World News In Brief

Prague, July 20. —(AP)—The controlled press claimed today that the government-sponsored Catholic Action movement had supplanted Archbishop Joseph Beran and his bishops as the spokesmen for Czechoslovakia's Roman Catholics.

This claim, advanced in the newspaper Lidova Demokracie, indicated the government was preparing to bypass the isolated bishops and deal directly with the separatist organization.

In that way the government could obtain "Catholic approval" for the proposed new law for control of the churches and also a new state-church agreement dictated on government terms.

Meadville, Pa., July 20. —(AP)—A torrential rainfall last night caused a flash flood that did thousands of dollars of damage in Meadville and other sections of Crawford County. No casualties were reported.

City Engineer Roy I. Phillips reported 3.35 inches of rain between 6 and 7 p.m., an all-time record for this northwest Pennsylvania town.

London, July 20. —(AP)—A Tass dispatch distributed here said today the International Trade Union Federation of Seamen and Dockers had elected Harry Bridges chairman of its bureau consisting also of four vice chairmen. Bridges is president of the Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (C.I.O.). The Federation conference ended in Marseille, July 18.

Albany, N.Y., July 20. —(AP)—Stuyvesant town, gigantic housing project in New York City, acted within its rights when it barred Negroes as tenants, says the Court of Appeals. The State's highest court upheld in a 4-3 decision last night a decision of the appellate division which refused to reinstate Stuyvesant town and its owner, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, from such discrimination.

Washington, July 20. —(AP)—Profits of manufacturing corporations slidded downward about $550,000,000 during the first three months of this year compared to 1948's last quarter, a government report estimated last night. The drop was about 18 per cent. A survey released by the Federal Trade and Securities and Exchange Commissions laid the slump to falling sales which more than offset lower operating costs.

Chicago, July 20. —(AP)—A man carrying a .38 calibre pistol was seized by police yesterday near the gate at Soldier Field through which President Truman passed to address a Shrine convention. The man, James Lofton, 26, of Chicago, was wearing a bogus police badge. They questioned without charge.

Repercussions Of Seamen's Conflict Are World-Wide

Montreal, July 20. —(AP)—An inter-union conflict over communists in Canada's labor organizations has grown into a strike which has brought Britain to a state of emergency and now threatens to involve dockworkers in other world ports.

The Canadian Seamen's Union, whose strike has sparked a wildcat sympathy walkout in British ports, is counting heavily on further support from the Red-tinted World Federation of Trade Unions in an attempt to bring Canada's east-coast shipowners to terms.

The seamen's strike was ordered March 31 by the allegedly communist-led union when a score of shipowners on Canada's east coast signed what the C.S.U. calls an "illegal contract" with the rival Seafarers' International Union (A.F.L.). C.S.U. officials contend the S.I.U. does not represent the men on the ships at the time of the strike.

British Import Figures At Record Level As Adverse Trade Balance Increases

Uranium Is Favorite Of Prospectors

Ottawa, July 20. —(AP)—It's not "Forever Amber," but considering its technical nature, the "Prospector's Guide for Uranium and Thorium Minerals in Canada" rates as a popularity.

The Department of Mines and Resources disclosed today that about 7,000 copies of the brown-covered, 41-page booklet have been distributed since the first printing last year.

By scientific standards that would make it a best-seller except that it's not sold. The Government sends it on request to anyone who needs it.

Most of the copies have gone to companies and private prospectors in Canada and the United States who are interested in joining the growing hunt for uranium. The number of copies and the surprising demand for them is an indication of how the search for the precious mineral has caught the fancy of Canadians.

The Dominion Government threw uranium prospecting open to private interests in December, 1947 and since then more and more prospectors armed with Geiger counters have joined the search.

Canada's Guide now is receiving some competition from the United States which published a similar book last week.

The Guide tells the prospector what he must know before he sets out to look for uranium. It tells him there are five minerals which supply the bulk of the world's uranium. Pitchblende is "the richest and most important."

It's only primary mineral containing uranium oxide. Other sources are Carnotite, tyuyamunite, autunite, and tobernite. These are seldom found in quantity.

Crop Outlook Hit By Long Drought

Ottawa, July 20. —(AP)—Rain hit drought-stricken central Alberta last week and improved prospects for feed grains and pasture crops in the province.

But except for the Peace River district in the North and in the southwest, Alberta's crop outlook ranges from fair to poor, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said yesterday in a regular crop report.

Excess of Imports Over Exports and Re-Exports in June Amounted to $216,000,000.

London, July 20. —(AP)—Britain's adverse trade balance in June was the highest since September, 1947, and her imports were the largest on record, the Board of Trade announced today.

Excess of imports over the total exports and re-exports in June was $54,200,000 ($216,800,000), an increase of $16,400,000 over May. Exports during June totalled $143,100,000, a decrease of $8,300,000 from May's exports.

Provisional exports to Canada were put at $6,000,000 and to the United States at $3,000,000.

Although exports were down from May, the daily rate of exports was 2.5-per-cent higher in June because it covered only 24 customs working days compared with 26 in May.

Re-exports totalled $4,400,000 which was less than the average in recent months. Cotton yarns and manufactures fell by $1,300,000 to $13,300,000 lowest since October; food, drink and tobacco by $200,000 to $7,300,000; and raw materials by $300,000 to $5,600,000.

Coal exports, however, were the highest this year at $3,800,000. Imports of food, drink and tobacco at $55,400,000 were within $400,000 of the January record. Value of raw materials imported was the highest since 1920 totalled $70,300,000, $2,800,000.

Ottawa, July 20. —(AP)—It's too early to tell, Canadian officials say, how badly the Dominion will be hit by reduced exports to the sterling area.

Many sterling countries had cut imports from the dollar area before the Commonwealth Finance Ministers conference agreed to cut imports another 25 per cent. Dollar countries are expected to lose trade worth $650,000,000 a year as a result.

Finance Minister Abbott, in London for the conference, said yesterday: "There's no use trying to fool ourselves. There will be a very real curtailment of their purchases in Canada."

But if there was little indication in the Capital of how Canada will be affected for the rest of 1949, there was plenty of indication that the Dominion didn't do badly during the first half of the year.

Reports issued yesterday by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics showed:

Uneasy Peace Prevails In Florida Town

Groveland, Fla., July 20. —(AP)—An uneasy, bayonet-backed peace settled today over this community racked by mob terrorism of Negroes.

Last night passed quietly despite some fears that darkness would again bring armed mobsters shooting and burning their way through Negro areas. Only two shots marred the stillness.

The comparative tranquility was in marked contrast to Monday night's turbulent siege, when three Negro houses were put to the torch and a heavily-armed mob of white men was scattered by a tear gas bomb.

The two shots last night were fired by an unidentified National Guardsman. He said he used them to punctuate his warning to an unconvicted citizen that the troops would tolerate no more violence.

Violence erupted in this central Florida town Saturday after Sheriff W. V. McCall reported a 17-year-old lady, Mrs. Willie Padgett, had been raped by four Negroes, her husband beaten and robbed.

Shortly thereafter news leaked out that Sheriff's deputies had arrested two of the Negroes. Saturday night a mob of 100 men, heavily armed, gathered at the jail demanding the prisoners.

Sheriff McCall convinced them that the Negroes were in another jail and they should go home. They went, but Sunday night Ku Klux Klan members gathered in front of the jail.

Second Bank Bandit Held At Kirkland

Larder Lake, Ont., July 20. —(AP)—Victor Desmarais, 23, was captured today by police at nearby Kirkland Lake, in connection with a daring daylight bank robbery here yesterday.

Arrested earlier was Leo Marshall, 27, who told Police Chief Ralph Paul his companion was drowned in the lake when they tried unsuccessfully to use a seaplane to make a getaway. Both men came from Noranda.

Desmarais was lodged in Kirkland Lake jail, but no charges were laid. Details of his arrest were not immediately available.

Police gave this account of the fast-moving events in the daylight robbery on the Imperial Bank of Canada branch on Larder Lake's Main street.

Not having learned all the tricks of the stevedoring trade in a few days, this soldier, left, was lifted off his feet when he forgot to let go of a crane hook while handling cargo from ships at a strike-bound dock in London.

Varied Forces Challenging Russian Domination Policy

Washington, July 20. —(AP)—Diplomatic officials said today that several political, economic and religious forces now challenge Russia's absolute domination of the Iron-curtain countries of Eastern Europe.

Chief among these are the Communist conflict with the Roman Catholic Church and Marshal Tito's struggle against Moscow control over Yugoslavia.

The tensions and conflicts, as President Truman called them in his Chicago speech yesterday, may go on increasing in the satellite states for a long time, authorities here said. But they do not at present see any crack in the political system built up by Russia that appears large enough to threaten the Soviet position seriously.

At another point in his speech the President spoke out sharply against any weakening in American support for the countries of Eastern Europe.

His estimate of the Russian position in Eastern Europe, coupled with his call for continued strong American policies in the west, provided some hint of what he and his advisers evidently believe may lead to a Western victory in the cold war. He pictured a situation in which the East appears to be having growing difficulty while the West is pursuing a relatively strong and vigorous course.

Against this prospect may be balanced the line taken by Soviet propagandists in recent months. This has been to the effect that the United States is moving into a period of economic depression and that the Marshall Plan for European recovery already has failed.

Truman did not detail the difficulties which he considers are blocking Soviet efforts to consolidate Communist power in Eastern Europe. Other officials said, however, that the record in support of his statement is clear and convincing.

Chicago, July 20. —(AP)—Struggling democracies had President Truman's assurance today of United States leadership to provide "enough force" to maintain peace in a world he said is endangered by broken Russian promises.

Six Persons Known Dead As Giant Airplane Crashes Into Los Angeles Suburb

Seattle, July 20. —(AP)—An air transport with 32 persons aboard crashed into five houses last night in a take-off from Seattle's Boeing field.

The Coroner's office reported many hours later that six bodies had been found in the wreckage of the twin-engine C-46 and the debris of the wrecked homes. The search was continuing.

Miraculously, most—if not all—of the persons aboard the Chicago-bound, non-schedule plane escaped with their lives. Most of the victims were believed to have perished in the houses.

The coroner's office said two of the six bodies had been tentatively identified, neither of whom were aboard the plane.

The president of the operating company, Air Transport Associates, Incorporated, said he did not think any of those aboard were killed.

A failure of one of the engines was blamed for the catastrophe. The plane, unable to gain sufficient altitude quickly, hit power lines above the Georgetown district in Seattle's South end. Then it plummeted into the houses below, carrying death and destruction with it.

Cutting of power lines threw the area into darkness, broken by the eerie sputtering and flashing of the dangerously dangling wires.

The plane was a 50-passenger transport of a type used widely during the war for troop and cargo carriers.

Seventeen of the 28 passengers aboard the plane as well as four of the crew were in hospital with injuries. Eight others were treated and released. Three were unhurt and four were unaccounted for.

Seven residents of the damaged homes also were injured, and four firemen were injured when a gasoline tank exploded 3½ hours after the crash.

Amos E. Heacock, company president and a passenger on the plane, said both engines checked out "without a sputter" at the end of the runway.

"But soon after we got into the air one motor began sputtering and the pilot evidently thought it best to continue. A few seconds later he pulled back on the throttle, apparently intending to land," Heacock said.

"Then he perceived almost immediately that he could not land and pulled the throttle again, continuing to climb with a sputtering engine."

Civil Rights Elusive In Franco Spain

Madrid, July 20. —(AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco promised Spaniards four years ago to respect basic civil rights, but the promise is still only a promise.

More than 10 years after the civil war, martial law is still in effect. Military courts try people without jury. A Spaniard who cries "Long Live the Republic" is charged with "attacking the security of the state" and is liable to 30 years imprisonment. Another who strikes for a higher wage also is "attacking the security of the state" and liable to 30 years.

Since the end of the Second World War, however, such penalties are reserved for militant Communists, Socialists or Anarchists engaged in active, organized opposition. The ordinary Spaniard gets two to five years for his outburst of political exuberance.

Francisco promulgated a "Spanish Bill of Rights" July 17, 1945. It provides that the Cortes (parliament) "shall vote the necessary laws for carrying out the rights recognized in this bill." The Cortes has yet to vote any of these laws.

So 28,000,000 people silently go on living without the benefits of freedom of speech, worship, correspondence and association; without the rights of habeas corpus, or to work and own property, and without guarantees against illegal arrest.

Bullets Hit Vice Probe Key Figure

Los Angeles, July 20. —(AP)—Gangsters' bullets early today cut down gambling czar Mickey Cohen and three other persons—including a state-appointed bodyguard for the dapper hoodlum—as the party left a smart Sunset Strip cafe.

None of the party was killed, but all were in serious condition. Harry Cooper, a special bodyguard assigned to Cohen by the California Attorney-General, was most severely wounded.

The other victims were Miss Dee David, a blonde, and Edward (Neddie) Herbert, a Cohen henchman. Herbert escaped 11 gangland bullets only a month ago as he was entering his apartment.

Cohen is a key figure in the sizzling grand-jury inquiry into police vice tie-ups which already has resulted in a wholesale shake-up of the Los Angeles police department.

Only yesterday Attorney-General Fred H. Brown disclosed that he had assigned Cooper to guard Cohen, presumably because Cohen had expressed fear that eastern gangsters were in town to assassinate him.

Doctors said that Cooper had a 50-50 chance to pull through. He received two shots through the abdomen. Cohen, who got it in the shoulder, was reported in serious condition. Herbert also was reported in critical condition, one shot reportedly severing his spinal cord. The girl was shot four times in the back but her condition was reported the best of the four.

Cohen, who fronts as a Hollywood haberdasher, has had many brushes with the law and several with assassins' bullets.

Government, Dock Board Divided Over Strike Order

By MICHAEL O'MARA

London, July 20. —(AP)—Confusion and bewilderment over London's crippling dock strike grew today following a clash between the Labor Government and the National Dock Labor Board.

"The government has gone crazy," Lord Ammon, chairman of the Dock Board and former Labor member of Parliament, angrily told reporters when asked to comment on the government's move to reassure striking stevedores that their basic wage scheme would not be jeopardized by the dock emergency.

With more than 15,000 London dockers off the job in support of the Canadian Seamen's Union fight against Canadian ship owners, a sharp difference of opinion has arisen among various government-sponsored agencies seeking to end the vast tie-up.

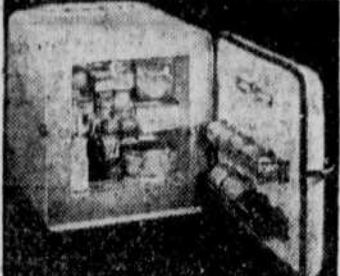

Lord Ammon's Board last night told strikers they must be back at work by Thursday morning or possibly forfeit the National Dock Labor scheme which guarantees dockers regular employment and a basic wage in place of their former casual-worker status.

AT THE PREMIER

Hog-tied and ready for market; Gene Autry (right) and George J. Lewis take good care of range renegades in Columbia's Cine-colored "The Big Sombrero" now showing at the Premier Theatre. Gene's horse, Champion, is in the background. Elena Verdugo, Stephen Dunne and Vera Marshe are also featured.

were on my beat. I was young and I could take it.
Hollywood can't open a door without crowds, searchlights and a master of ceremonies—and I went to all kinds of premieres.
I went to premieres of million dollar movies, hot dog stands, swimming pools, night clubs, drug stores, a fishing barge, gasoline stations, ice cream parlors, bathing suits, photography studios, a new line of girdles and shoe stands.
Why, I ever went to the premiere of a dog kennel.
It was owned by Charley Ruggles and I remember that the guests were served little sandwiches in the shape of dog biscuits. There were assorted kinds of liquid to wash them down and no one seemed to mind.
Maybe those dog-biscuit sandwiches started turning me into a premiere-hater.
I can't remember things too clearly.

Standard Equipment
All I can see now, looking back, is a fuzzy montage of searchlights and pushing crowds, portable bars and three-piece orchestras, screaming fans packed into makeshift bleachers, white-coated waiters standing behind long buffet tables and press agents pounding my ears with information.
Those press agents gave me cauliflower ears and now when I see searchlights and run and hide in the basement my ears still ache. I'm premiere-happy and there's no escape.

Sometimes, when I'm hiding, I remember my premiere-going days very vividly.
There was the very first one, the opening of "Cimarron" at the Orpheum theater in Los Angeles. The street out front also opened that night. There was a sewer explosion and a big iron manhole cover went straight up in the air and made a rather indelicate forced landing through the windshield of somebody's sleek limousine.
The others were less explosive but just as unforgettable.
I remember Alice Faye, in a white evening gown, sitting down on a chocolate éclair at the premiere of a Sunset Strip night club and someone (the name escapes me) falling into a fish pond beside the dance floor on the premiere night of a Hawaiian bistro on Melrose Ave.

For sheer madness there was the premiere of "New Wine" in a champagne winery about 20 miles from Hollywood.
There was a champagne dinner earlier in the evening. You couldn't just order a glass of champagne—you got a big magnum. Not one magnum, but two and even three. Even the projectionist didn't see the picture that night.
The press agent, George Glass later admitted it was a plot against the Hollywood press. He confessed.

"It was a horrible picture and I didn't want anyone to see it." Very few people did.
Promoted Elsie
The "premiere" of Elsie the Cow at Ciro's was my idea.
I was a movie press agent for a few months and it was the only time Johnson struck back at Hollywood.
I promoted Elsie from her milk company for a role in the picture "Little Men" and introduced her to Hollywood society at a party at Ciro's.

Elsie, standing in the middle of the dance floor and wearing a fancy straw hat, was a perfect lady. I stood beside her like a perfect press agent and I felt like a fool. But the newspaper clippings came back in flocks.

PITCHING HORSESHOES
By BILLY ROSE

You've probably heard a lot of yarns about the Great Ziegfeld. But not from me.
"How come?" the lady with the funny hat wants to know. "Didn't I know the impresario?"
Yes, I knew him and, what's more, I know most of the stories about the fabled Flo that are worth telling, but unfortunately a lot of other people know them too, and over the years they've been told, retold and re-retold.

The other day, however, I stumbled across a story that has to do with a facet of Ziegfeld's pinwheel personality which seldom gets talked about any more. And so, clear the decks and limotypes—here's another anecdote about the Great Ziegfeld, and let the exclamation points fall where they may.
A week before the Christmas of 1928, Ziegfeld put in a long distance call from Palm Beach to the company manager of his show, "Rio Rita," which was playing at the Illinois Theatre in Chicago.
"I want you to fix up a Christmas tree for my mother," he said.
"Any special instructions?" asked the manager.

"Get the best-looking tree you can," said Flo. "Decorate it real fancy and set it up in a private dining room at the Ambassador Hotel. On Christmas Eve call for my mother, take her to the hotel, and have them serve her a dinner with all the trimmings. Incidentally, I bought her a present that I want you to hang on the tree, and I'm sending it up by plane. Another thing, the old lady likes fiddle music."
Well, the manager had been with Ziegfeld long enough to know what the maestro meant when he said, "Decorate it real fancy," and so he spent $8,000 to dress the tree, not counting the fee of the scenic designer who came on from New York to arrange the ornaments. And among the glittery gewgaws was a pair of diamond earrings that Flo had sent up from Florida.

On Christmas Eve, a limousine picked the showman's mother at her apartment and took her to the Ambassador. Dinner began with terrapin fresh from Chesapeake Bay, and a string quartet behind a clump of potted palms played her favorite songs. Then, for the grand finale, the company manager pushed back a pair of sliding doors behind which stood the Christmas tree.

Ziegfeld's mother looked over in the direction of the tree and smiled. "I'm sure," she said softly, "it's exactly the way my boy would want it."
"Mr. Ziegfeld will phone you at your apartment a little later to wish you a Merry Christmas," said the manager.

Then he unhooked the diamond earrings, handed them to the blind woman and escorted her to the limousine.

EAST ANGUS

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bell were Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, of Bedford, Mr. and Mrs. George Curtis, of Clareville, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Jameson, of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bell, of London, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Horace Dimick and Mr. Victor Dimick, of Farnham, and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Bell and Mrs. E. E. Jameson, of Sherbrooke.

Between a wild sea which had the American doing two ups for every down and a storm at sea in the picture, the audience disappeared and rail space outside was at a premium.
There was the premiere of a bank on Vine street and the grand opening of Dottie Lamour's home and countless others. I've been to them all.
But as I said, there came a time when I couldn't take it any longer. I swore off Hollywood premieres. Now I hide. Maybe I'll change my mind someday. But this time I'll work out first on a commando obstacle course.

Repercussions

port for a boycott of Canadian ships which would be effective in most countries outside North America.

McManus said his union adopted the strategy of seeking help abroad rather than face "the alternative of civil war on our own waterfronts" if it had tried to prevent manning of struck ships by the S. I. U.

Meanwhile, a reprisal boycott of British ships on the United States east coast is threatened by the big Maritime Trades Council (A. F. L.) of New York. The boycott was to have begun two weeks ago but spokesmen said it was called off indefinitely when the British government showed it was dealing with the London dockers' action.

The present Canadian seamen's strike has its roots back in 1943 when C. S. U. president J. A. (Pat) Sullivan, who helped found the union in Toronto 10 years before, announced he was leaving it because he was through taking orders from communists.

Sullivan subsequently formed the Canadian Lake Seamen's Union and later signed up Canada Steamship Lines and the interests of Capt. Scott Misener, operating about half the Canadian tonnage on the Great Lakes.

These companies, whose ships had previously been manned by the C. S. U., said they declined to negotiate with a communist-led union.

The C. S. U. charges Sullivan's organization was "company union" and a bitter labor war resulted. The fight against communists entered another stage last summer when Frank Hall, Canadian leader of A. F. L.-affiliated railway brotherhoods, engineered the C. L. S. U. absorption by the S. I. U. Thus the S. I. U. had a foothold in Canada on the Great Lakes when a long-standing dispute between the C. S. U. and deep-sea owners came to a head in March.

The union had rejected a conciliation board report which recommended no changes in the basic wage of $170 a month. The union had asked for a $30 increase and the companies sought reduction of $20 up.

The board also recommended a compromise between union demands for retention of the union hiring hall and a company proposal that sailors be hired through the national employment service. The board suggested either method might be used.

Union officials were negotiating the hiring-hall and wage matters with federal labor department officials March 31 when they learned the operators had signed a one-year contract with the S. I. U. on the same terms as the previous C. S. U. agreement.

The C. S. U. called the move a plan to destroy their union and immediately called out 2,500 men on east-coast ships.

The operators said the S. I. U. contract was signed after "overwhelming evidence" that the C. S. U. had no intention of accepting the agreement recommended by the conciliation board.

They said that "in view of the international situation it is felt presence of Communist cells on Canadian vessels cannot be allowed to continue."

The C. S. U., which contends the operators are trying to make the strike look like "a Red plot," have made several overtures to end the walkout.

The latest proposal was to end the strike "immediately" if seamen were returned to their jobs without discrimination, and they even offered to abandon the prized hiring hall.

The proposals met with silence from the government and a statement by a shipowners' spokesman that the S. I. U. agreement is "a firm contract which will not be broken."

The fact the union was willing to make a major concession in allowing seamen to be hired through the national employment service was interpreted in some quarters as indicating the strike was near an end.

But McManus issued a statement saying the C. S. U. was prepared to continue the walkout for a year if necessary to protect seamen's "right to belong to a union of their own choice."

Now the C. S. U. faces its next trial when its case comes before the Trades and Labor Congress convention in September. The 400,000-member Congress last month suspended the union as an affiliate for violation of the T.L.C. constitution.

Harry Davis, 31-year-old ex-seaman and C.S.U. president, called the T.L.C. suspension an "abject capitulation" to big business and the A.F.L. and T.L.C. convention will decide whether to make the suspension stick.

Humor Among Clergy Formed Subject Of Address Before Local Rotary Club

"Humor among the clergy" was the subject of the interesting address given to members of the Rotary Club at their regular meeting yesterday by Rev. Mark Beaufoy, Anglican Mission priest of North Hatley and Waterville.

The speaker said that without a sense of humor a minister could not keep his balance and his job would become so burdensome and oppressive that he would probably break down under the strain.

He related several anecdotes showing amusing incidents which crop up in the life of a clergyman and said that it is on occasions of joy as well as sorrow that he gets to know his parishioners.

Rev. Mr. Beaufoy was introduced by Rotarian R. L. Curphey and thanked by Douglas Haegey.

President B. D. Lyon was in the chair and welcomed visiting Rotarians Alex Cote, Lewiston-Auburn, Maine, and Inspector Ed. Moore, of Swift Current, Sask., as well as the following guests, Ronald Mooney, Sherbrooke, Mr. Seymour Magog, and Dick Godbehere, Montreal.

Norton Baldwin reported briefly on the recent district meeting held in Rutland, Vermont, which was attended by a number of Sherbrooke Rotarians.

Seated at the head table with President Lyon and the speaker were Past District Governor George Ewing, James Sangster, Douglas

Storm Causes Excitement In Magog

A severe electrical storm which swept this area last night caused considerable excitement in Magog, where power blackouts in many homes were reported.

Lightning flashes were said to have induced an excessively high voltage in the wiring of these homes, thus causing the power failure. No other damage as a result of the storm last night was reported.

During a recent electrical storm in the Bethany area, one barn was razed after being struck by lightning. Its owner, Roger Normandin, received severe burns to the hands, arms and shoulders while trying to remove equipment from the blazing structure.

Destroyed in the blaze were five thoroughbred calves and four pigs, as well as a large quantity of hay.

Another barn, this time in the Cookshire area, was destroyed by fire recently. Early Sunday morning the barn of T. Meredith was leveled although the origin of this blaze was not reported. The Cookshire fire department brought the fire under control before it could spread to other buildings on Mr. Meredith's farm.

Twelve Overcome In Magog Blast

A cylinder of chlorine exploded about 10:30 last night in the beach house of the Dominion Textile Plant at Magog, but without any disastrous results.

Twelve men were overcome by the fumes, but all have recovered. Lucien Lavoie, 41, and Sylvia Goddard, 31, both of Magog, were taken to La Providence Hospital where oxygen was administered, and hospital authorities this morning stated that both men have returned to their homes.

HAS BIRTHDAY

EMILIEN GINGRAS, of Sherbrooke, who is receiving congratulations today on the occasion of his birthday.

Local Group Paid Visit To Y Camp Last Evening

Some twenty Y's Men turned out at Y Camp, Shore Acres, yesterday to give the campers and themselves a good time.

Sporting a delicious supper prepared by the now famous "Maw" Wadley—recently crowned Queen of the camp—the city boys engaged in a baseball game with the campers. Behind the good pitching of "Casey", the campers held the Y's Men to a standstill.

To the harsh yell "you can always tell an office boy" one city boy after another mightily fanned the breeze. Finally Hally Evans gave a desperate swing and hit a long one. Puffing into home after a most strenuous three base dash, Hally was called out. The final score was 7-3 for the campers.

A refreshing swim for all wiped out any stigma of defeat and then the evening moved on.

Wrestling matches between might 50 pounders, followed by Yvan Roberto and the Masked Marvel were really laughable. However, a scheduled fight between two seniors, which featured all the highly polished, dirty tricks of the trade, so rarely seen in professional matches, brought the house down.

Meanwhile the elements decided to put on a bout of their own, and the electrical storm that followed left the light out. A ghost story was in order and Hally Evans obliged with a somewhat humorous one.

Anyway it scared the lights back on, and many old favorites were sung, led by Jim Strickland at the piano. Jim also gave out with several solo pieces which the campers and all much enjoyed.

By this time the piles of ice cream and soft drinks which the Y's Men had brought out had disappeared, and happy faces gave evidence of contented tummies. This was another happy memory for the boys at Y Camp.

Y's Men, who were at Shore Acres yesterday, included: C. Sutton, E. Chalut, J. Spafford, C. Roy, R. Hunting, H. Evans, G. Ross, K. Jackson, J. Wilson, A. Blatherwick, S. Hart, G. Whately, J. Mitchell, G. Bull, J. Davey, J. Strickland, Dr. T. Southwood, A. Aston.

Sherbrooke Party Visits New Hampshire

A group of employees of C. O. Saint Jean's and their friends, travelling in a chartered bus, visited Franconia Notch in New Hampshire over the week-end.

The party, headed by Miss Rita Roy, left Sherbrooke early Sunday morning and entered the United States by way of Norton Mills. From there they proceeded to Whitefield, N.H., where they visited Forest Lake State Reservation and enjoyed a cool swim and pleasant picnic. They then advanced further into the state of New Hampshire, stopping here and there to admire the picturesque scenery.

Arriving at Franconia Notch, they ascended Mt. Cannon in the aerial tramway. The tram ride is a mile long and the cab holds 27 persons. It takes eight minutes to ascend the mountain, which is 4,000 feet above sea level. Having reached the summit a guide directed the party to the observation tower from where one can see the entire Franconian range.

The party then went to see the "Old Man of the Mountains," which is the face of an old man carved on the slope of the mountain. Further on they saw the Flume Gorge which was worn out of solid rock by the turbulent mountain stream which plunges through it.

The party returned by the same route Sunday evening.

New Agreement Concluded Between Paton Company And Its Employees

A new contract has been signed between the Paton Manufacturing Company Ltd., and L'Association des Employés de la Paton, according to a joint statement released by R. Neill, secretary of the Paton Company, and R. Fortier, president of the union.

The new contract is valid till November 7, 1949, one year from the date on which Paton Company employees returned to work after the strike which lasted from August 12 to November 3, 1948.

Until such a time as the case could be brought before the Arbitration Board, to which both union and company officials agreed, a temporary settlement had been in effect, whereby the company granted eight per cent wage increases to some 184 out of the 450 employees.

During the meeting of the Arbitration Board, the union suggested a two per cent wage increase for all employees, to which the company agreed, and which coincided with the decision of the board.

Because the factions involved in figuring the two per cent wage increases caused the union considerable difficulty, they suggested a two cent an hour increase for those making up to and including 65 cents an hour, and one cent an hour increase for those making over 65 cents an hour, and this too was accepted by the Paton Company, retroactive as of November 3, 1948.

Under the new agreement, all employees receive two weeks' holidays, for which they are paid on a graduated scale, according to years of service. Those employees who have worked one year or less receive two per cent of their year's wages; over one year but less than two are paid 2.4 per cent; more than two years but less than three years get 2.8 per cent; over three but less than four years receive 3.2 per cent; over four but less than five years, 3.6 per cent; over five years, four per cent.

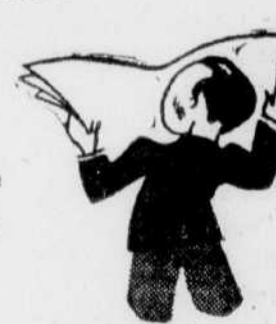

Aside from the increase in wages and better paid holidays, little else of importance was changed under the new contract.

THE ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH AND COMMUNISM

The determination of the Roman Catholic Church to combat communism in all its forms is evidenced by the recent pronouncement of Pope Pius which decreed excommunication for anyone who takes part in Communist activities or even becomes identified with the movement. To a loyal Roman Catholic that is a drastic and almost terrifying punishment. But no man can be a Communist and a Roman Catholic at the same time. One is the negation of the other. Communism is out to destroy the spiritual as well as the political power of that Church, and of other churches as well. Indeed it is out to destroy religious beliefs of all kinds. Communism fears religion as its No. 1 enemy, because the tenets of Christianity are the opposite of Communism.

There are millions of Roman Catholics in the countries behind the Iron Curtain; countries that have gone Communist. A large proportion have become Communists unwillingly, and have drifted into the fold through force of circumstances. Nevertheless, their adherence to the movement weakens the Church. While the Roman Catholic Church stands to lose many millions of members, the Pope no doubt pondered his decision very carefully, and came to the conclusion that the Church will be the stronger, if not as big, if the rotten timbers are eliminated.

The Czechoslovakia Government, which is the most active anti-religious body of the movement, has prepared a bill for submission to Parliament granting to the state all power over the churches, including the appointment of priests and pastors who must be what is called "reliable."

That is something the Vatican cannot assent to and is undoubtedly a direct challenge to the Roman Catholic Church which it must accept. If the Roman Catholic Church becomes a state church in Czechoslovakia, then it is reduced to a political instrument — far more political than religious. And if the state takes over the Church there, other states behind the Iron Curtain will take over their churches in the course of time. Appearances are that the world is about to see a great struggle between church and state in Eastern Europe.

The Papal decree and the Government bill will be severe tests for the people of Czechoslovakia. Deep in every heart there is a belief in God and the hereafter, even among those who are not really religious, and the Catholics in those lands will undergo much searching of heart if they have to choose between religion, which offers hope, and Communism, which offers nothing at all.

WHITE COLLAR FARMERS

Many Eastern Townships farmers, who have been compelled to retain the old fashioned methods of farm operation through hard work might be pardoned if they expressed disagreement with the "lead" paragraph on a news story from Toronto a few days ago which stated flatly that farming now was practically a white-collar job. The report dealt with the convention of the Agricultural Institute of Canada and the work of agricultural scientists.

We'd like to meet the chap who penned that blithe blurb and get him to discourse on the meaning of "white collar job."

It is true that agriculture has become more and more mechanized and that the trend is speeding up with each passing year. On the other hand, a lot of pretty good farmers are beginning to wonder if agriculture is over-mechanized—or if it isn't, what is going to happen to the present structure of agricultural society.

Machines have certainly lightened the farmer's labor. They've taken some of the strain off his muscles and they've greatly increased the amount of work he can get done. On the other hand, few farm machines run themselves; someone has to be at the controls—and a tractor seat on a raw March day is no place for a white-collar worker.

Not yet in sight is a machine to match the vagaries of livestock, that will take the general orneriness out of cows, pigs, chickens and so forth; a machine that will be a match for their guile and a buffer against their irritations.

PRESS COMMENTS

LONDON DOCK STRIKE

The British Government's handling of the London dock strike received sharp criticism in Parliament even while that body was preparing to approve the emergency proclamation which the government had initiated. The situation is a snarl of confusion, not readily untangled at this distance.

Quite aside from any Communist affiliations that London dockers may have, there is among seamen and those who work with them a feeling of international solidarity not shared by many other workers. The psychological implications in this fact appear to have been underestimated by British officials dealing with the dock workers' refusal to unload two Canadian vessels at London.

The British Government's ultimatum to the workers to unload those two ships or none was followed by a tie-up of more than a hundred ships in what the government calls a walkout and the workers call a lockout. British officials say they are convinced that communism is at the bottom of the impasse—that, at any rate, the conflict was engineered by Communists who have kept well under cover.

That would be one reasonable explanation of a situation so confusing. But the attitude of thousands of non-Communist dock workers, who are being joined by other non-Communist workers, such as porters in meat markets, truck drivers, and so forth, indicates communism may be only part of the explanation.

So far, it appears that the official effort to cope with the situation on the London docks has moved from inadequacy to inadequacy—from a too simple approach to a too swift ultimatum, to use of troops which yet leaves the two Canadian vessels, storm centre of the dispute, unloaded. So to the dock workers their government officials appear illogical and apprehensive of the course they have embarked upon. This view is apparently shared in some other branches of labor.

Naturally, the French Communist-dominated docks' union has seized the opportunity to ally itself with the British workers by threatening to hold up British ships in French ports.

The British Government charges that the dockers have broken an agreement by refusing to unload the Canadian vessels. These workers disobeyed their own union leaders. But the British dock strike is now assuming proportions in which direct enforcement of legal agreements involves great risks and in which statesmanship of a high order is called for—as, indeed, it was in the first instance.

Owen Sound Sun-Times
In the United States they generally do everything on a big scale, and this apparently goes too far encouraging school children to save their money.

On its one hundredth anniversary the other day, the Society for Savings in Cleveland, Ohio, opened a special department for handling the savings accounts of some 60,000 school children who currently are participating in a savings program through 133 Cleveland public schools. It is believed to be the largest savings campaign for school children ever fostered by a commercial bank.

The new children's savings department has its own entrances apart from the main bank. The desks are fashioned down to junior size, and the floor in front of the tellers' cages has been elevated four inches so the youngsters face the tellers at eye level. Also scaled to fit kids from kindergarten age and upwards are the chairs and drinking fountains.

Music is piped in—not bebop, but tunes of special appeal to children. There are television screens which show appropriate programs during business hours. The walls of the large banking room are covered with colorful murals depicting sports events, college campuses, high school bands and so on. On the opening day, candy and balloons were given to all the young depositors who attended, and their mothers were given corsages of roses.

BRITISH SYSTEM

Ottawa Journal
When the government of the Republic of Ireland was defeated on an estimates vote in the Dail last week Prime Minister Costello came to the House the day following and asked for a vote of confidence.

Thus Ireland, while a republic, retains to the letter the British House of Commons system, with a prime minister and cabinet sitting in Parliament, taking full responsibility for government policy, and ready to submit its resignation with loss of Parliament's support. In no sense whatever is the system of the Republic of Ireland the system of the American Republic, where powers and responsibilities of government are divided between the president and Congress.

And the Irish Republic, apart from its Parliament, has retained much else of the British way; kept it in its budgetary system, in its judicial, in its methods of administering law, in its local elective councils and boards, in the setup of its army, in its banking and monetary system. Also, of course, the Republic of Ireland trades more with Britain than with any other country.

Nor is all this, come to think of it, surprising; it is not easy to change by the mere label of "republic," customs and habits and a way of life that are deeply rooted in history. Certainly it would not be easy to imagine Irishmen departing easily from the parliamentary system in which their forefathers—the O'Connells, Shielis, Parnells, Remonds, Heals, Seaton, Dillons and O'Connors—won to such lasting glory.

HOMO SAP

Financial Times
A rather philosophical old Quakeress used to cite three outstanding follies of which men were guilty. First, she said, men go to war and kill each other, when, if they would only wait long enough, they would all die a natural death. Next, men climb trees to gather fruit, which, if left to itself, would fall, fully-ripened, to the ground. But the crowning folly, she said, was to pursue women, when, if they waited long enough, the women would pursue them.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

I will sing of mercy and judgment: unto thee, O Lord, will I sing.—Psalms 101:1.

How would you be if He, which is the top of judgment, should but judge you as you are? O, think on that, and mercy then will breathe within your lips like man new made.—Shakespeare.

ANYHOW, IT'S A LOT BETTER THAN A WIDER SPLIT

Humor Brightens 'Crisis Britian'

By PETER LYNE
Staff Correspondent of The Christian Science Monitor

London—The notable events in the world of humor have just brought some light relief to an otherwise overhot, parched, and rather crisis-worried Britain.

These two events are first a new cover and format for London's famous 180-year-old humorous weekly Punch.

The second is the opening by Princess Elizabeth of an exhibition of humorous art at which she and the Duke of Edinburgh were having a special room with walls full of comic drawings put in their new home at Clarence House, London.

Princess Elizabeth ranked humor very high in the affairs of her country. She said it might be an exaggeration that the Britons' ability to laugh at himself had won him his empire and two world wars. But she thought it was no more than an exaggeration.

Drawing Praised
The Princess shook hands and chatted with several leading artists who make Britons laugh, including the royal family, as she disclosed.

One of the best known of these, H. M. Bateman, is renowned for his "awful moment" drawings depicting such imaginary incidents as a guardsman's dropping his rifle when the King was inspecting a mass parade of brigade guards.

After intently studying this guardsman picture at the exhibition, Princess Elizabeth turned to Mr. Bateman and asked, "Have you ever seen that happen?"

"No," answered Mr. Bateman quite candidly.

"I have. It's just like that," said the Princess, who has attended many of those hushed ceremonial occasions, sometimes as a spectator and sometimes as chief participant, inspecting a parade on horseback.

Richly Rewarded
Anyway, Mr. Bateman felt richly rewarded by this comment.

The Princess then paid a fine tribute to Cyril Kenneth Bird, who draws under the name of "Fougasse." Fougasse did a major job during the war with his government posters which told Britons what to do and what not to do, and yet did it with such humor that people laughed even in the middle of the air-raid terrors.

"How carelessly we might have talked during the war without Fougasse," remarked Princess Elizabeth, recalling posters which showed Field Marshall Hermann Goring hiding in a railway carriage while English passengers gossiped away military secrets in his hearing.

The Princess added a tribute to the work Fougasse is now doing for road safety through humorous posters. Mr. Bird, who is a Christian Scientist, has the novel honor of being both a contributing artist and now editor of Punch. Under his editorship, Punch has undergone one of those changes which are all the more notable because they occur so rarely in Britain's traditional institutions.

Even now Punch hasn't changed very much. Its cover still features the benign figure of Mr. Punch with a broad grin, outside in nose, and a nightcap-style hat. The dog Toby still sits on a pile of bound volumes with a ruffle round his neck and a rather bedraggled peacock's feather in his hat.

Around them dance miniature figures of fun with a Shakespearean flavor about them. The chief change is that the advertisement strips at the top and bottom of the cover page disappear and a red border makes its bow. Inside type is clearer and spacing easier for the reader.

The style of humor remains—subtle and clever but refined. For many people, Punch is an acquired taste. And there hardly could be a nicer one to acquire. For a reader of another country, it provides a most enlightening insight into some of the hardest-to-understand aspects of the British character.

Cartoonist Emmet's crazy, old-fashioned, high-funnelled trains are still featured. An American colleague remarks that maybe they keep Emmet on the same page each week so that an Englishman who isn't in any hurry to

Questions and Answers

Q—What is the origin of the expression "not worth a Continental?"
A—It refers to the paper money issued by the Continental Congress to finance our Revolutionary War. So much was issued that the nominal coin value of a Continental paper dollar was only two cents, and in a few weeks the paper money was worthless.

Q—Did Robert Todd Lincoln serve as a cabinet officer?
A—Robert, eldest son of Abraham Lincoln, served as secretary of war from 1881 to 1885.

Q—Is the Winged Victory in the Louvre the original statue?
A—The victory of Samothrace, broken into fragments, was discovered in 1863 on the site of the ancient city of Samothrace. The fragments were carefully united and the Winged Victory now stands on her original pedestal, with no modern pieces except in the wings.

Q—Did "Man o' War" ever run in the Kentucky Derby?
A—Man o' War never ran in the Derby because the race was considered to be too early in the year to get him in condition.

Q—How many eyes has an earthworm?
A—An earthworm has no eyes but perceives light and dark through its sensitive skin.

Q—Why does white flour keep longer than graham flour?
A—Graham flour is a whole wheat flour and therefore contains

The Record Short Story THE BOSS'S DAUGHTER

By ELIZABETH ARMSTRONG

I have red hair, freckles and wear spectacles when I read. At 20 I had never had a love affair. Poor girl, you are thinking. Poor girl, maybe, but they suited me and I was perfectly happy. Then one night my brother brought a good looking, six-footer home for supper, Bill Shanley by name. Before the end of the meal I fell in love. It hit me just like that, completely changing my outlook on life for it took no time at all for me to realize that without Bill, my future would not be overbright.

Bill came to our house a lot and I knew he was fond of me but that was as far as it went. There was a reason. He had an excellent job with the Putnam Oil Company and Julie Putnam was the prettiest girl in town—the time-worn setup of the boss' daughter and her father's clever but poor employee. Everybody doted on the announcement of their engagement and with it the changing of the firm's name to Putnam and Shanley. "In spite of its many advantages," said Mother one day, "I think Bill Shanley is too smart to marry a spoiled, selfish little brat like Julie Putnam. She has nothing but her looks. At first they are all that count but in the long run..." Mother kissed me; she felt responsible for my red hair and freckles having them herself.

Time went on and as far as Bill was concerned my situation remained the same. Fully intending to be a good loser, however, I brushed up on a secretarial course with which I had previously dabbled and found a job. When things got wrong, said I to myself, keep busy.

The Fourth of July that year fell on Monday, giving us laborers a three-day holiday. Along came an invitation from Mrs. Mercer to spend the week-end at her Summer camp on Lake Belmont. There were 10 of us, including Julie and Bill—never mind the others, they just made up the chorus. The boys slept in a sort of outside dormitory while we girls parked in the house. We arrived after supper Friday evening—stars out, moon shining, everything perfect and incidentally, Julie looking ravishing. Saturday morning we awoke to a dismal rain.

Mrs. Mercer was distraught, having arranged for outdoor meals and parties across the lake at the Beach Club; 10 people cooped up in one small living room was not according to plan. It meant a lot of work, too; I like to cook so I took over the kitchen, in fact all hands pitched in—even Julie, but after trying two plates and dusting one chair, she developed a headache and was obliged to rest. "What a flop!" she whispered to me. "I've got my car here, let's beat it—Bill, too, of course." Naturally I refused.

Believe it or not, half an hour later the rain stopped, the sun came out and in no time it was warm again. Mrs. Mercer danced a jig, then rushing to the telephone arranged for both lunch and supper over at the Beach Club. It was nine o'clock that night when we started home again and owing to some sort of mix-up over boats, Bill and I found ourselves stuck with a kind of miniature snow, its heavy not to be distinguished from its steam. Idly, Bill paddled our rover with one oar, while I dabbled a hand in the moon-lit water.

"I have something to tell you," he said suddenly. I braced myself having been prepared for this very moment for some time. "You and Julie are engaged!" I said, trying to speak lightly, "even after your little disaster?"

"We might have been at that," answered Bill soberly. "All right, I admit, I've been dazzled. For some time now, I've been trying to make up my mind to start my own business. Frankly, this morning decided me." Was I excited? "I think that's swell," I murmured demurely.

"It's going to be tough sledding," Bill went on. "I need help."

"Better take me on as office slave," I suggested. "I can type and I'm honest and sober." Bill laughed; rising he sat down beside me. "Blind dumbbell that I've been," he said, "I've just waked up to myself. I want my own home to go with my own business but what's a home without a wife—the right kind who can make the best of rainy weather. Here's a awful lot of rain in life. There's taken me almost a year to realize it's you I want. And boy, how I want you!"

My head whirled. I began to make foolish noises in my throat. All I could think of was my red hair and freckles and, distinctly, Julie's beautiful image floated before me.

"But...but after Julie," I stammered. "I'm not pretty."

Bill put his arm around me, then he kissed me and I said no more. From then on we just drifted along. The wise old boat evidently had been around, for after a suitable length of time it bumped discreetly into the Mercer's little wooden dock.

McKENNY ON BRIDGE

By Wm. E. McKenny, America's Card Authority

CARELESS PLAY CAN LOSE THIS CONTRACT
Not long ago someone said on the radio, "Ability, rather than disability, counts." I was reminded of this when Sylvan Gans, secretary of the National Amputation Foundation, told me about a ball game that will be held at the Polo Grounds in New York on July 26.

On one team every player will be minus at least one arm. On the other team every player will be minus at least one leg. Even if you cannot get to see this game, the fact that you know about it should convince you that these amputees are not a liability. The National Amputation Foundation does not seek sympathy for these boys. All they want is a chance to go to work, and they will accept their pay on their ability to give a day's work.

I was telling Gans about a little game we taught some of these boys, called memory poker. Cards are one of their foremost forms of recreation. I recall that we brought a group of them over to a national tournament at Atlantic City one year ago. Their artificial limbs did not prevent them from joining in the dancing after the game. One of the boys won top score on today's hand.

On the opening lead of the six of spades dummy played the three of spades and set the contract two tricks.

However, our soldier boy made nine tricks. Had he played the queen of spades from dummy at trick one, East would have unblocked with the jack. Now when East got in with the king of hearts, he would have returned a spade and set the contract two tricks.

Robinson Declaration Raises Tolerance Hopes

By James D. White
Associated Press News Analyst.
(For Dewitt Mackenzie)

A salute to Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn Dodgers' star second baseman, for his inspiring declaration of faith in his country before the Un-American Activities Committee of the House of Representatives.

That declaration constitutes a moving human document—a notable chapter in the history of our troubled times. It was a difficult task for this young Negro to take the stand and voice an opinion regarding Paris Robeson's statement in that United States Negroes wouldn't fight against Russia because they love that country so much.

Robinson had been urged by many people, mostly Communists, not to comply with the committee's request that he appear before it. Why then did he do it? In his straightforward way he told the Congressmen it wasn't easy to find the answer, but he guessed "it boils down to a sense of responsibility."

Jackie said that if Robeson made the statement attributed to him, it sounded "very silly." The witness declared that "most Negroes—and Italians and Irish and Jews and Swedes and Slavs and other Americans—would act as all these groups did in the last war. They'd do their best to help the United States stay out of the war; if unsuccessful they'd do their best to help their country win the war—against Russia or any other enemy that threatened the United States."

But this declaration of loyalty was by no means all to be got out of Jackie's testimony. Under it all appeared to be an undercurrent of faith that internal racial problems in the United States were on the way to solution. He didn't evade this delicate issue in his testimony. For instance:

"I don't pretend to be an expert on Communism or any other kind of a political issue. . . . But you can put me down as an expert on being a colored American, with 30 years of experience at it. And just like any other colored person with sense enough to look around and understand what he sees, I know that life in these United States can be mighty tough for people who are a little different from the majority—in their skin, color or the way that they worship their God, or the way they spell their names."

That stated the issue plainly enough, but Robinson went on to relate how he had been used as "the laboratory specimen" in introducing Negro players into organized baseball when he was signed by Montreal Royals. Since then some six other colored players have been signed up—"a start has been made, and progress goes on."

"We're going to make progress in other American fields besides baseball if we can get rid of some of the misunderstandings and confusion that the public still suffers from. . . . I can't speak for any 15,000,000 people any more than any other person can, but I know

Heavy Wind Hits Small Community

Cheneville, Que., July 20.—(C)—Savage winds of near-cyclone force pounded this Quebec village for a scant three minutes yesterday, leaving in their wake damage estimated at nearly $150,000.

The storm cut a swath 1,000 feet wide through the village of 600 persons, tore the roofs from some 50 buildings, toppled a church steeple and left Cheneville without power or telephone communications.

The village is approximately 50 miles northeast of Ottawa.

There was no indication how widespread the damage was. The storm rushed on to the southwest. Some crops in the district were flattened but the nearby summer resort of Lac Simon was not damaged.

A few minor injuries from falling tree branches were reported.

A saw mill was demolished. The second story of a convent was damaged and the foundations of the newly-renovated town hall were weakened.

(In Ottawa, meteorological officials said there were no indications that the storm was very widespread. They assumed it was a cyclone, seldom found this far north, but which carries with it winds of up to 55 miles an hour.)

A slight fall of hail accomplished the storm but caused no damage.

That I've got to much invested for my wife and child and myself in the future of this country, and I and other Americans of many races and faiths have too much invested in our country's welfare, for any of us to throw it away because of a siren song sung in bass."

"But that doesn't mean," Robinson said, "that we're going to stop fighting race discrimination in this country until we've got it licked. It means that we're going to

'Get Me A Lawyer'--

That's the order this youthful traffic offender is barking to Wickliffe, O., police. The shepherd pup was brought into the jail by a harking motorist. "He's sitting in the middle of the street and blocking traffic," the motorist complained. When he refused to give his name or dog license to the booking officer, the pup was tossed in the clink.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bowman, of Stouffville, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Nuthbrown.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Smith, of Sawyerville, were guests of Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Wheeler.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hill and Miss Alice Hill were guests at the Martin home at Sutton Junction.

Master Douglas Parker, of Cookshire, spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Everett Parker.

Those from here attending the L.O.L. picnic at Kinross's Mills included Mr. and Mrs. Basil Prescott and son, Sidney, and Messrs. J. A. Duncan, W. G. Pinchin, L. Nuthbrown and E. H. Parker.

Friends of Mrs. Aileen Rowe will be sorry to hear that she is a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital, where she underwent an operation.

fight it all the harder because our stake in the future is so big. We can win our fight without the Communists and we don't want their help."

That's blunt language. However, it seems to me not only to be a pledge of loyalty, but an expression of faith that the racial problem can be solved.

Uneasy Peace

Klux Klan literature began appearing around town. Sheriff McCasked for National Guard protection. Governor Fuller Warren quickly complied and a small detachment moved on Groveland.

The explosive racial tension flared again Monday night when the Sheriff encountered another trigger-happy mob. He tossed a tear gas bomb in their midst, trailed them to a country road and argued them into dispersing.

The mob disbanded but within a matter of hours there came reports from a Negro community two miles west of the Sheriff's position that white men were again on the move, firing Negro houses. Three of the ramshackle homes were burned.

trouble, they forced Airport Manager Jack Lamont at gun point to let them have another seaplane. Unable to fly the plane, they taxied it down the lake for two miles and piled it up on the rocky shore.

Half an hour later, Marshall was captured by police a short distance from the spot where the plane was beached.

Fort Walton, Fla., July 20.—(A)—The law has caught up with the barefoot burglar of the Fort Walton bank.

Constable Oscar Bengtson announced yesterday he had obtained a full confession.

"Me and Smokey done it," said an eight-year-old boy, just so high.

The lad admitted taking three dollars in small coins from the bank's soft drink fund for employees. The bank was entered last Saturday about daybreak by someone breaking the glass on the door. Footprints around the door indicated the burglar was a barefoot boy.

Smokey, a dog, was not held. The boy was turned over to county Judge Wilbur Osburn. Now the judge must decide what to do with him.

Civil Rights

arrest or entry of homes, all promised in the "bill of rights" and all in existence under the preceding republic and monarchy.

In fairness to the Franco regime, it must be said that civil rights in this country of retarded development have had an illusive existence.

Under different monarchies, Catholicism was the state-protected and state-supported religion; Protestants and Jews frequently had a hard time.

Now persecution of Protestants continues sporadically, but there is no evidence of government support behind it.

France's official policy toward all non-Catholic minorities is that: Catholicism is the state-protected religion of the country, but "no one will be molested for his religious beliefs nor in the private exercise of his cult" as long as there are no external manifestations.

The government interpretation of the clause effectively reduces Protestants to a sort of second-class citizens.

Jews are better treated than Protestants, apparently because there are so few Jews. No anti-Semitism has been reported for many years.

OBITUARIES

MRS. HENRY ROBINSON, OF FARNAM'S CORNER.

Farnam's Corner, July 20. — This community was saddened by the death of Mrs. Henry E. Robinson, who passed away at the home of her son, Herbert Robinson, of this place, on June 14, following a severe heart attack.

The deceased was the daughter of the death of Mrs. Henry E. Robinson and his wife, Helen Harvey. She was born in 1864, was married to Henry E. Robinson, son of Captain James Robinson, in 1884, and spent her entire life in this locality.

Mrs. Robinson was a cheerful, hospitable and very industrious woman, who bore the vicissitudes of life with great courage and fortitude, always strengthening those who came in contact with her. Her entire life was spent in self-sacrifice and devotion to her family.

Early in life she became a member of Olivet Adventist Church in Sutton, and later was a faithful adherent of the United Church here.

The funeral was held at her late home, Rev. Mr. Boomhour, of Dunham, officiated, assisted by Rev. Herschel Aseltine, of Sutton. Mrs. Aseltine rendered a very beautiful solo entitled "God Understands." The comforting words spoken by Rev. Mr. Boomhour, paying tribute to the faith and sterling qualities of the deceased, were a solace to the bereaved family.

She was laid to rest in Fairmount Cemetery, Sutton, beside her husband, who predeceased her in 1924. Her elder son, Marcellus, who died in 1929, and a tiny granddaughter, Carol, who died in 1918, are also resting with her in this beautiful hallowed place.

She is survived by her son, Herbert Robinson, his wife and daughter, Christine, who have cared for her tenderly in her declining years; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Eva Robinson, of Dunham; a grandson, Mr. Robert Robinson; a great-grandson, Alan Robinson, of Bedford; a granddaughter, Mrs. Reginald Paul, of Dunham; two sisters-in-law, Mrs. Towney-Westover and Mrs. Wesley Westover; two nephews, Mr. Llewellyn Westover and Mr. James Westover; a niece, Miss Mildred Westover; another niece, Miss Hazel Bates, of Sutton, who was unable to attend her funeral, and many other near relatives who mourn her passing.

The funeral was largely attended by relatives and friends in the neighborhood, also many from Sutton, Dunham and Cowansville. Those who attended from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Hazen and son, of North Hero, Vt., Mr. and Mrs. Perley Langdell, of Waterville, Vt.

The bearers were neighbors and friends of the family, Messrs. Lynn Spicer, Naaman O'Brien, Cecil Woodard, Harry Harvey, Herbert Perkins and Charles Perkins.

The many beautiful flowers were silent tokens of the love and esteem of her family and friends.

MISS BEVERLY ANN VRBA, OF ASBESTOS.
Asbestos, July 20.—The entire community was saddened and shocked by the death of Beverly Ann Vrba, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Vrba, which occurred on June 14, 1949, at the Children's Memorial Hospital, at the age of fourteen years and 10 months.

Although Beverly had been in the Alexandra and Children's Memorial Hospitals for a period of nearly three months with poliomyelitis, everyone had hoped and prayed she would recover. She always had hopes of recovery and to be able to return home and bore her ordeal with great patience and always had a smile.

Beverly Ann was born on August 29, 1934, at Asbestos, where she spent her life. She attended the Asbestos and Danville High School. She was a member of the United Church of Asbestos Sunday School and finally a member of its congregation. She was also a Girl Guide.

The members of the troop and Danville Guides attended

The Doctor Says

SUNSTROKE AND HEAT EXHAUSTION DANGEROUS, BUT EASILY AVOIDED

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.
Both sunstroke and heat exhaustion are serious conditions. It is far better to prevent them than to treat them. All that is necessary is to avoid exposure. Except for the occasional person who cannot avoid the heat there is no excuse for getting these unfortunate reactions at all.

In serious sunstroke or at-stroke there is complete loss of consciousness. The face develops a peculiar dry flush and the skin is hot and dry. Fever, sometimes up to 109 degrees or more, may be present. Both the pulse and breathing are abnormal. It is a highly dangerous condition.

If the victim can be kept alive for two days recovery is probable. However, one attack increases the susceptibility to heat in the future. In sunstroke, the normal methods which the body has of maintaining its heat regulation seem to be entirely upset. It calls for prompt and even radical treatment.

Heat Exhaustion
Heat exhaustion is a less severe reaction to hot sun or excessive heat. It is related to sunstroke and shades gradually into the more serious condition. However, most physicians differentiate between the heat exhaustion and sunstroke because the latter is so much more dangerous.

In heat exhaustion, the principal symptoms are dizziness, excessive sweating, decrease in the amount of urine, a feeling of great weakness, paleness and a

DOROTHY DIX

Slovenly Housekeeper

Dear Miss Dix: I have been married for three years and have a sweet baby girl. Even before the baby came my wife and I quarreled over her slovenly housekeeping and untidiness. Still, then she would make an effort to clean up for a while, but now she just lets everything go and uses the baby for an alibi. I am able to afford one servant for her. What can I do?

DOROTHY DIX

Answer: If a woman is just naturally trifling and lazy and slovenly, she is incurable. She will always leave her case better than anything else on earth and no consideration of her family's comfort will galvanize her into action. The only thing that a man cursed with that kind of wife can do is to make enough money to hire a good maid who will make him a good home in which to live.

There are some faults in a wife that a husband can correct if he goes about it with tact and firmness, but he wastes his time trying to reform a lazy one. There is nothing in her to which can appeal. She has no sense of duty, or else she would realize that she isn't playing fair in not being a good housekeeper. She has no sense of pride, or else she would be ashamed to go sloppily and untidily dressed and to keep a house that looks like a pigsty. Hence the man with such a wife must either get rid of her or make up his mind to endure her as she is. He can never change her.

As for your wife making an alibi of the baby, that's a common feminine practice. Thousands of women use their children as a standing excuse for everything they do and leave undone.

Plenty of women simply slump after the first baby is born. They let themselves go badly. They don't even comb their hair or put on a decent dress for dinner. They never read any more. They give up their music or their painting or whatever accomplishments they had. They drop out of their old clubs and associations and get dull and unattractive and lose all their old graces and charms.

And the excuse they offer for it is the baby. They make a smoke screen of the poor little mite in the cradle, behind which they hide their indolence and general lack of pep and ambition. Also this super-mother devotion saves their faces because it sounds grand and noble for them to be devoting themselves to their children.

But in reality, it is only a subterfuge. It is a lazy woman hiding behind the baby's pinafore, because any woman who wants to finds time to take care of her children and do everything else she desires to do. As is witnessed by the myriads of women who are model mothers and housewives and yet frequent beauty shops and belong to clubs and play golf and help run the communities in which they live.

But as standing excuse there is nothing equal to a baby.

Dear Miss Dix: What do you think about the married woman who makes a personal friend out of another woman's husband and makes him handsome presents, but makes no effort to be friendly with his wife? Naturally the wife objects, displays jealousy, which results in her husband lying about the gifts he receives. What should the wife do?

Answer: I think a married woman who tries to take another woman's husband away from her commits one of the most cruel and dastardly crimes in the world, for she is ruthlessly breaking up a home just to gratify her own vanity and to get a thrill out of the flirtation.

But a woman can't have much confidence in her charms if she feels that she has to woo a man with expensive gifts. Evidently your husband is not in love with her for her own sake, but he puts himself in a very contemptible position when he becomes a sort of male gold-digger.

The only thing you can do is to sit tight and to hide your jealousy. You will get nowhere by making scenes and reproaching him with his affair, but you might shame him out of it by making him see what a ridiculous position he is putting himself in if you would laugh and point out his presents to your friends and make a few wisecracks about them.

DIET MYSTERY SOLVED

It took years of experimentation to establish the existence of vitamins. From 1881 to 1912, all scientists could discover was the contrary effect different diets had on the health of animals. In 1915, McCollum and Davis helped solve the mystery by showing that two "accessory substances" were required in addition to pure carbohydrates, proteins and fats to sustain life. Other experiments showed how certain diseases like beriberi and scurvy were caused by the lack of an unknown curative substance in the diet. These substances have since been called vitamins A, B, C, D, and E. They are credited with aiding in physical growth and maintaining buoyant health.

An ounce of prevention is still worth a pound of cure . . . so guard your most precious possession—good health. Whenever you need medicinal aid either as a preventative or as a cure, you can rely on our prescription experts.

Mrs. Iris Norris, Of Derby Line, Was The Guest Of Honor At A Delightfully Arranged Miscellaneous Shower

Derby Line, July 20. — A pre-nuptial shower of much interest took place at the Derby Line Community Hall, on Wednesday evening, July 13, in honor of the approaching marriage of Mrs. Iris Norris, a popular bride-to-be.

Her mother, Mrs. Earl Jacobs, had invited her to attend a show at the Border Theatre and when passing by the hall they were stopped by two friends, Mrs. Walter Curtis and Mrs. Harley Ames, who proceeded to blindfold Mrs. Norris, and to the strains of the "Wedding March," played by Mrs. Arthur Judd, she was escorted into the hall and seated.

Upon the removal of the blindfold, she was surprised to find upwards of 42 friends seated in a circle, while she was in the centre, and in front of her was a prettily decorated table and upon it several prettily wrapped gifts.

After she had some what recovered from the surprise, she was presented with a corsage of multicolor sweet peas by Mrs. Harley Ames. With her young daughter, Beryl, seated on her right, her mother, Mrs. Earl Jacobs, on her left and her grandmother, Mrs. Jacobs, Sr., the gifts were unwrapped and passed around. These consisted of a complete kitchen set of copper-bottomed aluminum Regent ware, a tablecloth, electric clock, a sponge cake divider, two china cups and saucers, and a set of colored pyrex mixing bowls.

Mrs. Norris in her usual charming manner very graciously thanked her friends for the lovely surprise and the beautiful gifts, saying that they were all things for which she had been wishing.

A game was played under the leadership of Mrs. Kenneth Baldwin.

Mrs. Curtis McLean pleasantly entertained the group by showing some colored films with her motion picture machine. These proved to be very interesting and beautiful. They included scenes of some of their travels through the New England States, of the lovely fall foliage colors, and summer picnic trips enjoyed in Canada.

Delicious refreshments were served in the upstairs hall, where tables had been arranged the length of the hall. These looked very attractive with white damask covers, centered and at each end with vases of pretty summer flowers. Each side with pink tapers in silver holders. At the places were "showers" serviettes. The color scheme throughout was pink and white.

As the guests departed for their respective homes they wished Mrs. Norris every happiness in her new home at Orleans, Vt.

The Women's Institute Of Abercorn Celebrated Its 25th Anniversary

Abercorn, July 20.—The Abercorn branch of the Women's Institute held its July meeting in the form of a celebration in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of its organizing in 1924.

The members and visitors motored to Knowlton, where a turkey dinner was enjoyed in the dining-room of the "Allouette Lodge," on the shore of Brome Lake. Eighteen people were seated at the table. A pleasant feature of the party was having two ladies from England, who were here visiting their sisters, Mrs. Walter Westover, of Sutton, Que., and Mrs. J. R. Ingalls, of East Richmond, Vt. Two of the members, Mrs. W. E. Dow, of Sutton, the first secretary, of twenty-five years ago, was present and read the minutes of the first meeting, which was held at her home, then in Abercorn, on July, 1924.

Some pleasant memories were talked over, one of them being a donation of one hundred dollars by the will of the late Mrs. Lester Hawley.

This group has done considerable good work, such as sending cheer to the aged and shut-ins, Red Cross work, packing and sending boxes to local boys overseas in war-time, sending parcels of clothing and food to needy people in other countries, giving prizes and providing for hot lunches in the schools, and various other worthy causes in the community.

Only three chartered members are left in the group now, but as new members have joined, the work has been carried on and done honor to the motto, "For Home and Country."

The first president, the late Miss S. M. Harvey, whose faithful work did much to get this organization started.

At the present time the president is Mrs. S. Cowan, and the secretary, Mrs. E. Ingalls, who are starting the second quarter of the century.

After the delicious dinner the monthly meeting business took place, opening in the usual manner with the recital of the Women's Creed, and the roll call was answered. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. In the correspondence a letter of thanks was read from a child from England who received a box of clothing.

The first secretary's book of twenty-five years ago was passed around and everyone enjoyed reading it.

After a short business was completed the meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. G. Gogue and Mrs. G. Roughton for the August meeting.

PLEASANT VALLEY CEMETERY

The sale of home cooking held at the Bradbury store on Saturday, July 9, for the benefit of the Pleasant Valley Cemetery, of Abercorn was a financial success.

Forty dollars were netted. The cake which was raffled brought a total of $11.40, the lucky number 26, was held by Mrs. L. Shepard, ninety-four years young.

Special thanks are due to ladies who had no personal interest in the cemetery work, who donated and helped. They were Mrs. Ernest McGrath, Mrs. E. Bradbury, Mrs. Lof-tus Smith and Mrs. John Hancock.

Bathing suit fashions owe their inspiration to clowns' costumes, sarongs and exercise suits.

SHERBROOKE LOSE TO GRANBY 10-6 IN ELEVEN INNING BATTLE

Sylvio Garcia Has Perfect Night At Bat; Cordell Goes Route For Granby

Granby, after an over three hour battle, last evening defeated Sherbrooke Athletics 10-6 in an eleven-inning game played at the Park Avenue Stadium.

A four-run rally in the eleventh frame enabled the visitors to chalk up the victory.

The locals made five errors compared to none for Granby which proved their downfall.

Cordell went the route for Granby while Rolie Gladu sent three hurlers, Brandt, Knerr and Schwamb to the mound.

With one away in the opening frame Manetz and Oliver hit singletons and Kims then poked out a round-tripper to give Granby a 2-0 lead.

Dussault, first man to face Cordell in the initial inning, hit a single, Blanco struck out but Big Sylvio Garcia hit a singleton scoring Dussault. Duany then hit safely but Schuster hit into a double play and the rally ended.

Neither team could score in the second frame. Sherbrooke scored in the third inning when Garcia drove out a double scoring Dussault who had walked. Duany went out short to first but Garcia came home on the play. Schuster grounded out to end the inning.

Granby scored one run in each of the third, fifth and eighth innings.

Sherbrooke scored twice in the seventh and once in the eighth and at the end of the eighth frame both teams had scored six runs.

Brandt started the Sherbrooke rally in the seventh when he hit a double. Dussault walked and Garcia knocked out a double scoring both runners.

Three Champs Will Be In Ring Thursday

Los Angeles, July 20.—(AP)—There will be an all-championship fight to the 15-round title match tomorrow night at Wrigley Field between Ike Williams, king of the world's welterweights, and challenger Enrique Bolanos of Mexico.

There's Champion Ike, and Bolanos, who hopes to be champion, and the third man in the ring will be Jack Dempsey, former king of the heavyweights.

Dempsey will referee for free, waiving his customary fee in behalf of the Lou Costello Youth Foundation, the poor boys' recreation centre for which the fight is being staged.

Anybody eligible to play and wishing to do so should contact Col. F. H. Baldwin, telephone 710.

According to advance notice some twenty companies have planned to participate. All players are asked to arrive early.

A feature of the tourney will be its attractiveness for the good golfer, as well as the mediocre bag-totter. In the scratch section, three prizes are being offered, low gross, (unofficial E.I. industrial champion), runner-up and third place.

In the handicap division the field will be broken up into three classes, two in each class.

The Atlantic system of handicapping will be used to determine both handicap and class.

Matches for the team trophy will be drawn on the 26th of July and mailed to interested parties. Entries will not be accepted after July 25th.

Lennoxville Junior club swimmers defeated Sherbrooke 12½ to 5½ in an inter-club match played on the Lennoxville course.

Garth Smith and John Brown, who shot 89 and 90 respectively, led the winning aggregation.

Charlie Curphy led the local squad firing a 92.

On Sunday the L'Audacieux Showboat Club will sponsor a 10-mile road race open to anyone who has a trainer.

The event will start at the New Sherbrooke Hotel at 11 a. m. Entries must be sent to Emery Vachon, New Sherbrooke Hotel, before 11 p. m. Friday.

Congratulations to G. Huet who won the open low gross at Dufferin last Sunday. Considering the number of golfers who participated, 100, it was quite a feat.

Sherbrooke Athletics have released three players, utility outfielder Raymond Perron, and pitchers, Lou Shapiro and Coco Tarte.

According to Coach Rolie Gladu, Perron will play for Thetford Mines, a farm club for the Athletics while Shapiro and Tarte have returned home. Shapiro had planned to return home soon and since the team is only allowed to carry twelve American imports it was decided to release him now.

Jean Bourneau, who played for Three Rivers in the Canadian American League, may get a tryout as a hurler with the locals.

Some one hundred entries are expected for the second annual Eastern Townships Industrial Golf Tournament which will be held on Saturday, July 30th, at the Waterville Golf Club.

Canadian Silk Products, who last year copped the Circo Challenge Team Trophy, presented by G. M. Young, will sponsor this year's event.

Anyone eligible to play and wishing to do so should contact Col. F. H. Baldwin, telephone 710.

According to advance notice some twenty companies have planned to participate. All players are asked to arrive early.

A feature of the tourney will be its attractiveness for the good golfer, as well as the mediocre bag-totter. In the scratch section, three prizes are being offered, low gross, (unofficial E.I. industrial champion), runner-up and third place.

In the handicap division the field will be broken up into three classes, two in each class.

The Atlantic system of handicapping will be used to determine both handicap and class.

Matches for the team trophy will be drawn on the 26th of July and mailed to interested parties. Entries will not be accepted after July 25th.

In the only game scheduled in the Sherbrooke Industrial Softball League last night, Superheater came through to defeat Paton Mills to the tune of 10-3. Davis Cup Tourney Starts Tomorrow

Montreal, July 20.—(C)—Canada and Australia today will name their starters for the three-day North American Davis Cup tie.

Here and the strong tennis invaders from down under are showing a cool indifference to the whole procedure. The matches start tomorrow with singles play.

Names of starters until the last minute remained the guarded secret of lanky John Bromwich of Australia, playing captain, and non-playing captain, The consensus among observers was that the teams would line up this way:

Australia—Singles: Bromwich, 30, and Frank Sedgman, 21, or Billy Sidwell, 29, and Sedgman; doubles: Bromwich and Sedgman.

Canada—Singles: Henri Rochon, 25, and Brendan Macken, 26, both of Vancouver, with Lorne Main, 19, of Vancouver, a possible surprise nominee; doubles: Macken and Walter Stohberg, 27, of Vancouver.

Bluntly, the attitude of the Australians since their arrival last week has been that they cared little what Canada's choices were because the Aussies would win in a romp anyway. Their composure hasn't been disturbed by the fact the Canadians have acted like anything but underdogs.
