World News In Brief

Belgrade, Aug. 18.—(Reuters)—Britain and France today refused to recognize the Soviet draft of a new convention for control of Danube navigation which has emerged from the 11-power conference here after 18 days of acrimonious debate between the eastern and western powers. The United States delegate was also expected to reject the draft later today. The proposed Soviet convention excludes the western powers from the Danube commission in which Britain and France have participated since 1856.

Batavia, Java, Aug. 18.—(AP)—The Netherlands East Indies government information service said yesterday a big opium-smuggling trade has been discovered in Indonesian Republic territory. The announcement said an investigation showed smuggling to Southeast Asia points was carried out with knowledge of the Republican cabinet.

Athens, Aug. 18.—(AP)—The United Nations Special Committee on the Balkans said last night a group of its observers was fired on from Yugoslavia July 28. No one was wounded. The committee said the observers went to within 10 yards of the Yugoslav border to investigate a report that Greek guerrillas were crossing into Yugoslav territory.

Edmonton, Aug. 18.—(C.P.)—Public ownership of Alberta's power industry held a slim lead today as counting of ballots was resumed in a plebiscite to decide whether the industry will be taken over by the government or left in the hands of private companies. Supporters of private company ownership are confident the heavy urban ballot in the cities will swing the vote in their favor before the count is finished.

Toronto, Aug. 18.—(C.P.)—Fred Hawkes, 64, of Montreal, was killed today when a boiler exploded at the Ernscheff apartments at Wellesley and Sherbourne streets in east-central Toronto.

Sydney Gibbs, 60, of Toronto, was taken to hospital with undetermined injuries. Firemen said he was in "pre-pretty bad condition."

Three other persons were reported to be less seriously injured.

Washington, Aug. 18.—(AP)—State Secretary Marshall said today that the United States views with serious concern the Russian charges against the United States government and some of its officials in connection with refugee school teacher cases in New York.

Marshall said Russian protests about American handling of the cases probably will be answered formally within the next 24 hours. He said a note is in process of preparation, based on reports from authorities in New York city.

Social Credit Party Gains Easy Victory In Alberta

Edmonton, Aug. 18.—(C.P.)—The Social Credit Party, not the aggressive, young organization of unorthodox monetary theories a stout high school principal and part-time preacher led to victory in 1935 but still a potent force, was returned to power in Alberta again yesterday.

The victory, the party's fourth at the polls in 13 years, was as sweeping as the ones scored in 1935, 1940 and 1944. It was engineered by slight Ernest C. Manning, at 39 youngest leader of a government in the British Commonwealth and successor to the late William Abernethy, founder of the provincial party.

An exceptionally high number of Albertans turned out at the polls to vote the government triumphantly back into office and as vote-counting halted last night, the party had returned 46 candidates to the 57-seat Legislature. Opposing parties had elected two. This was the standing, with the Legislative line-up at dissolution July 16 in brackets:

Social Credit	46 (51)
C.C.F.	1 (2)
Liberals	1 (0)
Independent	0 (3)
Others	0 (1)
Doubtful	0 (1)
Totals	57 (57)

Before the tally of the ballots cast—251,499 from 2,344 of 2,762 polls—ended last night, Social Credit was leading in three of the nine doubtful seats—Beaver River, Pincher-Creek, Crow's Nest and

United States May Ask For Recall Of Russian Consul-General Yakov M. Lomakin

INCITES RED IRE

Lt. Robert Dreher, former Assistant Naval Attaché in Moscow, leaves his home in Washington. Dreher had been arrested and detained by the Russians last April on a charge of receiving unauthorized information. Reds claim they insisted he be shipped home. The State Department branded the story a "frameup," and said that Dreher had voluntarily requested that he be brought home. Some officials see connection between Dreher affair and the case of the two Russian school teachers who no longer want to return to Russia.

Nurses' Home Contract Has Been Awarded

The contract for construction of the nurses home for the new Sherbrooke Hospital has been awarded to J. A. Verret, Ltd., of Sherbrooke, it was learned today. The contract, which will be signed today, is for approximately $250,000 and is for the building alone, not including such items as heating, plumbing or the elevator. Three tenders were considered. Work on the new building is expected to begin within two or three weeks. It also was learned that plans for the hospital itself are nearing completion and it is hoped to be able to call for tenders within a few weeks.

Final Decision Awaits State Department Study of Kosenkina Case—Soviet Is Closing Schools For Its Diplomats' Children.

Washington, Aug. 18. (AP)—The United States may ask Russia to recall Yakov M. Lomakin as consul-general in New York because of his role in the Kosenkina case. Officials said a precise decision remains to be made, however, after the State Department completes its study of New York police reports of the incident of the refugee school teacher. Meanwhile, diplomatic authorities are puzzling over indications that the Soviet Union is closing all the schools it had operated in many countries for the children of its diplomats and other employees abroad. It was in connection with the closing of such a school in New York that Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina and her colleagues, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Samarin, decided they would prefer to stay in the United States rather than go back to Russia.

But on July 31 more than 300 Soviet citizens did sail from New York. Authorities here assume that a similar return to Russia is being required by the Soviet government of many hundreds of dependents of Russian diplomats and other employees around the world. It was suggested that either the Soviets want to prevent their school-age children from coming in contact with western democratic ideas or want to hold them hostages against any desire of Russian diplomats to renounce Communism.

Little credence is placed by officials here in the theory that Moscow might be clearing the decks for war. The main reason given for discounting this idea is that the Russians are permitting childless families and those with only pre-school age children to remain abroad.

Mrs. Kosenkina and the Samarins were teachers in the New York school operated by the Soviets. The State Department already has made it plain that the Samarins and Mrs. Kosenkina will be given asylum in line with long-standing American tradition.

A stern rejection of the several protests registered by Soviet Union may be completed in the next four or five days. The notes, denied orally, in the main charged that Mrs. Kosenkina and the Samarins were "kidnapped" with the connivance of American authorities, and demanded that they be handed over to Soviet control. Lomakin played the leading role in taking Mrs. Kosenkina away from a White-Russian refugee farm near New York city on August 7. She had gone there instead of boarding the ship for the Soviet Union.

According to officials here, the evidence to date indicates that Lomakin did not use force to get the teacher to leave the farm with him and go to the Soviet consulate where she jumped from a third floor window last Thursday. Lomakin that morning had ignored a writ of the New York supreme court, commanding him to produce Mrs. Kosenkina before Justice Samuel Dickstein. The consul-general and Penyushkin both contended the court order was without force.

Washington, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Congressional spy probes pointed publicly today to a 1934-35 link between Albert Hiss, former United States State Department official, and Whittaker Chambers, avowed one-time member of a Red underground.

Hiss himself admitted the connection by identifying Chambers as a man he knew years ago as "George Crosley" and as a freelance writer. That happened yesterday in New York, before members of the House of Representatives Un-American Activities Committee and again at a press conference called by Hiss.

Previously Chambers had testified under oath that Hiss was a member of the pre-war Red underground. Chambers insisted had operated in Washington, and Hiss, also under oath, denied it. He denied, too, knowing anyone by the name of Whittaker Chambers, and said he could not identify Chambers by a picture.

Extra importance has been attached to that hearing by the recent unexpected statement by the National Dairy Council that the government might do well to investigate the feasibility of putting a "suitable substitute" for butter on the market. Meanwhile, there is renewed talk here about the possibility of important 15,000,000 pounds of butter from New Zealand.

A 15,000,000-pound purchase—from anyone—would breathe new life into Canada's butter supply.

As Blast Rocked Downtown Reno

People are still sprawled over the sidewalk, and some stagger away, seconds after an explosion which killed at least five people and injured about 180 more in Reno, Nev. The blast followed a fire in Reno's downtown section and levelled almost half a block.

Walkout By Weavers May Force Paton Manufacturing Company To Close Plant

Threat of a shutdown hangs over the plant of the Paton Manufacturing Company, Limited, as a result of the walkout Monday of some 40 workers in the weaving department in protest over a company bonus system proposal. Key workers in the mill's production staff, their continued absence from these essential machines would produce a bottleneck which would eventually force a complete shutdown of the mill. This would leave approximately 450 workers idle.

Mr. Claxton, one of a number of speakers at a dinner here to commemorate the 1940 Roosevelt-King agreement on joint defence co-operation, said last night. Mr. Claxton, former defence secretary of the United States as an example of that success.

Mr. Forrester had completed a two-day meeting in Ottawa with Mr. Claxton and the defence committee of the cabinet. Details of discussions were not made public. "We are on a first-name basis," said Mr. Claxton. "We know one another and that is the secret of our success."

Mr. Forrester, scheduled to share in the formalities at Ogdensburg with Mr. Claxton, was called back to Washington and was unable to participate. He motored from here to Massena, N.Y., and flew to Washington in his private plane.

Tribute at the dinner, crowded with Commonwealth and American representatives, was paid the American troops by Hon. Francis Forde, Australian High Commissioner at Ottawa and Defence Minister of his country during the war. He recalled that 600,000

Butter Imports Considered As "Gray Market" Bobs Up

By GEORGE RONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Ottawa, Aug. 18.—(C.P.)—The butter riches of New Zealand and Scandinavia have taken on new importance in the light of Canada's steadily-worsening domestic supply situation. The cabinet is known to be digging into the details of every import possibility. Among informed sources here, it is believed the government may soon take action to avert the critical winter shortage which now seems inevitable.

When a general election not too far distant, it is pointed out, any move to maintain the butter supply would be wise politically as well as economically. The question of a butter substitute is all but shelved for the time being. A Supreme Court hearing to determine whether the 62-year ban on oleomargarine is constitutional is scheduled for early October.

Extra importance has been attached to that hearing by the recent unexpected statement by the National Dairy Council that the government might do well to investigate the feasibility of putting a "suitable substitute" for butter on the market. Meanwhile, there is renewed talk here about the possibility of important 15,000,000 pounds of butter from New Zealand.

A 15,000,000-pound purchase—from anyone—would breathe new life into Canada's butter supply.

Refugees Seek Haven In Canada

75 Estonians and Poles Reach Newfoundland En Route to Quebec.

St. John's, Nfld., Aug. 18.—(C.P.)—Seventy-five Russian-spy Estonians and Poles stretched their legs along the quays of this port today after a 12-day voyage from Scotland in a 63-ton vessel. The Swedish craft Ostervag—numbering 15 children among her passengers—sailed triumphantly into harbor late last night, having navigated from St. John's way by means of a watch, a compass and an old-fashioned sextant. It is understood she will follow the course of the Astrid, a 30-foot Estonian fishing boat that arrived in Quebec last week-end with 29 fugitives from Communism. The Astrid also touched here first on the voyage from Europe.

The Ostervag immigrants—who are putting Russia as far behind them as possible—had been warned by mariners at the Hebridean port, where they arrived from Sweden, not to attempt the Atlantic voyage with their frail craft and scanty equipment. Customs officials cleared them only for Sweden, but when the Ostervag got outside the harbor she sailed for Newfoundland. Captain Past said it was a "very good crossing."

One passenger explained they had been afraid Russia would force Sweden to hand over all her Polish and Estonian refugees, now considered by the U.S.S.R. to be Soviet citizens. Whether or when the Ostervag will move from here is not known, but it is believed she will wait to learn the fate of the Astrid immigrants, now in the hands of Canadian immigration authorities.

The Estonians were taken into custody in Quebec when it was found they had no entry papers. A government spokesman at Ottawa has said it is likely they will be given sanctuary in Canada. Meanwhile it is recalled that last year a group was admitted to Canada after a similar small-craft crossing of the Atlantic to Boston, where the doors to the United States were found closed.

At present the immigrants here are close-mouthed about their plans, while the group in Quebec is not allowed to receive interviewers. Southport, N.C., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Fifteen weary but hearty Estonians anchored their small auxiliary sailing vessel off Southport last night after an eight-week voyage across the Atlantic.

The voyagers told a pleasure-boat skipper they were refugees seeking a new life in the United States. The captain of the pleasure boat, Thomas J. Watts of Southport, said he was told by the Estonian skipper that the party of 10 men and five women left Sweden June 23.

Watts told a reported he made contact with the Estonian vessel yesterday afternoon about 15 miles offshore from Southport. At the Estonian Skipper's request, Watts led the vessel into the Cape Fear river where a coast guard patrol boat took over the escort.

Watts said later that members of his fishing party pooled money for food and other provisions which they gave to the voyagers. "They were out of fresh food

Manoeuvres Are Held By US Troops In Grunewald Forest

By GEORGE BRID
Berlin, Aug. 18.—(AP)—American foot troops wound up all-night defensive manoeuvres early today in the Grunewald Forest of Soviet-occupied Berlin. Reports from Hamburg said the Russians are winding up summer manoeuvres of their own near the zonal frontiers. Troops with rifles, mortars and machine-guns simulated delaying action against an "enemy" that had captured Gatow airport, the British supply field for the sealed-off western sectors.

Officials in charge of the operation said British troops theoretically took part in the manoeuvre, although none were "fighting." Earlier yesterday other American troops joined French units in manoeuvres along the Rhine river near Heidelberg. It was the first time since the war's end the two allies had engaged in joint war games. United States and French officers said the show was successful and predicted other such efforts in the future. Only 1,500 troops took part in the operation.

The joint manoeuvre took place 20 miles from Heidelberg, where French troops ferried men and tanks across the Rhine under artillery cover and attempted to establish a bridgehead in the American-zone village of Altusheim. Marshal Vasily D. Sokolovsky, Russian commander in Germany, today offered western Berliners 60,000 tons of coal as their "first winter instalment."

Race Started But Wrong Man Fired The Gun

La Clotat, France, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Nineteen girls lined up today for a bicycle race. A gun sounded. Eighteen girls sped away. The 19th, Marcelle Dagobert, lay on the ground suffering a superficial shoulder wound from a gun fired by an estranged sweetheart.

The official starter shrugged his shoulders and put his unused pistol back in his pocket.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

This column concerns itself with a corner of my playroom.
A few years ago this corner was of interest chiefly to spiders and an old-fashioned clothes rack. Today it's well on its way to being the greatest show on earth.

But first let me give you some background material.

In 1940 when I bought the rambling joint in Mt. Kisco where Eleanor and I spend our summers, one of the rooms on the lower floor looked like a total loss. It was ballroom where the former owner had entertained the landed gentry of Westchester.

"What are we going to do with it?" asked Eleanor.

"If it's all right with you," I said, "I'd like to move a pool table into it. I know where I can buy one cheap."

"Okay," said my missus, "providing you don't hang out a sign reading, '2 1/2 c a cue!'"

After the pool table was installed, I added an open-faced upright, a midget bar, a second-hand Capehart and some colored jars loaded with penny candy. On the walls I hung old prizefight pictures.

"Well, for eight years now, this razzmatazz setup has been the most popular room in the house and plenty of jokes have been bounced off its walls.

Two years ago, Eleanor suggested we buy a television, and a simple record-changer to take the place of the complicated Capehart which was always going out of wack. I stalled and said I'd rather wait until these gadgets were perfected—that I didn't want to blow my dough on stuff which would be obsolete in a few months. But last month I finally unbelted and bought a television, plus a thing-amannny called a "Long-playing Microgroove Record-Player." The two gimmicks were set up catty-cornered near the pool table.

Since then, there's been more entertainment nightly in my playroom than there was 30 years ago in all Westchester. In addition to being my castle, my home has become Mr. Loew's State, my Carnegie Hall and my Yankee Stadium.

Since we got the television,
Eleanor and I have practically stopped going to the local picture house. Every night we see a bum movie on the television, and usually it's as good as the bum ones Hollywood still wants to charge admission for. I may be wrong, but it's my hunch that the time isn't far off when the studios will have a heck of a time selling anything but a first-rate movie.

In addition to bum pictures, television is beginning to come up with some good shows. The one I like best so far is the vaudeville hour sponsored by Texaco. Every Tuesday, Eleanor and I dine off a tray in the playroom and watch the comedians, noifers, singers and dog acts. It's a fairly expert job, and it goes down easily with an old cornball like myself.

Recently, a quick-quip gent named Henry Youngman M'U'd his variety show and I found myself laughing as if I were his agent. Now I read ton Eerie for the next 40 weeks.
Milton is an expert funnyman, and it's plenty sound to wire him for sight.

The microgroove record gadget is almost as much fun as television. It looks like an oversized fruit cake and you perch it on top of your regular phonograph.
It plays records made of Vinylite (whatever that is) and each of the 12-inch platters holds 45 minutes of music. The other night I listened to a Jerome Kern melody and loved every one of the 2,700 seconds. Thanks to this new noise box, it's at last possible to have symphonies without commercials
—in short, music to read, grab, guzzle, cuddle, snooze or crack nuts by.

Even the old-fashioned radio promises to do something nice for my playroom this season. In October many of the stations around the country are going to present a long-haired disc jockey—Deems Taylor—and as you know,
on him the long hair looks good.
The Taylor offering will consist of five half hours a week of recorded classics, with comment and guest-interviewing by the noted critic and composer himself.

I think this notion is a ten-strike. Deems is a civilized gent and his running commentary in Disney's "Fantasia" remains a memorable example of good humor mixed with good taste. When the disc-jockey business begins to speak with a voice like Taylor's, it means that its voice has finally stopped chancing.

The total cost of the fun gimmicks in my playroom is less than what I paid for my automobile.
Currently, they're 10 times as much fun. If it weren't that Eleanor likes to dress up and go out occasionally, I'd be inclined to sell the car and never go out of the house.

Montreal, Aug. 18.—Quebec province's new Fleur-de-lis flag has been criticized by Maurice de Turginy, a French heraldic expert, it was disclosed yesterday.

In a letter to Gabriel Drouin, director of the Drouin genealogical institute, Turginy said the white cross on the blue field is too wide and the four fleurs-de-lis should be tilted instead of vertical as they now are.

THE BABE PASSES

The death of George Herman "Babe" Ruth in a New York hospital on Monday evening will come as an almost personal loss to millions of residents of the North American Continent who either followed the career of the Sultan of Swat at the time he was in his heyday or, being of a younger generation, have been brought up on the stories of his glamorous exploits.

Aside from his ability to strike out home runs, which was the important point insofar as his baseball history was concerned, he had an unusual personality which brought him close to followers of the great game. To the 'teen-age baseball enthusiast of a quarter of a century ago, the Bambino was a decidedly personal figure. His day-to-day activities outweighed almost every other event of that period. Whether he was on the baseball field or whether he was carrying out those natural dictates of his heart which caused him to spread cheer and comfort at the cost of considerable personal inconvenience, he served as an idol for the youth of that time.

Of later years, deteriorating health forced him to curtail many of his activities, but his magnetism endeared him to thousands of youngsters to whom his slugging exploits were only so many figures on the official score sheet. The man himself lived, however, and even as he waged the last great engagement, he found himself remembered in the prayers and hearts of American youth to whom he had provided such a noble example.

Both in his professional and personal life he has offered a noble career, his qualities doing much to permit baseball to recover from the staggering blows received a few years earlier from the betting scandals.

WHEN BUREAUCRACY RULES

A perfect example of the manner in which an individual loses his inherent rights when bureaucracy overpowers Parliament in the battle for the control of government machinery is provided in a case recently decided by Hon. Justice Angers in the Exchequer Court. In this case, an attempt by a citizen grossly wronged by officers of the Crown to gain redress, Judge Angers found, with admitted personal regret, that although the citizen had suffered great injustice through the exercise of arbitrary action by officers of the Crown, his court still had no jurisdiction to grant relief.

Of the hundreds of acts in which matters of administration are delegated to the discretion of a board or a minister, the act affecting the greatest number of citizens is the Income Tax Act. The original act passed in 1917 gave almost excessive powers to the bureaucrats, but Parliament after little discussion at the last session augmented these powers under section 126 which reads:

"Where the Treasury Board has decided that one of the main purposes of a transaction or transactions, effected before or after the coming into force of this act, was improper avoidance or reduction of taxes that might otherwise have become payable under the Income War Tax Act, or the Excess Profits Tax Act, 1940, the Treasury Board may give such directions as it considers appropriate to counteract the avoidance or reduction . . .

"An avoidance or reduction of taxes may be regarded as improper for the purpose of this section although it is not illegal."

Thus, under this section, the Treasury Board is given the power to decide—at its own discretion—what a taxpayer might have been thinking during a series of transactions that took place twenty years ago. The courts of the land, in interpreting the act, refuse to consider what might have been the intention of Parliament in passing it. They feel it sufficient to interpret what the language of the act says without trespassing on the dominion of Providence to declare what, if anything, was in the minds of the legislators.

No such modest diffidence will restrain the Treasury Board. It is true that a taxpayer who feels aggrieved when he is penalized under this section for a perfectly legal transaction may appeal to the Exchequer Court. There the burden of proof will be on him to show that his transactions were not only legal but also "proper." Even if he proves his case, it is not yet certain that the Exchequer Court will find that it has power to grant him relief.

The citizens might have more confidence in receiving justice if the Treasury Board and other officers of the Crown were recruited wholly from angels and archangels. The available evidence seems to indicate they were not.

LIVING BEYOND OUR MEANS

Canada was built up by risk capital, by men who had the courage to adventure, buoyed up by hope of reward. If a time should come when hope will no longer justify risk, with enterprise and initiative destroyed, and with our people who possess capital content to be coupon-cutters, the future of this country will be dark indeed.

Our error in government today is that we seem to be putting the cart before the horse, building superstructures without foundations, taxing into extinction the production we require to pay for costly commitments. To put it simply, we are living beyond our means, cutting our coat beyond our financial cloth, threatening to kill the goose with the proverbial golden egg. — The Brandon Daily Sun.

ANTI-WALLACE WAVE REVIVES OLD "ACADEMIC FREEDOM" FIGHT

Thirteen cases of political pressure or intimidation against school, college and university teachers who have taken an active part in support of Henry Wallace's Progressive Party are now on record. In addition to which two preachers have lost their pulpits for showing an interest in the third party movement.

All such cases so far reported have been from the Eastern part of the United States, but 10 have been in the North, as against only five in the South. Aside from the Constitutional "freedom of speech" guarantees involved, these cases have freedom—allowing teachers and professors complete freedom of thought, without censorship from higher authorities.

* This year's cases of faculty intimidation are by no means confined to backwoods institutions. Columbia University, Northwestern, Williams College, Oglethorpe and University of Georgia are among the tonier institutions of learning involved.

CASES OF PROFESSORS BOUNCED FOR POLITICS

At Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., 25 professors have been forced to withdraw from active work for the Wallace movement. Prof. Curtis MacDougall, third party candidate for U.S. senator from Illinois, has defied this order by refusing to withdraw his candidacy, and he is still hanging onto his academic job.

Firing of Prof. Frederick L. Schuman was first demanded by Williams College alumni after he had written a critical review of ex-Secretary of State James P. Byrnes' book, "Speaking Frankly." Schuman refused to quit, however, and at the third party convention in Philadelphia, he played an active part in drafting the Progressive platform.

Columbia University Teachers' College dropped Prof. Clyde Miller from its faculty after his name had appeared on a list of some 700 members of the National Committee for Wallace.

Prof. James Barfoot was fired from an assistant professorship at University of Georgia after he was nominated as third party candidate for governor in the peach tree state. At Oglethorpe University, Prof. Don West was dropped for Progressive Party activities, but he was reinstated for the remainder of the term.

A similar temporary reinstatement has been reported at Methodist College, Evansville, Ind. Several days after he had presided at a political rally where Henry Wallace spoke, Dr. George Parker was asked to resign his post as an instructor in Bible and philosophy. After students and Evansville citizens had protested, however, Dr. Parker was given his job back for the remainder of the term.

At Lycoming College, Williamsport, Pa., Dr. Clarence R. Athearn last March accepted appointment as Lycoming County chairman for the Progressive Party. Athearn was then asked to resign this position by the college president, Dr. John W. Long, and he did. Two months later Dr. Athearn was notified that his contract for the following year would not be renewed.

STUDENT PROTESTS FAIL TO GAIN ACTION

Three professors claiming to be the victims of a political purge have been dismissed at University of Miami, in spite of protests by the student body and of the Florida institution. They are Dr. Charles C. Davis, Dr. Leonard Cohen and Prof. Daniel D. Ashkenas. Their cases are now on appeal before the university board of trustees.

Prof. Lyndon K. McNair voluntarily resigned his post as Dean of the State Teachers College, Lyndon, Va., after he had announced his support of the Progressive Party and had been denounced for it in Vermont newspaper editorials.

Censure of grade and high school teachers for political activity has been reported from Chicago, Buffalo and Tarpon Springs, Fla. In Chicago the city council's school committee set up a group to investigate charges of subversive teaching by a Senn High School civics instructor, Miss Emily Noack. Charges of "un-Americanism" brought against Eleanor R. Dushane, a Buffalo, N.Y., East High School teacher, were carried to the State Supreme Court after a six months' controversy had involved students, parents and fellow teachers. For organizing a Wallace Committee in Tarpon Springs, Fla., George T. Frantzis was fired as Greek Parochial School principal.

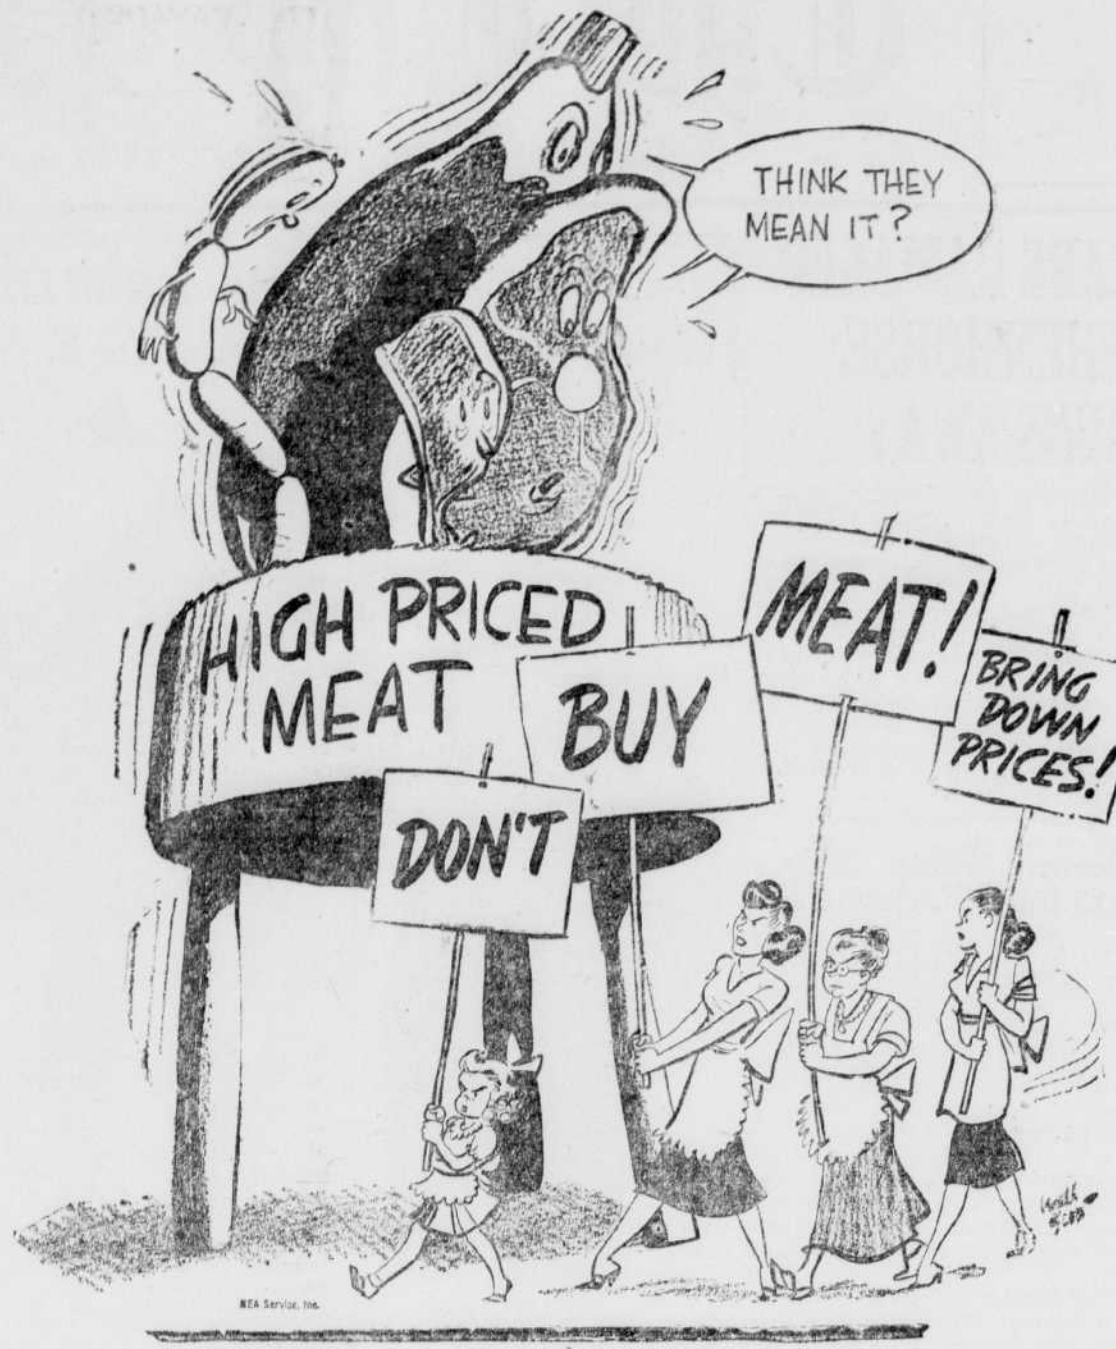

The two teachers who have thus far been reported dismissed from their pulpits for political activity are the Rev. Edward H. Brooks, Centenary Methodist Church, Cumberland, Md., and Rev. Isaiah J. Dennis, Universal Unitarian Church, Atlanta, Ga.

HIGHER PRICES FOR CARS

Windsor Star
It is unfortunate that the automobile industry, so soon after the reduction made possible by the Government's removal of the special excise taxes, feels impelled to substantially increase the price of passenger cars and trucks. It is unfortunate not only for purchasers of these products, but for the industry itself.

Reasonable people will recognize some justification for some increase. Wages have recently gone up and other production costs are likewise up. But even reasonable people will be surprised by the amount of the increase. And, on issue such as this, time is of the essence. It is perhaps only a minority of people who will tend to be reasonable.

Canadians had risen in merited anger against the special excise taxes imposed last November. They considered, rightly, that the taxes were unnecessary, fruitless and aggravating, resulting only in purchasers paying more for no good reason.

Most unfortunate aspect of the situation is that this justifiable anger against the Federal Government may now be directed, in part at least, against the automotive industry. The industry, because it is largely localized in Windsor and Oshawa, has too few friends in other parts of Canada who understand its problems. There are all too many who are too ready to criticize the industry at every opportunity. They are apt to seize the price increases as another opportunity.

Federal authorities will also feel let down. They accepted to pressure and removed the special taxes—and the pressure was for cheaper automobiles. The Government may tend to think it is useless to lower taxes, in other directions, if the benefits are not passed along to consumers.

Automobiles, of course, will be considerably cheaper as compared to prices when the excise taxes prevailed. But, not nearly as much cheaper as prospective customers hoped.

Point is, no matter how justified the increases, a lot of people will be mad. It is not good for any industry to have a lot of people mad at it.

The industry, management and employees alike, will be remiss if it does not always remember the desire of most Canadians to have an automobile at a price which most Canadians can afford. The industry, management and employees, is dependent upon this for future prosperity.

NO CAUSE YET FOR PANIC

Globe and Mail, Toronto
The removal of the embargo on the export of meat to the United States is difficult to criticize on strict economic grounds. There can be no commendation, however, of the Government's manipulation of the embargo decision for political purposes. For several months, speculation stories have been permitted, or encouraged, to leak out of Ottawa that an immediate lifting of the embargo was about to occur. Agriculture Minister Gardiner himself contributed in no small measure to the atmosphere of uncertainty and apprehension over the matter, by some cryptic hints both in and out of the House. As a result, beef supply has been irregular, livestock breeders have been holding back in expectation and they have been unable to plan their programs adequately, to offset the abandonment of the British market. Each time the rumors went round, the temporary withholding of the supply caused the price of meat to rise a few cents, and the consuming public grew so much more discontented.

Whatever the immediate effect, it would be unwise to assume that Canada is of necessity in for a meat famine, although, given the continuance of American demand, the eventual possibility certainly exists. For one thing, Canadian livestock is permitted to enter the American market on a quota basis, of 120,000 per quarter, not to exceed 400,000 in the year. There will be undoubtedly a rush to get in before the quota is exhausted, which will force Canadian meat packers to raise their bids considerably. It should be remembered, however, that United States buyers are under no obligation to give Canadian producers the going American wholesale price for beef. It is anticipated that much of the beef sent over will be of the feeder variety, which will be finished on American pastures before killing. Prices need not therefore go to the full limit of American retail levels, and butchers who assume they may get away with it because the embargo has been lifted, will be in for disillusionment.

It should also be borne in mind that Canada has been producing large quantities of beef for shipment to Britain. The embargo was imposed in 1942 for the express purpose of assuring fulfillment of the British contracts. These having come to an end, there will be available some surplus cattle which will undoubtedly go to the United States up to the limit of the quota. There is, however, ample evidence in the American press that meat prices there are raising consumer reaction. Whether this will reach the point of affecting demand on a broad scale, remains to be seen. It could conceivably affect radically the demand for Canadian beef, which would correspondingly reduce the pressure on Canadian prices.

Should the worst come to the worst, however, and Canadian prices be raised exceedingly, the reaction will be unquestionably severe. Consumer restiveness has already grown to the breaking point, and it is simple, if not desirable, just to stop buying meat. The livestock industry cannot be so shortsighted as to forget that whatever it may get for its surplus in the United States, the backbone of its livelihood is the Canadian market. Mercenary reaction for United States price levels, while Canadian per capita income remains considerably below that of the United States, is one sure way to disaster.

It is unwise and unnecessary, therefore, for meat suppliers to allow the price level to get out of hand. With the public temper as it is, profiteering will not be tolerated long. There can be no excuse for large jumps in meat prices today, nor for several days to come. Common-sense will serve the situation better than an over-reaching effort to grasp an opportunity.

Still more witnesses in the so-called spy ring case have appeared before the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Some give categorical denials. Some refuse to answer on grounds of self-incrimination—something which inescapably thickens the clouds instead of clearing the air. In balance the testimony fits together into at least the general outlines of war and prewar spy activities with a communist tinge which reached into government posts of responsibility and trust. This ought to surprise no one, and doubtless the FBI has been watching most of it for some time. But President Truman does him-

FAVORS HIGH TAX ON LUXURY CARS

The Editor.

Sir:—The austerity tax on cars was 25 per cent on the first $1,200, 50 per cent on the next $800 and 75 per cent on the remainder of the wholesale price. And import restrictions still in effect limit imports to 75 per cent of a certain period.

I understand that in 1947 about $85 million in U.S. funds went for complete cars, and about $85 million for parts, and that Canadian cars are 60 to 70 per cent made in Canada.

The graduated tax would save U.S. dollars if it encouraged Canadian production, and in view of the fact that we have deprived ourselves of essential commodities in order to conserve dollars, and other measures involving sacrifices by harassed Canadian consumers are lauded as though earning U.S. dollars were a noble achievement, I can't see why the austerity tax should be removed from high priced cars, which are largely imported complete.

The tax has now been reduced to a flat 10 per cent on all cars. Wouldn't it have been better to drop the tax entirely on the first $1,200 and retain the 50 and 75 per cent on the upper portion? We will probably have regulated austerity for a considerable time, and I think the financial penalties on luxuries should stand as long as there are quantity restrictions.

Yours very truly, self and the public a disservice when he dismisses the inquiry as a "red herring." Politically its red herring possibilities are certainly being exploited and some of the motives back of it probably are not all sweetness and light. Nevertheless, what the testimony points toward is a proper subject for inquiry, and Mr. Truman should not give even the appearance of wanting to cover it up. Likewise he would do better if he would show a readiness to meet Congress part way in its demand for departmental data which bear on the spy ring allegations. However, no one should jump to the conclusion that the President is being merely arbitrary and that the several departments and their loyalty boards have deep, dark secrets to hide. His basic position in refusing to surrender confidential papers rests on sound precedents. Presidents Washington, Jefferson, Monroe, Cleveland, Coolidge, and Taft, all held that to surrender to such demands from Congress violated the Constitutional separation of powers between the executive and legislative branches. In the light of this, Senator Homer Ferguson's talk of impeachment sounds more like the outburst of an angry man than the utterance of an experienced lawyer.

Furthermore the bits of information—merit and credible, and just gossip and false clues—which together make up a confidential loyalty file are not the kind of stuff to entrust to investigating committees, especially the Thomas group, with so much headline-hunting and political jangling recorded against them. More reputations would be needlessly smudged and invaluable FBI sources revealed and made useless.

Congress has a lot to do itself in the way of disciplining its own committees and holding them within reasonable bounds of responsibility before it can come with clean hands and ask that the executive branch turn over any and every document on demand.

McKENNY ON BRIDGE

By Wm. E. McKenny, America's Card Authority

SOUTH MENTIONS SUIT SO IT WON'T BE LED

Recently I had the pleasure of visiting at the home of Charles Lochridge of New York City, secretary of the Vanderbilt Club committee, and one of the best and most popular bridge players in the country. Another guest was John Rau. Anyone who has been playing contract since 1928 and 1929 will remember the name of John Rau. He was the youngest who introduced psychic bidding.

While talking about some of the old-timers in bridge, the name of P. Hal Sims came up. Rau remarked that one of Sims' great points was to make good cards and bad breaks work for him, and today's hand illustrates that particular point.

South's bid of three spades is a good one, because he does not want a spade lead. It might knock out his spade trick quickly, and, if he lost another trick, the opponents could cash two spade tricks. Also, the spade bid assures another bid by partner. In the old days, after both hands had shown strength, the jump to a slam was made immediately.

The three-spade bid may not have prevented a spade lead, but West and a possible spade opening, and after the spade bid the natural diamond opening was made. South won this with the ace, cashed the ace and king of hearts—and found a bad break in trumps.

Some players might say, "There is nothing to worry about. All I have to do is to take the spade finesse." But Rau pointed out that the correct thing to do is to draw three rounds of clubs, stripping both the North and South hands of that suit, then go over to dummy's king of diamonds and ruff a diamond. South knows where the queen of hearts is, so all he has to do is to lead a heart, throw East in the lead, and East is forced either to give him a "ruff" and a ruff, or lead into the king-jack of spades. South thereby makes a bad break in trumps work for him.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

World Not Ready For Arms Reduction

By

DEWITT MACKENZIE Associated Press News Analyst

The United Nations arms commission finally has reached an inevitable conclusion that the world isn't yet ready for arms reduction—that international tension must be ended before countries will be willing to slash armaments.

That is, nine of the 11 countries on the commission have agreed to this point. The other two members—Soviet Russia and the Soviet Ukraine—say "nyet" (no).

The Communists maintain that the way to create confidence is to disarm. The western powers, on the other hand, hold that peace and confidence are what will inspire disarmament. The majority hold that essentials for the establishment of world confidence include the following:

(1) Agreement on atomic control, (2) creation of a world police force, and (3) signing of German and Japanese peace treaties.

While the commission was debating this momentous issue at Lake Success yesterday, Britain's Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, Chief of the Imperial General Staff and Britain's top soldier, made some pointed remarks on the country's defences the Field Marshal declared that "the best chance of avoiding war in modern times is to be prepared."

"A somewhat uneasy truce is brooding over the world," he said. "It is more of a truce than a peace; it is a period of exhaustion, ill-defined as 'peace' . . . we must be ready and prepared to face sudden attack by an aggressor. We cannot hope for breathing space as in 1939, at the outbreak of another world conflict."

He was only reading the writing which all countries can see clearly on the wall. It's obvious that peace and confidence must precede disarmament—so much a truism that it seems absurd to debate the matter at all.

Certainly the western powers could venture no other stand under existing circumstances. A country doesn't disarm when it is in the midst of war—and there is no halt in the "cold war" which Russia is waging for the spread of Communism.

He was a member of the Knights of Columbus for 25 years, and for the past 16 years had been financial secretary for the Council. He was a Past Grand Knight.

He is survived by his wife, the former Alice Sylvester, two daughters, Claire and Therese, of Montreal; and two sons, Dr. Alain Deseve, of Montreal, and Lionel, a student, in Montreal.

BOND ISSUE BID PRICES ARE LOWER

Reflecting tightening conditions in the money market, the bid prices for the $975,000 issue of City of Sherbrooke serial bonds for which tenders closed yesterday were substantially below those floated over the past years.

The top tender, that of a syndicate comprising the Bank of Montreal, A. E. Ames and Co., and McTaggart, Hannaford, Birks and Gordon, for the 2 1/2%, 3%, 3 1/2%, issue was 95.583, to provide a cost to the city of 3.45%. For a $100,000 2 1/2%-3% issue floated in April, a price of 97.06 was bid for a cost to the city of 3.24 per cent.

Four other tenders were received, the prices ranging from 95.53 to 94.54.

Wide fluctuations have been shown in the interest cost of City of Sherbrooke bonds over a ten-year period. In March 1938 a $150,000 issue was sold at an interest cost of 3.33%. Costs mounted until October 1940 when a $225,000 issue was sold on a 3.85% basis. Then a downward trend was noted until in July 1947 an all-time low cost of 2.6609% was reached. In September of that year an issue was sold at 2.674% and in April of this year 3.124% was paid.

Communism Assailed By Anglicans

Lambeth Conference Report Says Marxism Is Contrary to Christian Faith.

By ALVIN J. STEINKOPF

London, Aug. 18. — (AP)—Translated into more than 100 languages, a call to Christians to oppose Communism was dispatched today to all corners of the earth. It was sent by the Lambeth Conference.

The conference report was published last night in the form of a volume presenting the views of 329 Archbishops and Bishops of the Anglican and associated churches who met in London for five weeks.

It was first Lambeth Conference—a deliberative church body wielding great influence but possessing no legislative authority—in 1930. The Archbishop of Canterbury, Most Rev. G. F. Fisher, was its president.

The conference adopted a resolution stating it is recognized that many practising Christians believe in some political doctrines of Communism and that such belief is not inconsistent with their religion.

Nevertheless, the Bishops and Archbishops, including the highest authorities of the Church of England and the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States, were vigorous in their opposition to Marxism-Communism, which, they said, is contrary to Christian faith and practice.

The conference urged Christians to work for the elimination of war, and urged countries to refrain from using the atom bomb, but took the attitude that occasionally war must be waged "as the lesser of two evils."

Other conclusions of the conference include: A human rights declaration, pledging a campaign for full attainment of such rights everywhere.

A reassertion of the church's objection to the remarriage of divorced persons.

A plea to the countries of the world to remove the causes of war and for speedy completion of peace treaties for Japan and Germany.

London, Aug. 18. — (C.P.)—A New Zealand government spokesman said today "commercial inquiries" have been made about the possibility of Canada importing New Zealand butter but added that it appears unlikely that the queries will reach the negotiation stage.

By-passing regular trade channels is not illegal; nor is independent cutting and wrapping of butter. Even the question of what constitutes hoarding is something the courts must decide on the basis of individual cases.

A real black market, obviously, is easier to fight. But, with Canada's butter stocks still low and a shortage apparently inevitable, the "gray market" probably will be a problem for weeks to come.

It now is 12,808,000 pounds below that of mid-August, 1947.

Authoritative sources who confirm the Cabinet's interest in butter-import possibilities say the government also is keeping an eye peeled for all developments in the beef-price situation.

With shipments of Canadian cattle to American markets ready to be resumed as a result of the lifting of a wartime embargo last Monday, retail prices are getting set to jump. But, say observers, the increase may not be as great as some Canadians fear.

They point to the statement of Agriculture Minister Gardiner in Winnipeg yesterday: "It is expected that prices both of cattle and beef will level out at a point between the American and Canadian prices. . . . That, it was learned, is the Cabinet's belief."

An official of Mr. Gardiner's department said here yesterday he believes beef prices will not change for at least a week.

Mr. Gardiner had this to say of the butter situation: "There is no possibility of any shortage until February." He was commenting on the Dairy Council's request for rationing to meet what it calls a shortage.

"gray market's" insidious effect on business—and the difficulty of proving it is illegal. As Mr. Spence says, only if these deals involve breaches of the butter-price ceiling are they unlawful.

Mr. Gardiner had this to say of the butter situation: "There is no possibility of any shortage until February." He was commenting on the Dairy Council's request for rationing to meet what it calls a shortage. "gray market's" insidious effect on business—and the difficulty of proving it is illegal. As Mr. Spence says, only if these deals involve breaches of the butter-price ceiling are they unlawful. By-passing regular trade channels is not illegal; nor is independent cutting and wrapping of butter. Even the question of what constitutes hoarding is something the courts must decide on the basis of individual cases. A real black market, obviously, is easier to fight. But, with Canada's butter stocks still low and a shortage apparently inevitable, the "gray market" probably will be a problem for weeks to come.

The Doctor Says

THERE IS NO "TRUTH SERUM" DESPITE WHAT HOLLYWOOD SAYS

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

Movie-goers know that a "lie-detector" is a rather complicated-looking apparatus. Bands and other devices are fastened to the body. These measure the number of breaths taken each minute, whether they are deep or shallow, the rate of the pulse and the blood pressure.

Even when one wishes, he cannot control such emotional messages. Nearly everyone is subject to emotion when he or she tells a lie. This emotion may be kept out of the facial expression, and out of voluntary movement of the muscles, but it acts on the heart and breathing muscles in a way which can be measured and recorded by the lie detector.

Operator Important

The lie detector, therefore, is merely a sensitive way of measuring emotion. The value of the machine depends entirely on the training and experience of the person who is using it.

There is no real "truth serum." When reference is made to "truth serum" drugs called scopolamine or sodium pentothal are usually meant. However, neither these nor any other drug is always successful in causing people to talk freely and truthfully.

All drugs used for this purpose produce a state of relaxation, somewhat similar to sleep. During such relaxation, the power to invent lies may be decreased so that questions are answered more truthfully. But there is actually no substance which can really be called a "truth serum."

Q—What could cause the calluses on the bottom of my feet?
A—Calluses on the feet could be caused by weak arches or by a chronic infection. They can sometimes be cured by medical means—applications—and sometimes by surgery or shoe correction is necessary.

RAMBLING ROUND THE BORDER

Derby Line, Aug. 18.—With the close of the McGill Summer School in Geography an interesting and important feature of the summer at the Boundary has ended for another year. The special lectures in the Haskell Opera House each Wednesday evening drew a considerable number of local people, as well as many from the outside communities. They were all excellent and interesting talks by outstanding authorities in their fields and every one well worth hearing.

At the last lecture, Professor George H. L. Kimble, director of the school, spoke his appreciation for the number, who were attending the talks and also for the hospitality of the community. He said that there must be something in the air at Stanstead College this year that had not been present in 1947, in as much as it wasn't until six weeks after the close of the school last year that a wedding occurred, whereas one had already taken place this year, and more were pending!

The Canadian Art Theatre continues to draw good audiences for their fine productions of good plays. On Saturday evenings, especially there is always a good crowd present. The plays have all been excellent, and the production and acting have been of top drawer quality. The play this coming week-end, "Arsenic and Old Lace," is one of the finest of its type produced in many years, and all lovers of the theatre are looking forward to it. Your reporter understands that Miss Mary Ford and Miss Amelia Hall will play the parts of the two charming old ladies, whose hobby is relieving lonely old men of their lives—how these two very lovely young ladies can do it, we do not know, but having seen them in other productions we feel certain that they will do a first class job. Bruce Raymond plays the part made famous on the stage by Boris Karloff, and Silvio Narizzano plays the doctor, assurance of fine quality performances. (We are still trying to figure out how Silvio got the C.A.T. truck backed into one of the garages at the U.S. Customs without hitting anything).

Miss Joy Thomson and all her assistants are to be congratulated for bringing to these communities such a fine lot of plays, so skillfully produced, directed and acted. They will leave a large number behind them who will be looking forward with eagerness for their re-appearance next summer.

There will be some new and special features to the Fourth Annual Boundary Rotary Fair, which takes place at the Rock Island Armory September 23, 24 and 25, that will please the many who will attend. In an "off the record" talk with Claude Willard, the chairman, your reporter heard some of the details, and feels cer-

ROCK ISLAND GIRL IS "MISS NEWPORT"

Derby Line, Aug. 18.—Miss Beverly Miller, of Rock Island, was chosen as "Miss Newport" and "Queen of the Newport Rotary Club Regatta," at the Rotary Regatta Dance, at Newport, last Friday evening.

There were ten young ladies in the contest, from Newport and vicinity, and Miss Miller was selected by the judges from the group, with the enthusiastic approval of the audience.
The lucky winner appeared in a blue bathing costume and made an extremely attractive picture under the spotlight focused on the runway from the orchestra stage, and she possessed an attractive smile to take considerable attention away from the other nine contestants.
The blonde and lovely young lady of twenty-one years was selected as winner by Miss Gertrude Langlain, society editor of the Burlington, Vt., Daily News; Miss Barbara Campbell, of Montpelier, Miss Vermont of 1947; and Mack Derick of Orleans, will know photographer, Miss Jeanne Peatman, of Montpelier, Vt., Miss Vermont of 1948, made the presentation of the award to Miss Miller. Besides the title of "Miss Newport," Beverly Miller received an award of $100 from the Rotary Club of Newport, Vt.

Ordinarily this award would have entitled the winner to try for the title of Miss Vermont of 1949, but as Miss Miller is a Canadian and resident of Rock Island, she is not eligible to compete.

tain that when they are made public the number who will plan to attend will be larger than ever. The prizes will be better and more expensive, there will be more booths, and the decorations will be even more elaborate than usual.

Speaking of the Rotary Club of the Boundary, for the next few weeks the meetings will be held in the DelBar at the Del Monty Hotel. The bar will be closed from 6 to 8.30 p.m. each Monday evening, and the room turned over to the club. This will enable the Rotary Club to conduct their meetings in privacy, without interference by or interfering with the other guests in the dining room. If the plan works out successfully, this will be the regular meeting place of the club.

Work on the new Border Theatre continues to progress, and the cement floor is now being laid. Watching the operations day by day, the progress seems to be slow, but actually the work has gone right along, and it will not be many weeks before the people of the Boundary will once again be seeing and hearing the latest movies, this time in complete comfort in a modern and up-to-date theatre.

Traffic still continues to be greater than in 1947, and the problem of long lines of cars continues to plague the villages of Derby Line and Rock Island. With every desire on the part of the officers on both sides of the Boundary to speed the cars along, there are certain duties to per-

A Double Silver Shower Was Held For A Bride And A Bride-To-Be

Beebe, Aug. 18.—Two young ladies of this community, Mrs. James Meller, a recent bride, and Miss Frances Wilkinson, an August bride-to-be, were guests of honor at a double silver shower held in the dining room of the United Church.

The shower was a complete surprise as each one had been asked to assist at a shower for the other.

The room was tastefully decorated with greenery and baskets of flowers. The color scheme of the guests' chairs were pink and white.

Mrs. House in her usual charming manner presented to Miss Wilkinson three settings of sterling silver, in the Georgian pattern, and to Mrs. Miller a silver tray and bowl, with the best wishes of a host of friends.

Both young ladies graciously thanked their friends for their beautiful gifts after which delicious refreshments were served.

form, certain regulations to enforce, and the necessary examinations to be made, and all these requirements take time. In spite of the increase in traffic, the line up of cars is certainly no worse than in previous years, and actually the cars are moving more rapidly.

Plans for the fall sessions of the International Community School are being rapidly completed, and the programs should be out shortly. The president of the school, Rev. C. R. Stetson, says that he expects that there will be more than the usual number of members this year, as the school is offering some new and important features. Full details will be announced later. The special pre-session dinner will be held at the Centenary United Church, Stanstead, on September 15th, with Hugh MacLennan, famous Canadian author as the guest speaker.

AMES' GARAGE HELD ITS 20TH ANNIVERSARY

Derby Line, Aug. 18.—The Ames Garage, at Derby Line, celebrated their twenty years as dealers in De Soto and Plymouth cars with a grand party and dance Saturday afternoon and evening. With the band from the Canaan High School providing music the party got underway in the afternoon in spite of inclement weather, and continued until midnight with a dance.

The following boy and girls have passed tests recently: Ronald Holden, Rock Island, swimmer; Nancy Wood, Derby Line, intermediate; Pauline Ladd, Derby Line, intermediate; and Ann O'Leary, Willoughby, beginner.

With good weather this week, there should be quite a group at the beach and a number of tests passed. This will be the final week for the boys and girls of Derby Line and Derby, and the instructors, Bud Fuller and Gwen MacHarg, are hoping for a large turnout.

The bus will leave the Derby Line post office each morning at 8:30, and each afternoon at 1 p.m. The return trips will be made at 11:30 a. m., and 4:30. The round trip fare remains at 10 cents, and all children of school age are welcome.

The week of August 23 to 28 will be final week for the boys and girls of Stanstead, and it is expected that there will be a large group from there ready to take their tests and to learn more about swimming.

Besides the instruction, there is plenty of opportunity of having fun between the classes, with David Wood in attendance at the beach to see that no harm comes to the young people.

the music for which was furnished by the Willard Orchestra.

An unusually large crowd was present to participate in the celebration, and to enjoy the refreshments of ice cream and soft drinks, provided by George T. Ames, proprietor of the garage.

The event was sponsored jointly by the Ames Garage and the De Soto division of the Chrysler Corporation. Mr. Ames received a plaque denoting his continuous service as a dealer for the past twenty years from Walter J. Cleland, De Soto regional manager, from Boston, Mass.

The Garage was one of the first in the United States to take on the agency for this car, and is now one of the oldest dealers on their list.

A special feature of the celebration was the display of De Soto and Plymouth cars, supplied by the corporation to mark the event. There were sixteen cars on the floor, all new, making one of the largest displays of new cars outside of an auto show.

Stingy Husband

Ex-Career Woman Yearns For Old Job To Help Poverty-Stricken Family

Dear Dorothy Dix: Before I married I was a successful business woman, earning a good salary, I was happy because I had something interesting to do and because I could help my family, who are very poor.

Three years ago I got married and my husband absolutely refuses to let me work outside of my home. I am well and strong and we have no children, and I am miserable because time hangs so heavily on my hands. I would love to be able to go back to work in order to be able to help my family who are actually hungry. When I get down to my table to eat, my food chokes me, because I know my relatives are starving.

DOROTHY DIX

My husband makes a good living, but he will not give me a dollar to help my people. Don't you think this is mean of him?

BROKEN-HEARTED WIFE.

Answer: It is very mean and cruel of your husband not to give you the money to help your people who need it so badly, but if he will not do it he certainly should not object to your going to work and earning it yourself.

INCONSISTENT

Strange that a man should think that when a woman marries she severs all the ties of blood, and that she no longer aches with the sorrows of her own family! Strange that a man should think that a woman could be tender and loving and loyal to him and yet be hard and callous and disloyal to the mother who bore her, to the father who cherished her, to the brothers and sisters who grew up with her!

When a man marries a woman he monopolizes her time. He keeps her from earning money with which she can do as she pleases, and in common honesty he owes it to her to give her some money that she can spend as she chooses. Many men do not do this, however, and so they drive their wives to making padded accounts at the stores where they have charge accounts. That is why the woman whose husband forces her to deal with him dishonestly comes, in time, to hate him.

Dear Miss Dix: I have been told that I lack tact and I would like to correct my fault if I can. Is it a gift, or can it be acquired?

A YOUNG GIRL.

Answer: In its highest expression, tact is a gift of the gods. Some persons are born with it, but others have to acquire it, which can be done by simply putting the Golden Rule into execution. It is treating others as you would like to have them treat us, and saying to others what we would like them to say to us.

The Record will be pleased to receive any letters to this Dorothy Dix column. These will be forwarded to Miss Dix who will answer them as quickly as possible.

KINGSLEY-BUTTEMER

The Rev. George Robins performed the ceremony. The organist, Miss Jean Westgate, played the wedding march and "O Perfect Love" was sung by Miss Ardyth Kingsley, sister of the groom. Summer flowers and greens were used for decoration of the church.

MODERN MARRIAGE

WIDOW'S CHOICE

By Dr. Paul Popenoe

Mrs. I. is in her early sixties, she tells me. She has just lost her husband and is facing the problem of reorganizing her whole life. The insurance money is enough to meet her needs financially. She is weighing three alternatives:

1. She can stay where she is and try to keep busy. But how?

2. She can spend the rest of her life visiting around with her two married daughters and other relatives.

3. She can settle down in a permanent home with one of her married daughters.

To make a decision, Mrs. I. let's first ask what you need from life during the next 10 or 15 years:

1. An opportunity for creative self-expression—something interesting to do, in short.

2. An opportunity for service to others—a chance to make the world better by being in it and contributing productively to it.

3. Affectionate relationships with young people.

4. An opportunity to associate normally with those of your own generation; and this should include meeting members of the opposite sex frequently, either in work or in joint social and recreational activities. It's not a matter of re-marriage; at your age there is not much likelihood of that. But the world is made up of two sexes, and no one lives a normal life without contacts with both sexes. That is true at any age.

Now, where are you most likely to be able to meet all these requirements? Of course I don't know your situation; but I think anybody's guess would be that you are better off right where you are than to try to move in on your relatives, whether as a transient or as a permanent boarder. If you land on them, you'll be in danger of limiting your social life too much to them. In your own home you must have many friends; you know the resources of the town and can find places to make yourself useful. Start today. Look around, find where you are needed, and go to work.

Questions and Answers

Q. Do parents object to sex education in the public schools?

A.—Almost never, says a survey by the Cleveland Health Museum, describing the situation in that city; "in fact, parent-teacher groups have co-operated in establishing the program in many of the schools." This is typical of the situation in other cities.

Q.—We can't expect normal behavior when a large part of the nation's children are undernourished.

A.—Agreed. A scientist recently told the Ontario Educational Association that malnutrition of children should not be blamed on economic conditions, but on "indifference, ignorance, and inertia on the part of mothers. Until cooking is made as much an art as dancing, we are not going to have a nation of healthy people." How far do you think that is true?

A.—Good; but perhaps it is even more important that they work together, than that they play together. Isn't there a real danger in keeping the sexes separate for all activities that require intelligence, responsibility, and effort; and in bringing them together only for parties where the other sex is not a co-worker, but a playmate?

92nd Annual Richmond County Fair To Get Underway Thursday Morning

Richmond, Aug. 17. — Three days and three nights of activity, exceptional entertainment and new thrills await those who attend the 92nd annual Richmond County Fair which opens its gates Thursday morning, to end on Saturday night at midnight.

Many long months of work and planning have been necessary by President Archie E. Dyson and his co-workers on the energetic board of directors to provide an even better and bigger fair this year than has ever been known in Richmond.

All buildings are decorated, the grounds carefully prepared for the thousands of fairgoers who will throng the many exhibits and attractions, and last minute preparations are proceeding at a rapid rate to get ready for the grand opening at nine a. m. Thursday.

One of the biggest and best of the county fairs in the Eastern Townships, Richmond, boasts the fact that it is the only fair having a modern Coliseum, a spacious building of the arena type, where daily judging of livestock takes place, and, in event of rain, is available for the presentation of the grandstand show under cover.

Each of the fair's buildings has been painted and trimmed in brilliant contrasting colors, with the spacious grandstand clean and inviting in its coat of steel grey.

Again this year Richmond Fair will have reserved seats on the grandstand, and some 435 seats are thus made available to those who wish to assure themselves of seats without the bother and wait of standing in line to get general admission tickets.

Richmond Fair is open to the county of Richmond the Townships of Kingssey, Ely and Durham, A. E. Dyson is the president, and Miss Antoinette Linahan is the very efficient secretary.

More entries have been received this year than at any fair in the year-long history of the Association, with all the children's classes filled to overflowing. The St. Francis College High School has a large group of entries in this division, and the boys of the manual training department also have a special exhibit in the main building. The fair has had the opportunity this year of providing a great many special prizes, with well-wishers and supporters from all parts of the Townships offering a special prize for various classes, especially in the cattle and cookery divisions.

A feature of the fair this year will be the entertainment provided for the patrons, with the grandstand show booked by Garden Bros. Attractions of Toronto, and the Richmond Band on hand to provide the music.

Racing will highlight the whole three days of the fair, with six harness races on the program, two races with three heats each being run off each afternoon. On Friday and Saturday afternoon the livestock parades will show the fine herds of cattle and the splendid horses for which Richmond Fair is so well-known.

Among the many different classes of livestock on exhibition will be the following:

Horses: Pucheros, Belgians, Clydes, Canadians and Belgians, Roadster, Agricultural and Draught classes.

Cattle: Shorthorns, Herefords, Holsteins, Ayrshire, Jerseys, French-Canadians. Also Grade, Beef and Dairy.

Swine: Berkshire, Yorkshire, Chester White and Tamworth.

Sheep: Leicesters, Hampshire Downs, Shropshire Downs, Oxford Downs, South Downs, Cheviots and Suffolk.

For the enjoyment of young and old who love the glamor and thrills of the midway, model shows of Canada will be on hand with their funmaking devices, rides of all kinds, shows and concessions, one of the largest midways ever seen in Richmond.

Special features will be offered during the course of each grandstand show, with the big "Fun at the Fair" Circus presenting several numbers during the afternoon show, and the complete gala 2-hour performance will be staged every evening.

Judging will begin Thursday morning at 10 a. m. and will continue until classes are finished,

CLIFFORD ON THE SLACK-WIRE

Officials of Richmond Fair are proud and pleased to be able to present one of the greatest circus acts of the year as part of the Great Garden Bros. stage show every afternoon and evening, Aug. 19-20-21. Clifford, "King of the Slack-wire" is a circus star whose poise and sense of balancing on a slender wire is almost miraculous. He presents a clever novelty number that provides the maximum of entertainment.

with the livestock being rushed so that the ribbons can be worn in the grand parades on Friday and Saturday afternoons.

Dining Hall On Grounds

As a special feature this year the Richmond County Women's Institutes will operate a dining hall on the fairgrounds, with tasty home-cooked meals served morning, noon and night in a special dining room set up on the second floor of the Coliseum.

Many New Exhibits

In the Industrial Building, main showplace of the Fair, with the upper floor for the Ladies and children's Department, and the Annex for the colorful horticultural exhibits, there will be many attractive and unusual displays this year.

Among the many firms showing their exhibits will be a number of Richmond and Townships firms, with the Southern Canada Power Company Ltd., having a large display of their electrical products and featuring the Silex Coffee Shop where free cups of hot coffee are offered to the visitors through the building. Farm machinery will be shown in abundance, with working displays of many kinds to attract the spectators. The Sherbrooke Daily Record will also have their special booth in this building where a novel offer is being made to subscribers to "The Home Paper of the Eastern Townships" Saturday afternoon.

3 DAYS AND NIGHTS OF FUN

Officers And Directors Of Richmond Fair Have Planned Busy Program

Everything is ready for the opening Thursday morning of the great 92nd annual Richmond Fair. Preparations have been completed for what is hoped to be the greatest fair in the history of the Richmond County Agricultural Society, whose directors are determined to make the 1948 fair one that will not easily be forgotten by those who attend.

Featuring the first presentation in the Eastern Townships of the Garden Bros. Attractors of Toronto.

Richmond Fair will also have the complete midway of Canada with 7 big rides and 6 thrilling shows.

There will be many new exhibits and entries are more numerous than ever, in all classes.

As a special feature, the Richmond County Women's Institute will operate a Dining Hall upstairs in the Coliseum, serving home-cooked meals morning, noon and night throughout the Fair.

Racing has become of such great importance at Richmond Fair that a special secretary of races has been appointed to look after this feature alone and Dr. Paul Archambault is in charge of the six harness classes for the 92nd annual exhibition, with many entries already received for the Thursday, Friday and Saturday events.

The harness races include the 2:20 and 2:20 trot and pace on Thursday, the 2:26 and 2:18 trot and pace on Friday, and the 2:22 trot and pace featured with the free-for-all on the closing card scheduled for Saturday afternoon. Some of the best horses in the Eastern Townships will compete with others from Ontario and even from the west, for purses that total some $1200.

The task of preparing and supervising the Richmond Fair is this year in the able hands of a hard-working group, both officers and directors, who have devoted themselves to the job of planning one of the greatest entertainment-packed fall exhibitions in the long and successful 92 year history of the Richmond County Agricultural Society.

The patrons, officers, directors and committees of the 92nd annual Richmond Fair are as follows: Patrons: Hon. Maurice Duplessis, Prime Minister; Hon. Laurent Barre, Minister of Agriculture; Hon. Adolphe Godbout, M. L. A.; Hon. T. D. Bouchard, Senator; Hon. Jacob Nicol, M.L.C.; J. P. Mullins, M.P.; Albert Goud-

Circus Novelty Acts Feature Big Stage Show At The Richmond Fair

Combining trained animals, clowns, acrobats, contortionists, magicians, and music, the great Garden Bros. Grandstand Show at Richmond Fair this year is literally a complete circus in itself. "Fun at the Fair," the theme around which the show is built, is a gay, fast-moving and thoroughly entertaining performance bringing to Richmond Fair the greatest collection of circus stars ever seen on a county fair stage.

Richmond Fair is proud to present this all-new and all-different stage show for the first time in the Eastern Townships, the complete show making its premiere on the Eastern Townships County Fairs circuit at Richmond this Thursday. The acts have never before appeared in this part of the country, and are entirely different from anything yet seen at a county fair this year.

The complete "Circus of Fun" will be presented each afternoon and evening at Richmond Fair, with the added attractions of Horse racing, band music and horse and cattle parades interspersed between the acts of the afternoon shows, and the full two hour show given each evening starting at 8 o'clock. "It's new, it's different, it's guaranteed to please you," President A. E. Dyson of the Fair Board, proudly states, adding that Richmond Fair this year has gone to considerable trouble and expense to procure the finest and most entertaining grandstand show that it is possible to offer the fairgoers. "We know you'll like it," he adds, "and when you know it's a Garden Bros. show, you know it's the best there is of its kind in Canada. Come and see for yourself."

The complete program of acts include the following:

Paul and His Dogs: Presenting a performing dog act that is very clever, amusing and different to say the least; Paul Mason puts his Pets through a series of acrobatic and balancing tricks that are nothing short of marvellous. One of the most entertaining animal novelties ever to play at a Fair.

Billy and Kay Arnot, Magicians and Illusionists Extraordinary, in a presentation which at times is just as mirth provoking as it is mystifying; A feature at the large Western Canada Fairs last year.

Carr Bros: Two European Musical Clowns whose performance is an atomic bomb of surprise-is a pot-pourri of juggling, acrobatics and music, blended to make this outstanding act a thrilling comedy-novelty feature.

Walter Jackson: The Slender Bender; A contortionist who literally ties himself in knots and practically does the same thing to the audience with the amazing comedy capers.

Clifford: The King of the Slack-wire; A circus star whose poise and sense of balancing on a slender wire is almost miraculous - A clever novelty offering the maximum of entertainment.

The Nickling Duo: Presenting a superperformance on the Horizontal

AT RICHMOND FAIR

CARR BROS., Comedy musical act, is but one of ten outstanding acts which will be seen for the first time in the Eastern Townships on Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Richmond Fair.

Two European musical clowns, Carr Bros. present a performance likened to an atomic bomb of surprises... a pot-pourri of juggling, acrobatics and music, all blended to make this sensationaly different act a thrilling comedy-novelty feature of the big grandstand show at Richmond Fair.

Miss Norna Knowles Explains The Work Of Junior Women's Institutes

Richmond, Aug. 18. —Miss Norna Knowles, a member of the Richmond Junior Women's Institute, tells of the tremendous need of more Junior W. I.'s, in this country.

Her address follows:

"First I would like to tell you just how our Junior Institute Branch was organized, the improvements we have made at our meetings, the various projects we have completed, and the things we hope to do in the future.

"For some time prior to last July, several local girls had been urged by the Senior Branches to organize a Junior Institute, but, as is always the case, the time in which they chose to consider this excellent idea, was rather long. However, after several unsuccessful attempts to form a group of the required number of girls (ten), Mrs. V. R. Beattie, of Richmond, graciously opened her home, and on July 22, 1947, the first meeting was held. There were only seven members present in spite of solemn promises from others that they would attend.

"Mrs. George McGibbon, official organizer of Junior Branches of the Quebec Women's Institutes, was present at this meeting and very kindly over looked the small number of members there, and in her usual pleasant manner gave a short talk on the objects of Junior Women's Institutes. She particularly stressed that meetings should be made as interesting as possible, and should be planned so that each member may play an active part in the program. Mrs. McGibbon also stated that she would be glad to solve any questions or difficulties which might arise in the future, and I might add here that we really have had comparatively few problems with which to contend, since our first meeting.

"At this opening meeting, officers were elected, a place and date were arranged for the next meeting, and it was agreed to hold meetings the last Thursday of each month.

"And so we adjourned our first meeting, and I'm sure that every one of the seven members present went home with the feeling that something really worth-while had been accomplished that evening.

"I have said that we have had comparatively few problems and disappointments, but we have had some, such as the night of our December meeting, when a raging snow-storm suddenly began, our president and one lone member sat the entire evening waiting for the others, who never arrived—also the time when we worked into the late hours of the night tacking a quilt and then discovered to our horror that we had all been pulling and drawing it until the poor quilt was hardly recognizable, and with many moans we sat to work again with scissors. Fortunately for us, several of the more thoughtful members took our masterpiece home with them and it was finished at last.

"But we have had our lighter and more pleasant moments too; the exchange of gifts at Christmas time, and especially the times when our various hostesses forgot our rule, that only sandwiches would be served, each member bringing enough for herself to the meetings, and served most delicious refreshments.

"At first we did not have much business to transact at the meetings. At our third meeting each member paid twenty-five cents towards the present expenses, and so our first meagre funds were realized. Then on September 15th we raffled a woolen blanket, graciously donated to us by the Spooner Pond Women's Institute, at the Canadian Legion Street Fair. The proceeds from this were over twenty dollars, and so by October 13th, we had the substantial sum of twenty-five dollars and eighty-eight cents on hand.

"I am going to give you a glimpse of what we do at our meetings before I go on to point out what I think are the most useful and necessary facts for all of you, who are considering joining groups such as ours.

"Our meetings, through we all agreed at first would begin precisely at eight p. m., but I am sorry to say, they rarely begin on time; and this is one thing I hope to see corrected in the future. Of course with a group as small as ours, and with members living a distance of seven or eight miles away we usually must wait if there is a possibility of any more arriving before we are able to begin our business meeting.

"Our meetings open with the "Mary Stewart Collect," which I am glad to be able to say that most of us can repeat without the aid of our handbooks. Then we have the roll-call, and our roll-calls subjects at meetings up to the present have included "Helpful Kitchen Hints," "Changes which I have seen since I was a little girl," and since our February meeting each member has made not holders and aprons, which have been presented for the roll-call at every second meeting. Our next contribution will be any useful handmade craft sale soon, to dispose of all the different articles, which have been made.

"The minutes of the last meeting, and business arising from the minutes, the treasurer's report and correspondence follow the roll call. Then reports (if there are any) are given. One of the representatives, who is present at each county meeting delivers a short report and any business arising is discussed.

"When the reports have been heard any other business which may have arisen is taken up. Then the meeting is adjourned and a social hour is usually spent. Our latest money-raising plans include an afternoon tea and handicraft sale and a card party. It is difficult to plan with a group as small as ours. However, we are all looking forward to that day in the future, when we will have a larger membership and greater funds to back our projects. It is certain to take time, but when we glance about us at the older senior branches, which are so successful, I think that most of us begin to feel more hopeful.

"I mentioned that I would try to give you what you may have been considering organizing a Junior Women's Institute branch in your community a few suggestions and facts regarding the organization of such a group. From the "Handbook of the Women's Institutes of the Province of Quebec," I have obtained the following:

"Constitution Referring to Junior Women's Institutes"

"Junior Women's Institutes may be formed by ten or more girls between the ages of twelve and eighteen years inclusive. The objects of the Junior Women's Institute will be I—to promote education projects for the young people of the community, such as study programs, debates, dramatics, and public speaking contests. II—to study and put into practice the true principles of 'Homemaking.' III—to develop a community spirit, and to develop a community spirit, and to encourage healthy out-door recreation. IV—to encourage healthy out-door recreation.

"Junior Women's Institutes may be incorporated under the National Benefit Societies Act. The provision respecting the disorganization of a Women's Institute shall apply to the disorganization of a Junior Women's Institute.

"In conclusion, I would like to add that only with a great effort can such a group be successful. I hope that you will have caught a glimpse of what Junior Institutes are doing, and what they should be able to do in the future.

"The Junior Women's Institute is still in its infantile stage in

RED SOX EKE OUT 3-1 WIN OVER LOCALS AFTER 11 INNINGS

Granby Bunches Four Hits In 11th To Cop Pitcher's Duel; Farnham To Meet Athletics Tomorrow Night

Bunching four hits in the opening half of the eleventh inning last night at Park Avenue Stadium, the Granby Red Sox eked out a 3-1 decision over the Athletics in a closely fought battle.

In a game that could well be termed a pitcher's duel, Adrian Zabala, the locals' ace southpaw, and Ernie Balsler, the Sox's top

heaver, battled through eleven frames before the Sox finally caught up with Zabala and banged out four consecutive singles to push two runs across the platter, one tally being unearned as Big Sherbrooke pushed the first run of the game across in the fifth inning when Zabala led off with a single, but was forced at second on Dussault's flier's choice. Then Balsler picked Dussault off the bag for the second out. Jorge Torres drove out a double and Roland Gladu singled him home with the initial tally as Coimbre fled out to second.

In the first two frames the visitors connected for singles but Zabala then bore down and whiffed the next three men for outs. In the third they got two singles but the locals came through with a nice double play to retire the side. In the fourth Olivier started with a single, but he was retired as Torres and Taillefer came through with two neat plays for the next two men and then Zabala picked Monterio off first, with Taillefer getting the putout after a series of dodging between first and second. The same thing happened in the following frame when Adrian caught Lay off the initial sack.

In the sixth, seventh and eighth the A's could not touch Balsler as he was throwing the ball good and hard. In the ninth Pete Taillefer started off with a double but was left stranded. In the tenth Sherbrooke got another singleton, as Gladu connected but to no avail as the Red Sox were playing airtight ball.

In the lower half of the eleventh Duany and Rose walked in succession and when Taillefer hit a caught up with Zabala and banged out four consecutive singles to push two runs across the platter, one tally being unearned as Big outfield and Huber came racing home with Granby's third tally. Zabala had 11 strikeouts to his credit and gave up only two free passes to first, while Balsler got eight men at the plate and issued four tickets to the initial sack.

Claro Duany was caught in the lurch when he held onto a ball hit to the

Sherbrooke pushed the first run of the game across in the fifth inning when Zabala led off with a single, but was forced at second on Dussault's flier's choice. Then Balsler picked Dussault off the bag for the second out. Jorge Torres drove out a double and Roland Gladu singled him home with the initial tally as Coimbre fled out to second.

Tomorrow evening the locals will be hosts to Farnham, while tonight they travel to Farnham to tangle with the Railroaders.

Coach Hayman Prepares For Tilt With Dodgers

Montreal, Aug. 18.—Coach Lew Hayman sent his Montreal Alouettes through a tough scrimmage session last night as the Big Four Club brushed up on plays in preparation for their exhibition clash Thursday night against Brooklyn Dodgers of the All-American Conference.

Two more recruits turned out for tonight's drill. Doug Maitland, a substitute halfback with the A's during the last two seasons, and Ossie Segatore, another Montreal boy, donned the big pads for the first time.

Buzz Bavasi To Lay Plans For New Loop

Montreal, Aug. 18.—Buzz Bavasi, Montreal Royals General Manager, said yesterday that proposals to amalgamate teams of the Border and Canadian-American Baseball Leagues into one professional circuit are unlikely to bear fruit until the end of the season.

The International League club head said he had not yet met George Trautman, President of the National Association of Professional Leagues, to discuss the proposal but expected to talk with him soon.

"This meeting with George Trautman," he said, "is merely to discuss what proposition we can give to club owners. Before anything really definite can be established, we must meet with club owners and tell them our hopes. Then it's up to them to decide."

He said that Tommy Gorman of Ottawa is the originator of the proposal and before anything can be done Gorman, Trautman and himself will have to meet.

The proposal being discussed would have four Canadian and four U.S. teams with a schedule drafted which would limit "so much scampering back and forth across the border."

"Sport Shots and Pot Shots"

BY LEN O'DONNELL

Babe Ruth, the idol of baseball fans the world over, passed away Monday evening in New York City and his loss will be felt by sporting fans in every country in the universe.

Babe was MR. BASEBALL himself and he did more for the game than any other player, and perhaps more than anyone will ever do for years to come. He was the idol of the youngsters and used to go out of his way to sign his autograph for the millions of fans that chased him, and through it all he never turned his back on a single supporter. He was a great man in more ways than one and his team mates liked him. He was childish and at times full of pranks, but the years brought changes in him and towards the end of his career the game never had a better publicity agent than the BABE himself.

People from all parts of the country travelled miles to see him play and he always accommodated them by smashing out a home run or two. During his past few years he spent his time trying to organize tournaments for the kids and was still as popular as ever with the youngsters. His heroes the adults were just as anxious to see him play as the kids and he was always in their fighting to win the game. He played it with his whole heart and soul, just as he did when trying to pull through his last sickness, but it was written in the big book and he went down fighting and the world will never forget him. He was a great man and the best good-will ambassador that baseball ever had. His peaked cap, big cigar and smiling personality will be missed in many a ball park. He is one man who will be mourned by all walks of life and his spot will never be filled.

Promoter Albert Zakaib will present his third boxing card of the season tomorrow evening at Belvidere Street Armoury. He has a pretty good program lined up and the fans should be assured of a good evening's entertainment.

Eddy Bolduc will take on Gerry Cannon, who has quite a reputation around Montreal. It is the main bout and is an eight rounder. In the other final slated on the card Gaston Proteau will meet Levis Cote which should be a fair fight. All in all there will be thirty-six rounds of boxing on the card and the fans should have a good time.

Twenty-one aspiring footballers answered the initial call of the season Monday evening and were put through their paces by Edgar Stracchino, the team's physical instructor. Another practice is called for tonight at 7:00 at the Sherbrooke High School and anyone interested in turning out is asked to be on hand.

President Harry Walker is looking forward to one of the best seasons ever had by the local entry and with the help of the local fans should field a strong contender for the Q.R.F.U. title. Last year they Hockey must be right around the corner as we ran into Herbie Carnegie, flashy centre player for the locals during the past two seasons, at the ball game last night. He was in serious conversation with Ivan Dugre and left immediately following the game for St. Johns, N.B., to meet Manny McIntyre and the hockey moguls down East. It seems that the St. Johns executive is interested in getting the colored line down East. Wonder what the outcome will be?

Thousands View Babe Ruth's Body Lying In State In Yankee Stadium

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
New York, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Babe Ruth's body lay in state today at Yankee Stadium, where 50,000 persons yesterday filed past his casket-lighted bier.

Countless more thousands today were expected to visit the "House That Ruth Built" to pay final tribute to baseball's idol whose coffin lines in the flower-banked rotunda.

It was a setting reminiscent of March, 1937, when Howie Morenz, one of Canada's hockey greats, lay in state in the Forum at Montreal, scene of many of his triumphs.

A police guard of honor stood through the night after the gates closed behind the last of the estimated throng of 50,000 men of them in tears—who came for a last look at the Babe who died Monday night of cancer.

Most of the crowd waited in line for almost two hours for a final glimpse of the man who always made spectacular drama out of a ball game.

At times, the line of mourners, standing five abreast, completely surrounded the hugh park.

Except for the solemnity of the crowd, the scene could have been a flashback to the days when the Babe was packing them in. The youngsters and oldsters that came to see him in death were the same kind of people who jammed the bleachers to see him sweat a homer into the rightfield stands—"Ruthville."

But though the setting was the same, the mood was not.

Hank Workman Going Great Guns For Bears

It looks as if New York Yankees have discovered another Charley Keller in the person of youthful Hank Workman, rookie outfielder of the Newark Bears.

Workman is the former all-round athlete at the University of Southern California whom the Yankees acquired after his graduation last June for a neat bonus.

Just as they did with Keller 11 years ago when they plucked him out of the University of Maryland, the Yankees assigned Workman to their Newark farm. Like Keller, Workman has been setting the International League afire with his long-distance clouting.

Workman has played in only 45 games, but already has hit 13 home runs. He cracked his 13th last night to help the Bears defeat Jersey City Little Giants 5-3.

Octave Rubert, 22-year-old right-hander purchased from Tampa of the Florida International League, triumphed in his League debut, pitching Rochester Red Wings to a 5-4 victory over Buffalo Bisons. He fanned four, walked five and gave up 11 hits.

Bill Barnacle's two successive home runs enabled Baltimore Orioles to defeat Syracuse Chiefs 6-3.

Montreal and Toronto were not scheduled.

Sports Roundup

By WILL GRIMSLEY (For Hugh Fullerton, Jr.)

New York, Aug. 18.—(AP)—The Babe was a big man with a big will, but there are thousands who will remember him more for the little things he did along the way. A fine gesture here and there. A lift for the little guy.

Such as the time he held up an exhibition game 15 minutes while he accommodated a felding reporter on his first major assignment.

The date was April 4, 1933. The world champion Yankees were swinging north after breaking spring camp. Marse Joe McCarthy brought them into Nashville, Tenn., with a flourish.

Babe Ruth's best playing days were behind him but his was still the magic name of baseball. The youngster was told to get an interview with the Bambino—a personal piece, find out what the Ball cat thinks, like.

The hotel said, no, Mr. Ruth isn't in. At another hotel, they hadn't seen him.

Not around, said Lefty Gomez, through a half open door. Keep looking—you'll find him, encouragingly said McCarthy.

A Few Questions—But after four hours, no Ruth. The youngster exhausted, set up a vigil at the ball park.

Shortly before game time, a taxi screeched up. The big man lumbered out. He was in uniform, stocking-footed, carrying his spiked shoes in his hand.

"Mr. Ruth," the boy said hesitantly. "I'd like to ask you a few questions."

"Who's the kid?" the Babe said pleasantly. He took a comfortable leaning position on the rail.

The Babe said he didn't think the three-per-cent beer, just legalized, would affect the game any. In fact, he liked a bit of the foam himself occasionally.

His favorite movie actor was George Bancroft and his favorite actress, Janet Gaynor. Favorite pastime? Why, hunting—rather shoot birds in the air than on the links.

Understanding and Patience—The questions seemed sophisticated almost 16 years later. But they only went to magnify the tremendous patience and understanding of the Yankee hero.

The biggest thrill? The home run hit in the centrefield bleachers at Wrigley Field in the World Series the year before. Favorite dish, quail.

"Hey, Babe, come on, it's time to start," his mates yelled from the field.

The Bambino gave a "G'wan" gesture and said, "Okay, kid, anything else?"

There were more questions. The Babe, under heavy pressure from the field and from the fans, appeared in no rush.

No, he said, he didn't believe any present-day player would beat his home run record, not even Jimmy Foxx. Best pitchers? Lefty Gomez and Lefty Grove.

"Hurry, Babe," they barked from below.

The Yankees should repeat, the Bambino continued quietly under the inexpert prodding. Washington should be the toughest opposition but that new manager, Joe Cronin, was mighty young.

Then it was over—the written questions were exhausted.

"Thanks, Mr. Ruth," the young man said.

"Any time, kid," the Babe answered. He picked his way carefully down the row of seats to the field.

It was a little thing, perhaps, but it made a lasting impression on the boy who got his interview. And it happened just like that. I still have the clipping. You see, it was my first by-line.

Eddy Bolduc To Meet Gerry Cannon In Main Bout On Boxing Card At Belvidere Street Armoury Thursday

Promoter Albert Zakaib will present thirty-six rounds of boxing Thursday evening at Belvidere Street Armoury.

In the final bout on the card Eddy Bolduc, Sherbrooke, will take on Gerry Cannon, Montreal, in an eight rounder. Bolduc well known to the local fighting fans as hard hitting boxer who gives his best at all the time will meet in Gerry Cannon, one of Montreal's good fighters. Cannon has made quite a name for himself in fistic circles, but this will make no difference to the sturdy hard-punching Bolduc and the fans can rest assured of a good fight.

In the second final of the evening Gaston Proteau will square off with Levis Cote, another boy from the Metropolis, in an eight round affair. Proteau will be forced to use all the tricks of the trade in his private duel with Cote, as the Montreal fighter has acquired plenty of experience from his engagements all over the country.

In a battle that the fans have been waiting for, since a long time, Reggy Lacroix will meet Bob Petit, both local boys, in a return battle. Both these fighters have met before and each time the fans have had more than their money's worth watching them slug it out and Thursday's night battle should be no exception. On their last appearance Lacroix emerged the winner and Petit will be out to try and even accounts. It is a six round battle.

The other Montreal fighter on the card is Roger Goyette and he will take on Clement Bolduc, brother to Eddy, in another six rounder. Little is known about Goyette but the younger Bolduc has already made a name for himself and should give the Montreal fighter plenty to worry about before the winner is declared.

In the two preliminaries on the card four local boys will meet. Bertrand Cote will engage in a private fued with K. O. Prince while Kid Aube and K. O. Ouellette will tangle to complete the evening's fighting.

Twenty - One Players Practising With Local Football Athletics

The first practice drill of the Sherbrooke Athletics was held Monday night at 7:00 o'clock at the Sherbrooke High School grounds, where under the supervision of Edgar Stracchino, the team's physical instructor, the boys were put through their paces.

Most of the work consisted of various types of physical exercises with the hardening of muscles and loosening of joints, which is necessary as the first step in this year's grid training period.

The club's president, Harry Walker, was not satisfied with last night's workout.

The club resumes practice tonight. Last year's players who were present were: "Beef" Ross, Lorne Campbell, Harold Drew, Bill Cote, Don Pankovitch, Al Regimbal, Harry Blue, Gaston Bergeron, "Peewee" Berwick, Bud Jackson, Larry Gallagher, Jim Strickland.

Newcomers to the team are: P. A. Blouin, C. Languard, Bernie Bergeron, Doug Brooks, Ross Hunting, Ed Warner, Lorne Arnold, Mac Sanders, and M. Lessard.

THOUSANDS VIEW BABE RUTH'S BODY LYING IN STATE IN YANKEE STADIUM

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
New York, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Babe Ruth's body lay in state today at Yankee Stadium, where 50,000 persons yesterday filed past his casket-lighted bier.

Countless more thousands today were expected to visit the "House That Ruth Built" to pay final tribute to baseball's idol whose coffin lines in the flower-banked rotunda.

It was a setting reminiscent of March, 1937, when Howie Morenz, one of Canada's hockey greats, lay in state in the Forum at Montreal, scene of many of his triumphs.

A police guard of honor stood through the night after the gates closed behind the last of the estimated throng of 50,000 men of them in tears—who came for a last look at the Babe who died Monday night of cancer.

Most of the crowd waited in line for almost two hours for a final glimpse of the man who always made spectacular drama out of a ball game.

At times, the line of mourners, standing five abreast, completely surrounded the hugh park.

Except for the solemnity of the crowd, the scene could have been a flashback to the days when the Babe was packing them in. The youngsters and oldsters that came to see him in death were the same kind of people who jammed the bleachers to see him sweat a homer into the rightfield stands—"Ruthville."

But though the setting was the same, the mood was not.
