WHAT IS IT? --- Corinne Selby of Dunham, and Carol Cadham of Noyan, are looking at a giant Japanese salamander which arrived at the Montreal Sportsman's Show by air from Tokyo. He's related to the two-inch newt many Canadians have in their home aquariums, but he's almost 20 times as long. The giant salamander is 35 inches long and weighs seven pounds. He'll be moved to the Quebec Biological Bureau at the University of Montreal. The two Eastern Townships girls were members of the staff of the Eastern Townships exhibit at the show.

PROPOSED NEW STREET SHELVED BY PROTESTS

Owners Meet City Officials

By GERALD MCDUFF
Wellington St. North property owners were told yesterday that the plan for a new street between Albert and Meadow Sts. had been accepted in principle only by the city council and that its construction would perhaps not be undertaken for many years, if at all.

A plan submitted to Director of Services Charles Langlois by Lewis Rosenbloom, a downtown property owner, to open a new street from King to Frontenac St. was rejected. Municipal officials said the street constructed according to Mr. Rosenbloom's suggestion would be too costly and would tie-up traffic on King St.

PLAN REJECTED --- Municipal officials yesterday rejected the above plan submitted by a Wellington St. North property owner to open a new street from King St. to Frontenac St. The officials would be too costly for the city to construct. A plan to construct a ramp to the Meadow St. parking garage from King St. was proposed.

Mac, Ike In Agreement

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) --- Prime Minister Macmillan gave President Eisenhower a personal report Friday on his recent talks with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

In a late-day briefing for reporters, press spokesmen for the British and American leaders said that the two men had a meeting of minds on standing firm in Berlin.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty, with British spokesman Peter Hope sitting beside him, said Eisenhower and Macmillan talked for about two hours after luncheon.

Hagerty reported that Macmillan's account of his talks with Khrushchev, German Chancellor Adenauer and French President de Gaulle "led, I am sure, into a discussion of the over-all Berlin situation."

to get into questions today of European security, nuclear tests suspension, military matters bearing on German issues and the like, as well as further talk about German policy problems.

This indication came in an announcement that additional officials will come up from Washington today to join in the talks.

Hagerty said Eisenhower had summoned Deputy Defence Secretary Donald A. Quarles, chairman John A. McCone of the Atomic Energy Commission, and the science adviser James R. Killian.

Hope reported that Macmillan will bring in today Con O'Neill, assistant secretary for foreign affairs concerned with disarmament, the United Nations and nuclear tests suspension. He said Sir Anthony Rumbold, assistant undersecretary of the foreign office responsible for European affairs and summit conference matters, had reported to Camp David Friday afternoon along with Philip de Zuleta, assistant private secretary to Macmillan.

Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington, where Dulles has been under treatment for cancer. Foreign Secretary Lloyd, who accompanied Macmillan to Camp David, took part in this session.

DULLES VIEWS
The ailing Dulles was understood to have stressed a need to avoid any proposals that would bolster the Allied foothold in Berlin at the cost of freezing the present East-West division of Germany.

As the talks got under way, informants in Paris reported that President de Gaulle has sent a secret message to Eisenhower on the Berlin problem.

Eisenhower was reported to have replied already to de Gaulle's message.

De Gaulle is known to favor a tough Allied stand in dealing with Russia's demand that Western troops pull out of Berlin in order that it can become a "free city."

There was an indication that Eisenhower and Macmillan plan

Flag Troubles Here Too

TORONTO (CP) --- Will the royal yacht Britannia fly the U.S. presidential flag when President Eisenhower goes aboard to help open the St. Lawrence Seaway? Or the Stars and Stripes? If so, where?

The questions are posed by Ernest H. Bartlett, Toronto Telegram features editor who in two wars served in the Royal Navy and Royal Canadian Navy.

The admiralty has ordered these flags for Britannia: On the jackstaff at the bow, the Union Jack; on the foremast, the admiralty flag—red with a fouled anchor; on the mainmast when the Queen is aboard, the Royal Standard; on the mizzenmast, the Union Jack—known as the Union Jack when flown from a jackstaff, on the stern staff, the White Ensign of the Royal Navy.

Bartlett suggests the admiralty flag at the foremast should be replaced in Canadian waters by the flag of the Canadian naval board which is the admiralty's Canadian counterpart.

He says he does not think the Queen, though not a member of the board, would object to sailing under the board's flag.

"Nor do I think that the jords of the admiralty should raise any objection. Granted that Britannia is a unit of the Royal Navy... she also is the royal yacht. And when a yacht sails in Canadian waters it is a gracious gesture to fly a Canadian flag."

"For that matter, why not the Canadian Blue Ensign at her jackstaff?"

At Ottawa, naval authorities said they are still trying to determine what grounds there would be for the flying of a Canadian flag or flags by the Britannia. Until this was done, it was impossible to say whether any request would be made to British authorities.

FLY TO RETREAT

Macmillan and Eisenhower flew in a helicopter to the secluded mountain lodge at Camp David to begin their four-day conference.

Eisenhower chose the rustic site to give the two Western leaders maximum privacy as they sought to reconcile somewhat conflicting views on what concessions should be offered in a new round of East-West talks.

Some 100 rifle-carrying marines guarded the 134-acre camp where the two men met, 26 miles from the press headquarters set up at Gettysburg.

They sat down to outline their personal views after having a 57-minute talk with State Secretary Dulles about the Berlin crisis.

No Price Support To Maple Industry

OTTAWA (CP) --- Agriculture Minister Harkness today virtually rejected establishment of price supports for maple sugar products.

Replying in the Commons to Louis Joseph Pigeon (C—Joliette—Assomption-Montcalm), he said this question was discussed extensively last year by representatives of producers and the agricultural prices stabilization board.

It had been agreed then that the most appropriate basis to deal with the problem of maple product producers would be for them to take advantage of federal agricultural marketing legislation rather than price stabilization.

SEEK CLARIFICATION

The businessmen were seeking clarification of the city's plan to open the street paralleling Wellington between Albert and Meadow.

Thursday, they held a meeting of their own in which they objected to the project on the grounds that they would lose valuable land, thus depreciating the value of their property, and that they would become subject to a special tax to cover the cost of the "improvements" proposed by the city.

They also contended that the purpose of the new street was to cover up a mistake in the plans of the Meadow St. parking garage which would not permit heavy trucks to enter the lot by Albert St. because of the limited height.

Yesterday, Jacques Lemieux, P. Eng., who drew up the garage plans, said heavy trucks would indeed be prohibited from using Albert St. to reach the service entrances to businesses.

RAMP TO GARAGE

He explained that a ramp would be constructed from Albert St. to reach the second level of the garage and that a 9-foot 3-inch entrance was planned at the lower level. If the lower entrance height were increased, he said, the ramp would be at a steeper angle and thus inconvenient for motorists.

No Outsider For RCMP

OTTAWA (CP) --- The new commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police will come from within the force.

Justice Minister Fulton informed the Commons to this effect Friday and indicated the successor to Commissioner L. H. Nicholson will be announced shortly.

He had been asked by Opposition Leader Pearson to assure the House that the appointment will be made from within the RCMP.

Mr. Fulton, saying he had received indications of concern about that from other members, stated categorically: "No consideration whatsoever has been given, or is being given, to the appointment of someone from outside the force as commissioner—no consideration whatsoever."

ANNOUNCEMENT SOON
The minister added that he expects "in the immediate future" to make a recommendation for the appointment of a commissioner "from within the RCMP" and as soon as that was dealt with an announcement would be made.

Informants indicated the announcement could be expected any day.

Commissioner Nicholson, 54, who had headed the 5,300-man force since 1951, resigned over the federal government's refusal to send at this time 50 RCMP reinforcements requested by the Newfoundland government in connection with the loggers' strike in the province. He agreed to stay on until a successor was chosen.

SHAKE MORALE?
The Monday announcement of the resignation brought in its wake a comment from one qualified headquarters officer that Commissioner Nicholson's departure would shake the morale of the RCMP.

Mr. Fulton's emphatic statement that the government was not going outside the RCMP for a new commissioner and Mr. Pearson's request for assurance on this score made it apparent they were taking account of the morale factor in the choice of a successor.

Two high RCMP officers are among those who have been mentioned in speculation for the $19,000-a-year post. They are: Assistant Commissioner C. W. Harvison, 58, of Montreal, now officer commanding the RCMP in British Columbia and former director of the criminal investigation branch. He has been with the force since 1919.

Assistant Commissioner D. A. McKinnon, 57, of Inverness, N.S., present director of the branch. He joined the federal preventive service in Nova Scotia in 1927 and entered the RCMP when that service was absorbed by the force in 1932.

Mr. K's Ultimatum Becomes Invitation

By ED SIMON (Canadian Press Staff Writer)

In an episode that would have done credit to Lewis Carroll, Nikita Khrushchev has waved his hand over a Russian ultimatum to the West and transformed it into a Western invitation to the East.

To those attending the Russian premier's Kremlin press conference, it must have sounded like something straight out of Alice in Wonderland.

The ultimatum that Khrushchev said wasn't an ultimatum was last November's demand for the withdrawal of Western forces from West Berlin by May 27.

The invitation that the Soviet premier blandly accepted without waiting for it to be offered concerned a meeting of foreign ministers on May 11.

Top-Level Talks Shape Western Policy

By JOSEPH MACSWEEN (Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain, reporting on his recent mission to Moscow, completed talks in Paris and Bonn and flew to Ottawa and Washington.

Macmillan called for an allied policy combining "firmness and reasonableness" in dealing with the Russians. He said he was persuaded that the Soviet rulers want to avoid a war. Premier Khrushchev had agreed to the principle of settling international differences by negotiation, not by force.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker described the Ottawa section of the visit in a speech to the House of Commons, saying that he and Macmillan reviewed the problems of Germany, Berlin and European security.

"I should emphasize that neither Mr. Macmillan nor I attempted to crystallize any British or Canadian position on specific questions under discussion," said Diefenbaker.

"However, I might add that it is my belief that the United Nations might play some most significant role in the solution of the Berlin problem and that this phase deserves further and more careful study."

issue, saying he accepted in advance a forthcoming Western proposal to convene a foreign ministers' conference May 11.

Khrushchev insisted, however, that the meeting be confined to discussion of a German peace treaty and the future of West Berlin, and that it be followed by a summit conference.

While thus showing some encouragement to Western hopes of agreement, Khrushchev also criticized Eisenhower and U.S. military leaders for what he said were threats to start a war over Berlin.

IKE'S SPEECH
Eisenhower made a television speech earlier, cautiously opening the door to a summertime summit meeting, providing the groundwork is laid first by the foreign ministers.

But he insisted the U.S. will fight rather than yield to Russia's demand that allied troops leave West Berlin so that it can become a "free city" within Communist territory.

SMITH DIES

Canada was saddened by the sudden death of Sidney Smith, the Cape Breton farm boy who rose to be president of University of Toronto before becoming external affairs minister in September, 1957.

The well-liked minister, who was 62, died while resting before going to the House of Commons for an afternoon session.

Word of his death was conveyed to the Commons by Prime Minister Diefenbaker, who was almost speechless and in tears from shock and grief. The loss had all the more impact since Smith had been preparing for a role in the Ottawa talks of Prime Minister Macmillan and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

Smith was buried Friday beside his parents in Windsor, N.S., where he spent much of his boyhood.

LONG STRIKE

The woods dispute continued in Newfoundland, where the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) has been on strike against the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company since December.

Repercussions were great. Commissioner Leonard Hansen Nicholson, 54, chief of the RCMP, quit his post in a disagreement with Justice Minister Davie Fulton over reinforcements for the force in Newfoundland.

In Grand Falls, Ronald Laing, 39-year-old logger, was charged with murder Thursday in the fatal beating of a constable—a member of the Newfoundland Constabulary—in a March 10 fight between pickets and police.

Since the policeman's death, two offices of the union, decertified by Premier Joseph Smallwood's government, have been damaged.

SECRET BOMBS

The United States announced that in September it secretly launched three rockets bearing nuclear warheads into space successfully.

The defence department said the bombs were exploded beyond the earth's atmosphere and formed an electronic shield that circled most of the world.

The department also said the experiment brightened U.S. hopes for building a defence against intercontinental ballistic missiles.

A spokesman said the blasts—the first known nuclear explosions in space—had provided information useful in the development of an anti-missile missile.

MIDDLE EAST

The fight between President Nasser and Premier Khrushchev came out in the open with a bitter exchange of words in the struggle for control of Iraq.

The Soviet premier and the president of the United Arab Republic for the first time accused each other of fomenting trouble in the Middle East.

Khrushchev accused Nasser of stirring up trouble in Iraq in an attempt to overthrow the Communist-influenced regime of Premier Kassem. Nasser, also the target of criticism by Iraqi press and radio, hotly denied Khrushchev's charge and defended his ideas for Arab solidarity.

Tibetans Battle Chinese

NEW DELHI — (Reuters) — Tibetans opposed to Communist control of their remote land have revolted against their Chinese conquerors in the "forbidden city" of Lhasa, it was reported officially Friday night.

Informed sources said earlier that fighting has been going on in and around Lhasa for the last three days in what appeared to be the first rebel operation in the capital since the Chinese Communists arrived in 1950.

India's external affairs ministry confirmed Friday night that fighting was in progress. A spokesman said Tibetans and Chinese were engaged near the Indian consulate in Lhasa—the world's most inaccessible capital.

Unconfirmed reports said there are more than 30,000 Chinese troops in Lhasa.

Widespread demonstrations against Communist rule began peacefully but "evidently are not so now," the Press Trust of India said, quoting unofficial reports.

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—About Dennis Weaver, who plays Chester on Gunsmoke. . . No, he does not have a real limp; he was a track star at the University of Oklahoma; Yes, he was born in Joplin, Mo., but he doesn't speak with Chester's twang in real life; he has been a Broadway actor and his diction is dandy.

Now that those oft-asked questions are out of the way, we can get down to business. And Weaver's business is good, thank you. He's one TV western actor who is happy with his lot.

"GOOD FOR ME" "Gunsmoke has been good for me, both in a financial and a career way," he said cheerfully. "I've been able to make some investments; I'm in on a hotel project in Palm Springs and plan to build a bowling alley."

"Besides doing the show, I've been able to make personals at county and state fairs, rodeos, etc. I'm recording a couple of tunes for Fess Parker's new record company. I'm not worried about being typed as Chester. During my vacation from Gunsmoke, I've been able to do entirely different roles on Playhouse 90, and in Touch of Evil with Orson Welles."

He is so pleased with the show that he signed a new deal with the producers. He is set for two more years as Chester. The rest of the Gunsmoke quartet—James Arness, Amanda Blake, Milburn Stone—are set for only one more year. Jim has made no bones about his dissatisfaction with his deal. So the fifth year of shooting, which begins in June, may be the last.

WAS TO PLAY DILLON

Weaver's happy feeling toward the show is unusual when you consider his introduction to it. He thought he was going to play Matt Dillon.

"That was the kind of role I had always played," he said. "I was kind of disappointed when they asked me to do Chester instead. But the show seemed to have so much promise that I took it. I figured it was better to be second banana in a hit series than to star in a second-rate western."

Oh, yes, the gimp and the twang. They were his ideas.

"I did a test for the role and played it pretty straight," he recalled. "They wanted more character. So when I did the second test, I gave it to them!"

All About Stamps

The meeting of the Coaticook Stamp Club was not too well attended but the weather left a great deal to be desired. The next meeting will be on Thursday April 7. It is planned to hold a meeting in Sherbrooke in the not too distant future and perhaps some of the friends in Richmond, North Hatley and Magog districts will be able to share our collecting pleasures.

Collectors sometimes wonder why stamps cost a bit more when they are on approval sheets or ordered from a dealer. Frankly this problem has always been with us and one must remember that the packets that are offered to collectors are, for the most part, assembled in Europe or the far East. In these areas wages are much, much lower, and families put the packets together as a "home industry." The exchange situation makes our money have a very great purchasing power. To illustrate this, supposing you have purchased a packet of 1000 all different world stamps for about $3.00, a very large number of stamps for a little money. If these were ordered separately they would cost you about a cent each. Stop for a moment and think of the work to place those thousand stamps in that envelope one at a time. It is done at a table with trays of about one hundred different in front of each person, but, nonetheless, it is a great deal of work, and with wages here being what they are dealers cannot hope to match that competition.

Another question is the cost of a common Canadian commemorative from a dealer. We'll presume he paid 50 cts. for a hundred of them, places them in his stock after examination to make sure all culls are out. Then you order one. He'll ask you three cents for it and the first reaction is "O that fellow sure knows how to make money." Just a minute, he receives your order, then has to go to his stock book and remove the stamp, make the notation on his stock sheet that the stamp is gone. Next he places it in a glassine, makes your invoice, places the stamp and invoice in the envelope and sends it out to you — in all, about ten minutes work. Would you work ten minutes for two and half cents? And pay for the glassine and invoice form plus the mailing envelope? This explains why most dealers ask for, and some insist, on a minimum order of two dollars. I do not write this in defense of those dealers who offer shop-worn copies of the current Canadian 5 cts. stamp on mass produced approvals for 3 cts. each, but rather, to illustrate the working of the dealer set-up. New issues are sold at a small mark-up over face value and seldom give much profit when sold alone, although the large New Issue houses do make money. But, did you ever stop to think of where the profit goes when the hired help tears a couple of pound value stamps when breaking up the sheet? Or the ink mark that got on that high value of the Ghana Black Star line stamp?

A stamp column is a bit of a problem at times — it would be the easy way to list all the new issues and let it go at that, however, it has been the belief of the writer that collectors want a bit more than that. If you don't agree with what is written here, let me know. If you have questions to ask, send them along. Surely, some of you beginners must have some questions to ask. In closing I would like to offer a Scott Part 1 Catalog, 1956 edition, to any group of young collectors who would want it — first letter gets it and postpaid at that, no strings attached. Write to this column.

ACCIDENT AREA — The area circled in the above photograph shows the spot where 52-year-old Alfred Fagg, of 753 Galt Street East was fatally injured while at work in one of the three Canadian Ingersoll Rand plants. The accident occurred about noon yesterday.

Worker Killed At Rand

Alfred Fagg, 52-year-old Canadian Ingersoll Rand employee was fatally injured at work, when a 3,000 pound girth gear fell upon him yesterday afternoon.

Fagg, who lived at 753 Galt Street East, was first given first aid blood plasma and oxygen by the permanent company nurse Miss Olive Symons, while awaiting transfer to the Hotel Dieu hospital in Sherbrooke. He died shortly before 6 p.m.

The accident occurred when a crane operated by Edward Dolman had just deposited two 3,000-pound, 12-foot diameter girth gears.

Mr. Fagg's job was to unchain the gears which had been placed diagonally on the ground.

After unchaining both gears one of them fell upon his legs, causing him to fall and hit his back against some nearby metal castings.

After first aid treatment he was transported to the Hotel Dieu Hospital. Plans were made to transfer him to the Montreal Neurological Institute by helicopter but he died before this could be done.

Trio Sent To Assizes On Break-in Charges

The 1960 St. Francis District Criminal Assizes will be the next court procedure on the agenda for Peter Chare, Andre Tremblay and Yvan Yvon Jean Paradis, all of Montreal, who pleaded not guilty yesterday before Judge Joseph Marier in Court of Sessions to charges of breaking and entering the Leclerc Dairy on the morning of Feb. 22.

At their preliminary hearing held yesterday, Guy Pinard, 46-year-old manager of the dairy, testified that he was called about three o'clock on the morning of Feb. 22, by Sherbrooke municipal police, stating that the dairy had been broken into.

"When I arrived," added Mr. Pinard, "I noticed that one of the door be to the establishment had been broken, and that the floor near the safe and the safe itself were badly damaged."

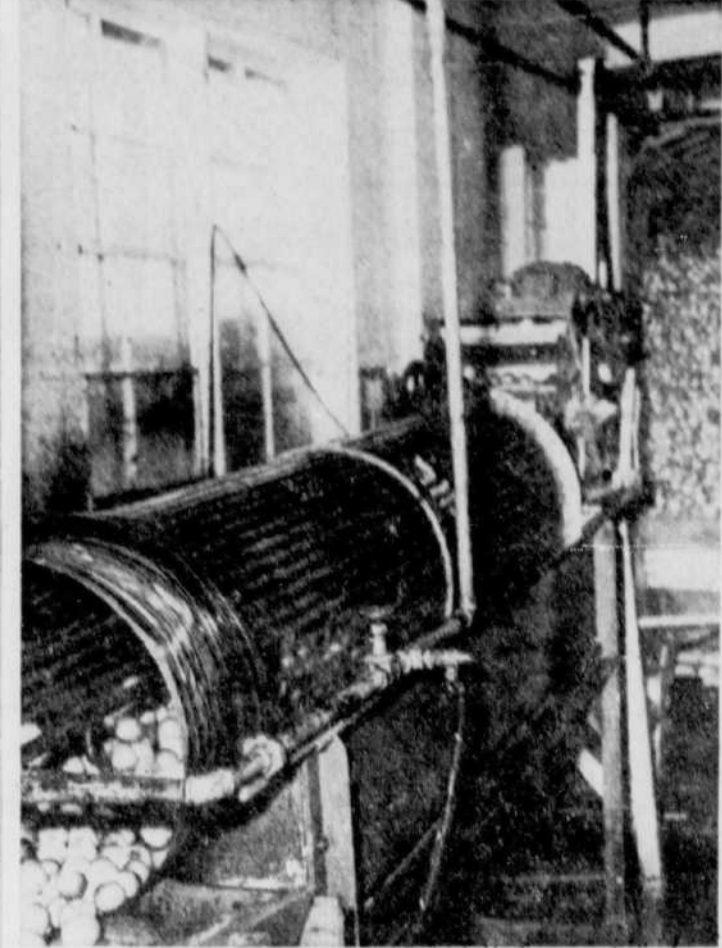

sticks were all over the place," he added.

Gerald Lepage, Eugene Dufresne and Sgt. Det. A. Gosselin, of the Sherbrooke municipal police, testified that upon entering the dairy, they heard noises in the basement of the establishment. Upon checking, they found two men hidden behind a pile of tires while another was hiding behind the furnace.

Asked by Crown Prosecutor Roland Dugre if they could identify these men in court, the witnesses stated that the men they saw were the same ones that are presently on trial.

At the hearing, 17 exhibits were produced, including the tools and dynamite found at the scene of the attempted safe cracking.

After ordering the three to stand trial at the next Session of the St. Francis District Criminal Assizes, Judge Marier issued a court order that the dynamite and fuses produced as evidence be destroyed because of their danger.

Apple Processing Held Key To Grower's Prosperity

By CUTHBERT JONES
ROUGEMONT — The recent decision of the Cooperative Monteregienne, an association of 300 apple-growers in the western section of the Eastern Townships, to market an apple nectar is another step in the policy of that organization to find the widest possible markets for the apple-growers of Quebec. By offering a wide range of processed apple products, the Cooperative hopes to end the dependence of the growers on the sale of table apples for their livelihood.

The Cooperative was established in 1940 and in its first year of operation handled a total of just over 12,000 bushels of apples. During the ensuing years, there was little activity at the plant because of the shortage of containers and sugar.

The plant resumed normal operation after the war and since then has steadily increased the quantity of apples it handles for processing. Today the volume of apples handled during a season has reached 350,000 barrels, making it the biggest apple processing plant in the Province of Quebec.

The Cooperative pays its members for the transportation of their apples to the plant and members are paid for their apples in instalment as the products are sold.

The percentage of Quebec's apple crop that is processed is currently estimated at 9.5 per cent, compared with a Canadian average of 25 per cent. More than four million bushels of apples were harvested in Quebec during the past season.

Products manufactured by the Cooperative Monteregienne at the present time include juice, nectar, sauce, pulp, jelly, apple butter and Pommelade — an apple-orange jam.

The latest type of European high-pressure juice press has been installed at the Cooperative's plant (there are only two such presses in North America) and this press is capable of handling 40 tons of apples in 10 hours.

A continuous and automatic pulp process can manufacture five tons of pulp per hour and the pulp is stored in eight glass-enamelled tanks, each 40-feet long, which have a combined capacity of nearly one-and-a-half million pounds.

The plant is able to can 12,000 gallons a day, the equivalent of over 90,000 20-oz. cans. All juice produced by the plant is now vitaminized.

With the exception of the Cooperative Monteregienne's newest product, APPLE-O-DAY apple juice nectar, which is distributed throughout the provinces of Quebec, Ontario and Manitoba, most of the plant's output is sold in Quebec under the Mont Rouge trade-mark.

Manager of the Cooperative Monteregienne since 1957 has been Rhys W. Arengo-Jones, one of Canada's top apple researchers.

A native of Wales, Mr. W. Arengo-Jones was brought up in the cider-apple country of the West of England. He came to Canada in 1923, and settled in the Annapolis Valley of Nova Scotia, but returned to England the following year to study at the British and French Cider Institutes.

He returned to Canada in 1925 and established a small plant in Nova Scotia to produce apple juice.

In 1931, he joined the Federal Department of Agriculture and three years later was appointed chief of the Fruit and Vegetable Products Laboratory at the Department's Central Experimental Farm. During the 1930s Arengo-Jones did considerable research work in the freezing of fruit and vegetables, and worked on the development of apple and other fruit juices and cider. He is the author of many technical bulletins and articles on these subjects.

During the last war Arengo-Jones was appointed to develop production of dehydrated vegetables for Canadian fighting services and was a member of the research team which produced Canada's first vitaminized apple juice, which was made in quantity for the Services.

In 1943, he resigned from the Civil Service to become technical director in charge of packaged soup production at Thomas J. Lipton Ltd., and remained there until 1949, when he established himself as a consultant in food engineering and technology.

From 1953 to 1957 Arengo-Jones was technical consultant to the Cooperative Monteregienne of Rougemont, Quebec, the province's biggest processing plant. In 1957, he assumed management of the Cooperative to develop its scope of operations.

In commenting on the new product, Mr. Arengo-Jones said that an expanded apple-processing industry in Quebec could go a long way to solving the problems currently facing the province's apple-growers.

Pointing out that, at the present time, only about 9% of Quebec's apple crop was processed, compared with a figure for the remainder of Canada of 25%, Mr. Arengo-Jones said that greater concentration on processing could help solve growers' problems in three ways:

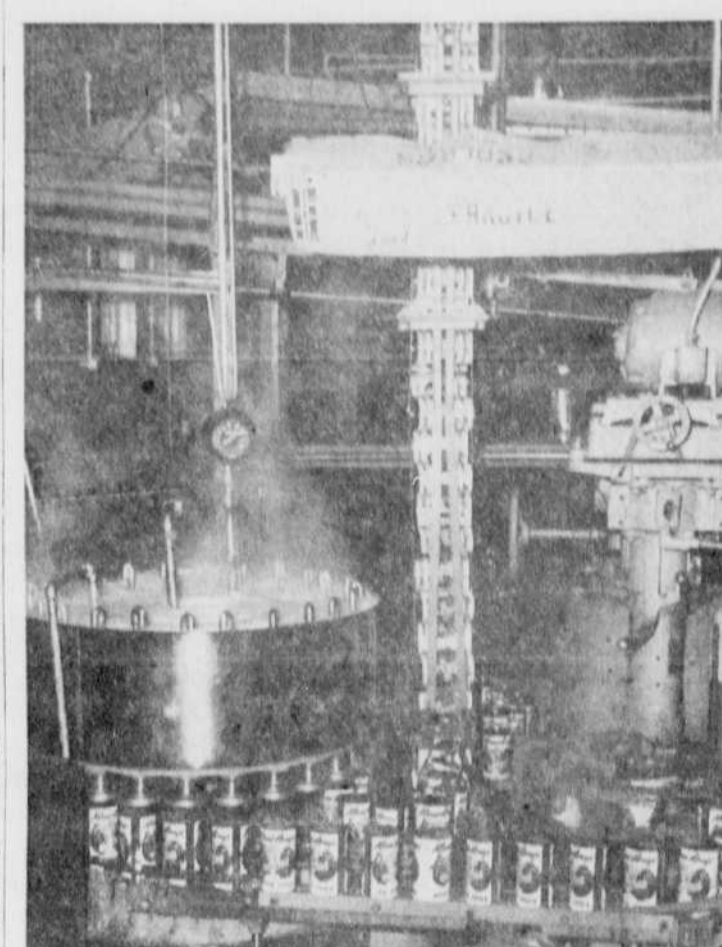

- 1—Processed apple products could be shipped to markets where it was difficult and costly to send fresh fruit;
- 2—The trend in modern living indicated an increasing domestic market for processed apple products;
- 3—A well-organized processing industry could support growers' costs, and could provide as good or better returns than the fresh fruit market.

"The problems of Canadian apple growers cannot be solved by tariff protection," said Arengo-Jones. "Intensive effort is needed in the field of research to improve existing apple products, to explore world-wide markets, and to study and advertise the true dietetic and therapeutic values of our apples and apple products."

Pointing out that the Province of Quebec already had the nucleus of a sound processing industry, Arengo-Jones said that a wider appreciation of the value of processed apple products, we can go a long way to banishing the hazard of over-production, which in good seasons plagues the Quebec apple grower.

Traffic Cases Highlight Sessions Court Hearings

Yesterday was traffic court day in court of Sessions.

Five men were fined a total of $250 and court costs while a fifth man was found not guilty following a group of charges laid by provincial police concerning traffic offences.

Stanley Sanderson, of Sherbrooke, was fined $50 and costs by presiding Judge Joseph Marier, Provincial Traffic policeman Ernest Breton of Sherbrooke testified that on June 7, 1958, after checking licenses in the Magog area, he discovered Sanderson driving a car without a driving permit for the current year and that he had no registration.

Leo Paul Lanctot, of Sherbrooke, was fined $50 and costs and had his licenses suspended for three months after he was found guilty of throwing empty beer bottles from a moving car and zig-zagging from side to side of the road near Magog August 24, 1958.

Theodore Charland was fined $50 and costs after he was found guilty by Judge Marier of driving a pick-up truck without a registration and causing excessive noise by neglecting to have a pierced muffler fixed, August 7, in Magog.

Joseph Lamontagne was fined $50 and costs after Provincial Policeman Breton testified that he

Steamer Tickets Available Under CNR Credit Plan

Canadian National Railways has announced that they will be giving credit for steamship travel in connection with their new "go-now-pay-later" rail fare plan which becomes effective April 1.

This is the first offer by a Canadian railway for travel on the instalment payment plan. A 10% down payment on a minimum of $100.00 total fare is required.

Highlighting the new plan is credit for joint rail ocean steamship passage when the CNR rail transportation is used in whole or in part to or from the port. This is the first time credit for steamship travel has been available.

Travel funds are also included in the plan to cover the value of confirmed accommodation at hotels in Canada, the United States or Mexico; meals, sight-seeing tours and other expenses incidental to the trip.

Funds may be provided by means of traveler's cheques or by money orders.

Directing the cantata is the Ven. T. J. Matthews with Mrs. Lee Watson as assistant. A. E. Bartlett will preside at the organ.

BISHOP'S BULLETIN BOARD

The announcement of Bishop's SEC election results were delayed yesterday afternoon when five members of a "29th of February movement" sneaked into Bishop's Council Office and surprised three balloting officers while they were eating lunch. Threatening the three with water pistols and machetes, the five members of the movement hustled the ballot officers and ballot box into a waiting car and sped towards Lennoxville.

Police were immediately alerted, and managed to pick up the plotters within 15 minutes of the theft. They were escorted quickly by police back to University where they relinquished the ballot box which held information students were waiting to hear all day.

Robin Kotze, who went under the title of "Field Marshal," engineered the plot. He was assisted by L. Hart (Intelligence), Barry Wansborough (Rear-Armour), Graden Miller (Secret Service) and Dave Cruickshank (Guerrilla Padre).

Long-awaited results of the important student elections, released at 2:45 p.m. EST, gave victories to Brian Stevenson (Athletics), Bruce Stavert (Vice-President) and Dave Murry (President of Second Year).

STUDENT DISCORD
A delegation of five Bishop's students, headed by Senior Man Ray Jensen, travelled to Montreal last week-end to take part in a regional NFCUS (National Federation of Canadian University Students) conference.

Jensen and the Bishop's NFCUS group were openly critical over the way in which the Montreal meeting was conducted, and a report issued later by the delegation indicated that the rift which already separates Bishop's students from the other students of the province had widened still further.

"The general socialistic approach to the education problem," Jensen said, "would not be palatable to Bishop's students; certainly not to our delegation."

The report issued last Monday said that delegates engaged in heated discussions "centered around the advisability of combining NFCUS with the Association of the Students Councils of the five Quebec Universities."

Freed On Currency Charges

A judgment of not guilty due to a lack of evidence, was returned yesterday by Judge Joseph Marier in Court of Sessions in the case of Alfred Arcand, of Sherbrooke who was charged with possessing and distributing American bogus bills in the Sherbrooke area from Sept. 1957 to May 1958.

In dismissing the charges, which are punishable by a 20-year term in the penitentiary Judge Marier told the accused that he was drunk. "On these grounds, I cannot disregard your testimony," said the judge.

The Annual Review

Once again the Sherbrooke Daily Record is privileged to present to its readers its annual review edition, a publication which has been appearing for nearly half-a-century. This annual review is more than just a story of general business and political developments during the past year and an indication of the prospects for the future. It is also a chronicle of the history of the Eastern Townships which it has been the privilege of the Record to represent for the past sixty-two years.

The articles by Canadian business leaders are complemented by reviews of the progress registered by district municipalities during 1958 and by historical items about communities and individuals designed to make the 1959 review one of interest to everyone.

The Eastern Townships was not unaffected by the developments in the political and economic fields which were felt by the Dominion as a whole, events which are duly recorded in the pages of today's paper.

Like the rest of Canada, this district experienced a business recession during the past twelve months and like the rest of this country it is beginning to feel those slow but steady improvements that promise to make 1959 a year of stable recovery.

Voice Of The Turtle

When the man of the house is on regular spring-summer-fall yard duty, he seems geared for any outdoor task large or small. He'll bound out of the house to snap up a wandering bit of paper, or a fragment of glass glinting in the sun.

But all that changes when winter sets in. The man of the house retreats inside, slamming the door and seeking out the comfort of the soft chair.

There he remains, like a hibernating creature, for interminable months. It just isn't the season for going outdoors, except to get indoors somewhere else. Yet the long withdrawal must end, inevitably. There comes that day when he peers out of the window and sees the bright sun standing at an angle that hints of a new season.

An unseen magic wand taps him. He tosses on a light jacket, storms out of the house and strides purposefully across the lawn. He picks up a metal lawn chair which a chill wind blew over some four months before.

The thaw has begun. The life cycle renews itself. Soon he'll be chasing stray cigarette butts and old candy wrappers with all his old vigor. And just try and get him to move that chest in the living room.

Traffic Safety For Children

Two thirds of those killed in Canadian traffic accidents each year are pedestrians, and a great many of them are children.

The youngsters pose a special problem, especially at this time of year when they are moving about more freely as the snow begins to melt.

A great deal can be done through education of both drivers and children to cut down the toll.

Make sure that children are taught safety rules and regulations at an early age.

Children are quick to follow the example set by their parents and relatives in crossing streets, so always obey the traffic rules. Encourage children to play in schoolyards and playgrounds, never on the streets.

Don't call to a small child from across a busy street; he may become confused and run towards you into the path of an oncoming car.

Campaign for school crossing guards in your community.

When driving, always slow down in the vicinity of schools and playgrounds.

Never pass a stopped school bus from either direction; wait until the bus is moving.

Be courteous; always give a child the right of way.

WOMEN AT WORK

(Stratford Beacon-Herald)

Despite all her gadgets and modern conveniences, the North American housewife is burdened with a work-load that would stagger her "underprivileged" Asian sisters. So concludes the noted traveler and shrewd observer, James A. Michener, in an article in the current issue of Reader's Digest.

He admits that the Indian peasant woman, for example, is up at dawn, trailing cattle for fuel for the family fire, hauling the family wash to the river and lugging back water for cooking before setting out for a day of labor in the rice fields. But, he adds, "when they are through their work, they are through." Because there is more than one female to a household they don't have complex jobs waiting for them at home. Older women relatives in the family circle take care of the children and do the marketing, cooking, mending and dishwashing.

Perhaps the North American housewife doesn't have to labor as hard physically. But her job is still a harder and more complex one than those of her sisters anywhere around the world. This is particularly true if she has children. She may be expected to serve as a den mother, attend school committees, collect money for the local hospital, show some interest in the political life of the community and fill an important role in her husband's business life — all the while maintaining an above-average standard of mental alertness and personal attractiveness.

The pressure on wives and mothers has become almost unbearably heavy. We ought to pioneer new ways to provide for these wives, especially those with children, with needed help, concludes Mr. Michener. And he has no patience for the critics who propose that if women stopped getting involved in community affairs they wouldn't need cleaning women or baby-sitters. "I have had a chance," he writes, "to compare towns where women take an interest in libraries, hospitals, schools and youth groups, with towns in Asia where no one cares about such things. And I appreciate the tremendous contributions made by women. Concern for one's community and a desire to maintain one's intellectual capabilities ought not to be surrendered."

CRUSHING PENALTY
(Saint John Telegraph-Journal)
Smuggling is frowned upon by Spain.

Forty-seven year-old Yuen Chungkwong of Hong Kong, travelling on a Portuguese passport, was caught at the Barajas Airport in Madrid with a fortune estimated at $600,000 which he was trying to bring into the country.

This consisted of currency, checks and precious stones hidden in several pairs of shoes. Yuen was fined $640,000 for his pains—$40,000 more than the total of his hoard.

Saturday's Sermon:

What A Week!

BY REV. B.S. MURRAY, M.A.

Jerusalem, the Holy City, in a festive mood, with people waving branches and shouting wildly "Hosanna" is the setting which marks the beginning of the most glorious week of the Christian year. The quiet of the Bethlehem manger and the thirty silent years at Nazareth stand in sharp contrast to this thunderously festive demonstration. But then there's the silence of Easter Eve in the office.

I invite you this year to follow day by day the story of that last week — journeying with Jesus to the temple, to Bethany, to Gethsemane, to the judgment hall, to Calvary, to Joseph's Tomb — listening to all He said and meditating on all that He did — believing, hoping, that you will find your spiritual life immeasurably enriched.

"KING FOR A DAY"

Palm Sunday recalls the entry to Jesus into Jerusalem for His supreme struggle and triumph. He enters as a King. But how different is this royal procession from the pomp and power of worldly monarchs. This is the King of Love! And not the type of King the mob wanted. Jesus, however, had made up his mind to be the kind of a king that God wanted, remained firm in his resolution. He did agree to reign for a day and then, completely disregarding the invitation of the fickle mob went on in a regal majesty not of this world to the most glorious event in all history, THE CROSS!

THE HERO — OUR SAVIOUR.

Jesus then is the central figure — the Hero if you will — in this moving story of the Last Week. And, of course there are, as in all other stories, others who contribute towards the unfolding of the plot, the drama. In meeting such characters as Simon Peter and Pontius Pilate; Judas and the High Priest; Simon the Cyrenian (John 23:26) and the penitent thief; Joseph of Arimathea and Mary the Mother of Jesus, Mary Magdalene and "the other Mary" we meet counterparts either in our own life or those we associate with.

"ALL SO HUMAN"

Read and evaluate as you may, this story is basically "human" with such homespuns as visits to the temple and a home... Tears as those shed by (a) the Master and (b) a few faithful friends... money for a la Judas kiss — a basin and a towel... water suggested by the brook Kendoron, washing the disciples' feet, and that which crosses are real and oft merit being named "lesser calvaries"; they are nonetheless not THE CROSS. THEY are places of despair and defeat. The Cross of our Lord Jesus Christ (Gal 6: 14) is the place of victory, and hereafter.

Do thou, O Church of the Saviour, proclaim unceasingly that ONLY at the Cross is their salvation from our sins. There and there alone when we confess and repent of our sins and forthwith wash them in the precious blood of Jesus do we experience the forgiveness of sin and go on our way, saved, with the determination to serve the Saviour with gladness and at all times and in all places seize every opportunity to proclaim the glad tidings of great joy that in the CROSS we find release from guilt, power for daily living and hope for eternity.

JOY COMMETH IN THE MORNING!

That first Good Friday afternoon it looked as if this would not be so. Everything was so hopeless, so silent, so dark. But then as now, the darkest hours precede the dawn. And lo! with the dawn of that first day of the week, joy, very early in the morning, JOY, Jesus, the Joy of loving hearts, Jesus, the Conqueror of sin and death, arose from the sealed tomb in Joseph's garden, alive for evermore. THE LIVING CHRIST!

In the hands of Him to whom all power in heaven and earth hath been given are keys which, when applied "by faith", can overcome all difficulties and troubles, dissolve our fears, soften our sorrows and even rob death of its sting and victory.

On then to the city of God, my brethren, with the Cross of Jesus going on before!

Well, a week that is a prelude to what the Apostles' creed describes as "the forgiveness of sins, the resurrection of the body and the life everlasting" is indeed a most glorious week. My soul! WHAT A WEEK!

SPACE-AGERS

(Manchester Guardian)
In a London park the other afternoon, two small children were playing the traditional game of hide-and-seek in which one child counts 20 while the other hides. But there was one change from the game as it used to be played. "Twenty, nineteen, eighteen..." The child standing with hands over his eyes was counting down!

REPORTING

OTTAWA — The federal cabinet has not, at this writing, decided whether to outlaw the anti-union legislation passed by the Newfoundland House of Assembly on March 6. Whether it will can only be a guess.

This despite the strong condemnation in the Commons by Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Justice Minister Fulton of the actions of Premier Joey Smallwood. The PM and Fulton didn't specifically refer to the anti-union laws, but undoubtedly these laws largely prompted their perhaps unprecedented censure of Smallwood.

However, the government has to consider all the factors and implications in its decision on disallowance. Some factors are far-reaching and of the greatest national importance. And this against the salient fact that no action by Ottawa can now remedy the injustice done to the International Woodworkers union. Disallowance of the laws will not turn back the calendar to March 6.

Joey has outfoxed Ottawa. Immediately on passage of the anti-union laws, Fulton had instructions sent to Lt. Gov. C. L. MacPherson of Newfoundland requiring him forthwith to forward authenticated copies of the legislation to the Secretary of State in Ottawa.

"Forthwith" seems to have been rather loosely interpreted in St. John's. Secretary of State Courtemanche didn't receive the official copies until last Monday. In the interim Smallwood acted quickly to make use of the legislation before Ottawa had a chance to disallow it. He had the IWA's certification as bargaining agent for the loggers transferred to his "independent" Newfoundland Brotherhood of Woodworkers. Then the "independent" union which Joey fathered signed a work and wages contract with the strike-bound Anglo-Newfoundland Development Corp.

Even if Ottawa disallows the legislation under which these actions were taken, the IWA would not get back its certification as the loggers' bargaining agent. The allocation of certification to Joey's union, and that union's subsequent contract with the AND Corp., would remain valid.

The federal government's power of disallowance is good for a year from the date of passage of the provincial law in question. Moreover, it is customary for the federal government to give a province an opportunity to amend or repeal its legislation as an alternative to disallowance.

Before acting, the government must also consider:

1. Relations with the provinces generally, inasmuch as disallowance of provincial labor legislation would be an interference with the provinces' jealously guarded autonomy in their constitutional fields.

2. Whether disallowance of the Newfoundland laws would create a precedent so binding that the government could not consistently reject labor's demands that Ottawa disallow new British Columbia laws which seem to infringe on labor's right to carry on peaceful picketing, and contain other provisions to which labor objects vehemently.

3. The danger of making Newfoundlanders feel isolated from and discriminated against by the rest of Canada, as many Quebecers have felt in the past—a feeling which would at least weaken the recently-tied bonds of Canada-Newfoundland union, and might cause not a few Newfoundlanders to want to separate from Canada.

On the other hand, there is the blatant injustice of Joey's laws, the political pressure of labor for their disallowance, the likelihood that failure to act would be a poor augury for Diefenbaker's new Bill of Rights, and the politically intriguing opportunity to widen the breach between Newfoundland and mainland Liberals.

The government's decision is thus as difficult to predict as to make.

JACOBY On Bridge

EVERYONE GETS IN OVERBID ACT

West's three spade bid is not recommended as a general diet for bridge players but things had been going badly for him all day and he was not going to give up the rubber without a struggle.

North was not going to be shut out and his four no-trump (Blackwood) was on the overbid side. East got right into the act and bid five spades and South's double was an all purpose bid. It was supposed to show the three aces he would have shown if left to himself and if North wanted to pass that would be all right too.

North went to six hearts and when it got back to West he kept the flag flying with a bid of six spades. He could not make it but he did not care. No one was going to make a vulnerable slam against him.

North doubled but when it got to South he could not stand prosperly. He had a very big hand and decided that his partner had to have the fourth ace. South went to seven hearts and the East-West gambling had paid off.

In fact, East doubled the slam so they picked up 200 points. Needless to say South's grand slam bid was very bad. When North doubled the six spades he told his partner that they could not make seven. South should have believed him.

PROPOSED NEW STREET

east side of the street, said the public would not patronize any stores in his building because there were no plans for a sidewalk.

Mr. Langlois said the city would be willing to build a sidewalk at an extra cost. Mr. Blouin then maintained that even with a sidewalk it would be dangerous for pedestrians to cross the street from his building. He said it would cost from $25,000 to $30,000 to renovate his building for store space. At this price, he said he was interested in opening the street.

ALBERT STREET
The discussion returned to the limited height of the Albert St. entrance.

Mr. Langlois said the purpose of the street was to route traffic that used to travel through the parking lot. He said if the owners were willing to give their land to the city instead of paying taxes on the improvements, the cost of the street would be $9,000. At an extra cost of $4,000, the city would install underground facilities he said.

Mr. Blouin said property owners were not so "charitable" that they would give their land in return for a no-tax deal.

Mr. Langlois replied that the Constanzo estate which sold part of the building at the foot of Albert St. to the city would cede the land at no cost. There was only one condition imposed, he said, that permission be given to build a gas station.

Mr. Blouin maintained that there was a municipal bylaw forbidding gas stations in the zone. Mayor Nadeau said that a special amendment had been included in the bylaw for the purchase of part of the Constanzo building to make way for the garage. He said this bylaw had been approved by the owners.

The Constanzo estate had approached the city through its representative Sam Fabi who asked the council if it preferred that the remaining part of the building be sold to a gas company for a service station or to an individual who would erect two more floors.

The mayor said the council told Mr. Fabi it would prefer a gas station. Mr. Smith said the commercial value of the proposed street would be very little. Few shoppers would use the street even if the buildings were extended and new stores opened. Mr. Langlois said that unless the downtown area developments there was a danger that the shopping centre would move elsewhere in the city.

Mr. Leduc asked the mayor if the parallel street project would be realized in the near future.

The Mayor replied that it would not be constructed before the property owners had been consulted. He noted, however, if at a future date, in perhaps 10 or 15 years, there were three out of four owners who rejected the plan then it would be completed anyway for "the common good."

This would only happen, he said, if the new street was found necessary.

Women's Institute Elects Officers At South Bolton

SOUTH BOLTON — A good number of members gathered at the home of Mrs. Leonard Eldridge for the annual meeting of the Women's Institute.

Mrs. L. A. Davis and Mrs. Randall presented the following slate of officers:

Mrs. Russell Coates, president; Mrs. Eldridge, 1st vice-president; Mrs. R. C. Davis, 2nd vice-president; and Mrs. O. Wightman.

Reports were given by the conveners, each of whom was re-elected, except Mrs. Wightman, who was succeeded by Mrs. Bates.

Mrs. Eldridge brought in a good report from the Junior W.I. Hostesses for meetings in future will consist of two each, it was decided. Lunch was served at the close of the afternoon.

BISHOP'S BULLETIN

out of the Quebec University Association last December after the six student presidents had travelled to Quebec to discuss with Premier Duplessis the education problem of Quebec. Bishop's withdrew, it was explained at the time, because they could not agree with the other five universities who insisted that statutory grants should be brought before the Premier in the historic December meeting. Bishop's also thought that the education problem was becoming a political issue and believed firmly that education should be above politics.

Jensen predicted cautiously that NFCUS would end up taking over the Quebec University Association, of which McGill, University of Montreal, Laval, University of Sherbrooke and Sir George Williams College are still members.

Jensen also made it clear that Bishop's openly opposes such a move towards union if NFCUS adopts the tactics and policies of Quebec University Association. He added that he is planning to write a letter to the President of NFCUS, as spokesman for the Bishop's Student Association, reiterating Bishop's stand on the education problem.

He continued, "We wouldn't have anything to do with NFCUS if it took over the Association — if this meant taking over the same policy and politics of the Association."

"It is obvious that our attitude is not liked," Jensen added. "But we have gained a certain amount of respect by taking a definite stand, then sticking firmly to it."

"MITRE" REVIEWED
The second issue of Bishop's three-yearly literary publication came off the press yesterday.

Widespread interest in The Mitre was sparked by a critical review appearing in Bishop's weekly newspaper, The Campus a day before the magazine was distributed to students.

The review, written by J. Y. Young, a lecturer in psychology and student in theology at Bishop's University, was openly and sometimes painfully critical of most of the student contributors.

Mitre Editor Iain MacLean thought Mr. Young was "fair but extremely critical — with one or two exceptions."

The literary creations of Phyllis Reeve, a consistently good Mitre contributor for the past four years, were described by Young: "She seemed to be painting water-color portraits with a brush the house-painters had left behind."

Some students thought Young had been "painfully honest" in his assessment of Mitre writers; others thought that he had perhaps tried to be too "flashy". But most agreed that Young's review had been written with refreshing clarity and frankness which would serve to stimulate the later contributions of student writers.

An interesting feature of the second Mitre was an article written by Dr. R. P. Thaler about Boris Pasternak. Dr. Thaler, an Associate Professor of history at Bishop's University, is regarded highly as a scholar of Russian literature.

Most striking of all the contributions was a poem which went under the somewhat forbidding title of "Studies In Subconscious" written by a new contributor, Bill Hamblin.

CONCERT TONIGHT
The "Deep Purples" a singing group under the direction of Dr. J. W. McCubbin, will present their annual concert in the Memorial Gymnasium tonight.

Fresh from a successful singing tour in Montreal last weekend, and with enthusiasm running high, The Bishop's group is expected to give the best concert ever in its 10-year history.

'China Boy' Recovering From Shots

ST. JEROME, Que. (CP)—Kenneth Windford of Montreal, known to police as "China Boy," was reported recovering in hospital here from three bullet wounds suffered Wednesday night.

At first police were quoted as saying the shooting had all the earmarks of an attempted gang-land slaying. Later Lieut. Maurice Valiquette of the Quebec Provincial Police homicide squad shrugged his shoulders when asked if he thought the underworld was involved.

"Perhaps," he said. "We'll know later."

Lieut. Valiquette said he hopes to question Windford today.

Windford was found Wednesday night on a highway near Piedmont, a Laurentian resort about 40 miles north of Montreal. An unidentified truck driver saw the man lying in the highway. When he lifted Windford into his cab, he saw he was suffering from bullet wounds.

The driver rushed Windford to hospital here and called police. For a time it was feared Windford would not recover. But late Thursday police said he appeared to be recovering from the effects of the wounds and a subsequent operation.

ERYTHEMA NODOSUM
REMAINS A MINOR MEDICAL MYSTERY

Every once in a while readers express an intense interest in disorders of the human body which are not particularly common.

For example, recently Mrs. L. has inquired about a disease called erythema nodosum and asks about its relationship to rheumatic fever.

This is a $64,000 question. Today no one knows exactly whether there is any relationship between those two diseases or whether they are entirely separate in origin.

In any event, erythema nodosum is a puzzling condition in many respects and one which has caused a great deal of curiosity in the minds of medical men for a long time.

The first part of the name — erythema — indicates redness; the last part, nodes or lumps. Generally, erythema nodosum shows itself by the appearance of reddish, oval, tender lumps, deeply buried in the skin. They are most common on the legs and arms, but may appear in other places as well.

For many years some believed that this condition was a sign of either tuberculosis or rheumatic fever. Now such theories are less popular and erythema nodosum is considered to be of a general infection. Quite often people who get it first have signs of an infection in the breathing apparatus, in which certain kinds of streptococci (a common germ) are frequently found.

Furthermore, inflammation of several of the joints often comes before the signs of the disease in the skin. All of this points towards some kind of obscure infection, perhaps associated with allergy or virus.

One correspondent has asked

MAGOG —

IN TOWNSHIPS
Andre (Charlie) Messara
1300 Main W., Magog.
VI. 3-2603; Res., VI. 3-3720

how long erythema nodosum usually lasts.

The skin signs are likely to disappear within a month. But this does not seem to be always the case, and sometimes they come back.

Treatment is not too satisfactory. Apparently drugs, such as the sulfas or antibiotics, do not affect the disease to any great degree. Salicylates (of which aspirin is one) are often used as they are in rheumatic fever. Obviously better methods would be most welcome.

Altogether, erythema nodosum, like its more acute cousin, erythema multiforme, has remained something of a problem from the standpoint both of origin and of treatment. This is not due to any lack of interest since hundreds of studies of it have been reported in the medical journals.

In view of the lack of complete information, however, it is fortunate that erythema nodosum is not more common and that it usually clears up by itself after a comparatively short time.

Cookshire High School News

Recently the senior hockey team of Cookshire High competed with Sawyerville for the Compton County cup.

During the first period great skill and hard work was shown by both teams and finally Douglas Cassidy scored a goal for Cookshire, and at the end of the second period, Bobby Gill scored another.

The third period was most exciting when Douglas Cassidy scored two more goals and also a goal was won by Lowry of Sawyerville.

The game ended in a 4 to 1 victory for Cookshire. This made Cookshire heir to the Compton County Senior Hockey Trophy, of which they are extremely proud.

On Wednesday, March 4, a Students Council meeting was held with Mr. McGerrigle as supervisor.

It was decided to sponsor a musical festival on Friday, April 17, and other schools will be invited. Stanley Locke was chosen to administer the festival program with the assistance of a committee.

A school dance will be held during the month of March but details were left until a later date.

WATERLOO —

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion met with Mrs. Mary Dix in the chair. A 500 party will be held on Thursday evening, April 9 in the Legion Hall. A polo clinic will be held March 31 between 7 to 9 at the Legion Hall. One new member was initiated into the group. Refreshments were served by Irene Edwards, Chris Singfield, Ruby Sturtevant and Myrtle Wilkinson. A special executive meeting of the Public Library committee under the presidency of Rev. Paul Busing was held at the home of Miss Gabrielle Labelle, chairman. Plans were made for Nation 1 Book Week, April 12 to 18. It was decided to try to promote an essay contest in the schools to create and foster the children's interest in the local Library; and all kinds of books will be put on display in local stores. It is hoped that a special exhibition of literary works by Eastern Townships authors, past and present, can be held in the new Town Hall.

Add Your Own Cliche List To This Social Dictionary

Social Dictionary of much-used phrases and their actual meanings:

"Do come by and see us some time." Not to be taken literally. The person issuing that vague invitation would be mighty surprised if you did happen to turn up next day.

"Don't go to a lot of trouble." This is a phrase used not to lighten your load, but to ease the conscience of a person putting you to trouble.

"It was a lovely party." This is a remark women guests use to describe all parties, good, bad and indifferent.

"How interesting." A useful phrase, for it can be used when you can't find any other word. It's especially helpful when you are being shown a contemporary painting, an obscure gadget or even when you are told a long-winded, pointless story.

"We're having a few people in." A "few people" can be six, 16 or 200, depending on your hostess. Women, for some reason or other, never admit to having a big party.

"About eightish." When your hostess uses that phrase, don't arrive on the dot of eight. If you do, she probably won't even be dressed to receive guests. Women who say "eightish" instead of eight are never on time, even for their own parties.

"We really should be going." That doesn't mean that guests are planning to leave. And you'll insult them if you jump to your feet and start showing them to the door. The thing you are supposed to say after that remark is, "It's early yet. Do stay a little longer."

Explanatory passages from the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will include the following: "Every day makes its demands upon us for higher proofs rather than professions of Christian power. CHURCH NOTICE DEADLINE
In order to give better service to advertisers, it is necessary that all church notices for Saturday be received no later than 10 a.m. Friday. Your co-operation in adhering to this deadline will be appreciated by the Sherbrooke Record advertising department.

Homemaking
Some experts advise against lacquering brass accessories. They suggest returning brass to its original luster by removing all lacquer. First, use a lacquer thinner and scrub thoroughly with suds and a stiff brush. Then dry well and polish with a brass cleaner. Next, scrub again to remove all the polish. Finally, for an attractive patina, use a good paste wax as a protective coat.

Beauty Tips
Each week when you check through the family laundry and see the house is neat as a pin, consider your make-up equipment. Wash sponges, puffs and brushes in soapy warm water. And every time you shampoo your hair, clean brushes and combs first. Using dirty brushes on clean hair makes the shampoo worthless.

MANNERS MAKE FRIENDS
If you let a young child set the table for you, teach him to set it correctly. Even a small child can easily learn how to do it. There is little advantage to letting a child help you, unless you teach him the correct way to do a thing.

Women's Groups

ST. MARY'S GUILD
The regular meeting of St. Mary's Guild, Church of St. Paul the Apostle, was held on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. B. Larrabee. The president, Mrs. A. Edgecombe, presided.

Rev. R. Jervis-Read opened the meeting with prayer and later gave a brief outline of the services for Holy Week and Easter. Donations were voted to the Altar Guild for Easter Flowers and to the rector to cover the cost of the Lenten filmstrip.

Mrs. F. Currier was named convenor for the Baked Bean supper to be held on April 29. Several aprons were turned in by the members to the work table committee.

The drawing for the two Easter hams resulted in Mrs. Dudley Fletcher, Queen St., Lennoxville and Mrs. L. D. Lebrun, Pacific St., being the winners.

The next meeting will be held on April 15 at the home of Mrs. R. Smith, Fairmount Ave. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by hostesses.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH EVENING AUXILIARY
The regular meeting of St. Andrew's Church Evening Auxiliary was held at the Manse with the vice-president, Mrs. Stewart McKelvie, in the chair.

Refreshments were served by Miss Dolena Nicholson and Miss Aline Morrison.

BAPTIST MISSION CIRCLE
The Baptist Church Mission Circle met in the church hall on Tuesday evening and was opened with a devotional period conducted by Miss Thelma Graham.

During the short business session it was decided to rename the group to The Baptist Mission Circle. It was also decided to send a sunshine basket to a friend who is ill.

Mrs. G. H. Jacquith, Miss J. Hopkins and Miss B. Thomas, took part in the discussion, The New Frontier of the West, the topic of the evening.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. N. Humphries and Miss J. Hopkins, assisted by Mrs. H. Leech.

A howling wind of near-hurricane force swept through Sutton, knocking down several trees and tearing away at least 35 TV aerials. A vicious gust blew in a window of the Olivet Baptist Church auditorium, blew back the folding doors between that and the vestry — and then crashed open the locked outer door. With the door agape, the wind carried away booklets from a table in the vestry, as well as the guest book, which was rescued by a citizen on Main Street. Mr. Orton Baker, of Sutton Motor Sales, sent one of his men to repair the damage.

Miss Edith Gotto has recovered somewhat from a hip fracture last summer and is now able to take a few steps. Mrs. Lloyd Mandigo, who also suffered a similar injury last summer, reports she is now able to walk about unaided and do her own housework.

With more than half of the staff of the High School leaving at the end of this school year, there will be many new instructors next September. The policy of the Board is to continue having Grade XII, as well as Grade XI.

Sport Shots and Pot Shots

Another hockey season has been written into the books and what a year it has been. The Drummondville Rockets walked off with the crown of the newly formed Eastern Townships Intermediate Hockey League and they should be worthy representatives of the district in the Provincial playoffs.

They move into the finals Monday evening when they will take the team emerging victorious from the St. Vincent de Paul and Quebec Montcalm series. It ends this evening and is also a two-game total-points affair. The final is also the same with the second game slated for Wednesday night in Drummondville.

The Rockets in their march to the league championship made quite a name for themselves. During the whole season they were beaten only once on their home ice and that was by the Richmond Braves in the final appearance of the schedule. They had won fourteen straight before bowing to Gerry Plamondon and his squad.

In the playoffs they bumped the Canadiens of Victoriaville in the four-out-of-nine and dropped only one to win 5-1. In the final against Sherbrooke it was nip-and-tuck but they pulled through 4-1 to take the title.

Against the Beavers every game was a hard-fought battle with the issue in doubt until the final whistle but the Poliquin squad had just that extra to ensure them of the victory. Coach Poliquin has three well balanced lines, a strong defense quartet and the goalie, well they have the best in the league. This was proven over the winter as he walked off with the best average and won for himself the Lord Calvert Trophy for the top goalie.

We believe a lot of credit for the team's showing must go to their hard-working coach, Lou Poliquin. In Lou the Rockets certainly have a dynamic pilot. He has worked hard and although he really goes after everybody during a game he is quite a fellow off the ice and is a credit to our league.

In President George Haggerty they have the smooth-going, easy-talking person until he gets riled and then watch out. We saw him that way once during the season and that was about the Magog rumpus. He made short work of that incident and by the way we would like to thank George and his friends for coming to our aid when it looked as though the league was on the verge of busting open.

Frank Gougeon, vice-president, is another who was making his debut in the game and this trio certainly did a lot of work and played a very big part in the success of the club. To the newly crowned champions congratulations for your successful venture into intermediate hockey.

To Gilles Dube and Bob Beaudry although your team lost out you have nothing to be ashamed of. At the start of the season your club wasn't given much of a chance but again Gilles pulled the boys together and made a smooth running machine out of the crew. You did a fine job Gilles and helped to give the fans some very interesting hockey during the winter.

The car which was supposed to be drawn by the Beavers will take place tomorrow afternoon at the Arena and Manager Beaudry and his helpers will be on hand to sell the few remaining tickets at the juvenile games. So hockey fans here is your chance to win yourself a good car and at the same time end the season by supporting the youngsters.

The Eastern Townships Badminton championships are taking place today and tomorrow and all five crowns will be at stake. The finals will be played tomorrow afternoon and the public is invited to take in the matches.

We believe that some good matches will be seen before the new champions are declared. Entries have been received from all over the Townships and the interest is high. So if you have the time drop up and see the games. They should be good. They will be at the Williams Street Armoury.

Our team is "hungry" and with $54,000 to be won we will be tough in the playoffs and could go a long way, said Coach Milt Schmidt. For the past two years the Bruins have advanced into the finals only to lose to the Canadiens but in a short series anything could happen.

The Canadiens are anxious to win, especially with their record on the line. If they can cap this year's they will set a new mark of four straight. But don't forget the other three teams in the playoffs will be just as determined to see that they don't, says Coach Schmidt.

The Bruins have been going strong in the stretch drive and have won six and tied one in their last seven games. Don Simmons will be back but Coach Schmidt hasn't decided who he will use, Harry Lumley, who has been filling in, or Simmons.

They say money talks and that might make a big difference. The team who wins the semi-finals gets $22,500 each, about $1,250 to a player. If they win the final their share will jump to $1,750 while the losers get only $750 each. Quite a little difference. So you can rest assured that everyone will be going all out for the extra cash and you can't blame them.

Now is the time to talk about spring skiing and from all reports there should be plenty of that for a while yet. At Stowe they claim they have registered more snow this year than at any time during the past nineteen years.

Following the storm, after last weekend, 84 inches had fallen for a new record and plus the powder surface of 12 to 15 inches makes a grand total of 96 to 99 inches. A lot of snow no matter how you look at it.

The Stowe lodges are offering attractive discounts for stays of five days or more during the spring skiing and from the snow angle there should be skiing for several weeks. So skiers if it runs out around our local places here is chance to continue skiing.

The Canadian Trotting Association has laid out some new plans for the coming season and president Hugh Proudfoot is looking forward to a bigger and better year of racing. See where Cliff Bradley has been named CTA Supervisor for all of Canada. Last year he had only Quebec and part of Ontario.

The Association intends to establish training schools for CTA officials which will be held in Toronto and Montreal, open to all CTA officials. Dates will be announced shortly.

On the local scene we understand that Charlie Connors has been making considerable progress in buying out the Sherbrooke Racing Club and that the new backers will be taking over shortly. Some time next month. So race fans just sit tight and as soon as we hear some good sound and reliable news we will pass it on.

Willie Hartack, Leading US Jockey, Fined For Refusing To Ride Mounts

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Willie Hartack, leading United States jockey in 1955, 1956 and 1957, was fined $100 Friday for refusing to ride three mounts Thursday at Gulfstream without a valid reason.

The fine was imposed by the stewards. They said Hartack declined to give officials a reason for failing to ride in the sixth, seventh and ninth race.

After Hartack had warmed up Firesickle for the fifth race, the jockey said the horse was too sore to run. Two veterinarians examined the horse and ordered Hartack to ride.

Firesickle finished second. When Hartack weighed out, he told the clerk of the scales to take him off his last three mounts. He then left the track. Hartack could not be reached for comment.

Two weeks ago Hartack brought Greek Circle to the post, then refused to ride the mount saying it was too sore. The mount, a favorite, was scratched to avoid a delay. Later the owner displayed the horse in an exhibition to prove it was sound.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Horse racing's "triple crown" events—the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes—again will be televised and broadcast nationally by Columbia Broadcasting System. CBS announced the program Monday. The Derby is scheduled May 2, the Preakness May 16, and the Belmont June 13.

Juvenile Championship At Stake Here Tomorrow; Beavers To Raffle Car At Game; Juniors To Meet For E. T. Title

The Provincial Juvenile Championship will be decided tomorrow afternoon at the Sherbrooke Arena when the champions of the Eastern Townships, Montreal and Trois-Rivieres clash in a sudden-death playoff. The first game is slated for 1:00.

In the opener George Guilbault's champions of the Eastern Townships will clash with the winners of the Montreal District in a sudden-death playoff. The team emerging with a victory will then tangle with the champions of Trois-Rivieres in the final for the Provincial crown.

During the afternoon the Sherbrooke Beavers will hold the drawing of the car on which the tickets have been sold. This was supposed to be held earlier but the series between the Beavers and Rockets finished a little sooner than expected. Tickets can be had during the game from Manager Bob Beaudry and his workers. They will be on hand for people who wish to take a last minute chance.

In a special playoff St. Francis, who won the championship of the Sherbrooke Junior Hockey League, will tangle with another of Guilbault's clubs. The Windsor champions won their own league title and then proceeded to eliminate other opposition to move into the junior final.

Guilbault's Juniors are stronger than they were last season. They copped their own league title for the second consecutive year and then proceeded to knock over Granby by belting 9-0 in the first game and were conceded the series.

In their second playoff with Victoriaville they dropped the first tilt of the two-game total-point series 2-0 but bounced right back to cop the second by the same score. In the sudden-death overtime they tallied to win the event.

Windsor is slight favorites to dispose of Montreal but they may be in for a tough battle. The winner of this game will clash in the third game of the afternoon, immediately following the junior fixture. Trois-Rivieres is reported to have a good club and the winners may be in for a good battle before the Provincial champions are declared.

Canadian Rugby Union Back On Old Level Without Interference From Pro Clubs, Will Run Their Own Show Now

The Canadian Rugby Union has reverted to the days when it was a tightly-knit little family of amateur leagues with no axes to grind. Now the major pro leagues—Big Four and Western Conference—can fight their own battles with little or no interference from the amateurs.

This was evident last week end at the CRU's 68th annual meeting in Toronto when there was hardly a whisper of dissension. It marked the first time in years that business was conducted without harsh words.

In previous years delegates from the various affiliated unions went to the meeting with briefcases bulging with contentious items. Committee-room battles were the order and name-calling in one or two instances led to fist swinging.

The Ontario Rugby Football Union, unceremoniously kicked out of the Grey Cup competition by the Big Four and WIFU in 1955, was the leader in the bitter sessions. But this year, said an ORFU delegate, the meetings, held in camera, were unusually tame.

"This was the most docile meeting in years," he added. "There was no name-calling, no threats, nothing. It was tame."

The switch back to the CRU's status as governing body of amateur football only started a year ago when the Canadian Football League, an amalgamation of the Big Four and WIFU, wielded the big stick.

The CFL gained control of 10 of the 15 votes in the CRU, took over organization of the Grey Cup classic and decided it would make its own playing rules without the amateurs having a say in the matter. The pros now run their own affairs and leave the governing of amateur football—particularly the juniors and intermediates—to the CRU.

The professionals, however, realize the development of Canadian players is necessary, and they will continue to put money in the CRU kitty for this purpose. In 1957, for instance, the Big Four and WIFU clubs spent $100,000 on junior and intermediate football.

British Columbia Lions of the WIFU topped the spending with an outlay of $20,475. Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four were next with $17,000.

Triple Crown For Canadian Racing To Be Established For Three-Year-Old Thoroughbreds, Move By Jockey Club

TORONTO (CP) — A triple crown of Canadian racing will be established this year for three-year-old thoroughbreds.

E. P. Taylor, president of the Jockey Club—formerly the Ontario Jockey Club—announced the move at the annual meeting.

The triple crown events will be the Queen's Plate, the Prince of Wales and Breeders Stakes. Taylor said the club's aim is to develop a higher calibre of thoroughbred with great stamina. The races would be run under "classic" conditions at scale weights of 126 pounds.

Opening event will be the 100th running of the $50,000 added Queen's Plate at Woodbine June 30. Queen Elizabeth and Prince

HOCKEY • Two-Game Total-Points Series To Be Held, Second Tilt On Wednesday; Rockets Favored On Home Ice

The Provincial Intermediate "A" hockey championship will be staged in Drummondville Monday and Wednesday evenings when the Rockets, title holders of the Eastern Townships Intermediate Hockey League, will be at home in a two-game total-points series, announced Henry Crocheteire, district vice-president of the QAHA. The games will commence at 9:00.

The Provincial semi-finals will see St. Vincent de Paul of Montreal clashing with the Quebec Montcalm in another two-game affair. The last tilt is slated for tonight with the winners advancing against the Drummondville club.

The Quebec Montcalm club is slight favorites to cop the series against St. Vincent, who won the Laval League championship. The Quebec club is a farm-club of the Quebec Aces of the Quebec Hockey League and last week five of their players performed with the Aces when Manager Joe Crozier had suspended several of his players for indifferent playing.

The Rockets will be facing a tough team but playing on their home ice are favored to win out over their opponents. At home this season they have been tough with the Provincial crown in sight and Coach Lou Poliquin who has his squad going all out to build up an early lead.

The Drummondville team emerged from their series with Sherbrooke win everybody in fine shape although they had a hard battle with the Beavers no player was injured and they will be at full strength in the important game.

This is the fourth straight year the champions of the Eastern Townships have taken part in the Provincial playdowns. Two years ago the Meteors of Asbestos won the crown downing Trois-Pistoles. Last season the Sherbrooke Beavers won out on the local scene but after walloping the Montreal champs in the first tilt they conceded the series as it was impossible for them to travel during the week to compete in the finals.

Jacques Plante Will Return When Club Doctor Approves And Rest Of League Can Go Jump In Lake-Blake

MONTREAL (CP) — Coach Toe Blake said Friday that goalie Jacques Plante will return to the nets only when the club doctor approves and that those leading the loud squawks from other clubs "can go take a jump in the lake."

"They're acting like two-bit guys; they've been in hockey long enough to know better," snapped the riled Blake. "Something should be done about it."

"If the doctor says Plante can play here Saturday against Boston Bruins, he'll play. If he can play Sunday in New York, even for part of the game, he'll play."

"If people think I want to lay Plante off for three games with the playoffs coming up, they ought to have their heads read. I'm sick and tired of any suggestion that we're not doing our best."

STARTS RUMPUSS The rumpus started Thursday with the club's announcement that Plante had been ordered by the doctor not to play because of infection from a boil under his chin. The club said rookie Claude Pronovost would replace Plante against Toronto Maple Leafs Thursday night.

Then, in a big-hearted gesture, the club said that in fairness Plante would be kept out of Sunday's game in New York against the Rangers. The regular season ends Sunday and the Leafs and Detroit Red Wings are trying to dislodge the slipping Rangers from fourth place, last playoff spot.

The hearts-and-flowers business by Canadiens backfired. General manager Jack Adams of Detroit protested to NHL president Clarence Campbell. Campbell reminded Canadiens that, under league regulations, Plante would have to play when declared medically fit.

FUSS GATHERS SIZE The big rumpus began to snowball after Thursday night's game. The Leafs riddled jittery goalie Pronovost with five goals and went on to win 6-3. Pronovost was yanked after the second period, with Toronto ahead 5-3, and Calude Cyr, a 20-year-old junior, took over.

In New York Friday Rangers general manager Muzz Patrick said: "Let's put it this way. There's something stinking out of the whole joint up there."

Ranger coach Phil Watson cracked: "Why didn't Montreal use the best? Why did they have to go along with a kid?"

Canadiens picked Pronovost in preference to Charlie Hodge, who was in Trois-Rivieres with the Montreal Royals of the Quebec Hockey League. Both Pronovost and Hodge have played with Royals this season.

"We could have Hodge easily," said Blake. "But I have been looking at both Hodge and Pronovost for the last two months and I picked Pronovost. He has the better record of the two."

"I tried to make the right choice. I failed so I'll take the responsibility."

Managing director Frank Selke said Hodge likely will be used Saturday if Plante is still unable to play.

"We'll have to wait and see," said Selke. "I don't expect any further medical report on Plante until Saturday."

NHL president Campbell continued to view the whole affair calmly.

"I am adhering to the rules," he said. "I've told Canadiens they can't use anybody but Plante if he is medically fit. No medical report was necessary Friday."

"I am no physician and if a reputable doctor says a player is unfit to play, of course I accept his report."

"There are emergency conditions all season. This one happens to come during a tight playoff situation and also involves a goalie. But it is still a situation to be dealt with under regulations, and I intend to follow them."

Meanwhile, Plante remained at home Friday. He is to visit a hospital today for an examination.

POLITICS HANDICAP PARIS (AP) — France's political upheavals last year hurt the tourist trade. Official statistics now show Paris hotels had a 13-per-cent decrease from 1957, the drop being most marked in early summer.

DO IT YOURSELF

BY MR. FIX

The standard spade and the spading fork are fine for turning the earth with a minimum of effort. But when it comes to moving sizable amounts of soil, those tools are hardly adequate. You will need tools that can carry large amounts of dirt, tools with a long reach, tools that will cut through hard surfaces.

To supplement the usual spade, get a round-point shovel with a long handle. This doubles as a spade, will scoop out a large amount of soil.

If you care to go to the extra expense and want to save yourself some work, get yourself a square shovel—also with a long handle. This is not used for digging, but it will carry about twice as much loose dirt as the round-point shovel.

If you're faced with breaking up an expanse of hard earth, or loosening large rocks, get a pick. Learn to swing it easily and steadily and don't attempt to take too deep a bite. A mattock is similar to a pick, but it has a wider blade. It's very useful for clearing out roots. If you wish to economize, get a mattock. It will double as a pick in most situations.

There are other, special tools for special situations. If you are clearing land with large boulders on it, use a crow bar. For digging postholes, get a posthole digger—a tool designed to lift dirt from a confined area. One type has an outside auger bit at its business end; another consists of two shovels so pivoted that they can be closed when filled with dirt.

The real amateur attacks a digging job with real vigor, and tires out quickly. Pace yourself. Don't dig too deeply with each bite of the spade or swing of the pick. Be prepared to use more than

Keep edges of all blades sharp. Use a double-cut flat file for sharpening. Follow the original

Nothing will tear your hand more quickly than a splinter in a pick handle as the handle slides through your hands. Check and sand handles frequently. Wash and scrape loose dirt off tools before storing them.

Q—Are there left- and right-hand hinges, or is someone pulling my leg?

Evoking memories and dramatizing progress

Many Eastern Townships residents will remember when water came by the bucket instead of by the faucet. Within a relatively short time, our way of life has changed, with modern conveniences transforming our common day practices in innumerable respects. Among the most noticeable changes has been brought about with up-to-date means of acquiring water. We've played an important role in this transformation.

New Ways To Give Annuals Head Start

By ALLAN SWENSON

Annuals are always appealing. For bargains in blooms they're hard to beat.

Asters, ageratum, calendulas, marigolds, petunias, pansies and zinnias plus many other popular annuals will provide profusions of color throughout your gardening year.

By planting indoors early, you will have bushels of blooms for cutting long before your neighbors who wait to plant outdoors when danger of frost is past.

Select the annuals you want for color highlights and accents. All-America selections and new hybrids offer excellent choices of new varieties for your basic border plantings.

Save milk cartons. They make handy starter flats. Cut off one side and cover with aluminum foil to prevent leaks.

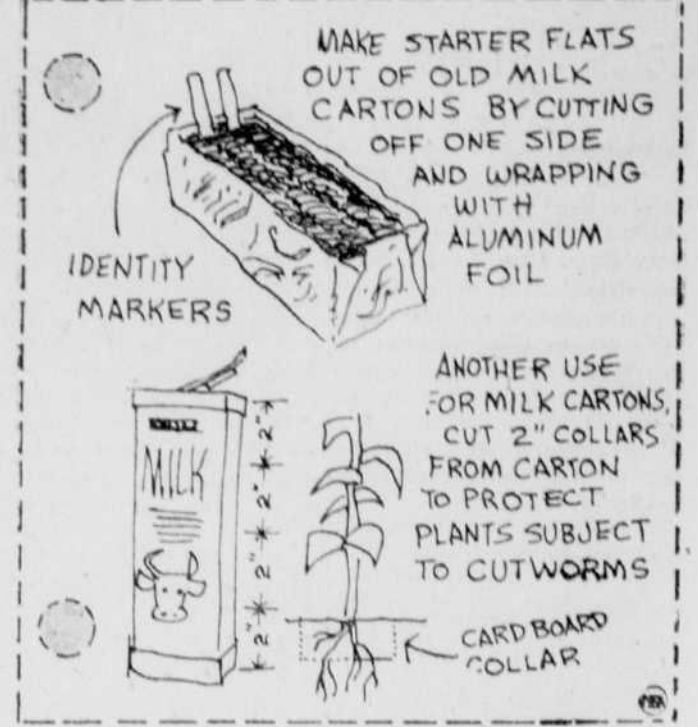

Fill with a mixture of sifted sand, soil and pulverized peat or compost in equal parts. Treating seeds with fungicide prevents damping-off and other problems.

Draw one or two rows lightly in each carton, depending on the size of seeds and plants. For better spacing of tiny seeds, it's good to mix them with fine sand to save wasteful thinning later. Firm seeds into place and sprinkle well with water.

If starting outside, use vermiculite rather than soil to cover smaller seeds. It lets in air and holds the moisture.

If indoor planting isn't practical for you, there's an ever-increasing selection of annual plant starts available in most garden centers. These also give you a jump on spring, although the cost is higher than when you start your own seeds.

When seedlings have developed leaves, give them more room. Those thinned usually can be transplanted to new cartons, or moved outside.

An old flour sifter is perfect for fertilizing small areas. For even distribution, mix fertilizer with corn meal, half and half. A turn of the crank will sprinkle plant food lightly. Avoid getting fertilizer on the leaves where it could burn them.

Prepare a transplanting mixture to aid young plants. Take one part old newspapers, three parts of peat moss and grind or beat thoroughly with sufficient water to make a pulp. Dig up the seedling with as much root as you can take. Dip the roots in the peat and pulp mixture. They'll recover faster.

A booster solution also stimulates growth. Dissolve a teaspoon or so of garden fertilizer, 5-10-5 is good, in a pail of water. Pour some starter solution in the hole and sprinkle soil on top. Then set plants.

And as your garden matures, try sowing seed. Annuals can be a perennial treat also.

IMPERIAL HELPS YOU FEEL SECURE WHEN THEY FLY

For as long as Canadians have flown, Imperial's leadership in aviation fuels and lubricants has helped make flying safer, surer

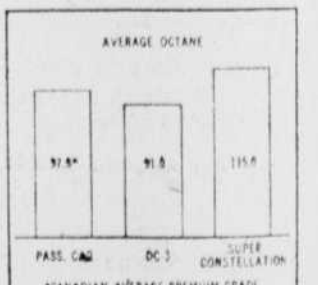

Canada's earliest airmen depended on Imperial aviation products, in war and in peace. Imperial gasoline powered Canada's first air mail flight, in 1918.

As more modern planes flew, Imperial research provided them with the new fuels they needed. For many years, Imperial was the only Canadian manufacturer of aviation alkylate, an essential ingredient of aviation gasoline.

The special skills and technical knowledge acquired over the years make Imperial the nation's major supplier of aviation fuels.

These skills and experience pay dividends to the motorist today when premium grades of gasoline are approaching top aviation octane standards.

Octane of premium grade gasoline approaches top aviation requirements.

The toast to the fathers was proposed by Patrol Second Peter Clarke and the response made by Douglas Ladd, who has a boy in both Cubs and Scouts. Farm Forum Activities

THIRD RANGE
The Third Range Farm Forum met Monday, March 16 at the Winget Home with 12 present. The topic was Immigration and Emigration.

After a very good and interesting broadcast was listened to Mrs. Richie Harrison, secretary, read the Greenleaf, Mr. Herbert Winget was the chairman.

The following questions were discussed, Should Canada continue to discriminate against immigrants on the basis of color, nationality, education, religion, health, etc?

Canada should accept immigrants on the basis of a good education, good health and good character.

Is our tight control of immigration a good thing? Yes, our tight control of immigration is a good thing.

Following the discussion period cards were played at three tables.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by some of the members.

The next meeting will be held at the Bonnalle home, March 23.

COOKSHIRE

The subject of Immigration and Emigration proved to be an interesting one for the Farm Forum at its meeting on March 16. The meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tredinnick, with a surprisingly good attendance in view of the wind storm which was blocking many of the roads.

The members were pleased to hear in the radio program the voice of Alec Simm, founder of the Farm Forum movement in the Eastern Townships. The whole of the broadcast discussion was found to be of high standard of quality and interest.

Three groups discussed the questions in the Farm Forum Guide, and later reassembled in full meeting to correlate their findings. These were: Should Canada discriminate against immigrants? This was considered under several headings. First, color. It was agreed that there should be no discrimination for this reason by itself. Second, nationality. No, but watchfulness should be kept against communists and other undesirables; it was pointed out that not all Russians were communists, while communists from other countries might try to get in. Third, education. A good education standard is desirable; at the same time, there might be some with little book learning who might be useful for their particular arts and crafts. Every encouragement should be given to those in the professions. Fourth, religion. No, there should be no discrimination on this ground, except to watch for extremists such as the Sons of Freedom (Doukhobors). Fifth, health. Yes, a good standard of health should be required. Sixth, occupations. Care should be taken not to admit too many from any one occupation, or to reject those whose occupation needs workers. Some quota system in this regard would be useful.

On the whole question of discrimination, it was felt that all
