Boiling Mercury Climbed To New Altitude Marks

Estimated that Hot Weather and Violent Storms Have Taken a Toll of Upwards of 175 Lives During Past Few Days—Weather Forecasts Indicated that Sizzling Temperatures Would Continue Until Sunday, at Least—Cities Along Atlantic Seaboard Sweltered in Temperatures Ranging from Ninety-five to a Hundred Degrees—Stated that Business Is Being Seriously Interfered With by Hot Weather.

(Associated Press Despatch)

CHICAGO, June 6.—From the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic seaboard, the country sweltered last night in the grip of a record-breaking heat wave, while weather reports held little hope of immediate relief and death tolls and prostrations increased.

Tabulations revealed that the hot weather and violent storms which accompanied Old Sol's heat jag, have taken a toll of upwards of one hundred and seventy-five lives during the past few days. Weather forecasts indicated that the sizzling temperatures would continue until Sunday, at least.

In many cities the boiling mercury climbed to new altitude records, causing additional deaths and prostrations, starting fires, causing the closing of some schools and interfering with business.

Upwards of thirty deaths were reported in the "Furnace belt." In Chicago two fires were attributed to the sun's rays on combustible material. Bathing beaches were opened and people were admitted to the parks to sleep, and ice was being given out to the poor without charge, while several schools were dismissed on account of the heat when the mercury climbed to 95.4, a new high record for June 5th.

Cities along the Atlantic seaboard sweltered in temperatures ranging from ninety-five to one hundred degrees and complained that business was being interfered with seriously by the hot weather. The violent wind storms which have been a feature of the heat wave were evidenced yesterday in Minnesota.

NEW YORK GASPING FOR BREATH—HOSPITALS CROWDED

(Associated Press Despatch)

NEW YORK, June 6.—The worst of six successive days of torrid heat has added sixty-nine victims to the eastern states' heat death list, bringing the total to 140.

New York City, gasping for breath, in a temperature of ninety-six degrees, recorded fifteen deaths due to heat yesterday. Hospitals were crowded. Ambulance staffs worked unceasingly throughout the night. Eighty cases of prostration required medical attention. More than fifteen thousand persons slept in parks last night.

Thirteen more persons died in Philadelphia when the mercury broke all high records for June with a temperature of 100.3. Numerous cities exceeded the 100 mark. The Government Observation Station at Keedysville, Md., recorded 104 degrees. Four more died in Baltimore in a temperature of 101. Other highs were noted in Jersey City, 101; Middletown, N.Y., 102; Poughkeepsie, 100.

Cool breezes brought relief to a few sections. Stroudsburg, Pa., reported the mercury varying between sixty-eight and eighty-five degrees.

MANY UNUSUAL FEATURES OF RECORD HEAT WAVE

(Associated Press Despatch)

NEW YORK, June 6.—Among the many unusual features of the record heat wave reported in New York, and in despatches from other cities today are the following:

Thirty New York firemen were temporarily overcome by heat by fighting a five alarm fire which destroyed the plant of the Standard Woodworking Company in Brooklyn today. The loss is estimated at $250,000.

An egg was fried in nine minutes on an asphalt street pavement in Washington. No one volunteered to eat it.

New York traffic officers have been supplied with wooden standing platforms after one officer narrowly escaped being run down by a truck when he was unable to pull loose his feet from the melted asphalt.

Passengers sailing for Europe are advised to take overcoats. The liners Arabic and Lapland report a maximum temperature of 60 degrees on the ocean.

(Associated Press Despatch)

ALLAHABAD, B. I., June 6.—The correspondent of the Allana-Pioneer, at Meshed, Persia, states that Persian troops have evacuated Mirjawa and Duzdap, on the railway near the border of Baluchistan.

The Baluchistan rising, he adds, is expected to end shortly. The Persian Government has notified the insurgents that it is prepared to listen to complaints against the conduct of local officials.

Home Bank Legislation To Be Considered In Commons On Monday—Final Estimates For The Fisheries Service Were Passed

Bills Amending Meat and Canned Foods Act, Fruit Act and Animal Contagious Diseases Act Were Given Second Reading in Senate Yesterday—Two C.P.R. Branch Line Bills Were Introduced.

(Associated Press Despatch)

OTTAWA, Ont., June 6.—The Home Bank legislation will be considered when the members of the House of Commons reassemble on Monday. In the Commons, yesterday, the final estimates for the fisheries service were passed. Estimates for harbors and rivers in Quebec, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta were also considered. In the Senate, bills amending the Meat and Canned Foods Act, the Fruit Act and the Animal Contagious Diseases Act were given second reading. Two Canadian Pacific branch line bills were introduced.

INSTRUCT RAILWAY BOARD TO REVISE FREIGHT RATES

(Associated Press Despatch)

OTTAWA, June 6.—The Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada has been instructed by Order-in-Council passed yesterday, to make a "thorough and complete investigation of the whole subject of railway freight rates in the Dominion." The Order-in-Council authorizing investigation sets forth "that the policy of equalization of freight rates should be recognized to the fullest possible extent as being the only means of dealing equitably with all parts of Canada and as being the method best calculated to facilitate the interchange of commodities between the various portions of the Dominion, as well as the encouragement of industry and agriculture, and the development of export trade."

L. H. MARTEL CONDEMNED FISHING ON SUNDAYS

OTTAWA, June 6.—Followers of Isaac Walton, who are prone to wield the rod and line and indulge in sport fishing on Sundays in Nova Scotia, came under discussion in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon when an item for civil government administration in the fisheries branch of the Department of Marine and Fisheries was under consideration.

"Was there ever in existence," asked L. H. Martel (Liberal, Hants) "a regulation which prevented sport fishing on rivers or streams on Sunday, and if so, is such a regulation still in effect in Nova Scotia?"

"There is none," replied Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Minister of Marine and Fisheries.

"Has the department ever taken into consideration," Mr. Martel again asked, "the advisability of making Sunday a closed time both in the interests of the fisheries themselves, in order that the fish may be able to get to their spawning grounds? I think that would aid the fisheries generally, apart from the moral side. I think more harm is done by Sunday fishing than by all other fishing throughout the week. People go off in the morning and whip practically every stream. They are also the cause of setting fires. Moreover, there is a day set aside for rest—and that is the seventh day."

"How about Saturday," interjected R. B. Hanson (Conservative, York-Sunbury), to the amusement of the House.

"You can take it from the Scripture, or in any other way," retorted Mr. Martel. "One day in seven is necessary, physically as well as mentally."

CHIEF CRITICISM AGAINST NOTE IS IT GIVES GERMANY TOO EASY OPPORTUNITIES FOR QUIBBLING

Most of French Papers Print Analysis of Note Despatched to Germany by Council of Ambassadors, Pointing Out in What Respect Germany Has Failed to Live Up to Treaty Stipulations as Regards Disarmament, Almost Without Comment—La Journal Declares Nothing Has Been Overlooked to Encourage an Act of Good-Will from Germany.

(Associated Press Despatch)

PARIS, June 6.—An analysis of the note despatched to Germany by the Council of Ambassadors, pointing out in what respect Germany has failed to live up to the treaty stipulations as regards disarmament, is printed by the morning newspapers almost without comment.

The chief criticism directed against the note is that it gives Germany too easy opportunities for quibbling, as it deals too much in details and neglects the broad principles.

The Figaro says: "It furnishes decisive testimony of the Allies' moderation." According to Le Journal, nothing has been overlooked to encourage an act of good will from Germany.

The Echo de Paris says the document is sufficient to condemn Germany. "But," it adds, "in the landscape of war therein represented the trees have been depicted in such a manner that the forest is invisible."

(Associated Press Despatch)

OTTAWA, June 6.—Although printing a considerable amount of German comment on the Allied disarmament note, the Paris morning papers as yet have little to make themselves.

The note is generally described as drafted in most conciliatory terms and as allowing the German Government to hasten the evacuation of the Cologne zone "if only it is prepared to show good will."

The tone of the communication is described as extremely courteous and credit is taken for the mention made in it that the Dawes reparation plan is being faithfully executed by Germany.

It is also pointed out that the Allies express their willingness to withdraw their control commission in order to encourage Germany to fulfill all the conditions of the Versailles Treaty.

(Associated Press Despatch)

PARIS, June 6.—The French and British Foreign Offices are making satisfactory progress in ironing out the differences over their replies to Germany's security pact proposal, it is said in official quarters.

France expects to send her reply to Berlin either next week or after the return of Foreign Minister Briand, who left for Geneva this morning to attend the League of Nations Council, opening on Monday. While in Geneva he will discuss the question with the British Foreign Secretary, Austen Chamberlain.

(Associated Press Despatch)

GENEVA, June 6.—Canada yesterday rallied to the idea of a conference to be held in Washington with a view to outlawing the use of poison gas in warfare, the suggestion having been advanced by T. E. Burton, the United States representative at the present conference on the control of arms. The Canadian delegate, Dr. Walter A. Riddell, supported the proposal of Mr. Burton.

He recalled the fact that it was the Canadian troops, the First Canadian Division, who had stood the first shock of poison gas when it was projected from the German trenches at Ypres, in April, 1915, thus emphasizing Canada's interest in any movement that would have for its aim the suppression of this method of waging war.

Thrilled by eloquent appeals from Paul Boncour, France, and Mr. Burton, the conference at a memorable session last night went on record in favor of the immediate framing of a special protocol by which the use of asphyxiating gas in wartime henceforth would be outlawed.

COLLIERIES OF B. E. S. CO. IDLE THIS MORNING

Springhill Collieries Left to Mercy of the Encroaching Waters and Gas.

(Associated Press Despatch)

SPRINGHILL, June 6.—The Springhill collieries of the British Empire Steel Corporation were idle this morning, having been left to the mercy of the encroaching waters and gas following their abandonment on Thursday night by the company officials who had been doing maintenance work since the coal miners ceased work on March 6th. These men were withdrawn on the announcement of the United Mine Workers that a "hundred per cent." policy of picketing would be enforced by the strikers.

(Associated Press Despatch)

SYDNEY, N. S., June 6th.—Following the arrest of seven members of the United Mine Workers of America, district 26, charged with "unlawfully assembling" at New Waterford and Dominion last night, a body of pickets, between two and three hundred strong, invaded the power plant at number 6 mine, the only remaining colliery where maintenance work had been carried on yesterday, and driving out the officials shut down the pumps and the fans, with the result that the wage dispute between the British Empire Steel Corporation and its 12,000 employees, today entered its fourth month with every mine in the Southern Cape Breton coal field closed down tight, the company's mines at Springhill abandoned and operations in the company's Pictou County areas at a standstill.

The raid at number 6 was carried on without violence. The seven U. M. W. pickets arrested were lodged in the city jail here last night. Hugh MacKay, warden of the County Jail, having refused, it is stated, to admit the men arrested by the company police. In addition to sub-director board member Dan R. MacNeil, president Angus MacCachern, of number 12 local, New Waterford, was among those arrested and lodged in the Sydney jail.

Reports received up to a late hour this morning from various parts of the district reported no unusual happenings.

Mrs. J. H. Hallenbeck, 117 1/2 Wellington Avenue, St. Catharines, Ont., writes: "I was in a gas explosion; it left me with a weak heart, and my nerves were all gone. I suffered everything; couldn't sleep, or endure any excitement, and when left alone I felt as if I could scream. I took dizzy spells, often falling and bruising myself. My mother read about your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and bought me a box, but having taken so many different kinds of medicine it just seemed that I did not have any confidence in any of them. I took one box of H. & N. Pills, and felt so much better I continued with them until I had used five boxes, and after I had taken them I did not need any more. I cannot praise, or recommend, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills too highly after all they have done for me." Put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Children's Cozy Corner

THE ONLY FREAK WHO WASN'T SMART.

By Thornton W. Burgess. The smartest folk you find are they who face new dangers every day.

—Peter Rabbit.

Peter Rabbit found the little white Porcupine. He found him right where Jumper the Hare had seen him the day before. In fact, he was in the very same tree. And he was white. There was no doubt about it, he was white. His sister, who was with him, was dressed just as a young Porcupine should be dressed. But this little fellow was white, and he had pink eyes. Yes, sir, he did so. He had pink eyes. And he didn't seem to care about anything but coat or his pink eyes. He didn't seem to care about anything but filling his stomach, and that took a lot of filling.

"Humph!" grunted the little white Porky with the pink eyes

he won't last long in the Great World."

Of course, Peter hurried back to the edge of the Green Forest, lip-perty-lip-perty-lip, as fast as his long legs would take him. He wanted to find the white Robin and the white Red Squirrel to tell them of the little white son of Pricky Porky the Porcupine. You know Peter dearly loves to be a carrier of news. He thinks it most as much fun to tell things as it is to find out things.

Of course the white Robin and the white Squirrel made a journey into the Green Forest to see the white Porcupine. Peter showed them the way. Of course, both wanted to talk with the white Porcupine. But the little Porky was not at all polite. He wasn't at all interested in anything but that stomach of his. He didn't even know he was a freak. And when they told him that he was a freak he didn't care. He said so.

"You ought to care," declared the white Robin. "You will find that if you want to live you will have to be a lot smarter than your relatives who haven't white coats."

"Humph!" grunted the little white Porky with the pink eyes, and went right on eating.

"You see," explained the young white Red Squirrel "your white coat makes it easy for your enemies to see you, and that is why you have to be smarter than you would have to be without a white coat."

"Humph!" grunted the little white Porky with the pink eyes, and this time he rattled the thousand little spears hidden in his white coat, and went right on eating.

The white Robin and the white Red Squirrel at last gave up. "He's stupid," said the white Robin. "He's just plain, everyday stupid. With that white coat and such stupidity ins. and Alice to our corner, and the corner uncle always enjoys greeting new members of the Cozy Corner as well as the "tried and true" cousins.

I am not quite sure who "Betty" is, but she is welcome also. I am glad to know she works part of the time, for you know all play and no work makes one a mere toy. I think it is fine to do our work first, and cheerfully, then playtime is much jollier.

Do you like the story about the tulips? I think it is very nice, and we shall have more next Saturday, then the next week it will be complete.

I know a boy who has twelve chicks which came from twelve eggs he got to raise chicks for the school fair. Do you not think he had good luck with them? We all hope nothing happens to them while they are growing up. I saw a small turtle this morning and I got my kodak and put him on a rock, then snapped him. He was very small, and I do not know what his picture will look like.

Until next Saturday best wishes from

UNCLE JIM.

THE TULIPS OF DEVON

(By Archibald Key)

For a few minutes the garden was wrapped in darkness and not a sound was heard except the gentle sighing of the latest arrival, a young rosebud, who had previously complained that she felt a little uncomfortable in her new bed. She was a bit restless and could not sleep, so when the moon climbed over the garden wall she cautiously leaned across to the tulip and whispered, "Are you asleep?"

"No," said the tulip. "I was not dressed for bed when the light went out and I had to wait for the coming of the moon so I could see to fold up my petals neatly."

"I guess those spears are just as sharp as the spears of any of his relatives, and no one wants to find out how sharp they are. He probably won't be any smarter nor any more stupid than any of his relatives. It really doesn't make a bit of difference to him that he is a freak. He is one freak who doesn't have to be smart."

It turned out just as Peter had said. The white Robin and the white Squirrel had to be very smart, indeed, all their lives, but the white Porcupine didn't have to be smart at all. So you see there is such a thing as being too well protected. By the way, when one of these little people who shouldn't be white at all is all white it, it is said to be an albino.

LETTERS FROM THE CORNER FOLK

Dear Uncle Jim:

This is my first letter to your corner. Our school closed last Friday and I was sorry because I like to go to school. Our teacher was Miss Gault. I am having a good time now staying with my cousin for a few days. My Mama reads the children's corner to me so I thought I would write a letter to Uncle Jim. I have a pet dog named Buster and I have a good time playing with him. My letter is getting long so I will close for this time.

Your loving niece, GERALDINE ROSE.

Bury.

Dear Uncle Jim:

I am writing to the corner for the first time. I have two pet cats and a dog, and we have four hens and nineteen chicks. I would like to be one of your nieces. Wishing the corner success, I am,

Your niece, ALICE WRIGHT, Ayer's Cliff, R.M.D. No. 1.

Dear Uncle Jim:

I have missed the daily corner some, but as we have so many things to do out-of-doors it does not give much time to read. I like to read the letters and stories in the corner, and always watch for the paper on Saturdays to see who the cousins are and what they have for news. Our school will soon be closed and then hurrah! for outdoor play. I always do some work around home, for we must not play all the time, must we Uncle Jim? I shall watch for my letter in the corner. Wishing you a happy summer, I am,

One of your nieces, BETTY.

Sherbrooke.

UNCLE JIM'S LETTER

Dear Corner Folk:

All the cousins are very busy and happy these days, I am sure. The rainy season has been a little unpleasant, but everything is growing nicely now, and soon the berries will be ripe, and the gardens filled with all kinds of good things to eat. I have noticed that the strawberry blossoms are large, and so many of them! In some places the ground is almost white. I often wonder if every blossom makes a berry. Do you think they do?

The cherry trees were beautiful last month, and now the apple trees are pretty and fragrant. I hope none of the corner folk destroy apple trees in breaking off branches in bloom. I saw some trees one day that were nearly ruined, and I have seen lilac bushes broken so badly that they were not pretty to look at, and would surely not have many blossoms the next season. We should always be considerate when gathering wild flowers, especially the ones that are not plentiful. We are glad to welcome Gerald-

"I'm glad," said the rose, "because I don't know any one here yet and I feel ever so lonely!" And two little drowsy rolled down to the ground. The tulips were sorry for the tiny rosebud, because he still remembered how when just a little bud himself, he had been taken from his brothers and sisters and planted amongst strangers.

"Don't cry any more, little pink rose," he said. "Well stay awake a little while longer, and I will tell you a story."

The rosebud looked up and smiled. "Perhaps I shall not feel lonely much longer," she said, "although I do miss my little brother, but I'll try not to cry any more."

The tulip was just going to start his story when he heard a whisper from across the path. "Speak a little louder," the voice said, and he saw the carnation blink his eyes and shake the drowsiness from them.

When the carnation felt wide awake again it called to the other flowers, "Wake up, wake up, Red Tulip is going to tell a story!"

WESTERN TOURS THIS SUMMER REMARKABLY LOW IN COST

"We have travelled through the most glorious scenery it has ever been my privilege to witness," were the words used by the Duke of Devonshire, while Governor-General of Canada, in expressing his admiration for the scenery of the Pacific Coast. The opinion he formed of our magnificent west is confirmed by the many people who tour this wonderful country every year.

Tommy came out of a room where his father was tacking down a carpet. He was crying lustily. "Why, Tommy, what's the matter?" asked his mother. "P-p-papa hit his finger with the hammer," sobbed Tommy. LOCAL GARAGE MEN IN MIDST OF GAS WAR

Rate-Cutting Started Yesterday—Some Refuse to Make Change—Motorists Keenly Interested.

Several of Sherbrooke's garage owners are at the present time busily engaged in a "gasoline war" which is causing much comment both from motorists, who are following proceedings very carefully, and from garage owners generally, many of whom do not favor the event.

The war was started early yesterday morning when a local garage informed the public that it intended selling its gas at a reduced price, knocking off a couple of cents per gallon. When this news reached the other gas sellers, it is understood that several of them got into communication with this firm and asked them if they would not continue selling gas at its former price, instead of reducing it.

The local motorists, who are ever more interested in this war than the actual garage men themselves, are watching its activities carefully, and many varied opinions are expressed as to its final outcome. Many motorists feel that the reduction has come to stay, and state that it should have taken place a long time ago. Other less cheerful auto owners feel that some decision will be arrived at by the gas sellers whereby gas will again be sold at its former price.

The former price of gas in the city was from thirty-two to thirty-eight cents per gallon. The firms that have made the change are now selling their gas from twenty-seven to thirty-two cents per gallon, according to the quality of the gas. A reduction of a couple of cents per gallon means a considerable saving to the motorist, and also shows quite an effect on the seller's profits.

June 10. To mark the auspiciousness of the occasion, Rev. Dr. Lennon is taking as his sermon theme "A Methodist Valedictory."

It is likely that arrangements now under way for the celebration of the inauguration of the United Church in Sherbrooke on Sunday, June 21, will be carried through after the return of the local delegates who are attending the General Council of the United Church, which meets in Toronto on Wednesday of next week.

THE NEW CALL OF THE YUKON

The old call is silent now. For a while it rang out over the continent and was heard in the homes of pauper and prince, and peasant bidding them come and feed fat their ancient craving for gold. They came and some of them went away again; some richer, some poorer; some happier, some sadder; and some there were who never came back at all. But all that is past and done with. And now the Yukon calls again. Offering not gold, but beauty; finding its echo not in the greed of man but in his yearning to understand the mysteries of the northland and to come under the magic-spell of the spirit of Alaska; to behold her grandeur, and to be among gleaming glaciers which "hem you in with a silence you most could hear."

EIGHTY-ONE TOP POINT TOUCHED BY MERCURY

Rain Clouds Passed Over This District — Large Amount of Water Is Being Used.

Sherbrooke residents returned to their business activities this morning under the extremely hot rays of the sun, and with the thermometer again registering a high mark, the mercury at noon standing opposite the eighty-one point. This, however, is four points lower than yesterday, when the mercury registered eighty-five at noon, and later in the afternoon in some places in the city went even higher.

Reports from the Lennoxville Experimental Station stated that the minimum temperature this morning was sixty-three, while yesterday it was fifty and on the day previous fifty-eight. The maximum temperature reported yesterday was eighty-five and on Thursday eighty-seven.

Relief seemed to be in store early last evening when the skies came in for much discussion. Thunder claps and lightning were very prominent and all pointed to a rain and electrical storm, which no doubt would greatly have helped to cool the air. However, hopes were soon shattered when it became apparent the elements had changed their course and the storm was not to be experienced in this locality. Slight comfort, however, was secured from the pleasant cool breeze which was felt during the evening and night.

There is a certain amount of consolation to know that Sherbrooke and vicinity is not alone in this heat wave. Reports from localities, some near and some far distant, all tell of suffering caused by the heat. In many places the heat has been so excessive that deaths have been caused. No serious or fatal effects have been reported in this locality as yet.

City Using 4,000,000 Gallons of Water Daily

The citizens of Sherbrooke are taking every means of keeping cool. The city is doing its share by sprinkling the streets several times daily, which, it is believed, has helped to cool the air. Electric fans and other such appliances are very popular. Reports from the city water department show that during the past few days four million gallons of water are daily pumped and used for domestic purposes only. This amount is considerably greater than during cooler weather.

Many people are consoling themselves with the hope that slightly cooler weather will be realized early next week, although weather authorities are of the opinion that the present heat wave will be felt for a few days longer.

Mr. Bartley N. Holtham, Queen Street, is leaving today for Montreal, where his marriage will take place on Tuesday to Miss Florence Seades. Last evening a number of his friends entertained at a stag party in his honor and presented him with a set of glassware.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Martin and Miss Ardell Kinkaid, Queen street, have returned from Lawrence, Mass., where they attended the wedding of Miss Annie Martin and Mr. Ralph H. Manahan. Miss Ruth Martin, who also attended the wedding, remained for a longer stay in Lawrence.

All former pupils of Notre Dame Convent are cordially invited to attend the annual reunion tomorrow, June 7th. Benediction will be given at three o'clock (advanced time) and will be followed by a meeting of the Alumnae Association and a musical programme, to which both present and former pupils will contribute.

Union Encampment No. 3, I.O. F. met last evening with a large attendance and many business items were discussed. It was decided to hold a special meeting on Saturday, June 20th, for the purpose of conferring the Patriarchal Degree on a large number of candidates from East Angus and other places. The next regular meeting of this Encampment will be held Thursday evening, June 18th.

A delightful social event took place on Wednesday last at the home of Mrs. B. C. Howard, Howardville, when an aluminum shower was given in honor of Miss Abbie McSwiggan, whose marriage to Mr. D. Snell, of Schenectady, N. Y., takes place on Wednesday, June 10th. Miss McSwiggan was invited to Mrs. Howard's home entirely unaware of what was in store for her. Luncheon was served on the porch, where covers were laid for sixteen guests, who were received by Mrs. B. C. Howard and Mrs. C. B. Howard, these two ladies being responsible for the enjoyable affair. Mrs. W. B. McCaw poured tea, while Mrs. D. J. Salls cut the ices. At the conclusion of the lunch the guest of honor was conducted into the library, where, in a novel manner, Mrs. P. D. Mathias introduced her to a form garbed in the uniform of a John Hopkins Memorial Hospital nurse, behind which were piled aluminum ware of all sorts. Miss McSwiggan was taken completely by surprise, and feelingly expressed her appreciation in a few words.

CHURCH UNION TO BE REALIZED ON WEDNESDAY

Rev. Dr. G. E. Read and Rev. Dr. W. S. Lennon Will Attend Important Sessions at Toronto Next Week.

Before another week passes, the long-talked-of and long-anticipated union of the Presbyterian, Congregational and Methodist forces of Canada will have been consummated in the coming into being of the United Church of Canada on Wednesday next. The local delegates to the First General Council of the new United Church, Rev. Dr. G. Ellery Read and Rev. Dr. W. S. Lennon, along with several laymen of the local Methodist and Congregational Churches, leave for Toronto early next week to attend the denominational gatherings which are to meet previous to the assembly of the General Council of the United Church. The Presbyterian General Assembly is already in session and will continue until Tuesday. The Council of the Congregational Union meets on Monday and will also close on Tuesday. The General Conference of the Methodist Church meets normally once in four years, and, inasmuch as it met in 1922 and completed all work preparatory to the Union, there will be no meeting of this legislative body of the Methodist Church. Arrangements have been made, however, for an informal gathering of representative Methodist ministers and laymen from all parts of Canada in Metropolitan Church, Toronto, on Tuesday, June 9th, in connection with which suitable valedictory services will be provided.

The General Council of the new United Church will be composed of three hundred and fifty delegates, one hundred and fifty of which have been appointed by the Presbyterian Church, an equal number by the Methodist Church, forty by the Congregational Churches and ten by the Council of Local Union Churches of the West.

WHEEL CRASHED INTO STORE WINDOW

In connection with the accident on Thursday afternoon that resulted in the window of the store occupied by A. C. Skinner being smashed, it was explained today that the automobile, which was driven by Mrs. McClear, of Lennoxville, did not leave the road, Mrs. McClear was driving along Wellington Street and in attempting to turn out one of the wheels of her car caught in the street car track and was torn off. The car was immediately brought to a stop, but the loose wheel continued across the sidewalk and landed against the store window.

It is not extravagant to say that probably the most interesting item of world news next week will be the news of the final consummation of this great union of three leading Christian bodies in Canada — a union unparalleled in its nature, for it is the first union of hitherto diverse denominations on a national scale, and beyond estimate in its spiritual significance and promise for the future of Canadian religious life.

The Groom's Gift to the Bride

GEORGE ANDERSON had the reputation of being a practical young man without much sentiment.

Consequently, when it transpired that the groom's gift to the bride was a Mutual Life Insurance policy on his own life for $5,000, some of her friends laughed and said, "I told you so."

But Nellie didn't laugh. She looked at the policy and a mist came into her eyes. She knew that the sentiment George felt was deeper than that which is expressed by trinkets of gold, silver and precious stones.

"He has dedicated his life to me," she whispered. "What more could I ask?"

A policy in the Mutual Life of Canada is an asset which makes for happiness and peace of mind. No young man who marries should neglect to establish such an asset. Mutuality reduces the cost. Write to-day for the Mutual Book.

CANADA'S FOREIGN TRADE.

Canada's foreign trade returns for the fiscal year 1925, which closed on March 31st, are very encouraging, for they show that notwithstanding the fact that the Western grain crop was only about three-fifths of the yield of the previous year, the Dominion strengthened its hold on the markets of the world.

The increase in exports and decrease in imports combined to produce an export surplus of $272,134,816, a mark that has not been approached since war times. The United States was Canada's greatest customer. The figures for the two past years of imports and exports follow:

	1924.	1925.
Exports	$1,045,351,056	$1,069,067,353
Imports	893,366,867	796,932,537

Export surplus 151,984,189 272,134,816
The United Kingdom was a close second to the United States as a purchaser of Canadian products, the value being $395,850,982. Canada increased her sales to the Mother Country by $35,793,200 the past year as compared with the previous twelve months, while purchases from the United Kingdom declined about $2,500,000 to an aggregate of $151,000,822. In trade with Great Britain this country had an export surplus of over $244,750,000 to offset our United States import surplus of $92,546,000.

Not only has the British market helped to stabilize our currency, but it continues to absorb the greater part of Canada's exportable surplus of agricultural and animal products. If we take the British Empire as a whole Canada's exports during the past year totalled $475,140,259 and the imports $194,991,066. Canada's trade with countries in the Empire, apart from Great Britain, was as follows:

	Exports.	Imports.
Australia	$12,037,203	$2,634,713
Bermuda	1,733,606	74,839
B. East Indies	6,155,522	12,929,744
British Guiana	2,422,524	6,938,760
B. South Africa	9,276,502	86,144
B. West Africa	394,911	195,785
B. West Indies	10,848,487	14,882,098
Hong Kong	1,707,569	1,861,793
Newfoundland	12,701,428	1,611,238
New Zealand	15,079,661	1,189,803
Other countries	6,931,364	1,485,327

While the great bulk of this country's trade is done with the Empire and the United States, Canadians are reaching all over the world in building up a considerable export business with foreign countries, as illustrated below.

	Exports.	Imports.
Germany	$24,234,685	$6,772,590
France	10,290,063	18,436,361
Japan	22,011,088	7,005,056
Belgium	16,633,411	5,061,912
Argentina	10,322,373	6,262,738
Italy	14,139,375	1,929,138
Cuba	7,142,406	7,798,128
Netherlands	12,644,245	5,077,323
Sweden	3,906,572	1,191,054
China	7,838,187	2,521,874
Brazil	3,417,249	1,818,213
Greece	5,369,933	423,810
Mexico	2,856,409	2,550,815
Norway	2,091,195	741,153
Switzerland	745,174	7,801,575
Rumania	32,882	3,662
Other countries	32,794,676	16,545,813

The majority of the above are good importing countries which will look to this country in the future for increasing supplies since United States is ceasing to export grain. In fact, records demonstrate that Canada has become the greatest exporter per capita in the world, New Zealand excepted, and indications point to a permanent expansion of this country's foreign trade.

TROTSKY'S RETURN TO POWER.

Leon Trotsky has returned to power with his election as president of the All-Russian Congress of Soviets. A short time ago he was forced out of the Soviet inner council and went into retirement, apparently beaten and crushed. Max Eastman, the American Communist, who is a friend of Trotsky and was close to him during these events, has published a story of his expulsion which seem to be authentic. The Communist party, like everything else in Russia, had become a centralized bureaucratic institution.

Branches were no longer allowed even to choose their own Secretaries; these were nominated by the central office. Espionage played havoc in the ranks. One official circular actually reminded members that it was their duty to denounce to the political police any one who dared to form groups within the party. And in due course those who did form groups within it were expelled and banished to remote parts of Russia. No wonder, as Trotsky put it, that the state of the party was one of "dead calm" no one dared speak his mind even at a branch meeting. At first the agitation for "democracy" seemed to triumph, and a resolution approving it was passed. But when Trotsky published a very sensible and, one would have thought, harmless letter pointing out the danger that the "Old Guard" might grow fossilized and lose touch with youth, a regular campaign was organized against him by the Triumvirate with all the resources of the party press (there is, of course, no other) and all the power of the machine.

Such is the tyranny which the Communists have been extolling.

PRESS COMMENT

MAN AND HIS CLOTHES.

(St. Louis Globe)
Men are not so indifferent to clothes as one may think. Give a modern man the smallest excuse for breaking into blossomy brilliance and he will do it. Golf, beach bathing, tennis, fox hunting, all afford him his chance at the reds, pinks and yellows, and in some lodge regalia he is as magnificent as Suleiman or any Oriental that ever lived.

Man dresses up well, and it is lamentable that such dressing is not permissible in daily life. But we have our duties to perform—heights in smoky cities, and we can't have apple-green silk coats with crimson facings and gold-embroidered waistcoats.

Would we not appear to be more significant to ourselves if we did? Providence forbid that our habiliments should bestow on us a sense of insignificance.

LORD LEVERHULME'S ACHIEVEMENTS.

(Christian Science Monitor)
To dwell on the achievements of Lord Leverhulme would demand volumes. His was a career full of results. Port Sunlight, the village near Birkenhead which his genius conceived and which, with its quaint houses, gardens, parks, tree-lined streets and recreation grounds, breathes an atmosphere of happiness and content, alone would have won him the admiration of the world. Yet its establishment was but one of many accomplishments rooted deep in the desire to make conditions for his fellow-men better than he had found them. He put into force a copartnership system which gave, and continues to give, his employees a share in the fruits of their labors, for he ever believed that the profits from a business grew largely from the interest of the workers and should not be taken in their entirety by the employer.

ALBERTA PROGRESS.

(Edmonton Bulletin)
Not many years ago Alberta used to import butter at certain seasons. That condition has ceased. The home market is now fully supplied from home sources. The demand elsewhere in Canada is also supplied. Practically every pound that is added to creamery production now means an added pound shipped abroad, and the price of an added pound brought into the Province from some outside country. This year's export from Alberta out of Canada is estimated to run 7,000,000 pounds. Five years ago the total was 1,000,000 pounds. That indicates something more than that Alberta is producing more butter. It proves also that there is a demand abroad for the surplus that is being produced. If the demand abroad did not grow with the production at home, demoralization would have fallen upon the whole industry.

CIVIL AVIATION.

(Toronto Globe)
A report on civil aviation in Canada for 1924 which has just been issued by the Federal Government reveals another story of progress. The total aircraft mileage last year was 294,778, as against 188,098 for the year previous. Evidently the seaplanes are the most popular in this country, for there was a decline in both aeroplanes and amphibian mileage, the seaplanes alone making the big increase. The total personnel carried was 8,090, against 5,324 the previous year. Freight express carried increased from 17,600 pounds to 77,385 pounds, while 1,221 pounds of mail matter was transported last year. In Canada in civil aviation we now have 24 air harbors, 32 licensed aircraft, and a licensed flying personnel of 201. Last year there was only one accident resulting in death for the 294,778 miles travelled. So far most of the flying has been done in Ontario and Quebec. Including the operations by the Ontario Government, the aircraft mileage in this Province last year was 195,578, and 84,000 for Quebec.

ONE DRIVE THAT FAILED.

(Boston Transcript)
It has come to be theory pretty generally accepted that an organized "drive" to secure money for almost any purpose under the sun is sure of success. But New York reports the drive that failed. The house in which President James Monroe spent the last days of his life has been sold and will be demolished. For some years effort has been in progress to raise a fund of several hundred thousand dollars for the preservation of the building.

But it would be unfair to ascribe the failure of this particular drive to lack of appreciation of Monroe and his services. To begin with, here was no movement for the preservation of one of the historic homes of America. The house was built in 1823 by Samuel L. Gouverneur, son-in-law of Monroe. It was one of the pretentious homes of New York in its day, but it requires much stretching of the imagination to picture it as the home of Monroe. He came there an old man to linger a few months or years and die. The property was sold four years after his passing. Further reason for lack of interest in the effort to preserve the house may be found in the fact that, of the original structure, little was left in addition to the walls and the roof. Interior offered few traces of former grandeur.

WILL HAVE TO SETTLE POLAR REGION CLAIMS

New York Times Asks if Canada's Claim Is Arbitrary and What Is Basis for It.

(Associated Press Despatch)
NEW YORK, June 5.—Discussing editorially the claim made by Canada, through Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, in the House of Commons on Monday that all lands to the north of the Dominion, already discovered or yet to be discovered, will be claimed by Canada, the New York Times this morning asks if the claim is arbitrary and what is the basis for it.

The Times declared that Canada claims the mass of islands north of her organized territory by right mainly of British discovery, and points to the long line of British polar explorers whose names survive in the lands which they were the first to penetrate. The Times says:

"Canada's claims to these islands could be challenged by the United States and Norway. They have not been mapped out as in the Franklin district. It may be doubted whether the Dominion Government believes that its pretensions to them would be taken seriously. But the day is near when title to lands in the north polar region will have to be established. Their aeronautical value for communications between the East and West is now recognized."

THE Dutch Colonial House is always popular. In this style of house the eaves are usually close to the ground. The cornice line aids in lowering the appearance of the house and gives it that cozy, low appearance which characterizes the cottages of this period.

Note the proportions of the dormer entrance to rear hall and basement, which give the second floor nearly as much space as the first.

The green shutters and lattice work at the entrance help to accentuate the style.

The house is admirably laid out for a large family. The kitchen is light and well ventilated, with sink and cupboards on the outside wall. A small dining alcove is provided for the morning meal. For a house facing south this is an ideal arrangement, as the sun room, kitchen and dining alcove admit the morning sun when it is most needed.

The second floor contains three large bedrooms, bath and sleeping porch. The basement is full size of the house. Closets are provided for all sleeping rooms.

You know him well—too well. Iron Oxide is only another name for RUST—the biggest thief, the greatest property destroyer in the world.

Yet most loss from rust is unnecessary. If you will coat any exposed metal surface with Barrett Everjet Paint, you've beaten rust. Sun, rain and snow have no effect on this enduring protective paint. Once on, the elastic film-coat of Everjet stays on.

Our long experience with paints of many kinds convinces us that the quality of Everjet cannot be duplicated at the price. Another thought—
Before you roof or re-roof—see our complete line of Barrett Roofings. There's a roofing suitable for your home, your garage, your farm building or your factory.

DEATHS REPORTED

MR. DANIEL W. JACKMAN, GRANBY

GRANBY, Que., June 6.—The death of Mr. Daniel W. Jackman, which occurred on May 30th, 1925, removes one, who, for many years, was a familiar figure in this city.

The late Mr. Jackman was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alvan Jackman, and was born at Abbotsford, Que., on May 28th, 1854. Practically his whole life was spent in this community. His genial and kindly nature was such that the expression was heard at the time of his death "There was a man who had not an enemy in the world." He was unmarried, and made his home with his brother, Mr. O. H. Jackman, at whose residence the funeral was held on June 1st.

The service was conducted by Rev. H. W. Burnett, pastor of the Methodist Church, with Mr. A. J. Scale acting as Director. The hearers were far beyond the number of the deceased, Messrs. Geo. W. Jackman, Orville R. Jackman, Neil H. Booth and W. Earl Mudd.

CHAPTER VIII.

So he had been right, and she did love him! He had been right, and there had been some other reason for their broken engagement, and that reason was that she knew he was marrying her for her money. He turned and tiptoed away again across the wide hall. He was conscious of the manservant's eyes upon him, and with an effort he pulled himself together sufficiently to say:

"Don't mention to Miss Grantham that I came back. It is of no consequence."

And then he was out in the street again, carrying his hat in his hand, feeling like a man in a dream. So she did love him! Loved him well enough to refuse to marry him rather than enter into a sordid bargain knowing he had no affection for her.

She loved him, and there was no other man.

It gave him a queer sense of satisfaction to know that her kisses had been genuine, and to know that it was not because she had tired of him that she had broken their engagement.

Rolf was not exactly a woman's man. He had had his various affairs, but none of them had been very serious until the girl of whom he had spoken to Bansted and Diana had crossed his path. It was true that he cared more for her than he had hitherto cared for any woman. She was young and unworried, and genuinely in love with him. Shorn of his name and position, she would have loved him just as well. She understood with quiet pain when he told her that marriage was impossible and that he had to marry for money.

He thought of her now and of the excuse he had given her, and he thought of Diana. He was unworthy of both of them; he felt ashamed, bitterly ashamed, that either of them should care for him. He wished with all his heart and soul that he had not gone back to the Grantham's house, and yet, on the other hand, he was glad to know that Diana had not turned him down for any woman's whim, or from mere fickleness.

But it put out of the question all hope of inducing her to change her mind and marry him. That idea had been in his heart when he went back to the house, but now it had gone. Because she loved him he could not persuade her; because he knew that she loved him, she now occupied an entirely different position in his thoughts. Bansted had left the Grantham's house earlier in the evening, and as he felt wide awake, and that he must have someone in whom to confide, Rolf went to the hotel where his friend was staying.

He found Bansted in a dressing-gown with a pipe and an open book. "Never expected to see you," he said in surprise, when Rolf was shown up to his room. "Anything wrong?"

Rolf laughed.

"I'm not sure. I'll leave you to judge."

"Down and help yourself." Bansted pushed a decanter and glass across the table.

"What do you think of old Grantham?" Rolf asked irrelevantly.

Bansted laughed.

"I could put up with a much worse man for the sake of the prize they have offered to you."

"You mean the money."

CHAPTER IX.

Bansted Has a Plan.

"No, I mean the girl."

"Diana!" Rolf's question was a note of surprise.

Bansted nodded.

"Yes, Diana. She's a beauty. She's the girl I've dreamed of for years, and never met. Why didn't you tell me you'd got such a treasure? You lucky dog! I only wish the chance had come my way."

Rolf was silent for a moment, then he said with an effort: "Well, it may come your way yet."

"What do you mean?"

"She's thrown me over."

Bansted stared then he said curtly:

"Rubbish. She's as keen as mustard."

"Is she?" Rolf stared into his tumbler. "Well, she's thrown me over, anyway. Said she'd changed her mind, and wouldn't marry me. It's a nice affair at the eleventh hour, so to speak, isn't it? I'd even bought the bridesmaids' presents and booked rooms in Paris and Italy." He laughed ruefully. "You'll see it all in the papers tomorrow or the next day. 'The marriage arranged will not take place.' . . ."

"Nonsense. You're joking."

"I'm not. I assure you I'm not I've got my conge. Miss Grantham has exercised her woman's privileges and changed her mind."

Bansted rose to his feet. His face had flushed a little and his eyes were eager.

"But man alive, she was fond of you—I'll swear it!" he said quickly. "The way she looked at you—"

"The way she avoided looking at you, you mean," Rolf said, with a sneer, as he thought of the discomfort he had experienced that afternoon. And yet, all the time she had been desperately unhappy, poor child! He pulled up his thoughts angrily. How dared he think of her with pity.

Bansted walked the length of the room and came back.

"If it's true, and if you've no objection," he said, after a moment, "I shall go in and try my luck."

Rolf looked up quickly.

"She won't have you," he said, unthinkingly.

"Why not?"

Rolf shrugged his shoulders.

"Well, you're not her type of man for one thing."

"How do you know? Nobody can ever tell the type of man that may attract a woman." He paced away again. "What are you going to do, anyway?"

"The Lord only knows. Lee Waters will go, of course," Rolf frowned. "Afraid the gov'nor will take it hardy."

"Yes." The two men looked at one another silently, then Bansted said again: "She's not the only heers knocking about, you know."

PRICES AND DETAILS OF SHERBROOKE MARKET

Lansdowne market presented a very summer-like appearance this week with its large and varied supply of local products. Few, if any, changes were noticed in prices. Trading generally throughout the market was satisfactory.

In the dairy section butter and eggs were still holding their own at last week's prices. Some farmers, however, seemed to be of the opinion that the products would experience a drop in prices, possibly before the next market, as there were very plentiful supplies of these products and the demand was not exceptionally heavy. Creamery butter was also selling at the same price.

Activities in the vegetable market were brisk during the two days of the market this week, and there was a large demand for fresh vegetables such as carrots, beets, cucumbers and tomatoes.

Local farmers were all very encouraging with their reports on present crop conditions. The recent rain showers, followed by warm weather, was just what was needed to help along the crops, they all stated. They, also, seemed to be of the opinion that the gardens this summer would be far in advance of other years.

COUNTRY PRODUCE

Montreal, June 6th. EGGS.—A fair amount of business continues to be done in eggs in a wholesale jobbing way, and the market was moderately active with a firm undertone. The receipts continue to be much below this period a year ago, and in consequence supplies of some grades on spot are none too plentiful, in fact, some dealers state that they are not getting sufficient to meet their requirements. There was no change in prices, sales of special being made, at 36c to 37c, fresh extras at 34c to 35c, firsts at 32c, and seconds at 29c to 30c per dozen.

POULTRY.—There was no change in the condition of the market for cold storage dressed poultry, prices for all lines being steady under a fair demand for supplies to meet actual wants and a moderate amount of business was done with sales of 10 to 12 lb. turkeys at 40c to 43c per lb., 5 to 9 lb. birds at 32c to 39c per lb., milk-fed chickens at 35c to 41c per lb., selected chickens at 32c to 37c per lb., selected fowl at 20c to 30c per lb., selected ducks at 28c to 30c per lb., and selected geese at 22c per lb.

MAPLE PRODUCTS.—The trade in a wholesale jobbing way in maple product showed no improvement, the demand being still of a very limited character, and the market was without any special feature to note, prices being unchanged with maple syrup quoted at $2.25 per tin of 13 lbs., and at $1.25 per tin of 7 lbs., bright grades of maple sugar at 20c per lb., and dark at 17c to 18c per lb.

HONEY.—The demand for honey was again very slow and in consequence the market was dull, but as supplies on spot were not large in first hands the undertone was steady and prices were unchanged with No. 1 white clover honey in comb quoted at 22c to 23c per section, No. 2 grade at 17c to 18c per section, white extract in 30 lb. tins at 11c per lb., 10 lb. tins at 11 1/2c per lb., 5 lb. tins at 12c per lb., and 2 1/2 lb. tins at 12 1/2c per lb.

DAIRY PRODUCE

Montreal, June 6th. BUTTER.—A very firm feeling prevailed in the market and prices showed no further change. There was a steady demand for supplies for domestic account and a fair amount of business was done, but there were no new developments in regard to the export trade. Sales of Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized creamery were made at 33 1/2c to 34c per lb., No. 1 creamery at 32 3/4c to 33c per lb., and No. 2 creamery at 31 3/4c to 32c per lb. HAY MARKET

Montreal, June 6th. HAY.—According to latest cable advices from some of the leading markets the trade in baled hay is anything but good at present and prices are ruling very low, therefore the prospects for an increased export business in Canadian hay are not very encouraging at present. A moderate amount of business continues to be done on spot and the tone of the market is steady with car lots of good No. 2 Timothy hay quoted at $14 to $15 per ton, No. 3 Timothy hay at $11 to $12 per ton, and clover mixed hay at $10.50 to $11 per ton, f.o.b. cars here.

GRAIN MARKET

Montreal, June 6th. GRAIN.—There was more enquiry for cash wheat in the Winnipeg market yesterday, but the offering was very limited and this coupled with the strength in futures prices was much stronger and closed 5 7/8c to 7 1/4c per bushel higher with No. 1 northern at $1.70 5-8 per bushel, ex-store, Fort William. The premium on No. 1 grade was 4c per bushel over July option, No. 2 grade 1 3/8c under, and No. 3 grade 7 1/2c under. Advices received from New York stated that a small scattered business was done in grain for export account overnight. A little wheat was worked with the United Kingdom, and one house bought six lots, while sales of rye were made to Scandinavian buyers. The export trade in grain in the Montreal market was reported very quiet there being practically no demand for wheat, while the prices bid for oats and barley were fully 6d per quarter below working basis. There was no improvement in the demand for ocean grain room and the market was quiet with no change in rates to note.

The demand from domestic and export buyers for grain in the local market was slow and business on the whole was dull, but the tone was firm and prices for oats were maintained with car lots and tins Canadian western quoted at 73c No. 3 C.W. at 66c, No. 1 feed at 64c and No. 2 feed at 61c per bushel, markets the trade in baled hay is

HEAVY BUYING OF OIL SHARES ON WALL STREET

(Associated Press Despatch) NEW YORK, June 6.—Stock prices displayed a firm tone at the opening of today's market, which was featured by the heavy buying of the oil shares. Publication of government statistics showing that gasoline stocks in storage had been reduced fifty million barrels in April, despite the unusually high volume of crude production, brought fresh buying into the oil group. Moon Motors and American Ice quickly mounted to a new high record for the year.

5 Reasons why you should wear WOODS HATCHWAY

The slightly cut shoulder straps are carried over from the front to the back and when spread open allow you to slip the undergarment quickly on or off your body.

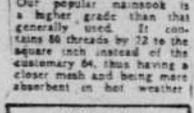

These spread shoulder straps stay well up on the shoulders, holding the garment in place. They cannot slip off and being in the middle of the back they make Hatchway more comfortable than any other underwear.

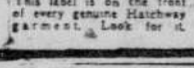

The back opening is generally cut and has a wide cross-stitch flap which is held absolutely in place by the band and remains absolutely flat.

The micro-suede of this closed back flap is made possible by the support of a wide band of strong triple reinforced stitching, which keeps the flap flat and smooth.

Our popular mannequin is higher grade than that generally used. It contains 80 threads by 22 to the square inch, instead of the ordinary 60, thus having a clear mesh and being more absorbent in hot weather.

This label is on the front of every genuine Hatchway garment. Look for it.

MACKMEN DOWN TIGERS; GIANTS HIT BALL HARD

Rally in Seventh Enabled Washington to Nose Out White Sox — Yankees Took Fall Out of Browns.

(Associated Press Despatch)

NEW YORK, June 6.—Lines of limitation in the pennant races of the major leagues had been more closely drawn about two leaders in each circuit through a renewal yesterday of the east-west series.

The Cards, under their new manager, Rogers Hornsby, were subjected to a terrific bombardment by the Giants and were beaten by 11 to 5. Snyder knocked out two home runs and accounted for six of the Giants' tallies.

After allowing the Cubs four runs in the first, Dazzy Vance held Chicago safe while Wheat ripped off a brace of circuit smashes to give the Dodgers a close victory by 7 to 6. Philadelphia Nationals strengthened the grip of the Robins on second place, meanwhile, by going two extra frames to set down the Pirates by 6 to 5, with Pitcher Clarence Mitchell driving home the winning run.

Adolfo Luque turned in the day's pitching classic by limiting the Braves to three hits as the Reds pulled out the game with a lone tally in the tenth inning, after the Cuban and Larry Benton had both hurled scoreless ball over the regulation distance.

The Mackmen defeated Detroit by 8 to 6, in spite of the continued wildness of Lefty Groves, who had to be yanked in the ninth with Philadelphia leading. Baumgartner saved the Athletics' lead, 8 to 6.

The rallying Yankees greeted the oncoming St. Louis Browns with a burst of hitting at the start of their game here, piling up eight tallies in the first three frames to win by 10 to 7. Five home runs featured the game, none of which fell to the credit of "Babe" Ruth.

Coveleski and Marberry held the White Sox to five hits and the Senators won by a four run rally in the seventh, 5 to 3, while Boston nosed out Cleveland in the ninth by 5 to 4, scoring twice, as Flagstead, a pinch hitter, singled with the bases full.

TUNNEY SCORED A KNOCKOUT IN TWELFTH ROUND

New Yorker Registered a Clean-Cut Victory Over Tommy Gibbons Last Night.

(Associated Press Despatch) NEW YORK, June 6.—The shadow of a New York heavyweight who looked to pugilistic fame out of the trenches of the Great War today stretched across the path of Jack Dempsey.

Gene Tunney has done what no other heavyweight, not even Dempsey himself, has been able to do, conquer Tom Gibbons by a knockout. After eleven rounds of fighting, without thrills, at the Polo Grounds last night, the former A.E.F. champion sent the game veteran from St. Paul down for the count under a smashing right to the chin in the twelfth.

The crowd was stunned. In the round before it had booed the two men for failure to put up the hot fight which had been expected, but apparently Tunney alone was aware that his foe, a veteran of thirty-six years, was willing under the grinding fire at close quarters. After one minute and twenty-six seconds of the twelfth round Tunney put out one of the most formidable heavyweight contenders in the country.

A right which fell Gibbons in a neutral corner so dazed him that he was unable to get his bearings as he arose. Tunney landed another wallop to the chin and this time Gibbons was finished. The referee counted ten before he could recover.

The winner, whom Dempsey has promised to meet, fought well throughout, but Gibbons appeared only a shell of the great boxer who stood off the champion at Shelby. Only in the eighth did the St. Paul man treat his audience to any fireworks. Here he halted his steady retreat under Tunney's barrage and lashed out with two terrific rights which jarred the New York man to his heels. It was only a flash in the pan, however.

Post-fight statements follow: Tunney:—"If the fans think I should fight Harry Wills, first, I am ready to take him on at any time this summer, but I really think the knockout over Gibbons is enough to earn a match with the champion." Gibbons:—"I don't remember what round the bout ended in. I fought the best I could, but the best I had was not good enough, that's all."

In the semi-finals, Johnny Grusko, heavyweight of New York, scored a technical knockout over Jack McDonald, of New York, in the third round. In the second preliminary, Bud Gorman, of Kenosha, Wis., defeated Jack Demayo, of New York, in a six round match. Bow Lawson, Alabama claimant of the world's negro light-heavyweight title, outpointed Ray Neuman, of Jersey City, in a six round match. King Solomon, Panama heavyweight, outpointed Romero Rojas, of Chile, in an eight round semi-final. Solomon was knocked down twice but won on aggressiveness and boxing ability.

RENAULT IS FAVORITE

(Associated Press Despatch) SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—Apparently full of confidence, Jack Renault, Canada's outstanding heavyweight, and George Godfrey, husky negro from the vicinity of Philadelphia, were ready to step over the ropes at Recreation Park here, today for the third match of their career.

Chiefly by virtue of a knockout and a decision over Godfrey in previous bouts, the Canadian was a ten to eight favorite.

GREB PUT NUSE DOWN FOR COUNT

(Associated Press Despatch) MARQUETTE, Mich., June 6.—Harry Greb, world's middleweight champion, last night knocked out Jimmy Nuse, of Newberry, Mich., in the fourth round of a scheduled ten round bout.

SHARKEY WON BY A FOUL

(Associated Press Despatch) BOSTON, June 6.—Jack Sharkey, of Brighton, won by a foul from Jimmy Maloney, of South Boston, in the ninth round of their ten round heavyweight bout here last night. Maloney had been warned for hitting low.

CANADIAN BOXER INJURED

(Associated Press Despatch) BOSTON, Mass., June 6.—Archie Skinner, of Canada, suffered a cut lip in the second round of his fight here last night with Boy McCormack, of Ireland, and in the third round of their six round bout the referee decided that the Canadian could not proceed in his injured condition. The bout was awarded to McCormack.

TIGER FLOWERS EARNED DECISION

The ninth and largest window was donated by the Church Women's Association in appreciative recognition of the long services in St. George's parish of Ven. Archdeacon Loughurst and his wife. The subject of this window is "The Great Commission. In the centre light is a figure of Christ giving orders to his disciples, on one side that of St. Peter carrying out the commission among the Jews, preaching and baptizing at Pettecost, and on the other that of St. Paul doing the same thing among the Gentiles by preaching and celebrating the Holy Eucharist at Troas on one of his missionary journeys. This window was unveiled by the oldest member of the congregation and one of this city's respected citizens, Mr. John Bradford, St.

The bronze tablet to the memory of Sgt. Major Vittie was unveiled by Major C. V. Meyer.

Below the missionary window a "Missionary Cross" was erected by the rector, which was also dedicated to the Glory of God to be an object lesson to all of the origin, age and progress of the Christian Faith beginning at Jerusalem and proceeding ever in a westerly direction until it reached the shores of the land of the ancient Britons.

To illustrate these events the cross is made up of pieces of stone taken from the walls or foundations of Christian buildings beginning at Jerusalem and travelling in a westerly direction, representing twenty centres of Christian work. This collection was begun in the year 1909.

The subjects of the windows in the chancel of the church are "The Annunciation of Gabriel to the Virgin," in memory Private Gerald Stewart Patterson, and "The Ascension," in memory of Private R.

Hector Longhurst, both given by Mr. E. Lloyd Stewart-Patterson. The five windows on the west side of the nave contain representations of New Testament Miracles as follows: "The healing of the Centurion's Servant," donated by Mr. J. S. O'Dwyer; "The Stilling of the Tempest," by Mr. R. I. Seale; "The healing of St. Peter's mother-in-law," by Mrs. W. P. Giddings; "The healing of two blind men at Jericho," by Mrs. A. C. Savage, Mrs. G. C. Wilcocks and Mr. R. C. Savage; and "The Young man born blind made to see," by Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Payne.

The window on the right hand of the entrance door of the Church represents the aged priest Simeon receiving the infant saviour and singing the "Nunc Dimittis." This was presented by Mrs. Nelson Mitchell.

A confirmation service followed, at which fifteen candidates were presented by the rector for this rite.

Besides his Lordship the Bishop there were present, Ven. Archdeacon Robinson, Dr. Geo. Abbot Smith and Rev. W. P. R. Lewis. Mr. Wm. Smithson, Mus., Bac., presided at the organ and the choir was assisted by one or two members of another choir.

The service throughout was most impressive, and the church was filled to capacity, the regular congregation being augmented by many from the Congregational Church, where the service had been withdrawn as an evidence of regard and esteem for the rector of St. George's Church who holds the unusual record of forty-five years service in the one parish.
