World News In Brief

London, July 31.—(Reuters)—Britain lost 264,000 working days in the coal mines for the first six months of this year because of labor disputes, Ness Edwards, Parliamentary Secretary to the Labor Ministry, told the House of Commons today.

Total working days lost in all industrial disputes for the six months were 1,166,000, he said. The figure was only about 1-10th of the working time lost in disputes in the first six months of 1919.

Vancouver, July 31.—(C.P.)—A union-management agreement for hiring of British Columbia ocean-going seamen through union halls was signed here today and the new system will come into effect next Thursday.

James Thompson, chief of Canadian Seamen's Union (A.F.L.), here, announced signing of the agreement with the Shipowners' Association of B.C., and said eastern shipowners are expected to follow suit almost immediately.

Mr. Thompson also said that a complete new C.S.U. agreement covering all Canadian 10,000-ton freighters probably will be negotiated here within a month, rather than in the east as previously scheduled.

Valleyfield, Que., July 31.—(C.P.)—Mr. Justice E. Fabre Surveyor of the Superior Court today took under advisement here an application by Montreal cottons Limited for a picketing injunction against certain members of the United Textile Workers of America (A.F.L.). Hearing of the application took several days.

Members of the U.T.W.A. have been on strike at Montreal Cottons Limited plant here since June 1, when they walked out in a demand for a 25-cent-an-hour wage increase and a 40-hour week.

Peiping, July 31.—(A.P.)—Unofficial reports of a higher death toll and a second clash persisted today at the Peiping Marine Garrison Headquarters, in the first official announcement, said that three United States Marines were killed and 12 wounded during Monday's fight with 300 armed Chinese.

The unconfirmed reports of the dead varied from four to eight, the wounded toll extended to a score. A reliable source said one Marine still was missing.

A Communist spokesman still declined either to confirm or deny that the attackers were Communists but did say Communist troops were active in the area, 35 miles southeast of Peiping where a truck company of 100 Marine replacements were ambushed.

Reliable and informed sources said, however, there was no doubt the attackers were Communists.

At least three Marine patrols have been seen leaving Peiping in the direction of the clash scene.

Russia Chief Beneficiary Under Planned Peace Pacts

Paris, July 31.—(P)—Russia emerged today as the principal beneficiary of proposed peace treaties which would strip Italy, Finland and beaten Germany's Balkan satellites of their military power, redraw their frontiers and charge them at least $1,000,000,000 in reparations.

The treaty drafts presented to the 21-power peace conference last night by the Big Four agreed upon substantial territorial increases for the Soviet Union, upon payment of $800,000,000 in reparations to Russia and left Russia's domination of Eastern Europe intact.

In certain disputed sections of the treaty drafts, however, it seemed apparent that the western powers intend to try to whittle down some of the Russian gains in the east, at least in economic matters. The United States and Britain want the vital Danube River opened to trade on a basis of complete equality, while Russia wants nothing said in any of the treaties about freedom of navigation of the Danube. The three western members of the Big Four also want "most favored nation" status for all Allied countries in commercial dealings with the five defeated powers, while Russia would exempt all fields closed to private enterprise and would make exceptions for neighboring states.

Under the proposed treaties the military machine of all defeated countries would be reduced to a vestige of power, and the treaty drafts directed them to co-operate for the purpose of insuring against any German rearmament in the future. The atom bomb was not mentioned in the treaty drafts, but rocket bombs would be outlawed.

Molotov Urges Democracies To Put End To Franco Rule In Speech At Peace Parley

Strong Peace Army Urged By Gen. Potts

Retiring G.O.C. of Central Command Says Canadians Should Not Take It For Granted There Won't Be Another War.

By GEORGE RONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto, July 31.—(P)—Maj. Gen. Arthur E. Potts, a soldier in two world wars and through 21 years of uncertain peace, returns today to civilian life "as much a pacifist as ever" but alarmed at the apathy of Canadians "to the urgency of national defence in peacetime."

Gen. Potts, who is retiring as general officer commanding the Canadian Army's Central Command, said in an interview with the Canadian Press that without an adequate peacetime force "We'd certainly be out of luck" if there was another war.

The 55-year-old general is one of seven brothers who fought in the First Great War—three were killed—and the father of three sons and a daughter who served in the Second Great War.

He rose from the ranks in the first war, was twice wounded, won the Military Medal and became a lieutenant. Between wars he became brigade commander in the non-permanent active militia.

In the second war, he led the expedition which raided Spitsbergen in September, 1941, and after commanding the sixth division on Canada's west coast he came to Toronto in October, 1945, as Officer Commanding Military District No. 2. Recently he was appointed G.O.C., Central Command.

"People give the fullest credit to the boys who went overseas and won the war—and rightly so—but those boys wouldn't have had the chance to win if we had been unable to put citizen armies into the field as soon as war started," said Gen. Potts.

"I don't think people realize just how tough-and-go it was both in 1915 and 1940. It is my confirmed opinion that the reasons we went on from there was that we had citizen armies to start with. If it hadn't been for the people who were 'anti-defence' in the 1930s we might have had a force of such strength that we might not have had to fight the war."

"God knows I'm a pacifist but I blame these so-called rabid pacifists who are sticking their heads up now for whatever lack of preparation might become apparent later. Like everybody else I hope there won't be another war but we'd be crazy to take it for granted."

Soviet Foreign Minister Backs Yugoslavia Motion Two-Thirds Majority Govern Decisions Reached at Paris Conference.

Paris, July 31.—(A.P.)—Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia, in a speech to the Paris Peace Conference today, called upon "democratic countries" of the world to put an end to the Franco regime of Spain.

Paris, July 31.—(P)—Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov, in his first official pronouncement at the Paris peace conference, urged the powerful Rules Committee today to adopt a Yugoslav motion requiring that a two-thirds majority govern all conference decisions.

The Yugoslav proposal plunged the committee into spirited debate, with spokesmen for Australia and the Netherlands arguing that a simple majority should be sufficient.

Both Australia and the Netherlands said the two-thirds proposal would mean Big Four domination. Moisha Pyade, vice president of the Yugoslav Assembly, presented the motion, and also urged that Albania be admitted as the 2nd member of the conference, which is considering peace treaties for five former enemy countries.

The Rules Committee meeting was open to newspapermen, in line with a recommendation by the committee yesterday for a "wide open" press. A total of 67 newspapermen from 26 countries were present.

Delegates to the conference, meanwhile, awaited a policy-charting speech which Mr. Molotov was expected to deliver before the full conference at 4 p.m. this afternoon on Russia's attitude toward treaties with Finland, Italy, Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary. Drafts of the treaties, written by the Big Four, were made public last midnight and published throughout the world today.

Mr. Pyade, speaking in halting French, asserted that the two-thirds majority rule, governing conference decisions, would constitute the minimum measure of agreement.

While acknowledging that full unanimity was probably not possible, he declared that "only the largest possible agreement is able to assure the success of the conference and constitute a strong basis for a lasting peace."

Arguing for the admission of Albania, Mr. Pyade said she had been one of the first countries invaded by Italy and had been devastated by the Italians.

Paul Henri Spaak, Belgian Foreign Minister who was elected president of the Rules Committee yesterday, presided over the session. Mr. Byrnes arrived a half-hour late because of a conference at his hotel suite with Pietro Nenni, Italian vice premier. No details of this private meeting were disclosed.

The Netherlands delegation opposed the two-thirds majority rule and the rules of procedure proposed by the Big Four as "not in conformity with the sovereignty of the medium and small powers."

A Dutch spokesman proposed that the permanent chairmanship of the conference be given to France, as the host nation, instead.

Wide Reform Advocated In Red Chamber

Sweeping Changes Held Essential if Senate Is to Maintain Prestige in Dominion—Poor Representation.

Ottawa, July 31.—(P)—Several Senators have come to the conclusion that there must be changes in the representation in the Senate and that the Senators themselves should start the ball rolling in that direction.

Senate reform has been advocated since the time of Sir John A. Macdonald by parties in the opposition, but once in power neither the Liberals nor the Conservatives have done anything about it and the Senate has proceeded to function through Parliament after Parliament without anything developing that disturbed the even tenor of its ways or caused it to lose prestige in the country.

Many Senators, however, believe the present situation calls for some definite action if the Senate is to retain public esteem and three factors are forcing an issue.

1.—The continual shrinkage in the numerical and debating strength of the Progressive Conservative oppositions are governed by political parties that are not represented in the Senate.

2.—The Senate is regarded as the protector of Dominion-Provincial relations, provincial governments should have representatives to express their views in the Upper House.

Several informal meetings of Senators have been held during the session when the suggestion to set up a committee to go into the question of Senate reform was discussed, but it was decided to leave the scheme over until next session when it would be possible to get an early start.

Senator Wishart Robertson, Government leader in the Senate, is said to be favorable to a committee being appointed which would study the question and make a report on the best way to bring about reforms. It is also known Prime Minister Mackenzie King thinks it would be a good idea.

With the death of this session of Senator A. D. McRae and Sir Thomas Chapais, the number of Progressive Conservatives in the chamber has been reduced to 24. There are 65 Liberals and when the seven vacancies are filled there will be 72.

More important than the numerical weakness of the party which forms the opposition is that a number of them are too old to take an active part in the debates and work of the committees. Of the 24 Progressive Conservatives, 15 are more than 70 years old, five of them are more than 80.

If the Liberals and Progressive Conservatives had rotated in office at frequent intervals each appointing its supporters when in power this shortage of opposition Senators would not have become so acute.

Quebec has a Union Nationale Government, Saskatchewan is C.C.F. and Alberta, Social Credit and no one in the Senate expresses their political views or doctrines.

Propose Jews Decide Quota In Palestine

Anglo-American Experts Suggest That Holy Land Be Divided Into Four Areas and Let Inhabitants Fix Immigration.

London, July 31.—(P)—Viscount Addison disclosed today that Anglo-American experts proposed to divide Palestine into four areas and leave to inhabitants of a Jewish province this created the problem of deciding how many of their wandering fellow Jews could migrate to the Holy Land.

Jerusalem, July 31.—(P)—Civilians in the modern all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv was at a standstill today as an unprecedented march by 20,000 red-bellied British Tommies went into its second day, with 133 men and 10 women already under arrest.

A high ranking officer said the roundup of underground members wanted for questioning in connection with the bombing last week of the King David Hotel here and other outbreaks of violence in the Holy Land would continue for three or four more days. Up to 3,000 arrests were expected.

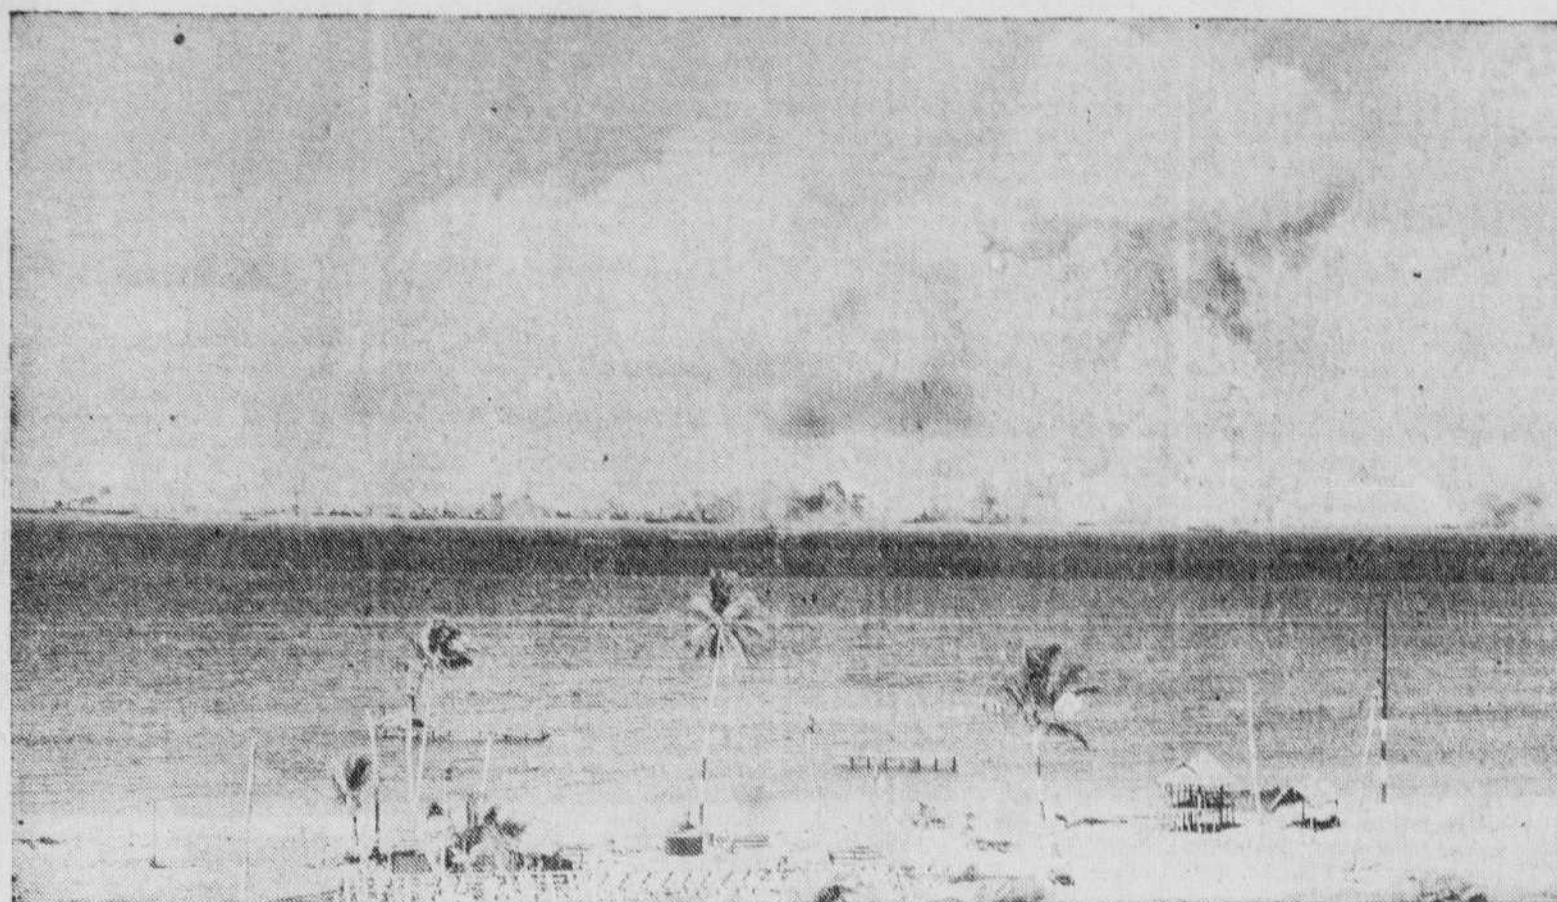

The 200,000 residents of Tel Aviv submitted with resignation to the roundup and the imposition of a 22-hour curfew.

Building by building, the hounded Tommies combed the city, seeking principally members of Irgun Zvai Leumi and the Stern Gang, Jewish underground organizations.

Suspects were whisked to hastily-erected barred wire cages, and then the men were taken to Rafia prison camp and the women to Latrun detention camp.

All utilities in Tel Aviv were shut down yesterday and regular communications were suspended until "further notice." All traffic and most activities were at a standstill. R.A.F. engineers took over power plants.

Atomic Explosion Seen From Bikini Beach

Opposition Loses Battle On Taxing Co-Operatives

Ottawa, July 31.—(P)—A hard-fought C.C.F. battle against the taxation of co-operatives died in a welter of words last night as the Commons gave approval of three budget resolutions aimed at giving effect to that proposal.

Supported by Progressive Conservative and Social Credit parties, the C.C.F. group forced a standing vote on the main resolution on co-operative taxation, only to see the motion carried by a count of 70-56. Formal divisions are not possible when the House is studying resolutions in committee stage.

Two additional resolutions touching on the contentious question then were quickly passed without recorded vote.

C.C.F. members, fighting principally against a stipulation that three per cent of the working capital of co-operatives be taxed, urged that the provision be removed or the legislation withdrawn until a Dominion Co-operatives Act be established.

The House opening was featured by an announcement by Trade Minister MacKinnon of a new wheat policy which includes a 10-cent increase in the initial price for wheat to $1.35 a bushel and removal of the pegged export price of $1.55 on all sales abroad except those to Britain.

Resources Minister Glen said the wives and dependents of servicemen would retain their priority on transportation and would not be interfered with by the movement of single Police Army veterans to Canada to work farms.

The House gave third and final reading to a bill amending the National Housing Act to broaden its powers.

First reading was given a dozen bills concerning veterans matters which will be embodied in Canada's veterans charter.

In the debate on co-operatives, M. J. Goldwell, C.C.F. leader, urged Finance Minister Abbott to reconsider the legislation, which he said would be a "serious" blow to the co-operative movement.

Co-operatives would be compelled to compute three per cent of the capital in use and pay taxes on it. This would strike at the very basis of co-operatives and place

U.N. Studies Russ Scheme On Atom War

Proposal to Outlaw Atomic Weapons Will Be Discussed Behind Closed Doors—Immediate Action Seen.

New York, July 31.—(A.P.)—Delegates to the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission were called into session today to reopen discussion of Soviet Russia's proposal to outlaw the production and use of atomic weapons immediately.

As they prepared to meet in closed sessions of committee No. 2, several delegates were reported ready to question Soviet representative Gromyko at length on how he proposed to prevent illegal manufacture of atomic weapons.

In his plan, as outlined last week, the Soviet delegate touched only briefly on the question of controls, devoting almost all of his time to arguments in favor of outlawing the lethal bombs.

The only control system he mentioned was a suggestion that each country adopt legislation providing for punishment of persons who violated the terms of the proposed international convention. No provisions were recommended for punishment of governments which themselves produced atomic weapons in violation of the convention.

The delegates from the United States, the Netherlands and Brazil made it clear that they favored a much stronger control plan than that suggested by Gromyko.

Accidental Death Verdict Returned At Windsor Mills

A verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury yesterday afternoon in the case of 32-year-old Armand Abran, who died at 8:15 o'clock last Saturday night from a fractured skull following a brawl in the tavern of the Frontenac Hotel in his home town of Windsor Mills.

Evidence revealed that Abran, an electrician, had become embroiled in a labor argument and had become obstreperous during the evening. Sylvio Thibault, proprietor of the hotel, ordered his bartender, Ernest Cote, to put him off the premises and Abran had forcibly objected to being evicted.

He drew back his fist to strike the hotel employee, it was stated, but Cote punched first to defend himself, hitting his opponent on the bridge of the nose and causing him to fall to the floor. It was thought at first that Abran was not seriously injured but Dr. R. Morrisette was called and discovered that the man had suffered a fracture of the third cervical vertebrae at the base of the skull, in the back of the head, and a hemorrhage had resulted. Abran died some 20 minutes after the fracas.

The inquest was first set by Coroner Dr. Armand Roy for Monday afternoon, but on further investigation by Senior Brasseur, Provincial Police detective attached to the Sherbrooke Station, the inquest was postponed for 24 hours and Dr. Roy obtained permission from Premier Maurice Duplessis, in his capacity as Quebec Attorney-General, to perform an autopsy.

Following his autopsy Dr. Martin pronounced that the man had died as a result of the fracture at the base of the skull at the back. He noted that there were two lesions, one at the bridge of the nose and the other at the third cervical vertebrae.

At the inquest held yesterday afternoon, some 12 witnesses were interviewed by Coroner Roy. Present at the inquest were Roland Dugre, Crown Prosecutor from Sherbrooke, Richard Crepeau, also from Sherbrooke representing Cote, Detective Brasseur and Detective Marcel Patenaude, who investigated.

The jury deliberated less than one hour before returning the verdict of accidental death. Those serving were: Rene Duruisseau, Harvey Gervais, Oscar Roper, Paul Charland, Euphemius Chabot and Denis Paquette.

7-Point Program For Settlement Of Steel Strike Outlined Today

Ottawa, July 31.—(P)—The United Steelworkers Union (C.I.O.) today told the Commons Industrial Relations Committee it was prepared to consider "a fair and reasonable settlement" in its demands which led to the strike in three basic steel plants.

The union's statement was made in a brief prepared for delivery to the committee by C. H. Millard, Canadian Director of the union outlining the union's demands for the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation, Sydney, N.S.; Steel Company of Canada, Hamilton, Ont., and Algoma Steel Corporation, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

The brief outlined the union's seven-point program:

1. Recognition of steel as a national industry placing it directly under the National War Labor Board.
2. Establishment of a steel council with representatives of labor, management and the public.
3. Union-management production committees.

4. A national minimum guaranteed wage of $1.75 or $3.60 a week, equivalent to increases of 19 1/2 cents-an-hour.

5. A standard 40-hour week as manpower becomes available.

6. Two weeks' vacation with pay after five years' service.

7. Union security provisions in contracts between the union and companies.

"These represent the program or policy considered necessary and desirable by members of the union, subject of course to modification through the normal process of collective bargaining," the brief said. "If a fair and reasonable settlement were offered, its acceptance would be recommended by the national advisory committee to the members whose decision would be final so far as the union is concerned."

While the union was not demanding a master agreement, it asked for a general settlement with each company which would include subsidiary or branch plants, and any settlement arrived at should be implemented without delay and without amendment.

Turning to the ability of the companies to pay higher wages the union said Stelco's wartime profits averaged more than $4,000,000 a year after taxation, and the general financial position of the company had improved considerably.

Algoma "fared very well during the war years" and had an operating profit of $3,482,797 in 1945 with its financial position also improved. Dosco which "has always pleaded poverty" had received more than $21,000,000 in government assistance since the war started and showed a profit of $3,500,000 in 1945.

Canada Called

Declaration of the Revolutionary General Strike.
"That in brief is the pattern of the new kind of warfare, designed to secure world domination for the overlords of the Kremlin. Were this conspiracy to succeed Canada would become part of the Empire of slavery; the Canadian citizen would be deprived of all his rights; the method of free and open discussion of political and other problems would be replaced by purges, by an ubiquitous secret police, and by the organized misery of internment camps for many thousands of Canadians. It is well to keep these stern realities in mind when we read the propaganda of Communists and Socialists, preaching the blessings of Collectivism."

"I have said that the Kremlin does not wish world-war of the new old-fashioned kind; but the possibility of world-war is not entirely ignored. There is a plan for this as well. If the progress of revolution from within is regarded as unsatisfactory it will be accelerated in this simple way. A war crisis will be precipitated almost to the point of open hostilities, and then a revolutionary general strike will be called. Moscow believes that it could paralyze from inside the industrial machine of any conceivable enemy before a shot had been fired or an atom bomb dropped. That would be a quicker and more comprehensive solution of the problem than to await the climax of stimulated unrest in a peace conditions."

"There is a strange kind of fatality in the trend of Moscow policy. The Kremlin feels it dare not accept the olive-branch so frequently and warmly extended by the democratic world. It dare not run the risk of lifting the iron curtain that encloses its 175,000,000 slaves; the acceptance of a policy of 'live and let live' could mean inevitably that the slaves would find out that they were slaves. A totalitarian government, maintained by terrorism, trusts no one, least of all its own people."

"What can you and I as free Canadian citizens do about this grim situation? I suggest the first requirement is ability to take an objective and dispassionate view. There should be no thought of anti-Russian feeling. The Russian people are not concerned in the matter; they deserve our sympathy not our hatred."

"The next thing is to understand the predicament of the Kremlin rulers. General Zhukoff, the Russian Commander who represented his country on the Joint Control Board in Berlin, said to General Eisenhower, who had protested about obstruction and suspicion: 'For more than twenty years we have taught our soldiers and people to be suspicious. It will take some time for them to learn not to suspect others.' There you have the heart of the problem. Let us hope that the process of substituting friendship for suspicion will not take twenty years."

RIVAL GANGSTERS
"Dealing with the agents of the new imperialism in our midst is another matter. The Canadian Communists work in two main groups, one calling itself Stalinist, follows the lead of Moscow. The other, calling itself Trotskyite, is anxious to have another revolution in Russia as well as revolutions throughout the rest of the world. But these factions are, in effect, rival gangsters competing for the same loot. They are all sworn enemies of the whole Canadian tradition of freedom and religion. There are some who advocate locking up the Communists again. This I believe would be a mistake. They almost prefer to work underground anyway. We should never imitate the totalitarian method of suppressing by force the views with which we disagree, unless in a state of war emergency. As the Communist conspiracy can succeed only through undermining Trade Union leadership and changing the whole purpose of organized labor, it is the duty of all citizens to help the Trade Unions to maintain their independence and freedom of action within the law. British labor is much more alert to the danger of Communism than labor on this continent. British labor realizes there is no collective bargaining or any other kind of bargaining under Communism. Let us see to it that Canadian Trade Unionists are not victimized by subversive cells. The method of aid is educational—by spreading the truth."

PROPAGANDA PITFALLS

"Another thing that we can do as citizens is to make sure we are not fooled by propaganda, either Communist or Socialist. The great need of the present is maximum production and efficient distribution, with a revival of the old pioneering spirit of adventurous living. When the Collectivists suggest that free Canadians are incapable of managing their own affairs, and that these affairs should be taken over by Government to be run by bureaucracy, they are talking arrant nonsense. It is true there is a limited area in the public utility field in which the State functions reasonably well; but to extend State ownership and management to the whole field of business, industry, and agriculture would be literally to pass a death sentence on our future. Incidentally it would be an important stage on the road to Communism. The relatively mild Marxism of the Socialists is scorned by the Communists. The established pattern of the Communist conspiracy permits the Socialists to create the bureaucracy for the Communists subsequently to take over. It is therefore vitally important for all free citizens to be on guard against the blandishments of the Socialists."

"Enlightened individualism teaches us that society is greater than the individual only in so far as it is free. In so far as society is controlled or directed, its capacity is limited to the powers of the individual minds which control or direct it. If the presumption of the so-called 'advanced' minds which will not respect anything that is not consciously controlled by individual reason does not learn where to stop, we shall, as Edmund Burke warned us 'be well assured that everything about us will dwindle by degrees until at length our concerns are shrunk to the dimensions of our minds.'"

"The vague of state-worship; the tendency to shirk personal responsibility; the willingness to accept false doctrine because it appears to provide an easy solution; diminishing pride in hard and efficient work;—these are symptoms of degeneracy both in thinking and in morals. The infection of Socialism is more dangerous than the germs that attack the body, because the infection of Socialism saps the will, dopes the mind, and poisons the soul."

"The third point is the improvement and 'stream-lining' of the Enterprise System. Actually it is not a system but a way of life, an attitude. The basis is the right of individuals and groups to risk their accumulated savings, which is capital, on any kind of legal venture that holds out the prospect of a reasonable return. Our whole structure of industry, business, and agriculture has been built upon this basis of free individual initiative. As in all human devices, there are faults and excesses; but these are checked by experience and enlightenment. On the credit side, the basis of free individual initiative has given us the highest standard of living in the world at any time, accompanied by rapid advances in education, health, and citizenship."

"What is really important about the Enterprise System is its contribution to social well-being. And that is why there has been created the Responsible Enterprise Movement, which now includes a powerful cross-section of the industry and business of Canada. Collectivists, both Socialists and Communists, have challenged the Enterprise System as a predatory outgrowth preying upon the community. The answer is the fact that the Enterprise System is the base of our whole civilization. And the Responsible Enterprise Movement has evolved a Code embodying the social conscience of enlightened enterprise."

THE CODE OF RESPONSIBLE ENTERPRISE
"The Code of Responsible Enterprise is an unqualified acceptance of the priority of the public interest, and of the doctrine that the Enterprise System stands or falls on its contribution to the general welfare."

"The Code is also a declaration of faith in freedom under the law. It proclaims the principle of a working partnership between capital, management and labour for the benefit of the consumer, the average citizen, who is the boss of all."

"In the four years of its operation, the Responsible Enterprise Movement has become the mobile advance guard for the main body of business, industry, and operation, privately-owned and operated. The first job of the Responsible Enterprise Movement is to tell the people the truth, incidentally refuting the lies, distortions, and the columns which the Communists and Socialists are using in their attempt to plunge the free citizen-workers of Canada into the serfdom of Soviet Russia. The second job of the Responsible Enterprise Movement is to help reinvigorate, re-orient, regenerate, and 'stream-line' the whole Enterprise System to the decisive advantage of human progress, freedom, prosperity and enlightenment. Upon the success of this effort may well depend the future of the Enterprise System and the civilization it has built. In this 'no-quarter' war of ideas, to act rightly is not enough; it is necessary also that citizens be told

Canada Urges
Big-4 Debate
Major Points

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Paris, July 31.—(C)—Behind the scenes of the 21-power peace conference here which started this week some members of the Canadian delegation are advancing a proposal that the Big Four meet informally as the conference progresses to consider and try to thrash out major points at issue as they arise.

Under this scheme, the Big Four also would consider recommendations of the 21 powers as they are made. Even though the world press will be given full opportunity to report the formal debates at the peace talks, experienced diplomats say that the final peace treaties actually will be written by a few leaders in a private room.

The revolutionary principle of free news coverage of the peace conference was accepted yesterday by the powerful committee on rules and procedure. Yet even leaders who subscribe most thoroughly to this principle say that only the naive would believe that the delicate and often politically-explosive task of resolving international differences actually will be done in public.

Veteran diplomats foresee, however, a wholesome leavening influence in wide open discussions such as were notably absent in the Paris conference after the First Great War.

Canadian diplomats, and leaders of the medium-size and small powers, say they hope the Big Four will be drawn into debates to thrash out their differences with the other 17 countries. Such meetings by the Big Four could go a long way, it is felt, in preventing the wishes of the 17 other countries from being insufficiently considered.

From the progress the Big Four make, 17 other countries can know the way the wind is blowing. By such a system progress may be speeded up and the possibilities of prolonged wrangling at the conference reduced.

Under the Moscow declaration, which is the charter for this conference, all recommendations from the conference will be considered by the Foreign Ministers Council scheduled for after the conference.

However, it is learned that strong sentiment is developing within the British Commonwealth and the support of Prime Minister Attlee—to join the United States in seeking Big Four acceptance of conference recommendations as the peace talks proceed. It is learned that State Secretary Byrnes of the United States also favored the principle of parallel meetings of the Big Four much along the line of the Canadian scheme.

of the right action, the reasons, and the policy behind it.

"To spread the spirit of social responsibility and to apply it daily is a main task of citizenship in this new age. Given this spirit, we shall be proof against the wiles of the propagandists who seek to turn us into slaves for 'golden' promises."

"The sense of social responsibility, in turn, rests upon a spiritual foundation, without which there can be no real and abiding progress. All forms of Collectivism, Communism and Socialism, have in common that they rely entirely on materialist solutions; they go out of their way to ridicule the spiritual nature of man. State-worship is their only approved religion. In this vital matter they are caught on the horns of an inescapable dilemma. The admission of the spiritual nature of man means recognition of the sovereignty and the sanctity of the individual immortal soul. In order to eliminate the individual they are forced to deny the existence of the soul. To the orthodox state-worshipper, the individual citizen is just a piece of machinery like a clock. What a tragic inversion of values!"

"My final thought is this: as Canada has been chosen for early victimization by the agents of slavery, so our triumphant resistance will be the signal for mankind as a whole to resume the forward march towards an era of universal peace, freedom, prosperity and enlightenment,—an era in which the immortal soul of man, finally released from fear and tyranny, can attain in this life a growing measure of the spiritual fulfillment contemplated in the Great Design."

to Yugoslavia, the Dodecanese Islands to Greece, the African colonies would meet some undecided fate and the Port of Trieste would be internationalized under United Nations supervision.

The starting point for the territorial changes for Italy—as well as for Hungary—was the border line of Jan. 1, 1938—before Munich—while for Romania, Bulgaria and Finland the changes were based on the frontiers of Jan. 1, 1941, while the German-Soviet pact was still in force.

This meant Allied confirmation of Romania's 1940 cession of Bessarabia to Russia—a cession which was withdrawn from Germany's invasion of Russia—as well as of lower Dobruja to Bulgaria and Finland's cessions to Russia in 1939, to which now is added the ice-free Arctic Sea outlet of Petsamo Province. Hungary is required to recognize the sub-Carpathian Ukraine as Soviet territory.

As the inevitable comparisons with the treaties which ended the First Great War began, the initial differences commented upon was the fact that the losers in 1946 were offered membership in the United Nations, while the losers of 1919 originally were barred from the League of Nations.

Canada Called Upon To Face Internal Warfare Directed By Russians, Rotarians Told

Having just survived the prolonged ordeal of World War II, the Canadian people are called upon to brace themselves for another test, a struggle against World Communism, "the most ruthless Imperialism" that has ever sought to dominate the world, Gladstone Murray, of Toronto, director of the Responsible Enterprise Movement and former head of the Canadian Broadcasting System, told local Rotarians yesterday at their noon meeting at the New Sherbrooke Hotel.

Describing the Soviet Union as a "vast slave empire" run by the "elite of the Communist regime" who thrive on the ignorance of the 175,000,000 people under their heavy fist, Mr. Murray charged the Moscow governing group with plotting the elimination of freedom from the rest of the world, and especially from North America, in order to establish their own security.

Describing the pattern of the "overlords of the Kremlin" to secure world domination, Mr. Murray said it begins by undermining and intimidating the leadership of the trade unions in order that organized labor, or a considerable proportion of it, may be used to serve Communist ends. All actual and potential causes of trouble between labor and management are emphasized, any move toward agreement is obstructed. Strike action is invariably recommended. Local strikes are encouraged to spread. All intrigues and activities are directed to what is known as "The moment of Emancipation, the Declaration of the Revolutionary General Strike."

Mr. Murray referred to the admirable spirit of co-operation in Sherbrooke and the Eastern Townships between English-speaking and French-speaking Canadians, which, he said, provides a working model for the rest of Canada.

"Having always adhered to the view that our diverse racial, strains and cultural origins are a source of strength for this emerging nationality, I am delighted to see the best practical demonstration here in the Eastern Townships, and perhaps especially in Sherbrooke," Mr. Murray said.

Mr. Murray was introduced by Past President Douglas Stevenson, and thanked by Past District Governor George Ewing. Guests at the head table in addition to Mr. Murray included Mayor Guy Bryant, H. R. Kingscote, C. P. R. industrial commissioner, London, England, F. W. Collins, C.P.R. industrial manager, Montreal, and City Clerk Antonin Deslauriers.

Text of Mr. Murray's address follows:

"There are various reasons why I have looked forward to this visit. One is the chance it gives to sense once again the admirable spirit of co-operation here between Canadians who speak English and Canadians who speak French—a spirit of co-operation provides a working model for the rest of Canada.

"Since 1936 my work has brought me into intimate touch with this problem. I have observed a great and beneficial change in the relations between English-speaking and French-speaking citizens. The word 'citizens' is used and advisedly because the improvement in relations is more pronounced between citizens than between leaders; not because leaders do not wish to be friendly but because they make the mistake that friendliness will alienate their own followers; it is a sort of vicious cir-

23 MEMBERS OF LOCAL Y.W.C.A. ARE AT CAMP

Twenty-three members of the Y.W.C.A. here, ranging in age from nine to thirteen, are camping at Shore Acres, Little Lake Magog. The local Y.W.C.A. board has rented a two-week period, which began last Saturday. The first in eight years, the Y camp is under the direction of Miss Evelyn Tindale, local health education secretary.

With Miss Tindale as counsellors are Ruth Evans, Audrey Richardson (Montreal), Barbara Davey, Catherine Flint and Marilyn Wolter.

Campers are Barbara Cairns, Aline Casper, Shirley Dey, Phyllis Crawford, Jocelyne Dore, Isabelle Edney, Betty Flint, Thelma Graham, Sheila Herman, Elaine Holt, Vals Horsfall, Sylvianne Lampart, Ruth Ledger, Lorna Matthews (Magog), Louise Mills, Donna McPherson, Elizabeth Muer, Nancy Skinner, Kathleen Sullivan, Shirley Thissen, Caroline Trussler, Catherine Watt and Constance Yorke.

Produced by misapprehension; the happy fact, however, is that herein the people have assumed the leadership.

"Having always adhered to the view that our diverse racial strains and cultural origins are a source of strength for this emerging nationality, I am delighted to see the best practical demonstration here in the Eastern Townships, and perhaps especially in Sherbrooke. That all Canadians will build their new tradition with the advantage of access to the literature and culture of both Britain and France will confer unique distinction upon Canada and Canadians.

"It is well indeed, that the forces that make for unity among our citizens are gaining ascendancy. Having just survived the prolonged ordeal of World War II, we are called upon to brace ourselves for another ordeal, in some ways harder and more dangerous. Canadian freedom—our individualist tradition—is regarded as an obstacle in the path of the most ruthless Imperialism that has ever sought to dominate the world. So orders have been given to the Canadian agents of this new Imperialism to tear down our Canadian structure, to paralyze our activities by 'bordering from within.' World Communism is the new Imperialism, its headquarters are in Moscow, and it serves the expansionist policy of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. Its avowed agents in Canada are the Canadian Communists, aided and abetted, sometimes consciously, by Canadian Socialists.

Facts About Russia

"Canadians have no quarrel with the Russian people. Many Russians have become respected Canadian citizens, broadening our national base. But World Communism, as applied by Moscow, does not reflect the inherent friendliness of the Russian people individually. There are about 180,000,000 inhabitants in the areas ruled by Moscow; of these barely 5,000,000, or between two and three per cent, have any say whatsoever in the government or policies of the Soviet Union. The 'elite' of five millions are the members of the Communist Party. To criticize the Moscow Government or its policies is a dangerous pastime in the Soviet Union; more than ten million citizens of the Soviet Union are now in internment camps for being suspected of having views of their own. The Soviet system is, in fact, a vast slave empire. It is a structure built by force and precariously maintained by terrorism. In such a state of affairs, where the individual counts for nothing, and the Secret Police violate all privacy, strict censorship is necessary. The 175,000,000 slaves must be kept in ignorance of what is going on abroad. The iron curtain is indispensable to government by terror.

"As a result of World War II and the troop movements involved, some facts about the outside world have seeped through the iron curtain, to the great concern of the Kremlin overlords. So it has been decided that the only way to establish the security of the Moscow regime is to eliminate freedom from the rest of the world and especially from North America. The Kremlin does not want war; why should it when its objective can be attained without war, or so it believes? Generalissimo Stalin has announced that the world cannot be partly free and partly Communist; therefore it must be all Communist.

THE NEW KIND OF WAR

"The policies and methods of the new Imperialism are an open book. Because the free system has conferred a higher standard of living than Communism could ever attain, because the free system, with all its shortcomings, does respect the individual, our society is to be disorganized to the point where we shall be easy prey for the local gangs of Communism. The pattern is simple; it begins by undermining and intimidating the leadership of the Trade Unions, in order that organized labor, or a considerable proportion of it, may be used to serve Communist ends. All actual and potential causes of trouble between labor and management are emphasized, any move toward agreement is obstructed. Strike action is invariably recommended. Local strikes are encouraged to spread. All intrigues and activities are directed to what is known as 'The Moment of Emancipation, the

Sees Larger Population As Biggest Need For Dominion

Canada needs a larger population to take advantage of the great prospects for industrial expansion in the Dominion in the opinion of H. R. F. Kingscote, Canadian Pacific Railway industrial commissioner in London, England, who is in Sherbrooke visiting local industries and points of interest.

Mr. Kingscote, who was accompanied to Sherbrooke yesterday by F. W. Collins, C.P.R. industrial manager, Montreal, is in Canada to study opportunities for the establishment of British manufacturing concerns in this country, to assist in the development of trade between Canada and Great Britain and to make an examination of Canadian industrial conditions.

Concluding his tour in the Maritime provinces next week, Mr. Kingscote, who is being accompanied on his Canadian travels by his daughter, Aldena, arrived in this country in May, and will sail from Montreal on August 10th.

Mr. Kingscote said he had found conditions excellent for the establishment of British firms in Canada, and said that while at the present time the law holding capital in England prevents any expansion of industry, he expected in the near future to see a number of companies starting Canadian plants.

From the point of view of natural resources, Canada cannot be surpassed as an industrial country, Mr. Kingscote said, and he predicts a bright future for the Dominion in the world industrial picture.

Reconstruction work in Britain is coming along remarkably well, Mr. Kingscote stated, although it is hampered by a lack of materials and a shortage of labor. At the present, the emphasis in the Old Country is on the export trade.

It is the first visit to Canada for Mr. Kingscote and his daughter, who, he said, have enjoyed the trip thoroughly and have been impressed by the size and beauty of the country.

Mr. Kingscote said that Canada has never been held in higher regard by Britain, and paid tribute to the amazing war effort of the country. He said that during the war years the people of England, Scotland and Northern Ireland had got to know and understand the Canadian point of view because of the associations between Canadians and British people, and that he considered his trip a renewal of friendships made in his own country during the war.

Accompanied by Mayor Bryant and City Clerk Deslauriers, Mr. Kingscote and Mr. Collins made a tour of the city, and at noon today they were guests at a private dinner at the Social Club.

TWO HELD IN THEFT OF CAR AND ACCIDENT

Two people were slightly injured, an automobile is badly damaged and two young men are being held as a result of a stolen joy ride to Bromptonville late last night.

Eddie Eager, 23, 44 Aberdeen Street, faces four charges lead against him this morning. They are theft of a truck, "hit and run," reckless driving and obstructing a police officer in performance of his duty. His companion, J. E. Isabelle, of Alexander Street, is charged with theft of a truck alone.

They started for Bromptonville, police state, and on the way collided with the automobile driven by H. Grant, 62 Belmont Street, and containing Mrs. Grant, Henriette, the seven-year-old daughter, and Mrs. A. Delorme. The latter two were taken to St. Vincent de Paul Hospital where it was found they had only sustained superficial injuries and they were allowed to proceed home.

The two youths continued to Bromptonville in the stolen truck and were apprehended on their return by Provincial Police Detective Marcel Patenaude and Detective Sergeant Roland Gosselin of the Sherbrooke police.

Provincial Police, through Detective Patenaude, this morning issued a strong plea to all owners of cars and trucks to be more careful in seeing that they were safely locked or garaged at nights. There have been many thefts of cars recently by young men, most of whom are under the influence of liquor, and these constitute a considerable hazard to the lives of other motorists, he stated.

Car Priority System Ends On August 1

Ottawa, July 31.—Canada's year-old car priority system, disrupted by a combination of low automobile production and a lively market for the priority certificates, will end August 1st.

This announcement came last night from Reconstruction Minister Howe who said the system became unworkable when the car shortage and increased demand brought about a situation where enforcement was costing more than the system was worth.

For the man-in-the-street with a "new car" gleam in his eye, the announcement apparently spikes any hope he may have had of buying a new model for many months. Mr. Howe said the trade had been sent a "firm" order to fill first the orders of those now holding priority certificates—and there is a backlog of some 60,000 unfilled certificates.

Three weeks ago Mr. Howe told the Commons Veterans Committee that veterans priorities had "completely bogged down" and in an interview last night said there had been widespread illegal traffic in priority certificates.

He gave no details and declined comment regarding possible action against traffickers. However, other sources disclosed that at least 500 of the precious buff-colored forms have been sold at black market prices, some reaching as high as $500.

Mr. Howe expected the first-come-first-serve system of the future to work out because the trade could be trusted to take care of deserving cases, and kill the black market. There was no rationing system in the United States and the free system was working satisfactorily there.

Following strikes in the industry itself and despite continuing material shortages due partly to strikes in other industries such as coal and steel, automobile production figures have increased but not to the hoped-for levels.

The latest figures from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, issued June 24th, show May production totalled 20,922 units compared with 16,830 in April and 15,045 in May, 1945.

Of the 20,922, however, only 12,755 were passenger models and of the largest group—10,916 sedans—only 6,233 were kept for sale in Canada while 4,983 were exported.

Molotov Urges

of being voted among the Big Four or the Big Five.

Some sources speculated that Mr. Molotov might have a surprise in store for the conference, as evidence by his unexpected support yesterday of a proposal by State Secretary Byrnes of the United States to open all sessions to the press.

There has been too much misunderstanding of Soviet aims," Mr. Molotov told the Rules Committee, in supporting Mr. Byrnes. He attributed the misunderstanding, at least in part, to closed sessions of previous gatherings.

The Rules Committee approved the principle of a "wide open" press, and the proposal is expected to be adopted as a matter of course when it reaches the floor of the conference.

Teacher Shortage Is Acute In Many Parts Of Country, With Dearth Also Felt In E.T. Area

With only one month left of summer holidays, school inspectors in rural areas throughout Quebec are frantically continuing their search for enough teachers to meet increased enrollments.

Dr. J. D. Jefferis, head of the Department of Education at Bishop's University, has declared that there is a dearth of teachers in the rural areas of the Eastern Townships. He explained that although he had no statistics, he was certain that the shortage of teachers prevalent since the beginning of the war in this district had not been relieved.

The teaching staff in all Sherbrooke schools is complete for the 1946-47 term, and the complement at Lennoxville has been secured.

It is possible that the shortage of teachers in this province will be even more acute this fall than it was a year ago. Salaries, long a complaint of all teachers, loom as a possible threat that might close a number of schools.

Many school commissions have refused to pay more than the minimum legal salary of $600 a year which of the Quebec Legislature and at the time that wage arbitration boards were abolished.

Before the boards were dissolved, some school commissions made agreements for gradual increases to $900.

It is feared that unless school commissions and teachers come to an agreement before the end of August, hundreds of schools will remain closed.

There is the possibility, however, that the Provincial Government may intervene as it did in Montreal when teachers were seeking salary increases. The government then subsidized school commissions to enable them to increase the salaries of teachers, and many circles believe that similar action would be necessary to ensure the reopening of all rural schools when the school year starts.

Leo Guindon, president of the Provincial Federation of Catholic Teachers of Quebec, has charged that many school commissions virtually agreed to grant gradual increases to $900 but had later refused to pay more than the minimum $600.

Although the salary situation is dark, prospects for the number of teachers available for rural and urban schools is much brighter.

B. O. Filteau, French secretary of public instruction, and Dr. W. Percival, English secretary, said in a recent interview that there would probably be a shortage of rural teachers during the beginning of the year but that schools would be fully manned a little later on.

Mr. Filteau estimated that there would be a three per cent shortage of teachers in rural (colonization) centres at the beginning of the school year "but there is no doubt that the situation will be settled in a short time with all the necessary teaching personnel for the whole province." He said that there was a surplus and not a shortage of teachers in urban areas.

Dr. Percival said that the situation in English-language schools was about the same as that in French-language schools with a shortage of about 150 teachers in rural areas for the beginning of the school year. The situation was "bound to ameliorate" and he reported that there was no shortage of teachers in urban centres.

All in all, the situation is vague and in the event that many rural schools would not open, the only wholly satisfied parties would be the hundreds of affected school children who would undoubtedly welcome an enforced holiday.

DOROTHY DIX

Mother Is Behind Times

Wants To Restrict Girl To One Boy
Instead of Looking Field Over

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a senior in high school. I get out of school at 2:30 every day and work until 9:30. Each night some boy brings me home. There is no question of any love affair between any of us. We are just friends who are kids who enjoy each other, and they bring me home so that I will not be by myself at night.

But my mother highly disapproves of this. She wants me to go steady with one boy and says I will get talked about if I go with so many. She only lets me go out once a week, on Sunday night, when my date and I, whoever he is, go to church. She will not even let me do that if I haven't done my housework to please her.

DOROTHY DIX

Will you help me, please?

PUZZLED.

ANSWER: I am afraid no one can help you because your mother is so far behind the times in her ideas that she will never catch up with the procession and see what a mistake she is making in trying to tie you down to one boy, instead of you being left free to look the whole field over and see which one you prefer.

MOTHER TOO OUT-OF-DATE

Her idea is that a girl's association with a boy should be strictly with matrimony in view, and that it doesn't matter whether the boy is congenial or not, or how she feels towards him, or whether she wants him for a husband or not. His being a meal ticket is all that counts. She has no conception of the pleasures, and of the mutual profit and education it is to both of them, for girls and boys just to be friends who play around together, and talk over things together, with no thought of any love-making or any sentimental complications whatever.

It is a pity that your mother hampers you by her old-fashioned views on this subject. But don't let her force you to hang yourself around one boy's neck. The "keeping company" custom is suicidal for girls because it makes them the victim of a boy's caprice, and if he gets tired of her, as he often does, she is just simply ditched.

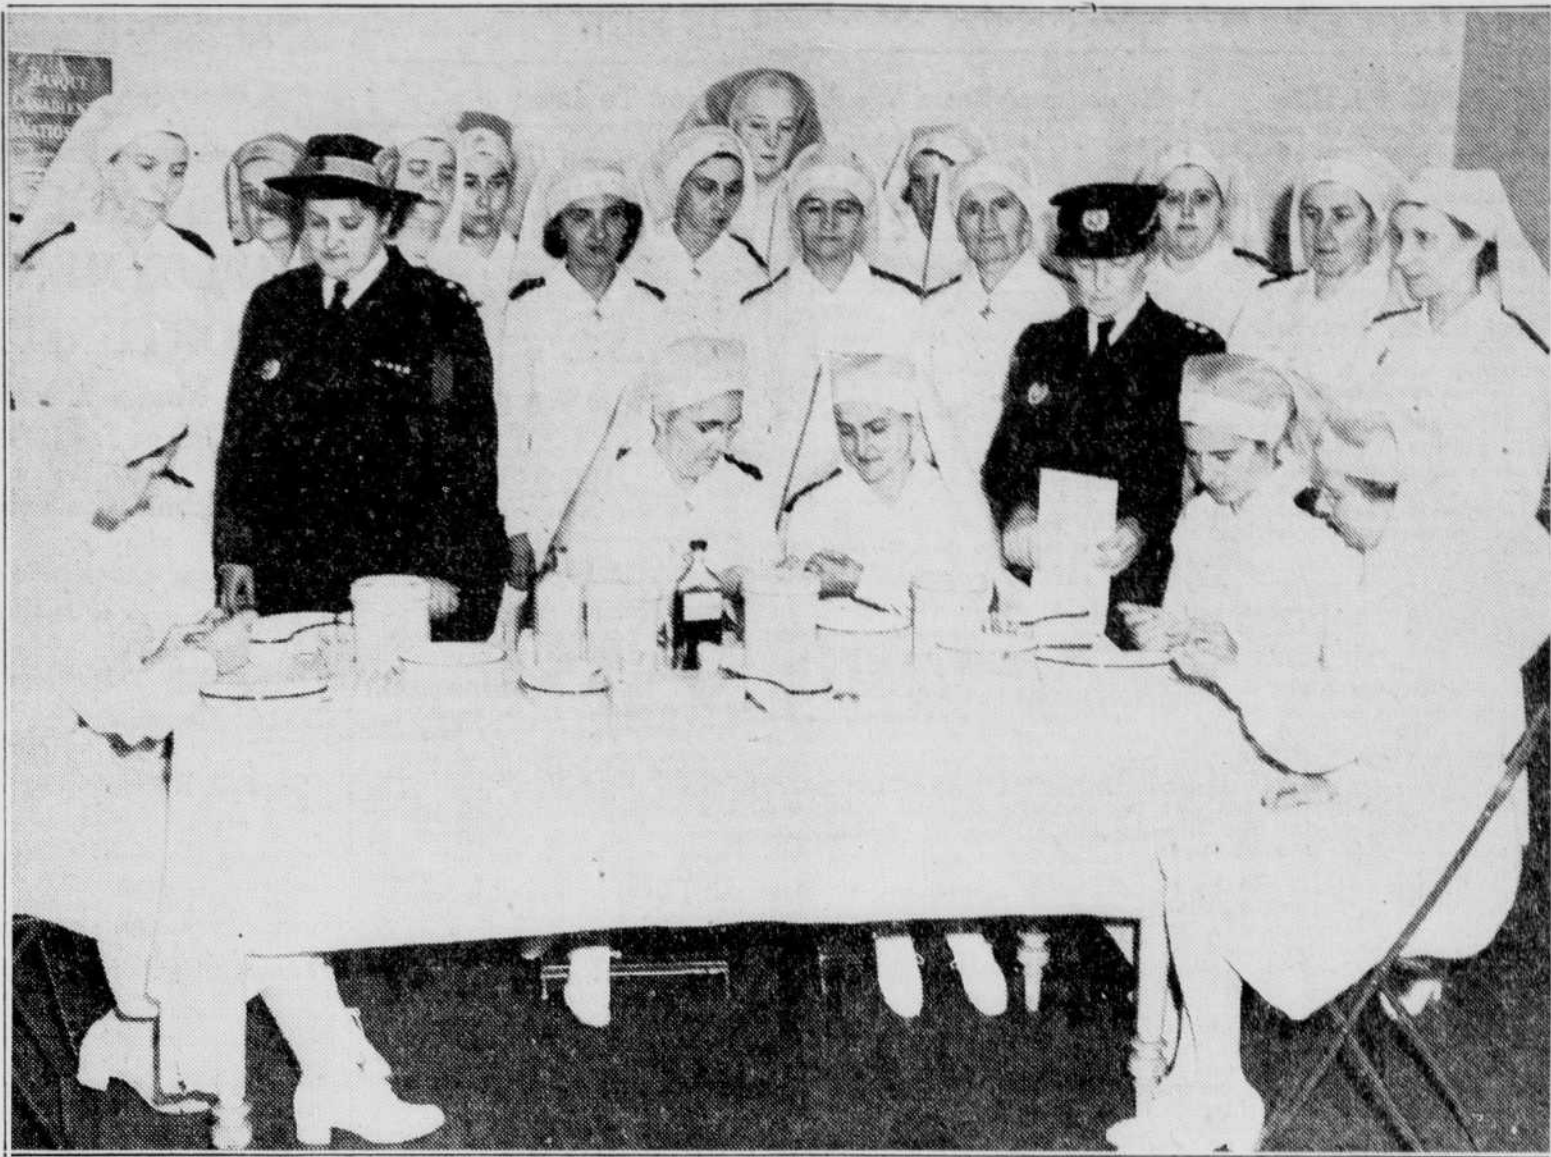

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a widow in my late thirties and very much in love with a man in his early twenties. At times he seems to care a lot for me and at other times he is very indifferent. We are of different natures. He is full of life, likes to dance and go places; but I don't enjoy dancing or going about, and I wonder if I would be jealous of his younger friends.

What chance of happiness would we have in marriage?

ANSWER: None at all. There is too much difference in age between you. You belong to one generation and he belongs to another, and that is a bridge that romantic love cannot cross. The boy would

BACK IN E.T.
AFTER BEING
AWAY 50 YEARS

Many of the older residents of Sherbrooke will recall Messrs. Peter and Allan Smith, who under the name of "Smith Bros." engaged in the granite and memorial business in Sherbrooke more than fifty years ago, at which time they moved to Montreal. Mr. and Mrs. Allan L. Smith have been spending the month of July at the Connaught Inn at North Hatley. While vacationing at North Hatley they have been looking up old friends and acquaintances. Mr. Smith says with regret that he can count on one hand all those who are still in Sherbrooke since he left fifty years ago.

Allan L. Smith was born and brought up in Bury. At a comparatively early age he moved to Barre, Vt., later opening a granite and memorial business in partnership with an elder brother, Peter, in Sherbrooke, where he worked for many years. Fifty years ago he left Sherbrooke to take up residence in Montreal.

Mr. Smith has now retired from active business life. His only son was killed in battle in World War II.

CHERRY RIVER

Mr. and Mrs. J. McMillan and young daughter, of Montreal, have been holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Luke Bullard and family.

Mr. Albert Whittier, who has been ill at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Meigs, in Magog, is now convalescing at his home here.

The two young children of Mr. and Mrs. George Mison, Graydon and Isabel, have been ill.

Mr. Medas Fleurent has purchased the farm formerly owned and occupied by Mr. Oris Brown, at McConnell, and with his family has moved there.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Humphrey and Mrs. J. S. Humphrey accompanied Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Parnell to Selby Lake to visit Miss Helen Parnell, R. N., of Montreal, who is spending part of her holidays at "Pinnacle Lodge."

Miss Deloria Mandigo, of Magog, was a guest of Miss Leona Mitson for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Pott and young son were sea guests of Mrs. Pott's mother, Mrs. Frank Buzzell.

know that he had put himself in a ridiculous position in having a wife that everyone mistook for his mother, and the first time he was teased about you and you saw that he was ashamed of you, the marriage would go on the rocks.

It is youth to youth. Age and youth, especially when the woman is the older, can never be happy together. So let the boy go, as he evidently desires to do, and marry some man in your own age class. Believe me, lady, there is no such torturing jealousy in the world as that which eats at the heart of an old wife of a boy husband.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 17, very unhappy because I have homely legs. Mine are thin and bowed, and I think that must be the reason that I have no dates. For it seems that the boys of today all fall for girls with legs like the pictures in the papers.

Do you think that is true, and is there anything I can do about it?

SAD SACK.

ANSWER: The plastic surgeons seem able nowadays to make anyone over according to their taste, so why don't you consult one and see if he can't take the bow out of your legs? But why don't you offset your defect by making yourself so agreeable and entertaining, and by learning to dance so well that nobody will look at your lower extremities?

Anyway, there is comfort for you in the fact that long skirts are coming in, and soon your legs will just be a secret between you and your Maker.

The Record will be pleased to receive any letters to this Dorothy Dix column. These will be forwarded to Miss Dix who will answer them as quickly as possible.

BRIDE-TO-BE ENTERTAINED
AT RANDBORO

Ranboro, July 31.—Mrs. William Graham, Mrs. Irvin Graham and Mrs. John Jones were hostesses at the home of the former, for a shower for Miss Verlie Laroche, a popular bride of the month.

Upwards of thirty-five ladies were assembled when the guest of honor arrived. She was conducted to a specially decorated chair in the chosen color scheme of pink and white with wedding bells.

The rooms were made more beautiful by the lavish use of roses and peonies.

The basket of gifts was brought in by Miss Barbara Krapp, of Valleyfield, and Miss Claudia Ligeet, of Somerville, Mass. Mrs. Hugh Cairns in a few well-chosen words, made the presentation.

Miss Laroche was assisted in opening and displaying her gifts by her mother, Mrs. Claud Laroche, and Mrs. E. Berwick, of Sawyerville.

After all gifts had been opened and admired, the guest of honor graciously thanked her many friends for both the gifts and their kindness.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by several of the other ladies. The bride's table was decorated with pink and white crepe paper streamers and flowers.

General Notes

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Rand were Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Rand and two children, of Hardwood Flat, Mrs. Edith Rand, of Bulwer, and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Rand and two children and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Berwick, of Sawyerville.

Mrs. Hannah Jones and Mrs. Emma Arnot were dinner guests of Mrs. E. G. Middlemiss.

Municipal Directory Will Be Compiled For Town Of Richmond

In preparation for their next big undertaking, that of publishing a municipal directory for the Town of Richmond, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, an energetic body of young businessmen who have already accomplished many creditable works in Richmond, have just completed their task of numbering the entire town, with all houses and business establishments on every street in the community now possessing a street number, in line with such purposes followed by all larger municipalities.

Now that their house numbering job has finally been completed, the Junior Chamber of Commerce plans to go ahead with their task of compiling a complete municipal directory, and will base their work for 1946-'47 on that undertaking. It is hoped that the directory will be published early next year.

Assisting in the work of numbering the homes and stores of Richmond were the following members of the Chamber: Rene Cormier, retiring president; Jean-Paul Brouillette, president-elect; E. P. Burns, vice-president; Georges Brouillette and Jean-Paul Trepanier, directors, with the following committee members: Lucien Lacroix, Joseph Burns, Roy Lacroix, Paul Langlois, Roland Bissonnette, Leo Bissonnette, Paul Allard, Renard Beliveau and Robert Beliveau.

WORLD-FAMOUS MAGICIAN
COMING TO RICHMOND FAIR

FRED BECKMAN is a French-Canadian born in Montreal, Quebec, in 1919. He made his first appearance as a magician playing amateur shows at the Moulin Rouge, in Montreal.

In 1926, Beckman made his debut as a professional magician, playing vaudeville at the Franciscan and the Theatre des Nouveaux, both in Montreal. Ever since that time, he has performed his magic on vaudeville stages from coast to coast in Canada as well as the United States.

For many seasons, he played carnival side shows, parks and fairs, all over the country, presenting some amazing stunts such as "The Escape of the Locked Trunk," "Buried Alive in Sand," "The Coffin Mystery," and many other spectacular feats with handcuffs and the strait-jacket. Beckman had strong press notices in every newspaper in Canada, and was well-known as "the Canadian Houdini." During many years, he played schools, colleges, auditoriums and has performed his magic on concerts and conventions before select social, diplomatic and clergyman groups. Finally, he went into the night club life.

In World War No. 2, Beckman went overseas with the Canadian Armed Forces, and for more than three years, he entertained millions of troops all over Europe under the auspices of the Canadian Legion, Salvation Army, Knights of Columbus, and the Canadian Red Cross. He also played E.N.S.A. in the British Isles and for U.S.O. Camp Shows.

Member of the "Magicians Guild of the Americas," he holds memberships in many foreign Magic societies. Today, Beckman is as popular in the United States as in Canada or Europe. Being interested in magic through the years, he has attained a mastery of his profession which has made him a top-flight performer.

Beckman and his talented company of assistants will appear at Richmond Fair on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 15, 16 and 17.

Governors Of Wales Home To Hold Annual Reception Next Wednesday

Resuming their former practice of holding "open house," or field day, as it used to be known, the Governors of The Wales Home in Richmond are preparing for the annual reception to be held at The Home next Wednesday afternoon, August 7th, beginning at 2.30 p.m., D.S.T.

This reception takes the form of a public reunion of all Eastern Townships residents who are interested in the work and welfare of The Home, and provides an opportunity for those who like to renew old friendships with many of the Townships older citizens who are now resident at this charming home for Protestant Old Folks to meet in the atmosphere of a "family" get-together and exchange pleasantries with those who do not get around as much as they used to do.

All who are interested in this well-known Home are cordially welcome to the reception next Wednesday afternoon, and the invitation urges that all those who plan to attend take advantage of the occasion to inspect The Home and premises, including the fertile fields and rolling land of the well-kept farm operated by The Home's farm manager, V. R. Beattie.

It has been a number of years since the public reception has been held at The Home, due to the war, and the governors anticipate that a record attendance may fill the spacious rooms and halls of The Home for this occasion.

To further heighten the interest in the reception a special program has been arranged, with the Rev. Fred Williams, of Sherbrooke, as guest speaker, and a varied program of musical and vocal numbers will highlight the afternoon festival. At the conclusion of the reception, the ladies' auxiliary will serve light refreshments.

The president of the Board of Governors is E. E. Goodenough, of Sherbrooke, with K. G. Nourse, of Richmond, and L. M. Thomas, of Coaticook, as vice-presidents. Dr. C. E. Manning, of Richmond, is secretary-treasurer. Mayor A. E. Dyson, of Richmond, is chairman of the Farm Board.

Daughter Of Mine

R. Louise

THE STORY: Cecily's wedding is over at last. But never will I forget the cruel thing I did to her. And Della, Cecily's mother, will never forgive me. I have adored Cecily since she was a baby—kept on adoring her even after I married Robert and my daughter Corinna was born. Long ago, too, I knew that Della was raising Cecily to be an insufferable snob, and that she was jealous of my love for her.

One day when Cecily was ten and Corinna eight, the two little girls were practicing dance steps together. Corinna tripped and Cecily slapped her. It was more than I could stand. Della refused to do anything so I took Cecily across my knee and spanked her.

CHAPTER IX

I saw Della standing still, quietly staring at me. She was pale but she let me hold Cecily until my very fingertips were sated with the feel of her small, warm body. At last I whispered to Cecily to run and wash her face and find me a dry hanky.

"She'll probably be sick tonight," Della commented when Cecily had left the room, but that was all she ever said about my explosion.

The rehearsals were astonishingly pleasant after that and Della made no obvious efforts to get rid of me while they were going on.

She was eager for Cecily to appear before one of the town's major clubs so that the paper would have to call off its boycott and give Cecily a write-up that Myrtle Ralston might conceivably see. I didn't think that Mrs. Ralston would be impressed, but Della was convinced that an inch of newspaper was as vital to every one as it was to her.

Unfortunately the first call that came after the children had perfected their act was to the Marlin Playgroup Annual Festival.

Della turned up her nose at it. "I didn't spend a fortune on costumes so that Cecily could dance in front of those blackamoors."

I didn't argue. Corinna could dance alone—and I wanted to see Della's face when she discovered who had comprised half the adult audience. However, although she still was not taking the town newspaper she found one in the beauty parlor, read the advance notice of the Festival and saw the error of her ways. Patrons of the playgroup were the town's elite, among them the Ralstons, and they all attended the annual Festivals religiously as their civic duty. They brought their children, too, many of whom were regular habitués of the recreation center, as Della would have discovered if she had ever taken the trouble to investigate.

Because of the news item Cecily and Corinna were introduced together the evening of the gala affair before an audience that packed the big gymnasium. Corinna's welcome was assured because of Robert and her previous performances around town. Cecily could not but share in the opening applause that greeted Corinna, but the crescendo was in tribute to her as she followed Corinna onto the stage. Even at 10 Cecily had that quality which quickens imagination.

But Corinna managed to hold her own, I saw, relieved. She had warmth where Cecily had mystery; Corinna was the earthly and familiar while Cecily's very remoteness challenged and teased. I doubt that anyone who ever saw Cecily quite forgot her. I'm sure that thousands of people have suddenly and inexplicably recalled her face and wondered why of all faces even in their crowded daily lives, hers should achieve a sort of immortality within the subconscious.

No one who saw her that night has ever forgotten her. I know, and because of her they remember Corinna—two little girls smiling breathlessly behind the colored footlights, their young faces bright with excitement, their slim child bodies sparkling in brief, skintight panties and bras of gold sequins. Over these they wore fitted redingotes of white starched net, made with puffs of sleeves and short, full puffed skirts.

Although we used recordings for practice, Della had hired a popular pianist from the city to play for their public appearance. I was to pay half the cost of that. I felt Robert's hand gripping mine tightly as I leaned against him in the crowd. On his face was a pride so loving and tender, so completely oblivious to what those fragile costumes had cost him that my heart ached with its guilt. Oh, I've paid my ounce of flesh for every moment of Cecily I bought these past years—robbing those whom I also loved, and suffering because they could not have what I took from them to give to Cecily.

Della stood near me, squinting at Cecily, completely absorbed in her. We had no business being out in the crowd, since we were needed for costume changes backstage, we simply could not forego seeing our small artists make their debut together. At least it was the two of them that I saw. Della was interested only in Cecily.

I nudged Della when it was time to head backstage. She turned absently and almost bumped into Myrtle Ralston, standing with her arm about the shoulders of her 12-year-old son. The boy's lips were parted as he stared toward the stage. It was evident that he, too, had come under Cecily's witchery.

Della paused a precious instant to take them in with vindictive eyes and then she threw me a glance of triumph which I did not fully understand for several years.

You would have thought Pavlova or Isadora Duncan had wandered onto the stage the way the audience stormed and shouted for encores after the girls had finished their numbers. Even Corinna, accustomed to applause, was round-eyed and a little frightened by the clamor. Della's color was high. Gratification stuck out all over her. The tension within me relaxed.

KING OF THE ROYAL MOUNTED.

By Zane Grey.

Just when the picture looked rosy for hockey in Sherbrooke and when fans were beginning to talk about our chances for next winter's campaigns in the Provincial Hockey League, a bombshell exploded in loud fury and knocks the plans into a cocked hat.

Bikini's atomic blast had a less startling effect in spite of its dreadful power, because there was no surprise element as there has been in the local development.

Elsewhere on this page today is the statement from the hockey committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce announcing its dissolution. It is not the intention of this observer to mix in the internal workings of the Junior Chamber group, nor would it be his privilege.

It is, however, permissible to express regret that a project which started so strongly, with every indication of being successful, should crumble into failure because of the inability of those concerned with its operation to agree.

This misunderstanding is indeed regrettable, because the session will mean no senior calibre hockey in Sherbrooke during the 1946-47 campaign. Sports fans will now be looking for some new organization to step into the picture and assure them of top-flight hockey entertainment or for a rapprochement in the ranks of the Junior Chamber which will allow the continuation of plans which were well advanced before the disagreement cropped up.

Prospective members of the team and interested business men will gather for a round-table discussion tonight at the "Y" on the steps to be taken in the revival of the Athletics football club, and it is imperative that as many players as possible sit in on the session and show that they are keen about having the city represented in Quebec Rugby Football Union warfare once again.

It is going to take a lot of hard work and a sizeable chunk of hard cash to outfit the team, since the officials must start right from scratch in the way of equipment, and to pay the travelling expenses to Montreal, St. John, Quebec and other points in the Province.

Be out there at the "Y" tonight and let's get the ball rolling right away.

Stuart "Swami" Blier, who has again turned to peaceful pursuits after a long session of crystal gazing in the Army, is heading the up-and-coming executive concerned with putting Waterville back on the Eastern Townships golfing map after the war years, in which the Waterville club experienced lean times in company with all other sporting organizations.

President of the Waterville club, Stu is hanging out the "welcome" sign this coming Saturday afternoon, and hopes that good numbers of linksmen from the other clubs in the district will take a crack at his nine-hole layout.

R. L. Gule, Jr., another vet, is secretary-treasurer of the club, and will be glad to receive your entry any time up to noon Saturday.

Cliff Sutton, Dick Wilson and Co. of the "Y" softball team were just about ready to lose all belief in the adage about everything coming to those who wait long enough when, lo and behold, they came up with a victory in the "A" Softball League.

Yes, Sir, they won a game, but it took them fourteen contests to produce one victory. Game after game the boys were in there trying, but something always went wrong. Many times they outthrew their opponents but lost out through a bad inning.

So they turned around and topped the Rand 12-11. No doubt the triumph was not shared by the Randsters, who needed a victory badly to put them ahead of Savard in the battle for third place.

Next thing you know the "Y" will be knocking off Lessard, who have yet to taste defeat. Stranger things have happened.

A good time was had by all on the Record trip to Sawyerville. Although the newspapermen took the short side of a score, their spirit remains unbroken, and they promise to turn the tables on the Painters, Coutures and other Sawyerville stalwarts when they get them on a Sherbrooke diamond.

For a while, the Record lads tried to alibi in recounting their experiences, laying the blame on a ditch in the outfield, but nobody was lost in the gully and they finally broke down and admitted they were outclassed handily.

Plenty of dirty linen will be hanging out on the lines at the headquarters of the Border Baseball League in Ogdensburg tonight in a meeting which will be held following the all-star tilt between picked Canadian and American clubs.

There will be much groaning and moaning by the umpires, who are not satisfied with their salary and who are bitter about the verbal punishment they have been absorbing all over the circuit, and particularly from "Dutch" Prochel and his fighting Canadians, who certainly would be in first place if talking could put them there.

There will be much groaning and moaning from the team managers, again particularly from Prochel, who claims that in all his years of baseball he has never seen as poor umpiring as has been turned in by the Border officials.

Four of the umpires, Fournier, Bally, Maloney and Roy, have threatened to quit and probably will either do so definitely or be persuaded to continue tonight. It is probable several protests will be considered.

It should be quite a busy session. It seems amusing to read the lamentations and wailing coming from the typewriter of John Case, Waterville Times sports boss, in explanation of the three-game setback the Athletics suffered in Sherbrooke the other day.

Case, who calls the Sherbrooke team the "Red Sox," confusing the Granby and Sherbrooke entries, claims there were fistic encounters resulting in an injury to the Waterville shortstop, and blames the losses on poor officiating. In short, the Athletics, poor little fellows, were treated very roughly by the Canadians.

"The Waterville players are waiting for a return trip to Waterville by Sherbrooke," Case concludes. Sounds rough.

ROYALS SPLIT TWIN FEATURE WITH NEWARK

Sherman Lollar, backstop of Baltimore Orioles, is beginning to clout the ball in the fashion that won him the International League's most valuable player award in 1945.

The youthful receiver who was regained on option by the Orioles from Cleveland of the American League a few weeks ago, is batting only .206 but in his last six games, he has clubbed the ball at a .398 pace.

Known as one of the best power hitters in the circuit when he led the parade with a .364 last year, the 21-year-old catcher enjoyed a field day in the second game of a doubleheader last night as he drove home six runs on two homers in leading the Orioles to a 11-0 victory over Buffalo after the Bisons had won the opener, 3-0.

Ray Flanagan limited the Bisons to eight hits while Art Houtteman yielded only three in chalking up his 13th win of the season for Buffalo in the opener.

The battling Montreal Royals divided a twin bill with Newark Bears, taking the opener, 3-2, behind Keith Kehn but bowing, 2-1, in the nightcap to Steve Peek and Alex Mustakis. Mike Milosevich's first homer of the season with Don Savage on base in the second frame accounted for all of the Bears' markers in the finale.

Syracuse's second place Chiefs made it two in a row over Toronto as Millard (Dixie) Howell scattered 11 hits and walked seven batters while his mates collected 14 safeties and scored a 6-3 triumph.

The tail-end Jersey City Giants defeated Rochester Red Wings, 7-4, with rookie Bob Thompson's bases-filled homer in the third inning highlighting the conflict. By winning, the Giants moved to within four games of the seventh-place Wings.

SCREEN PLATE PLACES 4TH IN SOFTBALL LOOP

Interest in the Sherbrooke-Lennoxville Industrial Softball League shifted last night to the battle for the fourth playoff position.

Union Screen Plate of Lennoxville secured possession of the coveted berth last night by blasting out a 16-6 victory over Sherbrooke Machineries in a Parade Grounds fixture, and now the plateers lead Machineries and the Record by one point.

In the wide-open match last night the Screen Plate collected eleven hits and were aided and abetted no end by no less than nine Machineries errors. The Machineries men collected only six hits off Lamey, the Lennoxville hurler.

Robitaille hit a grand slam home run for the Lennoxville team with Everett, Barrie and McKee on bases, while Ken Giff homered with Steve LeHuray on the sacks for Sherbrooke Machineries.

Canucks Playing .538 Baseball Here, With 21 Wins, 18 Setbacks

Statistics-minded supporters of the Sherbrooke baseball team will be interested in learning just how the Canadians have been faring in home games as contrasted to those played on the road.

"Dutch" Prochel's Canucks have won 21 games at home and dropped 18 for a percentage of .538. This is far below the required performance in a home park for a ball club that is going places, and accounts in large measure for the Sherbrooke outfit's lowly position in the Border League.

On the road the showing of the local hopefuls has been little short of hopeless, with only ten wins stacked up against losses numbering 27. Their road percentage amounts to .261.

A winning aggregation needs to travel close to a .500 clip on the road, and up around the .750 mark in games at home.

In their home series with the other aggregations, the Canadians have ended Waterville Athletics five games to four, bested Kingston Ponies five to three, tied Auburn four-four, beaten Granby four-three, and lost the old game of seven here against Ogdensburg Maples. They also played a 2-2 deadlock with Auburton which does not show as a completed tilt.

In home games Sherbrooke have been outscored by four runs, collecting 203 to their opponents' total of 207 tallies.

Since Prochel took over the managerial reins from "Pappy" Smith, the Sherbrooke boys have played 18-6 ball for a mark of .684 at home, while under Smith the club won eight games at home and lost twelve for a percentage of .400.

BROTHERS PLAY CLOSE GAME IN CITY TOURNEY

Marcel Dupuis had to go three sets before eliminating his brother, Raoul, from the city tennis tournament picture last night. Scores of the match were 6-8, 7-5, 6-4.

In another hard-fought match Gaston Blais and Laurent Turmel were also carried to three sets before they defeated Jean Levesque and Andre Trotter, 3-6, 6-4, 6-1.

Games scheduled for tonight are as follows:

6:30—Miss Raymonde Laporte and Norman Brault vs. Miss Marthe Tanguay and Rene Joyal.

East Sherbrooke; Hector Prefontaine and Jerry Ferguson vs. Jean and Andre Panneton, Mount Pleasant.

Ownership Of Ball Club Passes Into Sherbrooke Hands

Announcement was made here today of the change in ownership of the Sherbrooke baseball club in the Border League, with control passing out of the hands of the Rochester, N.Y., syndicate headed by William J. Burns into those of a group of Sherbrooke owners.

Representatives of the Sherbrooke interests and the Rochester syndicate which owns the Niagara Falls club of the Middle-Atlantic League as well as the Canadians in the Border Loop were scheduled to meet today in Messina, N.Y., to affix their signatures to the documents making the formal change of ownership.

New officials of the Sherbrooke team, whose names will be announced within a few days, have stated definitely that the baseball club would continue to operate here for the duration of the season.

It is no secret that the Canadians have been operating on a shoestring in Sherbrooke because of the slim crowds at home games and the many expenses created by the long trips to Kingston, Waterville, Auburn and Ogdensburg, and it is believed the Rochester group was anxious to be rid of the franchise and to retire from an embarrassing situation.

With the change in ownership has come the release of George "Pappy" Smith, who started the season as manager of the club, and was retained as general manager, coach and pitcher when "Dutch" Prochel took over the playing end of the team.

All players on the team at present with the exception of Joe Beland and Johnny Busco, who belong to Niagara Falls, are the property of the Sherbrooke club. Bellamy and Busco are optioned here from Niagara Falls.

Prochel, Augie Zande and Leon "Chief" St. Denis have clauses in their contracts guaranteeing that they become free agents at the end of the season, but the rest of the club will remain the property of the Canadians until sold or cut adrift by the local organization.

In all probability the Border League will not operate again next season. If it does, it is understood other Canadian teams will have to be enlisted, with the possible exception of Kingston.

Belief is held here that next summer will see the resurrection of the Provincial Baseball League under a class "C" or "D" rating.

Teams are expected to be three Rivers and Quebec, now in the Canadian-American circuit, Granby and Sherbrooke, now Border League clubs, St. Hyacinthe and Valleyfield.

FOUR GAMES IN INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE SUNDAY

There is no danger of Windsor Mills being dislodged from top position in the Sherbrooke and District Intermediate "A" Baseball League this week-end, even should the per makers bow to Brompville in a game on the latter's diamond.

Windsor holds a game and a half lead over Notre Dame, of Sherbrooke, who will oppose Scots in a Sunday game, and a two-game edge on the third-place Lake Megantic and Theford Mines outfit, who tangle at Theford Mines.

In the fourth game this week-end Richmond will oppose Coaticook.

DODGERS SHADE CARDINALS 2-1 TO BOOST LEAD

Leo Durocher's Brooklyn Dodgers are riding high today, bouncing along on a 3 1/2-game lead with Howie Pollet, the best St. Louis Cardinal hurler, out of the way.

When Lippy Leo's dandies pumped Pollet in last night's night's series opener, 2-1, they struck a mighty blow in defence of their World Series aspirations.

Eddie Dyer needed a clean sweep of the three-game set at Ebbets Field to snatch first place from the precocious Dodgers but now the best he can do is cut the margin to 1 1/2 games by tomorrow night.

Rice Melton, Durocher's long shot starting choice, got home with his first victory of the season although he needed bullpen help from dependable Hank Behrman in the ninth.

Once again, as is the custom in Flatbush, Dixie Walker provided the base hit that put the Brooks in the ball game, his seventh-inning single through Walter Kuykendall at third base converting Pee Wee Reese's triple into the tying score. Then Carl Furillo bounced a ground rules double into the left field seats to apply the clincher.

The faithful turned out 31,446 strong to top the Ebbets Field attendance chart to 1,022,400, the sixth time the 1,000,000-mark has been reached in the club's history.

Brooklyn's all-time high of 1,214,903 set in the 1941 pennant year seems almost certain to be topped.

Chicago lost ground in the race by bowing to New York Giants, 6-2, on Toronto-born Goody Rosen's pinch hit single with the bases loaded in the ninth. As a result the Bruins trail the Dodgers by 7 1/2 lengths.

Schoolboy Rowe chalked up his 11th triumph for the Phillies over Cincinnati, 8-4, with Andy Seminick's bat booming for four hits including a three-run homer.

A scheduled Pittsburgh-Boston night game was postponed because of rain.

Interest in the American League turned to the second place battle between New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers as Boston Red Sox increased their lead to 12 1/2 games by blanking Cleveland, 4-0.

The largest crowd of the Cleveland season, 56,069 watched Dave Ferris rack up No. 17 on a three-hit verdict over Steve Gromek. Ted Williams cracked his 28th homer.

Virgil Trucks fanned 13 Yanks in earning his 12th success, 6-5 to the delight of a twilight throng of 39,881. Four batters by Tommy Henrich, Charley Keller and Aaron Robinson kept the New Yorkers in the ball game. The Bengals now are only one game behind the Yanks.

Important Meeting Of Football Squad

Another organization meeting is being held tonight at the Y.M.C.A. by the Sherbrooke Athletics football club, who will see action this fall in the Quebec Rugby Football Union.

Principal item up for discussion tonight will be the matter of raising money to finance the purchasing of equipment necessary before a team can be fielded. There is no problem as far as players are concerned.

Those in charge of the revival of the team hope there will be a large turnout of prospective team members and that interested business men will also be present.

FIELD DAY FOR E.T. HORSES HERE SUNDAY

Forty-five horses have been entered in sixteen different classes for the field day sponsored by the Fairplay Riding Stable which will take place this Sunday at the stable's riding ring behind the baseball stadium. In case of rain, the horse show, second here this season, will be held in the Arena.

Of the entries, many are outstanding winners in this district and in the Laurentian zone.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Dillingham, of Montreal, will judge the Eastern Townships horses which will come from the S.M.S. Stables, Mount Pleasant and Fairplay Stables; Sherbrooke; Rock Forest Stables; Horseshoe Riding Stable, Magog; and North Harley Stable. Among the outstanding entries are Clipper, Commando, Hi Boy, Silver Dancer and Ben D'Ore, J. Boswell, an American rider, will put Dr. L. A. Gendreau's five-gaited Mr. King of All through his gaits in the afternoon.

MIGHT SWITCH TITLE BOUT TO DETROIT RING

New York, July 31.—(AP)—Promoter Mike Jacobs, who has come up with three world championship boxing bouts in Yankee Stadium in September, has been asked to transfer the heavyweight title fuss between Joe Louis and Tami Maunili to Detroit.

Michigan Boxing Commissioner John Hettche phoned Jacobs, asking the head man of the 20th Century Sporting Club to consider switching the fight to the champion's home town.

Detroit fans haven't seen Louis in a title fight since he stopped the big Al Simon in 13 rounds at the Olympia, March 21, 1941, in his 15th successful defence of the crown.

Jacobs said Hettche painted such a rosy picture that he assured the commissioner he would consider the move, although it would require asking the New York American League baseball club for a release from the contract already signed.

Briggs Stadium, home of Detroit Tigers, will not be available, however. It was there that Louis knocked out Bob Pastor in 11 rounds, Sept. 20, 1939.

In Detroit, General Manager George M. Trautman of the Tigers said the present policy of the club was to use the stadium for baseball, football and civic events only.

If Jacobs doesn't change his original plans the Louis-Maunili fight will take place at the Yankee ball park on the night of Sept. 18.

Thus it will be sandwiched between the Sept. 6 title bout between welterweight champion Marty Servo and Ray Robinson and the once-delayed Sept. 27 contest between middleweight champion Tony Zale and Rocky Graziano, both scheduled in the same Bronx arena.

Commerce Body In Failure To Agree On Plan For Team

If Sherbrooke is to be represented in the Provincial Hockey League, some other organization than the Junior Chamber of Commerce will have charge of the club.

This was learned today with the release to the newspapers by the hockey committee chairman, Gilles Desroches, of a statement announcing dissolution of the committee.

In his detailed account of the reason for the committee's withdrawal from the hockey picture, Mr. Desroches lays the blame for the collapse of the project on the impossibility of the Junior Chamber of Commerce to come to an agreement on hockey plans, and claims the setup of the hockey committee, if approved, could have operated with success.

It is revealed that Ivan Dugre, the coach, had lined up a strong team, that Jean Prefontaine had been named business manager, and that the backing of the General Sports Committee and City Council had been promised to the hockey committee.

Mr. Desroches' statement follows: "The hockey committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, composed of the following five members—Gilles Desroches, Paul Brouseau, Roger Larose, Jacques Lagasse and Jean Boivert—has decided to dissolve.

"This decision was taken with regret, but it became necessary in view of the impossibility of conciliating two plans of action existing in the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

"The plan of the committee was very simple. It was designed to give extensive freedom of action to the committee

The Doctor Says

WEATHER CHANGES PRODUCE SUMMER COLDS

By William A. O'Brien, M.D.
Epidemics of summer colds start in August and extend into the fall months. As far as is known, the same virus which causes the winter variety of colds is responsible for the summer type.

Dr. O'Brien.

The common cold is highly contagious. The infection is spread to susceptible persons in the first 24 to 48 hours.

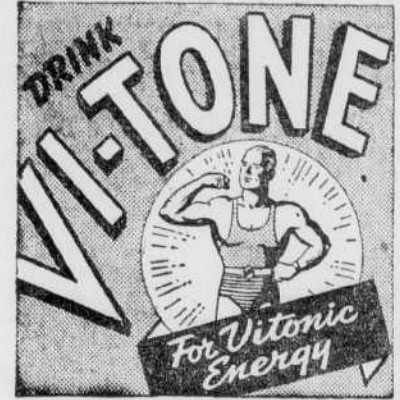

Resistance varies from person to person, and it varies in the same individual from time to time through-out the year. Common-cold epidemics prevail for at least six months out of the year.

Following recovery from a cold, an individual may enjoy an immunity for a month or two. This fact may account for the periodicity of the cold outbreaks, which regularly come in January and February, April and May, and August and September. The average person has two to three colds a year.

Show Allergic Symptoms

Summer colds are often confused with allergic reactions. In the nose, as the symptoms (swollen mucous membrane, watery discharge, interference with breathing, sneezing, and throat irritation) are identical.

Mrs. E. Goodin is ill and Dr. Rice, of Sackville, was called. Mrs. Marjorie Kerr is staying with Mrs. Goodin.
Mr. and Mrs. Alec Mayhew, of Los Angeles, Calif., were calling on friends here. He has just returned from overseas having been in the U.S. Army for three years.
Mr. Alex Mayhew is the son of the late O. Mayhew and spent his childhood days in the home now owned by Mr. Thomas Chapman.

The Ladies' Guild met in the Hall one afternoon.
A dance was held in the Hall one evening by the Women's Institute. The next dance will be for the benefit of the Hall. A new stove has been bought and more repairs are needed.

Miss Christie McLeod, R.N., accompanied by her sister, Mrs. A. Nichols, of Detroit, Mich., have come to visit Mr. and Mrs. Neil McLeod, in East End, Sask.

FITCH BAY

Miss Georgia Coates, of Cookshire, is at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Rider, assisting in the care of Mrs. I. M. Shoreman.

Mrs. A. E. Goodin and two daughters, Margaret and Joan, Jean Alger, Lois Cooke, and Glena Rollins, who have been at the Anglican Junior Girl's Camp, at North Hatley, have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mazon and son, Paul, of Woodville, N.H., are spending the remainder of their vacation with the Misses Deloff, after visiting relatives in Maine.

Rev. A. E. Godwin, excommunicated of the Fitch Bay Boy Scouts, has left for the Montreal District Boys' Camp, "Camp Tamaracouta," near Morin Heights. He was accompanied by Robert Alger, Deane Corbett, Lindsay and Rupert Hucksins and Allan Rollins. Mrs. Elizabeth Heath, of Leno, Ontario, is the guest of Mrs. Godwin Sr.

In known hay-fever victims are caused by complicating common-cold virus infections.

The common cold is not a clear-cut disease, for other infections in the body start with symptoms resembling the common cold. Real proof that the infection is caused by the common-cold virus is usually lacking, because of the technical difficulty of locating the virus.

Respiratory infections in children should be observed with an open mind until their true nature is revealed. In one-third of upper respiratory infections apparently caused by the common-cold virus, the disease subsides, without treatment, in 48 hours.

Allergic reactions in the nose may result from foods. Summer vacationists have been known to stuff themselves with milk and thus to develop an allergic reaction, even though they are not upset by milk in ordinary amounts.

New foods, notably shellfish, also cause allergic nose difficulties which may be called "colds."

Colds and Weather
The relationship between the onset of virus colds and changes in the weather has been observed on shipboard. When the ship passed through a cold current after cruising in warm waters, colds increased sharply.

Some observers believe that the common-cold virus is a constant inhabitant of the human nose which is activated by sudden drops in temperature.

The treatment of a summer cold is the same as that for a cold at any other time of the year. At the first sign of infection many people take a hot bath, go to bed, and stay covered. In the majority of cases, the cold then disappears in 36 to 48 hours.

Symptoms of stuffiness and discharge can be relieved by taking codeine and papaverine, for which a physician's prescription is required.

Question: My mother has diabetes and is taking insulin. Now she is having trouble with her foot, which is painful and numb and becomes red and swollen. She has been told that the trouble is in her nerves. She is 57. What treatment do you recommend?

Answer: Nerve trouble (neuritis) in diabetes is difficult to relieve. Circulation is also a problem, and your mother should be careful that she does not put anything on her foot which will harm it.

MELBORO HOME IS SCENE OF SOCIAL EVENT

Melboro, July 31.—A very happy event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilkins on Saturday evening, June 29, when they entertained upwards of 115 relatives, friends and neighbors at a reception in honor of their eldest son, Mr. Douglas Wilkins, and his bride, who had just returned from their honeymoon trip.

After the assembled guests had extended their greetings and good wishes to the bride and groom, the evening was spent with music and singing.

Delicious refreshments were served. The bride's table looked very beautiful covered with a snowy white linen cloth and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. The table decorations were carried out in pink and white.

The hostess was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Lyall Pariseau, Mrs. F. A. Fleck and Miss Crystal Wilkins.

The guests of honor received a quantity of beautiful gifts, which included linen, cut glass, silverware and cheques.

Among the out of town guests attending were Mrs. Dean, Mr. William Dean, Miss Barbara Smith and Mr. Gordon Little, of Asbestos; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Shales; Mr. and Mrs. Percy Dunbar, Miss Thelma Dunbar, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pariseau, Messrs. George and Roland Pariseau and Mr. and Mrs. Barrie Armitage, of Sherbrooke; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wilkins, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Fleck, Mrs. Matthew Fleck and Mrs. Marion Armitage, of Melbourne, and Mrs. E. A. Healy and son, Mr. Arnold Healy, of Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Wilkins are now residing at 82 Dufferin Avenue, Sherbrooke. Best wishes for a happy and prosperous life were extended this popular couple.
