

Message in Bottle Arrives In Saskatchewan From Huntingdon, Que.

The following was taken from the Montreal Herald of September 3rd, and should be of interest to the citizens of this district. The story is self-explanatory of what happened and here it is:

BOTTLE DRIFTED UPHILL, OR DID IT?

ANYWAY, IT REACHED SASKATCHEWAN

Mrs. Gertrude Jolley, 2010 Melrose Ave., Montreal, is wondering if water can flow uphill.

About six years ago she put a note in a bottle and floated it down the Trout River from Huntingdon, Que. On September 1st, the note was returned from a small farm town in Saskatchewan near the Alberta border.

Mrs. Jolley's note said, "This is sent from Trout River, Huntingdon, Que. Will the finder please return to Mrs. Gertrude Jolley, 580 Regent ave., Montreal, Que.

Last week her note was returned but how the bottle ever reached Isham, Sask., she doesn't know.

"I wouldn't be surprised if it had turned up in Norway or China, but how it got to Saskatchewan I can't imagine."

A few days before she received the reply, she mentioned to her 10-year-old daughter Barbara that there was very little chance of the letter showing up.

The reply signed by Bernil Rayle, Isham, Sask., stated, "I should have sent this some time ago but it was soaked when I found it and I put it up to dry and ran across it lately."

Isham is about 2,000 miles away from Huntingdon. To get there, the letter would have to climb about 2,000 ft.—Huntingdon is 163 ft. above sea level while Isham is 2,233 above sea level.

Trout river is a tributary of the Chateauguay river which flows into the St. Lawrence. The nearest waterway to Isham is the South Saskatchewan river, but there is no inland water-route between the two. The only water connection through Hudson Bay, the Nelson River and Lake Winnipeg, would be an impossible course as the bottle would have had to flow 2333 ft. uphill from Hudson Bay to Isham.

The reply didn't state exactly where the bottle was found although the statement that it was "wet" makes Mrs. Jolley think it must have been picked up in the river and until she hears differently, she says she's working on the presumption that water can flow uphill.

U.S. Swine and Swine Products Prohibited

Ottawa.—Effective immediately all imports into Canada from the United States of swine, uncooked pork, pork products, pork offal and garbage is prohibited under authority of the Animal Contagious Diseases Act, it was announced recently by Dr. T. Childs, Veterinary Director General of the Federal Department of Agriculture.

This action was taken because of the prevalence in the United States of 'vesicular exanthema' a highly infectious disease of swine, which if introduced into Canada could cause serious damage to the Canadian swine industry.

Vesicular exanthema closely resembles foot and mouth disease, but it is entirely confined to swine, whereas foot and mouth disease affects cattle and sheep in addition to swine.

Huntingdon High School Board Announces Several Progressive Changes

Extra Room Made Ready, Increase in Teaching Staff and New Equipment

Encouraging and progressive changes, recommended by the Principal, have just been announced by the Huntingdon High School Board, under the Chairmanship of Mr. Charles Reid. Overcrowding in primary classes, due in part to the influx of pupils from Elgin and other districts, has made it impossible to operate these grades efficiently. To remedy this condition, the School Board has engaged the services of Mrs. Royce Ruddock, lately of Iona School, Montreal. Mrs. Ruddock will have charge of a combined Grade I and II as soon as a classroom can be made ready. A room in the old building is being redecorated for this purpose.

Another constructive move has been made in order to improve the facilities for teaching Science in Grades X and XI. The present course in Physics necessitates laboratory work and a considerable amount of apparatus, particularly in the sections on electricity and magnetism. Such equipment as voltmeters, ammeters, galvanometers and magneto generators is expensive and can only be purchased over a period of years, but it is hoped to make a good start at once and equip the Physics laboratory with about $1000 worth of new apparatus. A plan of far-reaching importance in the teaching of French is now being worked out. In the Elementary and lower High School grades, the subject will be handled by the class teacher, and the teachers have accepted this additional load with good grace and cheerful co-operation. This arrangement is not suitable for the senior High School grades, since French is one of the subjects compulsory for either High School Leaving or Matriculation, and a teacher capable of teaching French is still being sought.

Following is a list of the teaching staff for 1952 and the enrolment for each grade:—
Principal, Dr. H. S. Cook; Vice-Principal, Mrs. C. Brown; French, Vacant; Manual Training, Mr. H. Salisbury; Household Science, Miss B. Heikkinen; Music, Mr. Yates; Band, Mr. D. Moore; Class Teachers, Mrs. M. MacGregor, Mrs. S. Robb, Miss M. Pringle, Mrs. M. Mack, Mrs. F. McCracken, Miss M. MacMillan, Mrs. R. B. MacLean, Mrs. J. Baskin, Miss A. MacIntosh, Mrs. R. Ruddock.
The enrolment in the various grades at the school is as follows: Grade 1, 35; Grade 2, 35; Grades 1 and 2, 22; Grade 3, 28; Grade 4, 40; Grade 5, 29; Grade 6, 38; Grade 7, 34; Grade 8, 25; Grade 9, 25; Grade 10, 14; Grade 11, 8. Total enrolment to Friday, September 5th, 333.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Brown In Serious Accident in New York State

Mrs. Brown Killed Instantly, Mr. Brown Severely Injured as Result of Collision

The community was shocked to hear on Friday that Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence T. Brown, Wellington St., Huntingdon, met with an accident resulting in fatal injury to Mrs. Brown and severe injury to Mr. Brown.

They were returning from a trip to Toronto Exhibition when a car entering the highway three miles east of Batavia, N.Y., crashed into their car. An infant in the other car was killed and two ladies taken to hospital, one of them since reported to have died.

Mr. Brown is still in the Genesee Memorial Hospital at Batavia, N.Y. Mr. Hugh Brown, Westmount, brother of Lawrence, was notified and he took Lawrence's son, Arthur, to Batavia.

Details of the accident were obtained by Chief L'Heureux, who telephoned the New York State Police at Malone at 7 o'clock Friday night. Within an hour word came back that Mrs. Brown was dead and Lawrence in hospital at Batavia, where the accident happened shortly after one o'clock.

Leaving Lawrence with injured shoulder, broken arm, chest injuries, bruises and shock, Arthur and Hugh Brown returned to Huntingdon with the remains of Mrs. Brown on Sunday morning.

Rev. Thos. Knowles went to Orms-ton on Saturday morning and with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Barrington, broke the sad news to Mrs. Albert Struthers, mother of Mrs. Brown.

Mrs. Struthers was grief-stricken when she was told that her daughter had come to Huntingdon to comfort her grandson, Arthur.

The funeral took place at the United Church, Huntingdon, on Tuesday, with Rev. Mr. Knowles and Dr. J. B. Maclean officiating.

The pallbearers were Archie Hampson, Gordon Anderson, Harold McLean, Charles Reid, H. Bickford.

Seven Valleyfield People Injured In Auto Accident at Malone

Plunge Off Abutment of Former Trout River Bridge

A holiday visit across the border to Malone ended on a serious note for five members of one Canadian family and two from another as a result of an accident Monday evening, Sept. 1st, on an abandoned road on the extension of Elm Street past the Rock Spring Farm.

The injured included five children, ranging in ages from three to 15, and the worst injured was a 14-year-old girl. All were from Valleyfield.

State Police at Troop B said the Morris Van in which they were riding went off the abutment of the former Trout River bridge and plumed over 25 feet to the river bed below. The van landed on its top.

The group had been picnicking in the area West of the bridge. Instead of returning in the direction from which they came, the driver, Edward Daoust, proceeded East on the abandoned road toward where the bridge was once located but which was removed several years ago, police said.

The injured included: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Daoust and their three children, Christian, Pierrette and Francian, all of 30 Jacques Cartier St., Valleyfield, and two other children who were passengers in the car, Suzanne and Francis Daoust, children of Mr. and Mrs. Hector Daoust, of 231 Jacques Cartier St., Valleyfield.

Former Huntingdon Man Loses Life By Drowning

Boat Capsizes on Lake Near His Home At Rouyn, Quebec

A former Huntingdon man lost his life on Sunday, August 31st, when a holiday excursion turned into a tragedy. Clifford Brethour, brother of Walter and Joseph and Mrs. Robert Donnelly, of Huntingdon, Que., was drowned when his boat capsized on Lake Caron, near Bellefleur, about twenty miles from Rouyn, Que.

The accident occurred about 2 p.m. when Brethour and a companion, Peter Geslin of Noranda, were making a sharp turn close to shore, on the way to the former's summer camp. Geslin managed to escape and friends recovered the body of Brethour at 7 o'clock that night in twelve feet of water.

Clifford Brethour is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Charles Brethour, of Huntingdon, Que., and resided in Huntingdon until about the year 1928. At one time he worked at the late C. H. Lamb store and is well known to many people here. After leaving Huntingdon he settled at Rouyn, where he married. He worked in various capacities in the mines and at the time of his death was an employee of the Queumont mine as a cable inspector.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his wife and five children, three brothers, Charles at Rouyn and Walter and Joseph, Huntingdon, and also a sister, Mrs. Robert Donnelly of Huntingdon.

The funeral services were held at the United Church in Noranda, on Thursday afternoon, September 4th and interment was made in the cemetery at Rouyn. His brothers and sister from Huntingdon attended the funeral.

No inquest was held, the verdict being accidental death.

Juveniles On Parole Steal Car

Car Smashed, Injuries Suffered by Youths

Two juveniles recently paroled from a reform school were apprehended on September 3rd, this time on a charge of stealing a car belonging to Morris Pringle of 28 Bouchette Street, Huntingdon.

The car, a Chevrolet coach, 1947, value $1300.00, was parked at the said premises on the night of Sept. 2nd and 3rd and was taken during the night by the two juveniles. Later the car was found on the Athelstan Road in front of Mr. Archie Hayter's farm, in a damaged condition.

Apparently the thieves had difficulty in rounding a curve near the farm and went into the ditch and smashed into a power pole. The pole was broken off, the front end of the car badly damaged and the broken pole had further damaged the car, making it practically a total loss. Both boys were injured as was discovered when the arrest was made at their homes the following day. They were taken to the Huntingdon County Hospital and there treated by Dr. Paul Girard. One had an injury to his nose and a cut over the left eye, while the other suffered an injury to the forehead.

Chief J. L'Heureux made the arrest and the boys were taken to Valleyfield, where they appeared on Tuesday and were each sentenced to two years in the Penitentiary at St. Vincent de Paul.

Braves Hockey Team to Start Training

First Exhibition Game September 21st

Valleyfield Braves, of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, are officially opening up their training camp at Valleyfield Arena next Tuesday afternoon, September 16th, at 2:30 p.m. when some 40 old and new players will report to coach Hector "Toe" Blake.

There is no doubt that Braves will make about seven changes on their line-up for the 1952-53 hockey season. Some forwards who have been in Valleyfield for a few years will make way for younger and more promising talent. What these changes will be, Blake would not say, but he assured President Arthur Vinet, at a press conference over the weekend, that Braves will be right in there when the opening whistle blows for the Q.S.H.L. season.

Mr. Vinet also announced that Braves have booked two pre-season exhibition games. Montreal Canadiens, of the National Hockey League, will meet the rejuvenated Braves in an exhibition tilt at Valleyfield Arena on Sunday afternoon, September 21st, 2:30 p.m. with such stars as Maurice Richard, Doug Harvey, Butch Bouchard, Gerry McNeil and others on their line-up.

Fishermen Proud Of Co-op Success

PORT BICKERTON, N.S., (CP)—A group of fishermen in this eastern Nova Scotia port turned business men, and they like it. It's three years now since they pooled their wits and their equipment, and decided to strike out on their own.

They formed a co-operative and built a processing plant which now has a yearly business turnover of nearly $250,000.

Leonard Hiltz, a crew member on one of the co-op's sword-fishing boats, likes the system because the men are running their own business.

"We have no middleman to look after," he says, "and we get all there is in it."

Modern equipment has helped the organization to forge ahead. The fishermen have forsaken their old boats for long-liners equipped with modern navigation equipment and refrigeration, which are able to stay on the fishing grounds a week at a time.

and was bred by George W. Fraser, Dundee, Que. her present owner being Howard C. Fraser, also of Dundee.

While she was not entered in the R.O.P. until she was 3 years, 104 days of age, and was not entered in the R.O.P. during her eighth, ninth and ten year old lactation periods, she nevertheless has an official lifetime production record of 81,321 lbs. milk, 3,957 lbs. butterfat, in 9 lactations. During her first test period, commenced at 3 years, 104 days of age, she produced 9,378 lbs. milk at 5.13% and in her second official lactation period she produced 10,772 lbs. milk at 5.10%. Her average butterfat test during these 9 official test periods works out at almost 4.8% butterfat. All her records having been made under ordinary farm conditions.

Hundred Thousand Pounds

However, if she had been under official test during her 2, 8, 9 and 10 years of age lactation periods, the milk she produced during these periods would doubtless have qualified for the Hundred Thousand Pound milk production class. It has been estimated that her actual milk production during her entire lifetime works out at over 117,000 lbs. During her last R.O.P. test period, commenced at 14 years of age, she produced 9,235 lbs. milk at 4.6%, average test 4.6%. While on the day her photograph was made she was apparently still producing a creditable amount of milk.

Classified "Very Good"

In her younger days, Sherwood Edna Fox established a creditable snow-fox record and is therefore a former grand champion of Ormstown Exhibition.

In 1941 she was type classified "Very Good" under the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club Type Classification Plan. The official classifier being Prof. Alex R. Ness of Macdonald College.

She was sired by Maxwell Sultan's Baron "78181", an outstanding bull which sired a number of fine females in the Jersey herd of William Munro, Martintown, Ont., before he was purchased for service at Sherwood Farm.

HOLSTEINS AT C.N.E.

As the saying goes, "the Holsteins stole the show at the Canadian National Exhibition," with an exhibit of 285 head shown by 84 exhibitors. The judge was Professor Alex R. Ness of Macdonald College. Although not a closed show, the C.N.E. was designated as the Regional Championship show for the West-Central Ontario district, comprising the counties of Peel, Halton, Wentworth, Lincoln, Welland, Hamilton, Brant, Waterloo, Wellington and Grey. The majority of the entries were therefore from that area and all ten of these counties had entries in the County Herd class. The first prize in same went to Peel County.

The first prize junior yearling bull, as also the junior champion male was Pomona Sovereign Paopose for Hays Farms Ltd., Oakville, Ont.

Spring Farm Fond Hope won the 3 year old bull class and the senior and grand male championships for J. M. Fraser, Streetsville, Ont. This being the third consecutive C.N.E. grand championship won by that bull.

J. M. Fraser also won first in the senior yearling heifer class and the junior female championship on Spring Farm Fond Dora. That heifer being a daughter of the grand champion bull.

Miss Linnea Lindgren Describes Visit to Finland

Trip Was A Reward From Parents For Honours Gained While at College

Miss Linnea Lindgren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Lindgren, St. Francis Rod and Gun Club, Port Lewis, Que., returned recently from Helsinki, Finland, after visiting relatives and viewing the Olympic games. Miss Lindgren who is still in her teens, left Montreal's Dorville Airport, on June 20th, and her first stop was London, England, after which she went on to Copenhagen, and then to Helsinki, Finland. Linnea reports that her trip over was very nice, although towards the end she suffered slightly from air-sickness.

Lady in White
At this point in the ceremony an unplanned incident took place. A lady in white attire appeared from the audience and made her way around the stadium. As the officials of the Olympic Committees were busy taking pledges and oaths they did not notice this until she reached the platform. Here she went at once to the 'mike' and in the Finnish language said 'My Friends'. As she made her way around the stadium she was speaking about peace but as soon as the officials noticed her she was hurriedly removed. Although her identity was not known or released it was believed by many that she was a communist who was endeavouring to arouse a disturbance. This little incident caused some excitement although it only lasted a few minutes.

Several Dignitaries

Miss Lindgren spent several hours of her first few days in Helsinki swimming at the Olympic Stadium and here she met many of the Canadian and American members of their respective Olympic Teams. At a concert given later for the Olympic Committees, Linnea was a guest and was introduced to the President of Iceland and Mr. Sidney Dawes, one of two presidents of the Canadian Olympic Association.

Stayed With Relatives

In Helsinki, Linnea was hospitably entertained by her grandfather and many other relatives. She was thereby enabled to see a great part of her parents' native land. As a little girl she had been taught by her mother to speak the Finnish language, and although she had forgotten much in the meantime she was surprised how it all seemed to come back so quickly. She met many relatives and friends of her parents, but, she says, "It would take me two years to meet them all".

Olympic Games

Soon after her arrival, Linnea was treated to the Opening Ceremonies of the Olympic Games held at Olympic Stadium in Helsinki. Although this ceremony was marred by heavy rain, this being the worst summer ever experienced, so it was claimed, she was extremely impressed and enjoyed every minute of it. During the time of the competitions the streets of Helsinki were lined with tourists, some from almost every country, colour, creed, and race in the world. The ceremonies started with a Parade featuring the 70 countries with teams in the Olympics. Each country was introduced by its name on a banner followed by the flag and then the team. This parade circled the stadium and then assembled on the green. The next event of interest was the torch to be placed on the tower to burn throughout the Olympic Games and to be extinguished at the closing ceremonies. As another feature, thousands of the doves were freed at one end of the stadium with the idea that they were to carry a message of peace to every corner of the world.

Each section or province of the country has a native dress consisting of a pleated skirt with white shirt and black waist. Being somewhat similar in that respect to Scotland with its Clans Tartans. The different provinces have different colours and perhaps the head-dresses are of a little difference among young people and depicting the fact that some business circles staff parties are held at Christmas time at which liquor is served.

Famed Finnish Baths
The famed Finnish Steam Baths were very much enjoyed by Linnea. She related how every farm home has a steam bath which is a room laid with stones, under which a fire is lit. When the stones are red hot, water is poured over them thereby creating the steam. It is the custom there to take two baths of this sort a week depending on the condition of the patient's health. Following the steam bath, there is a wash room, and then on to the dressing room. While taking a bath of this sort, the circulation is increased by beating oneself with birch branches. These baths are very relaxing, stimulating and invigorating.

Churches Built by Catholics 700 Years Ago
In the early days of history the only religion in Finland was Roman Catholic. Then Luther converted the Finlanders to what is today known as the Lutheran Religion. Approximately 700 years ago the early Catholics built many quaint churches in which beautiful masonry was displayed. Fortunately during the many battles since that time, few of these were destroyed, thus many still stand. Linnea and her friends were shown through one of these churches and she tells us that there are huge and very beautiful paintings on the walls and work in styling and architecture is beyond words. These old churches have been preserved and spared through the troubled state of the world for 700 years.

Like Canada
As to the scenery she was impressed by the silver willow trees, which are very prominent in Finland. When the sun's rays strike the silver coated leaves the tree looks like it was dipped in solid silver, and feels, when touched, like velvet.

The scenery there is much like Canada and the climate is much the same although the winters are more severe. It is not uncommon for the temperature to fall to 30° below and in the northern section it gets even colder. The summer is the tourist season and is usually very warm.

As in Canada, there are a great many lakes. It has been named the "Country of 60,000 lakes". All of these are equally beautiful. It resembles our Laurentians but the hills are not as high.

The main method of travel is by bus and train and there are very few paved roads. Even the main highways between two large cities are gravel which have been little treated to keep down the dust.

The hospitals in this country are very large, clean, and very well staffed. One of the outstanding experiences of her trip was Linnea's visit to the Summer Theatre. Here she saw many Finnish plays and enjoyed them immensely. The Summer Theatre in Finland is very common.

Chateauguay
St. Andrew's Notes
CHATEAUGUAY — Mr. Arthur Higgenbotham, student in charge of the United Church Mission at Caughnawaga, conducted the Sunday morning service in St. Andrew's United Church and preached effectively from John 1: 46.

The choir under the direction of Mrs. Hartland Rowell rendered the Anthem, "Thy Kingdom Come, O Lord."

Missionary Meeting
The Woman's Missionary Auxiliary resumed its monthly meetings on Wednesday, Sept. 3, at the home of Mrs. H. Kennedy, The Heights.

The president, Miss R. M. McFarlane presided and conducted the devotional exercises.

Mrs. N. E. Jack was appointed secretary for the afternoon in the absence of Mrs. W. J. Reid.

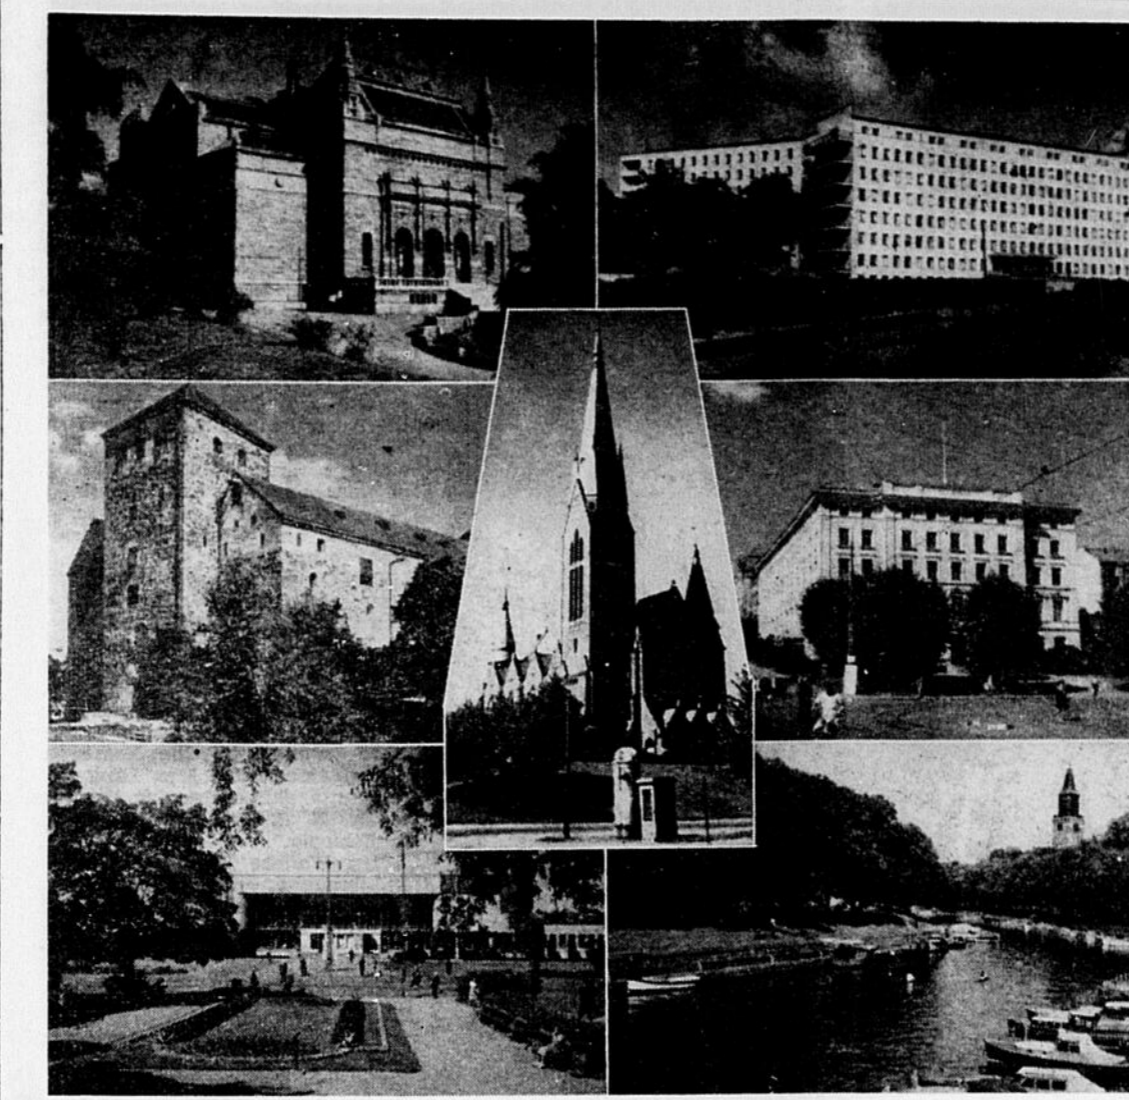

During the business period reports from the various secretaries of departments were given.

The corresponding secretary, Mrs. David Lang, reported having sent birthday, convalescent and sympathy cards to members and read acknowledgements of same.

The Treasurer, Mrs. E. R. Richardson reported having forwarded $128.12 to the Presbyterial Treasurer for the first six months.

Mrs. George Lobban, Supply secretary had sent a Bale of clothing to Toronto for Overseas Relief.

The Temperance Secretary, Mrs. Ernest Smith read an article noting the increase of social drink-

Through Occupied Zone
Linnea told us that during a train ride they were scheduled to pass through a part of Finland which is occupied by the Russians. Here she expected to see some interesting sights, but, to her disappointment, the shades were drawn and no one was allowed to look out, or to be left off the train. The Russians still occupy about 10% of Finland, the Finnish people burning their homes as they fled before the invaders during the war.

The hospitals in this country are very large, clean, and very well staffed. One of the outstanding experiences of her trip was Linnea's visit to the Summer Theatre. Here she saw many Finnish plays and enjoyed them immensely. The Summer Theatre in Finland is very common.

Midnight Sun
Among its characteristics which are different from many countries of the world is that of the Midnight Sun.

It is light enough at midnight that a person can read a newspaper and not need any extra light. This discovery baffled Linnea and she found she could not sleep, the end of the day never having come. This season starts around the 24th of June and lasts a month. The season for the midnight sun was coming to a close as Linnea left on her return trip.

On her return trip she travelled a different route. From Copenhagen she travelled to London where she spent a week and saw many of the points of interest of that city. From London they proceeded to Iceland and then on to Labrador and back to Montreal. Through a coincidence the same Captain was in charge of the plane on which she travelled over and back.

Plans to Study Medicine
Miss Lindgren was given this trip as a gift from her parents as a reward for her success with honours after studying a year at St. Helen's College for Girls, Dunham, Que. She took her public schooling in Montreal and has been a student at St. Helen's for the past four years.

At the beginning of the fall term she will again return there to study either medicine or commercial art. Here is a young girl with personality, adventure minded, combined with studious and earnest qualities, who will some day make a citizen of whom her family and friends will be extremely proud.

Beauharnois has its share in heightening the toll of highway accidents this week when Cornelius Laplante, 71, of 45 Beauce Road, died in a Valleyfield hospital early Friday, after being hit on the highway by a taxi driven by Eugene Faubert, 39, of 12 St. Lawrence St., Beauharnois.

The touch of chill in the air throughout the week-end reminded us of the nearing approach of shorter days and winter evenings, with the children back at school, a new era of fall and winter activities return. The gardens look sad and forlorn, the trees donning their fall dress of beautiful colors. The heat of summer wanes and is soon a memory of relaxation and sun tanning, as we enter this season of pleasant aromas, raking leaves and a time of Thanksgiving for days gone by and still to come. We step into the fall with renewed vigour and thankful hearts for a wonderful spring and summer!

Havelock Fair For 1952

NEXT Wednesday, September 17th, the last of the Fall Fairs in this area will take place at Havelock. It will probably be the last of the outdoor events for this season, as the weather is getting to be such that outdoor entertainment is too uncertain. Usually Havelock is graced with good weather for its one-day fair and we hope that this will be the case again this year.

Much is to be crowded into the one day at Havelock this year, there being the usual number of events and in addition a Red and White Show and a Jersey Parish Show are scheduled. It is always a busy day for everyone and especially the judges. It has been a busy time for the fair officials as many new arrangements have had to be made to accommodate the two special features of the dairy cattle sections. The entertainment of the patrons has not been forgotten and the Horse Drawing contest which was such an excellent feature in last year's show, will again be a part of the fair with several improvements.

For the past few years several improvements have been made in Havelock Fair and the patrons have remarked on the betterment. One thing that remains the same is the friendly atmosphere that prevails throughout and among the patrons and fair officials. This is one of the prominent features which has been carried along from olden times and which make the day so attractive for all who visit the fair. There being no other place where patrons can obtain a meal, the provision of the noon-day dinner in the dining hall is greatly appreciated and patronized. It means a lot of work for those in charge, but they go about it in a cheery manner and are solicitous for the welfare of all partaking of the meal. There is always plenty to eat and the friendly service makes this a pleasant part of the fair.

We again urge all those who have not visited this fair, or have not attended for several years, to plan to attend this year. You will find much to entertain you in the exhibits and in the various booths, as well as the many other features and we do not believe you will regret the time you take off for the visit.

Doctor Comes Under The Draft

RURAL districts find it increasingly impossible to obtain doctors to look after the sick. Huntingdon passed through this stage a few years ago and the older doctors found it quite hard to keep up with the pace. This was during a war when young doctors were being pressed into the service and less and less were available for civilian service.

Apparently our neighboring border town of Fort Covington, N.Y., is being placed in a somewhat similar position by the fact that its young doctor has been classed I-A by the Draft Board and is therefore likely to be called. Incidentally, this young doctor is a Canadian and was invited to Fort Covington to set up practice due to the shortage of doctors there. He has since given splendid service and as the only other doctor there, is in poor health, the citizens feel they cannot spare him. At one time Fort Covington had four resident doctors, but at present it has only two, with most of the work falling on one. The two doctors are Dr. F. G. Ronan (the one subject to draft call) and Dr. P. W. Gorman (who is not in good health). Dr. Gorman, in the event that Dr. Ronan is called by the Draft, would not carry on alone as he could not stand the terrific pressure of day and night service. He is one of those doctors who had to work so hard during the period of World War II and has been weakened physically as a result.

Not only do these doctors give service in the community of Fort Covington, but they are often called to administer to people on this side of the border, the neighboring Dundee, Que. It is estimated that 5,025 people depend upon these doctors to give them the medical attention and service which they require. This means much travelling

Car-Driving Courses For Students

NEWSPAPER reporters and editorial writers have given a lot of time and column space to draw public attention to the ever mounting accident toll upon our highways. Accidents and their prevention have been dealt with from every conceivable angle, or so we thought, until a short time ago when a local teenager placed a clipping from the "Canadian High News" on the editor's desk, together with a few of his personal thoughts on the subject. Trust our youth to come up with something new and we believe the idea has merit and pass it on, through these columns, to give others something to think about in the way of future accident prevention.

The clipping informs us that several high schools, at the request of their student councils, have adopted an extra curriculum course of safe driving which is proving popular and useful where applied. Local automobile dealers supported the plan and supplied the schools with dual-controlled cars and a qualified instructor at various times during the school days. The principal features of an automobile, driving instructions and what actions to take in emergencies on the road, were all contained in the course and the diploma to successful students was their driving license. Looking over the details of the course, the students are taught more about a car and the driving of one than many people, who today have years of good driving behind them ever knew.

Once A Land Of Plenty

WHEN it comes to marketing its bumper wheat crop this year there is one old rival that Canada will not have to worry much about. This is the Argentine. Once, like Canada, it was a major exporter of wheat. Then under Senor Peron and his late wife, the Government stepped in Rigid export and import controls were established and agricultural marketing became a state monopoly. Last week, for the first time in its history, Argentina was forced to import wheat.

And wheat was not the only commodity Argentina was forced to import wheat.

A few months ago President Peron decreed one meatless day in the country's restaurants. Later he stepped this up to two. In the good old pre-Peron days Argentine beef consumption averaged around the astounding total of 300 pounds per capita annually, the highest in the world.

These incredible meat and grain shortages in apredominately agricultural country cannot be entirely blamed on government control of production and marketing. Drought was also a factor. But drought is something that agriculture the world over must occasionally expect. State control is a horse of a different color and one we would be advised to regard with the greatest caution in this country — Financial Post.

It may be that those people residing on this side of the border near to Fort Covington, could add their voices to the petition and thus help the citizens in retaining the services of this doctor whom they so badly need. We feel that if the right pressure is brought to bear on the authorities, that they will see that this is a case where an exception can be made and exemption granted. The need is not as desperate as that of World War II and until such times as it is, we feel that an exception should be made in this case and an exemption granted.

Under existing regulations it is comparatively easy for a person to obtain a permit to drive a car. A few hours behind the wheel, a short drive with an examiner and a few questions asked at that time generally get anyone a driver's license who seeks it. In view of our mounting accident rate is that enough? In our present system one person teaches another, but unfortunately many of the teachers are hardly fit persons to drive themselves, let alone instruct another, for invariably the bad driving habits of the older driver are instilled into the new driver, to the public danger.

Perhaps our young people have something in this idea. Statistics show that young and inexperienced drivers are a major accident cause. Here we have some young people accepting this inglorious fact, but trying to do something to correct it. If our young drivers are taught proper and safe driving and how to act in all possible foreseeable circumstances, it is reasonable to assume that eventually it will cause a downward trend in our accident rate among this class of drivers. Our schools successfully teach our youth to perform other actions as they approach their maturity and period of responsibility. It is not unreasonable to assume that they can properly instruct our young people in safe and proper handling of an automobile, which today is almost as an accepted part of our everyday lives as walking is itself. — Record-News, Smiths Falls.

Athelstan—A tailor shop is the latest addition to our growing village.

The new steel bridge across Trout River at D. Morrison's is now completed, and the crossing for the first time on Saturday. The abutments are solid pieces of masonry, the stones being large and thick, and splendidly laid, reflecting great credit not only on the contractor, Charles Crawford, but on the architect, Kirkland. The Dominion Bridge Company had the contract for the superstructure and were not long in getting it in place after the abutments were ready. The style is different from any previously built in this part of the country, being the low truss style, which makes a much stronger bridge than those of the high design, and sits well back on the abutments. It has a 14 foot roadway. It seems to be the general opinion that it is the best bridge of the four across the river, between Eglon and Godmanchester and if I mistake not, the cheapest.

The sale realized $1900, an average of $45 per head. The highest price paid for a bull was $80 bought by David Pringle. They ranged downwards to $12 for a July calf. R. R. Ness paid $38 for one, and Wm. Anderson $60 for another. The 8 bulls realized $287. The bidding was brisk for the cows, the highest price obtained being paid by Wm. Anderson. Mr. McCallum, manager of the Greenshield Farm at Danville, paid $75, $70, $61, $55 and $44 for as many head. C. G. ## They Will Cost a Lot

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

In a CBC broadcast of the meeting of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, Dr. Eugene Forsey, research director of the Canadian Congress of Labor, said: "Defence means a great deal more than building up armaments. It means fighting inflation. It means extending social security to our own people above all, it means building up the standard of living of the people of Europe and Asia and Africa by sharing with them some of our immense wealth." He admitted that "these things were not simple, or easy. They will cost a lot. They will mean higher taxes."

That is quite a mixed-bag as a program of economics. In the first place, Dr. Forsey says we must fight inflation, and he goes right on to propose that we do things which would increase inflation and endanger the present standard of social security enjoyed by our own people. He was dead right in saying that it would cost a lot in higher taxes. But that in turn would mean demands for higher wages, higher prices, more inflation, and eventual deflation and a lower standard of living for our own people.

What does Dr. Forsey mean by "our immense wealth"? It is true that we have immense potential wealth in our natural resources, but we have not made use of them. The things we produce from those resources. Does Dr. Forsey really believe that by sharing some of those products with the people of Europe, Asia and Africa we would be building up their standard of living? The best we could do by that means would be to relieve them for the time being. The standard of living of any country can only be built up permanently by the people themselves. There are immense natural resources in Asia and Africa that could provide as high a standard of living for the people of those continents as we have in Canada. Why has this potential wealth not been developed by those people?

To give a complete answer to that question we would have to trace the history of the people of those continents. India and China are ancient civilizations whose social structures and ways of life and thinking are today very much what they were two thousand and more years ago, in spite of the influence of Western democratic ideas. India undoubtedly advanced in that respect under British rule, but the Hindu caste system still oppresses millions of people with a sense of inferiority and futility; while the fatalism of their religion has rendered the Moslems careless and indolent. But they seem to be waking from their stupor with the acquisition of Pakistan. The Chinese are a more alert and enterprising people, but for long centuries they lived in isolation from the rest of the world and were ruled by a series of feudal dynasties which ended in national anarchy fifty years ago. Africa, with the exception of the North and South, is still peopled largely by savages to whom standards of living or any other standards mean nothing, and quite recently where they have come in contact with white people.

The British Empire has been the greatest civilizing and emancipating agency this world has ever known, and what progress has been made in all this in the last three hundred years has been due chiefly to ers find it profitable to feed grain to their stock.

St. James Church is having furnaces put in. As there is no basement the digging of a place for them was difficult work.

Athelstan—Those who admire the beauties of nature will be much grieved to see the destruction of so many beautiful trees on the Powerscourt road. This was one of the prettiest drives in the country, and it seems strange that the putting in of the new telegraph poles should necessitate such destruction.

It is not generally known that James Bell of the Township of Eglon has the largest herd of Holsteins in the Dominion. At the present time he has no fewer than 75 head of purebred stock and that after selling 17 calves. He raised 35 calves and has found ready sale for all he wants to dispose of. At Huntingdon Fair in aged bulls, the 1st and 2nd prizes went to animals bought from him; also in the 1st prize in two year old bulls. This experience with Holsteins has been favourable and he has been able to compare them with other breeds for he keeps several head of Ayreshires and Jerseys. While he would not recommend the Holstein to the farmer who does not intend to find them more profitable than any other breed where there is enough rough feed. Last summer he had several cows that gave 35 lbs. at a milking and that while they were on the grass, getting no extra feed. One morning he delivered at the creamery over 1800 lbs. of milk, representing 3 milkings. The Holsteins he finds to be invariably quiet and docile and giving much less trouble in caring for than other breeds.

The Week At Ottawa...

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's role as a leader in the free world's affairs — which is apt to be forgotten in the bustle of national events — was brought to the fore again last week with the departure of two cabinet ministers on international business.

External Affairs Minister Pearson, chairman of the council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, launched a round of talks at western capitals on new decisions to be taken in the west's defensive building in Europe.

Finance Minister Abbott left for Mexico City to represent Canada at the 10-day meeting of the International Monetary Fund. Its main objectives are to promote expansion and freedom of trade among the 54 member countries. To Canada — one of the world's biggest exporters — these aims are vital. Before he left, Mr. Abbott, in company with Premier Leslie Frost of Ontario, tied up an important piece of national business. They signed an agreement by which, for five years, Ontario will hand over tax-collecting rights in her personal income and corporation tax fields to the federal government in return for agreed annual payments.

N.A.T.O. Problem
Mr. Pearson used a speech at Toronto's Canadian National Exhibition to point up the problems faced by N.A.T.O. countries in their defence against what he called the Soviet "conspiracy."

Then he left on trips to Washington, London and Paris to confer with his opposite numbers in those capitals. The talks are in preparation for the N.A.T.O. council meeting in Paris in December.

At Toronto he predicted that "before too long" North Atlantic forces would become strong enough to stem effectively the threats of Russian imperialism — the cruelest, most concerted best organized conspiracy in all history."

He added a cautionary note. N.A.T.O. forces still aren't strong enough to ensure successful resistance against the initial assault of a sudden attack in Europe. In any third world war, the land defence and the air counter-attack to the initial assault "may be decisive."

For that reason, this was no time to falter or to hesitate, but one for "determined and intelligent effort to finish the immediate job ahead of us."

The immediate job was to fulfill the 1952 program to create 50 army divisions and assemble 4,000 aircraft in Western Europe. N.A.T.O. would then have to strike a delicate balance for future defence plans — a balance between demands for a lighter arms program and demands for enough arms to ensure adequate defence.

While abroad Mr. Pearson will give up the chairmanship of the N.A.T.O. council which he has held for a year. That will leave him free to take on other tasks outside his cabinet work. He has been often mentioned for the presidency of the United Nations General Assembly.

Mr. Abbott, before leaving for the International Monetary Fund meeting in Mexico City, said Canada will support "any measures which will increase convertibility of currencies and expand world trade."

That, basically, is the aim of the fund itself. It tries to have its member nations lower trade barriers — import quotas, high tariffs protecting home industry, and the like. It also tries to establish stable exchange rates and eliminate currency restrictions so that countries with "weak currencies" can more easily trade with the dollar markets of Canada and the United States.

The World Bank, also meeting in Mexico City, aims at reconstructing war-damaged countries and developing backward countries through loans for capital expansion.

In addition to attending the meetings of the two organizations, Mr. Abbott was expected to hold private talks with Commonwealth finance ministers. This would help set the stage for the Commonwealth economic conference in London next November.

Ontario Tax Pact
The Ontario tax-rental agreement signed by Mr. Abbott and Mr. Frost came as a complete surprise. Ontario and Quebec had abstained when all the other provinces signed the first post-war five-year agreement, which expired this spring. And until the surprise announcement by Mr. Frost, it was believed the two provinces would also abstain from the current five-year agreements signed by the other eight provinces. They began April 1, last.

Quebec now is the only province of the 10 which does not rent certain tax fields to the federal government. Premier Duplessis last week-end intimated his government would not follow Ontario's example. He said "as always we wish real co-operation established on a constitutional basis, but we are irrevocably opposed to assimilation, centralization and absorption."

The transfer of tax-collecting rights from the provinces to Ottawa began during the Second World War to enable the federal government to shoulder wartime obligations.

"Though travelling alone..."

Miss S. N., home from Europe, writes to thank her bank for the way the accountant helped her with money arrangements:

"Mr. W. expended considerable effort to arm me with details of various European currencies and methods of procedure, enabling me, though travelling alone, to avoid much of the delay and embarrassment encountered by many experienced travellers whom I met along the way. All of which contributed in no small degree to my comfort and enjoyment."

John Leslie and Sons Have Cow Stolen From Pasture

STE. AGNES - Some time on Thursday night, Aug. 28th, Mr. John Leslie and sons had a fine, young cow stolen from their pasture. The cow, which was due to freshen that day, was pasturing in a field on the Canadian-American border along with three other younger heifers and five calves. Mr. Leslie said they could see the cattle from the house quite easily and when, on Friday morning, they missed the cow they thought merely that she had hidden herself somewhere in the brush. The boys, Robert and Roy went out to search for her, thinking they would find her and her calf in hiding somewhere close by. They searched for three days, and on the Sunday, Roy and Sandy went down to the pasture on horseback, thinking that in this way they could cover more ground and have a better chance of finding some trace of her, but she was gone.

Mr. Leslie said she was an exceptionally quiet cow and had never once attempted to break through a fence. It was clear that someone had taken her very probably driven her out of the Leslie pasture into the adjoining field which is on the American side of the line. Once loaded in a truck, and her ear tag removed, she would in all probability be headed for down state. As Mrs. Leslie said, "I guess we'll never know what happened to her, or who was responsible for taking her. You may have your suspicions, but its mighty hard to prove them with no tangible evidence."

The cow, a five year old Holstein, was valued by Mr. Leslie at $250. That same night, Mr. Frank Holden, whose farm on the American side adjoins the Leslie farm, had five cattle stolen, three of his own and two pastures. It has gotten to be a pretty sorry state of affairs, when a man can't even feel at ease when his cattle are in his own pasture in the night, trying to cross the border continually on the alert lest they be whisked away at night as if by magic.

There have been at least two strange men seen in this area at different times during the past two weeks, and whether or not they are aliens, trying to cross the border, it is not known, but one does not feel exactly at ease when characters such as these are lurking about.

Dundee Intermediate School has the same two teachers in charge for this term as last: Mrs. Charles Fraser as principal, and Mrs. George Sutton, primary teacher. Shower for Bride-to-Be
A pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Rennie on Wednesday evening, Aug. 27th, when Mrs. Rennie and Miss Ellen Simpson, hostesses at a miscellaneous shower, given in honor of the approaching marriage of Miss Ellen Simpson. The bride-to-be was greatly taken by surprise on entering the tastefully decorated sitting room, where about 50 guests were seated, as she had been invited to attend a luncheon demonstration. Little Sharon Rennie and Laverne Hirsch drew in a well laden wagon and placed it in front of the bride, where she opened the gifts, assisted by her Eldest, Mr. Ward Simpson, and Lily Barr, and passed them on to the guests. After the daintily wrapped gifts had all been opened, Ellen very graciously thanked everyone for their kindness and invited all to visit her in her new home at Saratoga, N.Y. The remainder of the evening was spent in games, after which delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses and all left wishing Ellen much happiness in her new life.

Canadian Invented Present Time System
A Canadian engineer was the inventor of the Standard Time system in use all over the world today, it is pointed out in the new edition of Quick Canadian Facts, the handbook of facts about this country. Sir Sandford Fleming thought the scheme up in 1878 as a device for simplifying the chores of authors and readers of railroad timetables. Until Fleming's scheme was adopted every district or large community in the world operated on its own local mean time and every railroad in North America had its own time system or, if they were large enough, time systems.

Shower for Bride-to-Be
A pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Rennie on Wednesday evening, Aug. 27th, when Mrs. Rennie and Miss Ellen Simpson, hostesses at a miscellaneous shower, given in honor of the approaching marriage of Miss Ellen Simpson. The bride-to-be was greatly taken by surprise on entering the tastefully decorated sitting room, where about 50 guests were seated, as she had been invited to attend a luncheon demonstration. Little Sharon Rennie and Laverne Hirsch drew in a well laden wagon and placed it in front of the bride, where she opened the gifts, assisted by her Eldest, Mr. Ward Simpson, and Lily Barr, and passed them on to the guests. After the daintily wrapped gifts had all been opened, Ellen very graciously thanked everyone for their kindness and invited all to visit her in her new home at Saratoga, N.Y. The remainder of the evening was spent in games, after which delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses and all left wishing Ellen much happiness in her new life.

RECENT WEDDING IN HUNTINGDON

This picture was taken at a reception following the wedding of Miss Rejeanne Benoit, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roméo Benoit to Mr. Leo Baylake, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Baylake of Chateaugay, N.Y. The wedding took place at St. Joseph's Church, Huntingdon, recently.

Church News

Rev. Mr. Knowles of Huntingdon conducted service in Zion United Church, on Sunday. Rev. Mr. Knowles expressed his delight at seeing such a good congregation present. He reminded his listeners that the Church and Church life plays a very vital part in any community, and without Christian leadership all is doomed. As the parish grows, the Church must grow. Mr. Knowles will again be in charge of the service which will be held in the afternoon at 2:15 p.m.

Missions Band
The September meeting of the Sunbeam Mission Band was held in the Sunday School rooms on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 7th. The meeting was conducted by Rev. Mr. Knowles. The Worship service opened with the singing of "Praise Him, Praise Him, all ye little children," with Mrs. Wm. Leslie as pianist. Winston Armstrong read a Bible verse from Acts 20, and Mrs. Lester Fraser, leader of the group, read a "Child's Prayer." At the close of the service, the Secretary, Myrna Waterston read the minutes of the previous meeting which were adopted as read. The children and their leader, Mrs. Fraser, made plans for a candy sale to take place on Monday, Sept. 15th, in the school. It is hoped that the members will make a special effort to get their candy to the school on that date.

The collection, which amounted to $95, was taken up by Karen Elder. Mrs. Fraser read the children's chapter from the Mission Band Sunday Book, "The Three Herms and Mrs. Hornicle," which all find quite amusing. The meeting closed with the members repeating the Mission Band Purpose and the singing of one of the best loved of children's hymns, "Jesus Loves Me."

The Allens have Wonderful Trip
Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Allen and family, James, Elizabeth and Edna of Carstairs, Alberta have just recently returned to their home after spending several weeks with Mr. Allen's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Roma Allen. The Allens, who own a large dairy farm in Alberta, left home on July 22nd. They crossed the Canadian border at Montana and travelled through such states as Colorado, Wyoming, Kansas and Illinois, making a total mileage of 8,000 miles when they reached their brother's home here in Ste. Agnes. When going through Wyoming they visited the Yellowstone National Park, America's most celebrated wonderland. Here are found no fewer than 4,000 hot springs and 100 geysers, the most famous one being "Old Faithful," which has an eruption every 70 minutes and throws a jet of water 75 to 125 feet in the air.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen were not dependent on overnight cabins or tourist homes for their lodging, as they carried their own tent which they set up whenever they wished to stop for the night. They also had a Coleman camp stove with them, plus all necessary cooking utensils, and bought their provisions along the route as they were needed. This, they found, proved to be a very economical way of travelling, especially when there is a family involved.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen live a distance of only 35 miles from the Canadian Rockies, so that our mountains here are mere hills to them. The Allens left Ste. Agnes on Aug. 27th and arrived at Carstairs on Sept. 2nd, travelling a distance of 2,800 miles on their return trip.

Mr. Guy Allen, the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Roma Allen, accompanied his uncle and aunt to their home in Alberta, where he expects to visit for several weeks.

Local Boys Employed in Labrador
Mr. Charles Latulipe of Ste. Agnes and Mr. Claude Quessel of Glenelg left by train from Montreal on Sept. 20th for Mont Joli. From there they boarded one of the planes of the Hallinger-Ungava Air Transport and were flown to the Airfield at Goose Bay, Labrador. They were then taken to work camps owned by the iron company by whom they are employed. Messrs. Latulipe and Quessel are working with construction crews laying the Quebec, North Shore and Labrador Railway, the first major strip of railroad to be laid on this continent in 35 years. This railroad will form a 360-mile lifeline to and from Canada's new iron mines in the hinterlands of Labrador and Quebec's Ungava district. This major piece of work was begun last year, and company officials expect that by the end of next year construction will be completed. Because of the ruggedness of the country, everything used for the construction of the railroad is flown in by air road-graders, earth-loaders, giant tractors and even power-shovels, ranging up to 20 tons. The transporting of this heavy machinery is done by the Hollinger-Ungava Transport, the only outfit of its kind in Canada, being confined strictly to iron company business. It carries only passengers who are employed by, or are a part of the iron company business and the planes are known as "flying freight cars."

Messrs. Latulipe and Quessel are engaged for a seven month period, and if they remain with the company for that length of time they will have all travelling expenses paid.

They are both enjoying their experience in this barren part of Canada. Camp life they find to be very congenial as the camp they are living in houses for the most part, French Canadians. The weather at this time of year is very similar to what we are having here, but the winter weather in Labrador is considerably colder than ours. Temperatures sometimes fall to 50° below zero and the snow fall is quite heavy. However, men living and working in the North are usually dressed to combat the cold and they do not seem to mind, too much, the sub-zero temperatures.

Labels Us "Generation Of Libidinous Readers"

Swinging out at unscrupulous publishers and authors who are flooding Canadian newsstands with cheap editions of dirty books, Dr. Gordon Bates, general director of the Health League of Canada, submits that "we have neglected spiritual values and have created a generation of libidinous readers." It is true that in our mad rush for material wealth we have neglected cultural teaching in our schools and universities, elevating the importance of technical teaching to enable one to make a living about that of teaching us how to live? And is it possible that such factors as these have encouraged the growth of a group of greedy and unscrupulous authors and publishers?

Dr. Bates warmly commends "those individuals and groups who are risking ridicule from the ignorant and envious by publicly calling attention to a situation which is no less dangerous because most people are too indolent to do anything about it."

PORK IS PLENTIFUL

Thrifty meal planners can have variety in their meals and help the family food budget by keeping up to date on market supplies and prices. They will know that all meat is available in plentiful supply and right now pork is one of the best buys. This should please most appetites for, with cooler days approaching, the family will enjoy a good rib roast of pork served either hot or cold.

too which can be seen at meat counters these days. Probably the most familiar is the leg of pork or fresh ham. It is divided into the shank and butt ends, both of which may be roasted. One or two slices are sometimes cut off the shank end and these can be either baked or braised as fresh ham steaks.

The loin may be divided and sold as three different loin roasts — the ham end, the centre and the rib end. To make two meals of a rib or centre loin roast, have your butcher cut off a few rib chops, then roast the rest of it. Be sure to have the back bone cut through so that the roast may be easily carved by slicing between the ribs. In this way, each serving has a good proportion of meat and bone. The ham end of the loin roast is the one which has the tenderloin. It is often removed and sold as a separate cut.

Shoulder roasts are sometimes sold as "fresh picnic" and "Boston butt". These cuts may be bought either bone in or boneless. One of the most important points in cooking pork is that it should be cooked to the well done stage. At this stage the pork has completely lost its pink colour and is greyish-white throughout. If a meat thermometer is used it will register an internal temperature of 185° F. Pork should be roasted with out water on a rack in an uncovered pan, fat side up, in a 300° F. oven for 40-45 minutes per pound for leg or loin roasts and for 50-60 minutes for shoulder roasts. Spareribs rank high among meat favourites and there are almost as many versions of this popular meat dish as there are cooks. Barbecued spareribs are a special treat for buffet suppers for the young crowd. To make them easier to serve, have the butcher cut them into serving size pieces, about three inches in length, with about three ribs to each serving. Allow at least two pounds for 3-4 servings.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture suggest that spareribs should first be browned for 30 minutes, uncovered in a 350° F. oven then covered with a favourite barbecue sauce and cooked, covered, for about 30 minutes longer. The pan is then uncovered and the spareribs cooked 20 minutes longer until they are crisp and brown. The home economists have this recipe for barbecue sauce made with canned tomatoes which gives the spareribs a rich, red colour. This recipe makes enough sauce for two pounds of spareribs.

Barbecue Sauce for Spareribs 2 cups canned tomatoes 1 tablespoon spicy meat sauce 1 teaspoon chili powder 1 teaspoon dry mustard 2 tablespoons brown sugar 2 tablespoons vinegar 1/4 cup chopped onion Salt and pepper to taste.

Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly.

Another way to prepare spareribs is to cook them completely, then dip into a barbecue sauce when they are served. To do this bake in a 325° F. oven, on a rack, in an uncovered pan for one hour. A third way to serve spareribs is stuffed. For these, allow three-quarters of a pound for each person. Use two sides of spareribs or about three pounds for four servings. Place one side of the rib hollow side up on a rack in an uncovered pan. Spread with bread dressing then cover with a second side of ribs, hollow side down. Skewer or tie together and roast uncovered in a 325° F. oven for one hour or until tender. To carve, cut between the ribs giving each person two or three ribs with dressing between.

TO CAN OR FREEZE PEACHES Peaches may be canned either cold or hot pack method. In either case, a moderately thin syrup made with one cup of sugar to one and one-half cups of water is used.

COLD PACK:—Blanch peaches 15-20 seconds, dip in cold water. Remove skins and pits. Drop in brine bath made with 1 teaspoon salt in quart water. Drain. Leave in halves or slice. Pack cups down if halved. Cover with boiling syrup leaving half inch headspace with glass sealers and one-quarter inch headspace with tin cans. To help prevent any possible darkening of light-colored fruits, ascorbic acid (Vitamin C) may be added to the sealer just before filling with fruit. The suggested amount of ascorbic acid is 200 milligrams for each quart and 150 milligrams for each pint. When the processing is complete and the sealer is cold, invert for a short time to distribute the dissolved ascorbic acid more evenly. Process in a boiling water bath 20 minutes for pint sealers or 20 oz. cans and 25 minutes for quart sealers or 28 oz. cans.

HOT PACK:—Blanch peaches 15-20 seconds, dip in cold water. Remove skins and pits. Drop in brine bath. Drain. Leave in halves or slice. Bring to boil in syrup and simmer three minutes. Pack hot leaving one-half inch headspace for glass sealers and one-quarter inch headspace for tin cans. Process in a boiling water bath 15 minutes for pint sealers or 20 oz. cans and 15 minutes for quart sealers or 28 oz. cans. If the peaches are to be oven canned, they should be processed in the oven for 25 minutes at 275° F.

FREEZING PEACHES:—Frozen

peaches are a very acceptable product. Peaches discolor readily and special care should be given to special treatment to prevent darkening. The following method has been found effective. Use 200 milligrams of ascorbic acid per cup of syrup. Crush tablets and dissolve in syrup. While the use of ascorbic acid will prevent discoloration in peaches, it adds considerably to the cost. To freeze peaches, choose firm ripe peaches, blanch in boiling water one-half to one minute then dip in cold water. Remove skins and pits, then slice fruit directly into syrup in containers. Use a cold moderately thin syrup made by adding one cup of sugar to one and one-half cups of water.

Franklin Centre

Franklin Centre W.I. The regular monthly meeting of the Franklin Centre W.I., was held on Friday at the home of Mrs. John Rowe with an attendance of 16. Mrs. O. H. Trainer, President, was in the Chair. Mrs. A. Rowe and Mrs. F. Rowe were also hostesses. Following the opening exercises and the reading of the minutes, the Treasurer Mrs. J. Bruce reported a substantial balance to be in the Treasury.

A Request from the County President, Mrs. Bernhardt, to hold the Semi-Annual County Meeting in Franklin was considered. A letter was read re the formation of listening Radio groups in which Mrs. Wallace Kerr of Howick stated that 5 of 6 members were needed to form one.

As Mrs. W. Hope has moved to Howick, Mrs. E. J. Blair was appointed to be Convener of Education until the March election. Twenty cents per member is to be collected for the A.C.W.W. fund to help entertain Overseas delegates to the August 1953 Convention, which will be held in Toronto.

Ways of raising money for W.I. work was discussed. Mrs. J. Bruce Convener of Education read a couple of articles on W.I. work in England. Mrs. W. Blair read an article on the subject of being brought back to life if the heart failed in an operation — 6 out of 7 are now revived by massage of the heart by the surgeon. A paper on Mind Your Manners was read by Miss A. Cain. A beautiful letter by Mrs. O. Harvey and Miss Cain was enjoyed by all and a singing led by these ladies brought an enjoyable meeting to a close. Following the singing of the National Anthem the meeting adjourned when refreshments were kindly served by the hostesses.

Mustard A Cash Crop

While farmers in Eastern Canada fight the mustard plant in their crops, there is a section in Southern Alberta where the production of commercial mustard seed is big business. It is reported that 50,000 acres are in mustard seed and a yield of 25 million pounds of cleaned seed is expected. The present market for mustard seed is in United States. Formerly mustard seed from Alberta was exported to Great Britain.

EAR VS. NOSE

One of the causes of impaired hearing is infection of the middle ear, often the result of forcible blowing of the nose, which drives infection through the small passage between throat and ear. Children should be taught to blow the nose gently, first one nostril and then the other. By using disposable tissues, other people are protected when the victim of a cold or cough sneezes. Whooping cough, too, may leave its victim with some form of ear trouble or deafness. Before entering school, every child should be given a thorough medical examination with special attention to his hearing. Children who are considered slow at learning are often simply a little hard of hearing, a condition that is often amenable to treatment.

HUNTINGDON W.I. The regular monthly meeting of the Huntingdon W.I. was held on Tuesday afternoon, September 2nd, in the Huntingdon High School.

A report of the proceeds from the booth at the Huntingdon Fair showed the Institute had a very successful sale. The members wish to thank everyone in the community who helped either by donations, giving of their time or cooperating in any way to help make the booth such a success.

It was voted to give $100.00 to the Huntingdon County Hospital as an initial payment to help furnish a room in the new wing of the hospital which is to be built some time in the future.

Mrs. Charles Reid has a list of supplies for anyone interested in the painting classes which are being held in November. It is advisable to have supplies at the first lesson so no time will be lost.

After the business the highlight of the meeting was a fashion parade put on through the efforts of Mrs. Cyril Dahms and Mrs. Alex. Robb. In all, there were 18 garments made from flour or feed sacks. Some of these were printed in different designs and some were dyed from plain sacks. All garments were the latest styles and very smart in appearance. A few summer dresses, shorts and sun-suits for the younger generation were modelled by the Misses Linda Dahms and Kathleen Reid. The rest were sport togs consisting of a two-piece and a four-piece outfit, a summer evening dress and jacket, a house-coat and morning dress besides several afternoon dresses and one mother and daughter outfit. The garments were modelled by Mrs. Alan Crutchfield, Mrs. Gordon Ferry, Mrs. Roy Moore, Mrs. Alex. Robb and Mrs. Wallace Rennie while Mrs. Sherman Robb gave a running commentary as the models paraded by.

The display was sent through the courtesy of Dominion Textiles and was enjoyed by both visitors and members. Many worthwhile ideas were gathered to be tried some time at home.

W.I. COMPETITIONS The Tweedsmuir Competitions are again engaging the attention of branches of the Quebec Women's Institutes. These are held every biennial term of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada and consist of three sections: essay, village history, and handicraft. This term the topic for the essay was "The Rural Home" so chosen as the Associated Country Women of the World was using that subject for an international contest and the winning entries from the national Tweedsmuir contest could thus be used for the larger competition.

For this reason that section closed early and results have now been announced by the F.W.I.C. There were 14 entries, with none from Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island, and only one each from Quebec and Alberta. The winner was Mrs. Leigh D. Long, Kempt, Queens Co., N.S., honourable mention, Mrs. Bruce Edie, Dugald, Man.

Entries in the other sections, village history and applied quilt, must be in the Q.W.I. office by Feb. 1, 1953, and the provincial convener of Education, Miss Verna I. Hatch, Sherbrooke, who is in charge of this project for Quebec, is urging the branches to take a more active part in this competition.

Health Notes

Pure Food and Safe Drugs Few people give any thought to the reason why in Canada we can shop with confidence for our food and drugs. Food is packaged and canned under sanitary conditions and is kept up to a required standard of quality and purity. This state of affairs is taken for granted but behind it is an interesting system that maintains an unceasing watch and check upon all plants, factories, stores or importing firms to ensure that Canada's food is pure and clean.

Sneezes and Coughless Winter By care and good management, it should be possible to go through the fall and winter without a cold or bout of flu. It may take some doing but since a cold often results from carelessness, it should be attempted. First, keep away from people who neglect to cover nose and mouth with a disposal tissue when they cough and sneeze. - - - colds are spread that way. Then, keep the feet dry - wear rubbers during wet weather and change footwear if the feet do get damp. Get plenty of rest and avoid fatigue. Eat nourishing food and don't skip breakfast. Get plenty of fresh air and sufficient outdoor exercise. That will help increase resistance to the cold germ.

Versatile Egg That small package, the egg, is packed full of nutrients. Phosphorus, calcium, iron, fat, protein and vitamin A are all essential to good health and are all contained in an egg. Eggs should be eaten at least three times a week, either alone or included in other dishes.

The Simple Tastes of Junior The expensive and complicated toy received by Junior often affords more fun for the adults of the family than for the small child. A youngster usually prefers something simple in the way of toys - small boxes, an old saucer and a spoon.

New Plastic Car Body Resists Rust, Milady's Driving

Naugatuck Chemicals, the makers of a new half-plastic-half-glass car body, don't claim they have the answer to the garage-door-fighting lady motorists. But when you take a look at their product, you'll see why the woman driver joke may some day be as obsolete as the horse-drawn carriage.

War II aircraft radomes. Since then the reinforced plastic material has been gaining popularity in fishing rods, housings for air compressors, decorative panelling, and as a hull for small boats. Refrigerators, washing machine, insulation, and even coffin manufacturers have been investigating the possibilities of making use of the hard, light plastic.

Athelstan ATHELSTAN - Mrs. George Claesson, Mrs. Emmett Duhamel and son Scott of Huntingdon; Miss Hazel Claesson, North Bay, Ont.; Mr. Stanley Claesson of Sturgeon Falls, Ont.; left this past week for Calgary, Alta. to attend the Claesson-Burgoyne wedding, which is taking place in Calgary on Saturday, September 13th.

Lacolle LACOLLE - Miss Margaret Masten left on Sunday for Stanstead, where during the present scholastic year, she is to hold the position of Dean of Girls in the College there. She is also to teach grammar. Margaret will be greatly missed in Lacolle, as she has been active in every good work, both in church and community. She has been President of the Woman's Association and teacher of the Primary Sunday School Class in the United Church, and last winter was instrumental in directing a community play which was greatly enjoyed.

When Should Apples Be Graded For Storage

Ottawa.-The increased number of storages in the apple growing areas means that fruit growers have greater control over marketing. Another feature is that grading and packing can be done throughout the storage season. This aspect is of extreme advantage in that help normally required for grading and picking can be devoted to other harvesting operations.

By such means the apples are harvested and placed in storage at their best stage of maturity with the least possible delay. This adds to quality and the storage life of the fruit. After all the apples are placed in storage, grading and packing can be done according to market demand. This means more efficient grading during more leisurely circumstances.

When an orchard is bearing a high percentage of culls, however, this system is not completely satisfactory. It is not economically sound to use expensive storage space for unmarketable fruit. The obvious solution for the problem is to grade at harvest or have the pickers hand grade in the orchard.

Recent experimental work has shown that McIntosh apples graded in January after storage had 30 to 90 per cent less subsequent wastage than those apples graded at harvest. Most of the wastage found on apples was a form of breakdown which appeared to be a secondary development to the bruise or other primary damage. The breakdown or other secondary damage requires a month or more to develop. It is likely that the condition of the apples as influenced by orchard nutrition affects the susceptibility to bruising damage.

Protect Your Family From Poison Residue Warns Health League

Lucrezia Borgia was a piker compared with modern fruit and vegetable growers when it comes to the use of invisible poisons. There are literally hundreds of chemical insecticides being used today to protect fresh fruit and vegetable crops—poisonous substances which, even in the minute quantities in which they may reach the public, should be washed away before eating, warns the nutrition committee of the Health League of Canada.

A great deal of work is now being done by insecticide manufacturers, food distributors and government departments to protect the unsuspecting public from poisons meant for bugs only; but the final safety measure rests with the most important person of all, the consumer. The federal Department of Agriculture, in administering the Pest Control Products Act, does its share; but the consumer should not overlook her responsibility.

"There is only one safe rule to follow," warn the Health League food experts, "wash all fruits and vegetables carefully in water before using."

"This water washing will not only remove poisonous chemical residue and dirt, but it also helps to slow down spoilage and should actually improve the fresh, natural flavor."

Most fruits, with the probable exception of strawberries and raspberries, are sprayed by the growers; and of the vegetables you buy, peas and beans are the only ones not usually sprayed. Even lettuce and spinach may be sprayed, and tomatoes, of course, are almost invariably given this treatment. The best rule of thumb is to wash all fruits and vegetables and play safe. "Food processors (canning companies and others) know the potential dangers lurking in chemical spray residues on fresh produce, and they are on guard for the public, well aware of their responsibility for the health of their customers," adds the Health League warning. "It's up to the housewife to protect her own family by remembering to wash all fresh fruits and vegetables thoroughly, regardless of how clean and wholesome they may look."

"At the present time there are so many insecticides on the market that safety on this score cannot be taken for granted. Despite intelligent handling of the many new problems arising from these chemical developments, there are still a number of questions of safety remaining unanswered today."

Mine Tunnel Helped Arthritis Sufferer CALGARY, (CP) — After years of intense pain an arthritis patient will try anything that offers a chance of relief—even a trip down an old mine shaft. Mrs. Andrew Ross of Calgary, crippled with arthritis for 14 years, maintains that a 450-foot, wheelchair trip down an old mine tunnel in Montana has helped her. She illustrated to friends how she could lift herself out of bed, move her fingers, comb her hair and powder her nose.

Mrs. Ross has tried the "gold treatment," the hot baths at Banff, electric treatment and others, but the little relief was short-lived. "A few weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. Ross set off for Helena, Mont., where an old gold mine that had been closed for 45 years was recently opened. People suffering from rheumatism, arthritis and other painful ailments were rumored to have benefited from visits to two similar mines near Butte.

Mrs. Ross took several trips down into the mines shaft to gain relief. She also brought home a boxful of rocks from the mine which she keeps under her bed.

PARISH OF TRES ST. SACRAMENT

The regular monthly meeting of the Council for the Parish of Tres St. Sacrament was held on Thursday, Sept. 4th, and was called to order by the Mayor, Mr. James Cullen. All the Councillors were present.

A delegation of those interested in the Gordon-Boucher Process-Verbal came before Council for information as to when action on the Water-course might be expected. It was explained, that so far, the engineering profile had not been forthcoming. Further discussion regarding Brush elimination resulted in the Secretary being ordered to contact a representative of the Shell Oil Company asking that he come to Council meeting for October to give information on their brush killing product. The Secretary was ordered to notify all Road Inspectors to have the Brush on their respective Roads cut, same to be done before the end of November and to warn proprietors to have the Brush inside their fence-line also cut.

A delegation from the Pertle Creek came before Council complaining that they had requested drainage to their farms several years ago, that an Engineer had taken levels in 1951, but nothing further had been done, the Secretary was instructed to write to Mr. A. LaBerge, M.L.A., in this connection and ask that he investigate this matter.

Tenders for Winter Roads were opened and contents noted and a special meeting, to be held at the call of the Mayor, will consider the awarding of these Contracts. Another delegation came to Council complaining of the unsatisfactory Electric light situation from St. Remi, threatening an application to the Quebec Electricity Board for remedial measures of no improvement is made by the Company and asking support of the Council. The Secretary was instructed to write the Power Company in this connection. The meeting adjourned.

Old Buffalo Pound Is Science Target

YORKTON, Sask., (CP)—An ancient Indian buffalo pound was uncovered by a farmer's plow near here this summer, and Yorkton archaeologists brought it to the attention of the curator of the Saskatchewan provincial museum. Archaeologists say very few similar finds have been made in Saskatchewan and it is hoped to have this one studied scientifically. A careful search through test pits would probably uncover relics including pottery that could be used to determine dates and possibly fit in another piece of the picture being built up from other such sites in western Canada and the border states.

TATEHURST — Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Victor, of Port William, Ont., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Brown for a few days. Mr. and Mrs. Norman Porrester were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. William Pennington and Mary Elizabeth, of Ogdensburg, N.Y., have returned home after spending the past week with Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Brown and mother, Mrs. Adob Pennington.

Miss Lorraine McQuat of St. Andrew's East, was an overnight guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Brown.

A complaint was made to the Council that along that portion of the Highway, Montreal-Malone, between Howick Station and Georgetown Church, the Road ditch had become filled with gravel, put on the road last fall when the new black top was laid, and that, in consequence, water did not drain away from the land on this portion of the Highway, causing flooding and an unsanitary condition by the water becoming stagnant. The Secretary was instructed to write to the Roads Department at Ormstown, drawing attention to this condition and request that the ditch again be put in shape to carry away the water.

The following bills were ordered paid: Shawinigan Water & Power, $52.71; Carson Bros., repairs to fire engine, $138.80; and Bell Tel. Co., $7.60.

The meeting adjourned.
