CANADIAN BATTALION ARRIVES IN JAPAN

World News In Brief

Long Beach, Calif., Dec. 13.—(AP)—The Canadian destroyer Nootka dropped anchor yesterday at the United States naval base at Terminal Island, en route to join Canadian destroyers already in Korean waters.

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 13.—(AP)—Henry Ford II said yesterday that United States automobile production next year may be cut back as much as 50 per cent from record-breaking 1950 levels. "The guiding factor will be the materials situation," the 33-year-old president of Ford Motors Company said at a press conference.

Hong Kong, Dec. 13.—(Reuters)—A Chinese language newspaper, quoting a dispatch from Canton, China, today said Russia has transferred 23 warships to the Chinese communists for use as "the nucleus of a fleet in south China waters." The independent right-wing Wahkiyut Pao said the warships, ranging from 1,500 to 3,500 tons, were made available to the Chinese in north China waters this fall.

London, Dec. 13.—(AP)—The British iron and steel federation announced today that November steel production reached the highest rate in Britain's history. It said November production was at an annual rate of 17,472,000 tons. This compares with an annual rate of 17,147,000 tons for last March, the previous peak.

Rome, Dec. 13.—(AP)—A source close to the government predicted tonight that Italy will ask the United States soon for several hundred million dollars to strengthen the Italian contribution to an Atlantic pact defence force. There were strong indications here that the attitude of the United States is favorable.

Berlin, Dec. 13.—(AP)—East Germany's communist parliament today threatened death to all Germans convicted of collaborating with the military policies of the western powers.

The parliament unanimously approved a law designed to strike terror among the west Germans now being asked to join western Europe's common defence.

London, Dec. 13.—(Reuters)—Air services to New York, Australia and Africa were delayed today as thick fog settled over London.

Snow and icy roads slowed down ground traffic, and many Londoners had cold breakfast because of widespread cuts in electricity supplies.

At Liverpool, the Cunard liner Franconia had to anchor in the river Mersey after taking on passengers for Canada. She was expected to be delayed several hours. Ships used radar crossing the Irish sea.

Germany's Troop Quota Is Decided

By EDWARD CURTIS
 London, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Atlantic pact experts laid down final political and military plans today for using German troops in defence of western Europe.

A communique said a joint meeting of the pact council's deputy foreign ministers and its military chiefs "reached complete agreement on political and military recommendations for German participation" in western defences.

The plan is expected to call for rearming enough west Germans to form as much as one-fifth of the troops defending western Europe from any eastern aggression.

The German units would be limited to brigade size—about 4,000 to 6,000 men—and scattered throughout other Atlantic pact armies in Europe.

The recommendations of today's meeting will go before the pact's foreign ministers at Brussels next Monday and Tuesday for final approval.

German officials have not been consulted on the plan. They will learn its complete details only after it is finally approved in Brussels.

But from west German Prime Minister Konrad Adenauer on down they have been outspoken against going back into uniform except on a basis of equality.

Some diplomatic officials here believe part of this opposition is aimed at building a political case for virtually ending the occupation of Germany.

These officials feel that as the price for furnishing troops, west Germany will attempt to substitute for the occupation a security treaty with the United States, Britain and France.

The officials suggest that such a security treaty would give Atlantic powers the right to station troops in Germany for purely defensive purposes and keep controls on war potential industry.

How far the wary French would go toward meeting such German demands probably will be discussed next week in separate big three meetings in Brussels.

U.S. State Secretary Dean Acheson, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain and Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France are expected to discuss this and wider world problems in private meetings while they are attending the Atlantic pact conferences.

London, Dec. 13.—(Reuters)—Prime Minister Attlee was involved in a minor automobile collision last night. The fender of his car and another car touched, but there was no serious damage.

Arrival Of Battalion Completes Canadian Representation In Far East War.

By BILL BOSS
 Canadian Press Staff Writer
 Yokohama, Japan, Dec. 13.—(AP)—The Patricias — 2nd battalion of Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry — arrived here today aboard a trooper and were told they will continue their voyage to the Korean war theatre tomorrow.

The Canadians, the Dominion's first contribution to ground forces fighting in Korea, stood at attention on the deck of the transport as she slid into her berth here. Cheers rang out from the dockside and an American army band struck up "O Canada."

The infantrymen, members of a regiment famous in both first and second world wars, were preceded by an advance party of 350 men who arrived here Nov. 5. The advance party, made up of specialists such as cooks, clerks, drivers and tradesmen, now is near Pusan in Korea preparing quarters for the battalion.

The arrival of the Pats completed the representation of Canadian services in this area. Three Canadian destroyers have been operating off Korea since mid-summer, and an R.C.A.F. transport squadron has been shuttling war-bound troops and supplies between the United States and Japan.

Canada's defence research board—regarded as a fourth service—has also been engaged in testing and experimenting with military equipment in this area of the Pacific.

The Canadians, originally recruited as part of a special force of more than 10,000 men to be placed at the disposal of the United Nations for duty in Korea or elsewhere, now have been divorced from Canada's special brigade and put under U.N. command.

The trooper, the United States naval transport Pvt. Joe P. Martinez, arrived here after a 19-day crossing from Seattle.

It first landed 400 U.S. reinforcements, then the Pats debarked for a route march through Yokohama.

The vessel picked up land this morning by radar and docked this afternoon. It will leave again tomorrow and probably will land the Canadians at Pusan in southern Korea, nearly 300 miles from present fighting fronts.

Brig. F. J. Flourey, Canadian military liaison officer in Tokyo, boarded the transport in mid-harbor with orders for the battalion's commanding officer, Lt. Col. J. M. (Big Jim) Stone of Salmon Arm B. C., to take the battalion to Korea.

Until then the men did not know whether Korean developments would affect their movement. There had been speculation that the battalion would not go to Korea after the Chinese Reds pushed back other United Nations forces fighting there.

The Canadians generally welcomed the news that they are heading for Korea, assuming that the Canadian government is satisfied with the position there.

Others welcoming the troops besides Brig. Flourey were Arthur Menzies, head of the Canadian liaison mission in Tokyo and Air Commodore A. M. Charlesworth of the Royal Australian Air Force.

Menzies said: "All Canadians are glad that they are able to make this contribution towards peace. All Canadians are proud of these fine representatives of our land."

Maj. H. D. Tighe of Victoria, second in command of the Patricias, said: "They are one of the best bunches of boys I've been associated with. Their discipline is good and in short, I'm proud of them."

"We're over here to do a job and we're anxious to get on with it," Pte. John Sandulescu, 21-year-old Saskatchewan soldier, talked about the cold in Korea and his pride in the Arctic equipment the Canadians are carrying.

"We're used to cold in any case," he said, "so I guess it won't worry us."

During the voyage, which the men described as boring, two soldiers underwent appendicitis.

Pte. Ralph Clattenburg, 24, of Halifax, had his appendix taken out nine days ago.

Pte. Orval Campbell, of Ottawa, and Edwards, Ont., had his appendix kick up three days out of Seattle.

Both men were convalescents in sick bay when the trooper docked today.

Clattenburg will have something special to remember about his operation.

He took a spinal anaesthetic administered by Capt. Ed. Karpetz, of Spiritwood, Sask., the regiment's medical officer who presided over the operation. Karpetz was helped by Lieut. Mark Nolte, of Portland, Ore., U.S. navy medical officer.

US Will End Marshall Plan Aid To U.K.

Washington, Dec. 13.—(AP)—The United States today cut off all Marshall plan aid to Britain, effective January 1st.

William C. Foster, the Marshall plan administrator, said Britain's economic comeback in the last year is the reason.

Since the recovery program started in April of 1948, Britain has been allocated a total of $2,034,300,000.

The program, named for Gen. George C. Marshall, who proposed it while he was U.S. Secretary of State, had a dual purpose: To help Europe recover from damages of the Second World War and to strengthen friendly countries against the threat of communism.

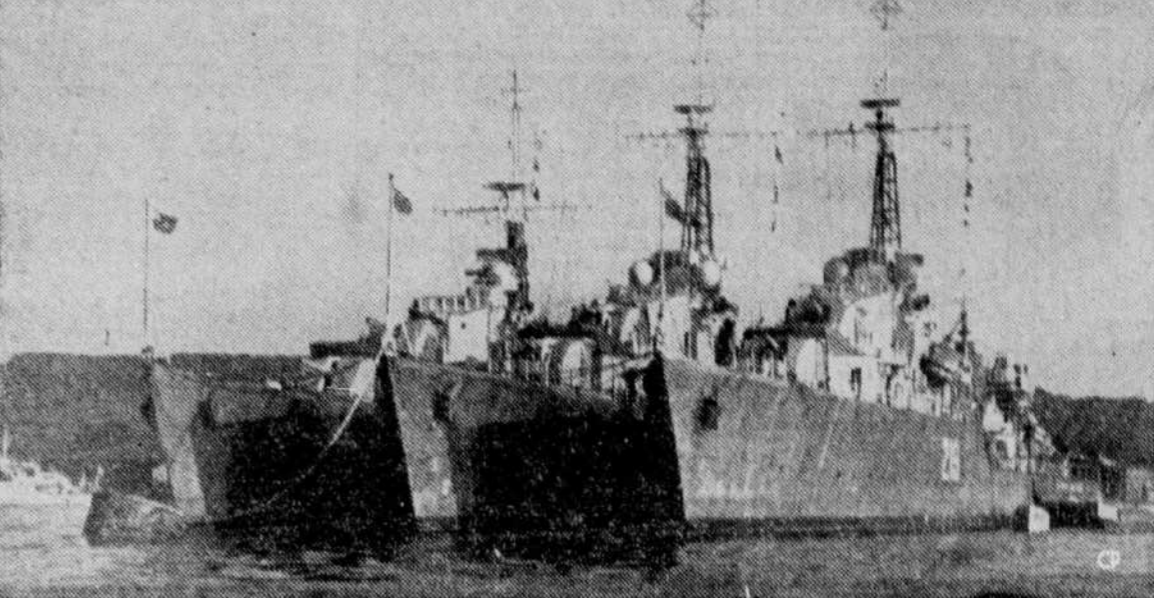

The move to stop all Marshall plan aid to Britain comes five weeks after conversations between Marshall plan officials and the British government. Britain is the first country to step out of the program.

In an announcement issued at the same time, Hugh Gaitskell, Chancellor of the Exchequer, was breaking the news to the British House of Commons, Foster said:

"The suspension of aid under the European Recovery Program does not mean that the recovery of the

Allied Troops In Northeast Korea Board Ships For Unknown Destination

Fredericton, Dec. 13.—(AP)—For the fourth successive day rain is pelting down on soggy New Brunswick, as railway repair crews work round the clock to mend washed-out roadbeds and Moncton residents wonder if the swollen Petitcodiac River will pierce more dikes and isolate additional city homes.

A temporary embargo on railroad express shipments from Maritime points to Boston via McAdam Junction was announced last night, and New England-bound passengers were rerouted by way of Montreal.

At Lambert Lake, across the United States border from McAdam, N.B., Canadian Pacific Railway repairs are mending a 1,000-foot stretch of railroad which was washed out yesterday, causing a train wreck. Killed when a two-locomotive freight train left the track were engineer Joseph Douron, 34, and fireman C. McKay, both of Brownville, Me.

The dike-breaking Petitcodiac River has driven 70 persons from their homes at Moncton, and the main highway between Nova Scotia and New Brunswick is under water in several places.

A thunderstorm rumbled over Halifax early today and the weatherman promised a summer-like 52-degree temperature.

The mild weather has brought lumbering operations to a standstill, as horses, tractors and lumberjacks sink deep in soaked forests where ordinarily logs would be moved over frozen ground.

Twenty dirt streets in Halifax have been washed out by the rains, and repairs were delayed as the rains continue.

Tokyo, Dec. 13.—(AP)—More than 60,000 allied troops were streaming aboard ships at Hungnam today on a fighting evacuation from northeast Korea.

Chinese communists wearing American uniforms made a three-hour attack on the escape beach-head Wednesday morning.

The attack was repulsed, but allied officers feared the Chinese would try massive assaults before the last United Nations troops get away by sea.

The disguised attackers were the vanguards of 64,000 to 80,000 Chinese troops massed around the escape port on the Sea of Japan.

The allies at Hungnam were abandoning the last big United Nations outpost in North Korea.

In the face of the Chinese menace, the surrounded U.N. forces, pouring aboard ships with field gear and many of their heavy weapons, stepped up the evacuation pace. American officers' exultant heavier blows possibly Wednesday night, since communist troops usually attack in darkness.

The defence force was prepared to defend the withdrawal with artillery, mortars and long naval guns.

Field dispatches said the Chinese Reds, wearing full American parka uniforms, struck in company strength or less.

A U.S. 3rd division infantry company counter-attacked and drove off the Chinese.

A spokesman identified them as part of a newly-reported division, the 81st, that brought the number of Red Chinese divisions pressing against the beach-head to eight.

The Chinese were trying to smash through the rear guard shield to make a kill before the last of the allies could escape. The loading of troops and material began two days ago and is expected to continue some time.

Among the 60,000 or more men moving at an orderly but fast pace across Hungnam's docks into the evacuation fleet were long-unreported infantrymen of the United States 7th division's regimental combat team, and South Korean army regiments.

They were safe at last on the Hungnam coastal plain after retreating for nearly two weeks from extreme North Korea—as far up as the Yalu river boundary blackout.

The destination of the forces embarked on the Sea of Japan was a top secret for security reasons.

Field dispatches said thousands of Chinese were massing nearby for a final blow.

Troops from five allied divisions manned a stout defence line stretching for a 14-mile radius around Hungnam and the inland twin city of Hamhung.

AP correspondent Tom Stone, with the evacuation 10th Corps, said the withdrawal was being carried on rapidly but quietly. It was pushed under protection on the long guns and carrier planes of the U.N. fleet.

While transports swallowed a steady stream of men and equipment, warships cruised slowly off Hungnam.

Corsairs, Hellcats and Panther jets circled overhead, alert for any sign that the Chinese Red air force might attempt an amphibious climax to the military coup launched in late November by Chinese ground forces.

Warships shelled the coast and planes hit enemy positions, slowing up the build-up of Chinese forces for any attack on Hungnam.

Tanks crowded bumper against bumper, and all varieties of allied vehicles along the docks, heading into the big

Plane Crashes At Sydney, No One Hurt

Sydney, N.S., Dec. 13.—(AP)—A big Swiss airliner sheared off a guide light pole at the nearby Reserve airport today and then skipped half a mile into a bog with only minor injuries to several passengers.

Coming in for a refueling spot on a flight from Switzerland to New York, the four-engined DC-4 struck the pole, bounded into the marsh and burst into flames about 15 minutes later after passengers and crew members had been taken to safety.

There were 20 passengers and a crew of 11 aboard as the plane came in for a landing on the fog-shrouded field.

There was no immediate explanation of the cause of the crash. Earlier reports that a post-trivandrum, India, Dec. 13.—(Reuters)—An Air India plane carrying 16 passengers and a crew of four was reported missing today on a flight from Madras to Trivandrum, on the south west coast of India.

er failure had caused the ground control approach equipment of the airport to fail were denied.

The impact as the plane struck sent one of its engines flying 600 feet away.

Ground parties, coming upon the wreckage, feared there would be casualties but found all aboard safe when they reached the wreck 45 minutes later. The plane was a total loss.

Martha Schmidt, 27, of St-Gall, Switzerland, stewardess aboard the plane, led the passengers to safety.

"It was very orderly, there was no confusion, no excitement or anything," she said.

One lad of 2½ years was laughing with glee as he was taken from the crashed plane.

Ambulances and doctors were rushed to the airport but Dr. J. B. Lynch, Trans-Canada Airlines doctor at the base, said there were no serious injuries.

Drew Urges N. Atlantic Solidarity

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 13.—(AP)—Solidarity in the "North Atlantic triangle" of Canada, Britain and the United States was urged by George Drew, Canadian opposition leader, in an address here today.

In a speech prepared for the Rochester Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Drew, head of Canada's Progressive Conservative party, reviewed the turn of international events in recent weeks and decried suggestions of differences between the three powers of the "triangle" as something which could be fatal to the allied cause, and which is being encouraged by Soviet interests.

"It is my firm conviction," he said, "that the measure of understanding and unity of purpose which can be achieved between these three North Atlantic nations will, to a considerable extent, measure the ultimate strength of those wider associations of free people which now are taking solid form through the discussions and contacts of the various meetings and committees of the United Nations."

The three powers "have it within their power, and are confronted by the urgent challenge to integrate their efforts and establish a firm foundation of understanding and goodwill, which may yet offer an example to free nations everywhere and to those which are not yet free."

Because of his position as opposition leader in Canada, he did not approve of all being done by the present Canadian government and "I certainly do not approve of the political opinions or of many of the things that have been done by the government of the United Kingdom."

However, he called for unity of the three powers.

Magnetic Men Sought In U.K.

Southampton, England, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Red-haired Lisa Lengyel, who teaches American men the uses of "male magnetism" in handling their women, tipped down a liner's gangplank here last night for a 30-day look at Britain's reserved menfolk.

Lisa, founder and director of the American Institute for the Study and Development of Male Magnetism in New York, said she has two jobs to do.

"I select this island's '10 most magnetic men,'"

2. See whether there's enough demand for "male magnetism" lessons here to justify setting up a branch of the A.I.S.D.M.M.

Miss Lengyel, well-groomed and exuding "female magnetism," impressed on reporters the necessity for getting this basic fact straight about the male—British or U.S.: "The perfect man would strike

Telegraph Operator Takes Blame For Train Accident

Edmonton, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Albert John Atherton, 22-year-old railway telegraph operator, yesterday shouldered the blame for the Nov. 21 Canoe River train wreck which caused the death of 21 persons and injured scores of others.

The tall, bespectacled young man, who first learned operating technique as a boy when his father was a railway station agent, said his failure to comply with railway regulations in transmission of train orders resulted in the wreck.

The admission came at the second day of the board of transport commissioners' inquiry into the head-on collision between a troop train and a passenger train. The crash occurred on a mountain curve on the Canadian National Railway's main line through the Rocky Mountains in northern British Columbia, 312 miles west of here.

The inquiry is expected to end today.

Atherton, who has been "suspended" by the company, was the operator at Red Pass Junction, B.C., who relayed a telephoned train order to the conductor of the westbound troop train.

He said yesterday that the wreck would not have happened if he had listened to a "repeat" of the train dispatcher's order.

Two vital words—"at Cedarside"—were omitted by Atherton, and resulted in the troop and passenger trains operating on "overlapping orders."

Order No. 248, governing movement of the two trains, was passed by dispatcher A. E. Tisdale of Kamloops, B.C., to Atherton at Red Pass Junction and F. E. Parsons, operator at Blue River, B.C. Conductor J. A. Mainprize of the troop train received the following order from Atherton: "Passenger extra 3538 (the troop train) meet No. 2 engine 6004 and No. 4, 6057 Gosnell."

Conductor M. W. Graham of passenger No. 2 received this order, the correct version, from Parsons: "Passenger extra 3538 meet No. 2 engine 6004 at Cedarside and No. 4 engine 6057 at Gosnell."

Tisdale and Parsons both testified they heard Atherton repeat the correct version to Tisdale, and Atherton said he heard Parsons start his repeat but then went on with his work and did not listen to it being completed. He admitted he would have caught his error if he had listened.

The young operator said there was no noise on the telephone line for about 25 seconds after Tisdale gave the words "engine 6004" and the next words he received were "and No. 4, 6057 Gosnell." He denied repeating the words "at Cedarside" to Tisdale and said he got a "clear" after repeating the order to the dispatcher.

Telegraph and telephone personnel of the railway testified they had no record of any disturbance on the lines the day of the wreck.

Mongolian Cavalry In Korea Are Noted For Ferocity, Skill

(Editor's Note: Spencer Davis, who writes on the Mongolian cavalry now reported in Korea, knows the Mongolians. He met them while covering north China and Manchuria in 1945-46 when Manchuria was switching from Japanese to Russian to Chinese nationalist and finally to Chinese communist control.)

By SPENCER DAVIS
 San Francisco, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Two divisions of tough Mongolian cavalrymen, identified by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters as among the Chinese communist vanguard in Korea, are fighting in their own element.

Accustomed to the bleak plains and howling winds of the Mongolian plateau, they were raised to the life of a nomad and a fighter.

They were operating over ground stained red by illustrious ancestors. The great Mongol conqueror Genghis Khan subdivided Korea in 1218, and a half-century later his grandson Kublai Khan did it again.

As recently as August, 1945, shaggy little Mongolian ponies galloped again through Manchuria into Korea, carrying their stocky, high-cheekboned masters to battle with the Japanese.

Mongolian banner men—most of them fierce Buryat tribesmen—then were attached to Russia's second Ukrainian army. It was the Soviet armored force sent from Stalingrad and eastern Europe to crush the Japanese Kwantung army and occupy Manchuria and Korea south to the 38th parallel.

The fighting lasted little more than one week in 1945—the last week of the second world war.

The Mongols terrorized Chinese civilians in Manchuria. They were dreaded more than even the Soviet "long noses" as the Chinese called the Russian troops.

Then, as now, long lines of civilian refugees poured out of the cities, towns and villages to avoid contact with the long-robed Mongol cavalrymen.

And with the refugees came tales of the no-quarter ferocity in battle accompanied by whooping battle screams.

The sacking of Mukden in September, 1945, following its capture by the Red army, was attributed by Chinese civilians largely to these wiry, cold-blooded little men.

The Mongolians were durable sheepskin-lined winter uniforms. Their tight-fitting civet skin or beaver skull caps, pulled down over ears and nose, gave them an even wilder aspect. They were crack shots, even when riding at full gallop.

For centuries fighting has been a way of life to these sons of the great Khans.

Airmen's reports that Mongolian cavalrymen in Korea refused to break rank under low-level strafing and rocket attack is typical of these Buddhist troops. Their unquestioned bravery more than once has led them into mass slaughter in battle. They had the solace only of dying happy—in a fight.

Russia's Attitude On Peace Plan Will Be Known Today

By A. I. GOLDBERG
 Lake Success, N.Y., Dec. 13.—(AP)—Russia's attitude toward an Asian-Arab proposal to arrange a cease-fire in Korea comes out in the open today.

The Soviet answer to the 13-country truce proposal advanced by India, the Philippines, Pakistan, Egypt and nine other countries, was expected in the United Nations Assembly political committee.

The committee agreed yesterday to priority for the cease-fire measure, but Russia and several other countries said they had to receive new instructions from their governments. They obtained a delay until this morning.

India's Sir Benezel N. Rau foresaw upwards of 85 votes supporting the plan to have Assembly President Nasrullah Entezam name two other delegates to serve with him (Entezam) as a committee to try to arrange the cease-fire as the first step for a Korean truce.

The United States and Britain have gone on record supporting it. Russia's Jakob A. Malik was the only one to argue against giving the Asia-Arab proposal priority in the committee, but his argument was not considered a final indication of opposition to the plan.

The Soviet Union has also proposed that the committee adopt its truce plan, which demands withdrawal of all "foreign troops"—U.N. forces—from Korea. The committee has delayed debating the Soviet plan.

Some expected Russia would demand that the cease-fire plan be considered only along with another Asian-Arab resolution which would set up a commission to study and arbitrate all Far East problems—with communist China probably a member of the commission.

The United States strongly opposes linking the two measures because of the political nature of the commission idea.

The General Assembly yesterday afternoon finally chose a commission nominated by Entezam to study the legal and political background of Red China's claims for a sea in the U.N.

The committee can only make recommendations to the Assembly. Until, and if, the Assembly votes to seat the Chinese communists, nationalistic China will keep its membership in the world organization.

To consider the cease-fire resolution, the political committee interrupted its debate on a six-power proposal to call on communist China to withdraw its troops entirely from Korea. There appeared to be a disposition to forget now about the withdrawal demand in favor of giving the cease-fire move a clear right of way.

Andrei Vishinsky, Russian foreign minister, yesterday cancelled passage home so he can take part in Assembly debates that will go into next week.

Many jokes have been told on the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, but John Rothwell and Rudd Weatherwax tell the best in a new book, "The Story of Lassie."

Lassie was working in a movie in the High Sierras of Northern California and an SPCA representative, William McNally, was assigned to the company.

One morning McNally failed to appear where the company was shooting, several miles from camp. As Rothwell and Weatherwax tell the yarn:

"We were ready to shoot the first scene for the day and still no Mac. So several of us started back along the trail to search for him, fearing he might have lost the way. Then we saw him perched high in a tree. Seated on the ground below was a huge bear. Somebody in the crowd couldn't resist asking him:

"Why didn't you show him your SFCA card?"

New Yorkers are still laughing about Pat O'Brien's crack when he was rushed in to replace Joe E. Lewis for one evening performance at the Copacabana. Pat walked out in a high silk hat, looked at the customers and said:

"Joe's a great pal of mine and it's Yom Kippur. Joe doesn't work on Yom Kippur so I'm pinch-hitting for him. He does the same thing for me on St. Patrick's Day."

Matchless Anecdote
Tony Curtis' mother, who still clings to the family name of Schwartz, is an avid match-cover collector and measures her son's film progress by the books of matches he brings home. Throughout the making of "The Prince Who Was a Thief" at UL, however, she refused to be impressed by the fact that her young progeny was actually being given star status.

But the other night Tony returned from a Hollywood party and pressed a book of matches into his mother's hands.

"At last! I know my son is a big star," Mrs. Schwartz murmured tremulously. "Cecil B. DeMille's MATCHES!"

Chalmers' Church W. A. At Richmond Re-Elected Mrs. Chamberlin President

Richmond, Dec. 13.—The December meeting of the Women's Association of the United Church was held in the Chalmers' Church Hall.

Mrs. J. S. MacNaughton read the minutes of the previous meeting and Mrs. C. R. Boast gave the treasurer's report, which revealed a balance of $998.50 in the General Fund and a substantial balance in the Reserve Fund.

Mrs. Chamberlin thanked all the members for their kind cooperation in helping to make the Christmas sale such a success. She especially thanked Mrs. P. C. Duboyce for the beautiful baskets of flowers, which she placed on the large tea table and the piano. These added greatly to the decorations in the tea room.

The captains of the groups were requested to send in a list of their members to Mrs. J. S. MacNaughton for her files.

The president announced that the captains of the groups for 1951 had been elected as follows: Emerald Group, Mrs. E. W. Birch; Marjorie Group, Mrs. J. Parrinon; Melbourne Group, Mrs. E. Pierce; and the Ruby Group, Mrs. C. R. Boast.

It was unanimously decided to assist the Women's Missionary Society with their allocation for this year also to buy the Christmas candy for the members of the Sunday School. One hundred dollars were voted to the Church Board for the M and M Fund.

Mrs. E. W. Birch, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following list of officers for 1951: President, Mrs. George Chamberlin; vice-president Mrs. W. J. Ewing; secretary, Mrs. J. S. MacNaughton; treasurer, Mrs. C. R. Boast.

Upon resuming the chair, Mrs. Chamberlin thanked the members for re-electing the officers and requested the co-operation of every member for the very busy and important year in 1951 for the Women's Association. The new ladies' parlor will have to be furnished, new lights installed, and the new kitchen equipped. A meeting of the group captains and buying committee will be called early in January.

Mrs. P. C. Duboyce moved a vote of appreciation to the officers for their splendid work during the past year.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Fine Program Of Choral Singing Given By St. Jean Baptiste Choir

Members of the Rotary Club were entertained last night by some fine choral singing on the part of the St. Jean Baptiste Choir at their regular dinner meeting in the New Sherbrooke Hotel.

The choir which has long been considered one of the best in the city, was under the direction of D'Arcy St. Pierre, with L. Dumont at the piano. Selections included French Canadian folk songs and sacred music, the singers being warmly applauded by the Rotarians and their guests. They were introduced by Frank Norcross and thanked in French by vice-president Emile Levesque.

President Evans Joslin asked the choir president, Florent Hebert, to accept a gift for the annual party of the Junior Choir at St. Jean Baptiste, in appreciation of last night's entertainment.

Responding in French and English, Mr. Hebert thanked the Rotarians and said that the boys would be advised of the club's generosity.

Guests at last night's meeting were Georges Sylvestre, former director of St. Jean Baptiste's choir, Ted Lang, of Oconomowoc, Wis., and N. B. Moir, of Montreal.

President Joslin welcomed two members, Lennox Wilson and Wilfrid Smith, who returned to meetings after a lengthy illness.

He reminded the members of the annual Christmas party for the children, to be held next Tuesday, and also urged the Rotarians to attend Air Cadets drill at the Armoury on Fridays.

Hawley Griffith, chairman of the Boys and Girls Committee, issued instructions regarding the Christmas shopping for deserving underprivileged children.

At the head table were H. McCallum, F. Norcross, Ivan Saunders, President Joslin, vice-president Levesque, Mr. Sylvestre, Past President R. A. Webster and H. Griffith.

Chamber Names Committee For Nominations

At a recent meeting of the directors of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce, a nominating committee comprising G. M. Young, J. Alex Allard, Roland Codere, L. W. Dixon and Maurice de Lottinville was appointed to prepare a slate of officers for 1951. This slate will be submitted to the annual meeting on January 25.

The president now in office is Mr. Young with Louis A. Gaudreau as vice-president.

Tomorrow a meeting of the St. Francis Flow Control sub-committee will be held followed by an informal luncheon at the New Sherbrooke Hotel.

L. O. D. E. Chapter Hears Talk By Mrs. Staples

Highlight of the monthly meeting of Maple Cope Chapter, L.O. D.E., was an account given by a member, Mrs. P. Staples, of the proceedings at a Naturalization Court in Saskatchewan. The speaker described the ceremonies which she said were very moving.

She said that the candidates for citizenship were, in many cases, nervously eager to fulfill the conditions and make proper replies to the examining judge's questions.

The regent, Mrs. Austin Scott, presided over the meeting which was held in the W. I. rooms.

Monthly reports were given — the treasurer's by Mrs. A. R. Jewitt; child and family welfare by Mrs. A. W. Preston. Mrs. A. E. Preston reported that two 20-pound food parcels had been sent to the chapter's adopted families in England. Mrs. R. H. Fletcher sent gifts to two local veterans and plans were made for Christmas treats for them.

Mrs. M. B. Reynier, educational secretary, read two letters of thanks for prizes presented by the chapter. Grace Stevens announced that 15 local school children had applied for pen-pals in other provinces.

Mrs. Scott passed on to the members a request for helpers at the Community Association Christmas party to be held December 21st. Florence Wark reported on the Bridge marathon. It was decided to hold a Bridge on the evening of January 10. Hostess for the tea which followed the meeting were Mrs. Everett Bayley and Mrs. G. H. Doak.

Woman Suffers Broken Leg At East Angus

East Angus, Dec. 13. — Susan Cummings, 44, of East Angus, suffered a broken leg this morning when struck by a car at the corner of Cookshire and York streets.

According to police reports, Miss Cummings, who does domestic work here, was on her way to work shortly after 8 a.m. when she was hit by the automobile driven by Wilfrid Dodier of 406 King street, Sherbrooke.

Dodier is said to have blown his car horn when he saw Miss Cummings on the road which was very icy. The woman is deaf and had not worn her hearing aid, police said.

She was taken to St. Vincent de Paul Hospital by the Jalbert ambulance, after receiving first aid from Dr. Leo Lussier, of East Angus.

Chief of Police Bouchard of East Angus investigated.

First Report On Christmas Seals Is Encouraging

The Christmas seal campaign is now under way in all regions and the anti-tuberculosis leagues and committees are receiving generous support from the public. On Dec. 4, date of the first provisional report, the receipts, outside the Montreal district, were $39,958.07.

Townships' figures were:

Acton Vale $662, Brome-Missisquoi $1,357.50, Drummondville $614.12, Granby $400, Lake Megantic and Frontenac $475.70, Richmond-Melbourne $219, Beauce $550.08, Sherbrooke and Magog $2,570.75 (Magog $755), Thetford $405.50, Victoriaville $328.50, Waterloo $1,200, Warwick $61.15, Windsor Mills $315.04.

Magog High School Council Has Meeting

Magog, Dec. 13. — The Magog High School students' council, at its recent meeting, heard reports from Veronica Hulme and Janice Mandigo who attended the annual students' council conference at Drummondville last month.

A report also was given by the committee in charge of selling candy at the school opening and at the Magog and District Home and School Association play, The Ghost Train. The council expressed its thanks to those who contributed candy.

Plans are being arranged for a Christmas dance at the High School on Dec. 16.

Twelve Baptists Are Freed From Jail

Amos, Que., Dec. 13. — Twelve of 15 Regular Baptists whose four-month sentences were reduced to two months on order of Superior Court Judge Henri Drouin, were released from the county jail yesterday.

The three remaining prisoners will be freed Thursday on completion of their terms.

All had been sentenced to two months in jail and fined $40 and costs, or an additional two months, for obstructing traffic or being a possible cause of obstruction to traffic while holding street-corner meetings in nearby Val d'Or. They chose jail rather than pay the fines.

They were arrested for violating a municipal by-law of the northwestern Quebec mining centre.

Writes by the Baptists demanding that the sentences be reduced claimed that the Val d'Or by-law carried a maximum penalty of $40 and costs or two months in jail. The recorder who had imposed the sentences had exceeded the legal limit, the petitions said.

"Low" Politics Scored By Truman

Washington, Dec. 13. — (AP) — President Truman, the disgruntled writer, has triggered off another one — deploring the "low" state of politics in the recent election campaign.

It was addressed to representative F. Edward Hebert (Dem. La.), a state's righter and critic of the administration, who promptly replied that this display of "political distemper" was regrettable.

Hebert on Dec. 5 wrote asking the President to appoint a day of prayer. In a two-paragraph reply Dec. 7, Truman called attention to his U.S. Thanksgiving proclamation urging prayers for peace, and said he believed that "effectively answers your suggestion."

The President then added: "I am extremely sorry that the sentiments expressed in your letter were not thought of before Nov. 7, when the campaign in your state, Utah, North Carolina, Illinois and Indiana was carried on in a manner that was as low as I've ever seen, and I've been in this game since 1906."

PENSIONS PAID
Quebec, Dec. 13. — (AP) — The Quebec government paid out $27,404,018 in Old Age Pensions in 1949, it was announced yesterday.

The amount covered the Quebec contribution of one fourth to the maximum $40 monthly paid in Old Age Pensions since the federal-provincial pensions plan came into being May 1, 1949. The remainder was paid by the federal government.

There were 67,528 aged persons benefiting from the pensions as of Dec. 31, 1949.

The report also said $1,602,242 was paid in pensions to the

TREE SALES HEAVY
Washington, Dec. 13. — (AP) — Americans will spend more than $50,000,000 for Christmas trees this year.

This estimate forecasting the sale of 28,500,000 trees was made by the agriculture department.

The department said this season's supply will equal last year's, and that prices are likely to be about the same.

The agency said about 21,500,000 trees will be cut in the United States and about 7,000,000 imported from Canada.

Compton Couple Honored On 50th Year Of Marriage

Compton, Dec. 13. — A delightful party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Sisco in honor of their 50th wedding anniversary.

A lovely three-tiered wedding cake was centered on a table, prettily decorated in white and yellow, also white and yellow chrysanthemums.

The "bride" wore a dress of white taffeta, with pearls. A corsage of yellow baby mums was presented to her by her eldest daughter.

The "bridegroom" wore a suit of gray and was presented with a carnation for his lapel by his eldest son. The couple received many gifts and expressed their thanks to all.

A buffet lunch was served of cake, sandwiches and coffee by the hostess, Mrs. Gordon Knowlton, assisted by Mrs. C. Sisco and Mrs. H. Sisco.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. G. Sisco, Mr. and Mrs. C. Sisco, Mr. and Mrs. H. Sisco, Mr. and Mrs. B. Sisco, Mr. and Mrs. M. Sisco of Rock Island, Mr. and Mrs. G. Knowlton and their daughters Irene and Shirley of Waterville, Mr. and Mrs. E. Vaehon of Coaticook and their son Derek, Mrs. W. Hill and Ruth of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. F. Green, Mr. and Mrs. H. Artesian Wells Free From Bacteria But Mineral Content Can Be Harmful

The closing of the several artesian well which have been used to supply Sherbrooke citizens with supplementary sources of drinking water is a customary precaution for the winter months according to municipal health officials and has nothing to do with reports that the water has been condemned.

Authorities at the city hall state that recent analyses of these wells has shown that they are free from bacteria but that owing to the high mineral content in many of them, it is not advisable to drink too much of this "hard" water, as the foreign substances are injurious to the general health of the individual when taken in too large quantity.

With the exception of one artesian well on Bowen Avenue south, all these supplies show a high mineral content and in the case of one outlet in the Centre ward the water is almost undrinkable.

The high mineral content results from the nature of the rock formation underlying most of the city.

Eight Accidents Are Blamed On Icy Roads

Eight minor accidents occurred in this city yesterday due to the icy condition of the roads.

The damage was light, however as the mishaps resulted mainly in scratches and a few small dents.

Twelve local motorists were fined $2 each for violation of municipal traffic by-laws.

RUSSIA AIMS AT CONQUEST

The Russians mean to conquer us — Canada and the rest of the nations in the free world.

They have been announcing that intention in their writings for a long time, just as Hitler did in his book, "Mein Kampf." Unhappily, too many of us have not wanted to face this brutal truth.

Now, events in Korea and elsewhere in the world are compelling the North American nations to accept it as the great cardinal factor governing our lives.

Russian talk of peace is meaningless. It is contradicted by Communist action in Korea and Communist action in the United Nations. When the chips were down on a United Nations resolution that would have promoted early peace in Korea, Russia voted "no."

The Kremlin has no idea of negotiating a lasting peace or any other kind of a settlement that would hamper its plan for global conquest. Russian leaders believe Communist society represents the "wave of the future" and that we in the West are a dying civilization. So fervently are they convinced of this that they are never troubled for long by individual reverses. They believe time works for them.

Obviously that does not mean they are content to sit back passively and wait for us to crumble. They exert a constant pressure against us, probing for weak spots. That is why they went into Korea in the first place; they had it marked as a soft spot.

It should be abundantly plain to every North American, furthermore, that every Soviet success emboldens Moscow to more daring adventures.

Most important of all, it brings nearer the day when Soviet rulers may be willing to undertake a decisive phase in their struggle with the West. No men undertake a war unless they think they have a good chance to win it. The critical moment is the one when they at last believe their prospects are bright.

Knowing all this about the Russians, what must we do? First, we must divest ourselves once and for all of wishful thinking about the likelihood Russia will change its objectives. The Kremlin's purpose is unalterable — to destroy us — and everything it does serves that end and no other.

We must then resolve to do everything possible to compel Russia to postpone the decision that means general war. That means a high state of military preparedness for ourselves and our Allies, real protection both for American and the crucial industry of Western Europe. It means accepting controls, sacrifices, hardships at home.

We do not have much time to make up our minds to do this. The areas of the world left to free men are diminishing. Our chief military advantages — the A-bomb and a strategic air force — also are diminishing relatively as Russian power gains.

The price of failure to do all these things now — while the Russians presumably are still deferring the big decision — will be wholesale war.

We might get it anyway. It might come through accident or Soviet miscalculation of our strength and theirs. Or Moscow might conclude that a long stalemate induced by our growing power would ultimately work to the ruin of Communist leaders. They might in desperation choose a war of doubtful outcome rather than risk their necks at home by waiting too long.

These eventualities we cannot guard against. But in duty to ourselves and free people everywhere, we must behave as if accident and mistake will not govern. We must act to show the men in the Kremlin that they cannot win. Or to put it a better way, that we will not be defeated.

LICENCING THE PROFESSIONS

Some professional people are talking strong exception to the Alberta Government's proposal to return the right of licence to the public domain instead of allowing the several graduate societies to regulate their own members, the Medicine Hat News comments, and continues: Generally, public reaction to the move will be favorable or disinterested, unless the protestants can substantiate their expressed fears of politics or the lowering of qualification standards in the contemplated action.

Strongest opposition to the change is developing from the medical profession, while the engineering or technical professions appear least fearful of any "invasion of private rights." The reason for this contrary position is, possibly, that the new legislation is aimed to open up Alberta to well-qualified physicians and surgeons from abroad.

It is known that there is a large pool of professional people in Western Europe, variously estimated at up to 20,000 persons, who are anxious to locate in North America. Included in the bloc are hundreds of medical men who, if located in Canada, would relieve pressure on an understaffed profession and would be prepared to serve in rural regions and small towns and villages now lacking any medical service. The desire to encourage immigration to Alberta of skilled and professional people from the British Isles and Western Europe is probably one thought behind the new licence legislation.

MORE IMMIGRANTS NEEDED

Woodstock Sentinel-Review

There has been a steady change of sentiment in Canada on the question of immigration. This is obvious from the policy statements and public addresses of men in public life and of various organizations. During the last couple of weeks Citizenship Minister Harris has been going up and down the country emphasizing the need for more people in Canada. This would seem to indicate that the government is prepared to abandon its former cautious policy on immigration and to go much further in encouraging people from other countries to begin a new life in this Dominion. The stand was backed last week by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, which stated in a memorandum that world political conditions, Canada's potential but undeveloped natural resources and our strategic place in world affairs give Canada both an opportunity and a responsibility in the matter of immigration.

CHILDREN'S TRAGEDIES

Sudbury Star

Among the tragedies that befall children at play is one that appears to be difficult of solution. We refer to the serious and sometimes fatal injuries caused by dynamite caps, found by children at play along the railway tracks, around construction jobs and mining properties. A Timmins youth lost six fingers when a cap exploded and the police investigation uncovered a six-quart basket full of caps. It is hard to understand how anyone could overlook a six-quart basket full.

RADIO ON TRAINS

Edmonton Journal

Is it impossible to equip all railway engines with two-way radio? All ships must have it. Planes operating on scheduled passenger runs are in touch by radio with airport control towers. Two-way radio is commonplace on police patrol cars and on taxicabs.

Why, then, are not moving trains kept in touch with dispatchers, and even with each other, when running in the same division? Serious wrecks in Canada in the past 20 years, due to head-on collisions, number seven. They alone took 108 lives and injured many more. The cost of equipping every passenger and freight engine with a two-way radio probably would not greatly exceed the cost to the railways of collisions during the past 20 years.

OFF THE STREET

Port Arthur News-Chronicle

Kitchener has provided a municipal parking lot with meters, the first of its kind in Ontario. The rates on the lot are, on the time basis, lower than on the streets, the charge being 15 cents for six hours. Possibly, if it is found that the lot can be financed for less the charge will be reduced because basically it is a service at cost proposition.

BANANA BELT

Fort William Times-Journal

Cold spells, we have. But we somehow seem to miss the driving gales that sweep across the continent. Just when they appear headed in our direction they turn out into Superior and hit across Northern Wisconsin, Michigan and into Southern Ontario. We get little of the heavy wet snow, or of the alternate heavy thaw and quick freeze that plays havoc with transportation.

On that score we can count ourselves extremely fortunate.

CAR THIEVES

Vancouver Sun

Last week-end in Vancouver, 50 cars were stolen, most of them by juveniles. Several cars were wrecked.

It takes something wholesale like this to arouse public attention. But the type of crime goes on continuously.

AFRAID OF PEACE

Montreal Gazette

The difficulty of trying to make peace with communist Russia is that she fears peace as much as she fears war.

Russian communism cannot really accept a state of peace without ceasing to be communist. And this massive Russian concession is certainly not now to be hoped for.

Communist Russia is a permanent conspiracy. The promotion of confusion and strife is essential both to its character and to its survival. A condition of genuine and dependable peace would involve open frontiers, a free exchange, and a raising of the curtains. But Russia is committed to cut its people off from the outer world.

NOT FORGETTING PRUDENCE

Peterborough Examiner

A Picton jury made an unusual recommendation recently; in finding a man guilty of manslaughter who had previously been charged with murder, the jury said, "We recommend no mercy." There are reasons for believing that in our imperfect world mercy can be overdone. We notice with interest that New Zealand has returned to the exercise of capital punishment. In 1941 hanging was abolished in New Zealand; from that time until 1948 there were 87 murders there; in the seven years before the abolition of the death penalty there had been only 54 murders. It looked to the New Zealand legislators as if the death penalty did, in some measure act as a deterrent to murder, and so they restored it.

Mercy is one of the greatest of the virtues. There is another lesser virtue called Prudence, which should be exercised in all aspects of life. Prudence apparently dictated a return to the death penalty for murder.

WHAT YOU MIGHT CALL FACING A CRISIS

Letters To The Editor

COMMON POLICY URGED

Dear Sir:—Now that the legislative authority in the matter of "margarine" has been definitely located at the provincial level, I am very much in favor of the suggestion put forward in the news-columns the other day, namely, that a nation-wide conference should be arranged to hammer-out general policy, on as much common ground as can be discovered by the respective provincial authorities?

It would be decidedly interesting, for example, to learn the results of the past two years, in what I would describe as the Quebec School of Experience, in dealing with this continuing problem? Farm opinion, so far as my reading guides me, ranges all the way from resolutions, such as adopted by the Huron Federation of Agriculture (Ont.), calling upon Queen's Park to ban the sale of margarine in Ontario, to discussions anent the possibility of "appropriate tariff action on the importation of foreign-grown vegetable oils" upon which the butter substitute is built.

In the course of a story on "The Farmer's Share" of the urban food dollar, the following table appears in one of the rural journals, and I was rather astonished to find Creamery Butter at the head of the list, showing the number of cents which get back to the farmer, when the final consumer passes out a dollar for the basic commodities shown: Creamery Butter, 76.4 cents; Eggs, 73.8 cents; Beef, 64.3 cents; Fluid Milk, 54.5 cents; Potatoes, 49.4 cents; Wheat Flour, 44 cents; Cheese, 33.6 cents; Canned Tomatoes, 20.6 cents; Bread, 17.9 cents.

A perusal of the above figures seems to indicate, pretty clearly, the direct link between agriculture and urban workers, not only in Canada but throughout the world? "OBSERVER."

Chalk River has produced 32 different types of radio-isotopes, ranging from cobalt to iodine. They look just like cobalt or iodine or whatever they are, except that they are radio-active — they have that spark.

Their clinical use against cancer and other diseases has been scouted, but scientists say "it will probably be found their greatest medical benefit will be as a sensitive tool with which to discover biological processes rather than clinical applications." In other words, to learn what causes cancer, rather than trying to attack it.

The research uses are numerous and increasing. One example is

Chalk River's Isotopes Require The Utmost Care In Handling

By DOUGLAS HOW

Canadian Press Staff Writer Chalk River, Ont., Dec. 13.—Canadian universities, industry and medicine are getting quantities of revolutionary research tools called radio-isotopes now, but it takes a nudist show twice a day to do it.

Every morning when they go to work in the isotopes building the workers have to strip off their clothes, pass along a corridor and put on others. Every night when they come out they have to strip again, take a shower, monitor or special apparatus, then put on their own clothes and call it a day.

The reason is the danger of radio-activity, the emission of potentially-lethal rays or particles turned loose in the atomic process. This danger leads to numerous other precautions in the isotopes building, one of 100 on this atomic energy project and the core of its one production line so far having practical applications in the outside world.

The isotopes are radio-active tracer atoms that emerge as a by-product from the energy-releasing processes of the reactor, or radioactive pile. Their rays allow them to be traced in the human body, in industrial processes, in insects and grubs burrowing under the earth, even in mosquitoes in flight. They have been called the greatest research tool discovered since the microscope.

In three years Chalk River has made 650 shipments to Canadian universities, research groups, hospitals and industry, and 70 to users abroad. They now go out at an average of one a day, the isotopes shielded in containers, mostly going by rail but occasionally by air because they've got to have

END PLAY MAY COME AS SURPRISE

Most bridge players think of an "end play" with exaggerated respect. They're so sure that only a great expert can execute an end play that they never try to stage one themselves. That's foolish, because they are really pretty easy. In fact, as today's hand shows, it's possible to fall right into an end play without any planning at all.

East won the opening club lead with the ace and returned the deuce of diamonds. It would have been pretty bad for South if he had played a low diamond; West would win, lead to the diamond ace, and ruff the third round of the suit.

However, South was in no doubt about the location of the ace of diamonds. East had opened the bidding and needed the ace of diamonds for his opening bid. Even if East were suspected of making a very light opening bid, it was still impossible for West to hold the ace of diamonds. His opening lead showed length in clubs, and he surely would have raised to two clubs if he had also held the ace of diamonds.

So South put up the king of diamonds, and West dropped the jack. South still didn't see how he was going to avoid the loss of two diamonds and a spade, in addition to the club that the enemy had already taken. However, South was a man who liked to play a hand out, so he proceeded.

Declarer simply drew two rounds of trumps, cashed the ace and king of spades, and then gave up a spade trick. This was all very straightforward, and without any deliberate plan. But South suddenly discovered he had executed a very fine end play.

The only cards left in West's hand were the jack of diamonds and some clubs. He led the jack of diamonds, properly enough, but East didn't dare overtake with the ace of diamonds—for fear of setting up South's ten. The result was that West had to lead one of his clubs, and that gave declarer a chance to ruff in dummy while discarding the ten of diamonds from his hand.

The Record Short Story

Wedding Bells For Someone

By HOLEN WHELEN

Youngsters sometimes run away from home, but when someone like Martha Sheldon, who's my age and that's old enough to be a grandmother, does it—well, you wouldn't want to know why?

Martha and I have been best friends since the days we giggled when we talked about boys. I'd have bet she told me everything that happened to her, but I changed my mind about that, fast, the day the telephone rang in my little California bungalow and the operator said she had a long distance call for me.

It was from the Illinois town where I'd grown up and Martha still lived. Next time, I was hearing the excited voice of Martha's daughter, Nell, answering me, "Is Mother there with you?"

"Why no," I said. "Though I've certainly invited her to come visit me more times than I can count. Is she actually on her way?"

"Oh, I hoped so, I don't know where else she would be bound for, but I don't know," Nell sounded both hysterical and angry. "I got home from work one evening and there was a note—saying she'd gone on a trip and would write later. Then I got a postcard from Kansas City, saying she was mailing it when the train stopped there, and today I got one from Arizona. She should be in California by now."

I tried to soothe her by saying maybe Martha's stopped off to see Hollywood.

"You'll make her call me the minute she steps a foot into your house, won't you?" Nell demanded. "Promise me!"

"Why, of course," I said. "Martha'll want to let you know she got here, so you won't be worrying."

"She didn't think much about my worrying when she flew off the way she did," Nell said. Honestly, I don't know what to tell people when they ask where she is. They certainly think it's funny her own daughter doesn't know."

Had Martha developed queer notions suddenly, the way older people did sometimes? My curiosity was big enough to keep my mind on Martha instead of what I was doing while I waited for her to appear.

She didn't. Nell called again, threatening to ask help from the police missing persons' bureau, and even the F.B.I. because maybe her mother'd been kidnapped.

What Martha did do, finally, was telephone me.

"Martha!" I exclaimed, relieved no end. "You are all right — truly?"

Martha matter-of-factly assured me she was, and having a fine time seeing the sights of southern California. I told her she'd better call Nell immediately and tell her that.

Martha refused firmly. "I'll call when I get good and ready and I can tell, from what you say, that time isn't here yet."

"Well," I said, "I'm certainly glad we're going to get together again after all these years. But tell me—what made you decide to come so suddenly?"

Martha chuckled. "You're not fooling me, Julia — you mean did Nell and I have a disagreement of any kind? We didn't. Nell takes pride in her title of the most devoted daughter in town. When her job at the library's over for the day, home she comes to keep me company."

"That's wonderful," I told her, "but no more than you deserve. You've always made a lovely home for her, and waited on her — assessing the wear of piston rings in engines. One clinical use has been found for them in combating leukemia, treated blood disease. They can locate internal faults in castings."

But they're tough to handle. The entire isotopes building is a monument to caution. Its work of chemical separation, testing, measuring and preparing for shipment is done inside glass cases called dry boxes, the hands working through special gloves attached to openings. Some of it proceeds by remote control behind heavy lead shielding.

Questions and Answers

Q—About How long can beavers stay under water?
 A—Beavers are air-breathing animals, but they can close their nostrils and stay under as long as 8 or 10 minutes.

Q—What is the legend regarding the drooping of the leaves of the willow tree?
 A—According to tradition the leaves of the willow tree did not droop until after the crucifixion of Christ. The legend states that the handle of the spear used to pierce the side of Christ was composed of the wood of the willow tree.

transports warped against Hungnam's wharves.

Much of the allies' arsenal in northeast Korea was slated for sea movement.

There were two big questions arising out of the evacuation:

Could the allied force get out before the Chinese swept in from the frozen mountains in sight of the harbor?

What was the destination of the still-strong 10th Corps? Would it go to the Seoul area where the Eighth Army still is massed on defence lines; to Pusan port in the old southeast Korea beach-head, or to Japan?

The Chinese, who have failed to follow through quickly on their several smashing attacks in North Korea, held the answer to the fate of the evacuation.

Canada's Mills Can Supply Cotton Needs

Montreal, Dec. 13.—Existing Canadian mills are capable of supplying this country's demands for cotton goods in peace or in war, J. Irving Roy, of Montreal, said here today.

"We are better equipped for this than we were in 1939 and we are again proving our ability to provide for a larger share of the Canadian market than has been our privilege in the recent past," he said, advocating that this be encouraged now to meet future emergencies.

Mr. Roy pointed out that due

J. I. ROY

to pressure of imports, mostly from the United States, domestic mills currently provided only slightly more than 60% of cottons used here. Under such conditions, he said, curtailment of U.S. shipments "could rapidly bring this country to a very restricted supply position and create a situation that could not be rectified overnight."

Mr. Roy, general manager of Canadian Cottons Limited, was reviewing industry activity in the place of the late Walter S. Burhill, of Hamilton, for many years Institute president, and whose death three months ago "left a gap in this group that will never be filled in our time."

The Canadian cotton yarn and cloth industry is comprised of 44 mills in 28 municipalities and employs 24,000 men and women, Mr. Roy said. Wages, 170 per cent higher than in 1939, were at an all-time high and working conditions were the best offered in any country due to constant modernization.

"There is an adequate supply of cotton goods in Canada today because this industry has again stepped up production to fill a gap when high imports have momentarily decreased," he said. "Shipments into this country from British economy is complete or that financial resources of the sterling area are adequate. The United States action, Foster said, does not mean a permanent end of Marshall plan aid. If Britain's economic position worsens, there can be "reconsideration, if necessary," of the cut-off order, he added.

London, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Hugh Gaitskell, Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced today the flow of Marshall aid recovery dollars to Britain will be ended Jan. 1st.

British and American experts have been talking over the ending of Marshall aid for several weeks. The American point of view was that Britain now has reached the point where no more aid is needed.

Britain becomes the first country to step out of the multi-billion dollar aid program to war-ravaged Europe.

Started in April, 1948, the program was designed to put allies of the United States back on their feet by July, 1952.

Further aid agreements to spend further aid means she will go her economic way alone a year and seven months before that date.

From the beginning of Marshall aid until last June 30th, Britain received $2,540,700,000 from the U.S. This year Britain has received only $175,000,000 of an expected $400,000,000.

All sources in 1950 will total about 175 million yards, down from 216 million in 1949. By increasing production, however, our mills will supply about 300 million more than last year and highest annual total since World War II.

The excellent war record of domestic cotton mills was outlined by the speaker, who then went on to show how Canada's industry, with its high wages and small potential market, was at a disadvantage when competing with the mass-producing U.S. industry, of the low-wage products of Britain and other countries.

"Our mills can supply the quantity of cotton goods normally required in Canada. With sufficient encouragement they would do so in times of peace in order to be prepared in time of emergency."

Mr. Roy pointed to Canada's higher wages and lower tariffs on imports as limiting the percentage of the home market supplied during normal times. "This is not just a case of wishing to do more business, but a way of assuring the future. At no time should the standard of living of the working people of Canada become menaced by admittance of goods into this country which do not compete fairly with merchandise produced in Canada."

George Prudham Goes To Cabinet

Ottawa, Dec. 13.—Appointment of George Prudham, Liberal Member of Parliament for Edmonton West, to the Federal Cabinet will be announced today for Prime Minister St. Laurent. Mr. Prudham is Parliamentary assistant to Resources Minister Winters.

Mr. Prudham, 46, will succeed Senator James A. MacKinnon, 69, who has been acting as Minister without Portfolio. Senator MacKinnon, now in hospital at Montreal for a checkup, is a former Minister of Trade and Commerce. He will drop out of the Cabinet.

Mr. St. Laurent called a press conference for noon and may also announce the appointment of a number of Parliamentary assistants.

Another still convalescent is Cpl. Ross Anderson of New Westminster, B.C., and Lethbridge. Lieut. Peter McKenzie of Vancouver hoped to make the best of his visit to Yokohama by seeing his father, Lt.-Col. A. P. McKenzie, a professor at Kobe University. But last night he was taken ill and at the last minute had to be confined to ship.

It was a different story, however, for those who had sea legs. Yesterday they packed the decks, stripped to the waist, as they enjoyed the 80-degree sunshine.

Schools of dolphin and flying fish swept past the ship in mid-ocean and spectacular Pacific sunsets were musts for the nature-lovers aboard.

Amusement for the troops included motion pictures on deck under the stars at night. Below decks, the ship's concert party put on four performances and there was bingo for those with the gaming spirit.

"Chow" became a grievance in mid-Pacific when the mess cooks began serving unimaginative meals such as plain spaghetti and macaroni without the usual meat sauce.

The men complained direct to Lt.-Col. Stone who took it up with the ship's master and the chief steward. Within 24 hours the troops pronounced the food "a million per cent better." The highlight was a dinner of roast chicken last Sunday.

The sad news was received here by Mr. John Hawker of the death

Workbasket Toys

Stuffed cotton toys are simple to make, easy on the Christmas budget. The toys surrounding this mother are made to patterns, from economical and handy cotton feed bags. Stitches are charted in each pattern.

By GAILE DUGAS

To the fairly long list of child-hood toys so beloved that they have become imperishable, the well-stuffed cotton toy must be added. The number of children who have gone to sleep cuddling a Ragged Ann must now be legion.

Cotton toys are in the bag this Christmas. Made to neat patterns from handy cotton feed bags, they'll make Dec. 25 more fun for any small child. Cotton bag sizes range from the 10-pound sugar sacks to the 100-pound feed bags. These bags come in floral and conversational prints, plaids, stripes and checks. The stitches are charted in every pattern and several patterns have easy-to-do hot iron transfers.

Easily available at bakeries, grocery stores and feed dealers, over 150,000,000 of these feed and flour bags were snapped up by women last year. In fact, women have been known to buy mule feed for the chickens in order to get the exact print they want for home sewing.

Upside-down Suzy, easily made from three small bags, is really two dolls. She has two dresses, two smiling faces, a bonnet for the black. The plain white or pastel bags are, by the way, fine for body parts while the prints make pretty doll clothes and novel stuffed animals.

The delightful dachshund is made from a striped feed bag and measures 17 inches from his small black nose to the tip of his pointed tail. His pattern has the hot-iron transfer design.

The body of Pedro the Monkey is made from a flour bag in dark solid color with white sack material for the feet and face. A lively polka dot fashions his bow tie.

The "creeper" doll, planned as a gift for a little girl, looks like a baby at the crawling stage. Dressed in a cotton bag diaper and juvenile print romper, it has a glowing complexion which comes from a pink cotton bag.

Tillie the Turtle and Danny the Duck may sound like a pair of miniature mobsters but actually are without guile. Tillie can be made up in bright plaid and Danny takes to an animal print.

Mr. and Mrs. K. Smith was at the piano. The president, Mrs. Morrison was in the chair. The minutes were read by secretary, Mrs. MacGonigal; the treasurer's report by Mrs. Earl Gale; Flower Fund report by Mrs. Connolly; and the shop report by Mrs. Cowdrey. Plans were made for the Christmas entertainment and decorating of the church and hall. The election of the officers was left over for the next meeting. There was a good attendance of members and several guests.

Mrs. R. Lamplough spent a long week-end in Hudson as the guest of her sister, Mrs. Oliver.

Mrs. Austin Lawrence has returned home, after spending a week in Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm MacIver, of Matheson, Ont., were visitors in town. Mr. MacIver was here on business for the Canadian Johns Manville Company.

Miss Marjorie Read left from Montreal to spend the week-end in New York.

A number from here attended the play, "When Wife's Away" put on by the Danville Players' Club and enjoyed it very much.

Misses Shirley and Lorna Watt, and Master Paddy Shields, of Montreal, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Watt.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Fee spent a day in Sherbrooke.

Mrs. Everett Coote and children, Joan and Hartley, spent a week-end in Montreal.

For Bad Winter Coughs, Mix This Syrup at Home

This well known recipe is used by thousands of housewives, because they have found that it gives them an effective, dependable medicine for distressing winter coughs.

From any druggist, get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for effect on throat irritations.

Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water until dissolved. It's no trouble at all and takes but a moment. No cooking needed. (Or use corn syrup or liquid honey instead) of sugar syrup.) Put the Pinex into a 16 ounce bottle and fill up with your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of cough syrup, unusually quick-acting and dependable, and you get four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and is very pleasant—children love it.

You'll be surprised by the way it takes hold of severe coughs, giving quick, satisfying relief. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Money refunded if it doesn't please in every way.

Mrs. Farewell Was Re-Elected Head Of Knox Women's Association At Annual Meeting Held In Lake Megantic

Lake Megantic, Dec. 13. — The Women's Association of Knox United Church met at the home of Mrs. L. E. Clark one Wednesday evening, with an attendance of sixteen members and four visitors.

The president, Mrs. Farwell, opened the meeting with a reading from the "Upper Room" followed by the "Lord's Prayer" in unison. The minutes were read and approved. In the absence of the treasurer, Mrs. Farwell read the financial report, which showed a good balance on hand with all bills paid. The members voted to give the board of managers $100 to help finance the re-wiring of the church.

Final plans and arrangements for the Christmas Tree and entertainment were made and also for decorating the church.

Mrs. McLeod presented the slate of officers for the coming year, which was accepted and was as follows: President, Mrs. Farwell, re-elected; first vice-president, Mrs. J. N. Matheson; second vice-president, Mrs. F. Greenwood; secretary, Mrs. G. Gonyer, re-elected; treasurer, Mrs. J. B. Lavalliere, re-elected.

Mrs. Farwell thanked the officers and members for their co-operation during the past year and asked for the same in the coming year.

Several aprons and other articles were brought in and sold. The proceeds for the evening were $10.90.

The meeting closed with the "Mizpah Benediction."

A social time was enjoyed and the hostess served delicious refreshments assisted by her daughter.

From Santa's Sleigh

Toys that really work will hold the spotlight under 1950 Christmas trees. Small mother (center) serves malted milk, swirled in her own mixer, to doll that sips from straw. The other doll recites nursery rhymes while admiring tea table set with plastic "silver" flatware and hollow-ware, crystal and china. Plastic ukelele (upper left) produces real music when played with special push-button chording device. Wheels on truck (lower left) may be removed with correctly-sized tire-changing tools. Dial telephone (upper right) works with special wooden-block "coins." Small boy coaxes swelling tones from miniature plastic electric organ (lower right).

If the toys which Santa is always picking up litter, a garage features ready loading into his sleigh are any indication, this will be a noisy Christmas. The fading sounds of his jingle bells will be replaced by the yippee-ki-ays of well-equipped small cowboys and the domestic murmurs of little mothers whose doll children actually talk back.

Emphasis this year is on realism. Dolls are more spectacularly life-like than ever. There is a sweet-faced one that sings, prays and recites nursery rhymes; there is a gaminish, touse-headed one that sucks water through a straw, blows bubbles, sips from a spoon and, inevitably, wets her pants; and another that burps and weeps real tears.

A soft-skinned make-believe infant, with features perpetually contorted in the wailing expression of a new-born baby, achieves perhaps the ultimate—a heartbeat.

Playhouse equipment not only looks just like mother's, but much of it actually functions. A dish-washing machine cleans its own set of miniature tableware; a carpet sweeper not only cleans the rug but sings a merry music-box song in the process; a child-size mixing machine turns out chocolate malteses that rival those at the corner drugstore.

Toys for boys also feature workability. A street-sweeper actually produces real music when played with special push-button chording device. Wheels on truck (lower left) may be removed with correctly-sized tire-changing tools. Dial telephone (upper right) works with special wooden-block "coins." Small boy coaxes swelling tones from miniature plastic electric organ (lower right).

Cowboy trappings still dominate the masculine toy field, however. Holsters, boots and spurs are as lavish as ever. A new-model gun belches a realistic puff of smoke when the trigger is pulled.

Junior range-riders are offered a corral-full of steeds that run the gamut of the price scale. A simple inflated plastic horse's head tucks into the cowboy's belt; realistic skin-covered rocking horses feature real leather saddles; a new sidewalk bike carries a Western equipment a rifle-carrying case and holster plus double saddle bags. Chuck wagons are available, too, for youngsters whose eyes are fixed on the wide-open spaces.

Circus sets are making toyland news this year, also. One plastic

DOROTHY DIX

Learning To Play

How Does Friendless Girl Build Social Life At 30?

DEAR MISS DIX: Suppose you were about 30 years of age and had never learned to play. You hadn't many girl friends and no boy friends. Suppose you wanted to learn to play and to go places where you would meet men. What would you do? Where would you go? Suppose you wanted to learn to dance better and had very little money for it. What would you do? Suppose there was a boy you had met and you felt he was THE one and you hadn't made the proper impression on him. What would you do? Suppose you tell us in your column just what to do.

DOROTHY DIX

THREE BLIND MICE
ANSWER: I can't. If I knew any way by which a mousy girl could turn herself into a brilliant bird of paradise; if I knew any secret magic by which a quiet girl could suddenly become gay and vivacious and spectacular; if I knew any way by which a girl without dates could attract all men to her, I should not be writing a newspaper column. I would be elected President of the United States by the unanimous feminine vote.

These things come by nature. No one knows how or why.

HABITS ARE SET

But to try to answer your questions, it is pretty late to try to learn to play when you are 30 years old. Your habits are settled. Your tastes are formed. But if you have permitted yourself to become too settled you can begin to step out a bit and entertain a little. That is the easiest way to get to know men without seeming to run after them. Men will always get out of a woman's hand as long as she has good food in it.

The best place to meet men is in business. It takes wild horses to drag a man to a tea, summer resorts and winter resorts are Adamless Edens; the happy hunting ground for husbands is to be found in offices.

If you want to learn to dance better and cannot afford a teacher, practice your steps with some friend who is a good dancer. That's easy. But as to how to win a boy on whom you have failed to make an impression, that's a different story. Love comes and goes as it will and none of us know why or have the power to compel it. The only thing you can do is to throw yourself in the young man's way as often as you can without arousing his suspicions, and try to make yourself as interesting and agreeable to him as possible. Find out his taste in women and then try to be it.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 18, have run around considerably, thought myself in love many times, but found out I wasn't. Have had a job away from my family and friends for more than a year. Have always been in contact with older people in business and association and feel older than my age. Considering these things, would it be safe for me to marry a boy of 22, who is a fine fellow and able to support me? Does a girl of 18 know her own mind well enough to make a wise choice and know what she wants in a husband? What is the average outcome of youthful marriages?

ANSWER: According to divorce statistics, the average outcome of youthful marriages is failure. The proportion of divorces granted to men and women in their twenties is far in excess of any other age. But calendar age and real age do not always tally. Some girls at 18 are mature enough to marry and that may be your case. But why not give yourself the benefit of the doubt? When you are married you will be married a long, long time, so what's the hurry?

At 18 you are at what should be the beginning of the happiest and most carefree time of your life. Why not enjoy it? Don't throw away your girlhood. You will be sorry for it if you do.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My oldest son is 28. He will not work and the younger children have to work and support him. When I try to get him to hunt a job he gets frantic and does not speak to me for weeks. What can I do with him?

ANSWER: Nothing but turn him out of doors. Your son will never work as long as you and the other children support him, but he would work rather than starve.

DOROTHY DIX cannot reply personally to readers, but will answer problems of general interest through her column.

MARRIAGES

GOODWIN—TURNER
Bury, Que., Dec. 13.—A quiet but pretty wedding took place in St. Peter's Anglican Church, Cookshire, Que., on Saturday evening, October 21, at seven o'clock, when June Ruth Louisa, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Turner, of Bury, became the bride of Hazen Guy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Goodwin, of Canterbury. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. Turpin.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length light blue tulle dress with short puffed sleeves, and a very full bouffant skirt. She wore a shoulder-length veil, long matching mitts and a corsage of red roses. Her only ornament was a rhinestone necklace.

Miss Elva Turner, of Sherbrooke, sister of the bride, and her only attendant, was gowned in a floor-length frock of dusty rose. She wore a matching bandeau and mitts, and a corsage of carnations.

Mr. Irwin Watson, of Canterbury, acted as best man.

The bride's mother was attired in a navy blue dress with black accessories and she wore a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Goodwin, mother of the groom, wore a green dress with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for immediate relatives and friends at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin were the recipients of many useful and beautiful wedding gifts.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Alberta Gordon, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Milton Goodwin, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Goodwin, Mr. Irwin Watson,

Mrs. F. Shorten and Mrs. A. Smear-don; fish pond, Miss Ruth Hall and Miss Shirley Fearon; dolls and dolls' clothes, Mrs. R. Trux and Miss Patricia MacDonald; fancy work and aprons, Mrs. John Drew and Mrs. W. Wheeler; Christmas cards and calendars, Mrs. F. Gellinas and Mrs. R. Coates.

Mrs. G. Davidson, convener of the tea room, was assisted by Mrs. R. Edgecombe and Mrs. Earl Holt-ham. The waitresses included the Misses Betty and Lois Cutts, Mrs. J. Haworth, Mrs. D. Wheeler, Mrs. F. Parr, Mrs. R. Fraser, Mrs. W. Patton, Mrs. K. Thompson, Miss A. Gagnon, Mrs. R. Bowker and Miss C. Littel.

Mrs. J. Hall acted as convener of the kitchen and was assisted by Mrs. R. Cutts, Mrs. A. Noble, Mrs. D. Galbraith, Mrs. L. Pinkham, Mrs. R. Wells, Mrs. W. Henderson and Mrs. B. Wheeler. Mrs. F. Gellinas, Mrs. C. C. McLachlan, Mrs. W. Wheeler, Mrs. R. Cutts and Mrs. R. Coates convended the food.

Canterbury; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Clarke and family, Bishop-ton; Mr. and Mrs. R. Duval, Danville; Mr. and Mrs. R. Thompson and family, Huntingville; Mrs. Fred Norris and daughter, Suzanne, Colebrook, N.H.

KING—BAILEY
Thorold, Ont., Dec. 13.—The marriage of Bernice Irene, youngest daughter of Mr. Thomas J. Bailey and the late Mrs. Bailey, of Kinnear's Mills, Que., to Mr. Cecil Arthur King, of Toronto, Ont., son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles King, of Lower Ireland, Que., took place on Saturday afternoon, November 11, at four o'clock, in the United Church Parsonage, Thorold, Ont., the Rev. T. B. Naylor officiating.

The bride was given in a navy blue crepe dress with white and blue accessories and she wore a corsage of red roses and "mums. She wore a gold watch, the gift of the groom; gold earrings, and a bracelet of her great-aunt.

Mrs. Alex Grady, the bride's former schoolmate and friend, was matron of honor, and she wore a bright wine-colored dress with black accessories, and a corsage of white lilies.

Mr. Alex Grady acted as best man for his cousin.

The bride's gift to the groom was a signet ring, and to the matron of honor, a bracelet and earrings. The groom's gift to the best man was a leather bill-fold.

The reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everade McKee, Merriton, Ont., where the bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake ornamented with silver leaves and topped with a miniature bride and groom, and white candles in crystal holders.

Telegrams of congratulations were received from Mrs. Austin Scott, Mrs. Mary Boyle, Miss N. B. Grady and Miss E. G. Bailey, of Lennoxville.

The bride and groom were the recipients of many lovely gifts, including silverware, linen, blankets, St. Catharines, Ont.; Miss Donna Birch, Port Dalhousie, Mr. and Mrs. Everade McKee, Mr. Allan McKee and Miss Jean McKee, Merriton, Ont.

The colours in H. M. Queen Mary's carpet reflects Her Majesty's personal choice, but she was restricted in making the solid background colour because of shortages and rationing of wool during the war years.

Banana Scallops for Christmas

By GAYNOR MADDOX
On the day after Christmas at the New Boston Inn, Rosamond Chapin serves broiled steak or a double lamb chop with banana scallops. "That's a surprise change from goose or turkey. And those scallops—well, you just try them," she urged.

We did. The Chapins, Russell and Rosamond wrote out the recipe hoping all our readers will be as happy about the scallops as we were.

Banana Scallops
Slice firm, ripe bananas into rounds the size of a small scallop. Dip these first into egg beaten with small amount of water and a pinch of salt. Roll in very fine sifted bread crumbs made from oven-dried stale bread, crushed with a rolling pin and put through a sieve.

Never use cracker crumbs. Shake excess crumbs from the scallops and fry in a wire basket in deep hot fat for a few minutes—or until nicely browned. Drain on brown paper and serve immediately.

At their inn in New Boston, Massachusetts, they serve the banana scallops with a 2-inch thick kidney lamb chop, broiled under a hot fire, set on a piece of crisp buttered toast and topped with a grilled tomato and a mushroom cap.

Mrs. Chapin serves red cabbage with the Christmas goose. "It goes wonderfully also with baked ham steak and candied yams," she said. Here's her recipe:

Red Cabbage
Start to prepare red cabbage a couple of hours before your meal. Into a sizeable saucepan put 1/4 cup of butter and simmer in this a couple of finely shredded onions until soft but not brown. Then add about 4 cups of finely shredded red cabbage and 1 cup of sliced tart apples.

Add 1/2 cup of red wine or vinegar and 1/2 cup light brown sugar—also salt, pepper and garlic salt. Add just enough water, about one cup, to keep cabbage from burning at the start. Stir frequently and cook covered over low heat until soft. The flavor of the cabbage blends especially well with ham as well as goose.

BREAKFAST: Stewed prunes, oatmeal, crisp bacon, enriched toast, butter, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Turkey and barley soup, wholewheat bread, butter, canned peach halves stuffed with cottage cheese and finely chopped peanuts, tea, milk.

DINNER: Ham steak baked in milk, candied yams, red cabbage, rye bread, butter, carrot sticks, apple pie, cheese, coffee, milk.

Melbourne Ridge Women's Institute Featured A Christmas Tree For The Mission Band Children At Meeting

Melbourne Ridge, Dec. 13.—The Melbourne Ridge Women's Institute held the December meeting at the Kingsbury Schoolhouse with a good attendance of members and several children.

The children of the Mission Band had decorated a Christmas tree for the occasion.

Mrs. H. Fowler, president, opened the meeting in the usual manner. Several Christmas carols were sung during the afternoon.

The roll call, treasurer's report and correspondence were read.

The Institute Christmas cards were in display.

Plans were made to hold a dance and card party at the Kingsbury School, on December 28.

Each member was asked to donate a dish towel at the next meeting with W. I. as identification on each one.

Plans were made for the sick committee to send Christmas cards to shut-ins and older folk in the community.

The children received gifts and candy from the tree and members exchanged gifts. The names for which had been drawn at the November meeting.

The remaining children's gifts were given to the Junior Red Cross Society. Members reported that all the overseas boxes had been sent.

It was announced that the next meeting would be held at the Melbourne Ridge Church Hall, on January 9.

At the close of a pleasant afternoon, refreshments were served.

OBITUARIES

MRS. EDWARD LAROCHE OF DERBY LINE, VT.

Derby Line, Vt. Dec. 12. — Gloom was cast over the community on Friday, December 1, when it was learned that Mrs. Edward Laroche had passed away late the previous night, at the Orleans County Memorial Hospital, in Newport, Vt., following an illness of seven months duration, during which time she was a patient in various New England hospitals, in Vermont. About two months ago, her doctors realized they had done everything in their power to help her and she returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Mann, in Stanstead, where she was lovingly cared for by her family and friends.

marriage, was employed in the Shipping department of the Union Twist Drill Co., in Rock Island, Vt. She was married in Newport, Vt., to Edward (Buddy) Laroche, and they resided in Derby Line, Vt. To them were born two daughters, Rose Marie, age two and a half years, and Susan Ariens, age seven months.

The funeral was held in Centenary United Church, on Sunday afternoon, December 3, 2:30 o'clock, where many relatives and a large number of friends gathered to pay their last respects to a good friend, who was well liked by everyone who knew her.

Numerous floral tributes surrounded the casket, as the remains laid in repose at Cass' Funeral Home and later in the church throughout the service and included offerings from the family, members of Stanstead College staff, the office Union Twist Drill Co., the Canadian Legion and Women's Auxiliary and many others, which were expressions of the high esteem felt for the deceased.

Rev. McKinley Rose, pastor of Centenary Church, officiating at the service and spoke words of comfort to the bereaved family.

The bearers were Messrs. Leonard McGilton, Samuel Abbott, Floyd Webb, Leslie Rediker, Hector Channell, and Eric Deyan.

The funeral procession then continued to Crystal Lake Cemetery, Stanstead, where the remains were laid to rest in the family lot.

Mrs. Laroche is survived by her husband; two little daughters; her parents; a sister, Mrs. Douglas Cooper; and a brother, Mr. George Mann, Jr., of Montreal; and many more distant relatives.

Among those attending the funeral from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. George Mann, Jr.; Mrs. Ethel Vowell, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Jacobs and Mr. George Laroche, all of Montreal; Miss Geraldine Laroche, Mr. and Mrs. William Mann, of Beebe; Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Ewan, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Martin, of Waterbury, Vt.; and Mr. and Mrs. M. Pinkus, of Manchester, N.H.; also friends from Graniteville, Beebe and the surrounding district.

at Chalmers' United Church, at 2 p.m., on November 19.

Friends and neighbours joined with her sister, Mrs. Charles McKee, of Franklin, N.H., in paying their final tribute to one of Gould's oldest and much respected citizens.

Mrs. MacRitchie, nee Ruth Maude Huntington, was born at Compton, on April 4, 1898. She was the second daughter of the late Ira F. Huntington and his wife, Liza Ann Watson, formerly of Coaticook.

In August, 1917, she became the bride of Donald MacRitchie and came to Gould to reside.

She was predeceased by her aged father, on November 8, 1930, her invalid husband, on May 30, 1939, and her invalid mother, on June 7, 1939, all three of whom, had long illness before passing on.

When a young woman, Mrs. MacRitchie followed the trade of dressmaking and nothing less than perfection was her aim in this line of work.

After coming to Gould, she operated the local telephone exchange for some time. Her aged parents came from Coaticook to live with her and her husband in 1923. As long as her health permitted, she was a regular attendant of the Chalmers' United Church, and an active member of the Women's Missionary Society.

She was active in the Red Cross work during World War II and opened her home to its meetings, besides making countless garments for the cause.

When the United Church Manse was destroyed by fire in 1942, Mrs.

MacRitchie invited the minister and his wife, Rev. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thomas to share her home with her.

She was a quiet, industrious, resourceful woman, whose kingdom was her home and it can truly be said of her that she lived a long and useful life and will be missed in this community.

Rev. Mr. F. R. Matthews was in charge of the service. The choir sang the favourite hymns of the deceased, "Soldiers of Christ Arise", "Rock of Ages" and "What A Friend We Have in Jesus."

Beautiful flowers from relatives and friends covered her casket. Interment was made in the family lot in Gould Cemetery. Her casket was inclosed in bronze colored velvet.

She is survived by two sisters, Annie, Mrs. A. H. Wood, of Quincy, Mass., Lillian, Mrs. Charles McKee, of Franklin, N.H.; and one brother, Burton Huntington, of Parry Sound, Ont. Mrs. Wood and Mr. Huntington were unable to attend the services. There are also several nieces and nephews.

The bearers were Messrs. Clarence MacCaskill, George and Alex MacKay, David Hillis, Ross MacDonald and Arthur MacDonald.

MRS. NORMAN CAMPBELL OF BETHESDA, Md., FORMERLY OF MILAN

Scottstown, Dec. 12. — Funeral services for Mrs. Norman Campbell, sixty-four years old, who died at her home in Bethesda, Md., Wednesday morning, November 22, at 9 o'clock, were held Friday afternoon at two o'clock in the Graniteville Presbyterian Church, of which, she was a member. She had been in failing health for two years. Rev. James Murray Cubie, officiated at the services.

The church was filled with many relatives and friends, who sympathize with the family in their bereavement. The beautiful floral tributes expressed the esteem, in which the deceased was held by her friends. Miss Isobel Campbell sang, "The twenty-third Psalm" and "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied by Mrs. Herbert MacLeod.

Bearers were Messrs. Rodney MacIver, Alex Murray, Raymond Ross, Angus MacKenzie, Malcolm MacInnes and John MacAlay. Annie Effie MacDonald was born in Milan, in 1886, and was the elder daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Angus J. MacDonald, nee Mary Campbell.

She was married to Alexander J. Murray, in 1906, and they went to Graniteville, Vt., after their marriage. In 1908, they returned to Milan, where they resided until 1913, when they returned to Graniteville, to make their home.

Mr. Murray died in 1925. He was survived by seven children, Mrs. Louis (Jessie) Hammerli, Mrs. Esther Crowell, Miss Dorothy Murray, Mrs. Neland (Mildred) Hunt, all of Bethesda, Md., John Murray, of Waltham, Mass., Wallace Murray, of Windsor, Vt., and Angus Murray, of Williamstown, Vt.

One daughter died in infancy. In 1920, Mrs. Murray was married to Norman R. Campbell, of Graniteville, in Nashua, N.H., and they made their home in Graniteville, until 1939. They had one daughter, Miss Virginia Campbell, now residing in Bethesda, Md. They moved from Graniteville to Windsor, Vt., where they lived for about eight years. From Windsor, they moved to Bethesda, Md.

Mrs. Campbell was a woman of sterling qualities, whose chief interests lay in her family and community. Surviving besides her husband and eight children, are the following sister and brothers: Mrs. Catharine Moss, of Windsor, Vt.; Alex MacDonald, of Scottstown, and Norman, John and Kenneth MacDonald, of Milan. Several nieces and nephews and grandchildren also survive.

Among those who attended the funeral from out of town were Mr. John Murray, of Waltham, Mass.;

Mr. Norman Campbell, Mrs. Louis Hammerli, Miss Virginia Campbell, Miss Dorothy Murray, Mrs. Neland Hunt, all of Bethesda, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Murray, Mrs. Katharine Moss and Miss Dorothy Moss, of Windsor, Vt.; Mr. and Mrs. Angus Murray, of Williamstown, Vt.; Mr. Alex MacDonald, of Scottstown; Mr. Kenneth MacDonald, of Milan; Mrs. Harriet Ruel, of Boston, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Webster Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bennett, Mrs. William Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Campbell, all of Hartford, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Norris, of Montpelier, Vt., and many friends from the surrounding towns.

MR. HAROLD AMES OF PORTLAND, ME.

Melbourne, Dec. 12. — The death of Mr. Harold Ames occurred on November 25, 1950, after a few months illness at Portland, Me.

He was born in 1905 and was the only son of Mrs. Sina Ames, of Cambridge, Mass., and the late William I. Ames, formerly of Melbourne, Que. It was around Melbourne and Gore that he spent part of his childhood days.

He leaves to mourn his passing, his mother, and one sister, Mildred, besides many uncles, aunts and cousins.

The funeral services was held at the Melbourne Ridge United Church, at two o'clock, on Monday, November 27. The Rev. T. Mitchell, officiated.

The hymns sung were "Softly, Tenderly Jesus is Calling" "Peace, Perfect Peace" and the "Old Rugged Cross" by the choir.

Many beautiful floral offerings surrounded the casket.

The bearers were Messrs. Edwin and Lorne Ames, Fred and Ernest Newell, Sydney Johnston and Eddie Fallona.

Those attending the funeral from a distance were Mrs. Sina Ames, Miss Mildred Ames, Mr. and Mrs. T. Sullivan, of Cambridge, Masc.; Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Gillis, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kinder, of Sherbrooke; Mr. W. F. Fleming and Mrs. Stuart Grant, of Montreal; and Mrs. Heffron and Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Ames, of Danville.

DIXVILLE

The December meeting of the Dixville Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Norris. After a short business session. A program of Christmas carols and Christmas games was carried out. The prizes for the best answers in the contests were won by Mrs. Ray Bean and Mrs. Kenneth Norris. An exchange of gifts under the Christmas Tree was followed by delicious refreshments served by the hostess. The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Robinson on the Coaticook Road.

Mrs. George Tanner entertained the members of St. Cuthbert Church Guild.

The Sunday School children of the community are rehearsing for their annual Christmas Entertainment.

The Doctor Says

SOMETHING CAN BE DONE ABOUT SMASHING VICIOUS VICE RACKETS

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

A concerned young man of 20 recent wrote me that his city was a den of iniquity and that many boys 17 and 18 years old were being victimized and sickened by members of the world's oldest profession. Now the prostitution racket is not confined to any one community — it is a world-wide problem — and it affects the health of millions of people.

Entirely aside from the moral aspects, prostitution is everywhere recognized as the most important agency for distributing the venereal diseases, syphilis and gonorrhoea. There is no use blinking at the facts or trying to hide them. The amount of illness acquired from this source is colossal. It has wrecked the lives of individuals. The diseases have been carried into the home and have blighted the lives and ruined the health of an untold number of innocent wives and children.

It is a dirty business. The women involved are exploited on all sides. Racketeers, vice lords, and procurers take their cut from whatever the women get. This leads to corruption in public office and all the other faults of a society run by the worst elements. No one is safe from the evil effects.

There are many who say that nothing can be done about it, that it has always existed and always will. This is the counsel of despair. Where would the world be today if all evils had been allowed to flourish without check or hindrance?

Besides something can be done about it and many communities have already succeeded in wiping out the racket. Whenever this has been done the venereal disease rate has fallen rapidly. The other argument that "nice" girls would be put in danger has not been borne out by the facts.

Inspection Doesn't Work
In some places commercialized vice has been legalized on the theory that it could be watched more closely and health inspections would decrease the danger from disease. It doesn't work out well. Disease inspection isn't good for long and a "certificate" of freedom from disease is hardly worth the paper on which it appears.

From all angles prostitution is a blot on civilization. It debauches youth and causes illness and misery. It enriches the worst elements of society. It should be fought everywhere because of the evils that it brings.

L'AVENIR

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Percy Carson, of Melbourne, and Mrs. R. J. Noble, in their bereavement.

Royal Family In Spotlight During 1950

By MURIEL NARRAWAY Canadian Press Staff Writer

London. — The Royal program for 1950 was the most active and spectacular since pre-war days. Pageants, state visits, command performances, ceremonial openings of Parliament and a succession of lavish evening functions found the Royal family in the public eye as seldom before.

The pomp and glitter all Britain loves made austerity almost a forgotten word in court circles. In a more personal way too, it was a memorable year for the King and Queen, the two Princesses and Queen Mother Mary. Bonds of affection and respect between the Royal family and the public were tightened by the birth of a daughter Aug. 15 to Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh. Christened Princess Anne, she became third in the line of succession ahead of Princess Margaret.

Princess Elizabeth's first-born, Prince Charles, already a well-loved personality, celebrated his second birthday in November. For Princess Margaret, 1950 was something of a growing-up year. The gay, style-conscious young Princess, who two years ago started Buckingham Palace by dancing the naughty French can-can at a party, gradually assumed an increasing share of official duties.

The first big event of the year was the state visit last March of French President Vincent Auriol and Mme. Auriol. This was the first state visit since 1939 and a natural setting for the dazzling combination of French chic and English elegance.

The occasion found Princess Margaret a lonely Cinderella, confined to her room with a heavy cold. Her consolation came in November when the popular Queen Juliana of The Netherlands, accompanied by her consort Prince Bernhard, came to London for three days.

The King, apparently recovered after his illness of 1949, left many lesser public engagements to the Queen and to Princess Margaret. Spending long week-ends at Sandringham and Windsor, shooting and generally enjoying country life, he built strength for heavier duties in 1951.

In Scotland, Margaret celebrated her 20th birthday with a round of social engagements including a visit to the Duke and Duchess of Buccleuch, parents of the 27-year-old Earl of Dalkeith, one of her most frequent escorts.

This visit, coming after Lord Dalkeith's presence at Windsor for the Ascot racing meetings, during which he drove to the course in Margaret's carriage, gave rise to much speculation. Many newspapers openly prophesied an engagement.

Margaret's increasing share in state duties allowed Princess Elizabeth more time with her husband and family. Twice during the year, Elizabeth joined her husband at Malta.

Uncertain when leaving London of her whereabouts at Christmas, Princess Elizabeth was tempted to take the young Prince Charles with her. Her son's first Christmas was spent away from her during another visit to Malta. The Princess, however, is following her mother's example and giving her children as unbroken a schedule as possible.

The birth of Princess Anne made 1950 a special year for Queen Mary. In her 84th year, she is the first British Queen Mother to have seen two great-grandchildren born in the Royal inheritance. Although she has withdrawn from public life and rarely undertakes public engagements of her own, Queen Mary is still a notable figure on most state occasions.

Characteristic of the Queen Mother's patriotic generosity was her recent gift to the nation of a 12-panelled carpet in exquisite antique design on which she had worked for eight years in her leisure hours. She stipulated that the carpet should be offered for sale to raise dollars the nation so urgently needed. A beautiful example of gross point embroidery, the carpet was bought in Canada by the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire. Indignation and concern were voiced when a break-in at Marlborough House, London residence of Queen Mary, was announced June 23. Miss Alice Knight, the housekeeper, surprised the prowler and suffered serious knife-wounds. Later, Gerald O'Brien, a gardener, was sentenced to eight years in prison.

This was followed by a break-in at Buckingham Palace Oct. 12. Douglas Munro, 25-year-old seaman, made off with a box of correspondence valued at £1 ($15). He was sentenced to 12 months.

Gifts for her can be glamorous this year without being costly. The hostess apron (upper left) tells a picture story of the first automobiles. A small petal scarf (upper center) is silverblue mink. Hand-made costume jewelry set (upper right) includes lyre necklace and matching earrings in pearls and steel grey beads. A thick rope of ermine (right) can be worn many ways, is useful and versatile. The cold-weather boots (lower left) are pretty and practical. They're made of nylon, have rubber soles and are trimmed with shearling. A mink necklet (lower center) is a budget buy trimmed with pastel flowers. It ties on with black silk ribbons.

By GAILE DUGAS
There's no getting away from it. The women who will get what's known as the "good little mink" this Christmas are in the minority. The great majority, therefore, shouldn't be left out in the cold. And they needn't be, since there are furs for every woman this year at prices which are lower than you think.

From a large collection of fur bow ties, handbags, flowers, tiaras, scarves, belts, shoes, bracelets, neckties and slippers, the man who works for a living can pick. He might, for instance, spend a very tiny sum and for it, get a mink whimsy in the form of a necklet with flower buds, designed by Van Sly.

Or, he might spend a bit more

PHILIPSBURG

The card party held in the United Church Hall on Friday night was a great success. At the conclusion of eight games of cards, delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. George Kidd and Mrs. Gordon Wade, assisted by others. Prizes were distributed to the following winners: Mrs. W. Martin, Miss Charlotte Grevatt, Mrs. R. Courchesne, Mrs. Lapan, Mr. William Webber, Mr. Howard Maskell, Peter McGregor and Mr. J. Kidd.

Mrs. Everett Bombard and Doris and Allen spent Saturday in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. E. McGregor and Peter and Lynn accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Waiter Steen on a motor trip to Stanstead to visit Brian McGregor, who is attending Stantstead College.

Mr. R. C. Slee spent a week in Toronto, Ont., on business for the Marble Company.

The many friends of Mrs. Martin Crothers are pleased to know that she has returned home from the Swetsburg Hospital improved in health.

Mrs. Frank Young is visiting relatives in Montreal for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Crawford, of Brigham, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Deuel.

Much sympathy is extended to Mrs. T. E. Montgomery in the death of her sister, Mrs. Roberts, who passed away, after a few hours illness at her home in Grand'Mere.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Crawford, of Brigham, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Deuel.

MORE POWER TO QUEBEC!

Thursday, December 14th, marks the official placing into service of the first 65,000 horsepower unit of The Shawinigan Water and Power Company's Trenché Development. By next summer 325,000 horsepower of electrical energy will be available from this great new power plant. Thus Shawinigan continues to assure the Province of an adequate supply of vital hydro-electric power well in advance of requirements.

Designed and now being completed by The Shawinigan Engineering Company, this latest and largest generating station on the St. Maurice River begins operations with its first unit a full seven months ahead of schedule. That this was possible is indeed a tribute to the ability and know-how of the company's engineers and the cooperation of the suppliers.

Thus, more power comes to Quebec—power generated and distributed by Shawinigan to contribute to the economic and industrial growth of the Province and its people.

Labor Government Carefully Nurses Narrow Majority

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London.—Political historians may remember 1950 as the year in which a government that was supposed to be dead refused to die.

After a "stalemate" election in February, British politicians predicted a new vote within months. But the Socialist government stayed in office, carefully nursing its narrow majority into the new year.

Some Labor members speculated another appeal to electors might be delayed until November, 1951. But as 1950 ended, international events in Korea and elsewhere made forecasts impossible.

The political deadlock created by February voting profoundly influenced domestic policies. Shorn of the overflowing parliamentary representation which endorsed its decisions after the 1945 election, British socialism slowed down. The legislative rhythm of a regime which passed 300-odd bills in its first epoch of full power changed in tempo as Labor leaders sought refuge in a policy of "moderation and consolidation."

Michael Young, youthful research expert, was assigned to try to work out a policy declaration for a party which to some extent seemed disillusioned with public ownership. A list of industries previously slated for nationalization, including sugar, minerals and insurance, was quietly omitted from party manifestos, although spokesmen stressed these industries remained "eligible" for nationalization.

The February election, which left Socialists and Conservatives towering over the rest, influenced other outstanding political developments of 1950. In a rout of independents and small splinter parties, the communists suffered chief losses with all but three of 100 candidates losing their £150 ($450) deposits. The Liberals, running 474 candidates in a bid to gain the political balance between Labor and Conservative, polled 2,800,000 but elected only nine members of the 625-member House.

Late in the year there were signs of a split between the nine Liberals, some favoring support of Labor and some arguing hotly against it.

Winston Churchill's Conservatives, only party to gain seats in the election, appeared to be growing more powerful as the year ended in the ten by-elections held between February and December, the Conservatives picked up votes although unable to wrest any seats held by Labor.

Meanwhile the government—lacking elbow room in a Parliament it controlled by only a handful of votes—contented itself with a largely non-controversial legislative program. The only really controversial issue involved the government's determination to carry on with nationalization of the iron and steel industry.

The Conservative resisted this and some other government decisions, but Prime Minister Clement Attlee and his supporters—some of them occasionally summoned from sick beds to participate in parliamentary divisions—rode out every major crisis. Twice Labor was defeated on non-critical votes and twice its margin in confidence tests, which would have meant a new election, was a single vote.

Attlee made two Cabinet shuffles, one after the February election to replace defeated ministers and one in the fall to replace Sir Stafford Cripps as Chancellor of the Exchequer. Sir Stafford, symbol of austerity and virtual economic dictator in Britain's battle to pay her way as a trading country, resigned for health reasons and went to Switzerland for treatment. His successor was Hugh Gaitskell.

Economic prospects improved during the year. United States stockpiling of sterling-area raw materials, the greater competitiveness of British goods following the decision to devalue sterling in September, 1949, had a buoyant influence on gold and dollar reserves, once so perilously low. But the outbreak of the Korean war in June marked a setback on the economic planning of the western world. Ambitious plans for restoring trade balances and meshing free economies had to be revised under the impact of rearmament.

The strain of rearmament, involving a possible cut in social services, was reported causing unrest among Labor left-wing members headed by Health Minister Aneurin Bevan, but Bevan later issued a statement saying he supported the rearmament program.

The theory that it's difficult to buy a Christmas gift for a man is exploded by these gifts. Brand new this year are (left) designer ties by Jacques Fath, Tina Leser, Schiaparelli, Molyneux and Christian Dior. The men's cologne (left inset) is in miniature cocktail shaker bottle topped by snowball head and top hat. The wallet (upper right) is natural grain buffalo calfskin with detachable pass-case for photos and cards. A cigarette lighter (center inset) is fueled with compressed gas, provides thousands of lights from a single cartridge. It features a "lifetime" carbide spark wheel and has no wick. The fly box (lower inset) has five compartments, is magnetized to hold more than 70 hooks and flies separately. The clan plaid sportsman's hat (right) is water repellent. All gifts are in the budget class.

By GAILE DUGAS
It's impossible, women say, to find a gift for a man at Christmas. Actually, finding an attractive and inexpensive gift for a man is easy as pie. This year, for instance, any woman can drape a necktie designed by a famous French or American couturier about the neck of her husband, father, brother or fiancé. For the first time, Christian Dior, Schiaparelli, Jacques Fath, Molyneux, Tina Leser and Salvatore Dalí are designing ties. For the man who dotes on gadgets, there's a new pocket stapler which weighs only one and one-half ounces but can fasten together 16 sheets of paper. It looks like a fountain pen, and is equipped with pocket clip. Any fisherman would probably be overjoyed to get a magnetic fly box which holds more than 70 hooks and flies separately and vertically. A small grooved sharpening stone is fastened to the under side of the base for putting a point on any hook or barb.

A new pocket lighter which is fueled with compressed gas provides thousands of lights from a single replaceable cartridge, its makers say. It has a "lifetime" carbide spark wheel and no wick. It comes both in chromium plate and in black enamel. Rich mahogany brown natural grain buffalo calfskin makes a convenient billfold which has a detachable pass-case for photos and cards. This billfold is stichless.

It's made from a single piece of leather which is self-interlocked. For the golfer, or the hiker, or the spectator-sportsman, the water-repellent hat is one of the new clan plaids is almost indispensable. One such hat has crown and band of the plaid and snap iron brim in plain beige. And, since they're back in style, there are plaid wool caps for both the sportsman and the spectator.

cement available immediately
your cement requirements can be filled by our dealers NOW

- The increase in productive capacity of our plants has reached a point where it is possible for us to fill all demands in all parts of Canada promptly.

We are building a completely new cement plant in New Brunswick, which is scheduled to come into operation in June 1951. This plant will produce 800,000 barrels annually.

Furthermore, another new addition is underway at Exshaw, Alberta, where we are building an extension to our plant which will increase our western output by 1,000,000 barrels per year. This construction is also scheduled for completion in 1951.

This new expansion programme, coupled with previous additions, will have increased our cement production by 60% since 1946. It is confidently expected that this increased output will result in an adequate supply of cement for all construction purposes.

A Very Successful Christmas Sale Was Held By The Women's Assoc. Of Richmond-Melbourne United Church

Richmond, Dec. 13.—Mrs. George Chamberlain, president of the Women's Association of the Richmond and Melbourne United Church and Mrs. T. N. Mitchell received the large number of guests who attended the annual Christmas sale which was held in the newly decorated hall of Chalmers Church. Lighted Christmas trees, evergreen boughs and poinsettias all helped to create a Yuletide spirit. Mrs. K. G. Nourse was the convener of the afternoon tea tables, which were decorated with hand-made white Christmas trees covered with multi-colored stars. This all added greatly to the attraction of the tea room. The large lace covered tea table was centred with a basket of large white mums and red carnations flanked by two white Christmas trees. Mrs. P. C. Duboyce, Mrs. J. Mitchell and Mrs. G. T. Pope presided at the tea table. The members who assisted Mrs. Nourse were Mrs. W. J. Gillin, Mrs. Clarence Pope, Mrs. Dapp, Mrs. C. Osborne, Mrs. R. Bedard, Mrs. Lloyd Roberts, Mrs. J. Harrington, Mrs. Stanley Bushy, Mrs. George Ewing, Mrs. Wentworth, Mrs. A. E. Fee, Mrs. P. Taylor, Mrs. A. Smith, Mrs. V. R. Beattie, Miss Mabel Boast, Mrs. C. E. Manning, Mrs. William Boast, Mrs. Clifford Johnston and Mrs. Fred Lemoine.
Mrs. Errol Taylor and Mrs. Arnold Healy, the C.G.I.T. leaders, convened a very attractive C.G.I.T. sale table. The girls who assisted wore their uniforms and the table proved to be a very popular meeting place.
The Emerald, Ruby and Melbourne Groups all had tables laden with aprons, novelties, surprise packages and fancy articles. The Marjorie Group convoked the candy table.
Representatives from all the groups assisted at the food table. The total amount realized was $536.60.
CHRISTMAS ACTIVITIES OF THE CANADIAN LEGION
The members of the Canadian Legion Branch No. 15, have placed a large decorated Christmas tree in Dyson and Armstrong's show rooms on Main Street. The citizens and all interested persons in the vicinity are requested to leave parcels there for the Veterans' Hospital, at St. Hyacinthe.
A very generous box is packed each year and individual gifts are presented to the patients at the hospital by the members of the Legion.
In the window at the same store a beautiful hand painted picture has been placed by the Legion. This was painted and donated to the branch by a former resident of Richmond. Mrs. Eileen Drummond, a daughter of the late Rev. Gorley Brown and Mrs. Brown. Tickets are being sold and a drawing will take place before Christmas.
The members of the Legion are also sponsoring an Art Exhibit in the Legion Hall on Friday and Saturday, December 15, and 16. There will not be any admission charge but a collection plate will be placed at the door.

KINGSEY FALLS
Mr. Roy Blunden and his bride have been guests of Mr. Plunden's aunt, Mrs. Robert Sells, and family.
Miss Ina Gardner, of Sutton, spent a week-end with her friends, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wheeler.
Rev. W. W. Smith called on Mrs. M. Hastings, who is now on the road to recovery.
Mrs. Walter Wheeler spent a week-end in Montreal with her daughter, Miss Margaret Wheeler, R.N.
Mrs. Lillian Donahue, of Rochester, N.Y., and Mrs. Grant Kelly of Brockville, Ont., accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lator and family, of Cornwall, Ont., and spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gifford and family.
Miss Eva Gifford is convalescing at her home here, after receiving treatments in the Sherbrooke Hospital.
Word has been received from Mr. and Mrs. George E. Lodge that they received over forty messages from this vicinity on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary, which afforded them deep pleasure.
Mr. J. M. Leith attended the St. Andrew's concert, in Richmond, on December 2.

CAN THE SAINTS REPEAT AGAINST ACES TOMORROW?

Coach Ivan Dugre's charges really outplayed themselves Sunday in Montreal and now everybody is wondering whether they can repeat against the league-leading Aces of Quebec tomorrow evening at the Arena.

It seems it was the best performance of the season so far for the locals with everyone doing his share. All the three lines worked well and the defense, with the addition of Barilko, turned in a hard-hitting game. Roger Bessette was on his toes and robbed many a Royal of what looked like sure goals when they got in close on him.

As we have been saying right along we have a good team, but everyone on the club will have to pull his own weight, and if they all did they could lick any team in the league. They proved this on Sunday and now the only thing they have to do is to continue at the same pace.

Tomorrow evening at the Arena the Saints will be hosts to Punch Imlach's Aces, the only team in the league which the locals have failed to beat. In the three encounters to date the locals have dropped 4-2, 3-2 and 8-3 decisions, but perhaps tomorrow things may be different.

It seems that the addition of Alex Barilko to the blue-line brigade has added plenty of hitting power, which has been lacking with the Saints. In his first performance he threw his weight around and it had a telling effect on the fast-skating Royals. At the same time he seemed to fit in pretty well on the local's power play.

Another change which made a big difference was the forming of the three Filliones on one line. They really flew and accounted for two tallies during the tilt. Here's hoping the team can continue the pace for the rest of the season.

Tuque Rouge seems to be making a run away in the City Volleyball League and now have eleven victories out of a possible twelve to their credit. The other teams just don't seem to be able to fanthorn out the Snowshoers' system of play.

The games are played every Saturday afternoon at the Y.M.C.A. and it looks as though the league is in for a very successful season. B'Nai Brith and Y Seniors are stalemated for second position, followed by the Dominion Textile and the Y Business Men in fifth spot. Rubins is next in line with the City Police and Sturdy Chain bringing up the rear.

The baseball owners in the major leagues really have the axe out for Commissioner "Happy" Chandler and by the looks of things they want to buy off his contract and get rid of him. It would seem that a few of the boys are dead set in getting him out, and fast. But maybe they will have a little trouble with the Commissioner. It would seem that what Fred Saigh, St. Louis Cardinals, said a few months ago, is coming out according to the letter. Mr. Saigh stated in a press story that he would do his best to get rid of Mr. Chandler and that he would work to that purpose at the annual meeting.

The Canadian hockey club really must be in a bad condition when they sign up Tommy Manastersky for a three-game tryout tonight against the New York Rangers. It just doesn't make sense. Here is a fellow who hasn't played a game this year and the Canucks are throwing him into top class in his first attempt. If they need defensesmen so badly I wonder what is the trouble with Ivan Irwin, who seems to be doing such a good job down in Cincinnati according to all reports? Perhaps he prefers to stay there instead of coming up to Montreal with the Canadiens.

After reading the stories released by Albert Molini, president of the Provincial Baseball League, we must say that he is doing his best to get Quebec and Three Rivers in the loop. He released a statement from St. Petersburg, Fla., claiming that they would be welcomed into the Provincial League. After the reception of the locals received in Quebec last summer I doubt very much if they are in such a mood. For our part we think it is foolish and here are the reasons why we say so: first, it would raise the salary rate per month owing to the classification based on the population of the circuit; second, we think there is not a team in the present loop that could compete on a sound financial basis with either one of the two clubs.

There wasn't a team in the league last year, if they are honest with themselves, that made money and with the jump in the salaries, under the new rating, this year it would be worse. And another thing the travelling expenses would jump as well, as over-night trips would come into force. It is all very well for President Molini to try and raise his league to a "B" rating, but on the other hand we don't think any team in the present setup can afford it. Let's not forget that Quebec and Three Rivers have plenty of money behind them and are in a position to secure better players for their clubs with their hook-ups with some of the major teams, which the present Provincial clubs lack.

Mr. Molini claims that Farnham is out once again and will not operate. He is already to take Plattsburgh in to replace them, although the league hasn't held their meeting as yet and they are the people who will decide it. We know personally that Mr. President is set to raise his league to eight teams but on the other hand, can the teams afford it? Last year's setup was a nice one, especially for the teams. Short trips and a decent salary mark even with these clubs had trouble trying to make ends meet so you can imagine what the increases will do.

The rating in professional baseball leagues are based on the population in the cities and this regulates the salary rate per month. With the admission of

Tommy Manastersky To Tryout With Habs

Montreal, Dec. 13.—(P)—Tommy Manastersky, prominent hockey and football player, has been signed for a three-game tryout by Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, it was learned last night.

The 21-year-old Montrealer who plays defence will make his professional debut against Rangers at New York tonight.

Manastersky has not played hockey this season since completing his most successful football year with the Big Four Montreal Alouettes. He played with Senior Montreal Royals last season.

The Canadiens are down to four defencemen with injuries to Glen Harmon and Butch Bouchard.

Max Bentley May Play Against Wings Tonight

Toronto, Dec. 13.—(P)—Max Bentley, centre star with Toronto Maple Leafs, practised with the team yesterday after being sidelined for the last three games with an infected ankle. The veteran, who leads the National Hockey League in scoring, probably will play in tonight's game here against Detroit Red Wings.

Two other Leafs, Sid Smith and Johnny McCormack, injured Sunday night at Detroit, sat out today's drill.

Eddie Shore Promotes Earl Seibert As Aide

Springfield, Mass., Dec. 13.—(P)—Eddie Shore, owner of the Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League, announced today the promotion of coach Earl Seibert to the post of association general manager.

Frank Beiser, who had coached New Haven Eagles until they dropped out of the League after Sunday night's game, was named to take Seibert's coaching position for the remainder of the season.

Bob Lemon Tops All Hurlers, 23-11 Record

Chicago, Dec. 13.—(P)—Bob Lemon, Cleveland's star right-hander, was the busiest and winningest American League pitcher in 1950, a season which produced only two 20-game winners in the junior circuit.

Official statistics released yesterday certified Lemon most victorious hurler with his 23-11 record, and also credited him with most strikeouts, 170; most innings pitched, 288; and facing most batters, 1,098. Bob also tied Ned Garver of St. Louis Browns at 22 for most complete games pitched, permitted most hits, 281, and was 10th in earned run average with 3.84.

The only other 20-game winner was Vic Raschi of the champion New York Yankees, who won 21 and lost eight to finish as the best percentage pitcher with .724. The best 1950 earned run average for 10 or more complete games was 3.20 notched by Early Wynn, another Cleveland flinger. Wynn, in his best season since 1943, had an 18-8 record. One-time king of A. L. hurlers, Cleveland's Bob Feller (16-11) was third in E. R. A. with 3.43.

Quebec and Three Rivers it would raise the loop to a "B" class and at the same time would call for more games, which we don't think the local fan can stand financially, if we judge from last year and after all that is the measuring rule. So to our local executive we say, stop, let's crawl a little further before we take that big jump. It may be very costly and will be too late to turn back once you make the move. How did the attendance figures hold up last season? Let's take things easy for another season before plunging too deep.

The official opening of the Eastern Townships Intermediate "A" Hockey League will take place Saturday evening at the Arena when the new Sherbrooke entry will be hosts to Waterloo.

The local squad is composed mostly of youngsters from the City and they should with little time turn into a fair team. The Waterloo aggregation will have the jump on the locals having played quite a few exhibitions out at Granby which should be a great help for them.

President Eugene Lalonde is looking for a good season and he figures the teams will be fairly well matched and the fans will see some good games. He is asking the referees to lay down the law and call them according to the book. If they do this will go a long way towards making the game better to watch and give the little fellows a better chance of displaying their wares.

We have failed to obtain any information as yet regarding the meeting held Monday evening in Montreal as Business Manager Forest Keene has not returned from the gathering as yet. We understand via the grapevine that nothing of any great importance happened. No teams in the circuit were interested in making deals. I guess perhaps the victory Sunday, over the Royals, threw a different light on the subject.

We see where the Royals must reduce their squad by Friday's deadline by one or perhaps two. I wonder if the locals could pick up a man from them. Nothing more was heard about the Bobby Pepin case and it looks as though he either goes to Chicoutimi or stays on the sidelines.

Commissioner Chandler Summoned To Meeting As Rumors Persist Owners Trying To Buy Contract

St. Petersburg, Fla., Dec. 13.—(P)—Major league club baseball owners late yesterday unanimously voted to find and elect a new Commissioner of Baseball to replace A. B. (Happy) Chandler.

The owners took this drastic action in a special meeting after a series of conferences involving the 16 club presidents, the National and American League presidents and a bevy of lawyers. The owners announced the new Commissioner would be "selected and elected as soon as practicable." A committee will be appointed soon to sift candidates. No names were mentioned.

Meanwhile, Chandler remains Commissioner, at least until a new one is found. There is legal doubt whether he can be forced out before expiration of his contract. The action followed by 20 hours the failure of club owners to vote Chandler a new contract. Three ballots were taken Monday and Chandler failed to win the necessary 12 votes on any of them. Chandler's old contract expires May 1, 1952.

Big-league baseball sources said Chandler's ouster came because of his insistence on a new contract. However, there has been a campaign brewing against him for some time.

Dan Topping, president of New York Yankees, said after leaving this afternoon's session: "Why did we do this? Why, I'd imagine it was an over-all thing. They didn't think he was doing a good job."

Topping added there would be no more action on selecting a Commissioner until February. Earlier yesterday Chandler in a statement insisted he would serve out his term until "the last second."

The man who succeeded the late Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis in 1945 appeared in person before the owners to make a plea for his job.

Chandler, former Governor and United States Senator from Kentucky, left the closed session prior to the owners' announcement. After the meeting, Presidents Ford Frick of the National and Will Harridge of the American said no attempt was made to buy up the remaining 16 1/2 months of

Welterweight Champion Ray Robinson Named Winner Of Neil Trophy By New York Boxing Writers' Association

New York, Dec. 13.—(P)—Welterweight champion Ray Robinson, considered by many expert observers the greatest fighter of the generation, yesterday was named winner of the Edward J. Neil Memorial Plaque by the New York Boxing Writers' Association.

This is the award that Sugar Ray probably will prize above all others. It is given to the man who has done the most for boxing during the year and is named in honor of Neil, the former Associated Press boxing writer who was killed in 1937 while serving as a war correspondent in Spain.

A superb boxer with a magnificent fight record, the 30-year-old New Yorker joins a select company of ring standouts and succeeds Ezzard Charles, the heavyweight champion who was picked last year.

One of the key reasons for Robinson's selection in a vote by the writers was his contribution to the Damon Runyan Cancer Fund. Sugar Ray put his title on the line

Detroit's Terry Sawchuk Living Up To Jack Adams' Predictions As Big-Time Goalie Material

Terrence Gordon Sawchuk, a young man who won't reach his 21st birthday until late this month, is making Jack Adams look good in the role of judge of hockey talent.

With the National Hockey League season about one-third finished, the young Detroit Red Wings goaltender is displaying the stuff that Manager Adams gambled on when he sent brilliant Harry Lumley to Chicago and brought Terry up from the minors this year.

There was considerable criticism of the Adams move at the time, because Lumley had been one of the best netminders in the league for five years. Those critics are probably eating their words now, particularly if they are on statistics, which show Sawchuk with a 1.92 goals-against average for 24 games, best in the league with the exception of Toronto's Al Rollins, who has appeared in only nine games.

The shift which sent Sawchuk to the big time this year was the culmination of years of preparation which began when the Winnipeg-born kid came to play for Windsor Spitfires, a Detroit farm club in the Ontario Junior A series.

Adams knew he had a future N.H.L. star right then, and his prediction was borne out after stepping-stone seasons with Omaha and Indianapolis, two other Red Wings farm clubs. Sawchuk will put his goaltending record up for a stiff test tonight when the Red Wings visit Toronto to take on the league-

Scott Lucas Interested In Chandler's Position

Washington, Dec. 13.—(P)—Scott Lucas, the senate majority leader and a former professional baseball player, indicated yesterday he might be interested in replacing A. B. (Happy) Chandler as baseball's new Commissioner.

The outgoing democratic Senator from Illinois, deflected by Republican Everett Dirksen Nov. 9 in his bid for re-election, was chatting with reporters about the major league owners' refusal to renew Chandler's contract.

"That might be a spot for you," a reporter said to Lucas. Lucas replied:

"Say, it might be at that. Why don't you fellows go out and promote me?"

Whether the Senator was joking remains to be seen. Lucas spent between 1913 and 1916 in the minor leagues. In 1913, he played first base with Pekin in the old Illinois-Missouri League and led that circuit with a batting average over .350. The circuit folded and he moved to Peoria in the Three-I League where he played under Manager Clarence (Pants) Rowland, now one of the minor leagues' top officials as President of the Pacific Coast League.

Blending Of Stock Is Success, Says Bousac

York, England, Dec. 13.—(P)—Frenchman Marcel Bousac, Europe's leading racehorse owner and breeder, told British turfmen tonight that the secret of his success was the blending of the best stock he could find.

English breeding, he said, is always carried on with the same blood. Bousac was the chief guest at the Gimcrack Club Dinner here because his colt Cortil Aug. 24 won the Gimcrack Stakes, one of Britain's leading races for two-year-olds. He headed the 1950 lists of winning owners and breeders in British racing.

The present vitality of French breeding, Bousac said, is not the result of an accident but the evolution which was begun after the first world war.

Bousac said he had sought the best English, American and French blood it was possible to find. These blendings, to which have been added naturally the new bloods which have proved their worth, have resulted in the blood stock he now is breeding.

Dick Gamble Extends Lead In Senior Group Scoring Parade; Marois-Fraser Have One Shutout

Montreal, Dec. 13.—(P)—Dick Gamble, sharp shooting Quebec forward, leads the Quebec Senior Hockey League's individual scoring race with 45 points, statistics released last night show.

He is also top scorer in the league, having 24 goals to his credit and 21 assists. In the assist department, Andre Corriveau, who trails Gamble by four points, leads with 26. Larry Kwong of Valleyfield occupies third spot with 39 points and Rucky Buchanan of Shawinigan Falls is next with 34. Deadlocked for fifth place with 32 points each are Jackie Schmidt, Valleyfield, L. Smrke, Chicoutimi, and Dick Wray.

Goalies Johnny Marois of Quebec and Bill (Legs) Fraser of Ottawa each have chalked up a shutout.

Bill Leblanc of the league-leading Quebec Aces is the most penalized player, having spent 90 minutes in the cooler. Most penalized club is the second-place Valleyfield Braves whose players have rested 375 minutes in the box.

Sam Snead, For Third Time, Has Year's Biggest Golf Winnings And Captures Famous Vardon Trophy

Chicago, Dec. 13. — (AP) — Unquenchable Sam Snead ran his 1950 golf winnings to an official $35,758.53 — the most swag ever bagged by a golf pro in one season.

The baldish, 36-year-old Virginian climaxed his campaign by averaging 69.23 strokes through 96 rounds to win the Vardon Trophy.

For the second successive year and for the third time since 1938, the short-spoken golfing genius pulled a "double" by heading the financial list and capturing the Vardon Trophy.

In 1949, Snead tapped the till for $31,892.83 and averaged 69.37 for 73 rounds. Becoming the game's most consistent low scorer after conquering putting jitters, Snead totalled $67,352.66 in the last two years in the biggest sweep of prize money recorded in the game.

Sam's first Vardon Trophy victory and top money winnings came in 1948. He banked $19,534.49 that year.

He and Ben Hogan are the only tournament pros ever to take the trophy three times. Hogan gained it in 1940, 1941 and 1948.

Finishing second to Snead on the cash parade this year was the Canadian Open Champion, husky Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, with $27,156.66 while Lean Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago placed third with $22,467.50.

Seven of the first 10 money winners were repeaters from the 1949 list. Fred Haas, Jr., of Claremont, Calif., Bob Hamilton of Evansville, Ind., and Jim Turnesa of White Plains, N.Y., slipped off. Newcomers were Henry Ransom of Chicago, 12th a year ago; Jack Burke, Jr., White Plains, who was not even listed in 1949; and Skip Alexander of Knoxville, Tenn., 16th last year.

The P.G.A.'s winter schedule opens at Los Angeles Jan. 5, following a respite after the Havana Tourney ending Dec. 17.

Grand Circuit To Run From May To December

Columbus, Ohio, Dec. 13.—A 25-week Grand Circuit harness racing schedule for 1951, to start in New York in May and end in California in December, was announced yesterday.

In addition to approving the schedule, Grand Circuit officials meeting here voted a new member, the Wolverine Raceway at Detroit, Mich., into the major league of the sulky sport. The new member will operate a one-week meeting late in the season.

Three weeks, from April 30 through May 19, were reserved for the possible inclusion of Yonkers Raceway at Yonkers, N.Y. The Yonkers Raceway will make a decision on a race meeting at a later date.

The Old Country Trotting Association at Roosevelt Raceway, Westbury, L.I., was granted an extended curtain-raising program of six weeks, from May 21 through June 30. This is four weeks more of Grand Circuit than the Association had in 1950.

The Fort Miami Raceway at Toledo, Ohio, was awarded two weeks, from Oct. 8-20 in place of the one week it operated this year.

The Detroit track will have the Grand Circuit from Oct. 22-27 — introducing the Grand Circuit sport to the area for the first time.

The 1951 program is five weeks longer than this year's 20-week tour, and could run to 28 weeks if Yonkers enters.

Birdie Tebbetts Bought By Cleveland Indians

St. Petersburg, Fla., Dec. 13.—(AP)—Cleveland Indians have purchased catcher George (Birdie) Tebbetts from Boston Red Sox, General Manager Hank Greenberg of Cleveland announced early today.

The 36-year-old Tebbetts, who came up to the big leagues in 1936 with Detroit, batted .310 in 79 games last year.

Greenberg revealed that it was a straight cash deal with no players involved. He declined to announce the sum.

Tebbetts came to the Red Sox in 1947, and in 1948 and 1949 was voted on the American League All-Star team. His 79 games last year was his lowest since 1938.

Tebbetts, a noisy little receiver known for his squeaky voice, is regarded as one of the smartest backstops in the game.

This gives the Indians three catchers, with big-league experience. The others are Jim Hegan and Ray Murray.

The sale of Tebbetts leaves the Red Sox with only two catchers—Matt Batts and Warren (Buddy) Rosar. It is expected that the Red Sox will deal for another catcher to take Tebbetts' place.

Catching was one of Boston's weak spots last year.

Tommy Yarosz Drops Decision To Turpin

London, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Tommy Yarosz, light heavyweight boxer from Pittsburgh, last night was disqualified for holding after 2:15 seconds of the eighth round of his 10-rounder with Randolph Turpin, British Empire middleweight champion. Yarosz weighed 168 1/2, Turpin 163.

Referee Ben Green warned the American in almost every round about his clinging tactics. Turpin, meanwhile gave Yarosz a steady going over with both hands that brought blood from Yarosz's nose and from cuts under and over his left eye.

Bonus And High School Rules Tossed Aside

St. Petersburg, Fla., Dec. 13.—(AP)—The major leagues today made it official in tossing the player bonus rule and the high school agreement out the window.

The minor leagues last week voted to kill both rules and each major league later endorsed the death blows. Yesterday's joint meeting of the majors nailed down the lid on the rules.

The bonus rule is the system whereby major and minor clubs pay players for signing with them. Such a player could be sent out only for one year for seasoning.

In the case of major teams, a player had to be put on their roster after that or waivers asked on him. Repeal of the rule lifts restrictions on present bonus players.

The high school rule prohibited professional baseball men from approaching high school athletes. Major and minor league groups meeting here voted to set up some kind of a substitute for the agreement, and a committee will be named to do it.

Canadian Ski Trials To Be Held At Banff

Montreal, Dec. 13.—The Canadian Amateur Ski Association announced yesterday that it would hold its Olympic Trials in downhill and slalom events at Banff, March 15-30.

The Association said that Eastern Canadian ski jumpers will be selected as Canadian competitors for the 1952 games immediately following the Canadian championships. They will be chosen on the basis of their season's performance in major meets.

In the downhill and slalom events of the Olympic Trials Quebec Province will be allowed to nominate 10 entries, Ontario four, Central Division (North Western Ontario and Manitoba) four, and Western Division (Alberta and British Columbia) 10.

The number of men and women competitors selected will be left to the discretion of the divisional technical chairman.

HEATHTON

The friends and neighbours of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Markwell sympathize with them in the loss of their infant son, which occurred at the home of his father, Mr. Alpha Markwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Avery Davis were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Nason, in Derby Line, Vt.

The Farm Forum meeting was held at the home of Mr. Ernest Davis, on Monday, December 3rd, when in spite of the rainy night, nearly all the members attended and some visitors. Names were drawn for the exchange of gifts at the Christmas party, at the home of John Smith, on December 18. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Goodreau entertained the group at their home on December 11, when the subject, "Security for farm labor" was discussed.
