MEET TOGETHER AT 'CANADIAN TEITILES '65"

Viscount Garnock, a Director and Vice-President of Crossley Karastan Carpet Mills Ltd., is shown above (centre), chatting with F. E. Cleyn, (left), President Cleyn & Tinker Ltd., Huntingdon, Quebec, and C. Malim Harding, President, Harding Carpets Ltd., Brantford, Ontario. The three textile industry executives were attending the "Canadian Texiles '65" conference at Ste. Adele, Quebec.

Textile Problems Aired At Meet - "Canadian Textiles '65"

STE-ADELE, Que. — The most important factor in the future development of Canada will be the increased skill and knowledge of its people, a panel of economists and industrialists agreed at "Canadian Textiles '65" Meeting, June 3rd.

First annual review of the Economic Council of Canada was under discussion at "Canadian Textiles "65" when it was stated that there would be need among industry and people for more specialization, increased efficiency and development of more skills.

The panel consisted of Dr John J. Deutsch, Chairman, and Russell Bell, Economist, of the Economic Council, and C. Malim Harding, a Director of the Canadian Textiles Institute. Chairman was Francois E. Cleyn, Vice-Chairman of the C.T.I. and a member of the Economic Council.

It was agreed that to achieve the goals set by the Economic Council — one being creation of more than one million new jobs by 1970 — government and industry must both work to the pattern suggested by the Council.

Suggestion was that the most dynamic growth in Canadian trade would be in the area of manufactures, that primary resources could not be expected to contribute more to that growth, and that Canada must become more competitive in a world of increasing competitiveness.

That management-labor relations would have to change to meet the new requirements of a changing, accelerated economy was another point made. Collective bargaining had worked in the past, and would not be replaced, but final decisions would be made faster and better when the two elements worked closer together before sitting down to bargain.

Joint management-labor activities, such as economic studies, were suggested. It was the Council's opinion that unless techniques changed growing public dissatisfaction with labor disputes would result in more government intervention.

The panel discussion was the opening session in a two-day joint conference of Canadian Carpet Institute, Cotton Institute of Canada, Knitters Association of Canada, Man-Made Textiles Association, and the Wool Textile Association, at The Chantecler.

Gordon Anderson New Commissioner For Elgin

Nominations for School Commissioner Ward No. 4, Elgin, for the Protestant School Municipality of Huntingdon, were held on Monday, June 7th.

Gordon Anderson was named to replace Ronald Wood, who retired and as there were no other nominations when the time for closing came, he was elected by acclamation to fill the seat. He will be duly sworn in at a next meeting of the Board.

ORDAINED A PRIEST

Rev. John M. Kennedy born in Montreal and educated at De La Salle, Oaklands Toronto, Loyola High School and College Montreal, The Seminary of Philosophy and The Grand Seminary of Montreal. Ordained a Priest by His Eminence Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger May 22nd, 1965. Father Kennedy has spent his summers for the past fifteen years at Sylvestre's Point, St. Anicet. Father Kennedy will leave shortly for his temporary posting as chaplain at Camps Marion and Trails End.

Chateauguay Valley Regional Committee For Expo '65

"Expo '67". The 1967 World Fair. Just two years away! Plenty of time you say? It will take two years to build a good road, to make a nice lawn, to plant some ornamental shrubs or trees, to do that much-needed bit of painting, to rearrange the house in readiness for visitors, to plan and get started on some commemoration projects in one's own village, to prepare details of the activities, the sports, the pleasure resorts which this area has to offer. All these things must be done very soon in order that the details may be incorporated in the information books or booklets which the publicity experts of the World Fair will shortly be sending all over the world to inform the millions of visitors, who will be coming to Montreal in 1967, just what there is to see and do besides visit the Fair site on St. Helen's Island. For millions of people from the south, their first view of Canada will be through the entry ports at Dundee, Huntingdon, Covey Hill, Hemmingford, Roxham and Blackpool, and there never was a time when it was more necessary to ensure that the first impressions our visitors will receive and which they will always remember, as they cross the Border will be pleasant ones.

Chateauguay — Huntingdon Counties are fortunate to have as their Federal Member of Parliament a young man who fully realizes the importance of starting on these projects immediately and to this end Mr. Ian Watson, together with Mr. George Kennedy, M.P.P. for Chateauguay, called a meeting in October, 1964, to which were invited the Mayors, Councillors and representatives of the various organizations of all municipalities in this area. The purpose of this meeting was to: 1st. encourage the formation of an Expo '67 committee in each municipality and 2nd. to form a Regional Committee consisting of delegates named by each municipal committee.

At a later meeting it was decided to form seven sub-committees who, with the help of all the citizens of these two counties, would be responsible for presenting to our visitors the most attractive, and the most appealing view of the area. At a subsequent meeting held at Ste. Martine early this year, the necessity of getting things under way as soon as possible was again stressed and from the many suggestions put forward it was decided that the seven sub-committees should handle problems coming under the following headings: 1. Embellishment, 2. Roads, 3. Lodgings, 4. Hospitality and Information, 5. Agriculture, 6. Industry, 7. Attractions.

As will be seen by a brief consideration of each heading, there is much to be done. For example, Committee No. 1. will be concerned with general appearance. It will be their task to suggest the fresh coats of pain, the attractive appearance of a flower bed, the disposing of old boards, old unused machinery, sagging fences. Committee No. 2 will view the roads. There are several stretches of road in the area which are not only in need of repair but are positively dangerous to those travelling them for the first time. These must be brought to the notice of the proper authorities as soon as possible. A broken spring or a smashed fender is hardly the type of souvenir a visitor would wish to carry home and while these damages might be speedily repaired, the memory would remain for an unpleasantly long while. And so it will be the responsibility of those members on the committees named to tackle the

Farmers And Dealers Ormstown And Huntingdon Visit Master Feeds Experimental Farm

Nineteen persons from Ormstown and Huntingdon boarded a train Wednesday in Montreal's Central Station to go to Master Feeds' experimental farm at Thornhill, Ontario. They were all the guests of this company and Adrien Beaulieu and Son, Ormstown; and Builder's Supply and Feeds Ltd., Huntingdon.

Among the people from Ormstown were Mayor Bruno Beaulieu, from the village, and Mayor Jean Paul Riendeau, for the parish, Messrs. Albert Billette, Sylvio Briere, Rosario Beaulieu, Leslie Robertson, Armand Pinsonneault, Rene Lamarre, Robert McNeil, Oswald Guérin, John Robertson, Douglas and Lloyd Sproule and Rodolphe Leboeuf.

The Huntingdon delegation included Messrs. John Stirling, Wilfred Primeau, Dan and Cecil Murphy and John Kennedy.

The group arrived at Union Station in Toronto, where they had breakfast before taking a bus which took them to the Master Feeds Company's experimental farm.

They were welcomed there by Doctor Morrison, head nutritionist who showed them around the farm; they visited the poultry-house, the stable, milk-house and pigsty, saw the cattle, the minks, etc... Since it is above all an experimental farm, Doctor Morrison explained the different phases of feeding the animals, some experiments conducted on a group of milking cows, a group of hens and a few head of cattle, and answered many questions asked by the interested visitors.

All through this educational visit, full of discoveries for the farmers, Mr Jim Schultz, Assistant for the Ontario representatives, explained the different ways to feed cattle properly.

After this early visit, all were invited for dinner at the Summit View Hotel, near Richmond Hill. Mr. Armand Pinsonneault, speaking for all, took this opportunity to thank the Master Feeds company for its very pleasant reception.

Following this, the guests went back again to the farm to see the horn cattle and beef cattle in another part of the 500 acre farm. Dr. J. R. Sparling, the farm manager guided the group this time. All were shown commercial cattle in good health and learned more about properly attending and feeding their own.

Master Feeds' experimental farm was established in 1937, 28 years ago. Since that time, more and more importance was given to experimental work over the years. The farm has over 500 acres of land and it attends to 26 Holstein, 120 head of beef cattle, 36 pure-bred Yorkshire pigs, 6,000 laying hens and 2,000 turkeys.

There is also a ranch of minks composed of 270 females and 1,200 young minks. This ranch was one of the first to be made in the world, and the raising of minks was always continued for experimental purposes.

Experiments are made with feeds and feeding program under certain conditions. Groups from all over Canada come each year to learn more about properly attending to cattle.

The host of the local delegation was Mr Gaston Marcoux, commercial representative of the company for this district.

Following this second visit, the group again took the bus and came back to Toronto;

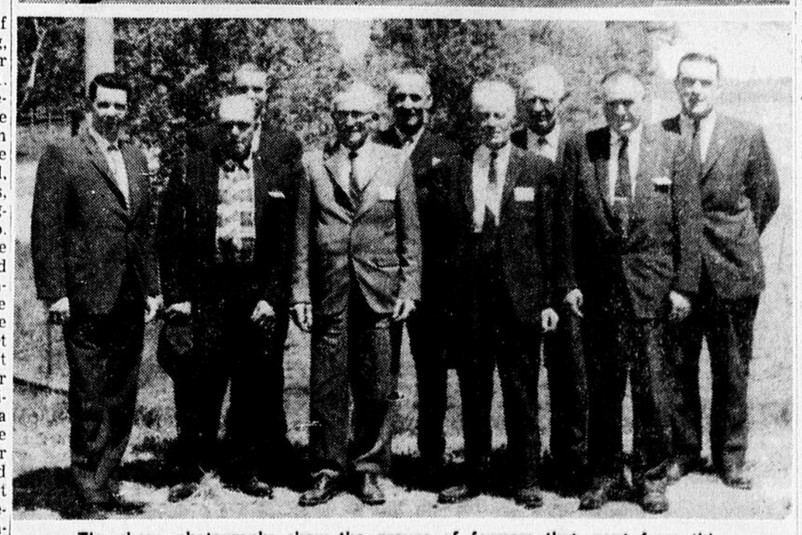
Local Farmers Visit Master Feeds Farm At Thornhill, Ont.



The above photographs show the groups of farmers that went from this area to the Master Feeds Farms, at Thornhill, Ont., the past week. They were made up of farmers from Ormstown, who were organized by Adrien Beaulieu and Son of Ormstown and are seen in the top photograph, and by Builders' Supply and Feeds Ltd., of Huntingdon, with farmers from the Huntingdon area, in the lower photo. An article on the trip appears elsewhere in this issue.

Tenth Year For The King-Reid Midway At Ormstown

Once again, Ormstown Exhibition will open its gates this evening for another great annual show. A big part of the success of such exhibitions is the type of Midway which forms a part of it.

Midways come and Midways go, but the King-Reid Midway which is part of Ormstown Exhibition, seems to go on forever.

Talking with King-Reid himself, in his office trailer, on Tuesday night, he got to reminiscing and he mused, this is my tenth year of being at Ormstown Exhibition — a whole decade and never a bad word. Since the first time we arrived here and I met Carlyle Dixon and he told me where to set up, he has never ordered me around or told what I should do. We like that, it's good public relations and it makes us feel that we indeed want to please.

Today, he went on, this Midway is much larger than it was, it only occupied about half this space and if it rained, it was impossible to walk around the midway. The machinery exhibit was just over there in a small area and now it is down over where the Ball diamond used to be and in a very large space. We helped the Board to make a paved walk all through and around the Midway and now if it rains, this pathway is dry again in a very short time and in any event it can be walked on without fear of sinking into mud.

We have been very pleased with our association with Ormstown Exhibition, its officials and the people who patronize the Exhibition. We enjoy coming to Ormstown and we look forward to it. I have even brought my wife with me, this year.

King-Reid has a very comfortable office and trailer car set up in the centre of the Midway and it resembles the tail car of a railway train, with a sign on the rail — "King Reid Special".

Shown above is King-Reid himself sitting on a lounge in the car. Above his head is a painting of his show in winter quarters as it appeared on the front cover of the Saturday Evening Post of several years ago. He is very proud of this. Mr. Reid is a big man in build and he is a big man in heart. We have seen him on many occasions have a number of children taken for a tour or rides through the Midway and he is always very kind to children. Don't let them tell you all Midway people are tough and rough. Those with the King-Reid Shows are usually very kind and understanding. King Reid sees that it is that way — otherwise we doubt if he would have been coming to Ormstown for ten years and hopes to come for another ten. If you see him around, give him a nod, he'll appreciate it.

Council To Ask Moderate Use of Water During Dry Spell

Monday, June 7, a regular meeting of the Huntingdon Town Council was held, with Mayor Leo Cappiello presiding and all members present.

As the minutes were read, special attention was given to water, land and business taxes in arrears being written off.

A number of bills were passed for payment, after which Mayor Cappiello declared the question period open.

A ratepayer inquired about ownership of part of a lot in the Town of Huntingdon. He was refered to the registry office in Ste.Martine.

Mr. Ringuette inquired about the possibility of having sewer and water on some of his lots near Poirier St. He was told that a project referring to sewers in the North end of the Town is presently under consideration.

Mr. Trépanier also inquired about sewer and water for a house in the North part of Cemetery St. He was told the same thing as Mr. Ringuette. He also wanted to know about a request he had made for street lights near his garage. This question was to be discussed later in the meeting.

The Secretary Mr. Pilon reported on the Town's financial position since the beginning of the current year. Since January 1st, 1965, the Town has spent $80,845. Receipts, since the same date, amount to $76,000.

Among the correspondence, legal advice was received from Mr. Martin on the subject of a dead-end street in Garden City. Another letter was received from the Huntingdon Protestant Cemetery requesting a ramp on the sidewalk.

A grant of one hundred dollars was voted to the Huntingdon Majorette Corps. Council had words of praise for this organization.

Messrs. L. Roy, L Leahy and Brisebois, with Mr. Fournier as substitute, were named valuators.

It was reported that some complaints had been received concerning the untidiness of main streets. It was suggested that trash cans be placed at appropriate spots; the public was also invited to cooperate and use these containers, when they will be put out, in order to keep the town streets clean.

Council authorized a temporary loan of up to $100,000.

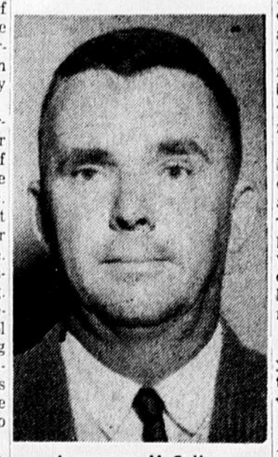
ELECTED BY ACCLAMATION



Lawrence McCallum who was re-elected by acclamation following the Nomination Meeting held on Monday in connection with the Catholic School Municipality of Huntingdon. Mr. McCallum has already served six years on this Board and he is much appreciative of the faith the people have shown in him.

Mrs. E. M. Wood Sponsors New Bursary For Huntingdon High School Student

The Huntingdon Protestant School Commissioners held a regular meeting at the Library of Huntingdon High School on Thursday evening, at the usual hour. Previous minutes and a number of bills were read and passed.

In the correspondence the minutes of some of the Regional School Board meetings were read. From this it was learned that Mr. Mosher of Chateauguay, had been appointed Director General of the Regional School Board of Chateauguay Valley with duties commencing July 1st. He will be responsible to the Regional Board. Mr. Peter L. Ross of Chateauguay was appointed Secretary - Treasurer, on a hourly basis with office at Chateauguay.

A very interesting matter was brought to light when Secretary E. C. Martin read a letter from Mrs. Ellen M. Wood and enclosing a cheque for $3,000 which is intended for a bursary of $300 per year for the next ten years for a promising scholar in the Huntingdon High School. The Board expressed its deep appreciation of this very fine gesture on the part of Mrs. Wood. The Bursary will be known as the Wood Bursary.

This brought out some points with regard to scholarships now being granted and the effect when the Regional School shall go into being. The regulations with regard to these scholarships are wide in their scope, but actually they apply to Huntingdon High School only. When the Regional School goes into effect, without proper changes being made in advance, such scholarships could be won by students outside of the Huntingdon Area. The Huntingdon Board feels therefore that the necessary changes will have to be made in order to have the scholarships go where the donor, or sponsor intended them.

The terms and regulations of the Wood Bursary are as follows:

WOOD SCHOLARSHIP REGULATIONS

1. This prize is to be known as the Wood Bursary.
2. It consists of an award of $300.00.
3. The bursary will be given to a pupil who is considered worthy of financial assistance, and who shows promise and ability. He must achieve an average of at least 65% out of 10 papers at the Quebec High School leaving examinations.
4. The recipient must be going on to a higher institution of learning in the same year that he finishes grade XI.
5. The winner of the bursary will be chosen by the Principal and Vice-Principal in consultation with Grade XI teachers, as early as possible after the departmental examinations.
6. After the building of the Regional School this bursary will be available only to scholars coming from the area presently served by the Huntingdon High School.

The Bursary will apply for the present school year.

Mr. A. M. Brockman, Principal, then gave his report and while doing so, a delegation came in from Dundee composed of Messrs. Franklin Cameron and Clarence Platt. This delegation was seeking to know if the Huntingdon Board would be willing to accept pupils from the Dundee School for the next school year and on what basis. The Board replied that it would accept the children, but no figure as to cost could be given until the budget from the Regional School had been received. When this was known the Huntingdon School budget could be made up and the cost could be arrived at. The delegation was satisfied with this and asked that they be informed as soon as the Huntingdon Board knew the cost.

The Principal then went on with his report. June 11th is to be Awards Day at the school. On the 14th, the Kindergarten will be dismissed; on the 15th, Grades 1 to 3 will be dismissed and on the 16th, Grade 1 registration will take place. From the 16th to 25th Grades 10 and 11 examinations will be held. From the 14th to 18th Grades 7 to 9 final examinations will be in full swing. Dismissal of Grades 4 to 9 will be on the 18th and the last day of school for the present school year will be on June 25th. The matter of a television set to be used for teaching was discussed and it was decided to leave this for a while. Mr. Chambers completed his check of the buses and his individual reports were on hand. These will be taken into consideration when the Board is considering the renewal of bus contracts. A suggestion was made for a class in arts and crafts with Mr. Dobrik in charge. The Board felt this would be of assistance and will consider this for a future addition.

Despite the fact that next meeting of Board falls on a holiday, July 1st, it was decided to hold the meeting on that day as no other suitable date could be agreed upon within the stipulated time for holding such meeting.

Red Cross Blitz Campaign Now On

Mr. And Mrs. J.J. Peddie, Howick Feted On Golden Wedding Anniversary

The "Welcome" mat is always out at the home of Mr and Mrs. J. J. Peddie and on Wednesday, June 2nd., their 50th Wedding Anniversary, almost 300 friends called to offer their best wishes at an 'At Home" arranged by their family.

During the years Mr. and Mrs. Peddie have been so busy with home, church and other community affairs, they have remained strong, active and young in heart.

Their children live nearby: Mr. and Mrs. Archie Peddie Malcolm and Janice just across the road, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Chisholm, Dale, Gordon and Donald on the Fertile Creek Road.

The grandchildren are welcome visitors and often help to make a foursome for a family game, or come to enjoy a special barbecued meal during the summer.

After the family married, other children shared their home and attended the local school. Summer time brought more folk. One, a semi-invalid, the late Miss Alice Stewart, came for one week and stayed for more than twenty years.

All of these children now grown up, came "home" last Wednesday except one, whose wedding they attended last Saturday. She sent a telegram from Barbados where they are spending their honeymoon. A telegram was received also from a neighbour living now at Prince Rupert, B.C. — Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Glencross, (Glennis Baillie).

The weather was ideal for such a gathering. As the guests entered the home they signed a guest book, the gift of the grandchildren. A basket of beautiful red and white carnations on the same table was a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Forrester.

In the living room there were yellow and white chrysanthemums, the gift of a cousin Mrs. Hume (Margaret McKercher), of Victoria, B.C., a basket of golden chrysanthemums from the Fertile Creek and English River neighbours a potted plant of pink chrysanthemums from the Rev and Mrs. W. M. Brown, and a pair of handsome Cogwell Rocker Chairs from the family.

The tea table was centered with a white and golden decorated tiered cake, flanked by golden candles and an attractive table arrangement of yellow and white mums.

Those who poured tea and coffee were: Mrs. Jame Whyte, Mrs. E. Hooker, Mrs Wm. Hamilton, Mrs. Wm Smith, Mrs. May Jones, Mrs. Russell Stewart, Mrs. Stanley Peddie and Mrs. Peter Peddie.

Delicious and dainty sandwiches, relishes, and small cakes were served by other friends of the family.

The air hummed with happy talk as old friends greeted one another.

Mr. and Mrs. Peddie (Jack and Eva) were delighted to see even briefly, so many folk they have known through the years and will treasure the memories of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Chateauguay Valley

various problems arising in their particular field.

At the next meeting in Huntingdon, the delegates had the pleasure of hearing Mr. Paul André Joly, Director of Exterior Relations for the Molson Brewery Company. A World Fair, said Mr. Joly, is something unique in the life of a man. It is held only once every seven years and in a different country each time. There is little hope that a man will see the Fair twice in his own country. In 1967 Canada will be at the heart of the world. During a period of six months, people from all over the world will visit us observing our countryside, our habits, they will judge us on the upkeep of our roads, our farms, the quality of our kitchens and the originality of our sports and amusements. On this occasion we must make our region a happy one. We must clean house, 'dress up', prepare the best of foods and spread out the welcome mat with a a smile, just as we do when we entertain friends in our own home.

During the discussions which followed, the suggestion was put forward that each village or town set up an Information Kiosk in a prominent place to help and advise visitors. To chose the model for these kiosks the Ste. Martine Expo. committee suggested a contest be held in all the schools in the area. It was also suggested that this region have a distinctive emblem.

The recent meeting of the Regional Committee held in Ormstown was attended by a large number of Mayors, Councillors and other interested persons.

Mr. Ian Watson presided. Mr. George Kennedy announced that he had forwarded to the Honourable B. Pinard, Minister of Public Works, the petition signed by the Mayors of this region, asking that Route 4 from Huntingdon to the U.S. Border be re-constructed, also Route 52 up to Herdman. At a meeting which he had had later with the Minister, Mr. Kennedy said he had been assured that this work would be completed by 1967. Mr. Kennedy answered numerous questions put by delegates and was accorded a hearty vote of thanks for his interest and help in this matter.

The election of an Executive from among the Regional Committee delegates then took place. As the Committee is rather large, it was thought that a small executive of five delegates who could meet a little more frequently and report back to their own areas, would expedite matters. Five directors were then named, Mr. Walter Smith, Hemmingford, Mr. Leo Cappiello, Huntingdon, Mr. John K. Dickson, Ormstown, Mr. Gerard Daoust, Ste. Philomene and Mr. Lionel Demers, St. Chrysostome. From among their number, these five gentlemen chose Mr. Daoust as President, with Mr. Dickson as Vice-President. Mr. Daoust then prevailed upon Mrs. Huguette Demers of Ste. Philomene, to tion of this committee last October. Mrs. J.H. L'Esperance, Hemmingford, was appointed Publicist for the local English papers and to publicise the work and aims of the Committee as widely as possible while Mr. Bruno Beaulieu, Mayor of Ormstown will handle publicity to the French press and maintain contacts with Industrial Public Relation officers.

On the subject of finance the Secretary informed the meeting that the majority of the municipalities had already forwarded their cheques of $25, the amount asked by the Committee to defray publicity expenses for 1965, and it was confidently expected that all would contribute.

It was decided that a pamphlet, describing this area should be published by the Committee, setting out the amenities of each municipality continue as Regional Secretary. Mrs. Demers has acted as Secretary since the incep

Delegates were shown a pamphlet recently published by the town of Ste. Philomene for their new Industrial Park. It was the work of Mr. Lucien Colle, a member of the Regional Committee who lives in Ste. Philomene and who is a professional in publicity work of this kind. The pamphlet made interesting and impressive reading. Mr. Colle was asked to draw up a questionnaire for distribution to each municipality which, when answered, would enable him to draw up such an informative pamphlet for this region. This he promised to do. Mr. Dickson spoke of the steps already taken by the Ormstown Committee for Expo '67 and showed members the form letter which had been sent to every property owner or tenant in this municipality. Ormstown has already formed its Committee with Mr. Dickson as President.

A long and interesting meeting closed with a final word from the Chair, that each delegate would seek the co-operation of all interested organizations in their areas and that local committees would soon be working on their various projects in readiness for Canada's 1967 World Fair.

In Memoriam

MOORE, Ralph — In loving memory of a dear brother who passed away June 14, 1963.

We were not there to see you die,
To hold your head or to say goodbye,
But we'll remember our whole lives through
The last few words we had with you,
Memories are treasures, no one can steal,
Death is a headache, no one can heal
Some may forget you now that you are gone,
But we well remember no matter how long.
Sadly missed by all your sisters and brothers.

MOORE, Ralph — In loving memory of a dear son Ralphie accidentally killed on June 14, 1963.

I was not there to say goodbye,
Perhaps it was just as well,
I never could have said godbye,
To a son I loved so well
I mourn for you in silence,
No eyes can see me weep.
But many a silent tear is shed,
While others are asleep.
Sadly missed by Mommy and Daddy

Cards of Thanks

Some time ago I had a card of Thanks pubished in the Huntingdon Gleaner, thanking all the kind people, who donated towards the renovating of the Havelock Cemetery of its deplorable condition. About a month ago I received two good sized cheques, from first cousins of mine, Mrs. Ruth Miller Kneass, of San Mateo, California, and Mrs. A. L. Miller Norman of Los Gatos, California. These are the daughters of the late William Miller who according to family history, left Havelock some 90 years ago. To those Ladies who felt so kindly towards the home land of their ancestors, and helped further the work of a very worthy cause, we say, Thank you.

Howard and Bill Miller

We wish to thank all our friends who in any way helped to make our 50th wedding anniversary such a happy occasion. A special word of thanks to our family who worked so hard to make it a day to remember and to our Fertile Creek and English River neighbours who assisted them so freely and gave us a lovely gift of flowers and a coloured glass vase.

Jack and Eva Peddie

My sincere thanks to Dr. McCallum, Dr. Kelen and Dr. Johnson, also the nursing staff of the Barrie Memorial Hospital for the excellent care I received while a patient there. Sincere thanks also to all relatives and friends for visits, cards, gifts and flowers.

Mrs. Merrill Patterson

HUNTINGDON LOCALS

Mrs. Gladys Sellar returned on Sunday after spending a week at the Chantecler Hotel at Ste. Adele. Also guests at the Chantecler for the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Francois Cleyn, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Tinker of Montreal and Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Paul, formerly of Huntingdon.

Mr. Joseph C. Moore and Mr. Lawrence Rider of Montreal attended the funeral for the late Jas. E. Barrett on Saturday and also visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Collum. Mrs. James Lorden of Ottawa spent the week-end at the same home.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wattie of Glenelm, Mrs. Harvey Campbell and Mr. Wallace Campbell of St. Anicet were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bouthillier at St. Jovite on Sunday.

Huntingdon High School Fashion Show

Parents, friends and relatives gathered at Huntingdon High School to watch the annual fashion show arranged by the Home Economics Class and the teachers on Thursday, May 27th. The guests were first invited downstairs to the cafeteria which was gaily decorated with fragrant lilacs and pink and white streamers. The ladies were servved tea and a delicious dessert called "Pineapple Ambrosia" both of which were prepared and served by the girls themselves. Special thanks goes to those who were kind enough to offer their time to serve the tea for the guests.

After the guests had eaten, they proceeded upstairs to the gymnasium, which was done in Parisian décor, to watch the array of fashions ranging from beachwear to formal evening wear. The stage, cleverly decorated as a French café with red and white trimmings, was an effective background. From the stage, the girls promenaded down a grass carpeted ramp to model their ensembles which varied in a wide range of colours from bright oranges and yellows to soft pastels which are all the rage this year.

It was rather surprising to see what lovely articles the girls had sewn under the instruction of their teachers. The Grade 6 girls made aprons, oven mitts and needle books; Grade 7 — blouses and skirts; Grade 8 — jumpers and blouses; Grade 9 — dresses or skirts with matching tops; Grade 10 — any article of clothing made in stripes, plaids or checks; and Grade 11 had a choice of making anything they wished. Most of them chose suits or formal dresses. The girls are certainly to be commended for their excellent work.

This year's fashion show was definitely successful but this could not have been possible without the help of Mrs Dahms, Mrs. Greig, Mrs. A Brockman and Mrs. G. Gran who worked very hard to ensure this end and also many others who co-operated willingly when asked.

Cards of Thanks

I would like to thank Dr. Sutton, Dr. Johnson, Dr. Thompson and the Nursing Staff of the Barrie Memorial Hospital for the excellent care and attention I received during my recent stay as a patient at the Hospital.

Mrs. Clythe Kingsbury

I wish to express my sincere thanks to Dr. McCallum and Dr. Johnson also to the nurses and staff on the second floor of the Barrie Memorial Hospital for the excellent care I received while a patient there. Sincere thanks to Rennie U.-C.W. also to friends, neighbours and relatives for flowers, cards, gifts and visits. All was much appreciated.

Mrs. Ellis Wilson

We wish to thank Dr. McCrimmon and the nurses and staff of the Huntingdon County Hospital for the kindness and care given our brother, Thomas O'Leary, while he was a patient there. Also to our many friends, neighbours and relatives for messages of sympathy, floral tributes, mass offerings and acts of kindness shown us during our recent sad bereavement.

Mrs. Lawrence Holmes
Mrs. Ovide Duhaime
Edmund O'Leary

I wish to express my sincere thanks to Dr. Kelen, Dr. McCallum, nurses and staff of Barrie Memorial Hospital for the excellent care and thoughtfuness extended me while a patient there, also to my many friends who sent gifts, cards, flowers and visits, all were deeply appreciated.

Mrs. Donald Hadley

The family of the late Samuel Charles Burgess, who died May 27, 1965, wish to thank all the many friends who were so kind to him during his long illness.

To Attend Seminar On United Nations

RICHARD BAIRD

Grade X student at Huntingdon High School, has been selected by the teachers of Grade X to represent his school at the annual bilingual Seminar on the United Nations. Both English and French Students from all over Quebec will meet for a week at the College Jean de Brébeuf in Montreal.

The purposes of this seminar are to promote a study of world problems, to foster an interest in the United Nations, and to explain the role played by Canada in this World organization. It is hoped that students will gain an appreciation of the cultures of other peoples, and gain a permanent interest in world affairs.

The Rotary Club of Huntingdon sponsors each year a student from the Catholic or the Protestant schools of the region. Two years ago, Ellen Bulow of Dewittville was the Huntingdon High School representative.

Ritchie has attended Huntingdon High School since Grade 1. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Baird of Glenelm.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. John Greer of Barrington, Que., announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Sandra Ann, to Mr Donald John Olmstead, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Olmstead of Bryson, Que. Both Donald and Sandra are graduates of a two-year teachers' course at Macdonald College.

This and That In Town

Three huge cement flower urns placed at each corner of the triangle park in front of Huntingdon United Church are the subject of much favorable comment among townspeople. The urns were made by town workmen during the winter months and Alderman D. J. McGerrigle, chairman of the Parks Committee, reports that arrangements have been made with Booth Florist Reg'd. for suitable flowering plants to be placed in the urns within the next couple of weeks. During the past few years much commendable work has been accomplished in Huntingdon's park areas and we understand more is slated. Congratulations to the town fathers, these concrete efforts are appreciated.

Read elsewhere about the five a.m. accident that occurred near the Huntingdon County Hospital Sunday. One car went out of control and hit a huge pole and a second vehicle, following right behind the second, piled into the first wreckage. The 'Slow' and 'Quiet' hospital zone was anything but that when the accident occurred and it is a miracle the occupants of the cars weren't all killed.

Much more rain is needed if farmers are going to have any kind of hay crop this year. The situation is serious and already there is talk among some that cows will have to be sold this fall as feed will be scarce. We note that Bob Baker's sprinkling system near the river about five miles west of Huntingdon on Route 4 appears to be a first class piece of work. Monday's thunderstorm and showers helped with some moisture for the parched ground but farmers are hoping for at least a couple of days of rain. One Ormstown resident who made a new lawn at his home claims he sowed the grass seed several weeks ago and there is no sign of grass — thinks the birds have eaten all the seed.

The death of Mr. James E. Barrett, announced in last week's Gleaner, claimed one of Huntingdon's most respected citizens. A gentleman, and always fair and just, his loss to the entire County of Huntingdon is keenly felt among his many friends and acquaintances.

The rash of local accidents of a serious nature may be regarded as a warning to exercise especial caution for the rest of the week as all highroads and byroads leading to Ormstown will be bustling with traffic bound for the Ormstown Exhibition.

The Auction Sale sponsored by the Huntingdon Rotary Club at Grove Hall Friday evening was a successful event. A good crowd and brisk bidding kept the ball rolling until all was sold and some excellent purchases at bargain prices went under the hammer. It is hoped the Rotarians will sponsor another auction sale at a future date.

Read about Hector St. Onge, former Mayor of Godmanchester, being injured in a two-car collision on the Connaught Road Sunday. A youth in a second car involved is in the Montreal Neurological Hospital.

If caterpillars are any indication of a dry summer, we're certainly in for one: nests of them hang in clusters in trees that have not been sprayed. Most people are burning the nests in the case of isolated lawn and ornamental trees.

Irving Bros. drove one of their huge floats to Plattsburgh early Monday morning to bring the King Reid Midway to Ormstown Exhibition Grounds. Last year, after the Ormstown and Lachute fairs were over, Irving Bros. transported the midway to New Brunswick.

Danger of frost seems to be past at last. A week ago tonight (Wednesday) people were covering tomato and flower plants, but one farmer in Dundee lost a half-acre of potatoes killed by frost. By Friday, the mercury was climbing to the 70's, and from Saturday on everyone forgot what it was like to feel chilly as the temperature rose to over 80 during the day.

Strawberries will be at premium prices this year too unless we soon have rain. The lilac season was short because of the dryness.

The Gleaner will have a booth in the Industrial Building at Ormstown Exhibition again this year where subscriptions will be accepted at the regular rate, $4.50 per year. Orders will also be accepted for Le Journal and La Gaztte de Valleyfield-Beauharnois, as well as for all types of commercial printing including wedding invitations, personalized stationery, Moore business forms and, in fact, anything from a post card to a catalogue. There are only eight Second Editions of the Sellar History of the Counties of Huntingdon, Beauharnois and Chateauguay, and these will be sold at the regular price, $16. If sufficient orders are received at Ormstown Exhibition, a reprint will be made late in the summer and orders given at the Fair will be delivered in September. A special offer will be made to all attending the Ex to purchase 'The Pope of The Chateauguay' at a reduced price.

Read about the Huntingdon man who toppled over the cement embankment near the dam in Huntingdon and smashed a knee.

Dr. Sweet of Chateaugay, N.Y. will be the guest speaker at next Monday's Rotary meeting which will be held at the Chateau Huntingdon in the evening. His topic will be about his recent trip to Russia and all who have seen the slides taken on the trip and heard his commentary say Rotarians and their wives will have an enjoyable evening.

And on Friday, June 18, Dr. E. C. (Tim) McCoy of Vancouver will arrive in Huntingdon from Halifax where he is scheduled to lecture, starting this week, to the Medical Association. As Gleaner readers will recall, Dr. Tim was also in Russia last fall and he took several hundred pictures which he has shown in slide form to many groups in and around Vancouver. As he was privileged to visit at leisure and take as many pictures as he wanted, Dr. McCoy has an inside view of life in Russia that few people outside the country can duplicate. In a recent telephone conversation with his brothers Jim and Dave of Huntingdon, he offered to show his films and also give a talk about Russia if a local group wished to sponsor the evening. The Huntingdon United Church Choir was contacted and expressed keen interest and so it has been arranged that Dr. McCoy will present a two-hour programme for the benefit of the choir Friday evening, June 18, in the basement of the church. A collection in aid of the choir will be taken. Watch next week's Gleaner for an advertisement and keep the date open.

(1) We know many people come a long way to attend the Ormstown Exhibition but we have just been informed of two persons who are travelling all the way from the Pacific Coast to be in the East at the time of the Ex. Russel Cooper is coming from Powell River, B.C. Russell is a former Ormstown boy, a son of the late Dr. M. A. Cooper, a highly respected doctor who practised in Ormstown previous to the arrival of the late Dr. M. R. Stalker. John Kilgour, who sold his farm at Ormstown a few years ago and moved to California, is making a flying visit from San Francisco in order to be at the Fair. The Ormstown Ex is the place where old friends meet.

Don't forget MISS DOMINION OF CANADA will be at the Ormstown Ex. on Saturday afternoon and evening. She will be touring the Fair Grounds signing autographs, handing out trophies, etc.

Have you been past the Town Hall in Ormstown recently? Landscaping, including a rose garden, set the recently renovated building off just right.

'The Dam' and 'Russel's Island' are favourite swimming spots for Huntingdon youngsters these hot days. Both places are being used, both day and night. Again, we say too bad that the Chateauguay River wasn't kept clean and water sports could be enjoyed for the full season.

Have you seen the 5-cent Sir Winston Churchill U.S.A. commemorative stamp? Gleaner bookkeeper Lew Lewis saved the first one to arrive at this office, Monday a.m., mailed from Chateaugay, N.Y.

Just this: most Ormstownians know Mr. and Mrs. Allan Hooker have a summer home at Ste. Barbe and their Ormstown residence. But do you all know they also own a bit of Prince Edward Island? That's right, they bought a seashore lot adjoining daughter Trinkie's last summer, so don't be too surprised some day ——

Due to the present dry spell, residents of Huntingdon are ordered by Mayor Leo Cappiello to use garden hoses only at certain hours. Please see advertisement elsewhere.

And did you know the "Notre Dame Stars" Majorettes are holding a Bingo at Notre Dame School on Wednesday, June 16. (See advt.)

Huntingdon High students wish to advise parents and friends of the school that the 1965 'Red and Black' annual will soon be available. The annuals will be hold at $1.25, same price as former years. Supply is limited: order this week to avoid disappointment.

Ian Watson, M.P. Addresses Graduating Class of Huntingdon High School

While the school choir and the congregation sang "Praise my soul, the King of Heaven" the 1965 graduating class filed into the sanctuary of the Huntingdon United Church on Sunday evening for the annual Dedication Service.

Rev. Geo. McMichen, in charge of the service, gave the call to worship, which was followed by a Prayer of Invocation, given by the Rev. P.R. Stote. The anthem "These Things Shall Be" was sung very well by the school choir under the direction of Mrs. Paul Dobrik. The Rev. L.B. Martin of Dundee read the Scripture lesson from the 4th chapter proverbs, verses 1-13.

Mr. A.M. Brockman, Principal of Huntingdon High School, gave the charge to the graduating students, to which they responded fittingly. Following prayers of thanksgiving and dedication by the Rev. H.R. Lowenberger, and responsive prayer by the graduates, the offering, in aid of the School Library Fund was dedicated by Mr. R.F. Cunningham.

Then Mr. McMichen introduced Mr. Ian Watson, M.P. for Chateauguay — Huntingdon — Laprairie who addressed the graduates, so impressively, that his talk is being printed "in toto" as follows:

Mr. Brockman, Members of the Clergy, Graduates, students, ladies and gentlemen.

I'd like to say how honored and happy I am to be invited to speak to you tonight. Honored, because this is the first time I have been asked to address a graduating class and it is my privilege to be doing it for graduates of one of the most historic High Schools in the Province of Quebec, a school which has contributeed for more than 110 years, graduates who have later, had illustrious careers in all areas of Canadian life. I am happy because I have been given this opportunity to pass along some advice to a very promising group of young men and women.

Perhaps the first thing I should do it to congratulate you for having come this far and to congratulate your parents for having encouraged you.

You graduates are entering a very exciting world. The next move that you make will be the most important of your lives because in most "cases" these moves will determine how you are going to fit into Canadian society. It is a world that is beset with problems and yet blossoming with opportunity.

Individually, the youth of this generation like the youth of generations past are concerned about their personal futures. When a young person looks ahead and tries to visualize how he can best fit into an adult society, and plans and charts a course for himself to follow — this is a good thing. In times past, a young person who carefully planned and looked ahead could count upon favourable results. But it is not as simple as this any more. To start with, a young person, if he attempts to peer into the future will discover that it is not just enough to chart an individual course. Hard work, frugality, a sense of purpose and direction and a well developed plan for the future, although today more essential than ever, do not convey to the youth of this generation an assurance of any result. Youth is not convinced that if it follows a course where thrift, honesty, labour and a sense of direction are paramount, a satisfying future awaits youth is not convinced of the need for these virtues, but the need has never been greater. — Why? There are a multitude of reasons for this attitude in individuals. But why is youth in general so uncertain about the future, and so perplexed about the direction it must take and the goal it must seek. One doesn't have to look far for the major cause of this uncertainty. Not only the young but our entire population is bewildered and fearful of the pace at which we are rushing into the future. We are living today, I firmly believe, in the most important and most crucial period in the history of the human race. Anyone in this audience who is over 60 years of age has in his or her lifetime personally witnessed more change, more invention, inovation and scientific achievement than has occurred since man first walked upon this earth — and the young people here today will live to witness even more fantastic scientific achievements. Every form of science is expanding at an ever increasing rate.

This blossoming forth of every conceivable type of scientific endeavour has caught the world unprepared. Science has simplified our works, but seemingly in contradiction, our lives and our relationship with others are more complicated than ever. We, as individuals have not kept pace with this scientific revolution. Not only has individual man not kept pace, but the various institutions by which man operates the world, and which govern man's relationships with his fellow men, have failed to keep abreast of science.

Our basic social institutions, religion, government and law, tend to reflect the individual adjustment to change rather than to direct this change. Our basic institutions are going to have to adjust to the changes which science is making to the world. If government does not spread from the national to the world level — if law does not become international and enforceable — if religion does not make the force of decency and reason and faith that man is good and is created in God's image — if it does not make these forces felt, then most surely man will destroy himself and will, with his own inventions fulfill the prophecies of a firery ending to life on earth. God has placed this world in man's hands and has given man freedom of will. God will not stop in to pre-

Registration for pupils entering Grade One in September, 1965, will take place on Wednesday, June 16th, from 9 - 12, and from 1 - 3 in the Grade One Classrooms.

To register, pupils must be six years old before December 31st, 1965.

A. M. Brockman.

APPRECIATION and THANKS

I wish to extend my thanks and appreciation to the ratepayers of the Catholic School Municipality of Huntingdon, for again electing me by acclamation at the Nomination meeting held on Monday, June 7th.

Special thanks to Mr. Jim Smythe Jr., proposer, and Mr. Leonard Grenon, seconder.

Having been a Commissioner for the past six years, I do indeed regard this as an appreciation of my past services and of your faith in me to carry on in your interests for a further term. You may be assured that I will continue to carry on to the best of my ability and to faithfully serve you once more.

Yours for Future Faithful Service

Meeting On Thursday To Iron Out Catholic School Troubles

A news article appeared in the Montreal Star of Monday, June 7th., which was headed "Huntingdon School May Stop Work". In the article it was hinted that because of possible friction, certain teachers would hold "study sessions" on Tuesday. The school concerned is that of Notre Dame High School.

The Gleaner, upon enquiry finds that there is some disagreement at the school on the matter of a Principal for the school. According to the new Government regulations with regard to Regional Shools it is required that there be a certain number of pupils before a principal can be appointed. As neither of the two sections, French and English, has this number, only one principal can act. However, it had been agreed that there be an Assistant Principal, who would have complete charge of the English section.

A certain section of teachers and parents, etc. are not in agreement with this and have stated their case. Meantime, a meeting is to be held on Thursday, when the matter will be further dealt with. It is hoped at that time that a peaceful settlement of the problem will be arrived at.

they took the train at 3.45 p.m. and were soon back in Montreal

All were very pleased with their visit to this experimental farm and were most happy with the thought that some highly competent researchers spend their time and energy in finding new ways and new methods to improve farming.

All of them thank the Master Feeds Company for this visit to Thornhill, Ont., and hope they may return next year to see the changes which may have taken place.

TRUCK RAMS RESTAURANT AND STORE AT STE. BARBE

The above is a view of the inside of the Denise Restaurant and Store at Ste. Barbe, after a heavy multi-wheel truck ran out of control and rammed it on Tuesday evening at about 7 p.m. The whole building was moved about two feet and the damage extended right through the store and into the living room where the proprietor, Mr. Daoust and his wife were watching TV. Jean Claude Gervais was the driver of the truck and he was coming from the direction of Valleyfield, when he lost control on the curve on Route No. 3 as it goes on toward Port Lewis and bypasses Ste. Barbe. It is stated he shut off his engine in an effort to slow the truck, but in doing so, lost his power steering and could not pull the truck back onto the road and it went on through the front of the building and well inside. The above photograph shows how the inside was broken and wrecked. While it cannot be confirmed at this time, it is stated that the driver of the truck had about 26 cuts and the truck is a total loss. Mr. and Mrs. Daoust, as stated, were looking at TV when the accident happened and he was squeezed betwen shelves and walls and his wife was thrown to the floor. They were taken to Huntingdon County Hospital where they were treated by Dr. George Lefebvre. He found they had multiple bruises and contusions, but were not seriously hurt as far as could be ascertained. The couple returned to their home. It is stated that the cause of the driver losing control was due to a tire blow-out while making the curve. One might almost say that the building is a total loss also.

Ian Watson...

vent man destroying himself, something which he is perilously close to doing.

The relationship of mankind as a whole to modern science is analagous to suddenly placing someone who has never driven a car behind the wheel of an automobile travelling 60 miles an hour along a winding road. Unless he learns very quickly, there will be a disaster. Unless man learns to live with his fellowmen quickly, the final disaster will be upon us.

Never has man's future held out so much promise and yet, never has man had more doubt about the future of mankind. A fantastic world of prosperity and leisure, of art and beauty, of justice and of spiritual satisfaction lies within man's grasp if he does not stumble. Man has the ability to bring into being this type of a world and yet, ignorance selfishness and greed and misunderstanding cloud our vision, prevent us from taking advantage of the new horizons opened up by science, and have lead us to the very brink of a holocaust of mutual destruction.

Beecause we are living in an era of unprecedented prosperity, productivity and of scientific and technological progress of vast and often imponderable magnitude, we must face and solve much more quickly, than would have in the past been the case, the problems which confront us as a country and the problems which confront us at the international level—Within Canada, and despite our great achievements and the great abundance of wealth that is Canada's and America's, there are today a large number of people who seem unable to participate in the advantage of our time. They are the unemployed, the under employed, those with low standards of education, poor physical or mental health.

Some of these people live on farms which no longer support them. Some of these people are fishing by virtually the same methods used in the sea of Galilae at the time of our Lord. Others are crowded in the congested and blighted areas of uor cities. Many are young people who have been unable to get a start and fit in to our society. Probably most of these people are better off than their fathers but nevertheless, they are pretty much unaffected by the ever increasing growth, national productivity and rising standards of living. An immediate challenge to Canada is to offer to all its citizens the opportunity to live with dignity and to participate in the achievements of our time. A second problem which faces not only Canada but all the so-called have-nations, concerns the use which we will make of all the magnificient advances in science and technology. We have and we will increasingly have in the years to come, the opportunity to use our energies and our assets for the creation of a high civilization, one dedicated to the fulfilment of the individual in the pursuit of human excellence. But, at the same time, we will have to take stock of our sense of values, and the di-

Deuxième grand concert des Petits Chanteurs de la Paix; deuxième grand succès

La salle de cinéma de notre ville se remplissait à craquer jeudi soir dernier, le 3 juin Qu'attendait, avec une impatience à peine contenue, la foule réunie en cet endroit? Le deuxième concert des Petits Chanteurs de la Paix, chorale de 83 membres répartis en voix de garçons, de jeunes hommes et d'adultes. On gardait de leur première manifestation artistique, l'an dernier, le meilleur des souvenirs et l'on était sûr que, cette année, ils sauraient encore nous épater.

Le directeur des Petits Chanteurs, M. Henry Talbot, voulut d'abord offrir la soirée, en guise de cadeau d'anniversaire, à Mgr J.A. David, curé de notre paroisse. Puis la chorale fit son entrée spectaculaire qui nous avait tant émus l'an dernier, en chantonnant "Exodus". Déjà, l'on pouvait constater le travail d'une année — les sons étaient plus purs, les accords plus justes. Suivit "O Canada" dans une exécution forte et virile. Les quatre autres pièces à cette première partie du programme révélaient un choix judicieux parce que, faciles à exécuter (sauf pour l'Ave Maria), elles permettaient aux voix de se placer et aux émotions de se calmer. Quant à l'Ave Maria, chanté sans accompagnement, ce qui constitue la réelle épreuve d'une chorale, il permit à l'auditoire d'apprécier les belles qualités d'ensemble et d'harmonie du groupe.

A l'intermission, un véritable régal artistique nous était offert par M. Marcel Tessier, basse, qui nous interpréta des extraits d'opéra ainsi que des pièces plus populaires avec une maitrise exceptionnelle et une présence scénique vraiment remarquable. La foule était littéralement envoûtée par cette voix grave et mélodieuse, aux nuances suaves.

La deuxième partie du programme s'avéra très brillante, avec un choix de pièces très entraînantes — "Les enfants du Pirée", "Le bateau s'en va" etc. Le dernier numéro, très ambitieux, un extrait de l'opéra "Faust" de Gounod, manquait peut-être d'un petit peu de coordination à certains moments et de flot mélodique — on devait croire entendre les harpes des anges du ciel mais nous ne nous y rendions pas tout à fait. Il demeure qu'il faut quand même entreprendre de telles pièces car le travail qu'elles nécessitent ne peut être que bénéfique.

A la deuxième intermission, M. Tessier revint chanter plusieurs numéros, aux grands applaudissements de tous. Les Petits Chanteurs revinrent en pleine forme et nous défilèrent une suite de succès, où il serait difficile de choisir lesquels ont plu le plus — Attends-moi "ti-gars" ou "Frédéric" ou "Les trois cloches".

Dans ce numéro, il faut noter le beau travail accompli dans le solo par Daniel Langevin qui y a vraiment mis tout son coeur et toute son âme. Les petits bonshommes qui ont défilé au micro pour les couplets de "Attends-moi "ti-gars" ont été aussi fort goûtés du public.

En rappel, la chorale interpréta deux succès de l'an dernier — "Feuilles de gui" et "Vierge Marie", dédié à Mgr Aganier, vicaire général du diocèse et à M. l'abbé Marcil, curé de Herdman, qui célébraient tous deux leur 25e anniversaire d'ordination sacerdotale.

Et ce fut la fin d'une soirée marquante pour Huntingdon, témoignage du travail colossal d'un homme surtout, M. Henry Talbot que l'on ne saurait assez féliciter et remercier pour ce qu'il accomplit pour nos jeunes et pour la population entière de notre région.

Sincères félicitations à M. et Mme Lorenzo Lamarre de Howick, qui célébraient leur 25ème anniversaire de mariage le 16 mai, 1965, de la part de leurs parents et amis.

Le Conseil de Huntingdon envisage de doter des services d'eau et d'égouts la partie nord de la ville

Lundi le 7 juin en l'édifice du comté, avait lieu une assemblée régulière du conseil de la ville de Huntingdon sous la présidence du Maire Léo Cappiello et en présence de tous les membres.

Durant la lecture des minutes, on accorda une attention spéciale à certains comptes de taxes passés dus qui étaient rayés des livres.

On approuva le paiement d'un certain nombre de comptes, après quoi le Maire Cappiello invita les personnes désirant s'adresser au conseil à le faire.

M. Ringuette s'enquérit de la possibilité d'obtenir les services d'eau et d'égouts sur ses lots près de la rue Poirier. On lui répondit que le conseil étudie présentement un projet qui aura pour effet de desservir toute la partie nord de la ville.

M. Trépanier demanda à son tour s'il était possible d'obtenir les mêmes services au nord de la rue Cimetière On lui répondit la même chose. Il demanda aussi s'il aurait une réponse favorable à sa demande de lumières de rue en face de son garage sur le chemin Ridge. Cette question allait être abordée plus tard au cours de l'assemblée.

Le Secrétaire, M. Pilon fit le rapport de la position financière de la ville depuis le début de l'année courante. Il révéla que les dépenses depuis le 1er janvier s'élèvent à $80,845. Les revenus d'autre part s'établissent à $76,000., depuis cette même date.

Parmi la correspondance, on lut un avis légal de M. Martin concernant une rue sans issue dans Garden City.

On lut aussi une lettre du Cimetière Protestant de Huntingdon demandant de baisser le trottoir à une des entrées.

Sincères remerciements

Je désire remercier sincèrement tous les contribuables de la Municipalité Scolaire Catholique de Huntingdon pour m'avoir de nouveau élu par acclamation lors de la mise en nomination tenue lundi le 7 juin.

Merci tout spécialement à M. Jimmie Smythe Jr. pour avoir proposé ma candidature et à M. Léonard Grenon, pour l'avoir secondé.

Ayant siégé comme Commissaire au cours des six années précédentes, je considère réellement ce geste comme une marque d'appréciation pour mes services dans le passé, et comme une marque de confiance m'invitant à continuer de travailler dans votre intérêt pour un autre terme. Vous pouvez être assurés que je continuerai de travailler au meilleur de mes connaissances et m'efforcerai à nouveau de vous servir consciencieusement.

Sincèrement vôtre,
Lawrence McCallum

PRIMEAU — A l'hopital Barrie Memorial d'Ormstown,, mardi le 8 juin, 1965, Mme Omer Primeau, 65 ans d'Ormstown mère de Lucille (Mme Donat Arcoite)(Donald, Eldas Rita (Mme Alphonse Vallée et Gislaine (Mme Jean Denis Vallée). Service vendredi le 11 juin à 10 a.m. en l'église St-Malachie d'Ormstown.

La somme de cent dollars fut votée au Corps de Majorettes de Huntingdon. Le conseil en profita pour louanger le travail de cette organisation.

MM. L. Roy, L. Leahy et Brisebois, avec M. Fournier comme substitut, furent nommés évaluateurs.

Le conseil rapporta par ailleurs avoir reçu certaines plaintes au sujet de la malpropreté des artères principales. On suggéra de placer des paniers à déchets aux endroits stratégiques; on invita de même le public à coopérer de façon à ce que les rues de la ville soient gardées propres.

Le conseil autorisa aussi un prêt temporaire allant jusqu'à $100,000. à la Banque Canadienne Impériale de Commerce, si nécessaire, en marge des travaux d'amélioration au système d'eau.

On aborda la question d'une clôture sur le mur de soutènement près du nouveau pont; on parla aussi de réparer le trottoir de la rue Hunter.

On examina par ailleurs un plan prévoyant des lumières de rue sur le chemin Ridge; on tentera d'en venir à une entente avec le conseil de Godmanchester à ce sujet.

Le conseil émettra bientôt un avertissement concernant les chiens errants, qui selon certains rapports causent passablement de dommage dans la ville; on demandera aussi aux citoyens de modérer l'usage des boyaux d'arrosage pour les jardins et les gazons, à cause du temps sec.

Il fut décidé de peindre des lignes blanches sur le pavé en face de l'édifice O'Connor pour l'usage des piétons.

Le conseiller Laplante donna avis de motion qu'il présentera à une prochaine assemblée un amendement au règlement régissant la limite de vitesse permise dans la ville de Huntingdon.

Le 24 juin, jour de la St-Jean-Baptiste fut déclaré fête civile dans la ville de Huntingdon.

Miss Mae Hong To Be Publicity Agent For Broadway Comedy 'LUV' This Winter

Visitors to Ormstown Exhibition for many years have come to respect the name Ming Reid Shows'. Many also look forward to an annual visit with Miss Mae Hong, publicity director with the show. Miss Hong is a graduate of the New York College of Journalism and is highly educated person. She has travelled extensively and actually is a happily married housewife, her husband being a prominent New York City attorney and a past president of Rotary in New York. Mae actually loves show business and is a devoted friend of Ming and Mrs. Reid. This winter, while the show is off the road, Miss Hong will be publicity agent for the famous Broadway comedy 'LUV'. Congratulations, Mae, we all wish you every success, but don't forget we all want to see you at next year's Ormstown Exhibition.

Aubrey-Riverfield

W.I. Meeting

AUBREY - RIVERFIELD — The June meeting of Aubrey-Riverfield W.I. was held on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. George Kees. Fourteen members answered the Roll Call by naming an old-fashioned custom that has vanished. An interesting article was read by Mrs. Janet Reddick in which the writer named several old customs which she was thankful had vanished.

Mrs. Wm. Allen reported that a generous donation of clothing etc., had been made to the Salvation Army.

Eighteen Christmas stockings were brought in for overseas and will be delivered to Montreal by the kindness of Mr. Jack Hamilton.

Through the kindness of Mrs. Harold Robertson the new programmes for the year 1965-66 were printed and distributed to each member. A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Robertson for her excellent work.

Ten dollars was voted towards sending a delegate to the United Nations Seminar from Howick High School. It was decided to purchase a new Canadian flag for the use of our branch.

The treasurer reported $7.85 resulted from the Plant Sale at the previous meeting and that a quilt had been sold for $10. She also reported $5.50 had been sent in for County fund fees and that 18 copies of the Federated News had been subscribed for.

An item on "Making Canada Lovelier", was read by Mrs Geo. Kees. Mrs. Gordon Easton real two interesting articles on the Garden Party given by the Queen at Buckingham Palace to honor the 500,000 women in Britain who are celebrating the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Women's Institutes.

Mrs. Everett Orr told of experimenting with T.V. for better education in twenty-one different countries.

Mrs. Osborne Orr read an article in gardening in which the author showed it was a waste of time and energy to slave away making a garden However some of us are not thoroughly convinced that her theory is correct. Mrs. Orr also demonstrated how to make a coat hanger into a neat little holder for your cook book.

Mrs. V. . Allen urged everyone to be more careful with pills as every year there are about 6,000 Canadian children sent to hospital as the result of pill poisoning.

Mrs. Melbourne Stacey had some literature from the Red Cross on artificial respiration.

Mrs. Gordon Easton gave an interesting account of the County Convention held in Riverfield in May.

Mrs. Janet Reddick gave two enjoyable readings from "Inspirations and Ideals".

The members then enjoyed a few rounds of Crokinole when Mrs. Finlay Milne and Mrs. Math McKell had perfect scores and Mrs. Osborne Orr won the consolation. The prizes were donated by Mrs Everett Orr and Mrs. Wm. Allan.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Kees, Mrs. McKell, Mrs. Hiram Reddick and Mrs. Easton.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. McMahon of Hull are spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Murray Templeton and family.

Master Barry Judson has been staying with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Finlay Milne.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Templeton, Judy and Allan returned home on Saturday from Truro, N.S., where they have been living since March, while Bill was working on a project for the Cape Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Bunbury and family from Sabrevois spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Templeton. Wynn and Cynthia are spending some time with their grandparents.

Mr. Elton Robertson suffered a painful accident on Friday while at his job in Montreal. While standing at the top of a ladder he reached for something above his head which gave way and he fell about 30 feet breaking his leg in two places. He is at present in the Royal Victoria Hospital and our best wishes for a complete recovery go out to him.

People Injured In Accidents Over The Week-end

Several accident have been reported for the last week and at the week-end. Some of them accounted for injuries and hospitalized some of the victims.

On June 2nd., Roger Hurteau of St. Anicet lost control of his car on Route 3 near St. Anicet. He was driving along about 6.30 a.m. when his steering became faulty and he took the ditch. Damage to car amounted to about $300, but he was not hurt.

Hubert Robideau suffered severe injury to his knee when he fell from the high wall behind the Pivin French Fried stand, on Saturday night about 11.15. He had just bought some potatoes and went to sit on the wall behind the stand, but fell into the river. He was quickly taken out and was taken to the Huntingdon County Hospital by two Town Policemen. He is presently at the hospital after treatment to his knee.

On Sunday, June 6th, there were three accidents reported locally and each involved persons in injuries. The first was at 5.50 a.m. and involved two cars and happened near the Huntingdon County Hospital on Chateauguay Street in town Jean Guy Brault of Franklin Centre was driving west to east on Chateauguay Street and coming into Huntingdon, when he lost control on the curve, struck a pole, turned over and hit another pole. Miss Rejeane Girouard, of Huntingdon, was following close behind Brault and when he lost control, she did the same thing and turned over near to the Brault car. Both these people were taken into the Huntingdon County Hospital for treatment. Brault had to be pried out of his car as he was wedged in and was carried into the hospital. Miss Giroaurd was able to walk and both were treated by Dr. F. G. McCrimmon. Both cars were extensively damaged.

At 2.45 p.m. on Sunday, a collision occurred on Route 4 near the 2nd Concession of Elgin involving a car and a motorcycle. Daniel Scott of Malone, N.Y., was driving the car and Wm. Dixon of Malone N.Y. was driving the motorcycle. Scott was making a turn off the road and the motorcycle ran into the car. Dixon was taken to a hospital in Malone with injuries, but the extent is not known. Damage to the car amounted to about $25, but to the motorcycle about $400. Scott was not hurt.

At 3 p.m. on Sunday, an accident occurred on the opposite side of the area, on the Connaught Road. The exact circumstances of this accident are not known at this time but it involved Mr. Hector St Onge of Huntingdon and Louis Pivin of Huntingdon Mr. St. Onge was driving a 1960 Renault and Pivin was driving a '57 Ford, in some way a collision occurred and resulted in Mr. St. Onge being taken to the Barrie Memorial Hospital, Ormstown with a broken leg and other injuries, while Kenny Dixon, of Huntingdon, a passenger in the Pivin car was taken to the Neurological Hospital in Montreal with head injuries. Pivin was not injured. Pivin's car suffered about $400 damage while the St. Onge car damage amounted to about $450.

Council To Ask...

at the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, when needed, in connection with the extension of the water system.

The question of a fence over the retaining wall near the Henderson St. bridge was discussed; Council also hinted on repairing Hunter St. sidewalk.

A plan calling for street lights on Ridge Rd. was examined; efforts will be made to try to reach a settlement with Godmanchester Council concerning this.

Council is to issue a warning about stray dogs, which are still reported to cause damage, and to call again for moderate use of garden hoses, due to dry weather.

Council agreed to have white lines painted on the pavement in front of O'Connor Building.

Notice of Motion was given by Aldermen Laplante that he will introduce a by-law, at a subsequent meeting, to have the speed limit changed in the Town of Huntingdon.

June 24 was declared a civic holiday in the Town of Huntingdon.

rection in which our society is going, we will have to establish priorities in our national life.

That is to say, we will have to decide the things we want to accomplish in our society.

There is one priority which is fundamentally related to most of the problems which confront us. More and more, education is beginning to replace the welfare state as the basic concern and commitment of our people. The sole criterion for education for all Canadians can only be the ability to learn. And as we resolve, the quantitative problem in this field we will become increasingly concerned with the quality of our learning.

Within Canada, we must solve quickly the problem of race and culture, which, if some people would have their way, would threaten our existence as a country.

At the world level, our problems must also be quickly solved because the longer we wait, the more difficult they will become to resolve. Doctor B. R. Sen, Director General of the Food and Agricultural Organization of the United Nations stated the other day that the world faces unprecedented disaster from over population. In the Far East, a region containing nearly half the world population, unless drastic measures are taken to increase food production, the precarious balance that now exists between population and food production will break down and famine will begin to appear around 1980. If our international organizations are not strenghtened quickly, we face a real possiblity of international anarchy.

I would hope that these problems both at home and abroad rather than frightening you, will challenge you. There are ways in which you can do something yourselves to contribute to solutions.

As you probably have all heard, the Government recently announced its intention to set up a company of young Canadians. This company of young Canadians will be an instrument through which people like yourselves will be able to make a very direct and extremely important contribution to solving not only your own country's problems but of the problems of the world. I hope that some of you will consider spending a year or two with this company of youth workers. Coming as you do from an area with an important agricultural influence, many of you will be in a position if you so choose, to instruct in modern agricultural methods, farmers in underdeveloped countries of the world.

I am sure that many of you will be going into teaching. The quest for learning is burning everywhere on this globe of ours and your talents can be put to good use in any number of countries in Asia, South America and Africa.

Having discussed problems and possibilities for opportunity, perhaps I should now do what most speakers at graduations do, and that is, to give to the graduates the benefit of some advice.

Without a doubt, all of you have more potential for work, for creativity, for success than you realize. One of this School's most illustrious graduates, the late Watson Sellar, had a success story which supports this truth. In Watson Sellar's case, when he went to Ottawa as the assistant to the late Honorable James Robb, who was Canada's Minister of Finance for a period during the 1920's, and who himself was a famous and highly regarded graduate of Huntingdon Academy, he found himself in a position where he could develop his capabilities in their full measure and he became later, probably, the best Auditor-General Canada has ever had. Any individual who is determined and who so chooses, can, if he has integrity and is reasonable influence the people around him, the events around him, and influence his own municipality or region or even his own province or country. This is one of the things that makes my job so very interesting — the fact that MPs — if they so choose, can individually or collectively, exert influences that can affect the whole country in the course of future events. But this is not only true for Members of Parliament — it is true and would be true for any indivual who determines upon a course of action which happens to fit in with the needs and desires of the community or the region or the province or the country in which he lives. There is no question in my mind that anyone of you if you happen to choose to do it, could exert a tremendous influence, an amazing influence in some area during the life that lies ahead of you.

Going into this fast moving world, there are certain guide lines which I feel you can't go wrong in following. This new society requires above all, training, training in almost any imaginable line, but above all and first and foremost intensive training in some profession, or career, or trade. You people have reached an important stage in your lives ute think that just because this year but don't for a min- you have finished Grade 11 that you can now go out and find an easy satisfying position for yourself in some job. Grade 11 will help, at one time it was an adequate goal for most people. This simply is

May 30th, 1905, at the St. Antoine Church, Father Toupin blessed the marriage of Mr. Alexandre Patenaude and Miss Herméline Favreau. Thirteen children were born of this union, four dieing when they were young. Nine are presently living, two girls and seven boys: Laura (Mrs. Vaillancourt), Laurea, Ernest, Lionel, Rene, Leo, Arthur, Lorenzo and Emus.

Mr. and Mrs. Patenaude have worked hard to raise in a Christian way all the children God had given them. Like everybody else they have known times of anguish and also happy hours. A renowned farmer, Mr. Patenaude has drawn from the soil the welfare of his family and all his sons have followed his example. Mrs. Patenaude, who is a fine housewife has helped her husband. The children grew up and seven of them settled on their own, but each Sunday they come back to gather around the family table.

The Patenaudes were known as conscientious and honest workers, and they knew how to enjoy themselves; even at 80 years old, "Alex" is still ready to dance a little "step".

In church, the day of their marriage, wishes were made that they may see the fourth generation; these wishes came true, and more than once. There are in this family 32 grandchildren and 45 great-grandchildren in all.

Saturday, May 29th., at the St. Chrysostome Church, a mass was celebrated on the occasion of the 60th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Patenaude. Father Donat Crete officiated and delivered a very appropriate sermon. The old couple renewed in church, the promise they had made 60 years ago.

Following a very intimate supper at the family home, scores of friends and relatives gathered at Havelock Hall, to offer their congratulations to the happy couple. It was one of those good old Canadian gatherings, but there was something special about this one. The "Meltones" from Huntingdon played old dances and songs to everyone's delight. Refreshments were served and a basket of lilies was presented. Mr. and Mrs. Patenaude were also given two very nice easy chairs.

Mr. Donald Black, former M.P., had words of praise for the couple. Mr. Ian Watson M.P. for Chateauguay-Huntingdon-Laprairie, also offered his congratulations and best wishes to them. He took pleasure in reading telegrams sent by Her Majesty the Queen and Prime Minister Mr. Pearson. Mr. George Gowdey, Mayor of Havelock, also said a few words. Mr. Patenaude, deeply touched, said a very hearty thank you to all.

Bayview Rebekah Lodge Entertains Riverview Terrace Rest Centre Patients

On Tuesday evening, June 1st., the patients of Riverview Terrace Rest Centre were delightfully entertained by Bayview Rebekah Lodge of Valleyfield. Mrs. Claire Clifford R.N., whose mother Mrs. John Callen Sr., is a patient at the Centre, was largely responsible for arranging the vist of Bayview Lodge.

Miss Lilian Rankin, R.N., made all the guests welcome and was especially happy to note the good attendance from Pioneer Lodge, Huntingdon. In this group were Mrs. Sadie Middlemiss, Noble Grand, and Mrs. Jennie Helm, Assembly President.

The evening was relaxed and informal, Bayview Lodge Choir rendering the always delightful Scottish, Irish, and Welsh ballads. They were most generous in singing old favorites requested by the patients. Mrs. Clarice Millechamp accompanied the singers on the Rest Centre's beautiful organ. Solos were performed by Mrs. Eveline Shannon and Mrs. Elizabeth Stewart. Mrs. Shannon also gave some delightful skits — "Walter Lead Me to the Altar", done with Mr. Douglas Elder as "Walter" was very amusing. Mrs. Claire Clifford gave a poetic recital of old favorites her mother used to delight her with when she was a child, including that favourite by Longfellow, "The Childrens' Hour".

Not only did the generous ladies of Bayview Lodge supply the evening's entertainment, but they also supplied the varied and delicious refreshments. Needless to say everyone enjoyed themselves thoroughly as Mrs. Sadie Middlemiss, and Miss Lilian Rankin so well stated in their words of thanks to the visiting Lodge Members. Not often has there been such a bright and happy evening for all concerned, and I am sure that Bayview Lodge felt that their efforts had been most sincerely appreciated.

Other local guests were: Mrs. Ethel Smellie, Mr. and Mrs. John Caldwell, Mrs. Winnifred Harper, R.N., Mrs. Louise Johnson, Miss Jean McAllister, Mrs. Johnson Abaham, Mrs. Clarence Stark, R.N., Mrs. Evelyn Cooper, Toronto.

Rev. Pelletier To Leave Valleyfield

At a meeting of the Congregation held at the close of the service on Sunday, Rev. W. Charles Pelletier, minister of the Valleyfield United Church since 1955 announced that the Montreal Presbytery at a recent meeting had approved the call extended to him by St. Andrew's United Church, Trois Rivières, and that he would be leaving Valleyfield towards the end of August.

A Pastoral Relations Committee was then formed for the purpose of calling a successor to Mr. Pelletier and to arrange pulpit supply in the interval should there be any, between Mr. Pelletier's departure and the arrival of the new minister. The Committee is composed of Messrs. David P. Boyd, Allan Molyneaux, Donald M. MacLean, George Luney, and Mesdames Thomas Crook and Irwin White. The Committee will meet under the convenorship of Mr. Boyd.

The Rev. Howard C. Fraser of St. Andrew's Church, Chateauguay, has been appointed the Interim-Minister to help guide the Congregation during the period of transition.

not true any more. If you are going to be able to fill your adult responsibilities properly you're going to have to either continue your education by going to college, or university, or you are going to have to specialize in a trade, or a type of work, which will give you a skill which other people will want to buy by paying you to perform that skill. You're going to succeed with this training, you must combine it with integrity and reliability.

In a society where more and more people appear and believe that they can be successful by cutting corners and by throwing integrity aside, the demand is all the greater for persons demonstrating integrity trustworthiness and reliability.

Add to this age good measure of common sense and a bit of self discipline and you will have a sure formula for success.

Graduates, as never before new vision and horizons are opening. Mankind's dream can now become reality. I hope you will utilize these opportunities to the maximum and that you will contribute to bringing a better life to all Canadians, a life of quality and propose. It is I am sure the collective wish of everyone here that dreams you dream can and will become reality. Good luck in your exams.

Following this, the benediction was pronounced by Mr. McMichen, and the congregation remained seated while the graduates filed out. Mr. Gary Blake was at the organ through the service.

Following the service, the graduates, their parents, the school staff and invited guests gathered in the Church Hall, where refreshments were served by the Grade Ten pupils. Mr. Brockman gave a farewell to the graduates, a nostalgic reminiscing about those things for which each one would be remembered by their schoolmates.

Judi Kahn was class valedictorian:

"We have reached a milestone on the road of life" said Judi, but then went on to say that in this day and age, this was not sufficient, that more education and more skills were being demanded of those in the world today. She described how the bewilderment of young children in new situations gradually gave way to more confidence as new experiences took place. She then went on to express the gratitude of the graduates to their teachers, and to all the others connected with the school system for their interest and encouragement and also to their parents for the countless hours of love and patience setting them on the right road to success, A happy Life. "Now is the crucial moment in our lives, and now is the time to set ourselves on the right road to success."

At the close of the evening class pins and rings were presented to the graduating students by Mrs. Lowenberger on behalf of the Home and School Association, following which, Mr. McMichen pronounced the benediction.

One Person's Ordeal During Dominican Republic's Crisis

Extract from letter received by Mrs. Mollie Oldfield, sister of Richard Tinker, Huntingdon from her sister-in-law, Mrs. Philip Oldfield.

"We were due to leave the Dominican Republic on the 26th of April when fighting broke out on the 24th, so we were trapped. We stayed in the apartment until the following Tuesday and the fighting got so bad that our friends — living in a fairly safe area — insisted that we stay with them. All the people living along our street had fled — so David (her son) and I were the only ones left. We flung everything into a station-wagon and left the apartment. We stayed with our friends for four days — when the British Embassy phoned to say that we were to leave at once as the situation had become very dangerous. They called for us at seven o'clock the following morning.

During the previous evening — during a lull in the fighting — David went back to the apartment to settle the rent, etc. On his way back he was fired on by snipers. He managed to slow the station-wagon down — kicked open the door, and flung himself over a wall — not before a bullet had grazed his head though. (He has been to have it cleaned out at a hospital, here (Derby, North Carolina) and fortunately there is no infection.

After the Embassy people called for us, we were taken to the Embajador Hotel (a refugee centre) where we were to await transportation which would take us to the ship. The scene there, I will leave to your imagination. The once luxurious lobby filled with crying children — old and young people — confused tired and hungry. There was no electricity or water, and the odor from the toilet penetrated everywhere. We waited all day, only to be told that the ship wouldn't be leaving until the next day, and we were advised to take a room. We knew it would be a waste of money, really, but anything was better than sleeping on the floor in that atmosphere. Within a short time every room was occupied — to those who could afford to pay. Many had left home without a cent.

We had to grope our way to the bedroom along the dark passages — but at least we did find a candle in the room. Even these were in short supply. No water — and we were filthy — and it was so hot! We couldn't sleep as snipers were firing across the patio all night — and we were up by 5 o'clock the following morning. We had a pregnant girl from Puerto Rico and a Peace Corp worker sleeping on the floor in the same room.

We hurried down to the dining room hopefully expecting some breakfast — but there was nothing. No water to wash the dishes — not even water to drink. We were then told to stand in line to await transportation to the little port of Hainer — and we must have stood like this for hours. My feet were so swollen they hung over my shoes.

People went in cars, trucks, etc., anything which happened to roll up to the door. Again another long wait in the broiling sun, before boarding the ship — and we were only allowed one case. Then we had to stand in line again — still in the sun, to have our papers checked. We managed to find a sheltered corner on deck, and one of my American friends fainted. About 6-7 food was served in the kitchen below — and I'll never forget the sight of fried eggs, sausages, cake, fruit and iced orange juice. We were ravenous, and felt like savages. We had to hurry as hundreds were waiting to be fed.

We were given bunks — but it was so hot and crowded below — we had to come up on deck. Hundreds slept there — but it was a night I'll never forget. The ship rocked and rolled, and we were covered with spray — and it got so rough we had to cling to one another and to the thick heavy blankets. It was impossible to sleep.

We were on the ship almost 21 hours — from the time of boarding — to getting off. Again we were in the broiling sun when we were waiting at Puerto Rico, and my arms were blistered and skinning. People pushed and shoved, and were frantic to get out of the heat, and we were packed like sardines.

When we finally made it, the Red Cross were waiting with cool drinks and chairs. Then we had to be checked before leaving for a hotel in Puerto Rico. We just dumped our cases — and got into a hot bath. I washed our underwear — then we had something to eat and were in bed by eight o'clock — the first good night's sleep for six nights. The following morning I had by hair washed, and whilst it was drying the owner of the shop took my dress home to his Mother, who washed, pressed and returned it before my hair was dry. They were wonderfully kind.

We left Puerto Rico during the afternoon and arrived here (Derby, North Carolina) at midnight.

The Last Call For Ormstown Fair 1965

TO-NIGHT, Wednesday, Ormstown Exhibition will be officially opened for the period until Saturday, June 12th. On Saturday afternoon, last, we took a look around the Exhibition grounds and buildings and a great deal of work had been done in preparation for this great annual event which turns quiet Ormstown into a thriving and bustling town needing extra policemen to control the traffic and so forth. People from all over, visit Ormstown and the Exhibition, commencing from the first part of the week.

But on Saturday, it had a quiet look, although it was a trim look and men were working here and there on different jobs in preparation. Some painting was going on in some of the booths in the Industrial Building, Secretary-Manager, Carlyle Dickson, was busy with his secretary putting the office into shape and at the same time tickets for seats at the coming Exhibition were being sold. Carlyle has been a busy man for some weeks past attending to all the detail matters that go to make up this Exhibition.

We looked out upon the grounds, over that part which will be occupied by the Midway — King Reid Shows — and on this day it looked like a well cut lawn, tidy and trim. In front of the Industrial Building where the car displays will be found was another well trimmed lawn. It all looked so clean and tidy, one might think it was a big estate. In the arena, the boards and gateways have all been whitewashed and present a brilliant white appearance. Men were busy washing down the seats, the floor of the arena was being readied for the horse shows which will open there to-night.

There was a strange quietness everywhere. No bellowing of bulls, cows, calves as they are judged in the arena, mixed with cries from the midway and the people and children in the arena and around — just quiet, hollow and lifeless. What a difference there will be to-night!

The stalls were empty of the many fine horses to be seen at this exhibition and the box stalls for the patrons were empty too, not even a chair of any kind in any of them. Out on the grounds, that same quiet reigned, the noise of walking on the pavement could be heard echoing around the grounds. No bustle of the crowds as it will be from Wednesday on. The main gate through the Memorial Archway was wide open, but few cars or people were passing through — yes there were a few cars — those belonging to workmen and delivery trucks.

We gazed around and marvelled at the quietude of this great fair grounds, just a day or two before opening day. In our mind we saw the Midway, the people, we heard the cries, the music, we saw the cars coming through the gates and the people rushing about as they sought to go to this and that part of the grounds. Once each year this all happens when Ormstown Exhibition brings new life to Ormstown. So, we shall see you there at Ormstown Exhibition, on Wednesday and the following days, we know you will be there, you would not miss it, would you?

The Red Cross Blitz Campaign

NEXT Monday, June 14th, will see the climax of the Red Cross Blitz campaign in Huntingdon area, to raise funds. It is going on right now and perhaps some of you have already had a visit from a canvasser and given in your contribution. If so, well and good.

For those of you who have not already given a contribution, the Legion Hall on Fairview Road will be headquarters for the campaign on Monday, June 14th, between the hours of 1 and 5 p.m. You may leave your contribution there and it will be gratefully received by those in charge. If you do not wish to do this, any one of the following ladies will be glad to take it: Mrs. Cole, Mrs. Lawrence McCallum or Mrs. Payne, of Huntingdon at any time between now and Monday.

Unlike previous campaigns, this will not be a long drawn-out one. Monday afternoon ends it, objective or no objective. However, it is hoped to collect as much or more than the objective which is $2,000. Everyone is asked to give as generously as possible in order to make this particular campaign a great success. It is felt that the public would rather have it this way than to be pestered for several weeks. By Monday evening, June 14th, we shall know the results and we hope it runs to the total of $2,000 in order that we can report that once again Huntingdon came through in first class style.

The Red Cross needs the funds and who knows when you may need the Red Cross. Do your bit now.

The American Astronauts Have Made It

RIGHT on time, on Monday afternoon, word was received that the two space men who have been making circuits in space for the past several days, returned to earth and were picked up by helicopter to be taken to the return centre for rest and so forth.

Right up until the time for the re-entry into the earth's atmosphere, the two men kept up conversation between themselves and officials on earth. One of the men successfully left the ship, Gemini IV for a period and floated away from it. Pictures were supposed to have been taken of this and no doubt now that the men have returned, we shall learn more about this part of the adventure. We shall also learn more of what was accomplished by this particular space flight and orbit too.

One thing is certain, while the flight was not televised as the Russian trip was, this one lasted longer and went as well. That the men have returned safely is another factor, for they will be able to give an account of their experience first hand and can be questioned about it too.

Each such trip seems to be an improvement on the others and surely something will be learned each time which will be beneficial toward the final goal. Man's project now is to land on the moon, if possible place a man upon it and then return to earth to report. These space flights are all leading up to such a project. Each time a step nearer is attained, but the finale is still very far off. There is much more to learn than is known yet. It is now known that man can fly his machine and guide it in space and he can bring it back to earth at will also. This is considerable accomplishment in a short time. Rockets have been sent and landed on the moon, but they have been crash landed so far and nothing more has been learned. It still cannot be fathomed if the moon is inhabited by any form of life as we may know it. Pictures have been obtained of its surface and these are still being studied. The race for the moon is between the United States and Russia. This last trip by the States seems to be an advance over the one Russia made a short time ago. It is really too early to say very much. The Russian was more spectacular on account of the television pictures that were seen while the flight was in progress. They reported however, that much had been learned and there is no doubt but what they will be putting to good use all the knowledge so gained.

The American astronauts reported sighting several other satellites in orbit, but were unable to recognize them. They apparently ate well and slept well while on the flight.

Before the moon flight, fueling problems have to be figured out and these orbiting flights are being tried with the idea of having space stations for such things as servicing and fueling and re-provisioning. If a rendezvous could have been established with some other satellite, then a part of the problem would have been solved. Space stations it would seem would have to be locked at a certain spot so that there would be no chance of missing it when services would be required. This would mean some form of anchorage for the rocket in order to prevent drifting. It would require a way to give more thrust to propel the rocket on toward its destination. It will thus be seen that there is quite a lot more to learn before a successful landing on the moon and return is actually accomplished.

Meanwhile — congratulations on the results so far achieved by both Russia and the United States.

Some Woes On Women

There is something deeply disturbing about the attitude toward life of the modern North American woman.

Men haven't really changed much, basically, since Julius Caesar and his boys crossed the Rubicon. They still like to make war and make love; they still drink more than is good for them; they still like playing games better than improving their property; they still have some romance and illusion in their souls; they still loathe facing up to family problem in little "talks" with their mates.

Take a modern politician, drape him in a toga, and he'd be right at home in the senate of ancient Rome. Take a modern general, hang a suit of armor and a helmet on him, stick him on a horse, and you wouldn't know him from a Crusader of the middle ages.

But take a modern woman out of her modern kitchen, away from her wall-to-wall broadloom and dump her in a thatched roof cottage with outside facilities and no detergents, and what would you have? A screaming meemie; that's what you'd have. Even if Mr. and Mrs. Will Shakespeare lived in the thatched cottage next door.

This comment is written more in sorrow than in anger. I don't put all the blame on the creatures themselves. I think their greedy materialism, relentless reality, and total lack of appreciation of the finer things in life — like their husbands — are a result of the stresses of the age. Too much warmed-over psychology. Too much hard-sell advertising.

They all want to look Paris models. But they don't do enough physical work and they eat too much. So they get fat. There's a stress right there.

They all want their children to be handsome and brilliant. So they spend thousands of dollars straightening the kids' eyes and teeth and pushing them at school and nagging them about music lessons and comparing them unfavorably with kids who are handsome and brilliant. Their own kids, naturally, respond by getting fat and pimply, needing braces and glasses, growing neurotic, and failing their exams. Another stress.

They all want their husbands to be a combination of Richard Burton, J. P. Morgan, and Caspar Milquetoast. That's a little rough to come by these days, so they take it out on the poor Adam they got out of the grabbag. Frustration and guilt. Two more stresses.

They crave security. More and more of it. So they push their men harder and harder to build up a bigger and bigger estate, and more and more insurance, in order that they can join the hordes of lonely widows in Florida, sitting around telling each other what a grand chap poor Herman was before he worked himself to death 30 years ago.

They all want to be loved and cherished. And they spend all their time complaining about their health, their children, their husbands, and all the things other women have that they don't. Who's going to love and cherish a walkie-talkie with a built-in whine?

They all want to be beautiful. And they all go around with lips pressed tight, mouth turned down, and a big scowl. When was the last time you heard your wife singing, Jack?

There's only one solution, of course, for the girls, and it would not be a popular one. The answer is back to the scrub-board and the sewing-machine, the vegetable garden and the preserving kettle.

I would not have you think these few observations are offered in an unkindly spirit. They are merely the result of over-hearing a conversation today between my Old Battle-axe and her sidekick across the street.

For half an hour, they vied with each other in relating, with chapter and verse, what useless articles Bill and John (incidentally, two of the sweetest guys in town) turned out to be.

LOOKING INTO THE PAST

Leduc Put Valleyfield on Sports Map

Valleyfield, population of 26,000, has been competing with the "big boys" in sport, notably hockey, for many years.

When the Braves were campaigning in the faster Quebec hockey loops, they were backed by sportsmen.. "who didn't mind losing a buck."

ALBERT LEDUC

One of these was Albert Leduc", "The Battleship" in his playing days on defence of Canadiens. Others were Arthur Vinet, who sold his hotel recently for $260,000, Eddie Pigeon for a time and the late Romuald Theoret who lost his life in an automobile accident.

"TOE" BLAKE

They went after the best available talent, including Hector (Toe) Blake who coached there for several years and won a championship. Other Valleyfield coaches were Archie Wilcox and Aurel Joliat.

But the man who has remained most active is Lucien Leduc, a distant relative of The Battleship, operator of men's clothing stores, one in Valleyfield, one in Montreal.

Lucien coached Valleyfield hockey teams for 11 years, winning seven championships, but professes a greater love for baseball. He's still a leader in Little League activities for the Rotary Club.

Lucien did a little fond reminiscing the other day mainly about the hockey players and men who played baseball for him such as Johnny Podres, still an ace with Los Angeles Dodgers, and Doug Harvey who liked to play baseball so much that he never asked to be paid.

It was Lucien Leduc who discovered Podres, a high school pitcher at Minesville, N.Y. Johnny won 17 games for Valleyfield, then was "shanghaied" by Marcel Dufresne, then working for the Brooklyn Dodger organization.

Lucien told the story this way:

"Marcel heard about Johnny being a prize prospect and came over to Valleyfield to 'steal' him and escort him to a Dodger tryout camp at Burlington Vermont.

"They told me what had happened so I jumped into my car and raced to Burlington because I wanted to sign him for the Phillies for whom I was scouting. I arrived there too late. Johnny had signed for the Dodgers".

Podres, of course, come to Royals two years later, spent one season and then moved to Brooklyn.

Lucien recalled that when he scouted Podres in the first place at his home, "the southpaw who beat the Yankees in the 1956 World Series" was playing first base.

"I decided to take him to Valleyfield anyway", he said.

Lucien told about Doug Harvey's love for baseball. Once he was playing a doubleheader and was short of players, so he called on Doug, then a great star with Canadiens, to help out.

"He came along, played two or three positions—and then refused to accept any money", Lucien said, "What an athlete and what a guy".

Leduc said that his one big mistake as coach of the hockey teams was his failure to take on Dave Molson, now the head of the NHL Club, of course.

"Dave came out to try for a place on the team but didn't quite make it", he remembers, "I guess I should have taken him anyway".

LUCIEN LEDUC

discovered Podres...

Valleyfield teams never lost very much but they never had anything to spare. The most he ever made as coach, he says, was $125 a week. Mostly he worked for nothing and the team travelled in private cars loaned by supporters.

Once, with a capacity crowd in prospect, he was "hit" by a six-player strike. The only players that remained loyal to him were Kitoute Joannette, Gerry Philbin, Roland Boyer, Bernard Vinet and Eddie Cadieux.

He enlisted players from an intermediate team, defeated Sherbrooke, 2-1, and the crowd went crazy.

Valleyfield teams had many topline players through the years, including Pat McCreavy, Gordon Drillon, Harry Watson, Jimmy Orlando, goaler Johnny Lascelles and Gerry Plamondon. Andre Corriveau, Jean-Paul Bisaillon, George Bougie and Kitoute Joannette.

"Of them all, Kitoute was the big favorite", said Lucien. Kitoute now runs a bowling alley in Valleyfield.

"He knew very few words in English like sure, yes and know" Leduc said but in French he kept saying, 'you take the loose puck if I lose it' which he didn't do very often".

Albert "Battleship" Leduc started playing hockey at Seminaire de Valleyfield, came to Montreal on a hockey "scholarship" at Banque de Hochelaga.

After playing in the NHL, he returned to Valleyfield struck it rich and purchased the hockey rink with Arthur Vinet and Romuald Theoret. Now retired, he spends most of his time in Florida.

The Valleyfield sportsmen sold the rink to Seminaire de Valleyfield for $60,000 although it is worth three times that much.

Sportsmen, indeed!

"COUNTRY NOTEBOOK"

BY WALKER RILEY

"Country Notebook" by Mr. Walker Riley, Agricultural Extension Specialist with Macdonald College appears in The Gleaner with this edition. The column will be a weekly feature which we trust will be of interest to all in the Chateauguay Valley.

"Farm planning is very simple in Iowa. You plant as many acres as possible to corn, then feed it to the livestock of your choice, hogs or steers, or sell it for cash". That is how farming in the leading agricultural state was described to us on our tour last week. Field after field of corn, in long straight rows no matter which way you looked at it, the pattern broken only occasionally with a strip of alfalfa or oats, and a feedlot full of Angus or Herefords outside almost every barn certainly fitted that picture. But some of the other ideas I had about Iowa didn't belong at all.

Our whirlwind tour started Sunday afternoon when we left Montreal Airport, picked up the other ten members of the party in Toronto, and flew on to Chicago. From that point on, any pretense of formality was left behind. We were the only passengers aboard the ancient but comfortably casual aircraft which took us 350 miles due west into the heart of Iowa. The pilot gave a running commentary as we passed over the darkened countryside, the towns blanketed with multi-coloured lights and the black outlines of the Mississippi River. Midnight at Des Moines, we were greeted like old friends by a member of the State Extension staff and his wife.

Next morning, we saw farmlands for the first time. My imagination had pictured flat fenceless prairie fields, with tall corn right to the sides of endlessly straight roads. I had expected overwhelming bigness. But it was not so.

The part of Iowa we saw is pleasantly rolling countryside, large but family-operated farms with comfortable white frame houses and red barns, and, to my surprise, plenty of trees. In fact, it was not unlike parts of the Eastern Townships, the Chateauguay Valley, or Pontiac County. Nor is their weather too different from ours. This is a late spring there, too, but wet. The corn is two inches high and standing still; there was a frost in the last week of May. Last winter, snow closed the schools for a week.

We visited four farms. Orville Kalsen, with his two sons John and Dave, have 500 acres mostly in corn, fed to Angus steers. Every week a load is selected out for the Chicago market. At 1300 lbs., they are heavy by our standards, but the Kalsems cater to a limited market for prime cattle of this weight. As a sideline, the Kalsems raise registered Quarterhorses for a fast-growing demand.

Russell Frandsen with 440 acres does things a bit differently. One fifth of his acreage is in soybeans for a cash crop, while the rest grows corn for 500 head beef. Some of these animals are Holstein steers which he buys from Montana for 11c. to 13c. a pound. They sell for several cents less, too, but he finds the profit per head is not too different from his beef steers.

Leo Bodensteiner, a hundred miles northeast toward Iowa City, marketed most of his corn through hogs — hundreds of them. Unlike our usual pattern of rearing in confinement, the Iowa practice is to raise them outside, in paved lots or on pasture. The countryside is dotted with portable shelters.

Leo farms 700 acres. He owns 160 acres and rents the rest, a common practice in this area of high-priced land. He shares the grain crop fifty-fifty with his landlord. The landlord helps with the cash expenses, but provides no labour.

Leo takes part in the State Farm Program, under which part of the farm is withdrawn from production and planted to a cover crop which cannot be harvested. For the contribution to reducing surpluses and consering soil, he receives about $40 an acre yearly grant.

The farm that took my eye was that of Rex Meyers and his father, Frank. With 160 acres of that beautiful black Iowa loam, a comfortable landscaped home, neat farm buildings, and a third interest in a full line of machinery, they appeared to be finding life very pleasant. Push buttons, silo unloaders and feed bunks make it possible for father and son to look after 300 head steers and 500 hogs without help. Some day corn is purchased.

Rex, a former Voc. Ag. teacher, is also chairman of the local Rural Areas Development Board, our equivalent of ARDA.

Altogether, I formed some strong impressions. One was of highly efficient labour use. Frandsen and Bodensteiner each had one hired man. The others were strictly family operations. Another was the high price of farm land; values to $600 an acre were reported. Cash rents ran $30 to $40 an acre. We saw no "For Sale" signs. And there was solid optimism with regard to agriculture. No one we met had the slightest doubt that the present was good and the future even better.

But I also came home feeling much more content with our own practices and potential.

Round Byre and Ring

By FRANK NAPIER

The Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada is to be congratulated on still another sizeable, outstanding export sale, in this instance to the United Kingdom. In a recent newsletter John Powell, Director of Publicity of that Association, reports that 15 richly bred Canadian Holstein bulls were shipped on May 18th. for Great Britain, the purchaser being the English Milk Marketing Board. By the way, both the English and Scottish Milk Marketing Boards operate a number of Artificial Insemination Centres, with the service sires being representative of most of the leading dairy breeds of cattle. However, we believe that, as apart from the controversial experiment with Charolais bulls, this is the first importation of bulls, for A.I. Service, therefore "a feather in the cap", as they would say over there, of our Canadian Holstein Association.

This is not the first, shipment of Canadian Holsteins to the U.K. inasmuch as a large (U.K. elected) shipment was made some 20 years or so ago, while a year or so ago several individual U.K. breeders purchased Canadian Holstein bulls for service in their own herds. However, when one considers the impact, so to speak, that fifteen bulls on Artificial Service will have on the breeding scheme of things over there, this should indeed be classed as an outstanding, unique achievement.

Carefully Selected

It is reported that the M. M. B. (Milk Marketing Board) selection committee was comprised of the Chief Livestock Officer of the Board and four British Friesian (Holstein) breeders, including Hon. Thomas Alsop, the U.K. Minister of Agriculture. The entire transaction was coordinated by Roy G. Snider, Secretary-Manager of the Ontario Association of Artificial Breeders. In that connection the report says, "It is interesting to note that all four breeders on the committee have milking herds of at least 60 cows".

Two bulls each were purchased from the Oak Ridges and Glen Afton herds; one each from nine Western Ontario herds and one each from Central and Eastern Ontario herds, the latter being the Lloyd McRae and Son, Bainsville, Ont., herd.

Top Bloodlines

"The Britishers", says the report, secured a cross-section of the best Canadian blood lines." Nine of them are descendants of the famous class Extra Sire A.B.C. Reflection, while the others include sons of Rosafe Citation R.; Rolland Reflection Sovereign; Thornlea Texal Supreme; Rosafe Signet, etc.

Six of the bulls are from "Excellent" dams, seven are from "Very Good" and two from "Good Plus" dams. Production records on the dams range upward to the 305 days total of 25,771 lbs. milk. Four of the others have the following records to their credit: 24, 531 lbs.; 21,674 lbs.; 21,009 lbs 20,604 lbs.; moreover, the best 305 days or yearly record of the three nearest tested dams of all fifteen bulls averaged 19,470 lbs. of milk testing 4.04 percent butterfat.

Roy G. Snyder, Secretary-Manager of the Ontario Association of Artificial Breeders, commented: "With such a wealth of the best Canadian bloodlines for both type and production, these bulls should do well in great Britain. The results of mating them to British Friesians will be watched with a great deal of interest."

Hemmingford

(By Mrs. Fergus Moore)

Mrs. James Allen of Havelock, Mrs. Herbert Pilon of Montreal spent Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Armand Maynard and family. They accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Maynard to the Graduation Dance at Hemmingford High School, on Friday evening. Miss Dorothy Maynard is a member of the graduating class.

Mr. Winston Sample of Rochester, N.Y., spent the week-end at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. K.M. Sample.

Miss Elaine Chenette and Mr. Gerald Maynard of Montreal were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Armand Maynard and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stewart and family of Lakeside Heights were week-end guests at the home of Mrs. A.L. Stewart and Miss W. Stewart. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Sutherland and Brent of Greenfield Park, were Sunday guests at the same home.

Sympathy

Deepest sympathy is extended to Mrs. Norman O. Stewart and family in the loss of a beloved husband and father, who passed away at his home in Mooers, N.Y., Saturday morning.

Deepest sympathy is extented to the family of the late Mrs. Billington, who passed away at the home of her daughter Mrs. John Stitchman, last Wednesday evening. Funeral services were held at Wesley-Knox United Church on Saturday afternoon.

Congratulations

To Mr. and Mrs. Alex Patenaude of Havelock, who celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary last Saturday. We extend our sincere congratulations and Best Wishes.

(By Mrs. W.J. McKay)

Misses Annie and Maud Robertson, of Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Baker, of Saint Albans, Vt., were Sunday guests of Mr. Alister Somerville, M.P.P., and Mrs. Somerville.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Andre Lambert, viz Mae Ryan, of this place, now of St. Laurent, on the birth of a baby boy, born Thursday, May 27th.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard McAllister, and son Marcil, are enjoying a week's vacation, visiting Mr. and Mrs. McAllister's nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCarroll, and daughter Carol, of Detroit, Michigan.

Mrs. Donald Pincott, viz Pearl Cleland, of this place, and son James, and daughter Barbara, of Preston, Ontario, were Wednesday and Thursday guests, last week of Mrs. W.F. Orr.

Mr. Willie Ryan received news last Saturday of the death of his brother-in-law Mr. Philip Clarke of Syracuse, N.Y., he was the husband of Lily Krum Ryan, formerly of Hemmingford.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Jackson, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Radley, attended the Grant-Smiley wedding at Christ Church, Aylmer, Que., on Saturday, May 29th, followed by a reception for about 70 guests in the Church Hall. The bride was formerly Miss Kathleen Grant of Vancouver, B.C. while the groom was Mr. John Smiley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kyle Smiley. The groom is well known in Hemmingford, his mother being the former Pearl Jackson of this place. After the reception the happy couple left on a trip for New York and Bermuda. Both bride and groom are employed by the Federal government in Ottawa. So to this happy couple, all good wishes from their Hemmingford friends.

Talent Night At Howick High School Well Received

(By Mrs. Crawford)

Talent Night one of the most popular events of the year at Howick High School, was held on Thursday, May 28th. Everybody from Grandma to the Baby was there to enjoy the programme and to observe the special talents of their own Sue and Johnny.

It was a varied and interesting programme. The four festival choirs were heard and a few of the vocalists and pianists sang and played with fine musical expression. In fact those who had worked with them during the festival felt they performed better in the relaxed atmosphere of Talent Night.

Every third number on the programme was a colourful display of dressmaking, modelled by the classes in Home Economics. The girls had made a nice choice of colours and materials and keen interest was shown in the work they had done.

Fortunately the season of spring flowers is with us and standards of lilacs and bouquets of tulips made a pretty background for all the performers.

At the close of this part of the programme an opportunity was given everyone to view the Home Economic projects and Industrial Arts, which were displayed in the Grade 8 classroom.

Mrs. H. Robertson teaches 58 girls in Grades 6 - 9. Their display included: Grade 6, aprons, pin cushions; Grade 7, 3-piece sport outfits and corsages; Grade 8, housecoats and model bedrooms; Grade 9, shirtwaist dresses, also three, 2-piece suits and model kitchens.

A display of baking from Grades 7-9 included squares, fruit loaves and cookies.

Mrs. O. W. Mattinson teaches Grades 10 and 11 girls, twelve in number. The girls modelled tailored woollen dresses and displayed also wooden cookbook covers, tote bags and samples of preserves made by Grade X.

The girls assisted Mrs. Mattinson in gathering together a wonderful collection of antiques many of which were a link with home economics of 100 years ago. There was a spinning wheel, candle mould and candle trimmer, Napkin rings, coffee grinder, brass and copper kettles, old iron, books, etc. A dozen or more high laced boots, samplers made by little girls more than a century ago, also within the century, and some fine, hand-made clothing, completed this display.

Mr. J. Boyle's Classes in Industrial Arts had done some fine work. Among the bigger projects were noted: tables by Ken McFarlane, Andy Ness and Tommy Cole; book cases by Ian Bustard and Ken McFarlane; lamps by Tommy Cole, Ken McFarlane, Gary Tait; inlaid bowls, Frank Dawson and Tommy Cole. Later in the year prize winners from Grades 6 - 11 will be named in the regular prize lists, as will those in Home Economics.

Projects for this year in Industrial Arts were: Grade 6 — Key holders, hot plates and thermometers; Grade 7 — utensil holders and bread trays; Grade 8 — pipe racks, lathe projects and technical drawings; Grade 9 — knife holders, odd projects and technical drawings; Grade 10 and 11 — lamps, tables, bowls, bookcases. Approximately 85 boys are taught by Mr. Boyle.

The last part of the programme was a fast-paced exhibition of physical training with boys and girls taking part.

Mr. Wilson teaches pupils from Grades 3-11, approx. 250 students. During the year they receive instruction in basketball, softball, hockey, skating and other games and exercises.

Extra time was needed after school hours to work on this display so the number of students taking part was limited.

The students enjoy these strenuous exercises and many of us wished we could shed a few years and pounds and try them ourselves.

Those taking part were: Tom Cole, Ken McFarlane, Roy Younie, Harry Younie, John Gillies, Clifford Cullen, Bobby Cole, Pam Miller, Judy Gagnon, Cathy McFarlane, Joy McKell, Heather Angel, Dawn Cullen, Doreen Reddick, Phyllis Whyte, Donna Tannahill and Sherrill Carson.

Order of Events: — 1, Opening sequence, elementary paired work; 2, Free movement on the mats by the girls; 3, Pyramid by the boys; 4, Paired work — boys and girls. Routines worked out by themselves; 5, Four couples doing standing arm-to-arm balances; 6, Singles routines — worked out by individuals; 7, Apparatus free work. Stunts of their own choice; 8, Two types of intricate and exciting crossfire work on the box; 9, Girls doing swan dives and boys doing dives for a finish.

Student Lorne Templeton conducted a lively auction at the close of the evening. Baking on display by the Home Ec. Classes, and some of the woodwork display were sold.

Named 1965 Valedictorian

JOYCE PALMER

Miss Joyce Palmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Palmer of Hemmingford, and Senior student at Mooers Central School, Mooers, N.Y., has been named 1965 Valedictorian. Joyce who is a member of the National Honour Society has maintained a high school average of over 92% and a Regent's average of over 95%. She has been awarded a Scholarship by Syracuse University where she plans to enter next September.

Joyce has been Year Book Editor, leader of the Campus Book Club, member of the staff of the school paper, school representative in the Clinton County Interscholastic League Social Studies Quiz, participant in the Honours Symposium at State University College in Plattsburgh for two years, member of the College Mathematics Class offered to honour high school students by the same College.

She has been active in music events, having been a member of the School Band and the School Chorus for several years. She has participated in All-State and All County Music events, and received a 6A rating for Saxophone, (the highest rating obtainable for high school students) at the recent May Music Festival, and has taken part in the Chateauguay Valley Music Festival.

Missionary Society Formed At Georgetown 90 Years Ago

A "Tea, Plant and Food Sale", held in the Georgetown Church Hall, on Friday afternoon, May 28th, was attended by a large group of ladies.

Mrs. R. McFarlane welcomed the guests and in her remarks noted that this year being the 90th anniversary of the forming of a Missionary Society in this district, it might be of interest to hear an extract from the first secretary's book which she proceeded to read as follows — "A meeting of ladies, called from the pulpit the previous Sunday, was held at the Manse, South Georgetown, on Tuesday afternoon, August 31st, 1875, to organize a Missionary Auxiliary to the Canadian Womens' Board of Missions, Montreal. The following ladies were chosen as Officers: — President, Mrs. D. Thompson; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. Muir, Mrs. McKerricher, Mrs. J. Cunningham, Mrs. Galbraith, Miss Muir, Mrs. Jas. McKell; Secretary, Miss B. Muir; Treasurer, Mrs. Geo. McClenaghan; Ass't. Secretary, Miss E. L. Ogilvie."

Mrs. W. Brown then introduced the guest speaker, Miss A. M. McKinnon, a former McGill graduate and for many years a teacher on the staff of the Montreal High School.

Miss McKinnon expressed her pleasure both in being invited to come and in finding so large a group of ladies present.

In her address, based on the Gospel of St. Luke, Miss McKinnon noted especially six women whose lives and actions had great significance for women everywhere. She stressed the need for a deep and abiding faith amid the complexities of modern living.

The speaker was thanked for her most inspiring address by Mrs. John Holmes.

A beautiful duet, entitled "Saved by Grace" was sung by Mrs. Lorne Simms and Mrs. Peter Peddie, accompanied by Mrs. Wallace Logan at the organ. Before the closing Benediction Mrs. McFarlane invited all present to proceed to the Church Hall for tea to be followed by a sale of home baked food and many varieties of plants and some cut flowers. Total proceeds from the tea and sale amounted to $128.

Howick High School Notes

Thursday Night was Talent Night at Howick High, when all the departments displayed their year's work, and truly we can be proud of their accomplishments. The four choirs sang the numbers that made them winners at the Music Festival. The Home Economics Department fashion show was a great success, each grade showing what they had made during the year. The Industrial Arts Display showed us that we really have talent in that department — something new this year being the drafting. The Gymnastics Display was well worth watching. It showed that these people had put a great deal of time and effort into preparation. To end the evening our Grade VIII auctioneer, Lorne Templeton, conducted an auction of some of the boy's wood-working projects and the girls' cooking.

Friday, a sleepy Grade XI accompanied by our Principal, Mr. Murray, left at 6.30 a.m. for Ottawa. Our Member of Parliament, Mr. Ian Watson, a former graduate of this school, organized this trip, which included a tour of the Parliament Buildings, lunch in the Parliamentary Dining Room, a half-hour in the Visitor's Gallery of the House of Commons and a visit to Mr. Ian Watson's office where a colleague of Mr. Watson from Prince Edward Island spoke to the group. After this the girls visited the National Galleries and the National Museum, while the boys travelled to the National Air Museum and the Experimental Farm. We really had a wonderful trip thanks to Mr. Watson and Mr. Murray.

60th Wedding Anniversary Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hebert of Hemmingford at their Diamond Anniversary.

In Hemmingford, on May 2, still play a merry tune.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hebert celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary. At St. Romain's Church at 5 p.m. Mass was celebrated by Canon L. Corriveau and then followed a family reunion at the Frontier Inn, which was attended by 165 guests, including family and friends. At the head table as guests of honour with Mr. and Mrs. Hebert were Canon Corriveau and Mayor and Mrs. Walter Smith. Enjoying the delicious turkey supper with their parents were twelve of the thirteen children born to Mr. and Mrs. Hebert. There was Lea, Mrs. Henry Pellerin and Priscilla, Mrs. Raymond Pellerin, both of Plattsburgh; Annette, Mrs. Jean Rouillier, St. Jean; Isabelle, Mrs. Hermas Rouleau of Melocheville; Anita, Mrs. Leo Boileau of Montreal; Jeanne d'Arc, Mrs. Rene Robidoux of Maniwaki, and Eugene, Hemmingford; Trefflé, Chambly, and Martial, Ludger and Hubert, all of Ville de Brossard; and Marc from Plattsburgh. One son, Michel, age 24 was killed in an accident a few years ago.

After supper came presentations, a beautiful bouquet of red roses for Mrs. Hebert, and the speeches. Then the tables were cleared and an orchestra played for those who wanted to dance. Songs were sung and Mr. Hebert, who, in his younger days was a great fiddler and played for many square dances, was persuaded to take the violin and play a tune and he can

Mr. Hebert, who is 80 years of age, was born on Robson Street (Covey Hill) on the farm opposite that of the late Percy Barr, but his father, Charlie Hebert, bought a farm up Covey Hill (next door west of Aaron Churchill) when Albert was two and there he lived for a considerable time. He is the brother of the late Gus Hebert (also a well-known resident of Covey Hill) and has many an interesting story to tell of the old days on the Hill. Perhaps of interest to the younger generation might be the fact that the going rate of pay for a full day's work on the farm, in those days, was 50c a day. Mrs. Hebert, who was born Eugenie Perras, also has many an interesting tale to tell. She worked for several years for William Robson, (one of the earliest settlers who gave his name to this road) on the farm where Mr. and Mrs. Walter Barr now live. The pay in those days was $1 per week!

Mr. and Mrs. Hebert were married in St. Roman's Church on January 24th, 1905, by Father Goyette (the celebration was held in May to avoid the bad weather) and in addition to their twelve children they have 62 grandchildren and 47 great grandchildren.

When I visited Mr. and Mrs. Hebert recently I saw the photograph taken at the time of their golden anniversary, surrounded by their thirteen children. It makes a most impressive picture. Happy anniversary Mr. and Mrs. Hebert and may we be privileged to celebrate many more such happy anniversaries with you.

Twelve years after the taking and storage of the said semen a purebred Jersey calf was born at the O.A.C. Farm of the University of Guelph, Ont. The calf is reported to be normal in every respect despite the fact that the semen which was used to inseminate his dam was stored under ultra low temperature refrigeration since 1953.

Farming today, a Massey-Ferguson publication, says: "This is believed to be the first report of the successful use of frozen semen stored for such a long period of time. The importance of this development is the fact that it is now possible to maintain semen samples collected from bulls in their best years of production to store for use after they have been proven genetically desirable without loss of fertilizing capacity".

Machine-Made Milk

Believe it or not, but "British Farming" reports that trial marketings have been carried out by Plantmilk Ltd., and equipment is now ready for a starting output of 100 gallons per week. The milk is being manufactured under a process developed in 1965. So far most of the raw materials for Plantmilk — the name for machine made milk — have been the waste from a vegetable processing plant. It is now being made mainly from cabbage leaves and turnip tops but weeds may also be used. Commercial assessment so far is that the cow wins out on costs!

Who knows how soon Plantmilk may become a competitor to the natural cows milk, even although it may be made from vegetable juices and weeds. Oleomargarine was originally condemned by milk producers as being the product of animal fats, whaleoil and, of course, vegetable oils. But! Oleo has long been a keen competitor of natural butter, is even largely used by farmers in general, in fact by a large number of milk producers.

New Secretary

Congratulations to E. H. "Ab") Stoltz on his elevation to the Executive Secretaryship of Canadian Shorthorn Association. Prior to his recent promotion Ab. Stoltz had been successively Fieldman and Editor of Shorthorn news for several years. Prior to his joining the Shorthorn Associations staff he had been a very popular Livestock Editor of The Farmer Magazine, during which time he also had to his credit a considerable part in the foundation of the now famous Louada Shorthorn herd.

End of Glen Brae

P.S. we have just learned that the Glen Brae Holstein herd of G. M. Henderson, Howick, Que., comprising 119 head, was sold for a total of $55,890 or a general average of $469. A breakdown in that respect indicates that 9 bulls averaged $655; 62 milking females, $477; 19 bred heifers, $527; 13 open heifers, $417 and 16 heifer calves, $226.

Nine head brought at least $1,000, including $2,900 for Vinedale Fond Aster, Ex and a former champion; $1,600 for Hermelo Stylemaster Patsy, Ex, and her daughter which also sold over the four figure mark; $1,450 for a bred heifer by Rosafe Soverign and $1,100 for the yearling herd sire Codiac Posch Perseus Altogether 61 head were sold for export largely to Italy, while a P.E.I. breeder got 13 head. The report doesn't indicate whether any of these animals came back to Quebec — the sale having been held in the Hays Arena at Oakville, Ont. — and so it is that, deplorably so, the Huntingdon-Howick Holstein Club has lost entirely one of its largest member herds, and the district 110 head of high class breeding cattle. There are of course, frequently just as large shipments out of the area but these animals have been from herds that were carrying on.

Glenelm

GLENELM — S. Sgt. James T. Lunan, wife and 3 sons of Salina, Kansas, spent 10 days with his mother Mrs. Mildred Lunan of Trout River. They left June 1st., for their new home in Merced, Calif., where he will be stationed at Castle A.F.B. on May 23rd., A family reunion of seventy-three relatives from Montreal, Que.; Lancaster and Brockville, Ont.; Southington, Conn.; Saranac Lake, Bloomingdale, Fort Covington and Constable, N.Y. was held.

Roxham

ROXHAM — Mr. Warren Fewster accompanied Rev. G. F. Ficks of Hemmingford to a four-day conference at the Bishop's University, Lennoxville.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Akester, spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Akester at their cottage at Noyan.

Maple Leaf Grange

The Grange held its regular meeting on Tuesday night, June 1st., with Worthy Master Rupert Hawley presiding.

Sis Shearer, reporting for S. and H., gave note that the Baking Contest would be judged at Pomona level on June 3rd., at Malone Grange Hall, and all goods for the needlework contest must be in her hands by the first meeting in July.

Our Neighbour Night meeting in Brushton which was to have been held June 7th., was postponed one week, so it was decided we cancel our next regular meeting on June 15th., as it was hoped the members would make an effort to go to Brushton on June 14th.

Get well wishes go out to Bros. Earl McNicol and Grant Whyte.

Best wishes from M.L.G. go to Sis Sylvia Thomas on her approaching marriage.

Our Worthy Lecturer made mention of the approaching Huntingdon Fair and a committee was appointed for any business that might arise before our next meeting.

For the programme Bro. Cecil O'Connor gave an interesting resumé of the recent trip that he, Lydia and little son had enjoyed to Holland to visit relatives. A social hour was enjoyed.

Church News

STE. AGNES — Mr. Lloyd B. Martin was among the eleven candidates ordained by the United Church of Canada at services in Sherbrooke's Trinity Church on Wednesday evening, June 2nd.

Ministers taking part in Mr. Martin's ordination were the Rev. Fred Wilkes, minister of Livingstone United, his home church and the Rev. De Witt Scott, a life-long friend.

Mrs. Martin, also Mr. Martin's parents and aunt from Cowansville, were among those present at Ordination.

On Sunday, June 6th, the Rev. Mr. Martin was guest speaker in his home church, Livingstone United in Park Extension and also at Crystal Springs United his former charge in North end Montreal. The Sacrament of Communion was administered in both churches.

Zion United welcomed Mr. Graham Le Brun on Sunday morning. Mr. Le Brun is an active layman from Crystal Springs United and impressed the congregation with the sincerity of his message.

This Friday night, June 11th, a Preparatory Service will be held in Zion United with the Sacrament of Communion being administered by the Rev. Mr. Martin on Sunday morning, June 13th. Two new members will be received into the fellowship of the Church.

The following Sunday morning, June 20th., will be set aside for the baptism of young children.

Rev. and Mrs. Martin, Heather and Carol plan to leave Dundee on June 27th for Midale, Saskatchewan, a four-point charge some 1737 miles from Montreal, twenty-five miles north of Estevan and approximately forty miles from the North Dakota border.

The Martin's plan to assume their duties in their new charge on Sunday, July 4th., and to plan holidays during the month of August.

Personals

Mr. Gordon Elder accompanied Messrs Lisle, Edward and Doug. Watterson and Clarence Platt to Kemptville, Ont., on June 6th., where they attended an Eastern Breeders Field Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Campbell and family of Hemmingford, Mr. W. C. McPherson of Montreal, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Keith McPherson and family.

Mrs. Clarence Platt, Mrs. Lester Fraser, Mrs. Donald Fraser and Mrs. Vernon Elder enjoyed afternoon tea with Mrs. Elizabeth Fleming on Thursday.

Mrs. George Sutton and Wendy motored to Lacolle last Sunday and visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Cookman.

Mr. Cookman is recuperating quite favourably from his recent illness.

New Erin

The Late Mrs. J. I. McWilliams

The late Mrs. J. I. McWilliams passed away on Wednesday, May 26th., in her 65th year, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Elsden, in Pointe Claire.

She was born on May 20th, 1899, the eldest daughter of the late Matthew Rankin and Emmeline Reid, and attended Huntingdon Academy, and trained in the Alice Hyde Hospital in Malone, N.Y. She was united in marriage to the late J. I. (Dick) McWilliams on January 7th, 1925.

The late Mrs. McWilliams leaves to mourn her loss a daughter, Mrs. John Elsden (Margaret) of Pointe Claire, two granddaughters, Susan and Cathy, one sister, Effie of New Erin, two brothers, Earle of New Erin, and Lloyd of Shawinigan.

The funeral was held at St. John's Anglican Church, Huntingdon on May 29, with the Rev. P. R. Stote officiating at the service. Favorite hymns of the deceased were sung," Unto the Hills Around" and "Breathe on Me O Breath of God", led by the church choir. Burial was in Huntingdon Protestant Cemetery.

Pallbearers were: — Bennie Douglass, Lyall Sparrow, Clarence Ruddock, David and Arthur Rankin and Howard McLean.

The late Mrs. McWilliams had made her home with her brother and sister, Mr. Earle and Miss Effie Rankin, for the past four years. She was predeceased by her husband in December 1958, and by her daughter Joyce and husband (Mr. and Mrs. David Bush of Ottawa, Ont.) and granddaughter Leslie, who were killed in a tragic car accident in January 1962.

The many beautiful floral tributes testified to the high esteem in which she was held by all who knew her, and her friends will miss her cheerful happy disposition.

Out-of-town relatives and friends attended the funeral from Toronto, Shawinigan, Pointe Claire, Chateaugay, N.Y., Massena, N.Y.

-o-

Happy birthday to Mrs. Margaret Cameron on Saturday, June 12th.

Mrs. E. McCormick of Woodsley, Ont., is enjoying a visit with Mr. Earle and Miss Effie Rankin. They all spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. John Elsden and family in Pointe Claire.

Rockburn

ROCKBURN — Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Merritt of Pulaski, N.Y., were recent week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Maither and while here called on other friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rosevear of Montreal spent the week-end at their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Reeves and family spent the week-end at their summer home in Rockburn.

Rev. A. E. Hagar of Dundee was a Friday afternoon and supper guest at the home of Mrs. E. Rosevear, and Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Rosevear.

Mr. R. J. Blair returned to his home Saturday afternoon, after being a patient at the Barrie Memorial Hospital, Ormstown for the past ten days.

Mrs. Ellis Wilson, who has been a patient the past two weeks following surgery in the Barrie Memorial Hospital, Ormstown, was able to return to her home in Brooklet Saturday last. Best wishes Mrs. Wilson for a complete and speedy recovery.

This community was shocked and saddened in learning of the sudden death on Sunday evening, June 6 of Mr. Joseph Sloan, husband of Pearl Goldie. He had been in his usual good health, and as Sunday was Mr. and Mrs. Sloan's 48th wedding anniversary, several members of the family came to help them celebrate the event. Soon after the relatives left, Mr. Sloan suffered a heart attack and passed away quietly at 7 p.m. He leaves to mourn his loss, his widow, five sons, namely, Clark, of Cornwall, Ont., Jack of Ottawa, Nelson of Cornwall, Ont., Walter of the British Isle, and Malcolm at home. Also four daughters: Alice (Mrs. Don Brown), Cornwall, Margaret (Mrs. Harold Percy) Oakville, Ont., Eleanor (Mrs. William Tannahill) Huntingdon, and Miss Marion Sloan of Montreal, to whom the sympathy of this community is extended. The body is resting at the J. M. Sharpe Funeral Home until the service at 2.00 p.m. there and 2.30 p.m. at Rockburn Presbyterian Church, on Wednesday. Burial at Hillside Cemetery.

LACOLLE

LACOLLE — The Misses Jean Van Vliet, Mary Van Vliet, Dixie Ferguson and Mrs. Wilson Grant left Dorval Airport by jet plane on June 3rd, for Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack MacGeorge are visiting relatives in Scotland, having left here May 29th.

The U.C.W. held the last meeting for the season on June 2nd., at the Elmer Robinson summer cottage. Twenty-two ladies were present, Mrs. Lathe and Miss Alberta Lathe furnished refreshments. The meetings will be resumed in September.

Mr. Wilson Grant is visiting relatives in Toronto.

Mrs. Emile Landry had the misfortune to fall and break her hip. She is presently a patient in St. Johns Hospital.

Mrs. Arthur Jones is recovering from a slight heart attack. She was hospitalized at the Barrie Memorial Hospital for a few days.

Mrs. Merle Patterson has returned from Ormstown Hospital much improved in health.

Week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith were Mrs. Mae Banks and Patricia. Mr. Donald Warnock was a Sunday guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan McMillan of Huntingdon and Mr. Charles Wilson of Glenelm, were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McClenaghan.

A speedy recovery to Mrs. Arthur Jones of Cantic who has just returned from the Barrie Memorial Hospital.

The Majorettes and Ambassadors of Lacolle took part in the Gala Musical held at Bedford on Sunday, June 6th.

The boys' band from Lacolle (Ambassadors) took first prize. The girls band (Majorettes) were given a trophy for their fine showing. They could not compete in the show because this was their year to sponsor the affair.

Miss Lucille Lavallée tied for first place as Queen of the Musical, with a girl from Bedford, so both will receive equal recognition.

A large crowd filled the Bedford Arena.

HUNTINGDON HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

(By Carolyn Brooks)

Yikes! Have you checked yet? The June exams are only days away. How time flies! Part of the student body will soon be out of school (Lucky!) We less fortunate who are writing provincial exams will not be finished until the twenty-fifth of June while those up to and including grade nine will be finished on the eighteenth.

This is the last week for most of the sports activities. Softball and the various track competitions are being finished before the total score is being compiled for the trophy to be given to the leading house on Friday. Also at this time the best two sportsmen, a boy and a girl will each receive an award.

I would also like to remind grade ten and eleven students that they are allowed to stay at home all day Monday and Tuesday morning, provided they bring a note of permission from their parents.

Ladies' Aid Meets

ATHELSTAN — The Ladies' Aid was entertained by Mrs. D. F. Grant in the church schoolroom on Thursday afternoon, June 3rd. Mrs. Hampson conducted the meeting which opened with a hymn, and devotions by Mrs. Bernhardt, her theme being "Prayer". Thirteen members and some guests were present.

A letter had been received from Mrs. Arnold Milne with a gift of money from the neighbours and friends on Fairview Road, Huntingdon, in memory of the late Mrs. Perkins, to the Ladies' Aid. The ladies felt that they would use it for a suitable remembrance in the church and a committee was appointed to look into the matter.

It was decided to try and get someone to clean up around Munro Hall and the Ladies' Aid would meet the bill for same. Mrs. Tully asked for volunteers to sew at the Hospital on June 30th. Mrs. Bernhardt, Mrs. Jamieson, Mrs. Barwick and Mrs. Hampson volunteered. Mrs. Carrie French offered to entertain the July meeting in the church schoolroom. The Ladies quilted during the afternoon.

The Lord's Prayer in unison closed the meeting and refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. French.

C.O.C. Meets

The C.O.C. met in the church schoolroom on Saturday afternoon for their first meeting of the season.

Mrs. Cunningham conducted the worship service and taught the children the hymn "God is the Loving Father". Mrs. French told the story of a Dutch boy who came to live in our country. The children then played a game, and did handwork in keeping with the lesson.

Visitors

Mrs. Margaret Roy motored to Hemmingford on Sunday and spent the day with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chambers.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Hamilton visited in Sherbrooke at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Riel.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Caldwell and boys Billy, Brian and Brett of Brockville, spent the week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hutchings.

Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Green are enjoying a trip to the west coast. They are accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Beck of Cote St. Luc, and are expected home this Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Bouthillier motored to St. Jovite with Mr. and Mrs. Sylvain and while there visited at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bouthillier. Sunday evening visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bouthillier were Mr. and Mrs. Romeo Lamieux and Mr. Joseph Bouthillier of Beauharnois.

Weather

The weather up to the last few days has not been anything to crow about, but the present warm spell is most welcome. But how about a few days of rain? What a blessing that would be — especially to those with dried up wells which are their only source of water supply. The source in most cases has dried up. it will take quite a few good rains to replace it. Bearing the above in mind too much caution cannot be exercised in respect to fires for everything is now tinder dry and a fire in any closely populated area could be disastrous.

Hemmingford

(By Mrs. Fergus Moore)

HEMMINGFORD — Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Edwards of London, Ont., are visiting at the home of Mrs. A. L. Stewart and Miss W. Stewart.

Mrs. Donald Elvidge and Donna Leigh of Montreal spent last week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James McAllister.

Mr. Donald Elvidge was a week-end guest at the same home.

Mrs. M. P. Harvey of Huntingdon, is visiting at the home of Mr. Fernie Beattie.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Barr of Montreal, Mrs. C. Blair and Miss Cora Blair of Franklin Centre, were Thursday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fergus Moore and family.

Tupper Ware Party

On Friday evening, Mrs. Wellington Potter was hostess at a Tupper Ware Party. Miss Hazel Henderson of Montreal was the demonstrator.

Mr. Robert Watt and Mrs. Willian Daughty of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Crisp and son Albert of Longueuil, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Brearfield of St. Lambert were week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Day, Covey Hill.

Welcome to Mr. George Watt who has returned to his home on "The Hill" for the summer months.

(By Mrs. W. J. McKay)

All good wishes to Ormstown Exhibition for a successful 1965, which I am sure they will have, for it seems to grow bigger and better every year. It's a chance to see some of the best horses, and cattle in the Dominion of Canada, to meet old friends, and just about everything an exhibition could offer. To say nothing about what part the ladies will play in the exhibits. The main topic and question here is when, or what day or night are you going to Ormstown? So just let us hope the weatherman will deal kindly with Ormstown.

The Rev. Gordon Ficko officiated at the interment of the ashes, of the late Sydney Cunningham, of Montreal, on Saturday, May 5th., at 3 P.M. a one time resident of this place. They were accompanied out by Mrs. Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cunningham and daughter and Miss Hazel Cunnningham. A few of their old Hemmingford friends assembled at the cemetery when they arrived. Before leaving for Montreal Mrs. Alister Somerville, invited the Cunningham family to her home.

Miss Peggy Springle, Montreal, visited her cousin Miss Emma Springle, over the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russel Williams.

Messrs. Hughie McAdam, Aylmer Hadley, William John Brown, and Allen Fisher, attended the Easter Breeders Open Barn Meeting, at Kemptville, Ontario, on Sunday, June 6th.

Miss Lynn Thompson of Verdun and friend Miss Lana Herman of Westmount were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Marlin.

Mrs. Russel Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Kennedy, and Miss Ethel Williams attended the Titus—Dugal wedding in Ottawa, on Saturday, June 5th., at 11:00 A.M., followed by a reception at the Motel de Ville in Ottawa for about 60 guests. The bride, Miss June Dugal is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dugal of Hemmingford. The bride and groom left on a wedding trip after the reception, travelling through, Maine, New Hampshire and other parts of the United States.

Deepest sympathy is extended to Mrs. Albert Hebert and family in the loss of a husband, and Father, Mr. Hebert passed away suddenly Thursday evening, funeral, Monday at 10:00 A.M. Service at the Roman Catholic Church.

Huntingdon U.C.W. Meetings

Unit 6

On Tuesday, June 1st., Unit 6 of the United Church Women met at the home of Mrs. Katherine Prakke for their regular meeting, under the leadership of Mrs. Nina McClatchie.

After a short devotional period the members had an informative discussion on comparative religions. A group of three consisting of Mrs. Shirley Scott, Mrs. Pearl Kyle and Mrs. E. Watson presented a comprehensive study of the beliefs and customs of Judaism. Miss A. MacIntosh gave a discourse on Christianity and Mrs. Lowenberger played a convincing role as an agnostic.

Items for the bale were received, ready for packing the following day. Arrangements also were made for a group of ladies to help with sewing at the hospital, the following week.

It was announced that Mr. D. B. Macfarlane will present a showing of his films on the Easter Island Expedition in August. Mr. Macfarlane is a brother of Mrs. Nina McClatchie and we know that many people are looking forward to seeing these films.

Mrs. Ralph Watson

Unit 7

Unit 7 met on Wednesday evening, June 2nd., at the home of Mrs. Arnold Milne, with 6 members and 5 guests present.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Milne opening with a prayer and scripture being read by Mrs. James Robson. Mrs. Tom Quinnell, programme convener, took another chapter from "The Word and the Way", which was food for thought, it being entitled, "Salvation — Are You Saved?"

A short business meeting followed. A report was given on the Youth Rally held in Valleyfield in May. It was decided that all members study and learn the Purpose of the U.C.W. The general meeting to be held in June will be a friendship meeting each member bringing a guest from another church. Plans were not finalized for the picnic to be held in July.

The guest speaker for the evening was Mrs. Jessie Ryser who was introduced by Mrs. W. J. McCracken. Since her retirement Mrs. Ryser has travelled extensively and she spoke on her stay in Los Angeles, California last winter, mentioning the late Aime Semple MacPherson and showing pictures of her and the enormous church which she built from funds received from the people. Her son is now pastor of that church. Mrs. Ryser also showed slides of many interesting places, where she stayed and of the different people she had met. Mrs. Donald MacGregor thanked the speaker for her interesting commentary and slides.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. C. Moore, Mrs. R. Moore and Mrs. T. Quinnell.

Mrs. C. Moore

Unit 8

Unit 8 of the U.C.W. met at the home of Mrs. D. L. Brown, on June 2nd., with 10 members and 2 visitors attending. Mrs. P. Hamilton opened the meeting with prayer with Mrs. O. Watson reading Scripture from Luke 7, followed by a meditation. A number of items of business were attended to Mrs. R. Crawford conducted a skit on Stewardship and Recruiting, Mrs. Eric Salter and Mrs. Wm. Brown taking part.

Mrs. Brown served refreshments and a special birthday cake was presented to Mrs. D. C. Elder. All joined in singing Happy Birthday and a social hour was enjoyed.

Mrs. J. E. Wilson

GRADUATE NURSE

Franklin Centre

Dunn Cemetery meeting

FRANKLIN CENTRE — The annual meeting of the Dunn Cemetery was held in the Church Hall on Tuesday evening, June 1 with a fair attendance. Mr. Clarence Dunn, chairman, called the meeting to order. The minutes of the last annual meeting were read and approved. The Sec.-Treas. read the financial report.

Arrangements have been made to have a permanent map of the cemetery drawn up. The secretary notified those present of the purchase of a long term bond and of the receipt of an additional bond. Mr. Jerry Dunn announced that there was nothing further to report about the incorporation of the cemetery. It was decided to repaint the fence posts, gate and sign. The trustees and officers were re-elected for another year. The question of cars driving across the cemetery was raised and it was agreed this should not be allowed. The meeting then adjourned.

Fashion Show

The Fashion Show sponsored by the sewing and knitting classes of girls; Grades 8 and 9 of the Franklin Intermediate School, was held in the school auditorium on Friday evening, June 4. 34 different items were displayed with the girls doing the modelling.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Jackson, acting the part of prospective buyers for an outfit for their 18-year-old daughter who was going to college, entered the campus shop. Mrs. James Manning, commentator explained the different items displayed and modelled by the 14 girls. There were shift dresses, party dresses, beach outfits, cardigans and mohair pullovers.

At intermission 230 bags of home made candy were sold which raised approximately $23. This will be spent by Grades 8 and 9 on a trip to Belmont Park in the near future. The silver collection will be used for the same purpose.

Personals

Rev. Mr. Patterson from Ottawa was the guest speaker in the church of the Nazarene on Sunday.

Mrs. Tucker left on Friday for Lake Placid to spend the week-end with her daughter, Mrs. Durken and family.

Chateauguay's Church Leaders Comment On Anglican–United Union Proposals

By Fergus Horsburgh

In the light of the joint Anglican - United Church statement on the Principals of Union between the two Churches, the Chateauguay Gleaner has asked Church leaders in Chateauguay for their comments. It is surely encouraging, though not surprising, that most Chateauguay Ministers, despite the superficial differences between their respective branches of the Church unite in hailing the Toronto Declaration as a landmark in the re-unification of the Christian Church.

The Rev. Howard Fraser, St. Andrew's United Church and the Rev. F. Gavin Barnett, the Parish Church of St. George, Anglican, last weekend issued the following joint statement to the Chateauguay Gleaner re the document "The Principles of Union between The Anglican Church of Canada and the United Church of Canada.

"The document, The Principles of Union between The Anglican Church of Canada and The United Church of Canada, is another landmark in the difficult journey Christians of the 20th Century are being called by God to make — the journey to come to know God more fully and to discover His Way for our Age.

This modern "seeking" has been characterized by many movements in the last half-century, not the least of which have been those concerned with the re-union of the Christian Church.

We view the recent agreement 'On Principles,' after twenty-two years of negotiations between our churches, as an indication of the activity of God in our time. We must stress, of course, that our churches are far from a definite Plan of Re-union. We need to recognize that the Joint Document, made public last week, is an agreement on principles only.

Much more study will have to be given to the working out of details before a concrete Plan can be formulated. In this regard, it is the hope of the Committees of Ten, the bodies responsible for these principles, that study and discussions will be carried on by local and regional groups, and that the will of the people will be made known to the offices of General Synod and General Council.

We hope that as the members of our churches across the country respond to this basic document, fresh impetus will be given toward further growth in understanding, not only among ourselves, but between Christians of all churches."

Churches other than those directly concerned with the Toronto Declaration added their comments. Reverend Donald S. Douglas, B.A., of Calvary Baptist issued the following statement:—

"I am very thankful that I do not have to subscribe to a vast union of churches involving millions of people. Two committees of ten are at present speaking for over six millions.

True enough, the parishes are going to have to study the bases for union but if I know the modern attitude aright on these matters, it is only a handful who will be bothered comparing the doctrinal issues. They will leave that to the clergy and it is hard to discern yet whether their quest for security, authority, and uniformity takes precedence over the exaltation of the Bible's Christ, who with all His love, truth selfessness, and devotion to His immediate disciples, found Himself alone at Calvary.

I lived through one church union as a little chap and vaguely remember a lot of bitterness which took a generation to live down. Then as a student minister I discovered that a lot of sound beliefs went to "the wall" during that movement. Asking the resultant church member what he believed about the deity of Christ, eternal life, heaven, the plenary inspiration of Scripture, usually brought a vague answer with some comment to the effect that these things didn't matter as long as there is one church.

This union will cater to the clergy's fondness for priestly function. It will also relieve the member of the bother of thinking and praying through to a knowledge of God. The Bible will become more and more secondary to and subject to the clerical voice.

My preference as a Baptist pastor is for the New Testament Church whose only responsibility was to Christ and exhibited itself to the world as many congregatons of believers, each with its own bishops and deacons. It's outreach was by the itinerant evangelist and its neighbour to neighbour witness. God maintained a pure and powerful witness that way during the years of the church's greatest advance."

Maplewood Presbyterian Church's Rev. John F. Allan, B.A., B.D, said "We watch with great interest the proposed merging of the Anglican and United Churches and we certainly pray that our brethren will be led by the Spirit of God in all their deliberations. When one branch of the Christian Church is strengthened, the whole Church becomes stronger, and when one is weakened, all becomes weaker. So we will follow with careful and prayerful concern the action of our Anglican and United Church friends."

Thank you, Rev. Allan, for this helpful message.

The following is Mr. D. Dunn's statement as requested by you and as dictated to me over the telephone, in relation to "Anglican - United" Churches:—

"I feel that this proposal is not likely to cause a great deal of flurry in the laicty; most of whom are not at all sure as to why there is a division in the first place. A common reaction is 'Well it's about time the churches got together,' and indeed so it is.

As to my own thoughts: Insofar as the church is the body of Christ, a body wounded and sorely afflicted by division, I see this is a great step toward the healing of the Wounds."

Mr. Dunn is lay supply Minister of Chateauguay Center United Church and Caughnawaga United Church.

"Miss Chateauguay" Restaurant Opens

(By Fergus Horsburgh)

The newest meeting place for the youth of Chateauguay got off to a fine start last Saturday as the "Miss Chateauguay" Restaurant at 212 St. Jean Baptiste, officially opened its doors.

A charming "Miss Chateauguay", alias 8 year old Susie Cockburn of Chateauguay, presided at opening ceremonies on Saturday evening, ably assisted by the attractive hostess Miss Anita Roy, formerly of Lachine.

"Peter", the genial proprietor, told me on Sunday afternoon that he was very pleased with the first week-end's rush of customers. "Please convey my sincere thanks to my clientele", said Peter. "We hope they will come back again and again, and we will try to meet their requests. This is a new restaurant, and we are looking for new ideas. We have the facilities to provide full meals, and we may even go into the home delivery business some day."

Mr. Rossini Laberge, Hotel Inspector of the Department of Tourism congratulated Peter on the high standards of efficiency, cleanliness and hygiene in the restaurant, particularly in the kitchen, presided over by Peter's old French Chef Jean.

Chato '67 Featured On U.S. Radio

(By Fergus Horsburgh)

CHATO '67's exhibition on Canada's 1967 World Fair was featured last week on the U.S. Radio network. News of the broadcast on Station WICY in Malone, N.Y., came from Mr. Adrian H. Wood, Vice-Principal and Grade Supervisor of Chateauguay Central School, N.Y. Mr. Wood was greatly impressed with CHATO 67's plans and said he was sure lasting benefits would accrue to Chateaugay, N.Y., and Chateauguay, P.Q.

Mayor Richard Sutterlin was advised last Wednesday by Mr. Paul D. Break, Deputy Director, Advertising and Promotion, that "Chateauguay Centre is the first community (excepting the City of Montreal) officially to support EXPO 67", and went on to assure the Mayor of the "fullest support by the Corporation of this most important promotion and in particular of its opening ceremonies".

"We are looking forward wih a great deal of enthusiasm to the opening on July 2nd.", said Mayor Francis Ryan of Chateaugay, N.Y., last Saturday in conversation with Tom McDade, Chairman of the Chato '67 Committee. Mr. John Calnon, Board of Supervisors for the Township of Chateaugay, N.Y., added, "'Chateaugay is greatly interested in the Chato '67 project".

New School Officially Opened

By Russ Faughnan

St. Paul's English Catholic school was blessed last Thursday amid unaccustomed expressions of praise for all concerned.

Bishop Caza did the official honours while Father Frederick Belanger, pastor of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church and his two assistants Fathers Cullin and Terrence were in attendance. While giving God's blessing to this new house of learning Bishop Caza presented a crucifix to children selected from each of the twenty classes, for classroom use.

Students and parents packed two large halls as hundreds turned out for the dedication ceremonies. Most had high praise for this end result of years of pressure and hope, failure and near success.

Principal of St. Paul's Mrs. J. G. D'anjou was extremely pleased with the large turnout and with the school itself. She told us that she was very grateful to the school Commission for their handling of school problems. It is apparent that every attempt has been made to provide proper facilities. School officials had a considerable say in the selection of furniture and equipment. Even a new projector, automatic type, has been purchased. (And that should prompt a few memories).

One of the more outstanding achievements is the establishment of a well equipped gym. Physical education is now part of the curiculum for ALL GRADES, under the supervising of Mrs. Dryden. They have even organized a field day less than a month after opening for business.

Of course the really pleasing aspect of St. Paul's is the

Amalgamation Bylaw Given Reading

(By Fergus Horsburgh)

On Monday, June 7th, at a joint meeting of the two Town Councils, the amalgamation By-law, to be voted on as two separate, identical By-laws by each town council, was read to all those present.

The Mayor, Mr. Joseph Laberge, and all the Aldermen of the town of Chateauguay were present; however only three members of the Centre Council were in attendance, although Alderman Reid arrived a little later.

There were some minor adjustments made to some By-Laws which would be charged "at large". Each town council will now vote separately on the Amalgamation By-law and it should not be too long before we know whether or not our councils are in favour of amalgamation.

Seigniory Park Home Owners Meet

By Fergus Horsburgh

Over 30 members of the Seigniory Park Home Owners Association attended the final general meeting of the Association year held at the Clubhouse last Thursday. They heard President Colin Mason report an impressive record of achievement in the preceding month.

Mr. Mason stated that a mailbox had been installed at Woodbine and Montmorency, that a Stop sign had been erected at Woodbine and Seigniory Drive, playground equipment re-installed in Woodbine Park, and that the Town was negotiating a 10-foot right of-way between Montcalm and St. Francis Boulevard.

C.A.A.A. Raise Future Astronauts

By Ron Lee

While listening, watching and reading about the successful Gemini IV space shot, with the same excitement and anxiety that must have been felt by billions of people the world over, I couldn't help but smile at the thought that perhaps I and a couple of hundred other Chateauguay Amateur Athletic Association people are helping to train our future Astronauts.

The item that brought this thought to mind was when the two American Astronauts took time out to hear the ball scores of the games that their sons took part in.

To me this was wonderful. Here we have two well educated, highly skilled men travelling in space from 102 to 182 miles above the earth at 17,500 m.p.h., with more work to do in 4 days than some of us do in 4 weeks, and yet they wanted to hear some ball scores.

If we look at this closely I'm sure there's a message there for all of us.

How many times have we come home from work and the children have called 'Daddy' twenty times but we've never heard them. All they wanted to say was that their team won or they lost or some other minute item of the moment, but we didn't hear them. Here we are with our feet firmly planted on the ground, sometimes our heads are in orbit, but we haven't a minute for our children, while out in space our Astronauts, Ed White and Jim McDivitt, took time to listen.

Having played in Amateur sports in their younger days, and fully realizing the value of such training, they not only showed an interest in their family but also slapped the back of every Coach and Manager associated with Sport.

The Gemini IV count down, launching, walk in space, experience gained in each orbit and the orders given and taken are not unlike the life of a child growing up in sports.

Children count the days to a practice and when the big day arrives they are finally launched into the world of sport. The walk in space is equal to the learning of the basic fundamental of the game and the experience gained in each orbit is the same as a child learning the game and timing requirements with each practice. The orders given by Space Control are the same as those given by a Coach or Manager.

There's little wonder when you read that the Coaches, Teachers, Scoutmasters and Parents of these men are feeling mighty proud, for all of them had a hand in the development of the men in space.

The American Space Program has taken years to plan and organize just like the organization of the C.A.A.A.

The present space shot closely resembles the C.A.A.A. because we have finally gotten our feet off the ground and sports in their proper orbit. Like our Astronaut friends, in order to remain in orbit a lot of help is required.

If you cannot help directly by being a Director or Coach, you could help on June 19th by supporting the C.A.A.A. Cookie Sale.

One other way you could learn about C.A.A.A. and sports is by listening to the children. Why not try it, the Astronauts did.

Chateauguay Centre United Church

Sunday, June 13th, is the 40th Anniversary of the United Church and there will be a special service in the Centre to celebrate this great date in the history of the Church.

On Sunday, June 20th, new members will be received into the fellowship of the Church. Also on the 20th, at 2:00 p.m. — Rev. John Patterson of St. Andrew's in Lachine will perform the sacrament of Holy Baptism. If your child has not been baptised, and you have not already made arrangements do get in touch with Mr. D. Dunn, immediately.

A special "Children's Service, designed to give thanks for the Church School year, and to provide spiritual guidance for the weeks ahead, will be held Sunday, June 27th, at 9:30 a.m. Everyone is urged to attend as a family.

Of course don't forget the picnic on the 26th, and if you do not have your tickets as yet, do get in touch with Mrs. Edwards at 691-0261. It is a congregational picnic, and there is no need to have children in the Sunday School.

The Summer Bible School will be held from 9:30 to noon, during the week of August 9th to 13th. Information is available from Mrs. Eleanor Robertson, 691-2296. If you can help and would like to, please call Mrs. Robertson or just come along to the Church Hall at 161 Parkview Blvd., any Wednesday morning at 10:30 a.m., where a workshop is held each week.

A First For Chateauguay With Expo '67

Chateauguay Centre is going to have a project that is unique, because it is the only one of its type authorized to date by Expo '67 anywhere in the world, according to an announcement made at a press conference last week at Chateau Gai Motel.

The project is planned for full community participation, for example, a 200 word essay contest for all school children on the subject "What can Chateauguay do to help Expo '67?" Also a contest open to all high school and college girls residing in Chateauguay, based on knowledge of Canadian affairs. This will be centered around a display featuring a scale model of the 1967 World Exhibition site.

The prizes will include, among others, flight bags of Scandinavian Airlines System which is the first airline to start publicizing Expo '67 all over the world through their overnight bags. The bag has the name of Scandinavian Airlines System on one side and Expo '67 and the expo insignia on the other. In our photograph, Mr. Thomas McDade, Chairman of the Chato '67 Committee, is seen handing an SAS flight bag on behalf of SAS to Mayor Richard Sutterlin (left) of Chateauguay Centre at the press conference.

The above mentioned exhibit will be opened on Friday, July 2, at 8 p.m. and run for two weeks in the Chateauguay Regional Shopping Plaza, located on Highway No. 3, in Chateauguay Centre.

Mr. John Pratt, Deputy Director — Producer of Entertainment for Expo '67, will officiate at the ribbon cutting ceremonies, along with Mayor Francis Ryan of Chateaugay, N.Y., and Mayor Richard Sutterlin of Chateauguay Centre, Que., Honorary Chairman of the Chato '67 Committee.

This is the first time the two towns with identically pronounced names have joined together, and the occasion is a happy one — saluting Canada's World Exhibition.

Anglican-United Union Proposals A Big Stride Towards Christian Unity

By Fergus Horsburgh

The rest of the Christian World will be watching Canada in the months and years ahead, following a joint Anglican-United Church statement issued in Toronto last week, looking toward a union between the Anglican Church of Canada and the United Church of Canada.

When Martin Luther in 1517 made his famous plea for reform within the Church, he set in motion a chain of events which in the first instance saw Christendom split between adherents to Rome and the Protestants. the next three centuries saw what at first appeared to be a clean break develop into a multiple fracture. The Church of England, precursor of Canada's Anglican Church, was founded in the reign of Elizabeth I, not as is popularly supposed under Henry VIII. Political, doctrinal and liturgical controversies led to the fragmentation of Protestantism. By the late nineteenth century, the Protestant world was split into countless denominations, each with its own credo. To our twentieth-century eyes, the differences which separated the various splinter groups seem very small, but in their time they saw nations even families split into bloody conflict.

Since the turn of this century, there has been a new awakening and a new awareness of the futility of narrow doctrinal and dogmatic differences, a new determination to concentrate on what unites Christians the world over, and a new willingness to place in proper perspective the points of disagreement.

1925 saw a significant landmark in the history of the coming re-unification of all Christians — the formation of the United Church of Canada from the former Congregationalists, Methodists and two thirds of the Presbyterian churches in Canada. Now, 40 years later, almost to the day, reunification in Canada is getting into high gear.

Throughout the centuries, the Anglican Church has remained closest to Rome in the formal technicalities of Christian worship. The rest of the Christian world, particularly the English-speaking part of it, may well see the present Canadian United-Anglican experiment as a key to the eventual re-unification of the Christian Church. If the rest of the Protestant Church in Canada can unite with the Anglican Church — and early comment from Church leaders outside the United Church indicates that this is a practical and exciting possibility —what then will remain between a much more united Canadian church and Rome? And between all of Protestantism and the rest of Christendom?

Chateauguay News Notes

By Fergus Horsburgh

Sympathy is extended to the family of Marcel Corbeil, 42, of Chateauguay, who drowned in Lake St. Louis last Saturday, when his boat overturned while fishing off Melocheville.

Did you know that the Hawaiian Flag has the Union Jack in it, and that Hawaiians are very proud of the British part of their heritage.

The old building on Salaberry Blvd. at the foot of St. Francis Blvd. is due for the wrecking crew. Bordering on Laberge Park, we have heard on various occasions from long-time residents of Chateauguay that this building was the first Protestant School in the area. At present in a very poor state of repair, although a sentimental spot for a number of people, it is a bit of an eyesore. Men and machines are doing work on the park, preparing it for the coming busy ball season.

Little League Baseball had their Grand Opening last Sunday, June 7th, with a parade of over twenty cars, through a route that took in practically "all" the Chateauguays. The first game started off with Mayor Joe Laberge as pitcher, Mayor Richard Sutterlin at bat, Gerard Laniel, M.P., as catcher, Mayor Jean Laberge, 3rd. base, Alderman Colpron at 2nd. and George Kennedy, M.P. on 1st. In the outfield more notables, one of which was Chief Gervais of the Town of Chateauguay. The Parade was escorted by Police of both the Town and the Centre.

Although a very high record of fatal accidents the past week-end on Quebec highways, both Town and Centre Police report a very quiet time in this area. Mostly routine matters

On the STOP sign — your vehicle must come to a complete stop — with the wheels stationery — otherwise you may receive a very stiff fine. So watch it! you may be next!

At a Council meeting held last week — a contract was granted by the Town of Chateauguay to Marcel Reid for the enlarging of the pumping station at Lake St. Louis. Does this mean our water pressure will be better?

The 1965 Census for the Town will be done by a firm specializing in this work. The Quebec Census Service have trained personnel and have been hired to do the job.

Widening of Youville Blvd. going on apace, with cutting down of many trees along the river front. Some of the trees measure much, much more than the 144 inch measure the writer had at time of passing. This around the base of the tree trunks. Some of the trees have been toppled over into the river. Are these to be left there? Or are they to be used to build up the bank of the river? The road has to be built higher in places to avoid the possibility of flooding in Spring.

The licenses for dogs, bicycles and businesses in Chateauguay Centre are due MAY 1st. Those who have still not renewed these licenses will be prosecuted, according to the law. This is in the way of a 'gentle reminder' from the authorities of the Centre.

Another reminder from the Centre about the use of hoses. The By-law No. 429 states that watering (or use of hose) may be done only on even number days, from 1 to 5 p.m. and from 8 p.m. to 8 a.m. This notice is from Chief Spenard.

Nominations for School Commissioners for the Protestant School Municipality of Chateauguay closed at 2 p.m., Monday, June 7th. As there were no nominations, the seats were filled by acclamation. Seat No. 2 will be held by Eric J. Stafford, and Seat No. 3, by Thomas H. Allman.

One of our local supermarkets will be closed probably this week, due to a strike. The latest news is that Wednesday morning is the date set on for the strike. In the meantime there may be another offer from the Company involved, and that will lead to another meeting of the employees union, and a decision made whether to accept or walk out.

There was to be news from Chateauguay Center this week on the last week's Council meetings; however due to the absence of the source of info the writer was unable to obtain any news on items discussed. If there were no dead-line there might have been an opportunity.

STOP PRESS

Public information meeting on bringing Y.M.C.A. to Chateauguay has been set at Seigniory Park Country Club for 16 June at 8.30 p.m. Questions will be answered by Chairman Bill Russell and Leo Robitaille.

ST. ANDREW'S NOTES

(By Fergus Horsburgh)

Last Sunday was "the day of Pentecost", the Jewish people's Feast of Weeks, and the congregation heard Rev. Howard Fraser preach on the subject "Towards Reunion and Renewal." This was a particularly apt theme in view of the news release last week of the Joint Anglican — United Church Committee. The report from the joint committee was very encouraging in that it shows that significant progress is being made in the direction of a more embracing expression of Church unity here in Canada. While it needs to be ment is an agreement only on principles, and a great deal of study will have to be given to the working out of details before a definite plan of Union can be arrived at, and this study should involve every level of clergy and laity in both our denominations, we now have a working basis on which to build. May there be growth in understanding and an open and receptive spirit as we move forward in obedience to our Lord's prayer "that all may be one" — Ut omnes unum sint.

June 10th will mark the fortieth anniversary of the birthday of the United Church of Canada. In the Basis of Union prepared by the three uniting churches in 1925, the new United Church committed itself to a policy of promoting a spirit of unity between all Christians. The concluding words of the Joint Union Committee in 1925 were these: 'The present union, now consumated, is but another step toward the wider union of Evangelical Churches, not only in Canada, but throughout the world."

Next Sunday's service will see the Rev. Gordon Ficko, B.A., B.D., minister of the Hemmingford Pastoral charge, in the pulpit. Mr. Ficko and Mr. Fraser will be exchanging pulpits for the day.

Pre-Communion Service will be held next Sunday evening at 7.30 p.m. Rev. Roy Stafford, associate minister at Dominion Douglas Church in Westmount will be St. Andrew's guest at the Fellowship Hour following the Reception of members. Mr Stafford is no stranger to St. Andrews, and many will recall his outstanding sermon on the Dividing Walls, given as guest preacher at St. Andrew's some eighteen months ago. Mr. Stafford will show slides of his recent trip to the Caribbean, where he visited several areas where the United Church is engaged in overseas Mission work.

C.H.S. Reports

By Heidi Pemoller

Well, I'm sorry to say this is to be the last column until September. The school year is quickly coming to a close and instead of new activities the exams are taking over. I'd like to take this opportunity to wish everyone a great vacation and let's see everyone except grade eleven, back again next year.

I was able to obtain the official results of the Student Council elections which were held two weeks ago and they are as follows; vice-presidents elect — Doug. Campbell, 48 votes; Louise Allinson, 50; Nancy Ryan, 94; Iris Glenn, 172; presidents elect — Greg Fry, 53; Heidi Pemoller, 125, and Judy Horton, 180. As I said the turnout for this election was good and 87% of the eligible voters attended with only 3% spoiled ballots, which is better than any Federal or Provincial election.

The Red Cross elected their new president for next year — Marion Mitchell. The other elections are to be held next year, for the various clubs.

All clubs have had their last meeting and have adjourned till next term and are looking forward to bettering their club. Next year we'll have three hundred more students making a total of about eighhundred, so let's have more support in school activities. I'm not saying school spirit is lacking, but the more the better.

Again, good luck, students and teachers, and so long till September.

I haven't reported lately on the experiments I have been doing down in our basement —the growing of African Violets and other plants under fluorescent lights. Well, to put it mildly, it's a tremendous success! Some plants I've had for at least two years without ever a bloom, are all in flower. And the colors are all so different from any others I've seen! More are in bud—so I presume there will be more surprises in store for me. I find this hobby very rewarding and not too costly. Of course I haven't had an electric bill since I started—so I may be in for a surprise. I plan to send to one of the seed houses for African violet seeds and try them out.

A VERY HAPPY BIRTHDAY to our dear little friend Grant Robinson of McLeod Avenue, who will be five years old on June 11th. Grant will be on Magic Tom's T.V. program this week, and at time of writing we have yet to see this eventful few moments in his young life. The interviews are taped ahead of time for the Summer months, apparently, and in this way, the interviewee's can see themselves on the program.

We were very sorry to hear that Mrs. Nan Robinson of Fairmount St. had met with an accident. She is at present in Lachine General Hospital, and at last report doing well. Hope to see you back on your feet again in the very near future, Mrs. Robinson!

We have a visitor here on McLeod Avenue from England. She is Miss Kathleen Parker and is presently staying with her brother and sister-in-law Bill and Ada Parker of Dieppe Bldg. Vetville. Hope you enjoy your stay here in Chateauguay, and don't mind our giant-sized mosquitoes in this particular area, Miss Parker.

Another guest on McLeod Avenue is Miss Marguerite MacDougall of Ormstown. Marguerite is replacing one of the teachers at Maple School, just until the end of the school term. Just graduated from Macdonald College in Ste. Anne's, Marguerite was having a quiet vacation at home when called upon to 'fill in' at Maple School. Actually, she is to teach at Mary Gardner School in the Fall so she is able now to get a general idea of the people and the area, and so far she finds that she likes it around here. We are pleased to have her stay with us.

At this moment of writing the 'GEMINI' is about to make a splash landing somewhere in the South Atlantic, and I'm finding it difficult to listen to the radio and write at the same time. We live in an amazing time.

Maplewood Presbyterian Church News

At last Sunday morning's services Messrs. Gordon C. Carpenter and William M. Young were ordained to the Eldership of The Church and admitted as members of the Kirk Session of Maplewood Congregation.

Thursday evening, June 10th, at 8 p.m. the Preparatory Service and Reception of New Members will be held in the Church.

Sunday next, June 13th, the Sacrament of The Lord's Supper will be observed (D.V.) at both the 9.30 and 11.00 a.m. services.

The Sacrament of Baptism will be administered (D.V.) on Sunday, June 20th, and parents wishing to have their children baptized will meet with Mr. Allan next Sunday, (June 13th) at 2.30 p.m.

The Congregational Picnic will be on Saturday, June 12th at Mille Roches Park, Long Sault, Ontario. There will be NO buses. Cars are to leave the church at 9.00 a.m.

St. George's Anglican Church News

A report of the Parish Meeting held June 7th, in the Church Hall, will be made next week.

Thursday evening, June 10th at 6 p.m. there will be a celebration of Holy Eucharist, and these services will continue through to the end of August. An error in the issue of the CRUSADER for the month of June, lists the services as 8 a.m., and 9.30 a.m. 11.15 a.m. The 9.30 services starting on June 20th. will be changed to 9.15. Please note this on your calender—until further notice these services will commence at 9.15 a.m.

The Closing Session of the Church Schools will be held Sunday, June 13th, at the 11.15 a.m. service. There will be no classes in the Church Hall at either 9.30 or 11.15 a.m., due to the closing of the Church School and presentation of prizes. All of the children are requested to remain in the Church for the entire service.

The Men's Club Steak Bar-B-Q held last Saturday was very much enjoyed by all. It was quite a success. There will be another of the same on August 28th.

The Parish Picnic will take place on Saturday, June 12th, at Farran Park in Ontario. Children of the Church Schools were given notices to take home with them regarding the route to follow to reach the Picnic grounds. If transportation is needed, or if you are able to take one or more passengers, please notify one of the Church School Supervisors, (listed in Crusader) or telephone Mr. Clarry Harding, 692-0837. Plan to arrive at the Park around noon and ask the attendant for the area reserved for St. George's Church.

The Junior Choir had a little treat last Sat. at the Men's Club Bar-B-Q. After a feast of hot-dogs and soft drinks, they were given a very large and beautiful decorated cake to share among themselves. The cake donated by Mrs. Ruby Simms and decorated by Mr. Bill Simms was in the nature of Congratulations for their hard work in the recent Festival, in which they came first in their Class. One of the selections sung was "The Happy Wanderer", and this was inscribeed all in icing on the cake, and included some of the musical symbols and notes. It really was very artistically done and a pity to cut; however with the girls' sharp appetites, the knife had to sever the decorations, while the girls sang their song. From the Junior Choir, many thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Simms.

I almost forgot to tell all interested parties that the 'cold frame' in which I planted many flower seeds early in April, is a dismal failure. I imagine I've done something wrong, or else I'd better bone up on how to use one of these things, before next Spring arrives.

I am still waiting to hear from some or all Colonia residents of their birthdays, anniversaries and social news. Do call me.. I have a telephone that I can 'plug in' out at the back of the house, so that I can hear the bell, and incidentally not have to take off my muddy shoes when I come into the house.

Chateauguay's Church

Father Bélanger, of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church, offered the following comments when approached by The Gleaner:

Father Bélanger is of the opinion that this marks a trend begun by Pope John XXIII, whereby all Christian churches are working towards total union. Originally Christianity split up for political reasons, which are now non-existent. All churches should present an united front and be willing to sit down together to discuss dogma, liturgy, etc., but of course such things take a long time and it may well take 5 years or so for the 2 Protestant churches in question to come to full unity. All branches of the Christian church still have many unhealed wounds, from their former dealings with each other, which take a long time to heal. However, different denominations are now on speaking terms with each other, which is a great step forward, and as a good example of such exchanges, Father Bélanger points out that he was invited to attend both the leaving ceremonies for Rev. Buck of St. George's Anglican Church, and the induction of the new minister, Rev. Gavin Barnett. It is axiomatic that before any union can take place, the churches in question will each have to give up some things, and perhaps accept some practices to which they were not formerly accustomed. Father Bélanger's final comment was there is a commission already at work, set up by Pope John, whose aim is to provide a Bible which will be acceptable to both Roman Catholics and Protestants. The commission is composed of theologians of both faiths, as well as scientists, and language and translation experts versed in the ancient languages in which the Bible was originally written.

The Compost Heap

For enthusiastic gardeners this is the time of the year for planting, for pruning and for planning ahead. Perhaps the planning is just annual flowers for the summer; on the other hand, it can be long term planting of trees and evergreens. The real enthusiast does not forget the compost heap. Any living matter is carefully added to the pile week by week. Grass clippings leaves and the like all go to the ever growing pyramid Water and earth are added too. The heap is turned over and regarded with awe. One day, months ahead, a quick spading will uncover the richest humus any gardener could wish to add to his blessed plot. The cycle continues. The humus from the living matter is added once more to the living earth to beautify the plants and trees of nature, a parallel to our Christian life. A like, unselfish act — a generous gift to one in need — a visit to hospital — a prayer and a thought in bereavement — a misunderstanding resolved — all these not only beautify the lives of others; they work in an ever widening circle to beautify and enrich our own lives and increase our faith in the ultimate goodness of the very earth, of life itself. Perhaps, after all, it wasn't such a strange heading for a Church magazine?

Church School Closing

On June 13th, at 11:15 a.m., the children, teachers and parents will join in Mattins and mark the closing of classes for the summer months.

Special Guest Preacher

On June 27th, at both the 9:30 and 11:15 Services, we shall have as our visiting preacher, the Rev. Father K. F. Hassell, brother to Mrs. Hal Lampitt of 44 Provost Street. Father Hassell's ministry of 18 years has been spent in Barbados, W.I., where he is presently the Rector of the Church of St. John the Baptist in the parish of St. James.

Parish Picnic, Saturday, June 12th.

The Annual Parish Picnic is again this year to be held at Farran Park, Ontario, under the capable direction of Clarry Harding. This is a fun day for all — swimming, games, etc. There will be no busses, only private cars. Any parishioners with unfilled cars please request passengers. Mr. Harding, Mrs. Schofield, Mrs. Watson, or any of the Church School teachers will know of those who need transportation. Once again, Mrs. Barbara Fraser will be available in her capacity as nurse. We do not look for any mishaps, but it is good to know that Mrs. Fraser will be on hand. Regretfully, the Rev. G. Barnett and his family cannot come along to the picnic. They are committed to a previous engagement which was made before coming to Chateauguay.

The total distance to Farran Park is 76 miles from Chateauguay, via Valleyfield. The route is from St. George's Church to the beginning of Highway No. 401 (Lancaster). Drive on Highway No. 401 to INGLESIDE, drive 7/10th of a mile to Hwy. No. 2, turn right and drive 4/10th of a mile: FARRAN PARK is on the left. Remember, turn off Hwy. No. 401 at Ingleside. We shall look forward to seeing you there. Plan to arrive by noon; ask the attendant for St George's Church, Chateauguay area.

Choir Successes

Congratulations to our Senior and Junior Choirs, and to Mr. Peter Lewis, Organist and Choir Director. Each choir placed first in its class at the Chateauguay Valley Music Festival held in Ormstown on May 4th. The Senior gained 89 points and the Junior 85.

Synod Report

The 106th Synod of the Diocese of Montreal opened on Tuesday, April 27th. From Chateauguay, the Rev. F. Gavin Barnett attended, accompanied by delegates Messrs. F. Berry and F. Lunn.

An issue which has troubled Synod periodically for over twenty years has been closed. A motion has been passed admitting women as delegates to Synod.

Another innovating plan is the establishment of a Joint Board to include the DBRE, the DCSS, the DMC and the WA. The Joint Board will be made up of 12 members from each of the Boards and 6 WA members. The Rev. Barry Valentine has been appointed as General Chairman of the Joint Board for its first year. From Chateauguay, the Rev. Gavin Barnett and Mr. Fred Lunn will be Board Representatives.

Men's Group

This tireless band has completed more work to the Church grounds, including levelling and planting. The men wish to thank those who donated seeds and shrubs: Mrs. G. Airlie, Mrs. F. Lunn, Mrs. C. Schofield, Boy Scouts, Mr. F. Berry, Church School.

Congratulations

Congratulations to Michael Ian Bowman, Church School teacher, who received his Bachelor of Science Degree from McGill University on May 28th at the age of 19. Michael attended Montreal West High School and hopes to follow a career in Medicine. He returns to McGill in Sept.

Struck by Lightning

On Wednesday, May 26th, St. George's Church was struck by lightning. The damage occurred around 6 p.m. The steeple bore the brunt of the strike, but the Church roof, inside and out, has suffered a degree of damage although full details of what is involved are not immediately available. The fire started by the lightning was quickly extinguished by the Chateauguay Fire Department.

LETTER FROM

SEIGNIORY PARK

(by FERGUS HORSBURGH)

Route Boys:

ALLAN LUSSIER
373 St. Francis 691-0787
CHRIS DULLEGE
398 Montmorency 691-1683

Roland Gaudet of the Home Owners' Sports Association, has been working very closely with the Town Park Committee Chairman, Phil Bonneau, on the development and improvement of the Seigniory Park Sports Ground, between the transmission line and Maple Street. I understand that the ground has now been graded, and that new football goal-posts have been erected. Let's hope they have a better fate than the earlier posts which were the victims of vandalism. Let's not be too euphemistic about it — hooliganism in the correct word.

The stop-sign at Woodbine and Seigniory Drive has had a marked effect on traffic coming down from above the transmission line. A Home Owners member, exercising his democratic right at last Thursday's meeting, criticized this sign as being largely ineffective. Few if any households in Seigniory Park have a better grandstand view of this stop sign than the Horshburghs and I can assure the disgruntled member that it is the best device yet to appear on Woodbine for the safety of all our children. Granted it is not the final answer, but let us be thankful for at least a step in the right direction.

The grassing of the mall on St. Francis this past week was a welcome beautification to our Seigniory Park. Next on the list, perhaps, is the beautification of the supermarket front on to St. Francis???

Our soccer teams are not fairing too well so far this season. The boys appear to approach each game with a defeatist attitude and the game is 70% lost before the boys even take the field. Yet as far as the Pee Wee's are concerned the potential is there to challenge the best in Chateauguay so, we hope to find the missing link soon. One win may be all the tonic they need. One other big factor is the lack of parental support which makes all the difference in the world in the boys approach to a game especially when there are between 10 and 20 adults cheering their opponents on. Of the 3 games the Pee Wee's have played this season a total of 3 adults supporters have turned out 2 of these being from Colonia.

Louis Arnau, the Mosquito coach, has been let down very badly by the boys and to some extent by the boy's parents. If a boy wishes to participate in any organized sport with his parents' consent, the parents have a responsibility in as much as they should endeavor to get their boys to attend practice and to get them to games. For the last mosquito game out of a total of 18 boys registered only 10 arrived at the field in time for the kick off.

It is the general concensus of opinion that mosquitoes are worse than ever this year, and that the Town's anti-mosquito spraying programme has galvanized the mosquito population into an unprecedented frenzy of blood-sucking activity.

Jane and I are most despondent — nearlyy all the blossom, on our black-currant bushes have fallen to the ground, and we shall be lucky if we have a saucer-full of fruit.

Can any kind gardener tell us what we have left undone what we ought to have done?

In the Soccer League, Seigniory Park Mosquitoes take on Rovers tomorrow (Thursday) eve. at 6.45 p.m. At the Rovers ground on Mercier and Maple. Pee Wees take on Legionnaires on Saturday, June 12, at 11.00 a.m. at Chateauguay Park, and (hopefully) are at home to Beavers on Tuesday, June 15, at 6.45 p.m.

The Rowntrees of Northern had an old-time buddy of Norm's visiting them last weekend. The buddy now lives in Honolulu. Apparently in Honolulu you'll regret it if you are a sloppy housekeeper and leave dishes unwashed overnight. Huge cockroaches capable of setting off mousetraps are attracted indoors and play havoc with upholstered furniture.

I have just heard at a late hour that the public information meeting on the problem of attracting the Y.M.C.A. to Chateauguay has been set for June 16 8.30 p.m. sharp, at the Clubhouse. Anyone not specifically invited — please don't feel offended. The organizers have done their best, but for sure someone or some organization has been unintentionally omitted. Let's not be petty about it — come one, come all, and bring your friends. This could be the biggest thing in Chateauguay's history.

What Price Insurance

By Homeowner

Insurance on the contents of your home falls into three main categories. Floater - Householders - Straight Fire.

Taking them in reverse, fire insurance covers loss by fire and such standard additional perils as lightning, windstorm, water damage, etc. (These are called Extended Covers or simply E. C.).

Householders insurance covers the fire perils listed above and, in addition, loss by theft. In insurance terms, theft means that there must be a reasonable assumption that an illegal act has occurred but there does not have to be visible marks or damage, where the thieves gained entry to your home. In short, the doors do not have to be locked. (A seasonal residence is covered for "burgulary only" which means that there must be visible marks or damage at the place where the thieves made their entry.)

A Floater cover is one which gives "all risk." The policy usually states "all risk of physical loss or damage". Naturally, there are loads of exclusions. The main advantage is that you are covered if you simply lose something such as forgetting it somewhere and if you simply damage something such as the kid's spreading butter over your new Chesterfield. As a point of interest breakage is covered except for fragile articles such as glass.

Before you ask why doesn't everyone have this Floater insurance, I will give you the very simple answer. Cost. Brother it's astronomical. Obviously, it has always cost more but the premium for this coverage has today risen far above what could be termed reasonable. Even people who can afford it, today buy floater insurance for their jewellery and furs and satisfy themselves with fire and theft for the remainder of their household contents. In Chateauguay the cost could be from five to ten times the price you might presently be paying for straight fire insurance.

Now let's look at the real problem with contents insurance. What happens when you have a claim? For those of you who have never had such a claim, I hate to disappoint you. You know that $800. Chesterfield set you bought a few years ago? So Junior started a little fire and you phone in your claim. The adjustor arrives and tells you .....are you sitting down ..... It's worth maybe $300. Sure, you can yell that you cannot replace it for $300. That is the whole point. Your building is insured on a replacement basis but your contents are covered for their actual value. That is, they are insured for their real value as of the date of the loss. This causes more arguments than a committee meeting of the P.T.A. If you think for a moment, you would realize that this is the only way to adjust these losses. Once you accept this fact, you must buy your insurance with that thought in mind. What would my contents be worth if I were to buy them as they are today. Not sell them, mind you, but buy them. There is no point in paying good money for insurance premiums on something which you over value. Your best bet is to make a list of every room in your house. Write down every article in each room. Put down the original value and also put down the price you would pay were you to buy each article second hand, today. In other words, it's actual value as it stands now. The total of the second hand values is the amount for which you should insure. This would accomplish two things. It will give you the real insurable value of your contents today and might also surprise you when you total up how much it would cost you if you had a complete loss. For it's alright to warn against over insurance when you talk of a single item of furniture but most people are fantastically under insured when it comes to a total loss. The general rule of thumb is to use from one thousand to fifteen hundred dollars per room, as a guide.

Ask your Agent. He can supply you with a handy form with which to make your list. Have fun.

Girls' Softball Season Opens

Saturday, June 5th, the C.P.O.A. Girl's Softball team put on an Exhibition game at Seigniory Park Ball Field (off Maple). Drawing for the acrilan mat was also held at this time, and the winning ticket was chosen by Mrs. Ashby. Ticket No. 259 was held by Mrs. L. McIlwaine, of 174 Marguerite in the Terrace.

Betty-Ann Packer who sold the most tickets (21 books) was presented with a box of chocolates for her fine effort.

Unfortunately there was no support shown from parents or anyone else at this game. Mrs. Lorna Snow and Mr. Andrew Robbie coached the two teams, both of them for the third year. An umpire was called in from Verdun as none of the persons approached in Colonia area had either the time or the interest to do so. Mr. Ron Fountain, President of C.P.O.A. acted as base umpire and Mrs. Shirley Robbie kept score. The spectators numbered exactly two, namely Mrs. Bourcier, from Chateauguay Centre and Mrs. Ashby from the Colonia area.

For three years this Softball league has tried to acquire a ball field in its own area without success. The ball diamond at Seigniory Park which they were granted permission to use for an occasional game and practice and for the exhibition game last Saturday, has not been in good condition up to this time of writing. A car has been driven over the infield and left deep ruts. During the game Sat. a grader and roller working on an adjoining field stirred up a great deal of dust and dirt, and with the help of the wind it was enough to hide the fielders from view. The girls were also afraid to go after the ball for fear of being run down by the grader or rolled out flat by the other equipment.

What seems to be the matter with parents, that they will not come out and support their girls in this pleasant summer sport? Do they think the girls don't like sports? There are between 35 to 40 girls registered in this league, so there should be at least one third of the parents come out to view a game. It is compulsory in the schools for the girls to take gym — and why? Perhaps the parents would rather see their daughters hanging around the Shopping Center.

Will some of the readers come out and see a game, and suggest some way that these girls can have a ball field of their own? Any ideas and any support will be more than welcome.

Realties Company Feels Its Land Should Be Considered

The following is a copy of a letter sent to the School Commission in Chateauguay with regard to a site for a proposed Regional School in Chateauguay Centre, by the Lenada Realties Inc.

June 2, 1965
Commission Scolaire Regionale d'Youville,
180 Blvd. Maple Grove,
Province of Quebec.

Dear Sir:

I was present at the recent School Commission meeting at which a site was discussed for the proposed Regional School to be located in Chateauguay Centre. I was extremely surprised to learn that although two other sites were considered the land presently owned by Lenada Realties Inc. was not.

This is surprising in view of the fact that the land owned by Lenada Realties Inc., is more conveniently situated than the other sites since there is direct access to it from highway three and four and highway four and it will not be necessary for school buses to travel through residential areas to reach the school.

Proof that the situation of this land is best situated is in the fact that there are already other schools situated in the immediate adjoining areas.

I fail to see how in good conscience the School Commission can by-pass any consideration of this area especially in view of the alternative considered.

I wish further to declare that I am a shareholder in Lenada Realties Inc., and have no reason to hide the fact that we are interested in selling the land in question to the School Board on agreeable terms. But this does not however change the fact that the land which is presently being offered by Lenada Realties Inc. to the School Board is the best site in question.

Yours truly,
Lenada Realties Inc.

Little League News

On June 6th, 1965, at Little League Stadium, a capacity crowd watched the Orioles beat the Pirates 15 to 2 in a ball game that had a lot of excitement. In the opening ceremonies Mr. Ray Leduc player agent, announced the all star guest team. The starting Pitcher was Mayor Joe Laberge with Mayor Dick Sutterlin at bat and Toni Della Porta, President of Little League as catcher. After a few wild pitches Mayor Laberge put one right down the middle and Mayor Sutterlin belted one down towards second base, standing there was George Kennedy M.P.P., and covering up was Floyd Currie of International Fuel Co. Out of nowhere came Gerald Laniel from first base and made a fantastic catch to put Mayor Sutterlin out. All in all it turned out to be a terrific day.

The Senior Division held their draft meeting at the Rustik Restaurant, all the players have been selected by their Managers who are as follows: — Dodgers, Zino Savoie; Mets, Art Walker; Cubs, Jean Pierre Roy; Cardinals, Art Dorey.

We still need more boys ages 13 - 15 if you are interested please call Emitt Cooney, Vice-President Senior Division, — 691-9570, or Art Walker, 691-9255. A great vote of thanks goes to Mayor Dick Sutterlin and his council for the New Baseball Stadium now being built for the Senior Division. A job well done fellows.

bers present voted in favour of a row of trees to screen St. Francis from the Supermarket. Mr. Mason promised to pass on the feelings of the meeting in this regard to Mayor Laberge.

It was decided to call a public meeting on the subject of bringing the Y.M.C.A. to Chateauguay. The meeting would be held later in June in the Seigniory Park County Club Clubhouse, and members of the public were to be asked to attend. A motion calling for a specific invitation to a large recreational group in Chateauguay was defeated. However, the general meeting held some three months ago called on the Home Owners executive to contact all social and recreational groups in the Chateauguay area to ascertain their views on the desirability of attracting the Y.M.C.A. to Chateauguay.

Roll dough as for jelly roll, seal edges and cut into ½ inch slices. Place in well greased muffin tins.

It is not necessary but you can if you wish, melt another ¼ cup melted butter, add ¾ cup chopped nuts and ½ cup brown sugar, and sprinkle lightly over the bottoms of the greased muffins tins before arranging your slices, cut side down over this mixture. Bake in a moderate oven 375 degrees from 25 to 30 minutes. Turn pans upside down on cooling rack and lift out rolls. Serve hot. For the busy homemaker who may not have time to make these in the morning, you can store the rolls in the pan in the refrigerator overnight and bake them in the morning and serve them piping hot for breakfast.

fact that while fourteen classes are now in use, six more are available for next September's influx. Even now the additional classrooms are not being wasted. High school students are using them for their June exams. The spirit of cooperation certainly seems to prevail.

There seems little doubt about it, chairman Roland Trudeau and his school commissioners deserve all our thanks at this time. Some thanks also should go to the many individuals and groups such as the P.T.A. who have helped to make St. Paul's possible. Sure it took some pressure and a little in-fighting (some outfighting too) but now it's here, enjoy it while you can.

We'll ask about our English high school at a more opportune time.

Keeping Sunday Different Getting More Difficult

Keeping Sunday different from other days becomes more difficult says the Lord's Day Alliance in its annual report just released. Too many people have been willing to sell this birthright for boosted pay rates or extra profits from Sunday business.

The Board of Evangelism and Social Service of the United Church of Canada has made recent reference to what it terms "the week-end exodus." This has to do with large numbers of people leaving city, town and village for resort areas where they relax and enjoy themselves (and that is commendable), but too often fail to engage in worship, (and that is deplorable). Obviously the rank and file of church members could do more for Sunday observance by associating with services of the church whether at home or holiday resort, by refusing to make unnecessary purchases on Sunday, and by refraining from the use of professional services of others for their entertainment.

During the past year there have been new developments in some of the provinces in respect to Sunday law. Nova Scotia now permits commercial sports, commercial entertainment, and business in certain small establishments. Its Act differs from legislation in other provinces in that it does not provide for putting the issues to public vote. Under this law a number of municipal councils are now permitting Sunday business in small groceries, confectionery stores, coin laundries, souvenir stores, pool halls, bowling alleys, etc. In other provinces agitation for relaxed Sunday laws did not succeed in securing legislative action.

A significant move was ment in appointing a Royal Commission to make recommendations on a request of pulp and paper companies for permission to operate on Sundays. The Lord's Day Alliance made a submission.

Sunday in the present age is being widely studied. Books are written. The Presbyterian Church is conducting a Canada-wide review of the doctrine of the Lord's Day, and has already incorporated into the report of the last General Assembly valuable papers on the subject. The Lord's Day Alliance has lately sponsored a contest for learned essays on various aspects of Sunday observance.

As a church related body the Alliance is concerned with correct biblical evaluation of the Lord's Day. It believes this indicates an obligation of effort to perpetuate the religious advantages and humanitarian benefits which that day provides. The Alliance has been encouraging such study, along with the counselling and services it provides from coast to coast.

Imports Making Inroads On Domestic Industry

MONTREAL, — Hong Kong shipped to Canada in 1964 a total of $10.2 million worth of clothing and textiles, an increase of 36% over the previous year.

In announcing these figures the past week, the Canadian Apparel and Textile Manufacturers Association said that last year's shipments set a record.

"Total Hong Kong exports of all kinds to Canada in 1964 amounted to $22.8 million therefore textiles, products and clothing formed in excess of 45% of the total.

"Add to this the increasing exports from other low-wage countries — particularly the record $44.7 million worth of clothing and textiles from Japan — and it is not difficult to imagine the pressures being exerted on the Canadian industries."

CATMA also pointed out that imports into Canada from Hong Kong are measured in U.S. dollars and this, considering the distress prices at which they are sold, means the displacement of more Canadian output, and working hours, than appears on the surface.

It was further noted that while the increase was general in most categories there were spectacular rises in shipments of such items as shirts, pillow covers and fabrics, imported items that are currently causing unusual difficulties on the Canadian market.

Diary of A Vagabond

ALL THIS AND THE ROCKIES TOO!

It is possible while enjoying the serene luxury of the atmosphere that surrounds Jasper Park Lodge in Alberta's national park to look out from the picture windows of its rustic main building and see a most spectacular mountain panorama. The rush and bustle of a news-ridden world seem very far away from that awe-inspiring setting.

The Lodge is one of my favorite stopping-off places on my trips west and I never fail to come away from these visits without enjoying a great sense of peace. Our worldly problems seem minute in the face of these rugged peaks that have looked down on harassed man for centuries.

During the past seven years I have watched older, darker buildings disappear and the newer type of peeled logs transform the areas that surround the main lodge into a guest settlement of attractive Canadian designed cottage accommodation. With a CN investment of millions it has been a gradual process of winter building to create enough room space to fulfil reservation requests.

Not so many years ago the main lodge burned to the ground. Sometimes these disasters are blessings in disguise for the Lodge that has been built in its place has an architectural charm that delights visitors as the hostelry comes into view as guests approach from a bend in the road.

Usually the main foyer, with its huge stone fireplace making a picturesque background for its thunderbird motif, is crowded with people snapping pictures of this unusual decor enhanced by displays of garden flowers in varied hues.

Often guests are parents of University students who have staffed the Lodge for most of the summers it has been in operation. They want to experience the luxury their sons and daughters have told about over the years of breakfast in bed brought to cottages by bus boys riding on bicycles while precariously balancing chosen breakfasts on a covered tray. The legend of service and fine food, scenery, golf, swimming and fishing has spread so widely that to be assured of accommodation, reservations are booked months ahead.

During the past winter more cottages were added to the colony and T. G. Van Dyke, manager, promises that some 20,000 guests will be able to enjoy the Lodge's hospitality during the season of 1965.

This famous Lodge has played host to kings and queens as well as other famous international personalities. It has launched many a young couple on their first leg of matrimony and been the thrill of a lifetime for oldsters celebrating their second honeymoon.

Added Attraction

Last summer a new attraction was added to this mountain holiday retreat. Nearby Whistlers Mountain has an aerial tramway which cost more than a million to construct and is said to be as thrilling as a similar tramway which has gained fame in Palm Springs, California.

Financied by Alberta interests, the tramway attains a height of 7,400 feet. There is a restaurant atop Whistlers Peak which serves light lunches. After such a spectacular ascent and the prospects of descending, a light lunch would seem appropriate!

There was a time when service for the cars of driving guests had to be obtained in the nearby town of Jasper. This summer a service station and garage facilities will be opened at the Lodge and for those who arrive by train, a rent-a-car service will be available for the kind of mountaineers who like to take their Alpining enthusiasms out on four wheels.

Legislaton Against Racial Discrimination

The Race Relations Bills, as introduced recently by the British Government, is intended to integrate the growing numbers of coloured immigrants, and to smooth the future processes of racial harmony.

The Bill proposes that it shall be an offence for the proprietor, or manager, of a public place to discriminate against people on grounds of colour, race, ethnic or national origins.

Although the Bill is motivated by the question of colour, its proposals cover discrimination against people of different national origins resident in Britain, as well as persons of colour. It would also cover foreign nationals visiting Britain.

Public places include hotels and inns catering to transient guests and all public eating and public houses. Also included are all public places of entertainment and recreation, from theatres to swimming pools.

It is already an offence for a taxi driver to refuse a hiring from any quarter without reasonable excuse. Now all forms of land, sea or air transportation — as distinct from on charter — must be equally available to all.

The Bill seeks to make it an offence, not only to refuse access, facilities or services, but also to neglect to provide them, or to subject customers to unreasonable delay or overcharging.

The penalties for a first offence would be a maximum fine of $150, and up to $300 for a subsequent offence. As a precaution against the possibility of frivolous proceedings, prosecutions will only be instituted by, or on behalf of, the Director of Public Prosecutions.

To facilitate the integration of coloured immigrants throughout the community, the Bill also seeks to remove discriminatory restrictions in leases, which prevent tenants from sub-letting accommodation on grounds of colour, race or national origin.

Incitement to racial hatred either by written matter or vocally would be subject, on summary conviction, to either six months imprisonment, or a fine of $600, or both. On indictment, it would be punishable by two years imprisonment, or a fine of $3,000, or both.

The existing legislation would be extended to prohibit the distribution or display in a public place of written material of a threatening, abusive or insulting nature, which is intended, or likely, to provoke a breach of the peace.

The Government hopes to present the Race Relations Bill to the House of Commons for debate and second reading during May.

Meanwhile, the whole question of immigration is under review by the British Government, with Earl Mountbatten recently appointed to lead a factfinding mission to consider with Commonwealth Governments, what new measures might be adopted, particularly in the country of origin, to regulate the flow of emigrants into Britain.

Canadian Garden Service

They Are Individualists

Like people, flowers too have special likes and dislikes, special uses as well as special colors, widths and heights. Some flowers such as alyssum, portulaca, nasturtium, forget-me-not and others revel in hot, bright sun and do not seem to mind a little drought. Begonias, Impatiens and most lilies on the other hand prefer shade and moisture and do best when they are not in the direct sun for more than a few hours a day. There is still another group such as the stocks, sweet william, sweet peas, gladiolus and so on, that are not especially noted for their foliage, but are grown mainly for their perfume or blooms.

Cosmos and similar flowers are extra hardy, while the zinnia won't stand any real cold weather. Some are very dwarf like alyssum, forget-me-not, lobelia, pansy, dianthus, viola and ageratum are suitable for planting in the front of the bed, while some are very tall such as the amarantus, chrysanthemum, cosmos, dephinium, hollyhock and so on and make excellent backgrounds. All these points, are of vital use to the gardener in planning and planting.

Rushing The Season

There are some plants such as zinnias, melons, cucumbers, etc. that do not take too kindly to transplanting and yet if we want them to bloom or mature quickly, or if we want to enjoy them at all in many of the cooler parts of Canada, the seed must be sown early, certainly well before the middle of May. Actually there is a way of doing this and still be able to avoid late frosts or cold. Three or four weeks before we would ordinarily and safely sow the seed of these outside we plant indoors in fine, rich soil in special fibre pots obtainable from any seed store. These pots are made of peat moss or some such loose material and when the time comes to move the started plants to permanent quarters outside, we plant pot and all. In this way there is no disturbance at all to the roots and no setback in growth. Indeed, the pot being porous, simply disintegrates and the roots of our zinnia or melon grow right through. By using these fibre pots we can have zinnias blooming at least three weeks earlier than if sown directly outdoors and melons ripening and cucumbers ready to use in August.

Another short cut in the warmer parts of Canada is to follow the example of the English gardener, who invariably plants some of his flowers and vegetables on the early side, then protects with a pane of glass, or a waxed paper for the first few weeks.

Save It

Notwithstanding all that has been written by conservationists and others one still sees big cardboard boxes filled with grass clippings waiting for the garbage collector on every urban street. And in the fall these are supplemented with even larger containers filled with raked up leaves. Often, too, if we went around and examined the soil in the flower gardens surrounding these houses we would find it to be of the stiffest clay or barren sand. In either case the very thing necessary to correct this condition is being deliberately thrown away. It is not necessary to make an elaborate compost pile to salvage grass clippings. Simply spread this material over flower and vegetable beds and dig in loosely. It will soon disappear and gradually in a year or two the clay will loosen up nicely and the sand will become richer and hold moisture. Of course, the real garden enthusiast will have a compost heap, concealed behind vines, shrubbery or a trellis and here with alternate layers of soil and plant refuse he will make first-class compost.. He keeps the pile level on top to absorb rain and watering and to hasten matters he may sprinkle with some special chemical to speed breaking down, and add a little chemical fertilizer to enrich. Even clean garbage, such as orange rinds, vegetable tops, peelings, etc., can be used up in these compost heaps and when covered with a layer of soil they will neither attract flies nor give off objectionable smells.

Grow Your Own Vitamins

Most people grow vegetables because they like to eat them while they are really fresh and crisp, something that one cannot get otherwise. But there are valuable vitamins in them, too. Lettuce, for instance, and especially leaf lettuce which is more exposed to the sun than the other kinds, is high in vitamin A. Carrots will supply the same vitamin for a longer period as this vegetable, of course, will keep well in storage. For vitamins B and B2 as well as A, kale is highly recommended. It contains about twice as much vitamin as ordinary cabbage and it is easier to grow. For the highly prized vitamin C. nothing is better than a fresh tomato right out of the garden. But you can only be sure of getting these vitamins while the vegetables are really fresh. Within a few hours after picking they begin to disappear.

Agricultural Viewpoint On the Federal Budget

The Federal budget, brought down on April 26, 1963, contained many items of interest, including an across-the-board 10% cut in personal income taxes. Perhaps its outstanding feature, however, was this: that it came closer than any previous budget to using budgetary policy in a systematic way as a tool for economic planning. This is a matter of great importance for agriculture. The interest of the farmer lies definitely in an approach to economic policy which puts high priority on expansion of the economy and of consumer demand, growing economic opportunity, and which rejects a belt-tightening philosophy in terms of government expenditure.

Whether the precise judgment of the Minister of Finance on what should be done in budgetary policy is the correct one this year, the fact remains that the decision to make judgments in terms of impact on the economy is there. The following lines from the budget address are of considerable interest. They appeared in the "Tax Cut" section:

"Looking ahead we foresee a further economic advance this year over 1964. However, we must plan to accommodate a rapid increase in our labour force this summer and in the next several years. We need to assure the market demand to put it to work productively. At the beginning of 1966, within this fiscal year, the commencement of the payment of contributions into the Canada and Quebec Pension Plans will exercise some restraining influence on the growth of consumer expenditure, which may not be fully offset by increased capital spending by the provinces or their agencies out of moneys from the Pension funds.

"Our budgetary position for the last fiscal year came close to a balance in our normal accounting terms, and showed a sizeable surplus in terms of the economic accounts. For this new fiscal year our budgetary accounts will not be quite so close to a balance, because of changes already authorized by Parliament or proposals already placed before you. In terms of our national economic accounts, however, the federal budget will be a restraining influence this year unless we make some further changes.

"Accordingly, after weighing up these considerations and the advice I have received from many quarters — including business men, trade unions, academic circles and the Review of the Economic Council — I believe this budget should be an expansionary one. To achieve this effect we should reduce moderately the weight of our taxation".

A GREAT deal of emphasis was placed in the budget on the need for federal-provincial co-ordination of tax and budget policies. Specifically, the Minister pointed out that if the provinces responded to the Federal tax reductions by increasing their own rates, the stimulating effects on the economy which are the purpose of the reduction would be lost.

Two agricultural tax items appeared in the budget:

(a) An accelerated 25% per annum rate of depreciation allowance for income tax purposes on grain storage facilities constructed to Dec. 1, 1966. This applies to farmers and firms building commercial storage. It has the double purpose of facilitating the adjustments of facilities in connection with western rail line abandonment, and encouraging construction of needed corn storage facilities in eastern Canada.

(b) The allowance as an expense of the cost of clearing land and laying drainage tile.

Both these matters have been the subject of CFA representations.

Ormstown

Ormstown W.I.

The June meeting of the Ormstown Women's Institute was held on Tuesday, June 1st, at the home of Mrs. Jessie Arthur with the vice-president Mrs. J. McKell presiding. 15 members and 1 visitor, responding to the roll call with "name of a shrub or plant".

The minutes of the May meeting were read and approved Business arising was on the printing of our yearly programs — it had been decided at Convention that owing to illness of members in Quebec W.I. Office at Macdonald College, each branch was to see to the printing of their branch programs and Mrs. Bruce was asked to see about having it done.

Regarding sending a delegate to the Provincial Convention, it was decided that one or more car loads would motor to Macdonald on Thursday and Friday and attend the lectures — details to be settled later.

Stockings for Korea were handed in and instructions regarding contents and shipment of these were discussed.

The treasurer reported a balance on hand of $77.42.

Convener reports then followed. Citizenship reported that a garden party of 9000 W.I. members, guests of Queen Elizabeth II was held at Buckingham Palace. The Queen as well as the Queen Mother are members of the local W.I. branch at Sandringham and while in residence there she always attends a W.I. meeting in the village hall, discusses matters of local interests, listens to speakers or watches demonstrations, then sets down to enjoy a cup of tea and a cake with other members.

Princess Marina, Princess Alexandria and the Duchess of Kent are members of the W.I. at Ivers, in Buckinghamshire.

The W.I. always gives flowers and a Goverment Bond of $2.80 to any member when they have a child. Princess Marina and the Duchess of Kent received flowers and bond, but the Queen got flowers and a hand knitted woolly jacket when Prince Edward was born.

Home Economic gave some homemaker hints, viz attaching felt weather stripping to runners of our rocking chairs, to save rugs and linoleum; slipping an old card board tube over bottom wire of a coat hanger to avoid creases in trousers when folded over it; cut corner of an envelope, then snip off the tip and you have a handy funnel to fill salt or pepper shakers; carry empty round ice cream carton in your car for use as a garbage can, as it is leak proof; A bit of wax rubbed on clothes closet rod will allow hangers to slip more easily. Save small clear bottles for use in garden in summer, as you can put name of seed planted inside bottle, then fit a stick in neck and other end of stick in the ground and place at end of row seeded.

Health and Welfare read an article from Miss May, director Home and Education division of Greater New York in which she cautioned parents to watch and warn their children especially in the green season coming on against nibbling many leaves, berries, etc., which are poisonous, she cited the fact that birds instinctively knew which berries or leaves were poisonous, so did not touch them. If you come across a potato which is green or sun burned discard it or else cut off all the green before you cook it as it is toxic and may make you sick.

Education — told of the exchange of 56 teachers between Great Britain and Canada for the period of one year beginning Sept. 1. There have been exchanges between Britain and most Commonwealth Countries since 1901. History will be taught in French for French speaking students of Grade IX in two Cornwall High Schools next year Exchange of 8 Grade 8 pupils from Ecole Francois Gifford of the Montreal Catholic School Commission and 8 Grade VII girls from the Sarah Maxwell School of the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal for a two-week period, proved very successful — the French pupils speaking only English and the English only French during that period — it brought a closer understanding between both teachers and pupils of these schools.

Agriculture told about all the Queen's Horses, and how the magnificient Coronation pageantry makes them king for a day. These Royal horses are the admiration of thousands by their stately beauty and carriage. In war time they were kept in the country doing light jobs to keep them fit and ready for pageantry of peace time when it came. The Royal Family are horse lovers and do everything for their comfort — they have been rubber shod for years or to be exact the shoes are half rubber and half iron.

The Coronation coach most superb carriage in the world has been used by the Royal family for over one and three quarter centuries cost £8000 when built in 1761 and would now cost £25,000, took 5 years to build, is hand carved and weighs 4 tons. The harness of horses of red morocco and gilt furniture has been used since the Victorian Era, weighs a hundred weight per horse and is valued at £10,000. Each horse is exercised 2 hours daily and groomed twice a day. Before a big State occasion training starts, flags and bunting are hung everywhere, all kind of musical noises are made, as well as cheering done by stable hands, bands playing etc., so that when the State occasion takes place they are not frightened by bands and cheering crowds.

In the time of Queen Victoria about 200 horses were kept, but there is not nearly that many to-day, as motor vehicles have taken their place except for State Occasions.

Publicity read a letter from our pen pal in New Zealand, telling about their man-made wharf, packing and freezer plant and processing of lamb about 5,000,000 being annually processed for export.

As our next A.C.W.W. conference is to be held in Dublin an article on the formation of and growth of the first Irish Institute was read and I'm sure when our delegate to that conference returns she'll have many things to tell us. The meeting closed with the National Anthem, after which dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses Mrs. Kilgour, Mrs. Ovans, Mrs. Bruce and Mrs. Arthur assisted by her daughters and a social hour enjoyed.

Miss Violet Baskin of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Baskin and Mr. Wilmer Baskin were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Elvidge.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Collins and Lois visited with Miss Gladys Lockhart in Montreal on Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Moore, Mrs. H. White, Mrs. Josie Moneypenny, Mrs. Wm. McCartney, Miss M. Standage, motored to Cornwall, Ont., on June 3rd. and were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McCutcheon, 515 Guy St.

Correction

At the Military Whist card party held at St. James Anglican Church Hall, Ormstown, the first-prize winners should have read Mrs. Albert Moore, Mrs. Wm. McCartney, Mrs. Hubert White, and Mrs. H. Cashon.

POWERSCOURT

Mrs. Lois Tremblay, Michael and Terry of Franklin Centre, Mrs. Mary Duheme and Jeffrey of Laprairie were Monday afternoon visitors of Mrs. Margaret Atcheson and family.

News from Howick

Home and School Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Home and School Association was held last Monday evening.

Mrs. F. Gruer, Grade I, teacher, gave a talk and demonstration on the Cuisenaire method of teaching arithmetic, which uses rods of different lengths and colours. Before using this method Mrs. Gruer took a course a year ago, and last winter attended the Granby Conference for further instruction.

The first year with this method has proved to be most satisfactory to teacher and pupils. The pupils discover their own number stories and have a greater understanding of number relationships.

This meeting gave the parents an opportunity to see for themselves what and how their small children are learning about numbers. Like the arstronants steeping out into space, here we have a senior teacher and 26 first graders stepping into a fascinating new world of arithmetic.

W.I. Meeting

On June 1st., Howick Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Frank Hope. Twelve members answered the Roll Call with a story of the early settlers of this district. There were four guests present.

$10 was voted towards helping send a student to the seminar at Macdonald College. A letter from the Red Cross was read thanking the W.I. for assisting in meeting the allocation for this district. Prizes were presented to Mrs. R. B. Ness and Mrs. Crawford for obtaining highest marks in the contests last year — a tie score.

Mrs. R. Younie gave an interesting paper on the flag and Mrs. J. D. Lang conducted a quiz on flags. Winners were Mrs. McColm aond Mrs. Brady.

The contest this month was for tea biscuits. From the many entries Mrs. Marsden, Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. James White received the highest scores in the order listed.

Tea biscuits with different spreads, raspberries and whipped cream were served at refreshment time.

Evening Auxiliary Meets

The Georgetown Evening Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. Glen Whyte on Thursday evening with fifteen members present.

The president, Mrs. John Anderson, opened the meeting. The devotions were taken by Mrs. Peter Peddie and Mrs. David Silliman. During the business meeting it was decided to forward $100 towards our allocation. Sixty cents from each member was handed in towards the bale. The program for the next six months was made out. Mrs. Norman Simms read an interesting article on the Shriner's Hospital, telling of the wonderful work they do in helping children. The meeting closed by repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison and the Thought for the month was given by Mrs. Anderson.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Norman Simms, Mrs. David Silliman and Mrs. John Anderson.

Cases Investigated by Police

Between Friday evening and early Sunday morning, Howick provided the police with three cases to investigate. One car was stolen, one boy was lost, and one errant driver wrecked the outside basement entrance to a home some distance from the street. Two other incidents not reported — a car driven on to the same lawn later in the day, and a car driven across the recently improved triangle at Marsan's corner

Attend Wedding

Among the guests at the Varin — Fortais wedding at Montreal on Sunday, May 30th, at 2 p.m. were: Mrs. W. Fortin, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Potvin, Mr. and Mrs R. Potvin, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Tennant, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tennant, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Tennant, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Tennant Jr. of Long Island, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Bates of Quebec City, John and Charles Tennant, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Legare, Miss Lucille Varin and friend, Mrs. Mildred Seale and Mr. and Mrs. Chevalier and family. The wedding was held at the Rumanian Church, Montreal and the reception was at the Rumanian Hall.

Attend C.G.I.T. Tea

Mrs. O. W. Mattinson, Mrs. Wm. Hudson, Jill Mattinson and Shirley Whyte attended a 50th Anniversary C.G.I.T. tea at Wesley United Church on Saturday which had been arranged by the provincial committee. It was attended by upwards of 400 ladies and girls. There was a singsong, devotional period led by Miss Quigley and tea. Quite an enjoyable celebration!

Personals

Miss Anne Brown spent last week visiting friends at Shawvill and Campbells Bay, and attended the Cuthbertson—Richardson wedding on Saturday.

Mrs. Christene Elliff, Montreal, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Mattinson and Jill.

Mr. Floyd Gruer is back at work again, following surgery and rest since November.

Mrs. F. Gruer and Mrs. T. Kerr accompanied by Mrs. James Whyte, visited Mrs. Miller at Prescott over the long week-end.

Last week-end Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hope attended a gun meeting and banquet at Drummondville. On Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Bryant of Gray, Maine, came to the Hope's. They visited Quebec City together, and other places and friends before returning home on Friday.

Mrs. Sam Erskine, Academy St. visited last week at her son's home in Deep River, Ont. While there they motored to Waterloo University where her grandson, Fred Erskine, received his degree of Bachelor of Physical Education. A drive around Algonquin Park was enjoyable, the country is so beautiful at this time of year. The last day of the holiday was spent motoring from Deep River with grandson Fred, who had to return immediately.

The Late Charles Aimé Tisseur

A restaurateur of Howick, Mr. Charles Aimé Tisseur, died suddenly on Friday, May 28th at the age of 49 years and 11 months.

Born at Ste. Philomene, he was employed by the Chromium Mining and Smelting of Melochville. He had been resting since May 12 due to a light heart attack. Following a visit to his new restaurant, which was under construction, he felt tired and asked to be taken to the Barrie Memorial Hospital where he died one half hour after arrival.

He is survived by his wife nee Alice Rose and five children, Francine, Marie, Roger, Diane and Denis. He leaves also his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Damien Rose (Roscanne Lafontaine) his brothers and their wives, Gilbert (Annette Dupont), Robert (Helen Brais), his sisters, Mrs. Hilaire Sequin (Marie Rose) and Mrs. Leonidas Peladeau (Blanche), his brothers-in-law, Mr. Emile Vinette, André Lafontaine (husband of Bertha Rose), Francois Pouliot (husband of Jeanne Rose), Andre Rose (Jeannette Tremblay) and Leo Rose (Therese Farineau).

The remains rested at the Jean Marc Loiselle Funeral Home, Ste. Martine. The funeral was held at the parish Church, Howick on Tuesday, June 1st., at 10 a.m. in the presence of a large crowd of relatives and friends. Interment was at the parochial cemetery.

The sympathy of the community is extended to this sadly bereaved family.

Liturgie — Prions avec l'Eglise et la Bible. L'Ecriture contient un grand nombre de très belles prières qui valent pour les chrétiens de tous les temps. Les psaumes, en particulier, demeurent les plus belles prières que l'homme ait jamais adressées à Dieu, parce qu'elles furent inspirées par Dieu lui-même. Pour prier avec la Bible, il faut un ordre de lecture, il faut une union avec l'Eglise, il faut un passage du silence à la vie. "Si contempler Dieu, c'est lui dire "tu", c'est aussi lui dire "oui", c'est accorder notre volonté à la sienne, entrer dans sa vie. Seul, l'amour peut donner à notre connaissance de Dieu sa simplicité, son caractere personnel et intime."

Liturgy — Sunday must become known as "Family Day". This involves each member of the family dedicating himself a truly cohesive family unit. One particular aspect of "family a truly cohesive family unt. One partcular aspect of "family day" is the FAMILY WORSHIP. Every father must provide the leadership needed for FAMILY WORSHIP on Sunday. However, since his wife and children are so involved in this plan, it is wise that the father share, with them, the designing of the program. In this way, ample time will be given to each member of the family to align himself with it as it progresses and expands. "Family day" is not a matter of choice in today's society.

Notes sociales

Meilleurs souhaits de prompt rétablissement à Mme James Lussier qui est de retour chez elle après avoir été hospitalisée à l'Hôpital Barrie Memorial.

M. et Mme Roger Laberge et leurs fillettes France et Michèle étaient de passage à Boucherville dimanche dernier.

Mme Pierre Leduc, Mme Blanche St-Onge, M. et Mme Frédéric Leduc de Valleyfield visitaient M. et Mme Frédéric Leduc, la semaine dernière.

Exposition d'Ormstown

Cette semaine du 9 au 12 juin se déroule l'exposition d'Ormstown. Notre village est tout animé et les gens se font très hospitaliers aux visiteurs qui arrêtent les voir avant d'aller faire un tour sur le terrain y admirer les nombreux exhibits tant agricoles que ménagers. Il ne faut pas manquer d'aller admirer les travaux de couture, culinaires et artistiques de la salle industrielle. Une danse clôturera ces activités samedi soir.

Activités du Cercle des Fermières

Pour marquer le 50ème anniversaire de fondation des cercles de fermières de la région, un kiosque est aménagé dans la salle industrielle au terrain de l'exposition d'Ormstown. Plusieurs cercles se sont inscrits et exposent différents travaux anciens et modernes comprenant du tissage, du tricot, de la couture, etc.

Les arrangemenots floraux ont été confiés à Mme Guy Phénix. Les nombreux visiteurs, spécialement les dames sont invités à visiter ce kiosque.

Tous les contrats sont maintenant accordés pour l'amélioration du système d'eau.

Une assemblée du conseil de la ville de Huntingdon avait lieu mercredi le 2 juin en l'édifice du comté sous la présidence du Maire Léo Cappiello et en présence de tous les membres.

Le but de l'assemblée était d'accorder les contrats pour l'agrandissement de l'usine de filtration et pour l'équipement, en marge du projet d'amélioration du système d'eau.

Tel que recommandé par les ingénieurs, le contrat général fut acordé à Community Enterprises pour $165,895, et le contrat pour l'équipement fut acordé à Simco Quebec Inc. pour $83,272, tous deux plus bas soumissionnaires dans leur catégorie.

Noces de Diamant de M. et Mme Alex. Patenaude

Le trente mai 1905, en l'église de St-Antoine, M. l'abbé Toupin donnait la bénédiction nuptiale à M. Alexandre Patenaude et à Mlle Herméline Favreau. De cette union naquirent treize enfants, quatre sont décédés en bas âge, actuellement neuf sont vivants, deux filles, sept garçons: Laura (Mme Vaillancourt) Lauréa, Ernest, Lionel, René, Léo, Arthur, Lorenzo et Emus.

Les deux époux ont peiné et fait de durs efforts pour élever chrétiennement la nichée d'enfants que la divine Providence leur avait confiée. Comme tous ici-bas, ils ont eu des moments d'angoisse et des heures moins pénibles. Cultivateur de renom, M. Patenaude a arraché à la terre le soutien de sa famille et tous ses fils ont suivi son exemple. Mme Patenaude, digne ménagère a secondé son époux. Les enfants ont grandi ...sept d'entre eux se sont envolés du nid familial.. ainsi la vie est faite.. mais à chaque dimanche tous reveuaient déguster les bons mets canadiens préparés avec tant d'amour par la maman et présentés sur la grande table commune.

Les "Patenaude" avaient à coeur le travail consciencieux, honnête, mais ils savaient se récréer aux soirées familiales, car disons-le en passant, même à 80 ans le père "Alex" est encore là et très souple pour danser une petite "gigue".

Au pied de l'autel, le jour de leur mariage, on a souhaité aux époux de voir la quatrième génération, ce fait s'est réalisé pour eux, et plus d'une fois. On compte dans cette famille en tout 32 petits enfants et 45 arrière petits-enfants.

Samedi le 29 mai, en l'église de St-Chrysostome une messe a été célébrée aux intentions des jubilaires à l'occasion de leur 60ème anniversaire de mariage. M. l'abbé Donat Crête, enfant de la paroisse, officiait et il prononça une touchante allocution de circonstance qui fit venir les larmes aux yeux de plusieurs. De plus, au pied de l'autel, les jubilaires ont renouvelé leur promesse faite il y a soixante ans.

A la sortie de l'église chacun se pressait pour prendre une photo-souvenir. A la maison paternelle, un souper fut servi dans la plus grande intimité. Vers les huit heures, dans la soirée, la salle de Havelock se remplit avec l'arrivée des jubilaires. Ce fut une de nos belles veillées canadiennes qui se répéta mais avec un cachet tout spécial à l'occasion de cette fête grandiose. La salle était décorée spécialement pour la circonstance. L'orchestre "Meltones" de Huntingdon nous fit le plaisir d'exécuter les vieilles danses d'autrefois, et du bon vieux chant. Puis un délicieux goûter fut servi. De nombreuses photos furent prises. Chacun s'amusa à qui mieux mieux, les moins jeunes comme les plus âgés. Une corbeille de beaux lis blancs comme neige fut présentée. Deux magnifiques fauteuils furent offerts à M. et Mme Patenaude.

M. Donald Black, ex-député au fédéral, fit l'éloge des jubilaires. Succéda M. Ian Watson, qui à son tour offrit ses félicitations et ses voeux aux jubilaires. De plus, M. le député, avec plaisir, lut à la foule les télégrammes envoyés par Sa Majesté la Reine ainsi que M. Pearson Premier Ministre du Canada. M. George Gowdey, maire de Havelock, adressa quelques mots. Le jubilaire M. Patenaude, d'une voix très émue, dit un merci bien cordial à tous et à chacun. Ainsi se termina à une heure avancée une soirée sans égale dans l'histoire des "Patenaude" et dont chacun gardera un précieux souvenir.

Par la voix du journal, les enfants des jubilaires en profitent pour remercier tous les parents et amis qui sont venus, ce soir-là rendre hommage à leur père et à leur mère.

60 ans de vie à deux est une faveur que le ciel accorde à des privilégiés, chers père et mère, vous avez été de ceux-là. Nous vous souhaitons longue vie, restez encore longtemps parmi nous en vivant des jours heureux.

Honneur à nos belles familles canadiennes françaises.

Des cultivateurs de la région visitent la ferme Master Feeds à Thornhill, Ont.

Dix-neuf personnes de Ormstown et Huntingdon prenaient le train mercredi à la Gare Centrale de Montréal pour se rendre à la ferme expérimentale des produits Master Feeds, à Thornhill en Ontario. Ils étaient tous les invités de cette compagnie.

Au nombre des gens de Ormstown, on pouvait reconnaitre Son Honneur le maire Bruno Beaulieu du village, ainsi que M. Jean-Paul Riendeau, maire de la paroisse de Ormstown. Etaient également présents MM. Albert Billette, Sylvio Brière, Rosario Beaulieu, Leslie Robertson, Armand Pinsonneault, Rene Lamarre, Robert McNeil, Oswald Guérin, John Robertson, Douglas et Lloyd Sproule ainsi que Rodolphe Leboeuf.

La délégation de Huntingdon se composait de MM. John Stirling, Wilfred Primeau, Dan et Cecil Murphy ainsi que de John Kennedy.

La délégation débarquait à la gare Union de Toronto et prenait le déjeuner avant de s'embarquer dans l'autobus qui les menait à la ferme expérimentale de la compagnie Master Feeds.

Ils étaient reçus par le docteur Morrison, nutritioniste en chef qui leur fit visiter les différents endroits de la ferme, soit les poulaillers, l'étable, la laiterie, la porcherie, les bêtes à cornes, les visons etc... Comme c'est une ferme expérimentale en premier lieu, le docteur Morrison expliquait les différents stages de nutrition des animaux, les expériences menées sur des groupes de vaches laitières, sur des groupes de poules pondeuses, des bêtes à cornes tout en répondant aux mutiples questions des cultivateurs des plus intéressés par cette visite mémorable.

Tout au long de cette même visite éducationelle et remplie de nouveautés pour les éleveurs, M. Jim Schultz, assistant pour les vendeurs en Ontario, donnait les différentes phases d'achat des moulées et des autres ingrédients nécessaires à la bonne nutrition des animaux de ferme.

Après cette visite matinale, tous étaient conviés à un dîner au Summit View Hotel à Richmond Hill, non loin de là. On profita de la circonstance pour remercier la compagnie Master Feeds de leur bon accueil; M. Armand Pinsonneault était le porte-parole du groupe.

Après un bon repas, les cultivateurs se rendaient de nouveau à la ferme pour aller voir les animaux à cornes et les animaux à boeuf dans une autre partie de cette ferme de 500 acres et plus. Le docteur J. R. Sparling, gérant de la ferme, était le guide à ce moment-là. Tous ont pu voir des animaux commerciaux qui étaient en bonne santé et ils ont appris la facon de soigner et de nourrir correctement les leurs.

La ferme expérimentale Master Feeds a été fondée en 1937, soit il y a 28 ans. Depuis ce temps, le travail expérimental a été intensifié d'année en année pour le bien de tous les animaux qui sont nourris avec ces moulées. Elle comprend 500 acres et plus de terrain et on peut y voir un troupeau de 26 Holsteins, 120 animaux à boeuf, 36 porcs Yorkshire de pure race, 6,000 pondeuses, 2,000 dindes.

Elle comprend aussi un ranch de visons avec 270 femelles et 1,200 petits. Ce ranch a été un des premiers au monde à être mis sur pieds et depuis e temps, la ferme continue à soigner ces animaux pour fins expérimentales.

Les buts sont de faire des épreuves sur les moulées et de trouver des programmes d'alimentation sous un climat caractéristique. La ferme est en premier lieu une ferme expérimentale; des groupes du Canada tout entier viennent la visiter à tous les ans et apprennent par le fait même comment nourrir correctement les animaux.

L'hôte des gens de Huntingdon et Ormstown était M. Gaston Marcoux, représentant commercial de la compagnie Master Feeds dans notre région.

Après la visite des boeufs, le groupe remontait dans l'autobus pour se rendre à la gare de Toronto pour prendre le train de 3.45 heures p.m. qui les ramenait à Montréal à 11.00 heures p.m.

Tous ont bien goûté leur visite à cette ferme expérimentale et ils étaient des plus heureux de concevoir qu'il y a des gens qui travaillent pour eux, qui travaillent pour les aider à avoir une meilleure production sur leur propre ferme.

Tous ensembles, ils remercient la compagnie Master Feeds pour la visite inoubliable de cette ferme expérimentale à Thornhill en Ontario et ils y retourneront peut-être dès l'an prochain pour y voir les changements apportés.

Serge Rhéaume, c.n.
