Deep River Defeats Pontiacs

By Arnold Garrison

The temperature was low but the scoring was not in the Shawville Arena last night as the Pontiacs suffered a 7-4 defeat at the hands of the Deep River Rockets.

The play was very fast in the first period and it looked as if the Pontiacs were going to have another win as they peppered Wise from every angle but Wise held the Pontiacs at bay till late in the period when O'Donald cracked one in on a pass from Richardson and Findlay.

O'Donald started off the scoring early in the second period on a pass from Richardson but half way through the period Childerhose took a pass from Mussells and drove it past Lenny Watson. A couple of minutes later Mussells got a two minute penalty but the Pontiacs couldn't get organized to score and the period finished with the score 2-1 for the Pontiacs.

Deep River came out with a bang in the third period. Tennant took a pass from Anslow to tie the score and Jay deflected in a shot from Anslow to give Deep River a 3-2 edge. Richardson flipped one past Wise a few minutes later to tie the score but McDougal drove one past Watson to again give Deep River the lead. Powell got a two minute roughing penalty and had only "cooled off" for about half a minute when McDougal put another notch in the score board for Deep River. The Pontiacs couldn't seem to get organized for a couple of minutes and the Rockets capitalized with a goal each from Jay and Garrow. The Pontiacs came back with a rush but Wise stopped every attempt until in the dying seconds of the game Findlay shot from a face-off, and it was reflected off L. Murray into the net and the game finished 7-4.

The Pontiacs were doing a lot of line-juggling last night as they were short a centerman for the third line and Len Watson got some more experience against some good hockey players. This is just the second game Lenny has played in this league and he did a very good job except in the third period when he showed that a little more experience would be needed to make him a top goal-tender.

The Pontiac will face the Army "Remy" team here on Friday night this week and it should be another good fast game. In the pre-season exhibition games The Pontiacs beat this team 8-4 so come on out you fans and give the team some support and watch some good home town hockey.

Line-up Deep River: Wise goal; Warren, Anslow, Jay, Childerhose, Mussells, Woodward, Lebeau, Gareau, Chaput-Tennant, McDougal, Miller, Evraire.

The Pontiacs: Watson goal, Powell, Burman, L. Murray, B. Murray, Richardson, Finnigan,

Lucky Seventh for the St. Jean's

Nancy St. Jean won the New Year Baby Darby at Pontiac Community Hospital for 1959, making her appearance at exactly five minutes after three in the morning of January 1. While many parties around the county were still going strong celebrating the New Year, Dr. Henry Gassman of Fort Coulonge was busy delivering a seventh daughter for Mr. and Mrs. Tancrede St. Jean, also of Fort Coulonge.

Sisters Vivian 15, Norma 14, Linda 10, Lisette, Anne 1 and father Tancrede were hoping for a boy and even Mrs. St. Jean said she would welcome a son but when this new little charmer arrived she won the hearts of the whole family as well as the hospital staff.

Two other close-to-New Year babies were born to the Robert Whelans of Vinton and the Warren Sparlings of Otter Lake but baby Nancy St. Jean won the honors and also the prizes from Felix Spence, Hillside Dairy, Stonehaven Flowers, Lamb's Corner Store, W. A. Hodgins, Kays' Style Shoppe, Langford's Grocery, Dean & Merritt's and the Pontiac Printshop.

Mr. St. Jean, a wood contractor in the Mattawa district received on behalf of his seventh daughter, the following: a baby's layette, a month's supply of milk, a toy lamb and flowers, a diaper set, a blanket, a bed jacket, a supply of Carnation Milk, a case of baby food and a year's subscription to The Equity.

Most Farm Forums Agree Cost Of Production Index Needed

On the first of December, 400 of Canada's Farm Forums met to discuss the third National Topic; the Cost of Production. 4352 members attended the meetings.

84% of the forums, or 341, agreed that they would be prepared to accept an average Cost of Production as set by some national body, instead of their own Cost of Production. Only 27 groups or about 7% felt that standard cost would be unfair to the small producer.

The 341 forums who would accept a standard cost of production had differing ideas on the body who should establish this Cost. 143 forums or 34%, would like to see Farm Organizations establish the figure. 78 forums, or 29% feel that a Board of Arbitration could do a better job for both the farmer and the consumer. 52 groups or 13% want to see the Government, Farm Organizations and Co-ops represented on the board which decides on a suitable Cost of Production. Finally, 37 forums or about 9% favour Government and Farm Organizations working together, if such a Cost of Production is to be set for all farmers.

A few groups expressed feeling that no fixed cost of production should be established. They suggested instead, that low floor prices be continued; that controlled production be considered and that co-operative farming be undertaken.

The consensus of opinion appeared to be that a standard cost of production should be established. Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John R. McDowell.

Two Small Fires Mar Holidays

Two small fires occurred in Shawville during the Christmas season. The first took place about 1:15 p.m. on Tuesday, December 23, when fire broke out in a bedroom at the home of Linden Young. Of undetermined cause, it was quickly extinguished by the volunteer fire brigade.

A chimney fire broke out at the home of Mrs. Sophia McKinley last Friday morning about 8:00 a.m. It too was quickly brought under control by the Shawville firemen, and little damage was sustained.

Leonard Horner's Service Station Burns To A Shell On Boxing Day

The garage and service station owned and operated by Leonard Horner on Victoria Ave., Shawville, was severely damaged by fire on Friday night December 26.

Smoke was noticed coming from the building about 11:30 p.m. by Mrs. Leonard Horner. At what must have been the same moment it was noticed also by Mrs. Eckardt Elliott, who immediately phoned the Horners. The alarm was spread to the volunteer fire brigade by the telephone operators.

The fire, of undetermined origin, spread rapidly and damaged a car and tractor belonging to Mr. Horner before they could be moved out of the burning building. A tractor belonging to Belsler Bros., in the garage for repairs, was also damaged.

Damage to building and contents is estimated to be in excess of $6,000, partially covered by insurance. Repair work is now going forward, and Mr. Horner expects to be back in business next week.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS

There has been a tendency, increasingly noticeable, for little attention to be paid by the electorate to nominations and elections at the municipal level. Last year in particular this lack of interest was hit hard and hit often by journalists across the country.

A very few weeks ago we pointed out the rather obvious fact that it is part of the responsibility of each person living in a democracy to play his part in the election of those who are to administer the country's affairs, whether at the federal, provincial or municipal level.

We have this responsibility very much in mind as nomination day, for many of Pontiac's municipal offices, become imminent. The following municipalities hold elections this month, and have their nomination day next Wednesday, January 14: Shawville, Clarendon, Thorne, Waltham, Litchfield, Bristol, Quyon, South Onslow, North Onslow, Leslie, Clapham & Huddersfield.

May a good, solid selection of candidates make themselves available for office in each of these municipalities, and, when nominated, may each one stand for election.

KEEPING BUSINESS AT HOME

In the last issue of The Equity in December we published a letter to the editor which expressed surprise that a tax bill the writer had received had been printed in Ottawa. The letter was printed as received, without comment.

Following publication, we received criticism for having published the letter, on the grounds that the writer was employed at Pontiac Printshop. The matter is mentioned here to make it clear, once more, that anyone and everyone is entitled to use the letters to the editor columns of this newspaper to express their views, so long as the material submitted is not contrary to the law, or to the moral sense of the editors.

We do however always feel free to comment on letters received, and this practice is frequently followed. It happened in the case of this particular letter that the employee was away sick at the time it was received and published, so that it was not possible to discuss it with him. We misunderstood his comments to refer to the perpetual controversy which exists between the federal government and many printers, relating to printing by the Printing Bureau, when it could be more economically done by the existing printers.

Under the circumstances no comment was called for by us. However, it has since developed that the letter referred to the printing of tax bills for the Village of Shawville by a printing establishment in Ottawa. The explanation is that the printing of these tax bills was undertaken back in 1950 or 1951, when The Equity was under different ownership, and when its mechanical department was not equipped to do work of this type. The job was refused by the then owner, following which it was let out to the Ottawa firm.

Being in business in Pontiac County, we are firm believers in the principle of keeping as much business as possible within the County. It is in the best interests of everyone to do this, because it keeps the dollars right here, to be spent and respent here. At the same time we recognize that there are times and circumstances where it becomes necessary to go outside the County to obtain a particular good or service, not readily available here. In the case of our own business, we have made every effort to bring our equipment and methods into line with that which is available outside the County, and have been well pleased with the response to these efforts exhibited by the municipalities, the local businesses and the local organizations, in ordering their printing from Pontiac Printshop.

Letters to The Editor Squared Away

Editor, The Equity,

I have an apparently prosperous New Year story for you. The present hopeless financial situation reminds me of it.

In Portage du Fort a number of years ago, owing to the merchants, the baker, the shoemaker, the harness maker and the black-smith was not an unusual occurrence for most of us, at the end of the year.

This New Year however a friend of mine greeted me with "Well Len I've squared up for my accounts". He seemed well satisfied with himself. Just like Finance Minister Fleming is with the financial situation in Canada today. December 1st he announced a $400,000,000 bond issue bearing 4 1/2% interest, this money he says will be used to pay a $400,000,000 bond issue coming due, bearing 2 1/2%. This Mr. Flemming is very satisfactory. Just like my friend of my Portage du Fort days.

How naive are we supposed to be, Mr. Editor. I must wish you and your readers a Happy New Year.

Len Coyne

The Christmas Eve service Anglican Church, Bristol by which was held in St. Thomas the combined three congregations, the Memorial, St. Andrews and St. Thomas, is something to remember, another step in real unity. Rev. E. McColl the minister and Rev. Mr. Gerard, the guest speaker with Miss L. Thompson at the organ. Holy Communion was observed.

Now right here I believe we must extend our heartiest congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Brown of 168 Irving Ave., Ottawa who have celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Brown are known far and near and spend many months of the year at Norway Bay. Our best wishes for many more years of wedded life, we mean this, W. A. and Laurie

The Ernest Dagg's of Campbell's Bay were awarded first prize for the exterior Christmas decoration of their Campbell's Bay home last week. They would also give anyone quite stiff competition in any contest for interior decoration. Following their hobbies of leather carving, woodwork, bronze sculpture and weaving, among others, the Dagg's are decorating their home in a most individualistic way and will be living in a beautiful craft centre when they have finished. Helping others get started on some of these art activities is one of the projects they intend to tackle.

To say that the Shawville Fire Chief was mortified is to understate the case. When the firemen had finally managed to get their gear in position to do some good at the fire at Leonard Horner's garage, they found the hydrant close by wasn't standard and couldn't be used. Valuable minutes were spent in hooking up to another hydrant up the street. Hub. Dale shortly afterwards was successful in getting a hose to thread onto the off standard hydrant far enough so the water would flow through it. Council has been requested by the fire chief to secure adapters for this hydrant and another like it which is in the system at the west end of town. This action will be taken pending removal and replacement of the offending hydrants next spring.

Mission Band 50 Years Old

(By Mrs. W. G. Hudson who was a member of the first Mission Band)

In the year 1908 before the days of space travellers, rockets or sputniks, when nothing was controlled by switches except the children and radios, televisions, school busses, etc. were unheard of, a little Mission Band was organized in Knox Church, Bristol. Mrs. Wm. Blakely was leader and Miss Abbie Pritchard was assistant. Miss Minnie Meldrum was secretary and Willie Blakely, treasurer.

The meetings were first held in No. 6 school (now closed) at the close of the school period on Friday. Later the meetings were held in Knox Church (now closed) with Rev. G. A. Hackney, minister of the church in those times, who frequently attended the meetings by way of horse and buggy, gave missionary talks to the children, and encouraged them to work for the Master in humble places.

One of the first books studied was "Circles of Light". When the Presbyterian met in Ottawa a delegate was sent to represent the Band. Each member wore a small blue ribbon bow to show their membership and wore it proudly too.

Another book, the study of "Latin Lands", was taken up in the year 1909. The offerings were never large, as a cent was a cent in those days, and the nickles were not so carelessly thrown about as they are today. The work was carried on for many years.

Looking over the minute books of 1908, we see the amount of money sent to Presbyterian wasn't as large by any means as the amount we have sent in 1958 but I assure you it was harder to gather up. And was given as a great deal more sacrifice than the money we sent this year. Those days we had no way of making money only through our direct givings, today with the material we get if we ask for it from several large stores, we can sew it up and sell it to a great advantage. This Mission Band has always included any child in the community regardless of what church their parents attended.

Many of the first members have passed on, others have moved to other parts of the country. Others are bringing up children of their own and are interested in sending their children to the present "Mission Band". For a number of years this Mission Band was inactive, possibly because no one had the time to work with the children. Then in 1939 a lady in the community eager to work and help in the Masters vineyard reorganized the present Mission Band. Some of the leaders since that date were Mrs. Roland Graham, Mrs. Wm. Marks, Mrs. Blanche Hodgins, Mrs. Garth Graham, Miss Hilda Graham, Mrs. George Meldrum, Mrs. Walton McCorrison, Mrs. Everett McCorrison, Mrs. W. G. Hudson. All of these leaders devoted time and work to maintain the interest of the Mission Band.

1958 has been a good year for the Band. The sum of $91 has been raised and forwarded to the Ottawa Presbyterian.

The officers this year were: President, Ann Draper, Vice President, Royce Henderson, Secretary, Claudia Kelley, Treasurer, Beverley Henderson.

We have been unable to locate all the minute books of the Mission Band so it has been impossible to give a full History. It is safe to say with faith in God and a vision of the need of those, who are not as fortunate as we are, in having a free and a full Gospel, with a willingness to make small sacrifices, this Band, united with children of St. Andrews Church, will go on to do better things in the future. This band today consists of talented musicians, good singers and two girls who have in the last three years won the medal for the highest percentage in elementary grades in O.I.S.

Len Beaupre Proprietor of Pontiac House flanked above by Mrs. Bob Scott, chef, and Mrs. Beaupre, gave the service clubs of Shawville a real treat New Years Eve when he turned over all the facilities of the hotel to their enjoyment. At a gala party, such as has never been seen here before, the members of the Shawville Lions Club and the Shawville Rotary Club and their wives were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Beaupre. The party started in the new downstairs club room, wended its way to the upstairs TV room and wound up with an enormous feast which was spread smorgasbord style in the dining room.

Round The World Trip Planned For Conventioneering Farmers

International Farmers Convention will be held in the State of Israel, this coming spring as farm people from all over the world are being invited to visit with those in the Israelian farming community as they celebrate the end of the 10th anniversary of the State of Israel. The International Farmers Convention will take place from March 29th, to April 12th, 1959, sponsored by the Ministry of Agriculture, the Agricultural Faculty of the Hebrew University, and all of the farm organizations in Israel.

In order that a maximum number of people will be able to take advantage of this International Farmers Convention, special tour rates and facilities have been arranged in Israel by the sponsors there. In Canada, the arrangements are being made in Tourinco, 202 Queen St., Room 110, Ottawa, Ontario, a Co-operative Travel Agency who have also planned for some interesting side trips to such famous places as Lisbon; Madrid; Rome; Paris; and Brussels, while going to and from the convention. In each case, stop-overs of sufficient duration to allow tours of famous points of interest as well as the surrounding agricultural developments, have been arranged.

In Israel itself, the best in transportation and tourist facilities are being planned for tours of the modern and Biblical highlights of this ancient land. These include the cities of Tel Aviv, Jerusalem, Haifa, Safed, Tiberia, Nazareth, Beer-sheba, and Sdom, and the surrounding farm lands, that in many cases have been reclaimed from deserts, and desolation by modern means. Visitors are invited to spend one week, free of charge, living with fellow Israelian farmers, sharing their homes, and observing their methods, their farm organizations, and their social activities immediately before the convention.

The convention actually is held April 5th to 12th, with lectures and demonstrations age in elementary grades in O.I.S.

The 1958 leaders take this opportunity of thanking any and all who have made candy, done knitting and sewing, and helped in every way to make this 50th year of Mission Band a year to be remembered.

by some of the world's leading authorities on agriculture. Special sessions will be held for agronomists, veterinarians settlement experts, and on top of this the Agricultural Fair and Exhibition is being planned to coincide with this tour.

Israel has undergone some amazing changes in the last decade, thanks to technical assistance, provided by the United Nations, and the International Co-operation Administration of the United States. Here is a land that has been misused for thousands of years and thanks to the latest soil and water conservation techniques, Israel is considered to be an ideal demonstration of proper land-use. This has involved the training of the people, the management of the farms, and the actual reclamation of the soil, from the desert wastes. It is now highly productive land, and this tour will enable farmers of more than 25 countries to study the techniques, and find an understanding on the problems that face farmers.

This trip should be of particular interest to farm people, their organizational people, co-operators and others in the field of production and marketing, for much has been done in the last decade to modernize this ancient land. Furthermore, it is seldom that such a tour is available that combines these opportunities with the added advantage of planned agricultural activities. It also presents an ideal opportunity for farm families to visit the Holy Land, and see at first hand the points of interest of Biblical times.

Father's Knowledge Not Enough Now

Approximately 70 per cent of Quebec Farm Forum members decided they need more help in managing their farms when they discussed Farm Management Training. The topic brought out some of the best discussions in a long while, reported the Forums.

Reasons advanced for the need for farm management assistance were these - advice wanted on the best crops for soil and markets and on new developments in crops; advice and help with soil management and particularly what kind of fertilizers to use; the change to mechanization has brought problems of minimizing machinery costs; farming methods of father's time are no longer adequate; need to increase income and minimize expenses.

The forums suggested the help should be obtained from government sources, through short courses and clubs and associations. They pointed out that it was difficult to find time for a farmer to leave his operation to attend a short course, but that these were fine for young farmers.

The 30 per cent of farmers who believe they do not need more assistance, say they are able to get all they require at the present time, they are too independent, they can't afford help, they are doing alright, and that they have farmed in their present manner for a long time.

Seventh Line - Pontiac Co.—We need help with farm problems because of the changing mode of farming and the mechanization. It was one time when a father could pass on his knowledge to his son but to-day the scene has changed and there are many complex problems.

Third Range - Sherbrooke Co.—Because most of the farmers in this community are well experienced and feel they don't need anymore farm management. The most of the farmers have been on their farm for over forty years or more.

Coaticook Valley - Stanstead Co.—We feel that there is a lot about farming we do not know and help from someone who has studied agriculture more thoroughly would be useful.

Bristol Ladies Aid

The Ladies Aid of Bristol Memorial Church held their meeting at the home of Mrs. R. W. Wilson with Mrs. J. Robertson as Hostess.

Mrs. R. A. Grant was in charge of the meeting. The meeting opened with a devotional service and several Hymns were sung.

Members turned in their coppers which amounted to over Fifty dollars.

A splendid report of the supper and sale was given by the treasurer.

Christmas cards were sent out, and a Christmas reading given.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. E. Findlay, Mrs. L. Hodgins and Mrs. James Russell.

3% More Eggs From Range Hens

Two tests that seem to prove the superior egg-laying ability of range-reared over confinement-reared pullets were conducted at the Experimental Farm, Brandon, Man., reports poultry husbandman E. D. Walter.

Each test involved a separate group of 1800 birds and showed little to choose between the two rearing methods as regards livability, body weight gains or feed requirements during the growing period.

In the laying house too their body weights were about the same and, contrary to common belief, the range-reared birds consumed as much feed as the opposite numbers. The incidence of feather picking and cannibalism was slightly higher in the confinement-reared birds but was never a serious problem. Mortality rate was less than three per cent in each group.

No difference was noted either in age at first egg, egg weight or feed needed to produce one dozen eggs.

In both experiments however egg production was three per cent higher in the range-reared birds and these birds were approximately four ounces heavier at the end of the test than the pullets in confinement.

"Christmas Concert"

By Phoebe McCord

Christmas! Well might the immortal Dickens call it the glad time! The dullest soul, even a veritable Scrooge, is moved by it—transformed, if only for the holidays, by the rush and the glitter, the tinsel and sprangles, of our jolliest holiday. Young and old alike bask in its genial warmth. Within is the glittering tree, the merry family group, the lights and the delicious scents of cedar and balsam and roasting turkey, and without is the immensity of a still world, snow covered and glittering beneath a cold moon. Still as though waiting, as perchance the Bethlehem hills waited that night so long ago, waited while the little town settled noisily to rest, waited while the long green twilight faded, until with the dark there came the long-expected sign, as the great star filled all heaven with its light, and shone on the lowly stable where lay the new born Prince of Peace!

But of all festivities that mark the Holy Baby's birthday, what one is remembered longest? Just fancy you are ten years old and pigtails, madam, as you were—how long ago? Never mind, it is Christmas time again. Lets go to the Christmas concert.

For weary weeks, under the watchful eyes of your teachers, you had practised. A half-hour here, an hour there, till your ten-year-old wits were so befuddled that the very thought of getting up on the platform to speak your piece, sent you into the last stages of panic, and you knew that if once more, you had to listen to six-year-old Dolly Ferris, who lisped, recite, "My mama theth that Thanta hath loth of pretty toyth", you would run screaming from the schoolroom. But now it was over, and the great day, the evening, the night was actually here!

You were on the sleigh, behind the team of those sturdy horses with the iron hearts, then known as "French Canadians", jammed between two sisters, perhaps, but with every wit sharpened by the excitement and the keen air. The rail fences, black on silver, slipped by to the merry jingle of bells and the chatter and laughter on the sleigh. The fields, so prosaic in the daytime, now, glittered and sparkled as the stars glittered and sparkled in the dark heavens, and every separate frost-flake on the landscape tossed a wink as bright as a diamond, to the moon. Frantically you tried to remember your piece, and were dismayed to find you had forgotten every word! But never mind, too late for regrets, as with a toss of frosty manes and a last burst of music from the bells, you had arrived at the hall.

Lights dazzled your eyes, loud voices and music assailed your ears, and a vast multitude seemed to pass up and down the aisles, tossing greetings

Bristol W. I.

The Bristol Women's Institute held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Musgrove with Mrs. R. W. Wilson and Mrs. Earl Findlay as hostess. The program was in charge of Mrs. Tweedie who gave the story of Jesus' Nativity at Bethlehem in both story and musical form.

Gifts were wrapped for the children of Brookdale farm. A donation was given to T. B. Seals campaign. Articles were sold. Also a Chinese auction was held. Christmas cards were read from former members, County and branches. A donation from Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith towards the upkeep of the Memorial Park was received. The roll call was very interesting. Christmas Carols were sung, and a very pleasant evening spent and gay badinage. Whew! Aladdin's palace, the Metropolitan opera, the opening of Parliament, all rolled in one, would scarcely equal the glory of the Forester's Hall on the night of the Christmas concert! The huge stove at the back, fringed by a double row of fur-coated fathers, was red as a cherry with heat, a glow reflected in lesser degree by the stove at the front, as the pale face of the moon only echoes the glory of the sun. At one side of the bunting draped platform stood the focal point of childish eyes. High as the ceiling, glittering red and green and silver, heaped with lumpy packages a-low and aloft, there was the Christmas tree, the admiration of all? Huddled up the aisle and past the glorious tree by a competent elder sister, here you were in the girls' cloakroom under the platform, being dvested of your "cloud" and hood and overshoes (of which one always turned up missing!) The cloakroom, built to accommodate ten or twelve people comfortably, now was forced to accommodate, with terrible discomfort, a bedlam of 40 or 50 pupils wiggling out of outer clothing, shouting, giggling and going over songs and recitations in a frantic monotone, the while 3 or 4 teachers, looking unbelievably pretty in long black skirts and the sheerst of puff-sleeved white blouses, strove vainly to bring order out of chaos! The boys had their own cloakroom, and did not enter into our scheme of things, being then regarded only as beings from another planet", and a torment to all things female, particularly to teachers!

Then at last was heard below decks the stentorian voice of the Sunday School superintendent, chairman of the evening, as he began, "Ladies and gentlemen, I see by the paper handed me that I am supposed to give a chairman's address, so I will just take a few moments to say etc., etc." This meant that the teachers had another good 20 minutes to assemble and pin on costumes for the first dialogue, while upstairs the voice rolled on and polite laughter drifted from the audience. Finally the voice stopped, the strains of a march came loud and clear, and the juniors being hustled into formation, we toiled up the endless stairs, and marched, lifting our knees very high and coming down very hard on the wrong beat, to stand at length big-eyed and frightened nearly to death, on the platform! How high we seemed! Below us the audience was only a sea of blurred faces and where, oh, where, were our parents? The girls adjusted our pink and blue sashes and cast fond but furtive glances at our nether limbs, arrayed in the white cotton stockings and "Mary Jane" slippers favored for evening. The boys whispered and nudged each other, and at a signal, we took in a big breath, opened our mouths, and surely the most discordant rendering of "O Canada-a-a!" ever heard from a public platform, floated down to appeal the future ears of parents and friends! The concert had begun!

On swept the gilded hours. One by one, with proud parents watching breathlessly, the younger performers stood in platform centre, curtsied or bowed, according to sex, (though the boy's bow was merely a nod to formality), mumbled a few words, bowed again, and retreated covered with blushes and glory, amid thunderous applause. A Christmas tableau drew ohs and ahs from the audience, and how we duller spirits envied the 'Christmas Fairy', Junie Wright she of the yellow ringlets, (natural, whereas ours were only acquired through a sleepless night on curling rags) and the big blue eyes, (already doing damage among the swains of grades five and six) and the slender little figure, making the rest of us feel gauche and "thick". Junie in a white cheesecloth dress, the skirt and short sleeves spangled with rows of tinsel, and the big silver star above the white forehead in the sunny ringlets, still I can see her, can't you? Then there was the club drill, in which we rejoiced to see Willie McBean, the teacher's pride, go down to everlasting disgrace by dropping a club at a crucial point! There were drills and more recitations and dialogues. Finally and heart thumpingly, you went up on platform alone, in your eyelet embroidered white dress with the scalloped hem, and the pink satin hair ribbon to match your pink sash, and the white cotton stockings that had a deplorable tendency to sag on spindly legs, and you "spoke your piece". At first your voice was only a squeak, and the elocution "movements" taught by your beloved Miss Dowe were forgotten. But soon you gained confidence, for in the audience you saw your mother's face, and the rest was easy. They even laughed out loud and when you had finished, the audience cheered and clapped, the chairman patted your head, and you received an ecstatic kiss behind the curtain from Miss Dowe, and what more could heart desire?

Now came the grand climax. The hall buzzed like a swarm of bees, heads were turned towards the door. A loud whoa, a jingling of bells, the double doors burst open, and here—oh, here came Santa Claus! Glorious in a whiskered false face, albeit the whiskers were a bit moth-eaten, a huge fur coat and a red sash, bells a-jingle, he charged up the aisle! From the front seats a chorus of welcomers greeted him, 'Hello, Santa Claus!', 'Hi, Santy!', only the baby class were too awed to salute the jolly saint, but sat with mouths and eyes agape. True, we knew it was only Sam Gleason, and he knew that we knew, but all kept up the polite deception for what is Christmas without Santa Claus? Amid shouts and catcalls and cheers, the gifts were distributed, with the prettiest teacher getting more than her share, and a kiss from Santa besides, for Sam always had an eye for a pretty girl! But it was all joy, and even Bob Waddell, the shyest bachelor in the hall, shambled up the aisle to receive a couple doll that had dangled from the topmost branches, to the huge delight of the audience! The tumult and shouting were indescribable! Three cheers for Santa, and he was gone!

Then it was over, with every child clutching a net bag, red or green, filled with nuts and candy and oranges, and we stood sleepily to "sing 'God Save the King'". Do you remember the scramble in the cloakroom, to find your wraps in the seeming mountains of clothes piled helter-skelter on tables and chairs? Bits of tinsel and unmelted snow, popcorn and red crepe paper and pins, the flotsam and jetsam of Christmas, littered the floor. The hall emptied slowly, as teams drew up before the door, and mothers gathered up the last stray sheep and herded them into the frosty air.

Outside the moon still rode serenely across the steel blue sky and in the north, the glittering Aurora Borealis of our northern clime, leaped up like candle flames and sank again. The hall grew small behind you, the village lights winked out, and finally there was only the adults chatter, discussing the program, and the candy bag clutched in mittened hands, to remind us that the Christmas concert was over. Oh, praises be, no more pieces to memorize, and Christmas coming in these days! Oh, bliss (you thought), won't brother Bill and I make those Christmas sleds hum down the shining slope of Caswell's hill, and won't sister Babs, and I play dolls to heart's desire? and —aren't the robes cosy, and don't the stars shine bright—so bright—the Christmas concert was over, and you had fallen asleep!

Once Canadian householders become thoroughly convinced that house insulation has passed the novelty stage and is a necessity in the interest of moderate means, we may expect substantial saving in fuel costs, states the Dominion Fuel Board. A rapid change in the status of heat insulation is being witnessed, it continues. Regarded a few years ago as a fad that only the wealthy could afford insulation is now known as an efficient, cheap as something only the wealthy can afford to do without, and will eventually be just as much a part of the modern house as the heating plant. Householders are learning that heat insulation provides maximum comfort the year round, warm even temperatures in the winter, a cool house interior in the summer, with a minimum of effort during the difficult periods in the spring and fall.

The only event of local importance was a hockey match in which a team of benedicts battled for supremacy with a septer of the other sort. The old chaps won by a score of 5 to 4, having got a fairly good lead at the start. But the pace began to tell on some of the bunch towards the end.

The teams were composed of the following: Singles — J. Crawford, goal; C. E. Shaw, W. Shaw, L. Lester, N. Cohen, L. Hynes, M. Turner. Married — K. Richardson, goal; D. Baker, E. Schwartz, H. Lester, A. Hodgins, A. E. Bourke, T. Shore. L. E. Hodgins acted as referee and Messrs. Whitman and Gibson kept the time.

A Christmas tree entertainment was given by Sunday School scholars of St. James Church. Quite a number of people were present. The tree contained a very nice present for each scholar and with Santa Claus on top and lighted wax candles together with presents hanging on the branches presented a very beautiful appearance. After some singing, recitation etc, the presents were distributed. The sum realized was between $15 and $18, which will be applied towards buying a Sabbath School library.

The snow at Kippewa is not sufficiently deep to make the roads good for logging.

In this district snow commenced to fall on Tuesday and by Thursday had fallen to the depth of 16 inches and was still snowing. The snow now is about two and half feet deep. This kind of knocks the wind out of the sails of the host of local weather prophets who have been predicting a mild winter. However, the muskrat's house indicates a long cold winter and deep snow, being built very high over the waters edge.

As a man at Low, Quebec, was sinking a well the other day, he was impeded in his progress by some solid substance, and upon examination discovered it to be a log. The opinion of many is that the log has been there since the time of the deluge.

The mystery of the incarnation, St. John 1: 1-14 was read by the minister, followed by his sermon, "The Story that makes men wonder".

After a short devotional period in the evening a special (by request) session of carol singing and a showing of colored slides covering Sunday School picnic capers and some local scenes were exhibited by Rev. SHUR-GAIN
NURSING SOW RATION

PRODUCES EXTRA MILK TO NOURISH BIG LITTERS!

There's no question that Sow's milk is a pretty good food for young pigs. After all that's what nature intended. And while we must supplement with a good quality pig starter for best results we nevertheless want to make use of all the milk a sow is capable of producing.

Good milking sows help to produce the kind of pigs that "wean out" at 40 pounds or better. These are pigs that get to market 2 to 3 weeks sooner on LESS FEED. It means quite a saving! That's why it's important, especially with BIG litters, to use a little care feeding the sow.

Ask any swine raiser who has fed SHUR-GAIN Nursing Sow Ration to his sows. He'll tell you it's the kind of feed that produces top milk flow. Use SHUR-GAIN Nursing Sow Ration, or if you prefer, a combination of your own grain and Nursing Sowmix Concentrate for your sows. And don't neglect your sows when they're dry. SHUR-GAIN Dry Sow Ration or Dry Sowmix Concentrate and your grains is the answer.

In Memoriam

MORRISON—In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, R. C. Morrison, who passed away, Jan. 1, 1957. In memory a daily thought in heart a silent sorrow. —Ken, Jean and Grandchildren b

PRENDERGAST — In loving memory of a very dear son and brother, James Albert Prendergast, who passed away Jan. 9, 1959.

In tears we saw you sinking, We watched you fade away, Our hearts were almost broken, You fought so hard to stay But when we saw you sleeping So peacefully, free from pain We could not wish you back again.

Gone dear Jim, gone to rest, Away from sorrow, care and pain, May you rest in peace dear Jim Until we meet again. —Dad, Mother & Sonia. x

SINCLAIR—In fond and loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. John A. Sinclair who passed away January 3, 1956.

God knew she was suffering That the hills were hard to climb, So he closed her weary eyelids And whispered peace be thine. Away in the beautiful hills of God,

By the valley of rest so fair Sometime, someday we know not when, We will meet our mother there. —The Sinclair Family. x

TANNER—In fond and loving memory of our dear husband and father, Archie Tanner, who passed away January 7, 1955.

The years are quickly passing Though still we can't forget, For in the hearts that loved him His memory lingers yet. —Wife Emma, Freda, Ola and Edward. x

WALLS—In loving memory of husband and father, Heman Elwood, who died January 5, 1955.

They say time heals all sorrows And helps us to forget, But time so far has only proved how much we miss you yet.

God gave us strength to take it And courage to bear the blow, But what it means to lose you, No one will ever know. —Helen Walls, Lorna & Janet b
