First sod turned

Sunshine bore down on some 75 spectators on hand for the official sod-turning ceremonies of the Rotary Club of Westmount's senior citizens' residence yesterday afternoon, as Mayor Donald MacCallum pushed a gilded shovel into the turf to officially begin construction of the long-awaited project.

"I am hoping this senior citizens' residence will be truly part of this community's life," announced John W. Sancton, president of the Rotary Club, as the mayor prepared to pick up a spadeful of earth.

Though the official start preceded Rotary's regular noon-time luncheon yesterday, men and equipment are not expected to move onto the site until early next week, according to Mark Stein, a representative of Magil Construction Ltd., the company which was awarded the $3,462,000 construction contract late last week.

A full complement of Westmount Rotarians and their invited guests had lunch together following the ceremonies, after which Mr. Sancton thanked, among others, the city for its "tough-minded" approach to the project. He said that Rotary had been working hand-in-hand with the municipal council and administration to ensure the quality of the planned residence.

'A proud day'

"This is a proud day for Westmount," Mayor MacCallum announced in his rejoinder. He applauded "the initiative, imagination and hard work of the city."

HIS WORSHIP AT WORK: Mayor Donald C. MacCallum turns the first sod for the planned senior citizens' residence yesterday afternoon, while Rotary Club President John W. Sancton and some 75 Rotarians and guests look on. In background is Victoria Hall, to which the residence is to be connected.

Lengthy and complicated negotiations between the city and the Rotary Club of Westmount ended Monday evening with the approval by city council of a 42-page lease for use of Victoria Hall by the neighboring senior citizens' residence being built under the sponsorship of the Rotary Club.

The final version of the lease—which was being changed almost up to the last minute—was hammered out in time for the official sod-turning ceremony yesterday. Its approval and that of another necessary resolution by council Monday to redivide the land to form one lot out of the area once occupied by two dwellings and part of a city lane, clears the way for construction to begin.

Actual signing of the lease will take place at city hall Friday morning at 11 am.

The lease formalizes the renting of 10,095 square feet on the ground (lower) floor of Victoria Hall as well as 819 square feet of land to the west of the building on which a connecting link to the residence itself will be built.

The lessee is Manoir Concordia, Inc., the non-profit corporation whose charter was taken over by Rotary to establish and construct the residence. The corporation's name is not expected to be the eventual name of the residence.

$100,000 for 20 years

The lease will cost Manoir Concordia a total of $100,000 over 20 years, after which there will be an option to renew for a further 20 years for another $100,000 in 1978 dollars.

The lease is effective on Sept. 1, sometime after which renovations to the lower part of the hall will begin. It is unlikely the entire building will have to be closed while the renovations are taking place.

The city will continue operation of the concert hall, meeting rooms and club rooms on the upper floors of the building.

A clause in the lease allows the city to rent back the lower floor when and if it might be

Fly the flag

Westmounters were urged to make a special effort to promote Canadian unity and to fly the Canadian flag during Canada week, in a proclamation delivered by Mayor Donald MacCallum Monday evening. Canada week begins on June 25 and ends on Canada Day, July 1.

Pool opening delayed

Many city residents discovered this week a major disadvantage to a heat wave in May: Westmount's municipal pool isn't open.

The city aims to open the pool around June 1 each year but there will be a further delay this year because of a broken pipe and excessive dust around the pool which has slowed the re-painting process.

City officials are hoping the pool will be open to the public at least by the middle of next week.

Bike auction set June 20

City council confirmed the date Monday for the city's auction of some 62 bicycles and parts. It will be held on Tuesday, June 20, at 7 pm in the artificial ice rink.

The auction will include some 54 bikes (two motorized) which have been found abandoned in various parts of Westmount, along with one tricycle, a motorcycle frame, three bicycle frames, two wheels and two handles to be auctioned together and another two front wheels to be sold separately.

New sector effective today:

One car, 38 policemen added to local station

One new police car and 38 policemen are being added to the local Sector 30 police force today, and the men operating out of Westmount's Stanton street police station are now responsible for police work in St. Henri as well as Westmount.

Dir. Gabriel Ayotte moved into the local station as commanding officer of the station, replacing Dir. Jean Bernard who has moved to a new post in the central Montreal Urban Community Police headquarters. Besides Dir. Ayotte, the changes see the addition of some new office staff, 27 patrol constables, 5 patrol sergeants, two youth aide constables and a youth aide sergeant, three sergeant-detectives and a lieutenant to the expanded Sector 30 police force, which retains its number for the time being.

Most of those who came in have been transferred from Station 12 in Ville Emard; that

Bike thefts on rise here

Bike thieves seem to be on the rampage in Westmount right now, specially last Thursday when six bikes were stolen. One other report came in last Wednesday, one each on Friday and Saturday and a single report involving two bikes on Sunday.

In some of these cases bikes had been chained; in others they were stolen out of rear sheds, giving police an idea that much of the action might be the work of professional bike thieves.

Anyone seeing persons who might be acting in a suspicious manner, perhaps with a truck loaded with bikes, is asked to contact Cst. Bernard Roy at 934-0714 immediately.

Next Week's WEATHER by Capt. Eric Neal

JUNE 3 to 10

Continuing very hot and dry with widely scattered thundersqualls.

Tornadoes in the southern and mid-west states, together with a storm of tropical origin along the Atlantic seaboard, will upset conditions in the middle of this week. Waterspouts on the Great Lakes are normal for this week and the next. A cool, mainly cloudy weekend in store, with flooded underpasses to follow for many districts.

Temperature range: nights and some days in the south, 10 and 28 to 30; northern and gulf counties, 8 and 25. Rain 15 mm and some hail.

Parents help police nab two juveniles

Good co-operation between parents and Westmount detectives resulted last week in the arrest of two Westmount youths, aged 13 and 15, for the theft of 17 licence plates, all in Westmount, and five break-ins to schools, some including theft, during the past three months.

In addition to those 22 charges, Sgt.-Dets. Ross Delo and Gerald McKenna also have laid charges for one attempted break-in, two cases of wilful damage to automobiles and one annoying telephone call, perpetrated by one of the juveniles.

Lieut.-Det. Frank Pilkionis, head of the local detective office, had high praise for the parents, who reportedly were able to give them enough information to be able to press the charges. It is expected the boys will be able to receive the needed therapy to be able to adjust to a more settled life.

"They were concerned with community affairs and their children's welfare," Lieut.-Det. Pilkionis said of the parents, adding that he hoped other parents would be as co-operative if the need arose.

The boys apparently did not steal for monetary benefit, he added but simply disposed of many of the licence plates and other items.

POLICE . . .

station is now closed and its force divided between Station 30 and Station 11 in Verdun. Those transferred to the south of the former No. 12 district will cover Ville Emard and Côte St. Paul districts, while the area of Montreal north of the Lachine Canal will be the responsibility of the forces stationed in Westmount.

Gradual overlapping

Some officers said privately that they expect the men who are more familiar with Westmount will continue to patrol this city, while those more familiar with the St. Henri district will be assigned that area, though there will be some overlapping and eventually men from both forces will get to know the others' districts.

Most surprising in the changeover is the net reduction of vehicles which will be patrolling streets throughout the sector and even the entire south-central region. Only one new patrol car—No. 30-4—will be added to the local fleet, and the present ambulance—No. 30-15—will be responsible for emergency assistance in the entire region.

Station 12 had four patrol

FAREWELL TO 'MR. SAM': The body of Sam Steinberg, principal founder of the retailing chain which bears the family name, is carried down the steps of Shaar Hashomayim Synagogue following funeral services last Friday. The 72-year-old chairman and chief executive officer of Steinberg's Inc. died last Wednesday. A guard of Steinberg's employees, to whom he was known affectionately as "Mr. Sam," lined the steps and some 2,000 persons attended the service including federal health minister Monique Bégin, Quebec economic development minister Bernard Landry, Quebec Liberal leader Claude Ryan and Senators Lazarus Phillips and Carl Goldenberg. Mr. Steinberg, a resident of Aberdeen avenue, joined the family business in 1917 and guided its growth to become a diversified enterprise employing more than 25,000 persons.

cars and two ambulances prior to the change, but Station 11 can only expect to receive two new patrol cars for its force, meaning the area from Westmount to Verdun will suffer a net loss of one patrol car and two ambulances.

It should be noted that St. Henri's population has dwindled radically in recent years, and much of the once-populous area lies vacant, the result of fires and demolitions over recent years. There has, however, been considerable interest in renovating the area and adding considerable population in the near future.

Ayotte makes visit

Dir. Ayotte appeared briefly at the local station on Tuesday to survey his new office facilities and prepare for the actual move yesterday. Little other change seemed apparent at the local station though there were numerous maps of the expanded district on walls and desks throughout. It is expected that lockers will be added and some open space partitioned off for the new officers, though it seems none of this will take place until the men have moved in.

Some sources suggested that patrol areas might be changed with the addition of the extra car and area to be covered, though this could not be confirmed. Also uncertain is whether or not Westmount streets will be any less patrolled because of the change.

With the expanded coverage and responsibilities of the police ambulance, however, it becomes even more important that citizens needing emergency help in private dwelling avail themselves of the city's ambulance, connected to the Westmount Fire Brigade whose emergency number is 935-2456.

A 12-year-old girl riding a bicycle east on the sidewalk of Côte St. Antoine road was struck down by an auto as she crossed Arlington avenue at 12:15 pm Monday.

The young girl, a resident of Kensington avenue, was struck by a green 1978 Buick driven by a 32-year-old resident of Lansdowne avenue, who had been moving north on Arlington, planning to turn left onto Côte St. Antoine. The driver said he stopped, looked in both directions and then proceeded, apparently not noticing the girl riding her bike on the south sidewalk.

The man took the girl to her house and thence to the Queen Elizabeth Hospital for a check-up. It seems the injuries were minor.

Police withheld names of both the persons involved.

We Say

Proud day

ONE certainty and an awful lot of faith have gone into the senior citizens' residence, for which the first sod finally was turned yesterday by His Worship Mayor D. C. MacCallum.

The certainty is its need.

That was established with the report just three years ago of a federally assisted survey of this city commissioned by The Rotary Club of Westmount. There then were 2,798 seniors, or 69 percent of the then population over 65, who would consider living in such a residence.

The survey showed Westmount facilities totally inadequate. Despite the generous proportions of the project now finally launched, barely five percent of that need will be met with the places for 150 to be offered.

Applications are not yet being accepted. Even so, over 500 letters of inquiry are on file from seniors themselves or their concerned children, other relatives or friends.

Such statistics only assist in measuring the problem. Most of this community knew it existed by looking around itself: the high proportion of older persons is self-evident; the number living on their own is well-known; great longevity is a fact of modern life; all these factors are accentuated in a long-established municipality such as Westmount.

Various local groups have examined the phenomenon, notably InterFaith, the Westmount Municipal Association, the YMCA and the City of Westmount itself.

The Rotary Club, with an already impressive record of major community undertakings, five years ago was casting about for a new, major project. A seniors' residence seemed a natural objective.

BUT it was not an easy course.

The decision, while propelled by the heart, was hard-headed. Most Rotarians are busy, successful business and professional men. They are not given, individually, to frivolous, pie-in-the-sky undertakings. But what has happened here, as in Rotary world-wide, is the collective blend of the wide-ranging disciplines and talents of each member with the basic, decent urge to identify voluntarily, having nothing to do with personal gain or career, with something needed, wanted and, yes, to be applauded by their fellow citizens.

In this case, and on this scale, the exercise has involved imbuing others with their own enthusiasm and example. Some parties were instantly sparked, others were doubtful and sceptical, there were even some whose co-operation was essential but had to be subjected to firmness, patience and even some rough and tumble.

Only strong faith in the project, in the end, has brought it to this point. Rotary has no claim on exclusivity in this. Other community organizations have been more supportive than even they may know. The now growing number of donors have provided not only the necessary dollars but also the required encouragement. Innumerable persons and groups with experience and particular abilities, seeing something worthwhile here, have given generously of their advice.

Even the residents of the immediate neighborhood, some with real or perceived fears over this construction, have contributed by making the planners doubly aware of their presence and their interests. This project will be all the better for their interventions. The short-term discomforts and disadvantages of the building period are to be exchanged, many of them have said, for the long-term pride in having a worthy project of enhancement to the community in their midst.

Finally, there is the City of Westmount. The integration and recycling of part of historic but under-used Victoria Hall, now committed for up to 40 years, is the administration's most imaginative contribution. It gives this residence its most unique feature. It characterizes the special touch Westmount always has shown in its municipal government. And it symbolizes the co-operative nature of the undertaking. A tough-minded city council and city officials have given nothing away; they have gained a large plus for the enviable municipality for which they are responsible to its citizens.

THOSE citizens, to come full circle, include everyone: those who now are our seniors; those of us who see, God willing, that distinction fast unfolding before us, and the younger ones who one day—perhaps still distant to them—inevitably, too, will be senior citizens.

Rotary sponsored, this is truly a community project.

It is aimed at equality: that the older segment of the population may continue to live in the community in security, in comfort, in continuing independence, yet also in the warmth of human contact with others of their own generation, outlook and fundamental values.

Yesterday was a proud day for Westmount.

Nuclear hypocrisy

WESTMOUNTERS, indeed anyone in Canada, are not going to feel one whit safer or more secure as a result of Prime Minister Trudeau's disarmament speech to the United Nations last week.

It was one thing to urge the super powers to find the means of reducing their competitive escalation of weapons and the huge proportions of their national resources and manpower devoted to the potential to make war.

It was quite something else to declare that Canada's present government intends to repeat the Diefenbaker nonsense of the '60s by barring nuclear weaponry from our soil.

Like it or not and if only by geography, we are locked into the defence system and strategy for North America—which means the United States posture vis-à-vis the Russians.

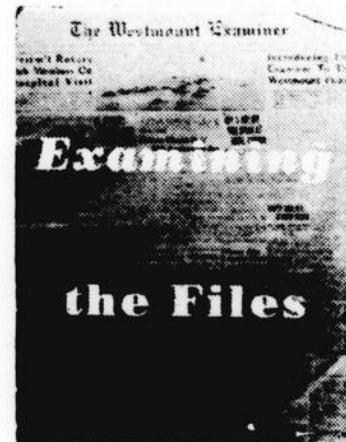

Nothing has changed in the past decade, unless it be the continued decline of this country's armed forces: crack but dwindling units, obsolete equipped with only long-range plans for updating. We still have a huge land mass which we ourselves thinly protect.

This luxury is possible only because strategically our territorial integrity is integrally part of the Americans' interest. We know the U.S. must defend us if only to defend themselves. So, from where springs this high-sounding but hollow declaration of our prime minister that we are going to have nothing to do with nuclear warheads?

Deplore the arms race all we wish. But let us remember that American arms are our real shield. If presence on our soil of their devices makes either nation safer, then those devices belong here.

Deplore U.S. nuclear policy all we wish. But let us deplore the Russians', too. And let us remember that, however costly, the world has been spared nuclear warfare by that policy for a remarkable 33 years.

We must go along with such a policy until a better one can be devised.

Controversial conversationalist

By JOAN CAPREOL

CONTROVERSIAL Neil McKenty is one of the partners in CJAD's popular program Exchange with its audience of 60,000, which is 3 to 1 larger than its rival CFCF for that period.

The other member of the team is Helen Gougeon, author, journalist, gourmet cook turned radio commentator, who gave the following quote unbeknownst to her colleague: "Before I joined CJAD, I used to listen to Neil McKenty argue with Andy Barrie and would rage in traffic at him."

"Within a week of working with him on Exchange I became fascinated with his orderly thinking, his meticulous preparation for even the most light-hearted subject. He respects his audience and that is what eventually surfaces."

"It's not surprising that Exchange is one of the most listened-to programs on Montreal radio. Sure, he's aggravating but that seems to stimulate people to engage in our discussions. You have to be impressed with his intellect and his innate kindness."

Neil, public affairs director of CJAD for the past six years, said graciously that he didn't have to think when asked what he thought about Helen. "She is a super person," he said unhesitatingly. "I have great respect for her. She is a delight to work with, very warm, very articulate, very human."

McKenty, six foot one, a frank, pleasant personality off air, said he is extremely pleased with Exchange because it is a kind of open-line show that really involves the listeners. "It's their show and we really listen to them," he said. "It's the kind of show that only radio can do and almost every program I learn something from the listeners."

Good conversation

Exchange is an hour show from 11 am to noon five days a week. "We seek topics in the areas of moral problems, religion, politics, sports and practical subjects like 'How do you handle your household budget?'" said McKenty. "We hope that Exchange is a lot of people overhearing good conversation."

McKenty, who also does three-minute editorials at 5:45 pm, said he gets a lot of both critical and supportive mail and telephone calls.

He is opposed to capital punishment. "I get a lot of heavy mail on that very emotional issue," he said. "The arguments for capital punishment boil down to two: It's a deterrent or it's an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth. There is no evidence that it deters, therefore the only argument is for revenge and I don't see how a civilized country can base a policy on revenge or vengeance."

"Members of the Westmount Municipal Association Tuesday night approved by a relatively slim margin a recommendation to cancel the proposed public housing project on Hillside avenue. By an 80-62 vote, which followed 1½ hours of debate on the subject, members approved a motion, made by Michael Price, that 'the Westmount Municipal Association calls for the cancellation of the public housing project on Hillside avenue.' Lively words of condemnation for the project mixed with implied charges of racism and bigotry for those who opposed the housing; though the debate never got out of hand, 15 persons rose to argue the point."

stage threatens life at every stage."

Politically McKenty has supported Mr. Trudeau's efforts to express the dual nature of Canada.

Exchange, he said, is a very flexible program right on top of a hot news story. On Aldo Moro's death the program's topic was: How do you think governments should deal with terrorism?

McKenty said he relied heavily on the very excellent CJAD news department, which provides him with ideas and subjects for his commentaries.

Producer Mary Frances Denis makes a very valuable contribution to Exchange and, despite two aggressive talkers like McKenty and Gougeon, announcer Mike Williams manages to get the show on and off the air on time.

Wide variety of subjects

"We try to do a lot of subjects that interest ordinary Montrealers; for example, what do you think of bicycles on the subway? What do you think of Grand Prix car racing on Ile Notre Dame? What would you do if you won a million-dollar lottery? McKenty said. To the latter, a listener said he would buy CJAD and fire Neil McKenty. (Neil chuckled and went on to the next caller.)

"Sometimes people find my controversial stands upsetting," he shrugged. "It's one of the hazards of work. There are people who disagree with me and I would expect that."

McKenty takes a special interest in programming for older people and was associated with the senior fair of the Town of Mount Royal, which is being sponsored by CJAD and the Junior League of Montreal on June 7.

McKenty has made two major trips for CJAD; one to the Middle East, visiting Egypt, Syria and Israel in 1974; the other to the Watergate hearings.

Born in Peterborough, Ont., McKenty attended elementary school in Hastings and high school in Campbellford. He joined the Jesuit order for a number of years and still has many associates in the Jesuits, specially at Loyola College where he got his BA in 1951. "I share this much with Messrs. Trudeau, Lévesque and Claude Ryan," he said.

In the 60s he got two MAs, one in Canadian history from the University of Toronto, the other in communication arts from the University of Michigan. He worked summers on the staff of the political and social magazine "America" in New York and on a theological magazine in London, England.

Wrote Mitch Hepburn biography

McKenty wrote a book on Mitch Hepburn, the late premier of Ontario, which was published in 1967 and won the University of British Columbia medal for the best biography in the centennial year.

From 1970-72 McKenty was executive director of a foundation for retarded children in Toronto. Neil's foundation worked with the Kennedys' in the U.S. on special Olympics for retarded children in Canada.

In 1972 he came to CJAD and has found Montreal an exciting place to be.

McKenty is married to the former Catherine Turnbull of Toronto, who was an assistant to a cabinet minister at Queen's Park. Mrs. McKenty is a freelance writer who has had articles published by Reader's Digest and did research on the book "Explore Canada."

Since he was a youngster he has had a great addiction to reading—history, biography and current events. He is a football and Expo fan.

McKenty and his wife, who live in Westmount, have taken up cross-country skiing. They both have 10-speed bicycles and, with no car, they do a lot of walking.

You Say

Knights of Westmount — or terrors of parks

Sir: Is there anything so relaxing as a Sunday morning in Westmount Park?

Particularly to watch the carefree children at play, charging their trusty 10-speed steeds over the green hilly terrain, or bounding along the paths and screeching around exciting blind corners.

One watches the darlings as they demonstrate their favorite pastimes: killing the grass and maiming the people.

People? More like dastardly varlets, with their strange disguises: white wigs, print frocks and lances resembling canes; other children walking with parents; young adults strolling hand-in-hand. Enemy, all of them.

Then after successful routs of these dragons, our valiant knights of Westmount realm repair to the moat where they consume a victory lunch, using the containers of mead to destroy hidden dangers in the water, and leaving the remnants as evidence of their territorial claims.

A day in Westmount Park is not enough until you watch the infant knights on a diversion; facing the foe head on by speeding east on de Maisonneuve—a one-way street for adults—and watching them scatter left and right. Then back to the park and over the no-cycling signs.

Only God can make an old fogey like me, but even He needs help from parents to make childish knights like this.

Students picking up, donating unleashed dogs

Sir: I am convinced that whatever laws are passed to restrain defecating dogs and their uncaring owners, nothing will ever be done by the MUC police to enforce them.

Take heart, however: a group of us students has devised our own brand of policing that is both lucrative to us and a service to our community. We begin by cruising the neighborhood in pairs, then whenever we come across a dog that should be leashed but isn't, we catch it (humanely, of course) and turn it over to whichever college, university or laboratory wants it. Happily, all those approached were only too glad to oblige us and with no questions asked.

I suspect that to some our scheme may, on the surface anyway, seem a trifle inhuman. However,

1. We are helping to keep our remaining green spaces greener and fresher for strollers, picnickers, joggers, etc., but even more;

2. We are assisting concerned parents to protect their children from ingesting, or otherwise coming into contact with, undeniably offensive and disease-laden material;

3. We hope that by our practice we can persuade negligent dog owners to have their pets unload in their own back yards or living rooms (which I'll bet are meticulously free of droppings and foul odors);

4. We are performing a much needed service for those students engaged in scientific research, thus supporting their education as well as our own.

To conclude, I sincerely feel that there aren't many such plans that benefit so much, but at the expense of so few.

Local cat unharmed after five days away

Sir: A Westmount resident who is an Anglophone member of La Société Québécoise pour la Défense des Animaux has helped me, with a friend of mine, to rescue my cat, lost Tuesday, May 16. Black and white angora, neutered, front paws de-clawed, the cat had been missing five days.

We found him Saturday evening. He was at arm's length. It was a difficult rescue, underneath a concrete wall. The cat was rescued just after sundown. He was dirty and very hungry, had lost weight but had not been harmed by other animals.

It is most interesting to know that even though his front paws are de-clawed, he managed to survive unharmed. He is safely at home.

City approves two new trucks

City council has decided to go ahead with the purchase of two new 35,000-lb truck cabs and chassis for a sum total of $45,717, it was agreed Monday evening.

The offer of sale from General Motors had been read to council at its May 1 meeting along with various other bids, but had been left aside pending approval of the city's most recent loan by-law in Quebec City. Now, it seems, the city took the money from a previous by-law, even though the latest one has now received provincial approval.

EDUCATION

- Class instruction for 10-12 year olds in woodwinds, brass, percussion, and guitar.
- Class instruction for 7-12 year olds in piano and strings.
- Class instruction for 12-16 year olds in theory and history of music.
- Class instruction for adults in piano, guitar, theory, and music appreciation.
- Class instruction for 3-15 year olds in violin and cello according to the Suzuki method.
- Individual instruction in all instruments, voice, theory and history of music.
- Opportunities for ensemble playing and singing.
- Opportunities to appear in public recitals.

Registration is now open.

For more information, call the McGill Conservatory of Music, 392-4552.

ORGAN RECITAL: Montrealer Keith Sadko, BMus, will give an organ recital Sunday, June 4, at 8:30 pm at St. Matthias' Church for the benefit of the St. Matthias' Men's and Boys' Choir. Money raised will help cover travel expenses to England this August where they have been invited to sing in Wells and Salisbury Cathedrals. Mr. Sadko graduated from McGill University with high distinction in organ performance and last year was the winner of the Royal Canadian College of Organists' national organists' competition. The program will consist of works by Kerckhoven, Boehm, Hindemith and Bach. Tickets at the door are $2.50, $1.50 for students and senior citizens.

Beyond Westmount's Borders

A random sampler of things to see or do

in the bigger city surrounding us

By RICK KERRIGAN

There is nothing quite like the ambiance of a street festival: the color, the faces, the music and the laughter of children. And while summer is not officially with us yet, the weather has been doing a good enough imitation to lure people out into the streets in a somewhat more elevated mood than in the middle of February. All of which means that the downtown YMCA's "Sunday in the street," to be held this Sunday from 11:00 am to 11:00 pm is well timed. So if the heat subsides and you find yourself in the city this Sunday you might want to partake of the action on Drummond street. There will be something for everyone, including the kids: band concerts, folk dancing, a balloon blowing contest, fitness testing, painting and hopscotch. A music festival starts at 7:00 pm. If you can't be out in the country you may as well enjoy the city.

For those who prefer a bit of exertion on a summery Sunday, the MacKay Center for Deaf and Crippled Children will be holding a "Run for fun" to raise money for the centre. They should call it a "Run for funds." Runners are expected to contribute at least $3.00 to participate in this six-mile run through the streets of NDG, Montreal West and Hampstead. Well-known runners, sports celebrities and political representatives have been invited to run but the politicians probably won't decide to run until the last minute. Old habits die hard. If you're interested in participating, call the centre at 482-0500 or La Raquette, 486-3340, which is 4646 Decarie boulevard, from whence the runners will jog forth this Sunday, 10:00 am.

If you're looking for an excursion entirely out of the city, why not head out to St. Constant for a visit to the Canadian Railway Museum? They have a collection of over 35 steam, electric and diesel locomotives as well as restored passenger cars and the cars of the Montreal Street Railway. The "golden chariots," those open air observation streetcars, will also be on display and short rides are available on one of the steam locomotives. The railway is an important part of Canadian history and it was the locomotive that opened up the Canadian West. You can see the original CPR "eight wheelers" that pounded over the prairies and through the treacherous passes of the Rockies in the 1880s. Also, one of the largest model railways in Canada is on display along with a fair bit of

Student works on exhibit at Visual Arts

Again this year the Visual Arts Centre, 350 Victoria avenue, is organizing an exhibition of work by its students. It will be open in the gallery of the centre from tomorrow, June 2, to July 1.

Students from the three-year program leading to a diploma in applied arts and design, as well as part-time students, will exhibit a selection of their best works done throughout the year. A jury of teachers will be responsible for the selection and all techniques taught at the centre will be represented.

Students' work not selected by the jury to be exhibited in the gallery will be displayed throughout the centre Friday and Saturday. The public is welcome to visit the centre on

If you like the music of Franz Schubert, has Musica Camerata Montreal got a program lined up for you! For three consecutive evenings starting tonight at 8:30, the group will be presenting the works of the 19th century composer in free concerts at Christ Church Cathedral, corner of St. Catherine and University. This will be the orchestra's last concert until September, so I guess they're finishing off the season with a bang.

"The Police" is the next production of the Montreal Theatre Lab, opening June 7 and running until June 25, Tuesday through Sunday, 8:30 pm, at the Théâtre National du Mime, 4459 St. Lawrence boulevard. The play, written by Polish comic playwright Slavomir Mrozek, is a political satire about a country "so efficiently governed that all its citizens are supporters of the regime." Faced with empty jails, the chief of police tries to stir up trouble only to be "faced with exalted loyalty." He has to arrest his own sergeant to save face. For ticket information and reservations call 526-9847.

Inspirational music will be offered by yogi Sri Chinmoy in the Maxwell Cummings Auditorium of the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts Sunday at 4:00 pm. The concert will include pieces by the spiritual master himself and played by him on the esraj. He will be assisted by his students in an orchestra and choir. If you're into meditation this might be a good opportunity to practice it to some appropriate live music. The concert is free.

An evening with poet Seymour Mayne is being presented by the Jewish Public Library, 5151 Côte Ste. Catherine road, Sunday at 8:00 pm. The author of over 10 books of poetry, he is concerned in his latest work, "Diasporas: Poems 1973-1977," with Jerusalem, Israel and Jewish themes. Mr. Mayne was born in Montreal and is currently teaching at the University of Ottawa. Admission to the reading is free.

Monroe Abbey, QC, to be honored guest at Negev dinner

Monroe Abbey, QC, a resident of 3555 Côte des Neiges road whose law offices are at 4115 Sherbrooke street west, will be the guest of honor at the annual Jewish National Fund Negev Dinner to be held at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel next Thursday, June 8.

Each year the dinner honors an outstanding citizen for service and leadership and the affair is the largest and most prestigious event in the Montreal Jewish community. The dinner will be chaired by Jack L. Cummings, 756 Lexington avenue.

Proceeds of the dinner will further the development of Canada Park, a major 7,500 acre complex now being completed midway between Tel Aviv and Jerusalem and serving the recreational needs of some two million Israelis who have not had a national parkland because of the very austere conditions in the country.

Born in Montreal 73 years ago, Mr. Abbey has contributed to almost every aspect of communal endeavour over the past half century. Much of his early interest was with the Baron de Hirsch Institute which at the time was helping new immigrants settle here. He served many capacities at the institute, including that of president.

President of CJC

He has also held many posts in the Canadian Jewish Congress including president from 1968 to 1972. Since then he has been its honorary president. He has also served on many international bodies including the World Jewish Congress and many local groups.

He and his wife Minnie have three children, Mrs. Sheila

Monroe Abbey, QC

Finestone, Stanley Abbey and Mrs. Diane Livingstone, 11 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Other local residents participating in the dinner include Rabbi Wilfred Shuchat of Congregation Shaar Hashomayim, who will give the invocation and hamotze; Nathan Scott, 625 Belmont avenue, president of the Jewish National Fund of Canada; and Nahum Gelber, QC, 171 Edgehill road, president of Shaar Hashomayim Synagogue.

Other participants include Zvi Caspi, consul general of Israel; Rabbi Dr. W. Gunther Plant, president of the Canadian Jewish Congress; Judge Philip G. Givens, national president, Canadian Zionist Federation; Hillel Becker, president of Allied Jewish Community Services; Mrs. Diane Abbey-Livingstone, who will give family greetings; and Yoine Goldstein, who will present the citation.

Sacraments demonstrate 'belonging'

The 11:00 am service at St. Andrew's Church this Sunday will include the sacraments of baptism and Holy Communion. The meditation by Dr. E. A. Kirker will reflect on the significance of these sacraments of belonging. New members will be received.

Following the service, the impending departure from Montreal of Ross and Betty Canavan will be marked at a social period. Mr. Canavan has served the Côte St. Antoine road congregation as elder and clerk of session. Mrs. Canavan taught in the church school for a number of years.

A farewell tea will honour Edythe Jamieson next Tuesday. Mrs. Jamieson, who has headed St. Andrew's nursery school for ten years, is retiring and moving to Alberta. Mothers of youngsters who have attended the school wishing to attend this event or contribute to a gift are asked to contact Mrs. Gallery at 935-6713 or Mrs. Grant at 935-6521.

The Guild of St. Andrew's Women holds its final meeting for the season next Wednesday.

Dominion-Douglas to get report of annual meeting

"Sur le chemin-On the way" will be the sermon subject at the 11 am service at Dominion-Douglas Church this Sunday.

Dr. Phyllis Smyth will report to the congregation the happenings at the 54th annual meeting of the Montreal and Ottawa conference, held this week at Bishop's University. The sermon subject is the title of the theme of the conference and refers to being on the way to new discoveries and challenges. The official Dominion-Douglas delegates to the conference were Dr. Smyth, Linda Ellarby, Susan Churchill, Jim Stewart and Alan McDougall.

Appropriate music by the choir of the "church on the hill" will include "We join to praise" by Thomas Wood, "Jesu, priceless treasure" by Johann Cruger, and "Behold how good and joyful" by Clarke-Whitfield.

This afternoon at 1:30 pm the mothers' study group invites everyone interested in the topic "women and budgeting in the home" to attend their meeting. The guest speaker will be Donna O'Sullivan of the Royal Bank. Baby-sitting is provided.

At 8:00 pm there will be a special meeting of the advisory committee and committee chairmen at the manse.

On Saturday from 10 am to 3 pm the Dominion-Douglas Teens' Club are holding a car wash in the parking lot of St. Andrew's church, 101 Côte St. Antoine road, to help support their foster child in Haiti.

St. Matthias' Church will welcome The Rev. Barry B. Clarke as its new assistant curate on Sunday. He will preach at the 9:30 and 11 o'clock services and at the latter he will be commissioned by Archdeacon J. N. Doidge as an associate in ministry at St. Matthias'.

Following the service he will be welcomed by parishioners at a coffee hour in the parish hall.

Rev. Clarke is a native of Montreal and a graduate of McGill University and the Montreal Diocesan Theological College. He was ordained deacon by the Bishop of Montreal on Trinity Sunday, May 21.

Saul Hayes on Jewish role

The contribution to Quebec over more than two centuries by the Jewish community in such fields as science, medicine and law will be outlined by Saul Hayes, OC, QC, to the 14th annual meeting of Women's Federation, Allied Jewish Community Services, on Tuesday, June 6, at 9:30 am at Cummings House, 5151 Côte St. Catherine road.

Mr. Hayes, a consultant, is former executive vice-president of the Canadian Jewish Congress.

Kim Kertland to quit as local YMCA chairman

Some 50 citizens turned out last Wednesday evening for the public annual meeting of the Westmount YMCA, a meeting designed to promote more community involvement in and by the institution located at 4585 Sherbrooke street west. Kim Kertland, 3055 Sherbrooke, announced he was stepping down in September as chairman of the YMCA board of directors after two years at the helm, to be replaced by Joseph Borgo of Montreal. Other executive positions approved by the board included Philip Baugnet, 259 Metcalfe avenue, vice-chairman; Peter Barr, 4333 de Maisonneuve boulevard, treasurer; and Mrs. Judy Mastromonaco, 641 Belmont avenue, secretary. Martha Howlett, community affairs director of the Y for the past several years and chief organizer of Westmount's "community day" in February, also announced she would be resigning during the summer. She has been a member of the Westmount YMCA staff since 1973.

Mr. Kertland announced the opening of "associate YMCA memberships," whereby members of the community could become aligned with the general principles of the worldwide YMCA organization and help direct it toward community-oriented goals.

Executive Director Jeff Mayes described some of the local YMCA's present activities in the community, including the after-school and lunch-hour programs for students at Westmount's public schools (a successful pilot program was carried out this year), increased services to teenagers and increased teenager involvement, and the YMCA International Program, which this year is designed to increase community awareness of lifestyles in the West Indies.

In her departing remarks, Miss Howlett suggested that the YMCA should become a community resource bank, even to the point of analyzing where needs might exist in the Westmount community.

Mr. Kertland offered special thanks to Mrs. Sally Aitken, 95 Arlington avenue, and Mrs. Anne Matthews, 3228 The Boulevard, who are stepping down from the board of directors.

Besides the executive, two incumbents and four new members were approved for the 1978-79 board, and one other was nominated at the meeting to be accepted by the board later in the summer.

HONORARY DEGREE: John H. Dinsmore, 646 Belmont avenue, chairman and chief executive officer of Marine Industries Limited, will receive an honorary doctorate of laws degree at Concordia University faculty of engineering and computer science convocation to be held next Thursday, June 8, at 8:15 pm in the Henry F. Hall Building, 1455 de Maisonneuve boulevard west. A native of Toronto, Mr. Dinsmore graduated with honors in electrical engineering from McGill University in 1952. After working in private industry and a further study in Geneva he was named, in 1970, associate deputy minister in the Quebec education department. From 1973 to 1975 he was assistant deputy minister in the department of industry and commerce and was senior deputy minister when he took his current position last summer. He is a past president of the Corporation of Engineers of Quebec, the Canadian Council of Professional Engineers and the Engineering Institute of Canada.

Bedard thanked for appointment

Ald. P. André Gervais publicly thanked Justice Minister Marc-André Bedard Monday evening for accepting the city's recommendation and appointing George Gould, QC, to serve as municipal judge for Westmount, replacing Judge E. J. McManamy who resigned in mid-April (The Examiner, May 18).

In reporting on the appointment, formalized on May 16, Westmount's public safety commissioner noted that he had since held discussions with Mr. Gould and Clerk of Court René Daoust and said he felt the new judge would bring a welcome understanding to the municipal court proceedings.

Apartments to start late summer

The now-cleared land on the southeast corner of Victoria avenue and de Maisonneuve boulevard was made into one lot by resolution of city council Monday evening, giving the go-ahead for construction of a planned six-storey apartment building by Runo Developments Ltd.

A spokesman for the company told The Examiner that construction probably would begin in late summer or during the fall. Though he said the city had asked for some slight design changes, he did not indicate these would delay the start of construction.

Last fall city council gave the firm permission to extend its underground garage over the building line on Victoria, offering the first indication that plans were going ahead. The two old houses on the site were demolished early in May, allowing the city to form one lot out of the site.

175 cyclists take part:

Bikes of all kinds at Rotary 'road-eo'

They were all there: shiny new ten-speeds, banana-seat high-risers, cross-country bikes replete with wide handlebars and knobby tires, and the trusty, rusty, old one-speed with coaster brakes and wicker basket that looked as if it had seen six generations of young riders.

The event was the Rotary Club of Westmount's annual bike road-eo held last Thursday afternoon in the artificial ice rink. This year, the first it's been held on a weekday, members of the local service club, assisted by police, city officials and the Roslyn Safety Committee, put 175 young cyclists through their paces, including safety checks, bicycle inspection and an obstacle course.

Most of the turnout of children was due to the efforts of the Roslyn committee which has offered a bicycle safety course this spring. All but 14 of the participants in the road-eo were from Roslyn School. The remainder came from St. Leo's, Selwyn House and Westmount Park.

Prizes, bicycle locks and bells, were donated by the MUC Policemen's Brotherhood and were awarded to cyclists with the highest scores after deductions were made for various infractions. A total of 48 children won prizes.

Sole winner in the kindergarten class was Bruce Denis, 477 Victoria avenue, 76 points.

Age 6 to 9 class

There were 23 winners in the 6- to 9-years-old class, including: David Winn, 659 Belmont avenue, 84; Richard Gomal, 431 Mount Stephen avenue, 84; Lesley Scott, 353 Metcalfe avenue, 84; Janie Wright, 537 Prince Albert avenue, 84.

Family day

By NICK KASIRER

On a participant-enjoyment gauge, last Saturday's family day in Westmount Park was a great success, though not as many residents as hoped for turned out.

Even so, an estimated 3,000 to 4,000 Westmounters joined in at one time or another during the day-long events. Aside from the weather, some of the highlights of the day included the parade that kicked off the events, the Westmount High School band's performance, excerpts from the dance program's "The Wizard of Oz" and the late afternoon discorama.

Also popular were demonstrations mounted by various groups, including the Westmount Fire Brigade, the MUC

Police and local scouting groups.

The novelty races attracted a lot of attention and congratulations go to morning winners Mary Gallery, Peter Higgins, Vanessa Zorbas, Kyle Kerr, Sonya Eydt, Chris Foss, Michele McKay Smith, Jill Tetrault, David Moore, François Adams, Gigi Vickers, Jenny Genereux, Matt Bissonnette, Stephen Clarke, Gary Rouse and Joy Acton.

The afternoon races, including the hotly-contested length-of-the-field runs, ended with Jean Williams, Jeff Baikie, Jenny Sherwen, Robbie Tetrault, Peter Hobbes and Antonio and Maria Bandeira as winners.

Also during the day, awards for performances in recreation department sports over the past year were presented. Special presentations were made to the best forwards, defencemen and goaltender in the past winter's hockey program.

Best forwards honored for good sportsmanship and team play included Laurent de la Beaumelle, novice; Mengo McCall, atom; Tim Zyto, pee wee I; Alexander Wolfe, pee wee II; Bert Gow, bantam; Phil Guevas, midget; and Peter Hobbes, juvenile.

Outstanding defensive players in the respective seven leagues were Robbie Israel, Paul Spaniel, Matt Bissonnette and Tom MacFarlane (co-winners in pee wee D), Nick Tingley, Paul Landori, Chris Chevalier and Harry Charlton. Fraser Hutchinson, this Westmount firemen demonstrated rescue techniques with an aerial ladder by lowering a "victim" to safety from the roof of Westmount Park School.

Members of the Westmount Senior Citizens Centre sold arts and crafts items at a special table.

Gymnastics formed part of the display put on by the Westmount "Twirlerettes."

Keeping up with energetic youngsters on a hot day like Saturday can be kind of draining, as these two cub masters discovered. Using their knowledge of nature, however, they managed to find a comfortable shady spot in the park, not far from their tents.

Successful family day

I saw many of you in Westmount Park on Saturday during the city's "family day" celebrations, and you all seemed to be having a good time. Most important for me, perhaps, was the obvious enjoyment you had got out of the police horses, cars, ambulance and motorcycles.

The weather and city staff both must be complimented for putting together such a great time for all of us. As far as I could see, nothing went wrong the entire day.

It's a good reflection on all of you that you could be together and enjoying each other so much. I hope that sense of community lasts all summer.

P.S. If any of you should happen to see someone putting bikes into a truck, please make note of the license number of the truck and let me know at 934-0714 right away.

Along with riding a police motorcycle, the idea of flicking the siren switch in a police ambulance is pretty appealing to most young folk. Many got their chance at the police demonstration at family day.

Using his politician's ability to bounce back, Ald. Brian Gallery made a valiant effort in the men's sack race.

Battling the wind, a contestant in the ballon race attempts to bat his balloon down the field, throwing not only the balloon but an intriguing shadow as well.

Members of the scouting movement in Westmount erected this rope bridge in the park for the day.

you'll always come back.

winners in Commonwealth contest

Caroline Smeeton, 613 Belmont Avenue, and David Angell, 640 Grosvenor Avenue, were winners in their respective categories of the 1978 Royal Commonwealth Society essay contest, with Caroline edging out Susan Pedersen, 12 Windsor Avenue, for the top prize in the 14-15-year-old category.

Prizes were presented by Simon Y. Dawborn, CMG, consul-general in Montreal for the United Kingdom, at a banquet last Wednesday in the Queen Elizabeth Hotel.

For David, the only boy to receive a top honor in the Quebec competition, this year marks the second consecutive honor he has received. He was 13 when he submitted his essay in November; last year, as a 12-year-old, he also walked off with top honors in the under-14 category, and his essay on "A Day in the life of a boy from Uganda" received honorable mention in the all-

Commonwealth judging later last year.

This year David chose to write about Morarji Desai, prime minister of India, and wrote his essay by imagining himself in a waiting room, preparing to interview the man.

Caroline wrote a more conventional essay about the impacts of former Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson and former South African Prime Minister Jan Christiaan Smuts, specially on the Commonwealth. Susan wrote a proposal for a Commonwealth arts festival to replace the Commonwealth Games.

Both Caroline and Susan are students at Trafalgar School, while David attends Lower Canada College.

TREASURES IN THE ATTIC? For the second consecutive year, the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts will hold an Heirloom Discovery Day Saturday, June 3, from 11 am to 5 pm. This will give residents a chance to dig out interesting items from their homes and take them to the museum where, for a $5 fee, six experts from the New York firm of Sotheby Parke Bernet Inc. will be on hand to give verbal appraisals. Helping organize the event are, from left, Mrs. Pattie Cleghorn, 609 Victoria avenue, co-chairman of the day; Mrs. Barbara Bishop, 10 Douglas avenue, tickets; and Mrs. Deirdre Stevenson, 530 Mount Pleasant avenue, president of the museum's volunteer committee, which is staging the event as a benefit with the assistance of the Queen Elizabeth Hotel. A special appraisal session for museum members will be held Friday from 6 to 9 pm. Excluded from appraisal are books, manuscripts, autograph letters, photographs, modern jewelry, precious stones, ethnographic art, stamps, coins, Greek, Roman, Egyptian or Islamic antiquities and local art.

Dog change

A new amendment to Westmount's dog control by-law will come before city council at an upcoming session, to give more authority and power to the dog-catcher in his attempts to keep an eye on the city's canine population. Notice of motion for the amendment was offered by Ald. Brian Gallery Monday.

Gets doctorate

Harold Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Myers, 4300 de Maisonneuve boulevard west, will receive his doctorate in experimental medicine at a convocation at McGill University June 9. A graduate of Westmount High School, Mr. Myers received his bachelor of engineering degree at Syracuse University and his master of engineering degree at Northeastern University in Boston.

End the sales tax debate

The sales tax debate has held the spotlight for the past seven weeks. We have all been subjected to a succession of statements from Ottawa and Quebec City. Both sides claim they have the answer. Neither side wants to step down.

This would mean a loss to one's pride and a supposed political victory for he who stood fast.

Sales tax is a provincial domain. No one argues that point. What is now being discussed is how the federal money should be given to Quebecers. Ottawa has opted for a direct grant or rebate of approximately $85.00 per taxpayer. The Parti Québécois government disagrees. And that is where the situation lies.

Few now will debate that Quebec Finance Minister Parizeau had the right to impose his own conditions as to how the federal sales tax incentive plan was to be applied in Quebec. Though there was an outburst of complaints in mid-April by federal politicians, when Prime Minister Trudeau announced that Quebec would receive the balance of the incentive money, he arrested all discussion as to Quebec's ability to regulate the sales tax commitment.

What I do wish is that both sides would stop shouting at each other in the press and meet to hash out this problem. There is an answer. None will be found, however, if the parties refuse to meet. Until they do, you and I will be the losers.

The PQ policy paper on culture will be presented to the National Assembly next Tuesday. The 425-page document will define Quebec's cultural and its historical development.

WESTMOUNT WANDERINGS

Complete details on the six scholarships will be presented in this column and in a full page ad in next week's issue of The Westmount Examiner. . . Am still receiving letters and notes from senior citizens happy about A Day to Remember. Let's not forget that it was a success in the most part because of the many volunteers who gave freely of their time and talent. . . A rose to the Westmount para-medics for their care on May 16. . . A belated congratulations to the Westmount Fire Brigade for its fine showing at the Police Tech Day in Kirkland. . . Good luck to all my young friends as they prepare for final examinations this month.

ation and effort" of the Rotary Club.

"There are days like today when it's worth it all," he added.

The Rev. Dr. John Simms, director of the Montreal Association for the Blind, then offered the keynote address, reminding Rotarians that their job has not ended. Society must be judged on the basis of how it treats its minorities and its senior citizens, he said, and the project will be judged on the way seniors are treated once they move in.

"The mission of the Westmount Rotary and the City of Westmount has been a resounding yes" to the challenge of coming up with the project, first conceived by Rotarian Robert E. J. Layton some four years ago, he said. The next challenge will be to assure the quality of life in the building.

Dr. Simms referred to eight important needs which would have to be catered to, including food, loneliness, sex ("it's a big thing among older people," he remarked), hoarding, liquor, hostility, security and hygiene. "The elderly are beautiful and wonderful people," the minister and community activist told Rotarians. "The autumn is the harvest of a great spring and summer. The best is yet to come because of acts such as yours."

Other guests

Others on hand for the luncheon included five of the six city aldermen (Ald. Alwyn Lloyd was unable to attend), Westmount General Manager Norman Dawe, Chief Building Inspector Gordon Nurse and City Attorney Kevin Donovan; Istvan Mezes, designer of the residence; Mr. Stein; Mrs. Geraldine Gahan, representative of the Westmount Municipal Association to the board of Manoir Concordia Inc., the Rotary-established firm which will operate the residence; Hubert de la Beaumelle, president of the WMA; Mrs. Gwen Clibbon, secretary of the Westmount Rotary; and Mrs. Ann Perry, secretary of Manoir Concordia.

There were four additional guests of Rotarians and two visiting Rotarians, including one from Chicago.

Craft show now open at Library

The annual craft and hobby show of the Westmount Public Library opened Monday and will continue until June 17.

The display includes a wide variety of articles made by members using books, periodicals and pictures from the Library collection as reference.

Items include wall-hangings, enamelled pots and rocks, Ukrainian painted eggs, rugs, quilts, copies of antique tools, "frog boxes," needlework of all kinds and many other interesting items. All are on view during normal Library hours.

The children's department of the Library is also holding its own arts and crafts display and invites all its members to bring in items which they have made.

City attorney impressive

Mayor Donald MacCallum had high praise for the hard work of City Attorney Kevin Donovan in the negotiations for the lease between the city and Rotary Club of Westmount concerning the use of Victoria Hall by senior residents. At yesterday's Rotary luncheon the mayor applauded his "monumental efforts" in what had sometimes been arduous negotiations leading up to the approval of the lease by council on Monday evening.

The mayor remarked, in fact, that committee of council had been so impressed by those efforts that it had decided to extend his mandate as city solicitor.

LEASE . . .

needed for municipal purposes, subject to mutual agreement.

Since the leased portion of Victoria Hall makes up some 40 percent of the building, Manoir Concordia will be responsible for paying that proportion of the cost of heating the building but will pay its own electricity, water, gas, and other costs connected to operation of the lower floor of the building, as well as carry out most necessary repairs at its own expense.

The corporation will also pay 40 percent of risk and liability insurance covering the building as a whole, though Manoir Concordia will have to have some insurance of its own as well.

On a question from Rod Bannatyne Monday evening, Mayor MacCallum pointed out that the intent of the lease is to cover the cost of maintaining the ground floor of Victoria Hall, but not necessarily to ensure that Westmount breaks even on the operation of the entire building.

In past years there was some concern about the cost to taxpayers of the huge, landmark building on Sherbrooke street near Lansdowne avenue. The city-Rotary agreement was meant to take a step toward offsetting at least some of that loss.

The lease is now a public document and can be studied by interested citizens at city hall.

Meter merciless

The wrath you incur in others you may one day feel yourself, it seems.

Such was the lesson learned yesterday by Ald. Brian Gallery, perpetrator of the parking meters outside Victoria Hall and the Westmount Public Library, which have caused almost constant criticism from daytime users of the city facilities.

Not the least of the mutters have been the members of the Rotary Club of Westmount, who must fish out four quarters each Wednesday they drive to Victoria Hall for their weekly luncheons.

Yesterday Ald. Gallery was among the invited guests at the Rotary lunch, but as a driver (rather than a city representative) he decided to take his chances by not feeding the ever-hungry meters.

Guess who got a ticket?

Stamp fair on Saturday

A stamp club fair will be held Saturday from 10 am to 5 pm in the children's department of Westmount Public Library. Members of the junior stamp clubs will exhibit their stamp collections and related material and will be on hand to answer questions.

Door prizes will be given to some lucky children and visitors will also be able to view the department's arts and crafts display of handiwork done by members.

Last weekend the children's department participated in Westmount's family day by organizing a contest. Mazes were handed out at a booth set up in the park, were completed by the children and returned to the Library. Winners of book prizes were Vanessa Goymour, Alexandra Zorbas and Mary Sweeney.

Second auction of Gardens on Monday

Westmount will try once again to auction off the Campbell Gardens property on Monday morning at 11 am in the council chambers at city hall. The base price at the auction will be $40,000, and the winning bidder must provide a certified cheque for $5,000 as a deposit at the time the bidding closes.

The land has been on the market for more than a year since the city felt it could no longer afford its upkeep as public gardens. Originally Westmount tried to sell it by tender, then when no offers were made it asked realtors to try to sell the land.

This seemed to be successful last autumn when two persons expressed interest, but appeals of the manner in which the city accepted one offer forced cancellation of the acceptance, so Westmount tried last month to sell it by auction, starting the bids at $45,000.

Nobody turned up on April 17 to participate in the auction, so city council agreed to lower the base price and will make one further attempt.

'Reporter' wins

The Roslyn Reporter, newsletter of the Roslyn Home and School Association, won an award from the Quebec Federation of Home and School Associations as one of the three best newsletters in the federation. The award, a book for the school library, was presented to the school at the recent QFHSA annual meeting.

The newsletters are judged by the editor of the QFHSA News, the federation's own paper, on the basis of content, and while The Reporter shared the prize with two other newsletters it was conceded by Donna Sauriol, executive secretary of the federation, that the Roslyn publication was in a class by itself because of its more professional format.

Two camps give holidays for city kids

The Montreal Boys' and Girls' Association, headquartered at 1090 Greene avenue, is preparing now for another season at its summer camps, Camp Lewis/Voyageur for boys and Camp Lighthall for girls. The camps will provide a holiday for 900 city children who otherwise would have to spend the summer seeking amusement in city streets.

Camp Lewis/Voyageur, on 300 acres near St. Adolphe de Howard, was founded in 1919 by a group of Montreal businessmen to commemorate Maj. John Lewis, killed in World War I action. Camp Lighthall is a more recent venture, started in 1966 by the MBGA. It consists of 100 rolling acres just north of St. Sauveur.

Campers are drawn from throughout the city, although the majority have already adopted the association's three year-round recreational clubs as their own. One of the clubs is Unity, also at 1090 Greene. The others are in Point St. Charles and the east end.

Part of the preparations for this year's camping season include a sale of extra furniture and equipment, plus new items donated specially for the sale, at Camp Lighthall on June 3 and 4. There promise to be many bargains and the proceeds will help finance the 1978 camping season.

The sale starts at 9 am each day and visitors can picnic on the grounds. The camp is located off exit 60 of the Laurentian Autoroute, three miles along Lac Millette road.

CNTU wins ruling over Ville Marie 'closure' method

By ANDY DODGE

The provincial government arbitration board has ruled in favor of the Confederation of National Trade Unions in its grievance against the Ville Marie Social Service Centre proposal to close the Family Service Association and Children's Service Centre and then to establish an area service centre covering the central Montreal area.

The very complicated technical move started last fall, when VMSSC management invoked closure in an attempt to merge the two Westmount-based units, which are represented by different unions. FSA had accreditation with the CNTU while professional staff at CSC were represented by the smaller Cartel des Organismes Professionnels de la Santé, Inc. (COPS). Ville Marie's reorganization plans involved a fusion of the various sub-branches of the social service centre and their reorganization along geographic lines.

Various CNTU and COPS personnel were shifted to Verdun and West Island branches, but most of those stationed in Westmount remained here. In late March staff from the FSA building at 4515 St. Catherine street west moved into the CSC building, 5 Weredale park, meaning the two unions were working out of the same premises and there was no physical division between them.

The move came even as the arbitration board was considering the legality of the paper "closure" of both former agencies to clear up accreditation problems. On May 18 the board ruled that VMSSC had used the wrong clause in its contract to effect the move.

Will keep rights

Effectively, the ruling seems to mean that staff members connected with the CNTU regain their acquired rights and seniority, something they were afraid they might lose with the closure of FSA.

Still to be decided is which union becomes the accredited union of the new Centre-City Area Service Centre, located in the 5 Weredale Park building. The two unions took the matter to court on May 19—the date is coincidence, and has nothing to do with the arbitration board ruling—and the matter must be decided by the ministry of labor.

Non-professional staff once employed by the CSC and without union affiliation have elected to join the CNTU, but there has been no move by professional members to switch from COPS to CNTU—or vice versa—now that the staff are working out of the same building.

Some union members believe the labor ministry might ask them to call for a vote on union affiliation, but they feel the decision would be unacceptable to many staff members. COPS is a highly professional, non-aligned union, while CNTU is more broad-based and backed by workers in various professions throughout the province. The merger combined 37 CSC staff and 59 FSA staff in Westmount.

The physical move of FSA members into the CSC building has caused relatively few logistical or space problems, on the other hand, and most staff feel comfortable working alongside one another even though they might be in different unions. The change has meant, of course, that former FSA staff must become accustomed to dealing with child problems and foster families, while former CSC staff find themselves enmeshed at times in marital or social difficulties unrelated to children.

Several former members of the Westmount-based agencies have been transferred to Verdun and the west island in the moves, and though VMSSC management claimed "95 percent" of staff were happy with their new placements, the arbitration board hearing may mean that those who are unhappy with their new locations have the opportunity to appeal.

Acceptance of COPS personnel into the west island branch, which is controlled by the CNTU, or of CNTU members into the Verdun branch, controlled by COPS, appears to have caused no problems.

Move of Ville Marie's head office staff into the former FSA building, which now is empty, might take place in August or September, according to D'Arcy Coulson, director-general of Ville Marie. It has been delayed pending authorization of the move by the provincial government.

Ville Marie management is withholding comment on the arbitration board decision pending further study of the ruling. Mr. Coulson said.

No one has ever offered you a professional-grade burglar-alarm system for $499.<sup>95</sup> Until now.

Now there is a professional-grade burglar alarm system you can buy and install yourself for less than $500. Midex has engineered a local alarm system that provides reliability and service that even a professionally-installed system costing more than $1000 may not give you.

If the $1,000 or more professionally-installed residential burglar alarm system is what you think you need to protect your home and family, but is more than you want to spend then this may be the most important announcement you will ever read.

INTRODUCING MIDEX. Now you can protect your home and family from intrusion through windows, doors, walls, ceilings, and floors with the very same advanced protection used to protect government security installations, jewelry stores and other high risk premises.

The big difference is cost. The jewelry store has a "system" made up of a number of devices wired together, permanent-installed and costing thousands of dollars. A similar system, professionally-installed in your home, could cost well over a thousand dollars and yet may not provide more protection than Midex.

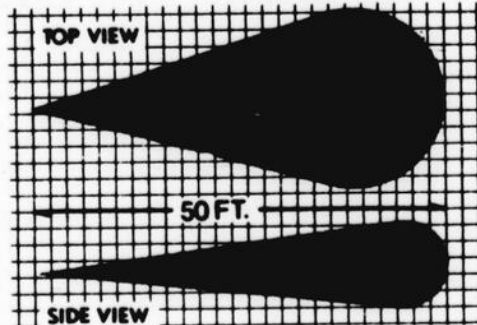

The Midex 55 combines the control equipment and the intrusion sensor into one integrated unit the size of a small table radio and just as simple to use. From the moment you plug it in, you have placed an invisible barrier through more than 5,000 cubic feet of your home. Using a microwave sensing unit, the Midex is undisturbed by noise or sound, is unaffected by temperature or humidity, hot or cold air currents. And it's almost impossible to detect because it emits no sound or light.

DESIGNED NEVER TO MISS A MOVING TARGET.

The Midex projects a constant wave pattern. When armed with your private electronic key, it will activate an alarm 20 seconds after it detects motion, and will stay in a full alarm condition as long as the intruder moves about and for one minute after he has left. It then automatically stops, resets, and is ready to detect further intrusion.

When Midex sounds the alarm, it can be loud. Loud enough to cause pain, loud enough to drive an intruder out of your home before he can steal or destroy valuables or cause harm. Loud enough to notify neighbors to call the police, or in case you return during an alarm, loud enough to warn you not to enter until the police arrive.

YOU ARE ALWAYS IN CONTROL. You choose the area to be protected, the size of your protection area, the location of your Midex. You can use your own strategy as to size, type, and placement of siren speakers. And installation of a Midex is easy—much like installing a simple hi-fi set.

MIDEX HAS FAIL-SAFE LOGIC. During a blackout or if the power has been disconnected, Midex will continue full operation for 4 full hours, using its own built-in rechargeable energy pak. When power is restored after 4 hours, it automatically resets in the armed-mode.

BUILT-IN EXPANSION FEATURES. Midex can also be an emergency "call for help" alarm system. By connecting panic buttons to the Midex, you can alert neighbors in cases of accident, sudden illness, or forced entry. Fire and smoke detectors, perimeter protection, circuit and additional space protectors can also be easily added. Midex is the professional-grade burglar alarm system you need and can afford now, yet is flexible enough to grow with your future needs.

THE BASIC MIDEX 55 INCLUDES: Microwave motion sensor with maximum protection area of 5,000 cubic feet, 5 watt RMS (siren driver), automatic alarm reset, on-off switching with personalized electronic key, timing circuits permitting authorized exit and entry through pattern, four-hour rechargeable standby battery, expansion features, 110/12VAC stepdown transformer.

You may want to use existing speakers such as those used with your hi-fi equipment, or order speakers directly from Midex.

*Speakers are purchased separately.

Air cadets get promotions, awards at No. 1 Squadron's annual inspection

No. 1 (West Montreal) Squadron of the Royal Canadian Air Cadets held its 37th annual inspection at the Royal Montreal Regiment Armory, 4625 St. Catherine street West, on May 13.

Reviewing officer was Col. A. J. Crosby, CD, commanding officer of No. 1 Air Reserve Wing (consisting of 401 City of Westmount and 438 City of Montreal Squadrons) at St. Hubert.

About 45 cadets were in attendance at this, the year's most important parade for the squadron. Viewing the parade were more than 200 guests, including parents and friends of the cadets, staff and cadets from various other squadrons, past members of No. 1 Squadron, and other distinguished guests.

Among these were Eric Simms, president of the Quebec provincial committee of the Air Cadet League of Canada, L/Col. Boivin, commanding officer of the 3rd Field Engineers of Hillside Armory and Maj. Javornik of the RMR.

Inspection first

The parade started at 7:00 pm with an inspection of the squadron by Col. Crosby, followed by a march past. As has been the case for the past few years, all the parade positions were filled by the cadets themselves.

After the march past, and an introduction of the squadron staff by Capt. Stephen Shelley, the squadron's commanding officer, came the most eagerly awaited part of the night's activities, the presentation of awards. Seventeen cadets were promoted to the rank of Leading Air Cadet in recognition of six months' service with the squadron. LAC

Michael Bevilacqua received his corporal stripes, Cpl. Ariene Burns became sergeant, and Sgt. Blake Toplis received a promotion to the rank of flight sergeant.

Among the other highlights of the evening were the presentation to WOII Dave Dallaire of the Strathcona Medal for being the most outstanding cadet in the squadron, and the awarding to LAC Melissa Chamberlain of the Westmount Rotary Club Trophy for having been voted by her fellow cadets as the most worthy of special recognition.

Recruiting award

The J. B. Douglas Recruiting Award went to the non-commissioned officers of the squadron in recognition of their efforts over the past training year which resulted in a 25 percent increase in the squadron's strength.

F/Sgt. Toplis received notification of his acceptance to the senior leaders course at CFB Cold Lake in Alberta and F/Sgt. Lafontaine, who has already received training as a glider pilot through cadets, was told that she had won a flying scholarship (giving her training as a pilot of powered aircraft) this summer.

After the presentation of awards and the advance of the squadron, Col. Crosby, Mr. Simms and Doug Skinner, chairman of the squadron's civilian committee, made a few remarks. The night's activities were concluded with an inspection of the displays portraying the year's activities which were set up by the cadets beforehand.

Participants say grad will be remembered

By STEVEN KAAL

The night of Westmount High School's recent graduation dance was one that will long be remembered by all those who took part. For the 294 who participated, it was more than just a dance.

First there was the problem of finding a date: a simple matter for some, a traumatic experience for others. Once a date was found, and tickets bought, there was the fun of getting suitably dressed for the occasion. Some boys wore three-piece suits or tails, but the majority opted for tuxedos, while most of the girls came in elegant long dresses.

The fun started long before the dance. According to Jennifer Laskey, "People went out with the intention of having a good time, and that is what they did." She went to two pre-grad parties and a bar before arriving at the dance.

The dance, which started at 8 o'clock, was held at the Regency Hyatt Hotel. The formal dress of the students was matched by the plushness of the hotel decor. Only the dinner left something to be desired.

No one had come for the food, however, and the dance floor was constantly full. Music was provided by a rock band, "The Beat," featuring WHS graduate David Hazen, alternating with disc jockey Neil Tolchinsky.

The teachers had as much fun as the students. As metal works instructor, Mr. McAulay, said afterwards, "We were there as guests rather than as chaperones."

Late, late show

After the dance, there was "Young Frankenstein" at the Seville, put on for the benefit of the WHS grad. The movie started at 2:30 am, and though the students enjoyed it, many did not stay until the end so that they could make it up the mountain in time to see the sunrise.

The sun duly risen, there were still breakfast parties to go to and a few lunch parties as well. By this time, however, conversation tended to be monosyllabic and it was fairly soon afterwards that most students found their way home.

Everyone agreed that the grad was a success. Jonathan Kahn summed up the general feeling when he described it as, department and its mini world cup tournament has drawn many keen players.

This month, however, it's time for the quadrennial real World Cup of soccer, being played, starting today, in Argentina. The growing number of soccer fans in Westmount and Montreal won't be able to watch this most worldwide of sporting events on home television but it can be seen in Montreal on the giant screen at the Maurice Richard Arena.

Nineteen of the most interesting matches in the 16-nation showdown will be shown live and in color on the screen, starting with today's opening game which sees West Germany play Poland. It starts at 2 pm.

Tomorrow, the France-Italy contest will be shown at 12:45, followed at 6:15 pm by Hungary against the host Argentinian team. Saturday, the Peru-Scotland match will start at 3:45 pm.

Eight other matches from the opening round will be shown, as will six of the second round contests. The championship final will be shown Sunday, June 25, starting at 2 pm.

Information about tickets to the televised matches is available from the Maurice Richard Arena, 872-2440 or 256-1631.

GIRLS GUIDED: Ald. Brian Gallery presents a citizen badge award to one of 13 girl guides who turned out recently at city hall to partake in a discussion of Canadian and municipal government with Ald. Gallery and Assistant City Clerk Peter Patenaude, after which they underwent a brief test to qualify for the badges. Recipients of awards included, from the 66th Montreal Company (St. Matthias' Church), Sarah Fletcher, 325 Victoria avenue; Christine Gilsenan, 527 Victoria; Lucy Hoblyn, 46 Academy road; Catherine Leisser, 488 Elm avenue; Kathryn Mills, 3545 Grey avenue; Nicola Philpott, 436 Claremont avenue; and Mary Sweeney, 436 Clarke avenue. From the 34th Montreal Company (Dominion-Douglas Church), recipients included Sarah Beech, 3033 Sherbrooke street; Cynthia Bushell, 631 Carleton avenue; Lynne Dawson, 4379 Westmount avenue; Rebecca Elbourne, 4706 Westmount avenue; Pippa Shaddick, 580 Roslyn avenue; and Shannon Whatman, 3600 Atwater avenue. Accompanying the girls were 66th Company Guide Captain Lauren Sweeney and 34th Company Guide Lieutenant Angela Caretta.

"Well planned, well executed." Some returning 1977 graduates found it superior to their own.

The tickets for the dinner, dance and movie were a bargain at $8 each. This was due to the grad committee which raised $2,300 during the course of the year. The main fund-raising schemes were the "Purple and White Review," the chocolate bar drive organized by Ann Palmer, and the dance marathon organized by Rosy Hof and Liz Harper. Mr. Burt and Miss Karp were responsible for the co-ordination of the committee.

Germain Villeneuve, head of the grad committee, claims to have joined the body, "in order to provide WHS with the best possible grad this year." He certainly seems to have succeeded.

Playoff run starts in softball

By NICK KASIRER

Westmount's expanded spring softball season is nearing completion with teams using the games in the last third of the schedule to secure playoff berths.

The top two teams from atom, pee wee, and the bantam section will advance to a sudden-death league final, and competition is close in all divisions.

In atom last week, the Chiefs upset the first-place Angels in a high-scoring game to move into a three-way tie for second. The Astros are playing .500 ball after their win over the Giants, while the Jets remain in playoff contention thanks to a 9-8 victory over the Indians. Four games are left in the atom regular season.

In pee wee, the standings after nine games reflect the well-balanced league. The Reds, with captain Peter Lewis, coasted to their seventh win Monday over the Expos, but in pursuit in second place are the Cubs who beat the Mets 19-12. Nick Tingley and the Braves moved into a tie for third after edging the Dodgers 18-16 with six runs in the last two innings.

Despite their firm hold on the basement of the bantam softball league standings, the Cards, captained by Oliver Potterton, downed Mark Hazan's Twins 10-6 on Monday. Jeff Sinclair on the mound for the Pirates hoped to move his squad all alone into first, but Captain Bert Gow and the rest of the Royals came up with a big last inning to earn a 6-6 draw.

THE STRAIGHT AND NARROW? Joggers who might have been running off a hangover on the track behind Westmount High School last week would be forgiven if they rubbed their eyes a few times. New lines were made on the track for the spring jogging season but they obviously weren't made by a farm boy used to plowing straight furrows.

Jill Firstbrook named to team

Jill S. Firstbrook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Firstbrook, 749 Upper Lansdowne avenue, has been named to the division I all-east women's ski team by the U.S. Women's Eastern Intercollegiate Ski Association. Miss Firstbrook is a junior at Colby-Sawyer College, New London, New Hampshire.

WEISA is made up of 21 member colleges in New England and New York. It sponsored meets starting last Jan. 20, ending with the AIAW national championships in March in New Mexico.

Miss Firstbrook has consistently been one of the college's outstanding competitors. This year she took first place in both slalom and giant slalom in the eastern championships sponsored by the EAIAW. She competed in the same two races in the national event.

Big Macs pull up Socks

Recreation department soccer has developed a good spectator following in Prince Albert Park on Monday and Wednesday afternoons. This week, coach Vanya Levy led his "Big Macs" to a 1-0 win over the "Soccer Socks," thanks to a goal by Campbell Brown.

The Socks, after winning the season's first game, lost the second match last week 2-1 to the Big Macs on goals by Arianna Pancaldo and Robert Wexler.

STILL THRIVING, LIKE HER MAJESTY: Tomorrow marks the 25th anniversary of the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II and, like the Queen herself, these trees planted in Queen Elizabeth Gardens, Sherbrooke street at Wood avenue, on the coronation day, June 2, 1953, are still thriving and have grown in stature. The trees were planted by Mayor Roy Campbell and his five aldermen and a plaque (lower right and inset) commemorates the occasion.

Loan approval means work to proceed

Work can begin on the reconstruction of sidewalks on 13 Westmount streets following formal approval by city council Monday night of tenders submitted by North State Paving Ltd.

Approval of the tenders had awaited Quebec government approval of the city's recently-passed loan by-law, from which funds will be drawn to finance the reconstructions. North State already is rebuilding numerous sidewalks in Westmount for which capital funds had previously been available.

Sidewalk reconstruction was authorized on Burton, Kit-chener, Springfield, Lorraine and Willow avenues, Montrose avenue east of Ramezay road, Upper Belmont between Sunnyside and Devon avenues, Prince Albert from Sherbrooke street to Côte St. Antoine road, all but the western quarter of Prospect street, Redfern avenue from Sherbrooke street to de Maisonneuve boulevard, Thornhill avenue from Church Hill to Argyle avenues, and the east semicircle on Belmont crescent, overlooking King George Park. Also, the southeast quadrant of Summit circle, which is to be repaired, will receive new sidewalks as well.

Nearly all of the streets mentioned are to be resurfaced as well, but not until the sidewalk work has been completed.

In moving the acceptance of the North State tender, councillors added the words, "subject to the approval of the city attorney" in describing the contracts. It seems there has been some slight misunderstanding on the contracts already granted to North State, and council wanted to ensure that this was more clearly spelled out in the new contracts.

The work involves a total capital outlay of $80,527.10, some $27,500 of which will go for the contract on Summit Circle.

Four lifters during week

Four shoplifters were caught by store personnel during the past week and charged with thefts ranging from $9.50 to $91.95. Arrests took place last Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Monday, and the total recovery of stolen items was $185.41.

Also during the past week police arrested four drivers in Westmount on whom warrants had been served for non-payment of tickets. One of the arrests was last Tuesday, two were last Wednesday and one on Friday. They netted various municipalities $289.33 in previously uncollectable fines.

Police arrested one other person, last Thursday, driving while his licence was under suspension.

One room is damaged in Greene fire

Fire erupted in the laundry room of a house at 1356 Greene avenue Friday morning, causing considerable damage to the room but contained there by quick work of the Westmount Fire Brigade.

A maid on the third floor of the house thought she smelled smoke, went onto the rear balcony and looked below her to find flames shooting out a window on the second floor. Immediately she awakened the one resident of the house who notified the local fire station.

Firemen raised a 40-foot ladder to the roof and used a 1½ inch stream to contain the blaze, stopping it before much damage could occur. They reported extensive damage to the one room and smoke damage throughout the house; initial estimates put the loss at about $8,000.

It is believed an electrical problem started the fire.

No quorums in agency voting

Quorums were not obtained in Sunday's elections for directors of Ville Marie Social Service Centre and Jewish Family Services social service centre, so in both instances notices must be sent to the regional council of social services to have them name directors.

The Ville Marie public meetings, held in three separate locations on the western part of Montreal Island, drew a total of 17 persons, including 13 at Weredale House, 6 Weredale park.

In the election three persons were seeking two posts on the board of directors, though at the last minute Mrs. June Arsenault withdrew in support of the other two candidates, Mrs. Joy Duff and Mrs. Mary Wildman Guadagnola. Election rules state, however, that the new directors must be named by the regional council; sources at Ville Marie suggest that the entire situation will be described to them and that they will probably name the other two as consumer representatives on the board.

At JFS, some 31 persons showed up, still below the 50 needed for a quorum; the total number on hand did cast ballots to elect two of three candidates, including Joseph Levy, Leah Simkin and Ruth Streekmeester. Officials say they sent the results on to the regional council but would not reveal them publicly pending the appointment of representatives.

None of the hospitals in the Westmount area held elections, since in all cases the two consumer representatives were acclaimed.

Over 456,000 individual annuities were sold in Canada in 1976, up from 423,000 a year earlier. Group annuity certificates increased to 574,000 from 496,000 excluding deposited administration contract figures.
