and each baker was required to mark his loaves with his initials. Mail to England went out once a month via New York. Incoming mail was put off the ship at Halifax, and brought to Montreal overland. It required four months to write and receive a reply from Europe. As yet there were few ships which sailed up the river farther than Quebec. In 1813 only nine visited Montreal. At the end of the eighteenth century the exports of the whole province, including furs amounted to no more than half a million pounds.

Prominent among the merchants of this long ago Montreal, was a man named James McGill, a Scotsman who in his youth emigrated to the United States. Later, he and his brother Andrew moved to Canada, and were already doing a good business in Montreal before the Revolution. James McGill presently connected himself with the North West Company. With his fortune steadily increasing, he bought Burnside Manor, a beautiful estate of forty-six acres lying on the slope of Mount Royal and the river. Upon this estate Mr. McGill built a handsome stone house and laid out a fine garden and here, with his wife Charlotte, he spent the rest of his life. Charlotte who was French brought him in touch with and helped him win the confidence of the French circle. He held in turn several important civic offices, and was elected to represent the West Ward of Montreal in the first Parliament of Lower Canada which met in 1792. During the war of 1812, Mr. McGill, though too old for active service, did much valuable administrative work. In short, he filled his long, active and happy life full to the brim with unselfish service for his town and untiring efforts to foster friendship between the French and English whom he believed would some day form a United Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. McGill had no children, and as they grew older Mr. McGill began to consider how he should best dispose of his fortune. There was at that time no college, and, indeed, very few schools in the Province of Quebec. The importance of teaching the young French Canadians to speak English and to understand British ways had been pointed out to the government often enough, but the conduct of one war after another had taken up the time, and very little had been done. In 1801 the government established the Royal Institution for the advancement of learning, but little money was provided to maintain the body, and it was not until seventeen years later that trustees were appointed to organize a system of education.

In the meantime a few brave little schools of cedar logs were built. In them an attempt was made to teach the French Canadian children English. The Masters taught English free, but charged for instructing pupils in writing and arithmetic. In addition to this they received small salaries. Some receiving as much as 100 pounds from the government. They "boarded round" and so eked out their scanty living.

It was while on a visit to a friend in Cornwall, Ont., that Mr. McGill at last decided to leave his Manor on Burnside, together with a sum of money to endow it as a college in which young Canadians might be educated. Soon after his return home Mr. McGill made his will, bequeathing Burnside and 10,000 pounds to the Royal Institution to establish a university stating that it should be erected or established within ten years, and that one of the colleges should be named McGill. Two years later in 1813 Mr. McGill died. The friends whom he had named as his executors were all keenly interested in establishing the college. Soon after Mr. McGill's death they took steps to begin the work. One after another obstacles cropped up. The estate and funds were left in trust for the Royal Institution but the Royal Institution was not yet organized. There was no money to erect new buildings. Officials disagreed about this and that; matters were discarded again and again. The years slipped by and it began to look as if the splendid gift might be lost. When at last it seemed possible to go forward with the organization of the university, Mr. McGill's wife's nephew had remained so long in possession of the estate that he did not wish to give it up. Lawsuits followed; one to secure Burnside and the second to obtain the 10,000 pounds.

It was on a Wednesday afternoon, June 24th, 1829 that McGill University was at last opened. Here, soon after one o'clock, the notables of the City assembled. The Royal Charter incorporating the Provincial University was placed on the table. The Bishop of Quebec spoke, and after the charter had been read Mr. Mountain, the newly appointed principal, addressed the company. Reading and prayer followed and the people dispersed full of hope for the future of the new college.

Do hope readers, you have enjoyed reading this article, as much as I did collecting these facts.

W.R.A. News

The wind up of summer activities took place at the Club, Sunday afternoon. And what a wonderful day, the weather was perfect. Parents and children came in full force and the program started at 1.30 p.m. with swimming races for the small fry and up. They all made a good showing.

During intermission the members were entertained by three members of the Woodlands Water Ballet under the direction of Mrs. Owen. Their costumes were colorful pastels. They entertained gracefully around the pool, and then proceeded to give a display of diving. Their swimming technique was out of this world. The only casualty being the loss of a pair of leotards, which the Club felt might jam the filtering system, the names of the ballerinas were, Robin Burns, Barrie Westwood and Bruce Irwin. If there were any talent scouts in the audience, looking for new material, don't bother, these boys as they are all booked up for the football season. Following this dipsaly, there were more races, including the adults. Then followed a diving exhibition, in which we are sorry to say that Mr. Andrew Deezky met with a slight accident. Do hope that by press time, he will be feeling better.

A motor boat marathon was won by Pierre Brisset and Walter Letham, in the high speed class and Scott MacKay and Christopher Jones for the low speed. The awards were presented by the Club executives and staff.

Teen-Age Group

The T.A.G. held their annual dinner and dance at the Club, last Friday evening. There was a good turn out of parents and teens alike. A buffet supper was served after which "The Avalon Trio" arrived to provide dance music. From what I've heard, some of the oldies showed the teens a step or two. A wonderful time was had by all.

WHAT A DIFFERENCE A CURB MAKES

Numerous comments by visitors on Cardinal St., prompted the photographer to take the lower photo, which shows looking at the above photo, what an improvement curbs can make on a street. Cardinal St. was probably the first street in Chateauguay to have curbs.

Les Loisirs de St. Joachim Sports

At the beginning of the summer those responsible for the field sports made it their duty to send their representative to the Minor Sports Association Committee for the purpose of relaying to them the necessary information for the organization of Softball in our Parish.

The 4-H Club had a very successful winter of hockey, proving to Les Loisirs the future possibilities with the Minor Sports Association. In order to group all those interested in Field Sports, a Committee was formed under the name of Field Sports Committee grouping no less than 18 very active members. This committee is entirely dependent upon Les Loisirs de St. Joachim. The Officers are President, Mr. R. Sylvestre, Secretary, Mr. Rod. Leroux, Assistant Secretary, Mr. R. Chayer, Liason Representative, Mr. J. Lacasse. Messrs. K. Campbell, C. Jerome, J. Wall are the Governors. The eleven other members of the committee have at least one duty in the Minor Sports League. Emphasis is stressed on the work done by the coaches who were K. Campbell, R. Leroux J. Wall, L. Duclos, and R. Dumouchel. These gentlemen took care of a very important age group, 10-17. Two of these coaches L. Duclos and J. Wall have brought their own teams up into the finals. The results will be forthcoming.

Another thankless job, that of umpire, was performed throughout the Season by Messrs. R. Drolet, J. Graham, George Brown, Ben Bernard, Eric Stafford, Camille Jerome, Lucien Trottier.

The slack period between softball and hockey was bridged by the committee organizing a Soccer League. This sport which resembles hockey is played on grass and there has been great enthusiasm shown by the youngsters. Mr. George Brown was the instigator for this action and any boys between the ages of 8 and 15 who wish to play soccer are welcome to communicate with Mr. Brown and 692-6030, or to submit their name at L'Ecuyer's store on St. Jude St.

Successful Policemen's Field Day

Once again on Labour Day many areas were deserted as the children had gone over to St. Jude School to attend the annual Policeman's Field day.

Mr. Gravelle was as usual busy organizing things and seeing to it that all the children were happy. Free chips, ice cream and drinks were plentiful. Ably assisting all afternoon were Constables Brisebois, Lussier, Bourcier, Venne, Sergeant Marshall and Chief of Police Mr. Spenard. The Monitors were kept on the hop organizing races. These were Mr. Perron, Mr. Gauthier, Miss Bainville, Miss Barrette and Miss Bertrand. On the finish line were Messrs. Fortier and Dumouchel. There was quite a clear up to be made in the yard to be ready for school opening the next day.

The following are the winners of the races — Girls — Raymond Laberge, Sylvie Fortier, Maryse Bourcier, Denise Pomarleau, Marthe Beausoleil, Carole Chagnon, Mireille Vezina, Micheline Drouin, and Andree Bourcier.

Boys — Francois Delisle, Rejean Laberge, Ronald Cameron, Richard Desjeans, Neil Watts, Roy Morreau, Larry Gee, Gay Osborn, Michel Fournier.

CHATEAUGUAY SPORTS ROUND UP

(by JOHN McDONALD)

The final playoffs in Minor Softball were held this past week, and at time of writing five of the six leagues have crowned champions. Ironically enough only one of the teams that took league honours came through in the playoffs, the C.C.R.A. Bantams.

In the Mosquito section West End have a two game lead over Chateauguay Gardens on the strength of 31 to 29 and 17 to 14 victories while in the Pee Wee section the C.R.V.C. were crowned champions taking the series 3 games to 1 over C.C.R.A. In the first game C.R.V.C. took a 31 to 20 victory only to see it turn into defeat when it was discovered that they used an ineligible player, but the C.R.V.C. boys came back and took the next three games 6 to 5 — 16 to 15 and 21 to 9.

The C.C.R.A. Warriors became double champions when they defeated the 4H Club in three straight games 15 to 8 — 13 to 3 and 15 to 3 in a series that was marred by senseless and needless complaining on the part of the 4H coach. The officiating in this series as well as in all the semi-final and final playoff games was extremely good, and the men who worked these games are to be congratulated.

A ninth inning sacrifice fly gave the St. Joachim Midgets a 15 to 14 victory over the Terrace Saturday afternoon and the Championship. After losing the first game of the Terrace 9 to 5 the St. Joachim boys came back and took the next three games 12 to 4 — 7 to 6 and 15 to 14. This reporter only saw the last 4 innings of the final game in this series but from what I saw in these innings I can only say that the St. Joachim boys might be playoff champions as far as ball playing ability goes, but could certainly use a few lessons in manners and could show a little respect for their coach. A few boys on the Terrace team could also take a few lessons on their tempers and manners.

The C.C.R.A. girls came through with 13 to 9 — 19 to 17 and 19 to 10 victories over Chateauguay Park to take the championship 3 games to 0. In the Midget girls league the heavy hitting of the C.C.R.A. girls was just a little more than the League Champions could handle. One thing this reporter thought was a real sporting gesture in the final game of this series was that the Chateauguay Park coach even though he was down 8 runs, remembered he had a spare ballpayer in the bench and put her in the game in the sixth inning. This youngster who may not have been as good a ballplayer as the rest of the team nevertheless was not forgotten by her coach.

Let's take a moment to ponder
The troubles of the Alouettes
Many thought that this was the season
That they'd be flying like high roving jets.

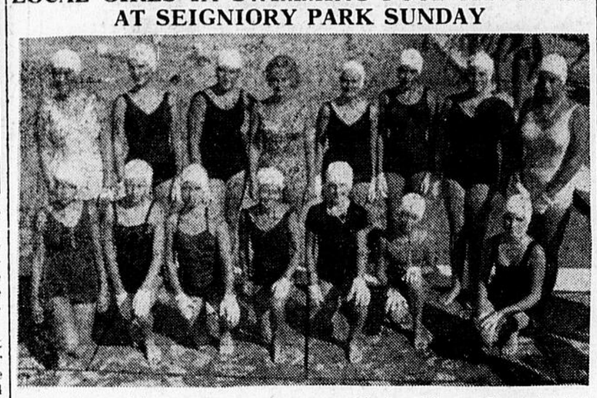

Was it the trade that saw old Prince Hal go
To come back and haunt us like a ghost
Or is it the words many sports fans repeat
That Perry Moss just can't coach?

Does the trouble lie on a weak defense
Or is it the offence that's weak and to blame
Could some of the players that were cut
Have led our Larks to fame?

Is Sandy the right man at Quarterback
Or does the bench send in too many plays
Here again is a controversial question
That can be taken by fans either way?

Some say the breaks are against them
Others the team lacks morale
This writer reserves his opinion
On the troubles that beset our Als.

Valleyfield On Map With Regard To Champlain Project

A delegation of seven persons from Salaberry - de - Valleyfield placed our town on the map last Tuesday at Albany, N.Y., in connection with the Champlain project for the realisation of a navigable canal between the St. Lawrence Maritime line and New York's port.

A Valleyfield committee of citizens started serious study of the problem and they expect construction of project "A", that of a canal to start from St. Louis-de-Gonzague to link with Lake Champlain.

The local committee realizes the importanced of having this near our town, because we would be able to establish, some miles from Valleyfield, in a real industrial complex.

Following the commentaries of the delegates, the project of the Champlain Canal reached another step last Tuesday, when there was a reunion with the Chamber of Senate of New York State, at Albany. Many delegates of different sectors of activities of this state were present.

About thirty persons were present at the hearing that was held from 10 o'clock a.m. until 2 p.m. under Senator Walter Van Wiggerim, president of the project committee. There were representatives from Sorel and St. Jean. Mr. Paul Viau was the speaker of the group from Valleyfield composed of Mr. Gerald Laniel, Federal Member for Beauharnois-Salaberry, Mr. Pierre Brassard, Mr. Jean-Claude Charette, Mr. Robert Brault, Mr. Marcel Ménard and Mr. Jean-Denis Cadieux, of CFLV.

Most of the speakers, were in favour of Champlain project.

We point out the economical advantages that will follow the transport of first class matter.

Representatives of the railroad were against the project saying that it will harm the railway transport, It will also harn the tourist attraction to this country.

The possibilities only were studied in connection with the project and no actual decisions were made.

Worthwhile Efforts On The Part Of Some Of Our Citizens

(by Mrs. E. Vetland)

The Red Cross Financial Campaign is now over and appears to have been very successful. There are several youngsters who deserve honourable mention because of the fine job they have done raising money by selling old toys and books, flowers, fudge, etc. These zealous kiddies include Debbie Hanney, Karen Green, Wayne Christie, Susan Cadieux, Freddie Green, Carol Bailey, Gail Flaherty, most of whom live along Lang St.. From Beauchamp and St. Paul Streets, there are two more active Red Cross workers who go by the names of Manon Charbonneau and Jo-Ann Beauchamp.

May I also add a personal thank you to Mrs. Ida Faust and Mrs. Gaby Charbonneau who so willingly gave up some of their own time to help canvass this immediate area.

-o-

I received a tip that there is also another group of people who have undertaken a worthwhile project. You can imagine my surprise on learning that this group consists of girls around twelve years of age! They decided that their summer vacation was an excellent time to raise money, not for themselves, but for CARE of Canada, who will send the funds overseas to needy people. The aim is to raise $25.00 and $21.00 has already been realized through the sale of Kool-Aid and bottle drives. This is a well organized venture with Cathy Ryan as President, Sharon Grant as Vice-President and Secretary, and Maureen Round as Treasurer. They call themselves appropriately enough: the "Wee Willing Workers Club"!

To reach the final objective, the girls are planning to hold a concert, "The Sleeping Beauty". As of this writing, the time and place have not yet been decided (Cathy Ryan can be called at 692-4676). The admittance fee is nominal.

As each one dollar bill buys 22 pounds of food, you can be sure the efforts of these young ladies and their friends will certainly be appreciated by Care of Canada.

How proud the parents in our area must feel. I must say that all our residents are proud to have such wonderful girls and boys in our community. The Red Cross Campaign and Care of Canada have enabled the youngsters, who have so much, to show that they do care about those who have so little!

C.H.O.A.

Many people, members and non members of the Chateauguay Hom. Owners Association, have been asking: "Who are the executives; what do they do?" In order that we may all become better acquainted with this hard-working group of people, this column will feature one member of the executive board each week. Mr. Percy Lanigan of 80 St. Francis Blvd., is this week's topic.

Percy was born in P.E.I. on September 10th, 1916. Here he attended college and also taught school. During the war, he served in the Canadian Army in England and Europe. After his discharge he resumed his studies and in 1950 graduated from McGill University with a degree in Civil Engineering.

In 1946 he married Marie MacDonald and they moved to their present home two years ago. Percy is employed by the Southern Canada Power Co. Ltd.

Percy is the 1st Vice-President of the C.H.O.A. and also Chairman of the membership Committee.

If you do not already have your card, call Mr. Lanigan at 692-4517. The fee is very small considering the time and effort put into the organization by Percy and the other members of the board.

-o-

This week's column seems to be devoted to hard-working people. The last, but not the least is Jimmy Lanigan. Most of you know him as The Gleaner Route Boy. He was born in P.E.I. on October 31, 1949 and this year will attend 8th Grade in St. Willibrord's School. Favourite subjects are, he says, recess and lunch, but Jimmy also confessed to high marks in mathematics! In the future he hopes to attend St. Dunstant's College in P.E.I. to take a course in agriculture. Football and hockey are two sports he enjoys, even though he does not play them too often. Collecting old coins is his hobby and his oldest one is an 1886 dime picked up from his paper route! He has used his earnings to purchase a bicycle, a sleeping bag and other camping equipment which he can use during Scout Camp trips.

From all reports, Jimmy is indeed a fine young man. Along with his brothers and sisters, Leonard, Gerald, John, Florence and Edna, he is a credit to his parents and his community!

CANDIAC — DELSON — LAPRAIRIE

School Board Meeting in Candiac.

The monthly Board meeting of the Protestant School of Greater Laprairie will be held in the school in Candiac on Monday, September 10th at 8 p.m. with Mr. Gordan Pitcher presiding.

Treasure Hunt for Brownies.

Delson Brownies had a wonderful time recently, when they met at the home of Tawny Owl, Mrs. T. W. Sheepwash, for a treasure hunt and a weiner and marshmallow roast. The new Brown Owl, Mrs. P. Snee assisted in this special event which was held from 4 until 7 p.m.

Cubs Camp at Sabrevois.

Akela, T. W. Sheepwash accompanied his Cub Pack to Sabrevois, Que, where they spent the weekend camping and participating in various activities which resulted in a grand time for all. The weather was very favourable and the boys decided to make the most of this event, for Akela tells us that he was awakened at 4.30 a.m. and by 5 a.m. the pack were enjoying a swim in the lake. Assistants, Stanley Moore, Arthur Linkutis, Margaret Brown and instructor Michael Sheepwash were there to help supervise and arrange the programme which kept the Cubs busy, exercising, making plaster wall plaques, watching movies, sketching, and cooking etc. Several boys were successful in passing a test for their swimming badge. The pack comprised twenty-eight Cubs including six from Candiac who were invited to share the camping trip. The co-operation of those who so kindly provided transportation for the boys was greatly appreciated.

Pyjama Party for Guides.

Captain Buttle and Lt. Simpson arranged a Pyjama Party for the Delson Girl Guides last weekend. It sounded most intriguing to this writer who was greatly interested as Lt. Simpson told about it. The party was held at the home of Lt. Simpson who said, "The girls looked lovely all dressed in their Sunday best, and then along came the boys, looking real handsome, and everyone danced and had a wonderful time." Refreshments were served and at 11:00 p.m. the boys went home and here's where the pyjama party began as the girls brought out eighteen sleeping bags, climbed into their pyjamas and soon tucked in for the night. Imagine having eighteen bundles of femininity invading ones living room. Lt. Simpson survived and thought everything was fine inspite of all the hustling that went on, getting the girls ready for church on Sunday morning. As some were making breakfast others were clearing the living room of sleeping bags etc. and then off to Church they went. Everyone was very happy about the whole affair which was a great success. Lt. Simpson told us that after watching the T.V. programme "Hazel", and seeing that lovable character give a pyjama party, she decided to try it sometime. She did and it worked, to the satisfaction of everyone.

We extend a hearty welcome to Mrs. Turbide who has returned to Delson after residing in New Brunswick for some time. Mrs. Turbide will now live at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. Poirier.

Chateauguay Police News

On September 1st, at 10.55 p.m. Maurice Trottier of 1118 Lac St. Louis, Ville de Lery was travelling north to south on Route 3 and 4 in a Vauxhall, when he was hit by a car driven by Thomas Stacey coming from the opposite direction in front of the Dairy Queen. Mr. Stacey was driving a 1960 Buick, which was taken without permission from in front of the Rustic Restaurant, the owner being Margaret Stacey, aunt of the driver. This was a hit and run accident and the police picked up Stacey at his home in Caughnawaga and took him to the Lasalle Hospital, where he remained under guard by the Chateauguay Police until being released the following day.

Mr. Trottier was badly hurt suffering from leg and hip fractures and is still detained in the Lasalle Hospital, where he was taken by the Reid Ambulance and was accompanied by Constable Kreklo of the Town of Chateauguay Police Force.

Both cars were badly damaged as may be seen from a picture of of the accident in this issue.

Family Squabbles

Family quarrels in the Chateauguay area resulted in a husband having his head split open when hit by his wife with a rolling pin. He was taken to the Chateauguay Medical Centre by the Chateauguay Police and allowed to return home after being stitched up. However the trouble continued and the husband was taken into custody for his own protection.

The second family spat broke up when the police arrived in time to prevent an irate husband from taking a cut at his wife with an axe. The police took possession of the axe and the wife spent the night with relatives.

The Chateauguay Centre Police Headquarters report they have had a very quiet week-end experiencing only three minor road accidents. This is a welcome note in a busy holiday week-end with crowded highways.

Constable "Pops" Gravelle organized a field day Monday, September 3rd., for the school children. The children donated two trophies one each to the Parish Priest, Rev. Vaillancourt and the Chief of Police Rene Spenard. The trophies were tokens of appreciation for efforts and projects undertaken on their behalf.

Editorial

By Syd Mitchell

OUR CHILDREN are going back to school and some are starting school for the first time, so please, Mr. Motorist, when you turn on your car switch in the morning and enter onto the hazardous highways of today, pledge yourself to an eternal vigilance of all school children. If they do something wrong, stop your car and tell them. Be an example yourself.

And if at the end of a day you have stopped children and told them of their error or through good driving and know-how, you have saved a child's life, when you get home and have parked your car in the garage or under the carport and turned off the switch, you should say: "Thank God because the child I saved or spoke to today could have been my own."

Lakeshore Road

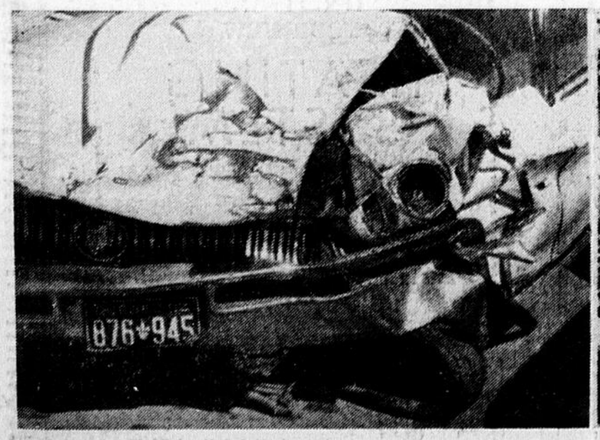

The Red Cross examiner who was out on Friday to put these children through their paces stated that the Woodlands Club had the highest percentage of children passing the test on either side of Lake St. Louis. The class standings are as follows:—

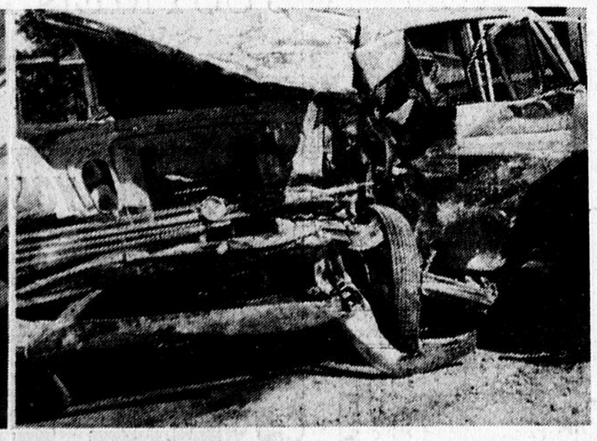

Minnows — 4 passes out of 8
Juveniles — 25 passes out of 26
Juniors — 34 passes out of 35
Intermediate—10 passes out of 22
Seniors — 7 passes out of 13

Proficiency (W.R.A.) 10 passes out of 10, with a class average of 94%. Nancy Jeffreys acquired her Leadership Badge as Assistant Swimming Instructor. We might add that five year old Michael Owen was the youngest member to obtain a juvenile badge. Mr. F. Charlton, then thanked the Instructors, and presented them with tokens of appreciation. The children applauded loudly and gave

Notes and Jottings FROM Robert Sellar's Historical Writings

Of the removal to Huntingdon a daughter of Hunter's (Mrs. McNee) relates—

My father having wound up his business in Montreal, the family moved up in October, when the big house was habitable though not finished, for carpenters worked inside all winter. The family drove out to Lachine. There was no ferry at that time to the Basin, so father arranged with the captain of the steamer that went to the Cascades to touch at a wharf there was about 3 miles west of the Chateauguay. It was raining heavily when we went ashore, and there was no house near. Father walked to the Basin to get carts, while mother and the children huddled under the solitary umbrella, getting wet to the skin. The carts came at last, and we and our luggage conveyed to John Smith's, who kept tavern, and with whom Gregory Dunning, his brother-in-law stayed. Next morning we got as far as Turcot's, where we stayed overnight, embarking next morning in canoes. A cow having been brought, father had to walk on the sort of track there was on the river-bank, driving her. In the afternoon the big barn erected by the seignior for storing the hay cut on the Meadows, and above Allan's Corners, was reached, when the Canadians who worked the canoes said this was the last place within reach where they could get shelter for the night. The Brysons were digging potatoes at the time and let us have all we needed. A fire was lit on the river-bank and they were cooked, my mother adding some boiled ham she had brought to the supper, which we all enjoyed. We all slept in the hay in the big barn. Next morning we took again to the canoes, except my mother, who did not like them and preferred walking with my father. We had not great trouble until Dewittville was reached, when we had all to get out of the boats and land everything. A yoke of oxen was brought down from Todd's and dragged the canoes and the baggage over the portage to the head of the rapids. As it was getting late, it was proposed we should walk the remainder of the journey, which would be quicker than to go by the canoes, so we started. As there were no bridges across the creeks, when we came to one, my father waded through, carrying us over, one by one, on his shoulders. It was dark when we reached our home in the bush, and we were glad of a rest, for it had taken us 4 days to make the journey—having left Montreal on Monday morning and getting to Huntingdon on Thursday evening.

The big house proved often small enough for its guests. Being on the corner of the road to the lake, and the first house on the road from Montreal, immigrants naturally sought rest and shelter beneath its roof, and none were turned away, for both Mr. and Mrs. Hunter were most hospitable. They were not destined to occupy it long, for they were soon notified that Stanley Bagg, a wealthy merchant of Montreal, held the patent for the lot they occupied, whereupon Mr. Hunter built a block-shanty a little west, on the adjoining lot, on the S. E. corner of Cemetery and Wellington streets, but only to learn, before it was finished, that he was again unwittingly a trespasser, for one day a French Canadian, Ducharme, dressed in an old red coat, showed it had been granted to him for services in the war of 1812. But I am anticipating.

During the fall, while Hunter was busy with his big house, there came tramping along an old salt, who gave his name as Bill Goudge, and who, as was afterwards ascertained, was a deserter from the Newcastle, the frigate which brought Lord Dalhousie, and on board which he had rated as carpenter's mate. Professing to be competent to teach, a shanty, or out-house, 12 feet long, which stood near where the mouth of the canal now is, was converted into a schoolroom, and 10 scholars gathered—4 Percys, 3 Palmers, and 3 Hunters—who however, learned little, for Bill was unable to teach them much. His want of learning he made up by the severity of his discipline, and the scholars retaliated by playing truant, and, when they could with safety, mocking his appearance, which was somewhat singular, from his having lost an eye by a drop of hot pitch while repairing a ship. Often Bill was on hand in the morning, and not a single boy would appear. He remained 10 months, when he made for Quebec, and went to sea again. A few weeks after Bill Goudg's unexpected appearance, a physician paid the infant settlement a visit. Dr. Fortune a Glasgow licentiate, had come out in 1820, and was staying with old Mr. Torrance of Montreal, for they had been school-mates. One winter's day, a fellow-passenger, Jas. Tannahill, called on him, told him of Dalhousie settlement, and the prospect of the country's fast filling up, and asked him to go and see them. Having little to do and no encumbrance whatever, the doctor accepted the invitation, and started off with Tannahill in his traineau. The settlers pressed upon him to stay, which he did, for their habits suited him. He passed from house to house, living with each a while. Naturally he visited Huntingdon, and found the few settlers there as congenial, and lived among them, lounging a good deal in McFarlane's store when it came to be built. In the way of practice he got little to do, for the settlers were mainly people in the prime of life and enjoyed rugged health, and his resources in the way of medicine were limited enough, as may be judged by this incident. Hugh-Cameron (probably in the summer of 1823) was taken seriously ill with dysentery, when Dr. Fortune, having no medicine, prescribed brandy with eggs beaten in it. Neither were to be had nearer than Fort Covington, and thither Cameron sent one of his men with a $10 bill, the smallest he had. Not returning, Cameron was in imminent danger, when Palmer visited him, and told him to fill a bag with flour and boil it until he came back, which he did not until evening, when he brought a jug of new milk, which he mixed with the boiled flour, and made Cameron eat as much as he could, at the same time washing his body with vinegar. The treatment was successful, and was probably prescribed by Mrs. Palmer, who had a wide reputation for skill in curing. The erring messenger returned in a week, without a cent, having spent the $10 in carousing with a party of Highlanders from Glengarry he had met at Dundee Lines. After staying some time in Huntingdon and vicinity, Dr. Fortune went to Glengarry for a few years, eventually marrying and settling down at St. Anicet village, where he acquired a large practice and a high reputation.

In the summer of the year (1822) succeeding that Hunter settled, there came walking from Lacolle, by way of Russeltown, a stout man past middle life. It was evening when he reached the river at the head of the rapids, and hailing the Palmers, a canoe went over and took him across, and he made his supper of corn boiled in milk. This was William Bowron, who had been promised the appointment of crown lands agent. He was a native of Crotherston, Yorkshire, England, where he was born in 1782. The family emigrated to America and took up their abode at Champlain, N.Y. On war being declared, Bowron moved across into Canada and lived in Montreal and Caldwell's Manor. During the war he, in company with Robert Hoyle, a fellow-Yorkshire man, secured the contract for supplying the British troops at Ile aux Noix with beef, and made a fortune out of it, buying the cattle from the American farmers along the line at a tithe for what their contract allowed and smuggling them across. Going into business in Montreal as a clothier he lost all, and left for Peru, N.Y., eventually drifting to Lacolle, where the Hoyles had settled. This was not his first visit to the site of Huntingdon, nor to the county. He had traversed its frontier during the war and had visited Elgin and Huntingdon the previous summer. Of that visit George Sayer gives this account:

In 1821 I was in Lacolle and found our old friend, for we came from the same place in Yorkshire, Mr. Bowron, there. He told me he had the offer for an old song of 400 acres in Elgin from a Mr. Whatman, and he meant to go and see what it was like, for Lord Dalhousie had issued a proclamation declaring the country of Huntingdon open for settlers, and warning all who held grants to make the requisite settlement duties within six months or their lands would be forfeited. In August we left Lacolle in a buggy, going south to Champlain, then west to Mooers-town, and crossed back into Canada somewhere near Sweet's, but darkness overtook us, and we slept in a log-house on the American side. Next day we called, in passing, at Sweet's, Stafford's, and Widow Gilfillan's. On bending down Covey Hill, there was a place where we came over the rocks like a wall. The entire road was overshadowed by second-growth. Halting at Gentle's, where we got a drink of sugar and vinegar mixed with water, we learned he had gone for the cows, and overtook him on the road. He was a rough, active, determined-looking man, and carried a long stick. On Mr. Bowron telling him of the government's change of policy, in no longer trying to keep the frontier in bush, Mr. Gentle struck his stick on the ground and exclaimed he was "Glad to hear it, for what better defence can there be than a loyal farmer with a gun in his hand!" We drove on to Squire Manning's, where we put up for the night, and he agreed to go with us. As the road would not farther allow of wheels, we started next morning on horseback. The first house we came to was Frosty Campbell's, so called from his white hair, and to distinguish him from Uncle Campbell. Here we had dinner. Squire Manning had put a big hunk of salt pork in one end of his saddle-bag and a loaf of bread in the other; Campbell supplied good hot tea. Bowron could not go the raw pork, but I did. We crossed Hampton's road, (the track cut by Izard) which was not much changed. We called at one or two houses on the 1st concession, among them that of Granny Reed's, but she was not at home. At Powerscourt there was a new log-house up to the square. On riding down the river-bank, I noticed docks and nettles where Sandilands now lives and said it was the first good land I had seen since leaving Lacolle. There was a bridge across the Hinchinbrooke and the frame of the old sawmill was standing; it was near the site of the present gristmill. We rode on to Jack Elliot's, who lived on Peter Munro's place (lot 28, 5th con.) and stayed all night. Elliot said he was unable to guide us to the lots we had come to see, and went for Zeb. Baxter, who lived farther down the river (lot 25), who being a hunter and familiar with the whole country, would likely be able to serve us. On Baxter's coming, he readily agreed to guide us. We started early in the morning, and followed Oak creek which we crossed by my felling a tree. After passing a good deal of the posts of which Baxter readily, wet land, we reached the 400 acres, discovered. We saw it was splendid land, and Bowron determined to close the bargain for it. Returning to Elliot's, we stayed with him a second night, and before starting for home, rode down to see Percy's sawmill, where Huntingdon now is. James lived where Boyd does, and his brother Robert's house stood where the road now runs. We went back to Lacolle the way we came.

LETTER FROM SEIGNIORY PARK

(by FERGUS HORSBURGH)

All Seigniory Park householders are advised that the next meeting of the Seigniory Park House Owners Association will take place at the Club at 8.00 p.m., on Monday, September 10th. All ideas and/or complaints will be noted and investigated.

- o-

The scheduled attack on our Park's rats last week-end did not take place, as it looked like rain at the appointed hour. As if ashamed of their lack of valour on the previous day Messrs. Perry, McInnis and Strike burned some brush on the Sunday. Volunteers are again requested for the campaign on Saturday, September 8th, and should rendez-vous at 386 Frontenac at 2.00 p.m.

- o-

As I write this column my wife and I are being entertained on Television by the Red Army singing "It's a long way to Tipperary". It struck us as quite amusing to see a hundred-odd Communists singing nostalgically of such symbols of Western decadence as Piccadilly and Leicester Square!

-o-

Victoria Square is in the news for the second time in three weeks. Vandals have plastered red and green paint on the base of Queen Victoria's statue. A gesture from the separatists, perhaps? You know, I can't take this Marcel Chaput movement in Québec too seriously. Scots have had a separatist movement going for over 200 years, and the present members of the sect could give Chaput's followers some good lessons in invective. It's a good thing for them to let off steam, and no one takes them very seriously.

-o-

Once upon a time I lived in a mining camp sixty miles inside the British Guiana jungle, where mosquitoes were practically invented. In three years there I could count on one hand the number of mosquitoes I saw and even they looked rather sick. The moral of this story is that the mosquitoes and other outdoor pests which plague us at nights COULD be controlled, and at a small fraction of the cost and effort it look in a tropical jungle. How about it, Larrie?

-o-

We all know what a super-salesman our Gerry Fortin is, but did you realise that he can sell himself as well as houses? On his rounds the other day an 11-year-old charmer was heard to entreat him, "Wait until I'm grown up, Mr. Fortin, I'm going to marry you". Who would want to waste his talents on such a prosaic business as selling houses with such a delightful offer to hand?.

-o-

Seigniory Park families increased by four over the week-end. Welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Titherington of Manchester, England, and young son (plus one other wee one any time now!) who have moved into 393 Montmorency. Nous souhaitons la bienvenue à la deuxième famille ici dont les origines sont la France. Monsieur et Madame Jacques Dard sont maintenant à 397 Montmorency. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gould and their-year old daughter from Verdun are now in 379 Montmorency. The building of their home is something of a record, as it was completed in just seven weeks from the date of signing up. Mrs. Gould is a school teacher and Mr. Gould is studying electronics at the Montreal Technical School as well as working for Northern Electric Co. Ltd., in the Town of Mount Royal. Finally, we are happy to greet Mr. and Mrs. David Walker at 361 Montcalm, and their sons Andrew and Stuart. Mr. and Mrs. Walker hail from Yorkshire and Newcastle respectively. Remember Newcastle? That's the place one doesn't haul coal to.

Welcome Home

To Mrs. W. Hulshoff, Caroline and Billy, who have been visiting in Holland. They left Montreal, on the Acadia and had a restful crossing. Mr. Hulshoff joined his family with his older daughter Trixie and his grandson, Derek, accompanying him.

Billy and his parents spent a week in Paris, which was very enjoyable. During this week Caroline went too.

They spent some time at Zandvoort, a seaside resort, with cousins and friends. While there they lived in tents, enjoying themselves very much.

The family in Holland were all well and everyone was so happy to see them. This was the first time they had seen Caroline and their grandson.

Mrs. Hulshoff was to have sailed on the Ryndam, but engine trouble made it necessary to take a plane from Amsterdam in order to be home in time for school opening.

Mrs. B. Jones and baby Derek will be returning Thursday. Mr. Jones who is in the U.S. Navy joined his wife in Holland for eight days, while his ship was in Gibraltar. So glad you had a wonderful vacation and family reunion.

New Campers

Camping has now become the main feature of another of our vacationing families. Mr. and Mrs. Wes Roy and four children, spent five weeks camping in the Maritimes. Covering over 6,000 miles they visited Shelbourne, N.S., where they visited cousins for a week. Two weeks were spent on P.E.I. right on the ocean where they did some clam digging. There is some controversy as to who got the biggest one. One week was spent in Moncton, N.B. and Fundy National Park. Here the children investigated the caves of which there are many in this big Park. As always some wonderful treasures were brought back; driftwood collected by Barbara, traps found by Norman and Steven, Sand dollars by Wendy, Sea Urchins and Starfish and a rock collection, Karen and Wes were in on the rock collection, I believe, and I understand it is a very good one. They all enjoyed themselves so much, that plans are already shaping for next year's holiday.

New Arrivals

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Wilkins are the proud parents of another baby daughter, sister for Maureen, born September 2nd, 7 lbs. 7 oz. Grandma and Grandpa Fisher from Smiths Falls, Ontario and Grandma Wilkins of Vetville are taking good care of Maureen and her daddy. Congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Szasz of 123 St. Louis, ar the proud parents of a baby daughter, weighing 6 lbs 14 oz. born Monday, August 27th. Congratulations to you both.

Birthday Party Hostess

Anne Marie Muir was three years old on August 30th, and a very happy little girl as she received Janet and Linda Golden, Leslie Salo from Colonia, Peter Stapleton, Timmy Mackey, Brian Moseley and David Stahl to her party. Balloons, noisemakers, candy, ice cream and birthday cake were enjoyed by all the kiddies, at little individual tables on the patio. They played in the garden and on the gym swings. So glad you had a wonderful day, Anne Marie.

All prizes are cash, so let's all turn out to make this a great success.

Incidentally has Frank Smith called a practice for his men's softball team for next Sunday or is it a football practice? If it is for football the ladies have a wonderful team ready to do battle. Slinging Sammy Baugh has nothing on our quarterback Alice Taylor, especially last Hallowe'en.

I'm sorry I forgot to mention last week that Shirley and "Buzz" O'Brien had been back for a visit. Shirley was in with her old "sidekick" Joan Marshall. As for Buzz, he was in with the gang and as usual getting stocked up with gum!

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Ringuette who have just celebrated their sixteenth wedding anniversary.

Also congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Bourdon on the arrival of another son. I say another son for them as we also have congratulations for Mr. and Mrs. George MacDonald as a son was born to them this past week.

Lee Lenfesty has returned home after a holiday with cousins in Montreal.

I wonder just who will be missing a certain soldier the most after this leave? His parents and brothers and sister or yours truly. I'm always delighted to have a visit with the youngsters I used to know after they have grown up but I surely enjoyed many hours spent with a very interesting young man, this past month.

We are sorry to know that Lyn Hansen is in hospital and especially so when no one can find out what is wrong. A group of young girls were out and whatever they touched is anyone's guess. Kathryn Yates was covered with "Something", Sheila Dawes had marks of another kind and I think one or two others had a rash of some kind but Lyn was the worst of all as she had a rash all over her body.

Sunday guests at our house were Sam's brother Armand and his wife also their son Armand Jr. and his wife and little daughter Kim all from Cohoes, N.Y.

Attention

I would like to bring to the attention of anyone interested in helping out in small or large amounts towards outdoor sports in our area that there is an Outdoor Sports Committee under Les Loisirs de St. Joachim, which meets on the first Monday of every month in the Parish Hall. Come along and get in the know of the future sports activities. Who knows, developments might take place towards more skating rinks which are so desperately needed. Surely there are enough people around now who could give a little help and get very large rewards. The foot of St. Maurice St., where soccer is now being played would be an ideal spot for a rink. Also the corner where the I.G.A. used to be is another good location. There will definitely be a rink again this year on the corner of Rue Principale and McComber, but let's face it folks that is not nearly enough. Let's not be selfish though, as people, in Chateauguay Centre, on the other side of the bridge could also do with one, maybe between the two shopping centres? Come on out to a meeting, show your interest, help a little, and reap the wonderful results of enjoying skating for yourselves and your children this winter. September is not too soon to plan for the winter, after all Stationery stores buy their Christmas cards in July! Let's be a hep community and plan ahead.

Bowling News

After a very successful season of bowling and an even more successful banquet, activities are about to resume for the Imperial Gardens Bowling League on September 14th. As usual the evening is Friday nights, the time is 9:30 P.M. and the place is West-End Bowlarama. A welcome goes out to the new regulars, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Valois, Mr. and Mrs. Gilles Chapman.

Anyone interested in playing as spares, please call Jerry Desrosiers at 692-0726. We would like to mention that spares are given priority whenever vacancies occur in the regular membership. It is believed that some members are practising outside of Chateauguay in fear of being spotted over at the Bowlarama. So you see, old competitions are being revived and there is an "on the go" spirit in the bowling air. BONNE CHANCE EVERYONE!

School Bus Transportation

Arrangements have been completed to provide school bus transportation for those pupils whose parents have elected to have this service. The period to permit additional parents to elect to have this service for their children is re-opened and extended to September 10th.

For property owners, charges for school bus transportation for their children will be levied by a special assessment on their regular school tax bills. For tenants, these assessments must be paid directly to the office of the Secretary-Treasurer. Rates are $20.00 per annum for one child, $30.00 per annum if there is more than one child in a family being transported. Except for children displaced due to overcrowded conditions in one elementary school and transferred, therefore, to another, there will be no exemption from paying the transportation charge.

Until such time as the distribution of pupils in the various areas of transportation is accurately known, a permanent schedule can not be made. But bus passes will be issued and go into effect on Sept. 10th. In the interim period bus pick ups will be made as follows:

Editorial Notes

An Excellent Fair

THE Huntingdon Fair this year was one of the best staged in a good many years. The parade on opening night was an excellent one, it is doubtful if there has been any better before. Much time and labor went into the making of the floats and the ideas were quite original in many cases, even to the children's bicycles. This shows more than passing interest in the fair, in fact we believe we could say it shows a devout interest in trying to do a real worth-while job. The Ladies' Dutch Club float was outstanding and deserved the first prize it won. Dewittville with its "Summer 62" was quite appropriate but it may have taken a minute or two to realize the meaning and a closer look.

Beautiful weather prevailed until late Saturday afternoon and evening, when continuous heavy downpours of rain would put a stop to all outdoor activities. Fortunately, the Fair now has the use of the Huntingdon County War Memorial Arena and thus much of the remaining activity was carried on in this building. Before this however, nothing marred the Fair, on Friday it was positively hot and the day attendance was not too heavy. Generally attendances were very good with evening attendances quite good. Opening night appeared especially good, the arena being well filled ahead of the program. This may have been due to the midway being late in getting started.

The program as regard to the horse show was quite good, much of it being given over to children and ponies. These young fry handle the animals quite well. The various sections of exhibits were very well billed this year, flowers in particular being better and there were more vegetables. The various booths in the industrial building seemed to be kept busy and no doubt would add to their funds to the benefit of the various local organizations. It was Holstein Day for the dairy cattle and there were a goodly number of these cattle in the show arena on Black and White Day. There were also other breeds in good display.

One pleasant feature of the opening night program was the short concert given by the band and the majorettes. The band was the combined one of Ormstown and Huntingdon conducted by Mr. Lindsay Cullen of Ormstown. The majorettes were from Ormstown. It was a very interesting part of the program and there actually should have been more of it throughout the Fair.

While we are not acquainted with the final results at this time, we feel that increased atendances will be noted this year.

No doubt praise can be given to the officials of the Fair, with special mention to the Secretary, Leon Beaudin, who bears the brunt of the before and after work that always has to be done with a Fair. The Gleaner found Mr. Beaudin most co-operative in the matters which it had to deal with him about. There are many little details which have to be attended to and which help to make the Fair a success and the secretary is the man who usually has this to do. Praise is also due Mr. Carl Wheeler, President, for the many improvements about the grounds and the general overseeing of the Fair. The Parade officials Messrs. J. M. Smellie and D. McGerrigle, Sr., deserve praise for the excellent Parade.

Nationalization of Electric Power Companies

THE past week it has been announced that the Quebec Parliament may soon be called upon to make a decision on whether or not to take over private electric power companies and operate them under government ownership. Premier Lesage has been named in connection with this whereas only Resources Minister Rene Leveques had been named before. In the reports the vast amount of money that would be required to take over the companies was mentioned and that the take-over would be done through Quebec Hydro.

In an effort to substantiate the benefit of the Government taking over these private companies, it has been said that under Quebec Hydro, the rates to the consumer would be lower than now. We wonder if anyone has thought of where the money would come from to pay for the take-over in the first place. With this initial outlay and one which must be paid back as it would only be borrowed, the concern would be in debt to the tune of the amount. Interest would have to be paid on the amount borrowed and this would be added to the debt. This amount would also have to be budgeted for in the costs of administration and would be in addition to the regular operating expenses. How then could the rates be lowered to the consumer? In all probability the rates would be higher until this debt had been paid off which may take many, many years.

At the present ime the companies are operating at certain rates which have not met with any opposition on the part of the consumers and no one has objected to the service or the rates now being given by the companies. The energy which supplies electrical power comes from the water resources of the Province, but only after a terrific expense on the part of the companies harnessing this power to provide the energy. The companies must contribute to the Province for the use of this water power and in various methods of taxation wherever it has its facilities set up. They are not exploiting the resources for the companies' entire gain and they cannot exploit the people by raising the rates at will. Under this method of private ownership, the companies are bound to keep up their services and pay the shot too. Under Government ownership the people would be paying the shot and paying the rates too. In the event of power failure, the Government can tell you anything and you will like it.

There is absolutely no reason for a government take-over at this time and if the Liberal Government is responsible for such action, it will be one of these sorry days for the Party as a whole. The only time that the Government needs to step in and take any such utility, is when it has been proven that such concern cannot give the service for which it is responsible and as a result the general public will suffer adverse consequences. The Government could then step in and take over—manage the affairs until the crises has passed—or make whatever arrangement may be necessary to carry on the services in the public interest.

This is the first time that we ever remember a nationalist trend in either the Liberal or the Conservative Parties. Both these parties have been impartial as to undertakings of private enterprise and have only stepped in when and if the circumstances forced them to do so. It is time some of the Liberal followers began to talk to their leaders and give them a go slow sign. We feel sure that none of the rank and file gave the Government the right to go into business of any kind. If such a thing is contemplated then it should be done by a vote of the electorate and not by an Order in Council. The Party should not be placed in disrepute by the headstrong views of just a few because they hold some kind of office. After all the members of the government party in power are just the trustees. It should be understood that under our democratic constitution the government is for the people of the people and by the people. Therefore if the people want to go into business and feel that the electrical business is the one they want, let them say so by referendum.

The present Government made much of the sale of another untility under the former Government. Is not what is proposed now of a similar nature? If such deals are bad for one, are they not also bad for the other?

While the electrical power supply is under the direction of prvate enterprise, it will be operated much more efficiently than if under government ownership.

First of a Series on Weekly Newspapers

THIS week we begin a series of seven editorials on how and why a weekly newspaper such as The Gleaner functions. The series we are using appeared originally in the Surrey (B.C.) Leader and were re-printed in this newspaper in 1952.

The Gleaner, like every other weekly newspaper, is a business organization providing a public service for a profit. This is an accepted definition of a weekly.

In the 19th century the publication of weekly newspapers were the happy hunting grounds of unsuccessful politicians, long-haired artists and earnest souls striving for the uplift of mankind. The editorial department was usually entrusted to tramp printers. These latter were marvellous craftsmen, when they were sober.

The infant mortality rate amongst weekly newspapers was tremendous.

In modern times the publishing of a weekly has become a business, many with a highly developed sense of public service. The printers are respectable members of society, with the strongest union in America. Weeklies are now run on a businesslike basis.

A paper must make a profit or it must be subsidized. And no subsidized newspaper is free. The only way to have a free press is to have independent journals which have to look neither to state nor to political party for financial assistance. Therefore, to be independent, a paper must be a business organization making a profit.

The weekly is dedicated to public service, in particular, service to the community it serves. In every community in Canada, all worthwhile community efforts receive columns of publicity and editorial support.

Therefore a weekly newspaper is a business organization providing a public service for a profit.

MEMBER AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

Provincial Capital Report

QUEBEC (CP) Another week of conjecture buzzed around the electricity nationalization issue and Government circles which favor the takeover expressed confidence over the eventual outcome.

La Presse reported at the week's end that the Cabinet may have already decided to nationalize three small power companies in the Gaspe and Abitibi regions and to set up a Royal Commission to study the possibility of acquiring Shawinigan Water and Power.

Premier Lesage declined to comment on the report.

But reporters noted both he and Rene Levesque, the Natural Resources Minister, seemed in good spirits following a Cabinet meeting Thursday. On the other hand, some sources suggested a Royal Commission into the possible takeover would not be what Mr. Levesque wants.

There had been persistent speculation that the Cabinet would meet during the first week of September to settle the nationalization issue once and for all.

After Thursday's regular Cabinet gathering Premier Lesage volunteered the information that his ministers would meet in the Laurentians, north of Quebec, at a camp run by the Lands and Forest department. The main idea was to discuss forthcoming legislation away from the bustle of the city.

But it would not be a formal meeting because government advisors would not be there. He added, to a reporter's question, that executives of the Quebec Liberal Federation "may come to see us."

"It will be useless to come to get news," Mr. Lesage told reporters. "There won't be any."

The hopes of Government people who favor nationalization got a shot in the arm Friday from the Premier when he spoke at the opening of the Quebec Exhibition.

He said that for a small nation like French Canada to undertake economic emancipation was not easy. But Quebec possessed the collective force to bring the issue to a successful conclusion.

Each time Quebec got an idea on where it wanted to go, people became worried.

"Because — and I am weighing my words — certain people have an interest in Quebec remaining a source of cheap labor, a reservoir of primary material or again, an old-fashioned country for tourists."

The period has passed, he said, when influences of particular groups could be used on the government when it wanted to chance anything. He did not elaborate.

But some Government informants said the speech was significant in the light of the current speculation over the nationalization issue. They said the Premier would not have chosen to speak in that tone or in such words unless a policy had been decided upon.

La Presse said in a story from its Quebec office that the Government would nationalize Lower St. Lawrence Power Company, which serves the Abitibi region.

Mr. Lesage announced several months ago that his government is dickering with Lower St. Lawrence Power and Northern Quebec Power whose owners are reported anxious to sell.

As for the giant Shawinigan Power Company, and its subsidiary power firms, a royal commission could be set up in a few months, La Presse said.

Earlier, the Administration Council of the Quebec Federation of Chambres de Commerce suggested to the Premier by telegram that a decision be held up on nationalization. An independent body should be created to study the matter and to give both sides a chance to air their views.

Premier Lesage disclosed at the end of the week that the Province had a consolidated debt of $516,065,793 at March 31, the end of the 1961-62 fiscal year. That was an increase of $104,445,359 over the previous fiscal year.

Revenue for the 1961-62 fiscal year totalled $754,114,484, up from $636,630,433. Ordinary expenses, including costs of the public debt, were $713,587,761, an increase from $618,690,666.

That gave, the Premier said, a surplus in ordinary accounts of $40,526,723 against $17,939,767.

Capital expenditures in the last fiscal year totalled $103,294,697, down slightly from $126,784,239.

Letter Recalls Memories

We were talking with Jim Barret, the other day on matters of historical nature and he then told us of another story.

In 1960 he received a letter from a man who had visited Huntingdon and whom he recognized as a former neighbor many years ago when he was living on the farm. Both were very young and while Mr. Barret wondered if this man might remember him, he decided to write to him. The letter he received was in answer to one he wrote.

The man in question was Hobart A. Dowler and he was better known as Hobey. He said he had hired Mr. J. Brooks to drive him out to his old home and around the district. He had only had a part of Saturday and Sunday and had had insufficient time to do all he would have liked. However he intended to return in the near future and go more thoroughly into the matters in which he was interested.

He wanted to look up some family records and he also wanted to visit the Huntingdon Gleaner. His age he said was 80 years of age and was engaged in re-establishing Historical sites and buildings during the last ten years. Mr. Dowler specialized as a Log Cabin Craftsman and in this capacity he was responsible for the designing and building of the Rundle's Mission at Pigeon Lake, Alberta, where he had made his home for many years. Enclosed with the letter was a picture of the building all built with logs and Mr. Dowler was also named as one of the directors.

Further in his letter he said that his old home was now owned by Emile Boucher. Then he said, "I am looking forward to the time when I shall again visit Huntingdon and I shall bring Mrs. Dowler with me."

However, this was not to be for early this year, Mr. Barret received a clipping from a newspaper which recorded Mr. Dowler's death at 82.

Mr. Barret remarked on how strange it is sometimes that one comes upon a former citizen. He said he had often wondered how this family got along and where they might be situated.

Letter To The Editer

ST. JOSEPH'S CADET BUGLE BAND
Huntingdon, Que.
Sept. 4th, 1962.

The Editor,
The Huntingdon Gleaner Inc.
Dear Sir:

Due to the fact that I have received several telephone calls asking why the Air Cadets were not in the parade for the Huntingdon Fair, I thought it a good idea to answer through the medium of the Gleaner. Unfortunately through a misunderstanding of the Agricultural Society we were asked on the eve before the parade, this is too short a notice to group all the boys after being on vacation for two months.

The public will probably be pleased to learn that we are resuming our practices this week to prepare for a parade through the streets of our town this month, the occasion is to celebrate the winning of the Molson Trophy, last May at the Chateauguay Music Festival, this will also announce a bingo which will be held the same evening, in favour of the band to help increase this group by six, we intend to buy six barritone bugles, which will make a group of forty members in this Cadet band. The people of the town will also take note that two of our officers will wear a new uniform for the first time. Anyone who wishes to encourage this band please send your donation to the Instructor Hervé Tessier or to the Principal of St. Joseph School your help will be greatly appreciated. More on this parade to appear in the Gleaner later. Thank you.

Hervé Tessier.

Ste. Agnes

Box Party and Dance

STE. AGNES — Probably due to the very hot weather of the past week and to the fact that Huntingdon Fair was being held at the same time, the box party and dance held at Dundee Town Hall in Ste. Agnes for the benefit of the Parish Church drew a very small attendance. Tex Fortier's orchestra was in attendance to supply the music for dancing, and the few who were in attendance, especially the teenagers, report having had a very good time. Highest bid for a box was between the five and six dollar mark which would seem to be a pretty fair price for 'lunch for two.'

Shower for Bride-to-be

On Saturday, Sept. 1st, Mrs. Duncon McPherson and Miss Dawn Elder entertained at a "relative's shower" for their cousin, Miss Norma Currie at Mrs. McPherson's home in Valleyfield. There were about twenty guests present.

The decorations were carried out in pink and white with tall pink tapers and pink and white rosebud shower cake forming a charming centerpiece on the bride's table.

On her arrival, Dawn read a speech of welcome to Norma which was later presented to her on a large white wedding bell. Norma received many useful gifts for which she fittingly thanked those assembled.

A delicious supper was served by the hostesss and a pleasant social hour enjoyed.

On Friday evening, Aug. 31st Norma was also honoured at a shower in Fort Covington, N.Y. at which Mrs. Hilda Holden, Mrs. Lillian Low and Mrs. Fish were joint hostesses.

HOWICK — Howick Women's Institute held their September meeting, one week early, at the E. Smith Cottage on Lake St. Francis.

Mrs. E. Smith presided. More than 20 members and visitors were present, so the rall call — Name your favourite pie — brought some varied answers, with lemon heading the list.

Members were asked to prepare articles for Christmas stockings for children in Algeria, Italy, Greece, etc.

The next W.I. course will be held in the spring and will be brought to the attention of every woman in the community.

Mrs. H. Greig, Convener of Home Ec., was in charge of the program and introduced Mrs. W. Younie, who had attended the leadership course at Macdonald College. Mrs. Younie demonstrated several embroidery stitches and gave an interesting description of the course, which was attended by forty women.

Mrs. H. Greig led a discussion on canning and freezing vegetables and fruits.

Material was on hand from Benardin products and by using same, many jars formerly discarded, can be used for canning.

Cards were sent to Mrs. Rich and Miss Ritchie, who are in hospitals.

Members were asked to keep tymbols from Salada and Shirriff goods.

Following the meeting several groups of ladies enjoyed a trip on the water.

Chateauguay and English River ladies served delicious homemade bun sandwiches, and a peach dessert with cake. While everyone relaxed and enjoyed the refreshments, the young people in the Smith family put on an exhibition of water skiing which looks strenuous but is a beautiful sight. Maybe the day will come when water skiing will be among the W.I. courses; to whittle down the waist lines and renew our joie de vivre.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mr. and Mrs. Smith for providing such a delightful afternoon and everyone left for home.

Report From Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — A collar-wilting heat wave—the first of the cool and wet summer—gripped the capital last week. But the chill winds of austerity continued to blow unabated.

In the latest series of belt-tightening moves:

1. An $86,000,000 cut in the defence budget was announced reducing defence spending for the current fiscal year by five per cent to $1,590,000,000.

2. The CBC said it has been asked to slash its capital budget of $10,500,000 in half but is opposing the suggestion.

3. Federal payment for premium quality hogs was dropped to $2 a head from $3.

4. Some phases of the national survival programme — gearing the nation for nuclear attack—were ordered to slow down spending through a stretch-out plan.

The cuts are part of the cabinet's drive to lop $200,000,000 from the spending program already laid out for this fiscal year — a record $6,525,000,000. Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced the plan June 24 as part of an austerity campaign.

More Cuts Pending

More announcements of budget curtailments are impending and throughout the government service department heads are listening for the swish of the austerity axe.

Not all departments are taking it lying down.

The CBC told the cabinet it already has awarded contracts for some capital projects and cannot meet the request to chop some $5,250,000 in capital works from its budget. It made a counter proposal to the cabinet, amid speculation that the corporation would suggest a $4,000,000 reduction.

Other department heads were known to be fighting budget reductions, although nothing was being said publicly.

Biggest complaints came from organizations representing the 50,000 civil servants whose proposed pay increase was shelved last month for austerity reasons. They made new demands last week for a review of the situation.

Lumber and Cardboard

There were two developments during the week containing fresh problems for the austerity-minded.

Eight U.S. government officials came to Ottawa for two days of private talks with senior officials here on Canada's mounting softwood lumber exports to the U.S., now moving at a $260,000,000-a-year rate.

U.S. lumber interests are pressuring Washington to curb the Canadian flow which started to leap last spring after dollar devaluation resulted in reduced prices for Canadian goods in the U.S. market.

The word was out that Washington wants Canada to put a voluntary quota on its lumber exports, holding them to 10 per cent of the U.S. market, about 13 per cent of which now is held by Canadian softwoods. Canada, which faces a chronic deficit in trade with the U.S., isn't likely to comply.

The other development was a report by the anti-cobines commission urging removal of the tariff protection for the Canadian cardboard box industry. It cited a "long history" of price-fixing arrangements in what it said was one of the most profitable industries in Canada.

Removing tariffs of 20 and 22½ per cent against U.S. products would force the Canadian industry to retreat from present price levels, the report said. But it noted the current austerity program with its tariff surcharges and added that tariff removal "may not be feasible during the present financial crisis."

Prepare for London

On the political front, Prime Minister Diefenbaker moved back into his East Block office on Parliament Hill after being kept at home for a month with a fractured ankle.

The day before returning to the office he turned up at a national executive meeting of the Progressive Conservative party and a two-hour caucus of Conservative MPs, the first since the June 18 general election.

Behind closed doors, both groups heard what was later described as a "real fighting speech" from the prime minister. At the caucus he outlined the government's legislative program for the first session of the 25th Parliament which opens September 27.

But the prime minister's chief task was preparing for the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference which opens September 10 in London. He said he will arrive in London three days ahead of the opening to hold pre-conference talks with prime ministers Menzies of Australia and Holyoake of New Zealand.

External Affairs Minister Green will accompany Mr. Diefenbaker to London. Justice Minister Fleming will tend the home front as acting prime minister.

Happy Alvin Hamilton

Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton who always insists on looking on the bright side, outdid himself one sunny afternoon last week.

Strolling into a cabinet meeting, he was stopped by a cluster of reporters who asked how things were going and thus provided the minister with a natural platform to extol the western wheat situation.

Mr. Hamilton bubbled over with enthusiasm as he told of reports indicating a bumper harvest hard on the heels of the third highest wheat export year on record.

It would mean prosperity for all of Canada, he went on. Farmers already were so prosperous they had bought up all the 1962 model cars available west of Winnipeg and many were forced to await 1963 models. This was great news for Eastern Canada factory workers, he noted.

Dr. E.W.R. Steacie

Few of his associates were braced for news of the death of Dr. Edgar William Richard Steacie, 61-year-old president of the national research council. Despite a long battle against cancer of the liver, he had worked right up to the previous week.

The distinguished scientist's brilliant career in chemistry was marked by a long list of international honors. Last fall he was elected president of the 49-nation International Council of Scientific Unions.

Couple To Observe Golden Wedding Day On Sept. 9th

It was at the Congregational church manse in Malone on September 11, 1912 with the Rev. John MacIntosh officiating at the nuptials that Miss Sara Smallman said "I do" and Eugene DeGowin said "I do."

Now, fifty milestones later — on Sunday, September 9th, to be exact — they're going to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary at the old DeGowin Homestead where they have always lived — and they want everybody to come — relatives, friends, old acquaintances, young acquaintances, — everybody.

Both Mr. and Mrs. DeGowin are descendants of early families. Mrs. DeGowin was born in Dundee, Quebec, a daughter of the late Joseph and Sarah Ann Moody Smallman. After high school at the old Fort Covington academy the young Miss Smallman taught two years in the McQueen district; a year in the Fred McElwain district, and a year at Ste. Agnes.

Gene also attended Fort Covington High school and the week of final examinations went fishing at a camp of a friend on the St. Lawrence. His parents were the late James and Mary Howard DeGowin and he was born right there on the old home place that his grandparents, Richard and Nancy Perry DeGowin bought in 1853.

The original farm which grandpa purchased was only 65 acres but over the years it was added to. Edward Ellice of London England owned a tract of thousands of acres of which this was a parcel. The senior DeGowin was born in 1823 at Coteau du Lac across the river from Valleyfield and he had only three months of formal schooling in his life but here and there along the way he picked up considerable practical knowledge, wrote and spelled well, attested to by his old combination diary of important events and book of accounts, still existing and which tells a story in itself of Fort Covington in earlier days. Incidentally the elder DeGowin was a charter member of Aurora Lodge, F. & A. M., which in the beginning was at Westville. The early settler's wife was Nancy Perry, born in Vermont in 1828, her family moving to Fort Covington and settling in a house south of the present Allie Smith farm.

In the beginning the house grandpa and grandma built was a one and one-half story structure but in 1895 they raised the roof to its present height. Like many houses of the period the walls are lined with brick and grandpa did all of the inside carpenter work himself.

With grounds of estate proportions, it's a spacious home of 14 rooms, furnished mostly with antiques collected over many years by the present occupants who came to the farm following their marriage and took over its operation on January 19, 1919. Gene has always farmed, but in 1949 he switched from dairying to raising Black Angus cattle. For ten years he served as a commissioner on the Franklin County Board of Elections and was a member of the Fort Covington town board as a justice of the peace for many years. He is a member of Aurora Lodge, F. & A. M., Mrs. DeGowin was active in Home Bureau for many years. They are members of the Fort Covington Presbyterian church.

The venerable couple have two daughters, Mrs. Harlie G. (Elona) Smith of Malone and Mrs. C. Walter (Dorothy) Smallman of Fort Covington; a granddaughter, Tamara Jean Smallman, and five foster children who stayed with them for ten years and whom they think of as members of the family.

The reception hours at the open house to be given by their daughters on September 9th will be from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. King Kellogg were their attendants fifty years ago but they reside in Miami Beach now.

Friday morning, Aug. 17th, Mr. Collins received a telephone call to tell him his mother had passed away. Mr. and Mrs. Collins, Lois and Lori returned to New Woodstock, N.Y., returning home on August 21st. Sympathy is extended to the Collins family on the loss of a mother.

Dewittville

DEWITTVILLE — The August meeting of the Dewittville W.C.T.U. was held at the home of Miss Phyllis Todd on Thursday, August 23rd.

Mrs. Pearl Beattie presided. Nine members and two guests were present.

Scripture taken from Ephesians 2:13-22 was read by Mrs. Allan Stewart. The Theme was "Christ, the Wellspring of Life." Mrs. Beattie gave a resume of Chapter VII of "Peace with God" and closed with prayer.

The usual business routine was followed and a discussion ensued concerning the W.C.T.U. Booth at the Fair. Help, preparation, sale of food, etc., was arranged. Also, the items to be sent in for the page in the Tidings; and the N.Y. State Convention in Massena, on October 14th. Members were to keep these in mind and help in any convenient way.

Mrs. F. Martin invited the Union to meet at her home for the September meeting, probable date September 27th. Lunch will be served at 1 p.m. prior to the meeting.

Mrs. Beattie read several articles taken from World's White Ribbon Bulletin, reviewed "The Winning Way" and reminded all of the National Convention at Banff and the World's Convention at Delhi, India.

A delicious salad tea was served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, and a most enjoyable social hour was spent together.

Hemmingford

Hemmingford Red Cross To Hold Blood Clinic

A meeting of the Hemmingford Branch of the Red Cross was held at the Catholic School, on Wednesday evening, August 22nd. Miss Mesnard, Field Supervisor, was, unfortunately, unable to be present, but the Supervisor of Clinics for Montreal was a most efficient deputy. The main item to be discussed was the proposed Blood Clinic which will be held in the United Hall on Wednesday, September 12th. Doctor Paul Belanger kindly consented to act as Chairman of this year's Clinic. Plans were made to contact all last year's donors and cards will be sent out to the general public in an endeavour to obtain a list of as many donors as possible before the actual day. A number of cars and drivers will be available to transport anyone living outside the village and anyone wishing transportation is asked to get in touch with President Mr. Roland Bourgon at Charlotte 7-2621, or, for that matter, any member of the Hemmingford Red Cross. The ladies of the Barrington Sewing Party will take care of the refreshments this year and Mrs. James Robertson will see that every donor has a nursing aide ready to give any assistance needed. Any lady with any nursing experience, hospital, Red Cross or St. John's Ambulance, and willing to give a few hours of her time at the Clinic on this day, is asked to contact Mrs. Robertson at Charlotte 7-2571. Bilingual assistants on Registration, refreshments and as Aides will be heartily welcomed. Our quota this year is 125 pints.

For those unfamiliar with what goes on at a Blood Donor Clinic, perhaps a few words of explanation might come in useful. When you enter, you give your name and age, a qualified technician pricks your finger-tip and extracts a drop of blood. This she immediately tests to find out if you are strong enough to donate, no one the least bit anaemic or under par is accepted. If you are anxious about your blood-pressure, that, too, will be taken if you wish. Then you stretch out on a comfortable bed, another slight prick in your arm this time, a needle is inserted and a friendly Aide stands by the bed and chats while you donate your pint of blood, you don't feel a thing. The needle is painlessly removed, you sit up and the Aide walks with you to the refreshment table at the end of the Hall and there you are offered coffee or a soft-drink and doughnuts. A pleasant chat and, if you wish, a car at the door to take you home, with a warm comfortable feeling inside that, what has taken just a few minutes of your time, at no discomfort to yourself, may be the means of saving the life of another. Remember the date — and donate.

In Canada's first federal election in 1867, voting took place from August 7th to September 20th.

Pigeons Owned By Garth Stephen Know Way Home

The September 28th 1960 issue of The Gleaner carried a short story about a Huntingdon boy, Garth Stephen, and his new hobby or raising homing pigeons. At that time, the lad was not too sure the pigeons would return to the loft when he took them out. The story related that he took one bird 1½ miles from Huntingdon and it returned; a second was taken twenty miles away and it also returned.

This was the beginning of an interesting hobby for Garth that now shows promises of also becoming a profitable one.

15-year-old Garth now has 25 pigeons. About five weeks ago his father, Mr. Douglas Stephen, took four of Garth's homing pigeons to Quebec City with him while on a business trip. He set them free near the Parliament Buildings. Two of the birds arrived home. On the next trip, about two weeks later when the Stephens drove to Quebec to pick up their oldest son, Peter, they set three pigeons loose and this time all returned home.

Dr. Robert Nodwell (husband of the former Miss Helen Shanks) took two of the birds with him when he returned to his Toronto home last week. On Thursday, at noon, he set one of the pigeons free at Perth, Ont., and it returned early in the morning the next day. Dr. Nodwell set the second bird free in Toronto on Saturday and this arrived home at 1 p.m. on Monday.

Every Sunday homing pigeon fans conduct a meet and send their pigeons by train to different areas in Ontario and Quebec. This Sunday the birds will be sent to Tweed, Ont., and Garth plans to enter six of his with the entries of Mr. Paul Grenon of Valleyfield, who became interested in the hobby eight years ago and who introduced Garth to the pastime two years ago.

SHOWER HELD FOR MISS SHIRLEY GREER

BOOKLET — The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Wilson, was the scene of a pleasant gathering on Tuesday evening, August 28th., when Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Russell Milne and Mrs. Arnold Milne were joint hostesses at a Kitchen Shower, held in honor of Miss Shirley Greer's approaching marriage. On the arrival of the bride-to-be, she was ushered into the living room to the strains of "Here Comes the Bride" played by Miss Helene Collins, where relatives and friends to the number of forty were assembled. When seated in the prettily decorated chair the bride-to-be was presented with many lovely gifts, which were taken from under a beautifully decorated pink and white umbrella.

Although completely taken by surprise, Shirley thanked all for their kindness and invited all to visit her in her new home, after which games were played and prizes given.

Delicious refreshments, including a beautiful shower cake were served by the hostesses, assisted by others.

All departed wishing Shirley many years of happy wedded life.

LEGION GIFT TO BALL-PLAYERS

On Tuesday, August 7th, President Herbert Short of the Hemmingford Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion, together with a number of members, attended a Ball game at the Park. Prior to the commencement of the game, the Hemmingford Senior Ball Team lined up on the field, together with the Legion members and the President presented to Team Captain Bob Laurin new uniform sweaters for each member of the team. They are in the Club colours, black and white, with the words Hemmingford Legion on the back.

Looking very smart in their new colours, the team took part in the Softball Tournament held in Hemmingford on Sunday, August 12th. 8 Teams competed and the Trophy was won by Rouses Point. Hemmingford played again the following Sunday at Franklin Centre and succeeded in reaching the semi-finals, but again Rouses Points proved the stronger team.

ROBIDEAU — DAUPHINAIS.

The marriage of Therese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Florian Dauphinais of Hemmingford, to Mr. Robert Robideau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Armand Robideau of Mooers Forks, N.Y. was celebrated at St. Roman's Church, Hemmingford by the parish priest, Father J. M. LaRocque, on Sunday, August 4th, 1962.

During the Mass, Miss Florence Dauphinais, sister of the bride, sang a favourite hymn, Mrs. Walter Smith and Miss Pauline Smith, the bride's aunt and cousin, sang a duet and the Ladies Choir also sang. Mrs. J. H. L'Espérance was at the organ. Three white trellis arches, decorated with white gladioli, white satin bows and green fern, spanned the centre aisle of the church from the door to the sanctuary, guests pews were decorated with white gladioli, white tapers and bows while tall standards of the same flowers graced the sanctuary, guests' pews were decoration of both church and reception hall were a gift to the bride from a close neighbour and friend, Mr. J. Stepan.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a graceful gown of white silk organza and lace. The fitted bodice of lace over organza was styled with long sleeves and sabrina neckline, the very full skirt was decorated with lace appliques. Her veil of tulle illusion was held with a dainty coronet of seed pearls and sequins and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses and stephanotis.

The bride's mother wore a sheath gown of rose-beige organza with over-skirt of lace and matching hat and accessories.

The groom's mother chose a sheath gown of satin in a delicate turquoise shade, her hat, in the same shade, was composed of pointed petals of satin and feathers and her shoes and purse were in pale deep pink rosebuds.

A reception for 226 guests was held at the Frontier Inn following the ceremony. For her honeymoon, which included a tour of Niagara Falls and on to New York, the bride wore a suit of soft brown wool with avoca-green accessories.

In the evening, a reception was given the happy couple in the Mooers Forks Town Hall and their many friends in the vicinity filled the Hall to capacity.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Robideau will take over the home farm which is situated just west of Cannon's Corners while Mr. and Mrs. Armand Robideau will move into their new house close by.

The happy couple were recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts.

THE LATE MRS. WILSON T. HAYES.

Early on Tuesday morning, August 21st, Mrs. Wilson Hayes passed away at the Nursing Home in Howick, where she has been staying for the past little while. Mrs. Hayes, formerly Una May Miller was the daughter of the late James Miller and Martha Burke. Born in 1884, in the house which stands opposite the Willie McKay farm, Mrs. Hayes lived a quiet life at home with her parents until her marriage to Wilson Hayes, who was farming a short distance away. Their farm home stood then on the main road to Sherrington, but when the new highway was built it curved away for a short piece further west, leaving them on a quiet stretch of little-used road, where now many new properties have been built. When her husband died twenty-two years ago, Mrs. Hayes stayed on at the farm with her two children. She was a keen motorist and always enjoyed driving out to visit her friends. She leaves a daughter, Ruby, Mrs. Noble Rusenstrom, of Shawville and a son, Richard James, who is a Lieutenant in the Montreal Police Force, and four grandchildren. Her friends visited the Funeral Parlour in Hemmingford to pay their last respects and the bank of beautiful floral arrangements which surrounded the coffin spoke eloquently of the high esteem in which she was held. The service was conducted at the Parlour by the Reverend Charles Pelletier from Valleyfield in the absence of Reverend Gordon Ficko and the interment was on Thursday, August 24th in the Hemmingford Cemetery. The pallbearers were Albert McKay, Russell Williams, John Emerson, Willie McKay, Alan Campbell and Hugh McAdam.

Mrs. Hayes' two nieces, with their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Garth Graham and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Trudeau of Wyman, Quebec, together with other relatives from Montreal, were present at the funeral. The arrangements were in the hands of Mr. Milton Sharpe of Franklin Centre.

—o—

THE LATE MRS. ARTHUR McALEER.

Hemmingford lost another well-known resident on Thursday evening, August 16th, when Mrs. Emily McAleer, wife of Arthur James McAleer, passed away suddenly at her home on the Williams Road.

Mrs. McAleer, the former Emily Ormerod, was born in England and came to Canada when she was about 5 years old. She resided in Sherrington until her marriage on July 1st, 1912. Her golden wedding anniversary was celebrated very quietly, owing to her ill-health, with her husband and the close family in July of this year. After her marriage she lived and worked with her husband on the farm which has been in this family for four generations. She leaves to mourn her passing, her husband, Arthur James McAleer, two daughters, Agnes, Mrs. F. Sheasgreen, Montreal, Kathleen, Mrs. Harold Tobin, Dorion, and three sons, Phillip and Edmund, of Hemmingford and Gerald of Baie Comeau, also six grandchildren. Her only sister died several years ago and her bother in March, 1962.

The Requiem Mass was celebrated by three of the White Fathers from St. Bernard at the parish church of St. Roman in Hemmingford, on Monday, August 20th. The Men's Choir, with assistance from Father LaRocque, sang the mass. The interment was in the Church Cemetery. Many beautiful floral arrangements and Mass Cards were sent by sympathetic relatives and friends.
