No mandate given

Oppose Quebec school action

MONTREAL (CP) — The Quebec Catholic Parents Association says it is opposed to any plans by the provincial government to reorganize school boards along language rather than religious lines.

Association President Louis Bouchard told a news conference Wednesday the government has never been given a mandate to change the school system.

A recent report to the government recommended reorganization of Montreal's school system along linguistic lines—one system for the French language and a separate one for the English.

Mr. Bouchard said: "The right of Catholics to a Catholic school, like that of Protestants to a school of their choice, is written in our provincial school law and is guaranteed by the Canadian constitution. The Catholics have never renounced it."

"If French-speaking Protestants are not sufficiently numerous in one region to set up and fill classes... their right to a Protestant school lives in principle but they are not able to exercise it concretely."

"The state, in this case, does not have the role of suppressing the rights of Catholics who are numerous enough to fill schools, or to impose upon everyone a neutral school, or a school impossible to define, which would be called pluralistic or multi-confessional."

BACK CHURCH SCHOOLS
Mr. Bouchard said the 25,000 member association has discussed its position for three years and the following recommendations are supported by 90 per cent of its members

—French-Catholic schools should report to the Catholic school commission in each region.

—Each region's school commission should hold complete administrative and academic authority.

—An amendment to the school commissions law should allow non-Catholic and non-Protestant minorities to establish, for themselves, a school administration to answer their special needs, rights and interests.—A Montreal Island school council should be set up to unify taxation and distribution of funds.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Press problems in Cuba..

NEW YORK (AP) — The Havana offices of The Associated Press and United Press International have been closed by the Cuban government, a man who described himself as a spokesman for the Cuban foreign ministry said Wednesday in a telephone call from AP in New York to Havana.

The spokesman, who did not give his name, said the Cuban employees of both news services have had no access to their offices since the government ordered them closed earlier in the day.

The spokesman said the government took this step "in view of the fact that the AP and UPI offices are without correspondents." He said the bureaus will remain closed "until the correspondents' situation is solved." He did not explain this comment.

..and in Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Radio station CKLM Wednesday refused to comply with a court order that it turn over tapes of interviews taken during last week's school language riot in suburban St. Leonard.

The order was presented by two police officers who said they were seeking evidence against persons arrested during the violent demonstration after the Riot Act was read.

Guy D'Arcy, director-general of CKLM, told a news conference he refused the request "because in my soul and conscience, I consider it a dangerous precedent for collective freedom to submit... to an order inadmissible in a free nation."

Other Montreal television and radio stations put up little opposition to the order. The Canadian Radio-Television Commission requires stations to keep tapes of all broadcast films and interviews.

The Chief is alive and well...

OTTAWA (CP) — The member of Parliament for Prince Albert turns 74 today and he says he hasn't felt better in years.

"You don't see many days when I am absent from the House of Commons," John Diefenbaker said in a private pre-birthday interview.

"I've had wonderful health, in the last 15 years. The Lord has been good to me."

Still running free is the wide range of emotions that made him such a tumultuous figure as Conservative leader and prime minister—the high-pitched chuckle as he ponders the amusing story he will tell in his next speech; the mood of sombre reflection; the stern and demanding voice of doom when he deals with current political issues.

Mr. Diefenbaker, even while leaning back with his legs crossed in his swivel chair in his parliamentary office, still seems larger than life. Although less sure of step, there is no image of the frailty of the old.

"I don't know how I look for a man my age," he said. "But I would take on any of these babies for a run—anybody 45 or over."

TAKES DAILY WALK

He still takes a daily 40-minute walk around 6 a.m. "on the double" through treed suburban Rockcliffe, where he lives quietly in a house with his wife, Olive.

It is an ironic footnote that Mr.

Diefenbaker lives among the moneyed elite, the kind of people he was never really at home with. Rockcliffe is that kind of place.

A Rockcliffe neighbor is his greatest oldtime political rival, former prime minister Lester Pearson, now retired from politics.

"I never see him although I walk by there," he said.

The old man, a little hard of hearing, looked at a First World War picture of himself in uniform on the opposite wall.

"I wouldn't have believed 53 years ago when that picture was taken overseas that I would be here today," he said.

Invalided home to Canada following an accidental injury over there, his weight went down to 128 from 180. "I didn't come back easily. He was 140 when first elected to the Commons 30 years ago."

"Now, I'm back to my weight of 53 years ago, 175 or 180," he said, pleased at the thought. He had two subsequent serious illnesses, in 1924 and 1945.

The news that he now has regained his young man's weight should lead to a revival of eternal-life stories about this enduring politician.

Shorn of power, living largely on reputation, he indulges himself in the popular non-partisan feeling for him that has grown up since his rejection by his own party in 1967.

SHOWN AFFECTION

"The affection that is shown to me across this country by those of all political faiths is one of the greatest rewards that anyone can have in life," he said.

He is on the go much of the time delivering speeches. He has time to accept only one of 10 invitations.

Today, he'll be in Winnipeg to deliver a birthday speech to the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews which has given him their 1969 human relations award.

Always the politician, his face lit up when he said the council event is a sellout. He says he gets bigger crowds now for such non-campaign events than when he was at the height of his power.

He rifled through the stack of letters he got that day. He gets a heavy volume—requests for advice or assistance, letters from young people, invitations to speak and so on. In this way, he continues to play the role of a constituency politician, but his name makes his constituency the country.

Mr. Diefenbaker says he has had many offers to return to work as a trial lawyer.

"But I've appointed so many of the judges, I feel it would be indiscreet to appear before them." They might be biased in his favor.

VC say it's a trick

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops killed 15 Americans in an attack Wednesday on a unit of the United States 3rd Marine Division, tapped to pull out of South Vietnam under President Nixon's latest withdrawal order.

Twenty-three other marines were wounded in the pre-dawn battle that raged through a marine outpost four miles south of the demilitarized zone that straddles the North-South Vietnam border.

Meanwhile, the Viet Cong guerrilla command dismissed Nixon's decision to withdraw 35,000 more U.S. troops from the war zone by mid-December as a trick to prolong the war.

Target of the North Vietnamese attack was a forward post of the marine division's 3rd Regiment. The attackers left behind 23 dead.

The 3rd Division, which now has about 13,500 men in South Vietnam, is to be replaced by units of the South Vietnamese 1st Division.

In their first response to Nixon's latest withdrawal announcement, the Viet Cong again demanded an unconditional withdrawal of all U.S. forces. Currently, 508,000 American troops are in the war.

An editorial broadcast by the clandestine Viet Cong radio Wednesday night said a complete withdrawal is "the only way to end the war and to avoid a complete American defeat."

In other war action, U.S. helicopter gunships opened fire with rockets and machine-guns in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon on a group of fleeing South Vietnamese civilians mistakenly thought to have been Viet Cong troops, military spokesmen said.

Seven civilians were killed and 17 were wounded. All were unarmed.

American and South Vietnamese authorities said the incident was being investigated.

Ex-Record man gets CP post

HARRISON HOT SPRING, B.C. — (CP) — Former

Sherbrooke Record managing editor Doug Amaron has been named second in command at the Canadian Press.

His appointment as general superintendent of national news co-operative was approved yesterday at the fall board meeting here.

Mr. Amaron, 55, has been general news editor for six years. He will assume the duties of John Dauphinee, assistant general manager, named earlier to succeed Gillis Purcell, who retires Nov. 25 as general manager after 41 years with CP.

A native of Quebec City, Mr. Amaron joined CP at Montreal in 1936 and served overseas as a CP war correspondent for five years. He was managing editor of the Sherbrooke Record from 1947 to 1953 then returned to CP as an executive assistant until his appointment as general news editor in 1963.

CNTU paying bail now

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal central council of the Confederation of National Trade Unions Wednesday paid $700 bail for the release of two men arrested during rioting in suburban St. Leonard Sept. 10.

The bail money, authorized by council president Michel Chartrand, was for Claude Labrecque, 19, charged with participating in a riot, and Luc Lasnie, 19, charged with participating in a riot and possession of an offensive weapon.

During the weekend, union presidents affiliated with the Montreal council voted to give financial support to the Ligue pour l'Integration Scolaire, which organized the demonstration against English-language education in Quebec, and to the group's leader, Raymond Lemieux.

The weekend resolution was adopted

Wednesday at a general meeting of the council.

Among the 39 charged are Lemieux and militant separatist Reggie Chartrand.

Lemieux is charged with three counts of sedition—punishable by a maximum of 14 years in prison—and charges of taking part in a riot, obstructing a policeman and failure to disperse after the reading of the Riot Act.

Reggie Chartrand, leader of the Chevaliers de l'Independance (Knights of Independence), was arraigned on the latter three charges.

Failure to heed the reading of the Riot Act is punishable by a maximum of life in prison.

Both Lemieux and Chartrand are free on $10,000 bail.

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH

Treat Quickly Swellings Or Sore Spots in Mouth

By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.

Cellulitis is an inflammation occurring in and around the mouth and capable of producing rapid destructive changes and violent symptoms.

Take the case of Howard R. a 59-year-old white, married, male who, prior to his present illness, admits to being in "excellent health." His chief complaint was pain in the jaw, swelling, fever, weakness and headache.

Present illness began while en route home from vacation when he became "aware" of his lower partial denture. There was little pain but increasing tenderness on the left side of his mouth, seemingly under the border of the denture. Removing the denture eased the pain but, when a slight swelling developed, he decided to consult a dentist.

He was seen as an emergency on a Sunday morning. The dentist adjusted the border of the denture which caused the "sore spot" and patient gained some relief.

However, pain soon began to worsen and swelling on side of face and neck developed with dramatic suddenness, so that when he presented himself to his dentist two days later patient had a massive, hard swelling on the left side of face and neck, left eye was partially closed, there was difficulty swallowing, with complaints of weakness, severe headache and feverish feeling.

Mouth exam disclosed a narrow, deep cut alongside the bony ridge in the floor of the mouth. It didn't bleed and there was no pus present. Left floor of mouth was raised and firm and tongue was pushed to one side.

Diagnosis: Cellulitis, probably beginning with sore spot from overextended border of denture.

Treatment: Heroic doses of antibiotics. Since there was no pus in the area, incision and drainage was not necessary.

Dramatic symptoms were relieved in 48 hours but some residual swelling and firmness persisted for over three weeks, during which time patient couldn't wear his denture.

Infections of the floor of the mouth and deep cellular areas of the neck are dangerous, often with rapid onset, and dramatic symptoms, and should be treated heroically without delay.

Here is a simple little hand that we could write a book about. Take the bidding to start with.

East should pass but most players would have opened three spades with the South hand. This South passed. Many players would open one club or one diamond with the West hand. This West passed and it was up to North. He bid a rather doubtful one club.

South jumped right to four spades. A distinct overbid but rather successful because North undoubtedly would have passed if South bid any lower number of spades.

Dummy's ace of clubs won the first trick and a low spade lead produced the 10 from East. South finessed. This play is eminently correct. Those players who try to drop a singleton king when they hold 10 cards of a suit are taking all the worst of it.

The spade finesse worked. South pulled the last spade and remarked, "I have a sure thing but I am not claiming as yet."

South didn't really have a sure thing, but assuming that the queen of clubs lead marked East with the king, then East couldn't have both aces. With two aces and two kings East would have opened the bidding.

Therefore, all South had to do to assure his contract was to lead a red card and play dummy's king. If that lost to the ace South would lead to the other red king later on.

South chose to lead a diamond. East rose with the ace and lead a low heart. This time South played the jack on the theory that West would also have opened the bidding if he held both red aces plus his club honors. The jack knocked out East's ace and South wound up with an overtrick.

Gland Extracts-- A Boon to Mankind

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Volumes have been written about the hormone-producing glands:

- The pineal, located in the brain, produces melatonin which regulates the body's use of glucose.
- The ovaries produce estrogens and progesterone, which together control the development of female sex characteristics.
- The testicles produce androgens which control the development of male sex characteristics.
- In the treatment of various disorders in these glands and some diseases that do not appear to be related to them in any way, extracts from the glands or synthetic counterparts have become some of the greatest boons to the practice of medicine. Many young doctors and patients wonder how the human race survived before the discovery of such drugs as insulin, cortisone and ACTH.
- The adrenals, located just above the kidneys, produce (1) epinephrine or adrenaline, which increases the heart action and the blood supply to the muscles in the presence of danger, and (2) cortin, from which the anti-inflammatory drugs, cortisone and hydrocortisone, and the diuretic, aldosterone, are derived.
- The pituitary, located just under the brain produces (1) ACTH, a cortisone-like compound; (2) gonadotropin, which regulates sexual development during puberty; (3) prolactin, which promotes the secretion of milk in women; (4) pancreatropin, which regulates the production of insulin by the pancreas; (5) somatotropin, which controls bone growth; (6) thyrotropin, which regulates the production of thyroxin by the thyroid; (7) oxytocin, which stimulates the contractions of the uterus and the release of milk from the breasts; and (8) vasopressin, which controls the blood pressure and water excretion.
- The thyroid produces thyroxin, which regulates the rate of metabolism.
- The parathyroids, lying adjacent to the thyroid in the neck, produce parathormone, which controls the use of phosphorus and calcium by the body.
- The thymus, located under the upper end of the breastbone, produces retine, which stimulates the immune reaction to germs and

THE SOURCE — Sewage continues to run into the ground behind the house and polluting water in a nearby stream. The house has no sewage connections, and is not equipped with a septic tank.

No sewage, typhoid threat

Family lives in a chicken coop

SHERBROOKE — (RS) — Much to everybody's dismay, a pollution and disease threat within city limits continues unattended.

Sewage from a former chicken pen transformed into a home for an undetermined number of occupants is polluting water running between two housing projects in Sherbrooke.

The source of the problem, a house on Dunant Street, was ordered demolished by city officials early last July, it was reported.

The absence of a septic tank and compulsory sewage connections prompted the city to act.

The move came after owners and residents on Arsenault Street, just outside city limits, complained of pollution and the threat of disease.

Arsenault Street is in Ascot County, with the other street running parallel inside the city limits.

One home owner said yesterday complaints started last May "led to a water analysis by Public Health officials of the provincial government."

"It's highly polluted and contains typhoid fever germs," he said.

The government's findings were supported by one home owner, a doctor, who warned that fever cases discovered in the neighbourhood would result in legal action.

More than 60 families were living in the multi-family homes along Arsenault Street.

"The danger lies with children toddling in and around the pool of water," he said.

After pressures to build a basement failed, the man said, and demands for sewage connections, the city took action.

For reasons of economy may be, the spokesman said, the Dunant Street family continues to occupy the chicken pen, while a next door two-storey apartment house he supposedly owns remains rented.

Other Arsenault Street owners are now complaining that the unattended problem is causing delays in finishing lawn work.

City clerk Henri Paul Emond told the Record yesterday the problem was out of the city's hands, and suggested it be brought to the attention of Ascot Canton authorities since Arsenault Street is outside the limits of Sherbrooke.

Further investigating last night indicated the house on Dunant Street was inside city limits, making it a community concern.

West Ward Alderman Hilaire Beliveau, said last night he was totally unaware of the problem, but recognized the city's responsibility after being told city health officials were engaged in the case.

Mr. Beliveau said he would look into the matter and ask the city's health department for a report today.

The alderman said a health inspector would look over the area and determine what measures would be taken to wipe out the problem.

Minority clause dropped

English lose old rights

SHERBROOKE — In the Britain English-speaking Catholic students and parents will not be represented by an English member on the Sherbrooke Catholic School Commission unless French-speaking electors see fit to vote one in.

At a meeting Tuesday the commission finally passed a measure taking away the guarantee the English-speaking Catholic community has had of at least one member on the nine man commission.

Saying the old agreement was unfair because it gave the English electorate more than one vote apiece the commission now will have nine members elected in nine districts.

Under the former system, the English-speaking parents were allowed to vote as a separate unit to guarantee representation

When the controversy first arose last December, William Steels, the sole English-speaking commissioner, said it was imperative that the minority group be represented on the commission.

"As the situation has existed over a number of years and has created a bad atmosphere in daily problems of education concerning confessionality and privileges, as well as creating goodwill within the Sherbrooke community, in my opinion the status quo should be maintained," he said then.

When Mr. Steele opposed the move at Tuesday night's meeting saying the situation should not be changed especially in light of present problems in the province, the other commissioners replied that they weren't trying to make Sherbrooke into a second St. Leonard.

The argument against special English-speaking representation has been that in fact nearly 3,000 French-speaking voters would not be represented. There are only 621 English-speaking parents on the roll compared with a French-speaking electorate of 33,011.

Ireland not on agenda

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Britain won delay Wednesday in her fight to keep the controversial and potentially explosive situation in Northern Ireland off the agenda of the United Nations General Assembly.

The assembly's 25-member steering committee decided to postpone consideration of the matter pending a reply by the Republic of Ireland to an appeal from Britain's Lord Caradon for withdrawal of the proposed item.

Meanwhile, the Soviet Union supported UN debate on Northern Ireland, saying that the Belfast government discriminated against the overwhelming ma-majority of the "oppressed" people of Ulster.

Many members of the committee appeared uncomfortable with the application of the Irish Republic, which had failed to have Ulster debated in the Security Council, for General Assembly debate.

Caradon had made a strong argument that the matter was an internal affair of Britain and thus out of the jurisdiction of the UN. But Ireland has argued that it is a matter of human rights which is an area of UN concern.

CITES ACTION TAKEN
Caradon said that Britain has taken positive and urgent action to deal with a situation of difficulty and delicacy. British troops, signed to keep Protestants and Roman Catholics from battling each other, had been welcomed by both sides and reforms to overcome past civil rights deficiencies were being pushed with urgency.

In the circumstances it would do great harm to press for a discussion that could inflame controversy in the UN.

External Affairs Minister Patrick J. Hillery of the Irish Republic said reforms have been promised in Northern Ireland for 50 years but little has been done.

In reply to Caradon's appeal for withdrawal of the item, Hillery said he could not immediately determine the consequences of such a move. Nigeria then proposed a postponement and the matter probably will be brought up today.

The Communist countries were silent when the question of admittance of Red China was approved.

ET blind girl studies

DESPITE HANDICAP — Charlene Webb of Stanstead, who is a graduate of The Montreal Association School for the Blind and is now a pupil at Montreal West High School, brailles notes for future study.

MONTREAL — Charlene Webb of Stanstead is blind. She completed her elementary schooling at the Montreal Association School for the Blind, the only English-language school for the blind in this province. This year she is in grade 9 at Montreal West High School. Last year she was the only blind student. This year there are two more, both in grade 8.

The Montreal Association for the Blind believes that blind school children should cease to be segregated as soon as they pass entrance exams into high school. Then they are provided with living quarters and special tutoring as well as braille or recorded text books.

High school students live away from the younger children and the older folks of the adult residence. This makes studying easier and facilitates the organization of the kind of recreation needed by young teenagers.

The ever increasing demands for aid from all parts of the province are straining the association's financial resources. The association depends to a very great extent on donations from people of this province. Donations are to be mailed to the Montreal Association for the Blind, 7000 Sherbrooke Street West, Montreal 262, P. Q.

Genest C of C head

SHERBROOKE — Claude Genest, a member of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce for 13 years was elected president of the Quebec Provincial C of C at its annual convention in Baie Comeau last weekend.

Mr. Genest, a prominent member of the city's business community, was formerly the provincial director of the chamber.

First elected a director of the local C of C in 1956, he has since occupied the posts of vice-president, 1958, president in 1959 and chairman of the Board of Governors in 1960-61.

On the provincial level he has been a member of the executive council, an honorary treasurer and secretary and was a second and first vice-president before his recent election.

Lake-MacArthur wedding

BEDFORD — The marriage of Linda Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William MacArthur, Bedford, to Mr. Francis John Lake of Burlington, Vt., son of the Rev. W. R. and Mrs. Lake, Bedford, took place in the Bedford Wesley Church on September 6 at four o'clock.

The groom's father, Rev. W. R. Lake assisted by the Rev. George Sach of Gorrie, Ont., officiated. The wedding music was played by Mr. Ronald Martin. The church was decorated with arrangements of roses and chrysanthemums.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was in a gown of ivory peau de soie, princess line, with a shoulder length veil of tulle illusion held in place by a matching ribbon of peau de soie. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses and ivy.

Miss Diane Young, Montreal, as maid of honor, and Miss Judy Muncaster, bridesmaid, wore similar gowns of green peau de soie with velvet ribbons. They carried bouquets of yellow and bronze mums with wheat sprays and matching bows in their hair.

Mr. Arthur Lake, Ottawa, brother of the groom, acted as best man. Mr. Calvin MacArthur, brother of the bride, and Mr. Robert Lake, brother of the groom, were the ushers.

Mrs. MacArthur, mother of the bride, was in a gown of blue flowered chiffon with navy accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

Mrs. Lake, mother of the groom, wore a two piece ensemble of pink with a green hat, her corsage was of white roses.

Following the reception which was held in the church hall, Mr. and Mrs. Lake left by car for

Current women's activities

LENNOXVILLE WOMEN'S LEAGUE

The Lennoxville Women's League of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church held their first fall meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. Harold W. Turner, Academy Street.

Mrs. Turner presided and welcomed the members back after the summer holiday. She conducted the devotional period, reading from the 51st psalm.

Seventeen members answered the roll call and reported 25 calls made. The treasurer's report showed a balance of $40.96. The secretary read a letter of thanks from the Board of Managers for a donation of $300.

Plans were outlined for serving of a luncheon to the young people attending the youth conference on Thanksgiving day. Final plans were made for the fall rummage sale in the church hall on Friday, September 26 at 9 a.m. It was decided that a charge of 10 cents be made for each item. Tentative plans were discussed regarding the Bazaar to be held in November.

The next meeting will be held on November seventh at the home of Mrs. W. Johnston Beattie, Queen Street with Mrs. William R. Bell, assistant hostess. Mrs. Wilfred Laurison will be in charge of devotions. The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction. Refreshments were served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. William Young.

MAGOG CWL

The Magog Catholic Women's League held the first Meeting of the Season in St. Anne's Hall, on September 9. The president, Mrs. A. Buzzell presided. There were eighteen members present.

The various committee chairmen presented reports of their activities during the summer. Correspondence was read and a letter acknowledging a donation of $25 to the Austin Women's Institute Library.

Plans were made to hold the Fall Rummage Sale on September 25 in St. Marguerite's Church Hall. The Annual Buffet Supper and Christmas Sale will take place on Saturday, November 29 in St. Patrick's Church Hall.

League Members unanimously agreed to participate in the forthcoming fund-raising Tea and Food Sale to benefit the Library.

Mrs. Buzzell appointed the conveners of the committees for the coming Season.

After the meeting was adjourned, refreshments were served by Mrs. G. Pott, Mrs. H. Turgeon and Mrs. M. Lacroix. League Chaplain, Rev. H. Noel, joined the members for the social hour which followed.

ST. PAUL'S LADIES GUILD

The members of St. Paul's Ladies Guild held their first fall meeting on Sept. 10.

Mrs. Delia Sangster, 1st vice president opened the meeting with the Guild prayer.

Nine members answered the roll call. Miss Maida Morrill from Somerset, B.C., who is visiting relatives and friends in the vicinity was welcomed. Several donations were received for the work table, including a Hudson Bay blanket and pair of hand made pillow slips. The drawing will take place at the Christmas sale and supper on November 29.

Mrs. Florence Lord reported on visiting Mrs. W. Caswell who is a resident of the Wales Home, Richmond. Card parties are to be held on October 16 and 30 in the afternoon. A rummage sale is planned for the 24th at 1:30 p.m. followed by the regular Guild meeting.

Rev. Donald Eustace closed the meeting with a prayer. Refreshments were served by the ladies. Two lovely Birthday cakes were made by Mrs. Hazel Buckland and Mrs. Florence Lord in honor of six of the Guild members who had celebrated birthdays during the summer holidays.

WOMEN'S MISSIONARY PRAYER GROUP

Mrs. Robert Paulette presided over the monthly meeting of the Grace Chapel's Women's Missionary Prayer Group on Sept. 8. The pianist for the evening was Mrs. Arthur Hill.

A poem entitled "Mary and Martha" was read by Mrs. Robert Paulette. Mrs. Arnold Faith read the secretary's report. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Arnold Baker, who also read several thank-you notes. The ladies were requested to do mending for Maplemont.

Two forthcoming events were announced, on Oct. 6, a banquet in Montreal of the "Montreal Christian Ladies Fellowship" and a coffee and dessert evening at Grace Chapel on Oct. 21 at 8 p.m.

Several ladies volunteered to write to missionaries. A report on the summer activities of Frontier Lodge was given by Mrs. Spencer Dibble and Miss Clara Suchard reported on Daily Vacation Bible School.

Mrs. Spencer Dibble, a missionary on furlough from Nigeria, presented the message of the evening entitled "What's wrong with our older generation?" Mrs. Dibble mentioned several legitimate complaints of our young people and suggested ways in which we could help them.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Robert Paulette, Mrs. Arnold Baker and Mrs. Ralph Coates.

MR. AND MRS. CEDRIC BAILEY JR., following their wedding on August 2, in St. Paul's Anglican Church, Mansonville. The bride is the former Elaine Carole Armstrong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bruce Armstrong, St. Laurent. Mr. Bailey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cedric Bailey, Sr., Highwater.

Bailey - Armstrong wedding

MANSONVILLE — The marriage of Miss Elaine Carole Armstrong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bruce Armstrong, St. Laurent, to Mr. Cedric Bailey Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Cedric Bailey, Sr., Highwater, took place Saturday August 2 in St. Paul's Anglican Church. Rev. J. H. M. Brett of Sutton officiated at the ceremony. Miss Marian Atwell provided the wedding music. Gladioli, mums and other summer flowers were used for decoration.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white satin empire line gown trimmed with pink satin ribbon and appliqued with organza lace and seed pearls. She wore a full-length veil of tulle illusion and carried a bouquet of carnations, Sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

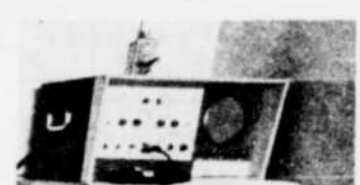

Mrs. Robert Nye, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Susan Armstrong and Miss M. Armstrong, also sisters, were bridesmaids. The matron of honor wore an Empire line gown of yellow dotted swiss, the bridesmaid with white satin, ribbon and a matching shoulder-length veil. The bridesmaids wore Empire line gowns of blue dotted swiss, with matching bows in their hair. They carried bouquets of white poms and baby's breath.

The best man was Mr. Peter Viltas and the ushers were Mr. Terry Willard and Mr. Murray Brown.

Mrs. Armstrong, mother of the bride, was in a soft pink coat dress ensemble with white accessories and a corsage of Sweetheart roses. Mrs. Bailey, mother of the groom, wore a pale blue arnel dress with three-quarter-length sleeves and matching accessories. Her corsage was of baby Sweetheart roses.

Following the reception, held at the Owl's Head Chalet, Vale Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Bailey motored to Niagara Falls and the United States. The bride travelled in a white English crimpknit suit trimmed with navy and red accessories and a gardenia corsage. They will reside in Dunkin, Que.

SH graduate praised

Many former patients of the Sherbrooke Hospital will have recognized a familiar face in a photograph which has appeared in recent issues of the coast-to-coast publications, "Star Weekly" and "The Canadian Magazine".

The photograph illustrates Michael Hanlon's article, "The Safest Place in the World", which describes his stay in the intensive care unit of the Oakville-Trafalgar Memorial Hospital. Prominently featured in his article is a member of the unit, a 1967 graduate nurse of the Sherbrooke Hospital School of Nursing, Mrs. Lovell Bourque, whom he describes as "Supernurse".

Mrs. Bourque, who was born in Coaticook, and who trained under her maiden name of Lovell Brown, is remembered by Sherbrooke Hospital's Director of Nursing Education, Mrs. Ruth Atto, as a consistently high calibre student who inspired confidence in her patients and made friends readily because of her warm personality.

Mr. Hanlon, in his interesting article, mentions Mrs. Bourque's abilities in glowing terms and it is understandably gratifying to the Teaching Staff of the Sherbrooke Hospital's School of Nursing that their graduates are distinguishing themselves.

Pink and blue shower

DANVILLE — A surprise baby shower was given to Mrs. Albert Gillim on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Lewis Fowler, with Mrs. Arlen Mastine as co-hostess.

Mrs. Gillim was presented with a corsage made of a pair of white baby booties and escorted to a chair behind a gaily decorated car-bed which was piled high with attractively wrapped gifts.

The guest of honor was assisted by her mother-in-law, Mrs. Bertha Hutton, in opening the gifts. Many useful and beautiful articles for the expected baby were revealed.

After the gifts had been put on display, Mrs. Gillim thanked everyone as well as the hostesses for their thoughtfulness. A game was played with Mrs. Ronald Evans receiving the prize. At the tea hour Mrs. Horace Williams was the holder of the lucky cup and saucer.

IODE plans meeting

The semi-annual meeting of the Provincial Chapter of Quebec, IODE, will be held on October 15 and 16, in Baldwin Hall, St. Johns, Quebec. King George Chapter will be the hostess Chapter. Opening ceremonies will be at 10:00 a.m.

Try Demure Feminine Hygiene Spray Deodorant and you'll know why it's called "The New Necessity".

I'VE FOUND I CAN ENJOY one of the pleasantest "little luxuries" of life with no strain on my budget. I like a good wine with dinner, so I serve budget-wise, delightful Brights MAZEL TOV wine. It's the "man's wine that women like" and it's always a big success. Made from sun-soaked Concord grapes, Mazel Tov is sweet but not cloying. I know you'll like everything about it, including the distinctive "decorator" decanter that's so handsome to serve from. Do buy and try a bottle of Mazel Tov... so much enjoyment for so little cost!

Beef to show little change

OTTAWA (CP) — Beef prices are expected to show little change in October, the agriculture department reports in its food outlook for the month.

The detailed outlook shows:

Pork — Prices may weaken somewhat with increased supplies.

Eggs — Supplies will increase but prices will be seasonally high.

Poultry meat — Supplies of broiler chicken will be plentiful and prices may be lower. Turkeys of all weights will be in adequate supply at firm to possibly higher prices.

Apples — Heavy supplies with weakening prices. Pears — A large crop and lower prices are in prospect.

Table grapes and cranberries — Supplies will be heavy in the East, with lower prices. Western supplies will be lighter and prices strong.

Potatoes — Larger supplies are expected with weaker prices.

Onions — Supplies lighter with stronger prices.

Cauliflower, brussels sprouts, rutabagas, pumpkins and squash will be in plentiful supply at seasonally low prices.

Family reunion a success

INVERNESS — A memorable event was observed here on July 27 when all the surviving members of the family of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Little, Belcher Range, and their friends, joined together to celebrate the reunion. Twenty-seven members of the Albert Little lineage were present.

The group attended the morning service in Christ Church in Lower Ireland, where the service was conducted by Capt. Warren Joslin. It was in the church that the entire family of the late Mr. and Mrs. Little were baptized and confirmed.

Following the service those present proceeded to the I.O.O.F. Hall in Inverness to enjoy a banquet. A poem, composed especially for the occasion by Mrs. Warren Joslin, was read by Capt. Joslin who proposed a toast to the Little family. Capt. Edgar Bailey, on behalf of the Little connection, replied voicing thanks for the many expressions of goodwill and friendship.

A social hour was enjoyed and several pictures of the group were taken by H. Woody Bailey, Montgomery, Minn.

In the evening the Littles and their friends attended a hymn sing service in the Church of the Ascension, conducted by Capt. W. Joslin, then returned to the I.O.O.F. Hall for refreshments and a friendly get-together.

Among those attending the event from out-of-town were Capt. and Mrs. Edgar (Laura) Bailey, Fairbault, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. H. Woody Bailey, Montgomery, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. Henry Little, Springfield, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leacock, Manchester, N.H., Mr. and Mrs. John Fletcher, Goffstown, N.H., Mr. and Mrs. Howard Little, granddaughter, Patsy Little, and Mrs. E. Kelly, Lyndonville, Vt., Mr. and Mrs. Russell Little, and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Allan Brethorn, Mrs. Ann Little and Lauralie, Lennoxville and others from the Belcher Range, Leeds, Adderley, and Inverness.

One highlight for a family attending the Little reunion was an interesting trip enjoyed by the Bailey family when E. W. and Mrs. Bailey, Warsaw, Minn., accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. H. Woody Bailey, Montgomery, Minn., were en route to Canada. They travelled to Milwaukee, crossed Lake Michigan on the Clipper to Weeskegon, Mich., then down through Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Vermont and New Hampshire, visiting relatives and friends in Goffstown and Manchester, N.H. for five days, then through the White Mountains to visit friends and relatives at Lyndonville, Vt. Here the Baileys saw once again the old school where E. W. Bailey attended in his boyhood days, then on to Inverness where they visited for several days and attended the reunion of the Little Clan.

Following the reunion, they proceeded to visit relatives at Sherbrooke, Lennoxville, Waterloo, Marlboro, and Thetford Mines. The Baileys returned home by way of the Canadian route via London, Ont., crossing into the United States at Detroit, Mich. H. Woody Bailey left Canada with his parents in 1933. It was his first visit to his former home and he found many changes over the years.

Activities at Stanstead College

HOWARD, Movie Making, Tom Russell, Electronics, Jim McMullen.

Help Session is well organized this year for students. This is periods of individual instruction in academic subjects. Two days a week for general instruction and four days a week for a particular need in a subject or subjects. Also each teacher is academic advisor for nine or ten students and will keep "eyes on" the month subject basis" and advise the boy. This was tried to some extent last year with a degree of success, this year it is expected to be very beneficial through better organization.

Something else new this year is staff family Sunday dinners with the students. Mrs. Donald Prangley is the new Alumni secretary and a news letter will be sent out this month. The first meeting of the Alumni for this season was Sept. 17 and was attended by Headmaster Raymond Lester, Mr. Lester also attended a meeting of the Executive Board of Trustees in the College Sept. 18.

Bilingual version of O Canada sung by Stanbridge East WI

STANBRIDGE EAST — The regular meeting of the Stanbridge East WI was held Sept. 4 at the home of Mrs. T. S. Davitt. The opening featured the new Salute to the Flag and singing of the bilingual version of O Canada.

The president, Mrs. C. Rhicard, welcomed the guests, extending a special welcome to Mrs. R. Harris, a former resident, who now makes her home in Edmonton. Members and three guests answered the roll call. Name a Canadian city beginning with your first initial.

Correspondence included a letter from Premier Bertrand in reply to a letter from the Branch re the Government grant to the McLennan Travelling Library being cancelled. Mr. Bertrand thanked us for the letter, saying that it would be brought to the attention of his colleagues directly concerned and that the Quebec Women's Institute's request will be carefully studied.

Conveners' reports: Citizenship. Mrs. Shepardson had brought a copy of a Special Issue of CANADA 200, a bilingual publication of the Department of State. It is to replace the previous magazine, the CITIZEN, and will be published on a quarterly basis, with the purpose of keeping its readers informed of issues and developments in the social aspects of Canadian life. It may be obtained free by sending name and address to the above department, 130 Slater Street, Ottawa. For home economics, Mrs. Davitt read an article telling of a Japanese Canadian, Susan Chew, who makes and sends exotic Canadian flowers around the world. Due to her concern re fire hazard, Dennison Company now produce a fireproof crepe of which she makes her flowers.

Publicity. Mrs. Tremblay read a 1922 report on the organization of the Stanbridge East Branch WI in 1921 and of the many activities carried out in its first year. Welfare and health. Mrs. Woods, read some orange juice for better health from a paper given at the International Conference of Social Psychiatry held in London, England.

In the absence of Mrs. F. Corey, agriculture convener, Mrs. Rhicard gave the report of the winners in the Special Classes sponsored by the Branch at Bedford Fair. Judges were Mrs. G. Wescott and Mrs. G. Wescott and Mrs. H. Yates. Prize winners were as follows: Three leaves, mounted and named: SENIOR, Kerry Jess; Maureen Miller; David Enright; Wane Enright; JUNIOR, Josie Tremblay; Lynn Rhicard; Anna Mae Shanks; Cheryl Langlois; Kim Tremblay; Stuart Langlois.

Bouquet of Wild Flowers: named: SENIOR: Sheila Enright, Harella Harvey, Danny Harvey. JUNIOR: Conrad Rhicard, Annie Rhicard, Lynn Rhicard, Anna Mae Shanks, Robert Enright, Stuart Langlois.

2 p.m. Mrs. Gage and Mrs. Creller were in charge of the tea. The meeting was turned over to Mrs. Shepardson, citizenship convener, who had a copy of the program. She read a copy of the letter she had been asked to write Glen Brown, MNA and the letter she had received in reply which also contained the agenda of a meeting held in Brome County during the recent strike of construction workers, asking for any comments we might like to make. It was decided to send for Bill 21 for the edification of the members and at least one suggestion is to be sent in reply. The Branch will again sponsor the collection for UNICEF on Halloween night, but has decided to discontinue the sale of Christmas cards. A contest Name the 10 provinces of Canada with their premiers, was won by Mrs. Tremblay, who was presented with a prize by Mrs. Shepardson. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. K. Smith and Mrs. J. Wanzer and Mrs. Davitt who was assisted in serving by her granddaughter, Miss Darlene Davitt. A social hour was enjoyed after the tea.

Before you get into too much hot water, read this...

Fact 1: You can buy a family-sized, Cascade electric hot water heater for much less than other types of water heaters.

Fact 2: The average family (4 persons) uses less than 40 gallons of hot water a day. (So why pay for the over-ability to heat 2,000 gallons per day?)

Fact 3: If your family is NOT average, and you have peak hours of extraordinary hot water use, a 60-gallon CASCADE is more than enough for your needs.

For example, let's suppose you do a big wash, bath two children, and use up another 10 gallons in various ways all in one hour. Let's even rush things and have you take a bath, too. (And leave the tap running a bit!) All in that same hour. Have you any idea how much hot water you will have used?

Would you believe:

- one big washing — 28 gallons
- three baths — 30 gallons
- odds and suds — 10 gallons

Total: 68 gallons (That's all!)

And our 60-gallon CASCADE would supply 73 gallons of good hot water during that hour.

Fact 4: For most of family-users, however, our CASCADE 40 (40 gallons) is all the hot water heater they need.

Facts 5-6-7-8: The CASCADE is very economical, because it's designed to supply family needs, not a carwash!

The CASCADE is very practical. It's so compact, you don't need a special room or compartment for it.

The CASCADE is extra-safe. Flameless. Worry-free.

The CASCADE is extra-clean. Odorless. Leaves no deposit of any kind.

However you figure it, the CASCADE is the most logical, efficient and thrifty hot water heater you can possibly buy.

Ask your local supplier for the exact Cascade electric water heater for your needs. Or call the Sales Department of Hydro-Quebec.

now at your

MERCURY DEALER'S

Choose your car from the greatest Mercury lineup ever.

Montego & Cyclone '70

Two new lines of cars with all new engineering performance and styling.

Cyclone and Montego: two exciting, totally-new entries from Mercury that are right between the big cars and the compacts. The styling is completely new with bold, sweeping lines. The performance is hot with engines that range from a lively 250 cubic inch Six to a hot 429 4-barrel V8. The choice is exceptional with models to meet every need. Montego offers four sleek hardtops, three elegant sedans and two great station wagons. Cyclone offers three ideas to take performance enthusiasts by storm: Cyclone, Cyclone GT and, the hottest of them all, Cyclone Spoiler.

See Montego and Cyclone. They're young... exciting... and very new.

Within every new Montego lives the soul of Cyclone.

Marquis '70

The medium price car with the most dramatic styling since Continental Mark III.

Marquis for 1970 is a masterpiece of dramatic lines and rich appointments that speak of automobiles in a far more expensive class. Hidden headlights, 390 CID V8 engine, rich wood-grain interior accents, full deep pile carpeting, incomparable ride and effortless handling, are all standard on Marquis. Choose Marquis or Marquis Brougham in 2 or 4 door hardtop or 4 door sedan. Two wagons: Marquis and Marquis Colony Park, Canada's most luxurious station wagon.

Mercury Meteor '70

The strong silent one. Coming on strong.

Mercury Meteor comes on for 1970 with more solid beauty and more quiet comfort than ever before. This year, Mercury Meteor is the only car in the popular price class to offer a V8 engine as standard equipment in every model. 15 beautiful models to choose from. The strong, silent one takes a back seat to no one for spacious room, smooth, quiet ride and distinctive styling. Drive a Mercury Meteor and you'll discover what "pride of ownership" really means.

The new Mercury Meteor is unquestionably one of the best total car values of the year. Now's the time for the coming-on-strong car to come into your life.

Mercury Cougar '70

The one to catch.

Cougar leaps into 1970 with a bold new grille, lean sculptured sides and dramatic rear styling. Cougar offers items as standard equipment that are options on many others. 351 cubic inch V8. Sporty floor-mounted shift. Hidden headlights. Sequential turn signals. All standard equipment.

Catch Cougar this year in one of three versions: Cougar and XR7 in hardtop, sunroof coupe and convertible models and the powerful new Cougar Eliminator hardtop that you can gear for action with the optional 4-speed Hurst shifter.

Maverick '70

The best-selling car of the 70's - still at 1960 prices.

Maverick plugs the gap between compacts and imports. Repairs are quick, easy, low-cost, with the only do-it-yourself-Owner's Manual. 105 hp and 3-speed fully-synchronized transmission are standard. Automatic transmission optional.

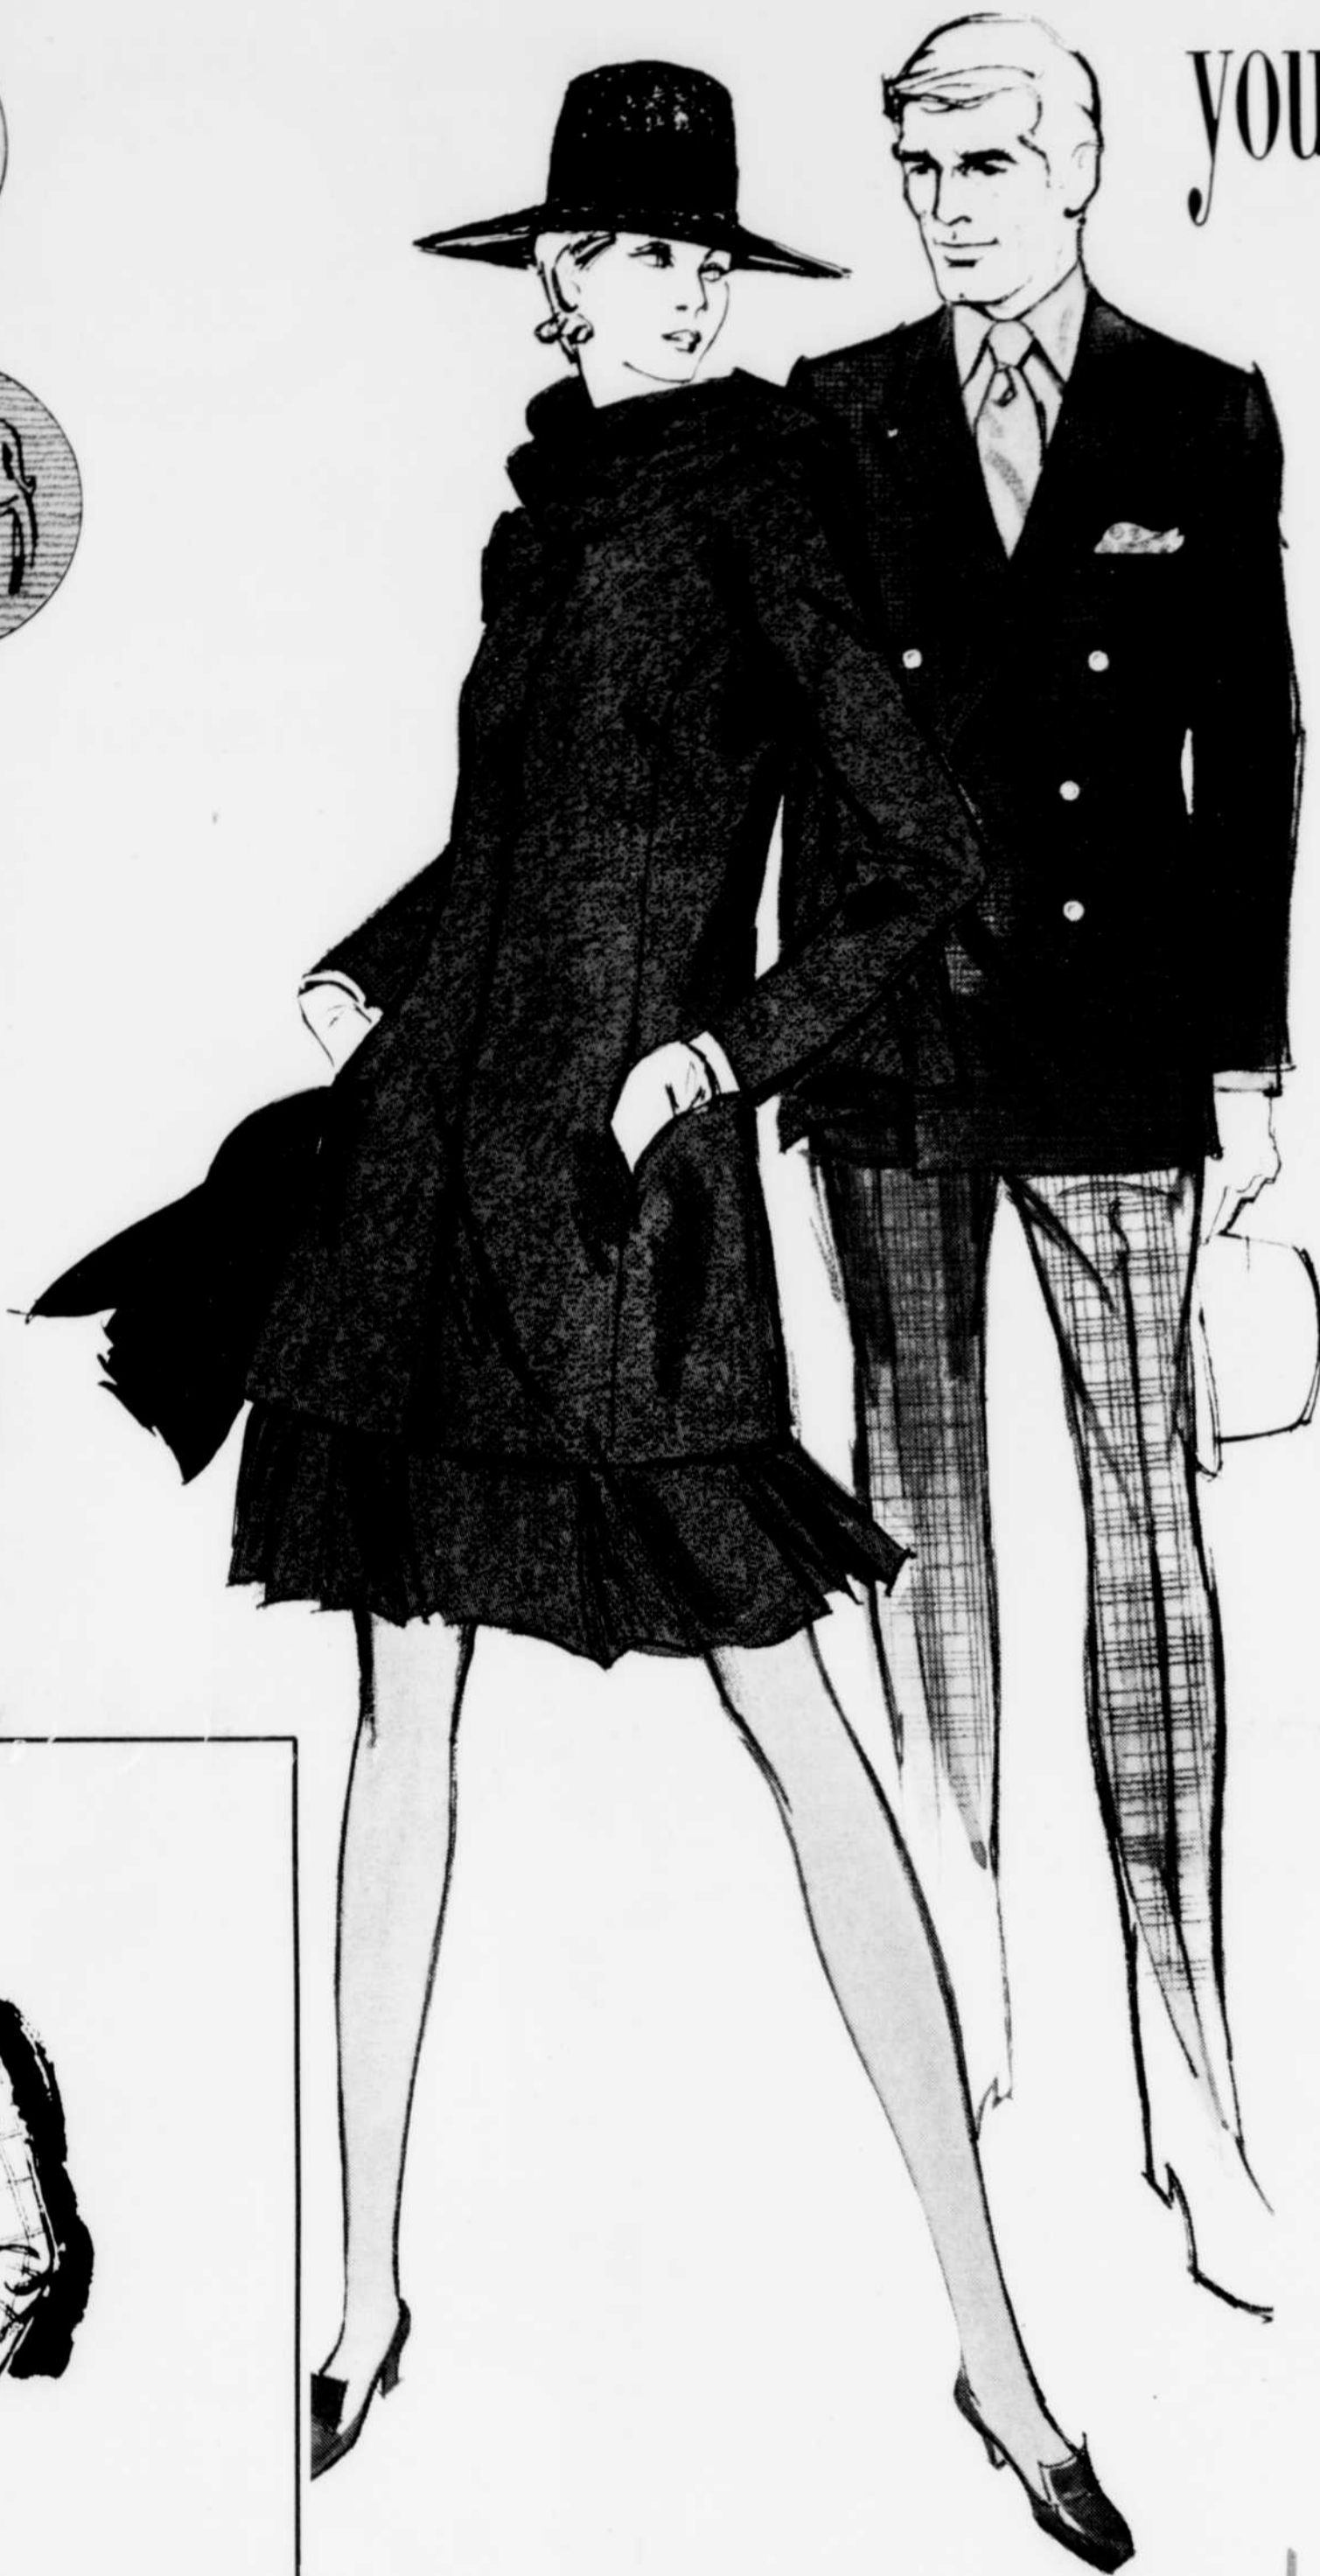

See Maverick before you buy any economy car.

Step into 1970 today... at the sign of action.

Take 10 Minutes for a Refreshing Beauty Bath

Do you believe that an hour long daily beauty bath - like finger painting - is something you will only have time for when the children are grown up, or you retire from the office?

Beauty experts don't doubt that most women probably haven't time for an elaborate bath time ritual. But they do insist that ten minutes a day following this tested method will relax, revive and re-beautify your skin, muscles and mood. Helene Curtis experts recommend that you . . .

Set the kitchen timer to ring after 7 minutes.

STEP ONE: Draw your bath water and make sure that it is warm, but not too hot.

STEP TWO: Before getting into the tub, bend over from the waist and (keeping your head well down) let your body go limp.

STEP THREE: When you feel your muscles beginning to relax from the "raggedy doll" bend, climb into the tub, adjust the water to increase the warmth, and stretch out. The tub should be brim full before you turn off the water.

STEP FOUR: Prop up feet on the ledge of the tub so that they are slightly above the level of your head. Soak your washcloth in clear water and fold it over your eyes to blot out the world. Relax - deeply - until the timer rings.

STEP FIVE: Then soap briskly and open the tub drain. Turn on the water again, this time creating a cooler mixture. As you rinse splash liberally with cooler water, particularly on face, neck and arms.

STEP SIX: Envelop yourself in the terry towel that has been warming while you soaped. Then puff on Tender Touch Aerosol Foam Moisturizer all over to be sure you keep your skin soothed and smoothed throughout the day.

Reg. borrow, or steal ten minutes for this daily renaissance and you can smile smugly at the teenager in the house who locks herself in for an hour.

EARLY AMERICAN YELLOW: Warm colors are ideal for bathrooms with cold, north light exposures. You can carry out an Early American theme with natural wood and pottery accessories. A bamboo screen makes a practical rack for guest and hand towels in several shades of yellow and amber.

Remove Eye Make-up Easily

If eye makeup is difficult to remove - and when isn't it! - try the new way to remove it. A new Rinse Off Cold Cream by Pacquin is gentle and does not remove natural oils as it removes even stubborn cosmetics. Smooth it on and take off eye makeup either with tissues or with a wet washcloth, if you like the fresh feeling of water. The cream does wonders for skin, too.

End the Red-Eye Look

No amount of eye makeup can conceal fatigue or disguise it. Remember, the only attractive eyes are bright eyes. The makers of Visine recommend eye drops for removing redness from eyes, soothing them,

Make it a practice to have regular eye examinations at least every two years. And over forty, have eyes checked without fail every year.

FASHION'S NEWEST PET, the long scarf "tied together" - a whole new fashion mood of careful casualness. Heading North, South, East or West, the way to go is the way of plaid. More than a look, the new plaid is a whole new mood - casual, carefully thrown together. The Fall play is patterned plaids in green/blue/tan, joined to a long solid green bodice . . . by Russ.

SHAPERY IN SLIPS AND SLEEPWEAR PLAYS UP NEW ALL-GIRL LOOK

Fashion is undecided about looks and lengths, but one thing is sure: fit is "in". And as fashion goes, so goes under-fashion.

The chemise is giving way to fit in lingerie: to slips with shaped bodies in crepe-like fabrics as well as in tricot and taffeta; to slips cut like 1920's dance dresses with a low swing into godets; to slips fitted like dresses themselves, in the colors of ready-to-wear. In half-slips, the story is movement - via flounces and ruffles and pleats - to give bounce to mini-length dirndls and grace to midi-length gowns.

There are lots of culottes and pantslips to wear under pantsuits and dresses. Short and tailored, or full and soft, leggy lingerie can be had in prints and plain colors to coordinate with outerwear. The shape theme carries over from daytime to sleep-time, in slinky pajamas and gowns with a Thirties look, and in spare contemporary shapes that are body-related. Examples of the latter are T-shirts with matching boy shorts, in stretch fabrics.

Sleepwear takes an opposite view in a wave of Victorianism: in midis and maxis that are cover-up as can be; in ruffled nightshirts; in smocks and little-girl gowns in the prettiest of prints and the softest of fabrics.

Gray is a color that appears frequently in lingerie for Fall,

HOW TO BE YOUR MOST PROVOCATIVE SELF...

Fall Fashion 29 Picture Noted for Contrasts ... Revolution

The new fall-fashion season is underway and one trend already is evident: this is a year for each woman to make her own decisions about what's "in."

The choices are wide-ranging in a fashion world filled with contrasts. Several designers are showing the leather look. It ranges from leather pants suits and skirts to traditional suede coats. At the same time, other designers are going all out for clingy, fluid fabrics that imitate the 1940's with soft touches such as shirring and bias cuts.

Tunic and tights are being shown in some shops, while others are going all out for the frilly, little girl look. If suits are your favorite, you'll find everything from short, vest-like jackets to the long, long line.

Early reports indicate that even skirt lengths are a matter of choice: mini, midi or maxi. Some women will try all three.

But certain trends are emerging that may create problems. No matter what your decision is about the length of your skirts in 1968, a good looking pair of legs is a necessity. Patterned stockings and colored stockings make it even more important.

Then there's the return of the waistline. Belts are back with a bang — in everything from crushed leather to metal chains. If you've been letting your waist go unnoticed in the shapeless tents, A-lines, and shifts of the past several years a bit of shaping up may be in order.

TWO WIGLETS create a cascade of corkscrew curls in this hairdo. Selected at the designer salon, these human hair pieces are making high-styled headway in the fall fashion scene. Fashion Wiglets by Helene Curtis.

'INSTANT' LONG HAIR 31 WITH QUICKIE WIGLETS

If you took the short cut through summer, you can have long hair in time for fall.

The fashion trick isn't done with secret formulas, say the experts at Helene Curtis, but with a group of wiglets designed to add the long-haired look to shorter coiffures.

Called Fashion Wiglets, the new collection of real-hair pieces is making its debut exclusively in salons, where the hairdresser's professional know-how and advice will be helpful in choosing a perfect match for a woman's own hair.

they're the most versatile length to create fall's fashionable style variations.

For instance, you might like try one, even two wiglets, all an elongated ringlets, swinging to the shoulders. Or, for an easy change in an everyday hair do, a Fashion Wiglette may be worn in a swirl at the top adding a crowning touch to shorter coiffures.

Tightly curled or gracefully unfurled, your wiglet may well become one of the most essential — and beautiful — fashion accessories for fall.

Clothes of the 38 Future May Be 'Too Much' (...or too little)

If you want a look into the "clothing of the future" consider some imaginative innovations seen recently at a showing in New York. For example: a vinyl suit developed to ward off foul weather, it delights the eye with its bright yellow and fuchsia hues. There is an intricate pattern of cooling coils inside a jacket that matches Op art. And there is the Osmosis Helmet; it is a standard Army helmet fitted with four-inch vibrating "peace-engine" and self-contained power pack, and hums lazily away in the wearer's ear.

When we consider that noise is increasingly on the crescendo, and the number-two environmental problem of the Cities, this is certainly not to be dismissed lightly.

There is also a dress covered with illuminated photographs that flash on and off in sequence, providing the illusion of a dance taking place across the surface of the dress. A jacket which flashes on and off in vivid, Pop-art colors, is on the same beam, and a belt hides a mounted speaker.

A dress made of aluminum with a polished mirror finish zings the hand quite as much as pure silk, and carries a bracelet complete with repair scissors. More indicative of the future is a fabric dress which takes shape at the same time its material is created, eliminating the steps of cutting and sewing.

In drawings and plans for clothes as yet unmade but clearly ahead, a designer proposes a dress with an "inflatable tail to form seat."

UNDER-FASHIONS 'PLAY PEEK'... 34 SHOULD BE SEEN

Short skirts are on the fashion scene to stay — at least through Fall.

Unmindful of mid-length models, the skirt of the season stops short and requires just the right under-dressing to keep it looking feminine and fashionable.

Gearing up for the leggy look does not mean shifting out of modesty; in fact, high hemlines this fall succeed in looking both modest and modern in a rare combination that calls for more color than caution.

The trick is accomplished with well-designed under-fashions in vivid shades — meant to be seen in place of the inch or two of leg that formerly peeked between girdle and hose.

Everything that used to be classified unmentionable is now not only open for fashion discussion but careful selection with an eye to being seen. Designers at Gossard have created a variety of new mentionables that are meant to play peek-a-boo under fall fashion — and win at the game.

One soon-to-be-well-known twosome on this new under-dressing scene is called the Pantie-Duo — a team of sheer, shaded pantie hose and a color-coordinated spandex brief.

Look for a variety of brightly new prints to come peeking out in fashion, too. There's one to match your every mood or costume — serene "paradise" patterns in shades of deep pink and blue for example, or youthful, bright "flower talk" designs or the sophisticated geometrics of "black diamond." All the prints pair up in fit-together bras, girdles, briefs, and slips.

So color up, and throw caution to the winds. In a very modest mood this fall, fashion is bent on covering you up with wonderful new lingerie looks for all the world to see.

Heavy men — either short or tall — should avoid: soft hat finishes, shirts with tab or spread collars, plaid patterns, fabrics like hopsack, flannels or tweeds, and narrow ties (which look out of proportion to the build). Recommended are: dark hats, lower long points or a button-down collar without flare.

How Men Can Minimize 17 Stature Faults

Women are fortunate — at least from a man's point of view. There are countless things they can do to correct Nature's inequities. If they're too short, they put on heels and heap up their hair. If they are too tall, there are other hair styles and hat heels to help them appear shorter.

If they're uncurvaceous, there is always padding. If the reverse is true, there are special things to take care of that, too.

Men, who cannot use such subterfuges, seemingly have little they can do to compensate. But actually this is not true, according to Hart Schaffner & Marx, well-known men's clothing manufacturer. Men with special problems should note how certain patterns, fabrics and styling can minimize a fault. The question is: which patterns, fabrics, and styling?

Funny you should ask. Here's the rundown.

Tall, slender men should avoid: hats with very narrow brims, suits with bold stripes, shirts with low or long-point collars, narrow ties (which, incidentally, aren't good fashion anymore anyway). Recommended are: hats with medium brims and low crowns, shirts with either a flared button-down, tab, pinned or spread collar, ties three inches wide (or wider) with a figured pattern or stripe; and plaid, check, hopsack, tweed and other bulky fabrics.

The shorter man should avoid: bulky fabrics, plaid and light-toned fabrics, widespread collars on shirts, and low hat crowns. Recommended are: striped and dark fabrics with smooth finishes, shorter jackets and topcoats, long-point shirt collars, narrower hat brims.

will the real red please stand up?

The Real Red is big fashion for all. It is a vibrant, true red. One designer likes the Red coat... the Red print... the Red velvet dinner dress... but newest of all is his area Red. He takes black wool gabardine and wraps it up with Real Red suede. Red accessories follow suit... especially the red bag and belt, trimmed with silver or gold. Red looks right... with the long plaid scarf and beret. Look for: Red leather... tilted bag trimmed with silver buckle and held with a shoulder strap... with a belt to match.

JUMPSUIT goes where the action is, in perfect comfort, and with new chic for fall. This one was designed by Jeanmarie Volk for Doodles... it's a Wear-Dated Acrylic acrylic all-in-one wonder by Monsanto.

LEG WATCHERS WILL APPRECIATE the super-sleekness panty hose separates give pretty legs shown to advantage in fall's short skirts. Panty Plus Hose lets you choose sizes in panty and hip-high stockings. Unique hold-band cuffs on the panty keep hose securely in place. By Beauty Mist.

Hair Styles Reflect Fall Fashion Glow

To avoid a case of fall fade-out, you will want to brighten up your face and hair to complement the fashion scene. Use blusher liberally — perhaps the kind with iridescent flakes. Let your eyes dazzle with the new, soft and colorful shadows. And give your hair shade a brightening — or even a total new look. Today's easy-to-use hair tints can help you achieve the dash you need to show yourself to best advantage. John H. Brock, Inc., recently introduced a new Hair Color to help you obtain your choice of hair shades in the safest possible way. It is a shampoo-in product that contains the conditioners which have made the famous Shampoo a favorite. Because of the conditioners, this hair color is thicker and richer than other shampoo-in products. Even touch-ups are easier with the practically "dripless" formula.

You might want to brighten hair faded by the summer sun with Golden Amber Blonde. Perhaps you'd like to completely cover any gray before plunging into a modern mini — if so, select the shade closest to your own. If your hair looks mossy beside the newest fashions, warm it up with Light Brown or Light Golden Blonde.

Provincial president pays visit to Wilhelmina Lodge

SAWYERVILLE — A regular meeting of Wilhelmina Rebekah Lodge, No. 23, was held on Sept. 2 with 14 present. Noble Grand Sis Freda Langworth presided. Members were pleased to have Assembly President, Sis. Isabella Beattie, make her official visit. She was accompanied by Bro. L. Beattie, her brother Sis. Beattie was introduced by Sis. Irene McCallum. After receiving the Honors of the degree Sis. Olive Twyman pinned on a corsage and seated her to the right of the Noble Grand. Sis. Twyman presented a corsage to Sis. Langworth, and also gave a corsage to Sis. Mamie Matthew while Sis. McCallum presented one to Sis. Pearl Flaws, two of the older sisters. A monologue was given by Sis. Matthew and was much enjoyed. Sis. Beattie in her talk said not to be afraid to show the light of Oddfellowship, do deeds of kindness. It doesn't take long to give a word of cheer here and there and a smile helps to brighten the day of the aged. Sis. Langworth presented the president with a gift. Sis. Beattie expressed her thanks and wished the Lodge all the best. Bro. Beattie said he was glad to attend and complimented the Lodge on a very nice lodge room. A social hour was spent and refreshments were served by the hostesses. Sisters Olive Twyman, Hilda Berwick and Abbie French, assisted by several of the other sisters.

Four of the West Division teams even up in the loss column; Mets blank Expos

Dodgers unable to hold down first, lose to Braves

Los Angeles lead the National League West Division race for a while Wednesday, but Hank Aaron's homer fouled up the whole thing for the Dodgers.

The veteran outfielder clobbered his 42nd homer of the season leading off the 12th inning Wednesday night to give Atlanta Braves a 6-5 victory over the Dodgers.

That ended Los Angeles' eight-hour tenure as head of the tight divisional chase and put the Braves back into the lead role they had lost only the night before.

Actually, the Braves were the third team to lead the race at one time or another Wednesday.

San Francisco Giants started off the day in the No. 1 spot, but dropped to second behind the Dodgers after losing a 2-1 afternoon decision to Houston.

Then Atlanta's victory shoved the Dodgers from first to third, a half-game back of San Francisco and one game back of the Braves.

REDS CLOSE BEHIND
Cincinnati, meanwhile, is just a half-game behind the Dodgers after clubbing San Diego 10-5.

All four of the leaders are even in the loss column, with 67 each.

Over in the NL East race, New York Mets held on to their four-game lead by blanking Montreal 5-0, while second-place Chicago stopped Philadelphia 9-7.

Pittsburgh nipped St. Louis 4-2 in the other NL game.

The Dodgers, who had been only percentage points back of the West leader since the first of the month but never in first until Wednesday, used a two-run triple by Jim Lefebvre in the bottom of the eighth to tie it 5-5.

Lefebvre was thrown out on the plate when he tried to score on an overthrow from the outfield for what would have been the winning run.

The Braves had grabbed a 5-3 lead in the top of the inning on a two-out double by Gil Garrido and pitcher George Stone's run-scoring single.

Larry Dierker became the first 20-game winner in the history of Houston Astros and Jim Wynn and Doug Rader backed him with solo homers in beating San Francisco.

HITS SPILL PADRES
Tony Perez knocked in three runs with three hits and Alex Johnson, Tommy Helms, Pete Rose and Woody Woodward each collected three hits in a 20-hit attack that spilled San Diego.

Jerry Koosman scattered six hits as the Mets won their 12th in 13 games in reducing their magic number for winning the East title to 10.

Ron Snowboda's single and Wayne Garrett's two-run single netted the Mets three runs in the sixth inning, helping himself to his 20th victory, as the Cubs staggered to only their third triumph in their last 14 games.

The Chatham, Ont., native, who fanned six to break by one his own Cub season record of 260, became the first Chicago hurler in 50 years to post three successive 20-game winning seasons.

Rookie Al Oliver's 17th homer, a two-run smash in the eighth, gave Pittsburgh its victory over the Cards.

A 23-year-old rookie pitcher from Bradford, Ont., threw a five-hitter Wednesday and struck out 13 Cleveland batters to give Detroit Tigers a 5-0 shutout over the Indians.

Mike Kilkenny, a left hander, pushed his record to 6-5. He had a no-hitter going until Vern Fuller doubled with two out in the fifth.

The Tigers got two runs in the first on a double by Jim Northrup with Tom Tresh on Northrup scored on a wild pitch by Gary Boyd.

The Tigers added three more in the eighth on Tom Matchick's groundout after consecutive singles by Norm Cash and Willie Horton and a pair of bases-loaded walks by reliever Ron Law.

Elsewhere, Oakland Athletics stayed in the running for the West Division pennant as they downed Kansas City Royals 3-2 in 10 innings. The division leading Minnesota Twins, meanwhile, lost to California Angels 6-4.

The Athletics remained nine games back of the Twins with 14 games to play.

Chicago White Sox swept a doubleheader from Seattle Pilots 6-4 and 2-1 and New York Yankees nipped Washington Senators 2-1. The Baltimore Orioles at Boston game was rained out.

Oakland led 2-1 in the ninth when Mike Fiore doubled, moved up to third on a fly ball and, with two out, scored the equalizer on Jim Hunter's wild pitch.

SINGLE BREAKS TIE
But Bob Johnson, pinch hitting for Hunter, started the 10th with a single. Bert Campaneris also singled and after Rick Monday bunted into a force out at third, Bob Brooks broke the tie with a single.

It was the third hit for the 5-foot-8½" outfielder, recently called up from the minors, who had slammed his second major league homer in the third inning.

Southpaw Fritz Peterson limited Washington to two hits and stroked two singles himself, scoring the winning run on a fifth inning single by Roy White.

Paul Lindblad checked the Royals in the bottom of the 10th, preserving the victory for Hunter and clinching at least a second place finish for the Athletics.

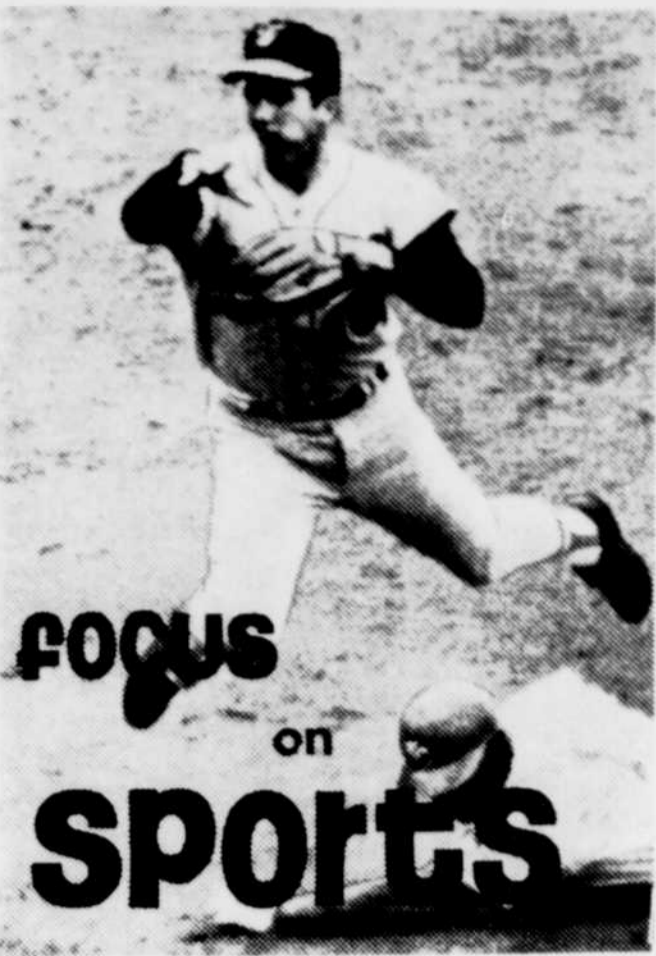

The Angels roughed up Dean Chance in the early innings and held off Minnesota behind Ken Tatum's clutch relief pitching. Jay Johnstone paced the California attack with three singles.

Tatum rescued winner Tom Murphy in the seventh, when the Twins struck for three runs to close the gap.

Billy Wynne hurled a four-hitter as the White Sox extended a four-game winning string. Bobby Knop's sacrifice fly in the second inning scored Bob Christian, who had doubled, with the deciding run.

Bob Spence's first hit in the majors, two-run single, sparked Chicago's first game triumph, which went to southpaw Gerry Nyman with a bullpen assist from Wilbur Wood.

Southpaw Fritz Peterson limited Washington to two hits and stroked two singles himself, scoring the winning run on a fifth inning single by Roy White.

Driver of the Month Wendle Mosher

Wendle Mosher, of Ayer's Cliff, walked off with the driving honors for the month of August at the Sherbrooke Race Track with a healthy 412 average and won the O'Keefe award.

It was the first time Mosher ever won such an honor. He chalked up nine first with right seconds and three third-place finishes for his average of 412.

Mosher is having a fine season at the local track and is staging a real battle for the "Driver of the Year" honors. Each month O'Keefe's Brewery presents a

Referees may have long wait

Twenty National Hockey League officials who have adopted a "wait-and-see-if-they-can-do-without-us" policy in their fight for recognition of their association may have an uncomfortable wait.

The wait-and-see attitude was announced at a news conference in Toronto Wednesday by lawyer Joe Kane, spokesman for the 13 referees and seven linesmen who walked out of a training camp in Brantford Monday.

The group is demanding NHL recognition of their National Hockey League Referees' and Linesmen's Association. Kane said:

"But in Montreal Wednesday, NHL president Clarence Campbell quickly blew the whistle on the officials' representative.

"To suggest all they are seeking is recognition of their association is not correct," Campbell said.

He said Kane had an opposite view at a Sept. 2 meeting with referee-in-chief Scotty Morrison.

"At that time he (Kane) said the officials were agreeable that official recognition was not important."

Campbell said the officials at that time wanted only "some kind of representative committee to meet with the referee-in-chief and league supervisors to consider complaints."

SOUGHT SALARY BOOST
He said that at the Sept. 2 meeting with Morrison, the officials asked for a minimum salary increase of 25 per cent across the board over last year's earnings, fully-funded pensions for all officials in all leagues to be paid in full by the NHL, similarly-financed group medical and life insurance plans, and "numerous lesser requests."

"The referee-in-chief was authorized to advise them that we would recommend the same financial provision for referees and linesmen as had been provided for the players—pensions, group life and health insurance—in respect to their NHL services."

"They were advised the association would not be officially recognized and that there would be no 25-per-cent increase across the board. Our position from that time has not changed.

the regular-season opening Oct. 11.

"They have two referees and three linesmen from last year's staff," said Kane. "They also have 1,298 games to handle this year. We are hoping they can't do without us."

Campbell said the NHL governors decided not to recognize the officials' association for two reasons:

"One, the nature of the job. The employment itself requires the utmost independence and absolute freedom from influence by anyone."

"Secondly, at the same time as request for recognition was received and submitted to the governors, there was a list of 17 topics which might be the subject of discussion between the officials and the league."

"In the form it was presented, it was meaningless."

DIDN'T GIVE DETAILS
Campbell said Kane gave assurance he would provide full details on each of the 17 subjects in time for a governor's meeting Aug. 21, but "he never did so and never has done so to date."

Campbell's statement regarding pensions appeared to satisfy one of the officials' main complaints. Kane said Wednesday the referees and linesmen had been pressing for pension plans paid for completely by the NHL, as is done for players.

The officials were also unhappy with salaries and the current system of contracts under which officials are guaranteed only 75 per cent of the previous year's income.

Kane said he believes the minimum salary paid an official last season was $4,800 for handling 90 games.

Campbell said salaries last season ranged from "over $24,000 excluding all fringe benefits," to $11,000, "an increase of 32½ per cent for the same people from the previous season."

The 20 holdouts, which include veterans Bill Friday, Vern Buffey and Bruce Hood, are training independently in Toronto.

The five who did not join the walkout are Art Skov, John Ashley, Neil Armstrong, Matt Pavlich and Claude Bechard.

Wendle Mosher was tagged with five programs for his unsatisfactory drive with Queen's Paragon in the third race. Yvon Geneau, driving Janice Bel in the third race Sunday afternoon, was tagged with three-days for his slow half going only 1:09.

Ralph Babin with Pat Diamond was fined for interfering in the tenth race Sunday afternoon. He finished first but was set back to eighth by the judges Jean-Paul Courchesne with Red Adam in the first dash was tagged with a fine also for a slow half.

In most cases the judges figured that the drivers could have given a better performance than they did. Georges-Emile Houle, presiding judge, prior to the races, issued an order to settle down and go to the races but some of the boys failed to heed this and hence the reason for so many fines and suspensions. The same method will be used from now on for those who fail to give their best at all times.

Little league baseball banquet-October 5

By TED ANDERSON

Little League Baseball has just finished its eighteenth year and at a meeting held this week final plans were laid for the Sher-Lenn Little League closing Banquet, which will be held on October 5th at the New Wellington Hotel when team and player awards will be made.

President Harry Kouri in his remarks at the meeting stated that he was satisfied at the way things went during the season just closed and that Managers, Coaches and players lived up to the standard of Little League. He paid tribute to Chief Umpire Don Kinsley for the splendid work of the umpires during the season and hoped that Don and his staff would be back again when next year rolls around.

The success of the Sher-Lenn Little League is due mostly to the interest of the Service Clubs who sponsor the teams he further stated, team managers and coaches who take so much time and effort in teaching the youngsters the fundamentals of baseball. The league has been fortunate in always having this caliber of men on its organization.

It is noteworthy that Asbestos are now operating a Little League and that the town of Magog may next season apply for a franchise. Little League is growing by leaps and bounds in the Townships and their presence will soon be known across the country.

Those interested in attending the Banquet may obtain tickets at the door.

Fines, suspensions handed down by judges - Sher

The judges at the Sherbrooke Race Track cracked down following the weekend program and handed out five suspensions and five fines to the drivers.

Rock Duclos, of St. Bernard, was the hardest hit when he was banished for the balance of the season from the Sherbrooke Race Track. The judges figured he was playing with Eva Adios in the tenth race and he was ordered off the track.

In the main event Saturday evening in the ninth race two drivers were hit. Yvon Poirier, driving John Winchell, was tagged with a heavy fine for his slow first quarter. Gilles Jutras with Duke Crain drew five racing programs for his slow half going the distance in 1:07.

In the opening dash Saturday Aime Morin, teaming Success Tess, was sat down for four programs for his slow performance. Laurent Hebert with Lady Good in the second drew three racing programs for his slow effort.

Your Horoscope

FOR FRIDAY, SEPT. 19, 1969

Your birthday today: The fascination of progress in not on promises incentive for a strong drive in the coming year. As efforts bring results more opportunities are created—the challenge is to stay up with the frontiers of probability. Today's natives are often either writers or strongly interested in reading serious literature.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Use your social grace for advancing your career. Go with a younger companion or a group to a meeting of people with similar interests. Be alert for new ideas. Romance is near at hand!

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Self-improvement, creative activities are strongly featured today. Make every effort to concentrate on a single important direction. Rearrangement of group finances is feasible—with proper advice.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): For once almost everyone is apparently willing to heed your advice. Get authentic guidance yourself in order to settle your savings and investments in a reliable manner. Have a good time tonight with friends.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Today and tonight abound with people striving for advantage. Your energies rise so you cope and compete well. Tact at this time is valuable beyond price.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Put on your finest attire and your most attractive manners today. Wind up the week with good style. Find or give a party this evening, invite colleagues.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): If you have found what you want to concentrate on for a sustained period, begin a course of study now. Look carefully at an unusual invitation—it may have a feature in it you would not like. Consider your loved ones first this evening.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Cosmetics, art materials are always available, but today you have luck in finding just the right thing. Your mail brings social news that interests you or adds to some progress. Seek a chance to negotiate matters of policy regarding your career.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): The urge is to make hasty changes this morning—and muddle things beyond ready salvage. Stick to earlier plans, especially those cleared with authorities. Your friends bring you a pleasant surprise.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your most stubborn streak appears and you are tempted to balk at doing the things most important to your welfare. Stay with your diet and any prescription you're taking. Hold your tongue and thereby your friends.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Secret arrangements come to light, your partners' as well as your own. Older people open many doors. Family and in-laws are peaceful for the moment.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Let others tend the work as far as you can; take time to line up answers to home and family problems. Seek important people where you have a proper introduction.

PISCES Feb. 19-March 20): Everybody changes his mind about all kinds of things. You may be teased over a small discrepancy or misunderstanding. Beware of foolish friends and the reflection that spreads out from their misadventures over their associates.
