E. T. EMPLOYMENT BOOM SEEN FOR '56

French Political Issue

Government Admits Soldier Shot Algeria Rebel For A Picture

Paris—(AP)—A government admission that a gendarme shot down a rebel suspect in Algeria to make a picture for a photographer has made a strife in the North African territory the undisputed leading issue in the French election campaign.

Premier Edgar Faure in turn accused the newspaper L'Express, ex-premier Pierre Mendès-France's organ which disclosed the incident of acting "for electoral ends" and of "losing sight of the elementary sense of national interest."

The government at first denied the paper's charge, but an interior ministry statement finally said a representative of the American newsreel firm Fox Movietone had bribed the gendarme to shoot the suspected rebel in front of his camera.

Fox Movietone's Paris office issued a statement protesting the bribery charge. It said: "Our representatives receive orders for scrupulous and impartial information only. We have no knowledge of their ever having failed in this duty."

The photographer was not identified, but he was understood to be French.

The government admission further inflamed the bitter political rivalry between Faure and Mendès-France, chief opponents in the Jan. 2 elections of a new National Assembly.

L'Express reprinted five pictures of the shooting from the newsreel film—which first appeared last summer—and with it a number of atrocity stories by reporter Jean Daniel.

The interior ministry said the photographer has been charged with corrupting a civil servant, and that the gendarme will be tried by military court.

Mendès-France has criticized the tactics of the 200,000 French troops in Algeria but has made no specific charges of atrocities. He has been campaigning against what he calls Faure's do-nothing policy in Algeria, and has predicted that a policy of force will lead to a situation worse than the French debacle in Indochina.

Baseball Grenade Will Be Issued

Ottawa.—(CP)—Canadian soldiers soon will get a new hand grenade they can throw like a baseball, eliminating the awkward overhead cricket lob necessary with the grenade now in use.

Army headquarters said Thursday the new grenade soon will replace the old No. 36 grenade, used in both world wars. It is the M26 grenade, lighter and more lethal, developed by the United States during the Korean War.

Officers believe the more natural throw will cut down training time and mean greater accuracy and distance.

World News In Brief

Bonn, Germany.—(AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said Thursday that West German policy in 1956 will give priority to reunification of Germany, European unity and fighting Communist infiltration.

In a year-end message to his Christian Democratic party, Adenauer said:

"Communism still is the greatest danger threatening the freedom and culture of all free nations."

Douglstown, N.B.—(CP)—

Two persons were burned to death and five injured while two other members of the same family escaped unharmed when fire swept through the home of Edmund Carroll in this village four miles from Newcastle early Thursday.

Robert Carroll, 19, died in a heroic attempt to save the life of a three-year-old brother, John.

London.—(AP)—The British Antarctic expedition reported Thursday night its ship Theron is trapped by heavy pack ice in the Weddell Sea.

Theron, an 849-ton sealing vessel, carries 19 explorers, including Sir Edmund Hillary, and a crew of 19.

The ship was caught just inside the Antarctic Circle not far from the spot where the Endurance, under British explorer Sir Ernest Shackleton, was crushed by ice in 1914.

Vancouver.—(CP)—The RCAF crash boat Skua left here early today for Tofino Inlet on Vancouver Island where two people were reported trapped in an 18-foot boat in inch-thick ice.

An RCAF Dakota was scheduled to fly the 120 miles at dawn to drop supplies to Mr. and Mrs. Buster Hansen of Tofino, who left for the head of the inlet four days ago. They were expected back in Tofino Wednesday. They had planned to visit a mine.

Elmvale, Ont.—(CP)—Three persons were killed and one injured Thursday night in a head-on collision on ice-covered highway 27 about two miles north of here. The dead were identified as Cleo LeGault, 39, and Raymond Cadeau, 18, both of Penetanguishene; and James Ralston, 34, of Stroud, who was alone in his car. In critical condition is Albert Laouqueur, 19, also of Penetanguishene.

In Repayment For Hospitality

Portuguese Hospital Ship Free To Canadian Sailors

OTTAWA — (CP) — A Portuguese hospital ship, new and gleaming white, will provide free hospital care to Canadian deep-sea fishermen on east coast banks next year.

She is the 8,000-ton Gil Eannes, launched early this year to minister to the 5,000-men Portuguese fishing fleet.

A Portuguese embassy spokesman said Thursday the free service to Canadians is repayment for Canadian hospitality and services to the fleet which, like other for nearly five centuries, has crossed the Atlantic from Portugal to fish off Newfoundland's coast.

The Canadian government has sent its thanks to Portugal.

Fleets of other countries, mainly Spanish and French, will pay for hospital services on the Gil Eannes under a recent agreement among the governments concerned.

The motor ship has two operating rooms, modern therapeutic appliances, two isolation wards and a 74-bed general ward. It is staffed by doctors and male nurses.

It also has special holds to help carry the catch back home

A Warning — There is more truth than poetry in the sign being displayed by Constable Houle of the Sherbrooke Police department. These signs, posted in many public places, serve as a warning to those who will be observing the New Year holiday. Police Chief Edouard Moreau stated yesterday that a special vigilance will be kept on those who will be driving their cars New Year's eve and the law will be strictly enforced. ### Amid Screeching Tires

Three Of Quintuplets Arrive Home For A Talk With Parents

North Bay, Ont.—(CP)—Three of the Dionne quintuplets arrived home today to talk things over with their parents, playing a tire-screeching game with waiting photographers before breezing inside.

Three times the car which had carried Yvonne, Cecile and Annette from Montreal to nearby Callander made a run past the newspaper men before it finally turned into the gates of the Dionne home.

Mr. and Mrs. Dionne, who this week publicly accused the surviving quint of drifting away from the family, were not at the door to meet them.

A source close to the family said the parents were awake, however, and added: "Mr. Dionne was very, very upset during the night."

In the car with the quint and their brother, Oliva Jr., a 19-year-old airman, were two unidentified youths or men.

Purpose of the trip home is to patch up family differences which in three days stirred up almost as many headlines as the miracle of the quint's birth 21 years ago.

When the occupants of the Dionne car saw the photographers they travelled right past, roaring by again five minutes later with horn honking.

Five minutes later they returned again—brushing close to the waiting group—and then sped on.

Reporters heard laughter coming from the car.

Then an attendant from the Dionne home opened the gate and drove a family car in the direction of the quint's vehicle.

Shortly after the quint were back again and this time the car made a sharp turn through the gateway and Yvonne, Cecile and Annette and the others went inside.

The trip from Montreal followed a day of conflicting reports on whether the sisters would spend New Year's Day at home in the face of their father's harsh announcement on Tuesday.

In Montreal L. M. Edwards, executor of the Guaranty Trust Company, which is handling the quint's financial affairs, said the girls had decided to go home to prevent the family rift "from growing worse and magnifying the whole affair out of proportion."

Marie, fourth of the surviving quintuplets, remained in Montreal where she is convalescing from a recent illness. The fifth sister, Emilie, died last year at Ste. Agathe, Que., following an epileptic seizure.

Mr. Edwards acting as spokesman for the sisters said they were "perplexed, but not resentful" at their father's attitude.

"The girls are going to see their parents to prove that there is no question of them drifting away from their family," he added.

They were hit particularly hard by their father's statement that he had noted a growing coolness after each quint came into more than $200,000 on their 21st birthday last May.

"As to the financial end of things," Mr. Edwards added, "the trust agreement entered into after their 21st birthday gives generous treatment to the parents. It provides for really more than the quint can afford."

Earlier the quint spelled out their position in a statement they authorized to be made on their behalf.

It said they had a deep love for their parents and eight brothers and sisters, but were determined to live their own lives and make their own decisions.

Commission Official Sees Good Year Ahead In Sherbrooke Area

By HUGH DOHERTY

There are signs that 1956 will bring an employment boom to Sherbrooke and the Eastern Townships, Lucien Turcotte, supervisor of Placement Operations for the local office of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, indicated to the Record this morning.

Commenting on the employment situation for the past year in Sherbrooke, Mr. Turcotte said: "The situation has been much better than in previous years. It is most promising for the coming year, and we definitely look forward to an increase in employment in Sherbrooke."

"From reports I have received from the rest of the Eastern Townships," Mr. Turcotte continued, "I expect that this good situation will prevail generally throughout the area."

However, he noted some specific weaknesses, particularly in the textile industry. "It is hard to tell what may happen here," Mr. Turcotte said, "but compared to a few years ago, even the textile industry is better off than it was."

In all phases of employment locally, Mr. Turcotte emphasized that management members were most optimistic about the situation in 1956. "This, in itself," he said, "is a promising sign for the new year."

The supervisor noted that construction in Sherbrooke is at its highest peak in many years, and shows no signs of abating in 1956. In fact, due to the efforts of a campaign this year sponsored by the local Placement Advisory Board to combat seasonal unemployment, two large construction projects will be started in January which will employ a large working force. The combined cost of these projects, said Mr. Turcotte, is estimated at $420,000.

In addition, the supervisor stressed that there are a number of construction developments now utilizing a portion of Sherbrooke's labor force which will continue through into 1956.

On Dec. 30, 1953, Mr. Turcotte said, there were in the hands of the Unemployment Insurance Commission 2,990 unplaced applicants. Today, there are 2,562 unplaced applicants—a figure Mr. Turcotte stressed, that has risen only within the past month because the present cold spell has stalled construction projects. "In 1956," the supervisor said, "this figure is expected to go down considerably more."

Sherbrooke's total working force is estimated at approximately 29,000.

The rosy employment prediction for the Eastern Townships coincides with general predictions for the rest of Canada.

Washington.—(AP)—The late State Secretary Cordell Hull once angrily told fellow members of Franklin D. Roosevelt cabinet that his former chief aide, Sumner Wells, "seemed to be operating a second state department" without interference from Roosevelt.

The late Joseph Stalin plainly told Roosevelt soon after the 1945 Yalta conference that he intended to have in Poland a government which would establish "friendly relations" with the Soviet Union.

Moscow advised the United States in advance of Yalta that it wanted to break up Germany into smaller powers, "demilitarize German industry," and collect reparations in machinery over a 10-year period.

These and other fragments of history—some of them shedding added light on the origins of the cold war—are disclosed in the

WOOPER'S "WHACKO" WINS

SYDNEY, Australia.—(Reuters)—A young Dutch couple were reunited Thursday after a rift over the Australian slang term "whacko" which brought the intervention of the Dutch and Sydney cable authorities.

George Schmidt, a clerk in a Sydney glass firm, proposed by cable to Miss Joan van Oort, of Enschede, Holland, whom he had met previously in Indonesia. She cabled back one word: "Ja"—Dutch for yes. George capped this with the one word: "Whacko"—which expressed his delight.

But Joan could not understand "whacko." Nor could anyone else in Holland. She took it to mean, however, that it was all off.

Finally, Dutch cable officials asked the Sydney cable bureau to clarify the word. Sydney officials contacted George and the problem was solved.

Thursday, Joan arrived by air from Holland.

eral Herbert Brownell called him a Russian spy.

But in 1944 White was trusted with many inner government secrets and sat in on the meeting along with Morgenthau, Hull, the late War Secretary Henry L. Stimson and other officials.

At the outset of the meeting, Hull told of having intercepted a letter from a South American diplomat to his government describing a meeting of Latin-American officials at Welles' home.

"Hull appeared to be quite angry at the fact that Welles 'seemed to be operating a second state department unofficially and that the president could stop him but didn't,' White recorded.

Since this was about a year after Welles had resigned as under-secretary of state, Hull presumably meant that Welles was attempting to carry on foreign policy as a private citizen and would have stopped if asked by Roosevelt.

The Doofer Family

By Alma Sioux Scarberry

BLOWING OFF STEAM
Willie-Nillie, Sheriff Gittum Hooper's old horse, was very surprised when his master flung the barn door open. He wondered if there was a fire, or just what kind of an emergency had put the Sheriff. Fire Chief in such a dither. He half expected to be hitched to the old fire truck. But apparently there was no fire. Instead the Sheriff tumbled around for his halter and finally got it over Willie-Nillie's head. Then without even a saddle, he ordered him to get-a-going out of that barn. They took off!

As usual when the Sheriff was in one of his tempers he pointed Willie-Nillie toward the county seat. But at the top of the big hill the addled Sheriff turned Willie around and clippity-clopped to the Doofer Grocery store. Daddie Doofer was taking inventory in his little place of business. As soon as his old friend burst in, Daddie could see he was in one of his terrible tempers.

Gittum wore his 20-gallon Western hat, and on top perched his Fire-Chief hat. He wore all his various and sundry badges of authority, but had forgotten to put on his coat, woolen muffler or over-shoes. In one shaking hand he held his big bow with the feather arrow, and in the other both his water pistols. He stumbled over his high top-boots as he roared in.

Daddie asked, trying to look serious, "Where's the fire, Sheriff? Or what's the trouble? Want me to sound the party line emergency for the posse? You look SERIOUS." Before Gittum could stop sputtering and explain, Daddie handed him a bottle of soda pop, and nodded toward the cracker barrel. After a couple of cooling swigs from the bottle Gittum roared:

"WOMEN! Women is the root o' all man's miseries, Doofer. The ROOT! I shore wish I'd let that Perfusser Zoofer marry Posy-Face—er, er the Widder Spooner, 'stead of me. Served 'em both right, I say!" Daddie Doofer was very shocked. He had considered the Widder and the widower Sheriff-Fire Chief an ideal couple. It was quite awhile before Daddie could make head or tale to Gittum's temper tantrum. Then it seemed it had all started over some New Year resolutions. He had told Posy-Face she was fat. Posy-Face had not only told him he had a temper like a ole het-up tea kettle—but that he was the biggest mess in all of Doofer County. This was the END!

BOY SCOUT NEWS

By HUGH DOHERTY

Five Scouts, an assistant Scoutmaster and an acting corporal last Christmas Eve rambled about Sherbrooke in a three-ton Army truck delivering toys to a number of children whom Santa Claus had overlooked. I was the assistant Scoutmaster, the five Scouts from the 5th Sherbrooke troop were Peter Watson, David Coyle, Bob King, Allan Reid and Peter Ross, and the acting corporal was Richard Talks of the Sherbrooke Regiment, driver of the truck.

Perhaps you've never been up in East Sherbrooke on De La Bruyere or Lemaire Sts. about 9 p.m. Christmas Eve. It was cold, and dark — the streets there aren't particularly well lit. The frame tenements are piled one on top of the other until they have begun to crumble under their own weight. Here and there bare light bulbs wink from the windows of tarpaper and brick-sided shanties. Way up the hill, at the end of a winding, snow-choked side road, a family lives in the back of a deserted barn-like structure.

When we first rumbled up Assumption St. in the Army truck, the streets were quiet. Then, suddenly, a knot of small children gathered at the back of the truck, growing bigger and bigger. They began telling us their names and addresses, not shouting, but repeating the information over and over again. "Didn't we have something for them . . . ?" When I got out of the truck to deliver some of the parcels, tiny little tots with dirty faces, and loose, flapping clothes tugged at my sleeves and looked inquiringly up into my face. Here and there a mother shivered in the crowd, asking for her parcels. We travelled in the truck from block to block, always followed by the silent little children, encountering new gatherings wherever we stopped. There was no disorder, just inquiries. We only had parcels for a very few of the upturned faces, but whenever the information volunteered agreed with our small list, those for whom we didn't have anything would make way for the fortunate one and push him forward to receive his parcel at the back of the truck.

We delivered toys in other parts of Sherbrooke, too, trudging down lanes to discover little huts behind the street-front houses, or encountering need at the top of a flat. We shivered for an hour in the cold when the truck broke down, and then started off again when the trouble had been repaired.

We missed our supper, but perhaps the parents of the Scouts will forgive their sons, because they all thought it was a supper well-missed.

A lot of people who helped us on this Christmas project weren't on that truck last Saturday night. Special thanks must go to District Commissioner J. H. Wark, who helped in many ways; to the 1st Sherbrooke Cub mothers, and the 3rd and 5th Sherbrooke mothers for stockings to fill; to the 1st Sherbrooke Girl Guide Company for providing the candy for each of the approximately 150 children; to Tom Keeley and Nelson Lothrop of the Sherbrooke Welfare Agency for providing us with lists; to Lt.-Col. E. P. Hall of the Sherbrooke Regiment for providing the truck; and to the 3rd Sherbrooke troop for assistance in packing the toys.

And now a New Year is close at hand. For Scouts, next year as in past years, the theme is "On My Honor", and the project is Conservation.

Fluoridation In The Distance

There is a mild campaign being launched locally in favor of fluoridation. Many years from now, when Sherbrooke follows the example of other Canadian communities, we will probably look back to 1955 as the pioneer year of Sherbrooke's fluoridation campaign; and, of course, those who are now trying to promote it will be the pioneers.

It's a funny thing about anything new. It wasn't too long ago that inoculation finally won its battle; only recently did pasteurization of milk win its spurs in Quebec.

Fluoridation of water has been proven beyond all reasonable doubt to be beneficial. It cuts tooth decay by such a great percentage that it is a credit to the dental profession that it has thrown in its support. It has done this apparently in the belief that decay can be cut in half and still provide more than enough work for all the dentists in Canada.

Not one well-informed voice has been raised against fluoridation.

Those who oppose it label it a poison — which is true — or a dangerous substance — which is also true.

But as the Toronto Telegram pointed out in a recent editorial, many substances in common use are dangerous unless properly handled. Substances already introduced into drinking water are dangerous if misused. Aluminum sulphate and chlorine can be deadly indeed in improper doses.

Some day, the people of Sherbrooke, and perhaps of other Townships communities, will likely be asked to approve or disapprove fluoridation of their water. By that time, fluoridation may be so generally accepted that approval will be automatic.

But, if it isn't, this newspaper has only one suggestion. Be guided by expert opinion and the experience of others rather than by the inflated oratory of fanatics or by those whose normal reaction to anything new is "No."

A Fading Father

"Sharper than a serpent's tooth it is to have a thankless child."

Oliva Dionne must have been multiplying this quotation by four when he issued his recent indelicate and ill-timed press statement on the fealty of his four famous daughters.

Was it really justified? As a normal father, shouldn't he have been pleased that the four remaining quintets were finally being allowed to enjoy a bit of freedom, to live like human beings instead of guinea pigs?

For who was Oliva Dionne before a freak of nature vaulted him into fame and fortune? He and a great many other people have ridden on the backs of five little girls until now the backs apparently have wearied of the load.

If Oliva was so concerned about the love and loyalty of the famous four, why didn't he write, phone or wire them? If ever there was a show of disloyalty it was Oliva's baring to the world his belief that his daughters had deserted the fold. We wonder, in passing, what he sent his daughters for Christmas. His gift of anguish, embarrassment and unwanted publicity was a shocking parental present.

Wouldn't a Christmas visit by their father have been a welcome present for the four girls? But, instead of exerting himself to this extent, Oliva sat on a behind, fattened by the quintuplets, in a house, built by the quintuplets, in a town, developed by the quintuplets, in a country, fascinated by the quintuplets, and issued a selfish vindictive indictment.

It seems that 21 years of reflected glory isn't enough for Oliva. The lights are fading on the carnival atmosphere the quintets created and in which their father wallowed, but he refuses to adjust to this fact.

The desire to remain in the public eye is dying hard with Oliva and apparently he's willing to sacrifice his daughters' happiness to keep it alive.

What a disgusting exhibition!!

Ah! The Machine Age!

A man opened the door of his brand-new car to get out and a strange thing happened. The motor started by itself.

Scratching his head, he closed the door. The engine stopped. He turned the key, and a few moments later the radio started playing. He pressed the starter, and the dome light went on.

The car-owner began to think he had wandered into a Mack Sennett or Danny Kaye comedy.

He tested the other controls of his haunted car. Everything worked backwards. When he fiddled with the electric cigarette lighter, the headlights went on. When he turned on the light switch, the horn blew.

Our man sat back and took a deep breath. "Maybe I just don't live right," he said.

There he was, stranded in a gleaming new, fully automatic 1956 car which seemed to be possessed by gremlins. What next?

He didn't want to open the door again, because the door was apparently hooked to the starter. And the starter had taken enough beating already.

So he opened the window, climbed out and walked away, looking at the car over his shoulder as if he expected it to follow him.

Needing time to think this thing through, he did some shopping, returned later and climbed back in the window.

He tried the controls again. Same result. So he started the engine by switching on the dome light, and drove to the garage which had sold him the car.

The people at the garage didn't believe him at first. But the man gave proof by running through the whole set of mixed signals.

A mechanic opened up the electrical system, and found the trouble. Another garage hand, fixing a minor defect in the dome light, had crossed some wires.

The car has now recovered from its nervous breakdown, and it runs perfectly. But this sort of thing is apt to shake one's faith in the machine age rather gravely.

WHO IS INDISPENSABLE?

(Ottawa Journal)

One of the strangest things in democracy, repeated throughout the years, is the spectacle of men acting and talking as though some particular man among them was indispensable.

There is the present case of President Eisenhower. A good honest man, stamped with character yet without any particular shining talent in government, they are speaking of him as though his retirement might bring the end of the Republic, even an irreparable blow to world freedom.

This of course is nonsense. The whole theory of democracy, the very rock upon which it rests is that it is capable of renewing its leadership, that within its ranks there are always potential leaders to take over the ship of state and steer it safely.

There is the example of England. Pitt, "the pilot who weathered the storm" was thought indispensable in his day, his passing described as a calamity. Yet in the hundred years which followed him no calamity came but only a line of illustrious successors, the Cannings, Russells, Peels, Gladstones, Disraelis, Salisburys, Lloyd Georges, Asquiths, Churchills.

Lincoln, the leader who had "saved the Union" was thought indispensable; his going (as Edwin Markham put it) "like some giant cedar that crashes down upon the hillside, leaving a lonely place against the sky." Yet other men filled the lonely place and the Republic went on to its destiny.

And there are public men (Eisenhower is not among them) who, their judgments drowned by the conceits which come to them through the plaudits of servile followers, get to regard themselves as indispensable. Thus Sir Charles Tupper, defeated by Laurier in 1896, confided to a newspaperman his firm conviction that any government the Liberals formed would "collapse within six months." He was wrong by 15 years.

There is no indispensable president of the United States, no indispensable prime minister of England, no indispensable prime minister of Canada, no indispensable government anywhere. To argue the contrary is not only to argue against democracy but against common sense.

Bygone Days

THIRTY YEARS AGO

From the Record of Wednesday, Dec. 30, 1925.

The tricolor was lowered and the Union Jack hoisted today when the occupational authority in Wiesbaden, Rhineland, Germany, following the evacuation of Cologne, was turned over to the British at a simple ceremony on the Schlosplatz, outside the French general headquarters.

Plans are now being laid by which the Canadian Ingersoll Rand of Sherbrooke will start building the new oil-electric engines. This has been brought about through its affiliation with Ingersoll Rand in the United States.

While the details in connection with the unveiling of the new Sherbrooke war memorial have not yet been completed, it is practically certain that the impressive ceremony will take place next July 1.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

From the Record of Monday, Dec. 30, 1935.

Premier Mussolini dealt a belated death blow to the already defunct Anglo-French peace proposals today in laying plans for his African war and the European economic siege with his cabinet. He told the ministers the peace terms were "very far from satisfying the minimum requirements of Italy, especially regarding the security of frontiers and of Italian citizens."

A destructive blizzard swept up the New England coast today after causing at least 16 deaths and millions of dollars damage in between Georgia and New York.

Preliminary hearing into the charge of murder against 11 persons held criminally responsible for the death of Armand Nadeau, a Hull bank employee, on Dec. 4 was adjourned Saturday until Jan. 3. The 11 accused, ten men and one woman, were returned Saturday night to Bordeaux jail.

Questions and Answers

 A—It is strongest when it moves over water because it does not run into objects which could break its force.

Q—Did the expression "up to par" originate with the game of golf?
 A—No, the expression stems from the stock exchange where if a security is bought or sold without gain or loss, it is at par value.

Q—What is the largest species of deer?
 A—The moose, a native of northern North America.

Q—Have the Turks an historical claim to the Island of Cyprus?
 A—Yes, the Turks held Cyprus for more than 300 years, until 1878, when the Sultan leased it to the British. Turkish suzerainty continued until 1914.

Q—What has become of Thermopylae, the famous mountain pass of ancient Greece?
 A—The ancient pass no longer exists. It is now a wide, marshy plain. But the medicinal hot springs which gave the pass its name, still bubble forth.

Q—What age group does polio hit the hardest?
 A—The five and six-year-olds. In these groups hospital admissions average nearly 45 per 100,000 population.

TRUMP BAD SLAM LEAD

One of the worst leads that you can make against a slam contract is a trump. This seldom costs you a trick directly, but it usually serves to turn control of the hand over to declarer. In most slam contracts, declarer welcomes the opportunity to take control of the hand at the earliest possible moment.

In today's hand, West was unwilling to lead away from his king or from either of his queens. Hoping to avoid the loss of a trick, West therefore opened a trump.

South took full advantage of this feeble opening lead. Declarer drew three rounds of trumps and then led a diamond, allowing the enemy to win the trick!

The defenders were now helpless. East made his best try by returning a club, but South put up the king of clubs in order to save dummy's ace for a later occasion. South then cashed dummy's top diamonds, ruffed a diamond, and got back to dummy with the ace of clubs in order to cash the last diamond. This gave him his twelfth trick, allowing him to fulfill the same contract.

West could have defeated the slam if he had made a more enterprising opening lead. A heart opening would have forced out declarer's ace at once. When South eventually gave up a diamond trick, the opponents would be able to cash their hearts.

Even a club opening lead would have worked out better for the defenders. South would win the first trick with the king of clubs, but East would get the chance to force out dummy's ace of clubs before the diamonds had been established. This would defeat the slam. In general, a good rule to remember is that a trump lead is desirable against a slam only when the bidding makes it clear that declarer means to ruff extensively in the dummy.

THE XMAS TREE AT GOULD

The decorations all are hung
 The night is cold and clear.
 As the crowd do start to gather
 For the big time of the year.

From all the districts 'round about
 The people come to see,
 The program of amusement
 At the Lingwick Xmas tree.

The hall is filled from wall to wall
 Soon the program will begin,
 As the children lift their voices up
 To sing a Christmas hymn.

There were stars placed on the Xmas tree
 Which shone and glittered fair,
 Yet brighter shone the faces
 Of the young folk who were there.

Each one of them a star tonight
 For here they are at home
 Nor will it e'er shine brighter
 No matter where they roam.

The "pieces" all have now been said
 The chairs are put away,
 For dancing is the order
 When the violins start to play.

Yes there's Arnold and there's Jerry,
 Who can make those fiddles hum
 And there's merriment and laughter
 For the evening's not yet done.

Too soon the moon-light waltz is played
 And 'neath the mistletoe,
 Full many a heart beat faster
 For now 'tis time to go.

'Tis Xmas time in Gould once more
 The crowd's no more around,
 The hall it stands in darkness
 As deserted echoes make their rounds.

Enough of this reminiscing
 They say Santa's on the way
 And children still do love him
 'Tis a Merry Xmas day.

Gould Village, Que.

day Canada's employment outlook for 1956 "has many elements of strength."

Agricultural income is down but most other primary industries show few signs of weakness, the minister said in a year-end review. There was every reason to believe that employment among the country's 5,500,000-man labor force would be higher this winter than last.

"This does not mean that there will be no seasonal unemployment," he said. "This winter, as in every winter in the past, we are having a decline in employment during the cold months."

"It is not likely that seasonal unemployment can ever be entirely eliminated in our cold northern climate. However, during the past year a concentrated effort has begun, aimed at reducing seasonal unemployment in this country—an effort in which employer groups, organized labor and governments at all levels are co-operating."

In simultaneous year-end messages, the leaders of Canada's two largest labor bodies, Claude Jodoin, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, and A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, expressed confidence in the future.

The two labor leaders saw increased strength for Canadian labor through the merger next April of the 400,000-member CCL and the 600,000-member TLC. The new Canadian Labor Congress will be headed by Mr. Jodoin.

Mr. Gregg said that although unemployment reached a post-war high early in 1955, employment grew steadily through the year and by mid-summer equaled the post-war peak of 1953.

Employment decreased on farms and in coal mining, shipbuilding and aircraft manufacturing industries. But in most other industries it increased.

The Doctor Says

SOME READERS CONTRACT EACH AILMENT DISCUSSED
I am sometimes "worried" that there will be readers of this column who have active imaginations and will think they have every disease discussed.

If there are any such among today's readers, I should like to urge them to refrain from looking at such discussions in the future.

A great many people can learn about their bodies and the diseases which might interfere with health without being bothered. But there are always some whose imaginations are so keen that they begin to think they have the pains and aches or other symptoms of anything they hear about. A few—like medical students—have to keep on in spite of any disadvantages, but I do not think there is the slightest use for others going into a tizzy of fear and worry just because they have read of something new.

It is always well to remember that nature is a great healer. Most people who become sick, even with serious illness, recover entirely.

Others who fall ill progress to a stage where the disease from which they suffered has been conquered even though some bad effects may remain. Some may even suffer serious disabilities such as the loss of a limb or an eye from disease or injury and yet be able to resume active and useful lives.

Another thing which should be remembered when reading about the many diseases and injuries which may afflict mankind is that even though people can get a great many diseases they never do. The chances are that the average person will encounter only a few really serious conditions in an entire lifetime and will recover from these.

A constant fear that one might catch plague, cholera, yellow fever, tuberculosis or whatnot, is far worse than the actual danger to which we are exposed.

Those who are constantly anxious are worse off than those who use reasonable precautions and then take their chances without always anticipating the worst.

The worrier usually becomes what is known as a "neurotic," frequently shopping around from place to place asking for an explanation for something which may exist in the mind rather than the body.

Avoidance of unnecessary risk by careless exposure to disease or injury is desirable. Also, it is good sense to recognize serious symptoms early so that the disease responsible can get prompt treatment. But the person who is in a constant sweat of anxiety would be better off to read and think about less disturbing subjects.

Fashion Spotlight On Sleep-Wear

Sleep-wear has been hit by a hurricane of fashion changes in the last few seasons. As a result the Canadian woman is reaping a whirlwind of boudoir beauty. Sleep-wear has moved into the fashion spotlight and it's making the kind of fashion news that once was reserved for the outer silhouette only. Those of you who received some of the new and lovely peignoirs, dusters and pyjamas for Christmas will be most aware of the change.

Perhaps you're asking: "What has brought it about?" A major factor is the introduction of man-made fibres such as nylon with its washability and its infinite variety of weight and fabric finish.

Most of us remember the time when night-gowns always touched our toes and peignoirs swept the floor, while pyjamas were prosaic items designed for warmth and comfort only. Today, however, your nightgown is likely to be the more fashionable waltz length, while "baby-doll" pyjamas have turned a sweetly feminine back on that utility look. Waltz-length gowns are preferred by younger women while the "baby-doll" pyjamas have become the darling of the teen-age set and the college crowd.

Quilted fabrics for sleep-wear, hostess gowns and dusters are fairly new in Canada and they're ideal in the winter months. Particularly pretty are the mother-and-daughter dressing-gown sets in quilted nylon. You'll see them in a great variety of color combinations—either dress length or full length and usually with matching slippers. They're colorful and comfy on chilly evenings. ## Marriages

ROSS-REED

The marriage of Carolyn Ingham, daughter of Mr. James Reed, of Sherbrooke, and of Mrs. Heath Reed, of Long Island, N.Y., to Mr. Ronald Cathcart Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Ross, took place on Monday afternoon at half past three o'clock, in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Sydney Garland officiating. Mr. Wright Gibson played the wedding music, and Mrs. Wright Gibson sang "O Holy Night," prior to the ceremony, and "I Love You Truly," during the signing of the register. Christmas greenery arranged with candles in candelabra were used to decorate the church and the pews reserved for the guests were marked with holly sprigs and red ribbon bows.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Stanley Reed, was in a floor-length gown of white suede velvet, the fitted bodice having a high round neckline, a single row of tiny covered buttons to the waistline and long sleeves ending in points over the hands, with a very full skirt. Her fingertip-length veil of tulle illusion was held by a tiny velvet cap, and she carried a semi cascade bouquet of poinsettias centered with white split carnations. Her only ornaments were pearl earrings, gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Graydon Larrabee as matron of honor, and Miss Betty Davis as bridesmaid, were in ballerina length velvet frocks of crimson red and forest green respectively, fashioned with fitted bodices having round necklines, three quarter-length sleeves and bouffant skirts. They wore bandeaus of imported French fur fabric and carried matching muffs trimmed with holly.

Little Miss Melanie Reed, as flower-girl for her cousin, was in a gold velvet frock, the fitted bodice having a scalloped neckline and tiny cap sleeves. She wore a white fur bandeau and carried a matching muff.

Mrs. Reed, the bride's mother, was gowned in navy blue lace over taffeta. She wore a navy blue satin hat, white accessories and a corsage bouquet of white hyacinths.

The reception was held in the Elmwood Hotel, Lennoxville, where the bride's table, centered with the wedding cake, was arranged with red and white snapdragons and pompons, holly and candles in candelabra.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Ross left for Lake Placid, N.Y., and the New England States, the bride travelling in a frock of avocado green vevdera, trimmed with black braid and white collar and cuffs, under a muskrat coat, and wearing a small white hat, alligator accessories and a corsage bouquet of red and white pompons and holly.

Manners Make Friends

An out-of-town friend of yours is a house-guest of a couple you don't know. Don't feel that because you have never met them you need not include them if you plan to entertain your friend. It puts the house-guest in an awkward spot to invite him to a party to which his host and hostess aren't invited.

New Fish Dish For Budget-Balancers

Canadian fish is something to keep in mind when it's economy you seek. Fresh, frozen, canned or cured, the initial cost of most varieties is low. Other important considerations are the high protein value of fish and its lack of waste. The Fisheries Council of Canada suggests Fish and Noodles as an example of the many hearty low-cost fish dishes that will keep the January budget on an even keel while it does double-duty helping to pay the bills now coming in, stern reminders of exuberant holiday spending spree.

Belts Make The Season Bright

By ALICIA HART

Gay, festive holidays. It can be raining outside and still the pleasure of seeing old friends, decorated living rooms and exchanging good wishes is not dimmed.

It's wonderful to have all sorts of new dresses for this season, but some of us can't always manage to get them. We cast about for ways to make that brave basic black do duty as a party dress. A scarf, a pin, a touch of this or that and it may pass, if the light is dim.

The greatest boon available to a budget and time-bound female is a really spectacular belt. If it's bright enough, it may even distract from that baby paw print on the shoulder, the awards of honor to the departing mama.

A belt can be bought quickly, for it needs the easiest of trying on. The belt departments of most stores are on the main floor; so one can sandwich in the quick purchase of a holiday belt in no time.

This year, belts are as lush and splendid as the rest of the fashion picture. They range from positively royal gold leather to calf ones with inset initials, for the price of afternoon tea. They come in red and peacock blue, black and what have you. Gold, glitter, scroll work and jewels make them dazzling.

Many can shift their buckles from side to back to front, depending on the mood. All do the holiday honors to sheath dresses, separates, full skirts and pretty blouses.

End-of-the-year special: For all the unhappy and dissatisfied women who have written letters to this column during the past year a bit of advice from Dr. John A. Schindler's book, "How to Live 365 Days a Year":

"It's not hard to feel good. In regard to satisfaction and dissatisfaction, remember two things:

"First, it is as easy, and much pleasanter, to find elements of satisfaction instead of dissatisfaction in the daily run of events. All that is required is the will to feel satisfied.

"The wise individual knows that life is one frustration after another if you allow yourself to be frustrated, but it is also one satisfaction after another if you are determined to be satisfied. Trouble is where you make it."

What are you supposed to do with this free end-of-the-year special?

Why clip it out, tape it to your mirror and read it every morning you get out of the wrong side of the bed.

Go back and read it every time you start feeling sorry for your self, or decide that a situation has got you down, or that your life is in a rut, or that your happiness or frustration is some body else's fault.

Whether or not you are going to find any happiness, any bright spot, any satisfaction out of any single day in your life is largely up to you.

The days when "everything goes wrong" are the days when one unhappy incident makes you start looking for and expecting others.

The good days are the days when you start out calm and happy, confident that it is going to be a good day. On such a day a small mishap — or even a series of them — can be taken in stride.

So unless you enjoy unhappiness start the New Year by clipping and saving Dr. Schindler's simple but practical guide for the right way of living each day.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bockus, of Montreal, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Davitt, of St. Johns, were also guests at the same home.

Retiring President Of Kiwanis Club, Waterloo, Gives Achievement Report

Waterloo — Al Grainger conducted his last meeting as president of the Waterloo Kiwanis Club at the regular meeting held at the National Hotel. A fine turnout of members greeted the retiring president and listened to his achievement report for the past year.

"In making such a report," President Grainger stated, "one is amazed at the amount of work accomplished by such a small group. As president, it is my report, but it is your work, fellow Kiwanians."

Boys' and Girls' Work takes precedence in the Waterloo Club, the highlights accomplished by this hard working committee, including: $1,300 spent for free milk, distributed among needy children at schools and needy families in town; four youngsters treated and supplied with glasses and two tonsillectomies performed; help to the Flambeau Home in the form of carpenters sent by the club, as well as assistance in renewing the roof on one building.

The garden contest is sponsored jointly by the Kiwanis Club and the Frost Village Farm Forum, with the club furnishing the prize money and seeds. This contest was most satisfactory and will be continued for another year. The Waterloo Fair entertained the 4-H Clubs and the Kiwanis Club furnished a silver trophy and $75 in prize money to this project.

The retarded children at Bolton Center were entertained at the Granby Zoo and the Kids' Day celebrations were a tremendous success. The Christmas party for the children of the Flambeau Home was another highlight on the year's agenda.

The graduating class and teachers were entertained by the club and suitable addresses given by four members of the club.

"Intercub relations are very important to any president," continued the retiring president, "and this past year has been one of great source of encouragement to me in this respect. We made five outside visits and we had ten outside clubs visit us."

Four new members were inducted during the year, offsetting the two resignations and two deletions. A trophy was donated to the Yamaska Conservation for competition in the Fishing Derby. A meeting devoted entirely to conservation and hints as to soil and timber conservation were printed in the weekly bulletin.

Picnic tables were installed again this year, with a caretaker hired to look after the grounds. The beach was cleaned up and supervision maintained to a degree. The public telephone is installed and paid for by the club and safety markers were erected in the lake to help in maintaining order while swimming and operating motor boats.

"One of the highlights of the year's work was the providing of 1,286 free X-rays taken for the citizens of Waterloo," said Kiwanian Grainger. "This was made possible by continued support of the people in purchasing Christmas Seals."

The Cancer Drive was conducted by the club with tremendous success and silent policemen have been distributed throughout the district through the effort of the club and some of its members. Two hospital beds owned by the club have been kept in constant use by sick and disabled persons in this district without charge to them whatever.

Donations were made to the Red Cross, the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, the English section, as well as the French section, of the Waterloo Library, and to Muscular Dystrophy.

"We held an all Kiwanis church service, with just members of our club taking all parts. This is the first time such a service has been held in this district, and with such tremendous success. A total of six different denominations took part in this service," Mr. Grainger pointed out.

Several members have been very active on church boards, and with church canvasses. Two have been actively associated with the Sunday Schools and one member is a regular choir attendee. A plaque to the memory of the late Joseph Macdonald has been purchased through the combined efforts of the Kiwanis Club and the Canadian Legion to be erected in the Legion Hall at a later date in the coming year.

"It is my pleasure to thank all members for this report" the retiring president concluded. "Our projects, while not numerous, were successful, and I mention the gas day, the fair booth, the Fish Derby tickets and our Anti-TB Christmas Seals. I know you will work as hard for our new president, Tom Wilkinson, and I wish him all the luck in his year as your leader."

The Kiwanians gave President Grainger prolonged applause for his very successful report.

Magog Aces Dump Sherbrooke Beavers 7-3 To Move Into Second Position; League Suspends Until Next Tuesday

Magog Aces slid into third position of the Massawippi Valley Hockey League last night at the local Arena when they walloped the Sherbrooke Beavers 7-3 in easy fashion.

It was a knock-down affair as both clubs traded blows the whole distance and finally in the dying minutes of the game Jean Dumas and Clement William were ejected from the game for using abusive language to the referees. They were tagged with misconducts and finally drew game misconducts and automatic suspensions by the league.

Coch Pat Murphy was also tossed out of the game when he used obscene language to the referees following a decision. There was only a few minutes left in the game when he was ejected. The tilt was a hard hitting affair with fourteen minor penalties being called along with three misconducts and two game misconducts.

Hayden tallied the only goal of the opening frame when Vaillancourt of Magog was sitting out a charging penalty. Roby drew an elbowing penalty at the start of the game and when he shoved the referee he was tagged with a misconduct.

It was in the middle session that the Aces opened up, registering four goals to one by the Beavers. Vaillancourt evened the count but Bert Morin put the Beavers out in front once again. This was short lived as the Aces batted home three tallies within three minutes to take a 4-2 lead at the end of the frame. Theriault, M. Goyette and Vaillancourt were the marksmen.

In the final session Pee Wee Theriault came up with his second goal of the evening and while Michaud offset it as he tallied Sherbrooke's final tally Cotterell and L'Heureux completed the onslaught to finish 7-3 and move into second position of the league.

Jim Trimble, Former Head Coach Of Philadelphia Eagles, Signs With Hamilton Tiger-Cats In Big Four

Hamilton — Jim Trimble, former head coach of Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League, has been signed to a one-year contract to coach Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four football league.

Hamilton said Thursday the 34-year-old former lineman signed the contract Wednesday night in New York with Jake Gaudaur, newly appointed general manager of the Tiger-Cats.

Financial details were not announced.

Trimble was released by Eagles two weeks ago because of what team executives said was the poor showing the team made this year. Picked in pre-season estimates as the club to beat, Eagles won only four of 12 games.

Trimble left New York immediately after the signing to look at prospective new players for his team. He plans to scout the Orange Bowl game at Miami New Year's Day and is arranging to get reports on players in other bowl games.

He replaces Carl Voyles at the Tiger-Cats' helm. Voyles, who quit three weeks ago to take a real-estate job with a Toronto financier, coached the team six years. He never missed the playoffs and won one Grey Cup.

Trimble visited Hamilton Tuesday and looked at movies of last year's team in action. He said he is impressed with the calibre of Canadian football.

Pittsburgh Steelers of the NFL were reported trying to sign him as assistant coach. Several colleges also were seeking his services, and one offered him a five-year contract.

Standing: Montreal, won 23, lost 7, tied 7; points, 53. Points: Beliveau, Montreal, 41. Goals: Beliveau, 22. Assists: Olmstead, Montreal, 30. Shutouts: Hall, Detroit, 7. Penalties: Lindsay, Detroit, 98 minutes.

THURSDAY NIGHT'S STARS Maurice (Rocket) Richard, Montreal, who scored the 500th goal of his career and assisted on two others as Canadiens defeated Toronto 5-2 at Montreal.

Marcel Bonin, Boston, who scored two of Boston's goals in defeat. Eddie Litzenberger, Chicago, whose goal and two assists led the Black Hawks to a 4-2 win over the Rangers at New York.

Bedard Loses To Vic Seixas At New Orleans

New Orleans. — (P) — Top seeded Vic Seixas of Philadelphia Thursday defeated Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., 7-5, 6-2 in the second round of the Sugar Bowl tennis tournament.

Seixas started slowly and trailed 5-4 in the first set but rallied to take the next three games. The former Wimbledon and U.S. champion was never behind in the second set.

Earlier Bedard easily won a first-round match, defeating Jose Aguiro of Brazil, U.S. intercollegiate champion, 6-3, 6-2.

Johnson TKO's Ezzard Charles

Los Angeles. — (P) — Young Jack Johnson of Los Angeles shot skyward in the heavyweight rankings Thursday night as he scored a sixth-round technical knockout over former champion Ezzard Charles, in a scheduled 10-rounder at the Olympic Auditorium.

Charles, 196, took the first round. From then on it was all Johnson. Early in the fight Johnson, 209, opened a gash in Charles' mouth. He had the advantage thereafter.

Johnson used a long left jab for an opening and followed with right crosses to the head and body. By the end of the sixth round Charles' chief second called referee Lee Grossman to the corner and informed him that Ezzard could not continue.

It was the most important victory of Johnson's career and followed his technical knockout over Zora Foley, Arizona heavyweight, last month.

Camera Proves Umpires Wrong

New York. — (P) — Brooklyn "won" the world series again Thursday when the official movies were shown to New York baseball writers and guests of the big league clubs but the umpires lost a couple of decisions to the cameramen.

If you can believe the camera, Billy Martin of New York Yankees looked safe when he tried to steal home in the sixth inning of the first game and Jackie Robinson appeared out when he stole home in the eighth inning of the same game. Plate umpire Bill Summers called Martin out and Robinson safe and all the movies in the world never will change it.

Commissioner Ford Frick quickly came to the defence of the umpires when questioned about the plays after the pictures. "I'm for the umpires," said Frick. "You've got to remember the umpire is right behind the plate and the cameras are not. I saw two pictures in the papers after that game. One showed Robinson out, one showed him safe. The umpires are in the best position to see."

Cardinals Sign Wilmer Mizell

St. Louis. — (P) — The signing of lefthander Wilmer (Vinegar) Bend Mizell was announced Thursday by St. Louis Cardinals, and general manager Frank Lane put a half-million-dollar estimate on his value.

The fireball pitcher, in the army for the last two years, was signed in Cuba where he is pitching for Havana in the Cuban winter league.

Lane cabled the Cardinal office, he feels the return of Mizell might be just what the shaky pitching staff needs.

Ticket Scalpers Fined In Toronto

Toronto. — (P) — Three youths who scalped tickets for Wednesday night's National Hockey League game between Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs were fined a total of $11.75 or four days in jail Thursday.

Norman Glaser, 16, was fined $6.50 or two days, William Prokop, 19, $3 or one day, and Solly Menkes 16, $2.25 or one day. They were arrested by constables in plainclothes to whom they had tried to sell tickets.

THURSDAY NIGHT'S STARS Maurice (Rocket) Richard, Montreal, who scored the 500th goal of his career and assisted on two others as Canadiens defeated Toronto 5-2 at Montreal.

Henri Richard, Montreal, who more than matched his older brother's performance with a goal and three assists. Bill Dineen, Detroit, who scored a pair of goals to lead the Red Wings to a 4-3 victory over Boston at Detroit.

Hopalong Cassady In Action Tomorrow In Shrine Game Which Kicks Off Heavy Football Weekend; Gator Bowl First

New York. — (P) — The brilliant Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, Ohio State's two-time All-American, cuts loose again Saturday to kick off a $3,000,000 weekend of Bowl football sure to attract more than 500,000 fans.

Cassady, individual standout of the 1955 college campaign, will play with Coach Woody Hayes' East squad against West in the Shrine game at San Francisco.

This is just one of four Saturday attractions, three of which will be televised, to whet the appetite of the gridiron gourmet for Monday's big Bowl clash from Pasadena to Miami.

Also on the New Year's Eve bill are the Gator Bowl battle at Jacksonville, Fla., between Vanderbilt and Auburn; the Blue-Gray game at Montgomery, Ala., and the Salad Bowl at Phoenix, Ariz., between all-star teams of the Skyline and Border conferences.

Cassady's presence with the Eastern squad has made that group a one-touchdown favorite over the West in a game which will be viewed by 61,000 in the flesh and untold numbers on television.

The Gator Bowl kickoff is 2 p.m. with Auburn, 16 pounds bigger to the man in the line, a six-point choice over a swift Vanderbilt team which finished the season strong.

Moore Leads Chics To 3-1 Victory Chicoutimi, Que., — (P) — A pair of goals by Jimmy Moore Thursday night paced the Chicoutimi Sagueneens to a 3-1 decision over the Quebec Aces in a Quebec Hockey League game.

The victory stretched the gap between third-place Chicoutimi and fourth-place Quebec to seven points. Moore got Chicoutimi off to a 1-0 lead early in the first and made it 2-0 in the second on assists from John Hanna and Lou Smrke.

Greig Hicks notched Chicoutimi's third goal in the last minute of the period. Jean-Marie Cossette ruined Marcel Faillie's shutout bid in the first minutes of play of the third period.

Down Maple Leafs 5-2 While Hawks Upset Rangers 4-2 And Red Wings Edge Bruins 4-3 In Close Fixture

Montreal Canadiens were in the middle of a two-game losing streak. For the high-flying National Hockey League leaders that amounted to a slump and they were badly in need of inspiration.

Then along came the incomparable Rocket, Maurice Richard, with a goal before the game was two minutes old. It was his 500th NHL goal and it was all the 13,784 Montreal Forum fans needed Thursday night to bring the roof down. It also provided the push the Canadiens needed to go on and defeat Toronto Maple Leafs 5-2.

Toronto's loss dumped them into fifth place while their closest rivals, Chicago Black Hawks, took over fourth spot by themselves with a 4-2 victory over the Rangers at New York.

The slow-starting Detroit Red Wings continued their drive for second spot as a hometown 4-3 win over the tail-end Boston Bruins left them hanging onto the Rangers' coat-tails.

When the points were added up, Montreal with 53 points was 15 ahead of New York. Detroit is in third place with 34 points, Chicago two behind and Toronto two behind Chicago. Boston, with 25 points, remained in the cellar by five points.

It was largely a Richard family affair in Montreal. Maurice's younger brother Henri, the Pocket Rocket, scored what proved to be the winning goal and assisted on three others. Henri broke up a 2-2 tie early in the third period, taking a pass from his brother and beating the Leaf goalie Harry Lumley on a long drive.

He also helped out on the Rocket's momentous tally, aided by Dillard St. Laurent in the only goal of the second period and was in along with Maurice on Dick Moore's score in the third before Jean Beliveau cleaned up the goal-getting.

Vince Martinez Makes Short Work Of Pete Mueller With KO In 2nd Milwaukee — (P) — Vince Martinez, handsome fighting welterweight of Paterson, N.J., clubbed down Peter Mueller of Germany for a neat second-round knockout victory last night in the Milwaukee Arena.

A crowd of 5,597 paid a gross of $18,882.10 to watch Martinez, rated No. 3 among the world's welterweights, hang up his 27th knockout and 47th victory in 50 pro starts. Vince 15½, was a 34-1 favorite to take the German slugger, who operates best with short jolts on the inside.

Mueller, 155, was out cold as retiree Milt Goldstein of Milwaukee reached the 10 count at 2:51. Seconds pulled Mueller to his feet and helped him to the corner where he asked his manager Al Lang, of Valley Streams, N.Y., "What did you do that for?"

In the dressing room Lang said Martinez will continue to campaign among the welters and still is determined to force a June meeting with Carmen Basilio, the welterweight champion.
