Note entered in probe of Coffin case

QUEBEC (CP) — The text of a tattered note found near the bear-ravaged bodies of three Pennsylvania hunters in 1953 may be completed today when Thomas Miller takes the stand at the royal commission into the Coffin murder case.

Quebec Provincial Police witnesses testified Monday the note hadn't been considered important. They believed it was a message left by one hunting party for another in the search that preceded the discovery of the bodies.

Miller is a middle-aged Gaspé resident who helped find the three torn bodies near a forest where bears had dragged them. Examination later led to the conclusion the men had been shot.

Wilbert Coffin, 42, a Gaspé prospector, was hanged in 1956 for the slaying of one of the hunters.

A book published late in 1963 by Montreal author Jacques Hébert and titled 'L'Accuse des Assassins de Coffin' (The Accused of Coffin's Assassins) resulted in establishment of the royal commission by the Quebec government. Mr. Hébert said Coffin was railroaded to a place in the United States bodies putting pressure on Quebec.

The book asked whether Coffin would have been hanged if the note had been entered as evidence. Mr. Hébert regarded it as possibly a key piece of evidence since the date "13-53"—the month missing—might have given Coffin an alibi.

The prospector was able to prove he had gone to Montreal June 12, 1953, Mr. Hébert said.

Entered as evidence at the royal commission, the note is addressed to a "Mr. Wilfrid" and reads:

No... Lindsay at "ca... in Murray "son... ullins Thomas M... QPP Deputy Inspector Jules Fradette, 47, of Ste. Foy, Que., who was in the Gaspé detachment in 1953, testified that Wilfrid is an alibi.

Ruby is on trial for the Nov. 24 shooting of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President Kennedy, in Dallas.

Ruby's lawyers will plead that he suffers from psychomotor epilepsy and was temporarily insane when he killed Oswald.

Thus, a pamphlet issued by the National Epilepsy League, and distributed outside the courtroom, brought cries of "grossest conspiracy to obstruct justice," "contempt of court," and "trying to contaminate prospective jurors" from Ruby's chief counsel, Melvin Belli, Monday.

He demanded a mistrial and said he is going to use "all my ingenuity" to get three persons jailed today.

OTTAWA (CP) — A $16,000 contract for a post office building at Wolton, Que., has been awarded to Marquis and Freres of Sherbrooke, it was announced Monday.

OTTAWA (CP) — The strike of 175 Irving Oil Limited employees in Quebec province which started Jan. 4 has been settled and the men will return to work today.

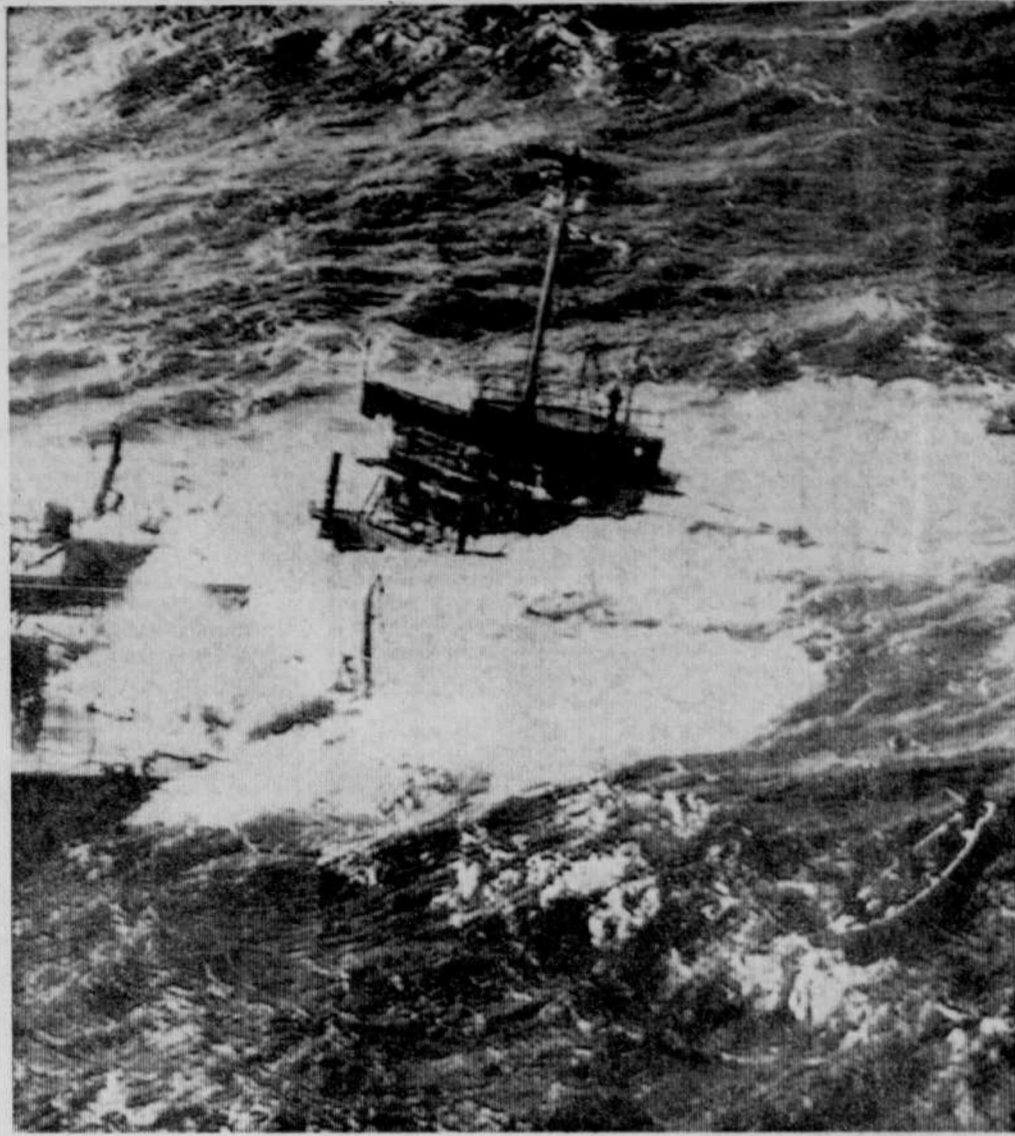

Formal signing of the new contract is expected today between the company and the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers' International Union OLC.

Yves Pratte, lawyer for the company, said weekend negotiations in Drummondville produced the settlement, ratified by the union membership Sunday night.

LIVES IN PERIL — Crew members of tanker Amphialos row away in lifeboat (lower right) from sinking stern section of their ship. Amphialos broke in two in wild Atlantic storm 220 miles off Halifax. No prayer, no panic is secret of captain during sea disaster

HALIFAX (CP) — Capt. Stamatios Polemis explained Monday how his crew came through a 17-hour period with no assurance of being rescued from the foundering stern section of what used to be the Liberian tanker Amphialos.

"The men are religious, but they did not pray—this would cause panic. No singing either—this would cause panic worse. We just kept busy."

The 15,800-ton tanker broke in two Saturday 220 miles southeast of Nova Scotia in a fierce Atlantic storm. Two of the 36-man crew died.

Speaking in broken English, the 53-year-old captain continued: "No one had any warning of what was to happen. Suddenly the Amphialos was in two pieces. I was afraid, I guess, and I guess I was cold, too, but in an emergency you don't feel cold. You don't feel anything."

"Suddenly the bow of the ship, just in front of the bridge, separated from the stern. Sparks flew, and I thought this was the end of everything."

There was not time to send a distress message. The crew members who were in various parts of the ship ran to the stern before she split apart.

The Amphialos was heading to nearby Darnmouth from Aruba in the Caribbean when the storm hit. It was not until the next day that the wreck was sighted.

An RCAF Argus airplane from Greenwood, N.S., spotted an oil slick while on routine anti-submarine patrol over the North Atlantic. At the end of the slick was half of the Amphialos.

At the same time the destroyer-escort Athabaskan sighted "a ship with a strange silhouette."

The Athabaskan raced toward the freezing men, clinging helplessly to the stern rail of the wreck which protruded out of the swirling waters at a weird angle.

Said one of the Greeks: "It came just in time. Another hour, and we would have been ready to give up. We were expecting our ship to sink at any time. It was the most wonderful thing we have ever seen."

Markos Douratos, 19, was lost when a wave carried him overboard during the launching of lifeboats from the wreck.

The Athabaskan hove-to alongside the nearest of two lifeboats and eight men were lifted aboard by nimble sailors, scampering up and down huge netting hung from the ship's sides.

After midnight, Provincial Police officers will begin to pull in cars that still have 1963 licence plates attached, police warned today.

This means that the car owners who have not complied with regulations will be made to pay for the hauling away of their vehicles and charged with infraction of the law.

Automobile owners who have not yet purchased their 1964 licence plates have been given until midnight tonight to make the change.

France demands Red China entry in one UN group

GENEVA (AP) — France today demanded the admission of Communist China to the United Nations World Health Organization.

The French announcement on the opening day of the annual W.H.O. assembly indicated France will take a similar position in the UN General Assembly and in all organizations affiliated with the UN.

French delegate Eugene Aujaleu made the announcement as the assembly debated a Soviet proposal to recognize the Peking regime as the rightful representative of China in the 110-member health organization.

It was the first time any major international body has faced a challenge to the Chinese Nationalist delegation since France recognized Red China on Jan. 28.

Every W.H.O. assembly since the Communists took over the Chinese mainland in 1949 has opened with a demand by the Soviet bloc and neutralist African-Asian countries that Red China replace Nationalist China in the organization.

The proposal invariably has been rejected by a majority which accepted the Western argument that W.H.O. should take no such political decision independently of the UN General Assembly.

France has always supported this Western position. The French switch was expected to weaken but not defeat opposition to Red China.

STATEMENT BRIEF
Aujaleu made his statement in less than 10 seconds.

"Since a debate on the subject of Chinese representation has been opened here," he said, "I wish to state that France supports the admission of the People's Republic of China to the World Health Organization."

The statement was greeted with applause from Communist and neutralist delegations.

It left a number of questions unanswered. It did not explain whether France wants the present Nationalist Chinese delegation headed by Ambassador Cheng Pao-nan replaced, or whether it wants mainland China admitted in addition to Nationalist China.

Aujaleu did not express any view on the legal argument put forward by the United States and other Western Nations that WHO should not take political decisions independently of the UN.

Timber ban
STE. MARIE DE BEAUCE, Que. (CP) — Lucien Cliche, Quebec lands and forests minister, has announced a ban on the sale in Ontario of timber cut in two western Quebec counties.

Mr. Cliche told a weekend meeting of the Beauce County Liberal Association that some 25,000,000 feet of wood cut annually in Pontiac and Gatineau, north of the Ottawa River, must henceforth be milled in Quebec.

The ban was part of the government's over-all plan to bolster the lumber industry in Quebec.

Use of bomb up to others
OTTAWA (CP) — The government has obtained nuclear weapons for the armed forces but still has largess when it comes to any firm voice in their use.

Though the eight-squadron RCAF air division in Europe is part of NATO's inter-allied nuclear strike force, air force headquarters here says no RCAF personnel are on the staff of NATO's military deputy for nuclear affairs.

This means that no Canadian will have any direct hand in the military planning of strategic and tactical use of the nuclear strike force, which also includes the British Bomber Command and three American missile-launching submarines. The force was established at the NATO ministerial meeting here last May.

Teachers' talks get nowhere

QUEBEC (CP) — Officials of the Eastern Townships teachers union met youth minister Paul Gerin-Lajoie today without making any apparent progress towards settlement of a strike that has kept some 15,000 children out of school for nearly a month.

Observers close to the scene fear efforts to solve the dispute may have reached an impasse.

Mr. Gerin-Lajoie suggested that, if the 527 teachers involved return to work immediately, they could name an "experienced negotiator" to resume contract negotiations with the school authorities in the eight affected communities.

The president of the Roman Catholic Teacher's Union in the eight communities said they cannot speak for the teachers but that they would consider Mr. Gerin-Lajoie's suggestion to them.

Roland Lussier, president of the Sherbrooke Archdiocesan Confederation of Teachers Union said that the teachers are determined not to return to work until a contract has been signed.

"We can submit Mr. Gerin-Lajoie's suggestion but we don't know how it will be received."

Repeating his insistence on an immediate return to work, Mr. Gerin-Lajoie said that, "as long as the teachers continue to wage an illegal strike, the government cannot assist in the resumption of negotiations."

"Social order cannot be re-established in a context of illegality," he said.

He said he was "perplexed" by the delegates' statement that they cannot speak for the teachers.

"I ask myself where unionism is leading in the present case. It becomes a vain word if the union presidents cannot commit their members," he said.

Mr. Lussier said the strike could perhaps be settled within a few days if negotiations could be resumed with each local school board.

Mr. Gerin-Lajoie said "we have been told that twice and each time we have delayed setting up an arbitration board, but it has been in vain."

The union leaders and representatives of the local school boards have come to Quebec at Mr. Gerin-Lajoie's request after the teachers voted against a preliminary agreement that would have sent them back to their classrooms.

The agreement, worked out here Friday, provided that the teachers would go back to their classrooms while an arbitration board worked out the salary clauses of their contracts.

"If I hadn't jumped ship the night the Christine sailed I'd probably have ended up in the sea with Danny Bassett," said Anderson.

Police have hinted that their enquiries into the death of Bassett — an inquest has been opened and adjourned—may reveal new information on the Christine mystery. Bassett's calendar watch had stopped at 1:27 p.m. the day after the yacht sailed.

The whole puzzle took a dramatic turn Sunday when Anderson, a garage manager by trade, said on television he had told his full story to Scotland Yard because he was "dead scared."

Police are apparently not satisfied the Christine was carrying robbery money when she vanished.

One man who could solve the riddle—Dennis Bassett, 32, Anderson's friend and a Christine crew member—is dead. His body in a lifejacket was washed ashore near Ostend, Belgium, Feb. 12.

The ghost of Duplessis

Statue upsets MLA

QUEBEC (CP) — What began as the usually placid annual discussion of cultural affairs developed into the hottest exchange of the current legislature session Monday night as an Opposition member hurled charges of "liar" and "mudslinger" at Premier Lesage.

Enraged by remarks from the premier, Maurice Bellemare, (UN—Champlain) at one point advanced a step or two towards the centre of the house shaking his fist at the smiling Mr. Lesage.

The point at issue was the $33,000 bronze statue of the late premier Maurice Duplessis which the Liberal government has tucked away. Mr. Lesage said the government is "protecting" the statue, ordered by the former Union Nationale administration.

Mr. Bellemare said the premier was "disparaging" and "heaping accolades" on the late Union Nationale leader by not putting up his statue.

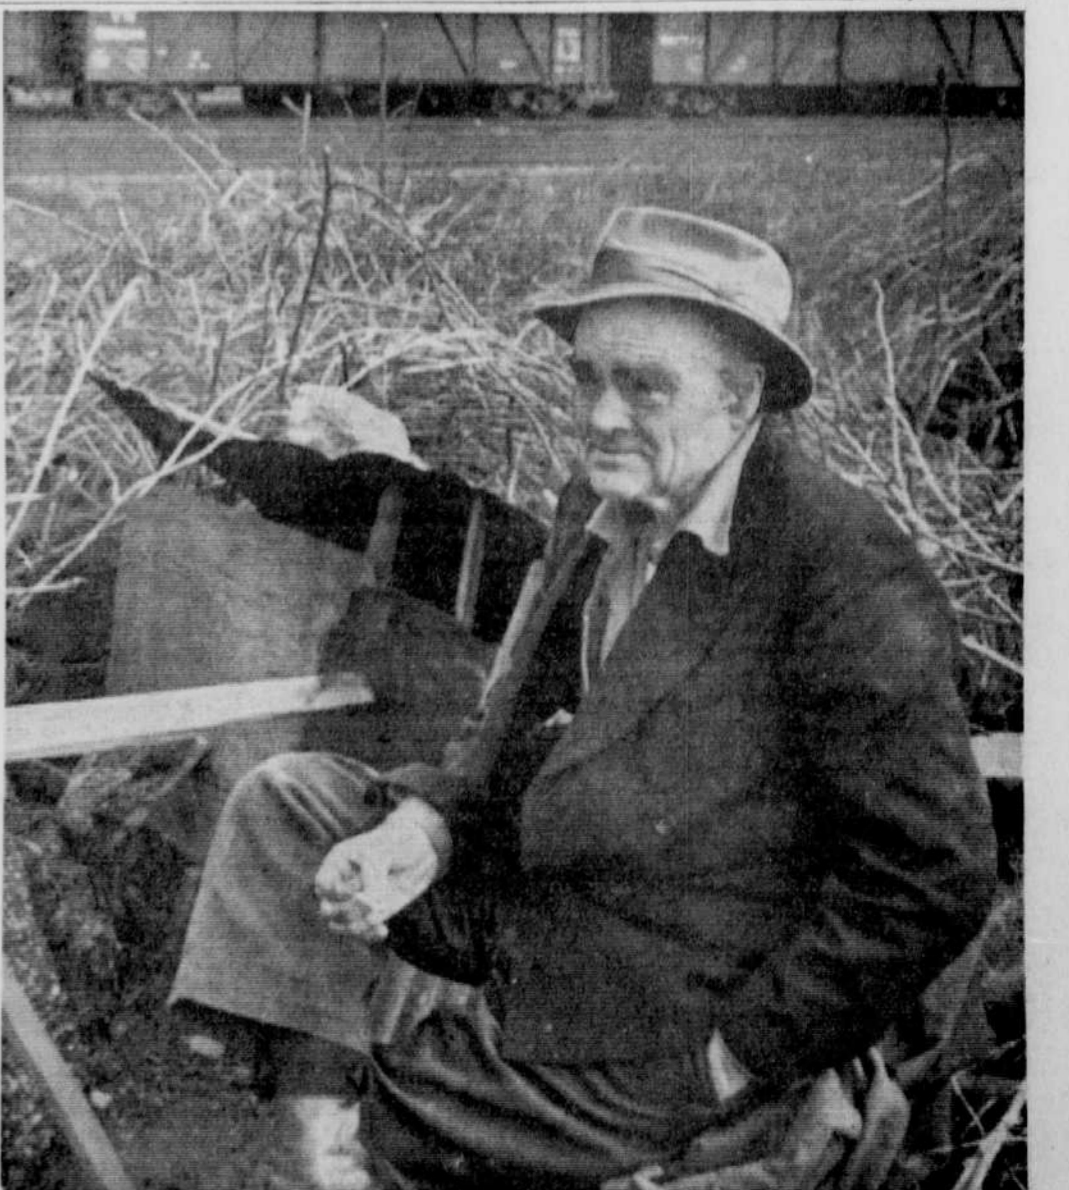

Mr. Lesage said he is waiting for history to pass judgment on Mr. Duplessis before acting. He expressed surprise that Mr. Bellemare would defend Mr. Duplessis.

SAW TO DEFEAT
The premier said Mr. Duplessis had seen to Mr. Bellemare's defeat in a mayoralty contest at Cap-de-la-Madeleine in 1957. In anger, Mr. Bellemare had torn up, stamped on and spat at pictures of Mr. Duplessis.

Mr. Bellemare, his face red with rage, said the premier was "shamelessly lying." Through a chorus of catcalls he said he had taken his defeat "like a gentleman" and that 12 days later had organized a by-election for the Union Nationale.

Mr. Lesage said Mr. Bellemare had denied Mr. Duplessis "more violently" than St. Peter denied Jesus.

Earlier, Mr. Lesage said the statue of the late Union Nationale leader, who died in 1959, will not be put up until history has passed judgment on him. He said he could not have the statue erected while court cases involving Mr. Duplessis' name were going on.

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Only a few educated in the right schools, but chances are beginning to appear for others. This, however, was primarily a peg for some great color pictures of the British countryside and some delightful shots of prep school students and the Eton boys in their tail coats and high hats.

The importance of attending Eton, Oxford or Cambridge was explained, as was the importance of the correct accent.

Destry, ABC's new Friday night series, has turned out to be a hit despite its late start. Marked resemblance to Maverick is not exactly coincidental. Last week's amusing episode was written by Marion Harro, father of the Maverick brothers.

ABC has made a film deal with United Artists, and will acquire old Goldwyn features to use Sunday nights next season. The network plans to show movies between 9 and 11 p.m., those hours when nothing seems able to survive against Bonanza on NBC and Candid Camera on CBS.

Hold weekend conference at Grace Chapel

The second annual conference sponsored by the Fellowship Group, was held at Grace Chapel on Feb. 22 and Feb. 23, with a good attendance from Sherbrooke and the surrounding area.

The theme of the conference was Seek Ye First, from Matt. 6:33.

The guest speaker was Dr. James Naismith, of Kingston, Ont. On Saturday, the conference consisted of two sessions, one in the afternoon, and one in the evening, and between these supper was served under the auspices of the Fellowship Group.

The two sessions were chaired by Francis Hatch, who also introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Naismith, speaking on the need for the Christian to put first things first, emphasized the priority that the Christian should give to God in every phase of his life.

At the evening session, following a song service, Dr. Naismith, outlined the Christian responsibilities to the local church.

On Sunday, Dr. Naismith was the speaker at the regular Family Bible Hour in the morning and again in the afternoon, for the concluding session of the conference. At that time, Dr. Naismith considered the subject of the Christians prime allegiance to the Lord.

The conference concluded with the congregational singing of the conference theme song, Jesus Calls Us O'er the Tumult, Pianist for the conference was Miss P. Statton.

Assaults constable, gets month in jail

Sherbrooke Sessions Court Judge Benoit Turmel sentenced a 19-year-old Sherbrooke youth to one month in prison yesterday for assaulting a Sherbrooke constable while in the exercise of his duties.

Judge Turmel told the youth there was too much of this senseless flouting of authority by today's youth and said he would give out a stiff sentence as an example.

Where, oh, where is mayor's chair?

Two questions emerged at last night's meeting of Sherbrooke City Council. — Where is the mayor's chair? — Where is his chair?

The first was easily answered by city aldermen. The mayor was in Montreal last night for the taping of a TV program for the French network of the CBC.

The second is a little more involved. Last week the mayor's chair was "stolen" by high-spirited University of Sherbrooke students. The students "lifted" the chair, literally, out of the public chamber of city council and carted it out of city hall.

The chair later turned up as a prominent part of the decorations at a campus dance, held later in the week.

Warning lights are sought for a railway crossing near B. C. S.

Lennoxville Town Council is to relay a request to the Board of Transport Commissioners for the installation of a warning light at the QCR level crossing near Bishop's College School.

The action follows a request made by a delegation of three to council last night to have lights installed at what was described as a "dangerous crossing."

Seeking warning lights was Mrs. E. Denison of Lennoxville and two Moulton Hill residents.

Although the crossing is in Lennoxville the majority of the homeowners in the area are in Ascot County. Council suggested that the matter be referred to the QCR and the Board of Transport Commissioners and when it came to the cost of installing the lights, an agreement might be reached in sharing costs between the two municipalities of Lennoxville and Ascot.

Council promised to keep the delegation members informed.

David Waldron of Spring Road appeared before council to clarify a notice he received regarding the keeping of dogs in a residential area.

Education Week program on in ET

A full program of activities connected with Education Week is taking place in Eastern Township schools this week with students, their teachers and parents taking part.

The program began last Saturday, February 29 when some of the Compton-Waterville Intermediate School students took part in a 30-minute radio broadcast.

On Monday a full day's schedule of events took place which included the efforts of students of at least nine schools ranging from school reports for second term examination at Waterloo High School to a visit to the Lowney's Chocolate Company plant by students of Grades 10

Chamber urges abattoir; improved meat inspection

The Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce has suggested that city council study the possibility of establishing a municipal abattoir, the construction and operation of which to be jointly subsidized by municipal, provincial and federal governments.

The letter also made a number of proposals in connection with deficiencies in local meat inspection practices.

The chamber wants personnel of the local meat inspection service to be chosen according to the qualifications necessary and that they be employed full time so that abuses "that have been noticed for some time in Sherbrooke" be avoided.

The suggestion was contained in a letter to Sherbrooke city council following studies undertaken by the Chamber's Health and Welfare committee.

In light of the reorganization of the provincial department of meat inspection, which will soon fall under the jurisdiction of the Department of Agriculture, the chamber has asked the city to press for a complete reorganization of meat inspection services at the local level.

Art exhibit shows 'Leonardo at work'

"Leonardo at Work" is the name that could have been chosen for the current exhibition of the Sherbrooke Association for the Advancement of Art, currently on view at the University of Sherbrooke's Commerce building.

The exhibition, a series of reproductions of drawings by the great master—Leonardo Da Vinci, was organized by the National Gallery of Canada in co-operation with UNESCO and is being circulated throughout Canada.

Why "Leonardo at work?" Because the exhibition affords the viewer the unique opportunity of gaining an insight into the mind of a genius—for Leonardo recorded and preserved for posterity the sketches, studies and working drawings which either formed the basis for later works or were left to stand on their own.

For some of his grandiose plans never did get further than the drawing board; sketches of people who never made it to his canvas, studies of the human body, of machines, of the structure of the earth and of plants are virtually unknown, compared with his "Mona Lisa" and "Last Supper."

Here then is the epitome of Renaissance man—for Leonardo is the personification of the new spirit which begins to animate the West—man and his kingdom.

A new cult begins to arise in Italy which combines the soldier and the poet, the artist and the clergyman, the banker and the sculptor. The aloof artist and world-shunning poet would have been a misfit in the Florence of the Medici.

He, Leonardo was the artist-soldier-engineer-anatomist-botanist-architect and what-have-you par excellence.

Aside from his scope and mastery of perspective we find in his works a revolutionary approach to the rendering of the subtle modulations of light and shadow, the atmospheric effects of landscaping and the fleeting mystery of human expression.

It is unfortunate however, that the exhibition does not crown the studies of the artist with the final product—his paintings.

This would have given the viewer a more complete insight into the workings of the artist. However, the studies in themselves are rarely grouped in such exemplary fashion and a trip to the University should be top priority.

Control over use of hand weapons

Armed robberies of one kind or another have increased alarmingly in the past few years in the Eastern Townships region.

It was not too long ago that this kind of crime was rare indeed in this part of the province. Now, it is all too common.

The solution to the problem involves a many-pronged attack. But strict attention to the law with regard to the possession of firearms is an important aspect of any long-range program.

Hand weapons must be registered in this province. Registration provides one means of control over the ownership and use of pistols.

So it is gratifying to learn that at least one judge in this area plans to utilize this

You can see your way clear a lot easier when you make light of your troubles.

Universal pensions not so universal

Gordon Aiken is a Progressive Conservative Member of Parliament, representing the riding of Parry Sound-Muskoka, so it is understandable that he might find many flaws in the Canada Pension Plan as sponsored by the Liberal administration of Prime Minister Pearson.

But in debating the Throne Speech in the Commons last week he made a strong point against the so-called universal pension plan, which he said was not universal at all. In fact he claimed there is nothing in the federal plan for 81.66 per cent of all Canadians — decidedly rather a high ratio for something that is supposed to be "universal."

Mr. Aiken listed those who would receive nothing from the plan.

First, he said, were the 5,259,211 people of Quebec who will be covered by the provincial scheme.

Then there are 714,674 Canadians in other provinces over 70 years of age, too old for any benefits.

Glad they're not a government

Although it has never been reported that there are any separatist sentiments among members of La Federation des Jeunes Chambres de Commerce du Quebec, and indeed, the breakaway French Jaycee group has sought recognition from other junior chambers, its existence points up one of the objections to the separatism concept.

Considerations of sentiment for the country, for Queen and Commonwealth aside (and in fairness we must admit that they logically have more meaning to English-speaking Canadians), separatism would be so complicated.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce movement is highly organized — and complicated. So is a country.

Two Jaycee organizations, especially kind of control to the fullest. Judge Benoit Turmel of the Sherbrooke Court warned during the hearing of a recent case involving an unregistered pistol that he is going to crack down on offenders in the future.

He pointed to the increase in armed crimes as justification for his more stringent attitude.

It may be argued that rifles, which do not have to be registered in Quebec, provide more of a potential crime menace than pistols. If this is so, perhaps the law regarding rifles should be changed.

But pistols, controlled by law, are at least as dangerous. And since legal controls are already present, it is only common sense to take the fullest possible advantage of them.

Continuing he mentioned the widows and orphans of breadwinners who are not entitled to survivorship or dependency provisions; the sick and disabled, the unemployed, the single woman at home and the casual laborer.

In fact, he argued, 20 per cent of the male population between 18 and 64 and 70 per cent of the female population are in the same wage group, or 697,926 men and 2,369,643 women outside Quebec.

But the biggest group would be 5,888,372 Canadians under 18 outside Quebec, who said Mr. Aiken, would be the biggest losers who will pay for the mistakes now being made.

Finally he added the small-wage earners or part-time workers.

Thus he concludes there are six indefinable groups of Canadians totalling 14,929,823 or 81.66 per cent of the population who need not press for immediate implementation of the Canada pension plan because there is nothing in it for them.

The giraffe is one of the most expensive animals in the zoo. High overhead?

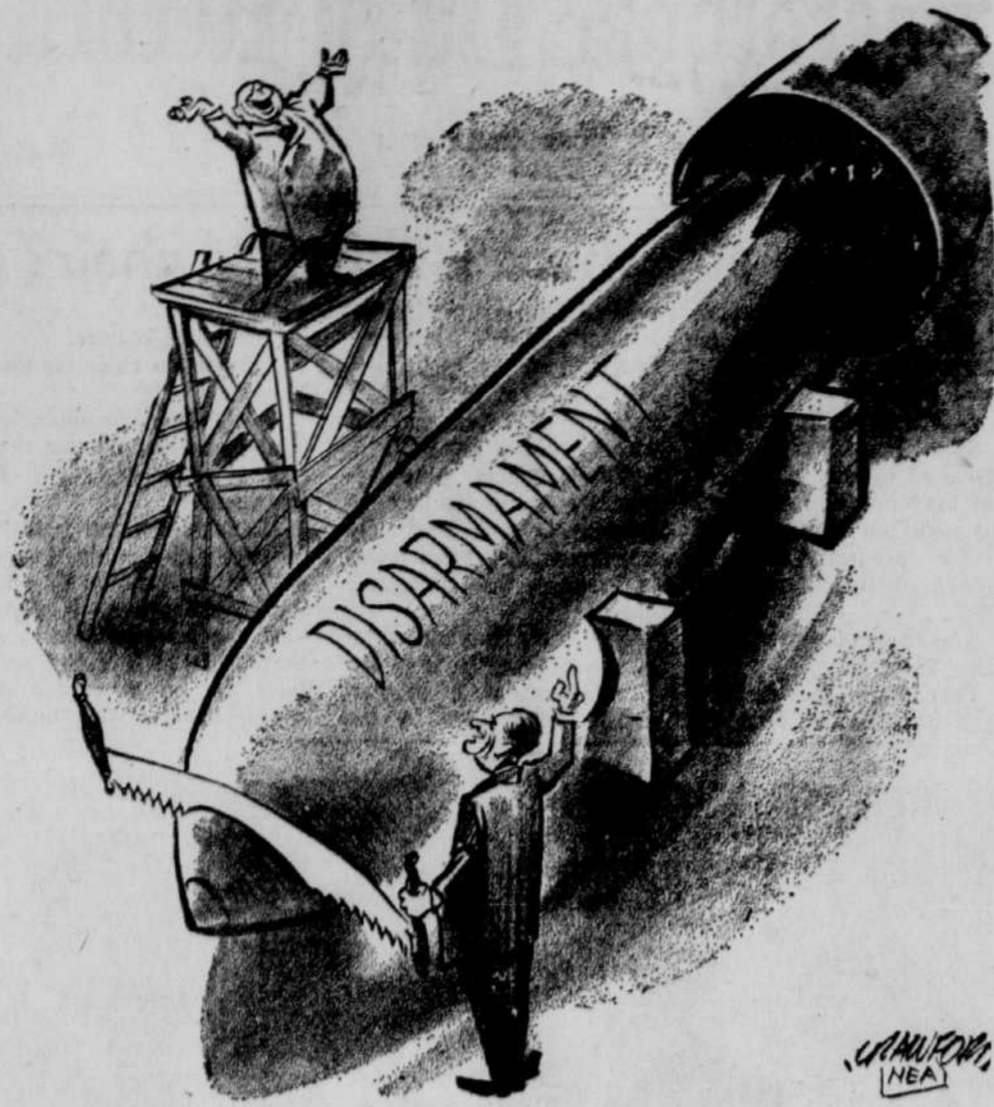

if they are linked in friendliness, would be more complicated.

Two countries even more so.

Separatists say every so often that they have no quarrel with English Canada, or wouldn't have if they were separate. Therefore, by separatists' definition, separatism would mean friendly links, complication, expensive duplication as only two governments can expensively duplicate things, inefficiency, red tape and taxes, taxes, taxes.

La Federation des Jeunes Chambres de Commerce du Quebec is holding its annual meeting in Sherbrooke Aug. 21 and 22. We welcome them and wish them well, happy that they are not a government apart.

Col. F. H. Bradley was elected president and Alderman Alphonse Trudeau, vice-president of the Sherbrooke Roll of Honor Executive Committee, at a general meeting held yesterday at the Recruiting office on King Street West. Attending the session were, besides Col. Bradley and Mr. Trudeau, Alderman Guy Bryant, Major L. W. Greenland, Mr. Justice Dalma Landry, Willard Cross, John Fitzsimons, George Chapman and J. A. Bourgeois of the Canadian Legion, City clerk Antonin Deslauriers and R. S. Pearson, of the Y's Men's Club.

ing their own schools. It provided a grant of eighty dollars a year to each school teacher who taught not less than twenty pupils, and offered grants to a maximum of two hundred dollars to assist in the building of schoolhouses. This state aid gave an impulse to education in some areas; in others it became merely a substitute for, instead of an addition to, the voluntary local effort. This act expired in 1836, and apparently no government grants were forthcoming for the next five years, for we find schools seemingly operating again on the "voluntary" basis. Ungraded in early days

The first common schools were administered by individuals

The term "common school" refers to those schools in which were taught the basic elements of education: reading writing and arithmetic. They were at first, as we shall see, administered by individuals in the communities, and later by school boards established by education acts, but they were always distinct from the academies and seminaries, which were "high" schools in the present sense. In their early days, they were completely ungraded, but they evolved, eventually, into the seven-grade, one-room school with which most people are familiar.

The settlers of the Eastern Townships in the early years were almost all from the American colonies to the south. Even before the Revolution-

THIS LITTLE SCHOOL, built in 1856 by the Common School Commissioners of St. Armand West, served the children of District No. 6 for over seventy years. The porch was added to it about 1900. It was the second school in the district, which before 1846 was known as District No. 4.

One of a series of articles on the history of education in the District of Bedford prepared to mark the centennial of the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers.

ary War was over, Loyalists from New York and Vermont were beginning to penetrate the area around Missisquoi Bay. When the war was over, some of them, despite official opposition, made their homes there. From these early settlements, particularly those in the Seigneurie of St. Armand and at Caldwell's Manor on the Richelieu, the Townships got their start. As soon as areas farther east were made available for settlement we find these "old" settlers appearing as associates. Along with them were hundreds of others, particularly from Vermont and New Hampshire, who were attracted by the free land. Others who were not fortunate enough to become associates themselves bought from associates who had acquired more land than they needed.

And these New Englanders were interested in education. They had grown up in areas where schools were well established, and they did not want their children to be without "book larnin'". And so they built and operated schools.

It is very difficult to say when or where the first schools were erected, but that some kind of instruction was offered to the children of these pioneers is certain, since most of them, as their letters, diaries, and account books show, were able to read, write, and handle arithmetic.

The first schools were constructed and maintained by the citizens of a community, without government help. Some leading man would call a meeting of his neighbours; they would choose a site for a schoolhouse, give money, materials, or labour, and put up a building. Someone would find a teacher, those whose children were to attend would subscribe a certain amount per scholar, and the teacher's salary would be paid from these subscriptions. In addition and impart a little knowledge, well and good; if not, someone else was hired instead. The course of study consisted of reading, writing, and ciphering. Books were few, and most were published in the United States. The teacher's own knowledge often set the limits of the courses.

In 1829 an education act was passed. This act, amended and continued in 1832, gave financial help to individuals who had been supporting their own schools. It provided a grant of eighty dollars a year to each school teacher who taught not less than twenty pupils, and offered grants to a maximum of two hundred dollars to assist in the building of schoolhouses. This state aid gave an impulse to education in some areas; in others it became merely a substitute for, instead of an addition to, the voluntary local effort. This act expired in 1836, and apparently no government grants were forthcoming for the next five years, for we find schools seemingly operating again on the "voluntary" basis. Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — One of Parliament's problem children is Douglas Fisher, a fourth term youngster from Port Arthur who has personality difficulties compounded by a speech defect known among his mates as "foot in mouth disease".

Duggie's situation is really quite serious. Those who sit nearest to him are nervous, and inclined to avoid getting involved with him. There have been a number of cases in which they have suffered as a result of his peculiar speech defect.

Once when he went visiting some friends of theirs in Quebec, he made such insulting comments that those back in Ottawa were very embarrassed. And he often asks silly questions like "How much money does Dick O'Hagan get?", and "How much money did the CBC pay Charles Lench?"

He's a big boy, too big for his britches, and he picks on boys who have more marbles than he has — like Donald Gordon. Last year his allowance was increased, so that with the money he earns from his newspapers he's certainly not an underprivileged child. But this has not turned him into an agreeable, happy child.

Duggie's latest escapade was directed against a group of his elders whom he seems specially to resent, the members of the Parliamentary Press Gallery. Mr. Jock Webster, a visitor from Vancouver, asked Duggie some questions and recorded the replies for a radio broadcast. He asked Duggie how he liked the way things were going, and what complaints he had, Duggie seized the opportunity to launch into some wild exaggerations.

He said newspapermen are "lushes, drunks and incompetents" who think they know more about running the country than the government knows. And he said it's a good thing he's around to check up on and control the drunks and incompetents in the Press Gallery.

What he didn't know was that Mr. Webster was going to broadcast Duggie's cute comments in Ottawa as well as Vancouver. When that happened Duggie threw a temper tantrum. Then he said he was only fooling. But I heard the broadcast, and he wasn't fooling.

I think part of Duggie's trouble is hero worship with a reverse twist. He plays at being a newspaperman, but he knows he's not a real one, so he's jealous and bitter towards those who are. He's often under foot in the Press Gallery, but newspapermen are soft hearted, and nobody up to now has told him to fly off.

Duggie seems sorry he said such silly things. I suspect some of those who sit near him have taken him to task, for this is certainly not acceptable NDP group behavior.

This group opprobrium may be the only reason for his contriteness.

Perhaps the Gesell Institute study on "Child Behaviour", by Doctors Ilg and Ames, may hold the key to Duggie's difficulties. For example, on page 287 it says that "people sometimes think that it is the bold child who... is the class showoff. Actually, most often it is just the opposite. In our experience it is often the shy, diffident child, ineffective and not very sure of himself, who tries to find himself and to bolster up his own ego by calling attention to himself in any way he can".

Ilg and Ames say there is "no one over-all answer". So we will have to be patient with Duggie. At least as long as the voters of Port Arthur leave him with us.

TORONTO (CP)—Peter Donat was the first time he met his late uncle, the famous British actor Robert Donat, who was reading the movie script of Goodbye Mr. Chips at the time.

The second, and last time they met was in New York when the elder Donat counseled the young, ambitious actor: "Stay here. You're a North American product. If you go to England you'll come back a half-baked English product."

Peter stayed and, as he readily admitted in an interview in the basement office of his Toronto home, he's never had a really tough time of it as an actor. In fact, he's never had a vacation; it's always been out of one assignment and into another.

The 35-year-old native of Kentville, N.S., has imprinted his handsome face on the memories of Canadians through TV—he has appeared in about 15 CBC-TV drama productions since 1960—although he is also well known for his Canadian theatrical performances, especially in five seasons at the Stratford Festival.

CANADA BETTER
He is currently on Broadway, playing one of the two sons of Margaret Leighton in Enid Bagnold's comedy, The Chinese Prime Minister, which opened its trial run at the Royal Alexandra Theatre here.

Donat, who appeared on almost all the important U.S. drama series in their TV heyday although he never did "anything really big," regrets that "people see me as princes and presidents' sons; I think I'm better in character roles."

"As far as I'm concerned, here in Canada is infinitely better for a television actor. You're exposed to really satisfying, inspiring scripts. TV in New York is bread and butter; here some of the shows are creatively satisfying."

"The thing that's good here, but ultimately frustrating, is that an actor who's talented and smart can become a supremely good TV actor, but there's still that lack of security. In the U.S., if you're exposed on The Defenders, your phone never stops ringing."

And money? If you're in demand in Canada you might get up to $2,000 for an hour-long production. This compares with Jason Robards, say, pocketing up to $10,000 in the U.S.

ADAPTS IBSEN
Donat is more interested in scripts than the normal actor concerned about the girth of his own part. He's currently working on an adaptation of Ibsen's The Master Builder which he hopes to see become a TV production. He's also adapted quite a sheaf of Shaw although none of it has been done on television.

Peter has wanted to be an actor for as long as he can remember. But he collected a science degree from Acadia University, Wolfville, N.S., just to prove he could have been a doctor had he been so inclined.

He made his acting debut with a group of Maritime students who toured 50 Nova Scotia towns in 1949.

He spent a year studying at the Yale drama school, whose academic atmosphere he found "strangely dead," then began his professional career at Provincetown Playhouse at Cape Cod, Mass.

Summer stock followed, then road tours, one of which touched Montreal and Toronto.

Back in his native country, he couldn't find a "contact point," so he returned to the U.S. and TV, including soap operas.

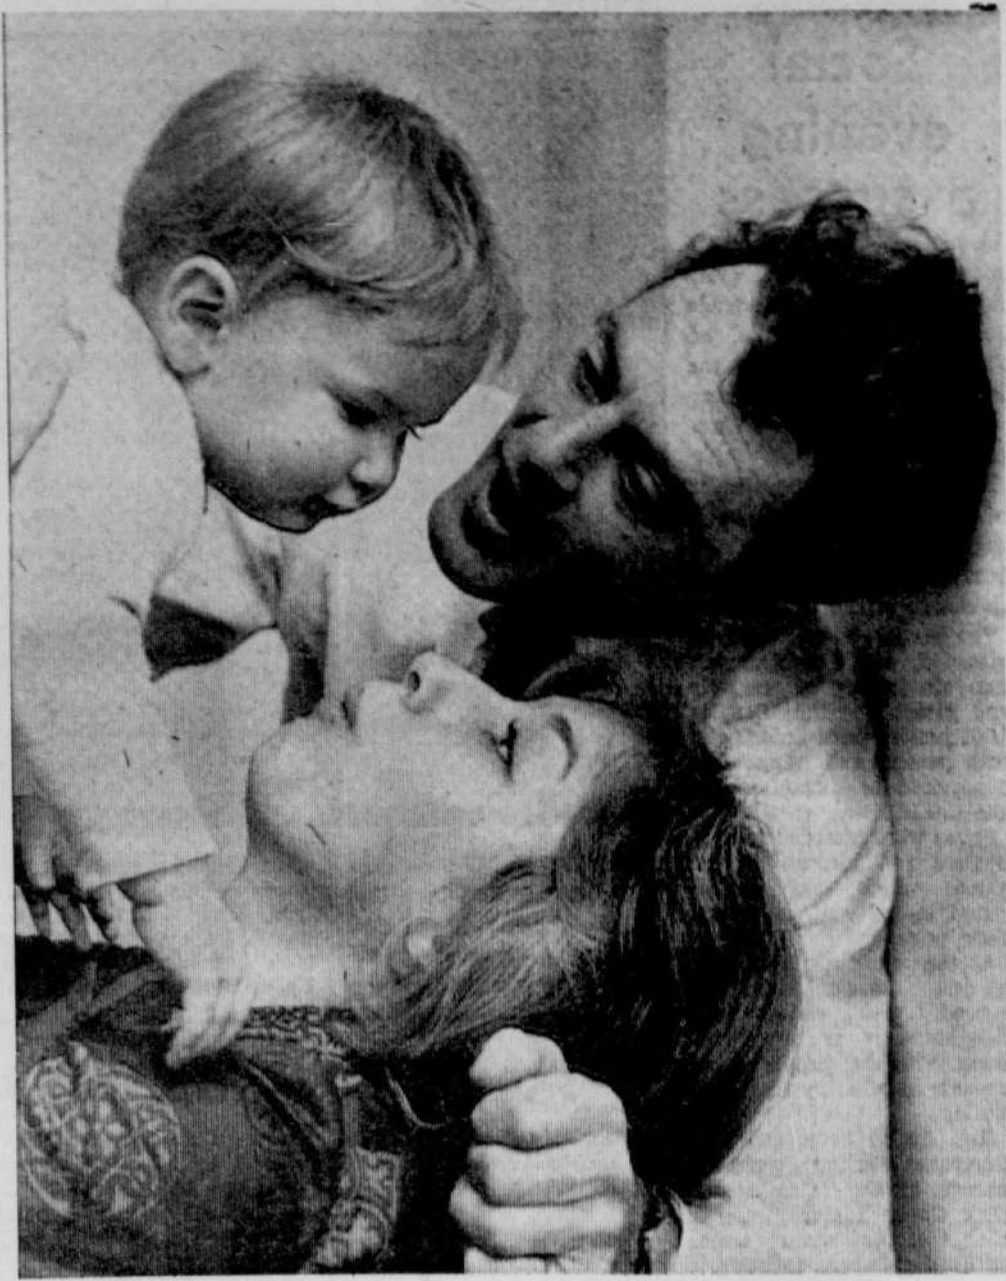

His 1956 appearance on Broadway in Tyrone Guthrie's production of The First Gentleman gave him his firm footing on the road to success. In 1957 he returned to Broadway for The Country Wife with Julie Harris, and in 1958 The Entertainer with Sir Laurence Olivier.

MET ACTRESS
It was while appearing at Connecticut's Stratford Shakespearean Festival in 1955 that Donat met a beautiful young apprentice actress named Michael Learned, one of six sisters with equally singular names. That fall she went to England to continue her acting studies, returning the following year to marry Donat.

"I was 17," she recalls. "It was the craziest thing I ever did, but the best."

Michael is no stranger to Canadian TV. Since 1960 she has appeared in 10 CBC-TV dramas and has had roles at Stratford, Ont.

Caring for three growing children—Caleb, 6, Christopher, 4, and Lucas, 1—has somewhat hindered development of her acting career but she manages fairly successfully under the circumstances with the help of a Colombian girl who lives with the Donats.

MOM AND DAD ARE ACTORS — Canadian-born actor Peter Donat, 35-year-old nephew of the late Robert Donat, says television actors can find intellectual satisfaction in Canada but the money is in the United States. Donat, whose wife Michael has had to curtail her acting career because of their three children, including year-old daughter Lucas shown here, is currently appearing on Broadway in The Chinese Prime Minister. For the present he's maintaining his home in Toronto but is making New York his acting headquarters. (CP Photo)

Youth gets 2 years for assault charge

SWEETSBURG (Staff) — A Waterloo youth, Paul-Henri Gatiien, was sentenced to St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary for a two-year term by Judge Patrick E. Delaney yesterday during the Sessions of the Peace here.

Gatiien, who was charged with assault, causing damage, and interfering with a policeman in carrying out his duties Feb. 20 in Waterloo was found guilty in court last week.

Crown Attorney Gilles Theriault last week told Judge Delaney that he'd obtain a social welfare report on the youth. Judge Delaney postponed judgment to this week after having found the young man guilty as charged.

Yesterday in court, Judge Delaney, after hearing a report from the Crown Attorney, said he couldn't do anything for the young man, and sentenced him to two years, imprisonment.

Judgment is postponed in robbery case trial

SWEETSBURG (Staff) — Judgment was postponed one week in the case of Pierre Levesque, Granby, who was found guilty of robbery, forced entry and illegal possession of a weapon.

Judge Patrick E. Delaney, in the Sessions of the Peace here, heard evidence presented that Levesque was found in the Duquay and Freres Electrical shop in Granby during the night of February 18 and 19.

He will be sentenced next week.

Kiwanis meets Wednesday

GRANBY (Special) — The Granby Kiwanis Club will meet with the Granby Lions Club March 4, at the Granby Social Club at 27 Elgin St. at 7 p.m.

It is announced that if any member of the Kiwanis is unable to come to this meeting that he sign in at the Granby Social Club or at Rita Florist, so that the attendance be kept up.

Last week, at the regular meeting, after business had been concluded, one tonsillectomy for a boy of a needy family, and the purchase of a small mattress for a retarded child at St. Bernard school on Glenn Avenue were approved.

ROSENBERG

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest all were Mr. and Mrs. A. Wells and Mr. and Mrs. Burgess and family, of Montreal. On Sunday Mrs. Eileen Ball and son, Mr. Jack Ball, of Greenfield Park, and Messrs. Gilles Raymond, Peter, Jean-Guy and Maurice Quenneville, of St. Michael, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ball.

Mr. Charles Sornberger has returned from Freilighsburg, where he spent two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Eric Corey.

Mr. Brian Rhodes spent two days in Quebec City. Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes are now in residence at their new home.

Mrs. Mabel Bowles, of Cowansville, spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. H. A. Sheltus.

QPP investigate vandalism

BROME POND (Staff) — The Cowansville Provincial Police detachment yesterday began to investigate into a case of vandalism here.

Vandals broke the door of W. J. Gratton's summer cottage some time Sunday night, cut the plastic doors leading into the bedrooms, took a picture from the wall and knifed it to shreds and ripped the telephone from its wall location and stole it.

Mrs. Gratton said her husband, who delivers mail along the Iron Hill route, about six miles north of Sweetburg, discovered the break-in early Monday morning on his mail run.

WHY NOT A PIPE LADIES? — Lady curlers attending the Invitation Day events in North Hatley last week were introduced to the ladies pipe. When the cigarette machine failed to work at the North Hatley Curling Club, a lady from Waterville Mrs. O. Knutson, came up with the next best thing — a dainty ladies pipe. Not at all concerned about the dangers of smoking and to the surprise of the other lady curlers she lit up the pipe. "Takes quite a few draws to get the thing alight," Mrs. Knutson said. In the picture on the left, Mrs. Knutson demonstrates the art of drawing or sucking to keep the tobacco alight. You don't think she really smoked it? Look at the photo below — how's that ladies? No! there were no signs of nausea either. (Photos by Doug Gerrish)

Not tuned-in, poor dears

Women whose husbands are nervous or who suffer from ulcers were recently advised by a physician not to turn on a vacuum cleaner or washing machine until the husband is out of the house.

Such home noises, the doctor claims, will aggravate the husband's tensions.

What the doctor didn't explain and what many a wife has tried in vain to figure out, is why the noises that bother a man are those that come from machinery doing a woman's work.

Husbands are forever talking about the "awful racket" made by dishwashers, clothes washers, vacuum cleaners, floor polishers—and such. The sound of machinery doing her chores is music to a woman's ears—but it seems to get on the nerves of most husbands.

However, the same man who thinks a dishwasher makes an intolerable noise doesn't object in the slightest to the high-pitched whine of a power saw in his home workshop.

The sound of an outboard motor breaking the quiet of a peaceful lake doesn't upset him at all, if it is HIS boat that is kicking up the fuss.

The sound of powered yard tools isn't music by any means, but men don't seem to think it is annoying enough to prefer to mow and clip and edge with hand tools.

If the machinery making a noise is busily doing woman's work, the noise is intolerable to a man's sensitive nervous system. If the screeches and whines come from a piece of equipment doing a man's work, it doesn't seem to bother him at all. Strange, isn't it?

Some very handy winter advice

Pretty hands are the ones that get held most often. And you can have the whitest, most feminine hands by following a few simple rules.

Always keep hand cream or lotion in your kitchen and use it several times daily. If you're a career girl, keep a small bottle in your desk. Rubber and canvas gloves for housework are marvelous hand-preservers once you are accustomed to them.

SEVEN STEPS

Once a week, take the seven steps to a perfect manicure: Shape your nails by filing them from corners to centre. Soak each hand in a bowl of warm soapy water to clean your nails and soften the cuticles.

Cuticles can be pushed back with the blunt end of an orangewood stick wrapped in cotton, and dipped in cuticle remover.

A base-coat will help protect your nails as well as help the polish go on more smoothly.

Since two thin coats of polish are four times better than one thick one, brush off the excess. To apply, stroke down the middle of the nail first then do the sides. Do thumbnails last after your other nails are dry—this helps prevent smudging.

Polly's pointers

DEAR POLLY — My 8-year-old daughter has long hair which takes me a long time to wash and roll up. She has never liked to have her hair fixed and for some time I have used the following method most satisfactorily. We pretend we are at the beauty shop as it is washed. I am never her mother, but Mrs. Someone-or-Other. My daughter tells Mrs. Someone all the things that have been happening at school and at home. I then roll up her hair while she is watching cartoons on television. She sits under my hair dryer and looks at magazines or books just as grownups do at the beauty shop. She can have her fingernails polished at the same time if she wants that. When her hair is all finished, I am paid with a Yankee dime (a kiss).—MRS. D. R.

DEAR POLLY — Recently I was writing with a nice long pencil when I made a mistake. The eraser was already worn to the metal ring around the pencil so, instead of searching the house for an eraser, I simply took a wide rubber band, wound it around the end of the pencil and erased the mistake perfectly.—TEX.

GIRLS — So it does.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — After I iron curtains, I hang them, temporarily, on a skirt rack where they stay neat and wrinkle-free until needed.—R. M. D.

DEAR POLLY — A magnet in a little box with a few paper clips, nuts and bolts will keep a youngster entertained while on a long trip in the car or during an illness.—ALICE

DEAR POLLY — If you want to use curtains that are too short for the window, you can move the top rod down and then cover the space left at the top with a wide valance. This is very helpful when moving from apartment to apartment. The valance does not have to be of the same material but can be bright stripes, florals or dots.—MRS. G. W.

Social evening a success

A most successful sugar-on-snow party and social evening was held in the Gertrude Scott Hall, Lennoxville, on Friday, sponsored by the Philaeta Unit of the Lennoxville United Church Women.

Mrs. Lyman Rothney leader of the unit, extended a warm welcome to all, and Mrs. Gilbert Patrick, treasurer, was in charge of the tickets.

The annual event was well attended, with both young and old joining in crokinole and games. In the Douglas Hall juniors were entertained with games and sing-songs, supervised by members of the C.G.I.T.

Prizes were awarded to both seniors and juniors for the games which they participated in, as well as several door prizes.

At the conclusion of the games, sugar-on-snow was served, with pickles and doughnuts as an accompaniment. This was prepared and capably handled by Mr. Lorne Butler.

Mrs. Austin Scott and Mrs. Gertrude Winslow were in charge of the refreshments. Mrs. Grant Taylor was in charge of the senior games with all members assisting.

Today's recipe

APPLE BATTER RINGS

¾ cup flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 egg, slightly beaten, ¾ cup milk, 1 tablespoon melted shortening, 3 apples, Fat for frying.

Sift flour once, measure, add salt and sugar, and sift again. Combine egg, milk, and shortening. Add to flour mixture and stir until smooth.

Peel and core apples and slice crosswise in thin slices. Dip in the batter and fry in hot shallow fat in skillet until golden brown, turning once. Drain on absorbent paper. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

SHERBROOKE HOSPITAL LADIES AUXILIARY

The Sherbrooke Hospital Ladies Auxiliary, met in the Conference Room at the Hospital, recently. Two new members Mrs. Dowbiggen and Mrs. Harper were welcomed by the president Mrs. Max Rothschild.

The president pointed out that Mrs. W. P. Charlebois, Tel: 562-0367 had taken over the convenship of the In Memoriam Fund. Mrs. Paul MacKenna, Tel: 567-6926 would continue as her assistant.

Mrs. Leonard Curtis convener of Cart Volunteers would appreciate hearing from any member free to push the cart, Friday afternoon and evening. Commitments to date this year include a Bovey electro surgery unit at a cost of $1,849.50 requested by Dr. Dougan for the Hospital. As a precaution against fire during the Christmas season the Auxiliary has purchased artificial trees.

Under consideration is a project to refurbish and decorate the Doctors' small sitting room. A House Committee comprising Mrs. Jan Pick, Mrs. John MacLeod and Mrs. John Silny will make recommendations to the Auxiliary.

Baby Birthday Club, Mrs. R. Gosselin submitted her last report as convener and was congratulated upon her devoted service to the club. Mrs. G. Wilcock assisted by Mrs. R. Gittel will take over her duties. During the months of December and January, 56 new babies were registered. A layette was purchased for a needy mother and $414.16 cents remains in the fund.

Mrs. Paul Gervais, treasurer, gave the financial report showing a current balance of over $7,000.

Mrs. Leonard Curtis reported the hospitality cart had made the round of the hospital 12 times in the past month.

Mrs. E. Kimmis reported shop sales for January amounting to $2,138.19 cents.

Dues are payable now to Mrs. D. Steele as convener of membership.

Mrs. Sidney Gray, activities

convener; has arranged for a luncheon to be held at Hovey Manor, North Hatley, during the month of March, exact date and time will be included in next month's bulletin. Business will be kept to the minimum and Mr. Simmon, who is at present attached temporarily to the Sherbrooke Hospital, as Assistant Administration, will address the Auxiliary on the relationship between Hospital Administration and Quebec Government. The president commented that this should greatly aid the Auxiliary to decide where their funds can best be employed.

Those members who may need transportation to the luncheon should contact either Mrs. J. MacLeod, Mrs. J. Pick or Mrs. J. Silny.

The president reported receiving a cheque from Mrs. Drury towards the Memorial Plaque which will be dedicated to past members of the medical staff in recognition of their services.

After discussion of a number of new projects, the meeting was adjourned and refreshments served by the hostesses, Mrs. N. F. Labarge, Mrs. R. Hunting, Mrs. M. Campbell and Mrs. C. Bishop.

Chit chat

Q — "I realize it's foolish to expect sheer hose to last a long time. But I seem to rip a pair a day. Is there anything I can do to make my stockings last longer?" — Gloria L.

A — Dear Gloria L.—I would save a lot of money myself if I could tell you how to make sheer hose last a long time. But with some care, they should certainly last more than a day. Try sitting down when you put on your stockings so they won't be too taut over your knees. Be sure that your stockings fit properly. If they are a bit loose, they're more apt to snag. If the foot is too short, your toe will come through. If it's too long, the extra length will rub on your shoe lining and cause damage to the reinforcement. A salesman once told me that it is best not to soak nylons when you wash them. I can't know whether this helps, but it can't hurt, so you might try it.

STANSTEAD — (Special) — Heron Houdson, a resident of Stanstead since the latter part of World War II died on Monday in Montreal.

UNGRADED IN EARLY

Trustees for School District No. 4 in the Seigneurie of St. Armand County of Mississquoi have made and entered into the following agreement with William Mildrum viz To Teach the School in said District for the term of Six months at the rate of Two Pounds Ten Shillings per Month and Board to be provided him gratis — to commence Nov. 23rd 1835.

Mr. Mildrum received his salary in three instalments: two "advances" made at his request, one in January, and another in April; and a final settlement of $7.910 on May 25, at the end of his six-month term. Whether or not the school was large enough for him to have received the government grant of forty dollars as well is, unfortunately, not recorded.

Choral program scheduled

The University Alumni Singers under the direction of Donald Patruquin, formerly of Lennoxville, Que., and now finishing his studies at the McGill Faculty of Music will present a mixed choral program, Back to Broadway at Bishop's College School, Saturday, March 7th at 8.15 p.m.

Other soloists will be Sara Hayden, whose voice is familiar to listeners of the C.B.C., and Rose-Marie Barbeau who has recently appeared on Talent Festival and Montreal Recital.

The choir will have its ranks swelled to over 100 voices in some numbers when the Choir of Bishop's College School adds its 55 voices to the Alumni Singers.

This concert will consist of works from every classical period from Baroque to the present day, and will feature a performance by the Singapore Singers, whose renditions of folk songs on the gut bucket, two guitars, and four voices leaves little to be desired.

NOTE ENTERED IN

Continued from Page 1. Fred Carter was a well-known Gaspere resident and had led one of the search parties. He believed the note was addressed to Carter and read: "We go back to Martin's camp. No trace of Lindsay party."

Missing were Eugene Lindsay, 47, his son Richard, 17, and a friend, Frederick Clair, 20, all of Hollidaysburg, Pa. Coffin was convicted of the shooting of Richard Lindsay. Francois Gravel, lawyer for the Coffin family, asked what right Insp. Fradette had to decide what was evidence and what wasn't.

Raymond Daoust, one of Mr. Hebert's lawyers, corrected Cpl. Fafard—saying that the brand wasn't made in Canada in 1953, only in the United States.

Pierre-Elliott Trudeau, another Montreal lawyer representing Mr. Hebert, asked why fingerprints hadn't been taken from the bottles. Cpl. Fafard replied that police weren't even aware when the bodies were found that a crime had been committed.

LENNOXVILLE

Continued from Page 3. sum of $238.31, the first quarterly payment of a grant of over $11,000 on fire protection on the new reservoir. The sum was announced in a letter from the minister of municipal affairs.

In other correspondence, council received an approval list of suppliers for tenders for new fire-fighting equipment. The list was sent by fire commissioner D. E. Godette.

Lennoxville is to receive 5,000 Jack Pine trees from the Forestry Extension Service as part of a reforestation program. The trees will be planted in the municipally-owned lot at Johnville.

Submarine to be launched — The first of three Oberon-class submarines of the type shown here, being built in Britain for the Canadian government, is scheduled for completion in 1965. The other two will be built later. The Oberon is an "attack" submarine capable of high underwater speeds and equipped to fire homing torpedoes which can be directed to the target. (CP Wirephoto)

Card of Thanks

PIERCY — To Drs. Cooper, Quintin, and Dougan, nurses and aides at the Sherbrooke Hospital, for the many visitors for gifts, plants, flowers, cards and letters while I was hospitalized. I wish to extend my grateful thanks. Also for the kindness shown my husband and mother during my absence, and for every thing since my return home. I assure you all is much appreciated and will long be remembered. MRS. OLIVE AINSWORTH Bishopston.

CRUDEN — I would like to thank the nurses and nurses-aides on the 2nd, and 3rd floors at the Sherbrooke Hospital, and also the doctors and my friends who came to see me and sent cards following my accident. Your kindness will always be remembered. GEORGE CRUDEN Beebe, Que.

AINSWORTH — I would like to express my thanks to all my friends and relatives who remembered me on my birthday, February 17 with cards, gifts and phone calls. They were greatly appreciated. MRS. OLIVE AINSWORTH Bishopston.

JOHNSTON — I would like to express my sincere thanks to all those who remembered me with cards and gifts, while I was a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital, and for the lovely sunshine basket, from my friends and neighbors on my birthday, with special thanks to Mrs. Lurien Trepanier, who arranged it, also the many Birthday Cards. These kindnesses are deeply appreciated. JAMES S. JOHNSTON Kinross, Mills.

In Memoriam

SMITH — In loving memory of our parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dana Smith, Mom who passed away Dec. 22nd, 1963, and Dad who passed away Dec. 22nd, 1963. We often sit and think of them. When we are all alone. For memory is the only friend that grief can call his own. Like Ivy on the withered oak. When all other things decay. Our love for them will still keep green. And never fade away. Sadly missed by their children and grandchildren.

WILSON — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Richard Wilson, who passed away March 3, 1961. For you to be with us in the same old way. Would be our fondest wish today. Ever remembered by his wife and family.

RANSBOUSAN — In loving memory of our dear daughter, Reryl, who passed away February 28th, 1966. Memories are like threads of gold. They never tarnish, never grow old. Sadly missed by DAD AND MOTHER.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

HOW DUPLICATE PLAY DIFFERS
How should you play today's hand against the normal defense of two spade leads followed by a shift to a trump?
If you were playing duplicate you would draw trumps, cash one high diamond and then try club and diamond finesses. You would lose both finesses and be down one trick, but you would be right in line with the rest of the field. Everyone would be in four hearts. Everyone would be down one.
Should you play the hand the same way in rubber bridge? Not if you want to be a rubber bridge winner. A winning duplicate player will occasionally take an extra risk in an effort

Only club that hasn't won NHL pennant

Chicago Hawks set team record have best NHL year in history

THE WORLD OF SPORTS

Beavers meet Rockets this evening at Civic Center, in Drummondville

Sherbrooke Beavers and Drummondville Rockets clash this evening at Civic Center in Drummondville in the seventh and deciding game of series 'B' of the Provincial Hockey League play-offs and the right to meet Granby Vics in the final. The two teams are geared up for tonight's tussle and as they both know this is the point of no return they will go all out to come through victors.

Foreign ice has been good to both teams, the Beavers have come through twice at Drummondville by 5-3 and 5-4 scores, the Rockets have won two of their three wins on Sherbrooke ice by scores of 2-1 and 5-2. The Beavers have 17 goals against 12 for the Rockets. Lionel Robidas is the Beavers leading scorer in the series. He has a total of four goals and two assists. Fernand Harvey is ahead in the Rocket camp with four goals and two assists.

The game tonight should go right down to the wire and perhaps with the advantage of home ice the Rockets will be slight favourites to take the series. A break either way could produce the winner. Game time tonight is 8.30 p.m.

Young teenager baseball league founded by Cowansville Legion

COWANSVILLE (Staff)—Organizers of the Cowansville team are Art Stocks, Gordon Robertson, Grant Paterson, Don Wells and Lionel LaRose. Team manager is Gord Robertson; secretary-treasurer is Renald Richer, and the team will be coached by Armand Dubuc.

The total amount for financing the league, said the spokesman, will run to about $2,000 at $500 for each team. A 12-game schedule has been drawn up, and games will be played on Wednesday evenings and Saturday afternoons.

The proceeds of the annual Easter Ham raffle, held by the spokesman, and the uniform sale will go towards financing the Cowansville team, and the Branch is asking the public to help make this new venture a complete success.

Tickets for the raffle can be obtained from any Legion member.

A spokesman of the Royal Canadian Legion said the age group is between 13 to 15, "for those who are too old to play in the little league and too young to play the senior loops."

The teams will be given first-class equipment, said the spokesman, and the uniform will be supplied with safety helmets for batting and base-running; transportation to and from games by club officials, and accident insurance to cover every team.

Open badminton tourney set for University of Sherbrooke March 7

An open badminton tournament will be held this Saturday, March 7 at the University of Sherbrooke.

Some of the top racket wielders in the district, including several veterans who will be coming out of retirement, will be on hand to compete for the prizes.

There will be five events, men's singles, ladies' singles, men's doubles, ladies' doubles and mixed doubles. The tournament will be an open affair but all those who lose their first round matches will fall into a consolation event and there will be five consolation events.

In the men's singles George Corbiere of Magog and Emeril "Doc" Veilleux of Sherbrooke are the favorites. In the Men's doubles, Corbiere and Gordon Harmer will be top-seeded but they expect plenty of competition from Peter Watson and Gary Quinn and also from Bert Cotterell and his partner, possibly Bertrand Sevigny. Such veterans as Murray Parker, Gordon Budning, Edmund Tobin and others will be coming out of retirement.

There is a strong representation from the East Angus Club.

MONTREAL (CP)—It's going to be the best year for a Chicago Black Hawks team in National Hockey League history, but the tribe from the Windy City may still retain the dubious distinction of being the only team that has never won the NHL pennant.

The Hawks set a team record of 33 victories with Sunday's 4-3 win over Montreal and are nearing the club mark of 81 points in one season, a milestone they reached last season when they scored 32 victories, the previous high. The Hawks have 77 points to date, four short of their record with seven games to play.

The remainder of the 70-game schedule, however, still favors the Canadiens in their battle with the Hawks for the NHL title.

Both teams have 77 points, but Montreal has played only 61 games and the Hawks have played 63. Furthermore, Canadiens play five of the nine games at home while the Hawks are on the road to five of their seven remaining contests. Although Toronto seems out of the first place picture, 13 points behind with 10 games to play, there still is a reasonable amount of doubt surrounding third place. The Leafs now are looking over their shoulders at fourth place Detroit, five points behind with nine games to go.

And, in turn, Detroit still is being followed by playoff-hungry New York, still hopeful of closing a 10-point gap in their last nine games.

The parade doesn't end there. Boston can still overtake the Rangers by erasing the seven-point difference in their last eight games.

Stan Mikita has opened up a six-point lead in the NHL individual scoring race. His 80 points are three better than his best previous output and within four of tying a team record.

PICKS UP FIVE POINTS

He scored one goal and earned four assists last week for a total of 34 goals and 46 assists. Teammate Bobby Hull is second with 74 points on 37 goals, a league high, and 37 assists. Montreal's Jean Beliveau follows with 71.

Glen Hall, the cool goaltender for the Hawks, still holds a slight edge in the Vezina Trophy race, awarded to the regular netminder on the team that allows the fewest goals.

The Hawks have given up 146, "the same number as Montreal, but the Canadiens have played two games less than Chicago and Charlie Hodge will have to make up the difference somewhere along the line to keep pace.

Vic Hadfield of New York has taken over the leadership in penalties from Mikita. The Ranger roughie has 143 minutes to Mikita's 138. Chicago is the most penalized team with 1,032 minutes—40 minutes short of a record they already own and appear destined to break.

Molson's beat JVs, move into ET finals

The Molson's Independents moved into the finals of the Eastern Townships Amateur Basketball Association last night with a convincing 43-32 win over the Bishop's University JVs.

After a close first half battle, which was broken up just near the end when Gil Ross netted three fast points, to up the count to 19-13 Molson's came out for the second frame and quickly piled up a ten point lead. Part of the reason for the spurt was the miserable play of the Bishop's team, which was able to score just two points in the entire third quarter.

Bruce Coulter was again the gun for the Independents, who won the first game in the two-game total points series 41-40. Coulter hooped 17 points to lead both teams, while teammates Curt Bishop and Gil Ross added eight and seven points respectively.

For the JVs, who played one of their poorest games of the season, Ian Dinning was high scorer as he counted 10 points, while Andy Lumsden's set shots from the corner earned him nine.

The Molson's squad now moves into the final round of the ETABA playoffs against the winner of the St. Pat's Old Boys-Lennoxville Grads semi-final series. St. Pat's won the first game of the two-game total points round with a tight 65-64 win. The next game will be played Thursday night at 8.00 p.m. in the St. Pat's High School Gym.

Canadian winter games proposed

CALGARY (CP)—A recommendation that Canada hold national winter games has been made to the federal government by the Calgary Olympic Development Association, Association president Ed Davis said Monday.

He held a service club the federal government is being asked to develop areas in Eastern and Western Canada where the games could be held.

The association failed earlier this year in its bid to win the 1968 Winter Olympic games for Banff-Lake Louise, but announced it would press for the 1972 games.

Mr. Davis said the association suggested the Canadian games be held every two years.

He said Canadian games could be expanded into a winter festival, creating additional tourist revenue.

Briton first in Tasmania racing

HOBART (AP)—Graham Hill of Britain won the third South Pacific car racing championship Monday at Longford in northern Tasmania.

He was 10 seconds ahead of New Zealander Bruce McLaren after Jack Brabham of Australia was forced to withdraw on the 22nd of the 25 laps.

Brabham seemed to have the race well in hand with Hill 50 yards behind when transmission trouble developed and forced him to retire. He was lapping at an average speed of 110 miles an hour.

Cookshire downs Sawyerville 4-0

Cookshire juniors moved into Sawyerville on Saturday February 29th and walked off with a 4-0 victory, to finish in first place.

Steve Beliveau opened the scoring in the first frame. In the middle session, Stephen Osgood scored, to make it 2-0.

In the final period defense man Lloyd Learned and Gordon Vogell did a fine job holding off the frustrated Sawyerville team. Then, in the final minute of play, Lloyd Learned and Brian Laberee banged in insurance markers to round out the scoring. Douglas Matthews earned his third shutout of the season.

Cookshire Team — S. Beliveau, S. Osgood, P. Hurd, L. Learned, G. Vogell, B. Dyball, L. Hayes, A. Lebourveau, G. Sayer, C. Bailly, B. Laberee, T. Westgate, D. Matthews.

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—A hometown rink averaging no more than 25 years of age headed into the third round of the Canadian curling championship today, tied for the lead with the fabulous Richard Dagg's Saskatchewan and Lyle Dagg's British Columbia foursome.

The unaccustomed presence of a Prince Edward Island entry among the leaders after Monday's opening two rounds was no more surprising than the sight of Alberta and Manitoba, perennial favorites in the competition, among the ranks of the tail-enders.

Behind P.E.I., Saskatchewan and B.C., all boasting 2-0 win-loss records, was Northern Ontario, which won its only match before drawing a bye in the 11-round bonspiel, conducted on a round-robin basis.

Ontario, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia all split their first two games. Quebec lost its only start and Newfoundland joined the two Prairie rinks in last place with 0-2 marks.

Third-round play sent Prince Edward Island against Quebec, B.C. against Newfoundland, Ontario against Nova Scotia, New Brunswick against Northern Ontario and Manitoba against Alberta with the Richardson family rink from Regina, seeking its fifth Canadian title, drawing the bye.

Sherbrooke's Bedard top in tennis followed by Carpenter of Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, the top-ranked tennis player in Canada for a decade, retained the No. 1 position in the Canadian Lawn Tennis rankings released Monday.

But it was not the same for Keith Carpenter of Montreal, the No. 2 man. He jumped from ninth last year. Last year Fran cois Godbout of Waterloo, Que., and Don Fontana of Toronto were rated equal at second, but this year they have been dropped to third and fourth respectively.

The top two in the women's ranking are unchanged — Ann Barclay of Vancouver and Ontario first and Louise Brown of Toronto second.

The association also announced the election of J. R. Jim Macken of Vancouver as association president. He succeeds Laird Watt of Montreal.

Campbell to try for speed record

LONDON (AP)—Donald Campbell said Monday he has patched up a quarrel with his backer and intends to make another bid for the world land speed record next April or May.

At a press conference, Campbell shook hands and exchanged smiles with Sir Alfred Owen, head of the organization which backed Campbell's world speed attempt last year.

The attempt was washed out by heavy rains at Lake Eyre in Australia. Sir Alfred delivered criticisms of Campbell and Campbell responded by bringing an action for libel.

A statement issued at the press conference said the misunderstanding between the two has been cleared up and the libel action withdrawn.

Laurentian team wins

— The Laurentian Zone's team, entered in the Quebec Ski Patrol System's Quebec Division competition held at Glen Mountain this past weekend took top honors for the third consecutive year.

real squad, and Pierre Michand. The Eastern Townships' team placed second. Both teams will compete in the CPS National competition taking place March 14th and 15th at Edelweiss, near Ottawa.

Young Charlottetown rink tied for first with favoured team in 3rd round of curling meet

The Charlottetown rink, skipped by chunky Art (Burke) Burke, 25, drew wave after wave of cheers as it dumped Manitoba 11-9 in a rousing upset after disposing of Nova Scotia 10-6.

Dagg's Vancouver foursome had a couple of close calls, counting on the last five ends to nip Alberta 9-8 and shading Ontario 9-7 as the 34-year-old public relations officer produced superb shots with his last two stones.

Northern Ontario squeaked past Newfoundland 10-9 and Ontario crushed New Brunswick 15-9 in the other first-round matches. The remaining second-round fixtures saw Nova Scotia jolt Alberta 13-9 and New Brunswick outscore Newfoundland 14-10.

Ice was heavy

Outside temperatures of 38 degrees produced the difficult first-round conditions. Skip Bob Mann of Hanover, Ont., called the ice "the heaviest I've ever encountered" and Arnie Richardson, the Saskatchewan third, remarked:

"That's the hardest I ever threw to get a rock into the house."

"Mops and rubber boots, that's what we need out there," was Dagg's comment on the surface at the 2,000-seat Charlottetown Forum.

The cliff-hanging finishes of the two B.C. matches were the

April 22 starts PQ trout season

QUEBEC (CP)—April 22 is trout day. Quebec opens its season for all species of trout and landlocked salmon on that date—following the tradition that the season begins the day after the third Monday of April. It closes Sept. 30.

Lionel Bertrand, minister of fish, game and tourism, made the announcement Monday, and issued at the same time the annual leaflet containing Quebec sport fishing regulations.

"Restrictions on sizes of fish caught largely disappear in this year's regulations.

The following minimums remain: 16 inches for striped bass, 28 inches for maskinonge, and 12 inches for Atlantic salmon taken on a line.

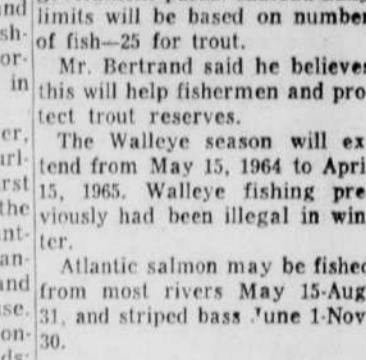

There will be no daily weight limit on fish taken, except in government parks. Instead daily limits will be based on number of fish—25 for trout.

Mr. Bertrand said he believes this will help fishermen and protect trout reserves.

The Walleye season will extend from May 15, 1964 to April 15, 1965. Walleye fishing previously had been illegal in winter.

Atlantic salmon may be fished from most rivers May 15-Aug. 31, and striped bass June 1-Nov. 30.

Ancient castle under guard of one lone sentry

STIRLING, Scotland (CP)—Strolling through Stirling Castle like Banquo's ghost is the loneliest man in Britain's far-flung army. Private Drew McQueen of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders is holding the fort. Normally the ancient castle, which guards the gateway to the glens, houses two regiments—the Black Watch as well as the Highlanders. But Britain's overseas commitments have stretched the thin red line to near-breaking point and 24-year-old McQueen is the only one who can be spared to garrison the mighty fortress.

He wards off boredom by watching television during the long winter evenings. But once a night he patrols the gloomy stone corridors rich with the relics of battles long ago—Banockburn and Balaclava, Lucknow, Ypres and the Rhine. Long a bastion against Sassenach invaders, the castle oozes its own 600-year-old history. Edward I captured it in 1304. Here James VI of Scotland—later James I of England—was crowned in 1567. Now McQueen is lonely king of all he surveys. The loneliness has one compensation. There are no sergeants to bark orders, officers to salute and ceremonial duties to perform.

live the full life. What have we got? A skimpy allowance which lasts about as long as the weekend. Oh, it would be fun to quit school and do what we wanted. Just think—no more teachers, books, dirty looks. Out on my own, doing what I please. This is life! This is really living!

Then, a little voice inside me speaks up and whispers, "You are out of your mind. Who are you trying to kid? Education is important—the most important thing. With it one has everything, rolled into one word—'security'." Sure a person can get a job and earn money, but how much? Not even enough to live on. Then again, suppose he gets fired. It will be rather difficult to obtain a job without any education.

So no matter what one does, one needs an education. This is hard for me to admit since I have been fighting it for quite some time. However, down deep in my heart, I have always known that school days are the best days of our lives. It is hard work, with sometimes very little credit or push, but it is our opportunity to make something out of our lives. Let's face it and work to the best of our ability.

but it's tough work. As I lay in the hospital I thought about a lot of things. I want to change my career so that I can act in movies and TV—and stay here in my beautiful home.

"I also got my faith back when death was near. I was brought up a Catholic but I wasn't a very good one. I'm trying to do better now. Serious illness can make you see things a lot differently."

WHITES EARN MORE — In Pretoria (Reuters) — In spite of recent pay raises, the average African teacher in South Africa still earns much less than a white teacher. An African teacher with matriculation, plus a professional certificate, earns a maximum of $2,000, compared to a maximum $4,200 paid to a white teacher with the same qualifications.

"I saved enough with my termPlan loan to buy the model I wanted"

Yes—many car buyers find their financing costs less when they finance in advance at the Royal, so that they have more money to spend on the car itself.

A Royal Bank termPlan loan puts buying power, bargaining power in your pocket—lets you shop around for the best deal. Use your credit this businesslike way. To finance a car or any other big purchase, the first thing to do is see Royal Bank about a life-insured termPlan loan.

An Indian woman killed by cure from a magician

NEW DELHI (AP)—Krishnaveni Ammal, 25, suffered from hysteria. Her husband and his relatives consulted Dewan Sahib, the magician of their village near Madras.

Dewan Sahib said an evil spirit possessed the woman and he would drive it out. He built a smoky fire in her tiny house and bound Krishnaveni hand and foot beside it, chanting spells meanwhile.

The smoke treatment didn't work, the newspaper Hindu reported, so the exorcist built a fire twice as big and bound Krishnaveni to a granite block. Into the fire he put smoky firewood, incense, mustard, salt and two green chameleons.

Then he retired to a corner to wait. All night anxious relatives heard Krishnaveni's cries. Toward morning they ceased. Breaking in, the relatives found her dead of suffocation.

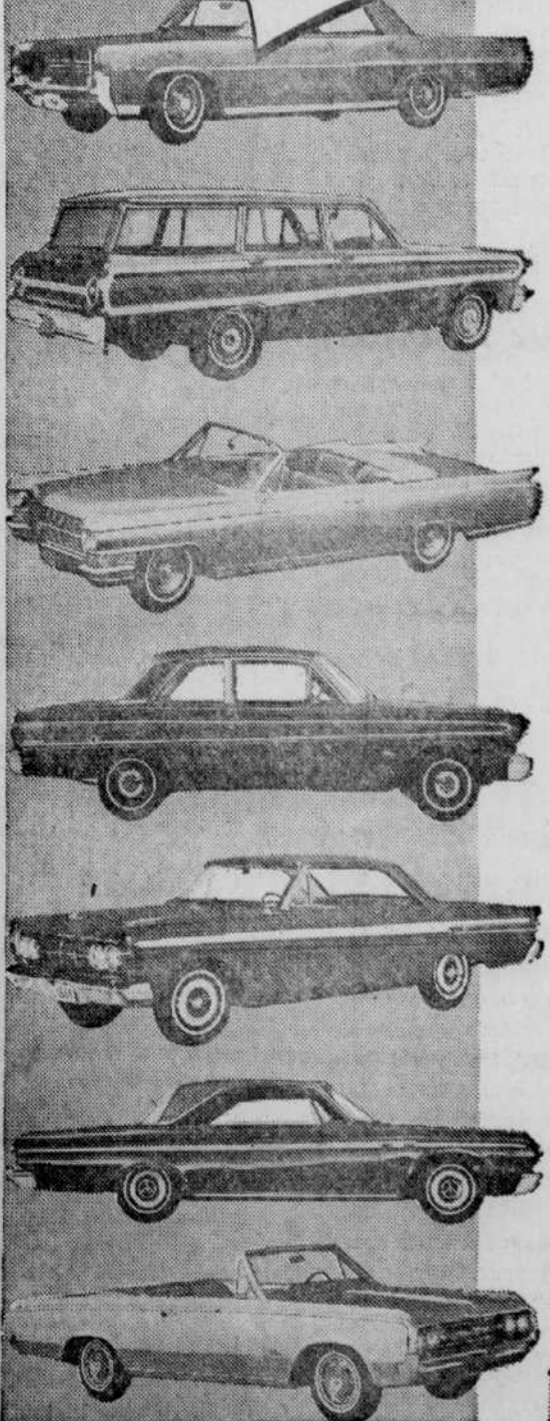

Dewan Sahib was convicted of murder and sentenced to life in prison. But the Madras high court has made it three years for manslaughter.

He was a victim of superstition himself and intended no harm to the woman, the court decided.

BRITISH WELCOME

LONDON (CP)—Visiting Canadian immigration official J. R. Robillard told reporters at London Airport: "We have found the British make the best sort of citizen—hardworking, resourceful and adaptable." Last year, 25,000 Britons settled in Canada.
