

3 Year Winner Tops Again At Fair

Takes Grand And Reserve Prizes

Scoring a double victory for the second time in three years, L. T. Porter of St. Andrew's East yesterday walked off with the grand champion and reserve grand champion ribbons at the Sherbrooke Winter Fair.

Porter was the first to score such a victory two years ago when he made his initial triumph at the Winter Fair. It was the third year in succession that the Aberdeen Angus breed has been judged the best in the show.

This afternoon over 300 animals were auctioned at the annual Fat Stock Sale, held at the closing of the fair each year. The largest contingent was 150 cattle followed by 115 lambs and some 50 hogs.

Top price paid for the grand champion steer last year was $1.87 a pound going to Dr. G. R. McCall of Lachute. Champion lamb was sold for $4.00 per pound and hogs at $1.17. Total receipts for last year's sale were $47,707.

Following the termination of market cattle judging yesterday afternoon all breeders were guests of the ETAA at a banquet last evening followed by a square dance competition which was won by the Sawyerville 4-H club with Lennoxville second.

Feature attraction was a tug-of-war between four teams, Sawyerville, Bury, Sherbrooke Firemen and the Exhibitors. The Exhibitors pulled their way to the championship after eliminating the Firemen and Sawyerville.

Witnesses of the judging of market cattle yesterday were 33 students from the veterinary college at St. Hyacinthe and several students from Macdonald College at Ste. Anne de Bellevue. They were greeted by Louis Codere, chairman of the Calf Club committee.

Other results yesterday follow: Grand Champion Shorthorn, Tutira Farm, Arundel; Reserve grand champion shorthorn, Ross Edwards, Coaticook; Grand champion Hereford, Barry Parsons, Bury; reserve grand champion Hereford, Greenhill Farms, Lennoxville.

Skunk Freed — No Stink

MAGOG—(Special)— Proof that animals appreciate kindness was shown this morning when Ernest Kirby, local SPCA representative, was called out by the local police department, to free a skunk, which had its head wedged into a tin can.

Kirby, talking gently to the skunk, approached and punctured the can so the animal could breathe. Then, with a heavy pair of scissors, cut away the part of the can holding the skunk captive.

With a sigh of relief and a glance of appreciation, the skunk turned and waddled off, without the expected spray.

Kirby refused to let officials shoot the skunk, maintaining that municipal officials stipulate that only veterinarians can dispose of animals in this city, a law which he fought hard to have passed two years ago.

The death of Pierre Bolduc, 11, of 967 Stanley St., Sherbrooke, was ruled accidental by a coroner's jury yesterday.

The body of the youngster was recovered from the Magog River Sunday morning after he was reported missing by his parents Saturday evening.

District Coroner Dr. Louis Gagnon said marks on the body lead him to believe that the boy slipped on rocks and fell into the water drowning himself.

Fire Department Has Novel Way Of Preventing False Alarms

The Sherbrooke Fire Department has devised a novel way of preventing false alarm by youngsters.

During 1956 Fire Prevention Week, the department promised to raffle $25 among the pupils of l'Ecole du Centre this year if there were no false alarms rung in their district. The area around the school was one of the worse for this infraction.

At a recent visit to the school, Director Percy Donahue announced that the district was without false alarms for a full year and consequently raffled a prize of $5.00 and 10 others of $2.

A list of the lucky raffle winners is as follows: Gaston Baillargeon, $5.00; Gilles Marcotte, $2.00; Gilles Gingués, $2.00; Jean-Guy Dubuc, $2.00; Jean-Pierre Robitaille, $2.00; Jacques Gregoire, $2.00; Gilles Baulne, $2.00; Andre Croteau, $2.00; Gilles Labbe, $2.00; Rene Gosselin, $2.00; Jacques Lafrance, $2.00; Normand Bourque, $2.00.

The prize money was donated by the Fire Protection and Prevention Committee.

Director Donahue made no promises that this policy would be continued. He added that he intended to approach the City Council with a request that money be set aside to reward pupils in other schools that followed the same example as the students of l'Ecole du Centre.

No Miracles At Washington

No miracles were expected from the economic talks between Canadian and American ministers at Washington and no miracles have taken place. The talks, however, have resulted in an American assurance that the United States will attempt to avoid interfering in the normal workings of Canada's wheat marketing system and that each country will show careful regard for the interests of the other in formulating trading policies.

The American assurances, of course, do not solve Canada's wheat problem which appears more and more to be a problem of price and production. What they do accomplish is to clear the path for aggressive selling policies which Ottawa will now be expected to carry on. Trade Minister Churchill has already been drumming up business abroad and can be counted upon to do his best to move some of the mountain of wheat which clogs Canadian storage facilities.

The trouble with communiques such as that issued this week from Washington is that the well-meaning officials are not always able to carry out their own wishes. American politics are such that pressure groups carry more weight with legislators than they do in most democratic countries. And the Administration cannot force Congress to accept policies which powerful lobbies are determined to stop.

Perhaps the most fruitful result of the talks will be the impression the Canadian ministers have left in Washington of the importance of Canada to the United States and the need for co-operation to avoid friction in the future.

Politics Plague France

The French, and the world looking on, have become so used to the fall of successive governments since the end of World War II that little alarm is expressed when the country finds itself without leadership for weeks on end. The French people know that the civil servants will carry on the essential business of government and the politicians excuse their irresponsibility by claiming that it is all part of the political game, a reshuffling of the old familiar faces in the center groups in the National Assembly.

However, it is unfortunate that such attitudes should persist at a time when France is more than ever on the spot over its policies toward overseas possessions. The Communist and former colonial nations, particularly the Afro-Asian group, are determined to put France in the dock at the United Nations this session, France will, in effect, be on trial before the world for its policies in North Africa.

The government of Bourges-Maunoury fell because it was unable to secure support for its Algeria Bill in the Assembly. An unholy alliance of conservatives, who could almost be called reactionaries, and Communists defeated the bill and the government, leaving France without a policy or a voice at the United Nations.

Whatever new combination of center groups forms the next government, the basic problems it will face will be the same.

Finance Minister Felix Gaillard began the necessary economic adjustment when he devalued the French currency. But protests were heard throughout the country against the subsequent restriction of price and wage increases which must restrain an expanding economy. Gaillard spoke frankly of the need for France to tighten her belt and increase exports but few Frenchmen were ready to accept this even though the alternative is economic decadence and domination of Western Europe by Germany.

The problem of Algeria must be solved too. The conservatives are afraid of a liberal policy for Algeria and the watering down of the Algeria Bill made it little more than a first faltering step toward a solution. The real trouble was that the government had no real authority to impose a bold solution.

It may be almost impossible to govern France effectively while one-quarter of the population continues to vote Communist. But so long as the non-Communist groups continue to play petty politics and indulge in personal vendettas, France will fail to regain her place as a world power.

Prepare Alternative Economy

Bahrain Oil Dry In 25 Years

By ROSS BIRTWISTLE
BAHREIN (Reuters) — Bahrain, island sheikhdom in the Persian Gulf, is seeking to build up a sound alternative economy in preparation for the expected day, about 25 years hence, when the island's oil wells will have been pumped dry.

This year marks the 25th anniversary of the discovery of oil here. By 1930, Bahrain had been hit both by the world depression and the effects on its ancient pearl industry of Japan's increasing cultured pearl production.

Then, almost unexpectedly after seven years of intermittent searching, oil bubbled to the sandy surface of this barren island on June 1, 1932. Since then, directly or indirectly, oil has touched the lives of each of the 120,000 Bahrainis on the island.

The Bahrain Petroleum Company (Bapco), an American-owned company registered in Canada, has become tightly interlocked in the island's daily life. In addition to the wells, which produce about 30,000 barrels a day, the company has built one of the biggest refineries in the Middle East, which is fed by a double pipeline from Saudi Arabia and produces about 210,000 barrels a day. It provides work for 5,850 Bahrainis and paid a total of nearly $11,000,000 in royalties to the Bahrain government last year.

Over the years, new agreements have given the Bahrain government larger and larger shares in the company's profits until today it is on the 50-50 basis. Reference on the island to "the government" is generally taken to mean the 62-year-old ruler, Sheikh Sulman Bin Hamad al Khalifa. He is generally recognized as a benevolent autocrat who acts on the advice of the expert heads of the various government departments.

When oil first was discovered on Bahrain, the sheikh was persuaded by his British adviser, Sir Charles Belgrave, to accept what was, at that time, a revolutionary proposal. He agreed to share the oil royalties. One-third would go into the privy purse, one-third into capital projects for the community and one-third would be invested against the day when finally the oil would run out.

"The object of the government is not to waste this oil money," the ruler's 48-year-old director of finance, Sayed Mahmud Alawi, explained. "This is not a permanent income."

Between 1933 and 1956, the Bahrain government received about $59,000,000 in oil royalties. Of this, $18,500,000 was invested, mostly in Britain and India.

Roughly another third was spent on capital projects like schools, hospitals, electricity supplies, water schemes and the construction of a new harbor.

THEY WERE WARNED

(Toronto Telegram)
The Chancellor of the British Exchange, Peter Thornycroft, has objected to such a term as "bomb" to describe his proposal of an Anglo-Canadian free trade union. Newspapers in Toronto, and probably others across the country, have used "bombshell" as a description of the suggestion and its effect upon Canadian ministers.

In justice to Mr. Thornycroft, it should be noted that the Canadian Government received ample advance warning that the proposal would be made. It was not sprung as a surprise in the Mont Tremblant conference last weekend.

What did happen was that British ministers, in prior discussions of the Mont Tremblant conference, considered what response they might make to Prime Minister Diefenbaker's suggested diversion of Canadian buying from U.S. to U.K. suppliers. The British agriculture minister, Heathcote-Anory, outlined proposals to Canadian ministers when he visited Ottawa on September 9. The free trade plan was one of several proposals. This allowed three-weeks notice.

The free trade offer was then mentioned in a London financial paper late last week, and was published in a Mont-

PERIL AVOIDED BY BARBARA

Barbara Brier of Miami is another young lady who surely belongs in the first 10. She can't get leave from her children often enough to play in many tournaments but has managed to accumulate almost 500 master points. Her best single performance was when she finished second in the National Open Pairs a couple of years back.

Barbara plays a lot of rubber bridge and is a very aggressive bidder. If you don't think so, look at her two heart bid with today's hand. Her partner raised her to four and West doubled and decided to open the king of diamonds for a look at dummy. That was a mistake since a trump lead would have beaten the hand one trick. Barbara ruffed low and led a club to dummy's ace. A second diamond was ruffed, the king of clubs cashed and a club ruffed in dummy. A third diamond was ruffed and a fourth club led. West could ruff or not as he chose as dummy was able to overruff and lead another diamond.

Barbara ruffed this with her last trump and still had two high trumps left in dummy.

Of course, Barbara would have been down one trick if West had thought of a trump opening but you don't always have the most deadly opening lead made against you. Furthermore, if Barbara had passed, her opponents would have made a part score in diamonds.

real paper last Saturday. Reporters at Mont Tremblant asked Mr. Thornycroft about it, and he confirmed the intention to make the offer. Under these circumstances, it is difficult to see why Mr. Fleming should have had no prior briefing on Canada's reply to it when he, in turn, was asked about it at a news conference in Mont Tremblant last Saturday night.

NOT TO KNOW VOTE

(Ottawa Citizen)
When Americans go to the polls again in a national election, they will be somewhat at a loss, not knowing what has happened in Maine. As Maine goes, so goes the nation has always been a political adage, for by the state constitution Maine voted in September. The referendum approving a shift to November puts an end to this particular barometer. More than ever, voters who have trouble making up their own minds will be exposed to the influence of polls and prognostications instead of a demonstrated trend. An interesting element has been removed from the election scene.

Matter of FACT

Biologically speaking, man could be cataloged, according to the divisions and branches of the tree of life, like this: homo sapiens, hominid, anthropoid, primate, mammal, vertebrate, chordate, animal. This classification means that "the knowing man" is the only member of the animal family that has eyesight, large brains, hands that can grasp, and can stand upright, is warm blooded, has a spine or backbone and is living.

SUNDAY LAWS

(Manchester Guardian)
"On the first day of the week make good cheer at all times; for he is guilty of sin, whose ever afflicts his soul on the first day of the week." So said a third-century manual of worship. But the prevailing conception of Sunday changed greatly in later centuries. During the Victorian age the observance of Sunday was almost a religion in itself. Since then, the notion of setting it aside as a day of religious dedication, or at least of rest and reflection, has been in continuous conflict with the changing needs of an urban and industrial society. For most people, Sunday is now simply a day of recreation.
But in Britain they are not as free as they are in other countries to decide what form that recreation should take. The rules which govern their public activities on Sundays are for the most part two or three centuries old. They are also chaotic and contradictory. Because proposals for the systematic review and reform of Sunday legislation have always met with well-organized resistance, special rules had to be made from time to time to deal with particular problems, such as the opening of cinemas,

Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbytery Held Fall Meeting In Cowansville Church

The Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbytery of the United Church of Canada met for the Fall meeting in the Cowansville United Church. The sessions were opened by a worship period led by Rev. Leslie Dean, of Richmond, with Rev. R. A. Mitchell, of Magog, presiding at the organ.

Rev. A. McKinley Rose, of Stanstead, retiring chairman for Presbytery, invested Rev. Leslie Dean as chairman for the ensuing year. Several new members were introduced to the court, including Rev. Archie Penman, of the Lake Megantic Church. Rev. Gordon Porter, Home Mission superintendent, was made a corresponding member of the Presbytery. The minutes of several meetings of the Executive held since the last gathering were read for information and the general minutes and the agenda were adopted.

Reports of the induction services of the following were read: Rev. Henry Mathews, at Trinity Church, Sherbrooke; Rev. L. Simpson, at Thetford Mines; Rev. H. C. Fraser, at Sawyerville; Rev. Harold Boomhour at Water-

Historical and Church Property given by Rev. F. R. Matthews, permission was granted the Knowlton church to sell their church sheds, no longer used, and also the church property at Gould.

The Lay Association report was given by Mr. Richardson, of Lennoxville, secretary of the laymen's group. Some discussion took place on the required length of notice that a minister should give when leaving a church for another appointment. A committee was appointed to bring in a recommendation at the February meeting. It was felt that a 60 day minimum notice should be given, that a minister should stay a certain required time on a charge and should not move during the winter months unless unavoidable.

J. C. Mead, reported on the Macdonald College conference for laymen, which he had attended this past summer. The Overseas Mission report was given by Dr. L. M. Outerbridge, of Lennoxville. He urged that arrangements be made to enable one or two recently returned missionaries to visit local congregations and be guest speakers at luncheons, whereby the work of the church in foreign fields would become better known.

The Pastoral Relations report was given by Rev. T. Tyson, of Rock Island. The call from the Woodley United church, Windsor, Ont., to Rev. Frank Cant of the Coaticook United Church was approved tentatively, to become effective November 1st, following the addition of minor omissions in the call form. The call to Rev. A. Seaton, of Martinville, Ont., to the Ayer's Cliff church was approved, to become effective November 1st.

Rev. Archie Penman was named as stated supply at Lake Megantic. Wesley Ball, a student in 1st year Divinity College, was named as supply at Sutton. The churches at Mansonville, Knowlton, East Angus, Ulverton and Coaticook are without a minister at present. Mr. Stokoe was appointed lay supply at Inverness, with Rev. L. Simpson as supervising minister.

Rally Day Service At Ayer's Cliff United Church

AYER'S CLIFF — The Sunday School Rally Day service of Beulah United Church was held recently when the Supt. Mr. Lysle Thompson conducted the worship after which the congregation joined in the hymn "All People that on Earth do dwell."

The Primary class sang hymns, "This is God's World" and "Jesus Loves the Little Ones."

The responsive reading was selections from the Psalms and was read by Gordon Thompson.

The junior group, under the leadership of Mr. Alfred Keeler sang the hymn "Sound the Battle Cry" and Mr. Keeler read the Scripture lesson which was followed by the Prayer Litany, taken by Mrs. C. Mitson.

Australia Threatened By Fires

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Hundreds of fires fanned by gale force winds threatened Sydney suburbs today, and a state of emergency was declared throughout New South Wales.

At one point Sydney had no firemen left to answer calls as all were out fighting fires.

The entire town of Waterfall, 26 miles south of Sydney, was threatened by a ring of fires, and an S O S went out to all the townspeople, to leave work and join in the firefighting.

At nearby Lithgow, a train carrying 30,000 gallons of gasoline ran a gauntlet of bush fires and arrived with two railroad cars blazing.

Fires have blocked suburban train routes.

Admen Get Into Race For Space

DETROIT (AP)—The Junior Advertising Club of Detroit has announced it will begin an immediate study of advertising in outer space, its possibilities and its problems.

"A code of ethics must be developed," said President Rex Ciavola Wednesday, "before we find ourselves swamped with such problems as satellites broadcasting recorded commercials, blinking satellites with messages readable from earth and billboard rental space on the moon."

Stowaways To Land At First Port

BRUSSELS (Reuters) — Shipowners soon may be able to land stowaways at the first convenient port of call instead of only in those countries where they are legally acceptable.

The diplomatic conference on maritime law Wednesday night accepted — against British and Dutch opposition — a new stowaways' convention which still must be ratified.

The new convention enables shipowners of ratifying states to land stowaways at the first suitable port of another ratifying state. The authorities there would return the stowaway to the state whose nationality he claimed.

Illness Playing Big Part In NHL As Teams Prepare For Season; Plante And Geoffrion Out; Hodge Takes Over

Illness played a big part as the National Hockey League prepared to resume action tonight. Montreal Canadiens were to make their debut in regular season play against Chicago without goalie Jacques Plante and rightwinger Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion. Plante was to enter hospital today to be operated on for what was described as acute sinusitis while Geoffrion is a flu victim.

New York Rangers and Detroit Red Wings clash in a second game at Detroit. It'll be the first game of the regular season for both clubs. Plante's condition became known Wednesday after medical examination. He had been ailing and was believed to have flu.

A club official said Plante will be out a week. He will be replaced by Charlie Hodge, who had been assigned to Montreal Royals of the Quebec Hockey League. Hodge saw limited service with the Habs in similar circumstances last year and in 1954-55.

Geoffrion was still recuperating from a severe flu attack and, according to his own diagnosis, will take "at least two months to get into shape again."

Club officials said nothing definite is known about Geoffrion's condition but he is expected to miss at least several games. He will be replaced by Stan Smrke.

The revitalized Black Hawks, fresh from a sparkling 1-0 victory Tuesday over Toronto Maple Leafs in the league opener, figured to push the weakened Habituants.

The Hawks may not turn out to be the high-scoring aggregation they appeared on paper after summer trades, but they showed plenty of strength against the Leafs.

Meanwhile Leafs, inactive till Saturday, shuffled two players into sick bay as three prepared to return to action.

Dick Duff and Al MacNeil recused out annoying referees in seven languages, including Chinese. After the three-game trial he will decide whether to stay in Canada or return home.

The Aces have many holes to fill in their championship team of last season. They have lost forwards Marcel Bonin, Dick Gamble, Bob Beckett, Bill O'Ree, Gene Achymichuk and Orval Tessier — the QHL's leading scorer. Defencemen Floyd Hillman and Brent Macnab are also gone.

Back in the nets for the Aces is Al Miller who did solid work for the club last year and has been sharp in their three exhibition games this season.

Providence Reds already have served notice that they'll be tough to dethrone as American Hockey League champions. The Reds opened the 1957-58 season Wednesday night by defeating Springfield Indians 5-4, with eight of their regulars sidelined by flu.

In the two other games, Gil Mayer marked his return to full time operation as Hershey goalie as the Bears defeated Cleveland Barons 4-3 and Rochester Americans turned back the rebuilt Buffalo Bisons 5-4.

The crippled Reds used two amateurs to fill out the squad and didn't come through with the winning goal until Ed Shack counted at 17:44 of the final period. Veteran Zellio Toppazzini paced Providence with two goals. Gerry Ehman had two of Springfield's four tallies.

Mayer, out most of last season with an injured knee, did a great job in the nets as Johnny Bower, who returned to the Cleveland goal after an absence of four seasons, yielded second period goals to Willie Marshall and Len Haley to give the Bears the lead they never relinquished.

Ken Girard's goal at 14:19 of the final period gave the Americans their triumph. Girard and Earl Balfour each tallied twice for Rochester. Les Lilley counted twice for the Bisons.

Marcel Bonin And Canadiens Fail To Reach Terms

MONTREAL — Marcel Bonin, husky forward for Quebec Aces last year, has refused to come to terms with Montreal Canadiens, it was learned Wednesday night.

He was reported to have packed up his belongings and headed for his home at Joliette, Que. A club spokesman said Bonin would likely be suspended.

He was picked up from Boston last summer via the draft.

Weetman And Simpson Advance In Golf Tourney

GLENEAGLES, Scotland (CP) — Harry Weetman and Jimmy Simpson spotted the Anglo-Canadian entry of Ryder Cup captain Dai Rees and Bill Glennie a three-hole lead Wednesday, then pulled back to win one up and advance into the third round of the Gleneagles-Saxone professional amateur golf tournament.

Glennie and Rees won 6 and 5 Tuesday in a first-round match against J. M. Dykes and Fred Jowle.

Chunky Catcher Tops Batsmen With Three-For-Four; Lew Burdette And Larsen Go Today; Yanks Favored

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Yankees once again ruled the favorite over Milwaukee Braves today to defend successfully their once-asked crown as the seething world series, for the third straight year, roared into the seventh and final game.

The odds-makers justified their choice with the argument that the Yankees named a starting pitcher in today's game who had four days of rest compared to only two for the Milwaukee starter. New York's selection was Don Larsen, the pitching hero of the 1956 world series. Milwaukee's choice was Lew Burdette, the pitching hero to date of the 1957 world series. Both are right-handers, Larsen making his first start of the present series, Burdette his third.

Larsen hadn't worked since Saturday when he hurled five-hit relief ball through 7½ innings to receive credit for the 12-3 triumph. Whitey Ford was manager Casey Stengel's original choice to hurl the finale but the star south-paw was forced to toil in the bullpen during the last two innings of Wednesday's game, won by the Yankees 3-2 behind the four-hit pitching of Bob Turley. That squared the best-of-seven series 3-3.

EXPECT FINE WEATHER
A perfect day was predicted with fair skies and the temperature near 70 for the finale, scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. EDT. A capacity crowd of 67,000 was expected as contrasted to the 61,408 spectators Wednesday.

Burdette who said he has pitched with only two days' rest before and saw no reason why he couldn't do it again, because "I'm bigger, stronger and dumber now," thus becomes the first hurler with a chance to capture three games in one classic since Harry (The Cat) Brecheen accomplished the feat for St. Louis Cardinals against Boston Red Sox in 1946.

The choice of Burdette was a desperate one by manager Fred Haney, caused by circumstances. Southpaw Warren Spahn was to have pitched but was smitten with the flu shortly after the team arrived in New York and spent Wednesday in his hotel room.

So when Haney suggested Burdette assume the iron man role, unless he felt his arm was tired, he hurls four-hitter.

Turley was magnificent in taming the Braves with four hits and striking out eight. Yankees Simpson has one single in 12 times at bat.

The Braves probably would have been back in Milwaukee to

Tommy Hugo Only Alouette Player To Miss Important Weekend Twinbill; Stone And McNichol To See Action

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes hope to confront Ottawa Rough Riders with the strongest Als lineup this year when the two football clubs embark on crucial back-to-back weekend games Saturday at the capital.

Club officials indicated today that only Tommy Hugo will be missing. He hurt his back last Saturday at Toronto and will miss his first Big Four league game since he arrived here in 1953 from Denver.

Compensating for the loss of the durable linebacker will be the return of back Avatus Stone, ex-Ottawa kicking ace. Defensive end Doug McNichol also is expected back after recovering from a pre-season leg injury.

Big Four clubs must name their 12 imports for the rest of the season after Monday. With Als down to 15, end Art Powell acquired to get his first chance Saturday to bid for a permanent spot.

Ottawa returns here Monday for a Thanksgiving Day game. Ottawa, Montreal and Hamilton Tiger-Cats are tied or first place with Hamilton meeting Toronto twice during the weekend.

Yanks' Dressing Room

By JOHN CHANDLER
NEW YORK (AP)—There were broad smiles on all faces in the New York dressing room after the Yankees squared the world series Wednesday but the happiest guy of them all was Bullet Bob Turley who pitched and won his first victory in the autumn classic.

Robert Lee Turley, 27, had just limited Milwaukee Braves to four hits and won a tight 3-2 verdict. Although two of them were homers by Frank Torre and Hank Aaron, the six-foot-two, 217-pounder was all smiles as he accepted congratulations.

"He certainly pitched hard," said manager Casey Stengel. "all they did was hit two balls on him that couldn't be caught."

Stengel had his eye on Turley in the 1954 season when he pitched for Baltimore Orioles and tied for the American League lead in strikeouts with 185. Then the Yankees got the big fireballer in the famous nine-for-nine play deal that all but broke the hearts of Baltimore fans.

"I wasn't throwing any bullets in the last two or three innings yesterday," said Turley.

SINKERS AND CURVES
He said he was "using a sinker mostly with some curves thrown in" during the late innings. After he walked Ed Mathews to open the Braves' half of the ninth, Bob said he breezed a third strike past Aaron with a sidearm sinker. Both homers off him came on fast balls.

Fred Haney, the Milwaukee pilot, still remained confident his Braves would win today's final game as he announced Lew Burdette would be his mound choice.

"There wasn't much we could have done about that game," he mused. "Those home runs (by Yogi Berra) with one on, and Hank Bauer) licked us. I don't know of a thing, I would have done differently."

"But this is another day and we'll throw everything at them. Certainly I'm still convinced we'll win."

Bauer, whose homer broke the tie in the seventh after he'd fanned twice and flied out once, said he hit a sidearm breaking ball, either a curve or a slider. The ball hit the screen near the foul pole and bounced back into the playing field.

"It was the same pitchin' they've been getting me on before. I didn't know it was a home run. I was gonna stop at second. I just hoped it wouldn't curve foul."

Bullet Bob Lives Up To Name For First Series Win

NEW YORK (AP)—Bullet Bob Turley lived up to his name for seven innings Wednesday when he whipped Milwaukee Braves, 3-2, to tie the world series for New York Yankees. It was Turley's first victory in a world series.

"But I wasn't throwing any bullets in the last two or three innings," he laughed happily in the clubhouse later. "I was using a sinker mostly with some curves thrown in."

"I'll tell you one thing, though. I didn't throw a changeup the entire game. I wasn't taking any chances."

A soft-spoken righthander, Turley said this was the biggest victory since he started pitching. Manager Casey Stengel was all praise for Turley although he said he had Whitey Ford ready and would have put the lefty ace in had Eddie Mathews come to bat in the eighth inning. But he didn't and that saved Turley.

McGill And U of M Tied For Lead In Tennis Tourney

MONTREAL (CP) — The Universities of Montreal and McGill were tied for first place with 10 points each at the close of the first day of Intercollegiate Tennis tournament here.

University of Toronto held second place with five points. Laval of Quebec was third with two and McMaster of Hamilton trailed with no points, having lost all 11 matches it played Wednesday.

Barriere's Lindsay Brooke Sets Top Payoff For Win Wager With $96.80; Quinella In Third Pays $171.60

Albert Barriere's Lindsay Brooke and J. H. Sinotte's Bomber Grattan pulled the upset last night on the midweek racing card when they teamed up for the top quinella of the evening. The combination paid the sum of $171.60 while at the same time the Barriere entry set a new high of $96.80 for a straight investment.

The Sinotte black gelding set the top figure for a place bet when $18.90 was collected by the lucky pickers. Prices on the whole for win wagers were high while the rest ran around a level basis.

The double of Admiral Alden, owned by Sidney Weston of St. Albans, Vt., and driven by G. Trahan, teamed up with Fabi's Cyril Ibat for the double and $12.60 was doled out for the pickings. The second quinella in the fifth saw $10.70 shelled out for Fabi's Woodie Rosecroft and Coombs' Truly Volo. In the ninth it was Ed Sarasin's Cootcock Directly and Jones' Jean Grattan Alden who formed the winning duo and paid their backers $33.30.

The best time of the evening was registered in the eighth when veteran driver G. Hammond guided his Sturdy General under the wire in 2:12 3/5. The Manitoba smooth-going pacer set the pace after taking the lead on the first corner and was never bothered. They went the first half in 1:05 3/5 and came home 1:07 in easy fashion to emerge the winner.

In the "D" Trot and Pace Fabi's Merrie Darnleyson, teamed by Fern Desrochers, emerged the winner in 2:13. It was a two-horse race between the winner and his brother Guy, who was teaming Miss Morgan's Norma Knight. Beaudoin's Duck Corsica came home strong but failed the space to overtake the leaders at the wire.
